Rogers resigns as Supervisor

By Dan Trainor
of The Clarkston News

Springfield Township was shocked this past week with the sudden resignation of Supervisor Donald Rogers who was just reelected to a second two-year term earlier this month.

Rogers submitted his three paragraph letter of resignation Friday, Nov. 19, the same day he took his oath of office for the second term. The resignation requested it take effect at 8 a.m. the following Monday.

Rogers narrowly edged out

Republican challenger Collin Walls for reelection to the post by a 1,090 to 1,088 margin.

The narrowness of the election victory and the uncertainty of the recount requested by Walls, triggered several factors leading to the decision to resign, Rogers stated.

The board now has 45 days from the effective date of resignation to appoint a replacement or a special election will be called by Gov. William Milliken. The time period gives the board until its Jan. 5 meeting to fill the vacancy.

Clerk J. Calvin Walters said the board is not expected to begin the process of naming a successor until after the recount has been finalized. That process, according to county officials, is not expected to get underway until Dec. 6.

The brief letter of resignation submitted by Rogers stated: "During the past two years Springfield Township has witnessed many advancements and accomplishments. It is with great pride that I can state I worked with the other board members to achieve those accomplishments. "I personally would like to thank all the people who have been so wonderful, so kind and so dedicated to having Springfield Township be a wonderful community.

"It is with sad and deep regret that I ask you to accept my resignation from the office of Supervisor to be effective Nov. 22 at 8 a.m."

The effective date coincided with the expiration of Rogers' leave of absence granted by Detroit Edison where he is a business representative.

Donald Rogers

"There wasn't any one actual thing but a multitude of items leading to my decision to resign," Rogers said. "I had to balance the benefits as supervisor of the township and my position at Detroit Edison.

"I had to weigh the accomplishments and goals reached in the past two years in the township, the closeness of the election, the recount, and, of course, my responsibilities to my wife and two children.

"The key was what to do," Rogers added, "and that was to return to Edison. If there was a clear margin in the election and there was no recount, there would have been an option for myself."

Rogers said he took the oath of office to prevent what could be severe legal entanglements as to filling the supervisor's post and to provide the board sufficient time to screen applicants for the post.

If the oath of office had not been taken and the effective date of resignation had not been Nov. 22, the board would not have until its Jan. 5 meeting and would have had to call a special board meeting necessitating added costs of legal notification.

Looking back at his term in office, Rogers said that, during those two years, the township established a library board and the library itself has established a building site.

The township has its first township hall facility, a considerable amount of work has been accomplished through the use of CETA employes and severe drainage problems have been corrected through use of CDA funds.

"In addition," Rogers added, "reassessment of all properties in the township has been accomplished so no one is receiving bids because of the property he owns or who they are. Everyone is on an equal basis.

"Police protection in the township has been increased 100 percent," Rogers added, "and the township has purchased property for a fire station and is in the process of applying for a second site."

As to his successor, Rogers said there will be many problems and the first and foremost will be the property assessments and taxes.

"Once the new values are determined and sent to property owners in February, many of them will be, let's say surprised, by that notice," Rogers added. "I foresee a very active meeting of the board of review.

"As for regrets, I have few," Rogers added. "I enjoyed immensely the past two years and wouldn't have traded it for anything.

"The friendships made far outweigh the criticism and problems I encountered," he added. "The self feeling of accomplishment and seeing people happy and smiling at the end results is gratifying."

While officially out of active participation in township politics, Rogers said he will not be a stranger at the board meetings.

Cindy Banks, Jaycette, presents Renee Lussier, Clarkston's 1976-77 Junior Miss with her trophy, as Lori Goodell, third runner up watches. In 1969, another Lussier, Jean, was crowned as Clarkston's Junior Miss. She is now working for Independence Township.

Renee Lussier crowned Junior Miss

Renee Lussier was chosen Clarkston's 1977 Junior Miss in the pageant held Saturday, November 20.

Miss Lussier, a student at Clarkston High School, will move on to compete in the state Junior Miss Pageant. She received a $500 bond and a trophy for her efforts.

First runner up was Martha Williams. She received a $200 bond and a trophy. Tammy Coates, second runner up, received a $100 bond and a trophy.

Lori Goodell, third runner up, also won the Spirit of Junior Miss award which carried a $25 prize. She also received a certificate and trophy for her fourth place finish.

The Talent Award was won by Shelly Gavette, who performed a gymnastic routine set to Nadia's Theme, made famous by Nadia Comaniche, a Rumanian gymnast.

The Clarkston High School auditorium was filled to capacity for the 15th annual pageant, presented by Clarkston Area Jaycees. Intermission entertainment was provided by the Washboard Band, a local group. Ed Cherney, Clarkston Jaycee, was the Master of Ceremonies.

Religion: Its role and meaning in society

By Joe Gitter
of The Clarkston News
Religion—an awareness or belief in the existence of a supreme being. It is a commitment to serving God.

But why worship God? What role does religion play in modern society?

Doubtless, many people in the area attend some kind of church service. Nowhere, but in this country is such a variety of religious sects present. The Clarkston area boasts of a number of Baptist, Methodist, Lutheran, Protestant, Catholic, and non-denominational churches.

All preach slightly different doctrine, but with the same underlying theme of one God who created all.

A cross-section of pastors and ministers in the area were asked what they felt the role and meaning of religion is today.

"Without religion we are like the animals in the forest. It is our relationship with God," according to Father Francis Weingartz, pastor of St. Daniel's Catholic Church. The church means more to those who want to attend, he added.

Pastor Clarence Bell of the First Baptist Church of Clarkston, believes God placed the desire to worship him in the hearts of man when he created them. "What is important is a personal relationship with Christ," he said. Yet, according to Pastor Bell, man desires to worship God with other Christians.

"Every religious person finds a faith that is able to guide him and give him the strength to live his everyday life," according to Pastor James Balfour of the Clarkston United Methodist Church.

People feel their prayer lives are important to them in order for their survival, according to Pastor Balfour. "All of us, every person before God is more than a physical being. We have a soul," he added. "We are drawn to the person who made us.

"It is a recognition that God gave us life," Pastor Balfour said.

"Religion is a yearning to know who we are and where we come from," according to Brother Gene Gonya, a Jesuit. Brother Gonya constructed a parallel between religion and the search of adopted children for their biological parents. "It is a search for who we are and where we are going." The church, any church, according to Brother Gonya is a formalized approach to religion for the masses.

It plays a minimal role in today's society, "mostly because the church as structured is very similar to everyone's daily living practices," Brother Gonya said.

"These practices which encourage the solidarity of religion are often times in contradiction of the word as preached by Jesus." He added, "Nowhere does he turn away people. How many churches do that?"

Brother Gonya feels the religious structure in existence is headed for another awakening. "as to the real call of what Christian life is all about." He compares this change to the seasons of the year. "Things change, evolve, grow and die; and spring back fresh."

Religion, the worship of God, has played a role in man's existence since the beginning of time. But, its role has been an ever changing one.

Depending upon the society and culture of the people under question religious beliefs and practices have varied widely, according to Professor Richard Burke, chairman of Oakland University's philosophy department.

For instance, Burke said, the religion of the early Jews was one in which law and regulation played a major role. Religion was the law and it mandated what you could wear, eat and do.

Yet, today religion has been separated from everyday life in the United States. It has become more of a personal thing for each individual to handle in his own way, according to Burke.

"We tend to think of religion as a matter of the heart rather than the head," Burke said. "Some religions of the past put an emphasis on theory. Science has taken over that role today.

