AWARD WINNING WEEKLY 25c

Vol. 53 - No. 3 Thurs., Sept. 9, 1976 2 Sections - 32 Pages Clarkston, Michigan 48016

Scott Tracy, sitting atop his dad's shoulders, displayed complete political impartiality during Monday's parade. He wears a Mastin sun visor, a Gorsline Indian feather and carried a Patterson balloon.

Mike McBride wheeled his old fashioned bicycle through Clarkston's Labor Day parade.

High school bulging; but overall student count down

Though Clarkston High School is bulging at the seams, there were seven less students there last week than had been anticipated for the coming year by education officials.

Assistant Clarkston Schools Superintendent Mel Vaara said unofficial tallies showed 1,750 students as compared to an official enrollment for last year of 1,669.

Overall the district has a decreased enrollment from last year, initial counts showed. There are 6,894 students as compared to 6,976 last year, however Vaara pointed out that some would probably not be present and counted until after the Labor Day holiday.

He said he would not have an accurate count until the September 13 Board of Education meeting. The board will meet at 8 p.m. that night in regular session at the Administrative Offices on Clarkston Road.

Junior high enrollment has been as anticipated, Vaara said. There are 840 students at Clarkston Junior High and 925 at Sashabaw Junior High.

Kindergarten enrollment is down throughout the district, Vaara reported, however he notes a local trend involving the purchase of older homes by younger families.

Vaara said present projections of enrollment show this to be the last "heavy enrollment" year at the high school.

Beginning next year and barring exceptional residential development the student tallies at the high school ought to begin decreasing, Vaara said.

More than 800 fail to make sewer payments

About a third of the 2,400 property descriptions assessed extra for sewers this summer failed to ante up, and the $197.04 which homeowners and owners of residentially zoned lots were asked has now been added to the tax rolls along with varying other assessments.

Supervisor J. Edwin Glennie said the township had come through the billing $148,000 short, and that the figures would be added to the regular December property tax billings.

The township board took the action last week at the same time it added costs for weed cutting to the tax bill for some 25 parcels and once again certified street lighting assessment districts. The addition of the Deer Lake Racquet Club brought the latter to a total of 17 districts.

In other action Neil Sage was named a volunteer lieutenant in the Independence Township Fire Department, replacing Mike Thayer who resigned because of business demands.

Clarkston Church of God members had fun and a winning Labor Day float.

On to court, board says

Independence Township will go to court to defend a recent decision made by the township Zoning Board of Appeals, despite objections by supervisor Ed Glennie.

The Township Board outvoted Glennie 4-1 Tuesday in favor of defending a lawsuit filed August 11 by Dennis Campbell of Pine Knob Road.

Glennie asked the board to consider a consent judgement in the case, which involves property on Pine Knob Road Campbell wants to build on.

Campbell owns part of a lot adjoining his home in Pine Knob Estates. He sought a lot split to add onto his adjoining piece earlier this summer.

The lot split failed to pass after the Zoning Board of Appeals turned down variance requests by Campbell, which the township land division committee required for approval of the split.

Campbell filed suit in Oakland County Circuit Court, asking that the split be granted and a building permit for the property granted.

Surrounding property owners objected to Campbell's split at the appeals board meeting. Their objections were one of the reasons the board decided Tuesday to press on in court. An approval would also be creating a non-conforming lot, Trustee Fred Ritter said.

Supervisor Glennie said it was unreasonable of the neighbors to object to another home, saying there was two sides to the story.

He said homeowners could solve the problem themselves by purchasing the property in question, thus maintaining the character of the neighborhood which neighbors said would be damaged if Campbell were allowed to build.

Township may pay for employees' schooling

Independence Township could reimburse its employees for tuition paid for job-related education, if a plan by supervisor Ed Glennie reaches fruition.

Glennie made the suggestion at Tuesday's Board meeting. He said he has already had requests from some of his employees to have the township pay tuition costs for courses taken to further their job training.

He said the employees' union requires that persons already employed by the township get first crack at any available higher-classification job, which sometimes means accompanying job training is lacking.

Tuition would only be paid for schooling related to the employees' work, Glennie said.

The board took the proposal under consideration.

Land sale to pay Depot transfer?

Independence Township's proposed sale of 13 acres in Brandon Township could help finance the transfer of the White Lake Depot. Village Players president Russ Inman suggested to the Township Board Tuesday.

Funds received from the sale, if voters agree to sell it in November, could pay the $5,300 moving fee and an additional $5,000 needed to place the depot in the village park, Inman said.

Players want to develop the depot into a community center as well as playhouse. They have been seeking financial aid from the township, Clarkston Village and Bicentennial Commission to do so.

Road widenings urged

Independence Township will urge the Oakland County Road Commission and the State Highway Department to widen part of Sashabaw Road and the Dixie Highway.

Letters will be sent to both agencies, the Township Board decided Tuesday, asking that Sashabaw be widened from two to four lanes from Maybee Road to Clarkston Road, including the I-75 overpass bridge.

The letters will also ask the widening of the Dixie from White Lake to M-15 from four to five lanes, and the placing of a signal light on the White Lake/Dixie intersection.

Both areas are congested and traffic hazards, supervisor Ed Glennie told board members Tuesday.

Supervisor berates appeals board

Glennie tells Kraud and Vaara what they shouldn't say

By Jean Saile
of The Clarkston News
Independence Township Supervisor J. Edwin Glennie has reportedly raised the hackles of two Zoning Board of Appeals members by telling them what they may and may not say in public.

The confrontation took place last Wednesday night prior to the first appeals meeting since the board has been expanded from three to five members.

Newcomers Paul Menke and Bob Newlin got a look at some unexpected in-fighting when Glennie appeared before the board prior to the start of its regular session. He was there purportedly to discuss the handling of so-called "unbuildable" lots in terms of special assessments for sewers.

Zoning Board of Appeals members had in the past complained they had received no direction from the township board as to what action should be taken in regard to old vacant lots of record which are too small according to current residential zoning restrictions.

Before Appeals Chairman Robert Kraud, Secretary Mel Vaara or Trustee Fred Ritter could ask their questions, Glennie reportedly told Kraud and Vaara he thought them out of line by indicating publicly the township had ill-defined the procedure to take.

Glennie reportedly said the Zoning Board of Appeals is autonomous and that members should use their own discretion on the cases brought before them.

The township board at one of the public hearings in regard to sewer financing earlier this year determined that owners of such lots could be removed from the special assessment rolls by action of the Zoning Board of Appeals.

Even the $45 fee to appear before the appeals board would be waived in such cases, it decided.

