Trick or Treat time is Sunday

Trick or Treat time will be 6 to 7 p.m. Sunday, October 31, despite a conflict in time with evening services for some area churches.

Police Services Director Jack McCall said suggestions had ranged all the way from having the observance Friday night to Monday night, November 1.

"Each date posed a problem and we decided to stick with the real Halloween date," he said.

Independence Township reserve officers will supplement police patrols during the trick or treat time and on Devil's Night preceding it.

Officers advise that young trick or treaters wear light colored clothing, have adult supervision and that parents check the candy collection for evidence of tampering.

$10,000 village study okay

The planning firm of Vilican-Leman will be hired at a cost of $10,000 to devise a master plan for the village of Clarkston.

The decision of the Clarkston Village Council followed a joint meeting with the Clarkston Village Planning Commission and considerable discussion at the council meeting Monday night.

The study will be paid for in two installments—$5,000 this year and $5,000 next year.

Village President Keith Hallman noted that he now feels that it is in the best interest of the village to sign the contract. Proposed use of Hawk Tool as a shopping mall and restaurant since the contract was first discussed contributed to his changed position, he indicated.

The council also feels that a master plan is essential for a legal basis for zoning. Without the master plan, courts often side with the individual involved in a dispute with the local government, it was pointed out.

Fontie ApMadoc objected to the contract because many of the assurances of the planning firm are not in writing. She abstained from voting, for that reason.

Agreeing with her, Mike Thayer voted no on the signing of the contract.

2 arrested

Two boys, aged 14 and 16, have been arrested by Michigan State Police and turned over to juvenile authorities in connection with the confiscation of marijuana and some $300 in cash last Tuesday.

The two were picked up in connection with the crackdown on smoking at Sashabaw Junior High last week. The marijuana and the money were found at the home of the 16-year-old.

Police said they were seeking a warrant for another youth who allegedly sold the boys the marijuana. The third subject lives in Milford.

Finding a spider-like mouse in a web is only one of the strange things which amaze Jeremy Roberts. He's at the Waterford Jaycettes Haunted House on the Dixie Highway near Andersonville Road, open every evening until Sunday.

Deer Lake agreement awaits information

By Jean Saile
of The Clarkston News
Independence Township may be getting ready to enter a consent judgment with the would-be developers of the north end of Deer Lake. A special meeting has been called for 8 p.m. Friday to consider the problem when has been pending in and out of the courts for the last three years.
As of Monday, Township Attorney Richard Campbell said he was still not certain of the people involved in the development company, however Hubert Garner has long been its spokesman. Lack of that kind of information once before caused the development company's zoning suit against the township to be thrown out of Oakland County Circuit Court.

The suit contended the owners had been denied the use of their property by delays and denials of zoning requests. Refiling has since taken place, but Campbell said that shortly thereafter he had been informed of a change in the corporate set-up. The township, for that reason, had never made reply to the new filing, he explained.

A federal district court suit charging the township with denial of civil rights in its response to zoning requests has also been dismissed, but Campbell said there is a motion pending to reinstate suits before Federal District Judge Lawrence Gubow.
Under terms of the proposed consent judgment, Garner has allegedly agreed to give up all further legal action against the township. He will also accept 75 less single family homes on the 359-acre parcel than present zoning would allow. And he will also give up rights to construct apartments or condominiums on another approximate 20 acres.

Township officials say Garner, in exchange, will receive approximately ten more acres or a total of 17 acres of commercial property to be developed along the Dixie Highway near I-75, and that permission to start construction would be expedited by the consent judgment. Another piece of commercial property abuts in Springfield Township.
At a recent township meeting, township residents were told Garner would settle for 150 single family homes one-and-a-half to three acre lots as opposed to the right to build on 33,000 square foot lots for part of the property.

The attorney noted there is no market for multiples at present in Independence Township, and he also pointed out that the need for curbs and gutter, central water and sewer systems could be eliminated with the larger lots.
"That would tend to make development much cheaper," he said.
He said the names of all the owners of the company would be needed to make the agreement valid.

Township car policy modified

Three cars and a van will be parked in township quarters at night, beginning November 1, in place of going home with their drivers as a result of a publicly announced policy three weeks ago to limit township car usage. Six other cars will still be making the circuit between home and work as the result of action taken to alleviate the ruling in the first of two special board meetings scheduled this week. The board met Monday to borrow some $410 to meet the $6,557 payment due to the county on the Mill Pond clean-up project. Costs have been spread over a five-year period with the first payment due November 1. It was the board's intention to borrow from the general fund until tax payments in December take care of the charges.

The exceptions to the car policy, which one trustee billed as a political ploy prior to the election, were asked by Supervisor J. Edwin Glennie and Clerk Robert Lay. Glennie denied the timing of the election had anything to do with the policy, reporting that it had taken since the first of the year to determine what parking accommodations would be available at the township hall. The district court moved out last January to ease the load on the township parking lot.

George Anderson, DPW director, and Rick Huffman, assessor, had been hired on the basis that they would be furnished a car. A suggestion that the cars be taken away and $100 a month added to their pay never got off the ground. Causing some dissension was a motion to include Kenneth Delbridge, building department chief, in the category with Anderson and Huffman, but it eventually passed the board unanimously and all three will still be driving township cars.

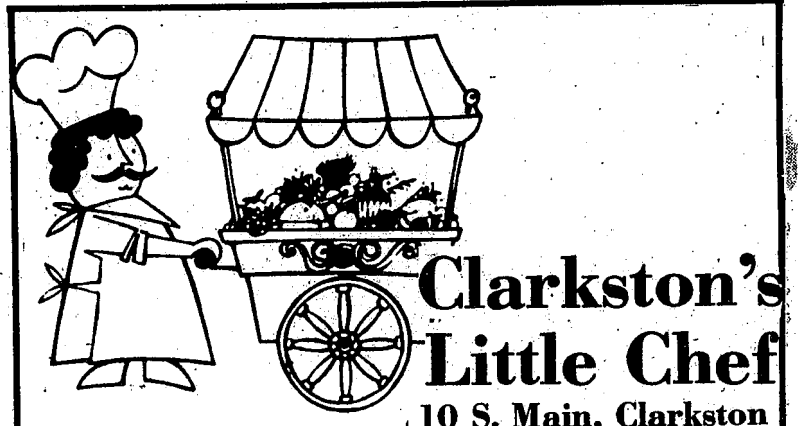

And the cars that go home every night? Besides those belonging to Delbridge, Anderson and Huffman, there are those belonging to Fire Chief Frank Ronk, Assistant Chief Jack Beach and Police Chief Jack McCall and a pick-up assigned to the water department.

The van was once driven home irregularly by Tim Doyle, recreation department head. Cars have been removed from a plumbing inspector, a building inspector and the assistant assessor.

In years gone by someone drove a railroad spike into this now 12-inch tree.

Bank growth

The Pontiac State Bank reported net income for the first nine months of 1976 virtually the same as the 1975 performance. The bank's lower investment margin thus far in 1976 was the principal reason for the sidewise comparison.

Dogcatching is a busy business

"The biggest trick is learning to drive and write at the same time," Dirk said. Calls are radioed to him on the road, and handling the steering wheel, police mike and a pencil is quite a juggling act.

Dirk has been on the road since September 25, when Independence Township's new animal control ordinance went into effect. Since that time, he has picked up 30 live animals and 10 dead ones.

He has rounded up stray cows and goats invading Clintonwood Park, returned wandering horses to their corrals, and picked up as many as six dogs at one time that were captured by a Pinedale resident in his garage.

He has quarantined dogs that have bitten township residents, issued several warnings to owners of loose dogs, and dealt with a rash of dog poisonings in Woodhull Lake subdivision.

His most hated task is picking up dead skunks. When he's using a truck, as he was Thursday, the smell isn't too bad.

But most of the time he's in an enclosed station wagon—an arrangement that also isn't too easy on his ears when there're canine guests in the back.

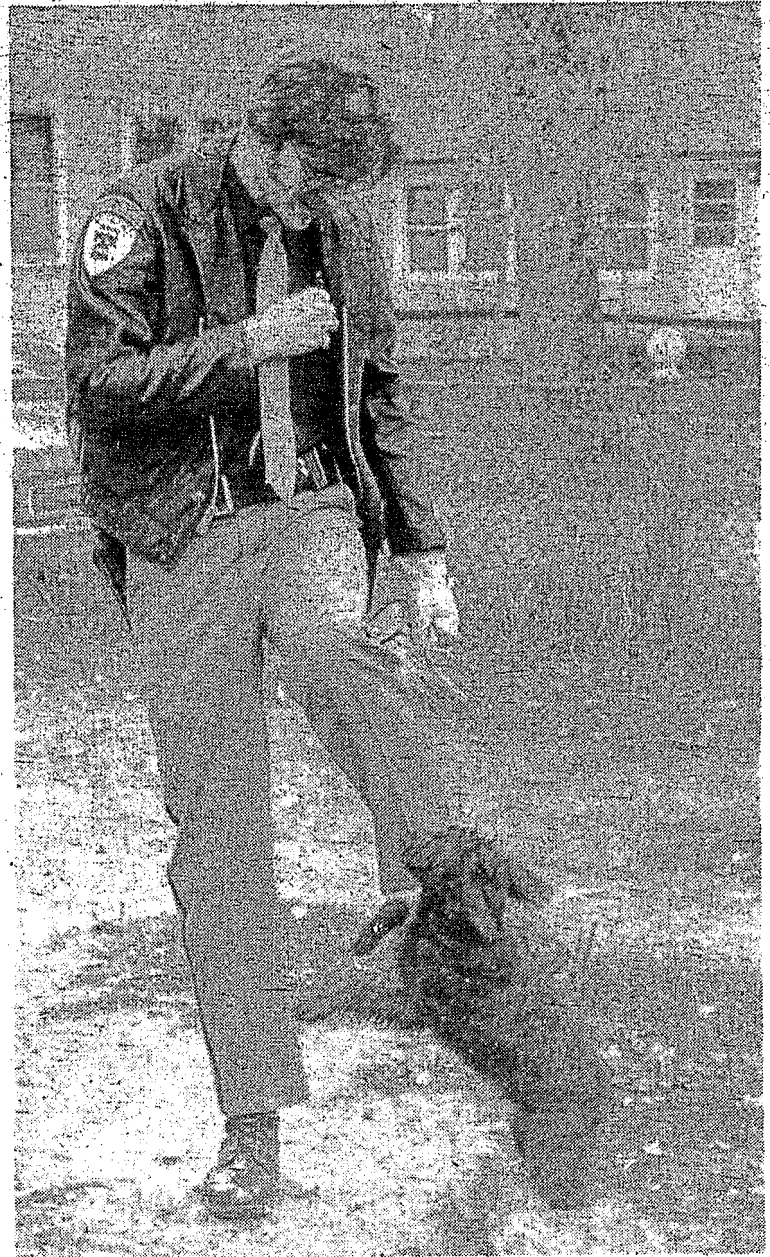

Dog bites are an expected hazard in Dirk's job. He recently had to buy a thicker pair of gloves.

Irate pet owners would also seem to be expected, but Dirk has experienced, to the contrary, a willingness to cooperate among the citizenry.

"I haven't talked to one person that doesn't like the idea of having an animal control program here," he said.

That might change if and when Dirk has to write his first appearance ticket for an infringement of the new ordinance.

Up until now, warnings have

It's Feneley who gets the warning here.

"Handling the steering wheel, police mike and a pencil is quite a juggling act."

By Mary Warner
of The Clarkston News
Anyone wishing to follow Dirk Feneley around better have his hat on tight.
You have to move pretty fast to keep up with the newly-hired Independence Township Animal Control Officer.
Animal complaints averaging eight a day have kept Dirk hopping. Thursday morning was typical.

In two hours Dirk picked up one stray retriever, two unwanted mutts and one unwanted cat.
He investigated a complaint on two German Shepherds that have been harassing children boarding a Walters Lake bus. He canvassed the Sashabaw Schools area for dogs following children to school. And he made a trip to the Brown Road Humane Society shelter.

been sufficient enough to keep dogs corraled and barking levels down.
For the next six months, Dirk will most likely be kept as busy as he is now.
The volume of complaints registered the first 12 days of October—52 from October 1-12—indicate that there's plenty for him to do.
Even when Dirk isn't kept busy answering calls and filling out reports, he helps out with other police activities, such as answering hunters' questions on township hunting restrictions.