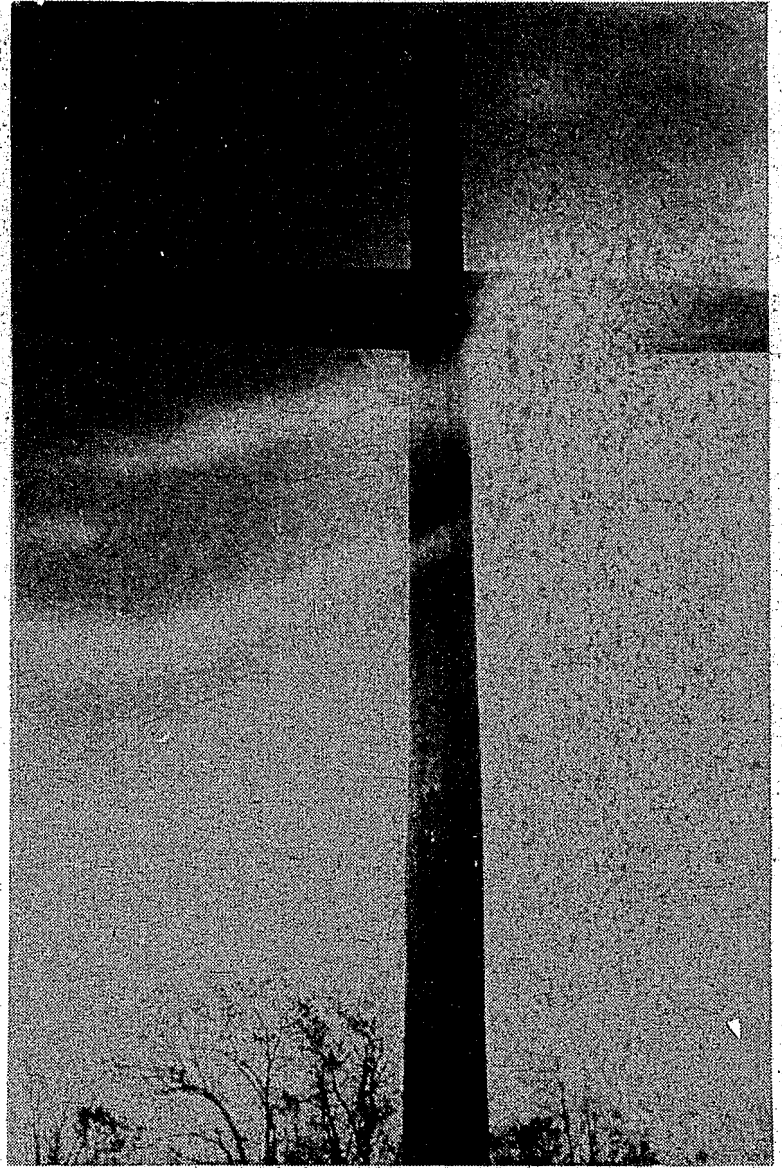

"We have separated religion little by little from each segment of public society," he said. "Because it has become such a private matter for most Americans, religion has probably less influence on public affairs today than at any other time in history."

How do science and scientists view religion and its role in today's world?

According to Dr. Edward Rice, a clinical psychologist with Oakland University's counseling center, religion definitely has a place in our world. But, religion has no place in science.

"Science finds no inherent or innate drive to worship an all powerful being," Dr. Rice said. "For most psychologists the concept of God is an extension of a father figure," he added.

But, the doctor was careful to point out that science and religion can live side by side. "It is only when people invoke God to explain natural phenomena that scientists begin to squirm," he said.

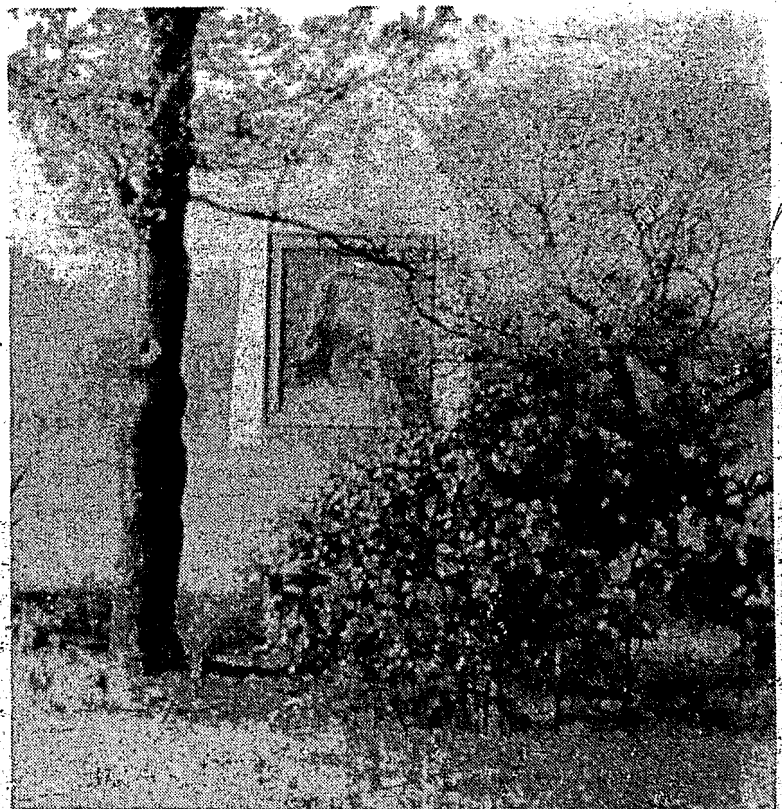

The symbol of the cross is a universal one.

A scientist can address himself to the question of religion as a person and totally accept it. For example, Albert Einstein, an undoubted genius and theorist, has set many of the physical boundaries of our universe, yet he was a very religious man.

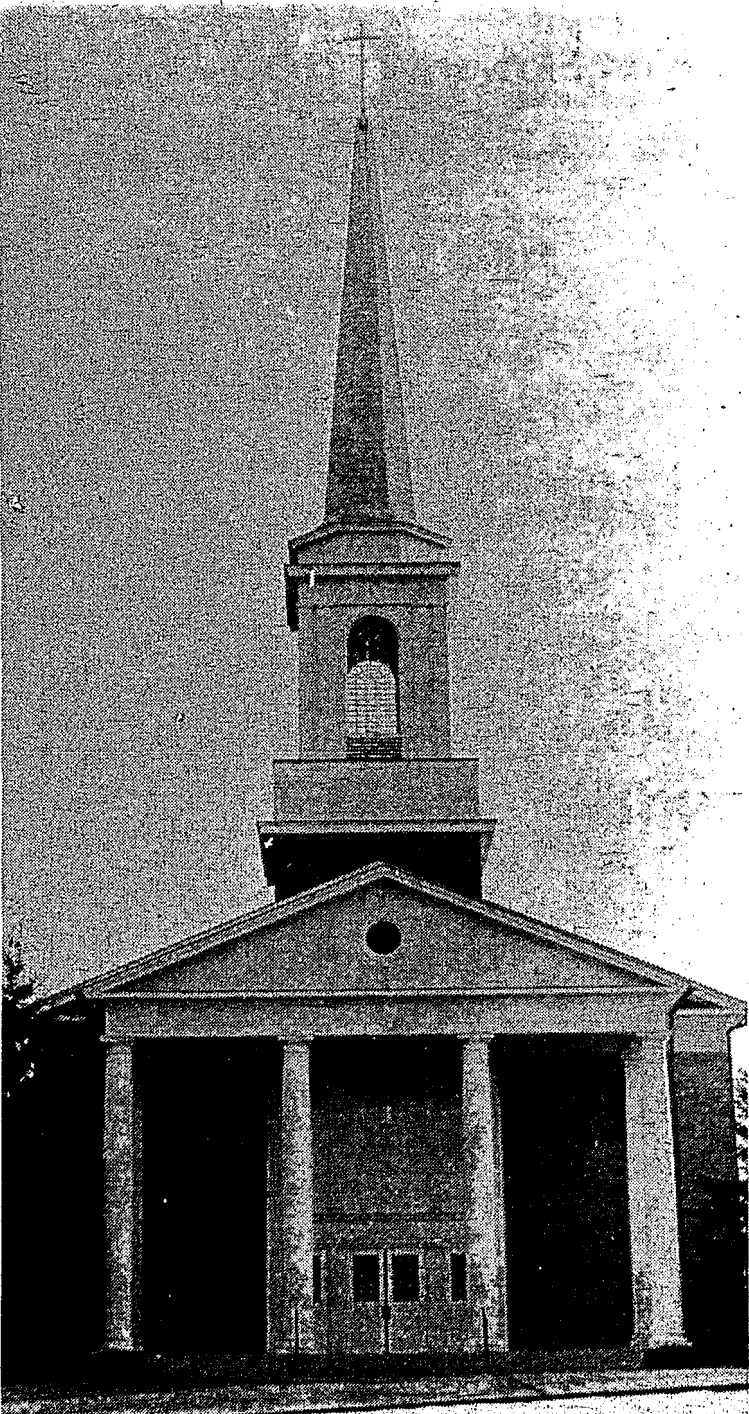

enjoy belief systems, they enjoy congregating (man is a social animal), they enjoy talking, and people enjoy tradition. Religion offers a long and rich tradition. In fact, religion fulfills all of the desires mentioned above. That is one reason for its existence, according to Dr. Rice.

