Deer Lake, 4 years later

Way cleared to clear land

Initial development of the 359-acre Deer Lake complex is expected to get underway almost immediately following the settlement of a four-year legal battle between the township and developers.

As its final official action, the outgoing board Tuesday unanimously approved a consent judgement presented by attorneys for the township and the developer, Hubert Garner.

Supervisor Edwin Glennie, in announcing the agreement, said the consent judgement was drafted in a manner of compromise with the hopes of drafting something that would be acceptable to all.

Among the major questions of concern since the board's last meeting on the preliminary consent judgement, Glennie said the 17 acres zoned for commercial would stand with a C-4 development (non-industrial) allowed.

In addition the requirement of three-inches of asphalt roads was dropped with the current agreement requiring only paved streets with open ditches.

Developers would also be allowed some leeway as to location of streets and lotlines, with approval of the Oakland County Road Commission, in order to meet the 150 units agreed upon.

After nearly four years of often bitter debate over the proposed complex, the agreement received general approval from those attending the meeting.

Trustee Jerry Powell commented that when he first assumed office in 1972 the Deer Lake complex called for nearly 1,000 housing units and now has been reduced to just 150 residential detached homes.

"Of course we are giving up some commercial zoning," he added, "but if not there then where. I can think of no better area than on a main thoroughfare and an interstate highway."

Garner is expected to begin almost immediately toward construction of four model homes on the eastern edge of the proposed complex, allowed under the township ordinances.

Construction of the first phase consisting of approximately 55 homes is scheduled for next spring following final plat approval by the township board.

The consent judgement ends legal actions by the developer against the township in both Oakland County Circuit Court and federal district court.

Under the terms of the agreement the number of units was reduced to 150, some 75 less than previously planned and put an end for the construction of apartments or condominiums on another 20 acres.

Garner, in exchange, received approximately ten more acres or a total of 17 acres of commercial property along Dixie Highway near I-75 which abuts another 13.6-acres in Springfield Township.

Current plans call for the construction of the housing units to be situated on one-and-a-half to three acre lots.

The Deer Lake question and the payment of bills incurred by the present township board were the only official action taken Tuesday.

Some half-dozen items listed under new business were tabled so the new board, which will include Supervisor elect Floyd Tower and Clerk elect Christopher Rose, can begin their terms without issues undertaken by the outgoing officials.

Easy does it--during recess at North Sashabaw Elementary

Rose to be sworn in Saturday

Newly elected township clerk Christopher Rose will be sworn into office at noon Saturday dispelling earlier thoughts he would have to wait for completion of a recount requested by incumbent Robert Lay who was defeated by 12 votes.

In a written opinion submitted to the outgoing board Tuesday, Attorney Richard Campbell said, once the election was certified by the board of canvassers, the winner has the legal right to assume office unless the recount indicates otherwise.

The question of Rose's right to assume office surfaced last week when Springfield Township Attorney Tim Patterson quoted state law which says those succeeding to office shall qualify before assuming the duties of the office.

The term "shall qualify", Campbell said has apparently not been determined by the courts in that it means absent of a challenge in this case a recount.

Howard Altman, elections director for Oakland County said the board of canvassers certified the results showing Rose winning over Lay by a margin of 3,554 to 3,542, a process that officially declared him the winner and eligible to assume the office.

The recounts in Independence and for the supervisor's post in Springfield Township, where incumbent Donald Rogers narrowly defeated Collin Walls 1,090 to 1,088, is not expected to get underway until Dec. 1, Altman said.

Christmas parade entries wanted

Clarkston's third annual Christmas parade will be 10 a.m. Saturday, December 11. People interested in taking part with floats or marching units are asked to call Police Services at 625-8600.

Peace Corps past recalled

By Joe Gitter
of The Clarkston News

When Renee Witherup travels, she's apt to wind up in the Central American nation of El Salvador.

It was there that the Clarkston housewife spent much of her time while with the Peace Corps and she and husband, John, went back again this year in honor of their third wedding anniversary.

Renee finds that the biggest change has been that many of the poor have moved into the capitol city of San Salvador in the intervening 15 years.

Squatters have built shacks along a newly constructed road leading into the capital, many of them constructed of cardboard with thin plastic roofs.

Their diet is consistent with Renee's memory. It is still mainly one of fried bananas, seafood, tacos and refried beans.

That's understandable, Renee states, when you consider that a can of Del Monte peaches costing about 60 cents in the United States runs about $3.50 in El Salvador.

Gasoline costs about $1.20 per gallon.

When Renee was there, coffee growers could expect to receive $70 for a 100 pound bag of raw coffee. Today the same bag is worth $230.

As she points out, those that can produce 1,000 bags realize an infinitely bigger profit than the small farmer who may produce only ten to 20 bags a year.

Lower class homes in El Salvador are apt to be carpeted in dirt, the chickens sharing accommodations with the farmer. Though there may be electricity, it generally consists of a bulb hanging from the center of the ceiling.

Up the street a wealthier neighbor might easily boast two or three cars and trucks, television, stereo, a modern kitchen and sanitary conveniences.

For the most part, it is coffee that spells the difference, Renee states.

As a member of the Peace Corps, Renee helped build and organize four elementary schools and one junior high school.

The government's mandatory education law requires youngsters to attend grades one and two. Often she would teach children 15 or 16 years old along with the other first and second graders. Textbooks were almost nonexistent in her small one-room school. English and economics assignments would be written on the blackboard and copied by students. But this caused problems.

"Often the students would copy the wrong thing off the board and then they'd be studying the wrong assignment," she said.

The language barrier also posed a problem for Renee. Spanish is the native language of El Salvador. "They have four or five words for every object," she said. In order to learn the language Renee spent three months studying four hours a day, five days a week in an intensive language program.

Clarkston's Fife, Thomas and Gray

Baseball greats recall careers

By Joe Gitter
of The Clarkston News

Clarkston, a baseball town, has sent its share of ball players to the pros, notably Danny Fife, Terry Thomas, and Ted Gray. All three have played pro ball; are now retired and have returned to the ranks of a more ordinary life.

Thomas works for Oakland Schools; Fife is coaching junior varsity basketball at the University of Michigan; and Gray is working in the machine tool business.

There is a certain glamour that surrounds the man who has made the big time whether he be a Ted Williams, Babe Ruth or one more quickly forgotten. He was still one of the chosen few.

Fife, perhaps Clarkston's best known baseball star, has been compared with greats such as Alex Johnson, one time American league batting champ, and Detroit's own Willie Horton. Fife was drafted by the Tigers right out of high school in 1967, but he chose to attend the University of Michigan.

