There'll be a lot of miniature Rudys like Matthew Brown running around next Sunday. Matthew and a couple hundred others will march in a parade at 1 p.m. to honor Rudy Schwarze of Rudy's Market. An afternoon of fun will follow.

Rain slows holiday turn-out

Rain dampened the turn-out Monday for Clarkston's Memorial Day parade and the opening of two parks in Independence Township.

American Legion Campbell Richmond Post No. 63 sponsored both the parade and the ceremony which followed at Lakeview Cemetery.

Independence Township's new park, Clintonwood on Clarkston Road, opened to sparse traffic Monday. All-purpose and tennis courts were in use, but the newly fenced and back-stopped baseball diamonds showed little evidence of activity.

At Independence-Oaks, the newest in the county's string of parks, traffic from the south end of the county provided acceptable first day figures.

Even the artificial lake was used, and several family groups joined for picnics at the park.

County parks director Eric Reickel said the parks commission on Friday had approved bids for playground equipment in the picnic-area adjacent to the pond. Picnic grills were due to arrive this week.

He stressed that dogs brought to the park should be kept on a six-foot leash, and that those people bringing boats for launching in Crooked Lake should have the necessary safety equipment.

Several fish were caught in the lake Monday, Reickel said. While fish are fair game, Reickel noted that flowers aren't. He asked that the wild flowers be left undisturbed.

At Deer Lake only three sailboats showed up in the misting morning rain for a regatta. The weather, however, did not deter a group of girls including Lori Lewis, Kelli Ketzler, Peggy Western, Nicki Collins, Amy Bixby and Robin Smith, from initiating the beach facilities there. All of them got wet.

Meet the candidates

Four candidates who seek two six-year terms on the Clarkston Board of Education will appear in a Meet the Candidates session at 8 p.m. Monday, June 7 at Clarkston High School auditorium.

Robert Vandermark will serve as moderator for the meeting which will feature incumbent Charles Smalley, Eric Reickel, Vince Luzi and Wayne Viergever. Albert Foster has chosen not to seek reelection.

The vote will be Monday, June 14.

Biographies of the candidates will appear in next week's paper.

Threatening rain kept the crowds home Monday.

Candidates meet filing deadline

Plenty of excitement in Springfield Township election races is promised by the number of candidates meeting the filing deadline at 4 p.m. Monday for the August 3 primary.

Five people, including incumbent Donald Rogers, seek the nomination for supervisor. Another seven hope to replace E.L. Rundell as trustee.

Competition is promised in all other races, as it is in all but one race in Independence Township and in the elections for county commissioner.

Four would-be commissioners have filed for the County Commissioner District 2 spot seeking to replace James Dunleavy who will run against Claude Trim for the 60th District seat in the House of Representatives.

In Independence Township, the filings were as follows:

Supervisor: Incumbent J. Edwin Glennie, R; Floyd Tower, D.

Clerk: Incumbent Robert Lay, R; Ron Herron and Christopher Rose, both Democrats.

Treasurer: Incumbent Betty Hallman, R; Ivalene Cosma, D.

Trustee: Incumbent Jerry Powell, R.

Constable: Harry W. Yoh and Walter Labenz, both Republicans; and J. Michael Darby, D.

In Springfield Township, the filings were as follows:

Supervisor: Incumbent Donald

Rogers, D; John Mulloy, D; Richard Green, D; Collin Walls, R; and Harold Jacobs, R.

Treasurer: Incumbent Patricia Kramer, R; Barbara Ferguson, R; Dennis Omell, D; and Janice Lopez, D.

Clerk: Incumbent Calvin Walters, R; Dennis M. Zimmerman, D; Mary Jean Cox, D.

Constable: Incumbent Charles A. Ball, R.

Park Commission: Two-year term to fill out the term of Collin Walls who resigned. Nancy Hanes was appointed, but must run for reelection. She is running on the Republican ticket. Two other Republicans, Lila Poff and Donald Hart, seek the post.

Seeking election to two six-year terms are incumbent Robert Clark, R; Glenn A. Guilds, R; and Gayle Bila, D. Gordon Rigelow seeks reelection.

Library Commission: Two two-year, two four-year and two six-year terms open. For the two year terms, Susan Adams, D, Marilyn Haggett, D and Ralph O'Reilly, D. Adams was appointed to the commission a month ago.

For the four-year terms, John Barnfather, D, and Betty Peterson, D, both seek reelection. Sandra Lee Townsend seeks nomination as a Republican. Kristine Rice, D, and Ruth Gruber, D, both seek reelection to the six-year terms.

In the county commissioner races, Lynn Charles Nelson, D, of Brandon Township will face Richard R. Wilcox, the Republican incumbent in District 1.

David B. Youngquist and Peter I. Donlin seek the Democratic nomination in District 2. Republicans Robert Gorsline, John J. Riley and Norma B. Merriman seek their party's nomination. In District 3 incumbent Niles Olson, D, will face Republican Jeffrey L. Spire this fall.

Appeals board orders new barn torn down

By Hilda Bruce
of The Clarkston News
Edmund Drozdowski has learned it's a good idea to obtain a building permit from the Independence Township building department before constructing a building.

By not doing so, he found himself before the Independence Township Zoning Board of Appeals Wednesday night asking permission to keep the 18 by 20 foot barn under construction on his property.

Drozdowski, his wife, Lela, and five daughters live at 5686 Everest in Goodrich Farms Subdivision. The board denied that permission as the ordinance allows only one accessory building of up to 150 square feet on one acre of property.

The denial means that Drozdowski has 30 days in which to remove the structure. If the barn still stands after 30 days, the township will have to get a court order for its removal.

Drozdowski declared he would take the matter to court.

He presented the board with a petition signed by 22 neighbors stating that they would allow the building to stand.

Vernon Myers who lives next to Drozdowski said he did not approve of the barn but would not force him to tear it down.

Robert Jensenius, 5670 Dvorak, a neighbor, questioned the need for so much accessory storage space. He also questioned the existence of another out building on the lot line, and a small side lot setback for the barn.

There are already three accessory buildings, it was revealed. Only one is allowed by the ordinance.

Besides the four buildings existing, there is also an above the ground swimming pool, according to the Drozdowskis.

Drozdowski contended that he didn't know he needed a building permit for the new storage facility. He would like to use it as a workshop and as storage for the family's many vehicles—three cars, five snowmobiles, six motorcycles, one single trailer, and two double trailers. They also have a camper.

Board member Mel Vaara were allowed that many buildings expressed the opinion that there wouldn't be room for the Drozdowskis live in the wrong children," said Board Chairman Robert Kraud.

Graduation this weekend

The traditional awards assembly for graduating seniors has been switched from daytime to evening this year, with graduates and parents gathering tonight, June 3, in the high school gymnasium at 7:30 p.m.

The new time will allow more parents to be present while students receive scholarship awards, are honored for scholastic achievement in the various departments and give some awards of their own.

Seniors' last day of school was this Wednesday; today caps and gowns will be given out and seating arranged, beginning at 9 a.m. in the high school gymnasium.

Rehearsal for Saturday's graduation ceremony will begin at 10 a.m. Friday, June 4 at Pine Knob Music Theatre.

Commencement begins at 10:30 a.m. June 5 at Pine Knob; seniors must report by 9:30 a.m. Diplomas will be handed out June 7 when graduates turn back their caps and gowns.

Last day of school for underclassmen is June 9. Class registration for present sophomores and juniors will be held June 10.

Ninth graders who will be bussed to registration at the high school—from Sashabaw and Clarkston Junior High June 8 and 9.

Teachers end their tour of duty for this year June 11; drivers' training begins three days thereafter, June 14.