According to Dr. Rice, religion may act as one of the vehicles used by people to congregate and express a similar feeling or desire. According to the doctor, people

Although science may seek to explain religion in a different light than men of the church, the fact remains that it does exist and it does serve a very real purpose for many people.

Collin Walls awaiting recount

Collin, a real estate and insurance salesman in Davisburg and a lifelong resident of Springfield Township, equates the whole thing with sports.

"I've been a mediocre athlete all my life and loved sports. When you aren't that good, you have to learn to take your lumps," says the small town philosopher.

He continues, "If the recount is in my favor, I'd be proud and happy to be supervisor. If not, that's the breaks."

Since the election Collin's been collecting stories about his near victory.

A neighbor, a lifelong Democrat who never had once cast a Republican vote, spent much time in learning how to split her ticket. When she got into the polling booth, she forgot everything she'd learned and clenching her teeth, she pulled the Republican party lever.

He's also heard of those who voted the straight Democratic ticket, intending to change their vote for supervisor, but remembering only to push Roger's button up. That meant they didn't vote for supervisor, because they forgot to push the opposite number down.

The two-vote margin means that if only one person had changed his recorded vote, the fate of the supervisor's post would have been left to a coin toss.

Even Collin Walls admits his political track record leaves something to desire.

Unsuccessful contender for the position of Springfield Township supervisor in the November 2 election, he grins—admittedly somewhat ruefully—as he recounts the time he ran for township trustee six years ago and lost—by six votes; the time he got elected to the park commission and then resigned later; and earlier this month when he lost to Democrat Don Rogers—by two votes.

There's a recount in his future, but he insists he's not particularly hyper about it. He admits some of the other members of his family aren't as calm as he is.

TV monitoring needed

by Jim and Ellen Windell

During the last few weeks we have been forced by virtue of the mass of detail described to us to be concerned about the television programs children are allowed to watch.

In the last week because of the gruesome details of "Sybil," we have listened to children from seven to seventeen recount the violence and aggression to which they were exposed in this specific movie.

One youngster we know down crying and fled from the room, while many other children have had nightmares since. All of this leads us to ask if parents monitor the television that their children view.

The media has carried many articles on the concept of a family viewing time period which generally ends at nine p.m. Also there have been over the past few years numerous stories about the impact of watching violence upon young people. It is appropriate at this time to review the significant findings of the last several years.

Aggression it is safe to say is learned behavior and children learn aggression (which may be defined as actions which result in physical or psychological injury to another individual) by observing it.

Several studies have demonstrated that after watching aggressive acts on television or in the movies, children are more likely to view aggression as a successful form of social interaction and are more prone to behave aggressively with their peers.

Many professionals have argued that watching aggression enables children to release pent-up hostility which might otherwise erupt into aggressive behavior.

There is no evidence that this is the case. On the contrary, watching aggression increases young people's knowledge of how to perform aggressive acts and it reduces their inhibitions against behaving aggressively.

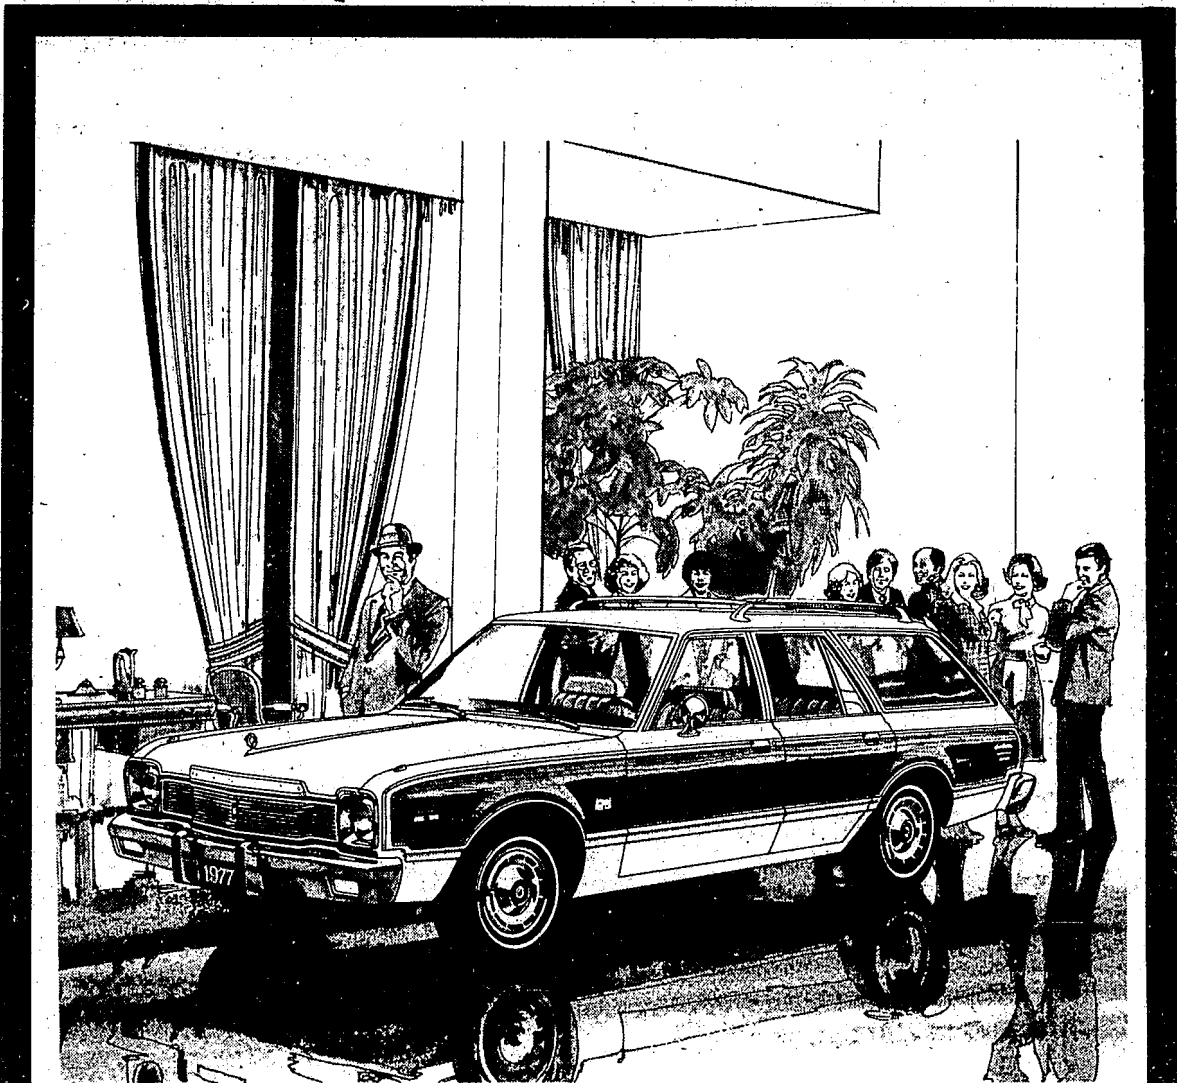

It is seemingly true that since society does not supposedly tolerate the free expression of television aggression that it provides forms of substitute release.

Movies and television can presumably be safe and widespread forms of vicarious gratification in terms of the expression of anger. Television is not the cause of the great increase in violent crime but television is guilty of glorifying violence, desensitizing people to the horrors of aggression, and equating violence with masculinity.

Parents frequently do not have control over the viewing habits of their children and may not know how to respond to the plea to watch a well-advertised movie on television, especially when the child or adolescent says something such as, "But mom, it won't hurt me. I hear worse things at school."

While this may indeed be true, it is also the case that this must be established when the child is young. While violence and aggression seem to permeate every aspect of programming in the home and our lives, it is also the case that this must be established when the child is young. While violence and aggression seem to permeate every aspect of programming in the home and our lives, it is also the case that this must be established when the child is young.

CHS Band - Par Excellence

by Dan Trainor

This past week there was a happening at the Clarkston Senior High School where parents came to inspect the programs offered and to check how well their children are doing in those courses.