Before playing pro sports, Fife excelled at both basketball and baseball. The two sports tended to interfere with one another and "I always got out so late from basketball that I never got to pitch much at U of M," he recalls.

Drafted by the Tigers, Fife spent two years in the minors in New York and Alabama before being traded to Minnesota for ace reliever Jim Perry. He got his first big league start against his old teammates, the Tigers in August of 1973. After the game Detroit may have been sorry they ever traded him. Fife won 5-3. He finished his short season with a 3-2 record.

Fife had a "terrible season" the next year. He won only three games, losing seven and ending up in the Twins' farm system. 1975 marked the end of his baseball career. His arm was injured, and as any fan knows—when a pitcher's arm goes so does the pitcher.

Fife remembers his baseball days vividly—the long bus rides, often finishing one game at 10 p.m., leaving at 11 p.m., arriving the next morning in a new city; and playing that same night. Playing in the minors is "paying your dues to get to the big leagues," as Fife puts it.

Minor league parks are noted for their poor lighting. Fife remembers one incident in Burlington, North Carolina.

"Our centerfielder was parked under a fly ball, the lighting was so bad that he lost it. The ball hit the guy right between the eyes and knocked him cold.

"The minor leagues are something like an army," Fife said. "The players grow together striving for the major leagues."

Terry Thomas, who played his college ball with Hillsdale College, was signed with the Chicago White Sox organization in 1949. At the time there was no organized college draft. Pro teams would scout and sign players on their own.

Thomas made the Midwest All-America team which played the Sox in an exhibition game. He, along with most of the others on his team, was signed after the game.

A centerfielder, Thomas signed a $450 a month contract with the Memphis Miners, a Class AA farm club for the White Sox.

His career was nearly ruined his first year when he broke his ankle sliding into second base. The ankle kept him out of play that year, but more importantly, he missed spring training with the White Sox and a shot at making the majors.

Thomas completed another year with the Miners before being traded to the White Sox Colorado Class A team. There in 1951 he hit .386 for the Skysox. His biggest moment came when he hit two homers in two nights, just after being married.

"Baseball was more fun back then," Thomas recalled. And fun they had. He remembered a brilliant play made by the Skysox catcher, Abe Pinciotti. Pinciotti carried a potato in his pocket during all games.

One night, according to Thomas, with a man on third the catcher took a pitch, rifled the ball down to third base and sent it sailing over the third baseman's head. The base runner took off for home, looking for an easy score, only to be tagged out by Pinciotti at the plate. He had thrown the potato over the third baseman's head and kept the ball for himself. The umpire ruled against the play calling it "a mockery of the game."

The Skysox power hitter, Dan Phalon, would always put drops in his eyes before a game, according to Thomas. In one game a new youngster looking to copy Phalon was asked to pinch hit. He went into the dugout and put some drops in his eyes. When he got to the plate he couldn't see a thing and went down one-two-three.

Thomas' most memorable experience was meeting Ted Williams. Many players, especially pitchers, wish they had never heard the name, he says.

Ted Gray, drafted right out of high school, began to play for the Tigers when he was 17. A pitcher, Gray enjoyed a long career, playing from 1942 until his retirement in 1955.

Playing pro baseball was Gray's lifelong dream. His ultimate moment came when he pitched in the 1950 All Star game which the American League lost in the 14th inning of play. Gray played with greats such as Joe DiMaggio, Ted Williams, Bob Feller and Stan Musial. He played during the years "when the Yankees were winning everything."

With a state championship under their belts Clarkston high school ball players can look forward to some attention from pro scouts, the pros feel.

Maybe Clarkston can add to its already distinguished list of professional baseball players.

Wants church message

Dear Editor, I have missed seeing the spiritual message in the Clarkston News and it is causing me great concern. Is it possible as we approach the special time of thanksgiving throughout our land we are forgetting our God? The paper is filled with all kinds of news items, but the beautiful message of God to His people is no longer there. Please, pastors of Clarkston, make God's message available again.

Thank you,

A long good-bye

Counting up the pluses

In other areas, meeting halls were packed and the response of the people was one of fear and the suspicion that the whole thing might be a big subversive plot. In Independence Township three people showed up who wanted to know how it would be accomplished, what the cost was and whether it really did teeth any good or not. It was voted down.

Independence and Springfield townships are still rural, but the move is on. Somehow the word editor of this paper the past five years will not be editor for a while, there is no intention of moving away.

Special people live here. The fact that they are somehow different was first brought home by a series of hearings having to do with the state imposed requirement of either voting against or adding fluoride to the drinking water.

Like father, like son

by Jim Fitzgerald

An unused 1940 Plymouth, in showroom condition, was recently discovered stored in a Milwaukee barn. When I read about it, my body was racked by uncontrollable spasms of nostalgia.

I learned to drive in a 1940 Plymouth. It belonged to my father. He let me drive it when he was asleep and I could push it out of the garage without waking him up.

The Milwaukee Plymouth was originally purchased by an old man who drove it about 100 miles and then put it up on blocks for the duration of World War II.

"It hasn't been driven since, although the motor was started every now and then," said Allan Waldo, the car collector who just bought the car from the old man's heirs.

"The little fan by the steering wheel still works!" he exclaimed.

Remember the fan, old-timers? It was supposed to keep the windshield from steaming up. I used to leave it on when I parked to neck with my girlfriend. Once, during typically unconsummated acrobatics, I stuck my foot into the fan, shattering two blades. Try to explain to your father that you stuck your hand into a fan and that's why you are limping.

When I think about that old Plymouth, it is the same thing as thinking about my father. I'm sure I wouldn't remember the car at all if it weren't for the awful things he did to me because of the worse things I did to the car.

The worst was when I was 14 years old and the Plymouth was almost new. It was legal for 14-year-olds to drive then, and I had spent considerable time trying to convince Dad that a friend had taught me how.

He didn't believe me. It was difficult for him to accept the idea that a $1,000 automobile could be entrusted to an eighth grader who was still falling off his balloon-tired bike. (Actually, I fell off only in the winter when I couldn't pump up sufficient speed to remain upright because my corduroy pants were frozen.)

But a fortunate combination of circumstances finally persuaded Dad to let me behind his wheel. The Plymouth was in the bump shop, having a slightly wrinkled fender cured. The bump shop was across the street from my school. When the driving repairs were completed, it made good sense for me to drive the car home, rather than for Dad to walk many blocks to come get it.

So I picked up the Plymouth and I smashed into two parked cars before I got out of the bump shop parking lot.

I can still see the unbelieving face of the bump shop owner who guided me out the back door and then disgustedly waved me back in the front door. (He waved from up in a tree.)

The damage was $150, more than twice the cost of the repairs which had put the Plymouth in the shop in the first place.