Having such lots within the special assessment district for sewers declared unbuildable would save the owner $2,260 total or $194 a year in time payments.

Glennie also told the appeals group it had "blown" a case in which it had determined last July that a lot split should be denied. The township is now being sued, Glennie told the group.

In a follow-up memo he has asked the board to reconsider the case as it would take $1,000 to $3,000 in legal fees to defend the township position.

By the time a newspaper reporter showed up at 7:15 p.m., the situation had simmered down to a rather lengthy explanation of "unbuildable" lots by Township Attorney Richard Campbell and the principals in the flare-up refused to elaborate further.

Campbell said, "If there is ever enough land acquired on either side of an unbuildable lot to make the area buildable and the owner applies for a building permit, the land would then be added back on the special assessment rolls."

He said he recognized the fact that denying building permits on lots as large as 8,000 square feet—12,000 square feet being required by the ordinance—could leave the township wide open to successful prosecution by the landowner.

He said, however, he felt that the standards had to be maintained whether sewers are available or not. He also explained later that the ruling would not discriminate between the rich and smart as opposed to the poor and less aware of legal rights.

"These are all lots of record that are involved. There will be no big developers or large landowners who will be able to benefit by taking the township to court," Campbell said.

"Most of these lots are individually owned," he added.

In actual board business, members granted a variance to Al Pauly to allow him to build on a Lake Oakland lot which has only 50 feet of frontage on Meyers Road.

Neighbors on either side who themselves have narrower lots than the 100 feet now required had reportedly objected to the plans.

Sheriff wants reserve program

The Oakland County Sheriff's Department is seeking citizen participation in a program designed to beef up the department's community patrols and assist deputies on duty.

Under a new reserve program area residents will be recruited to ride patrol and assist regular deputies.

The new reserves will work out of substations in Orion, Independence, Avon, Brandon and Highland townships, but participation in the program is open to all county residents according to department spokesman Lt. Billy J. Nolin.

"The reserves will be the eyes, ears, and backup of the regular deputies," Nolin said. "They will ride on regular patrol, mostly weekends, afternoons and other heavy crime hours. We're looking for guys willing to donate some of their time to help the community."

Nolin added that selection of the citizen reserves will be made by the deputies in the substations.

"We're going to have the substations do the recruiting because they are going to be the people working with the new men," Nolin said.

Sheriff Department Reserves will receive 109 hours of training, including firearms, at the department's expense. They will be required to purchase their own guns, holsters and uniforms. The department is looking into the possibility of making used uniforms available, Nolin said.

"We wouldn't want to turn anyone down because of a few dollars for a uniform," he commented.

Reserves will be sworn officers, but they will not have arrest powers unless they are in the company of a regular deputy.

Persons interested in the Reserve Program may call Lt. Nolin at 858-5007 or Lt. Carl Matheny at 858-5006.

Liquor license sought for Springfield Oaks

Springfield Oaks golfers may soon be able to have a cool beer in the clubhouse after a round on the links.

Golf club concessionaire John Laffrey is attempting to transfer a St. Clair liquor license to the Springfield Oaks facility.

The old resort license is one of few in the state still eligible for transfer since the state liquor control commission cut off resort license transfers in 1964.

It allows the consumption of liquor, beer and wine on the premises.

Laffrey, part owner of Oakland County Food and Beverage, which services many of the county's parks, made an agreement with the Oakland County Recreation Department to purchase the license and then keep it indefinitely at Springfield Oaks.

Laffrey and county recreation department director Eric Reickel were present at Wednesday's Springfield Township Board meeting, asking the board to waive rights to 1974 resort license fees already promised to St. Clair.

The request was granted.

Happy Birthday Ball

Val Wagnon, decoration chairman for the Independence-Clarkston Bicentennial Committee's Happy Birthday Ball, prepares for the dance which begins at 8 p.m. Saturday at Springfield-Oaks Activities Center. Some 800 tickets have been printed for the gala which will feature Dick Murphy's Big Band Sound. Admission is $5 each and tickets are still available at village businesses.

Assessment deferment for seniors drafted

A new Independence Township sewer ordinance that includes assessment deferments for senior citizens is being drafted by the township attorney.

The special provision for seniors says that anyone 65 or older with an income of $6,000 or less annually can delay paying his or her special sewer assessment.

Seniors must have occupied the home for five years before being eligible for the deferment, and a resident of Michigan for at least five years.

A $3 million state fund has been set aside to pay townships for the deferred assessments. A lien will be placed on seniors' property until such time as the assessment is paid.

Also to be included in the ordinance is a provision that the owner of any property in the township who is unable to pay the special assessment can have it deferred, with a subsequent lien on his property.

Standards for hardship eligibility are determined by a sanitation board set up through the ordinance.

Both new ordinance provisions were made possible by two new state laws passed earlier this year, which Independence Township received notification of August 22.

The new sewer ordinance may be ready for township board passage in September.

When the board discusses the new ordinance, chances are it will discuss whether or not to require mandatory sewer hook-ups, according to supervisor Ed Glennie.

Right now the township is just ignoring the question, according to township attorney Richard Campbell.

Mandatory hook-ups are required within 18 months by state law, but Independence has no such provision in its ordinance, and the state law has not been enforced.

Campbell said there are no plans to insert such a provision in the newly-drafted ordinance.

The question will have to be dealt with eventually, though, Campbell said.

"I think the state's eventually going to make us do something," he said. The switch from flat hook-up sewer fees to special assessment payments has eased the demands for mandatory hook-ups from residents who feel they were unfairly made to pay while others avoided doing so by not tapping in, Campbell said.

With the special assessment, everyone is paying their share, minus sewer usage fees and money paid a contractor to run a sewer line to the home, which those who haven't tapped in haven't paid.

Becker promoted

Sperry Vickers has announced the promotion of Kenneth F. Becker, 8015 Reese Road, to director of aerospace-ordnance-marine (AOM) engineering.

In his new position, Becker will be responsible for engineering activities at the firm's Jackson, Mississippi-based AOM plant.

Becker began his career with Sperry Vickers as a project engineer in 1962. His most recent position was as engineering product planning and control chief. A graduate of Michigan State University, Becker holds a bachelor's degree in mechanical engineering.

Sperry Vickers is a leading manufacturer of fluid power components for in-plant machinery, mobile equipment, aircraft and ships.

Accessory setbacks changed

Springfield subdivision home-owners wishing to build an accessory building must make sure it is placed no less than 10 feet from rear and side property lines.

The Springfield Township

Board changed its zoning ordinance to that effect at its Wednesday meeting.

Prior restrictions called for only three-foot side and rear setbacks on accessory buildings in platted subdivisions.