That in itself is not unique but the performance of the high school band was. The precision of the band and its accompanying color guard was indeed superb. For the hours of practice and self sacrifice, the members of the band were more than rewarded by the excellence of their performance, not to mention the richly deserved standing ovation by the more than 300 parents and fellow students, as they passed in review to conclude the program.

The only criticism of the band could only be they didn't respond to the audience's chants for an encore. Then again, if the band did respond again, it could have been a very long night—but an enjoyable one.

When coming to Clarkston, the staff of the paper said there would be many enjoyable people and events in the Independence - Springfield - Clarkston area. Monday I saw and enjoyed listening to 108 young men and women comprising the high school marching band.

If that is a sample of events and people in this area, I hope to be here for a long time and hope to meet and talk with as many people as possible.

But first congratulations are due to the students, Sipos said has taken 25 hours of work for two minutes of music—and that is Band just for the outline. From there the refinement begins. Thus far this year, the band practice and more practice has been in three competitions, taking first place at Atwood Stadium in Flint. Two others were non-graded competitions at West Bloomfield High School and Royal Oak Don-

Director Keith Sipos afterward about the amount of time and that goes into a well disciplined band corps.

What did come as very much of a surprise was, this is the first school year the marching band has existed. It would be assumed by Monday's performance they were together for years.

While admitting some bias toward his band members, Sipos said it was the opinion of the other band officials that Clarkston High School was the best unit in the competition.

Obviously the other band officials know class when they see it. But after band camp this past summer, weekday and Saturday practice and the work of five instructors each working with a particular portion of the band, the group see it.

Letters to the editor

For the first time in its history the Independence Township Board will have a Democratic majority.

With the swearing into office of Floyd "Whitey" Tower as supervisor and Christopher Rose as clerk, the new township officers will join Fred Ritter to comprise a 3-2 majority over Republicans Jerry Powell and Elizabeth Hallman.

While the mention of a new party majority is worth noting it is hardly worth consideration as to the future decisions of the township board during the ensuing months.

Independence Township has been a traditional Republican stronghold and both Tower and Rose must realize they had a considerable number of Republicans voting for them in the November election.

The community has had more than its share of partisan politics over the past several years and, during the next two years, there will be a number of items affecting the overall well being of the community.

Such deliberations should not consider what is best for Democrats, Republicans, Independents or whatever, but what is best for the 10,000 plus citizens in the community.

Tower, during his campaign, promised, "The doors of my mind will always remain open." We hope that philosophy will hold true during the next two years for not only Tower but the other four members of the township board as well.

Security?

The internal security force, implemented by the Oakland Press in Pontiac, was a little red faced this month.

The security company, dealing with companies facing potential strike situations, is to check the identification cards issued to employees at the Press as they come and go from the building. It wasn't until two weeks on the job that they discovered one of the printers had pasted a picture of smiling Jimmy Carter over his photograph.

'If It Fitz ...'

Pity Patton

by Jim Fitzgerald

The movie "Patton" was shown on TV the other night, and I wondered if people watching in their living rooms were laughing when they should have been crying.

That's what happened when the film was shown in theaters. The audience kept laughing in the wrong places. That reminded me of those terrible movies made during World War II when Hollywood would do anything to help the war effort and make money.

The stupid cliché was always the same. John Wayne was a marine on typewriter duty in San Diego, working alongside 16 beautiful young women who panted after his body. And he hated it. He wanted to go overseas and kill the enemy.

John finally got to the front and won the war, but it wasn't easy. He had to knock an American platoon unconscious and take its place aboard a landing craft at Okinawa. And he had to make a wisecrack every time he socked a buddy, or bayoneted a Japanese.

People stamped their feet and whistled when Big John showed those dirty Japs what was what, by God. From the safety of a theater in Detroit, war appeared to be a glorious endeavor indeed.

It isn't. Not at the front. It is agonizing fright. It is blood and misery and despair and dying. And any man who says he WANTS to duck shrapnel, rather than help girls change typewriter ribbons, is automatically suspect. He's a phony, or he's nuts.

Gen. George Patton was nuts; a pompous, posturing martinet who admitted that he loved leading men into battle. He was worried sick that World War II would end before he killed enough Germans to become a national hero. When the Germans quit, he wanted to kill Russians.

Patton was angered by any assignment that didn't put him against the enemy, nose to nose, blood gushing. He thought he really was John Wayne.

That's the way George C. Scott portrayed Patton in the movie. To me, it was an anti-war film. When Patton slapped a frightened soldier, or bragged about how many men he had killed, I cringed. I wondered how many more like him are left in the Pentagon.

But all around me, in the theater, people were laughing.

To much of the audience, Patton was a lovable hero. Oh, a little eccentric, of course. But gee, what a man! Look at him terrorize people. Listen to him curse. He's not scared of anyone. Blow the bugle and raise the flag.

Or sink a ship full of nerve gas in the Atlantic.

I'm not changing the subject. The Patton movie was made six years ago, about the same time the Pentagon brains loaded an old Liberty ship with deadly nerve gas and scuttled it in the ocean.

Nerve gas is a marvelously inhuman weapon and any self-respecting fiend would be proud of creating it. But the gas is indiscriminate and hard to contain. It's dangerous to leave it lying around. It could become a turncoat and kill us good guys simply because we can't find bad guys we hate enough to spray with it.

Apparently neither the Arabs nor the Jews would buy it. So one percent of the U.S. supply of the gas was dispatched to the bottom of the Atlantic in a used ship. And while military scientists were littering fish to death, the Air Force was also involved in a magnificent operation.

At Lackland Air Force Base in Texas, 15 airmen were spending the day cutting out 10,000 pictures of their commanding general.

The base newspaper had printed a photo of the general showing only his head. You couldn't see his stars and decorations, for goodness sake. So the officer in charge ordered that 10,000 newspapers be distributed with 10,000 holes in them. He also fired the editor, always a wise move in such cases.

Naturally, a lot of people wondered what happened to the 10,000 clippings. So, with the nerve gas fresh in mind, I wrote a column detailing their disposal.

I revealed that the 10,000 offensive clippings had been stuffed into a steel foot locker. The locker was put aboard an old LST landing craft which was pushed to the middle of the Mississippi by two Pfc's in olive drab swimming trunks.