After six months, federal unemployment funds that pay Dirk's salary run out—and then it is up to the Township Board to determine if the need and financial resources are available to keep Dirk on the payroll.

A small stream still flows quietly on its way.

Springfield residents plan to spend $31,500

Springfield Township is eligible for $31,500 in Housing and Community Development Act funds to be used after July 1, 1977.
Residents suggested several possibilities for its spending at a public hearing of the township board Wednesday night, October 20.
Beryl Samuels of the Springfield Township Library Board asked that the funds be used to black top the library drive, provide sidewalks and correct a possible drainage problem at the library site.
The Parks and Recreation Commission would like to see the monies spent at the Davisburg millpond to create fishing and boat launch sites.

Other residents would like to see the sidewalks in Davisburg replaced and road improvements made.
A drainage problem at the intersection of Andersonville and Crosshill roads could also be corrected, they said.
Don Rogers, township supervisor, said that $5,000 of this year's HCDA funds were allocated for road improvements.
The purchase of a fire station site in the north end of the township was also recommended.
"Unfortunately we can't do them all," Rogers said of the suggestions.
The project(s) finally selected by the township board will have to be approved by the federal government before the funds are authorized.

Old buildings to be inspected

The Clarkston-Village Council will ask the Township Building Department to inspect four structures within the village limits to determine the safety of the buildings. Included are the old Methodist Church and two adjacent houses and a store building at 27 S. Main. Fire Chief Frank Ronk has already inspected the latter and reported to the council that the building needs extensive structural securing in order to be deemed safe.

Flood insurance

The Clarkston Village Council has learned that Clarkston has been accepted into the national Flood Insurance Program.

Individual property owners here are now eligible to buy flood insurance protection at affordable federally-subsidized rates.

The policies can be purchased from any licensed local property insurance agent or broker.

In becoming eligible under the program, Clarkston Village Council submitted an application certifying that it had adopted certain minimum flood plain management measures for the flood-prone areas of the community which conform with federal requirements.

These measures are generally designed to regulate the future development of flood hazard areas, and ultimately require minimum elevation and construction standards for floors and foundations of any new construction in these areas.

Our answer to Glennie

Enough is enough! We have seen Mr. Glennie, our supervisor, posturing on the pages of this newspaper, using our own equipment to condemn us, and we are forced to wonder if he is not doing that to the taxpayers of Independence Township as well.

We note, for instance, the long delay and the still unanswered questions leading to the politically convenient timing on a touted Deer Lake settlement.

While we agree with the reported terms of the agreement, we wonder how long they have been held in abeyance and what chances might have been taken in an effort to obtain settlement so close to the election.

Mr. Glennie has the unfortunate attribute of interpreting any criticism of his governmental policy as a personal attack, and like most people who react so, he tends to become personal and vicious in retaliation.

His penchant for the low blow has created an atmosphere at the township offices much worse than when Gary Stonerock was supervisor. Stonerock did have the best interests of the township at heart, his political enemies agreed.

Morale is probably at an all-time low in township offices, and the repercussions are being felt by residents.

We have had foul-ups, the like of which has given Calvary Lutheran Church members an incompatible warehouse to look at just outside the church building.

His influence has extended beyond employes to the members of appointed boards. Recently

Mr. Glennie attempted to tell members of the Zoning Board of Appeals what they may and may not say in public meeting.

To further keep the record straight—the editor of this paper, responsible for editorial opinion as opposed to straight news coverage, has not reported on township board meetings since prior to the election heat-up. The story written by the reporter is sent over without change on Wednesday morning and incorporated into that week's paper.

Editorial subject matter is the prerogative of a newspaper editor, even as it is Mr. Glennie's privilege to write letters to the editor and to use guest editorial space without charge.

Since July 1 we have editorialized about the township's intention of seeking payment or evicting bodies from township cemetery gravesites; the need to seek more police millage before we take on added fire department expense; the need for moderation in application of the animal control ordinance; and Zoning Board of Appeals matters including proposed excessive fines for sign violation and Mr. Glennie's telling members what to say. He has written guest editorials about the proposed Brandon land sale and the request for an additional police mill in addition to his recent spate of letters.

Elixir can be deadly

by Jim Fitzgerald

Yeah, but what about the elixir? This is a question I can't help asking in the wake of the Mayaguez study which suggests strongly that President Ford was guilty of overthumping his chest.

The U.S. General Accounting Office (GAO), which snoops for Congress, spent a year investigating the events surrounding the seizure of the U.S. merchant ship Mayaguez by Cambodia in May of 1975.

You'll remember that the Mayaguez crew was allegedly rescued by Marines in an assault action which made most U.S. citizens proud, and renewed their faith in their nation's ability to kill.

You might even remember Cambodia. That's the country which, for about a year, the United States bombed in such marvelous secrecy that not even our secretary of the Air Force knew about it.

The GAO study concludes that the Mayaguez rescue was horribly bungled, and lives were wasted. In fine detail, the GAO points out that the U.S. attacked the wrong island and refused to consider any solution that didn't bleed when pricked.

But the GAO didn't mention Maj.

Gen. Kenneth Houghton's magic elixir. Gen Houghton commanded the Marine retrieval of the Mayaguez. After the shooting was over, he beat his breast on TV and explained why it was such a great victory for his boys.

"At the risk of sounding like a warmonger, I would describe it as elixir for morale. These young Marines have been training and want to get out and do a job," he said.

An "elixir" is a potion with magical powers to restore and cure. The general was claiming his men get bored and puny just training to kill. It makes them feel much better to experience the real thing—to shoot at live targets and to be shot back at in return.

In evaluating the Mayaguez battle, the GAO is obviously remiss in ignoring the value of elixir, not only to the Marines involved, but to the entire nation.

The Marines experienced the exhilaration of piercing real flesh instead of paper bulls-eyes. Future training will be less tedious because of this violent reminder that peace can be overcome.

Forty-one marines were killed in the Mayaguez action. It is consoling for all of us who survived, especially their parents, to know that these boys weren't bored when they died.

I'm only sorry there was no Gen. Houghton to convert blood into elixir for the 12th Armored Division during World War II. I might have been a better soldier.

I remember when news of the German surrender came on May 8, 1945. I was in a hospital in a suburb of Munich. I had been suffering there for several days. Back home in Michigan, I had already been hailed as a hero.

In the Alibi Bar there was a colorful sign saluting me as their first alumnus to be struck down in battle by syphilis. "He risked his life for us, bravely ignoring the warnings of the training films," the sign said.

Actually, I had the flu, I got sick sleeping on the stupid ground in the lousy rain. That's why, even today, when someone suggests I go camping, I automatically retort: "Why should I? Our side won the war, didn't it?"

Anyway, by the time the Army shuffled my fever-racked body through several tent cities and finally into a hospital, I was no longer sick. But I kept moaning and even put a hunk of soap in each armpit.

In a military myth that you can give yourself a fever by putting soap under your arms. All it does is force you to walk with your arms tight by your sides.

But I stole a few extra days in bed, away from the shooting, anyway. I told the doctor I walked that way because I'd swallowed my rifle.

Obviously, I was a coward. But I didn't think so at the time. I thought I was a typical soldier. Happiness was where the bullets weren't. In those days, when you heard a soldier begging to get out of the hospital even though he had two broken legs, so he could "get back to my buddies and kill some more Germans"—whenever you heard that, you knew there was popcorn for sale in the lobby.

Obviously, that old war needed Gen. Houghton and the magic potion which turned the Mayaguez disaster into a marvelous victory, even though 96 lives were lost in a bungled attempt to save 40 men who were freed anyway.

President Ford calls the GAO report Monday-morning quarterbacking. He is still proud to have the Mayaguez wheel in his office. After all, the GAO is just a bunch of accountants who deal only in cold facts.

They do not appreciate the value elixir which is warm, like freshly shed blood.

A ghostly tale

by Jean Saile

Every year I try to talk Bob Arend into doing our very own Halloween story, relating to Clarkston and the surrounding area.

Every year he doesn't, which is not surprising. Bob is an actor and imaginative and busy. He also has a job.

This year I told him I was going to write the introduction to the story and hope that some reader would finish it.

This year it is probably an exercise in futility. The election is ghostly enough and scary enough all by itself.

on his toes, we might offer the princely sum of $5 to anyone who comes up with what we consider to be the best ending.

Ideally the entry should be typewritten and consist of not more than 1000 words. Also it ought to have reference to people who might be identified as the early ancestors of current township residents.

The geography of the area will play an important part. Further—it is not cricket to go to The Clarkston News third eye and get an honest-to-gosh early thriller. This is a fiction contest, not an historical expose.

"When the air chills and the early fall sun strikes diamonds from the dew dampened leaves, you can be sure the Mists of the Mill Pond are meeting in annual convention.

Early morning visitors to the village can sometimes catch the lingering goodbyes of wispy conventioners, even when turning back to their normal transparency.

We will print the winner, and if you're prolific enough and creative enough we might even print some of the runners up.

A person went by, and I said hi, Oh! My what a beautiful day, But that's all I had to say. Heidi Hubback Grade 5

Letters to the editor

Lucky says we need millage

Dear Editor:

Although this letter is directed to you, the real intent of communication is toward the readers of your newspaper that vote in Independence Township. There is one thing that the people should consider. That is the police millage, our need for it is critical. If we are to have effective law enforcement, it is a must. Crime is on the increase and will continue to rise as a result of Detroit's problems of government and crime.

At this time we have one deputy per shift. Common sense tells us that is not enough. The majority of police work in this township requires the second deputy or a back up officer.

Let us not think of our local law enforcement effort as a battle of heroes—heroes are found in graves. These men that enforce our laws are qualified, hard working men and they are dedicated to a kind of work, that is at times, extremely hazardous. They have a problem like the victims of the criminal, the criminal's rights have priority over the rights of police and the victim.

We are in real need of more deputies than the one mill will obtain for us. We should have enough deputies for a preventive patrol in the township. As it is about all that can be done is to pursue the criminal. We should remember that law enforcement cannot be compared to a production line at Pontiac Motors. We must give real consideration toward peak periods of need.

Just what do you want? Is it to come home and find your daughter the victim of a crime, your wife mugged and robbed while at the local market? Your elderly father beaten and robbed, right in his own house? Maybe he was killed by the punks. Did you find your house had been broken into and robbed, while you were away on a trip? Was the body of a murdered person found near your home? Maybe these things have not happened to you, but they have happened in Independence Township. You and your family could be next. That police mill is your most effective insurance against murder, rape and robbery. The overflow of crime from Detroit town will increase so protect your needs and vote YES for the police mill.

Lucky Fletcher
P.S. I don't want any more taxes but I will vote yes for the police millage.

Careless

Dear Mrs. Saile,

Yesterday I was working the SCAMP walk-a-thon. It scared me the way drivers were speeding through our walkers. They never slowed down. I spent most of my time telling people to watch the cars because the drivers weren't watching them.

Thank you,
Check Point 6

SCAMP walkers cheered

Three cheers for all the young people of Clarkston who walked for SCAMP Sunday in spite of the miserable weather.

It's nice to know there are those who are willing to sacrifice personal comfort for the benefit of others.

I don't know how much money was raised, but I know SCAMP appreciates their efforts. Thanks, too, to all the sponsors who made pledges.

A Proud Parent

She laughed

To the Clarkston Women's Club:

I want to thank you for your program of an evening with Mr. Hoke. I have not laughed so much or enjoyed anything as much in a long, long time.

Seriously though, it gave me a real understanding of hypnotism—and I am going to make an appointment to see if I can give up smoking.

Fontie M. ApMadoc

School was right

Dear Mr. Sherman,

In regards to the article in the October 21, 1976 issue of the Clarkston News in reference to the suspension of students at Sashabaw Jr. High for smoking on school grounds: I feel it was an accurate report of the sequence of events leading up to the suspensions. It was also encouraging to see support of Mr. Birtsas and what he is trying to accomplish: I would like to go on record as being in complete support of Mr. Birtsas and George White, and the fine job they are doing. And in case there are doubts about my knowledge of the situation, my child was one of the ones suspended.

