Benediction

"Let no ravages of time testify to coming generations that we have forgotten as a people the cost of a free and undivided republic."

This order, issued in 1868, now extends to the memory of the dead of all our wars, and the custom of honoring our deceased fighting men and women has become a part of our way of life.

With these thoughts in mind, Campbell-Richmond Post No. 63 has invited all area residents to join in the duty of honoring those veterans who gave their lives and their service to the country.

Post members will place American flags on all veterans' graves in Lakeview Cemetery Sunday morning prior to the annual Memorial Day parade and cemetery service being at 10 a.m. Monday.

The parade will move from the corner of Church and Buffalo, proceeding down Church to Main to Washington to Holcomb to White Lake Road and terminating at the Veterans' Plot in the cemetery.

Units marching in the parade are asked to assemble at 9:30 a.m. Commander Merle Riddle has asked that no horses, antique autos, bikes, pets or floats be entered because of the solemnity of the occasion.

State Rep. Claude Trim (D-Davisburg) will deliver the memorial address and Rev. Phillip Somers, pastor of Maranatha Baptist Church, will recite the Gettysburg Address.

Pilot unhurt in Springfield crash

Pilot John Adams of Union Lake walked away shaken but unhurt when his single-engine Cessna 150 crashed Thursday in a field north of Davisburg Road in Springfield Township.

Adams said he had taken the plane, owned by a company at Pontiac Airport, out from that airport for a spin early Thursday afternoon when the crash occurred.

Cause of the crash was "pilot error," Adams said. He said he was throttling too quickly and the engine quit. He tried to make an emergency landing, but when the plane hit the ground, it turned over.

Representatives of the company that owns the plane said it is valued at $8,500. It was totaled, Adams said. The plane wound up belly-up about 40 feet from Davisburg road just south of I-75.

Adams, 32, has been flying for 16 years, he said.

Architect's rendering of the new Clarkston Post Office due for occupancy next April on M-15 adjacent to the Dairy Queen.

Post Office plans finalized

A 7,700 square foot Post Office serving the Clarkston Postal District will be ready for occupancy next April, according to postal service architects Samborn, Steketeer Otis and Evans, Inc. of Flint.

To be constructed of beige velour face brick accented with medium bronze anodized aluminum entrance and window overhangs, it is expected to cost from $500,000 to $1 million. Bids are due June 9.

Structural steel framing will allow for future expansion, architects said.

A 25-ton air conditional system, maximum thermal insulation and a natural gas fired water boiler with standby oil will be used to maintain even temperatures.

Site development includes family curbed and paved customer and employe parking areas with trees and plantings utilized.

The office will be constructed on M-15 adjacent to the Dairy Queen.

Sewer hikes irk residents

By Jean Saile

of The Clarkston News

There are at least 35 residents of Independence Township visibly upset over the probability that sewer costs will increase.

They showed up at the township board meeting Tuesday night to learn that while costs are apt to go up, no one yet knows how much they'll increase.

One ex-trustee, Keith Humbert, says there's no way to make the sewers pay for themselves—we don't have enough homes, nor enough capacity in the interceptor line to Detroit to generate the income needed.

A member of the township zoning board of appeals, Robert Kraud, says he thinks an early bond prospectus was right—that sewer costs should have been in the area of $3,300 to begin with as opposed to the $2,260 fee finally arrived at.

Residents who are now paying that sum at the rate of $169.50 a year over the 25-year life of the sewer bonds feel any increases charged them would in effect be taking on the burdens of other township residents who do not and may not for many years to come have sewers available to them.

At least a couple members of the audience "objected to a government that rams everything down your throat."

"You wouldn't be having these problems if the people had been consulted when sewers were first planned," said one.

The fact is, according to Township Supervisor J. Edwin Glennie, the township, by action of a previous board, has contracted to pay back $10.1 million in bonds sold for the construction of the sewers within the township.

The 1,100 homes or businesses now tied into the sewer are not generating sufficient money to meet a $400,000 bill which will be due next April nor another $270,000 in the October following, he said.

The sewers are available to only 2,460 homes, mostly South of I-75, of the estimated 5,000 homes in the township, and even if all 2,460 homes were to hook up, the township still couldn't meet its payments.

"It's feasible that it could, were the 5,200 units for which the township has purchased interceptor capacity to Detroit built and hooked up," according to DPW Director George Anderson.

Glennie noted, "People like you here tonight would like to see more customers to hook in, but the other half of the township likes the lack of building and development that has happened since the economic slowdown."

He said three alternatives are available to the township—to continue charging only those customers who hook up (and the township is forcing hookups where it can) and likely increase the charges, to create a special assessment district in the area largely south of I-75 where sewers are available and make everyone pay more, or to spread a township-wide ad valorem tax.

"We've run two possibilities through the computer," and we're working on it," Glennie said. "When we can support any figures we come up with, we will hold a public hearing and inform the people."

He said no township-wide vote would be permitted on the decision, that it would have to be made by the township board.

The sewer matter was placed on the township agenda by request of Carol Evans, June Searight, Janet Mack and Constance Lektzian. Glennie said he would rather not discuss it until more facts were available.

He added he'd prefer that Anderson's figure of $357 per unit annually were the 2,460 units available to sewers to hook up not be used. "There's too many things that can change," he said.

Glennie said he had hopes of recovering almost $1 million of the original $10 million from the Oakland County DPW, providing the funds were not used up in cost overruns. Federal and state grants are also being investigated.

Downtown shoppers eligible for free prizes

If you've been shopping in downtown Clarkston this week, you've likely got several tickets which may entitle you to some free merchandise Saturday.

A WXYZ disc jockey is to be on hand at 3 p.m. Saturday in the vacant lot at Washington and Main to draw the names of winners for such items as Pine Knob Theater tickets, a cord of wood, $25 in landscaping or shrubs, handmade jewelry, books, several gift certificates, Irish coffee mugs, antique milk jugs, a saw, a terrarium, lottery tickets or newspaper subscription.

Tickets for the drawing have been awarded everytime someone makes a purchase of $1 or more in downtown stores.

The drawing is part of the Village Stroll Days observance. Stores will be open until 9 p.m. Thursday and several sidewalk activities plus buggy rides around the Mill Pond are planned.

Sewers for Springfield?

Sewer service for the south and east portion of Springfield Township could become a reality within the next five years, according to Jerry Nechal, District II coordinator for the Oakland County Planning Department.

Nechal told the Springfield Township Planning Commission Tuesday that two of three alternate sewer service plans being considered by the Oakland County Department of Public Works could involve Springfield.

He said the DPW will probably make a decision in the near future on which plan to use. If either involving Springfield are chosen, he said, then the township board will have to decide where the interceptors are to be located.

Locating the interceptors is phase two of the plan, he said, and will be the important step for Springfield to have input on.

From there, it could be anywhere from five to 20 years for full implementation of the plan.

The proposed areas of service in Springfield would cover a lot of agricultural and recreation areas in the township. Tod Kilroy, township planner, said. That could raise havoc with the township land use plan, he added.

Sewer service might also create howls from residents with large acreage, a planning commission member commented.

Fire Department adds 3 men

Independence Township has added three full time firemen with the rating of 'engineer' to be paid at the rate of $10,500 a year for six months, and then increased to $11,000 a year.

The three are Neil Ashley,

Beach fees set

Use of Deer Lake Beach will cost Independence Township residents $8 this year. The new identification cards which replace previous keys are on sale at the treasurer's office.

Boat fees vary from $8 to $15 depending on horsepower. Fishing fees are $3 to residents and $5 to non-residents if they have a small horsepower boat and $1 to senior citizens without a boat.

Roland (Gar) Wilson and Gordon Mason, whom Fire Chief Frank Ronk said had been selected from among volunteers on the basis of written and oral tests and past performance.

They will be stationed at the fire hall located at Clarkston and Sashabaw roads and will work shifts of 24 hours on and 24 hours off.

Wilson, who is Clarkston Village DPW director, said he would ask the council to let him continue in that position on a part time basis, as well. He said he thought he would be able to line up CETA employes on jobs during the periods he was available to the village, and that it should result in a cost saving to that unit of government.

Gift flag and pole adorn village

Memorial Day will be considerably brightened this year in Clarkston, with the addition of this 30-foot flagpole to the Village Parking lot. It was donated by Mrs. Juanita Bennett of Snowapple Drive, who had it in her backyard when she heard the village needed one. The flag, which flew over the White House previously, was donated by Mrs. Christopher Kennedy.

Andersonville Cemetery memorial

Tulips bloom at the graves of veterans in Andersonville Cemetery, courtesy of the Andersonville Cemetery Association whose members planted the bulbs last year.

The tulips planted last year on veterans' graves at Andersonville Cemetery, Bridge Lake and Big Lake roads, should be blooming in time for the annual memorial service at 3 p.m. Sunday, May 25, according to Mrs. Donald Halsey, cemetery association secretary.

The old cemetery, the oldest headstone that of a little girl who died in 1836, contains the graves of veterans from all wars from the Civil to the Korean.

Rev. Larry Hurst of Andersonville Community Church will speak and the Sweeney family will provide special music. American flags will be placed on the graves as members of Campbell-Richmond Post No. 63 American Legion provide the honor guard.

Griffin to address graduates

A total of 430 seniors will be graduated from Clarkston High School in commencement ceremonies at 10 a.m. Saturday, June 7 at Pine Knob Music Theater.

U.S. Senator Robert Griffin will be graduation speaker.

The seniors are due to complete their exams on June 2 and 3, their last full days of school, and then report for an honors assembly at 9 a.m. Friday, June 6, in the high school gym.

Undergraduate students will continue classes until final exams

June 11 and 12. Report cards will be mailed June 20, according to Jan Gabier, assistant principal.

The school yearbook, the Hilltopper, has been received and is available to students who placed previous orders, and a new publication, The Sun Spot, was issued this week by the journalism class in connection with the student art show and fair. The magazine contains student prose, poetry, art and pictures of industrial art projects. It was edited by David Kennedy.

New library hours

Independence Township Library has shortened its open hours for the summer. The facility, located on Clarkston-Orion Road, will be open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday for the balance of the summer. The library will be closed Wednesdays.

A longer hairstyle for naturally wavy hair sounds like a hassle, but these days it does not have to be that at all. In fact, hair styles are easier and breezier than ever. The essential, of course, is a good cut. Then, longer hair can be shampooed, towel dried, and sprayed with water and oil. Push the hair into place with your fingers. Allow to dry, and you will have a fluffy, curly effect that is most engaging. And it will be so easy to do.

There are many exciting hair styles for naturally wavy hair. Have it styled at "SALON OF BEAUTY" BONNIE JEAN'S HAIR STYLISTS, 5488 Dixie Highway, Waterford. Tel. 623-1411. Open 6:30-8:30. Sat. 6:30-3. All types of beauty treatment available here including sale and application of Duralash eyelashes.

Clarkston people richer than most People who live in the village of Clarkston are wealthier than the average resident of Oakland County, and Oakland County is the wealthiest county in the state.

Figures released by the U.S. Census Bureau show the county average to be $5,264 for each individual, while in Clarkston the mythical norm is $5,513.

The figures were gleaned from the 1972 income tax returns filed by householders and show an increase of 21.9 percent over those recorded during the 1970 census, according to officials at the Oakland County Planning Department.

In Independence Township the per capita income rose from $3,601 to $4,408 in the same period, an increase of 22.4 percent. Springfield Township income increased 22 percent, from $3,103 to $3,822.