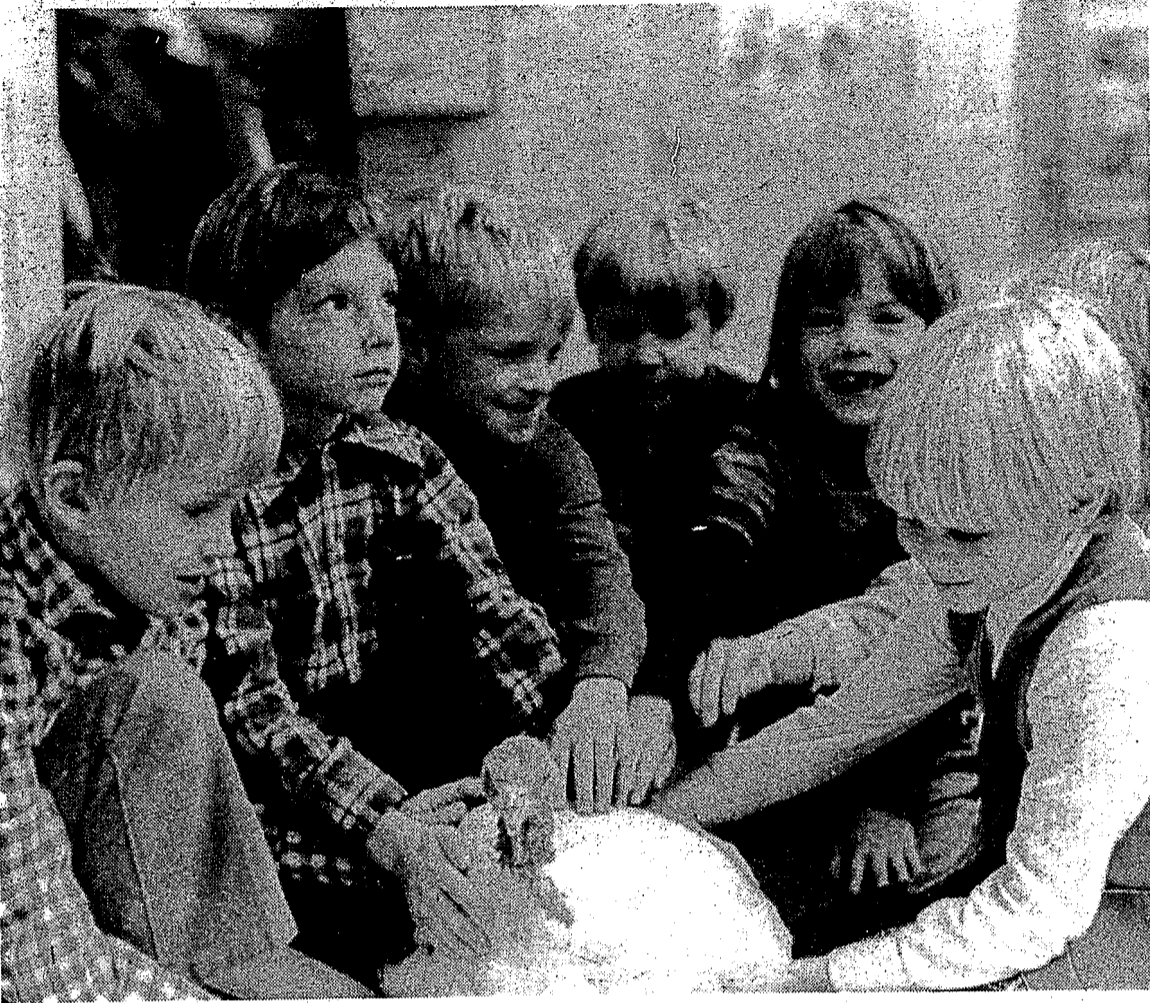

A helicopter then dropped a small atom bomb on the craft, sinking it and the 10,000 pictures of the undecorated general forever.

That's what I said. The Pentagon didn't think it was funny. I received a politely nasty letter from a lieutenant colonel in charge of retorting to wise guy columnists. He said the 10,000 clippings had been incinerated at no cost to taxpayers, and he implied that it wasn't patriotic for me to laugh at a general who had fought in three wars for my freedom.

I wrote back that I was only laughing to keep from crying. And I would like to think that is the only reason anyone would laugh at Gen. Patton's macho stupidity—to keep from crying.

That's what I would like to think. But I can't.

Kids' Thanksgiving Masterpieces

Youngsters in Miss Cluesner's first grade class at Bailey Lake Elementary got a close up look at Thanksgiving dinner, Monday. Mrs. Janette Vandermark, of Clarkston, purchased the turkey which she plans to serve at dinner Thanksgiving day.

That Thanksgiving turkey boy does it look good,
 All juicy and neat. Wow!
 That flavor can't be beat.
 I can't wait with cranberries
 all around,
 I just can't wait to sit down.
 My dads in the living room talking with my mom.
 Oh I don't know she's probably in the kitchen kneading some dough
 My brothers, sisters, uncles and aunts are with me,
 Keeping me away from the table.
 Oh! I wish we could eat.
 Oh boy! We can see you later!!

Soon Thanksgiving will be here,
 It's a wonderful time of year.
 On Thanksgiving I'm in a

 Cause I like all the fantastic food.
 On Thanksgiving people are kind,
 Why can't it be like this all the

My Aunt Betty on
 Thanksgiving Day
 I sure appreciate my Aunt Betty,
 It takes her weeks to get things ready,
 She makes ten different kinds of bread,
 When she's done she feels half dead,
 Then she stuffs that turkey full,
 I'm not lying it ain't "no bull,"
 I sure appreciate my Aunt Betty,
 'cause she gets things ready
 On Thanksgiving Day!

Thanksgiving Day
 Thanksgiving Day
 is when everybody is

 we all watch a happy

Its a culinary treat for kids

Ann Marie Mudge added spices while Julie Rouse beat the pumpkin pie mixture in Pat Smith's first grade room at South Sashabaw Elementary.