Clarkston El wraps up craft days

Students at Clarkston Elementary learned copper tooling [above] and many other old-time crafts during a month-long celebration of the bicentennial. Headed by kindergarten teacher Anita Davison, the school staff and over 90 parents pitched in to organize special classes in everything from candle-making to quilling every Friday. Historic tours and special speakers were also included in the activities, which ended last Friday.

Okay $5.5 million assessment

With little fanfare and minor changes, the Independence Township Board passed the special sewer assessment roll Tuesday.

Five assessment units were dropped by the board after property owners appealed, bringing the total units affected to 2,031.

Altogether the board received 23 written appeals to the roll, but 10-15 of those were general protests, according to George Anderson, township DPW director.

Of the rest, Anderson said, the township Zoning Board of Appeals will have to declare the sites unbuildable before they can be stricken from the roll.

The board waived appeals board fees for those required to go before the board for the termination of their assessments.

There were no residents in attendance at Tuesday's meetings protesting the roll. A May 24 public hearing gave residents a chance to air their grievances, but since then rumblings of possible legal action against the board have been heard.

The roll is not ironclad. The board can amend it if property owners have further valid appeals.

Right now, the special assessment is expected to raise $5.5 million annually.

In related action, the board canceled its application for a federal grant to help pay for sewer extensions in the Cranberry Lake, Van Norman Lake, Townsend Lake, Northview Drive and North Mill Pond areas.

The grant would have paid 80 percent of the costs of the extensions. But Oakland County, whom Independence would contract with, and the township Department of Public Works both said there would not be enough time to get construction underway by a September 1977 deadline stipulated by the grant application.

Sewer extensions in those areas are still possible, though.

Supervisor Ed Glennie received approval from the board to set up meetings with homeowners' associations to discuss how extensions could be applied for.

Property owners must petition the board to set up a sewer assessment district, with at least 51 percent of those affected signing.

Glennie said he has already had requests from persons in some of those areas for the sewer extensions.

"No relatives", board

Independence Township elected officials and township department heads will not be able to hire relatives for full time township jobs.

Such a policy was effected by the township board at its last meeting, with the stipulation that the board can make exceptions if requested.

The policy was necessary, according to supervisor Ed Glennie, because he has had at least two recent requests from employees wishing to hire their relatives.

Glennie advised against the practice, but wanted a concrete policy to back him-up, he told the board.

Dissenting in the decision was board trustee Fred Ritter. Ritter said he didn't think the township needed the policy, and cited a current hiring situation in the township that is in direct conflict with the policy.

The board made the policy effective as of the board meeting; thus it will not affect those employees already hired by the township. In other action, the board voted to apply for an employe classification plan through the state civil service department.

The plan would describe job categories and responsibilities, thus eliminating conflicts in required duties, according to Glennie.

Cost for the plan would be $50 an hour for a civil service representative to peruse all employes and draw up classifications.

The board does not know how long the representative would take to do the job; estimates stopped at two weeks.

A federal grant would pay for 50 percent of the classification plan's cost.

The board Tuesday also increased mileage reimbursement for employes using personal vehicles on township business from 10 to 15 cents.

The 50 percent increase was necessary, the board thought, to keep up with levels paid employes in other governmental units.

Mini Rudys will march

There'll be a lot of miniature Rudys in town Sunday when the community gets together to honor Rudy Schwarze, a merchant here for more than 40 years. With him are some of his fans—Dean Callison [from left], Jason Callison, Matthew Brown and Rudy, Marty Brown and Jay Callison.

Tentative teacher agreement

Tentative agreement on a one-year contract between teachers and the Clarkston Board of Education was achieved Tuesday night, according to Schools Supt. Milford Mason.

The contract remains to be ratified by the Board of Education and the Clarkston Education Association (CEA) which represents the teachers.

The June 1 settlement is the earliest such agreement has ever been reached, Mason said. He credited the early settlement to the work of retiring George Barrie, board negotiator. Terms, which will not be announced until later, were well within the guidelines set down by the board, Mason said.

Some school ?'s

Clarkston PTA Council invited Clarkston Board of Education members to a question and answer session Wednesday night at North Sashabaw Elementary School. These are some of the questions and the answers they elicited. Further questions will be printed next week.

Q: What will it cost to implement the new media centers in the six elementary schools?

A: $100,000 during the first year. Approximately $30,000 with normal escalation afterwards. Three more professionals may be added as money becomes available, so that there would be one professional per building.

Q: Where is the money coming from to implement the centers?

A: For now it would appear it must come from the operating balance which the district has accumulated in the past; as opposed to coming from new money.

Q: Does that mean we will be faced with a new school millage vote any time in the near future?

A: Figures being what they are, a millage vote seems inevitable. As to the time it will be required, we are not yet certain about that. We would rather wait until township financial problems regarding the sewers have been worked out before confusing the issue with school needs.

Q: With inflation and ever increasing salaries, how long can the school district operate without cutting programs or asking for a millage increase?

A: At the most two years.

Q: Are there plans to hire a physical education instructor to implement a program in the elementary schools?

A: At this moment there are no plans. The administration has held meetings with mothers at Pine Knob School who have been involved in a volunteer outdoor program. The concept is being considered and awaits the employment of a new director of elementary education.

Q: Are there plans to expand the art and music programs in the elementary schools?

A: Not at present, and not likely unless expanded funding becomes available.

Q: With all the new homes being built in the area, do you still see a decrease in school population?

A: Yes, we still expect a decrease. Current family planning attitudes are responsible, we believe. The previous indications we have used to determine enrollment have turned out to be inaccurate. The one true indicator we have now is the decrease in pre-schoolers brought in for pre-kindergarten screening.

Q: What do you see as the number one problem in the district?

A: Sufficient funding.

Q: Are there new inroads being made on available funds?

A: Beginning July 1, 1977, it becomes mandatory that school districts pay the 5 percent state retirement funding required for every school employe. The district now on a volunteer-basis makes the payments for administrators. When it picks up the full tab, the cost will be something like $250,000.

By that time, regular increments will have increased the salary package. Medical costs will have added another.

Q: Is the district planning to replace the old Clarkston Junior High School building?

A:—Based on a feasibility study by Denyes, Freeman architectural firm, it would appear the amount of money needed to renovate the building would be disproportionate to the value received, considering the age of the building. It is expected there are still serviceable years left in the present building, however the community will have to make a decision in regard to its continued use within the next five to seven years.

Q: Will an expanded high school become necessary in the foreseeable future?

A: Enrollment is expected to peak next year. Decreases should follow.

Sanity disappearing

So often the laws that are designed to help us make a mockery of justice. A recent State Supreme Court ruling holding that all children are entitled to an education may have opened a Pandora's box none of us are willing to face. Two local students have been charged with deliberately setting fire to material in a school. By due process as outlined in the school policy, the two have been expelled for remaining students. Whose the balance of the school rights would have been denied had the fire gotten going to the extent it burned the school down or to the point that someone was seriously injured? Just a little sanity is all we ask.

'If It Fitz ...'

Dr. Wharton no stuffed shirt

by Jim Fitzgerald

I don't care if his after-dinner speeches sound like organ music, Dr. Clifford Wharton Jr., president of Michigan State University, is not a stuffed shirt.

He wrote me a letter proving it. The letter arrived several months ago, but I was reminded of it anew Monday when Dr. Wharton spoke at the Detroit Press Club. He was there to explain why he couldn't explain what happened when the lights went out in the lockerroom.

When I hear Dr. Wharton talk about sports, I know why Joe Garagiola doesn't talk about nuclear fission. To each his own. Dr. Wharton looks dumb in a football helmet. When he speaks about putting things in "proper perspective" you know he means a man of his intelligence shouldn't have to waste his time defending dumb jocks who can't play games without cheating.

