The trauma of parting affects both moms and kids on the first day of school. Having finally gotten them ready and shed a tear or two in the process, they suddenly can't wait to get them off. Nancy Prucher walks hers down Main Street, while Brenda Callison and Linda Marceau put theirs on the bus.

Rogers, Powell miss expenditure deadline

Twelve candidates for local office in Springfield Township and two in Independence Township still had not filed reports of their campaign expenditures as of Monday. The final date for filing was Friday. The names of those who do not file by the deadline are turned over to the prosecutor's office, said Howard Altman, director of the elections division of the Oakland County Clerk's office.

Those who have not yet filed in Springfield Township include the Township Supervisor, Donald Rogers, Harold L. Jacobs, Richard S. Green, Dennis M. Zimmerman, Glenn R. Underwood, Nancy Stanley, William W. Harris, Marilyn Haggett, Betty Peterson, Nancy L. Hanes, Donald G. Hart and Robert Clark. Treasurer Betty Hallman didn't spend anything while Ivaleen Cosma spent $317.96 of her committee's collected $322.

Contestant for constable, Harry (Bud) Yoh, didn't spend anything but Walter Labenz forked out $61 from his own pocket.

In Springfield Township those who ran without spending included Clerk Calvin Walters, Barbara Ferguson, John Mulloy, Jr., Roger J. Horton, Susan Adams, Christine Rice, and Ruth Gruber.

Treasurer Patricia Kramer spent $43.55, Janice Lopez, $68.60 and Dennis O'Mell spent $17.16.

Mary Jean Cox, running for clerk, spent 39 cents.

Running for trustee, Charles W. Mallett spent $1.66.

Revenue sharing renewal could mean better benefits

Efforts to force Congress to renew the Revenue Sharing Act of 1972 which expires December 31, 1976, have been launched by the county.

If the funds are renewed local governments may receive an increase in their share of the monies.

Estimates project that Independence Township would receive $82,824. In 1976 the township's share was $79,136.

Clarkston should receive $5,897, $264 more than in 1976.

Springfield Township's share is estimated at $25,284 as compared to $24,155 this year.

Through 1975, more than half the $9.1 million in revenue sharing funds the county received was spent on juvenile law enforcement, County Executive Daniel T. Murphy's office said.

Most of the money went into the expansion of Children's Village. Camp Oakland received $400,000 and $450,000 was spent on maintaining juveniles under county care. $100,000 went to Juvenile Court.

In 1976, nearly two thirds of the $3.3 million was earmarked for law enforcement. $1 million went to the Oakland County Sheriff's Department and $1 million to the court system.

Jerry Powell and J. Michael Darby of Independence Township have not filed yet either.

A total of those filing in Independence reveals nearly $2,100 spent in the recent campaign.

J. Edwin Glennie reported no expenditures and no receipts while the committee to elect Floyd Tower spent $257.67 of the $280 they received for the campaign.

Robert Lay, township clerk, spent $398.67 and received $280. Also running for a chance at the position were Ronald Herron who spent $724.09 of the $774 in his campaign fund and Chris Rose who spent $273.56 of his own

Police still investigating

Kevin Hesse, 19, 3020 Mann Road, was released from Pontiac General Hospital Friday, after having been hospitalized following an early morning accident August 25.

State Police report that the Hesse car, traveling at a high rate of speed left the southbound lane of I-75 south of M-15, hit the median, flipped over and landed upright in the northbound lane of the freeway.

A passenger in the car, Matthew Miller, 18, of Waterford, was treated for minor injuries and released from Pontiac General Hospital August 25.

The accident is still under investigation.

Early deadline

Because of the Labor Day holiday on Monday, The Clarkston News deadline for next week's issue has been advanced to noon this Friday.

Library breaks ground

Ruth Gruber, president of the Springfield Township Library Board, Township Supervisor Donald Rogers and Township Treasurer Pat Kramer took part in ground breaking for the new Springfield Township Library Sunday. The library, the old Andersonville School, is to be located at Andersonville and Hogback Lake Roads. The event was followed by an ice cream social hosted by Friends of the Library. About 75 people, including scout members and Rev. Wallace Duncan of Andersonville Community Church, took part in the affair. [Pictures courtesy of Lester Smith.]

Where dreams are for sale cheap

by the wives of doctors and lawyers, business executives and successful career women from as far away as Cleveland, Ohio, and as near as Clarkston.

Evelyn's was the second resale shop in the area, only one other in Birmingham having beat her to a whole new merchandising flair for slightly used fashions.

Her shop is elegantly fitted. There is no "second best" atmosphere to it. The clothes are dry cleaned and ready for sale when they arrive at the store.

There are formal wedding gowns, mother-of-the-bride gowns, expensive furs, purses, jewelry, even some shoes and some men's clothing.

Evelyn, who formerly managed Alvin's of Pontiac and who had worked also at Birmingham's Jacobson's store, has found her relationship with customers more personal in the new undertaking.

It delights her to find chic costumes for people who otherwise might not be able to afford them, and to hear the stories of some who have no one else to tell their stories to.

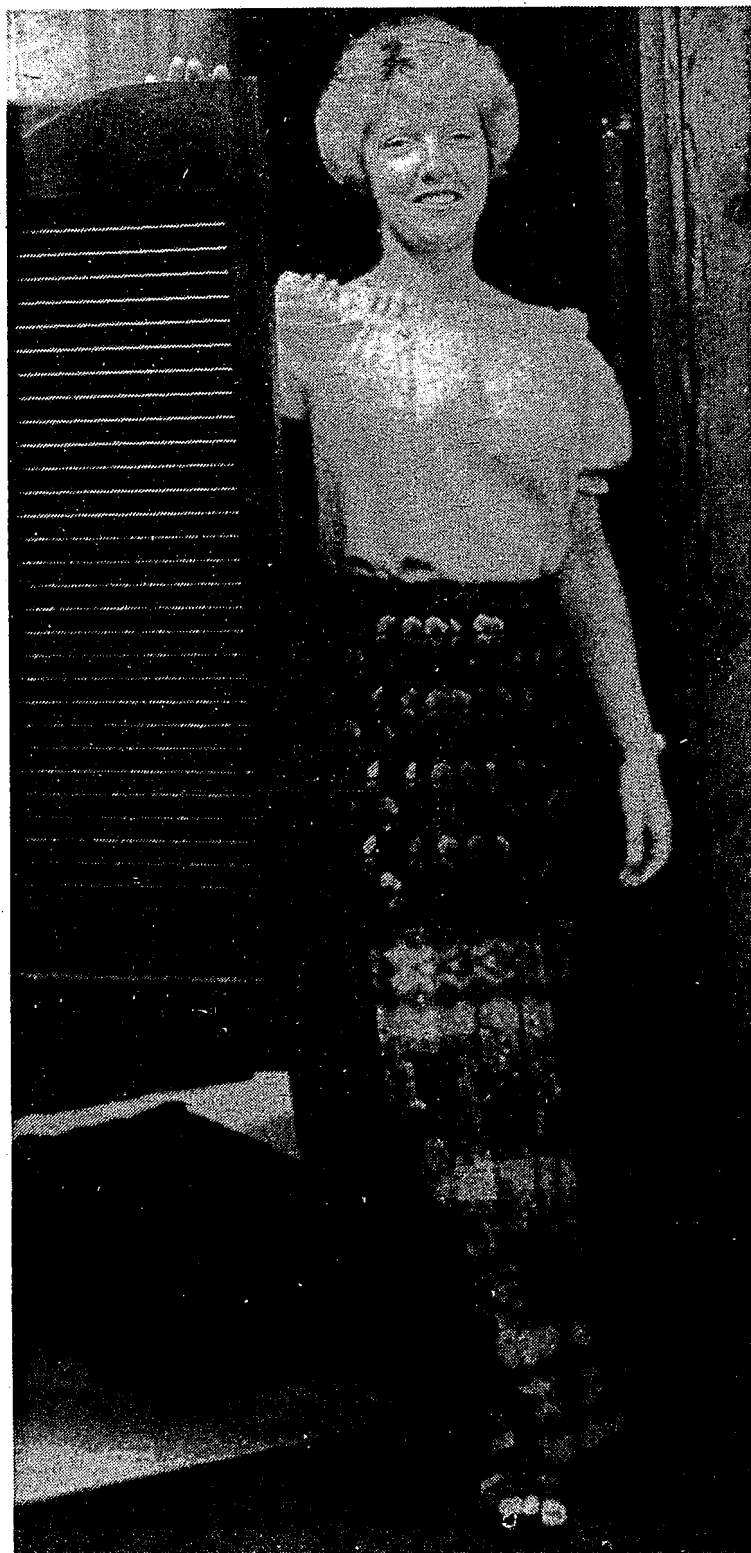

She finds teachers and working women particularly fond of the buys available at her place. "They have no compunctions about shopping here," she reports.

One man, a regular customer, has purchased perhaps $100 worth of blouses for his wife this year. "He unerringly picks the best," Evelyn notes.

For her trouble Evelyn receives from 50 to 60 percent of the selling price, depending on how long the article remains in the store.

Unlike many other resale shops, she charges no entry fee for those who would browse. That's because, she says, so many of her customers are repeaters.

They're happy with the arrangement, and so's Evelyn.

Sharon Palmer models a two-piece patio gown.

By Jean Saile
of The Clarkston News
So your husband's boss has invited the two of you out for dinner, and you're stumped. You don't know what to wear, probably couldn't afford it if you did, and besides you're scared. There can't be a bigger boost for the ego than a designer dress, one so worldly it may have just come back from Hawaii—or at least the Bahamas. And moreover, it's in your price range. To shop at Encore Boutique, a resale shop on Walton Boulevard just off the Dixie Highway, is to buy where dreams are affordable. Dresses so new their original tags have not been removed can frequently be found there for less than half their original price. They're brought into Evelyn Palmer's three-year-old business

Church gets straightened out with ordinances

Action by two township boards has paved the way for construction of a church-home development complex at Clarkston Road opposite Almond Lane.

The Zoning Board of Appeals on Wednesday night waived frontage requirements to allow issuance of building permits on three homes. Approval was given prior to plat approval of the parcel and contingent on septic and road design approval at the county level.

The church itself — First Church of God—on which construction had already started got right with the legalities of the township at the Planning Commission meeting Thursday night. The commission gave final site plan approval so that a building permit could legally be issued.

A warning to homeowners to beware of construction firms who say no building permits are necessary was brought home to board of appeals meeting goers.

Robert Lighthall of 9311 Pine Knob Road was told by a commercial firm that he would not need a permit because the barn he intended to build was in rural zoning.