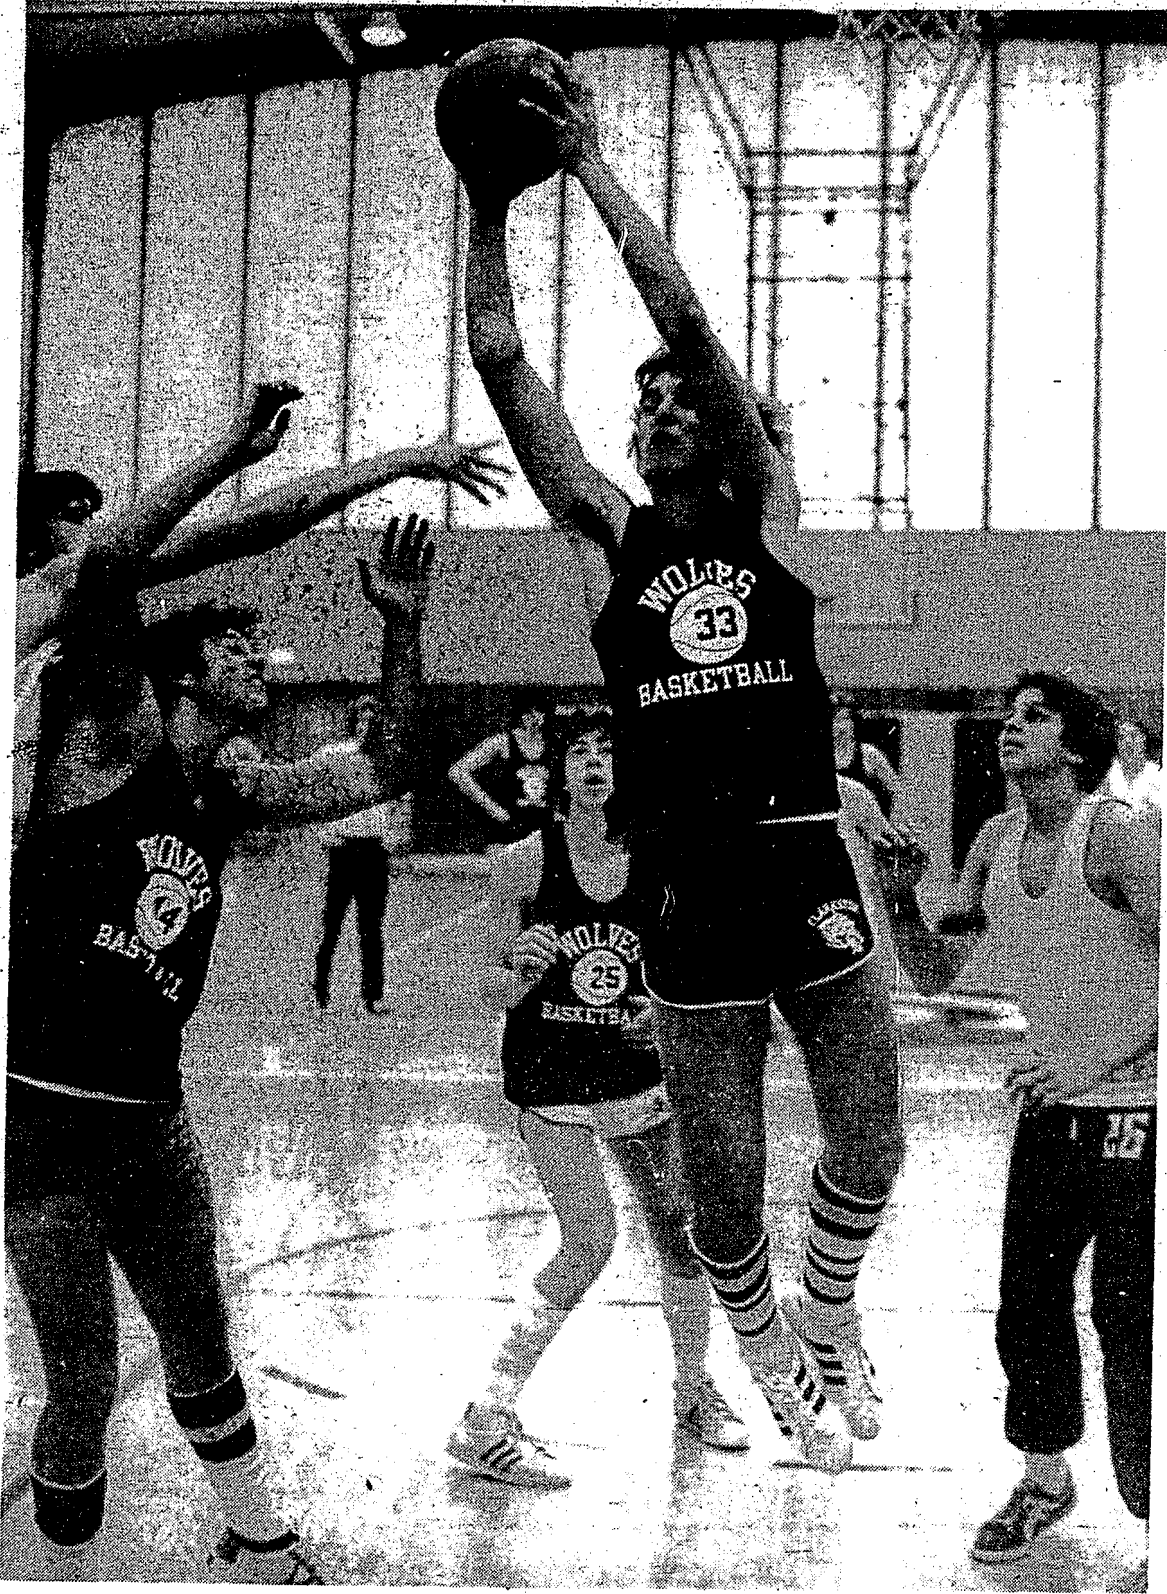

Pie makers all were the first graders of South Sashabaw Elementary as they began to prepare their Thanksgiving Feast last Friday. They also made bread and soup for the meal.

Following the recipe, Kelli Sylvester adds brown sugar to the pumpkin mixture in Mrs. Kuntz' first grade class.

Cory Chaney took his turn beating eggs for the pumpkin pie. [Smith's room].

Wolves to sport "a new look"

Chris Loidas, senior

The Clarkston High School Wolves will be put to the extreme test early in the 1976-77 season as they open against the traditional powerhouse of Pontiac Northern on Nov. 30.

It will likely be the toughest game the Wolves will play during the long 20 game season, according to new head coach Gary Nustad.

And, he added, it will provide the opportunity to try out the new brand of basketball that will be seen on the court between now and next March.

Nustad, who was assistant coach at Garden City High School for four years guiding the team to a 60-20 overall record, believes in a more controlled game with each of the 15 members of the team giving at least 120 percent effort while in the game.

The Wolves don't have "a big man" with the forward court averaging six-foot, three inches and the back court six feet, but that doesn't mean the Wolves can't beat a team with superior height.

"If they block their man out and play the game fundamentally correct, they can beat a big team," Nustad added. "If they want it bad enough, their quickness will make up for the lack of height.

"Winning is basically 80 percent desire and 20 percent technique," he added.

Not making any predictions as to the team's record this year, Nustad promised "we'll be competitive all the way."

"We have the potential to make it," he said, "but it will be a matter of self discipline and how bad they want it and what price they want to pay for success.

"This I can promise," he added. "We will be a very interesting team. How well they mesh as a team will determine how well they do."

The Greater Oakland Activities League will be a well balanced league, Nustad feels, with Clarkston's stiffest challenges probably coming from West Bloomfield, Waterford Kettering and Bloomfield Hills Andover.

"All of the teams are capable of winning it all," he added, "with any one team capable of knocking off another on any given night."

Basically the fans will be seeing the Wolves playing a ball control game working for the good percentage shot with strong emphasis being placed on defense.

"It won't be a race horse type of game," he said, "but we will be getting the ball to the outlets and getting down court to set up the offense quickly."

"Defense will be very much a key," Nustad said. "Some games will be won or lost because on some nights the ball just doesn't want to go into the net and if you can hold the other team down, you stand a good chance of winning.

"The team will not be centering around any one person for the obvious reason that if he has a bad night the team will have a bad night.

"If we are to develop into a good team, we will have to have three or four good steady contributors.

"The kids are going to have to give 120 percent effort while on the court," he added. "If they get tired, they can come out of the game for a rest then go out again."

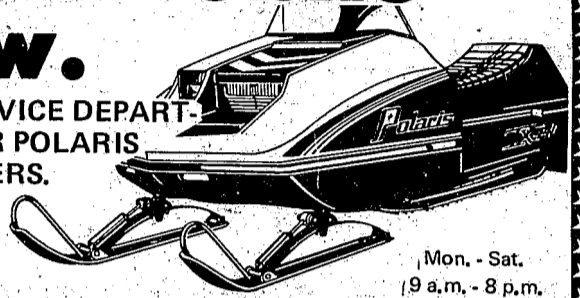

On Nov. 27, the Wolves will have a five hour scrimmage session with Utica Eisenhower and East Detroit High School, with the three teams rotating an hour on and an hour off the court.

Comprising the "new look" of Farnsworth. Also juniors Steve Evans, Kit Clarkston-Wolves will be seniors Ron Fraley, co-captain, Chris Pappas, Matt Wenzel, Craig Loidis, Don Blower, Jeff Williams, Charlie Robertson, Geoff Becker, Dwayne Davidson, Dan

The modern game of lawn tennis was invented in England in 1873 by Major Walter C. Wingfield, a British army officer, for play at lawn parties, Major Wingfield claimed that he modeled the game which he called "Sparistike" after an ancient Greek game. Authorities believe, however, that in reality he adapted to outdoor play the principles of the widely popular English game of court tennis. The early participants of the game preferred to call it "tennis-on-the-lawn", thus "lawn tennis."

JV's end season with 18-1 record

The girls' JV basketball team ended their season last week with a 52-29 victory over Walled Lake Central. The win was the 13th consecutive victory for the JVs and brought their season record to 18-1.

The Wolves came out strong in their final game, gaining a 17-5 first quarter lead. Kay Pearson was the leading scorer and rebounder in the game with 17 points and 17 rebounds. Jeanne O'Dell added 10 points and Donna O'Dell contributed 16 rebounds.

Last week the JVs participated in the annual Fall Sports Banquet. All members of the JV team received letters. Kay Pearson was voted Most Valuable Player by her teammates and Jeanne O'Dell received the Most Improved Player award.

Pearson was team captain, leading scorer and leading rebounder for the season. She had a season scoring average of 14.9 points per game.

Jeanne O'Dell, the JV center, has become one of the leading scorers on the team.

Girls' varsity ends season

The C.H.S. girls' Varsity field goals and free throws with basketball team earned an exciting victory over Walled Lake Central Nov. 16 to end their regular season of play on a high note.

Last Thursday, however, they couldn't buy a basket in the first half, fought back in the second half, but went down to eventual defeat against Rochester in the opening round of District competition.

In Tuesday's game with Walled Lake Central, the Wolves got off to a good first quarter and led at the end of the period by the score of 18-13. Midway in the second period, WLC went ahead of Clarkston 19-20, but the Wolves fought back and held a 31-29 point lead at the half.

Clarkston's scoring fell off in the third stanza and WLC tied the game at 38-38 late in the quarter. Central went on to finish the period with a 42-40 edge over the Wolves.

Both teams played quite a ball game in the final quarter as Clarkston tied the game at 42-42 early in the period and exchanged the third period, 20-23.

The Wolves kept fighting back for the lead and Anne Vaara gave it to them on a field goal at the 4-minute mark of the final quarter. Rochester had scored again when Mary Anderson returned to the game from the bench and sank a long field goal to give Clarkston the edge once more at 31-30 with 2:17 to go in the game.

Clarkston did not score again, while Rochester hit for another field goal and four pressure free throws to seal defeat for the Wolves by the final score of 31-36.

Thursday's game brought the Wolves' basketball season to an end for 1976 with a final record of 8 wins and 12 losses. The team finished third in G.O.A.L. League standings with 4 wins and 6 losses.

Boats carried aboard ships when not in use, are hung from a special type of derrick called a davit. Some of these boats are designated lifeboats. A lifeboat has no special type of construction, and any type of boat may be so used. A skiff is a small rowboat, usually with a flat bottom. A wherry is usually a small rowing or sculling boat, but the name was at one time also applied to a large boat. In the U.S. Navy, the term barge is applied to any boat used by an admiral, and the corresponding word gig is used for a captain's boat.