Wealthiest area in the county is Bloomfield Hills with a per capita income of $23,676. Bingham Farms has $10,309, Franklin, $9,835, Bloomfield Township $8,955, Orchard Lake $7,981; Sylvan Lake, $7,298 and Birmingham $7,141.

Pontiac was low at $3,343.

Age benefits

We like what's happening in the village—a number of young, new and enthusiastic merchants getting together to soft sell the benefits of Clarkston village as a community center.

Some 30 people met last week under the auspices of the newly formed Village Business Association to make final plans for Stroll Days which culminate in events this weekend.

Thursday night all the stores will remain open until 9 p.m., and their owners are in hopes that you and your family will walk or drive downtown to enjoy some of the activities planned. Strolling musicians, sidewalk artists, buggy rides around the Mill Pond, craft displays, outdoor concessions and a generally relaxed atmosphere are planned.

There'll be opportunities to buy, but more than that the merchants are in hopes you'll stop in to chat and look them and their stores over.

To cap things off, a WXYZ disc jockey will be here at 3 p.m. Saturday afternoon to pull winning numbers out of a barrel. Prizes will include free tickets to Pine Knob shows as well as merchandise donated by village business people. Chances on the drawing are being given with every purchase of $1 or more.

'If It Fitz . . .'

Nothing personal, please

by Jim Fitzgerald

The day after one of our ships was missing, U.S. Senator James Buckley was on TV urging a "clinical bombing" of Cambodia.

Clinical? Most viewers probably let that adjective slide by without question. After all, Sen. Buckley is the brother of William Buckley, the erudite columnist and TV personality who is always saying things no one understands. But he looks carefully intelligent while he says hem and Johnny Carson genuflects at every apostrophe. If William Buckley's brother says a bomb can be clinical, most people are going to figure he knows what he is talking about, even if he is a senator.

But I have a sticky ear, probably the result of an early boxing by my parents who hoped I would grow up to invent the electric light. (If you don't understand this paragraph, you never saw Mickey Rooney sell sandwiches in a railroad car.

William Buckley isn't the only erudite columnist).

Anyway, "clinical" created a clog in my ear. Just what in hell is a clinical bomb?

My immediate reaction was that it is a contradiction in terms. Bombs destroy; clinics repair.

An anti-tank missile is aimed at a tank. A clinical bomb might be aimed at a clinic, further maiming the wounded, killing the sick, and creating hopeless havoc in book-keeping where the extent of Blue-Cross-Blue Shield coverage would have to be determined in triplicate while the clinical bombs fell. All is fair in war. (All used to be fair in love, too, but that was before the toupee and the padded bra).

But certainly Sen. Buckley was not recommending the Red Cross be used as a bullseye. I made an apt turn to my American Heritage dictionary. After wading through all the medical definitions of clinical, I discovered this possibility: to be clinical also means to be "highly objective." And, a few pages over, it said to be objective is to be "uninfluenced by emotion or personal prejudice."

That must be what Sen. Buckley means.

The U.S. should be cool when it drops the bombs on Cambodia. Not angry, not happy. No emotion at all. Nothing personal. Think of strategic targets, not soft people.

If that's his idea, Sen. Buckley has not suggested anything new. That's how we bombed in Vietnam. And that's how we bombed in Cambodia the first time, remember?

In fact, the Pentagon and the White House were so unemotional about the earlier bombing of Cambodia, they were comatose. Nixon and the generals thought the bombing was such an unexciting non-event it really wasn't worth talking about. Those clinical bombs dropped for a year and the people paying for them didn't know about it. Neither did most of CONGRESS. Not even the Secretary of the Air Force knew what his planes were doing. That's clinical cool, man.

Sen. Buckley is not asking too much. It is easy to be clinical from behind a cloud or from behind a desk. Just push the button and fly away to cocktail hour. No emotional involvement. Clinical bombing is something like kissing your ugly cousin: peck and run and forget it.

Down on the ground, with the cousins, of course, it's a little more difficult not to become emotionally involved. A clinical bomb might destroy your home, kill your child, or blow off your leg. Nothing personal, of course, but it's hard not to cry.

It's hard not to cry.

Some students create their own

Dan Campbell decided to share-crop an apple orchard to make money for college.

by Mary Warner
of The Clarkston News

What do you do when you're in high school or college student and you haven't yet acquired a marketable skill to entice employers into hiring you? Especially in part-time summer positions, when you need the job?

The answer for some Clarkston area students was to find out what jobs are most in demand, and then go after them.

Like Jill Mowry, 20, of 7130 Deer Lake Road. Jill is majoring in language at Oakland University, so Jill placed an ad for her tutoring services in German.

When that didn't work, she decided she was willing to do just about anything to earn enough money while going to school this summer.

So Jill decided to do window-washing and other household work, and advertised in the local newspaper for jobs.

The response hasn't been good thus far, she said. However she spent all day Friday washing windows, and admitted that although she likes to get away from "brainwork" sometimes, she might get awfully tired of the kind of work she's doing.

But she can't afford to be picky, she said. "We (students) have to take anything we can get in today's job market. Some people think they can afford to be picky, but I know too many friends cooling their heels waiting for the right thing."

Even graduates are having a hard time getting jobs, she said. Her own major will be difficult to use on the job market, she added.

Jill's not the only one to decide to hire herself out for household and lawn tasks. Fifteen-year-old Rick Hagadone of Northview Street advertised for outdoor lawn and garden jobs.

Thus far for Rick, the response has been good. His only problem is fighting allergies, including grass and weeds, that are a natural hazard in his work.

Rick has a reason for spending his free time cutting lawns, trimming hedges and planting flowers. He bought a 1971 Opal for $25 recently, and he and his dad intend to fix it up.

When Rick gets his driver's license, and when the car is in running shape, he's going to need car insurance. So he intends to save his summer work money for that.

Rick went the usual route of many students around Clarkston first—he applied for a job at Pine Knob Music Theater. When that didn't gel, he figured yard work was the next best thing.

Rick's friends are also looking into yard work as a means to earn summer money, he said. But he believes that some of his classmates "haven't even tried" to find a job, and perhaps there are jobs for those who are enterprising enough to really look.

Brian Ellico's mother talked 15-year-old Brian into putting an ad in recently for lawn work. Brian's elder brother did it, he said, and was pretty successful.

Now, Brian, of 5955 Paramus, has got a job on Deer Lake fixing a homeowner's lawn up.

Brian's friends are also looking for jobs. For Brian, at first, he said, it was a desire for a gun that led him to the job market. For a friend of his, it's the desire for a motorcycle that prompts the friend to ride around on his bicycle looking for work.

Clarkston High School senior Dan Campbell has set his sights on Motech Automotive Education Center next fall. That's why he decided to help raise apples on an apple orchard owned by a Perry Lake Road family.

His share-cropping enterprise won't take up all his time this summer, though, so Dan and a friend are considering advertising for house painting jobs.

"Job's aren't easy to find," he said. "You gotta be trained before you get it."

Dan's found that quite a few of his classmates are working, if they can.

"They're working in the fast food places, garages—if they can find the job, they're willing to work," he said.

If Dan does make enough money for fall, he hopes to enter Motech after graduation and possibly specialize in transmission work.

For some looking for work, it's nice to "know the right people." A friend of Rick Hagadone's, Kris Kreiner, was helped along by his mom, who works in Bloomfield Hills Nursing Center.

Kris now mops floors, washes, wheelchairs, and does other tasks at the nursing center. He likes working there, he said, because he gets to meet a lot of people.

Last year Kris umpired for little league. His cash will eventually go for school, he said.

Like mother, like brothers, in Joel North's case. Joel's brothers own their own pop-selling business and Joel makes extra cash helping the brothers on their rounds.

Joel will be graduating this June, and hopes to go to his sister's in California in search of work later on this summer.

Jill Mowry thinks she may get awfully tired of scrubbing windows by summer's end.

Rick Hagadone is doing double duty—he's doing lawn work, even though he's allergic to grass and other weeds and plants.

Rip-offs a shame

To the person or persons who came to the Bailey Lake School Fair prepared to "rip-off" any item in sight:

I hope you have not convinced someone that a Wards Hawthorne Capri bicycle speedometer with approximately 280 miles was purchased with a ticket or two in the White Elephant Room. The speedometer was stolen from our son's bike while he was enjoying the fair with people going in and out of the parking lot at all times. The correct tools must have been used as no damage was done to the bicycle.

We were relieved that the bike had been registered with the Sheriff's Department last year or it might have been taken also even though it was locked to the bike rack in the parking lot.

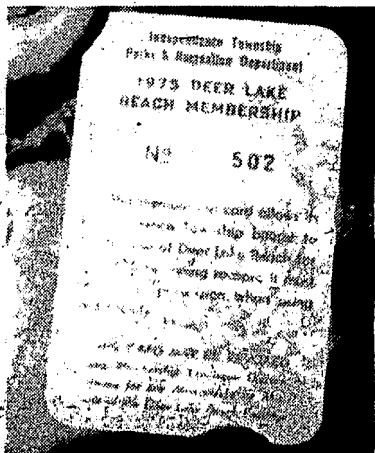

It is a shame when our children cannot enjoy a fair without being the victim of other people's lack of interest or blindness to the purchases brought home without a sales slip.

Israel will be making a move that will have other countries applauding. The word, "Pact", is very large on paper but after a short period of time, the paper becomes burnt around the edges.

Murders are increasing and will continue to do so at an alarming rate. Not just crimes of passion, but all types! A large increase in the neighbor killing neighbor type over last year. What a waste.

Mexico is coming into a hot, hot spell with lack of water a problem. In the midst of all this, there will be a tremor with cracks appearing to add to the confusion. There appears to be dark

Athletes honored

Clarkston High School athletes of the week, selected by coaches and administrators each Monday, are Marie Rathsburg, shot putter with the girls' track team, and Jeff Schatz, pitcher with the Varsity baseball team.

Marie has consistently taken first place, Tuesday placing first in a tri-meet against Bishop Borgess and Marian with a put of 29 feet 9 1/2 inches. Friday she took first place at the girls' regionals at Waterford Township with a put of 32 feet, 7 1/2 inches. She will participate in the state finals in Livonia on May 31.

Schatz is rated as doing an outstanding job this season both on the mound and with the bat. Jeff's pitching record is 5 wins and 1 loss. In the 38 1/2 innings he's pitched, he has walked only 11 and struck out 45. His ERA is 1.99 and his batting average .412.

Rathsburg to enter state meet

Clarkston High School's girls track team participated in a regional meet at Waterford Township. The team picked up seven points to place tenth in a field of sixteen.

Marie Rathsburg won the shot put event with a put of 32-feet, 7 1/2 inches. She will participate in state competition next week.

Various forms of hockey were well known among the ancient Greeks and Persians. Similar games were played in Europe during the Middle Ages. The game was called hoquet in France and was adopted by the English, who altered the name to "hockey". Early forms of hockey were played on open fields. Ice hockey probably arose in Europe during the 18th century, but its present form originated in Canada during the 19th century. Ice hockey is the fastest of all hockey games.

Varsity 9 loses first league game

by Dave Johnson

The Clarkston Varsity baseball team dropped two of three games last week as its overall record fell to 11-5. The Wolves rolled over Waterford Our Lady of the Lakes, 15-2, but lost to Waterford Kettering 4-3, and Clarenceville 7-1. The loss to Clarenceville was Clarkston's first league loss of the season. They had previously won eight straight.