But the MSU prez is not really as stiff as his public orations might indicate.

Last summer, in the middle of the football investigation, I received a letter bearing Wharton's signature. It addressed me as a "Spartan Supporter" which sounds like a hernia preventive. The letter was a stuffy attempt to explain why Wharton had forbidden all MSU employees to make any comment to nosy reporters on the scent of the scandal. It was full of educational gobbledegook, such as:

"The tendency of the media to report the allegations and conduct their own investigation undermines a procedure designed to protect the rights of persons charged and the objectivity of the investigation."

Translated, that meant the lousy newsmen were trying to report news instead of performing a responsible journalistic function, such as selling shoes.

I answered Wharton's letter with a simple question: How could he write such crap? But, to lessen the sting, I admitted athletic coaches and university presidents were not the world's only imperfect inhabitants. Even newspapermen can be suspect. To prove it, I cited the case of Furman Bisher, sports editor of the Atlanta Journal.

Georgia Tech awarded an athletic scholarship to Bisher's son, who is not an athlete. I thought this might interest Dr. Wharton, who was unhappy with the way MSU was being treated by the press, I added that my non-athlete son would graduate from high school this June and would love to attend MSU if he could only afford it.

Wharton's answering letter proved he could write plain English. He denied writing the first letter, blaming it on an ex-newspaperman, and added:

"We want all kinds of good students, even if they don't know the difference between a jockstrap and a pair of ear muffs. The trouble is that people won't shell out $7 a head to watch them study on Saturday afternoon. That means we haven't the dough to offer them IBM directorships to come here.

"But why don't you use the enclosed dollar and take your son out for a Big Mac and some fries?" Dr. Wharton continued. "Hype him up on MSU. We would like to have him become a Spartan Supporter even if he isn't a jock."

And as a precautionary afterthought, Dr. Wharton enclosed a second dollar, explaining: "Here's another buck for a Big Mac and some fries for your son's girlfriend... The Department of Health, Education and Welfare swings a two-headed axe. Their thing right now is equal opportunity for women. We would be hung from the tallest tree in Washington if we tried to recruit your son as a Spartan Supporter without giving equal effort to recruiting another Spartan Supporteress. Or is it Spartanette Supporter? Spartanette Supporteress? Oh hell, you get the idea."

hill 'n gully Political osmosis

by Jean Saile

It's a political year. You can tell easy when you work at a newspaper office. Already—and with most of the people just filed—we're getting queries like, "You going to be as biased during this election as you have in the past?"

Since I do not think we have been biased at all, and I would never admit it even if we had, my answer has to be a simple, "Yes."

This is the time of year when the phone calls pick up, when suddenly a newspaper editor's advice is sought on all kinds of matters, and when public types read newspapers with trepidation.

Somebody ought to tell them, I think, that there are very few newspapers that can break a politico's career unless the politico deserved it in the first place.

No newspaper that I'm aware of can manufacture any quantity of stories that are not true and get away with it. Laws of libel do have some effect.

And believe it or not—so does public awareness.

There is a process of osmosis that works amongst the voters. Frequently it is not at all the product of the media, this feeling that the voter comes to have about his candidates.

He picks it up from stories told across morning coffee tables, from friends' insights and the stories they've heard, and finally he "just knows."

He may "know" all wrong—I can remember the year Goldwater ran and the "knowing" that may have in the long run prolonged the Vietnam War.

I—like you—have already made up my mind on the politics at the national level and how I will react once inside that curtained booth.

It's not because I am personally acquainted with those people. My decision comes from "a knowing" based on many things.

I am willing to wager that the turnout for next Monday night's Clarkston Board of Education candidates' meeting will bring out very few voters.

Most of us will make our decision on the basis of second hand information—but the

I'm surprising thing is, despite the biases which abound, we will probably get exactly the people we deserve for this particular moment in our history.

Letters to the editor

2 mills for our education

Independence Property Taxpayers:

This ad valorem tax to be put on all property in this township can rightfully be considered an educational expense—not levied by the schoolboard—but levied to pay for OUR EDUCATION (the hard way, by experience).

If you, me and thee have learned anything by this mess, it might well be a good thing for the next 20 years to remember what can happen when you people become so lax and lazy as to not read, listen, register, attend meetings, speak out when needed, and VOTE.

I hate this ad valorem tax as much as anybody—but now do think of it as 2 mills added to learn a lesson. I'll never vote for another millage for anything as long as the ad valorem tax is charged, owed, and collected.

So many adult people raise a wail about sports, frills, etc., but ignore the basic fact that all TAX MONEY comes out each taxpayer's pocket — yours, your neighbor's, mine, and other people's (whom you might like and agree with—or NOT).

Railroading goes local

Dear Mr. Glennie,
I noted with interest your letter of last week to the residents of Independence Township deploring the attempted "railroad" by the state legislature, which is apparently trying to get seven Southeastern Michigan counties to bail out our large financially-pressed cities, mainly Detroit.

Could you not draw a parallel between this situation and the one in our own area in which you and the township board are proposing the residents of the whole township bail out a part of the township because of certain "miscalculations" in sewer financing?

Or does the term "railroad" only apply to the legislature and not to the board?

Carol D. Balzarini

Help appreciated

I would like to thank all the great independent businesses in the Clarkston area that donated prizes. They truly helped to make the Sashabaw School Fair a great success. I would like special thanks to go to Pine Knob Pharmacy, Pierre's Orchard and Rudy's Market. They went out of their way to be especially helpful. Also many thanks to all those who worked on the fair.

Thanks again,

Clarkston kids learn the Montessori way

Several Clarkston area children are getting an educational head start at the Laurel Montessori Center, 2490 Airport Road.

The school, one of 8,000 Montessori schools in the United States, operates under the philosophy of Dr. Maria Montessori who founded the system in Italy in 1908.

It is a learning environment that meets the individual needs of each child, according to Mrs. Effie Weinberg, director.

In the unregimented structure the children are free to make their own choices and to work at their own pace.

Surrounded by intellectual stimuli they learn language skills by using them. They study science, math and geography among other subjects.

The program includes a pre-school and kindergarten for children aged 2½ to 6 and elementary grade instruction for children through 9.

An open house for the public on June 6 from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. will include demonstrations of teaching methods, materials used and a musical concert by the children displaying Orff music and Suzuki violin.

Margaret Munk, daughter of Charles and Margaret Munk, learns numbers with the help of the teen board.

With a felt board, letters and pictures Bill Jones of Pontiac uses his language skills to make sentences.

Effie Weinberg, director of the Laurel Montessori center, lends a helping hand.

Clarkston going to semi-finals

Down in George Gary play but ahead in the state

By Dave Johnson
Clarkston Wolves beat Romeo Monday morning in district quarter final play, insuring them a berth in the semi-finals.

Clarkston faced tough competition at Birmingham Groves.

Saturday against Lake Orion. The team lost the George Gary Memorial Day Invitational Tournament at Jaycee Park in Pontiac to Birmingham Groves. Earlier in the day the Wolves beat Royal Oak Kimball 1-0 in eight innings, which put the team into the Gary finals.

The end of season play followed the Wolves' capture of the Greater Oakland Activities League title two weeks ago. The team's 6-2 record was one full game ahead of second place Waterford Kettering.

Clarkston had a large task to undertake on Memorial Day. They played three games in 12 hours — all tournament games. The first was against Romeo in a District contest. It was scheduled to be played at Clarkston High School, but was moved to Romeo due to the muddy infield. Nevertheless, the Wolves advanced in the tournament with a 6-1 victory. With this victory, Clarkston will play Lake Orion on Saturday, June 5 at Jaycee Park.