Dad and I had a long talk that evening. He said I had set a world's record for dumb driving. He said never before in history had any driver wrecked a newly bumped-out car while still in the bump shop.

Dad continued to drive the Plymouth during World War II. But he put me up on blocks.

My father died thinking my record for dumb driving would never be surpassed. I always thought so, too. In fact, as I grew older and unblocked, I began to take a perverse pride in my accomplishment.

Any clown can drive a car into a tree while going around a curve. I had done something special, something my relatives and the bump shop owner's relatives were still talking about 35 years later.

But my record was recently broken by my teenaged son, and it is a shame Dad couldn't have lived to see it done. With magnificent irony, my son is named Ed, after my father.

You won't believe what Ed did, but I have the repair bill to prove it. Get ready for this:

He wrecked two cars at once and neither car had its motor running. And both cars belonged to me.

He was backing my Pacer out of the driveway. It's downhill, so he coasted. He opened the door so he could look back to see where he was going. The Pacer door hooked the fender of my Oldsmobile parked innocently on the basketball court beside the driveway.

The Pacer door came off and the Olds fender dimpled deeply.

Blood will tell. Dad would have been proud. All hail the new champion.

Just as today I laughed about that 1940 Plymouth, someday Ed will grow up and laugh about the incredible thing he did to his Dad's two cars in 1976. If I let him grow up.

This is my last hill 'n gully does something for an ego, for The Clarkston News—at frequently bruised in public least for six months. confrontation and trembling I am going to try my hand at on the brink of something new, to hear those kind words.

I like hearing again about the time we broke the 'chic' barrier by running our own Clarkston News man—our Burt Reynolds Cosmopolitan sweepstakes. Or the times on April Fool's Day when we did our Country Living section prominently featuring lingerie drying on the shower rod and hiking boots on the living room coffee table. After all, that's the way most of us live most of the time, isn't it?

Or the times you caught the spirit of things and alerted us to some marvelous nonsense. And that brings me to the part about what great readers you've been. We've made mistakes, we know that. Yet, you've been able to find the means wherewith to forgive and forget, and sometimes even to laugh.

Remember the time Millstream carried the terse news about how members of a woman's group were learning how to protect themselves from a Michigan State policeman?

I always kind of liked that. I come tell me I'll be missed. It even thought about enrolling.

Varsity girls lose two contests

The CHS girls' Varsity basketball team suffered a disappointing week as they lost convincingly to Ferndale on Tuesday and also lost their Thursday game against Rochester in the last two minutes of the contest.

Tuesday found Clarkston facing a much taller and experienced Ferndale club. The Wolves played fairly well against the Eagles as the first half score showed Clarkston 17-Ferndale 22. However, during the third quarter, the Ferndale Eagles consistently got inside position against the Wolves' defense and outscored Clarkston 2-27. At the end of the third period, the Wolves saw a 30 point spread between them and their opponent at 19-49. The Clarkston girls pulled themselves together in the final quarter but were unable to come back from such a wide point spread and lost the game by the score of 34-69. Despite the height difference, one main factor in Tuesday's loss was Clarkston's excessive number of turnovers.

Jane Tatu pulled her share of the team load as she led the Wolves in both scoring and rebounding. She hit for 15 points and hauled down 16 rebounds.

Other players scoring for Clarkston were Marcia Mason who sank 8 points; Anne Vaara who popped in 6 points; Jayne Lafnear who collected 3 points; and Mary Anderson who contributed 2 points.

The Wolves were outshot by Ferndale from the floor 28.2 percent to 40.8 percent, but Clarkston outrebounded the Eagles by the margin of 33-28. Anne Vaara picked up 3 steals for the game, and Anne along with Sue Frazier and Carla Grable each tallied two assists for the contest.

In Thursday's home game against Rochester, Clarkston maintained a 3 to 4 point edge over the Falcons throughout most of the game. The end of the first quarter showed the score Clarkston 10-Rochester 8. By the intermission, the Wolves were still playing good defense but not taking many shots for themselves, and the score stood at 17-14 in favor of Clarkston at that point.

The two teams played evenly during the third period and the score was Clarkston 25-Rochester 22 going into the fourth quarter. The tables turned on the Wolves during the final period due to too many turnovers, ineffective rebounding, and too few shots taken.

Rochester tied the score at 27-27 with 4:25 to go in the game. The Falcons went ahead of the Wolves 27-31 on a drive to the hoop and an outside field goal. Clarkston then brought it back to 31-31 with 2:08 left in the game on a shot by Jane Tatu and free-throws by Sue Frazier and Pat Killian. Rochester went ahead again 31-33 on a pair of free-throws with one minute to play. Clarkston could not score when they got the ball, and Rochester sealed the Clarkston defeat by hitting on 2 more free-throws to bring the final score to Clarkston 31-Rochester 35.

Once again Jane Tatu led the Wolves' scoring with 8 points, followed by Mary Anderson's 7 points, Pat Killian's 5 points, Gale Graham's and Anne Vaara's 4 points each, Carla Grable's 2 points, and Sue Frazier's one point.

Sue Frazier led the rebounding for the Wolves as she collected nine rebounds. Jane Tatu captured 3 steals for the game.

Last week's games bring Clarkston's over-all record to 7-11 for the season, and they finished with a 4-6 mark in G.O.A.L. league competition.

Inches save Wolves'

BY Mike Burdick

Inches played an important part in a Wolves' victory Friday night as the team ended its season with a real squeaker, defeating Port Huron Northern 32-31.

Clarkston finished the season with a 7-2 record.

Tim Fogg scored two touchdowns on short runs, along with Mike Navarre who also had a pair while Steve Brewer added one.

Clarkston, as usual, started off early in the first quarter in a long scoring drive that ended with Fogg going up the middle for three yards and six points. The extra point attempt missed.

Again in the first quarter

Clarkston scored another after a series of fumbles, Fogg running this one in from two yards out. Dan Guter put his kick through for the PAT.

Finally, Port Huron got into the act on a one-yard dive by Bringard. Port Huron decided to go for the 2-point play and made it.

Still in the first, Navarre burst around the end in a 67-yard blaze on a reverse for the first of his two TD's.

Clarkston chose also to go the 2-point route, but the effort was thwarted. PH added another TD in the second quarter with quarterback Steve Bates scoring from three yards out. They converted for two extra points on a pass from Bates to Tim Brennan. Clarkston went into the locker room at the half with a semi comfortable 9 point cushion.

When Clarkston came back at half time, the team didn't waste any time widening its point spread by 6.

Steve Brewer scored this time on a 4-yard run. The kick failed again, off to the left. But PH closed the gap with a TD soon after. This time they decided to go for the kick which knifed its way through the uprights. PH scored again in the early part of the fourth giving them the lead for the first time in the game, 31-25.