The Wolves had little trouble with highly rated O.L.L. as they banged out thirteen hits to produce fifteen runs. Mike Hooper, Dan Blower, Steve Pearson, and Kevin Hesse each had home runs in the rout. Hooper had four RBI's, Blower and Porritt contributed three each, and Hesse and Pearson knocked in two apiece. Pitcher Bill Mathews picked up his first win on three hits, walked two and struck out five.

Clarkston held a 3-2 advantage going into the 7th inning at Waterford Kettering, but failed to hang on as the Captains scored twice to take a 4-3 victory. The Wolves scored all their runs in the first inning on three hits but were held to two safeties the rest of the game. The loss did not figure into the league record for this was the third confrontation by the two teams and only the first two count.

In the loss to Clarenceville, the Wolves were held to only a pair of hits and a single run. Dan Blower had an RBI single in the first inning and Barth Hoopengartner had a seventh-inning single. That was the Wolves' total offensive attack as they felt their first Wayne-Oakland league defeat.

Clarkston has two non-league games this week in preparation for the pre-District games. The Wolves will face Pontiac Northern, and Pontiac Catholic.

Girls win 2

The girls' varsity softball team gained two victories last week, defeating Kettering and Clarenceville.

Wednesday Clarkston defeated Kettering by a score of 21-10. Senior Cindy Hunt had four hits for the afternoon, including 2 triples, to give her 5 RBI's. Nancy Chartier, Autumn Matlock and Dede Miller collected 3 hits each. Chartier contributed a solo home run in the first inning.

Clarkston defeated Clarenceville 34-7 in a game terminated at the end of the 5th inning. Most of Clarenceville's varsity team went with a school group to Mexico, so a team had to be formed of JV players.

Lead-off batter Cindy Hunt hit a home run to start the game, and the other 20 Clarkston hits proved too much for the weak Clarenceville team. Diane Curry hit a triple and Autumn Matlock collected 7 RBI's. The varsity record is now 6-4.

Saturday, May 24th the girls will travel to Mott for the first game of the state tournament pre-district. Clarkston will play Mott at 2 p.m.

The JV softball team had only one game last week, a narrow defeat to Holly by a score of 10-7. Leading hitters for Clarkston were Kris Kushion who hit a home run, Jill Roberts who added a triple, and Jill Vedder who collected 2 hits in 3 at bats.

Anne Van Loon turned in a fine pitching performance as she struck out 6 batters and allowed only one hit in the three innings that she pitched. The JV record now stands at 3-7.

All-county winners

Cindermen in 3rd

The Clarkston Wolves Track team lost a meet to West Bloomfield, 70-53, dropping their record to 2-3. The Wolves are in third place behind Andover and West Bloomfield.

First place finishes include Paul Brown in the 880 yd. run with a time of 2:04, Dave Kras in the 440 yd. dash in 53.1 seconds, and the 440 yd. relay team in 45.5 seconds. Wayne Thompson won two events including the 100 yd. dash in 10.3 seconds, and the 220 yd. dash with a time of 23.0 seconds.

The Wolves also participated in the Rochester Regionals and placed seventh in a field of seventeen. Wayne Thompson picked up two victories by taking the 100 yd. dash in 10.13 seconds and the 220 yd. dash in 22.3 seconds.

Tim Doherty placed second in the shot put with a put of 50'4". The 440 yd. relay team of Thompson, Sawyer, Blumeneau and Klein took fourth place.

State champs

By Dave Johnson

Clarkston's female golf team traveled to Battle Creek, Michigan to participate in a tournament and returned as State Champions.

The team consisting of juniors Teri Thomson, Allison Booker, Vivian Booker, and sophomore Mary Jane Anderson combined for a remarkable 192 score. They finished ten strokes ahead of second place Hastings.

Mary shot a 50, Teri 48, and the two Booker sisters led the team with 47 strokes apiece.

Six win

The Deer Lake Racquet Club finished up final play in its invitational tennis tournament Sunday. Trophies were given to all the finalists, and a brunch followed afterwards.

Clarkston area winners in division A were Roger Craig in the men's singles, Rich and Pat Solarz for mixed doubles and Pat Solarz again for the women's singles.

In division B, Clarkston resident Tutor ApMadoc and Earl Davis won in the men's doubles, and Kyle Satterlee partnered a win in the mixed doubles.

Wolverines take 2

Clarkston Wolverines came from behind twice last week to win victories over East Hills (9-8) and Cray (16-15).

After being down in the bottom of the seventh and again in the ninth, Tim Fogg led the attack against East Hills with a home run and a triple. Mark Foster added another triple. Tim Birtsas was credited with the victory.

Fogg clinched the Cray game in relief by tying up a 13-6 score in the bottom of the seventh. Steve Sawyer and Skip Kulaszewski led the attack with 4 and 3 hits, respectively. Fogg and Mark Goebel adding 2 each.

Oh well, it's spring....

by Bill Condon

Spring is finally here, and along with it are all of the traditional spring sports. Here at Clarkston High School we are well into the baseball, softball, tennis and track season. With that many sports you would think that there would be ample opportunity for any student who wanted to go out for a sport to do so. There is one member of the faculty who thinks that there is room for one more sport. Ron Whitecliff, a philosophy teacher at C.H.S. is that man, and water polo is that sport.

To get the entire story on this new sport, I went to the home of Ron Whitecliff, where he took time out from coaching the team in his backyard pool to grant an interview. The following is that interview.

ME: Mr. Whitecliff, I'm sure the first thing that crosses anybody's mind is: "Why water polo".

WHITECLIFF: Well, I guess it was because I was brought up on water polo. I was born into the famous Whitecliff family of Dover, New Hampshire...

ME: Oh, so you're one of the famous Whitecliffs of Dover.

WHITECLIFF: Right. My grandfather, James Whitecliff, was the inventor of water polo. You see he had always enjoyed the sport of polo, and of course everyone knows that he was a great swimmer.

ME: I didn't know that.

WHITECLIFF: You mean you've never heard of James Whitecliff, the first man to swim the English Channel entirely underwater? Well anyway he spent his life trying to find how to combine the two sports. His first efforts were total failures. The horses kept drowning. The poor man never lived long enough to see the sport in its present form.

ME: What happened to him?

WHITECLIFF: He was swimming one day and suffered a stroke.

ME: That's too bad. Changing the subject; In order to play water polo, you have to have a pool, and everyone knows that there isn't one at Clarkston High School.

WHITECLIFF: For the time being, we are using my own personal pool. We had a proposal in to flood one of the corridors of the high school every night after school so we would have some place to play, but the school board turned it down. They thought that the parents of the district would object to having a pool hall in their high school. At this time, the members of the team and the "Water Polo Boosters" are selling T-shirts and bumper stickers that say "Whitecliff's Navy" to raise money to build a pool.

ME: What are the goals of the team this year?

WHITECLIFF: Those two net on either end of the pool.

ME: No, I mean what kind of season do you expect?

WHITECLIFF: We expect to go undefeated.

ME: Isn't that kind of wishful thinking for a first-year team?

WHITECLIFF: Not when you consider we have no competition. We are the only water polo team in the area.

ME: One last question Mr. Whitecliff, do you think that water polo will ever be accepted at the high school level?

WHITECLIFF: On, definitely we are becoming more involved in the school every day. Why just last week we were given a role in next year's Homecoming.

ME: What will a water polo team do at Homecoming?

WHITECLIFF: We're in charge of the floats.

JV team is league champ

by Dave Johnson

The Clarkston Junior Varsity baseball team clinched the Wayne-Oakland League championship by defeating Waterford Kettering 6-4, and Clarenceville 7-1. The first-place finish by the JV Wolves was the third straight for coach Roy Warner and his fifth and six years of coaching at CHS.

The Wolves began the week by accepting a forfeited game from Bloomfield Hills Andover. The Barons preferred to forfeit the rained out game instead of rescheduling it for a future date.

On Wednesday, Clarkston and Waterford Kettering opposed each other in the rubber match for their three game series. Each team had defeated the other on foreign grounds. As expected, the Wolves out hit and out scored the Captains, 6-4.

Clarkston took an early first inning lead with a run scoring single by Kevin Ridley. However, Kettering knotted the score at one apiece in the fifth inning.

Fortunately, the Wolves responded with four runs in their half of the fifth inning to take a 5-1 lead. The big hit of the inning was a bases loaded single by Todd Himes which scored all three base runners. The fourth run of the inning scored when Bob Kratt singled home Himes.

Kettering came up with three unearned runs in the sixth inning but it wasn't enough to catch Clarkston.

Pitcher Don Blower won his second game of the year, but needed relief help from Jeff Schatz to preserve the victory. Blower threw 5 2/3 innings, gave up four hits, walked four and struck out five. Schatz earned his third save of the season as he struck out 3 of the last 4 batters.

On Friday, the Wolves avenged an earlier 5-4 loss to Clarenceville by defeating them 7-1.

Clarkston took an early lead by scoring five runs in the first inning. Larry Bennett singled and advanced to second when Mark Czinder got hit by the pitch. Dick Armstrong walked to load the bases and Kevin Ridley responded with a single to score one runner. Two Trojan errors allowed the other four runs to score.

The Wolves increased their lead to 7-0 with a pair of runs in the third inning. Don Blower and Jim Dennis each hit sacrifice flies to produce both runs.

Clarenceville's lone run scored in the sixth inning on a wild pitch. Other than that, pitcher Jeff Schatz was in complete control of the game. The victory was his fifth, against one loss. Jeff scattered five hits, walked three, and struck out six.

Clarkston has three games scheduled this week against Pontiac Northern, Brandon, and hopefully Pontiac Catholic.

CJH track team undefeated

The Clarkston Jr. High 9th grade track team has now brought its record to 8 wins and 0 losses. In a Friday meet against Bloomfield Hills, the team took all but one of the first places, compiling a 88 1/2 to 33 1/2 victory.

Rick Jenks won the high jump, high hurdles and low hurdles. In the high and lows, he was followed closely by Bruce and Barry Collins.

Bill Singleton placed first in the pole vault with Chris Leaf second. Ray Bell won the long jump. Clarkston 880-relay of Bruce Collins, Singleton, Leaf and Jeff Boyer won, as did the record breaking 440-relay of Singleton, Jenks Bell and Baker. The mile-relay of Gayle Mohler, Kevin Sutherland, Barry Davis and Rick June finished in a dead heat.

In the mile, Paul Maas brought home a win with his fastest time of 5:01.9. Matt Harris took an easy victory in the 2 mile. Clarkston took all 3 places in both the 100 and 220, John Baker winning both, Ray Bell close on his heels.

Jeff Boyer pulled in 3rd in the 100 and Chris Leaf did the same in the 220. Baker tied the school record in the 220 with 24.3. In the 440 Barry Davis strode to victory with Mohler 3rd.

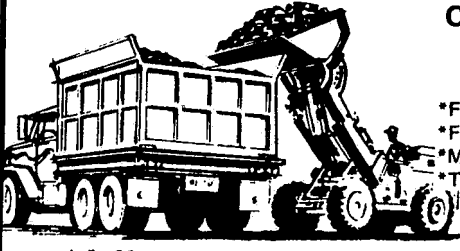

3rd hunting ban hearing

A third public hearing in regard to banning part of the township to all hunting and limiting other areas to the use of shotguns with smaller than No. 2 shot will take place at 7 p.m. June 10 at Independence Township.

