The sewer problem:

Different approach used by neighboring areas

by Jean Saile

of The Clarkston News

Two nearby townships in Oakland County have handled their sewer expenses in totally different ways, and while one is having some problems forcing mandatory hookups, the other seems to be handling sewer finances easily.

Oakland Township which levied 2 mills for sewers in 1971 on a township-wide basis was in 1973 able to reduce that sum to 1.25 mills. Only 32 of the township's residents have connected to the sewer, the township having installed only its share of the Paint Creek Interceptor where it passed through on its way from Avon to Oxford to Orion. Some stubs were put in at township expense, but service is available to few of the township's 5000 population.

Those who do connect pay $2,100. The township's total debt is approximately $2 million, with last year's annual installment $111,263, according to Clerk Carolyn Phelps.

Usage charges in Oakland are at the rate of $13.20 a quarter.

In Avon Township, mandatory hook-ups are at issue. Supervisor Earl Borden says the township last October hiked from $1,500 to $1,850 its connection charges. At the same time the Detroit Water Board fee hike was passed on to non-metered users. The payments which were $10 per quarter became $14.

Avon has two sewer phases in the ground, the first costing $2.7 million and the second $14.2 million. Included in the township's sewer indebtedness is a new sewer and water service building, which Borden classifies as being part of the capital system.

Connectors in Avon can spread their sewer payments over 40 years, bringing the total cost to $2,466.67 and the yearly rate to $61.

Avon does have mandatory hook-up, and is now starting court suits to force connections, Borden said.

The hike in connection costs happened, in part, he says, because Avon, too, suffered a building slowdown in the last 15 months.

Independence Township, where connections cost $2,260, may forego the mandatory hook-up should the board proceed with plans for creation of a special assessment district in the sewer area and/or the levying of a small ad valorem tax among all residents.

At a public meeting last week, the board said the sewer fee, charged by special assessment, could increase as much as $840 from $2,260 to $3,100. The only thing the property owner would save would be the contractor's fee for hook-up from building to lot line and a quarterly usage charge of $21.25.

Expectations of more building than has occurred has been blamed for the township's problem of meeting a $664,000 payment due next year to the county on its $1.1 million of bonded indebtedness for construction of the system here. The average payment over the next 20 years which the township must meet is said to be $726,000.

Schools forego gas lease

Clarkston Schools, for several reasons, have decided to forego possible benefits of leasing property it owns to the Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. for natural gas exploration.

Superintendent Leslie F. Greene said he had been approached regarding a future school site owned by the district in the Holcomb and Big Lake roads area and also in connection with school-owned property off Maybee Road.

Greene said "We told them no. They want a long term lease with the right to explore, and the amount of money that would be forthcoming would be very, very small. It would be possible that should the lease be granted, the schools would lose the tax exempt status they now have in the township. The schools would also lose some of their rights to the land during the period of the lease," Greene explained.

He added, that should natural gas be discovered nearby, the value of the school property could expect to increase considerably, and it might be wise to wait until that time to take any action.

The Michigan Consolidated Gas Co., which has had electronic equipment in the area for the past five or six years, has also approached the City of Pontiac in regard to its Independence Township-Ottawa Park Cemetery and the Oakland County Parks and Recreation Commission in regard to its Independence-Oaks Park.

The county has rejected the offer, and the city is still negotiating for some additional benefits before signing any contract, spokesmen there said.

Halloween pranksters vandalize sub

Halloween night went pretty smoothly, according to Oakland County Sheriff's deputies and Independence Township public safety director Jack McCall.

Sheriff's deputies reported only one major case of vandalism. Five juveniles sprayed red paint last Thursday and Friday nights on homes, cars, mail boxes and street signs in the Eeve, Delmus and Sally Street area of Whipple Lake.

Damage from the paint was estimated at over $1,000. No arrests have been made yet, but the sheriff's department is expecting to make some shortly, they said.

On Devil's night October 30, 10 persons were reported arrested for throwing eggs and apples on Parview. The group was given tickets to appear in Judge Gerald McNally's 52nd District Court and released on the scene.

The sheriff's department also reported one complaint of tampering with candy.

Harriet Enden of 4895 Pine Knob Trail reported finding a safety pin in a candy bar her child had collected while trick-or-treating in the neighborhood.

There is a suspect in the case, but no arrest has been made yet, deputies said.

Despite the isolated incidents, things "went pretty good," according to McCall.

The ultimate in beard contests?

There's some hairy guys wandering around in Springfield Township's offices. Supervisor Don Rogers [top] has joined in the township's beard growing contest, as has maintenance worker Rick Green [bottom]. But we were unable to track down the mysterious Mr. X [center] who went a little overboard in the name of the bicentennial. With the ultimate in beards, Mr. X could easily win the prize when the contest ends next July 4.

New church, bus garage appeals granted

Two area churches sought special exception permits to build a new church on the same site as their old church, only about 600 feet in back of the old church. The church's congregation is growing to the point where the extra space is needed, representatives said.

The existing church and a service building currently used as a Sunday School would remain on the 3.7 acres of land, church representatives said.

Board members stipulated that those buildings must be used for church-related activities in granting the exception.

Church representatives said the old church may be turned into a parsonage and the storage building into a maintenance center.

Voting against approval was board member Mel Vaara. Vaara said at least one of the buildings, the storage building, should be torn down when the new church is constructed.

Clintonville Social Brethren, 5661 Clintonville Road, was allowed a variance on height and size requirements and a side yard setback variance, so the church could build a bus garage.

Township ordinances stipulate that such an accessory building can only be a maximum of 225 square feet; the Social Brethren was allowed 1,500 square feet.

The building will also be 14 1/2 feet high instead of the maximum 14 feet, and the side yard setback 15 feet instead of the required 50 feet.

The church needs the garage to service its six buses. It will not store buses there.

Legion fined

American Legion Post #377, 4819 Edgewood Drive, has been fined $400 by the Michigan Liquor Control Commission.

In a hearing October 15, the commission fined the post $200 for having an employee intoxicated on the premises, and $200 for having intoxicated persons loitering there.

The offenses occurred March 27.

Planning Commission working on master plan

The use of Clarkston Village federally-funded employees to draw up a land use map of the village has been requested by the Clarkston Village Planning Commission.

After studying master plans of other townships and villages at its meeting Monday, the planning commission decided the first step toward the eventual drawing up of a Clarkston master plan was the land use map.

The commission requested the Village Council to okay using CETA employees for the project.

The planning commission hopes to draw up an outline of things needed to be pursued for a master plan at its next meeting.

An outline of a master plan could then be turned over to planners for the preliminary master plan, according to Jay Bisha, commission secretary.

This dedication is being held to celebrate the completion of the enlargement of the facilities to better accommodate its members and all types of community activities.

In attendance will be Rev. John P. Maierle, chaplain of Pope John XXIII Council 5436. State deputy John A. Mathews will be principal speaker and various other state officers will be present.

Ceremonies will begin with a concelebrated mass at 4 p.m. at Our Lady of the Lakes Church, 5481 Dixie Highway, Waterford.

After mass, the program will continue at the Community Center with cocktails, dinner, a short program, and conclude with an informal dancing party.

Some sewer questions ---

Township authorities have agreed to answer the following questions in regard to the sewers. We print our questions and their answers here.

Q: What must Independence Township pay during 1976 on the sewers?
A: $646,000

Q: How much is the average yearly payment over the next 25 years?
A: $726,000

Q: How much would existing revenue raise towards the sewer payments?
A: $280,000

Q: How much would creating a special assessment district in the area abutting the sewer and charging those home owners not now connected a yearly $169.50 fee raise?
A: $543,000

Q: What would be the amount raised if vacant land were included?
A: $680,000

Q: How much would be raised on existing property if the annual figure were raised to $248 as proposed at the public hearing?
A: $768,000 — $992,000 if vacant property were included.

Q: How much would one mill raise township wide?
A: $115,000

Q: What happens to a person who has paid $2,260 and an ad valorem tax is spread?
A: He gets no credit for having paid the connection fee and will have to pay the tax although it will be deductible from his income tax.

Q: What happens to the person who has paid if a special assessment is spread?
A: He would be credited with what he'd paid, but assume the additional cost which would not be tax deductible.

Q: What happens if an ad valorem tax is spread to help pay for existing sewers and then there are subsequent extensions?
A: Chances are high that an additional ad valorem tax would be added for extensions.

Q: How much of the quarterly usage fee goes toward bond retirement?
A: $17 a year for the 1,100 to 1,200 connected.

Q: Will rising assessed valuations tend to help pay for the sewer in the future?
A: Only if an ad valorem tax is used.

Q: Will the Helveston and Occidental developments, which will have sewers available, help make up the deficit?
A: Yes. When developed, there will be 651 new units helping to pay for the sewer.

Q: How many are now connected to the sewer in Independence Township?
A: 1,100 to 1,200 units.

Q: How many have paid cash for their connection fee?
A: Less than 100.

Q: How many people could the sewer serve as it is now constructed?
A: 3,400 units on existing buildings, more than 4,000 if vacant land is included.

Q: How many units could be served in the future, according to the capacity purchased?
A: 5,800 units.

Q: How many units could be served in the future according to the size of the barrels and pumping stations installed in Independence?
A: 9,831 units.

Q: Where would the additional capacity come from?
A: Another arm has been planned for sometime in the future.

Q: What is a unit?
A: A unit equals one single family residence. Commercial and industrial users are charged on a multiple of that figure based on size and nature of business.

Sewer expert sought

In an effort "to get a fresh look at the problem," the Independence Township Board has voted to hire a sewer consultant who can lead it through the legal and financial ins and outs of setting up a special assessment district and/or levying an ad valorem tax.

"We're within very broad parameters of knowing an ad valorem and/or special assessment will be needed to help pay for the sewer bonds," said Supervisor J. Edwin Glennie. "Now we need someone with the background to help us with both the legal and financial aspects. We are not interested in anyone previously associated with the last financial rates," he added.

George Anderson, DPW director, and the three full time township officials will be asked to investigate and report back to the board November 18.

Drain action stalled

Independence Township Board has taken no action to alleviate drainage problems in the M-15/Paramus area, despite possible pressure from the state.

