

Rudy honored by community

The Schwarze family led off in a float built specially to honor them.

It was a great day for the Germans!
And it turned out Sunday that most everybody in town was German.

Even Dr. James O'Neill, Irishman that he is, was right up there with Ingrid Smith spouting the Teutonic language.

The occasion was the Independence Township. Firefighters "Rudyfest," honoring Rudy Schwarze who's been a merchant here for 43 years.

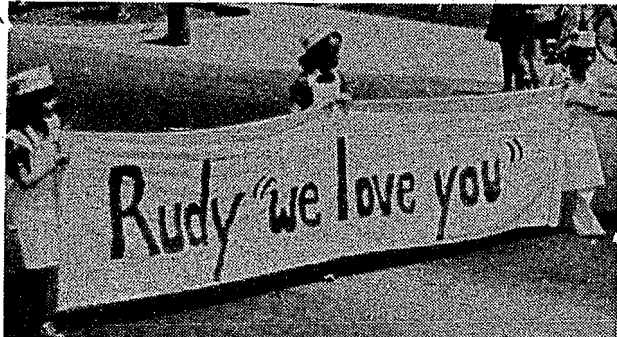

Rudy was born in Germany in 1908, working in a meat market there as a young man. Before arriving in Clarkston, he worked at a meat market in Pontiac. He and his wife, Elsa, were married on Columbus Day in 1933 and bought the first of several Clarkston markets they have owned.

True to form, the market stayed open during Rudy's parade on Sunday, but it closed for the afternoon program. Bands played, beer flowed and copious quantities of stuffed cabbage and hot dogs were consumed by hundreds of friends of the couple.

The weather cooperated and the new village park off Depot Road provided a perfect setting for the affair.

Court stops driveway landing strip

by Mary Warner
of the Clarkston News

A battle is brewing between Independence Township officials and Royal Oak attorney Edward Schulte, over whether Schulte can land airplanes on his Independence Township property.

The township has attained a temporary restraining order in Oakland County Circuit Court, preventing the attorney from landing his Cessna 180 or any other aircraft on a 1,500-foot-long driveway on the property.

A show cause hearing is scheduled for 9 a.m. Monday in Judge Robert Templin's court.

Schulte's land is located west of Allen Road just south of Hubbard. He owns 10 acres there, and has already received a permit to construct the driveway and a home on the property.

The home is not built, but the driveway was just completed, and Saturday Schulte said he landed an airplane there for the first time.

The township only got wind of Schulte's intention to use the driveway as a private runway last Wednesday, according to supervisor Ed Glennie.

A meeting was called between Schulte, neighbors of Schulte and township officials, including township attorney Richard Campbell.

At the meeting, Glennie said, Schulte "admitted he has every intention of keeping his own private aircraft there."

Glennie said Schulte made no mention of his intention when getting his building permits, and it wasn't until the driveway was being built that township officials became suspicious, because "it was going to be one hell of a driveway."

Schulte said Tuesday that he had withheld his intentions from the township, but declined to give specifics on his reasons for doing so.

Responding to Glennie's charge that Schulte has been "anything but honest" in dealing with the township, Schulte said "it all depends on whose standpoint you're looking at."

Schulte said "there is always a chronic complainer," referring to neighbor Betty Smith, who lives off Allen Road just north of Schulte's property.

The Smiths, according to Schulte, are opposed to Schulte's intended use for the property, and were in attendance at the recent meeting on the matter.

Schulte said the Smiths have been soliciting support from other neighbors in the area against Schulte's airport plans.

Schulte's acreage lies right across the street from Hubbard Hills subdivision, he said, and there have been both supportive and non-supportive neighbors for his project.

When Schulte flew his plan in on Saturday, he said, neighbors gathering for the event gave a "favorable response" to his plans for keeping his airplane on his land.

Schulte said such private landing areas are not uncommon — there is even another one on Sashabaw Road in Independence.

If the matter comes to further litigation, Schulte said he may even have the backing he needs to continue his course of action, via a recent supreme court case that Schulte himself represented.

And Schulte has further background information to help out — his law firm deals with, among other things, aviation law.

Train derails; minimal damage

The four rear coal cars and caboose of a 102-car Grand Trunk freight train derailed east of Eaton Road just north of Davisburg at 5:35 p.m. Monday evening, temporarily disrupting train traffic. No injuries were reported in the mishap, which was caused when rails expanded from the past weekend's high temperatures. According to

Grand Trunk spokesman John Boomer, there was minimal damage to the cars. The track was repaired Tuesday morning. Derailments are rare in this neck of the woods, Boomer said. Luckily, in this incident, the train was only traveling 20 m.p.h. while making its way through Davisburg. (Photo by Jamie Smith)

Sod facilitates play

By sodding the Springfield Oaks 18 hole golf course, instead of using topsoil and seed, the Oakland County Parks and Recreation Department figures it saved the taxpayers an estimated $24,000—and gave them golfing at the facility a year or two earlier than it would have otherwise.

The course, which will open June 12, is located in Springfield Township off Andersonville Road.

Any decision wrong one

No matter what decision is made by the Springfield Township Board on a proposed parcel division, it may be the wrong one.

In 1972 two separate pieces of property on Davisburg Road under one ownership were recorded as one parcel at the township level. It was not recorded as such at the Register of Deeds office, the township supervisor Don Rogers, said.

The parcels are now under two different ownerships. At the township level, the property description for the entire 10.25 acres appears on Irene Holmes' tax bill although she is purchasing only 4.67 acres on Davisburg Road.

The second parcel lies behind Lakeland Building Supply and Savoie Insulation on Dixie Highway. To grant the property division would make it a land-locked parcel.

Rogers said there may be other alternatives — including selling the land-locked parcel to one of the adjoining land owners.

To add topsoil and seed to the original nine hole course, in use since 1930, would have cost approximately $114,000 plus a year or two of golfing. The terrain of the course is alternately rocky hills and swampy pot holes, said Parks Director, R. Eric Reikel.

An example of the difference between sodding and seeding can be seen on the course. Reikel said that nine fairways, nine tees and nine greens were sodded while the roughs were seeded.

"The seed hasn't germinated yet, and that is what it would all

Youth hurt

A car accident on Frembes Road at Warren Saturday night left Daniel Fancher, 20, of Oak Vista suffering possible facial fractures in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac. He was listed in satisfactory condition Monday.

His two brothers, Mark, 18, driver of the car, and Timothy, 15, were treated and released following the accident.

Waterford Township police said their car was struck by another driven by Denise Doroese, 18, of Snowapple. She was ticketed for driving left of center, and did not seek medical help.

The accident occurred at 10:40 p.m. Saturday on Frembes at Warren near the railroad tracks.

Cranberry Lake boat hearing

A hearing will be June 17 to determine whether motorized watercraft should be banned from Cranberry Lake.

The Michigan Department of Natural Resources will conduct the hearing at 1:30 p.m. in Independence Township Hall.

The hearing was requested by the Independence Township Board, after the lake homeowners' association petitioned to the board.

look-like," he said.

The reason to sod was determined by several factors. Among them were the problems incurred in building the new nine holes. According to Reikel four days of torrential rains undid much of the seeding and cost $20,000 in repairs which are still being done.

Reikel also pointed out the planned extension of M-275 which is supposed to reach Andersonville Road by 1980. That highway will make the course only a 10 or 20 minute drive from the city, he said.

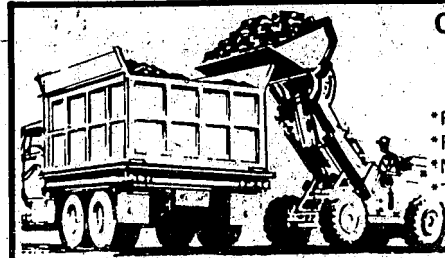

The sod, laid on the old nine, was purchased at a cost of $90,000. It was laid by a crew of 30 CETA workers, paid out of Title IV funds, in one month's time, Reikel said.

Bacteria count down

Evidence that the dredging of the Upper Mill Pond is having the effect of reducing the bacteria count in the water there has been provided by the Oakland County Health Department.

Tests taken last week showed both low bacteria and detergent count. Tests taken farther up the Clinton River at I-75 and Perry Lake Road showed an increase in detergent suds, Glennie said.

"It's a little too early to tell, but it looks like the Mill Pond dredging has at least had an effect on the bacteria," said Supervisor J. Edwin Glennie.

Board candidates state views

Clarkston School District voters will go to the polls June 14 to select two Clarkston Board of Education trustees and three trustees for Oakland Community College.

Four candidates, including an incumbent, seek the two four-year terms on the Clarkston board.

They are Charles J. Smalley, 51, 5247 Sashabaw, who seeks reelection; C. Vincent Luzi, 35, 7960 Dixie Highway; R. Eric Reickel, 41, 8135 Rattalee Lake Road (a former appointed member of the board); and Wayne M. Viergever, 46, 7150 Deer Lake Road.

The Clarkston News has asked them to answer questions in regard to the needs of the district. Their answers are as follows:

-C. VINCENT LUZI

Luzi, assistant director of the Oakland County personnel department, has been a resident of the district 14 years. He is married and the father of two children, aged 8 and 5, both of whom will be students in the district as of this fall.

Luzi, who ran once before for trustee, has a bachelor of arts from Western Michigan University in political science and education. He has done graduate work in school administration at Michigan State University.

He rates an improved academic curriculum as the number one priority in the district. The addition of multi-purpose rooms at elementary schools are seen as next in importance, a new Clarkston Junior High School as third and the construction of gymnasiums at the elementary schools as fourth in a list of

Luzi

Smalley

Viergever

Reickel

objectives.

The single most important goal of the board during the coming year he views as "To improve the credibility of the board while striving to improve the quality of education for all children in the district. An improved academic curriculum and teaching, quality must be the major concern of the board."

R. ERIC REICKEL

Reickel, executive director of Oakland County Parks and Recreation, has lived in the district four years. He is married and the father of three, all of whom will be students in the Clarkston schools this fall.

Reickel has a bachelor of science degree from Michigan State University.

He calls an improved academic curriculum a continuing priority, but says a new Clarkston Junior High School is of immediate priority. Gyms in the elementary school are next in line after curriculum, and he feels they could serve the same purpose as multi-purpose rooms.

Reickel feels the board's goal this year should be, "To start a good communications program that includes the board, administration, teachers and parents. In doing this it will also be necessary to always be vigilant of the school district's financial status."

CHARLES J. SMALLEY

Smalley, a resident of the area 24 years, is married and has three children, one of whom is a student in Clarkston schools. He has completed high school and had college courses in labor management. A postman, he lists an improved academic curriculum as of prime importance.

He says, "I believe the single most important goal of the school board for the forthcoming year is education of the student. The product of our school system, one sole reason for being, is to provide our students with a sound education, one where students can graduate with an education or vocational skill second to none. Educated so they may enter college or a vocation more qualified than a student from any other school system. We do not want it said that our students from Clarkston lack knowledge concerning the basic three R's.

"Compared to the most important goal, the education of the student, an improved academic curriculum is of primary importance. However, it is a necessary change of times, updating current events, and all facilities necessary to obtain this goal, that of being a well educated student."

WAYNE M. VIERGEVER

Viergever, 46, 7150 Deer Lake Road has lived in the district six years. He is married and has three children in school.

Owner of his own sales agency for 12 years, he holds a bachelor of science degree in engineering from Michigan State University. He is active in Little League and Cub Scouts.

"Our school district faces many problems that have been ignored or set aside for too long. I feel that we owe our children the best education that the community can afford to give them. Certainly our complete academic curriculum should be reviewed as to how it meets today's needs.

"I personally feel that our school system lacks facilities to properly support an excellent academic curriculum. It is time for our school children to have a complete physical education program from kindergarten through high school. To have our elementary children attend school without adequate exercise areas, libraries, art or music rooms is criminal.

"The extension or revision of all of our facilities to include these facilities is a must. The junior high school is at best an inadequate facility that should be either replaced or renovated. However, the single most important goal of our school board in the immediate future is to establish a line of communication with the community and the teachers. I feel that only through an open communication system with news letters can we hope to educate the community as to our needs, and thereby obtain their cooperation in setting up a program to make Clarkston one of the better school districts in the state."