About the Brandon land sale

by Supervisor J. Edwin Glennie

As the 1976 election draws near, it is important that the citizens of Independence Township are made aware of the two local issues that will appear on the ballot and the facts that prompted the Township Board to put them there.

First is the question of whether or not to sell our old dump property located in Brandon Township. There has been a nasty rumor going around that we might sell it for one dollar. This simply is not the truth. (Not that we haven't been asked, though.)

It is our intent to sell the property at a fair market value to be established at the time of sale. This could be accomplished by having two independent appraisers (one hired by the prospective buyer and one hired by the township) set their value on the property and then negotiate from there.

The question of selling this property is not a new one. Some citizens proposed the idea at the township's annual meeting in 1972 but the idea did not receive a lot of support. This year, however, the citizens who attended our annual meeting, voted heavily in favor of the idea of selling this property.

We were asked about a year ago by Brandon Township to give this land to them for a new Township Park there.

The Independence Township Board met with Brandon's officials and told them we were not interested in giving them the property but that we would certainly be willing to ask our citizens if they were willing to sell the property.

In the meantime, we have leased the property to Brandon Township for one dollar so that they can legally apply for a Federal Grant to purchase and develop the property as a park.

The Independence Township Board sees no useful purpose in keeping the property any longer. Although it was used as a dump, it cannot be used for one any more because of health department rulings.

We certainly cannot develop a piece of property in another community in a way that would help or benefit Independence Township citizens.

The only thing left then seems to be to liquidate the asset and use the monies received in the sale in a way that can and will benefit our citizens. As to what that might be, the Board has not made an attempt to pre-determine.

The final fact as I see it is simply to remind you that no property belonging to the township can be sold without the approval of its citizens.

I will address the question on the police millage next week.

"Aren't you going to write anything about your trip to Chicago?" asked one of the constant readers—a relative.

"Now that you mention it," said I.

And so here goes.

When you have as many children as Jim and I have, it frequently turns out that the experiences accorded the eldest were non-existent by the time the youngest came along.

"We've never been on a train," said Pete and Liz.

"You fib," said I in my best motherly manner. And then I started mentally reliving the years and it turned out they were right.

Pat and Mike used to be placed aboard the old Beeliner which traveled between Rochester and Saginaw for visits with Grandma. Mike and Doug came across Canada once on a trip home from the farm, and even Janet had been to Quebec City. Pete and Liz had not traveled by rail.

We picked Amtrak and Chicago, the Ramada Inn there, a visit with some old friends, walks along the lakeshore, a visit to the 94th floor of the John Hancock building and a day in the Museum of Science and Industry. The latter includes, unbelievably, a coal mine and a real German submarine captured by the allies during World War II.

Also unbelievable in our experience was the extremely reasonable motel fee for one night for the four of us. The downtown area is less desirable than the lakeshore, but there was a lakefront festival going on and the facilities were crowded. Besides we didn't get mugged or robbed, either one.

When we got home, Liz let it be known she couldn't remember ever having gone to Greenfield Village either.

I know she's been there. Our family has taken visiting friends and relatives there for almost 25 years, right? But not in the last ten years since I went back to full time work, it turned out.

So we saw Greenfield Village, and after another train ride, a ride in a Model T and a ride on the river boat, plus a lot of free entertainment to add luster to the history on display, even Pete decided it had been a lot of fun.

"We haven't seen the zoo in a long time," said they on the next day. My legs having already been reduced to one all-encompassing sore muscle each, we took on the zoo.

It was sad. Scum floated on the lakes. Bird feathers dotted the scum. Grass was uncut. The monkey population was reduced. Display areas were barren.

But the chimp show was great, the reptile display was fascinating, the tigers were sleek, and a polar bear did the unmentionable in the polar bear lake much to the delight of the crowd.

I even had to admit I enjoyed the education of the young this second time around.

Hoo boy!

Two or three times in the last couple of years we have had incidents of township board and commission members telling other members what they might or might not say in public.

The latest occurred Wednesday night at the Independence Zoning Board of Appeals meeting and went over with the same lead balloon effect that previous attempts have encountered.

Number 1—it's a free country. When the time comes that either our elected or appointed officials can't state what they think, we'd better wrap it all up and go home.

Number 2—we suspect politics as the guiding force behind these attempts. Trying to play politics of that calibre at the local level is a little ridiculous.

We've got enough problems in Independence Township without having to think of the effect of our vocalized concerns on our elected officials.

'If It Fitz . . .'

Public flogging would be nice

Feedback and other strange stuff . . . Recently I wrote I'd like to live in downtown Detroit so I could walk to work. Perhaps I would also be able to walk to the whippings and hangings.

Several letter writers suggested the walking would be much safer if the street punks were properly punished by the law. Public whippings would be a fine idea, some of you said, just like in the good old days. Perhaps 25 lashes for purse snatching, 50 lashes for assault, and so on.

For me, this stirred up visions of Captain Bligh on the good ship Bounty. He would tie rebellious sailors to the mast and count the lashes as a husky menial crashed the whip down on bloody backs.

Who would count the lashes in Detroit? Maybe Lou Gordon.

Gordon recently called for a return of capital punishment. And he further suggested that the executions be held in Kennedy Square so everyone could watch and be warned of the consequence of crime.

I don't know why Lou didn't suggest that the hangings be shown live on his TV show. Perhaps he realizes how unfair this would be to the many of us who can't get a decent picture on Channel 50.

Anyway, if Detroit does have public hangings and whippings, attendance shouldn't be free. Sell tickets. This would be a splendid way to replenish the city treasury. Season's tickets would be gobbled up by the thousands of frustrated sports fans who have heretofore had to be satisfied with prize fights, wrestling, bullfights and hockey.

Tiger Stadium would be a fine location for the hangings. It is to be expected that there will be those pushing for Pontiac Stadium, because of the dome. But that wouldn't be fair to Detroit citizens.

The crooks should be killed where they committed their crimes. It shouldn't be necessary to bus victims to see justice done. If Pontiac wants public executions, and the resultant boost in tourism, Prosecutor Brooks Patterson should catch his own criminals. He can't have Detroit's.

However, it might be wise for Detroit to cut the state in on some of the hanging action. Otherwise, Gov. Milliken might order his troopers to stop patrolling our freeways.

If the troopers left, there would be fewer crooks caught. This would make it more difficult to fill the cards on kill nights. There should always be a non-freeway murderer or rapist available for the main event. But the preliminaries could become a problem.

At first, the fans might be satisfied with the whippings of a few two-bit muggers, if they were whipped while the fans were still being seated. But people would soon grow sick of a steady crack, crack, crack, especially when it must be admitted that the crackees will live to possibly mug again.