The problem has arisen because the State Highway Department in making plans to widen M-15 south of Paramus to the Dixie to four lanes has agreed to install a 66-inch culvert under the highway. It needs some place for the water to run, Supervisor J. Edwin Glennie said.

Additional pipes and a retention basin which would eventually lead it into Dollar Lake would cost about $169,000. The township could expect to pay 50 to 70 percent of the cost, Glennie said, were it to finance it, perhaps by Community Development Act funds or through federal revenue sharing funds.

Should a special assessment district be created, which would allow the payments over an extended period of time, the local share would be higher. The latter

There was beautiful architecture everywhere, and Mary Fox and Rick Sevela, seventh graders at Clarkston Junior High, were able to get a glimpse of nearly everything at Meadowbrook Hall recently. They were among a group of CJH students who chose to see the historic old home in Rochester for the school's "Activity Day." Other students at the school went roller skating, horseback riding, bowling, or stayed at school and dipped candles, played chess or put models together.

Deputy hike may spur millage vote

by Jean Saile
of The Clarkston News

A good possibility exists that Independence Township voters may be asked to approve additional millage for police at the May presidential primary election.

The $115,000 which the township expects to raise this year from the mill voted by the people for police services five years ago will not be enough to meet next year's costs, according to Supervisor J. Edwin Glennie.

The reason is, he told Independence Township Board Tuesday night, that Oakland County is preparing to hike deputy costs from their present level of $17,870 to maybe as much as $21,272 per year.

The township now hires five deputies, one of which is subsidized in the amount of $12,500 by the federally funded CETA program. Their costs must would be handled through County Drain Commission, and the township could expect to pay a considerably higher share of the costs, he added.

A drain assessment district, drawn up by engineers, shows land from as far east as the hill on Cramlane being involved, he said.

All of Clarkston Estates and some village land, the high school property and Eastlawn, as well as both sides of M-15 and that area from Princess to Hidden Lane would be involved.

The board apparently thought like Township Clerk Bob Lay who noted, "That's all we need is another special assessment district on the top of what we now have. The area is being considered for a sewer special assessment be figured in addition to the locally hired police services director and his clerk, Glennie said.

Alternatives to seeking extra funds, Glennie said, include reducing the number of deputies employed in the township or letting the township hire its own officers and start its own full time police department. A contract with Michigan State Police for the same kind of service provided by the county is now out of question because such contracts with the state force are illegal, he added.

An initial contract received by the township late Tuesday carried the yearly figure of $19,571 per man, but Glennie noted there is a clause which provides the township would have to pick up the difference if arbitration of the deputies' union contract results in any greater increase than anticipated.

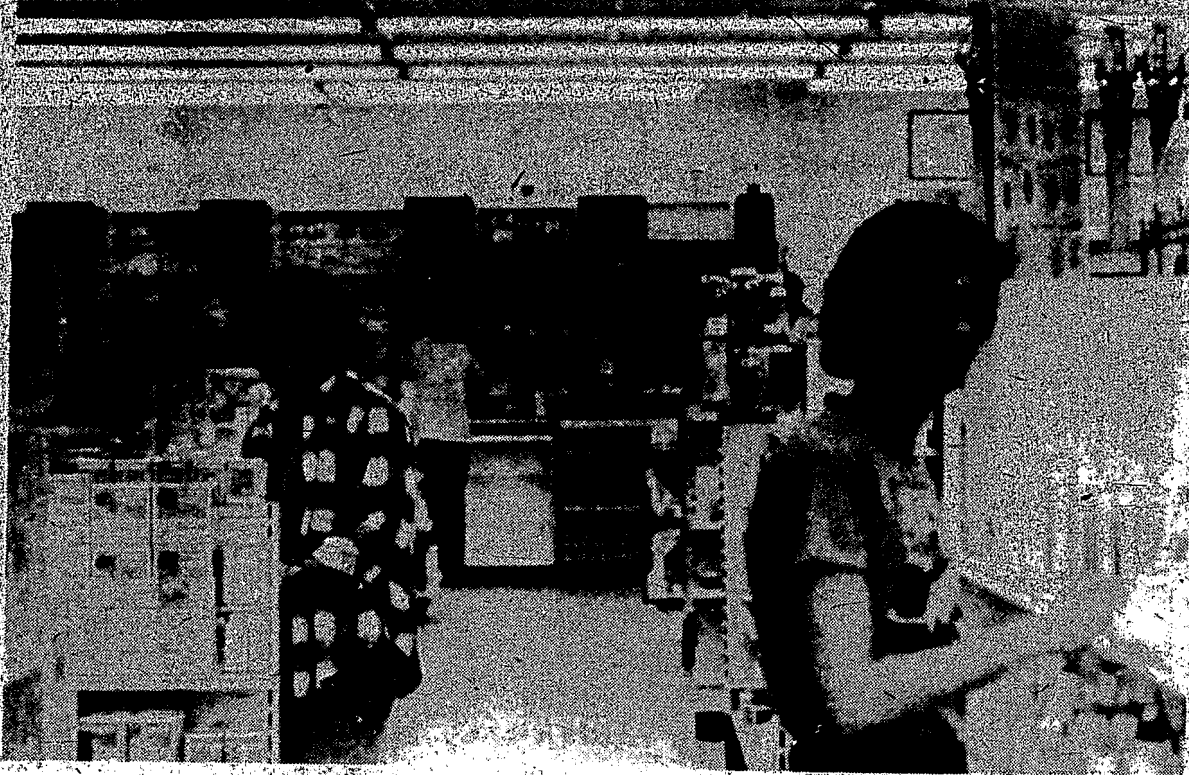

"It's getting to the point where we will have to do something different than we're used to," Glennie said.

While the new rate wouldn't go into effect until the first of the year, even though the old contract expired last May, township officials said they felt certain more adjustments would be required in the middle of next year.

"Who would we ask to find out what the county does with the 5-26 mills allocated them from our property tax?" asked Trustee Fred Ritter.

He was advised to see the Oakland County Board of Commissioners Public Service Committee, and the board decided to set about getting an appointment to appear in front of that body to protest the proposed increases.

No action was taken on the contract, the board wishing to study the matter further.

Pine Knob Pharmacy doubles its size

A doubly big Pine Knob Pharmacy moved recently into new quarters added onto Pine Knob Shopping Center. Owner Jim Lowery says the new quarters have permitted expanded gifts, cards, jewelry and makeup departments. Food Town is expanding into quarters previously occupied by the pharmacy, and a dentist and Pine Knob Beauty Salon have moved to new quarters in the expanded center.

Council asks direction for CETA worker

Jim Schultz, Clarkston Village Council trustee, has been instructed by the council to find a person or organization to direct village employee Betty Galligan in her search for homes to be included in a village historical district. Betty has been a full-time employe of the village since March under the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act program, with the specific duty of researching homes for a future historical district. She was given the task in hopes that a historical district in the village could waylay the widening of M-15 through the village. But, according to Ted Thomson, village planning commission member, Mrs. Galligan reported the completion of only nine homes on Main Street and one on Buffalo. Village president Keith Hallman said he thought historical society member Jennifer Radcliffe was to direct Mrs. Galligan. Mrs. Radcliffe said she has given Mrs. Galligan information to pursue her research, but Mrs. Radcliffe and other volunteers in the project can't devote their time to the endeavor. Main concern for Thomson and other planning commission members was when enough information could be compiled to put through the request for a historical district.

Springfield hiring deputy treasurer

Springfield Township is looking for a deputy treasurer to work part time with treasurer Patricia Kramer during the peak months of tax billing and collection.

The township board has okayed the position under the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act.

Supervisor Don Rogers is looking for someone who has been unemployed at least 15 days, and who has some knowledge of bookkeeping.

Tax bills will be out by December 1, according to Mrs. Kramer. From December 10 on she will have the treasurer's office open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

She also plans on working two Saturdays in February near the deadline for payment.

Springfield appraiser

A decision was to be made Wednesday night by the Springfield Township Board on whether or not to hire an outside appraisal firm to bring township assessments up to date.

The board was also to hold a public hearing, at 8 p.m., on the disposition of $15,000 in federal Community Development Act funds expected to be allocated to the township for 1976.

Degrees of Frustration

by Joan Saile

Why did everybody die?

Not enforcing sewer hook-ups in Independence Township seems akin to waging the Vietnam War. What did everybody die for?

Sewers were proposed for the area largely because Clarkston was cited by the State Water Resources Commission for contributing to the pollution of area lakes and streams. The old septic system which served downtown was constantly a problem.

Pollution, then, was the reason the sewers came, and the likelihood was that as more people moved into the area there would be more pollution.

Independence Township Board has some hard decisions to make in coming up with an equitable plan to raise the yearly payments on its $10.1 million sewer project.

There are many things to be considered. The imposition of a special assessment district and the assessing of vacant land in the south end of the township is undoubtedly going to cause a far more rapid pace of development than we had in the past. Either that—or tax defaults.

Few people will be able to afford the luxury of keeping land vacant when taxes increase at the rate they seem bound to do.

Several authorities in special assessing have even told us it would be illegal to charge that portion of the area served by sewers for the full cost of a system which included barrels and pumping stations big enough to handle the flow from almost triple the potential connections abutting the sewers. Purchased capacity is also almost double that needed by the abutting potential connections.

A combination of special assessment and ad valorem tax (over the entire township) then seems to be the only way out, with the likelihood that if building increased, the ad valorem tax could be cut. It would still seem wise to keep a kitty building for future additions. There are two areas in the township not served by sewers which are already having pollution problems. The state and county, if township chooses not to, could still enforce mandatory hook-ups in those areas where septic are proven as causing pollution. A recent State Court of Appeals decision holds that mandatory sewer hook-ups are legal.

Another case in the State of Kentucky has gone so far as to produce a State Supreme Court decision that forced hook-ups are legal to the point that a community is to be considered as a whole for the harm inflicted by a few on the many, and that the chance of potential pollution occurring is as valid a reason for connecting as real pollution.

While the U.S. Supreme Court has not, as far as we can determine, ruled on mandatory hook-ups per se, it has ruled that a homeowner need not be compensated for the loss of his septic system due to sewer connections. And we who pay the bills, what have we to gain? Clean lakes, untainted wells, an orderly development—some of the items which lured us to Independence in the first place.