Following the contest against Romeo, the Wolves switched to Jaycee Park to take on Royal Oak Kimball for a semi-final game in the George Gary Memorial Day tournament. Kimball had an 18-2 record going into the game and was rated fourth in the state. Clarkston was 17-6 and had lost to Kimball twice earlier in the season. Nonetheless, the Wolves won the contest in eight innings, 1-0.

This set up the championship game between Clarkston and Birmingham Groves. The Wolves had to beat Our Lady of the Lakes, Birmingham Brother Rice, and Kimball, and Groves had to defeat Walled Lake Central, Waterford Kettering and Oak Park, to reach the finals. Unfortunately, Clarkston had to settle for runner-up. Groves upended the Wolves, 4-0, to win the championship.

Clarkston won decisively over Romeo, but not until after Rod Hool rocketed his fourth home run of the year over the left field fence. Hool wound up with four RBIs in all. Larry Bennett and Steve Howe each had a pair of hits. Howe also threw out a pair of runners attempting to take extra bases, from right field.

Bill Matthews was the winning pitcher, his third against two defeats. He gave up eight hits, didn't walk anybody, and fanned four.

Steve Howe struck out 13 Kimball hitters, but the Wolves didn't lend any support until the eighth inning. Jeff Ferguson walked, took second on a wild pitch, and scored the winning run on a single by Don Blower. The victory was Howe's ninth against one defeat. Bennett again had two hits.

Birmingham Groves scored a pair of runs in the third inning and two more in the fourth to capture the George Gary Memorial Day tourney. The Wolves stranded seven base runners while being shut out, 4-0.

Jeff Schatz was the losing pitcher, his fourth to go along with four victories. Howe relieved for a full inning midway through the game before Schatz returned to the mound. Nine Wolves were set down on strikes, five with runners in scoring position. They only got four hits; one by Schatz, two by Dave Johnson, and Jeff Ferguson doubled.

Why did man take up hunting? Mostly for self-protection. And because the beasts he fought were usually much larger and fiercer than he, he soon learned that he was bound to be the loser unless he developed some technique to compensate for his deficiency. In his battle for survival he was forced, historians tell us, to use his mind, and he proved himself once again to be a "tool-making animal." He became an inventor, and invented forerunners of many of today's hunting machines.

Today is a good day to shop for all your sports equipment by coming to us at COACH'S CORNER, 31 S. Main, 625-8457. Barry's scrambling for first

of The Clarkston News

You'd think a married man with five children who runs his own business wouldn't be found following the amateur motorcycle racing circuits.

But when you see Barry Mayo conducting business in a shirt covered with pictures of motorcycles, and find out his business is selling cycles, (he owns Champion Cycle on the Dixie Highway) you get the picture that Barry's life revolves around the dangerous sport.

motocross racing, very few people get hurt badly ... it's safer out there on the racetrack than it is riding down the highway in a car."

He says that, despite the fact that he is just recovering from a broken ankle injured during a race.

And despite the fact that many mishaps occur in the heat of the race, including the time a novice tried to beat Barry around the first curve in a race, forgot to slow down, and wound up riding right over Barry.

Barry got burned in the accident, but not badly enough to discourage him.

Barry has competed both in professional and amateur competition since he was 21.

He rode in professional American Motorcycle Association races in 1972, '73 and '74. In '74, he was national motocross champion in the open and 250 cc classes.

Then he was disqualified from the professional circuit when he dislocated his shoulder in a race.

Now, 30 years old and admittedly not in as good shape as the predominantly younger racers, Barry spends weekends on the amateur circuit.

Thus far this year he has competed eight times and brought back a first every time.

June 6 he will try for firsts in the 500 cc and open classes (those with bikes 501 cc's and over) in the Pontiac Stadium "TT Scrambles."

The Scrambles are not like motocross racing, in that the track is smooth, with only one obstacle—a jump. In motocross, bikers race over natural terrain, filled with rocks, etc.

Barry won the Scrambles' 250 cc and 500 classes last year. He'll be driving a 501 Maico this year, to try and make a go at the open.

If any unforeseen accidents occur Barry is well-protected.

He will be helmeted, booted, goggled, gloved, and in addition be wearing mouthguard, shoulder pads, leather pants and plastic shin and knee guards.

There to watch will be his wife and children, who camp out in Barry's van, picnicking and watching the fun.

Barry's wife enjoys the sport, and his nine-year-old son has already taken up racing.

Surprisingly, motorcycle racing has become a family sport, Barry said, and most racers bring along wife and offspring—or parents, depending on the cyclist's age.

No longer is cycling the "black leather coat-Marlon Brando" type—even though people still attach that image to the cyclists, Barry says.

And even some women are breaking into the sport—although at a slow rate, Barry said, because the physical demands on a motorcycle racer are great.

The most important thing in cycle racing is to be in shape, Barry said—and that means Barry must continually exercise and practice his dirt-driving skills.

His experience may help him again make it to the number one position on the race court during the scrambles, he said. Some younger racers will have a lot more stamina to back them up.

But Barry figures he can psych the competition out. "Racing is mostly psychological—a guy tells himself he's getting tired, and he gets tired."

The win, if he attains it, will be nice but nothing new. Last year Barry had 52 first places in motocross competition.

Barry Mayo will ride a German Maico high-powered bike for the Pontiac Stadium's "TT Scrambles."

JVs wind up victorious

By Dave Johnson

Clarkston's JV baseball team concluded its 1976 campaign with a 14-2 record by defeating all three opponents last week. The Wolves knocked off West Bloomfield in the final league game of the season, thus capturing the league title with a 7-1 log.

The GOAL title was the fourth straight for Coach Roy Warner and his sixth in the last seven years. In two years, Warner's Wolves have compiled 29 victories against 4 defeats.

Clarkston upended West Bloomfield 7-4 for their first victory. They took an early 3-0 lead in the first inning and added two more in each of the next two innings. The Lakers countered with two in the first and two more in the third, but the duration of the game was scoreless.

Jim Dennis led Clarkston's 9-hit attack with a pair of triples and Randy Phelps contributed with two singles and three RBI's.

The Wolves scored a total of 38 runs in their final two games of the season. They trounced Pontiac Northern 19-1 and Pontiac Catholic 19-0 in 4½ innings.

JV coach Roy Warner

Final statistics reveal a pair of pitching records set by the 1976 JV team. They allowed a record low 11 earned runs in 16 games for a 0.73 ERA and Tim Birtsas set an individual record by yielding only one earned run in 51 innings for an ERA of 0.14.

Birtsas led the team with the highest batting average, .406, and Mark Foster was next at .396. The team as a whole batted .313.

Brandy means any spirit distilled from wine. The brandies of Cognac and Armagnac in France are famous throughout the world. Only spirit distilled in authorized areas has the right to bear the name of Cognac and Armagnac. Since brandies are blends of spirits in varying ages, every shipper has his house style. Among the best known firms in Cognac are Hennessy, Martell, Delamain, Salignac, Hine, Remy-Martin, Courvoisier and Bisquit. Armagnac does not have large and famous shippers like Cognac, and its business is almost entirely in the hands of small growers based on the towns of Auch, Condom, and Eauze.

At UNCLE BOB'S GENERAL STORE, 2325 Joslyn Rd., Antique Village, Lake Orion, 391-3033 you will find a complete selection of wines and cheeses from around the world. If you ever have any questions about wines don't hesitate to ask. Our staff is very knowledgeable about all aspects of this fascinating delicacy. We also have beer from many different countries. Hours: 7 days 10-6.

WINE WISDOM:

Grape wines should not be confused with other fruit wines, which are quite different. Grapes are the only natural fruit wine.