To really bring the crowds out, more than one hanging must be scheduled for each card. After all, a hanging takes only a few minutes, no matter how poorly the rope is tied. People are not going to drive several miles and pay good money to see a 30-minute show.

Also, it cannot be ignored that the more people hung, the more beer and hotdogs sold.

So Detroit will need every criminal it can catch. The aid of state troopers will be important to the success of the hanging shows. It will be only good business to give Gov. Milliken a percentage of the gate.

Perhaps something could be worked out with Gus Harrison, czar of the state lottery. He could probably devise a gambling game based on how many lashes a purse snatcher can take before remembering where he threw the credit cards.

Onward and upward.

Crowd and traffic control at football games

Clarkston school officials are seeking the cooperation of students and parents to insure orderly spectator participation at the 1976 football games. Following a meeting between administrators and the Independence Township Police Services Department, guidelines have been re-established for crowd control. School officials insist that elementary school children must be accompanied by parents or guardian of at least high school age.

Participation of spectators in any of the following activities may result in the spectator being removed from the game in progress and/or the barring from future football games.

1. Running the grounds or sitting in groups on the grass area. (Student spectators are expected to attend games only for the purpose of watching the game.)

2. Using abusive remarks of poor sportsmanship or yelling obscenities.

3. Trafficking and standing in front of the bleachers.

4. Illegally entering the football field.

5. Possessing and throwing of objects (such as apples, eggs, tomatoes, stones).

6. Smoking on the part of junior high school students.

The following violations may result in the removal of the violator to the township police station where an official report will be made and where the parent must report to pick up the student:

1. Fighting, excessive rowdiness and horseplay.

2. Possessing and lighting of firecrackers.

3. Transferring or handling of any type of illegal drugs, pills, or alcoholic beverage.

After the game, parents are urged to pick up students in front of the gym, in the high school parking lot, entering the Middle Lake Road entrance rather than the Waldon Road entrance. This procedure should alleviate much of the traffic congestion on Waldon Road.

Pedestrians leaving the football field are urged to cross Waldon Road in groups with the aid of township police.

Parking lots at Clarkston High School, Clarkston Elementary School and Clarkston Junior High School provide sufficient parking space for those attending the games.

Parking on the lawns is in violation of the township parking ordinance. Vehicles illegally parked may be ticketed or towed away at the owner's expense.

Students and parents are to be commended for their cooperation in following these guidelines during the 1975 season. We hope for a continued success this fall.

A keelboat is one of the more difficult boats to trail, and if trailing a boat is your plan, it would be better to have a centerboarder or a swing-kneel boat. The swing keel was developed mainly on the West Coast, where there is no need for a center-boarder while afloat. A keel is fixed in place all the time while sailing, but can be unbolted and slipped up into a trunk or slot while the boat is being trailed. A strong tackle or even a hydraulic pump is provided for raising and lowering a swing keel.

Along with each purchase advice is provided by our knowledgeable staff at PADDLE TO POWER MARINE, 6507 Dixie Hwy. next to Kinney Shoes, 625-0129. The AMF Crestliner Crusader 2455 is a big water performer. There is a cozy cuddy cabin when you need privacy and a built-in ice well and/or fish and bait locker. The rugged fiberglass innerliner makes clean-up a breeze and one of the options is a full camper canvas. Open: Daily and Sun. 9am-9pm.

HANDY HINT:

Keelboats give a sense of security in rough open water.

Hunter Safety Clinic

For several years the State of Michigan has required that every youngster between the ages of 12 and 16 desiring to purchase a hunting license for the first time successfully complete a Hunter Safety Course. The course is required for all forms of hunting within the state.

Carl Marsh, president of the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club, announced that the club will again hold a Hunter Safety Clinic to enable area young people to obtain the necessary certificate.

The clinic will be held on the club grounds on Sunday, September 19, with registration beginning at 8 a.m. The training sessions will begin at 9 a.m. and will continue until approximately 4:30 p.m.

Co-chairmen of the clinic, club members John Crady and Art Guthaus, said most of the sessions will be held outdoors, rain or shine, so the dress-of-the-day should be geared to the weather. Sandwiches, soft drinks and snacks will be available for those who wish to purchase them, and picnic tables are available for those who pack their lunches.

The registration fee for the clinic is $1.

From the northern hills of Piedmont to the sunny shores of Sicily, the land of Italy is extremely favorable to an abundant growth of vines, and the wines of Italy are among the most ancient known to man. As a matter of fact, the yearly yield of wine from Italy is sometimes greater than that of France. Lambrusco is one of Italy's most delightful wines, produced just west of Bologna, in northern Italy. Lambrusco is a rich, red wine, semi-sparkling and colorful, with a rich, fruity taste, and tantalizing tang.

Whether you prefer a sweet red wine or a dry white one come by UNCLE BOB'S GENERAL STORE, 2325 Joslyn Rd., Antique Village, Lake Orion, 391-3033 and see our fantastic selection. Our staff is very knowledgeable so don't ever hesitate to ask any questions you may have about wines or how to serve them. In addition to our fine wines we also feature cheeses, gourmet foods, penny candy and many lovely gift items. Hours: 7 days a week 10-6.

James W. Dunleavy, candidate for State Representative, 60th Legislative District, issued a challenge to his opponent to debate issues on the upcoming election. Dunleavy has asked his opponent to contact him as soon as possible, so he may schedule several debates throughout the county.

When you call 858-0904 for canning information you're actually talking to the Oakland County Cooperative Extension Service. We had a misleading headline in last week's story about the service, leading people to believe they might be talking to the health department. Sorry about that.

Funny things happen the first few days of school.

Norm Cilly at the bus transportation garage reports one elementary student found herself on a Holly bus and wound up in school at Davisburg in place of in Clarkston.

Another first grader wound up back at the bus garage at day's end. He'd apparently gotten on the wrong bus at school and all he could tell the driver was that he lived "in a red house with a green mailbox."

He had a wise mother. School administrative aide Bill Dennis found all the information necessary taped inside his school lunch box and was able to call a very relieved parent.

Cilly thinks the buses will once again be transporting about the same number of kids that they carried last year—4,700. There have been some overcrowded junior high runs, but other runs have been lighter. Overcrowding seems to be coming from the area north of town along Allen and Reese roads.

Springfield Township has received word from Oakland County that it has been allocated federal revenue sharing funds totaling $24,155.

The township only budgeted for $11,000 in revenue sharing, but expected about the amount received, township clerk J. Calvin Walters said.