Needless to say, Clarkston needed a TD. They got one, set up by a long run by Navarre which brought the Wolves down to the seven. Next play was a pass to Navarre, to tie the score 31-31. Out came Dan Guter, the Swedish soccer stylist, who had previously been 1 for 3. The kid came through in the clutch. He almost split the goal post with his kick.

JV team upsets Port Huron

Clarkston's junior Wolves upset previously unbeaten Port Huron Northern Thursday, 30-27. It was a seesaw game the whole way with the JVs playing catch up football most of the game.

The Wolves struck first in the second quarter on a one and a half yard spurt by quarterback Bill Kratt. Port Huron came right back passing for its touchdown. The score stood at 6-6, both teams having missed the extra point.

Port Huron, primarily a passing team, according to JV coach Bill Hansen, came back to score another touchdown and take the lead 12-6. With nine seconds left in the first half Bill Kratt rolled out and passed short to Ruben Hutchans who took the ball 35 yards for a score. Clarkston went into the locker room at half time with a 14-12 edge.

Fumbles and interceptions stymied the Wolves' attempts to score in the third quarter. But, Port Huron managed to put one over to give them the lead at 20-14.

In fourth quarter action, after an exchange of punts, Port Huron scored again to all but put the game away at 27-14. But, the Clarkston junior varsity didn't give up, driving 60 yards in five plays with Jeff Warden taking the ball over the goal line to bring them within reach at 27-22. High School. An attempted onside kick on the part of the Wolves failed, giving Port Huron excellent field position. With 1:40 left to play Port Huron made the mistake that was to cost them the game. They fumbled and the Wolves recovered at midfield.

With 40 seconds remaining on the clock Jeff Warden dove over the Huron defensive line for the winning score, making the final tally 30-27.

Wolves win squeaker

The only problem was that there was still about six minutes left on the clock. Clarkston's defense had to hold PH from scoring again. It did, but it was almost too close for comfort.

It was fourth down and about a foot to go for PH with the ball on Clarkston's five-yard line. The snap and the handoff came and it appeared the runner didn't get anywhere.

The official brought out the chains and, nope, it was short by inches with about 1:30 on the clock.

by David McNeven, Coach

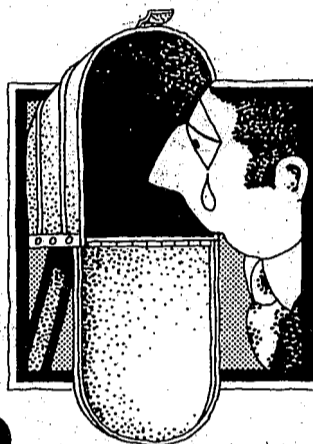

Chair or kindergarten swings are the type enjoyed by children between the ages three and six, and they are found on most playgrounds serving this age group. Older children should not be allowed to use them. The seat and the protecting side rungs are made for the smaller child. An adaptation of this chair swing is used with great satisfaction in western cities; it is made of leather belting. It is almost impossible for a child to fall out of such a swing, or to stand up in it.

Satisfied customers are those that shop at COACH'S CORNER, 31 S. Main, 625-8457. We have a full selection of equipment for just about any sport and will be pleased to help you make your gift selections for the holidays. Tennis rackets by famous manufacturers, racquet ball equipment, and hockey skates stocked. We also have instruction manuals and rule books for many sports. Open: Daily 9:30am-6pm, Sat until 5pm.

Both the varsity and JV girls basketball teams will be winding up their regular season with a home game against Walled Lake Central this week

Football league winds up season

Members of the Independence Township Little League Football program finished their season with a banquet and awards ceremony Wednesday, November 10.

Rob White, head football coach at Clarkston High School and Lynn Boden, an offensive guard for the Detroit Lions, were the guest speakers.

Affiliated with the Suburban Midget Football Conference, the little league is designed to "provide experience and education for youngsters without the emphasis on winning," according to Haydn Cook, president of the league's board.

Every youngster who participated and completed the program received a trophy for his efforts.

The boys were divided into three team groupings—freshman, junior varsity and varsity. They competed against boys of their own age from around the county and suburban Detroit.

JV team still hot

The girls' JV basketball team brought their record to 17-1 last week with a 42-24 victory over Ferndale and a 52-18 decision over Rochester.

Ferndale was no match for Clarkston as the Wolves jumped out to a 14-4 first quarter lead. Leading scorers in the game were Kay Pearson and Jeanne O'Dell with 11 points. Sue Huttenlocher added 8 points and 22 rebounds.

The JVs finished league competition with a perfect 10-0 record after easily defeating Rochester. Scoring leaders for Clarkston were Jeanne O'Dell with 14 points and Kay Pearson with 12 points. Pearson led all rebounders with 11.

The JVs close their season this week with a home game against Walled Lake Central.

The program, in its seventh year, gives youngsters a chance to compete with others of their own age without the pressure from parents and coaches to win. The emphasis in this program is not on winning, but on learning about football and enjoying oneself, according to Cook.

"Our parents do not jump all over coaches and refs. Certainly we cheer, but we don't have the problems they do in some of the Detroit leagues," Cook said.

He cited an incident during a little league game in Detroit in which the referees had to have a police escort off the field to protect them from enraged fans.

"We have very good parent-coach relationships," Cook said.

Preparing and outfitting these youngsters to play ball is an expensive proposition. According to Cook it costs $120-$130 to put a boy on the field. Shirts alone cost $600 per team. In order to finance these expenses, the league charges a $15 entrance fee per family for those participating. The remainder is collected through programs such as dances, raffles, sales of candy or cookies, and card parties.

In addition to professional arrangements of flowers and greens in major rooms of Meadow Brook Hall, volunteers will fill every nook and hallway with big and little decorating fantasies to make the 1976 Christmas Walk a living fairyland.

Among the make-believe personalities greeting guests will be Little Red Riding Hood, the Fairy Godmother, Papa Bear, the Little Pig, the Owl and the Pussycat, Sleeping Beauty and the Beast, Prince Charming and a jolly King.

Avondale Players are currently reading Jules Tasca's "Tear Along the Dotted Line" for presentation November 18, 19 and 20 in Avondale Auditorium, 2800 Waukegan, Auburn Heights. Admission is $2.

The curtain Rose

by Alan Rose

The latest from Meadow Brook Theatre is an intense and exciting drama by Tennessee Williams, "The Night of the Iguana," set at the Costa Verde Hotel in Mexico in the summer of 1940. Although the production shows a few weak spots here and there, overall the experience is a rewarding one, doing full justice to Williams' masterpiece.