The hunting control board, comprised of state, county and local officials, is expected to recommend the shotgun limits for all that area south of I-75, and close to firearm use completely part of Section 29 to 450 feet east of Chickadee, land between M-15 and Allen Road along Hubbard, and property 1500 feet either side of Perry Lake Road for a mile north of I-75. Greens Lake is also banned to hunting, as is the village area and property owned by Camp Fire Girls around Gulick Lake.

The township board will have 15 days to either accept or reject the recommendations.

Cougar track teams winding up

This year's Cougar track team has a record of 3 wins and 3 losses, defeating Mason, West Hills, and Millford Junior Highs. The team has two remaining meets left in the regular season, against Walled Lake Western (Home) and Walled Lake Central (Away).

On Saturday, May 24, the team will compete in the ninth grade Oakland County Meet which will be at West Bloomfield High School, and the 7th and 8th graders will compete in their league meet on May 29, which will be at Waterford Mott High School. One new school record has been set this year in the 880-yard relay with a time of 1:44.2. The members of the relay are Syd Standing, Don Ferguson, Steve Evans, and Richard Walenski.

Individual performances spark team

Five individual efforts on the park of Sashabaw Junior High School girls' track team promises a good season, despite early losses.

Ninth grader Sue Frazier has placed first in meets against Rochester VanHoosen, Rochester West, and in a triangular meet with Muir and Highland setting a new school record of 4 feet, 7 inches. She also placed first in the high and low hurdles.

Michelle Valliencourt, ninth grader, set a new school record for the mile run and has placed in all three meets.

Despite their efforts, the team lost to VanHoosen by 76-38 and to Rochester West by 78-44. It placed second with 66 in the triangular meet, Muir racking up 74 and Highland 16.

The team will run next against Rochester Reuther with its final meet May 29 against Clarkston Junior High.

July 31 - puppetmobile
August 8 - sportsmobile
August 13 - skatemobile
August 20 - puppetmobile.

Records fall at CJH

Clarkston Junior High girls' track defeated Bloomfield Hills Junior High 80-34 May 13.

School records were set by Jane Tatu in the shot put, Mary Olney in the mile, Linda Foster in the 440, Melinda Vance in the low hurdles, and in the dashes by Lori Lewis in the 60, Marie Vance in the 75, and Sandy McAlevy in the 220.

Records were also set by 880, mile and 440 relay teams.

Joanne Ford and Sally Sobocienski tied for first place in the high jump, Debbie Graves in the 75 and Marcia Mason in the low hurdles.

The team fell to Rochester West May 16 by a score of 73-41. They will travel Friday to Rochester Van Hoosen and close out the season May 29 against Sashabaw Junior High.

conclude that the real difference in buying a car is the dealer you buy it from.

The ideal dealer to buy a car from offers a fair price on the new unit, as well as an honest dollar for the car you trade in. However, the most important factor is the service that you receive on your new car year after year.

The Writers of the 1975 Review would like to point out a dealer that considers the most important part of selling a car the quality service he can offer you after the sale. We are talking about Flannery Ford at Highland Rd. (M-59) at Pontiac Airport in Waterford, phone 674-4781, dealers for the famous FORD automobiles. See them today for a new or quality used car, and you'll see why we say "Customer Consideration" is their byword.

Ford stands for quality and service and Dick Flannery stands for Ford.

ME AND MINE

By Pat Sherwood

The big tip-off in salons!

If you're like me, the process of giving gratuities can be fraught with self-doubt and personal mis-givings. Am I over-tipping? (They're laughing behind their scissors at me.) Am I undertipping? They'll sabotage my streaks the next time I come in. Well, I've worked out an almost foolproof chart that should take the worry out of the whole process. I've based my tip suggestions on prices gathered from a survey of salons.

- SHAMPOOER 50c
- HAIR-CUTTER $1.00
- BLOW-DRYER
 (or SETTER) 50c
- SHOP OWNER One person
 you do not tip when she/he does your hair. Instead, perhaps a bottle of wine at Christmas.
- MANICURIST 50c

Whenever in doubt about tips, 15% of the bill is always okay. If someone does great work don't be afraid to give something extra. And if service has really been poor, don't tip at all—a gratuity is given only in appreciation of good service.

SALUTE TO THE FLAG

During the ceremony of hoisting or lowering the Flag, or when the Flag is passing in a parade or in a review, all persons present should face the Flag, stand at attention, and salute. Those present in uniform should render the military salute. When not in uniform, men should remove the headdress with the right hand, holding it at the left shoulder, the hand being over the heart. Men without hats should salute in the same manner. Aliens should stand at attention. Women should salute by placing the right hand over the heart. The salute to the Flag in the moving column should be rendered at the moment the Flag passes.

CARRIAGE RIDES DURING "Village Stroll Days" in Clarkston Village May 22, 23 & 24th

Everyone is welcome to come and join in the fun.

Park budget uncertain, pending federal funds

Uncertainty about possible sources of income has postponed any firm decision by the Springfield Township Parks and Recreation Commission on trimming their budget.

The commission hopes funds from two federal sources will increase the amount the commission can spend, which is at this point about $18,000 in operating and land acquisition revenues.

The commission was allocated $11,000 for 1975-76 operations, had $2,000 left in the budget from last year, and also has $5,000 in time certificates set aside in the land purchase and development fund.

Members budgeted $25,927 for operations this year, the majority for improvements in the Dilley Road Park and the Mill Pond Beach.

They only have $13,000 to work with, though, for those improvements--the allocated funds from the township board and the excess left over from last year.

They were to try and cut out some budgeted items at a Tuesday meeting, but instead decided to apply for funds from the federal Land and Water Conservation Fund.

Those funds would have to be on a matching basis with the township, director Dave Conklin said.

The commission decided to set aside the $5,000 in time certificates, plus $2,500 budgeted for land acquisition, and try to get a matching $7,500 grant from the Land and Water Conservation Fund.

The commission is also hoping for funds from the federal Community Development Act.

While waiting for those funds, the commission will seek donations of some of the needed items from various sources, plus ask help from Springfield service organizations.

Collin Walls, former commission chairman, said, the commission had already been donated row boat and life guard stand for the Mill Pond beach.

Conklin will be paid 15 cents a mile for a maximum of 200 miles per month, the Commission determined.

That appropriation could run the commission as much as $360 extra yearly, and Walls said he does not know how the commission will fit it in.

Ostensibly, the budget will be cut in half for now, Walls said, but planned recreation department activities and improvements will continue.

Clarkston Farm and Garden Club members Jeanette Hitchcock (from left), Doris Beattie and Marietts Bullard (holding granddaughter, Elizabeth) demonstrate the hanging baskets they'll be making and selling during Stroll Days this week. The club will be demonstrating the art Thursday evening and all day Friday in the Village Parking Lot, Main and Washington.

PUBLIC NOTICE

By authority conferred on the Hunting Area Control Committee by Sections 2 and 3 of Act No. 159, Public Acts of 1967, and Section 251 of Act 380, Public Acts of 1965, a public hearing will be held in the Independence Township Hall, 90 North Main St., Clarkston, on Tuesday, June 10, 1975, at 7:00 p.m. At this hearing the Hunting Area Control Committee will present proposed rules for local area hunting controls within areas of Independence Township, Oakland County. These rules will become effective 15 days after filing with the Secretary of State.

All interested persons are invited to attend and offer comments orally or in writing.

Haupt Motor employes celebrated happily last week with representatives of Pontiac Motors sales division and a silent on-looker at the Old Mill. The occasion was the presentation to Haupt of the Wooden Indian marking greatest increased sales volume in Pontiac zone dealerships over April last year. The zone includes Ohio, Indiana and Michigan. Haupt sold more than 90 new cars, increasing their output 78 percent over that for April a year ago. The award is a new one, having been presented only four times, and Haupt has been the runner-up each time. From left to right are D. I. Pettingill, Haupt owner, Jack Losch, assistant zone manager, Skip Williams, Haupt sales manager, Jim Laclete, zone manager, Don Short, Haupt owner, and Jim Stewart, district sales manager.

Historical group sponsors Springfield emblem contest

The Springfield Township Historical Society is sponsoring a contest for the design of an emblem representative of the township. Prize money of $25 will be awarded the winner. The emblem will be presented to the Springfield Township Board for adoption as the official seal.

All entries should be submitted not later than June 30 to Norris Walls, 627 Broadway, Davisburg, 48019. Any medium is acceptable, though size should not exceed 8 1/2"x11". There is no age limit and all entries welcome.

For further information, phone Sandy Webster, 634-9703.

Accident victim dies

Frances A. Adair, an Ortonville woman involved in a crash on M-15, May 11, died May 13 of injuries suffered in the crash.

Mrs. Adair, of 586 E. Ridge Drive, was driving south on M-15 when her auto collided with a north-bound pick-up.

She suffered a cerebral hemorrhage, cervical spine fracture and other related injuries.

Funeral services were held Friday in Clarkston; burial was in Ortonville Cemetery. She is survived by her husband, Robin, four sons, her parents and a brother.

Clinic was a good time to snooze

Ho, hum when will it all be done? Julie Girdley of Ortonville may have been thinking as she lounged in a grocery cart at Ritter's Farm Market during the third annual Clarkston Garden Clinic. Many people showed up during the Saturday and Sunday clinic, asking such questions as how far apart to plant different seeds and how to take care of garden pests. Fielding the questions was Dave Coulter, Clarkston News garden editor, and Tom Ritter.

In memoriam

Richard C. Ganther was reportedly the first Clarkston resident killed in action during World War II.

The Clarkston News of February 12, 1943, carried the following account: "Those in this district who knew Richard Ganther of 10412

Andersonville Road were sorry to learn of his being killed in action in the southwest Pacific.

"His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ganther, were notified in a telegram from the navy department on Tuesday.

"Sargeant Ganther, who was 21 years old, graduated from Clarkston High School in the class of '39. He enlisted in the Marines on May 14, 1941. He graduated from the Naval Air School at Jacksonville, Fla., as an aviation mechanic on December 6, 1941.

"Besides his parents he is survived by a brother, Earl, 14, at home."

Prowler stabs man

A Clarkston man suffered superficial stab wounds early Thursday morning in a scuffle with prowlers near his home, Oakland County Sheriff's deputies reported.

Robert Ballard of Perry Lake Road told police he heard noises in his barn about 2 a.m. and went out with a flashlight and gun to investigate.

Ballard said he'd been having trouble with 'kids partying in the new subdivision behind him before, he told police.

Ballard chased three suspects out, he told police, and then pursued one of them.

A scuffle was the fleeing suspect and Ballard ensued, and the suspect stabbed Ballard with a knife, deputies said.

The person then took off running, and Ballard fired three shots after him. The person fell to the ground, deputies said, but Ballard's gun jammed, and the suspect took off running.

Sheriff's deputies brought in a tracking dog but did not apprehend the suspects.

Sheriff's deputies did find a steak knife that had been put in Ballard's barn by his son.

Ballard treated his wounds--one in the chest and one in the arm--at home.

Rotary sponsors career night for grades 9-12

Students in grades 9 to 12 and their parents have been invited to attend a Rotary/school sponsored career night at Clarkston High School.

Some 40 representatives of different occupations will be present in the school auditorium and cafeteria to discuss their vocations with interested students from 7:30 p.m. on May 28.

Fields represented will include the services, skilled trades, federal and county government, airlines, newspapers, state police, hospitals, plastics, pharmaceutical, medicine, veterinary medicine, dentistry, medical services, construction, attorney, radio and television, engineering, heating and air conditioning, postal service, telephone company, barbering, accounting, hotel and restaurant management, retailing, funeral director and others.