VOTE MONDAY
JUNE 14

School gripes aired in open forum

By Jean Saile
of The Clarkston News

Clarkston Board of Education candidates met about 40 electors in an open forum Monday night at Clarkston High School.

Sponsored by the Clarkston Jaycees, Clarkston Education Association and Citizen Election Watch, it was emceed by Robert Vandermark.

Present were incumbent Charles Smalley and contenders Eric Reickel, Vince Luzi and Wayne Viergever.

Some of the points brought out by the candidates involved an alleged $1.3 million in surplus cash, carried by the district from one financial year to the next and used to meet teacher salaries in the fall before the arrival of tax money.

Said Viergever, "It's not wise for a school board to operate frugally. We don't want mediocre facilities." He said he believed 10 to 12 1/2 percent of the $8.5 million budget would be a sufficient carryover.

He added he did not believe it necessary that the district must increase taxes, only that it spend the money the taxes provide.

Smalley took issue. He said the additional money is only to pay teachers for the rest of the year. "We believe in spending what we've got."

He said the likelihood of a further state aid cut next year seems imminent. The district lost $268,000 last year from state sources due to budget cutbacks at that level, he said.

Smalley spoke of Clarkston's sound education system — one that is improved each year as money becomes available, he said.

He pointed out the district has not had to pink slip teachers or cut back on sports.

He said he believed that more concentration should be put on basics, particularly in the instruction of English. He said he would also like to see physical education in the schools, but gyms for each elementary school would cost between three and five additional mills, he said.

Luzi spoke of his concern with results, more than the ways and means of achieving them.

"There's an increasing number of functional illiterates in Oakland County," he said. He added he was not fingering Clarkston, but that the district does have a problem of credibility, and that better communications are needed.

He said good teachers and skilled administrators are needed and he added that he believed the roles of policy makers should be kept separate from administrators.

Luzi, a former teacher, said he felt it would be possible to introduce physical education to the elementary schools with existing facilities.

Reickel spoke of the needs for both a new junior high school and a physical fitness program for elementary schools, the latter beginning small in much the same manner as school libraries.

People in the audience asked about a variety of topics. One wanted to know why there was no federally financed remedial reading program at Clarkston Elementary School and was told there was a voluntary program in grades four through six, that the school does not qualify under federal funding guidelines.

Another mother, highly incensed about the lack of doors on boys' bathroom stalls, said lack of privacy was making her boys sick.

Someone else spoke of the high administrative salary accorded retiring superintendent Leslie F. Greene. He was paid $40,000 the last year of his 25 as superintendent here.

The problem of stimulating the normal and gifted child to greater learning experiences exacted various responses. Smalley said the district must concentrate on giving all students an adequate education.

Reickel saw the proposed hiring of an elementary education director as bettering the lot of faster learners. Luzi said he felt teachers and the community must be involved in curriculum development. Viergever said he thought teachers best qualified to assist the board in setting up a curriculum. He said he would like two teachers named as consultants to the board.

Several of the candidates faulted the governmental practice of paying for studies to better the district and then not implementing the costly recommendations.

Reickel said people must be given a chance to vote for the improvements deemed necessary in the district.

Byers named

Jackson Byers has been elected chairman of the Clarkston Village Planning Commission for the coming year. He will be assisted by Ted Thomson, vice chairman, and Virginia Walters, secretary-treasurer.

The commission okayed Jaycette plans presented by Shari Crites to purchase eight benches at a cost of $200 for the village park off Depot Road. An additional $100 will be spent for trees.

The members also chose an extension of the rear of the current village hall as the best site for storage of equipment.

Township still without wage provisions

Hourly employees of Independence Township have been without established wage levels or a set cost of living increase since May 1, when the current contract provisions expired.

Negotiators of Local 2720, American Federation of State and County Employees, have thus far rejected the township's wage and cost of living proposals. The township in turn will not accept the union's wage requests, but officials are currently examining the budget to see whether an adjustment to the township stance can be made, according to supervisor Ed Glennie.

Negotiations began March 17, reached a stalemate, and had to be re-established via a mediator. An entire contract package need not be drawn up this year; the union is operating on a two-year contract for 1975-76 that carries the provision of yearly adjustment in wages and cost of living.

Specifics of the increases asked for by the union are not going to be given out until settlement is reached, according to plumbing inspector Bud Temple, who is, along with building inspector Dick Curn and AFSCME representative Bill Burling, conducting negotiations for the employees.

When the contract will be settled is up in the air, Temple said.

But, according to Glennie, "both sides are in friendly negotiation, and we anticipate a friendly settlement."

The agreement will affect about 20 full-time township employees in clerical, secretarial, inspection, library and maintenance departments.

More CETA funds granted

Independence Township has been granted $122,000 in Title II Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) funding for a six-month period beginning July 1 of this year and extending until January.

Oakland County, which administers the federal unemployment grant, has also allocated $35,080 to Springfield Township, $29,374 to the Clarkston School District and $6,426 to Clarkston Village.

The allocations mean most employees now working under the Title VI program can remain on the municipal payrolls under Title II.

Title VI will run out June 30; Title II will replace it as the primary means of retaining or hiring the unemployed.

According to Independence Township clerk Bob Lay, the current 18 full-time CETA employees will be able to stay until January.

At that time the township has been told to expect additional grant money, meaning the employees will probably be able to stay on until June 30, 1977.

Under the original Title II program, townships agreed to try and keep on at least 50 percent of those hired after the grant expires. Title VI had no such requirement.

But according to Glennie, the pending transfer from Title VI to Title II is just "paper-shuffling," with no real differences in the two programs' requirements.

Building permit denied

Gary Scott has been denied a request to build a 4,000 square foot building to house vehicles used in his excavating business.

The Independence Township Zoning Board of Appeals in a re-hearing Wednesday determined the building would extend the present non-conforming usage of the Marvin Road property.

The land is zoned residential, but has been used for light industrial for the past 20 years.

Scott will have to get his property rezoned before the building is allowed.

The decision to deny was on a 2-1 vote, board member Fred Ritter dissenting.

Ritter went along with neighbors of Scott's, who said at the May 26 original hearing on the case that the building would only be an improvement for Scott's property.

In other action, the board granted Gary Lessel a request to use 3,000 square feet of his building at 6696 Dixie Highway for commercial offices.

The building currently houses Lessel's plumbing business; half of the plumbing space would be turned over to office use for rental purposes.

And the board granted a five-foot side yard variance to Terry Sanders, 6002 M-15, to allow Sanders to build a garage.

CEW

CITIZENS ELECTION WATCH

is a grassroots organization interested in informing the community of the issues and candidates for the June school board election.

We believe that a school board should:

1. Provide leadership which will reunite the community and provide education for every child in the school district.
2. Work toward total community cooperation with a board of education open to the ideas and opinions of all parents, teachers and other interested citizens.
3. Inform citizens fully as to how and why board decisions are made.
4. Remember our first concern is educating children and meeting the needs of each child.
5. Keep the community completely informed on how its school tax dollars are being spent.

Early settlement a plus

Fall and the opening of school promises to be something special this year.

We'll even have the energy to get incensed about an early start—pre Labor Day is what's contemplated—in place of using up all our worry on whether or not there'll be classes.

For the first time in the history of the Clarkston School District in its negotiations with the Clarkston Education Association (CEA), tentative agreement on a teacher contract has been reached by the beginning of June.

That means that teachers and administrators will probably be getting along better, there'll be time to concentrate on curriculum, and school should get off to a much more pleasant start.

Our congratulations to the negotiators on both sides of the fence. As we've said before, we don't like cliff hangers.

Let's do it again

The tremendous success of Rudy's Day says a couple of things that might bear further consideration.

Number one: It's terrific when a community gets together to honor someone who's still around to enjoy the tribute. Too often we wait until that someone is gone before we decide they were pretty decent folks after all.

Number two: If the Clarkston Village Band were to schedule one concert a month on Sunday afternoons and organizations were free to put up booths and sell food as they did Sunday, do you think it would be a success?

There was something delightfully home towny about the music and the relaxed atmosphere on Sunday. The park, which village employees have been at work on for a couple of years now, is a perfect place for such a get-together.

Let's use it more often.

Ode to Rudy

A man of distinction, and a heart of gold
A man to respect, a man we all know.
A trademark of Clarkston for forty years
Has had his share of bad luck and tears,
But bounces back doing what he knows best:
Serving the public to their request.
A chef, a doctor, a consultant and host,

From one and all, Rudy, you're the most.
For Rudy's Day should be every day.
I'm sure you'll agree and even say,
To know you is to love you
And I'd make many a copy.
You're a tall, tall man
In just a short body.

'If It Fitz . . .'

Ship's sinking a shocker

by Jim Fitzgerald

The sinking of the Edmund Fitzgerald last Nov. 10, after only 17 years afloat, reminded me it was about time for my youngest child to graduate from high school.

If that sounds confusing, be patient. This is somewhat of a ghost story, and such stories must be told slowly to retain the spookiness.

The Edmund Fitzgerald was launched May 31, 1958. At the time it was the largest ore carrier on the Great Lakes. A big boat.

On that same day, a big-boy was born to my wife. We named him Edmund Fitzgerald.

It was a coincidence. When we named our Edmund, my wife and I didn't know a thing about the boat. We didn't realize there had been a twin birth until we saw the news on TV that birthday evening. The newscaster said the Edmund Fitzgerald had been launched sideways.

"So was ours," my wife groaned. Naturally, our family followed the wake of Ed the boat closely through the years. One day we drove to Toledo where the vessel was docked. Our Edmund was five years old by then and a big ham, eager to pose for all sorts of goofy pictures with his namesake. He even came through with one of his few bright sayings.

"If this boat ever sinks," he said, "I hope I'm not taking a bath at the same time."

Another memory remains vivid. The huge Fitz clan gathered one evening for dinner at a restaurant on the bank of the St. Clair River, north of Detroit. It was our Edmund's 10th birthday. There was a grand view of the water, and an ore carrier could be seen approaching from the south.

"Wouldn't it be great if that were the Edmund Fitzgerald?" someone remarked.

It was, or I wouldn't be telling you about it. There was much exclaiming and merriment as "our boat" passed by almost close enough to touch.

Those fun times were remembered with a bitter poignancy when our family heard that the Edmund Fitzgerald had sunk in Lake Superior, in a November storm, with the entire crew lost.

We noted that our Edmund had not been taking a bath at the time, and there were some lame chuckles. And then some real tears.

I know I cried that day for more than a ship lost at sea. I also cried at the reminder that life is uncertain and full of ugly shocks—for big boats and for little boys.

The boy is no longer so little. This morning there was a long gown hanging on the inside of the bathroom door, wrinkles waiting for steam. This week he will put on the gown to receive his high school diploma. And next month he will signal his entrance into the adult world by putting a pack on his back and beginning an open-end hike scheduled to take him down some wilderness trail in Oregon and back home again, someday, God help us all.

Ken Thayer is retired now, and maybe it's simply that he's got more time to think, but he knows he's getting awfully sick of hearing about grass roots.

There aren't any, anymore, he says. Local through state politics is infested with crab grass and at the federal level it's quack grass.

And if you're a gardener, you know there's no way of dealing with it.

Thayer's particular beef is taxes, and he sees no way they're going to get less. "One of six of our population worked for some kind of government in March of 1975," he says.

He'd like Tales of Poor Richard made required reading for all candidates for public office, and he'd give the bureaucrats six months to read it and pass a test on economics before he fired them.

He thinks the people who run the country have lost sight of practicalities. They're living on prestige and status which he says they can't afford.

He even goes so far as to call it "overstepping the line of basic morals."

He may be right about the morality. He's certainly right about the chances of getting taxes reduced being almost nil.

The only thing that could happen—if politicians really meant to reduce the burden on the taxpayer—would be for the state legislature to reduce the assessed valuation.