Leading the Meadow Brook cast is David Canary (who won considerable fame as Bonanza's "Candy") as the severely troubled Reverend T. Lawrence Shannon, haunted by past scandal and present self-doubt. Shannon "retired" from the church to conduct world tours, and frequently leads them to his personal refuge, the Costa Verde Hotel.

The hotel is owned and run by Maxine Faulk; played in this production by Marie Wallace. Maxine, recently widowed, controls the hotel firmly and loudly, but leaps at the opportunity to replace her husband with Shannon. Mr. Canary's performance as a man tormented by frustration and self-persecution was chilling; he seemed at times to be driven by conflicts of emotion rooted too firmly in the subconscious to be merely part of an actor's repertoire. Ms. Wallace, by falling into the comfortable trap of exaggerating the pushy, overtly sexual aspect of Maxine, turned in a less convincing but very enjoyable performance. In the role of Hannah Jelkes, a spinster artist who arrives at the hotel with her grandfather, a poet "97 years young," is Meadow Brook regular Elisabeth Orion. Her scenes with Mr. Canary in the last act were well-done episodes of soul-searching between two dedicated travelers, one a professional guide who is constantly alone and the other a woman whose life is filled with regard for her grandfather. Richard Hilger plays the old poet, a spirited wanderer who has begun his first poem in decades.

The weak spots mentioned earlier include the badly-cast "Mexican" hotel employees, who look about as Mexican as the counterman at Taco Bell. Another flaw in the production, although not nearly as noticeable, is Ms. Wallace's make-up, for although she is supposed to be the owner of a hotel in Mexico during the summer season, she is not the least bit suntanned.

The other performers include Joyce Feurring, Melanie Resnick, and James Corrigari. The director is Charles Nolte; the single set is by Lance Brockman. The show will run for another two weeks with an 8:30 curtain Tuesday through Friday, a Wednesday matinee at 2, a 6 p.m. and a 9:30 performance on Saturday, and a 6:30 curtain on Sunday.

"What God has put athunder . . ."

By Hilda Bruce
of The Clarkston News

A picture perfect wedding is what every bride dreams of, but it doesn't always happen that way.

According to area clergymen, nightmarish happenings do occur.

At the very least they can be embarrassing or inconvenient and at most, catastrophic. In retrospect, almost all are funny.

One minister had the unfortunate experience of the one thing a bride fears most, an absent groom. He noted that the couple later married, but the marriage ended in divorce.

On the lighter side there are bride's tears.

"Crying brides get to me," said Father Francis Weingartz of St. Daniel's Church in Clarkston. "Worst of it is the bride's tears prompt tears in my eyes," he added.

Father Weingartz, like most other ministers, has had his share of fainters.

"Once when I asked the best man for the rings, he went stiff and straight and fainted. It wasn't funny then, but it had the altar boys rolling in the aisle," Father Weingartz related.

He had a fainting groom once, too. "The bride finally just led him out," he said, remembering the occasion.

Rev. Clancy Thompson of the Drayton Heights Free Methodist Church once had a domino reaction started by the fifth man fainting into the fourth who fell into the third before he recovered, which sent the third into the second, etc. The four finally all took hold of themselves and the fainting gentleman and put him safely into a chair for the remainder of the service.

Rev. Robert Walters recalled once having a bride sit throughout the ceremony because she had fainted.

And he'll never forget the time a really big guy, the brother of the groom, fainted. Although Rev. Walters broke the fall, he also went down with the fellow.

There are always instances, he said, of the couple forgetting the license and of someone being late.

Pastor James Balfour, Clarkston United Methodist Church, remembered the time when the organist played on and on while everyone waited for the groom's parents to arrive. When they finally showed up—at the reception—it was learned that they had gone to the wrong church.

under her wedding dress probably wished she never had. According to Rev. Balfour the rear of the hoop lifted her skirts as she knelt for the Lord's Prayer.

Another bride was nearly as mortified when the church cleaning lady carried her train all the way to the altar.

Balfour explained that "The bride asked the cleaning lady to straighten it just before she started down the aisle. The cleaning lady misunderstood."

"After she straightened it at the altar she marched back down the aisle just as if it was a daily

Although Rev. Walters broke the fall, he also went down with the fellow.

He continued with the story about the bride who was late, drove up just as the wedding march had started (the organist didn't realize the bride wasn't there), jumped out of the car, dashed into the church and calmly walked down the aisle—all because of a flat tire.

Rev. Otto Flachsmann of the Davisburg United Methodist Church related the tale of the missing guests. It seems there were two churches on the same street and guests went to the wrong church.

Wedding attire sometimes creates as much of a problem as people do. Flachsmann told of a bride who spent the entire ceremony trying to get the heel of her shoe out of a heating register and of the bride who was immobilized because her gown had caught on a church pew.

The bride who wore a hoop occurrence," he said, chuckling. Balfour's repertoire of wedding funnies goes on and on, though he refused to comment on any happenings since coming to Clarkston.

"Not enough time has elapsed to make them funny to those involved," he said.

Nevertheless, he told the story of the wedding gown that arrived late and the groom who wore a cast and arrived in a wheelchair after having broken his leg at the rehearsal dinner the night before.

Telling tales on himself, he revealed that sometimes the clergyman goofs too.

After three funerals and a wedding one day he had nearly made it through the second wedding when his tongue twisted and instead of saying "What God has joined together let no man put asunder," he said "... let no man put athunder."

Busy winter ahead in Springfield

Ice skating, square dancing and a new recreation building in Davisburg are potential programs slated to begin this winter in Springfield Township.

The winter recreation program headed by Margaret Cavanaugh, part-time coordinator, is to begin sometime in December.

Cavanaugh, a teacher at Davisburg Elementary School, is being paid $1,000 by the Parks and Recreation Commission for ten months' work.

According to the agreement between Cavanaugh and the commission, she is to work a minimum of 20 hours each week.

But, according to Dan Rolls, director of the Holly community education program, Cavanaugh is expected to work only about three afternoons or evenings per week coordinating the recreation programs.

"The 20 hours don't have to be spent just directing the programs; a lot of the time should be spent out in the community," Rolls said.

Cavanaugh has the responsibility of finding out what the people feel should be included in their winter recreation programs, according to Rolls. "She's working for the people," he added.

Cavanaugh's salary will be paid by the Parks and Recreation Commission out of their budget allocated to them by the Township Board.

Each program will be funded by a fee charged to individuals wishing to take part in the activity.

Cops turn out for kids

Oakland County Sheriff's deputies are hoping you'll fill up on spaghetti and pizza November 30 at Nanjo's and help a bunch of underprivileged kids have a good Christmas.