Wrong, said the zoning board of appeals and Lighthall had to ante up.

The planning commission has approved final site plans for construction of an ACE Hardware store in the Pine Knob Shopping Center between the Wear House and Pontiac State Bank.

Pre-school to form

A pre-school program for three and four-year-old youngsters is being organized at Davisburg United Methodist Church.

To be licensed by the Michigan Department of Social Services, the school is intended to be incorporated as a tax free organization.

That means, organizers say, that donations are tax deductible and they are now soliciting local organizations and individuals for help. Help can be mailed to the Davisburg Church with the designation of Crosshill Community Preschool.

Parents are expected to meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, September 14 in the church fellowship hall, 803 Broadway, to learn more about the program and to find out whether or not a cooperative option will be possible.

The option would provide that parents could volunteer their time in exchange for reduced enrollment fees.

Questions about the school will be answered if you call 625-5623 or 634-3480 after 5 p.m.

Knob has proved an asset

It's our feeling that most people who live here are proud of the identification Pine Knob gives the area, and it is true that Pine Knob officials have worked hard to avert local irritation.

Their only lapse this year, as far as we can tell, was the booking of the hard metallic rock group, ZZ Top.

Even with that concert and the ruckus that it caused, the problem was confined to Pine Knob property where Pine Knob Rangers and Oakland County Sheriff's deputies, four of whom are paid extra by the theater, settled the problem.

The rest of the policing is what a community must be prepared to provide should and our township board. The overflow crowd which packed the amphitheater last Friday and Saturday nights both our planning commission attests to its popularity.

Great expectations

It doesn't come as much of a surprise to a lot of parents, but educators are finally recognizing the fact they're turning out some dumber products than they used to.

We believe most people will perform only to the level expected of them. That level hasn't been so hot lately—not just in the Clarkston schools but across the country. A tightening in discipline is, we hope, heralding an accompanying upgrade in expectations. Kids who have electronic helpers their parents never knew are quite capable of progressing much farther than we believed possible.

Let's expect it of them, and see what happens.

60 years together

by Jean Saile

Mom and Dad, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Wright who make their home with us on South Main, will be married 60 years as of today.

That's a long time, and they've seen a lot of things happen in their lifetimes. Dad's stretches back almost to the county's centennial, but not quite.

In addition to the anniversary, he'll be celebrating his 91st birthday next week.

Dad was the third eldest of a family of seven and got his indoctrination into the working world at a young and tender age. He tells of his first trip from home as a young boy in his early teens. He went to Escanaba to work in the lumbering camps.

Homesick already, he became tearful when he peered through the window of a warm bar and the singer was singing, "Where is my wandering boy tonight?"

Mom and two brothers were raised by Grandpa Smith, his wife having died when mom was just five.

They tell stories of rifle practice on a target affixed to the inside of the front door, of feeding a stray dog, their experiments in cooking and never seeing the dog again, and of the relaxed farm life of a Southern Illinois family.

Mom and Dad met when both sought adventure in the West. She and her father and one brother were headed out for a season's work, and Dad had gone to check on an older brother who was already homesteading in Saskatchewan.

The train they rode was cold. Dad tells of loaning Mom his coat and says he's been keeping her warm ever since. They were married that fall and homesteaded their own place in Saskatchewan, staying there until 1945.

Dad began to lose his sight in the 30's and one of my early recollections is bouncing along in the back seat of a 1928 DeSoto while Dad drove and Mom steered, and they both fought over the direction to take.

It was a good thing there weren't many cars on the road.

Dad sat in the driver's seat, shifting gears and applying his foot to the accelerator while mom sat next to him with her hand on the steering wheel.

It was in 1945, having established a successful farm which they turned over to a son, that the two headed back to the United States.

Both found jobs during World War II, saw me through school, and retired to a busy life of helping all their three children, their eleven grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Landscaping at all our homes is the product of their cooperation, and for years many of the clothes our children wore were the products of mom's skill with a needle.

They've been a busy and a productive pair, and we're proud of them.

Letters to the editor

Word from Kansas

During these past few years I have been a loyal reader of the Clarkston News.

I have seen it grow from a dull, one section paper, to an award winning weekly that I find to be interesting, thought provoking and always humorous. (The Third Eye, what a joke.)

In the past, I have avoided your Hill 'n Gully column, finding myself to be more interested in the latest gossip about town.

Well, one day, out of sheer boredom you understand (down here they roll up the sidewalks at 8 o'clock), I read your column and believe it or not I actually enjoyed it. So lately I have been reading and enjoying your column with much enthusiasm.

The story you told about your dentist really hit me in the roots of my feelings (root canal, that is).

Well, I just want to say that you're doing an excellent job and to keep up the good work.

It's a 'nefarious' world

I wasn't arrested but I was present, sharing the guilt, when the State of Michigan snuffed out a nefarious gambling operation last Thursday.

After 25 years in the newspaper business, that's the first time I've used the word "nefarious." Somehow it seems just right for this occasion. Webster says "nefarious" means "extremely wicked."

Certainly this particular crime was a wicked challenge to the peace of the state. And some extremely adept police work was required to uncover the gambling game and bring the miscreants to justice.

Michigan taxpayers should be proud of Eugene Hoppenworth and Leroy Vander Esch. They are state liquor inspectors and they are not afraid to do their job, no matter what the danger. In this case, they faced the grave danger always present when state employes are forced to work many miles from their Lansing headquarters. If they should run out of stupid pills, a fresh supply is not readily available.

Eugene and Leroy were making a routine call at the Lapeer Country Club. Somehow they discovered the club was having a raffle. Perhaps they got a clue from the large sign behind the bar which said "RAFFLE TICKETS $1."

Club members, all crooks, were trying to raise some money to buy some badly needed furniture. With so many people wearing golf shoes, it is dangerous sitting on the floor. Have you ever tried to blow a clefted nose?

When 200 tickets were sold, $100 went into the furniture fund, and $100 went to some lucky member whose name was drawn out of a box. And so on, every 200 tickets. The winners' names were posted on the bulletin board to make it easy for their friends to embarrass them into donating their winnings to the furniture fund.

The liquor inspectors said the raffle was against the law. They confiscated the raffle sign and $35 currently in the furniture fund.

Eugene and Leroy also confiscated the list of winners, perhaps so Internal Revenue can make sure a tax is paid on the illegal winnings. Bureaucrats stick together, the same as birds of a feather and thieves.

I do not pretend to know what the State of Michigan will do with the club's $35. Perhaps buy state lottery tickets. It's really not important.

The important thing is that the nefarious furniture raffle has been stopped before it got out of hand. Left unchecked, country club members might have bought so much furniture it would have overflowed onto the freeway, thus creating a traffic hazard for motorists on their way to the Detroit Race Course to bet on the horses.

Incidentally, it really isn't fair that two obscure liquor inspectors should be the main recipients of all this sterling sarcasm. They are only following orders, albeit with courage and determination beyond the ordinary call of hypocrisy.

The largest share of glory should go to the State of Michigan and to the high-up officials who make such splendid hypocrisy possible.

What will happen if my country club is found guilty in the case of the nefarious furniture raffle? I don't know. But I have a suggestion for a penalty to match the crime. The club's liquor license could be suspended for 90 days, next January and February.

When Eugene and Leroy come checking in their mukluks, they will discover the club closes every winter anyway because it's too cold to sit on the floor.

People watching

From the animal's point of view

And they said I smelled bad!

The Detroit Zoo—lions and tigers and monkeys and the chimp show in the Holden Arena—where the animals look everyday at the funny people who come to visit.

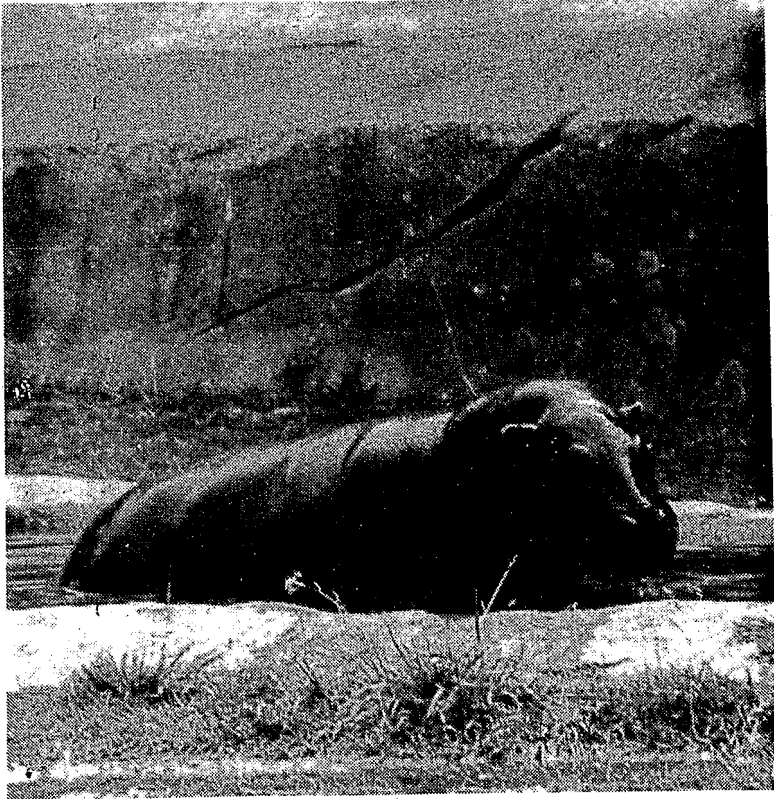

The Detroit Zoo—dirtier than it has been in years, less populated and less well kept—falling prey to the politics of funding.

The Detroit Zoo—where the people are dirtier than the animals and plastic containers and refreshment wrappers are everywhere—where the grass doesn't get cut as it used to and the lakes show signs of neglect.

The Detroit Zoo—where the young at heart can lose themselves for a day.

Don't tell me any sore throat jokes!

I don't watch you when you take a bath.

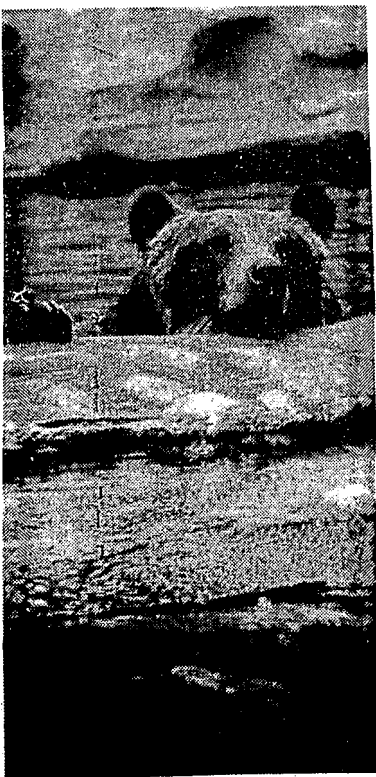

And then she said something about ostrich feathers and boas.