The immorality comes, in Thayer's mind, when old folks can no longer pay the taxes on their retirement homes. Yet, the self-same government that charges them so much provides subsidized housing for those who can't afford any of their own.

Thayer doesn't attribute all the blame to the younger generation. He figures a lot of the old timers let things slip, too.

Dedicated to the concept that one man can improve the world, he reports that he and some of his friends voluntarily help out the farmers where they hunt. They spend a couple of days a season driving tractor or doing any other job of which they are still physically capable.

He feels more such example by senior citizens might eventually trickle down to the rest of the populace.

Change has to start somewhere, he believes.

'Spirit of cooperation' settles contract

An open letter to the community: The teachers of the Clarkston Education Association wish to express our pleasure over the tentative agreement reached by the CEA negotiating team and the Board of Education. When our chief negotiator, Tom Brown, first contacted board negotiator George Barrie to arrange a meeting for February 17, 1976, it was to be our intent to reach a contract settlement at the earliest possible date. The CEA has long believed that late contract settlements only cause frustration and confusion within the community.

Sincerity and a "spirit of cooperation" was very evident in the early conversations between Mr. Brown and Mr. Barrie. The culmination of this effort was the earliest tentative agreement in the history of the Clarkston school system.

The CEA is pleased to inform the community that the teachers have upheld the work of our negotiating team by ratifying the contract by 91 percent approval of those present for 1976-77 on June 7, 1976.

We hope the Board of Education will take similar action on Monday, June 14. A new approach to open and honest communication can only be a positive movement within our community.

Have a good summer. The teaching staff will be ready to

Sincerely,

H. Allen Bartlett, President
Clarkston Education Association

Thanks to Miss Marta

Clarkston Board of Education

Dear Board Members:

As the end of the school year approaches us we have the opportunity to look back at the progress our children have made.

It is truly encouraging to realize that the Clarkston Schools have hired teachers who are superior in their field. In particular, I refer to Miss Marta Pearson.

I don't know how you thank a teacher for educating your children in a manner where they actually learn. Miss Pearson has shown a personal concern for each of her pupils and made it a point to help each one on an individual basis.

I write to thank the Clarkston School District for hiring a person with such a teaching ability as Miss Pearson possesses, I also want to extend a personal thanks for the time she has spent educating my child along with the others in her class. She is truly an asset to the educational system. Miss Marta Pearson, we tip our hat to you.

Sincerely,

Mr. & Mrs. Donald W. Rogers

Preserve the Millpond

Citizens of Springfield Township:

Should we the citizens of Davisburg and Springfield Township allow the government bureaucracy to destroy yet another pleasure of our area because they don't want to bother taking care of it?

The Davisburg millpond seems to be headed for extinction if we, the nongovernment people, don't do something about the draining of the pond. It has been rumored that the Oakland County Parks would like to drain the pond to nothing but a stream so that they won't have to bother fixing or regulating the gate at the dam to control water level at a respectable height.

Where does that leave the pleasure of the beauty, the historic landmark, the swimming and the fishing? Gone completely! We cannot allow this to happen, so we have to do something to stop the cruel destruction and waste by our officials in local government. Talk about water pollution, what about lack of water.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Oaks

It was a grand day!

The family of Rudy Schwarze would like to thank the community and especially the Independence Township Firefighters Association for the beautiful program on Sunday.

The awards were a wonderful tribute, and everything from the pigs in a blanket to the beer and the bands were marvelous.

A man is fortunate who has so many and such good friends. Even the weather cooperated.

The family of Rudy Schwarze

Third eye was right

Dear Miss Jean,

Awhile back, the third eye predicted there would be a train wreck. Well she was right. There was one on May 5th of this month.

I usually read her predictions with a chuckle. But last night the train office called us and said she was sorry, but the auto train had been derailed in Lorton, Virginia.

The train would be out of service until Sept. or Oct. some time. The girl said they were going down the list and telling people what had happened. Just thought there might be a story in it.

If you wish to check on this further, the toll free number is 1-800-424-1111. We are coming home in a couple of weeks, and hope to see all our friends in Clarkston.

Edward who is eleven, said maybe we can do it next year. As we hope to come back to Florida after our trip home.

Sincerely, Ed Harding

Only 16 Class A baseball teams left in the state and Clarkston is one!

Last Saturday the Wolves received the Class A district crown by defeating Lake Orion 2-1 in the morning and then downing Bloomfield Lahser 5-3 in the afternoon.

The entire team is to be congratulated for their total team effort. Our defense was tremendous. We only had one error the entire day.

I would like to thank the parents of the seniors who so graciously allowed their sons to participate in the tournaments instead of graduation. Someday I hope this problem can be averted.

We are the only school in the state that seems to have this problem, so I would suggest that the senior high administration consider changing the date or time of graduation.

Not only does it affect boys' baseball, but also track and girls' softball. Again I say thanks to the parents for allowing us to be district champions.

Last week this article did not appear, so I would like to list the players who made the all league team: (first team) Steve Howe, Jeff

Ferguson, Doug Manigold, Rod Hool; (second team) Bill Matthews and Larry Bennett. Selected

The game will be at 11 o'clock at Lincoln Park. Following are the directions to the park: north on I-75 to Bristol Rd., east on Bristol to Van Sylke, north on Van Sylke to Atherton, east on Atherton a few blocks and field will be on north side of road.

One of our players was named to the 1976 MHSBCA All State team last week. Steve Howe was one of two Michigan pitchers to receive this distinction. Steve's record for the last two years is 20 wins and 1 loss. Every major college in Michigan has offered Steve scholarships. Congratulations, Steve.

Our next step on the road to state champions takes place next week at Flint. Our opponent is Royal Oak Kimball again.

Next week I hope to preview our involvement in the state finals!

Bihl resigns JV post

Clarkston High School junior varsity basketball coach Dave Bihl has resigned.

Bihl told school athletic director Conrad Bruce that he was "getting out of coaching entirely" because of other commitments.

Bihl has been coaching the JVs for five years.

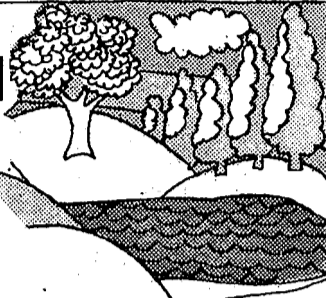

His resignation falls in the footsteps of varsity coach Dave McDonald, who chose to quit and look for a job elsewhere a month ago.

Bruce is in the process of interviewing for McDonald's position. A decision should be made on a successor sometime this week, Bruce said.

After McDonald's position is filled, the athletic director will begin looking for a replacement for Bihl, he said.

Records broken in CJH track

The seventh and eighth grade track teams from Clarkston Junior High finished their season with no losses in dual or tri-meets.

Last week they placed fifth out of 22 schools entered in the Detroit Country Day Invitational and third in their 11 team league meet.

During the course of the season six school records were set.

Eric Booker high-jumped 5 feet 1/2 inches and ran the 60-yard high hurdles in 8.9 seconds for records.

John Curtindahl, Pat Daniels, Dennis and Nick Lekas ran a record 1:46.8 in the 880-yard relay.

Gentry Ellis' 2:12.6 in the 80-yard run set a new record.

The mile relay team of Gentry Ellis, Pat Daniels, Pete Ludwig and Dave Brown ran a record-setting 3:55.

Dave Brown set a record in the 140-yard dash by running it in 35.6 seconds, which also was better than the ninth grade record.

The free-checking account for people who work for a living

Check '76 from Community Bank is the simplest, most useable checking account you can have. There's no complicated "package" deal, no tie-in-savings account needed, and no large minimum balance required in order to get no-service-charge checking.

With a Check '76 checking account, you get free checking when you maintain a minimum balance of as little as $76. In addition, the first 76 checks are given to you free when you open your account.

It's so simple, so useful and so economical, no wonder so many have opened Check '76 accounts in the short time since we introduced it. That, more than anything we can say, should tell you something.

To open your Check '76 account, come in to whichever of our 23 offices is most convenient. The Manager or any Teller will be happy to help you.

Wolves are District champs

Forsaking graduation, Clarkston seniors spur team to victories

On Saturday, June 5, 1976, at approximately 10:30 a.m. the senior class of 1976 graduated from Clarkston High School at Pine Knob's Music Theater. Meanwhile, Clarkston's Varsity baseball team were engaged in a district tournament game with Lake Orion at Jaycee Park. It was the fourth straight year that the senior Wolves had to make a decision whether to participate in the commencements or represent their school in tournament play.

There are twelve senior ball-players on this year's Varsity baseball team. Ten forsook the graduation ceremony in favor of the district game. The remaining two took part in the ceremony and immediately drove to Jaycee Park thereafter.

Clarkston didn't want to give up graduation for nothing, so they went after their opponents with everything they had. They swept both the semi-final game against Lake Orion, 2-1, and the final contest against Bloomfield Hills Lahser, 5-3. Lahser defeated Waterford Mott in their semi-final, 14-7.

The Wolves lost earlier in the season to the Dragons, 12-7, but weren't to be denied of a victory this time. Lake Orion took a 1-0 lead in the second inning but were stymied the rest of the way. Winning pitcher, Steve Howe, struck out nine of the final eleven Dragon batters. The only run he gave up was unearned lowering his E.R.A. to 0.44. He allowed only two hits and struck out 14 while registering his 10th victory against 1 loss and his 20th home Jeff Ferguson who had tripled to open the inning.

It was the middle part of the batting order that did most of the damage. Steve Howe and Steve Pearson each contributed two hits and Rod Hool, Jeff Ferguson and Bob Kratt each had one.

Bill Matthews was called on to pitch in the finals and did a remarkable job. He scattered five hits and struck out five as the Wolves wrapped up the title over Bloomfield Hills Lahser, 5-3. It was Matthews' second victory in the district tournament. He beat Romeo in a quarter-final match, 6-1, last week.

Clarkston took a 1-0 advantage in the first inning when Rod Hool was hit by the pitch with the bases loaded to force in a run. The Wolves added another run in the second when Bob Kratt singled with the bases full.

Lahser took a 3-2 lead in the fourth, scoring three runs on three hits and an intentional walk.

Hool won the game in the fifth inning with a two-run homer over the rightfielder's head. It was his fifth of the year. Steve Howe drove in an insurance run in the sixth, giving the Wolves the 5-3 victory and the championship.

Don Blower and Bob Kratt each had a pair of singles and Rod Hool finished with three R.B.I.'s.

The district championship entitles the Wolves to play in the regionals in Flint this Saturday. They will play against Royal Oak Kimball at 11 a.m. If they win there, they'll travel to Flint to play for the state championship the following Saturday.

Knitting is definitely a female sport, and it is fitting that there should be a feminine record holder for the knit-and-purl section. Of course, any man is welcome to try and beat the record. Any male contestant would have to knit non-stop for more than 90 hours, according to authorities. This record is held by Mrs. Janice Marwick at Pukekohe, New Zealand. We will admit that Mrs. Marwick was allowed five-minute time outs in every hour she knit. Well, men, want to try it?

The choice of a boat, and then the equipment that goes on it—what could be more exciting than that? When you own a boat, you own a bit of the freedom which travelling on the waves implies. Boating however is faced with an overwhelming prospect—that of branded products of more than 500 boat manufacturers, many of whom build a dozen or more models. Add to this the selection of a power motor of more than forty different types, or for a sailboat, the selection of size, material, design—it can all be quite confusing! In the weeks and months to come, we plan to discuss the joys and responsibilities of boat selection, ownership, control, to clarify ideas and, we hope, capture your interest!

We are interested in you, our customers, and hope when you're interested in buying boats, motors and accessories you'll come to us at PADDLE TO POWER MARINE, 6507 Dixie Hwy., next to Kinney Shoes, 625-0129. The boating season is short, don't let a breakdown keep your rig out of the water a long time for repairs. We provide fast service including pick-up and delivery. Our service personnel are experienced and give fast, reliable service at reasonable prices. Hours: Daily 9am-9pm including Sundays.

BOATING TIP:

Houseboats thirty feet and upward should be equipped with railed walk arounds, to protect the youngsters.