The dinner, which features all you can eat, is $3.50 per adult and $1.75 per child. Serving will take place from 4 to 11 p.m.

The fund raiser is a project of the deputies, the Lake Orion Police Department, Rochester Police Department, Romeo State Police and concerned business people and residents.

Organized as Kops for Kids Inc., they hope to raise enough money to give each child on their list a warm coat and a pair of shoes. A Christmas party, complete with Santa, is also planned.

Nanjo's is located on the Dixie Highway south of Rattalee Lake Road.

Nadeaus found their dream home here

Country Living

By Hilda Bruce
of The Clarkston News

Kathy Nadeau loves parades, village bands, cupcakes for sale in front of the bank and little shops that lend themselves to browsing. It's small town America for a gal that grew up in the logging towns of the northwest.

Her husband, Chuck, shares her enthusiasm, having spent most of his childhood in Massachusetts.

Working in the city and living in a condominium prompted the Nadeaus to find a place where they could get away from the hustle and bustle on weekends.

But the thought of fighting Friday and Sunday night traffic just to get away dampened their search.

In Independence Township they found what they wanted—trees, lakes and relative seclusion—only an expressway away from employment.

"We never thought we'd buy a house," Kathy said, spreading her arms to the spacious home.

"But when Chuck found this house, we fell in love with it."

Built by Cedar Knolls Building Company, the house is an authentic Dutch colonial with cedar drop siding and fieldstone exterior. Even the shutters are handmade.

"We knew we could never do these things ourselves," Kathy said pointing out the craftsmanship of the crown molding that runs around the ceiling, the stair railing which was milled on the site and the six paneled colonial doors.

The hand rubbed finish on the woodwork projects the warmth of generations past. The diagonally placed knotty pine wainscoting, finished in light walnut, is reminiscent of seaboard America.

The wet bar in the family room provides the convenience modern Americans strive for.

The fieldstone fireplace in the room continues the early American theme.

The Nadeaus have built their decorating scheme on the natural theme set by Cedar Knolls.

The earth tones which flow throughout range from the bright sunny yellow accents in the kitchen and master suite through greens, golds and browns to the red and gold fall colors used in the family room.

In the last year Kathy has turned her talents to papering the walls and growing plants in an effort to make the house a home.

Looking over the open stairwell Kathy took a minute to envision what it will look like when it too is papered.

"I've never worked on scaffolding before; I guess I'll have to have someone come in to do this one," she said speculatively.

Now that the elections are over, Kathy, who is active in the League of Women Voters, will have more time for her reading, crocheting, sewing, macrame and crewel work.

And now that warm weather is gone she has to bundle up for the long walks she and Chuck enjoy.

In the summer Chuck plays golf.

The rest of the time the two are involved in education. Kathy, who has taught in all elementary grades, has passed through a wide spectrum of educational changes. She has worked in systems where she taught her own physical education and learned to play the flutophone so she could, in turn, teach her students.

She has passed from the traditional classroom concept through the open classroom—learning centers concept and back into the traditional again.

Chuck, too, has seen many changes in education during five years in an elementary classroom and then 13 more as a school principal.

Stairs, hand made by Knollwood builders, are favorite playground for Becky.

Metal frog elicits smiles even on grey days.

Cubbyhole makes room for credenza on stair landing.

Mark Freeman, Steve Boyer, and Tracy Hillman, ninth graders at Clarkston Junior High have volunteered their time to walk kindergarten children to classes at Clarkston Elementary School.

Youth Assistance honors walkers

Crossing Main Street or Waldon Road is a dangerous activity for Clarkston Elementary School kindergartners who must traverse busy intersections on their way to and from class.

To help them and to insure as much safety as possible in the process, several Clarkston Junior High School students walk with the youngsters each noon until the crossings are safely made.

Among those volunteering their time and their help are Paul Martin, Dave Dangel, Pat Daniels, Mark Johnson, Joanne Howe, Sue Plummer, Ed Zoldos, Barb Hess, Carol Jones, Tracy Hillman, Mark Freeman, Jim Moore, Holly Cruisberry, Steve Boyer, Dave Koch, Patty O'Rourke, Shelley Marcum, Bruce White, Rhonda Cooper, Deb Griffiths, Deb Cassidy, Barb Burton, Laurie Froling and Tammy Stamper.

They are honored this week by Clarkston Area Youth Assistance.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Miracle, 4915 Mary Sue Street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Donna Faye Miracle to Robert Allen Rutherford. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Rutherford, 6824 Bluegrass. Both are 1976 graduates of Clarkston High School. Robert is employed at Interlock Plastics.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert McCall of Hill Circle are the parents of Sarah Elizabeth, born November 3 at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital. She weighed 7 pounds, 1 ounce. Waiting at home were Jessica, 3, and Zachary, 1½. Grandparents are Dr. and Mrs. Paul Vanaman of Clarkston and Mr. and Mrs. William Mardis of Pontiac.

Earl Fortin, vice president of Metropolitan Savings Association, Farmington, has been elected to the 1976-77 Board of Governors of the Michigan Manufactured Housing Institute (MMHI).

MMHI is a division of the Michigan Mobile Home and Recreational Vehicle Institute (MMHRVI), a non-profit trade association of more than 700 Michigan dealers, park owners, suppliers, manufacturers and others associated with the industry.

Fortin, in the mobile home industry for 10 years, was senior Vice-President of First Federal Savings and Loan of Oakland from 1962-71. He is chairman of the Finance Committee of MMHI.

Fortin lives at 8700 Perry Lake Road, Clarkston.

Dr. and Mrs. Richard Rogers of Algonquin are the proud parents of Renee Elizabeth, born October 16. The grandparents are Edmund Rogers of Pontiac and Mr. and Mrs. Howard R. Webb of Pontiac.

A day of special Thanksgiving will be held at the St. Trinity Lutheran Church, 7925 Sashabaw Rd., beginning at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 24.

Pastor Ralph C. Claus said the service will begin with a special Service of Thanksgiving.

"This is the first Thanksgiving worship in our new church," Rev. Claus added, "so let's make the rafters ring with hymns of prayer and praise and Thanksgiving to the Lord."

Veterans of World War I Clinton Valley Barracks No. 2803 and Auxiliary met on Saturday at Springfield Township Hall, Davisburg, for a traditional Thanksgiving dinner. The turkey was prepared by Marie Green of Ortonville.

Recently accepted into membership were Martha Atkins Lacey, daughter of Dr. Hazen Atkins of Clarkston, Barbara Boice Lockwood and Donella Boice Holsinger, daughters of the late John (Ted) E. Boice of Holly.