Independence Supervisor Ed Glennie is hoping the Township Planning Commission and the township board will be receptive to his idea of drawing up operating guidelines.

Glennie asked the commission to do so Thursday and is intending to relay the request to the board.

Glennie feels that "an elected or appointed official has the responsibility of representing the entire community, not just one neighborhood."

He wants the two bodies to "stay away from personal conflicts" — either a "conflict of interest" or a "conflict of commitment."

He said both bodies have been accused in the past of "making up our minds" before an issue is put before the public.

Prior commitments to special interest groups should not be made, he said, and the policy not to do so should be in writing.

Ah, the agony of headline writing—We'd written "Commission foregoes church purchase," and the purchase part didn't fit. So the headline in last week's paper re the Bicentennial Commission's decision not to proceed with purchase of the old Methodist Church read "Com-

VILLAGE OF CLARKSTON MINUTES OF REGULAR MEETING MAY 24, 1976

Meeting called to order by President Hallman.
Roll: Present: ApMadoc, Granlund, Sage, Schultz, Thayer, Weber. Absent: none.
Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved as amended.

Mrs. Crites of the Jaycettes was present to offer to donate about $300 from the Jaycettes to the Village Park for beautification. The council approved acceptance of these funds and asked Mrs. Crites to be present at the next planning commission meeting so that they could decide the best use for this money.

Police Director Jack McCall was present to explain the police services that the village receives from the township and the county for the annual fee that the village pays.

Trustee Weber reported that he had received a letter from the county road commission concerning the truck traffic on S. Holcomb and W. Washington. The letter stated that these are primary roads, and that no suitable detour is presently practical. The council decided to have Trustee Weber get together with the state county road representatives to further study the problem.

Trustee ApMadoc requested that employees of Hawk Tool use their own parking lot instead of the village one. President Hallman will check with Earl Hawke on this request.

Trustee Schultz reported that he would like to see holes installed in downtown sidewalks for flagpoles in front of each store. He will further check on the matter.

Bids for the village 1962 Ford tractor were opened and read, the two of them being $2140 and $2175.

Moved by Weber to accept the bid of Mr. Edward Stout of $2175.00 for the village owned 1962 Ford tractor, serial number 139933. Seconded by Granlund. Roll: Ayes, ApMadoc, Granlund, Sage, Schultz, Thayer, Weber. Nays, none. Motion carried.

President Hallman reported that William Rausch has resigned from the board of appeals since he is moving from the village, and would like to appoint Harry Mosher of Overlook to replace him. Trustee Schultz recommended that Ruth Basinger be appointed to the position instead.

Moved by Weber to concur with President Hallman's appointment of Harry Mosher to the unexpired two year term on the board of appeals. Seconded by ApMadoc. Ayes, ApMadoc, Granlund, Sage, Thayer, Weber. Nays, Schultz. Motion carried.

President Hallman reported that the village attorney had informed him that the plans for paving the parking lot by the park should be limited to the area presently zoned for it. After meeting with the planning commission and the engineer, they came up with a new plan that would contain 41 parking spaces encompassing 1720 square yards within the area zoned for parking.

Moved by Schultz to accept Kieft Engineering's plan for the parking lot on Depot Rd. at 1720 square yards with 41 parking spaces. Seconded by Sage. Roll: Ayes, ApMadoc, Granlund, Sage, Schultz, Thayer, Weber. Nays, none. Motion carried.

There will be a special meeting of the council on Thursday, May 27, at 9 p.m. to discuss bids for paving the parking lot and for purchasing a garden tractor.

Moved by Sage to adopt the resolutions concerning the National Flood Insurance Program application. Seconded by Weber. Motion carried unanimously. Copies of these resolutions are attached to the minutes.

Moved by Schultz to adopt a resolution requesting the County of Oakland enter into an agreement with the U.S. Corps of Engineers to take necessary actions for the correction of the flooding condition in the areas of Cass Lake, Sylvan Lake, and the City of Pontiac. Seconded by Sage. Motion carried unanimously.

Moved by Granlund to pay the Detroit Edison bill of $557.86 for municipal street lighting. Seconded by Weber. Roll: Ayes, ApMadoc, Granlund, Sage, Schultz, Thayer, Weber. Nays, none. Motion carried.

Correspondence from the township recreation dept. was read, stating that the trees that they had removed from the Deer Lake beach area were dying, and that they had plans to improve the parking lot and beach area, which they would keep us informed of.

Correspondence from the state highway dept. was read, stating that they will be making a study of the need for a car pool parking lot at the I-75/M-15 interchange to alleviate the situation at the village parking lot.

Meeting called adjourned by President Hallman.

Patios make the living easy

COUNTRY LIVING

By Hilda Bruce
of The Clarkston News
As the song says, "It's summertime and the livin' is easy." And according to Terry Isles, builder, more and more people are moving outdoors — via patios and decks. They are enjoying their own homes instead of traveling around.

The patio area makes summertime entertaining much easier on the hostess, and allows for larger guest lists than does indoor entertaining.

Isles also says that the cement slab is the patio of yesterday. Now people are looking for something more unique than a square.

Paul Powers of Guyette Street has his patio planned and has started work on it. As planned, the project should take some time. Spanning the distance from the house to the entertainment/cooking-eating area will be a redwood deck. The patio itself will be of colored cement sections, each poured individually. A brick fireplace and the furniture will be built into the patio he said.

The Powers' privacy screen will consist of redwood fencing and shrubs.

His wife, Janice, has started collecting hanging plants to accent the area.

Tim and Julie Patterson of Eddystone Circle, Independence Township, enlarged the small deck at the second story level of their home.

"It was small and there was no access to the lawn," Julie said.

After designing the project, they had a professional do the job. Now the deck has two levels and leads to the patio-dining area at ground level.

The gas grill installed in the deck makes barbecuing easier for the hostess.

The deck and patio are shaded by large trees and accented with flower and shrub plantings.

"We use it as an extension of the family room," Julie said.

"It's great for large groups. Last summer we held the main course of a progressive dinner here," Julie said. The menu was shish-kebab — for 80 people.

Jerry and Lois Namowicz entertain large groups of both friends and customers at their lakeside home. There is no patio area as such but a deck runs the full length of the home with hanging greenery and bright blue furnishings that emphasize the dark wooden siding.

At the foot of a long sloping lawn a dock extends into Deer Lake. Jerry, who owns Cole Lake Service, built the dock and the relaxation area at its end. Here boats are moored and the diving board hurls swimmers into 50 feet of cool green water.

Even the cat, Suds, enjoys the lakeside living. She lunches on minnows from Jerry's minnow box alongside the dock.

At the other side of the township, Bob and Jerri Scott cool off in their pool surrounded by entertainment and relaxation areas.

Even the phone comes outside during the summer months. Situated on the porch, a call from a friend serves as an excuse to cool off in the shade.

For easy maintenance, the Scotts have two young adult sons who entertain their friends at the pool. The area between the pool and the porch is covered in astro turf.

An extra special part of the Scotts' outdoor summer living is the private breakfasting made possible by a back deck secluded by fencing and evergreens.

Back in town Tudor and Fontie ApMadoc turned a small side yard into a private patio complete with a red leafed tree and evergreens.

The herringbone patterned brick is surrounded by beds full of bright flowering plants.

Weathered wood fencing backs the beds and supports many hanging planters of vining geraniums, climbing vines and a bird feeder. As traffic hums, the ApMadocs relax.

Bi-level deck of the Tim Patterson's leads to a tree-shaded rear lawn.

'More and more people are moving outdoors-- via patios and decks'

Bright flowered cushions on the redwood furniture invites one to relax in the privacy of the Tudor ApMadocs' patio.