Students who are parking their bikes at school better take ample precautions against theft.

Two bikes were reported stolen from area schools last week. One, valued at $160 was taken from outside Clarkston High School last Tuesday.

Another, valued at $100, was reported taken from Clarkston Elementary School last Wednesday.

Oakland County Sheriff's reports are showing an increasing number of bike thefts as summer arrives, the bikers would do well to register their bikes.

Tom Wilford, CETA employe with the village maintenance crew, resigned this week to fulfill an ambition. He's going to walk the Michigan Lower Peninsula shoreline of Lake Michigan, traversing 14 counties on his way to the Mackinaw Bridge.

Tickets to amusement parks like Bob Lo and Cedar Point can be obtained at Independence Township Hall, 90 N. Main.

The township parks and recreation department has made available tickets to the above parks, and also Sea World in Ohio, and Greenfield Village and the Henry Ford Museum.

Tickets to Cedar Point are $5.60 for children and $6.60 for adults. Tickets to Bob Lo are $6 for children and $7 for adults. For Sea World, tickets are $3.50 for children and $4.25 for adults, and for Greenfield and Henry Ford, $2.25 for children and $2.50 for adults.

The tickets will be at the treasurer's office at the township hall.

Hallelujah! The parking lot in the shopping center at Dixie Highway and M-15 has been paved. No more lost Volkswagens in holes big enough to swallow them, no more damaged shocks, no more tripping through holes. Owners, we congratulate you!

A lost baby beef is probably on somebody's dinner menu, the Donald Morlocks of Hillsboro in Springfield Township, think. A 500-pound black angus steer they were raising for beef disappeared from their barn three weeks ago, they said, and they've heard nary a word about him since. They don't know how he got out. "He's an ambitious little guy," they said, "but he would have had to make his getaway in a foot-square opening." The angus is probably worth at least $100 and is not covered by insurance.

Oakland Community College Board of Trustees has voted to increase tuition $1.50 an hour. The new rate is still below average tuition for community colleges in the state. Total charges for county residents is $11.50 per credit hour as a result of the hike.

Watch out for slow-downs this weekend on I-75 between Bridgeport and Bay City where a 22-mile section is being widened and traffic narrows from three to two lanes at seven bridge sites. While construction is being shut down for the weekend, minor traffic slowdowns are expected.

Those wishing to use Clarkston Schools tennis courts must reserve them through the township Parks and Recreation Department. There's no charge. Until school lets out in June, the courts can only be reserved for nights and weekends, but can be reserved anytime once school's out. Court permits can be picked up at the recreation department.

Work was to start on the Upper Mill Pond this week, according to Charles Purves, who has the contract for the work. Dredging of the bottom and the ridding the water-of pollution is the aim.

Township officials also said work on the new park road at Clintonwood Park, the new township park, was to be accomplished within 10 days.

CJH wins 'golden foot'

Clarkston Junior High School will be the recipient of the Golden Foot award for most participants in the independence center Bike-a-thon/Walk-a-thon Saturday.

CJH students made up 62 of the 125 participants. Clarkston High School and Sashabaw Junior High will join with CJH in receiving 10 percent of the proceeds of the charity walk-ride.

The rest of the money will go to independence center to help support its operations for the balance of the year.

Amounts pledged have not been tabulated yet; participants must now collect their pledges and turn them in by May 30.

The Golden Foot award and the check to independence center will be handed over by the Clarkston Area Jaycees, who sponsored the fund-raising event, during the first week in June.

The amount collected may be sizable--one person alone was pledged $93.

First walkers in were Frank and Francine Haslip of Pine Knob Road. Checking them are Trina Bailey and Roonie Daniels.

Cleanup a success

Enough trash dumped free by Independence Township residents over the last four spring clean-up days has probably shortened the life of the Ben Powell landfill on Clarkston Road by a year.

Jerry Powell said the fill will continue to be operated until January 1, 1977, and hopefully still be some room after that.

During the last two weekends, township residents got rid of 169 car loads, 1,030 pickup loads and 31 dump truck loads of trash. The township picked up the bill, $5,981 out of the $6,300 budgeted.

Each year use of the free dumping privileges during two weekends in May has increased, Powell said, the load this year being about half again the amount dumped last year.

Mayaguez ordeal over for Orion

By DICK KRAUSE

For Regina Vandenberghe of Lake Orion a four-day ordeal ended early Friday morning with news that her son and other crew members of the U.S.S. Mayaguez had been freed from Cambodian captors by United States Marines.

Her son, David Christopher English, 28 is third mate of the merchant vessel which was seized by Cambodian forces Monday, May 12.

Mrs. Vandenberghe and her husband reside at Lake Orion's Guest House where she is employed as a waitress. Her husband, Carl, is a groundskeeper at Guest House.

Mrs. Vandenberghe has another son, Richard, 25, also a member of the merchant marine, and a daughter, Diane O'Brien, 21, a nurse's aide at Glen Acres Nursing Home in Lake Orion.

"Diane and David were so called. "She cried, and said 'he's going to get killed,' and I told her not to talk like that, he'll be all right."

Throughout the ordeal of the seizure, fighting, and release, Mrs. Vandenberghe remained firm in her faith that David would be rescued.

"When he was born, I insisted on his middle name, Christopher," she said. "St. Christopher is the patron of travellers."

The word that David was, in fact, all right, came at approximately 12:30 a.m. Friday when Mrs. Vandenberghe received a telephone call from another Guest House employee telling her of a television news bulletin describing the rescue of the crew. She had gone to bed after the 11 p.m. news at which time the retaking of the ship without the crew was reported.

When she received word of the crew's rescue her thoughts carried her back to David's boyhood.

"When I first heard it, my thoughts were of my 'little golden-haired boy,'" she recalled. "Even when he was young, he was full of adventure."

David was born Jan. 1, 1947. When he enlisted in the Marine Corps June 1, 1964 his father had to sign for him because he was not legal age. David served one year in DaNang, South Vietnam. After his enlistment, he joined the merchant marine in June 1968.

David's brother, Richard, 25, is also a member of the merchant marine. He is currently working on his captain's papers. It was through Richard that Mrs. Vandenberghe knew David was aboard the Mayaguez.

"Richard called last Monday night and said he had seen David in Washington and he was taking the Mayaguez, and that the ship was captured 60 miles out at sea," she said. "My sister in Massachusetts called the same night and said my brother, Jamie, had heard David's name mentioned as the ship's third mate on a shortwave broadcast."

David lives in Singalong, Manila with his Swiss wife, Cora, and their two children, David, 4, and Cora, 2.

Dozers busy at Independence-Oaks

Construction is moving along rapidly at Independence Oaks county park this spring, with a projected completion date of next fall for phase one. That includes the swimming pond and accompanying parking lot and bath house, two picnic areas and shelters, a contact station, the front entranceway and the boat launch.

The park has been closed during the work, and won't reopen until Memorial Day in 1976.

In the last two weeks the dozers have carved out the new entrance, located south of Hoyt Road on Sashabaw. They have etched out a road back to the large bathing pond, and dug the beach area parking lot, which will hold 162 cars.

The huge swimming pond was dug this winter.

They were working on the secondary picnic area parking lot Friday, and work was to begin this week on the boat launch.

Some people have complained about the park's closing, a park attendant said. But it would be unsafe to open the park with all the construction going on, he said.

Ultimately, the park will accommodate 4,000 people daily, to swim in the pond, fish, and boat in Crooked Lake, picnic and enjoy the nature study areas.

A road back to the dug-out swimming pool was carved by dozers the past two weeks.

The future bathhouse will sit here, on two hills with an overhead walkway between. To the left will be the parking lot for the beach area.

Children, dogs, cats and chickens

Harris home is a lively one

COUNTRY LIVING

The chickens out back supply the Harrises with plenty of eggs.

Church pews serve as dining room chairs.

Embroidered clock is Norma's artwork.

Plush carpeting and chairs in the living room make it Norma's favorite.

The family room is decorated with Harris artwork, such as the wooden candle on the fireplace mantle and the chair in the corner Norma recovered.

by Mary Warner
of The Clarkston News

It's quiet at the Harrises--for now. That's because Norma Harris is alone during the daytime, seeing the dishes, ironing and vacuuming, jobs not possible when four children and a husband careened around the night before.

The tulips are blooming in front, and Sandy the collie is frolicking around the backyard, trying to get Norma to play 'throw the stick' with her.

In the rear of the yard, chickens are clucking around, pecking at grain and other chickens.

Inside, the Harris home is spacious enough to accommodate children ranging in age from 19 to 9.

Talents of the entire family are displayed in all the rooms. In the dining room, an entire cupboard is devoted to the plants that are son Marq Jr's hobby.

The dining room table--"one of our first pieces of furniture that wasn't early attic," Norma jokes is surrounded by two large benches that are church pews cut down and refinished by husband Marquis Sr.

On the wall of the dining room is an oil painting of a carved bridge--Marq, Sr.'s creation.

Over the fireplace in the family room hangs a musket hand-tooled by Norma's father. On the mantle is a wooden candle that 14-year-old Matthew made in wood-working class at Clarkston Junior High.

Each piece of furniture looks as if it was meant for the place it occupies. That's because it's been carefully selected by Marq and Norma over the years, according to their special tastes.

The dining room is empty. The process of furnishing is not yet complete yet, and more trips to the Ortonville flea market for bargains like the beautiful table in the living room--only $89--will be made in the future.

The living room is done in blues, and is the center of company and family gatherings, like the Bible study session the Harrises held just last week.

It's a happy home, with lots of fun-filled hours, Mrs. Harris indicated. She doesn't mind the commotion and problems of a large family entails, she said. The only thing she minds is the constant dust a country dwelling collects.

Her family joins in to tend a large garden, and her nine-year-old shows a proficiency in canning corn that surprises a neighbor and pleases Norma.

There's enough vegetables canned and frozen by Norma to last the winter, and enough children-power in the spring to tend the garden.

The Harrises moved to their home in Clarkston five years ago, and country living, she said, drew the children together. It's fun to watch the 16-year-old and 14-year-old do the dishes, she said.

"It takes them two hours because they're so busy talking."

Carol, the youngest, has begun knitting for a new 4-H class, and, according to Norma, "knits better than I do."

Matthew, 14, is the "chicken boy," who willingly takes care of the feeding. Cindy is the straight-A student, and Michael is the "pack-rat", who collects odds and ends in his room and likes to make models.

Marq James, 19, is going to college at Michigan State University, majoring in wildlife and fish management. The pigeons sitting on a corner of the lawn outside are his--they have won prizes at the Michigan State Fair.

A lot of the Harris time is devoted to a church--the United Methodist in Clarkston. Marq is on the council of ministries; Norma teaches Bible study and chairs one of the women's circles.

Both the Harrises have taken classes in adult education throughout their married life, which accounts for the paintings by Norma displayed on the staircase wall.

She even hand-embroidered the dining room clock.

It's a busy home--pretty lively, Norma says. "I wouldn't trade it for two housefuls of furniture," she declared.

Simulation helps commission know their job

[Edit. note: The following is part of a study session of the Independence Township Planning Commission. The study case described below was used by the township planner to aid the commission in understanding their duties.]

It's 8:30 p.m. in Independence Township. Up on the top floor of the township hall, lights dimly illuminate a corner of the large meeting room.