Repairs on boats and motors can be handled by our trained staff at PADDLE TO POWER MARINE, 6507 Dixie Hwy., next to Kinney Shoes, 625-0129. Thanksgiving is a nice day for everyone.

Every time it comes to Thanksgiving I think of the Pilgrims of the big feast they had. It must have been beautiful those days. Thanksgiving is the act of giving thanks. Thanksgiving is a prayer expressing gratitude. Thanksgiving is a legal holiday for public thanksgiving to God.

According to the operator 1 percent of gross sales is allocated for care but cannot be taken from the fund. Only the interest on the percentage can be used.

Take a shower and save.

A tub bath uses about twice as much hot water as a shower.

A normal tub bath uses about twice as much hot water as a three to four-minute shower. So, save energy and money, switch to short showers instead of tub baths. Another needless waste of energy and money is letting the hot water run while shaving or when hand-washing dishes. Avoid this waste by using sink stoppers and dishpans. And in the laundry, save by using cold water at every opportunity. Remember, the energy you save is everyone's, the money you save is your own.

Conditional approvals to ease maintenance along Wabun Road

Thendara Park Country Club Home Owners Association got a boost for road maintenance when the Independence Township Zoning Board of Appeals required two prospective home owners to install driveway culverts.

The culverts will allow for drainage ditches and ease maintenance of the private roads.

In two of the three cases that came before the board November 17 seeking permission to build homes closer to Wabun Rd. than the ordinance allows, the board also stipulated the sites be considered as single building sites. Those two homes will front on a private road and also an easement that could be opened and used as a road.

Daniel Witmer was granted the variance to preserve trees at the rear of his property. He was not required to install a culvert but his lot will remain one building site.

In the other two cases Eugene Scypinski of Sterling Realty represented subdivision developer Jack Raisin, and received the variance. That property also fronts on an easement. Both stipulations apply to the parcel.

The other parcel, at the corner of Oneida and Cayuga, has an underground utility cable running through the center of it, necessitating building closer to the front of the lot.

In other business the board gave Joseph Valentino, 5240 Drayton Road, permission to build an addition on his home that will come within five feet of an already existing garage because space is limited on the 50 foot lot. The ordinance requires such additions be no closer than 10 feet.

The addition to the one bedroom home will include a utility room and two bedrooms.

The curtain Rose

by Alan Rose

side the limits of the stage, but not out of sight is a pianist providing the music of Kurt Weil for songs from "The Three-Penny Opera" and "Happy End."

The selections range from such non-theatrical items as straightforward biographical information on Brecht to Brecht's sensitive and intimate portrait of a Jewish wife forced to leave her husband under anti-semitic pressures.

"Brecht on Brecht" shows us Brecht's examination of the inhumanity and indifference of men to one another.

This examination takes many points of view and many forms; an overworked scrubwoman sings of the bloody revenge she wishes on her employees, a drunken street-walker contemplates the hell she is bound for, a poor woman recounts giving birth in a latrine, and a grotesque clown show parodies vicious attacks done in the disguise of devoted friendship.

Brecht's stories are ironic, meaningful, intriguing, and sincere.

The performers are Sue Ann Carbary, Elizabeth Hughes, Paul Kerr, Mark McKinney, Harlan Moyer, James W. Nantz, Amy Joyce Smith and Heidi Stock. Michael S. Shann directed the production and Mark Choinski is the show's technical director.

Personally, I would rather see the Academy go ahead and stage a complete full-length play by Bertolt Brecht than look at someone else's idea of Brecht's Greatest Hits. The show certainly has a lot to recommend it (Ms. Hughes' rendition of "Pirate Jenny" alone is almost worth the time), and it demonstrates a creditable regard for Brecht on the part of all concerned. What it comes to, I suppose, is this: if you don't mind theatre that makes you feel like you should be taking notes, then by all means go and see "Brecht on Brecht."

The next performances are on December 2-5, and the curtain is 8:15.

Oakland University's Academy of Dramatic Arts has come up with something really unusual as part of this season's Studio Theatre lineup.

The new production, which opened Friday, Nov. 19 is George Tabori's "Brecht on Brecht," a multi-media overview of the works and life of German poet and playwright Bertolt Brecht. "Multi-media" in this case refers to the slides and recorded music incorporated into the show.

The stage for "Brecht on Brecht" is a wooden staircase extending from one side of the theatre to the other, surmounted by a blank screen tilted toward the audience.

On the screen are projected the photographs, illustrations, titles and occasional swastikas that accompany the selections. Out-

Deputies less busy in Independence; more so in Springfield

There were no embezzlements nor arsons, no cases of prostitution nor gambling reported last month in either Springfield or Independence Townships.

And furthermore, the Oakland County Sheriff's Department reports crime in Independence Township during October was down from what it was during the same period a year ago. Unfortunately, the reverse is true in Springfield Township.

There were 15 larcenies and 13 cases of vandalism in Springfield Township last month; and 31 larcenies and 28 reports of vandalism in Independence Township in the same period.

The breakdown of offenses continues: In Independence Township—12 burglaries, 3 aggravated assaults, 1 auto theft, 4 assaults, 1 fraud, 9 narcotics reports, 2 vagrancies.

In Springfield Township there were 7 burglaries, 1 assault, 1 narcotics offense and 2 drunkenness charges.

Accidents involving property damage in Independence totaled 49—13 in Springfield; those involving personal injuries were 20 in Independence and 7 in Springfield.

Shows your personality

Handwriting can be revealing

by a rank amateur
of The Clarkston News

So your handwriting varies from time to time and sometimes even from word to word within a sentence.

It simply shows your personality is not static—that you like different things.

That was the word in a recent 'Do Something Different' handwriting analysis course taught by Margaret Kurta of Berkley at Oakland University.

While there is no way to remember all the finer points of graphoanalysis which she encompassed—the result of long weeks of study—we did take a few notes and augmented by Margaret's wisdom and the book, "Guide to Personality Through Your Handwriting" by Irene Marcuse, available from Independence Township library, we asked several people to submit samples which we will reproduce here.

Some generalities first—

People whose writing is copy-book perfect are conventional people, sometimes without a great deal of imagination. On the other hand, Margaret reported that doctors whose signatures are illegible are illegible mainly because they're tired of writing their signatures.

"You would be too, if you had to sign that many prescriptions," she relates.

If your handwriting tilts forward, you are forward looking, maybe even impulsive at times. Vertical handwriting indicates reserve, self-command and a lack of spontaneity. The leftward slant symbolizes reserve and fear of the future and is frequently used by adolescents. Change of slant discloses a moody and erratic nature.

Pressure also plays a significant part in the reading of handwriting, however because we had our subjects use a felt tip pen for purposes of reproduction, it will not show on the samples submitted.

All writing is divided into three zones—that which falls below the line such as the tails on the y's and g's—that which is in the middle zone such as the e's and r's—and that which extends into the upper zone such as l's, d's and t's.

Richly formed letters in the upper zone reveal intellectual and spiritual life, imaginative powers and creative ideas. A concentration on the middle zone expresses the conscious, unimaginative everyday life. Those writing samples where the letters fall elaborately below the line describe the physical and sensual life, and a tendency to recede into the subconscious and a world of dreams.

Balance between the three zones depicts a balanced person.

Even spacing denotes clearness of thought; uneven shows confusion.

The fluency of words depicts quick, alert and connected thought.

No initial stroke, at the beginning of words shows independence.

An even basic line shows emotional balance; when it's uneven there's emotional imbalance.

Regularity of form shows consistent working habits; defined small letters show clear and concise thought. When they're undefined it shows a certain amount of muddle-headedness.

Individual letter forms, of course, show originality and individuality.

Writing in which each word is written with a continuous stroke shows reasoning powers and a logical mind. Where the words are broken, the writer is able to be versatile and generally has manifold interests. Where many letters in a word are separated, there tends to be intuition.

A garland connection with arc like roundings at the bottom and pointy tops on the smaller letters shows a good hearted nature; angular writing where both the tops and bottoms of letters like m's and n's are pointy shows prudence and discretion. The writer is a reasoner. Rounded tops and pointy bottoms show conventionality.

If i-dots and t-bars are well centered, the writer is apt to be punctual and exact. If placed high, they reveal idealism and optimism. If they are ahead of the letters they display impulsiveness, and procrastination if behind. Depending on the height at which they are placed, it reveals something about spiritual, everyday or physical concentration.