The site plan for the Springfield Township Library has been approved by the Township Board, and plans can move ahead for the transfer of the old schoolhouse that will serve as the library.

The Andersonville one-room school will probably be moved within a month from its Andersonville/Big Lake location to a one-acre lot on the corner of Andersonville and Hogback roads.

Excavator Jim Mouch began digging the basement for the library Thursday.

Springfield Township Supervisor Don Rogers says he filed a campaign expenditure voucher with the County Clerk's office a week ago Tuesday. He says he raised no money and spent no money and the reason his report was late was because he was away on vacation.

Prosecutor L. Brooks Patterson will open his campaign headquarters at 7:30 p.m. today (Thursday) at 85 South Telegraph in the Tel-Huron Shopping Center.

Showing of two films produced by the American Kennel Club will highlight the next monthly meeting of the North Oaks Kennel Club on Wednesday, September 15, at Brandon Township Hall, in Ortonville. The meeting, which begins at 8 p.m. is open to the public.

The two films on the program are "Westminster '76," containing highlights of the 1976 Westminster Kennel Club dog show at Madison Square Garden, and "Anatomy of a Dog." Both films have proven of considerable interest to all dog owners, regardless of their interest in dog shows.

The North Oaks Kennel Club is a three-year-old club serving northern Oakland County and southern Genesee and Lapeer counties. The club conducts at least one match show annually and hopes to obtain American Kennel Club sanction.

For information about the September 15 meeting or about membership, call Mrs. Mary Beardsley at 625-4781.

Committee out of the closet

Independence Township's Committee for Reviewing Lot and Acreage Divisions is out of the closet and into the open. The three-man committee, composed of the township assessor, planner and building director, met in public session for the first time Thursday. Since the committee was established in November of 1975, lot and acreage split applications were acted on privately. Thursday, since the committee had denied two acreage split applications privately, the petitioners, asked for the public hearing, as is their right under the ordinance establishing the committee. The public hearing failed to change the committee's mind—the petitioners were again denied their splits.

A request by John Vanderlind to divide 40 acres of property off Shappie Road into three 10-acre, three 2.5-acre and one 1.9-acre parcels was turned down because the split would require a private road, and because the zoning ordinance calls for three-acre minimum lots in rural residential zoning.

Robert Pearson was denied his request to split a six-acre parcel on Waterford Road into two three-acre parcels, because the split would require a private easement.

Pearson wanted to divide his property horizontally and put a home on the back section.

Both petitioners have the right to appeal their cases to the township board.

Parking restricted on Sashabaw

The Board of County Road Commissioners has banned stopping, standing or parking in the right-of-way at the intersection of Sashabaw and Sally roads, near the entrance to Independence Oaks county park.

John R. Gnau, Jr., vice chairman of the road board, said the parking ban will become effective as soon as appropriate signs can be erected.

"The ban applies to Sashabaw from a half-mile north of Sally road to two-tenths of a mile south of the intersection, and to Sally road between Sashabaw and Eevee roads," Gnau said.

The ban was requested by the Oakland County Sheriff's department and its need confirmed through an on-site inspection by traffic safety experts from the Oakland County Road Commission, Michigan State Police, Sheriff's department and the director of police services for the township.

Make a mental note

Good discipline does not always mean complete explanations

By Jim and Ellen Windell

Ideally many parents believe children should be given directives only when a complete explanation is also given. While many middle class parents subscribe to this belief, most probably practice something somewhat different.

Paving due

Resurfacing of Sashabaw Road from Walton to Pelton in Waterford and Independence townships has been ordered by the Oakland County Road Commission.

Bids for the project will be received at 1:30 p.m. Monday, September 20.

Mothers and fathers who raise mature and competent children are usually warm, loving and consistent. They are also secure in their interactions with their youngsters. As parents who are adequate tend more or less intuitively to understand, children need different ways of being handled at various ages.

Toddlers do not need nor do they frequently ask for reasons they cannot do things. By the time a child begins to talk he can be given short explanations for parental demands and requests. During the elementary school years, short statements rather than belabored explanations are all that is necessary. In adolescence, however, rational reasons are demanded but often not acceptable, at least in front of mom and dad.

Competent parents tend to respect their youngsters' independence and decisions. They, however, hold firm in their own positions and usually give clear, explicit reasons for their directions. In short, parents who are effective respect the opinion of their child but stick to their own decision when it differs from what the child wants to do. One of the most important aspects is that communication is clear and easily understood.

Some parents prefer to always appeal to the reason of their offspring. At the time that the child is able to talk, they believe that he has enough understanding to accept and agree with their rational explanations. By providing enough patience and sympathy, the child can be persuaded to see the reasonableness of the parents' position. For these parents, logic and intellect are all that is needed to solve the problems in this world.

While we cannot totally disagree with this approach, neither can it be wholeheartedly accepted. This is a much too rigid and unemotional approach and fails to take into consideration that neither people (including children) nor this world is organized on a rational, logical basis. Children should learn from their parents that spontaneity and emotion are valuable and also that there is a limit to the parents' patience and understanding.

Not every decision should be communicated with the explanation, "Because I said so!", neither should a child expect that every decision or directive in life will be followed by a rational discussion with logical alternatives.

Real Estate HAPPENINGS

by Bob & Marvel White

Perhaps no other person typified urban land speculation during the late 1700's better than Jacob Astor, active on the burgeoning island of Manhattan. Astor, a German immigrant, arrived in New York in 1784 and immediately involved himself in the commerce of the city. When the Jay Treaty was signed in 1796, fur trading opened up to the Northwest, and Astor became the dominant figure in this trade. With the funds from his various trading exploits, Astor began buying up Manhattan real estate—with tremendous profits for himself.

Clarkston woman finds Saudi Arabia a land of contrast

By Jean Saile
of The Clarkston News

Duffy Liddicoat leaves a land where women do not socialize with men when she returns annually to Clarkston.

She and her husband Bill, a geologist for the Saudi Arabian government, live most of the year in Jeddah, a port on the Red Sea.

Though Mecca is almost visible from where they live, Duffy has never been to the Moslem city. Christians are not allowed, and there is even a Christian by-pass on the road to Mecca.

Duffy wears long skirts or pants at all times in Jeddah, the Moslem women still appearing in long black dresses, capes and veils when they go out in public. It is not fitting to show one's legs, despite the fact that temperatures may rise as high as 116 degrees.

Duffy wonders how they stand it—both the heat and the confinement.

Habits are beginning to change, the wealth of the oil rich nation enabling the more affluent to send their children abroad for schooling, but she finds Jeddah a very conservative place.