It's war, with the Independence Township Planning Commission on one side and a developer on the other. It's the toughest developer the commission has faced yet.

The commission is squirming as the developer asks penetrating questions about the township zoning laws, land use map and planning goals in the township.

There's no one this evening to help the commission--the township planner has "found a job elsewhere," the developer jokes.

The commission is on its own, and while members lack the training that an experienced planner has in examining requests from developers, they ask some of the correct questions of him about his requested rezoning.

The developer is asking for a cluster zoning under the R-1-C, rural residential clustering. His property is currently R-1-R--rural residential. Under R-1-R, the developer would only be allowed to plat lots three acres or larger.

Under the R-1-C, he would be allowed one-and-one-half acre lots.

But the issue is complicated, because the planner wants to cluster the amount of lots he would be allowed under the R-1-C zoning. To do so, he can reduce the square footage allowed for each lot to 33,000 square feet.

He must still remain the same density allowed under the R-1-C zoning, though, even though he is making the lots smaller. Therefore he proposes to maintain some open spaces in his acreage, even deed them over to the township to preserve open space.

The commission is not sure what this guy wants. Members wonder over to a stand of maps, flipping them over. Some discussion centers around whether or not the map they presume to be their master land use guide is in fact the one they recently passed.

The developer gives them a hint, telling them it is the same one, only it's been drawn over again with different magic markers.

The map is used to determine whether the developer's plan would be consistent with the township land use plan. The commission also checks the zoning ordinance to see whether such clustering is allowable. It is.

Members ask how much land is taken up for the proposed open space conservancy. They ask how much land the township has set aside for parks. The developer tells them it's their job to know how much, not his.

They ask if soil borings have been taken to see if a perk test would be successful.

They ask whether a buffer zone (berm is the term they use) planned for one end of the property fronting on an expressway.

They ask how many houses will be built--what type--how many people will reside in them.

The developer asks the chairman, who is also an assistant school superintendent, what the projected enrollment is in the school near the proposed development.

Many more questions are asked by both sides.

"I think you're going to get an 'awful' one commission member rates another on the type of questions he's asking.

The commission did not receive an "awful" for its performance that evening, but it still needed to do a little bit more homework, Larry Burkhart, planner for the township indicated.

Because Burkhart was the developer, playing a very tough but non-existent person for the benefit of the planning commission's increased knowledge of township planning and the commission's role in it.

The scene upstairs is only what Burkhart termed a simulation," of what could actually take place in the future.

"We're fighting an important battle, and the stakes are high," Burkhart explained later of his reasoning behind holding the simulation.

So the commission must be prepared with enough information to make intelligent--and defensible--decisions on zoning.

Luckily, the commission voted in favor of the rezoning of the imaginary developer. Because the proposal was consistent with the zoning ordinance, the master plan, and the land use map, Burkhart said.

Open space is desirable, he said.

And the commission did grasp that it should be aware of what the township master plan calls for, what good planning principles for the township are, and what the zoning ordinance will allow.

This is the first time Burkhart has attempted such a simulation with the planning commission. He has held study sessions, but the commission was unaware that it would be hit with this unique under-the-gun type of training.

"Just goes to show you how much we depend on our planner's recommendation," one commission member commented.

"A well-informed commission is a good commission," Burkhart entoned.

Years ago the mortgage on a home was considered to be a despicable burden to be paid off as soon as possible, at any sacrifice. The reason partly stemmed from the fact that mortgages then were not self-liquidating, and the viper in the black cloak could show up any day to foreclose. Now, most mortgages liquidate themselves with each payment, and ability to pay is based on income earned rather than accumulated capital.

Through our long term association with local financial institutions, the knowledgeable people at BOB WHITE REAL ESTATE, 5856 S. Walls resigns park post Collin Walls, chairman of the Springfield Township Parks and Recreation Commission, has resigned that post.

Walls cited a lack of time as the main reason for stepping down after serving two-and-one-half years of his elected six-year term.

The Springfield Township Board will have to appoint someone for the remaining three-and-one-half years of his term.

The park commission, which accepted Walls' resignation last Tuesday, will be making recommendations to the township board for a possible replacement.

Walls, a real estate salesman at Walls Real Estate in Davisburg, said he wants to devote more time to his business and his family. He will also have increased duties in the Rotary Club when he begins as assistant district governor next year, he said.

Walls said he has been considering resigning for at least the last six weeks, but wanted to "tie some ends together" in park business before he left.

He estimated he spent 10-15 hours a week on park business, which "was just too time-consuming."

Mill Pond beach opening

The Mill Pond beach in Davisburg will open this Sunday, May 25, from noon to 8 p.m. daily.

The beach will be run by the Springfield Township Recreation Department, and life guards will be on duty during all opening hours.

The recreation department will be conducting swimming classes there beginning June 23 for all ages. Anyone interested should contact Dave Conklin, parks director, at Springfield Township Hall, 625-4802.

To qualify for the lessons, persons must be residents of the township.

The recreation department will also be sponsoring classes in archery and self-defense soon; for more information contact Conklin.

There are still some openings left in the golf and tennis classes, Conklin added.

By James and Ellen Windell
Many families seem to have at least one child who "won't shut up". This is a child who is constantly talking, often about trivial matters, asks incessant questions, will argue any issue, and must always have the last word.

These children do not seem to follow any particular pattern. Some are the first born and were early talkers, as early as six months, while others are middle or later children and may have been slow in their language development. Others are hyperactive children and just as they are always moving about, they are always talking. However, parents report that once they begin to talk, "You can't shut them up".

Such children might be termed hyper-wordy or excessively wordy. Parents are usually concerned if their child fails to speak at about age two, but if the child is an extremely verbal child, he soon tries the patience of everyone who has to listen to him or her. It is difficult for parents, especially those raised in a "Children should be seen and not heard" atmosphere, to tolerate the annoyance of a never-silent youngster. Problems at school may develop, too, as the teacher may see the child as a disobedient disrupter.

The reasons for the development of such behavior are perhaps complicated and differ from child to child. In the hyperactive child, it may be part of an impulsive pattern featuring poor controls and faulty inhibitory capacity. In other children, it might be anxiety or poor discipline. In the slow to talk child, it may develop because the child has been encouraged and rewarded for talking and parents resist controlling something they waited so long for. Some children, too, are easily stimulated and over-emotional and reflect this through verbosity. Then, too, because of permissiveness on the parents part, the child perhaps has not learned to control many aspects of his or her life.

It is important for parents who have such a child to be aware that they are not alone. Many families experience the frustration of a non-stop talker. Regardless of the "problem" with which a parent is faced, the important thing is for the parent to survive; to live through it. It is well to keep in mind that this "problem" may be the parent's problem rather than the child's.

Also, it is necessary for the parents to exert some control and not be that concerned about causing such a child to be disturbed. However, if the child talks because of anxiety and there are other symptoms then professional advice might be sought. As in handling other kinds of situations with children, the youngster should not be criticized and the expression of opinion, which in this case may be perpetual, should be viewed as something other than disrespect toward the parent.

Kindergartners tested, enrolled

Clarkston Community Schools will be providing a pre-school kindergarten screening program for all youngsters who were unable to participate in the initial screening during the week of April 21.

Registration and screening will be at the Special Services Building on May 28 from 9 a.m. to 12 p.m. and 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. Parents are requested to bring their child's birth certificate.

The pre-kindergarten screening program is designed to enable parents, teachers and other school personnel to provide the most effective learning experience for each child. Specific areas to be evaluated are vision, hearing, speech and language development, gross motor development and ability assessment.

Parents with a child, planning to enter school in the fall of 1975, are encouraged to enroll

Just about the time I start thinking a presidential candidate is worthy of support someone throws cold water on me.

In this case three people are involved. Ronald Reagan, Jim Fitzgerald and Jerry Brown.

To begin with I've been more of an "agin" voter than a "for" voter. It comes down to voting for the best of the lot, eliminating enroute to the polls. Seldom does the candidate really stand out.

We in Michigan are being subjected rather early in the campaign to White House hopefuls. Ronald Reagan came to Oakland County April 26, and said some things that put him atop my "for" column.

The former governor of California could well be billed as Americanism Personified. He's four square behind what we've been made believe is the backbone of America.

To those who talk of nationalizing the oil industry Reagan will cite the U.S. Postal Service as an example of government running a business. The applause is deafening.

"Profit, property and freedom are inseparable."

"Social Security is an economic time bomb and only a fifth rate insurance."

Let's hear it for the conservatives. He also said, "We can all have a bigger slice of apple pie if government will get the hell out of the way and let the free enterprise system work."

And, "People kill, not guns," "Tax reform should provide the money government needs, not the money government wants", and "Management, too, is guilty of turning too often to government for answers it ought to provide for itself."

Boy, do we need a guy like that leading the country. Let me into that voting booth.

Now, enters Fitzgerald with an editorial in The Lapeer County Press.

"... Regan stands for things like balanced budgets, lower taxes and austerity in government, but like most Republicans, his record doesn't reflect it.

His successor in California is a 37-year-old Democrat, Jerry Brown. Reagan, when governor, traveled in a state-owned jet, or limousines guarded by a squad of highway patrolmen. Brown put the limousines up for auction. He flies commercial and rides in a Plymouth with 1 plain-clothesman.

Brown vows never to move into the $1.3 million Governor's mansion that was started by Reagan. Instead he lives in a $250 a month apartment.

Brown's budget is up 4.6% over last year. Reagan's budget was up an average of 12.2% each year he was in office.

Declaring that the "liberalism of the '60s is dead," Brown emphasizes the failure of many great-expectation programs. He said, "The fact that there's a problem doesn't mean that more government will make it better. It might make it worse." Gimme a Jerry Brown ballot.

Unique Junktique draws the crowds

An old wringer washer drew the interest of Oran Harris.

A "Unique Junktique" held at the Clarkston United Methodist Church Saturday brought out the crowds to buy such things as old books, clothes, electrical equipment, dressers, beds and even washers and dryers.

People were lined up to get in at 7:30 a.m., according to church member John Matthews, and by afternoon, a large number of items were sold.

Some bought so they could "tinker", one member said, like the man who bought a record pleyer that didn't work "just so he could play around with it."

With the exception of one member accidentally spewing out a vacuum cleaner all over the floor, things went smoothly, members said.

And for those who came at lunch-time, hotdogs and donuts were sold for refreshments.

Costume jewelry was only part of the wide range of items on sale.

Bridging ceremony

by Mary Warner,
phone 625-3370

Girl Scouts will be honored at a bridging ceremony at 7 p.m. Thursday, May 29 at Clarkston High School Little Theater. Jill Roberts, Laura Maas and Judy Tower are due to be graduated from Scouts.

Hypnosis will be demonstrated by James H. Hokex of Inner Visions Inc., Southfield, at a program at 7:30 p.m. May 28 at Mason Junior High School, 3835 Walton, Drayton Plains. Tickets are $2 for adults and $1 for students, and are available at the door.

The program is sponsored by Multi Lakes Chapter of the American Business Women Association; proceeds earmarked for its scholarship fund.

Here's a chance to attend Gentlewoman's Tea. The Ladies of the Meadowbrook Woman's Club will be serving from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. May 29 at Meadow Brook Hall. Tickets are $4, proceeds to benefit the Academy of Dramatic Art.

Early American craft booths can be rented at Pontiac Mall Shopping Center July 14 to 20 for the Good Olde Summertime Festival, coordinated by the Waterford Bicentennial Committee. To reserve a booth, call Mrs. Helen Welsh, 673-0019.