Auditions for Lakeland Players' September production of "Fiddler on the Roof" have been scheduled for Saturday, June 12, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tryouts, open to anyone in the surrounding area, will be at the CAI, 5640 Williams Lake Road, between Dixie Highway and Airport Road in Waterford Township.

Michigan is now producing classic wines and is involved in the growth of the Vinifera species of grape commonly grown in Europe. Probably the most noteworthy of the Michigan vintners is the Tabor Hill Vineyards of Buchanan, however other producers are developing quickly and it is highly likely Michigan will become a sizeable wine producer in another decade. Climatic conditions are conducive to some excellent dry dinner wines and the soil conditions are very similar to the fine Graves region of Bordeaux France. Consumption of the finer wines of the world is fast outdistancing the supply so the discovery of new sources is important to the oenophile.

If you ever have any questions about wines don't hesitate to ask the experts at UNCLE BOB'S GENERAL STORE, 2325 Joslyn Rd., Antique Village, Lake Orion, 391-3033. We stock a most outstanding array of domestic and imported wines in various size containers. In addition to our fine wine we carry over 85 different kinds of imported cheeses. We invite you to taste a sample of an unfamiliar cheese before you buy it. We carry a full line of whole imported coffee beans which we will grind to your fancy. Open: 7 days 10-6.

WINE WISDOM:

When you are buying large amounts of wine, remember that a parcel consists of three or four dozen bottles so you need to have somewhere to store that amount.

Commencement honors 453

Four hundred and fifty-three blue and white caps and gowns are safely back in their boxes and on their way back to the rental agency this week, and that many graduated seniors are starting new careers or higher education.

Commencement activities were conducted with the usual equal shares of solemnity and hilarity this weekend. Clarkston high school activities centered around an awards ceremony Thursday night, rehearsal Friday morning and graduation Saturday morning.

In the past, the awards ceremony was held during the day. The night-time assembly resulted in a decrease in the number of students attending.

Estimates are that from one third to one half of the graduates stayed away.

Saturday's ceremony at Pine Knob was better attended, although a few seniors completing sports activities in baseball and track had to forego an appearance.

The short commencement had "no long speeches," but enough pageantry to wet many a mom's and dad's eye.

Speaking on the past, present and future respectively were top honors students Dave Brown, Cynthia Johnson and Gilbert McCallum.

Gil had the highest grade point average in his class, Cynthia's was second highest and Dave Brown tied with Jeff Brantley for third. Altogether, 116 students graduated with honors. There were 17 graduating with a 3.8 GPA or higher, 28 with a 3.5 to 3.799 and 71 with from 3.0 to 3.499.

Saturday afternoon saw the start of post-graduation celebrations, where proud parents, relatives and friends gorged themselves on potato salad, ham and gift-giving.

Exact numbers of those continuing on to college are not compiled yet, but an average of 38 percent will further their education.

Of the rest, the start of careers or extended travel will be the order.

Graduates enter auditorium between junior classmen

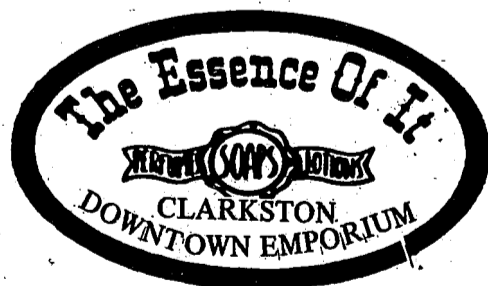

Honors assembly, held for the first time in the evening, turned out about two-thirds of the class.

Class of 1976 bids farewell

Nick Bell

Nicholas Bell, son of Mrs. William Liddecoat of Perry Lake Road and John Bell of Waterford Township, walked off with a bundle of awards during graduation activities at Leelanau School May 26-27.

Leelanau, a private college-preparatory high school in Glen Arbor, Mich., presented Nick with awards in both sports and scholastics.

Nick was chosen salutatorian of his class and also honored for his membership in the National Honor Society.

He won the highest award in sports and scholastics given by the school, the Leelanau Cup.

Nick has been active in soccer, basketball, baseball and track during his two years at Leelanau.

Awards for basketball and track were presented to Nick at a special ceremony May 26; May 27, at a special Boys' Tree ceremony, Nick was given the John Bowles sports trophy.

The trophy has two Bell names on it now—Nick's brother Dayson won the award in 1969.

Also at the tree ceremony, Nick was honored for his outstanding work in English.

Graduation ceremonies were held May 28. Nick's future plans are to attend Michigan Technological University.

Winning the vocal music ward was Wendy Seavey, presented by Grayce Warren.

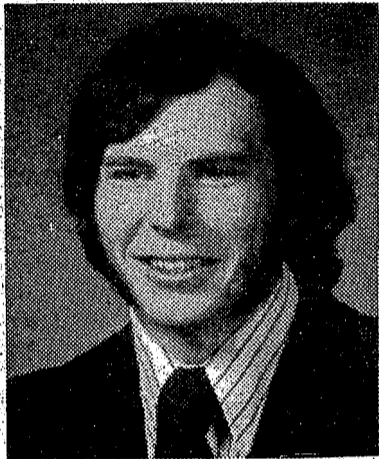

Kevin wins scholarship

Kevin Ridley, a senior at Clarkston High School, was recently awarded a scholarship to attend Adrian College in September. The scholarship was presented in recognition of academic excellence according to college officials.

Ridley, who plans to major in biology at Adrian, earned the scholarship on the basis of his academic record in college preparatory courses taken at Clarkston. This is a one-year scholarship, renewable if academic performance is maintained. Adrian College is a four-year liberal arts school related to the United Methodist Church. Located in southern Michigan, Adrian has an enrollment of about 1,000 and offers undergraduate and graduate degree programs.

Kevin is the son of Frank and Janel Ridley, of 5055 Maybee Rd., Pontiac. At Clarkston, he participates in football, basketball and baseball.

Teachers okay contract; board next

For the first time in the history of the Clarkston Education Association, a contract for the coming year has been ratified by teachers before the present teaching year ended.

Teachers voted by an overwhelming majority June 7 to approve the contract proposed by negotiators.

Final ratification of the contract is expected Monday by the Clarkston School Board at its regular meeting.

Details of the contract will be announced once the ratification process is complete.

Contract negotiations have only lasted four months, compared to six to eight months for the past two years—both of which years teachers were back in school before final ratification.

According to CEA president H. Allen Bartlett, negotiators were working toward an early settlement this year.

"The CEA has long believed that late contract settlements only cause frustration and confusion within the community."

6-year-old hurt in freak accident

A six-year-old Waterford boy was in serious condition with a fractured skull Monday at Pontiac General Hospital, the results of a freak accident which occurred Sunday evening during a baseball game at Clarkston High School.

Danny W. Souheaver Jr., 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel W. Souheaver Sr., 3456 Lotus, was seated on a blanket watching a baseball game at about 7 p.m. Sunday when his four-year-old sister, Tracy, got into the family car. She was able to move the floor gearshift out of park, and the car rolled 48 feet down the hill before it struck her brother, Oakland County Sheriff's deputies said. Danny was dragged more than 14 feet before the car was stopped by a fence.

Deputies said no ticket was issued. The car was turned off and the keys were not in it at the time of the accident.

The double header game in progress was reportedly a traveling league involving 14 and 15 year-old members of Independence Township Recreation Department's Pony League.

Independence Police Services Director Jack McCall said an ordinance prohibiting parking on the field had not been enforced. "We had a rule last year that no game was to start until all cars were removed," he reported.

"That ordinance will be enforced again," he said.

Schools Administrator Milford Mason said attempts to limit parking by signing or even by digging ditches had been fruitless.

Residents object to cyclists

By Hilda Bruce
of The Clarkston News
A group of Springfield Township residents are incensed at the misuse of their property and the verbal abuse directed at them by unlicensed, minor cycle riders.

Residents and property owners in the Farley and Foster Road area, in attendance at the Springfield Township Board meeting Wednesday night, demanded immediate resolution of the problems.

Lee Rogers of Farley Road read a document compiled by the residents outlining the offenses. It stated: "We will no longer tolerate the law-breaking, trespassing, noise or ... destruction and threats of youths ..."

The neighbors asked the township officials to impress upon the families of child riders the serious nature of the actions and threats made by some of their children.

Sergeant Robert Potts and Deputy Bill Evans of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department were on hand to discuss the situation and offer suggestions for remedying it.

Potts outlined the procedure citizens can follow for the apprehension of offenders. He stressed that without the cooperation of the citizenry to sign complaints and identify offenders, the law enforcement agency can do little.

Potts also commented, "Our hands are pretty much tied until the township enacts a motorcycle ordinance for us to work under."

Without an ordinance a deputy cannot apprehend someone unless the offender is on the roadway.

Officer Evans presented the board with a copy of the motorcycle ordinance in effect in Independence Township, with the suggestion that it be studied and something similar be adopted in Springfield.

Supervisor Don Rogers assured the Farley and Foster Road neighbors that the Independence ordinance would be forwarded to the township planning commission for study.

Even if the township decides to enact a similar ordinance it would not help the current situation. The legal process will take four or five months, the supervisor said.

"Even with the ordinance deputies are not going to chase cyclists across fields with patrol cars," Potts added.

Deputy Evans, smiling, requested that the township provide officers a motorcycle.

It was pointed out that Avon Township is training three officers in motorcycle use and will employ a motorcycle in enforcement.

Mrs. Kurt Menzies of Farley Road, whose son is a cyclist, noted that while the children may use improper language and threats, some adults have also done so.

Pine Knob opens Friday

Pine Knob Music Theater will open for its first performance Friday, June 11.

A new contract with Oakland County Sheriff's Department will provide security during the summer concerts. Assistant county civil counsel Jack Hays said the theater will be charged $23,000 for the season, based on 100 performances. He said the contract is similar to that enacted last year.

First on the program is Laura Nyro, a song writer popular at the turn of the decade. She will be in concert at 7:30 p.m.

Performances of Neil Diamond June 16 to 20, the Beach Boys on July 12 and Chicago August 22 to 26 are already sold out, theater officials said.

George White will resume his job as community liaison officer with the theater. A resident at 8050 Pine Knob Road, he is assistant principal at Sashabaw Junior High School during the balance of the year. White will accept all complaints regarding noise, traffic or behavior at a special phone number, 394-0122.

His role in smoothing problems between the theater and its neighbors last year was credited with improving community acceptance of the theater.

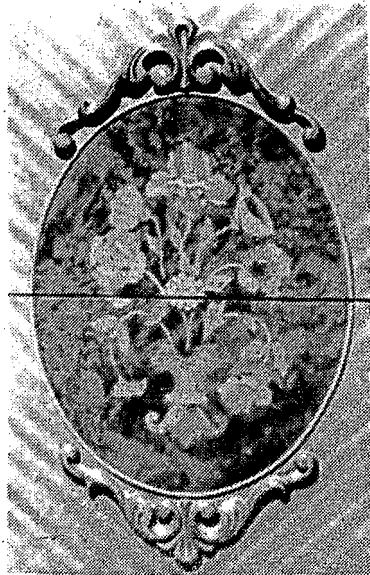

Langdons move next door

COUNTRY LIVING

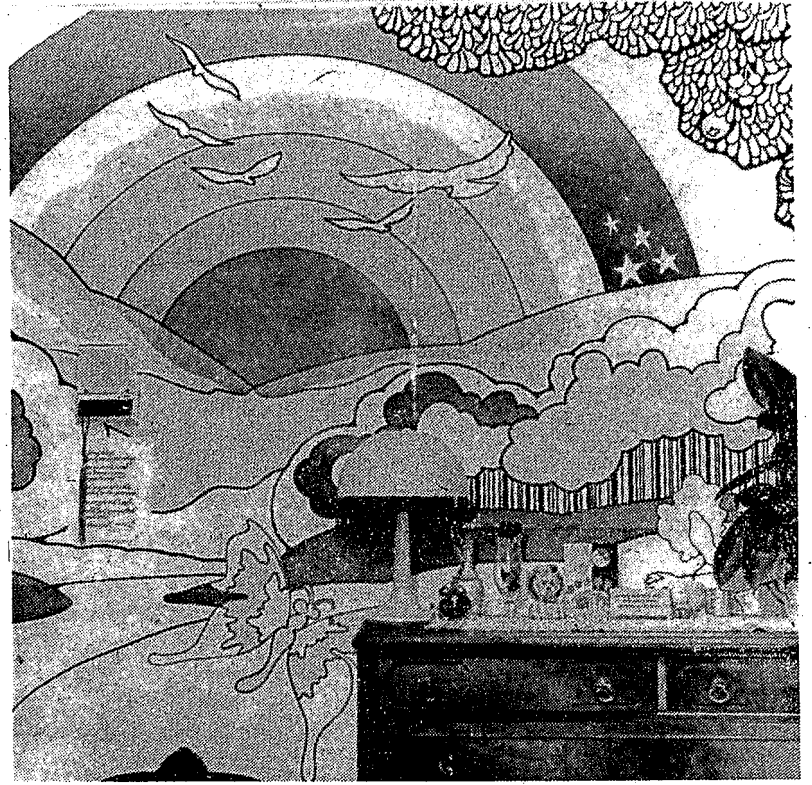

An environmental graphic, posters and hanging grape ivy accent Denise's room.