"One liberated Saudi woman opened a dress store that my daughter and I used to shop in. A guard at the door assured that no men were permitted inside.

"One day a young Saudi man appeared at the door with a length of ribbon asking for a green dress in 'this size,' that apparently being the length of the ribbon.

"The owner assured him his wife could come to the store, that no men were ever allowed in, but she said she would not. The owner finally showed him all the dresses she had that fit his description and he bought one and went home."

Duffy also points out the inconsistencies of a land where goats rub their backs on expensive cars in streets that were never meant to accommodate cars.

"There's a big road building effort being made now," she notes, the oil having made cars more plentiful than ever before.

Bill is not involved in the search for oil. Iron ore is his specialty, however copper, nickel and gold can all be found in the area.

He has been a geologist for the Saudis for 10 years and recently signed up for another year in the Arabian Peninsula. Duffy has accompanied him since their marriage in 1972, and being a summer person she says she has enjoyed their life there. Three of Duffy's children have joined them at various times.

The Liddicoats live in a new pre-fab house complete with air conditioning as opposed to the older thick walled and fan-cooled homes. A gardener comes with Bill's job, and the family also enjoys the services of both a driver and a houseboy.

Women are not allowed to drive in Jeddah, and were she to be involved in an accident, Duffy thinks things would go very rough for Bill.

The houseboy does everything. From Yemen, a country that provides most of the labor in Saudi Arabia, he is available on a daily basis to cook and clean for $100 a month. The cost used to be less, Duffy says, but inflation is also hitting the Saudis.

Many of them are wary of further Western influence, bemoaning the effect of too much money and the examples of the West.

Not far away from the encroaching affluence are Bedouins, the nomadic wanderers of the desert who chase the rains in search of sustenance for their flocks.

They provide another contrast in the land, Duffy says. And yet the government is now building schools for the wanderers, and the problem has become one mainly of keeping the students in them long enough for an education.

Duffy has experienced little of the political upheaval of the Mid-East. Jeddah is remote, and the restricted visa situation allows no political "undesirables" into the country.

She and three other women with two drivers toured the southernmost reaches of Saudi Arabia, down to the mountainous region near the Yemen border, a place that she says few Westerners have seen. There they found terraced farms and weather similar to ours, but, Duffy pointed out the machinery was still extremely primitive.

Where she lives, there is perhaps one two-inch rain a year, and maybe—very rarely—a slight shower. The rest of the time the sun shines.

Even so, with the use of watering, Duffy is able to grow tomatoes, zucchini squash and egg plant in her backyard.

The vegetables are a welcome addition to a diet that consists largely of imports, however the meat is mostly local, and very tough. It's the kind you need to pound and then cook all day, she reports.

She finds Rudy's Market a place of irresistible allure on her returns to Michigan.

Duffy and Bill Liddicoat and her son, Nick Bell, patronize a Saudi teahouse, which serves Pepsi and which Duffy terms the national drink. Coca Cola isn't allowed inside the country because of its Jewish subsidiaries, she reports. Water for drinking is bottled in the arid country.

Whoopee Bowl home okayed

A large number of neighbors helped Whoopee Bowl owners Mr. and Mrs. Dale Wilder realize their ambition to build a house next to their Dixie Highway business.

Petition signatures from 115 surrounding residents convinced the Springfield Township Board to okay a rezoning request which allows the single-family residence to be built on 1.2 acres south of the store.

The board disregarded recommendations by its planner, the Township Planning Commission and the Oakland County Coordinating Committee that the rezoning be denied.

The recommendations stated that rezoning the land from commercial to single family would not conform with surrounding commercial and manufacturing zoning shown on the township master plan.

Representatives for the Wilders argued that there were other homes sprinkled along the commercial area of Dixie Highway, creating non-conforming uses. One home south of the Whoopee Bowl on the Dixie had been built as recently as two years ago, they said.

The Wilders, now in their 60s, have been living on their Whoopee Bowl property for 30 years, first in an apartment of the business and now in an apartment on one side of the Boothby's Gift Shop on White Lake and Dixie.

The apartment is cramped, necessitating the Wilders' request for a home site.

You can help support independence center by buying groceries from A&P or shopping at Boothby's Gift Shop on White Lake and Dixie.

Five percent of the amount you spend for groceries at any A&P

September 19 will be donated to the center.

The Boothbys will donate 10 percent of profits made on any purchases there September 12.

To get your A&P Donation Days card, contact Nancy Davis at 623-9340.

CB'ers want to help

Concerned Citizens CB'ers of Northwest Oakland County are saving channel 19 for emergency reporting about 80 members were told when they met recently at Clarkston High School.

The group is emphasizing it wants to be known as a service unit, helping with emergencies on the highways, in homes, building and during weather emergencies.

Two Michigan State Police troopers from Lapeer were present to explain the kind of assistance they can use on the highways.

A film, "How to Save a Choking Victim: The Heimlich Maneuver," was shown.

A family picnic from 1 to 5 p.m. September 19 at Dodge Park was planned. Those attending are asked to bring their own main meal, beverage, table service and a dish to pass.

People interested in joining are asked to contact No-Name or Legg's on Channel 19 or phone 625-3558.

Animal amendment nixed

A zoning ordinance amendment seeking to control the keeping of animals in Springfield Township has died a quiet death.

The Springfield Township Board turned the amendment down after the Township Planning Commission recommended its defeat.

A number of animal owners in Springfield turned up at a public hearing before the planning commission recently to voice objections to the amendment.

The township board Wednesday decided that an amendment regulating the amount of buildable property an animal owner can have wouldn't do much good.

50th anniversary

Edward D. and Onalee E. Whipple celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at an open house for friends and relatives Saturday, September 4, at their home, 6780 Rattalee Lake Road. Several of the guests had attended the Whipples' wedding 50 years ago, among them Charles B. Whipple of Royal Oak, Mrs. Ernest Mahaffey of Fremont, Mrs. Kenneth Phelps of Holly, Mrs. Carolyn Embree of Union Lake, Mrs. Charles Shanahan of Warren and Mrs. J. B. Leonard of Sarasota, Fla. The Whipples were married in Pontiac, moving to Clarkston in 1935 and have lived at their present home for 40 years.

The 60th wedding anniversary of the Andrew Wrights at 6290 South Main has turned into a star studded affair. Besides greetings from President Ford, Congressman Broomfield and Gov. Milliken, the former Canadians were surprised with a telegram of congratulations from Her Majesty, Queen Elizabeth, and heard also from several Canadian officials.

On Sunday, their family gathered, son Mel and his wife, Amy, having flown in from Saskatchewan for the occasion, Gordon and his wife Dorothy and their children and grandchildren arriving from Saginaw, and the James Saile family here.