Sincerely,
Pat Green

Proud of band

To the editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to share my enthusiasm and pride in our Clarkston Marching Band.

I attended the last two band festivals at Dondero High School and West Bloomfield High School. Our band stood out and above the other fine bands participating. Their precision and discipline, as well as their music, were first class. The band's tremendous effort and accomplishment are bringing recognition to the high school and the whole Clarkston area.

So be proud, Clarkston. This fine group of young people and their dedicated instructors are a credit to us all.

Sincerely,
Wilda Mosher

Would he resign?

Residents of Springfield Township:

Before pulling those levers in the voting booth on November 2, remember one thing. Looking at the candidates sensibly is important.

Would Collin Walls resign from office if elected, like he did as head of the Park Commission? At the time he stated that he didn't have enough time to devote to the position because of other obligations and interests. What would stop him from doing the same thing as supervisor?

Don Rogers has shown in the past two years that he can handle the job of supervisor quite efficiently. He has repeatedly shown the people of Springfield Township he is interested in their well-being and is concerned about the cost of local government. He has, at very little or no cost to the taxpayer provided the following, to name just a few:

1. Hired up to nine township employees using available CETA funds.
2. Acquired additional police protection using available CETA funds.
3. Established a library at an actual savings of $2,500.
4. Made use of Housing and Development Act funds.
5. Provided more open communication to residents.
6. Acquired property for a future fire hall with federal funds.
7. Persuaded County Road Commission to install many warning devices and road signs throughout the township to make the roads safer to travel.

Help appreciated

Dear Mr. Spreen,

I would like to thank your department and specifically Officer Jim Snover for giving me much needed assistance on I-75 in Clarkston last Sunday, October 17.

I was returning from up north and heading for Detroit, when I unfortunately experienced a blow-out on the freeway. I won't go into the trauma of the incident but it "shook me up" and that's putting it mildly!

We had been waiting only about 15 minutes when I saw the sheriff's patrol car pull in behind us. Beautiful! If anyone has had a similar experience they will know what I mean. Officer Snover was extremely helpful, actually changed a tire, only to find that the spare tire was in poor condition. He helped us "limp" into town and to a gas station. I mean that's help!

The only good "happening" was meeting Officer Snover—thank heaven for people like that. I am really grateful for the help.

Many thanks,
M. Chalmers

To the Editor:

Here is a copy of a letter thanking the sheriff's patrol for some help I received last Sunday. I was impressed with the authority, efficiency and courtesy with which the officer handled the problem. I was in unfamiliar territory and that along with the potential danger I was faced with tended to unnerve me, so I really appreciated the manner in which he extricated me from my problem. I believe this should be given some recognition from your paper and would appreciate it if you would, say in your editorial section or whatever. You have a nice community there; sometime I may drop by under different circumstances, hopefully. Thank you. M.C.

We've had our baptism by cold. Clarkston experienced its first snowfall last Thursday, but the white stuff didn't stick around long.

Vote yes on A

To the editor:

Since moving to Clarkston five years ago, our family has participated in the Bottles for Building program made available to us in this area.

We have three boxes in our garage—one for green bottles, one for brown, and one for white. Since we excel in procrastination, we do not recycle our bottles very regularly. However, in all those years, we have never had rats in our garage, something the grocers predict will occur if Proposal A is allowed to pass.

As a child, I can remember returning our empty bottles to the store. We did not have a choice at the time, but it certainly did not prove to be a hardship.

As a thrifty Scotsman, I object to wasting my money on trash, I don't like to pay for something I'm expected to throw away when it could so easily be reused.

Don't be taken in by the false claims made in the million dollar campaign to defeat Proposal A.

Vote "YES" for ecology's sake!

Wolves ruin Andover homecoming

By Jamie Smith
Chalk up another one for White's Army. Friday night the team held off the Andover Barons 35-34 in a GOAL battle. Andover (now 4-2) was favored over Clarkston by a favorable amount. Tim Fogg, again, had another respectable night completing 9 of 18 passes for 163 yards. Just one was intercepted. Tim ran for 111 yards. That, if thought about, is a lot of land to cover.

Don Blower had an impressive evening as a receiver. He caught four passes for 82 big yards and three consecutive touchdowns. The big 88 caught those three TDs from 20, 31, and 23 yards out. Don also caught another fogg pass for eight yards, making his total 82.

The Wolves' offense didn't really get going until the second half when Fogg threw those touchdown passes, which pushed the team out in front.

Dan Guter had problems kicking, as he only made one kick in three attempts. Clarkston had a total of five extra points for their five touchdowns. But four of those were made by Fogg in two point-after-touchdown runs, scoring two points for each. Maybe Danny's problem was the cold night, but that is doubtful, with him being from Sweden. The one point that Dan did kick for was the point which proved to win the game and fire the defense up.

Andover was celebrating homecoming and, up until the 3rd quarter, they were still celebrating. Then it was like Pearl Harbor all over again. The Wolves lowered the boom for three touchdowns, running the score to 35-28 Clarkston. But the Barons were not done fighting. They scored another touchdown to make it a one-point ballgame, giving Andover the chance to either win, lose or draw. The crowd went wild in anticipation. The ball was snapped to the holder for a point after touchdown but the holder was a back-up quarterback. This meant fake in this situation. They went for two, as the holder took the ball and faded to pass. Nowhere to be found was an open receiver so he tried to run it. Right then he took the whole responsibility on his shoulders. He was tackled seven yards short of two points and his team came up one point short of a tie.

Clarkston's running game was obviously led by Tim Fogg but John Baker helped it out by gaining 95 yards in 14 carries. John had one excellent play in which he took the ball on the 30-yard line and ran left but was hit and hit hard but not tackled. He then ran all the way to the right side and broke another tackle on his way to an important touchdown. The drive and stamina that the Wolves showed all night was accented in that one play.

This Friday the Wolves take their 4-2 record to Rochester for another Greater Oakland Activities League duel. The Wolves are now tied with Andover and a game ahead of Waterford Kettering, with West Bloomfield in the lead.

Varsity cagers lose 2

CHS Varsity girl cagers dropped two GOAL League games last week to put their mark at 2-3 in league competition and 5-7 overall for the season.

If the Clarkston team had had any offense during the second quarter of last Tuesday's game at Andover, they would have been in contention for the win at the final buzzer.

Clarkston was shut out 0-13 in the second period and never recovered. The score was 7-22 in favor of the Barons at the half. The Wolves played better ball in the second half and brought themselves to within nine points of Andover in the fourth quarter, but Clarkston took the loss at the end of the game by the score of 33-47.

Leading scorer and rebounder for the Wolves was Sue Frazier who tallied 13 points and collected 13 rebounds. Other Clarkston scorers were Marcia Mason and Jane Tatu with seven points each, while Mary Anderson and Pat Killian each contributed three points. Pat Killian also collected three steals and offered two assists for the evening.

In Thursday's loss to Rochester the combination of Clarkston's inability to score well in the second quarter and to contain the scoring of the opposing center led to a half-time deficit of 21 points for the Wolves by the score of 15-36. Clarkston lost the game by the eventual score of 33-50.

Playing a good hustling game and leading the scoring for Clarkston was Anne Vaara with 16 points. Other scorers included Sue Frazier (six points), Mary Anderson (five points), Marcia Mason (three points), Jane Tatu (two points), and Shelly Vaillien-court (one point).

Sue Frazier led all rebounders by hauling down 16 rebounds off the boards, while Marcia Mason collected 10 rebounds. Sue also captured four steals and handed out two passes for scoring assists.

This week the Wolves began their second round of games in League competition by traveling to West Bloomfield on Tuesday and by hosting the Milford Redskins on Thursday. Thursday's home game begins at 8 p.m. following the 6:30 JV game.

JVs freeze out Kettering

Waterford Kettering was never any real threat to Clarkston's JVs, said Coach Bill Hanson.

Playing amidst rain, snow and the ensuing mud, Clarkston beat Kettering 8-0, with a touchdown by Bill Kratt on a quarter back sneak. Kratt gained the extra point the same way.

The touchdown was set up by a 25 yard run by Phil Standing.

Rowing is confined almost exclusively, today, to amateur, freshwater competitive racing, in which crews ranging from eight to two men, each using a single oar, sweep their craft for varying distances. Professional competitive boating is restricted largely to sculling, in which a crew of one for sometimes two men operate a boat, each using two oars instead of one. Rowing is not the same as paddling. In paddling, the paddle is dipped into the water and pushed back, rather than forward.

Now is the best time to bring your boat motor to us at PADDLE TO POWER MARINE, 6507 Dixie Hwy. next to Kinney Shoe, 625-0129 for maintenance and repairs. Our service department is equipped with all modern equipment and our staff trained to give you fast, reliable service. We handle Polaris snowmobiles and as soon as the snow is on the ground we will give you a free demonstration ride. Hours: 9am-8pm, Sun Noon-6pm.

BOATING TIP:

Sailboating rigging turnbuckles should be checked periodically to prevent accidental loosening.

JV girls win 2

Last week the girls' JV basketball team brought its record to 11-1 with victories over Andover (53-35) and Rochester (58-18).

Andover gave Clarkston a tough battle for three quarters, but the Wolves outscored their opponents 17-4 in the fourth quarter to put the game out of reach. Leading scorers in the game were Kay Pearson with 13 points, Donna O'Dell with 12 points and Patti Clark with 11 points.

Rochester was no match for the Clarkston JVs as the 58-18 score indicates. All members of the team contributed to the scoring. Leading scorer and rebounder was Jeanne O'Dell with 15 points and 11 rebounds.

Cross country skiing is for everyone, not just for the young adept and beautiful. Everyone who can walk can go cross-country skiing, and can be exposed to the beauties of the landscape, the peace and quiet of the forest, the stillness of unbroken snow, with none of the expense and one-upmanship of most modern downhill skiing. The cross-country ski outfit is relatively inexpensive, very light to wear, and easy to get used to. The art is based on walking in snow, and the joy is that of self-discovery in Nature's quiets.

great deal more to "Man and Superman" than that, of course, for Shaw offers some exciting comments on society, morality, the working class, the idle rich class, mothers (and oh, he must have lost a lot of friends with that remark), and turn-of-the-century land speed records (forty miles an hour!)

Leading the Meadow Brook cast is William Hurt as the frank and outspoken John Tanner. Most critics feel that Tanner is a pretty good likeness of Shaw himself, and that Tanner's opinions are Shaw's. If that is true (as it probably is), then Shaw would be delighted with Mr. Hurt, who handles his lengthy discourses and brilliant arguments with the ease and charm of a master. The female leads are Ann Whitefield, played by Elizabeth Horowitz, and Violet Robinson, played by Cheryl Gianinni. If the Meadow Brook production has any really noticeable flaw, it might be that both of these parts are made unnecessarily farcical; that is, the humor that seems to arise naturally from a situation where women have men totally under their domination was made a little too obvious. On the other hand, the exaggeration was so very well executed and so well received by the audience that it doesn't slow the show down one bit. The entire cast, under the direction of Terence Kilburn, comprises a perfectly coordinated ensemble that is a pleasure to watch. Included are distinguished actors Donald C. Moore, Elisabeth Orion, William Halliday, Mary Benson and Richard Hilger. There will be performances every night this week through Sunday, October 31, with two performances Saturday night and an early evening curtain Sunday.

Meadow Brook Theatre's eleventh season has begun; the first production is George Bernard Shaw's comedy, "Man and Superman." This is a play with such an abundance of discussion and philosophy, almost devoid of action and spectacle, that it more often appears on required reading lists than stages. Nevertheless, the Meadow Brook people have accepted the challenge and come up with a terrific production.

The play is about the battle of the sexes and Shaw's point is that man is not the victor. There is a Detroit Zoo reindeer have just about completed this unsightly task of shedding their antler velvet. What with snow on the ground already, they've got to start thinking about Christmas.