Marshmallows make me sick!

Photos by Pete and Jean Saile

Here comes that kid again with those peanuts.

Many people who come to the zoo could benefit from a diet.

What did you expect, Faye Dunaway?

Trail ride scheduled

Dixie Saddle Club will conduct its seventh annual competitive trail ride September 26 in the Ortonville Recreation Area.

The 30-mile ride is due to begin at Hadley Hill Stables, 1344 Hadley Road, Ortonville. Competition is divided between those 18 and over and the younger riders providing they are accompanied by an adult.

The rider who performs in the best manner and the horse that comes through in the best condition and in the most well-mannered and willing way will be considered the winners. A trophy and six ribbons will be awarded in various divisions.

Only a limited number of entries will be accepted. Information is available from Inga Girschner, 8620 Pine Knob Road, Clarkston, phone 394-0149.

County golf opens slated

Golfers interested in participating in the Oakland County Men's and Women's Open will be playing October 9 and 16 at two of the county-owned golf courses.

Women are scheduled to play at Springfield-Oaks and the men at White Lake-Oaks on October 9, and the reverse on October 16.

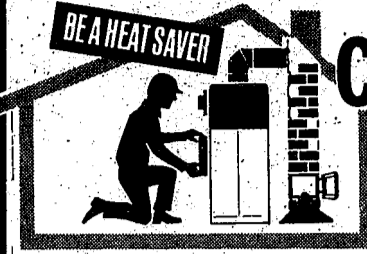

The 36-hole medal play event will be conducted in four flights at a cost of $20 per participant. The first 200 to register in each event will be accepted. Deadline for registration is Friday, October 1.

More than $2,200 in prizes will be awarded.

People watching from the Monkey Island at The Detroit Zoo.

Stephanie and Scooter, a winning combination

Every 4-Her dreams of competing at the annual 4-H State Show at Michigan State University. It is there that the best in the state meet to vie for awards.

This year Stephanie Cornell, 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sydney A. Cornell, Jr., of Reese Road, earned the chance to go to the state show, where she won an honor award in equitation.

At the Oakland County 4-H Fair, Stephanie and Scooter, her thoroughbred quarterhorse gelding, won a first place, two second places and a fifth place award. Those awards earned Stephanie enough points to secure her a place at the state competition.

Stephanie, who has been in the Clarkston Wranglers 4-H Club for four years decided two years ago that she wanted to show Scooter in the English hunt saddle, the style seen in the Olympics.

She and Scooter began training then with Marilyn Nelson of Ortonville.

Caring for the horse is a daily chore for Stephanie. It includes feeding before she goes to school and at least an hour's ride each day.

When show time rolls around each year, entire days are spent getting Scooter ready to do his best, Stephanie said.

Ticket winner

Bobby Harper, 4330 Cross Road, accepts two season tickets to Lion's football games from Laura Willits, a teller at Pontiac State Bank who was in town demonstrating the bank's electronic teller machines. Harper won the tickets in a PSB contest promoting the electronic tellers.

Without doubt the best known of German wines, Liebfrauenmilch, is also one of the most delicious of the German wines. White, sweet, almost flowery in bouquet and taste, the name Liebfrauenmilch today has a legal status. By definition the wine must be both pleasant and traditional. Liebfrauenmilch is great with German dishes such as Wiener Schnitzel, or Sauerbraten, and is good with any dish with which you would serve a white wine, bringing to any meal a taste of tradition and distinction.

Come on by UNCLE BOB'S GENERAL STORE, 2325 Joslyn Rd., Antique Village, Lake Orion, 391-3033 where you will certainly find just the particular wine to suit your individual taste. We feature a full selection of domestic and imported wines and beer in a wide price range. A treat for the whole family we also sell penny candy, gift items and cheeses from around the world. Bring the children and let them enjoy a pony ride any Sat. or Sun. weather permitting. Hours: 7 days a week 10-6.

WINE WISDOM:

Wine glasses should be large enough so that with a single serving it is not more than two-thirds full.

The general principle of wind action is that wind flows more swiftly along the forward surface of the sail, which creates an area of lower pressure ahead of the sail. But if boats were able to sail only before the wind and off the wind, it would be impossible for any craft to reach a destination upwind from its starting point. By sailing on the wind, however, a sailboat can make good a course approximately 45 degrees away from wind direction. By tacking, sailboats can zigzag in any upwind direction.

By coming to us at PADDLE TO POWER MARINE, 6507 Dixie Hwy. next to Kinney Shoes, 625-0129 you can find all your boating needs. Quicksilver Mercruiser onboard spare parts kits are great to have in case of an emergency. They include an assortment of parts for servicing your engine and/or drive unit. Several different kits are available—ask us for details. Hours: Daily and Sun 9am-9pm.

HELPFUL HINT:

You are on starboard tack when you are sailing so that the wind is blowing from the right or starboard side.

McGrath returns to coaching

After a seven-year absence from the coach's office, Harry (Bud) McGrath is returning. He will assist Bill Hanson in coaching the Clarkston High School junior varsity football team.

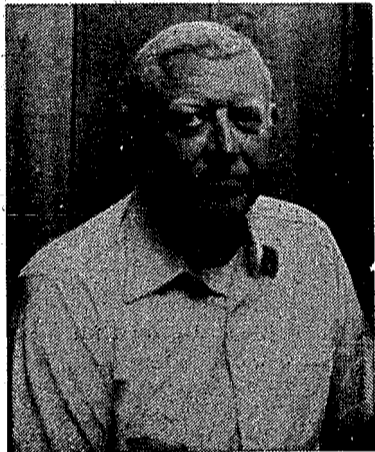

"I'm doing it for the kids," McGrath said. "It's going to be fun."

"B.J. and I worked together for a number of years," McGrath said. The two coached football and basketball.

McGrath also assisted former football coach Ralph Kenyon and in 1965 began coaching the varsity basketball team. He held that position until 1969.

He also took his turn at coaching track and cross country as an assistant to then coach, and now high school principal Dom Mauti.

McGrath came to Clarkston in 1962 as a physical education teacher in the high school. He then became a counselor at the high school. Three years ago he moved to Clarkston Junior High where he continues as a counselor.

Bud McGrath

He's a champion!

Dick Robertson of Clarkston tied Ray Hartley of Westland at 152 for 36 holes to share the Michigan Publix Senior Golf Association championship recently at Gull Lakeview Golf Course in Kalamazoo.

Another Clarkstonite, Ron Rothbarth had 155 to claim the crown in the 55-59 age category, while Hartley won in the 50-54 age group. Robertson took the 60-64 title.

"VILLAGE DAYS"

Oh, to be a kid again...

When you're in school and it's still summer and the teacher is talking and faintly—just faintly through the open window—you can hear the music of the merry-go-round downtown...

And you already know all the neat rides that have been assembled in the park because you've been downtown every night after school to look them over...

And you've counted your allowance and decided which rides you can afford and which games you've got the best chance of winning...

And who you might ask to ride with you on your favorite ride, and whether or not you can afford a cotton candy cone for her, too...

Then you know it's Clarkston Village Days, and summer is coming to a close.

Last year's rain was no problem

"VILLAGE DAYS"

Oh, to be a kid again...

When you've come downtown with your mother and your big sister and you just finished riding on the merry-go-round and you get off and you can't find your sister...

And you can't even find your mother, and you run around with your mouth held just so because you're afraid you might cry...

And you duck in and out between people's legs, and none of the legs look familiar and you keep getting scarer and scarer and you start to cry...

And suddenly your sister says, "What are you crying for, dummy?" and you know she's been right there all the time...

Then you know it's Clarkston Village Days, and everybody is downtown celebrating the end of summer.

Waiting for the marchers and the band.

Oh, to be a kid again...

When you've stood in line for a long time and you finally get on the ferris wheel and your stomach feels funny, and the man stops it when you're right at the very top...

And first you're afraid to open your eyes, and then you do and you look around and you can see your roof way over there and you almost forget about the funny feeling in your stomach...

And when you come down you tell your mother you could see your house, and she smiles and keeps on talking to her friend and you know she didn't really hear you, but it's okay anyhow...

And you look over at the Scrambler, and she shakes her head because she knows you'll be scared and you feel angry but secretly pleased, too...

Then you know it's Clarkston Village Days, and the carnival has come to town.

Firefighters' breakfast fills a crowd.

"VILLAGE DAYS"

Oh, to be a kid again...

When you get to help your Grandpa pick all the ripe tomatoes in the garden, and he checks the squash to see if it's ready, too . . .
 And you know he's going to let you help him on Farmer's Night, and maybe all your friends will see you there behind the table . . .
 And you might even get to make change, and your Grandpa might let you keep some . . .
 Enough for a ride on the Scrambler or the Ferris Wheel, and maybe even for a cotton candy and one game at one booth . . .
 Then you wouldn't change Clarkston Village Days for anything in the world, and you're glad they are this weekend.

Farmers' night features crafts, too.

A Donut Queen will be crowned during Lake Orion's Big Donut Day celebration September 11. She will reign over Donut Festival '76 and will be awarded a $25,000 living bond.

Candidates must be between the ages of 16 and 18 inclusive. All are asked to submit a photograph no larger than 5"x7" to be displayed in front of Waltman's Saturday morning from 9:00 A.M. till noon.

Selection of the Donut Queen will be by "Penny Voting". Eligible candidates may pre-register and collect votes (pennies) prior to Big Donut Day. The candidate with the maximum penny vote count by Saturday noon will be the Donut Queen.

The Donut Queen will be crowned at 12:30 P.M. and will assist in serving this year's trial eight foot donut to 2500 people at 1:00 P.M. She will ride with a second eight foot donut from Lake Orion to Keatington Antique Village on September 18, escorted by two Moslem Shrine Parade units.

At Donut Festival '76, the Donut Queen will participate in several events, including serving the DONUT Sunday afternoon. Funds collected by the candidates will be used by the Lake Orion Jaycees and Jayettes for upcoming community service projects, including organization of a Jayteen chapter for Orion area youth.

For registration as a candidate and further information, call 391-2483.