Wood inlay on antique dresser front.

Joyce Langdon's brother made the wood ship

Sunset, in orange, red and yellow, an environmental graphic in Denise's room.

By Hilda Bruce
of The Clarkston News

The Bruce Langdons are back where they started. In house size, that is.

They first came to Independence Township 10 years ago, when they outgrew their three bedroom ranch in Drayton Plains.

On a heavily treed lot near Whipple Lake they built a two-story colonial with four bedrooms.

Then their two oldest children, Diana and Doug, married and left home.

Bruce, Joyce and their daughter, Denise, were left rattling around in a home far too large for their needs.

Last September they moved into a three-bedroom, maintenance free ranch, right next door to their former colonial.

"I didn't want to leave," Joyce said. "I loved it there. It was so open and spacious, and so private."

Needing less space but wanting the spacious effect led Joyce and Bruce to eliminate a wall between the dining area and living room in the new home.

A six foot door wall and window in the living area became a nine foot door wall. From the dining area the view through the door wall is of trees.

Although tennis courts are near you wouldn't know it.

Bruce and Joyce built the home themselves, sub-contracting some of the work.

"I got the honey-do jobs," Joyce said. "Honey, do this. Honey, do that."

She correlated the exterior design and color and arranged for the delivery of materials.

The cream siding is set off with chocolate shutters and overhang — all of aluminum to eliminate vertical lumber.

Joyce had to travel all the way to Detroit to find the roof shingles, a light cocoa color.

"I didn't want dark ones because they attract too much heat," Joyce explained.

She decided that the interior would be as carefree as the exterior.

The walls are either wallpapered or paneled. The floors are all carpeted with the exception of the kitchen which is Solarian. Kitchen cupboards are completely covered with formica.

In the kitchen-dining-living area earth tones of black, brown and gold prevail.

The handmade light in the dining room is of walnut with gold glass inserts, accenting the walnut table served by brown leather-like chairs.

Open weave, oatmeal colored linen draperies in the area block the view from the outside but let one see out from the inside.

In the master bedroom Joyce combined winter white carpeting with shades of blue bed; a Hollywood style king size bed with antique dresser and dressing table.

Continuing the earth tones into Denise's bedroom the gold turned to buttercup yellow in the carpeting and the black to gray with butterscotch in the paneling.

A large environmental graphic, a black etching on a white background with a bright orange, red and yellow sunset, covers two walls.

The deck, finished just in time to accommodate guests at Dense's graduation open house, is stained dark brown to match the house trim.

"Bruce thought it should be redwood," Joyce said. "But after I finished he agreed that it looked better brown than it would have red."

It still has to have the railings added but it is serviceable.

Likewise, there are several things Joyce wants to do inside.

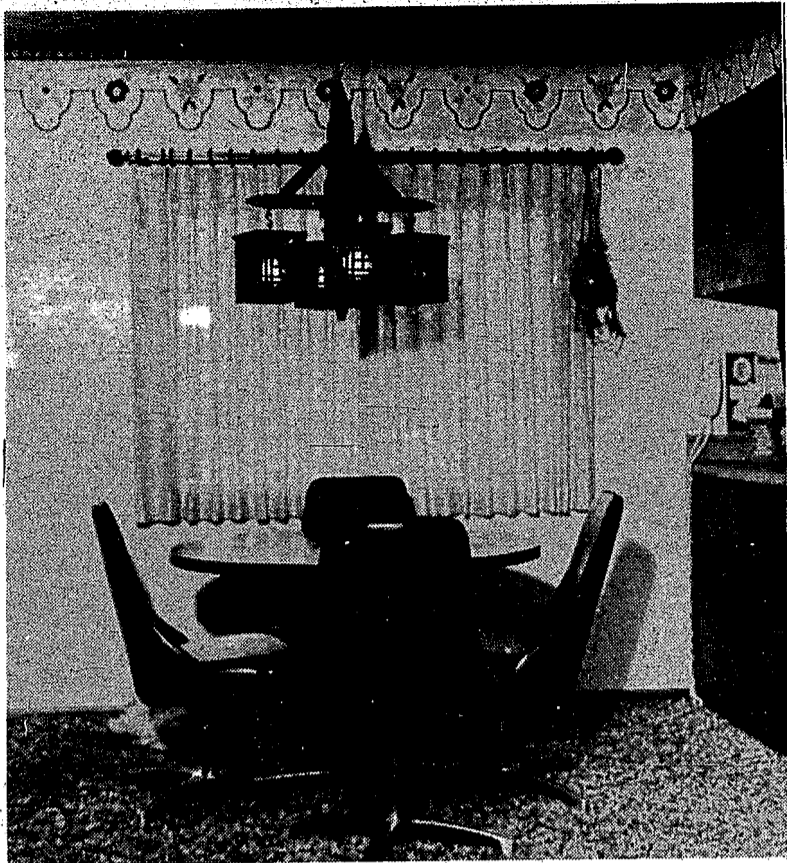

"But I guess we're resting now," she says with a chuckle.

Buffet, designed by Joyce and custom made, holds hand made wine rack and ecology box, among other collectibles.

 DECORATING SERVICE - CONVENIENT TERMS

Board looks at school future

1. Do you anticipate any change in the method of negotiations in future years?

•Changes in state law and attitudes might change attitudes at the bargaining table, but we don't foresee any significant change in the bargaining process itself. The M.E.A. is currently pushing regional bargaining, which means grouping schools together. Since this means loss of local control for both sides, we don't believe this concept would serve our community well.

2. What do you see happening as a result of loss of local control by school districts?

•There have been several state laws implemented in the past few years which force us to spend local tax dollars without increased state aid:

- a. Mandated career education.
- b. Mandated special education.
- c. Mandated payment of pension costs.
- d. Tenure

These laws reduce the choice of spending at the local level and tend to increase costs and/or reduce education quality. We can only hope to retain as much local control as possible by supporting the proper candidates for state office and by giving full local financial support to our education program. We cannot expect to retain local control while depending heavily on state money.

3. Why are so many of the board votes unanimous? Don't you ever disagree?

•Unanimous votes occur only when all board members agree on the issue. There is often dissent, but we are usually able to reach agreement through persuasion and compromise, especially on important issues. Such discussions often take place during executive or study sessions, after hours of presentations and review. Frequently, recommendations of the administration are not made until after the wishes of the board are known.

4. What do you intend to do about improving communications between the board, administrators and the public?

•We have had several discussions on this issue. All board members want to improve communications with teachers and the public, but some are more concerned about cost than others. We intend to continue these question and answer columns if they are well received. An annual open forum is under consideration, as are brochures, newsletters and an annual report. Individual schools are sending home more newsletters to parents. We are attempting to develop more informative and simplified financial reports, including a five-year projection of expenses and related local tax requirements.

5. Do board members have legal liability due to their office?

•Board members are personally liable under the law for all events occurring on school property and in school vehicles, to the extent that school employees are negligent or commit illegal acts.

6. Are teachers being included in the selection of some administrators, such as the high school principal?

•Any teacher may apply for any position, but they do not take part in the selection of administrators for obvious reasons.

7. What do you plan for citizen involvement within the system?

•There are a surprising number of parents involved at school in projects ranging from classroom duty to special events, to physical education to booster clubs to P.T.A. action. The type and amount of involvement varies by building. Until now, the board has chosen not to formalize the structure of such programs since volunteer programs seem to do much better with spontaneous effort and "local control." Formalization of specific programs are frequently discussed, however.

The Board does favor the use of citizens committees to study major issues and recommend action. Such issues usually relate to programs which require significant tax proposals or policy changes.

NOTICE

THE NEXT REGULAR MEETING OF THE BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE CLARKSTON SCHOOL DISTRICT WILL BE MONDAY, JUNE 14, AT 8 P.M. AT THE BOARD OFFICE, 6389 CLARKSTON ROAD.

SCAMP vacancies remain

Some 12 vacancies remain in the Clarkston School District SCAMP program, a five-week summer day camp program for the handicapped new this year.

Jim Butzine, school social worker, said 88 of a possible 100 spots have been filled, about 40 of them involving Clarkston youth. The remainder are from Waterford, Brandon, Oxford, Lake Orion, Huron Valley, Holly and Pontiac school districts. Campers aged 5 to 26 are being accepted for the program. Registrations are accepted at the local special education departments of the various school districts.

The program will utilize Sashabaw Junior High School, Independence-Oaks Park and the Camp Fire Girls' Camp Oweki.

Much of the funding for SCAMP, estimated to cost $34,000 in its first year of operation, is available from state and federal sources. Butzine said, however, that local groups and individuals have contributed nearly another $10,000.

Cost of the camp is $55 per student for the five-week term.

From tiny tot skater to state champ

By Mary Warner of The Clarkston News
 When Mark Brown was five years old, he was introduced to roller skating at the Rolladium via a tiny tot class.
 His first day of class, Mark was enthusiastic up until the milk and cookie period was over, then he wanted to go home. When told he couldn't, he wound up pulling all the buttons off the instructor's sweater in his attempts to flee.
 When the class was over, the instructor asked Mark if he was coming back and Mark said, "Yup, I'll be back."

 By the next class, everything was fine, and ever since, the blond-haired, freckle-faced Pine Knob Elementary student has liked skating.
 He's doing so well in it now, he just placed third in state primary singles' skating.
 At the tender age of eight, Mark may look a little vulnerable when he rolls out on the rink solo to perform.
 "If he falls, I want to go out there and pick him up and take him home—I feel like there's vultures out there watching my baby," says his mother.

 But Mark, in his second year of competition, has plenty of self-confidence and independence to rely on when he performs.
 He and two friends who participate in the meets are called "The Three Musketeers," because they have come in first, second and third respectively in the primary singles meets several times.
 At the Michigan State Amateur Roller Skating Championships Memorial Day weekend, the trio repeated the pattern, grabbing the first three places and assuring themselves a place in Great Lakes regional competition in Troy July 1-8.
 If Mark places in the regional competition, which involves skaters from all the states surrounding Michigan, he could go on to national competition.
 Charlotte and Mark's father Larry would like to see Mark continue to compete, but only as long as Mark likes the sport.
 It's admittedly hard for Mark to skate every night while his playmates are out batting balls.
 But skating has taught Mark self-discipline, Charlotte said.
 The spunky youngster has also been drawn out of a shell. Now he says part of his time in school is spent "fighting on the playground."
 Mark is a good second grade student, with a preference for math. Outside of school, he also collects coins, plays T-ball and most of all, fishes.
 His ambition, when he grows up, is to be "an airplane driver and a part-time skating teacher."

Mark with mother Charlotte.