Bicentennial involvement

Board of Education Trustee Charles Smalley has made an appeal for total school involvement in the upcoming area Bicentennial celebration.

Smalley read a list of possible school activities which included use of newsletters for advertisement of Bicentennial activities; use of display cases for Bicentennial awareness, the landscaping of grounds in red, white and blue motifs, PTA projects, a school sponsored Bicentennial play, a Bicentennial open house, and the formation of a Bicentennial history club.

Immediate response was made by South Sashabaw PTA, whose members said a Bicentennial Week is being planned at that school to coincide with the Board of Education meeting planned there the week of March 22.

'If It Fitz ...'

Another lawsuit for CBS

by Jim Fitzgerald

I figure we'll sue the TV networks for $100 million worth of humiliation and embarrassment, at least.

I got the idea from the Michigan United Conservatory Clubs which is suing CBS TV for $300 million on behalf of the state's 1 million hunters. They're furious about the CBS show "The Guns of Autumn" which made hunters look as brave and adventurous as your Aunt Minnie with a fly swatter.

There's no denying what the CBS films showed. Some hunters should wear a butcher's apron. They do sneak up on bears feeding at garbage dumps and shoot them dead, a dangerous task requiring the same skill and bravery displayed by the man who turns on the gas at the dog pound.

And some hunters do hire gamekeepers to push animals in front of their telescopic sights.

I know a preserve operator who is training pheasants to fly into a hunter's pocket and commit suicide.

But this type of "hunter" is rare, not common. That's what's bugging the real hunters. They say CBS showed the world a distorted picture, portraying all the worst things hunters do, and none of the marvelous things. They claim they have been humiliated and embarrassed and so they are suing for a bundle.

I hope the hunters win the court battle. I'm angry at CBS anyway. I suspect it was some stupid CBS executive who convinced Mary Tyler Moore she should slim down this season, thus greatly diminishing her chest measurements and my viewing pleasure.

But I didn't mean to get frivolous. For many years I have harbored a serious beef against CBS and all the other TV networks. I've kept relatively quiet about it because there didn't appear to be any remedy available—until the hunters' lawsuit gave me hope.

If a court awards damages to hunters for being injured by an anti-hunting show, why shouldn't damages be awarded to anti-hunters who have been injured by those thousands of TV shows which glorify the hunter?

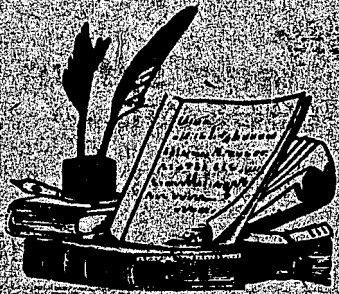

I'm thinking of such shows as the American Sportsman, for instance. Robert Stack invades Africa in a tank and stalks wild animals barehanded, except for various nuclear weapons and a cast of thousands to carry his collapsible condominium. This is done while a full orchestra plays scary music in the bushes and a voice in the background, usually Curt Gowdy, describes how hero Stack has risked his life to keep the world safe from the dreaded spotted antelope.

Or there are the more localized shows starring such Great White Hunters as Mort Neff. For umpteenth years he's been pointing his TV camera at the gun, bang! and then at the animal falling, plopp! Then he holds up the carcass and solemnly bestows sainthood upon the brave hunter who killed it at great risk of chapped wrists.

I find these TV shows humiliating and embarrassing. I insist they are distorted and not typical of the entire human race. I do not want my grandchildren seeing such bloody nonsense and thinking killing animals is great because Curt Gowdy says so and everyone on TV does it.

Onwards and Upward, $100 million worth.

Letters to the editor

Sewer issue a toughie

The citizens of Independence Township are confronted with a critical issue: How to pay a 10.1 million-dollar sewer construction debt. The present Township Board members did not create the problem and I sympathize with them in this dilemma.

But I foresee an even more critical issue emanating from the first—How to adequately retire the debt without creating a dichotomy within the populace of the Township. There is little hope that everyone will be pleased with any of the alternatives.

At the public meeting October 28th, hostilities and emotions flared. I fear segments of the community will become increasingly alienated from each other and cause an exodus of several families.

Political overtones and accusations flew from one personality to another. No doubt, some one group or groups got us into the mess. That's not as important now as how we solve the problem. It is a Township problem and belongs to all of us. We need real emotional stability and "togetherness" to find the most appropriate relief.

Let's take a look at a couple of the alternatives:

A. The cost spread throughout the township property owners whether serviced or not. B. The cost spread only to those who are now serviced or soon will be.

For those in category A, certainly it is not fair that they pay for a service they will likely never have.

On the other hand, is it fair for those in category B to pay their share plus an amount for construction that might have been but probably will not be.

We all will benefit from being known as a "Clean-Water Area" and you could properly refer to Independence Township in its present situation as a "disaster" by virtue of "improvement".

Senator Kammer and Representative Trim should be commended for their personal interest and concern but I see little hope for assistance from the State. I wish there were some system for diverting revenue from Lotteries and gambling enterprises back to us, but I feel that's only a wishful thought.

I certainly do not envy any member of the Township Board in their "hot seat". Let's work with them to take the route that is fairest for all of us.

Above all, we should not lose confidence in our local government — we should work with them for the best solution to our problem.

Parents must share responsibility

Letter to the editor.
Before one more person calls me asking me to a meeting on child oriented anything, I'd like to make my position clear.

I see the need for both multi-purpose rooms (not gyms) and library rooms (not media centers) in the elementary schools which do not currently have them.

I don't think we need to institute open or alternative education in the schools. We're asking for teacher accountability; that they should teach our children the 3 R's and sciences.

With their complaints about extra duty, I hardly see that they will agree to more demands. But I do believe the teachers have a right to one question. What about parent accountability?

Ever since Rob White came to Clarkston, people have been on his back. I've sat back and watched it all, and not said a word. The article written by Sue Frazier in the Clarkston High School newspaper really takes the cake.

Coach White has given our football players confidence, a sense of direction, teaching them to strive for the ultimate in life to achieve their final goal. He's taught them things they will take with them throughout life, things that could never be taught in a classroom.
He has given our community a respectable football team that when we go watch on Friday nights, we can be proud of.
In the October 24th issue of Sunrise the issue was raised over the boys having a water cooler in their locker room while the girls don't. Girls' basketball, powerball, softball combined doesn't make a dent in the $11,000 that boys' football brings in. I think they've earned their water cooler - don't you?
The other issue raised is that football players have seventh hour study hall, so Coach White is using class time to coach football. The editor of that piece of news failed to mention that seventh hour is Coach White's conference period. She failed to mention the girls' softball team has been granted permission to do the same. She failed to mention that the boys don't have any other study hall.

News from Florida

Dear Jean,
First let me congratulate you on a job well done. I have always known that the Clarkston News is one of the best newspapers published.

Nancy and I are very glad for you, and your co-workers. Also I would like to thank the people of Independence Township for voting for me as Constable.

At the time I had no idea that I would have to give up the job I like so much. I still call Michigan home. But, I also like it here in Florida.

I like the lingering sun spun days we are having here.

I hope the people that like skiing and snowmobiling get some snow this winter. I do not feel so far from home as we are getting the Clarkston News down here.

So, we are able to read about our town and what our friends are doing back there.

Sincerely,
Ed Harding

Bailey Lake parents speak

The once pleasant, friendly and open atmosphere of Bailey Lake has changed. As stated in an article in The Clarkston News, Thursday, October 23, 1975, "We are fulfilling only the minimum obligations of the contract."

It can be witnessed any day you choose the tension, low morale and the way our teachers practically run out of that school and race off in their cars to be away from the building by 4 p.m. This is in protest against the added inclement weather duty they have been given.

Many of you have voiced your concerns about insufficient supervision on the playground during recess time. Are you aware of what is going on during inclement weather days when the students cannot go outside? Many of the students are left ALONE in their classrooms for the 15 minute recess period in the morning and afternoon with the only supervision being supplied by two aides who patrol the halls.

The principal has added one teacher to a hall to help the aides during bad weather.

Many of us question whether or not even this is sufficient supervision. The two 15 minute periods in which the teachers are not required to assist building aides would add up to approximately 1 1/2 to 2 hours per teacher per school year.

We are the parents who have spent countless hours working in PTA, working in the library, going on field trips and yes, backing both teachers and administration. We refuse at this time to be divided and forced into taking sides.

Our PTA alone in the past two years has given the teachers at Bailey Lake $3,000 to spend on teaching aides.

Talk about low morale. What do you think this situation has done to the morale of the parents and children? The atmosphere for learning has reached an all time low in our school at Bailey Lake.

We felt until this point that the grievance filed was against administration and not against parents and children.

As parents of the children at Bailey Lake School, we demand that the teachers and administration get together and clear this sickening situation up at once. You have to work this out and then get back to the job of teaching our children.

Sincerely,
Concerned Parents of
Bailey Lake Elementary

Wolves engineer second shutout

by Dave Johnson
Sports Reporter

Clarkston's varsity football team has had their ups and downs all season.

One week they would play with the finesse and enthusiasm of a Rose Bowl champion, but would follow that exhibition with a dismal outing. Then they'd come back with a super performance the next week, but would falter in the game to follow.

Fortunately for Coach White and his Wolves, Clarkston got off that rollercoaster. They posted a 27-0 shutout victory over Rochester Adams on their "down" night.

The triumph was the Wolves' second consecutive shutout and increased their seasonal record to 6-2.

Clarkston outclassed Adams in every phase of the game. The Wolves rolled up 315 yards offensively, 300 on the ground, and held the Highlanders to 46 yards.

White's Army attempted only one pass, but that was completed for a touchdown.

They also picked up 16 first downs while holding Adams to a pair.

The contest began with Clarkston kicking to Rochester. With the wind at his back, Bob Heath drilled the ball out of the endzone to give Adams possession at the 20 yard line.

Clarkston's defense denied Rochester any yardage on their first series to force a punt from the 23-yard line.

The Wolves got a break when Rochester's punter received a bad snap and hurriedly kicked the ball straight up in the air. The ball bounced backward and was downed by the Highlanders' 18 yard line, giving Clarkston excellent field position.

Five plays later, Tom Ross ran the ball into the end zone from the one-yard line to break the scoreless tie. Heath added the extra point to make the score, 7-0.