A colorful and exciting guide, "Outdoorfun in Southeast Michigan," is now available free of charge from Southeast Michigan Travel & Tourist Association.

"Outdoorfun" describes boating, fishing, camping and canoeing in the nine counties of Southeast Michigan. The brochure features a wide variety of information on where to find boat ramps and launching sites, fishing conditions in the region's many lakes and rivers, as well as some helpful hints on the many outdoor places to go and things to do in Southeast Michigan.

Also included in the brochure is a complete list of state, county, municipal and township parks. A full description of available camping facilities is given for each park.

For a free copy of "Outdoorfun in Southeast Michigan," write letter addressed to: Southeast Michigan Travel & Tourist Association, Suite 312, State of Michigan Plaza Bldg., Birmingham, Michigan 48011. The nomination deadline is 48226.

Carnival ready

Dale Adams and his co-chairman, Greg Gilbert, are apt to dream of merry-go-rounds and flying saucers in their sleep this week.

The two are handling the annual Labor Day carnival for the Clarkston Area Jaycees, and according to them, all systems are go for next Friday in the village's Depot Road Park.

An 11-piece Dixieland band, the Oxford Dixie Katz, will play Friday and Saturday nights in the beer tent. A chicken barbecue under the chairmanship of Jim Brueck is scheduled Sunday.

Cranberry Lake rules considered

If you are interested in boating on Cranberry Lake, your opinions will be entertained at a public hearing on September 22.

At 7 p.m. in the Township Hall, 90 North Main, the State Department of Natural Resources will present proposed rules prohibiting motorized watercraft on Cranberry Lake.

Township Supervisor J. Edwin Glennie said a complete ban on the use of motorboats will be recommended, however such a ban would have to be adopted by the township board were it to have effect.

Anyone unable to attend the meeting can submit written comments or requests for copies of the proposed rules to: Law Enforcement Division, Department of Natural Resources, Mason Building, Lansing, Michigan 48926.

Lose something? It must have been a hot day—a suede coat and the bottoms of a swim suit are among the articles in the lost and found bag at Deer Lake Beach. Cindy Dobleske and Sandy Davis, life guards at the beach, stand among sundry other items.

Township gains greater control

Within two hours Independence Township can get a court hearing that could result in the shut-down of Pine Knob Music Theater for one or more performances.

Oakland County Circuit Court will allow the speeded-up request any time until September 18 when the current concert season ends.

That was the result of a court hearing last week, a follow-up by the township on a ZZ Top concert July 26 which required the use of additional county deputies to quell an out-of-hand crowd.

Fence climbing, bottle throwing and car smashing incidents were reported prior to the crowd dispersal.

Township Supervisor J. Edwin Glennie said it is likely that the township will once again consider a local ordinance which would require that Pine Knob get an annual license from the township.

The township, in turn, would have the power to rescind the license.

Parochial enrollment up

Population increases are bringing a resulting increase in parochial school enrollments.

Our Lady of the Lakes Elementary School has an enrollment of 400. According to Catherine Seydel, that is about 20 more than last year. She credits the increases to new people moving into the Clarkston area.

Most of the children were in a Catholic school before coming to Our Lady of the Lakes, she said.

In the high school there are a few more students than last year, reports Mike Boyd, principal. Grades 10 to 12 have an enrollment of 210, he said.

He cited the population move as the reason for the increase. Discipline at the school has remained constant over the years, he noted and added that enrollments have dropped off in recent years primarily because of tuition increases.

The cost for one high school student is now $500 for parish members and $700 for non-members. Each successive child costs less, and there is a family maximum of $1,100 for church members and $1,600 for non-members.

Tuition for an elementary student is $450 and $600. The second child is $100, the third is $75, fourth is $50 and fifth is $25.

The family maximum includes both high school and elementary students.

Tuition at Dixie Baptist

Church's Clarkston Christian Academy is $465 for kindergarten students and $575 for students grades one through ten.

Tenth graders now housed in the academy are actually the first class of the Springfield Christian High School, said Joann Pitcock.

The church is presently renovating another building on Dixie Highway to house the high school beginning next year, when a junior class will be added. A senior class will be added the following year.

Mrs. Pitcock reported daily increases in enrollments. She said many of the calls this year have been from parents who are disillusioned with the public schools.

According to her, parents are concerned with discipline as well as their child's ability to read and write.

Last year a remedial hand writing class was added to the curriculum for upper grades. The Palmer Method is being taught.

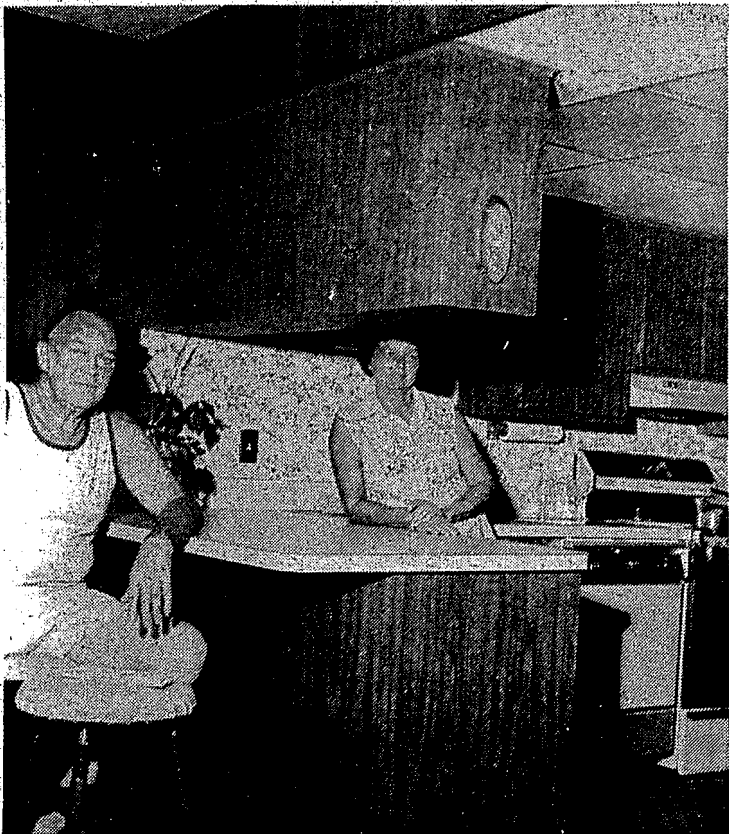

This year the school is adding French to its basic curriculum. Besides English, history, math, etc., the school offers vocal music, piano and guitar and physical education. There is no art except as individual teachers incorporate it in their classes, Mrs. Pitcock explained.

This year Clarkston Christian Academy will participate in a Christian athletic conference entering teams in all the major sports including soccer.

Retired couple lead a busy life

Country Living

By Hilda Bruce
of The Clarkston News
Although Charles and Dorothy Beach's retirement home in Springfield Township sits atop a hill, they aren't content to watch the world go by.

They're too busy fishing, golfing, landscaping the lawn and tearing down an old cottage to make way for a picnic area on Big Lake.

"We lived in the cottage for a year while this house was being built," Charles said.

After 35 years with General Motors, 25 of them as an inspector for Pontiac Motors, Charles celebrated one year of retirement September 1. There have been few idle moments for the retirees.

Those few have been used in making plans for the future. Like a family trip with three of Dorothy's sisters to see another sister in Seattle, Washington, and a trip to Florida to enjoy the winter golfing.

Both Charles and Dorothy golf. Dorothy just recently shot her best game—a 48.

When she isn't golfing, she tends her roses. She has them in the house from early spring through late fall.

In the past Charles has bowled during the winter but had to take off several weeks last winter so they could travel to Arizona. This year he probably won't even start.

Dorothy designed the home in her spare moments while working in the accounting office at Pontiac Retail.

"I just sat thinking and adding little nooks," Dorothy said with a chuckle.

"We like privacy and it's a private house. You can be in any room and not disturb anyone in any other room."

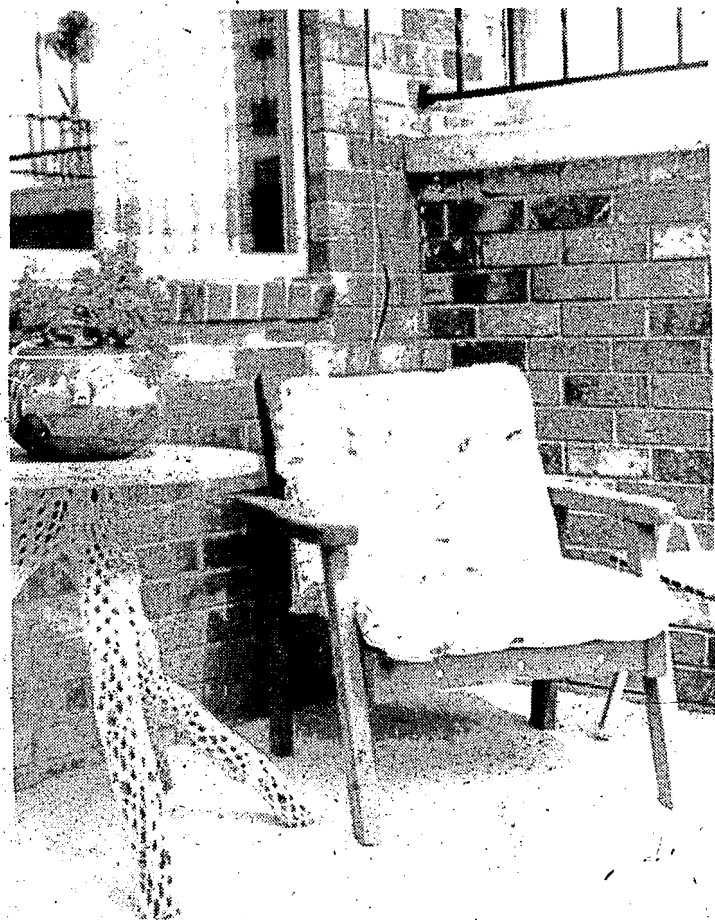

"It's compact, handy and comfortable," Charles added, as he propped his feet up on a footstool.

The first level of the house consists of a kitchen-living-dining area and master bedroom suite all decorated in earth tones. Upstairs is Belle's bedroom suite and a sitting room with access to a deck overlooking Big Lake. Rainbow colors prevail there.