The veterans and auxiliary members voted to give a donation to each of the veterans hospitals in Allen Park, Ann Arbor, Battle Creek, Saginaw, Iron Mountain and the Michigan Veterans' Facility at Grand Rapids, for help in arranging Christmas parties.

Our sick list included the president of the auxiliary, Eva Lucas of Ortonville and Esther Sweet who recently moved to Florida, who fell and broke her arm. Minnie Schneller of Milford ably took over the presidential duties. Helen Gundry of Clarkston was a guest.

Fifth District members will meet Thursday, November 18 at Sveden House, Pontiac, for dinner and meeting.

The December meeting will be the 11th with a Christmas party and exchange of gifts.

A ski club for adults will be organized at a meeting at 6:30 p.m. November 18 in the basement of Independence Township Hall, 90 North Main.

Plans are to take three to five weekend trips to places such as Timberlee, Boyne, Cadillac, etc., and maybe outstate as well.

Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department wants your ideas. Information can be had from the department at 625-8223.

If you bite your fingernails or pull your hair, or you want to stop smoking or stick to a diet, the answer may lie in a new Hypnosis Center which has opened at 4479 Dixie Highway, corner of Frembes.

The center is owned by Linda Atkins and Patricia Carroll, students of Jim Hoke who appeared in a Clarkston Women's Club program recently.

Clarkston Community Women's Club will have its auction sale at 7:30 p.m. November 18, not November 28 as stated in last week's paper. Handcrafted gifts and baked goods will be auctioned at independence center, proceeds to help the club's community project fund.

Word has been received that Rachel Ann Byers has been elected to membership into Omicron Nu, the National Home Economics Honor Society. This organization promotes scholarship and leadership toward the well being of individuals and families throughout the world.

Rachel is the recipient of the Clarkston Farm and Garden Club Scholarship. She is in her junior year at Michigan State University majoring in Clothing and Textiles. Rachel is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jackson G. Byers of Middle Lake Road.

An open house will be held at the Clarkston Senior High School on Monday, Nov. 22. Activities will involve students, staff and Board of Education members. The evening will start with the Drama Club sponsoring a spaghetti dinner in the cafeteria from 5:30-7:15 p.m. Adults $2.00, children $1.50.

A general meeting in the gym at 7:30 p.m. for introduction of staff and board members plus a performance by the high school marching band is planned. Drama Club members will assist parents by directing them to rooms of staff members they wish to see. Board of Education members will be available to answer questions from parents.

After all this you will still have time to see most of the Monday night football game.

Mrs. Leslie Hartzman of Clarkston, choir director at Bethany Baptist Church in Pontiac, will be one of featured musicians at an evening of sacred music at the Williams Lake Church of the Nazarene, 2840 Airport Road at 6 p.m. November 21.

The program will also feature Jerry Kirk, organist, composer and Minister of Music at the First Church of the Nazarene in Flint. He composed "Ye Shall Be Witnesses" and "God Shall Wipe Away All Tears."

In addition to Mrs. Hartzman and Kirk, the HiLites featuring Maxine Main, Pauline Starkweather, Laura Main and Pete Domilici will perform.

First time grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Leslie of Clarkston, are beaming proudly over their granddaughter Leslie Ann, born on November 13.

Leslie, only 6 pounds 1 ounce and 18½ inches long at birth, is the daughter of Linda and Paul Maas of Heath Road.

Paternal grandparents are former Clarkstonites Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Maas now of Poplar Bluff, Missouri.

Prayer groups like this one from Drayton Heights Free Methodist Church met prior to the Graham Crusade.

Youngsters need privacy

by Jim and Ellen Windell

There is little that disrupts a parent-child relationship as much as unwanted intrusions. Young people, especially during the prepuberty and teenage years, need privacy. Adolescents frequently start collecting signs at this time in life and a not unusual one found on a teenager's door is "Keep Out." This tends to reflect the necessity for other family members to let the teenager have a life of his own.

Intrusions into a young person's life can take many forms and usually are carried out by the parents with very good intentions. One of the most frequent ways of violating a young person's privacy is by searching his drawers, closets, clothes, letters, diaries, and school books. Sometimes parents even listen in on telephone conversations.

We have even heard about parents who take off a teenager's bedroom door to insure that undesirable behavior will not go on within the bedroom. Parents also on occasion pump their children for information about their behavior, friends or dates.

Since drugs have been a problem in the last few years, many parents have taken to searching their child's room in an effort to find illegal contraband.

None of the above parental behaviors can be condoned, although we can at times be sympathetic and understanding of the frustrations that parents experience. The best intentions, however, can not outweigh the destruction of trust and respect caused by such basic violations of a young person's need to have a life of his own.

A feeling of privacy contributes to the growing child's sense of individuality and importance. It allows him to work things out in his own way, letting him make mistakes but also allowing him to feel good about his own triumphs.

Parents must earn respect as it is not a guarantee that comes along with a child's birth certificate. Respect comes when the youngster truly admires many qualities in his parents.

One of these qualities should be healthy respect for the privacy of the children in the family. When a parent insures privacy, it is a symbol of respect and trust and the parent will likely receive more respect in return.

Lutheran cookbook is in time for Christmas

Women of Calvary Lutheran Church are selling a cookbook compiled by members of their denomination from all over the country.

At $3.95 it has a wealth of information that might even make your holiday entertaining more exciting.

Here's an easy vegetable dip from Romeo—which could help you to get through the coming festivities with minimal weight gain.

Dip cauliflowerets, green pepper, celery, etc. in 1 pint of sour cream mixed with 1 package of Italian salad dressing mix.

Fix stuffed mushrooms with 2 dozen mushrooms about the size of a 50 cent piece, a half package of Lipton onion soup mix, 5 ounces of grated sharp cheddar cheese and the finely chopped stems of mushrooms.

Combine soup mix, cheese and stems together. Refrigerate about four hours 'til mixture is soft. Stuff and store in refrigerator until ready to serve, then bake at 375 for 20 minutes.

Do you remember when you were a youngster and your favorite dessert was butter tarts?

You can make some, if you put into unbaked tart shells the following: 1/3 cup of butter, 1/4 teaspoon of salt, 1/2 cup of corn syrup, 2 eggs, 1/2 cup brown sugar all beat together. Nuts or raisins or chopped dates may be added, then bake at 400 for 20 minutes.

Here's a cookie guaranteed to add a difference to the Christmas tray.

Creme de menthe balls call for 1 cup ground nut meats, 1 cup vanilla cookies crumbed, 1 cup powdered sugar, 1 tablespoon white syrup and 1/4 cup creme de menthe. Blend syrup, creme de menthe, add to nuts and crumbs and mix, then form in 3/4 inch balls and roll in sugar.