On the ensuing kickoff, Heath kicked the ball out of the endzone. Again the Wolves' defense stopped the Highlanders' offense deep in Rochester's own territory. On third down, Adams "quick-kicked" giving Clarkston possession at mid-field.

The Wolves moved the ball to the 23-yard line where Rick Esser took it upon himself to leg out the remaining yards into the end zone.

However, there was a clipping penalty on the play, which nullified the touchdown and brought the ball back to the line of scrimmage.

Several plays later, Esser carried the ball in from the three to get the six points back. Heath's extra point attempt was blown wide by a heavy wind to keep the score at 13-0.

When Clarkston got possession of the pigskin again, they drove it to Rochester's 15-yard-line. It was at this time that quarterback Tim Fogg completed his only pass attempt of the evening; a pop pass to Don Blower which resulted in a touchdown.

Heath kicked the extra point, giving the Wolves a 20-0 halftime lead.

Clarkston started off the second half by kicking off to Rochester once again. They got the ball back on the recovered fumble and started another scoring drive.

Tom Ross rushed for the final five yards to pick up his second touchdown of the game to give Clarkston 26-0 lead.

Bob Heath split the uprights on the conversion to increase the Wolves' lead to 27-0.

For the remainder of the game, Coach White played his second offensive and defensive units.

Clarkston travels to Alpena this Friday to play their final game of the season.

A big day Friday

The unusually long distance to Alpena has prompted some special arrangements by the athletic department for Friday's varsity football game.

The football team will ride in Greyhound buses to the game, leaving Clarkston at noon.

When the buses arrive in Alpena around 4:30 p.m., the team will eat a pre-game meal at Big Boy restaurant, and then tour Alpena High School's athletic facilities and its new swimming pool.

Game time is 7:30 p.m. After the game, the team has been invited by Alpena High School to a smorgasbord dinner at Kentucky Inn.

Buses will leave for their return trip to Clarkston around 11 p.m.

Some of the players will stay overnight with their parents in Alpena.

JV coach resigns

Paul Tungate, Clarkston High School math teacher, has submitted his resignation as head junior varsity football coach.

Tungate said he wishes to devote more time to his position as head varsity baseball coach.

He has been head JV coach for the past three years, and was an assistant JV coach before that.

His record up to this year was 14-4, but his young and small JV team took a beating this year, only winning once in seven outings.

The high school administration doesn't plan on finding a replacement for him until spring, according to Connie Bruce, athletic director.

White's Wolves

by Rob White

Varsity coach

The football team would like to thank all of our students and fans that formed the tunnel leading us onto the field last Friday night before the game. I think it helped the team perform, and was a fitting tribute to the seniors that played their final game on their home field. It was an ideal night, because everyone played in the game and made parents' night a memorable occasion.

The game went like a good football game should. We gained 300 yards on the ground and allowed our opponents to cross the 50-yard line only once in four quarters of football.

It was our finest performance of the season against a strong opponent. The passing game was perfect, one for one.

It does not seem possible, but the final game of the year is upon us. Alpena is a strong ball club that plays one of the toughest schedules in the state.

This game has been the most talked about sporting event in this community for many years. Our season record rides on this game and we have nothing to hold back.

Alpena will be the seniors' final game. All players remember the last game in high school—let us hope we can go out and win.

Time error knocks out JV game

The Clarkston JV football team ended its season a week earlier than expected. The last game of the season, to be played at Farmington, was because of an error in the game was scheduled.

The administrators of the two schools agreed not to reschedule the game as it was non-league competition and would not alter the league standings. The JV team ended its season with a record of 1-6.

Girl cagers share league lead

The Clarkston girls varsity basketball team suffered a disappointing week as they dropped a non-league game to Rochester Adams and lost a GOA League game to rival West Bloomfield.

On Tuesday, the Wolves could score only 22 points through the first three quarters of the game compared to the 32 points of Rochester Adams.

Clarkston began playing ball like a contending team in the fourth quarter as they scored 18 points and played the boards for a lot of important rebounds.

Their final quarter surge fell short by 2 points, as they lost out to Rochester Adams by the score of 42-40.

Leading scorer for the team was Dede Miller, who collected 11 points. Other scorers were Diane Curry with nine points, Autumn Matlock with eight points, Kathy Rush with six points, Nancy Chartier with four points and Barb Lohff with 2 points.

Commanding the boards for Clarkston was Autumn Matlock, who pulled down 13 rebounds.

Last Thursday, the Wolves traveled to West Bloomfield where they experienced poor shooting from the floor and ineffective rebounding, which led to a Clarkston loss by the score of 46-33. Clarkston struggled throughout the game and couldn't overcome the strength of West Bloomfield's fine defense.

Scoring was spread throughout Clarkston's players, led by Autumn Matlock with seven points and followed by Diane Curry with six points, Mary Anderson with five points, Nancy Chartier, Marcia Mason and Dede Miller with four points each, Kathy Rush with two points and Barb Lohff with one point.

Autumn Matlock was the leading rebounder with eight, and Diane Curry captured 5 steals.

The outcome of Thursday's game was West Bloomfield signaled Clarkston's first loss in league competition in five consecutive years.

The loss was to a hustling team, which is well coached by Kathy (Matlock) Stapleton, a 1968 Clarkston High graduate.

Clarkston and West Bloomfield now share the league lead in basketball standings with identical 5-1 records. Clarkston's team has a record of 10-4 for the season.

Sashabaw girls 10-2

The Sashabaw Junior High girls' basketball squad has boosted their record to 10 wins and two losses with victories over Avondale, 24-23, and Lake Orion East, 46-39.

Against Avondale, Pam Blower was high scorer with 10 points. Mary Mullen and Kay Pearson

The Clarkston girls' JV basketball team gained two victories last week over Rochester Adams 40-30 and West Bloomfield 48-33. The JVs have won their last 11 games and currently enjoy an 11-2 record.

A 13-point third quarter by Clarkston proved to be the undoing of a tough Rochester Adams team.

Leading scorer for Clarkston was Sue Frazier with 16 points and 10 rebounds. Anne Vaara added eight points and collected seven steals. Gale Graham and Jane Tatu contributed seven points each.

The JV's defeated a much improved West Bloomfield team. Clarkston was ahead at half time by a slim 21-19 margin. The second half, however, was a different game as Clarkston enjoyed a 41% shooting percentage.

Leading scorers for Clarkston were Pat Killian with 12 points and Anne Vaara with 10 points.

Clarkston Post Office was closed recently, the occasion being Veterans' Day, however all public institutions and the banks will be observing the holiday on the traditional November 11. The federal government caused the mix-up in observances through its Monday Holiday Bill.

Having just observed Columbus Day on October 13, it sometimes seems like a good idea if we all worked for government—or if, as someone said, the government took off only those national holidays accorded school children.

Career night Monday at Clarkston High School was "a huge success," according to Rotary member Connie Bruce. From 400-500 students and parents turned up to find out information from persons representing 52 different occupations.

The program was sponsored by the Clarkston Rotary Club.

A lot of people won paint and gifts during the Country Value Hardware Store grand opening recently in the shopping center at Dixie and M-15.

Among them were Ward

The Upper Mill Pond clean-out project is finished, with the exception of some seeding and some ditch renovation. The Lakes Board met Thursday at the County Drain Commission office to approve payment of all but 10 percent of the costs, the latter to be made as soon as the wind-up work is completed.

Supervisor J. Edwin Glennie said total cost of the project was $40,000 plus interest over five years, which amounts to $47,958.86. Some of the surrounding residents have chosen to pay by cash, the remainder on time. Only those making time payments will be charged interest, under terms of the special assessment district set up to handle the job.

Mary Russell, who used to watch the village flags wave from her apartment across the street at Main and Washington, cried when they were stolen. At past 80 years of age, she said they meant so much to her that she offered to foot the bill for their replacement, even though the village has already made the necessary transactions, and the old flags have since been recovered.

Pontiac State Bank officials say regular savings accounts as of the end of August this year were up more than 25 percent over last year, and Bill Belaney there thinks the same thing is true of other banking institutions in the county.

He attributes the constantly increasing number of double income families in the area as the reason for increased savings despite inflation and lay-offs.

Inflation was blamed by Clarkston Village attorney John Steckling for his firm's increase in hourly consultation rates. Steckling notified the Village Council that he would be charging $45 per hour instead of $35, beginning November 1.

The Clarkston Village Christmas parade will be December 13 this year. But preceding the parade, December 12, there will be a new and hopefully annual "Family Night" in downtown Clarkston to bring in the Christmas season.

The Clarkston Village Council okayed the parade Monday, and also passed a resolution supporting the family night. The Village Business Association asked the council for the resolution, hoping that a joint effort by the association and the council could make that night a community-wide activity.

The night will include Christmas tree lighting ceremony, caroling and lots more, according to Joan Kopietz, association member.

Helen Cheeseman, Clarkston, 1932 Peach Queen.

Anyone in the Clarkston area who knows the current address of the former Peach Queen is asked to communicate to her that the Peach Queen Homecoming committee is trying to correspond with her, or, forward a current address to the Clarkston News, or, write Peach Queen Homecoming committee, PO Box 96, Romeo, Michigan, 48065.

The word is, former State Rep. Loren Anderson, defeated in 1973 by Claude Trim for his State House of Representatives seat, will attempt to reclaim that seat next year.

Cultural and entertainment review

by Jim Windell

The Detroit Metropolitan area is a great place for entertainment; but a cultural oasis, it is not.

Culture is frequently confused with entertainment and too seldom is culture applied to events that possess excellence of taste.

Entertainment is literally something that is diverting or engaging and, therefore, almost any kind of public performance or spectacle could qualify.

Matthew Arnold, the nineteenth century writer, said that culture is "acquainting ourselves with the best that has been known and said in the world."

To other people, culture relates to the history of the human spirit, with perfection in the arts, and, most people tend to agree, it has to do with excellence of taste.

What follows is a brief review of what has been and will be worth seeing and listening to in our area. Much is not "cultural" but without a doubt all will be entertaining.

THEATER

The Detroit and Oakland County area is far from being the cultural abyss it is frequently made out to be. It is not New York or London and theatre options are limited, but there is usually something dramatic to suit anyone's taste. Professional theatre is sparse, but community theatre groups abound all over southeastern Michigan.