BASIC WOOD HEATER.

Wood heat is as basic as you can get. It's inexpensive. It's reliable. And it's the kind of heat America is coming back to. The R-75 Wood heater is also basic. It's fire brick lined for even heat. Thermostatically controlled and airtight for efficient heat. And it comes with a cast iron grate for longer lasting heat. All of which make a warm house nice to come home to. And heating bills nice to get away from.

Good heat. Good price. And a good wood heater. That's getting back to basics. And that's Shenandoah.

Potter to house trucks

Al Potter, owner of Potter Disposal, 10603 Bigelow Road, Davisburg, will be able to house only three of his five disposal trucks.

The Springfield Township Zoning Board of Appeals denied Potter's request to build a garage large enough for all five because a pre-existing, non-conforming, business is not allowed to expand under the ordinance.

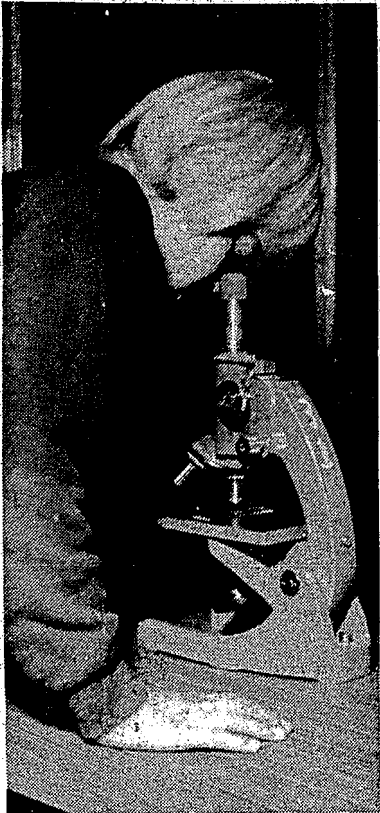

Potter's business in a residential zone was in existence before the present township ordinance was adopted.

In other business the board granted Paul Townsend, 10302 King Road, a 40 foot front yard set back so he can build a garage. The board reasoned that the building will be compatible with others in the area.

Gerald Cook, 12781 Big Lake Road can combine a 12 acre parcel with a three acre parcel and then split it in half because the appeals board could find no better way to divide the property. However, the two plots will not conform to the four to one length to width ratio required by the ordinance.

When classes are over and your ride hasn't come yet, and it's a beautiful fall day, what better to do than to climb the flying buttresses at Clarkston High School gymnasium.

See anything interesting?

Shiawassee Creek Farms planned

Another subdivision is being planned for Springfield Township.

Karl Lundquist of Union Lake owns Shiawassee Creek Farms along Davisburg Road. On the north side of the highway, the development will abut the fishing site of the Department of Natural Resources.

Because of the proximity to the fishing site and to other parks, Lundquist asked the township Planning Commission to waive park requirement in the division.

The township ordinance requires 2 1/2 percent of total developed area be reserved for a park for the homeowners within subdivision.

Play going in London

By Phillip Purser

We recently removed ourselves from worrying about the national election, Mary Hartman, and swine flu to enjoy a holiday for a fortnight in London. As a consequence, we worried for two weeks about the devaluation of the pound, the drought, and trade union policies. Fortunately, the English have pubs and the theatre to take their minds off the latest crises. During our short visit, we were able to while away our time and soothe our anxieties by afternoons in the local pub and evenings in the theatre. We sampled the theatrical fare in both the West End and in fringe theatre by making 11 forays to plays and musicals.

While it seems sometimes that the long runs are dominating the London stages with the likes of "The Mousetrap," "Jesus Christ Superstar," "Oh! Calcutta!," "No Sex, Please . . ." and others, there are some newer things that are most interesting.

The most dazzling musical is the review "Side by Side by Sondheim," which is a brilliant potpourri of Stephen Sondheim's lyrics and music from several of his well known musicals—"West Side Story," "Gypsy," "Do I Hear a Waltz?," "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum," "Company," and "A Little Night Music" are some of his shows.

The shiny musical "A Chorus Line," the play about pluck and luck among dancers auditioning for a Broadway show, is an irresistible spectacle at the Drury Lane Theatre. The other big musical at present is "Irene," a twenties musical complete with the beautiful costumes and vivacious choreography along with some lovely songs ("I'm Always Chasing Rainbows," "You Made Me Love You," etc.).

Several distinguished playwrights have plays currently being staged in the West End. Alan Ayckbourn, the British super comedy writer, has a mediocre series of short sketches, "Confusions," at the Apollo. While it is not top quality Ayckbourn, it contains some hilarious moments. Tom Stoppard, who is an expert at zingy satire, has two plays running. One, in repertory, is "Jumpers," with the "other" being two short plays, "Dirty Linen" and "New Found Land" at the Arts. The latter is a short tribute to the American Bicentennial.

Simon Gray has a superb character study masquerading as a farce at the Queens in "Otherwise Engaged" and David Storey's "Mothers' Day" is an undistinguished, but somehow haunting farce which will have a short stay at The Royal Court Theatre. Agatha Christie has another murder mystery in "Murder at the Vicarage," which is a Miss Marple thriller. This one probably won't last 24 years as has "The Mousetrap," but it is already in its second year. Finally, there are some plays around by some oldtimers like William Shakespeare, Anton Chekhov, and Henrik Ibsen.

The most exciting and contemporary theatre undoubtedly occurs in the small theatre clubs and pubs. On any given day there may be a dozen or so new plays by little known authors, but they are always of professional quality in terms of the acting. One of the best when we were in London was "Spokesong" at the Kings Head pub in Islington on the edge of north London. "Spokesong" is an outstanding musical set in Dublin. It combines a history of the bicycle with a history of the Irish rebellion. An unlikely subject for a musical, but Stewart Parker has carried it off with humor and pathos and I'm sure I was not the only member of the audience with misty eyes at the curtain. The great upsurge of Christian Socialism fueling the English Revolution in the 1600s may not seem like the subject of a fascinating drama either, but the Joint Stock Company upstairs at the Royal Court Theatre has produced a play that is more of a lyric poem than a play, but it works admirably in a workshop produced piece called "Light Shining in Buckinghamshire."

Trying to select which plays to attend in a short trip is the most difficult task of a visit to London. There may be a drought in meteorological terms, but there never is in the English theatre.

'Sighting in' facilities available

With the deer season nearly here, Oakland County Sportsmen's Club's 100-yard outdoor range will be open and staffed November 6 and 7 for sighting in of rifles and shotguns.

Walter Perry, president of the Rifle and Pistol activity at the club, said members and non-members are invited to sight-in and test their firearms under the guidance of NRA Certified Instructors from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. both days.

A nominal charge of $1 will be made for shooters who are not members of Oakland County Sportsmen's Club. With the exception of ammunition, all necessary equipment including benches, targets, etc., will be available.

Merrick Guy, senior instructor, emphasized that firearms be sighted in with the brand of ammo, bullet weight or handload the hunter will use while hunting.

Parking space for up to 300 vehicles is available at no charge at Oakland County Sportsmen's Club.

Available in boxes of 25, the cards are priced from $3.95 to $7.75, with about half of the selections below $5.00.

Most parents took a hard line with their children following suspension for smoking from Sashabaw Junior High, according to George White, assistant principal.

The 43 students returned to classes Tuesday after five days of enforced absence. White said the smoking problem affects about eight percent of the student body.

Steps are being taken to eliminate such a problem from recurring in the spring he said.

In a few instances, White said, parents have objected to the surveillance and suspension of the students. Some have claimed that their children do not smoke and could not have been involved.

A fire at the Wayne Underwood residence, 9239 Villa Crest, Clarkston, caused extensive damage to the kitchen and furnace room of the home.

It would be possible, we think, to confuse the Independence Township newsletter which went out Monday with a piece of election literature. Four of the five members pictured on the back seek reelection at next Tuesday's vote, and it looks like we're all paying for their campaign literature.

The timing of the newsletter and the Deer Lake settlement, which has been in the court for three years, can't help but make us wonder. It was remarkable that it got near to solving so late, so that a special Friday night meeting had to be called to sign the consent judgment.

If you're curious, it's a public meeting—8 p.m. Friday at the township hall.

You'll get all the votes at your party's victory celebration in our soft Qiana jumpsuit. One of many styles, it comes in beige and blue for only $44.

One free estimate from us could save you money in fuel bills forever!

Insulation is cheaper than oil. Let us give you a free estimate on the cost of foam insulating your home, and show you the savings of a lifetime!

Insulation is cheaper than oil. Insulate your home now and save forever. With the cost of fuel rising every day one cannot afford to sit back and do nothing about it. The answer to the problem is proper insulation in existing walls and ceilings.

Now there's a new way to insulate your home... foam your home with Advanced "38" insulation. Advanced foam "38" is pumped into walls as a liquid foam that looks a lot like shaving cream.

It gets into every crevice of your walls completely filling the un-insulated spaces. In a short time it becomes firm, creating a highly efficient thermal barrier that can save you hundreds of dollars in heating and cooling bills. Advanced foam "38" will not burn, and can be pumped in with existing insulation.

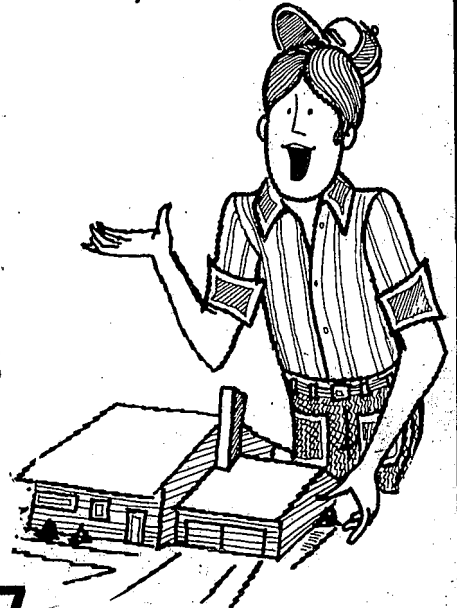

We can foam most homes in a day without disrupting your routine, and the only sign we've been there are your lower fuel bills.

Patterson has favorite

To the Editor:
As a resident of Independence Township who is greatly concerned about state loopholes which allow welfare abuse and which encourage criminal activity, I would like to endorse James Dunleavy for State Representative in the 60th District.
We cannot hope to permanently solve the problems of crime and welfare abuse until we send to Lansing men and women who are determined to close state loopholes.

I have worked closely with Jim Dunleavy and have found him a determined fighter of crime who calls the shots as he sees them, regardless of what's politically popular.
As chairman of the Oakland County Criminal Justice Council, Jim Dunleavy made a great contribution to the anti-crime effort in Oakland County by providing the leadership necessary to secure the Oakland County Crime Task Force.

It takes an aggressive, enthusiastic and dedicated public official to tackle these problems. I know Jim Dunleavy to be this kind of individual and am confident he will be the most effective and competent legislator for the people of the 60th District.
Catherine A Lessard for

Trim endorsed

Dear Editor:
We would like to endorse Claude Trim for State Representative-60th District. Mr. Trim has been very helpful in his assistance to solve some problems in our neighborhood. He has listened and has taken the time to be genuinely interested in our problems.
Because of his real concern for people, we hope Claude Trim wins the election on November 2. We need his kind of representation in Lansing.

She wants Rogers reelected

Dear Editor:
As a resident of Springfield Township, I would like to express my support for the re-election of Donald Rogers as Springfield Township Supervisor.
During the past two years I feel that Don has done an outstanding job as Township Supervisor. He is never too busy to listen and to help, and he tries to solve problems in a friendly, efficient manner. One senior citizen told me recently that after the ice storm last March, Don personally delivered dry ice to her and to other residents so that they could preserve their food.

Don's accomplishments as Springfield Township Supervisor make a long list: doubling police protection, supporting the purchase of property for a second fire hall, establishing full-time hours for the supervisor, initiating the establishment of a Springfield Township Library, originating a township newsletter, and acting as coordinator of the Bicentennial Committee. I strongly urge the voters of Springfield Township to re-elect Don Rogers Supervisor on November 2.