Real Estate HAPPENINGS

by Bob & Marvel White

Does your home need an appraisal? If so, it is of utmost importance to find an expert to do it. An appraisal can give you an estimate of the market value your property. What it amounts to is the appraiser's opinion of the value, although, of course, the final estimate is a conclusion which results from an analysis of facts. These days it is especially important not to rely on what the man next door got for his house, or what the guy down the street says his is worth—you may find yourself sold short. We can give you a realistic estimate of the current market value of your property.

Indeed, just give us a call at BOB WHITE REAL ESTATE, 5856 S. Main St., 625-5821 and we will be happy to appraise your property for you. Your area broker since 1947, we also have the knowledge and experience to insure that you receive full market value for your property; call us today with your listing. Open: 9-9 Mon-Thur; 9-6 Fri, Sat; 1-5 Sun.

HELPFUL HINT:
 Difficult areas in your lawn make mowing problems? Why not substitute an attractive ground cover in those areas.

Your
Clarkston Community Historical Society
 has been working.

- We have:
1. Created an Historic District approved by the State of Michigan History Division, one of only three in Oakland County.
 2. Organized the First Annual Crafts & Cider Festival. Plans for the Second Annual Festival are underway.
 3. Sponsored floats in several parades.
 4. Published maps of the County, Township, and Village as they appeared in 1872.
 5. Organized walking tours of the Historic District for school children.
 6. Arranged teas for local pioneer citizens.
 7. Cooperated in the publication of Heritage - A Pictorial History of Independence Township and the Village of Clarkston.

Our annual general meeting is at 8:00 p.m. on Tuesday, June 15.

We will meet at the Church of the Resurrection, 6490 Clarkston Road. Come help us elect our new officers, and plan new directions for the Society.

Springfield Township has been honored by both the American Bicentennial Committee and President Ford.

At Wednesday night's township board meeting, Nancy Stanley of the historical society, presented the board with two framed documents.

One from the American Bicentennial Committee recognized Springfield Township as a Bicentennial Community. The document from President Ford stressed his pleasure in the township's participation in the bicentennial celebration.

Springfield Township's bicentennial festivities are scheduled for Saturday, July 31.

Re-elect CHARLES J. SMALLEY

CLARKSTON BOARD OF EDUCATION

- My goal is to represent all voters of the Clarkston School District to the best of my ability.
- Students education has my top priority.
- To fully support the Three "R's", remedial reading programs, special services and vocational education.
- To stand firm and be fair on all issues and keep the public informed.
- In favor of keeping schools open for evening supervised activities.
- For keeping our local school boards.
- For using tax dollars wisely, therefore keeping taxes at the lowest level possible, for all people, including senior citizens and persons on fixed incomes.

Adv. Pd. for by friends for Smalley

RAP donation

RAP House, the special facility White Lake Township that aids with drug and alcohol abusers, has been given $1,500 by Independence Township. Independence and other townships using RAP House's services additionally donate money for its support.

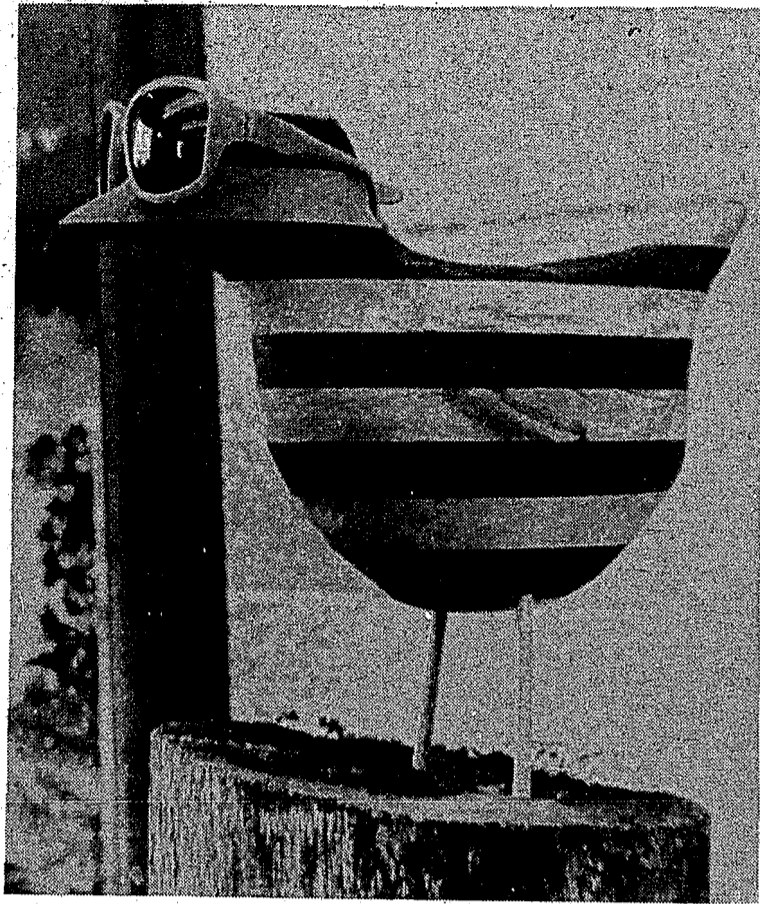

Bids okayed

The Independence Recreation Department will be able to purchase a tractor and flail mower to help maintain the new township park, thanks to a vote by the Township Board at its last meeting.

The board voted to spend $2,022 for the mower and $3,750 for the used tractor.

The board also approved bids for a new truck for the water and sewer departments, and new doors for cemetery buildings.

The 3/4-ton truck apparent low bidder was Rademacher Chevrolet, at a price of $4,128. Cost of the doors will be about $4,000 together. Low bidder was not established readily by the board at meeting.

Is it the bird of paradise? Or Jonathan Livingston Seagull? Or the little striped hen? Only high school artist Shelly Connors knows.

Doc Greene, retiring school superintendent, has had his ups and downs with the public.

When the graduation crowd rose Saturday at Pine Knob to give him a standing ovation, Doc says he looked first to see if they were coming after him.

When he found out it was all in so many hours preparing the friendliness, he was able to relax and enjoy it.

Doc deserved the tribute. He's been a good man for the district.

Doc was honored in ceremonies last week at Bailey Lake School when a picture of the original school was presented to Doc for hanging in the school lobby.

Iva Mae Caverly has provided us with a look at some late 1800 records on Andersonville School. The sum of $275 was set aside in 1871 to build the first school which she says was located on the present Valentine property.

Two teachers were hired — One for four months of winter school and one for three months of summer school, the latter to be a female. The teacher was paid $120 a year in 1870.

Nancy Tilley made more than a dozen graduation cakes last weekend and everything went fine until she attempted to deliver the last one.

The youngest Tilley landed plop in the middle of it on a delivery run. Nancy scurried to the store to get more ingredients, and rebuild from scratch.

David, who was horror stricken, found a silver lining. "At least we'll get to eat one of the cakes, Mom," he said.

Rudy proved Sunday why he has been a successful merchant. During the parade in his honor and in which he was the main attraction, he kept the store open. "Parades have always been good business," he told someone.

Max Broock Real Estate is now ensconced in the front of The Clarkston News office, and our remodeling job is just about complete. We hope that people who got used to dropping in on us in our leaner days will continue to drop in on us now that we're posh.

Clarkston residents John Aiken, Lolita Horsch and Warren Temple have been elected president, recording secretary and three-year trustee respectively to the Waterford Township Michigan Public Employees Council #23.

Other officers elected at a May 25 meeting were Thomas Somers of Pontiac as vice-president, Barbara Riffle of Rochester as secretary - treasurer, Thomas Smith of Pontiac as one-year trustee and Kathleen Wheatley of Rochester as two-year trustee.

Gar Wilson whose crew spent so many hours preparing the village park for use says the nicest thing about last weekend was seeing people use and enjoy the fruits of their labors.

More signs and the posting of some rules and regulations are expected to smooth out operation of Clintonwood Park, the Independence Township facility on Clarkston-Orion Road.

The drinking of beer during softball games will be prohibited once things get organized, officials said. In the meantime deputies are now including the park on their regular surveillance runs.

Independence-Oaks traffic Saturday afternoon made township policing officials think twice about what's going to happen when Pine Knob Music Theater has a popular matinee performance on a hot summer afternoon. "We really had a lot of traffic on Sashabaw Road Saturday," said police services director Jack McCall.

A preliminary exam for accused arsonist Rondal Givens has been delayed until July 6.

Givens was supposed to be tried Thursday, but a full docket in Clarkston's 52nd District Court necessitated the adjournment.

Givens is charged with deliberately setting his Clintonville Road home on fire April 14. He is currently free on personal bond.

The hearing in federal district court regarding denial of the rights of two students who were charged with setting a fire in Clarkston High School has been dismissed. The requirements of due process were fulfilled by the district's expulsion policy, the judge ruled.

Robert W. Carr, 47, a practicing attorney for 17 years in Waterford Township, former Justice of the Peace for Independence Township and a former Assistant Prosecutor for Oakland County, has filed a nominating petition for Oakland County Circuit Judge. Carr will seek one of the four, six year terms that will be on the August 3 primary ballot.

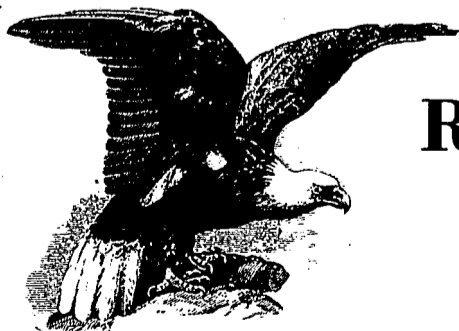

An open invitation to residents of North Oakland County . . .

Split denied

Larry Childress of Springfield Township must find a better way to split his mother's property if he wants to build a house.

Wednesday night the Springfield Township Board denied his request to split a 100-foot by 400-foot parcel from his mother's property in Jossman Acres, Bridge Lake Road north of Davisburg Road.

That piece is 265-foot by 1300. To take the 4,000 square foot section from that would leave only 165-foot of road frontage on the original property.

Childress who would just as soon split off a 2½ acre piece was informed he couldn't do that either because the one to four width-length ratio would be destroyed.

Childress said he will eventually inherit the entire piece of property so the split wouldn't really make any difference in the long run.

In the meantime he cannot build without a split because the township ordinance does not allow two dwellings on one lot.

Liquor approval delayed

The Independence Township Board has delayed recommending approval of a beer and wine carryout license for Carlson's Corners, a combination party store and gas station at the corner of Andersonville and White Lake Roads.

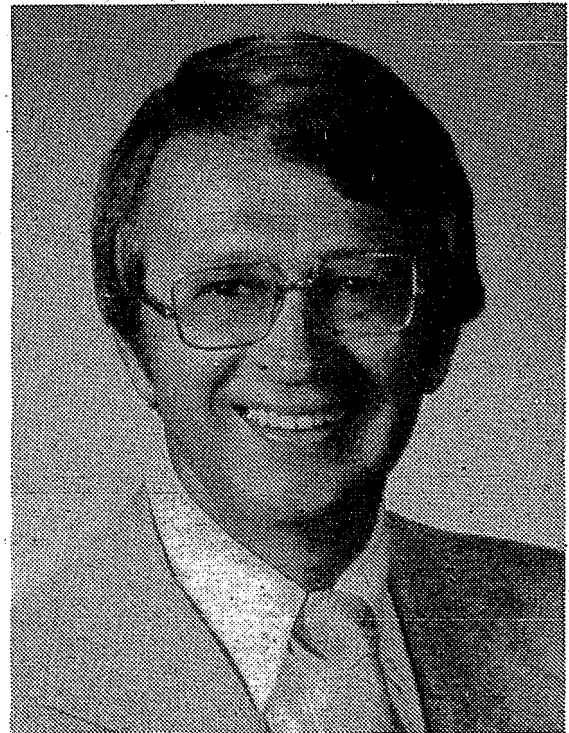

Neighbors complained to the board Tuesday that the store is frequented by rowdies who use foul language, create other disturbances, and ride motorcycles on the store's property.

Store owner Larry Carlson said he has taken care of the problems by letting two employes go and hiring an older woman to work at the store in hopes of discouraging the young that "hang out" at the place.