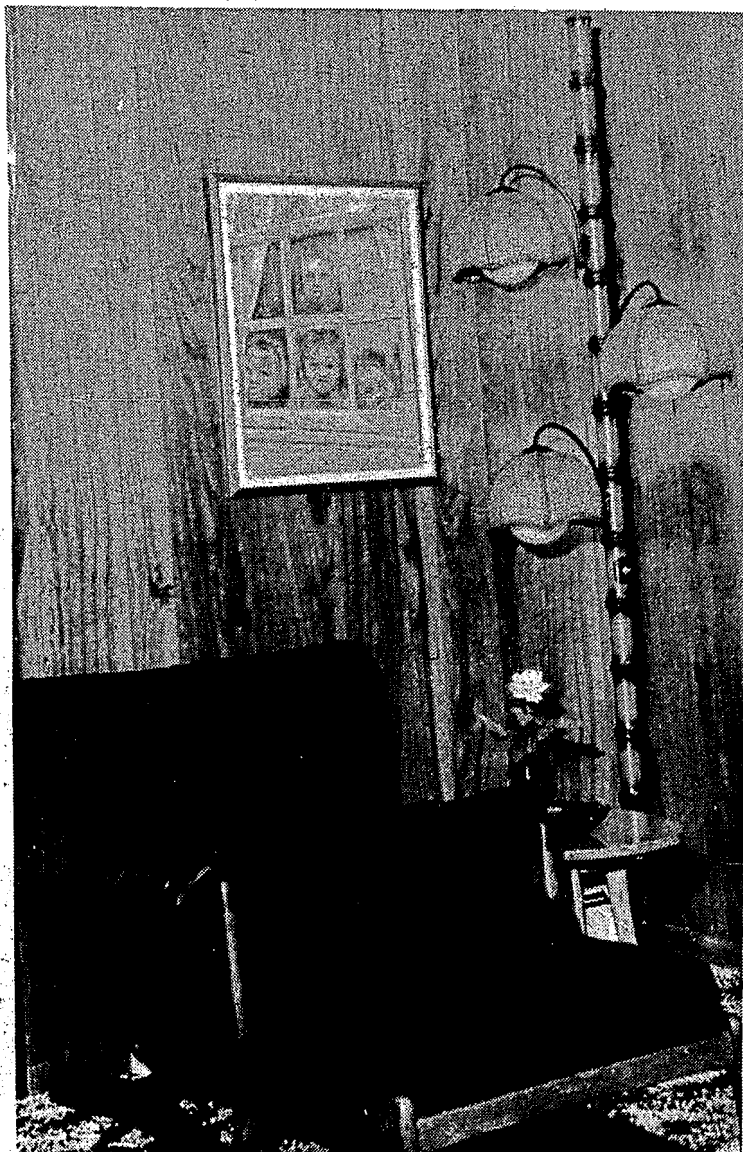

When daughter Belle was a teenager she dabbled in oils and a sample of her work is displayed in the sitting room.

Accent pieces in the home are unique items from many states in the union. Some the Beaches have collected themselves, others were gifts from friends and relatives.

On the patio is a table made of Germany, bringing her parents a cactus from Arizona—a gift from a friend. It takes its place beside a metal sculpture of Belle recently returned from birds.

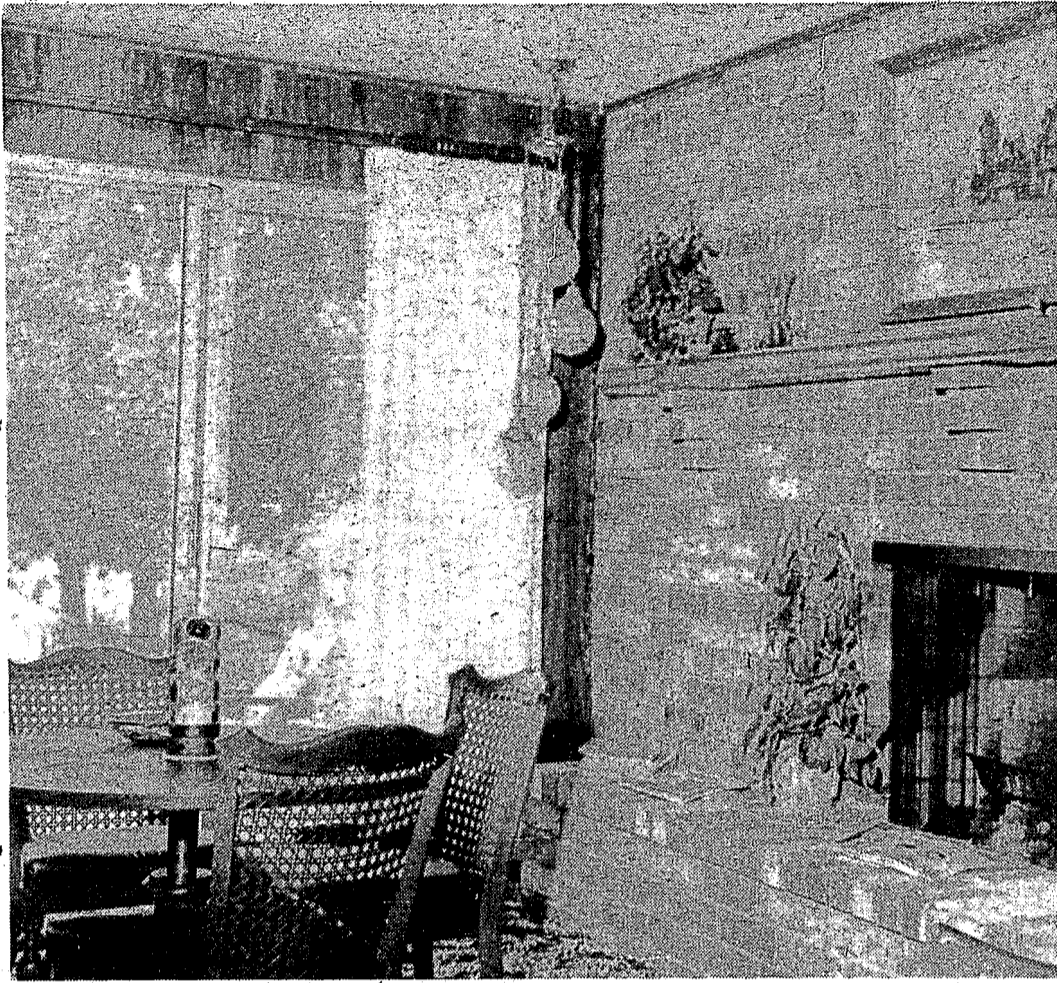

Authentic cactus table on patio was a gift from a friend.

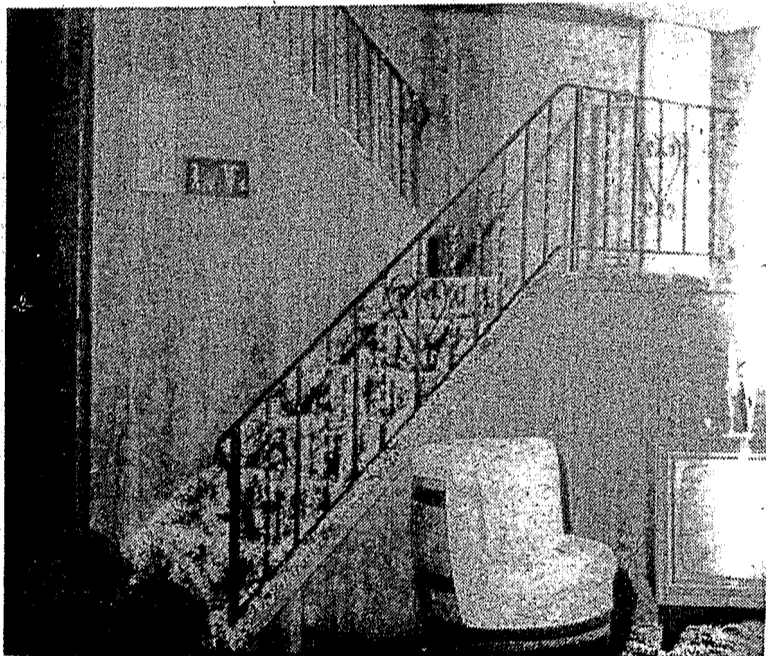

Reading corner features oil by Dorothy's sister, Belle Godoshian.

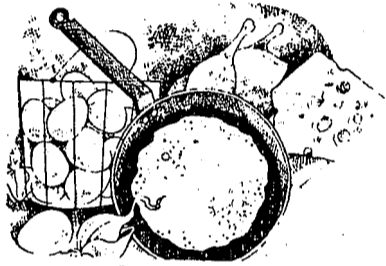

The dining-game area before the fireplace overlooks Big Lake.

Split-level stairs lead to front entrance and to upstairs bedroom suite and sitting room.

This is what an authority writes about the process called Eminent Domain: "In taking private property for public use, the State acts rightfully and not as a wrongdoer. It guarantees just compensation and nothing more. In arriving at just compensation, the matter is to be viewed in the same light as though the State had bargained with the owner for a portion of his land, and had agreed to make him just compensation therefore. It is self-evident that, where a part of a tract is taken, the just compensation cannot be determined without considering the manner in which the part is taken, the purpose for which it is taken, and the effect of the taking upon that which remains."

Anger in young children

By Jim and Ellen Windell

A mother asked in all sincerity recently, "Is it normal for a three year old to get angry?" The most immediate and appropriate response seemed to be "It sure is!" However, some explanation is needed.

Behind such a question is undoubtedly unresolved problems relating to aggression and its expression on the part of the parent. Nevertheless, middle class parents do become concerned about the amount of anger and aggression their children show even at a very young age.

Children naturally at the end of the first year and increasingly in the second and third years begin to feel and act in a contrary manner. This is an important development as it is a thrust toward independence. Anger, contrariness, and aggression at this age fosters separation which is vital to healthy development.

As the child learns to understand and use the word "No," arguments, resistances, and differences of opinion are bound to occur. But all of these problems are useful as stepping stones to the desirable goals of separation, independence and individuation. If the child is to be able to take care of himself at later ages, he must demand and have some of his demands met at age two and three. Anger becomes a useful tool in getting one's own way.

Parents need more patience during these early years and it is between the ages of sixteen and thirty-six months that parents are heard to utter the immortal words that combine pride and chagrin: "He has a mind of his own."

If the parents can understand the anger and oppositionalism as natural events and not take them as personal rejection or as signs of a destructive or pathologically aggressive child, the parent-child relationship can be smoother.