There's something

Dear Mrs. Saile,
You should know that you can't win.
Mr. Glennie has in the past rejected the use of a woman representative of an auditing firm hired by the township ...
Helped to keep the lone woman member of the township board its lowest paid full time officer ...
By-passed two much more qualified and Republican women when Bob Lay was appointed clerk ...
Attempted to use the personal tragedy of a woman employe in the township as a trade-off to win concessions from the union ...
And now he's picking on you. The company you're in is good. By the way, how much did you give Mr. Tower's campaign? It probably wasn't enough.
Another lustee Editor's note: $10. in the primary, nothing in the general.

Underwood likes Walls

Next Tuesday, I urge all Springfield Township voters to elect Collin Walls to the office of Township Supervisor. It is not often that voters have an opportunity to elect a man of Collin Walls' excellent character and qualifications for their Supervisor.
Mr. Walls is well educated (college degree and numerous professional courses), a former teacher, a successful businessman in the area for several years and has been very active in community affairs. He has been president of the Davisburg Rotary and chairman of the Springfield Township Park Commission.

In addition, Mr. Walls is highly respected by businessmen and township officials for his knowledge, expertise and judgment in the areas of planning, zoning, property valuations and management. Without question, Collin Walls is a man with vision and has proven himself to be an effective leader who is respected.
Personally, I have known Collin Walls for a number of years, in business and socially. I know he is sincerely interested in Springfield Township and concerned about trying to slow the rapid increases in spending by the Township Board experienced over the past two years. Collin has impressed me and other businessmen with his honesty, integrity and ability to work with people.

For our own sake, let's elect Collin Walls, a man raised in Springfield Township, to be our Supervisor.
Sincerely,
Glenn R. Underwood

Ivy is a good candidate

Dear Editor,
I'm writing this letter to tell people in Independence Township that aren't acquainted with Ivaleen (Ivy) Cosma, candidate for treasurer, that she is a good friend, trustworthy and wonderful person.
We have known each other since junior high school. She likes and gets along well with people and knows what it's like to earn a living and handle money.
Independence voters will have a very well qualified treasurer if they vote for Mrs. Cosma.
Vote for Ivaleen (Ivy) Cosma for treasurer on November 2.
Thank you,
Rita Zwack
Independence Twp.

She favors Rogers

Dear Editor:
Two years ago, we found ourselves fragmented in almost every possible direction and almost totally dependent upon our neighboring townships. We also found ourselves totally unprepared for the very obvious population growth we were experiencing and for the demands that this fact was making upon our township. We were faced by a very incomplete and inadequate property assessment, which prompted the county to step in and raise our taxes.

During the past two years, Springfield Township has begun taking the necessary steps to correct our problems—starting with increased police protection, the purchase of property for an additional fire hall, the establishment of a library and the implementation of a newsletter to increase communication—just to name a few.

These actions were taken under the leadership of Don Rogers, and for this reason I believe that Don Rogers should be re-elected as Springfield Township Supervisor.
See you at the polls on November 2. Your vote WILL COUNT!
Janet Salter
5613 Hillsboro Rd.

Walls is a leader

Dear Editor,
As a result of my serving on the Springfield Township Park Commission with Collin Walls I would like to recommend him as our next Supervisor. Collin helped to revitalize the Park Commission and he worked with the Township Board to get us operating funds for the first time.
When Oakland County was going to close Springfield's only public beach Collin was instrumental in working out a lease with them for $1. per year so we could keep the beach open.

Collin worked hard to get us C.E.T.A. funds for lifeguards and a director so that we could make maximum use of our limited funds.
Under Collin's leadership we developed the 3 ball fields at Dilley Road Park; leased 8 acres for the county for $1 per year for future park expansion; started a Summer Recreation Program with the cooperation of Independence Township Parks and Recreation, Oakland County Parks and Recreation and Holly Community Education; established a Property

Purchase and Development Fund so that funds could be set aside each year for the eventual purchase of neighborhood parks and started some long range planning.
With the many, many hours that Collin devoted to the Park Commission he has proven his interest in and devotion to Springfield Township. I urge the citizens of Springfield to elect Collin Walls Supervisor.
Robert Peters
11275 Bigelow Rd.

Walls endorsed

Citizens of Springfield;
It has been our privilege to know and work with Collin Walls in the Davisburg Rotary Club for nearly 8 years. During that time we have seen Collin in action as a director, secretary and the president of our club.
He has shown his ability to mold various different ideas and opinions toward a common goal. He has proven that he can get the utmost cooperation from the people he is working with.
Most of all through his activities and leadership in our club, and the quiet unpublicized things that he has done on his own, Collin has shown his desire to help those in need. Collin Walls has proven to us his ability to be the leader and administrator of our township.
We strongly endorse Collin Walls for Supervisor of Springfield Township.
Donald G. Hart
Charles A. Going

Picks Walls

Residents of Springfield — have you really examined the facts about our current Supervisor and his so called accomplishments? He says he has established full time hours but during 1976 alone he has taken 6 weeks' vacation. How about his extended weekends? Have you ever tried to reach him on Friday — good luck.
Sure, he supported the library but so did the rest of the board. What has he done for the Park Commission other than to slash the funding they needed and be critical of everything they did.
What about our taxes? Our bills will be 14 percent higher in December than last year. Have you ever asked yourself why?
Electors of Springfield, I urge you to vote for Collin Walls for Supervisor. He is the candidate who is concerned about you and your problems.
Vote Collin Walls November 2. He is our best candidate.

Halloween every day

Country Living

By Jean Saile
of The Clarkston News
It's Halloween every night for an Independence family living in a 113-year-old farmhouse in the southeastern part of the township.

When they moved to the house 13 years ago it contained 13 rooms. They've removed walls, discovering a previously sealed-off room, added on and decorated throughout with a lavishness that could provide only the most in perfect backgrounds for coddled shades.

The family has asked to remain anonymous. They are business people, and they are afraid that their experience with ghosts might discourage potential customers.

We're going to call the lady of the house Martha. She's the one who saw the image of the young girl, dressed all in white, in the mirror of a dresser downstairs some five years ago.

It was about five o'clock in the morning, Martha recalls. The house was creaking so loudly that she and her husband were both awakened, and she saw a young child cross in front of their bedroom door. When she checked, the children in the house at the time were all asleep.

With a story like that, we couldn't resist taking our own Third Eye onto the premises. A psychic who writes a weekly column for The Clarkston News, she immediately determined the home was no longer host to the young spirit.

"We haven't seen her or believed she was here in two years," Martha confirmed.

She spoke however of an antique rocking chair stored in the attic and her feeling that "an ugly, mean old man" was somehow attached to it.

Our psychic agreed after we'd made our way to the loft. "He likes to drink a lot," she said. "You'd best get rid of the chair. Anyone who sits in it, who doesn't drink, will find themselves drinking a lot."

The secret room off the kitchen, opened by Martha and her husband when they discovered its presence from attic layout, may have been a detention room for a prisoner, the psychic reported.

A bathroom, now done in blacks and whites featuring a sunken tub, was once an indentured servant's quarters, the sensitive said. She was scared enough at night to lock her door, she added.

Brilliant colors, velvet and brocade fabrics, fur rugs and large ornate pieces of antique furniture contrast with the thoroughly modern massive pieces Martha has introduced to the decor.

A Victorian window treatment, draped curtains covering puff shades?, dominate the rooms throughout the home. Antique lighting fixtures contribute to the decor.

Several new stairways have been built. Two of them lead to the second floor. One leads off the now attractive entryway (but which was once a shed) to the kitchen, and one leads off the kitchen to the once-secret room above the entryway.

Our psychic sat in an antique and orange loveseat at the base of the stairs in the living room.

Seized by coughing, she moved and tried it again. Again the cough came.

Martha volunteered that the loveseat had been a separate acquisition from the home. The psychic said that whoever had owned it had been fat and lost her hair to the point that she had begun to wear a bandana and hat, and then she had been afflicted with congestion and consumption.

And as for the young girl—the Third Eye believes she was the granddaughter of the house, her mother having died shortly after giving birth and the father becoming a drunkard. She was raised by grandparents, but she, herself, died young of pneumonia.

Her name was Mary Lee, our psychic added. The grandfather was Harry C., and he had straggly grey hair that had once been brown.

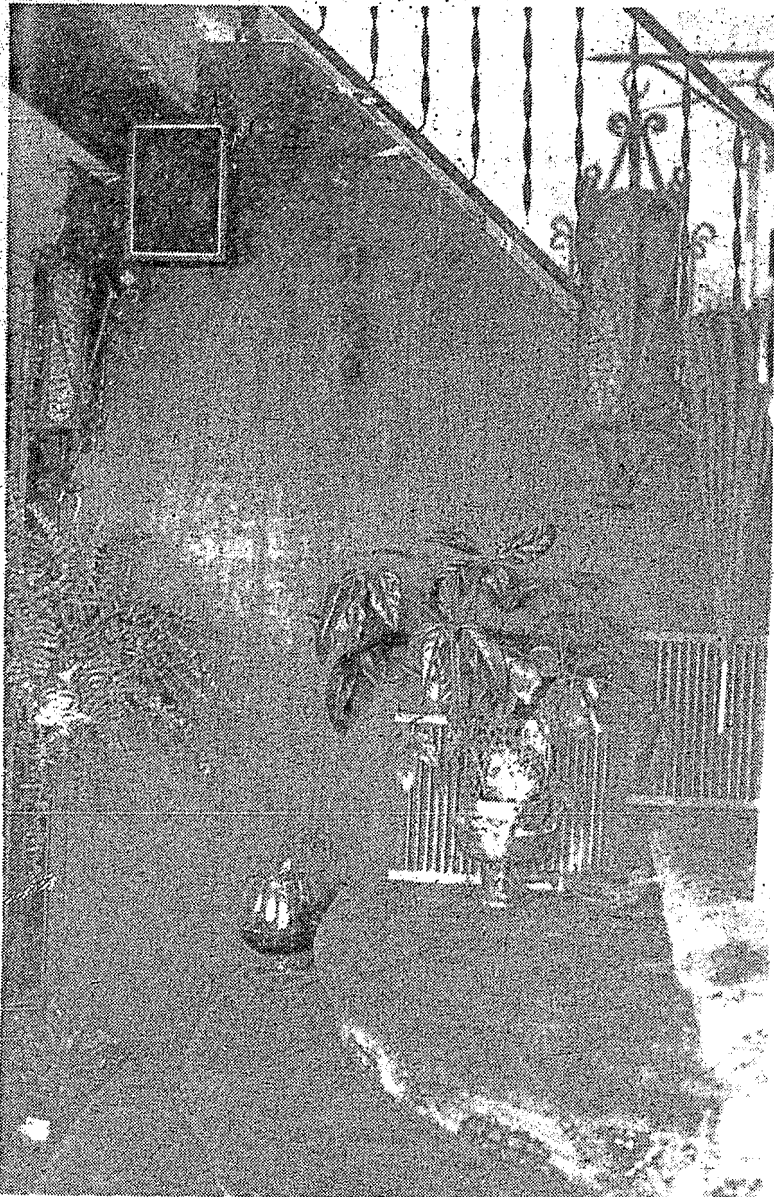

The year the girl died was '31, maybe 1931 and maybe, possibly, 1831. She came back to the home because she was curious. Martha agreed.

Martha wondered about the awful smell sometime prevalent between the coffee table and the television. She also asked about the sound of running in the attic.

She says even the family poodle knows something funny happens occasionally. They've found him barking up the stairs when there was no one there.

Martha is not particularly bothered by all this. She knows there are ghosts about and she tries not to see them too often. She does have funny day dreams and she admits.

Stairs lead to what may have been a detention room

The residential cycle may begin in a small, furnished, rented apartment, but the next step in family life is often the purchase of a home. The newly built family, with small children, may buy a small new or used house and build up an equity. The family may later sell this in favor of a larger house. Later, demands of children call for expansion, or for the purchase of another, larger house. Retirement often indicates the need for smaller, more easily maintained homes. Where are you on the residential cycle?