But a problem on whether the store has the correct zoning for its use was brought up, and the board intends to investigate before making a decision one way or the other.

Membership voted down

Once again the Independence Township Board has chosen not to join the Michigan Township Association.

On a 3-2 vote, the board decided that the $1,300 annual dues was not worth the association's resultant services.

Voting to join was supervisor Ed Glennie and clerk Bob Lay. Filling the majority vote was treasurer Betty Hallman, and trustees Fred Ritter and Jerry Powell.

Mailing instructions

Postmaster Ray Klein offers these suggestions for Father's Day mailing:

Always include return address. Check accuracy of the address, especially if you're not familiar with it. Be sure you include the right ZIP Code and proper postage.

So many degrees

by Mary Warner
phone 625-3370

Jerry Douglas of 6836 Almond Road was graduated with high honors from Michigan Technological University May 29.

Jerry received two degrees from the university, one in electrical engineering and one in electro-mechanical engineering.

Three-month-old James Robert Donahoe only cried once when he was baptized May 30 at First Presbyterian Church in Sault Ste. Marie.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Greg Donahoe, he is the grandson of a very proud Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wertman of Clarkston.

Molli Jo, third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Powers, of Goodrich debuted with a weight of nine pounds, one ounce. She joins Marcie and Mindi at home. Mrs. Powers teaches at Pine Knob School and will be returning there next fall.

Rev. Ralph Claus, pastor of St. Trinity Lutheran Church, Sasabaw Road, has returned from Chicago where he performed the marriage ceremony of his son, Ralph Jr., and Jerry Murphy. He was accompanied by Mrs. Claus.

The newlyweds will be living in Clarkston. Ralph Jr. is a law clerk with Circuit Court Judge Richard Kuhn.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Altemann of Clarkston attended the ceremony. Mrs. Altemann is the bridegroom's sister.

James Charles Coates, son of Mr. James C. Coates of 7701 Eston Rd. received his bachelor of arts degree from Olivet College in May commencement exercises. While at Olivet, the graduate of Central High School, Pontiac, was a business administration major.

Five Clarkston residents have been named to the Dean's List for the spring quarter at Ferris State College.

Included are Joan A. Capien of Robertdale, Constance Ford of Cranberry Lake, Allen R. Girvin of Warbler, Gale L. Jorgensen of Bluegrass and Barbara G. Neff of Snowapple.

Students must earn at least a 3.25 average on a 4.0 basis to be named to the honors list.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Mark Hood on the birth of their first baby June 6.

Ian Leigh weighed in at seven pounds, one ounce. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hood of Clarkston and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Marshall of Sterling Heights.

Austin Chapter No. 396 Order of the Eastern Star of Davisburg will serve a roast beef dinner at 6:30 p.m. Saturday, June 12 in the Masonic Temple in Davisburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Kratt of Hummingbird agree with students at Clarkston Junior High School who think their son, Bill, is an outstanding athlete. Bill was honored at a recent assembly. He is a ninth grader.

The Springfield Area Chorus is still looking for members. Anyone interested can attend the next chorus rehearsal, scheduled for June 15 at 7:30 p.m. at the Springfield Oaks activity center.

There's a couple of proud sets of grandparents talking about wee Kristine Louise, who was born June 3 to Mr. and Mrs. Roger Manney of Hillsdale.

Mrs. Manney is the former Marie Pope, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Pope of Clarkston. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Manney of Royal Oak. Kristine is their first grandchild.

She weighed 8 pounds, 5 ounces at birth.

Daryl Orr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leland Orr of Clarkston, was graduated Monday from the Detroit College of Law. Married to the former Alice Upward, both Daryl and his wife were members of the Clarkston High School class of 1965. They have two daughters, Sydney and Alexandra.

Carole Schreiber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Schreiber, 4455 McKeachie, Davisburg, recently received a $250 upper-class award for leadership for the 1976-77 academic year at Eastern Michigan University. The award is given on the basis of leadership ability demonstrated while participating in campus and community activities. Carole, a sophomore majoring in home economics, is a member of the EMU marching band, a representative and treasurer for the Residence Hall Educational and Cultural Committee and is a member of the Hospitality Committee.

Katie Pappas, Diane Hewlett and Gail Tower will leave Saturday for eight days at Olivet, Michigan, where they will serve as delegates to the American Legion Auxiliary's Girls' State convention.

A "bang-up" birthday party was given by the McIntyre children in honor of their mother Belle's 80th birthday.

More than 100 friends and relatives gathered for a buffet dinner at Seymour Lake United Methodist Church May 16.

Serving the dinner was son Carl and daughters June Feldman of Oxford and Velma Cherwek of Virginia.

Mrs. McIntyre was 80 May 20.

Winner of the Kingsbury School Fair's bicentennial quilt raffle Sunday was Mrs. Sally Halsey of 6074 S. Main.

Paynes to live in Grand Rapids

Two hundred guests witnessed the May 22 marriage ceremony of Pamela Ann Breining and David Graham Payne Jr.

Rev. Norman Sweeting performed the candlelight ceremony at First Baptist Church in Pontiac.

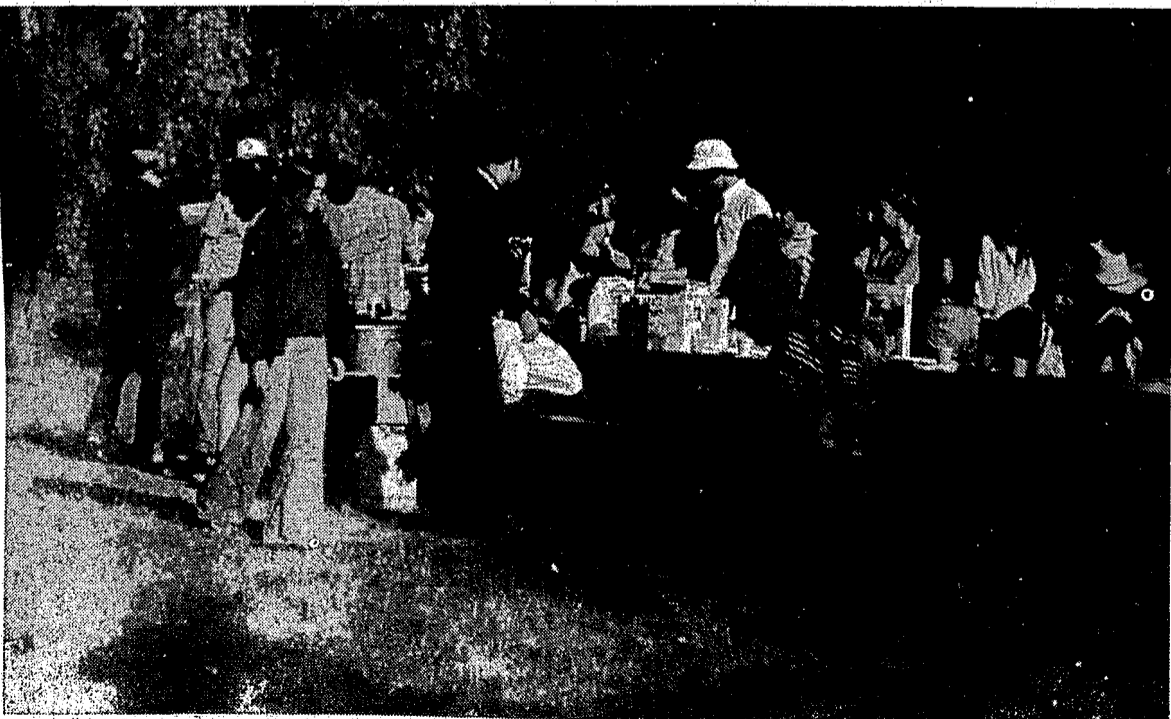

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul R. Breining of 4607 Maybee Road, chose a white chiffon gown featuring alencon lace and pearls fashioned with a standup collar and train. Her pearl and lace headpiece held a three-tier fingertip length veil. She carried miniature white roses and yellow carnations with baby's breath.

Karen Heffernan of Grand Rapids, a college roommate, was maid of honor in yellow flowered voile over taffeta. Janet Skrine of Pontiac, cousin of the bride, and Robin Rutgers of Grand Rapids, a college roommate, were attired similarly as bridesmaids. All three wore large ivory picture hats.

Dexter Touchton of Florida was best man for the bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Graham Payne Sr. of Groveland, Fla. Mike Campbell, his brother-in-law, and George Rutgers were groomsmen while Paul Breining Jr. and Philip Breining, brothers of the bride, seated guests.

Following a reception in the church parlor, the newlyweds left for a trip to Clearwater, Fla. They will live in Grand Rapids where the groom is a student at Grand Rapids Baptist College.

Hotdogs and beans were plentiful during the CJH campout-canoe trip last weekend.

A camping trip, a river dip

Clarkston Junior High principal Bill Potvin did some extended time in the muddy waters of the Flint River Saturday, looking for his prescription sunglasses.

Potvin and assistant principal Duane Lewis were manning one of the canoes in a school-sponsored student trip that began Thursday night with a campout and included outdoor classes Friday and the canoe trip Saturday.

The pair had just started down the river when a couple of rambunctious students rammed them, tipped them, and sent Potvin's glasses deep into the depths.

Potvin dove for them to no avail.

The principal must have liked the water — later on, after lunch, he and Lewis were starting out again when Potvin went for a second unexpected dip.

The pair weren't the only ones in the 60-member group to get wet. Most of the students and a majority of the chaperones were also dumped during the five-hour outing.

Deputies look for sex offender

Oakland County Sheriff's Department is investigating an indecent exposure reported recently in the area of Bridge Lake Road north of Knox Road. Two eight-year-old girls playing at the side of the road were reportedly interrupted by a nude man who jumped from a red TransAm car and grabbed one, attempting to disrobe her. The other girl screamed and fled, officers said. Despite a lot of help from citizen band radio operators in the area, police were unable to locate the car or the driver, according to Deputy Bill Evans.

George Puddington

News from the service

George D. Puddington, nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Funk of 6184 Cramlane Drive, has been commissioned an ensign and received a bachelor of science degree upon graduation from the Naval Academy in Annapolis, Md.

As a midshipman at the Academy, he underwent four years of extensive study of engineer, mathematics, physical and marine sciences, management and government. In addition to an active physical fitness curriculum, he studied military justice, leadership and Naval history and completed a variety of elective courses leading to his baccalaureate.

Summer programs provided him with an opportunity to gain professional experience aboard naval vessels and at Navy and Marine Corps shore installations. During training cruises, he received practical instruction in basic seamanship, navigation, ordnance and gunnery, and communications. He participated in battle drills and learned to control and fire shipboard weapons.

He is a 1972 graduate of Clarkston High School.

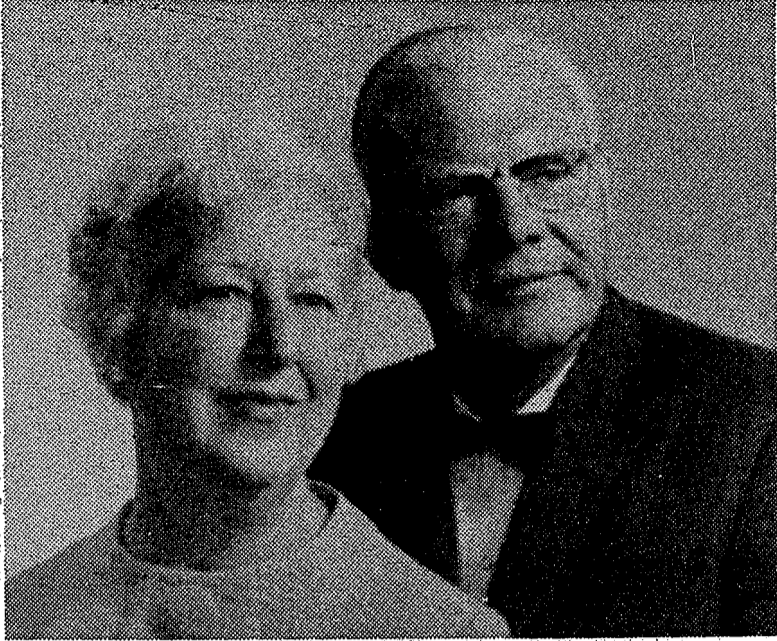

Married in Pershing, Ind.