The beautiful Fisher Theater (873-4400) in Detroit usually offers plays and musicals which have had successful runs on Broadway. This year is no exception. The lineup for 1975-76 will include several interesting theatre evenings.

The highlight for anyone serious about drama will be Peter Shaffer's Tony Award winning play, "Equus," which had smash reviews at the Old Vic in London last year and was followed this year by a successful Broadway debut.

It is an incredibly eerie psychological drama, starring Tony Perkins, which should not be missed. Also, scheduled to appear after the beginning of 1976 is Alan Ayckbourn's "Absurd Person Singular." Ayckbourn is England's counterpart to Neil Simon, and he usually has two or three or more plays running concurrently in London's West End.

The Music Hall (963-7622) in Detroit will present Sammy Cahn in "Words and Music" during November and the popular Broadway play, "1776," in late December.

Oakland University's professional theatre, Meadow Brook Theater (377-3300), is celebrating its tenth season. For the last decade they have consistently produced top-notch theatre and a variety of drama events.

Over the last ten years they have put on plays by Bertold Brecht, Anton Chekhov, Henrik Ibsen, Shakespeare, Sophocles, Eugene O'Neill, George Bernard Shaw, Arthur Miller, Edward Albee, and Tennessee Williams.

This year's lineup of plays will be as varied as any year in the past. Among the plays this year are Shakespeare's "Mid-Summer Night's Dream," Agatha Christie's "Witness for the Prosecution," (Nov. 6-30), Shaw's "Arms and the Man," (December 4-28), and Hellman's "Little Foxes," (January, 1976).

Among the rest of the plays next spring will be Alan Ayckbourn's "Relatively Speaking," which will be the second Ayckbourn play at Meadow Brook Theater in the last few years. Ayckbourn's plays are always hilariously funny but with satiric comments on the foibles of a class-conscious society.

There is also professional theatre at the Detroit Repertory Theater (868-1347) and at the University of Michigan's Professional Theater program in Ann Arbor. Most of the Detroit Colleges and Universities have one or more drama series. Wayne State University's Hilberry Theater will feature in repertory Shaw's "The Devil's Disciple," Miller's "Death of a Salesman," and other plays by noted authors.

Community theater is also available in nearly every community and there are some very good small theatre groups. The Will-O-Way Theater in Bloomfield Hills (644-4418) is currently doing Hart and Kaufman's "You Can't Take It With You," which includes among the actors Pete and Elaine Murray from Clarkston.

Later in November, Will-O-Way will do Lorraine Honsberry's

"A Raisin in the Sun," which will star Claudia McNeil, the actress who played the role of the mother on Broadway when it opened in 1958.

The Clarkston Village Players first performance of the season will be a version of the English comedy, now in its fourth year in London, "No Sex Please-We're British." The play opens at the Clarkston Depot Theater on Friday, November 14, 1975.

Pine Knob a boon to area

Oakland County, but to all southeastern Michigan residents.

As the summer home of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, it is a showcase for orchestra music, chamber music, operatic concerts and ballet.

Under the leadership of conductor Aldo Ceccato, the Detroit Symphony Orchestra filled the night air with classical and modern orchestra music on Thursday, Saturday and Sunday evenings most of last summer.

On Friday night, as has been the custom for several years, popular and jazz artists performed at the Music Festival. This year, as in past years, jazz musicians of international acclaim highlighted the Friday evening series.

This last summer's list of jazz musicians reads like a who's who of traditional and contemporary jazz: Benny Goodman, George Shearing, Sarah Vaughan, Marion McPartland, and Dave Brubeck.

Four years ago, Pine Knob Music Theater joined Meadow Brook Music Festival to offer North Oakland County residents a wide variety of summer musical entertainment.

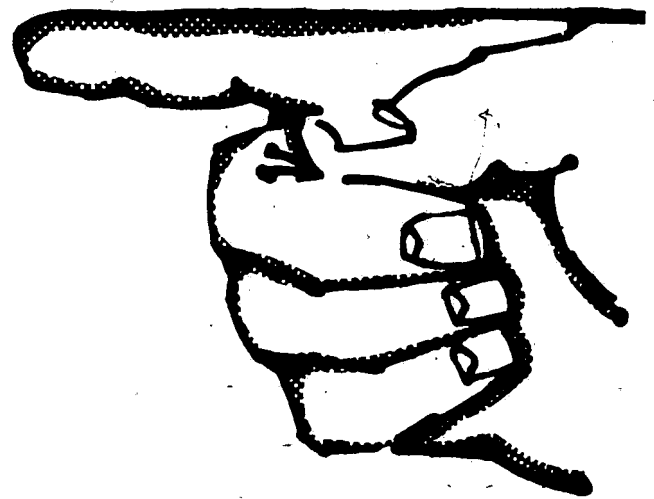

With over 80 nights of music during the summer months, Pine Knob musical events run the gamut from popular to rock to jazz; and this last August, the

"NO SEX PLEASE, WE'RE BRITISH—If that's so, how come everybody's smiling? Bill Richard, Sandy Sanford, Hugh Rose, Jim Tyrrell, Carol Arend, and Howard Kottke [from left] seem to have discovered other diversionary measures while rehearsing for the Clarkston Village Players' season opener, "No Sex Please, We're British," directed by Pat Thomas, may be seen November 14, 15, 21 and 22 at the Depot Theater.

We'd just like to point out the fact that "Loving Cup" is back at Ted's.

Detroit Concert Band with guest conductor Meredith Wilson performed a matinee for those who love American Music.

The highlights of the Pine Knob season this year included The Eagles, one of the best rock groups to emerge in the last few years; comedian Richard Pryor; singer, James Taylor; Linda Rondstadt; jazz keyboard man, Chick Corea; the jazz-rock group, Chicago; the exciting Fifth Dimension; Frank Sinatra; Johnny Mathis; and Earth, Wind and Fire.

Next summer you can look for both Meadow Brook Music Festival and Pine Knob Theater to provide an exciting array of entertainers. Hopefully, Frank Sinatra will return; and Chicago, the first entertainers at Pine Knob to gross over a million dollars, seem a certainty to be back.

The completion of the enclosed Pontiac Stadium will eventually lead to several large concerts yearly. The first of these will be The Who, the group made famous by the rock opera, "Tommy." They will appear at the Pontiac Stadium on December 6.

Also, soon to play in this area are Gordon Lightfoot at the Masonic Auditorium on November 8, 1975, and the J. Geils Band on November 29, 1975, at Cobo Arena. Frank Zappa and the Mothers of Invention will be at the Crisler Arena in Ann Arbor on November 18, 1975.

Puccini's "La Boheme" will be performed at the Lydia Mendelssohn Theater November 20-23, 1975, while December 9-14, 1975, the Pittsburgh Ballet Theater will do "Nutcracker" at the Music Hall.

In New York there are countless film series which include series at the Museum of Modern Art and at Lincoln Center. Film series and forums are popping up in cities across the country. Detroit isn't famous as a film town, but there are a number of film programs in the metropolitan area. Last year the Detroit Film Theater inaugurated a regular series to offer a wide selection of both modern and classic world cinema.

The Detroit Film Theater, located at the Detroit Institute of Art (832-2730) will present some exciting films during the next two months. They include: "La Ronde," (November 28); "Lacombe, Lucien," (December 19); "Monsieur Verdoux," (December 13); and "Tokyo Story," (December 20). The last film has been called one of the ten greatest films of all time.

Other film groups and societies are:

Very exciting for us locally is that the Clarkston Community Art Council will produce its first, hopefully annual, film festival in January 1976. Called the Film Critic's Choice Film Festival and sponsored by the Michigan Council for the Arts, the Festival will run over a two-day period beginning January 16, 1976, at 6 o'clock in the evening at Columbiere Center, 9075 Big Lake Road, Clarkston.

The festival will feature full length films including one of the best American films ever made, "Citizen Kane." Also included will be, "Oliver," the animated Beatles' film, "Yellow Submarine;" "Spellbound," by Hitchcock; and one other film starring Marilyn Monroe and Tony Curtis. In addition, there will be nine short films:

- "Chicken Little"
- "The Critic"
- "Beast of Monsieur Racine"
- "One-Eyed Men are Kings"
- "Sergeant Swell"
- "Dr. Seuss on the Loose"
- "1501 1/2"
- "Family that Dwelt Apart"
- "Morris the Midget"

The Clarkston Film Critic's Choice Film Festival will be free of charge, and everyone in the family is welcome.

Tid-bits:

Ted's Old Town Inn, Woodward at Square Lake Road in Bloomfield Hill, is featuring the Loving Cup Entertainers until November 29. Lorio will follow with a December 2 to January 31 appearance. Mary Clancey is at the keyboard daily from 4 to 9 p.m.

The Voyager at Oakland-Pontiac Airport on M-59 is featuring the Chip Davidson Trio through New Year's Eve. The restaurant is open seven days a week for lunches and dinners. There are banquet facilities for 100 to 150 persons.

Clarkston Cafe in downtown Clarkston will mark its fifth anniversary in town on November 25. All prices for the day and evening will be rolled back to 1970 levels.

Who said bowling is not entertainment?

by Hilda Bruce
of The Clarkston News

"That's entertainment," says the song. What's entertainment? According to Webster it's anything that is interesting, amusing and diverting.

How one interests, amuses or diverts himself determines what he calls entertainment. For roughly 2,000 people a week that entertainment is bowling at Howe's Lanes.

Some of those 2,000 are repeaters, according to Linda Howe, daughter of Les and Barb Howe, owners of Howe's Lanes. There's one family of seven who all bowl on Saturday. The father bowls three or four nights a week and the mother bowls once or twice. "That's a lot of money in bowling!" Linda comments.

Kelly Burnett of Clarkston bowls in three leagues.

Kay Potvin of Ortonville bowls on one league and also subs whenever she can on another.

For mothers like Kay, there's a nursery provided for the children's care. There's no age limit on the children cared for. Even a crib is provided for the tiny ones, or a mother may take her own playpen.

Bowling at Howe's is not limited to the adults. "There's a kid's league bowling every day at 3 p.m. and 500 kids bowl on Saturday," Linda said.

Monday through Thursday is taken up with league play; day and night. Friday and Sunday is set aside for open bowling with the exception of Friday night.