Here's another luscious reminder of childhood—Dream Bars.

For the bottom layer, mix 1/2 cup oleo, 1/2 cup brown sugar and 1 cup flour. Mix until crumbly and put in shallow pan. Bake 10 minutes at 375. Then—mix well 1 cup brown sugar, 2 eggs well beaten, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 cup coconut, 2 tablespoons of flour, 1/2 teaspoon baking powder, 1/4 teaspoon salt and 1 cup nuts. Spread on top of bottom layer and bake again for 40 minutes at 300.

The cookbook also has some neat housekeeping tips.

"Musty odors will disappear and the cement will be cleaned when newly cut grass is spread on the garage floor. Let clippings stand for several hours before sweeping them up.

"Remove mildew or rust stains on clothing by washing clothes in lukewarm water, rinse, rub with lemon juice and salt and let clothes dry in the sun.

"Next time the iron sticks, run it over a piece of waxed paper that has been sprinkled with salt."

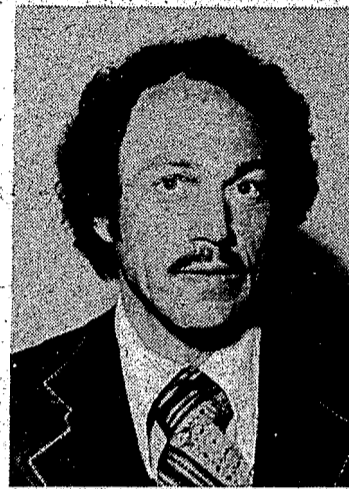

If you're interested call the church, 625-4820.

Springfield Fire Department answered a false alarm and put out two car fires in recent days. Fire Chief Marlan Hillman said the false alarm involved property found on Ormond Road, however no fire was found when the department arrived.

Car fires were doused on Davisburg Road east of Dixie Highway on November 8 and on I-75 at the southbound rest area on November 14. Lyle Brown, 9627 Susin Lane, was owner of the first car and a Mio man the owner of the second.

Two salesmen at Arrowhead Chrysler Dodge have a big contest going on to see who can sell the most cars and trucks during the month of November. There are all kinds of prizes, first being a Las Vegas trip for two. This means super prices on Dodge and Chrysler cars and trucks for the customers, so the salesmen can win those prizes! Go see them at 59 Oakland Ave. in Pontiac or call 338-4741.

Rick Shreves, formerly with Waterford Hill Greenhouse, is now with Flowers by Doris Marie, 10649 M-59, three miles west of Pontiac Lake Road.

Lot split approved

Helga Schwallbach asked the Lakeview in Sunnybeach Country Independence Township Zoning Board of Appeals to combine five small lots into one and then divide that into two large lots. The board complied Wednesday, November 3. The lots are approximately 12,000 square feet each.

In line with sewer financing policy the board found a lot owned by Annette Serling on Glenalda in Woodhull Lake subdivision to be unbuildable because of its size. Therefore, it will be removed from sewer special assessment rolls.

She will write a letter to the road commission on the situation where trucks go over the center line when turning on W. Washington from S. Holcomb. She further reported that she has had requests for stop lights at Depot and M-15 and Waldon and M-15. Chief McCall will request a study from the county road commission on this. She further requested that a two hour time limit be placed on the first two rows of the parking lot at Main and Washington, but the council decided against this.

Trustee ApMadoc stated that Community Development Funds could be spent for playground equipment, safety paths, and safety barriers, but not for street lighting. She will check with the county road commission as to their recommendation for some type of barrier alongside the safety path from the park to Deer Lake Beach. Gar Wilson will get some price estimates for sidewalks along to Holcomb Rd.

Correspondence from Mr. Delbridge, building director, was read, concerning the condition of buildings at 27 S. Main, and 11, 25, and 62 Buffalo St. He recommends that the building at 25 Buffalo be condemned, since it is dangerous and unsafe, and he will report further on the other buildings when he has done more checking on them.

Moved by Thayer to notify the Independence Township Building Department to initiate condemnation proceedings on the house at 25 Buffalo St., Clarkston, MI, based on the recommendation of the township building director. Seconded by Weber. Motion carried unanimously.

Jack McCall reported that the animal control officer has been getting about 14 calls a day since the program's started, and that the program is working well thus far.

Gar Wilson reported that only one bid has been received for a new garage so far, but that he's expecting two more bids this week. The council decided to hold a special meeting this Friday at 7:30 p.m. at the Village Hall to discuss the bids and act on them.

Treasurer Art Pappas gave a financial report to the council.

The planning commission has recommended that the council adopt an amendment to the zoning ordinance to provide for an increase in parking density in planned commercial centers, the exact amount to be provided by Vilican and Leman, the village planners. The council will wait for Vilican and Leman's recommendation on the matter before taking any action on this.

Moved by Weber, seconded by Sage to adjourn. Motion carried.

Bruce Rogers
Village Clerk

Jim's jottings

He's got hang-ups

by Jim Sherman

My office is 12x12. My desk is in the middle of one wall. Chairs for visitors are about 4 feet away.

Rare is the person who, upon being asked to sit and talk in my office, who doesn't pull his chair closer. Rare is the person who does it without asking who makes a sale.

They have all kinds of pills and liquids for stopping bad breath. They should market a bad breath pill for guys like me to use on such occasions:

***

Hang up number 2 (for this column) is the top, tallest shelf in our refrigerator. This shelf is also the handiest. It requires the least amount of bending. Bending is one of the prohibitions of youth.

Sitting here right now I can't think of anything that could be laying on the floor that would entice any of my three (ranging in age from 22 to 14) to bend over and pick it up.

Poets write of people being old and bent. Certainly we get bent as we get older. It's because we have to do so much of it to be able to walk around the house. My dad is old and bent. I used to think it was arthritis.

Frequently there are four pairs of shoes in our family room. None mine, or I wouldn't have brought it up.

Back to the top, tall refrigerator shelf. Naturally, none of the shelves are mine. However, I do have access. And, I'm allowed to put groceries away once in a while.

Whenever a quart bottle of red pop comes into the house I'm given the job of putting it in the frig. It is then that I'm most aware of the children's bending problem.

The top, high shelf is full of low items. Leftovers in stubby plastic boxes are on this shelf. So are flat packages of lunch meat.

A wedge of cheese is not an uncommon visitor, nor are olive jars, short jam, pickle and leftover gravy dishes.

Taking one step back and bending down I find the six-inch shelves practically barren. Just six inches away is lots of space for short items.

There is something good that can be said about situations such as this. It sure takes your mind off things like inflation, elections, house payments, and communism.

However, there is the other side. One starts thinking about birth control, zero population, family planning, and bachelorhood.