Clarkston United Methodist Church members will celebrate Homecoming with a picnic at 12:30 p.m. Sunday, September 12 at the church. Reservations may be made by calling the church office at 625-1611 or Gen Gordon, 625-2364.

Clarkston Masonic Temple will host a smorgasbord dinner from noon to 3 p.m. Sunday, September 19 at the temple, 1 North Main.

Clarkston Rotarian Stan Darling extends the thanks of his club to everyone who participated in Monday's Labor Day parade. There were around 60 entries in the parade—a tribute to the endurance of the many groups and individuals who have had five parades to prepare and march in this summer in Independence.

Brooks and Kathy Patterson are the proud parents of a 10 pound, 3½ ounce baby girl, Mary Margaret, born September 3 at Pontiac St. Joseph Mercy Hospital. Dayne, 9, and Shawn, 7, were eagerly looking forward to her arrival at their Independence Township home on Monday.

The Annual Harvest Festival Turkey Dinner for the Ortonville Methodist Church will be September 15. Serving starts at 5 p.m.

The first coffee for parents of Sashabaw Junior High students will be held on Wednesday, Sept. 15, 1976, at 9:30 a.m. Parents are invited to attend and participate in discussions about the Junior High program. Gus Birtsas, principal, and George White, assistant principal, will be reporting on the opening of the school year and will lead tours into the classrooms. All parents are encouraged to attend. Coffee and rolls will be served.

The fall meeting of the Oakland County Association, Order of the Eastern Star will be on Saturday, September 18 at the Davisburg Masonic Temple in Davisburg. Electa Chapter No. 160 will be host. Dinner reservations are limited and must be in by September 10.

Registration will begin at 2 o'clock and the meeting called to order at 3 o'clock. The evening session for the installation of officers is to start at 7:30 p.m.

Sonia Mills, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Mills of Perry Lake Road, Clarkston, will be returning to her junior year at Michigan State University a week early this fall to participate in the Resident Assistant Workshop program. Sonia was selected during an intensive interview screening process last spring to assume the duties of an RA at one of MSU's dorms. Sonia is majoring in Consumer Community Services in the College of Human Ecology.

Drayton Heights Free Methodist Church will dedicate its new addition with programs Sunday at the church, 5482 Winell.

Bishop W. Dale Cryderman of Winona Lake, Ind., will be guest speaker at the 10:30 a.m. worship and 3 p.m. dedication ceremonies.

Open house will follow the 3 p.m. program with a concert of sacred music by Robert Kitley of Oakland Avenue First Baptist Church of Pontiac at 6 p.m.

Sunday school is at 9:45 a.m.

Long time White Lake Township resident Joe Crosby will be a victim of crippling arthritis and he and his wife, Doris, divide their time between Michigan and Georgia in a bus Joe fixed up as a mobile home. Joe is a guest of honor at a pancake day from noon to midnight Saturday at the Roaring 20's CB Club in downtown Davisburg.

Engaged

Mary Elizabeth Fisher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fisher of Drayton Plains, will wed Curtis Lee Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Smith of Waterford Township next month. They are both graduates of Clarkston High School.

Living in Clarkston

Debra J. Plourde, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Plourde of Rochester, and John D. Hux, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hux of 6907 Snowapple, were wed July 30 at Utica's St. Kieran Church.

Mr. and Mrs. John D. Hux

Fr. Edward Obuchowski officiated at the mass before 200 guests.

The bride chose a white, A-line gown with short sleeves and mantilla-type finger-tip veil. She carried daisies, carnations and baby's breath.

Cheryl Ross of Utica was maid of honor while Kathie Fuce, Linda MacGregor, Rosemary Plourde and Jan Wallag served as bridesmaids. They wore peach gowns with floral print jackets.

Kristen MacGregor was flower girl and Rusty Thornton, nephew of the groom, was ring bearer.

Gary Towns, best man, and Donny Plourde, Paul Rakow, Mike Plourde, and Jim Yagano attended the groom.

A reception for 200 at Addison-Oaks Park followed the ceremony. Following a wedding trip to Myrtle Beach, South Carolina, the newlyweds will live in Clarkston.

Wed at Methodist Church

Dianne L. Hovey was wed September 4 to John L. Yocum, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Yocum of Pontiac.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan L. Hovey of 6927 Tappan Drive.

Rev. James Balfour performed the ceremony at Clarkston United Methodist Church. Roses and carnations decorated the altar for the double ring candlelight ceremony. There were 150 guests present.

Her gown was of chantilly lace over a fitted bodice trimmed in seed pearls. Cut in princess style, it featured a chapel train and full gathered sleeves with matching lace cuffs.

She carried a cascade arrangement of roses and carnations.

Mrs. Carol Lower of Milford was matron of honor in a yellow princess style dress with matchingorgette cape and yellow picture hat.

Deobrah Hovey, sister of the bride, was similarly attired.

The groom's brother, Gerald, served as his best man and Bill Lowery and Reynolds White seated guests.

A reception at the fellowship hall followed the ceremony.

Craft and cider festival slated for downtown

The second annual Clarkston Craft and Cider Festival will be held September 24, 25 and 26 at Washington and Main Streets in historic downtown Clarkston. Friday and Saturday hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Sunday's are 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Participating craftsmen include a wood carver, a blacksmith, jewelry makers, and potters. Items such as leaded glass terrariums, hand-painted tinware, furniture and fabric crafts will also be featured. Several craftsmen will offer demonstrations. Cider, donuts and apples will be available in addition to an old-fashioned popcorn wagon.

The three-day event is sponsored by the Clarkston Community Historical Society.

Coffee with Trim

A discussion session with State Rep. Claude Trim (D-Davisburg) has been set up by Clinton Villa mobile home park residents. The informal coffee will be held on September 9 in the Community Center of the park, 4851 Clintonville Road. The public is invited; the meeting begins at 7:30 p.m.

Growing things

Kill dandelions now

by Lyle Abel

Want to control next May's dandelion crop? Then best you do it during this year's September!

Right now those pesky dandelions and most other weeds in our lawns are making ready for next season's blooms and seeds.

Right now too they are most easily controlled by weed killing chemicals if properly applied. Actually the dandelion is about the easiest lawn weed to control by using these materials.

The most commonly used chemicals for dandelion control are really a hormone-like substance that causes the plant to literally grow itself to death. This chemical has a many lettered name which is shortened to just 2,4-D.

Dealers sell it in combinations under a variety of other names. The 2,4-D has the ability to kill only certain plants, mostly those with broad leaves including, with the dandelion, the plantains, bindweed, chickory, burdock and many others. Properly used it will not harm the lawn grasses.