Second level deck spans the length of the Jerry Namowicz lakeside home.

'The cement slab is the patio of yesterday'

Clarkston expulsion goes to federal court

A hearing was scheduled Tuesday in Detroit Federal District Court before Judge Cornelia Kennedy in regard to the expulsion of a Clarkston High School student, who was charged with arson. Attorney Peter Wanger of Southfield, who represents the 15-year-old and his parents, said a ruling is sought on whether the child's constitutional rights were denied due to his expulsion. "We seek injunctive relief to get him back in school," said Wanger. "It would be possible to include demands for money damages in a civil rights action, but the clients haven't decided whether or not to do that," he added. The student and another minor were both expelled from classes following a Board of Education hearing in early May. Prior to that time they had been suspended, following the burning incident.

Setback variance okayed

Mr. and Mrs. Enoch H. Studebaker, 3 N. Holcomb, have been granted a 22-foot side yard setback variance so they can build an addition. The Clarkston Village Zoning Board of Appeals allowed the placing of an addition within 13 feet of the property line off W. Washington. The zoning ordinance requires a 35-foot setback.

Barrier-free again causing problems

by Mary Warner of The Clarkston News

A two-week-delay in issuing an occupancy permit to the Fotomat store on the corner of M-15 and the Dixie Highway has been attributed in part to the new barrier free design law.

Independence Township building director Ken Delbridge said he waited to issue the permit until he could check requirements for the Fotomat building under the barrier free code.

Delbridge had read where another Fotomat store in a different township had to have wheelchair ramps and other construction aids to the handicapped, as barrier free law requires.

So he called the Lansing Barrier Free Design Commission and found a technicality allowed him to issue the permit in Independence.

In the other case, the Fotomat store had been labeled a permanent structure on the building permit, Delbridge said.

But the Dixie Highway store was called temporary, and did not fall under the barrier free restrictions.

If it had been thus designated, the store may have had to install ramps and may be even a bathroom facility equipped to handle wheelchairs.

The building's temporary status requires yearly inspections by the Independence building department, after which annual occupancy permits are issued.

The Fotomat problem is just one more instance of the obstacles builders have had to face in complying with the barrier free law, which went into effect last summer.

Delbridge said there have been at least four building projects abandoned in the township because of the new restrictions.

Among other things, the barrier free code requires elevators or some form of lift in two-story buildings.

In instances such as an addition being added onto the Drayton Plains Free Methodist Church, where two stories were planned, the cost of such a lift was prohibitive, Delbridge said.

The church was granted some relief in the form of variances by the state barrier free commission. Delbridge emphasized that builders can appeal the law's restrictions with the state commission, though few here have done so.

The director feels that "now that the barrier free people are realizing that the whole (building) industry will have to change drastically, they're going to give some leeway."

The law is a "very difficult one," he said. Its passage has virtually stopped two-story construction, he added.

"I think there will be amendments to the law," he said.

It is reportedly the consensus of most inspectors that the law should not apply to existing buildings under remodeling, but should be enforced stringently in new construction.

As it is now, Delbridge and other inspectors must enforce the letter of the law, or face a fine.

Delbridge is partly in sympathy with the law. When it was being considered, he said, he saw a powerful presentation by a handicapped person, telling how a GI fresh from Vietnam went through unbelievable difficulty in looking for living quarters and a job.

The GI could not even reach a telephone to call on apartment ads, Delbridge said. When the GI finally found an apartment, he could get through every door but his bathroom door.

The barrier free law calls for all kinds of building modifications, including the height of public telephones, to remedy problems that the GI and other handicapped persons face, Delbert said.

Apartment fire deliberate, police say

A fire that destroyed two and one half units of a Blue Water Bavarian Village apartment building was deliberately set, according to Springfield firemen and Oakland County Sheriff's Department fire investigators.

An incendiary bomb apparently set off the blaze, which was reported at 1:24 a.m. Saturday. Two other bombs were found in two other buildings in the Dixie Highway complex, leading investigators to the belief that a professional arsonist had been hired for the job, according to Nelson Gelinas, county fire investigator.

The buildings were under construction, thus unoccupied. Preliminary damage estimates are close to $50,000, according to Elwyn Hillman, assistant Springfield fire chief.

Springfield, Independence and Groveland firemen battled the blaze until 6 a.m., Hillman said.

No suspects have yet been uncovered in the case, Gelinas said.

Restrictions investigated

Gary Scott's excavation business constitutes a non-conforming use of the land at 5450 Marvin Road. He wants to build a storage shed that would enclose six large pieces of equipment.

The Independence Township Zoning Board of Appeals must decide at 8:10 p.m. June 2 whether the shed constitutes expansion of a non-conforming use, or whether it merely improves the appearance of the property.

The present ordinance allows previously existing non-conforming uses to continue, but limits their expansion. Scott's business, which is classified as light industrial, is located in an area zoned for single family residential. It has been in existence the past 20 years.

Neighbors of Scott, in attendance at the May 26 board of appeals meeting, supported his request for reasons of appearance. It was determined a legal opinion will be sought before a final decision is made.

My America is beautiful.
Spring the air smells like fresh wild flowers.

Summer the air smells like fresh country river water.
Fall the ground looks like a gumball machine because all of the different colors of leaves.

I love my America every season
it's so beautiful.

Make a mental note

A mother reported this conversation with her thirteen-year-old daughter who had been invited to a wedding which she planned to attend without her parents. Lisa, the thirteen-year-old, initiated the conversation. "When I go to Margaret's wedding reception, Diane says she is going to drink beer. I haven't decided if I am or not."

Mother: "I'll tell you what you're going to do. You're not having a sip of beer or any other alcohol."

Lisa: "But, mom, you're so yukky; everyone drinks beer."

Mother: "Well, that's too bad. Thirteen-year-olds in our house don't drink beer."

Lisa: "Okay, name me one parent who won't let their thirteen-year-old kid drink beer."

Mother: "Well, Mrs. James, I know won't let Vicky drink beer."

Lisa: "I'll bet you can't name another."

Mother (obviously becoming exasperated): "That's enough. You're not."

Lisa (also getting more upset): "I'm not going to sit around all night drinking gingerale while everyone else is drinking beer."

The conversation ended here and Lisa stamped away to another part of the house. What subsequently happened at the wedding reception is anyone's guess, but there's a good chance that Lisa ended up drinking something more exciting and adventuresome than gingerale.

The mother in this little saga probably mishandled this interaction and the result was that both mother and daughter were frustrated if not angry. In the mother's favor, it can be said that at least she let her daughter know directly and without hesitation what the rules are in their family about drinking.

guidance, the following discussion may represent a more meaningful approach to an undecided teenager.

Robert: "When I go fishing with David and his father, I think I'll take some pot."

Therapist: "Oh?"

Robert: "Yea, I think that will be bomb getting a buzz on out in the woods."

Therapist: "I assume it's okay with David's father if you do that."

Robert: "Naw. He'll never know. I'll run behind a tree."

Therapist: "Good. I'm glad you're going to hide it if he doesn't approve."

Robert: "I'm glad we're going to be in the woods though because Canadian police would put you in jail if you get caught with drugs."

Therapist: "Where are you going to hide it when you cross the border?"

Robert: "The border? You mean they'll search us? I never thought of that."

Therapist: "They have searched cars and detained people at the tunnel to Canada."

Robert: "That would spoil the trip and I'd never get asked to go again."

Therapist: "That's probably true."

Robert: "Well, I probably wasn't going to take any weed anyway."

End of conversation and fortunately for the therapist's relationship with him, Robert worked this all out for himself. The results of this discussion left both feeling good about themselves and the situation.