Anger also develops in the second and third years because socialization training is taking place during these years. The parents are trying to produce a youngster who will be able to take his place in the world. He therefore must learn to control his toilet habits, his destructive urges, and his curiosity. With limits set by his parents will come frustration and anger. The effectiveness of the socialization will depend on the relationship between parent and child. If the child loves his parents and wants to go along with the demands and prohibitions put on him because he does not want to risk losing his parents' love, then socialization can proceed with little conflict. If the parents are too strict, rigid or severe, or if they start too early, then whatever anger or aggression that the child naturally feels will be intensified and prolonged.

When apples are ripe

by Lyle Abel

When is an apple ready to pick? Some say it's when the seeds turn brown or black. Others, more accurately, watch for the leaf green color to take on a yellowish tinge. Surely it is mature when the fruits release easily when it is taken in hand and turned up.

However, modern apple growers depend on a much more accurate and dependable method. The system is computed from observing the date of full bloom and coupling this with the accumulated temperature of the season. This data is supplied by the Agricultural Weather Service. This has been a warm season, with early flowering of the apple trees, and apples are ripening earlier than the average date.

William Muller, our District Horticultural Agent, has used the above method. He has notified the commercial growers, who are planning for long-term storage of their fruit,—that locally the McIntosh variety came into full bloom early this year and should be ready for harvest about September 5. The Jonathan Variety is expected to ripen about September 25 and the Delicious varieties about October 1.

Interestingly, the date of ripening is one of the changes that can be brought about by using a fruit hormone sold under the trade name of ALAR. Its use will extend the picking date by about a week. Muller also commented that trees that have set but a light crop of fruit will mature their apples earlier than those trees bearing a heavy load. Also hot, dry weather hastens the ripening. And too, the "king" fruits—the ones produced by the central flower in the blossom cluster—is the first fruit to ripen. Large apples of a variety tend to store less well than fruit of average size.

Muller's report states that apple production in Michigan this year is down by about four million bushels. The state's estimated crop is but 11,900,000 bushels. The national apple production is also off by 33 million bushels. This is a light crop and hence apple prices are likely to be above normal for the season.

***

September's first week is considered the best month of the year to sow new lawns. Lawn seed has time to germinate and develop good roots before freezing weather. The cooler fall temperatures and shorter days are most favorable for the new grass seedlings to survive.

Canning information at health office

Conflicting recommendations for home canning procedures are appearing in print which only tend to confuse the less knowledgeable canner.

The Oakland County Public Health Division is concerned because such confusion can lead to mistakes which can result not only in spoiled foods, but the possibility of becoming ill from eating foods improperly processed.

The Oakland County Cooperative Extension Service home economist is the community's local resource for food processing information. If the answer is not immediately available, a "hot line" call by Ms. Anne Stevens to Michigan State University will get the needed information in a very short time. Ms. Stevens can be reached at 858-0904.

A report done by Pennsylvania State University in January, 1976 on the sealing performance of various jar lids, indicates that jar lids manufactured by Anchor Hocking, Ball, Klik-It and Torque-Rite produced no canning failures due to improper sealing. Copies of this report are available from Louise W. Hamilton, professor of Foods and Nutrition Extension, Pennsylvania State University, 344 Ag Building, University Park, PA 16802.

The results of canning fresh fruits and vegetables can bring great eating pleasure and produce a sense of personal satisfaction. These can be achieved if the job to be done is fully understood and properly executed. Be safe, not sorry!

Eckankar, Dorothy's way of life

Dorothy Meredith

By Jean Saile
of The Clarkston News
The first thing you notice about Dorothy Meredith is that you like her.

A blonde, and well rounded enough that she's patronized Vic Tanny's gym for the last four years, she bubbles with a blend of enthusiasm and what can only be described as plain good feeling.

To the uninitiated, that's a relief. Dorothy is the spokesman in this area for Eckankar, the "very first spiritual belief on the planet—a path of total awareness, a means of soul travel."

Basically her belief is that our bodies are loaned to us only for this tenure on earth, that we may return again and again to different levels of physical and mental existence, and that the end fruit is serving as a co-worker with God.

She claims on several occasions to have separated from her body, to have visited other worlds, and seen things that exist on a higher and different level of vibration.

A native of the Upper Peninsula, Dorothy confides she had a hard growing up period, but that the belief in Eckankar has made it all worthwhile. Now married and the mother of a young son, she claims the spiritual belief has made her family's life much happier.

She'll be passing the word along at a talk and movie at 8 p.m. Monday, September 13 at the CAI Building on Williams

Lake Road.

Anywhere from two to thirty-six newcomers have turned out for these programs in the past, and Dorothy blithely recognizes the low count as what happens on a hot summer day when the beach appears totally inviting.

There are seven members in her group now. She came to it from the Spiritualist Church off Maybee Road, the practice of mediumship having not fulfilled her yearnings.

Her religion has taught her not to be afraid of death, she says. She almost died once and had to be brought back to her body by a visit from "the master" eight hours after sedation for surgery.

The "master" is a living man whom she has met at seminars, and who she claims she visits spiritually and who has even saved her life once as she very nearly slid on an icy road right underneath a great garbage truck.

"I felt him take control of the car and bodily lift it up and over another car in front of me," she says. "I wonder what those garbage truck drivers thought. They must have seen it."

Dorothy, like other spiritualists, reports she may have inherited her gifts from her father. The first time she was aware of them was when her grandmother, dead nine years, appeared to tell her, she believes, has seen things and talked to people foreign to the rest of us. There have been other times when she has been able to foretell the future. She calls it "escaping into another time track," and she Mars does have life, she'll tell you. It's just that it's on another vibratory plane and undistinguishable to us.

Now's your chance to get that high school diploma

By Pat Braunagel

Kay McKirgan is conducting a search throughout five school districts for potential students—people who may not now even be thinking of returning to school.

The people she wants to get ahold of probably haven't cracked a book in years, mainly because reading is at best a struggle and at worst an impossibility for them.

Mrs. McKirgan is attempting to organize basic education classes for adults who have had less than nine years of schooling.

Her immediate goal is to attract 45 students so the program can get rolling in the Oxford, Lake Orion, Clarkston, Brandon and Holly school districts. Without that minimum enrollment, the state department of education will not release its funds to finance 10 percent of the program nor federal money for 80 percent.

If 45 persons 16 years of age or older have signed up for the program by the official attendance-taking day Sept. 24, adult basic education classes can be established here.

In the meantime, Mrs. McKirgan is working on a consulting basis.

She is certain, she told the Oxford Board of Education Tuesday night, that there are ample numbers of potential adult basic education students available in the five districts.

"The people are there," she said. "The question is whether they'll have the courage to come out. It's going to take a friend, an employer, a husband or a wife to encourage them."

Some may be unduly embarrassed, she commented.

"We don't laugh at people in adult basic education," she said. "We get down to business, see what they want to do and do it."

Adult education counselors can quickly assess the needs of a person interested in acquiring basic education skills. The student can then decide how much time he or she wants to devote to the program and what hours are most convenient.

Mrs. McKirgan noted that many of the people she is trying to reach are isolated from others because of language deficiencies.

A by-product of the program, then, frequently is increased community awareness and responsibility.

Adult basic education studies can prepare a person for high school entrance or to take a high school equivalence exam.

"For some, it is an end in itself," Mrs. McKirgan said.

She can be reached by calling 628-9220 in Oxford. Messages may also be left with community education directors in the other districts.

Mrs. McKirgan, who lives in the Brandon School District, was director of the probation department for Oak Park's district court for the past year.

Prior to that, she had been coordinator of the inmate learning center for the Oakland County Sheriff's Department for a year.

Her background also includes work in Pontiac School System's bilingual program. She holds a bachelor's degree in English from the University of Kentucky, master's in teaching of English and English as a second language from Columbia University's Teachers College and master's in guidance and counseling from Oakland University.

I have tired of trudging up the sauce, salt and horseradish—all slopes at Pine Knob laden with to taste. My problem would be picnic hampers, coolers and having anything left after I was blankets. Now my husband and I done tasting.

Further down the hill was unleavened bread and long white grapes. Beside me was a big bag of fresh fruit and a big, big bottle of wine.

Behind me there were submarine sandwiches and pizza. As the sun set, and the hill filled to overflowing the blankets were dotted with potato chip bags and an occasional "pop" signaled the opening of yet another bottle of wine.

One middleaged lady had fixed her own chicken and she told me it was a special recipe for a special night. She had even barbecued it on the grill that afternoon.

Besides the chicken she brought along a big bag of raw vegetables and a container of dip. She shared it—the food and the dip recipe. I'll probably never be able to duplicate it, although it sounds simple enough.

Combine sour cream and diced shrimp, add a dash of chili sauce, some lemon juice, worcestershire

Clarkston Community Women's Club's new community calendars are available now at The Clarkston News office for the price of $1 each. The calendars feature local events and private celebrations.

Davisburg Methodists will welcome the fall season with a picnic September 12 at the conclusion of the morning worship service.

Food, barbecues, games and activities are promised. Each family is asked to bring hamburgers or hot dogs and buns, a dish to share, table service and topping for ice cream.

Just a reminder about the Independence Center Volunteer Workshop each Tuesday, September 21, 28, October 5 and 12, 9 a.m. to noon. There will be a variety of speakers discussing services that are available through independence center and also services that are available to the community.

Theme is "People helping people help themselves." The center is in need of volunteers who would like to do telephone reassurance serving the elderly and shut-ins. Several volunteer office workers, 18 and over, are needed one day a week for three and one-half hours from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. or 12:30 to 4 p.m. A willingness to help others is the only requirement. You can contact the center Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at 673-2244.

The Davisburg Joggers Senior Citizens will meet at the Springfield Township Hall in Davisburg on Saturday, September 4 for a potluck dinner at noon, followed by a business meeting and entertainment.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hamaker of Kingfisher Lane have announced the engagement of their daughter, Kimberley, to Dan Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Taylor of Norman Road. Kim is a 1976 graduate of Clarkston High School. Dan is a graduate of Eastern Michigan University and will be attending the National School of Chiropractory in Chicago.

William W. Donaldson of games and prizes. Dick Millen Jensen Beach, Florida, the W. won the pie eating contest for the men.

Mrs. James Hitchcock of Clarkston is serving as co-chairman with Mrs. Phillip Werner of Birmingham for the 11th annual Women's National Farm and Garden Association Flower Show. Set for September 13-18 at the Pontiac Mall, the theme of the show will be "Our Flowering Nation."

Some 300 Clarkston Eagles, their friends and families turned out for the group's annual corn roast Sunday at the Aerie at Benjamin, general chairman; and Maybee and Sashabaw Roads. Mrs. Marcus Freud and Mrs. Ernie Craig and his band played Arnold Barrett, reception committee.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Davis

Living in the south

Now residing in Myrtle Beach, South Carolina, Linda Brandel and Airman Richard A. Davis were married in a traditional candlelight ceremony at the Waterford Community Church on May 29.