Wherever you are, we at BOB WHITE REAL ESTATE, 5856 S. Main St., 625-5821 can help you with your real estate needs. Your area broker since 1947, we offer our buyers an extensive selection of homes to choose from and our sellers maximum exposure to qualified potential buyers. And we take pride in our concerned, personal service. Open 9-9 Mon-Thur; 9-6 Fri, Sat; 11-5 Sun.

Growing things

Headed south

by Lyle Abel

Everywhere we went on our recent trip through Eastern Canada we saw gardeners getting ready for winter. They were harvesting the potatoes, carrots, cabbages and clearing away the dead tomato, bean, squash and other plants and getting the garden plots ready for next spring's planting. In most areas the tender crops had been killed by frost but it was interesting to see numerous places, mostly near the ocean, lakes or rivers that were still free from frost. Our return trip took us through New Brunswick and New England. On the route through Maine, New Hampshire, and Vermont we saw but little land of agricultural value—mostly forested, rocky and mountainous. How fortunate we are that not all of our land in the U.S.A. is this infertile! Farmers were mostly dairymen. This emphasis on dairying was true across northern New York state also where the soil permitted more extensive farms. While New England farms were not spectacular the Autumn colors certainly were—miles and miles of gaudily colored landscape!

Time now for us in North Oakland County to put our gardens in shape for winter, doing such chores as: Burn the tomato and potato tops to eliminate diseases from next year's plants, save all the shade tree leaves for mulching or compost, plant bulbs for next spring's flowers, protect shrubs and young trees from mice and rabbits, and be ready soon to protect roses and shrubs from winter's cold. Then relax and enjoy the fruits of your summer's gardening efforts!

This is the last of the season's series of "Growing Things". We will soon be traveling to Florida and a different world of plants.

WE MAKE HOUSE CALLS

625-3370

People there will be talking about their palms, hibiscus, gardenias, ixoria, crotons, poinsettias and bougainvillea. Winter gardens are being planted to the vegetables we in North Oakland will be planting next spring. Lawn grasses will be such varieties as Zoysia, Bahia, or centipede grasses with annual rye grass often used for a temporary winter lawn. No worries about snow mold in the lawn, mice feeding on the shrubs or ice storms breaking down the trees!

Assessing Carter

By Jim and Ellen Windell

Voters of Michigan have had an opportunity over the past two years to assess the performance of Gerald Ford. Most have found him blunt, honest, and more or less "average American" in his thinking and his actions.

The enigma during the present election has developed over the personality of Jimmy Carter. Offering as many contrasts as he does, he prompts a certain amount of unease in voters who cannot reconcile his background and his stated beliefs.

In other words—most of us would like to believe him, but we find we can't.

As "resident psychologist" of The Clarkston News, I have been reading as much about the man as I am able to obtain and I have been asked to give my impressions.

Basically, Mr. Carter resembles nothing so much as what he is: the first born son. As such, he has high standards for himself in the areas of competition and attributes that are highly valued by adults.

He was at a young age a combination of both his parents. Like his father, he was and is a hard working, thrifty person and like his mother, he learned to have a humanistic concern for others and to value intelligence. He tends to be very adult-like and responsible and wants to be viewed by others as mature and responsible. It is important for him to be seen as someone who keeps his campaign promises, for instance. He also has a strong need to control situations and his own feelings. At times this will be reflected in intellectual and unemotional postures. This seems balanced by his sympathy with humanitarian concerns.

He views himself as strong, courageous, and intelligent. He is strong willed and he has done some courageous things in his life and these things generally relate to the racial situation in the South. However, his actions have been tempered by a certain amount of caution and pragmatism. The attributes which he feels about himself, he projects on the American people in general and this to some extent becomes campaign rhetoric and seems to be somewhat naive.

Mr. Carter has a strong feeling that he can solve his problems and handle most situations that come along. In the interview he said, "I believe that most of the major afflictions that beset people can be prevented or minimized." Although he has high standards for himself, he seems not to judge others by the same standards and accepts that others are different. He is apparently not given to hasty or poorly thought out decisions and he indicates that he does not rigidly adhere to a decision or a position if new information is presented to him ("Constant reassessment, searching in one's heart, it gives me a sense of self confidence.").

He has a strong conscience and shows a strong interest in his religious beliefs and moral issues in general. He tends to feel guilt about his aggressive and hostile feelings and he tries, apparently through his religious beliefs to keep such feelings under control. His angry retorts are seemingly caused by his impatient and business-like attitude in discussions and interviews.

An interview during an election campaign is not the best source of information about the personality of a candidate. It does not, for instance, provide much about a man's negative emotions and views. What very likely concerns most voters is whether a candidate is intelligent, honest, fair, and relatively free of mental and emotional problems. There is little in this one interview or in published information that reveals mental problems. He does not seemingly experience those slips of the tongue which have plagued other recent Presidents. He seems free of serious depressions and he does not apparently allow himself to be overly tense due to stress. One area of concern is his religious beliefs. While religious beliefs can be a successful way of sublimating guilt feelings and handling angry feelings, it can be associated with serious problems when there are strong feelings of guilt and self-punishment. In Mr. Carter's case, there is no evidence at this time that his religion is anything but a source of strength and an emotional reserve.

When cheese and wine are served for dessert, fruit is a good addition, even if it is only a tiny cluster of grapes on an individual plate. Grapes, apples, and pears are three fruits that relate well to wine and cheese. Sometimes soft cheeses may be spread on slices of an apple or pear, as you would spread them on crackers. Bring cheeses to room temperature for serving, and open red wines an hour before pouring so they may breathe. Avoid smelly and aged, sharp cheeses with wine—this wine-cheese combination is one of the oldest and most pleasing in the history of man.

What better place in this area to buy both your wine and cheeses than UNCLE BOB'S GENERAL STORE, 2325 Joslyn Rd., Antique Village, 391-3033. We are located in an antique village in what was an old barn. The barn has been converted into an old fashioned general store complete with a pot bellied stove, old fashion scales and other memorabilia. While here be sure to visit our quaint wine cellar where the wine is properly stored. Bring the children and let them enjoy a pony ride any Sat. or Sun. weather permitting. Open: 7 days a week 10-6.

By Mary Warner
of The Clarkston News

"Most of you people sitting here don't believe you can be hypnotized," James Hoke told his audience of 250 at Clarkston High school's Little Theatre Wednesday.

"But you're thinking... I sure hope he gets somebody, 'cause I want to watch."

The audience wasn't disappointed. Before the evening was over, many who had watched skeptically succumbed to Hoke's hypnotic suggestions.

Some were hilarious, like Barbara, a small, stylish lady who did everything from work 20 minutes to pick a coin up from the floor to kiss Hoke on the cheek every time she heard the word "love."

Some were stubborn, like the young man who sat up on stage or an hour refusing to heed Hoke's hypnotic suggestions but responding to his command to sleep.

Some got some "freebie" help. A teenager who smoked heavily was told she no longer desired cigarettes.

A heavy-set woman was told, via hypnosis, that she would no longer like food as much.

Smokers and overeaters often come to Hoke for help. Hoke is a registered psychotherapist who holds regular office hours much like a psychiatrist.

He's helped athletes perform better, cured stutterers and dealt with many persons' emotional problems.

He does it by "dealing directly with the chairman of the board—the subconscious."

"In a hypnotic state (while the body and conscious mind sleep), the all-powerful subconscious is wide awake and receptive to suggestive conditioning."

When you're hypnotized, Hoke said, "you don't black out—you think you're still sitting there." The person hypnotized can hear what's going on, but is detached from it.

"It's a very pleasant sensation—soothing."

There's nothing dangerous in hypnotism, Hoke said.

"The only thing dangerous is the hypnotist—and you're safe tonight."

Hoke told the audience that about 75 percent of them were susceptible to hypnosis.

Many became believers after seeing their husbands, wives or friends drop into a trance after a mere touch or suggestion by Hoke.

Hoke conducted a mass hypnosis, where everyone was told to close their eyes, relax and concentrate on Hoke's dialogue.

Later, he passed along the rows of the theatre and put one and then another and another under his hypnotic spell.

"I couldn't believe it when I saw my brother go down like that," Bob Vandermark said of his brother Bill.

Bill was an early guinea pig who, along with two others, helped Hoke demonstrate the power of suggestion via a pendulum.

Subjects held the pendulum while Hoke asked questions. Seemingly without help from the subjects, the pendulums answered "yes" or "no" by swinging back and forth or in a circle.

Hoke also showed the power of suggestion by having several persons on stage extend their arms and then pretend one arm was holding a heavy book.

A few, like petite blond Pat, responded readily to Hoke's suggestion of heaviness by dropping the arm supposedly holding the book.

Pat was later brought back on stage. She proved a good subject, responding readily to suggestions like "the temperature is dropping" by shivering and rubbing her arms.

Hoke's power over the more susceptible subjects should last forever, he said—meaning subjects like Monica, who went into a trance whenever Hoke whistled, should always react thusly—but only for him.

Likewise, suggestions he makes on overeating, etc. should also be lasting.

After the long night session, Hoke was approached by many seeking relief from bad habits like smoking. Hoke said many could save themselves a drive to Southfield by waiting until a pair of his pupils open an office in this area to do the same type of subconscious counseling he is now doing.

She will now participate in the state contest, and the winner there will have a chance to become queen for the group's "When Knighthood Was in Flower" float in the 1977 Pasadena Tournament of Roses parade on New Year's Day.

Renee Weaver is president; Pam Smith vice president; Lynn Johnston secretary; and Rhonda Byers treasurer of the Senior High Methodist Youth Fellowship this year at Clarkston United Methodist Church.

The Waterford Village first open house and general PTA meeting will be held on Thursday, October 28 at 7:30 p.m. in the school gymnasium. ## New Cafe owners

Only a liquor license transfer is holding up the sale of Clarkston Cafe by Paul and Bess Rice. Owners for the past six years, they are preparing to transfer the business to Mr. and Mrs. Patrick McNew and Mr. and Mrs. Don Hayes, both of Pontiac. The restaurant will be managed by Lee McNew, 31, who besides being a teacher and librarian with the Lamphere School District has worked in and for several Detroit area restaurants.

Her husband, Patrick, is vice president and manager of the Detroit office of KATZ Television which represents 90 stations across the United States. He, too, has a food service background.

Hayes is treasurer of Century Rain-Aid, an underground sprinkling company.

"We hope to preserve the business that's there and add more with good service, good fun and good quality food," said McNew. "We're going to try to be good at what we do," echoed Lee.

BY THE THIRD EYE

The spirits of deceased people oftentimes hang around cemeteries, because they feel that is what they are supposed to do.

They are not necessarily dangerous—more likely lazy and misguided. A spirit worth his salt has other things to do.

Some of them are fun-loving enough to take on form for a scary Halloween. Other fun lovers will have their best time on St. Patrick's Day when the drinkers are out in force. Some of the others wait for patriotic holidays.

In other words each occasion will bring out a different type of spirit activity, and Halloween is no more spiritually active than any other day.

It is a good day for youngsters to have fun, however, and there will be a big surprise for someone older on that day in Clarkston.

Witchcraft has made the day special, but only for those people who practice it as a religion.

Spirits are obliging people. If you look for them of their activities on Halloween, you just might find some.

To SD in Germany—Happy 22nd on the 22nd. Lots of love. Your future is bright and shiny all the way.

Wilda Waid stuck with the old fashioned needle wielded by nurse Jo Willhite—that line was shorter as senior citizens lined up for their flu shots Monday at independence center.

Lester McIntyre opted for the jet gun when he got his flu vaccine at independence center Monday morning.

Ann Clancy also preferred the jet gun at independence center Monday.

More than 200 senior citizens were in line at independence center to get their flu shots by 10:30 a.m. Monday.

Jim's jottings

They'll believe anything

by Jim Sherman

NBC news commentator, David Brinkley, has given a good reason why the majority of voters won't go to the polls Tuesday.

He said in the first "great debate" both Carter and Ford promised more government spending, a balanced budget, and a cut in taxes.

Brinkley concluded that anyone who would believe that would believe anything.

Every once in a while a political figure will lash out at those who spit out the word "politician" as if it were dirty. He will say what an honorable profession it really is.