Jaycees thank walkers

by Mary Warner
phone 625-3370

The Clarkston Jaycees wish to thank the 40 people who walked through the rain Saturday morning, May 15 to help raise funds for Clarkston SCAMP and the independence center. A total of $1,500 was pledged. We would like to remind the hikers that it is important to turn in the money as soon as possible.

Special thanks go to Jan Gabier for arranging the use of Clarkston High School, George White and Bill Potvin, and the Clarkston News for their help in promoting the walk-a-thon.

Thanks also go to Ritter's Farm Market, Drayton Plains K-Mart, and MacDonald's of Clarkston for their donations.

We wish to thank Pine Knob Music Theatre for the tickets they donated as prizes as well.

Anyone who was unable to participate in the walk-a-thon either by walking or pledging and would like to make a contribution, please contact Jim Butzine, SCAMP Director, at 625-3330.

Thanks again to the walkers, bikers and people in our community who contributed to the walk-a-thon.

The four little Brueck boys have a sister!

Elizabeth Anne Brueck, weighing seven pounds, 12 ounces, was born to Jim and Ruth Brueck of Middle Lake Road May 24.

Elizabeth joins John, Jim, Mike and Bill.

Grandparents to Elizabeth are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Monahan of Brighton and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brueck of Northville.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Baynes

62 Madison Court will celebrate their 57th wedding anniversary June 4. They are the parents of three, grandparents of 10 and great-grandparents of three. The Baynes have been residents of the Clarkston area the past 52 years.

Mrs. Juanita Lewis of Phoenix, Arizona, is visiting her son, Ed Lewis and his family. Mrs. Lewis will be staying in Michigan for the summer. She will celebrate her 80th birthday on Aug. 9.

Brenda Lewis has been in Bondues, France since Feb. 2 as an exchange student. Brenda has had many wonderful experiences traveling to Belgium, Holland, Germany, Canary Islands and a ten-day stay in Paris. The Lewis family will welcome her back June 29.

Andersonville PTA officers for the 1976-77 school year were installed May 20.

Serving as president will be Joan Schultz; first vice president, Mary Jane Chaustowich; second vice president, Trudy Locker; secretary, Jan Salter; treasurer, Sue Adams; and teacher representative, Marie Luzi.

Now is your chance to get rid of all those old newspapers that have been collecting.

Bailey Lake PTA is having a paper drive on June 4, 5 and 6. Papers can be dropped off in the school parking lot during school hours, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Kim Hamilton, 1972 Clarkston High School graduate, was honored at a bridal shower recently at the Clarkston Cafe. The shower was given by Clarkston residents Mrs. Gerald Anderson, Mrs. Harold Ford, Mrs. Terry Thomas and Mrs. E. J. Leonard.

Miss Hamilton is planning to wed Allan Hux.

The Springfield Township Bicentennial Committee will meet June 8 at 8 p.m. in the Springfield Township Hall. Plans for this summer's bicentennial activities will be discussed.

The University of Michigan has named the following area high school graduates recipients of Regents-Alumni Scholarships. All will receive a $50 honorarium when they enroll next September.

They are Margaret Ann Gergely, 2505 Oakdale, Drayton Plains and Martin Erick Sulkanen, 4815 Parview Drive, Waterford.

The annual piano-organ recitals for the students of Mrs. John M. Cook of Seymour Lake Road will be Saturday, June 5 at Seymour Lake United Methodist Church. Beginning and intermediate pupils will perform at 3 p.m., advanced students and adults at 7 p.m. The public is invited to attend.

Independence-Clarkston Historical Society will conduct its annual general meeting at 8 p.m. June 15 at Church of the Resurrection. Officers will be elected and new plans for the year discussed.

Mrs. Michael Peel

Wed in Clarkston

Kathleen Jo Benson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Benson, 6092 Middle Lake Road, became the bride of Michael Bennett Peel, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Peel of Millersburg, Mich., May 22 at Clarkston United Methodist Church. A reception in fellowship hall followed.

Denise Gragg was maid of honor with Sherry Peel and Lynn Benson as bridesmaids. James Benson was best man with David Gallaty and Ronald Benson as ushers.

Tom Parmenter, choral master for the newly formed Springfield Area Choral Group, would like area singers, who might enjoy belonging to a singing club, to step forward and announce this desire. Aspiring singers should call 625-8133 or 634-9371.

Parmenter said the Springfield Area Choral Group is seeking membership from the Holly-Fenton-Clarkston-Waterford areas. Singers should be willing to practice each Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Springfield Township Hall in Davisburg.

The Springfield Choral Group is scheduled to entertain during the Springfield Bicentennial celebration Saturday, July 31.

Tom Parmenter is a graduate music student who has sung with choirs throughout Europe and U.S.A.

Clarkston Order of Eastern Star has canceled its roast beef dinner scheduled for June 6.

"There are just too many other things going on that day," they say. June 6 is Rudy's Day in Clarkston.

The Davisburg Joggers Senior Citizens will meet at the Springfield Township Hall in Davisburg Saturday, June 5, with a potluck dinner at noon, followed by a business meeting and entertainment.

The Oakland County Department of Health is offering a summer series of Expectant Parent classes, beginning Monday, June 14, at 7:30 p.m.

Classes will be held weekly from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m., in the auditorium of the Oakland County Health Department, 1200 N. Telegraph Road, Pontiac.

To register, please call the Oakland County Health Department, 858-1394 or 858-1280.

Golden wedding bells

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dawley of Gladwin, formerly of Clarkston, will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary with an open house from 1 to 5 p.m. June 13 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Dawley of 1261 Hummer Lake Road, Ortonville. Family and friends have been invited to attend by the Dawley's children—Donald of Clarkston, Ronald of Gladwin, Raymond of Ortonville and Sharon Hockin of Jackson, Miss. The Dawleys, who were married June 12, 1926, have five grandchildren and a great-grandchild.

Pontiac wedding unites Brewer/Mielke

Sharon L. Brewer and Richard Mielke were married in a traditional candlelight ceremony May 8, by the Rev. Mr. Dennis Hartman at Grace Lutheran Church, Pontiac.

Sharon, the daughter of Mrs. Albertine Brewer of Flemmings Lake Road, was graduated from Clarkston High School in 1972.

Richard, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Mielke of Foster Road, graduated from Clarkston in 1969.

Given in marriage by Robert Brewer, Sharon wore a lace-trimmed gown with a short veil and carried a bouquet of pink and white roses and dried flowers.

Richard's sister, Becky, served as maid of honor wearing a blue dress sprigged with pink flowers. The bridesmaids, Pauline Ryse, Dixie Janette, Nina Curry, Margaret Wiltfang, Lois Srock and junior bridesmaid, Kathy Andrews, were attired in pink powdered dresses. They carried bouquets of pink and blue mums.

Heather Srock and Carl Bos-tian served as flower girl and ring bearer. David Mielke was his brother's best man.

After a reception for 200 guests, the couple traveled to Traverse City. They now reside at Oakhill Estates.

Width to depth requirements studied

Independence landowners wishing to build on a lot with incorrect width to depth proportions may not have to go before the Zoning Board of Appeals for a variance. The Independence Township Planning Commission may recommend to allow construction of homes on existing lots of record that do not have the proper width to depth ratios.

A public hearing may be set up; such a possibility was discussed at Thursday's meeting.

The amendment to the zoning ordinance that the change would pertain only to those lots existing when the new zoning ordinance was adopted in January, 1975.

Property falling under the amendment would still have to have the required frontage and correct setbacks, according to township planner Larry Burkhart.