To bowl at night costs 85 cents a game with a shoe rental of 50 cents. During the day the charge is 75 cents for adults and 65 cents for children.

There is no professional bowling at Howe's Lanes because there aren't enough alleys. The Howes are considering an addition that would add 12 more lanes to the facility. That would qualify them for professional bowling with the 36 lanes needed. The lanes would be equipped with automatic scorekeepers.

The considered addition would also add another quicky bar. There is now one bar adjacent to the lanes and a night club on the lower level.

The lanes attract bowlers from Ortonville, Lake Orion and Pontiac as well as the Clarkston and Waterford areas. Some of them are pretty good too. Howe's have had three sanctioned 300-point games.

In the Michigan Major Tournaments held at Howe's this fall, Les Crawford of Belleville bowled a 300 game and John Bennett averaged over 250 points.

"John practically grew up here," Linda explained. "My parents used to let him bowl for free when he was a youngster. Now he manages a bowling alley."

Quite a few of the regulars carry an average of over 200 according to Linda. Cliff Thompson and Lyndy Wood both carry a 208 average. Peg Dyer holds the highest average for women, 179.

Linda and her mother, Barb, both carry a 165 average. "We won't talk about Dad," Linda laughed, "he just whips it (the ball) down there!"

FIRST TIME AT THE PONTIAC MALL!

They named a race for Frank

by Jean Saile
of The Clarkston News

Some 5,000 boys from the East Coast ran recently through a downpour in a Manhattan Invitational Interscholastic Cross-Country Race, while the 65-year-old man for whom the race was named sat nearby in a wheelchair -- his yellow slicker diverting some of the damp.

The man was Frank Crowley of Clarkston who ran as part of the 1,500 meter team in the 1932 Olympics in Los Angeles. Glenn Cunningham was a member of that team.

"When Babe Didrikson was high jumping, I was right next door warming up. She wasn't really a high jumper. She was a diver," he volunteers.

While Frank didn't bring home any medals from the Olympics, he had other credits to his name and went on after the Olympics to augment them, having traveled to England and South Africa in 1931, and taking his bride, Billie, with him on a six-months honeymoon/tour of Hawaii, Manchuria, Japan, China, Phillipines and Korea in 1934.

Frank was freshman mile champion in 1931; indoor mile champ in 1932; captained the winning Manhattan College team in 1933; took three titles in 1933 for the mile, 3,000 meter race and cross country; and then in 1934 went on to win four national events, completing the grand slam of track athletics.

Those wins were chalked up in the New York Intercollegiate Metropolitan mile; the 3,000 meter race for the Eastern Collegiate; the 2-mile NCAA; and the national 5,000 meter race.

Frank doesn't run anymore. He swung at a golf ball one day at Highland Golf Club, White Lake Township and collapsed, wound up in Ann Arbor University Hospital for five months, and came out to make a new life. He chose politics, serving one term as state representative and has since been manager of a Secretary of State office in Birmingham for the past ten years.

That his politics are Democratic are no surprise when you learn Frank grew up in a quarry town -- a company town, he calls it -- in Vermont.

A four-letter man in high school, he didn't begin running until he went to Allentown Prep School in Pennsylvania and broke the world record for the mile.

Billie, then 15, lived nearby and she grins, "Frank had to pass my house every day to go anywhere."

Billie was, in her own words, a "track nut." Right now she's waiting for the NCAA meet this February. "I love track dearly," she says.

Frank tried again for the Olympic team in 1936, but he didn't make it and wound up coaching and teaching in New York and then got jobs in Ohio and Michigan which brought him to this area in 1939.

At one point in his career, he was athletic director for the Fighting Irish 69th Regiment of the New York National Guard. One of his more famous charges was Joyce Kilmer, author of "Trees."

Frank wound up with the 36th General Hospital group as detachment commander in World War II, serving in Africa and Italy. Among his detachment was Dr. John Stageman of Clarkston.

After the war, he entered the malt beverage business in Oakland County until his illness.

Listing Frank's accomplishments wouldn't be complete without mention of his great Irish tenor voice -- showcased "for shurr" on St. Patty's Day at the Clarkston cafe.

Now an elder statesman of Democratic politics, Frank on occasion gets out one of the few trophies left to mark his career. Most of them, and all of his write-ups were burned in a Notre Dame warehouse fire in Monroe while he was in the Army.

Frank Crowley, former Olympic runner

He can spin stories with the best of them, his Irish heritage lighting his eyes and adding relish to his words.

If you get him going, he'll tell you about the afternoon he spent with Will Rogers, his acquaintance with former New York Mayor Jimmy Walker and times Knute Rockne tried to get him to

Title X unemployment funds turned down

It looks like Springfield, Independence and Clarkston will not be receiving a combined $265,000 in federal funds under the Public Works and Economic Development Act, Title X.

According to Don Van Tine, chief program operator for Oakland County Manpower, the U.S. Department of Commerce has only awarded $1.8 million to the county, 10 percent of what it asked for.

Of the $1.8 million, grants were allocated to the county public works department, the parks and recreation department, and the city of Southfield.

Van Tine said there were some questions about the exact amount of grants involved. The money is filtered through the U.S. Department of Labor, and Manpower expected to receive written notification of the exact amounts this Wednesday.

Springfield Township had planned on using $125,000 requested under the program to expand township offices.

Independence Township had requested $70,000 to use for the township park and for another police officer. Clarkston Village also asked $70,000 to improve the Depot Road park.

Van Tine said it appears that there were more requests for funds nationwide than could be filled, and the Commerce Department "had to draw the line somewhere."

Barn fire believed work of arsonist

Another case of suspected arson has occurred in Springfield Township.

A barn, filled with hay, belonging to Charles Swift of 12645 Rattalee Lake Road was destroyed by fire early Saturday, Nov. 1.

Sparks from the fire endangered a neighboring farm until the firemen from Springfield Township arrived and sprayed the buildings.

The barn was totally involved before anyone noticed it, said Fire Chief Marlan Hillman, who received the alarm at 1:05 a.m.

According to Nelson Gelinas, identification technician for the Oakland County Crime Lab, there are no leads in the string of suspected arsons hitting North Oakland County.

A $1,500 reward is being offered via the North Oakland Chamber of Commerce Silent Observer Program and the Michigan Arson Commission for information leading to the arrest of the arsonists.

Anyone with information about the arsons should contact Arson Control, Box 23, Holt, Mich. 48842 or call collect 517-882-4341.

Parking tickets issued at CHS

Students, teachers and visitors at Clarkston High School who do not pay attention to the new parking rules, as set forth under a recently passed township ordinance, were in for tickets last week.

Police Services Director Jack McCall said some 60 warnings had been issued, and then in the last two weeks almost 50 violations were written.

Those who paid their tickets within the first 48 hours after issuance were fined $2; the balance had to go to Clarkston District Court.

Independence Township Board Tuesday night was to designate David Hodge, school parking lot attendant, as the ordinance enforcer. The new designation will allow him to write tickets on violations at the school.

Fortin granted reduced right-of-way

Developer Earl Fortin has been granted a reduced right-of-way along his property on Perry Lake Road by the Oakland County Board of Commissioners.

Fortin is developing two lots of five acres apiece, called Apple Ridge Estates, along Perry Lake Road, and asked that the county right-of-way be reduced from 120 feet to 86 feet, making the right-of-way on each side 43 feet wide instead of 60 feet.

The board said it did not need the 60 feet of right-of-way on either side of the road shown on the county master plan, as Perry Lake Road has been turned into a cul-de-sac where it runs into Independence Oaks County Park.

Grace lives with antiques

COUNTRY LIVING

Children's play dishes are Japanese porcelain

Grace Vaughan doesn't just collect antiques, she lives with them. She bought her Clarkston home five years ago because "I needed a place to store them!"

Grace laughed, "Not really. Rents were getting to me."

Prior to moving to Clarkston, Grace, a teacher, lived in the Ortonville area where she has taught physical education since 1962. Since the move she has carpeted, wallpapered ("with the help of friends and relatives") she says, laid formica on the kitchen cupboards and changed the cupboard hardware.

After teaching in Toledo, Ohio and then Quincy, Michigan, she came to this area. "It was either here or Oscoda," Grace explained.

As a child she spent her summers in Oscoda at her grandparents' where her great grandparents had homesteaded in 1865. She likes it here because it is close to her family home in Toledo.

Many of her antiques are familiar pieces like her grandmother's fern stand. The oil painting of Hudson Valley, New York, that hangs above an antique love seat belonged to her great grandfather Vaughan. A platform rocker near the loveseat was her grandmother Park's as was the pearl inlaid parlor table.

The cherry bookcase in the "parlor" came from the first school she taught in; the Luella Cummings School in Toledo. It holds her collection of antique dishes including priceless pieces of the 1790 "Old Hall" china, manufactured in England by Job Meigh.

She also has a set of children's play dishes made of Japanese porcelain. She played with the service for six when she was a child. (She still has a couple of the dolls, too.)

The cherry pineapple three quarter beds in her bedroom are covered with hand crocheted spreads. The marble topped dresser was a gift.

The bed in the guest bedroom was her great grandfather Vaughan's and though it looks like oak, it is chestnut, Grace said. The 51-year-old quilt coverlet was handmade for her mother, Aline Vaughan, as a wedding gift.

Near the bed her sister's "Tootsie Toy" doll house furniture is displayed. "When it was purchased, forty-five years ago, it cost 50 cents a room. "Now it's worth $6 an item," Grace said. The four-room doll house it was used in was Grace's mothers and was made from an orange crate.

The dining room also furnished in family pieces includes 100-year-old chairs and a wicker lamp, handmade in the twenties by Grace's cousin, Vera Park. The cloth on the table was originally a summer carriage robe. "It was last used for that in 1915," Grace laughed.