The church was lighted with lamp posts and trimmed with greens and bows.

The double ring ceremony was performed by former pastor of the church, Rev. Robert Winne.

Linda is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Brandel of Dixie Highway, Clarkston.

The groom is the son of Mrs. Mary Davis of Sterling Heights and Ron Davis of New Baltimore. He is stationed in Myrtle Beach with the Air Force.

The bride wore her mother's wedding gown of satin with church train trimmed in chantilly lace.

The maid of honor, Linda Malvich of Pontiac, wore a gown of apricot with a mandarin collar and matching hooded jacket.

The best man, Skip Calva of St. Clair Shores, wore ivory tails with coral shirt and ivory vest.

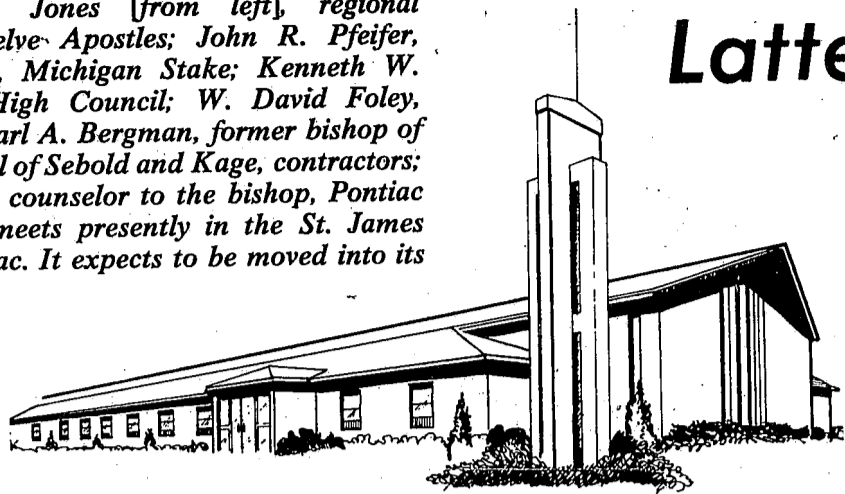

Doria Bowker of Holly served as flower girl. Ring bearer was Marc Ballard of Waterford.

David and Pamela Walls of Ormond Road [standing at left] hosted three generations of Walls at a reunion recently in Davisburg. More than 100 relatives attended. Among those present were Floyd and Ann Walls of Union Lake, Arnold and Mildren Mann, Ralph and Norma Lowes, Norris and Shirley Walls, Pauline and Ross Walls, Dorcas and Gordon Walls, Grace Walls and Myrtle Winegar. Also present were the Roe family of Waterford Township, Pamela's family. [Photo by Lester Smith].

Ground was broken August 21 for the new Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints at Maybee and Waterford roads. Present were Edwin B. Jones [from left], regional representative of the Twelve Apostles; John R. Pfeifer, president Bloomfield Hills, Michigan Stake; Kenneth W. Murray, member Stake High Council; W. David Foley, Bishop of Pontiac Ward; Carl A. Bergman, former bishop of Pontiac Ward; William Beal of Sebold and Kage, contractors; and Josue Z. Perez, second counselor to the bishop, Pontiac Ward. The congregation meets presently in the St. James Methodist Church in Pontiac. It expects to be moved into its new building next March.

New teachers introduced

New teachers gathered at Ann Robinson's home on Holcomb for a patio luncheon, August 27.

The Clarkston Education Association officers played host to the system's new teachers August 27. The tour included the school facilities, Pine Knob Lodge and Music Theater, and Clarkston village. After the tour Ann Robinson, first grade teacher at South Sashabaw Elementary School, hosted a patio luncheon at her Holcomb Road home. At the informal setting the new teachers met school administrators. This year the Clarkston school system has 12 new teachers. Included are new media specialists—Linda Spannaus at Clarkston Elementary and Andersonville Elementary; and Susan Kott at South Sashabaw and Pine Knob Elementaries. Larry Mahrle and Gary Nustad are new social studies teachers and junior varsity and varsity basketball coaches, respectively, at the high school. Pat Bower and Russ Samuel will teach third and fourth grades at Andersonville Elementary. At Clarkston Junior High Rebecca Harrold will teach social studies as well as vocal music and Linda Beedle will teach instrumental music. The vocational center will also have two new people: Catherine Roller in mathematics and Jay Farrell in refrigeration. Leonard Lovelace will teach fourth grade at North Sashabaw. As permanent substitute teacher at Sashabaw Junior High, Kyle Ann Guernsey may encounter a different class each day. Leaving his potpourri of classes as permanent substitute at the high school, Chuck Screws will settle down in the English department this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dancey

Dancey rites here

Clarkston United Methodist Church rites recently united Kim Elise Einhouse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R.D. Einhouse of Pittsburgh, Penn., and Richard Donald Dancey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald W. Dancey of Sao Paulo, Brazil.

Rev. James Balfour performed the traditional wedding ceremony before an altar banked with yellow and white flowers.

The bride wore white dotted Swiss featuring sheer long sleeves, a square neck, empire waist and lace trimming. Her chapel length train was trimmed with lace and a lace cap held her veil. She had made the entire ensemble herself.

White tea roses and white chrysanthemums set off with fern and yellow ribbon comprised her bouquet.

Phyllis R. Williams of Pittsburgh, maid of honor, wore yellow dotted Swiss. Joseph Ruhala of Clarkston was best man.

Groom's attendants included James Bortz of Clarkston and Joseph Lefler of Garden City.

Some 75 guests were entertained at Maurices in Pontiac. A second reception took place later at the bride's home.

Following a trip to Mackinac Island, the newlyweds are living at 2604 North Fourth Street in Clinton, Iowa.

Former resident wed

Marcia Sue Johnson, a Clarkston High School graduate now serving as a VISTA volunteer with the Peace Corps, was married August 28 to Douglas Bryan Pitts, a student at the University of Tennessee in Nashville.

The bride is the daughter of Donald O. Johnson of Rochester and her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kennard Pitts of Rochester.

Rev. James Fleming performed the ceremony at St. Andrew's Episcopal Church in Drayton Plains. Daisies and chrysanthemums decorated the altar. Some 200 guests were present.

The bride wore white organza designed with a scoop neckline and long sheer fitted sleeves ending in ruffles at the wrist. Cluny lace encrusted with pearls accented the neckline and formed ruffles over the shoulders. Her A-line skirt, edged with an organza ruffle, ended in a chapel length train. Her illusion veil, edged in lace, was held in place with a Juliet cap.

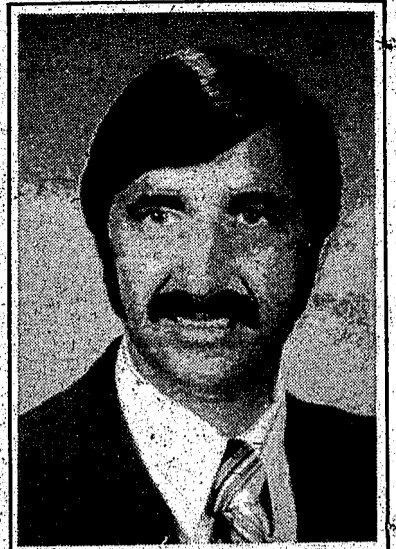

Maid of honor Nancy Johnson, her sister, in yellow and Debra Horning of Bloomfield Hills and Barbara Gallagher of Alexandria, Va., in green wore gowns featuring T-straps and a fitted bodice accented by a ruffled flounce. A matching cape, edged with a ruffle completed the ensemble. They carried baskets of daisies complementing the bride's bouquet which consisted of daisies and baby's breath on a prayer book.

Priscilla Salisburg of Waterford was flower girl.

Thomas Olinzock of Taylor was best man while James Johnson, brother of the bride, Gordon Pitts, brother of the groom, seated guests.

A reception for 200 took place at Spring Lake Country Club.

Following a trip to Toronto and Montreal they are making their home in Nashville.

Accounting and budgeting are a big part of the township clerk's job. Bob went back to school evenings to give you his best.

VILLAGE OF CLARKSTON MINUTES OF REGULAR MEETING August 23, 1976

Meeting called to order by President Pro-Tem Granlund. Roll: Present—ApMadoc, Granlund, Sage, Schultz, Weber. Absent—Thayer.

Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

The council and some residents discussed the speeding and truck traffic situation on N. Holcomb. Different solutions such as placing stop signs by Miller and W. Washington and increasing radar patrol were suggested. Jack McCall will look into the situation and check back at the next meeting.

Moved by Schultz to extend the deadline for 1976 village taxes to the third Monday in October, October 18th, 1976. Seconded by Weber. Motion carried unanimously.

Jack McCall, a representative from the county animal shelter, and the council discussed a proposed animal control ordinance which would make provisions for the township to take care of animal problems. Animals picked up would be taken to the Humane Society in Pontiac by an employee hired by the township. The funding would be done under the police services budget. The township has already passed an ordinance which covers lost and found and abandoned animals. The council agreed on the need for such an ordinance, and village attorney John Steckling and Jack McCall will get together this week to finalize the wording for an ordinance that the village can act on at the next meeting.

Moved by Sage to have Kieft Engineering, Inc. draw up specifications for bidding and publication for a safety walk from the village park to Deer Lake beach with our Community Development funds. Seconded by Weber. Roll: Ayes - Granlund, ApMadoc, Sage, Schultz, Weber. Nays - none. Motion carried.

John Steckling and the council discussed possible alternatives on amending the sewer ordinance to enforce the eighteen month hook-up deadline, including possible provisions for hardship cases. The sewer committee will meet on this and report back at the next meeting.

Moved by Weber to have the attorney draw up an ordinance covering weight limits for truck traffic on residential village streets. Seconded by Schultz. Motion carried unanimously.

Gar Wilson will present a proposed location for a new village garage and approximate prices to the planning commission a their next meeting.

Moved by Sage, seconded by Weber to adjourn. Motion carried.

Public Notice

INVITATION FOR BIDS

The VILLAGE OF CLARKSTON will receive sealed bids until September 13, 1976 at the Community Development Services Department, Village Hall, 25 S. Main Street, Clarkston, Mich. at which time all bids will be publicly opened and read aloud in the Village Hall, 25 S. Main Street, Clarkston, Michigan.