1972 Clarkston High School graduate Kay Lynn Speace was married to Larry Hutchinson of Hagerstown, Ind., May 26.

The couple were married in a simple service in Pershing, Ind. at 2 p.m.

They plan on living in Hagerstown.

Kay is the daughter of Bernard and Pauline Speace of 4680 Oak Vista, Clarkston.

50th wedding anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Gray Robertson of Robertson Court will celebrate their fiftieth wedding anniversary which occurs June 16 with a party June 20 at the home of their son, Charles, and his family on Hummingbird Lane. The Robertsons have two sons, Charles and Dr. M. Gary Robertson of Grand Haven, and six grandchildren.

McCall stresses cycle safety

The advent of summer has once again brought with it a proliferation of bicyclers, motorcyclists and mini-bike riders.

Increased usage of these vehicles also creates increased violations of the many rules attendant on these vehicles, according to Independence Township Police Services director Jack McCall.

Especially dangerous is the large number of cycles, bikes, mini-bikes, pedestrians and autos all vying for space on subdivision roads, McCall said.

The enforcement of regulations used to be especially difficult on private roads, where until last June sheriff's deputies were not allowed to issue violations for anything less serious than drunk or careless driving.

Now, motorcyclists will be cited on private as well as public roads for any violation of the Michigan Motor Vehicle Code. And the township and county police will be cracking down on the possibly worst violator of all—the mini-bike rider.

Mini bikes cannot be driven by anyone under 15 on public streets, highways or other public property such as school grounds and recreation areas.

Those 15 years or older cannot drive on the highway unless they are licensed, are equipped and insured for the road, are wearing a helmet, and have a driver's license.

Even bicyclists will feel the added heat of enforcement of regulations, as safety violations have increasingly resulted in serious and sometimes fatal accidents.

The law says bicyclists must drive with the flow of traffic. Side-by-side bicycling is not permitted; bicycles should be driven as close to the shoulder as possible.

Bicyclists must signal when they plan to turn or stop, just like motorists. They have to obey traffic signals, stopping at lights and stop signs and yielding the right of way when indicated.

According to McCall, biking on public highways is extremely dangerous and should be avoided if possible.

He warns automobile drivers to check at intersections for crossing bicyclists, as many accidents occur when bicycles approach on the right of an auto, unseen in the motorist's "blind spot."

The trouble with all the aforementioned vehicles, one Oakland County Sheriff's deputy said, is that they are small.

Auto drivers are not expecting to see vehicles of a lesser size, and are just not looking out for them.

Motorists should remember that motorcycles have all the privileges of a road that an automobile does, including access to the entire lane.

A lack of bicycle and motorcycle paths on public or private property has contributed partially to the problem.

There are a limited number of bike paths available in the county, with more possibly on the way.

Until then, small vehicles must get the written permission of property owners before driving on private land.

Teaching persistence

Make a mental note

by Jim and Ellen Windell

One of the problems of raising a hyperactive child is the problem of a short memory span and distractibility. A child may not be hyperactive nor suffer from minimal brain dysfunction and yet may have the same problem. Parents report frequently that their child is forgetful and when setting out on an errand or chore may forget it entirely and end up doing something else. Since children with hyperkinetic syndromes have difficulty differentiating between important and unimportant stimuli, it is easy for them to become diverted from the task at hand.

Since parents usually want to know what they can do about the problem of distractibility and short-attention span, we offer some approaches to this special problem.

One of the things a parent can do is teach the child to divide work into small units. Whether the child is studying or cleaning his room, he will do much better if his work is divided into small parts with a limited goal. Instead of telling him to clean his room, for instance, he can be directed to straighten the clothes in one drawer. As soon as he is finished he can show that work to the parent, and the parent can offer praise for completion of the job. Then, he could be allowed to play and later he can be sent back to do another limited job. His tasks can in this way be also gradually increased while he learns that he can complete jobs when he budgets his time.

Since it is impossible to work in life without distractions, the child must learn to cope with various distractions. While breaking homework into very short units (such as two or three math problems rather than a whole page), he can be placed in a room with a loud ticking clock. Call his attention to it, but tell him if he finishes his work despite its presence, he will receive some reward.

After he learns to work and concentrate with the clock and the amount of time is gradually lengthened, substitute other sounds, such as soft music on a radio or music box. Later, visual distractions, like the test pattern of a TV (minus sound), can be used to help him learn to cope with visual distractions.

Even if it requires many sessions over several days or weeks for the child to complete even a limited assignment, the parent should insist on the completion of the work. If the child never finishes a job, his self-esteem will suffer and he will never receive the internal reward of gratification for a job that requires some persistence.

The problems of a short-memory span, impatience and impulsiveness can be approached in ways which we will talk about in future columns.

We Americans sure do love our comfort.

And why shouldn't we?

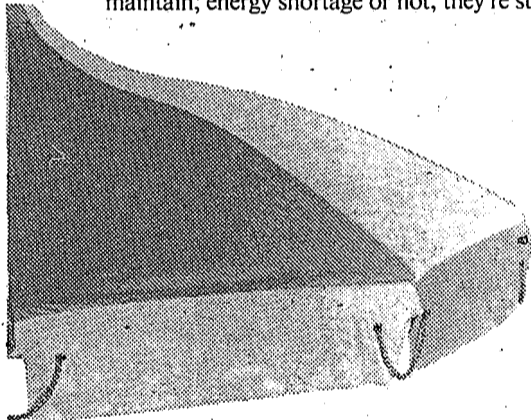

We work hard to put bread on the table. And a little extra in the bank. So we can afford comfortable homes, comfortable clothing, comfortable cars. We don't see anything wrong with that at all.

Fact is, out here in Oakland County, where a car is more of a home away from home, the most popular cars are still full-size—like our Caprices, Impalas, and Chevelles. And we maintain, energy shortage or not, they're still the best and safest value-per-mile you can find on wheels.

Something else. The difference in gas mileage between a smooth, well-tuned Chevy V-8 and a smaller car is surprisingly little when it's driven with care... when the air conditioning (if you've got it) is used only when needed... when the plugs and air filter are kept clean.

So, why don't you come in and chat. We'll show you why you don't have to give up the comforts of home. Even when you're out on the road.

Growing things

Fruit crop loss

by Lyle Abel

The year of 1976 will be remembered by Michigan fruit growers not only as the bicentennial of our nation's birth but also because it was the year when we had a near complete failure of the peach crop, severe damage to all stone fruits and substantial injury to the apple and pear crops. This condition is true locally and to a considerable degree throughout the state and the nation.

Intense cold weather during the winter — temperatures at a minus twelve degrees and much lower — dealt the first blow to the stone fruits. Peach blossom buds cannot survive at minus twelve for any length of time. Other stone fruits, cherries, plums, nectarines, are also injured.

Blow number two from the unusual weather started with the freakish warm weather that arrived in early April. This resulted in much earlier than usual blossoming. Soon after our beautiful Easter weekend severe cold coupled with strong north winds struck again just as the local trees were in full bloom.

The cold temperatures not only injured the blossoms but also prevented the pollination of the blossoms. Bees that do the pollinating job were confined to their hives for several days at this critical period—so looks like we are due for a scarcity of fruit on our bicentennial year.

Failure of fruit crops due to unusual weather conditions is not new to Michigan. Several times in the past the peach crop, in fact the entire peach industry was nearly wiped out.

It happened in the severe winter of 1898-99 that resulted in no peaches and killed many of the trees. Again on October 10, 1906 a freakish and very severe storm destroyed the late varieties of peaches and killed an estimated 73 percent of the state's 7½ million peach trees.

Much research has been carried on in the experiment stations of the Northern States and Canada to develop winter hardy varieties. There has been considerable improvement. However, when freakish weather still continues to harm the crop the new varieties also fail. It happened state-wide in 1959 and locally in 1973.

People who depend on Michigan peaches and plums to can for their winter's supply should be aware of the likelihood of fruit being very scarce this fall. Hoard a few of your choice cans of fruit for special occasions!

Easter lilies, the traditional flower for the Easter season, need not be discarded once the blooms begin to fade. Many Easter lily bulbs are hardy in Michigan and if properly treated can become permanent members of your perennial flower bed.

Try them for hardiness by decreasing the water supply when the last flowers start to fade until practically no water is given. The leaves will begin to turn yellow, and finally brown, indicating the plant's bulb is ready to be planted outside.

You may be surprised to have a second bloom in the late summer. If the bulb proves to be a hardy variety you need pay no more attention to it once it is planted and it should continue to bloom each year and be a nice addition to your perennial flowers.

We're ready to move outside . . .

Children playing

Springfield Township will have the Oakland County Road Commission erect "Children Playing" signs on Hillsboro Road, on either side of the Girl Scout camp and use the area as a test site for the effectyness of such signs.

Residents of Hillsboro Road in the vicinity of the scout camp requested the sign because of traffic problems there and the number of children, including scouts, who play in the area.

Millpond swim lessons start

Registration for swim lessons which will begin June 21 at the Davisburg Millpond will be conducted June 14, 15 and 16 from 10 a.m. to noon at the Millpond. The lessons, taught by qualified instructors, are free to residents. A slight fee will be charged non-residents.

BY THE THIRD EYE

Congressman Hays will find he has lost power as a result of the Elizabeth Ray exposure. There are a lot of people who are biting their fingernails because of it. They're afraid they, too, might be vulnerable.

There will be more sex scandals breaking both in politics, and believe it or not in the church, as well as Hollywood. A leading actor will be involved in a death. Homosexuality will be a factor.

Detroit Renaissance Center will help downtown Detroit, but it won't be the cure-all that people believe. Detroit won't come back for a long time, and the reason is crime.

If the police force were increased and some honest judges were used, we'd get the crime off the street and the city would boom.

Food prices are fluctuating, but you're still going to be able to get your money's worth.

Mickey Lolich will be out of baseball for a while. He will either resign or suffer an injury. He will seriously think about another career, maybe modeling men's clothes.

The village band may put on some afternoon concerts; they'll provide the nucleus for some more community get-togethers.

The new photography service at M-15 and Dixie Highway will be tipped off several times. The whole area will experience more petty thefts than normal. And it won't be all juveniles who are responsible.

Lessons took away the fun

by Jim Sherman

Fred Kastelic doesn't hit a golf ball. He attacks it.

Now, this is only a bystander's observation. But, I've seen Fred hit a lot of golf balls over the 21 years I've known him. (He's worked for me since the first week of June 1955—3 weeks after I bought the Leader.)

I can just picture Fred's toes as he starts the down swing with his driver. Without shoes his toes would be dug deep into the turf 2 inches.

I get the feeling that the fiercest tiger in the jungle wouldn't attack Fred once he starts his stroke to the ball. I mean, he really goes after a golf ball, with all the intensity of a man about to conquer a raging gorilla.

Years before I knew him Fred had an operation on his lung that doesn't allow the Johnny Miller wind up or the Julius Boros smoothness.

Instead Fred took what he had, worked with it and almost perfected it. At times his game (score) is perfect. No one can copy Fred's swing, and very few can equal his scores.

If you or I tried to attack a golf ball the way Fred does we'd fall down, miss the ball, or go right or left. We couldn't know where it would go. But Fred does.

By contrast, I took my first golf lessons this past winter. Naturally, one conclusion was to buy new, longer clubs. The instructor also changed everything.

My grip was moved, stance narrowed, knees bent instead of my back, and the club head now drops over my back and goes high in front.

Before the lessons I could swing a club in a phone booth. Short back swing, little follow through. My handicap was 14.

With the new clubs and completely new swing, just like Tom Watson, Johnny Miller, and all the big names, my handicap is 16 and my enthusiasm for the game 0.

And, my ex-friends tell me I don't even look better on the tee.