Tom Libert of Tom's Place went to Florida over the weekend and wound up in the hospital with pneumonia. He's back now and healthy, but it wasn't exactly his idea of how to visit friends.

We understand Ingrid Smith who has had a long bout in the hospital, is improving. She's at St. Joseph Hospital where she underwent surgery. She could be there another two weeks, her family says. She's in room 336, bed 2.

Gerburg Frick of Clarkston, an astrologist trained in Germany, will be offering Beginning Astrology classes, starting at 10:30 a.m. May 22 at the New Directions Meditation Research Center, 1342 West Wide Track Drive, Pontiac.

Three Clarkston area students are due to receive degrees this month from Bob Jones University, Greenville, S.C. They are Edward Lloyd Geliske, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle E. Geliske of 5581 Parkview, who will receive a bachelor of arts degree and is a member of Phi Kappa Pi Literary Society; Faith Elizabeth Tarvestad, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Tarvestad, 7786 LaVon Drive, who has completed a one year business course and is a member of Sigma Lambda Delta Literary Society; and Susan Kay Deaver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julia I. Deaver of Davisburg, who will receive a bachelor of science degree in nursing and who is a member of Pi Theta Epsilon Literary Society.

DeMolay Mothers Club of Clarkston will have a bake and rummage sale from noon to 6 p.m. May 23 at 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. May 24 at Clarkston Masonic Temple.

Melvin C. Strader of Drayton Plains was recently honored for 25 years service with Johnson and Anderson Inc., consulting engineers. He began in 1950 as a craftsman and is presently corporate secretary, vice president and director of the department of engineering design, and a partner in a sister firm in Avon, Ohio. Among some of the bigger projects, he's coordinated, are Platte River Anadromous Fish Hatchery, Waterford Township sewer system, Schoenherr Drain and French Creek interceptor system and wastewater treatment plant in Ohio. He is 44, resides with his wife, Marion, and has seven children.

Dr. Roger Crum, of 5770 Ortonville Road, was scheduled to receive a Silver Anniversary Certificate at Wayne State University Medical School Alumni Day ceremonies Wednesday, at the Sheraton-Southfield Hotel.

One of 43 Wayne State University School of Medicine alumni who received silver anniversary recognition at the annual event, Dr. Crum received his medical degree at WSU in 1950. The presentation was made by Dr. Paul E. Andrews, director, WSU alumni affairs.

Waterford Branch, American Association of University Women will hold its last meeting before summer at 12:30 p.m. Saturday, June 7, at the home of Mrs. John Bills, 4459 Forest Drive, Pontiac. The meeting will follow a luncheon. Members are reminded to bring their favorite salad and a plant to exchange. If you are not a member and wish to attend the Saturday luncheon-meeting, contact Mrs. William O'Conner, 673-1591.

Eric Gruenberg, junior at Clarkston High, couldn't convince any of his friends this spring to take part in the marathon bike ride at Belle Isle last weekend. So he went himself, had a ball, and wished more people would come out next year.

Eric rode the entire 200 miles of the marathon, joining 7,000 other bicycle enthusiasts, old and young alike, in the ride.

Eric did 180 miles in 12 1/2 hours, camped overnight on the island, and traveled the other 20 miles in the morning.

Eric must really like bike riding--two weeks ago he made $93 for the Michigan Diabetes Association by riding 74 miles in a Waterford bike-a-thon.

May is the month for anniversaries. May 18, Diane and Lew Wint of Clarkston celebrated their 18th year together. May 23 will mark the 11th anniversary for Bob and Barbara Suran of Overlook.

And for John and Pat Nasi of Kingfisher it will be 15 years on the 28th of May. Lawrence and Pauline Day of Cramlane, Vera and Charles Torr of Holcomb and Mary and Walt Robbins of Waldon Road, will also celebrate their anniversaries this month. Congratulations to all!

Happy birthday to Mike Fogg, Lynette Marino, Gail Richard, Nora Hyatt, Diane Vachon and Sandy Coulter.

The General Richardson Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution will honor five Revolutionary soldiers and one Real Daughter at 11:30 a.m. by laying flowers on their graves at the Oak Hill Cemetery.

Helping the Daughters will be the Colonel Stephen Mack Society, Children of the American Revolution; Mrs. Grant Beardlee, Mrs. Theodore Cleveland and Mrs. Harry Bates of Clarkston will be assisting the newly elected regent, Mrs. M. Dave Corbin.

Uncle Harry sez "While you're living, smile. Later you can't."

Clarkston Area Women's Club will be celebrating Michigan week with free cookies and coffee Friday to all the Clarkston Village strollers from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. in front of Pontiac State Bank. This year the Women's Club had a very successful dance, raffle and calendar sale. To wind up the Women's Club year, they will home a luncheon June 18 at the Country Squire Restaurant in Flint. Attending the luncheon will be members, guests and past presidents. After the lunch there will be installation of new officers.

The auxiliary will be sponsoring a Flea Market Sunday, June 1 at the American Legion Post 63 on M-15. The American Legion Post 63 is located 1/4 mile north of I-75. There are still spaces available to rent or just browse around. For more info call 625-1620 or 625-5738.

It seems that most people around Clarkston will be staying home Memorial weekend avoiding the usual hectic northbound traffic. Dr. Donald Henchel, Clarkston optometrist, will be playing a little golf and maybe planting a garden. Mr. and Mrs. David Bickerstaff will also be staying home this year to plant a garden. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Goodell will be planting their garden this week too.

Gardens seem to be the big thing this weekend so let's hope we have good weather for the planters and also for the paraders like Sally Lamm of Robertson Court who will be marching with her Brownie troop.

Clarkston Area Jaycettes will be selling red and pink geraniums from 6 to 9 p.m. Thursday and from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. Friday in front of Pontiac State Bank in Clarkston and Judy's Fashions for the Young in Independence Square. The plants are 95 cents each and will be delivered if you call Kathy Monette at 623-7779.

Trinity memorial service

Trinity United Methodist Church, 6440 Maceday Drive, Waterford, will celebrate Pentecost Memorial Sunday, May 25, with a special music program at the 10 a.m. Service.

Art and Clara Walker, baritone and harpist, will present old and loved spirituals. They will lead the congregation in the singing of spirituals such as "Swing Long Sweet Chariot" and "Deep River." Mr. and Mrs. Walker were featured musicians at the Methodist Annual Conference in Adrian in 1974.

The choir, under the direction of Miss Adele Thomas will sing "Peace Like a River in My Soul." Rev. Robert Goudie will discuss "The Peace of God."

Dinner with Trim

Representative Claude A. Trim, Democrat from the 60th district will be present to meet and talk with his constituents on May 28 between 5:30 and 8 p.m.

The event will be a spaghetti dinner, in the Knights of Columbus Hall, 5660 Maybee Road, Clarkston.

Tickets are available. Prices are: adults, $2 each; children $1; pre-schoolers, free. There is also a family ticket with the maximum price of $7, good for the family with three children or a good value for a family with more than three children.

There will be a door prize awarded at the end of the evening.

For tickets or reservations, call dinner chairperson, Mary Jean Cox, 625-4446.

A touch of class

There's nothing like a little class, if you're a junior and you're trying to outdo the seniors. And to add class, there's nothing like your very own Rolls Royce and a uniformed chauffeur. Through the good offices of a friend, Harold Philpot, the quartet comprised of Ron Brittan, Scott Housefield, Vivian Booker and Carolyn Rademacher went off to the Clarkston High School prom in style last weekend, and Philpot who owns the car even agreed to act as their chauffeur.

The Rev. Alexander T. Stewart

Spiritual Message

"And they were filled with the Holy Spirit and began to speak... as the Spirit gave them utterance... the wonderful works of God." Acts 2:4-11.

This past Sunday the Church once again commemorated on the Feast of the Pentecost the coming of the Holy Spirit to the apostles, infusing them with the power to face the world in all its hatred and fury and bring to it the healing love of Christ. It is by His Spirit that God conveys power to the spirit of man.

The "power" of the spirit, however, God's and man's, is given little credence today. Almost everything must be conceived of physically or materially before it receives acceptance from most people—but they are selling the spirit, God's and their own, short. But what is there within each of us that truly lives, that drives us and governs our actions? What responds to the stimuli that, for better or worse, makes us the kind of people we are, doing the things we do? It is our spirit—which reacts to spiritual stimuli—whether it is the Spirit of God, the spirit of the age, the spirit of evil of whatever. People are spiritual as well as physical beings and we open and close our spirits, our innermost being, as we are motivated, as we are tempted, as we are educated, but not always as we know is right and in accord with the will of God. Remember, even St. Paul said, "For the good that I would I do not; but the evil which I would not, that I do." But he goes on, in the eighth chapter of his Letter to the Romans, to distinguish between the physical and the spiritual and stresses our need to open our spirits to the Spirit of God in Christ. Space in this column doesn't allow lengthy quotations but I urge you, when you have finished this message, to read this chapter in your Bible and to think in it.

"God is a Spirit," Jesus said, "and they that worship Him must worship Him in spirit and in truth," meaning that the highest element of man's nature must be directed and attuned to God, who is spirit, and that his worship derive from this innermost essence of his being. For our worship isn't worship unless our spirit seeks communion with Him who is Spirit. This may be a difficult concept for such materially oriented people as we Americans seem to have proven ourselves to be but it is an exceedingly important one which we have neglected too long... for the Spirit searcheth all things, yea, the deep things of God." (I Corinthians 2:10)

The Middle East revisited

by Mary Warner
of The Clarkston News
Drop in at the Dixie Baptist Church sometime and get a little taste of the Middle East.

A wonder-filled travel book in the form of Pastor Paul Vanaman can tell you such things as the lowest point on the earth—the Dead Sea.

He can tell you that there are enough minerals and other riches in that sea to equal three trillion times the wealth of the United States, that the sea is also famous for curing psoriasis, and resorts are popping out all over on its fringes to accommodate those who come to be cured.

And that you cannot sink when swimming in it—it has a 35 percent salt content.

Vanaman is a student of the Bible and the history of the Middle East. He also just returned from his fifth journey to that area May 6, guiding Clarkston and other residents on a two week tour.

Such things as the pyramid of Cheops near Cairo in Egypt—a pyramid that is 452 feet high, covers three square miles, and contains nearly three million sandstone blocks weighing an average of two-and-one-half tons apiece were on the agenda.

Those blocks, he enthused, would make a highway stretching from New York to San Francisco.

"It was thrilling to look upon those pyramids and think that the eyes of Abraham, Joseph, Moses and other Bible figures gazed upon these same pyramids thousands of years ago," he said. Vanaman's sons, Todd and Tim, joined the rest of the group in wonderment as they traveled to the ancient city of Petra in Jordan. The city lies in a valley protected by 300-foot cliffs, and the only entrance is via horse through a narrow crevice.

Here, Vanaman said, must be the place the Bible predicted would be the refuge of Jews fleeing from the anti-Christ—a figure that is supposed to rise out of Middle East conflict.

That conflict, Vanaman believes, is happening right now.

Petra, he explained, is extremely defendable. And the Bible predicts that the anti-Christ will send a flood that will disappear—as do the waters of flash floods now before they reach Petra.

The group visited King Tut's treasure in the Cairo Museum. When Tut's tomb was opened in 1922, he said, wheat 3,200 years old was found—and consequently planted and harvested.