BIDS ARE INVITED UPON THE FOLLOWING ITEMS OF WORK

For paving of a Safety Path from the Village Park on Depot Road to the Deer Lake Beach. For exact specifications contact Village Hall, 25 South Main Street, Clarkston, Michigan 48016, 625-1559, during regular business hours Tuesday 8:30-4:30.

Contract Documents, including drawings and technical specifications, are on file at the office of the Community Development Services Department of the Village of Clarkston, 25 S. Main Street, Clarkston, Mich.

Copies of the Contract Documents may be obtained by depositing $10.00 (ten) with the Village of Clarkston for each set of documents so obtained. Each such deposit will be refunded if the drawings and Contract Documents are returned in good condition within 10 days after bid opening.

A certified check or bank draft, payable to the order of the Treasurer, Village of Clarkston, negotiable U.S. Government bonds (at par value) or a satisfactory bid bond executed by the bidder and an acceptable surety, in an amount equal to five per cent (5%) of the total of Bid for Project Improvements, exclusive of any deductions for salvage, shall be submitted with each bid.

Attention is called to the fact that not less than the minimum salaries and wages as set forth in the Contract Documents must be paid on this project, and that the contractor must ensure that employees and applicants for employment are not discriminated against because of their race, color, religion, sex or national origin.

Contractor must comply with the Davis Bacon Act July 2nd, 1964 (Title 40§ 276A) The Equal Employment Opportunity Act September 28, 1965 No. 11246, All United States Department of Labor Regulations & Standards Title 29, 1, 3, & 5, and Title 18 U.S.C., Section 874 known as "Anti-Kickback Act" and the Federal Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970, and be Michigan State pre-qualified.

The VILLAGE OF CLARKSTON reserves the right to reject any or all bids or to waive any informalities in the bidding.

Bids may be held by the VILLAGE OF CLARKSTON for a period not to exceed seven (7) days from the date of opening of bids for the purpose of reviewing the bids and investigating the qualifications of bidders, prior to awarding the Contract.

The wallpaper in the men's john at Deer Lake Racquet Club's Back Court restaurant has been causing comment for some time. While we haven't seen it (being an all-female staff and proper), we understand the printed matter it features is at least racy if not obscene as some people contend.

There are those who think it should be removed since young people can be expected to frequent the room, however the owner isn't budging so far as we know.

There are benefits, we guess, but we've never considered Independence Township as poverty row. Yet figures compiled by the Michigan Employment Security Commission purport to show that we have 15 percent unemployment.

Without looking back through the files, it seems to us the unemployment rate was only 12 percent at the worst of the recession.

We asked Norm Isotalo, an MESC information officer, how those figures are arrived at. The best Isotalo could do was tell us that the figures are based on 1970 census results and that in communities of less than 50,000 population the estimates are shaky.

In the tables presented, only three other areas have higher rates of unemployment. They are White Lake Township, Pontiac Township, the city of Pontiac. Much of the county is lumped together with a rate said to be 11.3 percent overall.

Independence's work force is listed at 7,825 with 1,175 unemployed. We're convinced the figures are wrong, but they did bring us more CETA funds than we were probably entitled to.

At 4:37 Sunday afternoon the Springfield Township Fire Department fought a grass fire at the railroad crossing on Hogback Lake Road. The cause of the fire is not known.

We didn't know about it at the time but it's still a newsworthy item: Jim Chamberlain, who summers at Antrim Dells golf course near Cheboygan, came back to Clarkston for a weekend and shot a hole-in-one at Spring Lake Country Club.

Independence Township's new animal control ordinance isn't due to go into effect until September 2, but after that you'd better keep Fido, and Tabby, too, under control.

Independence Township's prosecution of North Oakland Development Company for improper usage and placement of directional signs has been postponed to October 13. However the signs, erected by contractor Leon Blachura to his Heritage Heights project on Reese Road, were to be taken down last week by order of District Court.

Electrical failure caused some problems during storms last week in the Sashabaw Road area. Several power outages were reported.

Something new and good—the practice of throwing rice at weddings is changing to that of throwing either bird seed or grass seed. There's no cleanup involved and both the birds and the lawns can benefit.

When excavation began recently for the big addition to the Northwest Oakland Vocational Education Center off the Dixie Highway at Big Lake Road, there were some surprises in store.

Several trees as big as 60 feet in height and 20 to 30 inches in diameter at the base were discovered buried by as much as 18 feet of fill.

The trees had to be removed the same way they went in before construction could proceed, school officials said. The trees had apparently been buried at the time the building was originally constructed seven years ago.

Come and see the "Independence Squares" in Clarkston's Labor Day parade. This local square dancing club is having fun and would like you to join. There will be a free introductory lesson dance on Wednesday, September 29, at 8 p.m. at Drayton Plains Elementary School. Ed Leach, caller and teacher, will be on hand to help you learn the basic steps to western style square dancing. The club is sponsoring lessons that will be starting in October. For more information call 693-1580.

There were about six arrests for ticket scalping last week at Pine Knob Music Theater. Chicago and Frank Sinatra, both of them sold-out performances, proved too much temptation for the fast-buck artists to resist.

Officials of local government will have their opportunity September 23 or 28 to take advantage of a one-day seminar, funded in part by the federal government and teaching them the ins and outs of personnel management.

Topics to be covered include state and federal laws as regards public employes, various aspects of CETA hiring, performance evaluation, the role of the elected official in labor relations, and motivating the public employe.

The Intergovernmental Personnel Act is making available a grant which will pay with the county and the local units the cost of the seminars. Costs to the local units is $10 per participant.

Senior pictures needed for discount program

Oakland-Livingston Human Service Agency will be taking senior citizen pictures from 10 a.m. to noon and 1 to 4 p.m. Wednesday, September 8 at the Independence Township Hall, 90 North Main.

The pictures will be necessary for a cash discount program started by the agency and available to those 60 and older. Those applying must have a copy of their Social Security card plus one other proof of identification.

Public Notice

By authority conferred on the Commission of Natural Resources by Sections 12-17 of Act 303, Public Acts of 1967, and Section 250 of Act 380, Public Acts of 1965, a public hearing will be held in the Independence Township Hall, 90 North Main street, Clarkston, on Wednesday, September 22, 1976, at 7:00 P.M. At this hearing the Department of Natural Resources will present proposed rules prohibiting the operation of motorized watercraft on Cranberry Lake, Independence Township, Oakland County. Acceptable rules will become effective 15 days after filing with the Secretary of State.

All interested persons are invited to attend and offer comments orally or in writing. Interested persons unable to attend this hearing may submit written comments, and/or requests for copies of the proposed rules, to:

Curtain time

The Voice is darker and huskier now but last Friday night in the first of a two night engagement he showed that he still has it. And what he has is in slightly different trappings; greying, thinning hair and pudginess around the middle. But, who cares. It's the Voice that counts and his way of phrasing and shaping lyrics around the melody. The vocal chords don't respond quite like they used to and his range is narrowed, but he compensates for these deficiencies through the know-how of thirty-six years of professional appearances and impeccable good taste in his songs.

There's no cavilling at his mastery of most any song that falls within the realm of popular music and he proved that he can still produce a few squeals as he opened his half of the show with some familiar old but nonetheless welcome ballads; things like "Night and Day," "The Lady is a Tramp," and "Imagination." Remember when "Imagination" was a best seller for the original crooner back in 1940? He is still a sensitive stylist who can create a sense of intimacy, as if he were singing in your ear. And all of this in a crowd of over ten thousand.

The newer songs were there too and it seemed evident from the reaction of his fans that one of his all-time favorites has to be "My Way." The punctuation of applause whenever he sang the phrase "my way" reflects that there are an awful lot of people whose fantasies have been acted out by Francis Albert. When he does "Chicago," you also picture a large metropolis swinging with him and you'd love being with him.

In the middle of his nearly one hour on stage are some conversation, a few gruff jokes, and his "ding-a-ling" letters. He does not show the same good taste in selecting humor as he does in his songs. Little restraint and mostly dreadful, but that's not what you paid your money for anyway. He more than makes up for his jokes with his final songs. The new recording of Neil Diamond's "Stargazer" is faithful to the record with Sam Butera providing a honking tenor solo. To the delight of the girls no longer young, he dances a few steps to Butera's horn.

After the VanHeusen-Mercer "Empty Tables" and Eric Carmen's "Never Fall in Love Again," he leaves the jam-packed audience on its feet hoping that he will return for an encore even though it knows that the auditorium lights indicate he won't return. The Voice disappeared after his final crowd-pleaser, a somewhat amended version of Barry Manilow's song: "I Sing the Songs." No truer words were ever sung because for three generations he has sung the songs that make the young and old cry and fall in love; and he does it all in his own inimitable way.

Jim's jottings

Quiet, wooded, big country

by Jim Sherman

Casual notes and observations from a casual tour in parts of the Upper.

It's big!

It's as far from Oxford to our place near Naubinway as it is from Naubinway to Copper Harbor.

It was our first trip west of Marquette. I wanted to see the lift bridge between Hancock and Houghton. I knew it was going to be a great vacation when the stop lights came on and the arm-barricade dropped right in front of the car.

The lift bridge lifted right before our eyes.

We were impressed by the size of the steam hoist that was used in one of the copper mines outside Hancock, enjoyed the tour of a copper mine in Ripley and had a difficult time with Finnish names.

If you go to Copper Harbor be sure to take the six mile trip on Brockway Drive on your way to Eagle Harbor. It has magnificent views.

If you want to stay in Copper Harbor overnight, call ahead for reservations. The motels fill early.

The contrasts of good and bad are at Miner's Castle Rock just east of Munising among the Pictured Rocks area.

The good, of course, is the views and the rocks. The bad is the parking, camping, lunching area. This is Federal property. It's filthy. The johns are a complete disgrace.

It has rained so little in the Upper this summer they are considering asking that it be called a disaster area for federal funding. The lack of rain and the lack of care has made Miner's Castle Rock area one big cloud of dust. This atmosphere plus the fly infestation makes one year for a bath.

We stopped in Bay Mills to look over the fence at an Indian cemetery. The wooden huts over the graves were nearly deteriorated, but interesting.

Before getting there we asked directions at a garage sale (we stopped at a lot of those) and were told if we had time to take some back road for a great view overlooking the area just west of the Soo.

I wish I could tell you how to get there. It was beautiful.

Naturally, we visited the Locks. Though I was in the Navy (ours) and saw many ships I'm still amazed at the size of these vessels when I'm along side.

They have done a great job providing lookout stations for viewing the Locks . . . and for free. Not many places like that.

We were reminded again and again that when you are out of town in the Upper, you are immediately out of town. No suburbia. Just country. Quiet, wooded, big country.