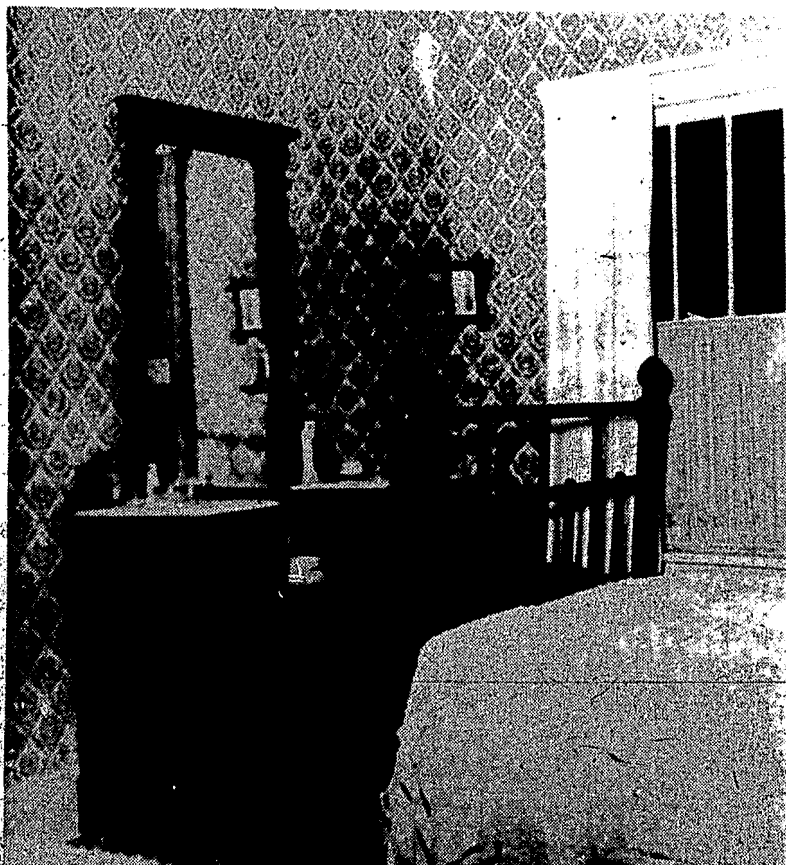

Within her collection of antiques, Grace has collections of pewter, silver spoons, glass milk bottles, and elephants. "I even have an elephant purse," she said.

Near the front entrance is an English coal fork. Though it was originally used for digging clinkers out of the fireplace, Grace thought maybe she'd use it on Halloween.

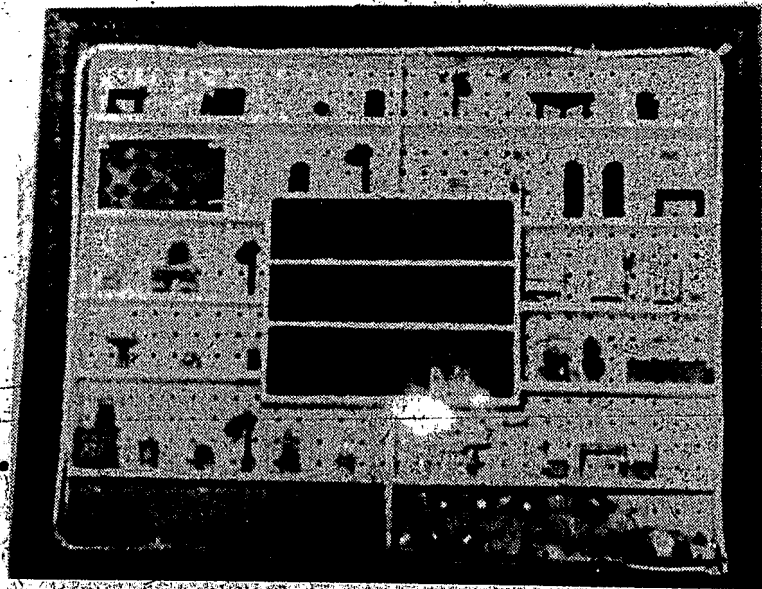

So if you saw a devil with a very authentic looking fork---. Or maybe Gabriel? Grace also has a horn that would add much to that costume.

Guest bed was Grace's great-grandfather's

Clarkston women get word on Total Woman

by Hilda Bruce of The Clarkston News

"You know where to get a new wife for $15? Send the old one to Total Woman!" stated the husband of a Total Woman graduate.

If that's to be believed, there are 50 lucky men in the Clarkston area. Their wives attended the Total Woman seminar held at Calvary Lutheran Church recently.

The marriage enrichment course, designed by Marabel Morgan in 1970, was taught by Catroll Pettifor, authorized and trained by Mrs. Morgan. She first became interested in the Total Woman concept when she read the book by the same name. First published in 1973, Total Woman was the non-fiction number one best seller in 1974.

Mrs. Morgan, in her search for answers to her marriage problems researched every book she could, including the Bible. The success she found when she applied her learnings to her marriage prompted her to share her discoveries with others.

The Total Woman course holds "nothing new under the sun," but "is based on sound psychological principles. It helps a woman learn to fulfill her role as a woman by Biblical definition, to communicate with all members of her family, to set goals and develop her self-image."

The book and the course includes "Guidelines for organizing chores, disciplining children and adding romance to marriage."

Marabel Morgan bases her approach on that Bible verse that says women should be submissive to their husbands. Mrs. Pettifor however, stresses the woman's self-image more than male dominance. Either way, it appears that if the woman is happy and secure with herself, she can be happy with others. By adapting herself to her husband, accepting him and his decisions, he in turn is considerate of her.

"Never say I told you so," Mrs. Pettifor cautioned.

Mrs. Pettifor likens Total Woman to the supermarket. There is something there for every woman; staples, new items, spices. "If you have one, try another. If you try it and don't like it, don't use it again."

"You're never too old to be in love and to learn new ways to improve your marriage," Mrs. Pettifor said, as she related that a 70-year-old woman in one of her classes had said of her husband, "Ruffles get him every time!"

Mrs. Morgan advocates the use of costumes for adding spice to the marriage. Not convinced it was a good idea, Mrs. Pettifor said she was hesitant to try it. She did, and now she said, it does work.

Many of the thousands who have tried this Total Woman principle find their husbands love it, she says. "Be discreet, especially if you have children," Mrs. Pettifor said. "A costume doesn't have to be something far out. It can be the dress your husband likes best."

Besides outlining principles for a sound mind, for improved attitudes, for improved sex, for improved communication, for determining priorities and for improving childrearing techniques, Total Woman is a how-to program.

In the day and a half of lecture and sharing, the Clarkston women learned the principles to become total women in mind, body and spirit.

During the next month they will carry out assignments designed to reinforce their learnings. Those learnings will then be there whenever they need them in the future. "Remember, you can always be T.W." Mrs. Pettifor said, "Total Woman or Total Wreck!"

She admits that even after two years of practicing the Total Woman principles she still has days when she is a total wreck. "If you really want to get depressed," Mrs. Pettifor said, "Just think of all the meals you're going to have to prepare for the rest of your life!"

Of the tips Mrs. Pettifor shared, perhaps the most important for good family relations is, "Compliment. Don't criticize, condemn or complain." Another is "Say 'Yes, let's instead of 'Oh, not today'."

If you didn't attend the Total Woman seminar, ask your husband this—"If you could have me do one thing, what would it be?"

"Yesterday is already a dream and tomorrow is only a vision; but today well-lived, makes every yesterday a dream of happiness and every tomorrow a vision of hope."—a thought from Carroll Pettifor.

TIMING

... has always been a factor in buying a new home and the key to proper timing comes from answers to such questions as, when do I begin marketing my present home?, when do I seriously begin looking for a new home?, when do I find out what my mortgage potential is? But most important, when do I meet with a professional brokerage counselor?

At Hargreaves & Pilarcik Inc. we feel the last question has the answer to all the previous ones ... for a thorough look at today's market and how it affects you ... give us a call.

We'd like to introduce this timely home ...

This home has features galore.

The thick rough sawn cedar siding makes this authentic colonial something special. Four bedrooms, sunken family room, 3-car garage are just part of the package.

This newly built home is just reaching the time to select counter tops, flooring, cabinets and all the things that personalize your new home.

It's no bunk-- Bunka Embroidery is easy

Linda Chambers and her handiwork

by Hilda Bruce
of The Clarkston News

Japanese Bunka Embroidery?
"The title is deceiving," said Linda Chambers of Clarkston. "It scares people because they think of Japanese art forms as being delicate and difficult to accomplish, but it's not!"

According to Linda, bunka means punch. The embroidery is worked with a punch needle and corded rayon thread that is unraveled as it is used. "It's the kinks that keep the thread in place and give the unique appearance to the finished product," Linda explained.

She continued that there are no knots holding the thread so it's very easy to eliminate mistakes—"just pull on the thread."

Another advantage to bunka embroidery is that it is very simple. A small picture can be worked in three or four days. "That's just in spare time," Linda stressed.

She learned the art from a Japanese lady when the two were neighbors at an Air Force base in Oscoda. It was also from her that she got the address for the materials needed for the art. She imports everything from Japan, as she has been unable to find the material she needs in the states.

Linda taught Japanese Bunka Embroidery for the Pontiac Y.M.C.A. a few years ago and now gives lessons in her home, as well as through the adult education programs in Waterford and Rochester.

The lessons in her home cost $10 plus the cost of materials. It takes only three lessons to learn the embroidery techniques. In the first lesson she teaches the fuzzy technique. It is worked from the reverse side, then glued.

After the glue dries, the front side is brushed with a wire brush, to give the fuzzy effect and blend the colors. "The mistakes don't show," she said laughing. This technique is used to make animal pictures suitable for children's rooms and is also used in combination with the flat technique for other pictures.

It is in the second lesson that she teaches the flat technique similar to a satin stitch. She also demonstrates how to duplicate other embroidery stitches, such as the french knot. The third lesson is in shading the colors to achieve the desired effect, or color.

After learning the techniques the door is open. "I encourage my students to design their own pictures. Anything can be duplicated," she said.

The cost of the kits, which include the canvas and yarn and are numbered (like paint by number kits), and the punch, have doubled in the last three years," she said. "It's because of the devaluation of the dollar and the increase in import taxes."

The yarn can also be purchased separately. The kits come in animals, flowers, Japanese scenery, Disney characters—even Rembrandt and Van Gogh reproductions. Small pictures, like the 12x16 fuzzy animals, cost $7.50. The price ranges up to $456 for the large 36 inch by 36 inch pictures.