In other action Thursday, the findings of which may be used to commission discussed parking lot update Independence's ordinance. Some of the township's parking requirements "are too loose," Burkhart will be sending for a study of parking zoning from the Urban Land Institute, some enough spaces.

The Springfield Township Board of Appeals will hold a meeting Thursday, June 17, 1976, 8:00 P.M. at the Springfield Township Hall, 650 Broadway, Davisburg, Michigan to hear the appeal of:

1. A. Paul Morrison, 702 N. Woodward, Royal Oak, Michigan, request a variance for slightly less than 4:1 ratio on average split Sidwell #07-02-326-001.
2. Gerald C. Heberle, 10398 King Road, Davisburg, Michigan, requests a variance for a front yard set back to build a garage on parcel SW #07-10-402-044.

Property split again

Charles L. Ball thought that he owned two parcels of land on Allen Road. He holds a deed on a five-acre parcel and a deed on an eight-acre parcel. However, the two pieces are recorded as one.

In order to sell the five-acre parcel and to build a new home on the eight-acre parcel, Ball was required to appear before the Independence Township Zoning Board of Appeals for approval to split the property.

So that a pond on the eight acres would be under one ownership the property split was made along the original property lines rather than in accordance with the ordinance which requires 200 foot frontage. The five acres has only 169 feet of road frontage.

Split allowed

After a year of effort Charles L. Bailey will be able to split his five acres into two 2 1/2 acre parcels.

The property at 2915 Sashabaw is zoned rural residential requiring a minimum lot size of three acres with a 200-foot road frontage.

In requesting the split, Bailey said he would like to retire, and sale of 2 1/2 acres would help make that possible. He also noted that the taxes which have multiplied five times in the last 10 years are an undue hardship that he would like to be relieved of.

The Independence Township Zoning Board of Appeals allowed the split because the acreage neighboring Bailey was also split, setting a precedent.

Allowed to rebuild

The Independence Township Board of Appeals has given permission to Paul Gross to rebuild his home at 9556 Yale Road.

The home, a non-conforming structure on a non-conforming lot, was destroyed by fire on February 10, 1976.

The board determined that the proposed structure is in keeping with the surrounding neighborhood and that Gross is entitled to restore his property to its original condition.

Heard about our used car operation?

If you haven't, we think it'd be worth your time. And we promise not to bore you. Not for a minute!

You see, we pay an awful lot of attention to our used car business. We take extra special steps to give every car we take in trade a deep-down physical. And if we decide a little surgery is required, we remove the trouble right then and there.

If we consider one of our trades a hopeless case, we get rid of it. As mercifully as possible. After all, we can't afford to pass somebody else's miseries on to our used car buyers.

Why this kind of extra care? Well, out here in Oakland County, we meet our friends and customers every day. In the coffee shop. At the bank. On the street. We can't afford to let a fast buck downgrade our longstanding reputation for fair dealing.

When we stick an OK Used Car label on one of our used cars, you know that car's got plenty of life left in it. And our fees are ridiculously low.

That's exactly how we operate.

Growing things

Ice can prevent freezing

by Lyle Abel

May's frequent frosts have Keith Middletons of Orion severely damaged the early Township reported that it was strawberry blossoms — those necessary to start their irrigation blooms that produce the first, system on six frosty May nights. largest, finest "King" berries. They started the spray as soon as Most of the blooms with the the temperature at the blossom blackened centers have been level neared the freezing point frozen and will produce no fruit or and kept it going until all the ice badly deformed berries. Where it had melted. is practical they should be picked How the coating of the strawberries with a covering of ice water changes to ice it gives up heat—so if you keep spraying on the water until the sun comes up and gives enough heat to melt the ice you have won the battle with Jack Frost and saved the berries. Anyhow, the Middletons have saved the first crop on their new planting and should be ready with a good harvest for their "pick your own" customers.

Commercial strawberry growers will prevent the freezing injury to were able to protect the blossoms the blossoms is a real puzzle to from freezing damage by spray most of us! Scientists explain this irrigation of their fields. The by pointing out the fact that when Home gardeners can use their sprinklers to get the same results. For small plantings many strawberry lovers found it practical to cover the berries and were successful in preventing freezing damage.

Most home owners who have limited space pass up the production of such tree fruits as apples, peaches, plums, pears and others. Actually one can have quite a variety of tree fruits in a small space by using the dwarfed trees that are available from most of our reliable nurseries. Clayton Talent, an Auburn Heights resident, reports that, last season, his dwarf peach trees produced all the fresh fruit needed by his family of three. The peaches were normal sized fruit of the Red Haven variety grown on two-year-old trees that were but four feet tall! (Talent is known to several Independence and Oxford Township folks as a "bee man." He keeps his colonies of bees on several locations locally).

Be certain when purchasing dwarf trees to ask about their mature size. Apples especially can be purchased in various stages of dwarfing, from trees that are mature at two to five feet tall to other strains that are only semi-dwarfed. Most commercial orchardists who are starting new orchards have switched to the dwarf trees. We recently drove through the Belding fruit area in Ionia County and observed many new plantings of dwarf apple trees. Whole older orchards of standard sized trees have been removed and replaced with the smaller plants. Easier management, earlier bearing and more bushels of fruit to the acre are their reasons for switching to the smaller trees.

For many years Robert Nitchke, a Birmingham resident, has had a hobby of growing literally hundreds of varieties of fruit on dwarfed trees. He does this by using the space saving system of training the apples to trellises of wire. By tying the branches to the wire of the trellis and pruning severely, one can produce fruit for family use in a very small space. Other advantages in addition to space saving is the ease of spraying and harvesting the fruit—no ladders needed and no expensive spray equipment.

Your local garden store has an excellent free book that gives details on how to produce fruits and vegetables in backyard gardens where space is limited. The horticultural agent at the County Center's Cooperative Extension Service office has excellent folders to give details concerning dwarf fruits.

June's busting out

by Jim Sherman

"June is busting out all over," so the song goes and so goes the calendar.

Happy, joyous June. The kids are out of school. Summer vacation time is at hand. Mornings become beautiful again. And gardening, lawn work and boat and dock repairs are still fun.

There is no time now to finish the unfinished furniture, grease the snowmobiles, sharpen the spud, or work on the furnace. Their winter jobs, and this is the "Good ol' summer time" as another song goes.

The last few years June has been the best summer month of the year for warmth and vacations. At least it seems that way to me. I usually wait until August when the first frost hits.

The way May went, June could repeat as "Best" again. Only two things could have happened to make May '76 an ideal May. It could have been a little warmer for one thing.

The other thing is for the birds. To be specific, Purple Martins. Like everyone else, we're all but carried off by mosquitos at our place. Half way through July we all go to the Red Cross and get a transfusion to replace the supply of blood that is now splattered on our walls.

That's the way it is at your house, isn't it? The full-bellied mosquitos pick out the ceiling or wall with the lightest paint on which to land and digest.

You hit them with a swatter, and ker-splash. Dampened tissues can never get it all.

Back to the birds. Purple Martins are known for their terrific appetite for mosquitos. One expert told me one bird will devour up to 5,000 mosquitos and other insects a day.

A house full of Martins in our back yard could make an evening on the back porch a lot more enjoyable.

Regardless, we're not going to let the mosquito win are we?

June is the month of weddings, too. It is also father's day and National Dairy month. I don't think there is any significance to the three being in the same month.

So, get with June. Fall in love again with the same gal or guy you married, or the same fishing hole, or the same hammock. Enjoy, enjoy "until the corn is as high as an elephant's eye" as the song goes.

Can't resist printing the Detroit Free Press' chuckle of last Thursday, "Why is it that a slight tax increase costs you $300, while a substantial tax cut lowers your taxes $30?"