Chickweeds are another group of weeds common to our lawns and especially noticeable during the fall season. Chickweeds, too, can be controlled chemically but by a different material than that used for killing the dandelions and their broad-leaved neighbors.

Chickweeds, clover, the ground ivies these more potent chemicals with the shortened names of MCPP and Silvex for their control. Look in the fine print on the label and you will find these names.

Crabgrass, sandburs, the broad leaved fescues and several other rascal lawn weeds are not affected by any of these chemicals and need a different treatment for their control. Next spring is the time to treat them.

Not only are many weeds easier to kill at this fall season but there are other advantages for doing it now.

The chemicals give off less vapors during the cool weather and cause less damage to roses, shrubs, flowers, trees and other desirable plants.

Too, these desirable plants are more mature and less easily injured, as is the case during the spring season when they are making more rapid and tender growth.

Since weed control chemicals are most effective when plants are growing at their best, one can get better weed control by combining them with fall applications of fertilizer. This will stimulate the weeds to new growth that readily absorb the weed killers. You reap a double reward—better grass—fewer weeds.

Weed control chemicals come as granules, liquids, or in combination with fertilizers.

The material you use is less important than the accuracy of your application. Manufacturers and research specialists have spent great amounts of money and much time testing these materials.

Following their recommendations carefully should give one a weed-free lawn that can be your pride and joy.

Public Notice

The Village of Clarkston will hold Public Hearings on September 13 and 27, 1976 at 7:30 p.m. at the Village Hall, 25 South Main Street, Clarkston, Michigan 48016, to discuss possible uses for 1977 Community Development Funds.

This soft, feminine style, cut just below the chin keeps secret a too-long face or too-wide forehead. Carefree and easy, just blow it dry.

Hooked on Looney Tunnes

By Phillip Purser
When I first saw the name Looney Tunnes, I immediately had thoughts of those Saturday afternoon Warner Brother cartoons at the movies. When I found out it was a store that bought, sold, and traded records, I was hooked.

Buying records has been an obsession with me for years and finally here was a store nearby where I could indulge my habit. It was like a dream come true.

However, I knew that it was a dream destined to be short-lived. I mean, can you imagine a used record store staying in business in this area? Ridiculous! Well, sure in a large city or around a college, but not in Oakland County.

Surprisingly, nine months later Looney Tunnes is still in business. While not flourishing, say its owners, it is paying the rent and making a little profit, too.

No one seems more surprised than the used record and tape store's young owners, Kay Calle and Parky Freeman. They got the idea when they were traveling in California a few years back and found a similar store.

Although both Kay and Parky work other jobs to make ends meet, the store is open from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. every day except Sunday when it is open in the afternoon only and, as a consequence, they have had to hire people to help out.

Both Kay and Parky grew up in Clarkston and finished high school here before traveling to California. Their store, at 5200 Dixie Highway in Drayton Plains, has slowly built a clientele that includes many friends from Clarkston who have become regular customers.

Part of the uniqueness of Looney Tunnes stems from the freshness and perhaps naivete of the young couple who went into the business without previous experience nor even sufficient operating capital. What they lack in business expertise, however, they make up in amiability and friendliness.

Clientele are encouraged to leave lists of hard-to-find record albums and in many cases, Kay reports, "we find the records that are so badly wanted."

Even though the owners are very much aware of the inflated prices of deleted and hard-to-find records these days, they refuse to raise their low prices. Their prices range from twenty-five cents to about two dollars and a quarter per album. The records are graded carefully and priced accordingly. If a customer is unhappy with a record or tape, it can be returned with no hassle. In general, the customer when leaving Looney Tunnes with an armload of records feels he has really taken advantage of the store.

When they started out, they had a few hundred of their own and friends' albums. Now they constantly need to build new shelves to house the thousands of used and new records that are stacked around the store.

Kay and Parky want more used records to satisfy their customers. But they caution new customers in two ways. First, they won't buy beat up records that look like they have been used for frisbees and secondly, they are overstocked with certain records. They now have too many records by Chicago, Andy Williams and the Tijuana Brass. Records which are currently in demand are the Monkees, Iggy and the Stooges, It's a Beautiful Day, The Beatles, and various big band records.

Jazz and country and western records are also bought, although jazz is harder to sell. Nevertheless, jazz collectors constantly request certain old favorites such as Dave Brubeck, Erroll Garner, Stan Getz and Cannonball Adderley. They are sure now that people of all ages want used records for listening, taping and filling gaps in collections.

Who said merry-go-rounds were fun? This miss is having second thoughts.

Farmer's Night drew crowds aplenty

Enterprising agriculturists hawked their wares.

Pontiac State Bank gave away balloons, popcorn.

Jewelry sales were everywhere.

Jim's jottings

Season change earlier and colder

by Jim Sherman

This and that . . .
Fall will be 18 hours earlier than last year. Guess why. Answer at column's end.

We are in for a long, cold winter. I've seen two caterpillars this month and both were solid black.

During Oxford's Centennial pageant the 1950s, 60s and 70s were covered by someone reading notes of news. Like when the Hippies, Yppies, twist, big band sound, etc. were popular. One event was missed. Mrs. Wes Allen of Lake Orion turned to us and asked, "Where are the garage sales?"

July 22 Jottings mentioned a friend who had his car hit by a stone thrown by a highway mowing machine. We were curious to see if such claims were honored and how quickly.

The claims are honored quickly. The friend was told to get two estimates for repairs and send them to the county clerk. He received his check by return mail made out to both him and the garage.

I wore a beard for a year. I thought it was rather conspicuous. Something that would be noticed when removed. It's surprising how few commented. I grew to dislike having hair on my face. Constant nagging didn't help.

If fish liked color like my fishing partner we'd be able to set up a fish market and make a bundle.

Pansy Baldwin has a purple plastic twister with a hook in it with two orange florescent spinners fixed above it. And, that's not even his bright lure.

But he actually caught a little pike on it. A few casts later he lost that lure, claiming another, bigger pike took it. Some fish are blind.

It's terrible to be reminded it's such a short time until Christmas.

Among the things that irritate me is reaching into the refrigerator for a root beer and finding it attached to five more cans.

Among the things that warm my heart are kids' pet parades.

Fall will arrive at 5:48 p.m. Sept. 22 (EDT). It's 18 hours earlier than 1975 because of the leap year day in February.

That's the day when the day and night are supposed to be equal. However, this isn't right either. They will be equal on the 26th.

The Harvest (full) moon is Sept. 8 . . . and that's all the astrology I can stand.