Linda is the only teacher of Japanese Bunka Embroidery in Oakland County. "The state of Michigan, as far as I know," she laughed. "I like teaching it because of its simplicity. Yet the finished product looks so technical."

According to Linda, it's techniques are very easy to pick up especially if one has worked with thread or yarn before. "I've taught children and one retired gentleman. One lady had a tenth of her picture finished at the end of her first lesson!"

Besides teaching, Linda is willing to demonstrate her craft for anyone willing to watch.

The new tax credit for people who buy a newly built home within a certain time limit makes home-buying a very wise investment. Two factors are crucial: if you wish to apply for tax credit. First of all, the property you buy must never have been lived in before you bought it. However, you could qualify if you moved in before obtaining final title. Construction for the new dwelling must have been started or completed on or before March 25, 1975.

Just call on the helpful people at BOB WHITE REAL ESTATE, 5856 S. Main St., 625-5821; we will show you our fine selection of new homes for sale. And in addition, we will help you sell your present home promptly and profitably. We have a large backlog of qualified buyers and will use our knowledge and experience to insure that you receive full market value. Open: 9-9 Mon-Thur; 9-6 Fri, Sat; 1-5 Sun.

Kampsen heads Broock office

Bowen Broock, president of Max Broock Inc., greets members of his new staff at the Waterford branch, Pat Green of Pine Knob Road, and Leo F. Kampsen, formerly with Kampsen Realty.

Bowen Broock, president of Max Broock Inc., has announced the appointment of Leo F. Kampsen, a former partner in the Waterford Township firm of Kampsen Realty, as manager and associate broker of the Broock Waterford office, Dixie Highway at Andersonville roads.

Kampsen has been in the real estate business 16 years, serving twice as president of the Pontiac Area Board of Realtors Multiple Listing Service and as a past director of the Pontiac Area Board of Realtors. He was on the Multiple Listings Board for 10 years.

Joining Kampsen at the office is Mrs. Pat Green of Pine Knob Road, who has been in the real estate business four and a half years. A former employe of Carpenter's Real Estate, she is a member of the Pontiac Board of Realtors and the National Association of Women's Council of Realtors. Mrs. Green is married and the mother of four children.

BY THE THIRD EYE

Police in the area may run into some problems about obtaining needed funds for a dog shelter here, however there is a distinct possibility a building at M-15 and Cranberry Lake Road may be converted to a police services building. The project will at least be given more than passing consideration, even though money will be kind of tight.

At this point, no matter what steps the township takes in connection with sewer financing it will not be satisfactory to most township residents. Money has to be found, due to a case of over extending themselves.

A young celebrity in the Hollywood scene will die suddenly. Two older people's deaths will follow.

There'll be a grocery store scandal. It looks like quite a bit of publicity will accompany the findings, and there will be some resignations.

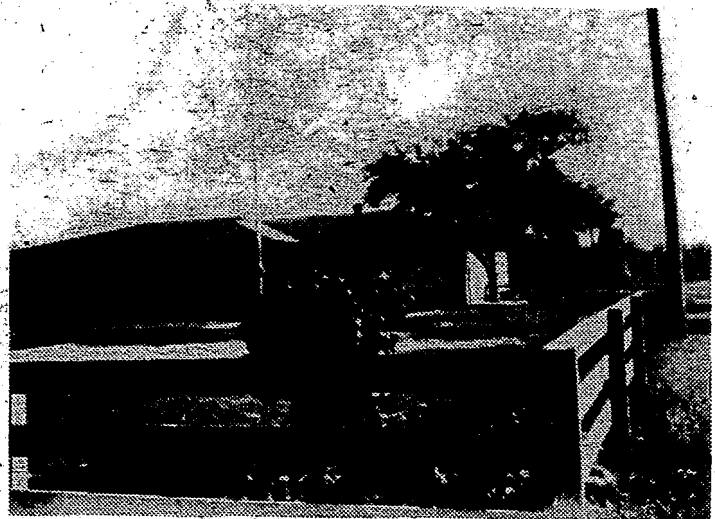

The new Oakland County Republican chairman will gain a few victories for the party in next year's elections, but the wins won't be all one-sided.

Public Notice

VILLAGE OF CLARKSTON MINUTES OF REGULAR MEETING OCTOBER 27, 1975

Meeting called to order by President Hallman.

Roll: Present, Granlund, McCall, Schultz, Thayer, Weber. Absent, Basinger.

Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

Trustees Thayer reported that the name change of Park Lane from Overlook through the subdivision to the name of Pinehurst was done before the Middle Lake subdivision was annexed to the village. Therefore, the village records wouldn't show a change of name. Prior records on this would have to be checked at the township.

The council agreed to have the following policy for part-time employees: they would be entitled to vacation pay equal to one calendar year of average weekly hours per year, overtime would be paid for extra hours during the winter months, no paid holidays, and temporary employees would not be entitled to vacation benefits, even if they'd been employed on a full-time basis.

Notification from the county has been received that the remaining sewer construction in the village in the Pinehurst area has been completed, passed inspection, and is now ready for service. Notification to this effect will be published in the Clarkston News on October 30th, and property owners in this area will be notified that they have eighteen months from October 30, 1975 to hook into the sewer system, according to village ordinance and state law.

A revised flood plain map has been received from the federal government and will be forwarded to Kieft Engineering for their approval.

Moved by Weber to approve the rate increase for attorney fees from $35.00 to $45.00 per hour, as requested by Booth, Patterson, Lee, Karlstrom, and Steckling; village attorneys. Seconded by Granlund. Roll: Ayes - Granlund, McCall, Schultz, Thayer, Weber. Nays - none. Motion carried.

Moved by Thayer to approve the signs designating Clarkston as a Bicentennial Community to be placed on the village limits signs, as presented by the Bicentennial Commission. Seconded by Schultz. Motion carried unanimously.

Moved by Schultz to approve the change of date in the Christmas Parade Resolution as requested by Police Director Jack McCall, to December 13, 1975. Seconded by Granlund. Motion carried unanimously.

Ted Thompson reported that the Planning Commission was presently working on a Master Plan for the village.

Mr. Thomson also suggested that the historian employed by the village be given objectives, duties, and goals to be used for her job. Trustee Schultz will discuss this with the Historical Society and make recommendations on this to the council.

Joan Kapietz requested the co-sponsorship with the Village Business Association of a Family Night on December 12th to be held downtown.

Moved by Granlund to have the village council signify December 12th as a Family Night in downtown Clarkston to open the Christmas season, with activities to be planned by the Village Business Association. Seconded by Weber. Motion carried unanimously.

Correspondence from the attorney regarding the Solicitor Ordinance will be referred to Police Director McCall.

Moved by Weber, seconded by Schultz to adjourn. Motion carried.

IN MEMORY OF REV. PAUL M. CARGO

"The souls of the just are in the hand of God, and no torment shall touch them.

They seemed, in the view of the foolish, to be dead, and their passing away was thought an affliction and their going forth from us, utter destruction.

But they are in peace.

For if before men, indeed, they be punished, yet is their hope full of immortality. Chastised a little, they shall be greatly blessed, because God tried them and found them worthy of himself.

As gold in the furnace, he proved them, and as sacrificial offerings he took them to himself.

In the time of their visitation they shall shine, and shall dart about as sparks through stubble. They shall judge nations and rule over peoples, and the Lord shall be their King forever.

Those who trust in him shall understand truth, and the faithful shall abide with him in love. Because grace and mercy are with his holy ones, and his care is with his elect."

Wis. 3: 1-9

Lord, you gave Rev. Paul Cargo your servant and preacher the privilege of a holy ministry in this world. May he rejoice for ever in the glory of your kingdom. We ask this through our Lord Jesus Christ, your Son, who lives and reigns with you and the Holy Spirit, one God, for ever and ever. Amen

May he rest in peace, in the hand of God.
Your fellow Preacher,
Father Francis A. Weingartz

USING CLARKSTON NEWS
WANT ADS MAKES CENTS

Even the grown-up got dressed up

Clarkston bus drivers, not to be outdone by their costumed charges, dressed up Friday as Mr. Whipple [Carole Rexford], a ghoulish woman [Rosie Grable], a baker [Lois Schliter], a pumpkin [Cindy Miracle], a scarecrow [Lois Thomas], a popcorn ball [Betty Mulherin] and a clown [Evelyn Smith].

Pat Kolarchick [right], manager of McDonald's Restaurant, 6695 Dixie Highway, lost a bet to hostess Cindy Holland, 18, over whether Cindy could sell 100 Halloween gift certificates in one day. Cindy's payoff: Pat would have to play Mr. Pumpkin on Halloween. Here he is taking care of his debt with Cindy and state trooper Phil Chrzan.

Jim's Jottings

by Jim Sherman

Don't you often hear a word you feel you know the meaning of, yet wonder about?

That's the way it was with me and the word 'detente'. It is repeated time and again in the news. Lately, the Chinese leaders told Henry Kissinger they feared the results of the U.S. - USSR detente.

I figured all along that a detente was a new word for what was formerly called a summit meeting.

Not so, says Merriam-Webster.

Detente: An easing or relaxation of strained relations and political tensions between nations.

If our federal government was anything else but what it is they would have gone through bankruptcy court decades ago. A $300 billion debt is what I call overwhelmingly in the red.

And, New York City is asking for a federal grant to keep it out of bankruptcy.

I suppose it's really no different than Israel asking us for money to get them to stop fighting the Arabs. Our government went further into debt in that case, too.

Maybe NYC should secede, become a new country, and go to war against Los Angeles, then our Secretary of State could get them to stop fighting by getting Washington to pay New York's welfare rolls for 5 years.

That's no more ridiculous than bailing out a city, state or nation which cannot live within its means.

Missuse, even out and out fraud and deceit, of pension fund monies by company management caused our Congressmen to write a new pension reform law.

In so doing they put in requirements that have caused the Oxford Leader, Inc. to discontinue the pension plan. Let me tell you that isn't easy.

We had to hire an attorney to do it. With our help the necessary forms were completed in August for the Internal Revenue Service (the approval agency).

We heard nothing until early October. Then they asked for an update on the fund balance. Practically all the pension fund is in mutual funds. From August to October the fund balance dropped $1500.

Had the IRS acted when they got the required forms participants in the plan would have had $1500 more to split up.

It's another case where it has proven costly to have our great white father protect us.