And, it can be. However, when those seeking the highest office in the land talk about increasing spending and cutting taxes they are not exactly promoting truth, honesty and understanding.

These "politician" promises are so much rhetoric. Things are being said that they think people want to hear. They want a vote. Pure and simple.

Trouble is, the reverse is happening. The percent of people going to the polls is decreasing.

They are asking themselves, "Why vote? Nothing really changes. Prices keep going up. My buying power is decreasing. The roads are still bad, heat, light and power are ridiculously high, bureaucracy and red tape get worse and worse at all levels of government.

"The rate of crime keeps increasing, welfare spending goes up and up, my kids aren't being taught how to read and write, and I'm another day older and deeper in debt."

Then too, there is the choice we have to make between candidates who have made it to Nov. 2. Esch or Reigle. Wow!

Considering all this, I'll be at the polls Tuesday, hopefully, not standing in line. That just adds another reason to the above.

I'll even tell you how I'm voting so you can cancel me out. I'll vote for President Ford because I think I know what he'll do. I have no idea what the peanut farmer will do.

I'll vote for Esch, if I pull that lever at all.

Our state representative in Lansing is Mel Larsen. He's a fine man who should be governor some day and the sooner the better. Wish I could vote more than once for him.

On the state proposals I'm voting to ban the bottle (Yes), hold the age at 21 for serving in the State legislature (No), (No) on limiting state taxes and spending, and (No) on removing the flat rate income tax in favor of a graduated tax.

Have a happy November 3.

RICHARD R. WILCOX

Commissioner's
Re-election
Report
To District I
Voters

About Your Commissioner

County Commissioner Richard R. Wilcox is seeking re-election as the Commissioner from District One. District One includes Oakland, Addison, Oxford, Brandon, Groveland and most of Independence Township.

Dick has served you well on the Board of Commissioners for the past eight years. Prior to that he served on the old Oakland County Board of supervisors. He served on the Board of Supervisors because he held the post of elected Township Supervisor of Brandon Township, for four years.

Wilcox has had the experience over the past twelve years that enables him to know the problems and the needs of District One. He has proven that he will work with the local governments and the residents for the betterment of District One and for the betterment of Oakland County.

Dick has the education, having graduated from the University of Michigan with a degree in Journalism and emphasis in the field of Political Science.

A county commissioner must not only have the experience and the knowledge, but he must be able to work with twenty six other commissioners in order to accomplish the things he wants for his district. Wilcox has that capability and the confidence of his fellow commissioners.

This was demonstrated when the commissioners representing the populated areas, voted for the road graveling program to help the Townships. It was demonstrated again when the Solid Waste Master Plan was sent back for revision so that it would deal with objections raised by citizens and governmental units in District One. It was demonstrated again when Wilcox's fellow commissioners elected him Chairman of the Board for 1974.

County Commissioner District I

District I is one of 27 County Commission Districts in Oakland County. It is comprised of 206.204 square miles, 22.7% of the total land area in the county.

RICHARD WILCOX

When the tough decisions have to be made, there are some elected officials who really do listen to the people and try to do what's right . . .

CLAUDE TRIM
our State Representative, is one of them

Return Claude Trim to the Michigan

"With your support on November 2nd, I will continue to work hard as your state representative — so that together, we can strive to make Michigan and the 60th District a better place in which to live and work."

... Because he listens to you

Claude Trim knows that he would only be "kidding" himself and the people he represents if he pretended to know all of the answers or had some "magic remedy" for the tough problems that confront us.

There just aren't any simple solutions to problems like unemployment, a less than fair system of taxation, a state government that is still much too wasteful, or a business climate that just hasn't attracted new business and industry as it should.

Claude Trim believes that these problems can and must be solved, but not with election year rhetoric that's long on promises and short on action.

Our problems can be solved if elected officials will listen more to the people before the decisions are made, and not after.

That's the type of representation that Claude Trim believes in, and with Claude Trim as our state representative, that's the type of representation that we get.

an House of Representatives

.. Because he knows what's right

Unless the people who represent us in state government have a sense of right from wrong — And can recognize the difference between legislation that serves the public good from legislation that only serves special interests, we're just not going to have the responsive state government that we all want.

That's the type of state government that Claude Trim has tried to provide as our state representative.

Claude knows that every constituents' problem is important and deserves to be treated as if it were his own. And the problems of businessmen, senior citizens, factory workers or housewives — who are all trying to make ends meet while providing the essentials of life to their families, is what government is supposed to be all about.

Claude Trim has proven his commitment to helping people.

On November 2nd, you can make a commitment to Claude Trim — by giving him your vote of confidence for a job well done.

Claude Trim and the issues

Taxes on Business

"The recent enactment of the single business tax may be a better tax for government, but dramatic changes are needed before it is a fair method of taxing small and labor intensive business. I am committed to making those necessary changes."

Unemployment

"In order to reduce unemployment in Michigan, federal assistance will ultimately be required. However, the state can make a more aggressive attempt to attract new business and industry into Michigan. The greatest human cry from the people during this election year has been "more jobs." The tragedy of unemployment must be our number one priority.

Crime

"We've learned the hard way that crime is not just a problem of the inner city. Criminal activity in the suburbs is becoming too common an occurrence. That means that we have to address the problem across the state. It means improving our court system and bringing the perpetrators of crime to a swift but sure trial. It also means providing local governments with the resources to effectively fight crime."

Education

"If we are to have a quality education for our children, we must seek alternatives to the present method of school financing — namely, the property tax. People are sick and tired of having to choose between education and a tax that they know is unfair. The least we should do is reduce our reliance on the property tax as a means of financing our schools."

STATE REPRESENTATIVE — 60th DISTRICT

If you haven't heard anything about your present State Representative, chances are he probably hasn't done anything worth talking about.

Our present State Representative says he's had five bills written into law and seven passed on to the Senate.

But he's never really bothered to tell us much about them.

If you knew what they were, you wouldn't want to talk about them a whole lot either.

Let's take a long look at our present representative's list of accomplishments. We think he's bloated it just a little bit.

One bill, now P.A. 51 of 1975, removed specific per diem compensation rates for the Michigan State Fair Authority. Not exactly earth shattering is it?

There's another bill in a Senate committee today that would repeal the defunct State Fair Commissioners Act. Nothing exciting about that one either. Or the next one for that matter.

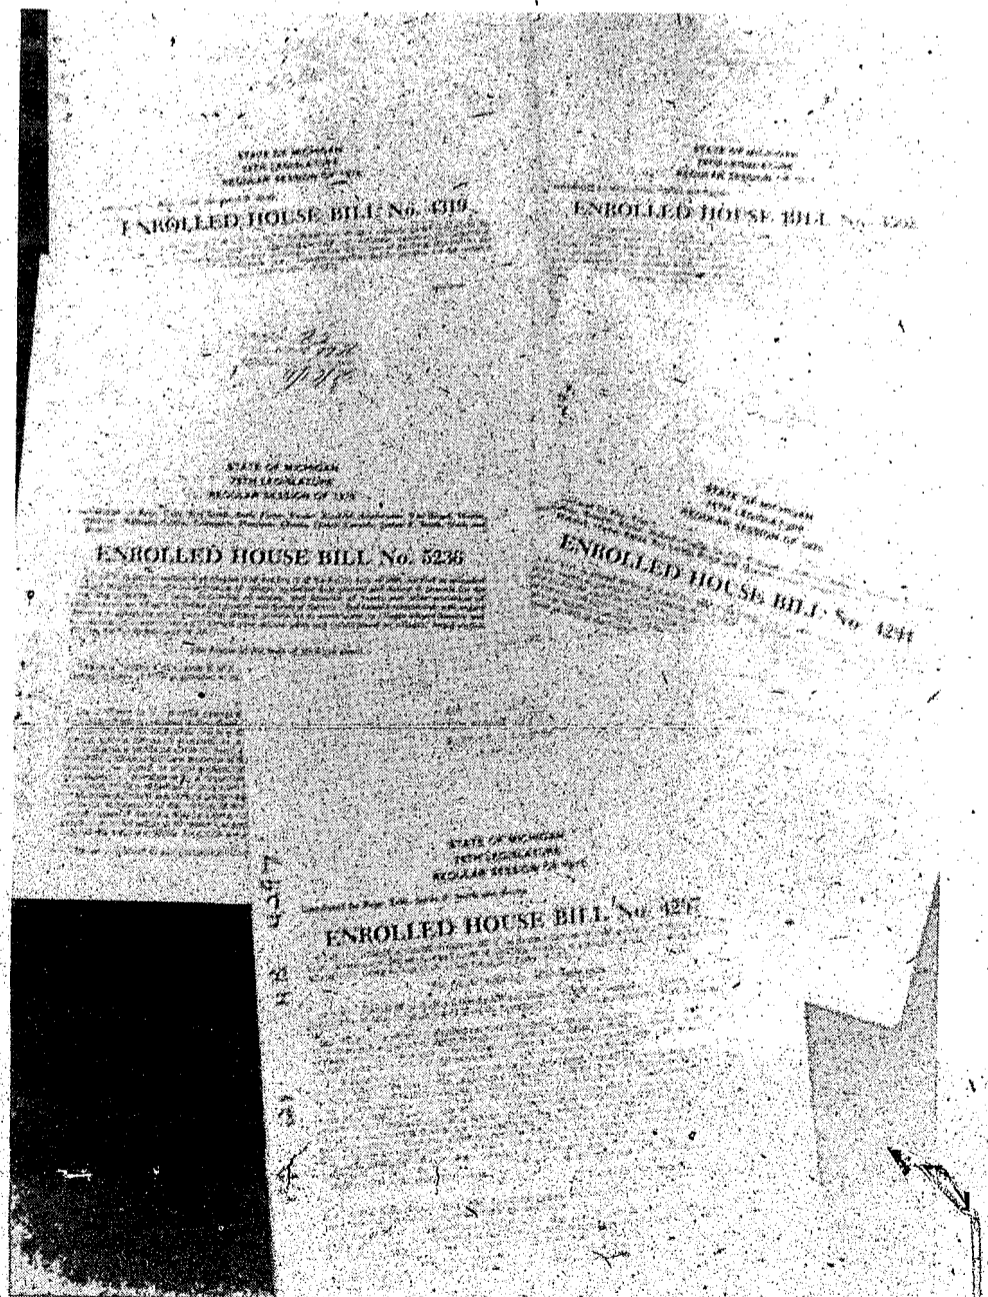

That's P.A. 82 of 1976. It extends the length of time which a village must publish a new ordinance from 1 week to 15 days.

This is just part of the present representative's "outstanding" record. But the rest of it is very similar.

It's no wonder he never mentions specifics.

So the next time your representative talks about all the great things he's done for you, we think you should ask him for details.

Because his record tells you that for the most part he hasn't accomplished anything meaningful at all for the time he's been in office. And that's doing a pretty poor job for $19,000 a year.

A voting record is an easy thing to hide.
That makes it easy to flip-flop on the issues so the public never knows where you stand.
It's a game the incumbent plays pretty well.

Following a legislator's voting record is tough.

But it can be done. If you work hard enough.

We did some checking into our present representative's voting record, because we heard he had told different stories to different people about how he voted on some issues.

This is called "flip-flopping".

You do it by voting on both sides of an issue so you can tell either side you support their position.

All legislators have the chance to do this, but those who are truly leaders don't take advantage of it.

For example, our present representative decided the Single Business Tax (SBT) would be a good issue to "flip-flop" on.

When the bill was reported out of committee — where most of the work is done — he voted "YES".<sup>1</sup>

But when it came time to publicly support the bill on the House Floor, he voted "NO".<sup>2</sup>

On the same day, only an hour or so later, the representatives were asked to vote on it again. And our representative changed his mind. This time he voted "YES".<sup>3</sup>

The bill passed and it went to the Senate.

After some debate there, it came back to the House for the final vote. Our representative changed his mind again and voted "NO".<sup>4</sup>

The "flip-flop" was complete. YES. NO. YES. NO. Confusing? It sure is.

But that's what the game player counts on when he does the "flip-flop".

What he doesn't count on is the people finding out about it.