They saw the Mummy of Ramses II—the pharaoh who is thought to be the one Moses pleaded with to let the Jews exit from Egypt.

They saw a 5,000-year-old mummified crocodile that was 35 feet long. They went to an old tomb in Memphis that depicted scenes from life in Egypt thousands of years ago.

And they saw modern Egypt—where children range at all hours of the day and night, whose only possessions are the rags on their backs. The country is dirty, incredibly poverty stricken—just a completely different culture and way of life that is hard to fathom, he said.

The group spent seven days in Israel, and the first thing members saw when they entered the small country was guns—guns everywhere. "When you travel the Middle East, you kind of get wrapped up in the history of it. But you get snapped back into the 20th century fast when you see all those guns," Vanaman shook his head.

And they saw cotton growing—something that is new to the agriculture of Israel, and probably possible because precipitation from Lake Nasser in Egypt, falls on its valley.

"If the Arabs knew that," the pastor joked, "They'd probably blow up the Aswan dam."

Vanaman baptized two people in the Sea of Galilee, went with his group to the Golan Heights unsuccessfully to salvage a war relic amongst the huge collection of war debris there, and witnessed the Israel, United Nations and Egyptian flags flying side by side on the eastern border.

And of course, he and his group saw all three Jerusalems—the old, the new and the new-new, formed in circles around each other.

People from the Clarkston area on the trip included Mr. and Mrs. Don Tarvestad, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Alexander, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Davidson, Rev. Ken Hauser, Mr. and Mrs. Delbert McCrary and Mrs. Delpha Bougine.

One of the items on sale at a benefit garage sale June 6 and 7 will be this kid's dune buggy, so Independence Township Firefighters Auxiliary members Barb Wood [left] and Patt Stitt give it a try. "10 cents," they decide they will charge for it. The benefit is being put on at the northwest corner of Sashabaw and Clarkston Roads from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Proceeds from the sale will go for Auxiliary projects, such as their Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets, and other charitable activities.

Jaycettes bring home honors

Clarkston Jaycee Auxiliary was honored with two high awards during the state convention earlier this month.

Jan Robinson, immediate past president, was awarded second place as Outstanding President and the Auxiliary took a third place as Auxiliary of the Year in its particular classification.

Jan called the state organization one of the most organized groups of young adults she's seen. Busy now at providing information to the public regarding burn centers, baby seats, tax repeal, cystic fibrosis, cancer, muscular dystrophy, and juvenile delinquency, she says, "It's kind of awesome to see much the men and women accomplish on their own right at these state meetings."

Building spurt

Thanks largely to building activity at Independence-Oaks Park, construction permits issued during April for the first time this year showed a dollar increase over those issued for the same period last year.

A total of $418,345 in new construction, including a contact station, bath house and two comfort stations, is underway at the county-owned park.

A total of 34 permits, valued at $899,130, as compared to 37 valued at $581,624 a year ago, were issued in April. The total included 11 new homes.

Kitchen fire

A kitchen fire, believed caused by grease on a stove igniting, did $5,000 damage May 15 to the home of Donald Constable, 6140 Waldon Road, according to Independence Township Fire Department.

Becker's Campers expands

Becker's Campers, 16745 Dixie Highway, has doubled its lot size and completely revamped its inventory and store in anticipation of summer vacation trade.

A new line of campers, Pleasure Mate, featuring the tent top and a full line of accessories in six interior plans, has been added for sale and rent.

The fishing department inside the store has been enlarged and a number of hardware items, including all kinds of parts and accessories, have been added.

Ron Becker, president of the corporation, notes the business is now entering its second season and that sales have increased 49 percent over last year.

VILLAGE OF CLARKSTON MINUTES OF REGULAR MEETING MAY 12, 1975

Meeting called to order by President Hallman.

Roll: Present—Basinger, Granlund, McCall, Schultz, Thayer, Weber. Absent—None.

Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

Moved by Weber to pay the following bills:

Wages and Salaries	$2410.94
Municipal Services	631.77
Administration	76.21
Clarkston News	155.08
Legal Fees	207.50
Insurance	323.80

TOTAL $3805.30

Seconded by Thayer. Roll: Ayes—Basinger, Granlund, McCall, Schultz, Thayer, Weber. Nays—none. Motion carried.

The council discussed the Jaycees request to hold the annual Labor Day carnival on Depot Rd. and to allow a beer tent there for that week-end.

Moved by Weber to permit the Jaycees to have the Labor Day carnival on Depot Rd. and to consider the request for a beer permit at a later date. Seconded by Schultz. Ayes—Basinger, Granlund, Schultz, Thayer, Weber. Nays—McCall. Motion carried.

A request by Eric Davison to split Lot 108 of Assessor's Plat of Clarkston into three parcels that lie partially in the village will be referred to the building inspector, under the terms of the Lot Split Ordinance, No. 62.

Trustee Granlund recommended lowering the present quarterly sewer usage fee of $21.25 per unit to $16.00 per unit, as a surplus is being accumulated. After a discussion, Trustee Granlund was asked to do further research on the matter.

Correspondence from the attorney was read, concerning his opinion that the general fund can be reimbursed the legal and engineering fees that have been spent, from the sewer fund.

Trustee Basinger reported on sign letters for the front of the village hall. Locations for this were discussed by the council.

Moved by Weber to have City Sign Co. install a sign for the front of the village hall, at a cost of $261.16. Seconded by Schultz. Roll: Ayes—Basinger, Granlund, McCall, Schultz, Thayer, Weber. Nays—none. Motion carried.

A designated flood plain area was discussed by the council. Trustee Basinger recommended that our alternate engineer, Johnson and Anderson, Inc., study this designation, as they do the entire township area. It was agreed to have her contact them to have this study done.

President Hallman recommended Robert Sanderson of S. Holcomb to fill the vacant three year term of the planning commission.

Moved by Basinger to approve President Hallman's recommendation and appoint Mr. Sanderson to the planning commission. Seconded by Schultz. Motion carried unanimously.

Trustee Weber reported that he is working with Chief McCall on dog control, in conjunction with other townships.

Trustee Thayer recommended that we charge the barber shop $1000.00 annual rent in the village hall, and that they would pay for just their own electric usage. This would be done by a yearly lease. He will do some further checking on this.

The May 26th meeting will be canceled, since this date falls on Memorial Day.

Trustee McCall will check with the police dept. on the planning commission's recommendation to do a parking survey on residential streets.

It was decided to wait to hear the board of appeals comments on the proposed building permit approval amendment to the zoning ordinance before taking any action.

Moved by Thayer, seconded by Weber to adjourn. Motion carried.

Fires damage houses

The Springfield Township Fire Department assisted the Groveland Township Fire Department in two house fire calls last week.

A fire at the home of Janet Smith, 16201 Tindall, destroyed part of the home and damaged the other half, Groveland firemen said. The blaze occurred around 9 a.m. May 12, and was caused by a fuel oil problem.

Springfield also assisted on a fire call Friday, in which a vacant house on the property of Holly Sand and Gravel, 16240 Tindall, went up in flames.

The fire occurred around 11 p.m.; the cause is still under investigation.

No estimate has been made of the damage, Groveland firemen said, because the house contained only some old gravel company records and radio equipment and was quite extensively vandalized before the blaze.

Springfield and Holly firemen were called in on that one, Groveland fire chief Terry Johnson said, because a 250-foot radio tower near the house was in danger.

Named horse show king

Gary Mills of Clarkston [second from left] has been crowned king by leaders of the 4-H Horse Show in Oakland County. Gary was rated on the basis of an interview for familiarity with horses and participating in community and school activities. Honored with him were David Bush [from left], Gary, Lianne Whillow, Leslie Brooks who was named queen, and Sue Bush.

Appeals board relents

Precedents were set regarding lot split procedure and sign size in shopping centers when the Independence Township Zoning Board of Appeals met last week.

The three-man board permitted Teresa Korleski a larger business sign for a pizza restaurant in Independence Commons, providing the sign be placed on the mansard roof which overhangs the store.

"We've had a lot of problems in that area," said appeals member Mel Vaara. "People need space to display their business signs and it appears that putting them on the roof of the business is more suitable for both their purpose and ours, than clustering them at the roadway."

Korleski was granted permission to erect a 27 square foot sign, a variance of some five feet.

Charles L. Bailey Sr. who had requested a lot split on five acres he owns on Sashabaw, was refunded his $45 appeals fee, and told that under new procedure lot splits would be approved by the assessor, planner and building director.

An applicant getting an unfavorable reply from those three would be allowed to appear before the township board, and if still unsatisfied, could then take the matter either to court or to the zoning board of appeals.

In other business the board granted lot size variances to Shirley Carpenter for property on Reese Road. A not quite 1 1/2 acre lot was allowed in an area calling for minimum 1 1/2 acre lots.

Cecil E. Miller was granted variances he needed to build a garage at his home on Meadowbrook; Marshall London for a garage on Perry Lake Road; and Thomas Whetstone for a storage shed on Reese Road.

Outdoor classroom for science students

Bill Mackson, science teacher at Clarkston High School, helps Diane Stevens and Luann Klann identify marine life in a bottle of swamp water.

Jill Vedder and Jona Zander investigate the beauty of trillium, one of our protected wild flowers.

High school fencing sought for outdoor lab

A six-foot high fence, designed to keep motorbikes and snowmobiles out of the Clarkston High School outdoor laboratory area, will be erected around four acres at the rear of the building.

Though a cost figure of $9,824 was offered, board members determined on a motion by Eric Reickel to seek further bids on the project.

Three-foot wide gates with cement anchored center posts are contemplated to allow walk-in traffic from Birdland Subdivision, but to discourage motor vehicular traffic.

Plans also include wood chipping paths and construction of bridges or walkways across ponding areas, according to George White, science teacher at the school.

Lynn Peters and Pandora Watson inspect a pond on the property.

Clarkston people help GM produce luxury motor units

Dennis Novak of Sashabaw finishes welding a frame.

John Pierson of Woodla is a group leader

The motor home business is making a come-back since the days of the gasoline shortage a year ago, and Clarkston area people are helping to build them.

The new homes, which sell for $30,000 each, have been ungraded since the production stop and three new lines -- the Eleganza, the Glenbrook and the Palm Beach -- offer color choices for the luxury oriented hobo of the 70s.

GMC Truck and Coach recently increased production from seven to nine units a day and plans to go to 12 a day shortly, according to Marquis N. Harris, Motor Home chief engineer and himself a resident of the Clarkston area.

Though production was up to 22 a day before the shortages, Harris notes that the homes have been ungraded and the prices increased as well.

"Like the more expensive home market and Cadillac sales, we find that the more luxurious models sell best," Harris added.

What the company did was cut down a variety of lines in motor homes and concentrate on the most popular versions which turned out to be also the most elegant ones.

It has now expanded into the TransMode series which is a commercial, stripped-down version of the luxury home. Other companies are prepared to equip the models with interiors suitable for emergency vehicles or mobile offices, Harris said.

GMC Truck and Coach is finding that its motor homes have staying power on the market. "Some of the pre-Eleganza homes are selling used now for more than they cost originally," Harris reported.

Several Clarkston area people work with the motor homes, either in the engineering department or on the line. Unlike most of the auto company employees, they have been left virtually unscathed by the recent economic plunge.

The lines hum in what Harris describes as a team cooperative effort. "You can tell when you drive a vehicle whether there has been harmony in production. All the bolt holes fit, the lines are molded in harmony, and you can just tell," he grins.