So when you see your representative next, ask him how he really feels about the SBT. Odds are he'll tell you exactly what you want to hear.

And haven't we had enough of that in politics today?

Jim Dunleavy has been a problem solver and a leader as a County Commissioner.

Jim Dunleavy will be a problem solver and a leader as a State Representative.

As a County Commissioner, Jim Dunleavy has earned the reputation of being one of the hardest working, most effective commissioners Oakland County has ever had.

It's because he never quits working on a problem until he finds a solution to it.

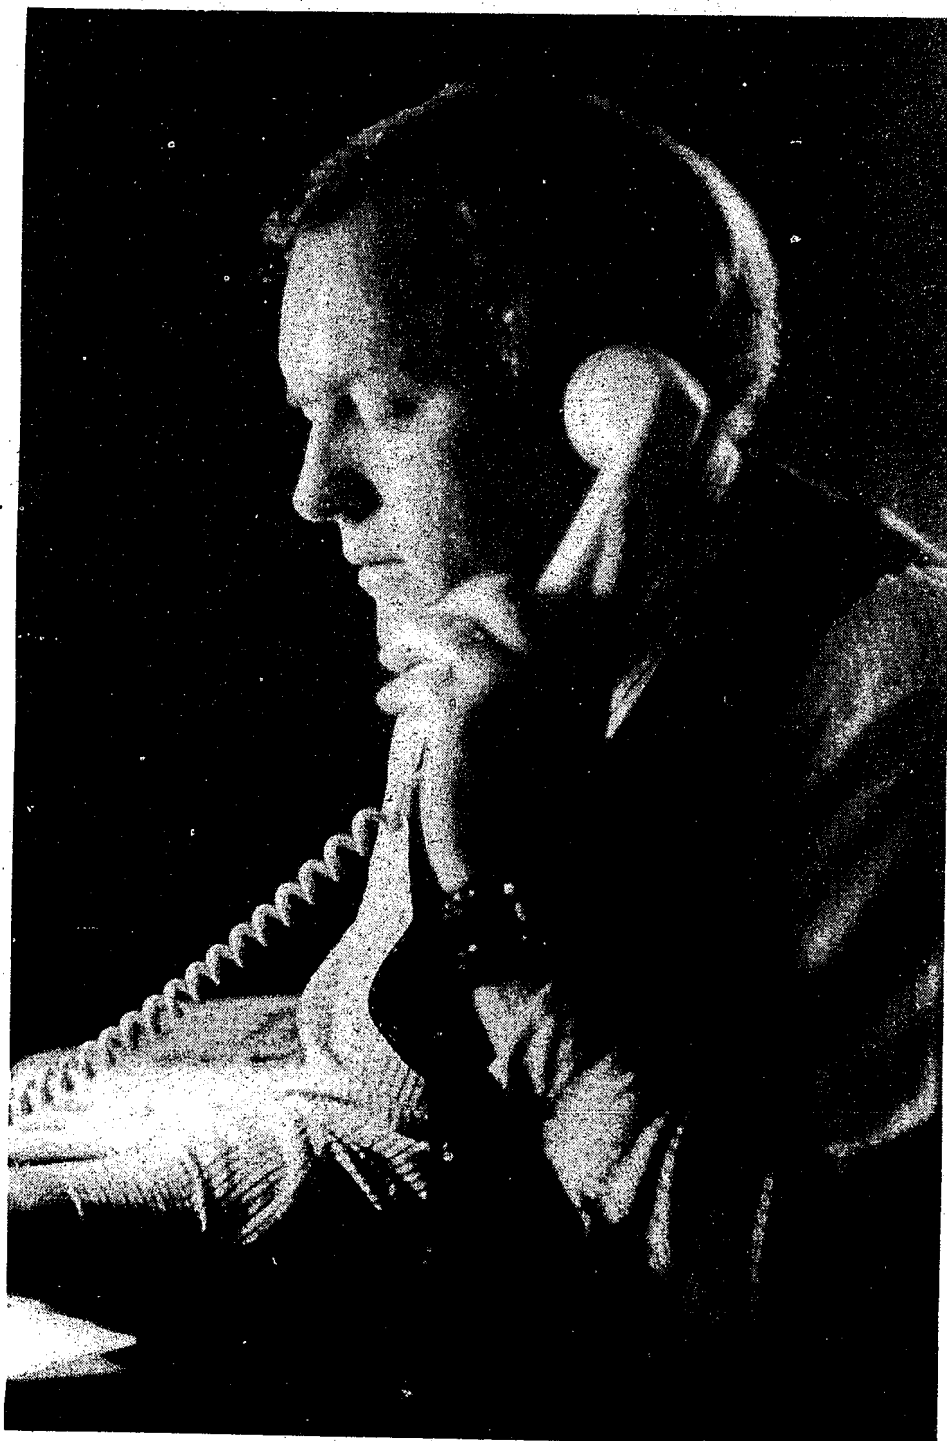

During his 4 years on the County Board Jim helped save Rudy Schwartz's Catering Service in Clarkston from closing. He got the speed limit reduced on a road in Highland. Over night. He fought against and succeeded in preventing pasture land in Independence Township from being turned into a dump. And he fought to restore badly needed programs for senior citizens in Holly.

Now Jim wants to tackle the tough problems at the state level.

Problems like crime, education, taxes, welfare fraud, government spending and job security.

He knows it won't be an easy job. But he's going to give it everything he has.

And that means bringing to the State Legislature the same energy, determination and "get things done" attitude that has characterized his 4 years on the County Commission.

You know the kind of crime fighter
L. Brooks Patterson has been.

That's the kind of crime fighter
Jim Dunleavy will be.

L. Brooks Patterson knows that the only way you can reduce crime is to get tough with the criminal – to make punishment a certainty for anyone who commits a crime.

So does Jim Dunleavy.

That's why Jim is going to fight for a series of proposals he believes will help reduce crime.

Like mandatory sentences for hard drug pushers.

Mandatory minimum sentences for crimes of violence and repeat offenders.

Elimination of plea-bargaining for certain serious offenses.

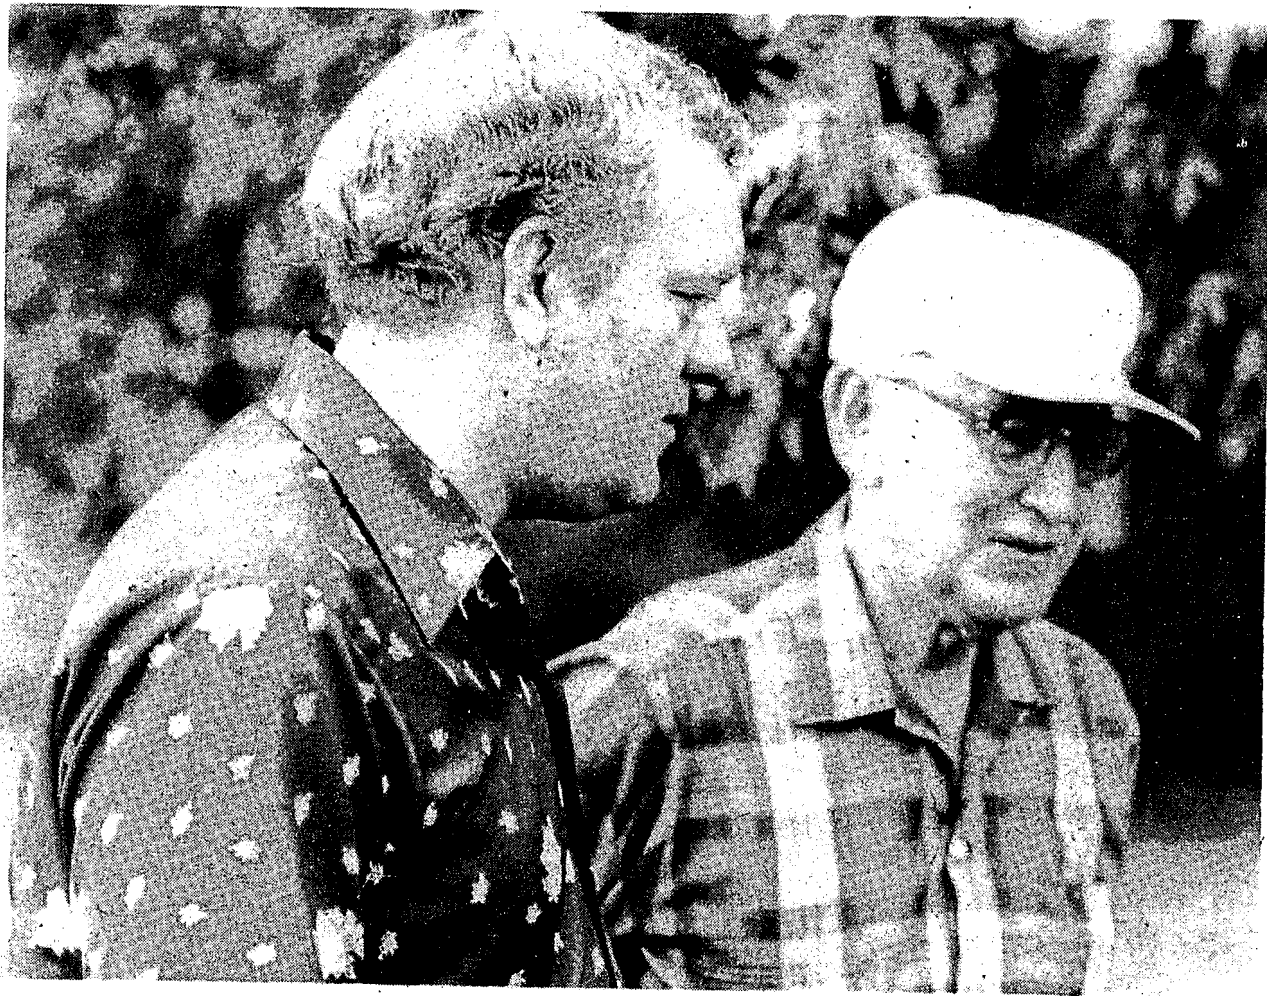

And requiring the criminal to serve his minimum sentence before ever being eligible for parole.

If we elect Jim Dunleavy November 2nd we can have someone who will fight the criminal at the state level.

Just like L. Brooks Patterson is doing here at home.

Did you know that over 40 cents of every dollar you earn is frittered away in taxes?

Jim Dunleavy thinks this has to stop.

Jim knows there's nothing he can do to keep federal taxes down.

But he's going to do everything he can to fight the big-spenders in Lansing.

Jim believes 4 proposals will help bring our state spending priorities into line. And help him win the fight.

The first is to put a lid on state spending and cut the waste out of existing programs.

The second is to pass "sunset legislation". This would require every new program to end on a specific date. Any new costs would have to be justified.

The third is the creation of an Economic Stabilization Fund, also known as the "Rainy Day" Fund. This would allow the state to set aside money in economic good times to be used in times of financial hardship.

The fourth is honest property tax reform.

It's true no one likes to pay taxes. So the least we should expect is to have them spent the most efficient way possible.

With Jim Dunleavy in Lansing, we can be sure they will be.

K-12 Education used to be our number one spending priority. Today welfare is.

Do you like our new priorities?

Jim Dunleavy doesn't.

We are graduating students from our schools today who can't read and write.

Many can't fill out job applications or even understand a parking ticket.

Some of them are ending up on our welfare rolls because of their lack of skills.

And the State Legislature isn't doing very much to help make things better.

In fact, over the past 9 years the education portion of the state general fund has decreased 7.0 percent.

On the other hand, the welfare portion of our state general fund has increased 16.5 percent since 1968.

This tells us that the legislature's spending priorities are confused and out of focus.

And it's our young people who are paying the price.

Sure, we can provide a considerable portion of the dollars needed to keep our schools operating. But we can only afford high property taxes so long before we're forced to say no.

This is why Jim Dunleavy wants to go to Lansing and fight to get these spending priorities back on the track. Because he knows that unless the state begins to pick up its share of the tab, the cycle of graduating students unprepared to function in the real world will likely continue.

And the tragedy of seeing them unable to cope with the world about them will become a harsh reality too late to do anything about.