Word endings that sweep gracefully show generosity. Flung down with a hook they demonstrate aggressiveness and obstinacy. Long horizontal terminals indicate curiosity and sympathy; short ones show abruptness and a tendency to be opinionated. Those rising upward show aspiration, and curling back they show egotism and self love.

And with that brief—about as brief as you can get—rundown on some of the points of handwriting analysis, we depart into an analysis of some samples gathered at the office recently.

Remember—it's all in a spirit of fun and though handwriting is reported to be a scientific way of measuring personality, this is no attempt in that regard.

(Sample of No. 1)

Number 1 is independent, more concerned with everyday life, but a nice feeling for the spiritual. The bottom line is basically even and we would consider the writer emotionally balanced. The author probably has consistent work habits, generally punctual and exact.

(Number 2 here)

This writer is more dependent, more unsure of oneself, but generous. The writer is more concerned with what is happening right now than with spiritual thoughts or physical endeavor.

(Number 3 here)

This person tends more to the spiritual, is more of an individual and apt to be analytical. However the person can be aggressive and obstinate on occasion. The bottom line shows some stability, however the degree is not significant.

(Number 4 here)

This person might have some writing ability, however the reserve and lack of spontaneity would tend to 'dampen' it. This person might also be moody and sensitive to criticism. There is much originality here.

(Number 5 here)

This is more a conventional person, showing some independence of thought. Apt to vary in attitude, this person operates largely on intuition and is in the main forward looking. This person can be abrupt and opinionated.

(Number 6 here)

This is an independent, forward thinking person, sensitive to criticism. Concerned mainly with the here and now, there is still a tendency to give thought to spiritual things. Some erratic behavior (but not much) is indicated by the bottom line. This person is quite precise, and might even be called obstinate on occasion.

VILLAGE OF CLARKSTON
MINUTES OF SPECIAL MEETING
November 15, 1976

Meeting called to order by President Pro-Tem Granlund.
Roll: Present - ApMadoc, Granlund, Sage, Schultz, Thayer, Weber. Absent - None.

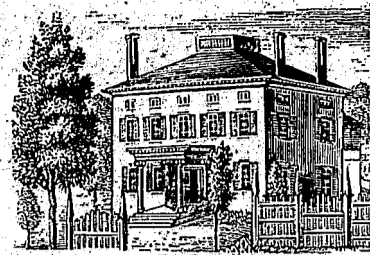

Mr. Noll of N&N Building Co. and Jim Scharl of Kieft Engineering, Inc. were present to present a revised bid of $47,756 for a garage on Depot Rd. This would be for a block building, 36x36 feet. With sewer hook-up, a well, etc., the total cost would be around $51,000.

The council and some members of the planning commission discussed the building and price at length. They asked Mr. Noll to figure the cost on a wooden building, and decided to take the matter up again at the regular meeting next Monday. This would also give a chance for more input from Gar Wilson and Treasurer Art Pappas as to the needs and the financing of such a building.

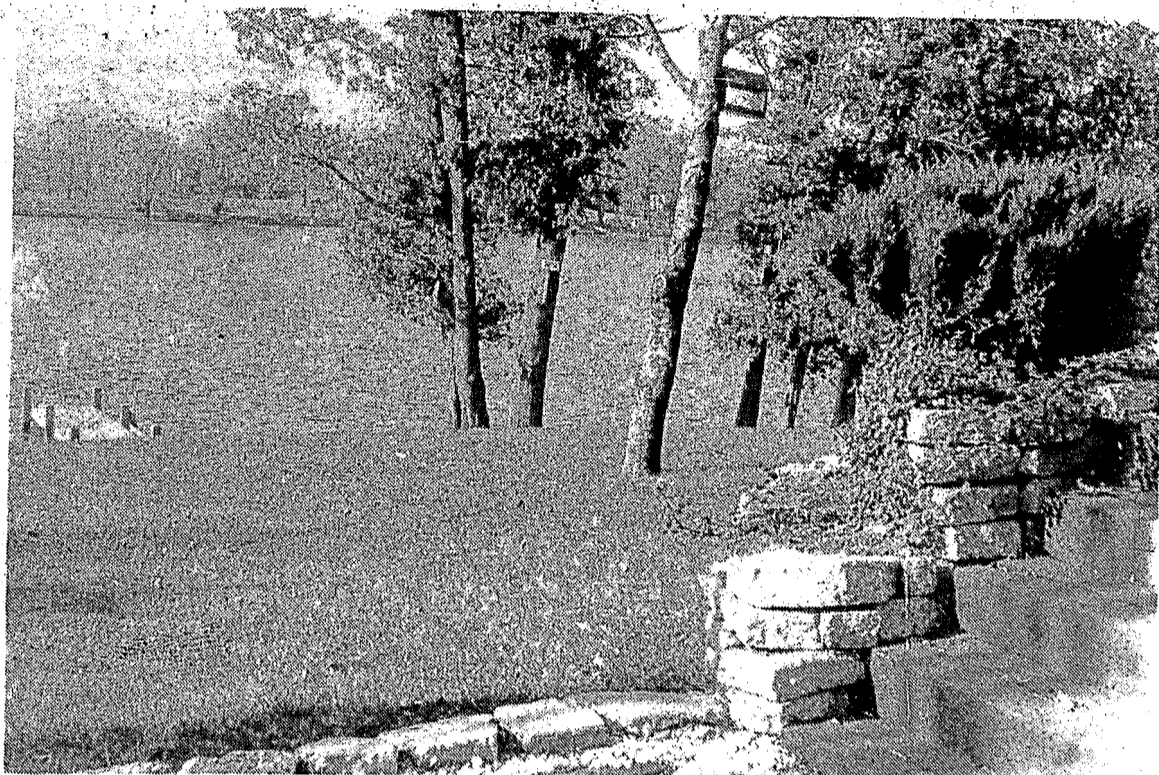

Meeting called adjourned by President Pro-Tem Granlund.

Country Living

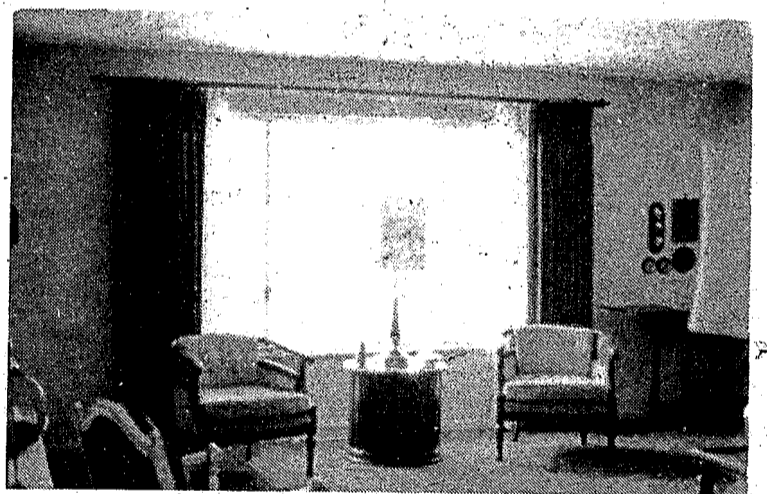

Family room door walls open onto patio, lawn and lake.

The black, brown and white color scheme in family room allows for relaxed living.

Dining area overlooks lawn and lake.

Large lakeside windows provide year round viewing of nature.

By Hilda Bruce
of The Clarkston News
Three years ago the Bill Goeringers were vacationing at Bald Eagle Lake in Brandon Township. On their way to Pine Knob Music Theater one evening they discovered Whipple Lake. Captivated by the scenery they found a house for sale there, put their Redford Township home on the market and in three months were settled in their new Independence Township home.

What is now a tri-level was built in two separate parts at two different times.

"I've heard so many different stories of the house I don't really know the exact transformation," Joyce said, shaking her head.

It's beside the point because the family enjoys the beauty that is theirs year round.

Besides the swimming and skating the lake provides Joyce finds the ever-changing view fascinating.

Watching a bevy of ducks paddling their way down the lake, she said, "I get so enthralled that I don't get my work done."

It was hard to move the family at the children's stage of development, she said. The youngest, David, was then 10 years old. They were involved in their schools and with their friends. But their love for the lakeside living often crept into Joyce's comments.

Soon after they moved Joyce decided she wanted to refurnish the home. So she went to work to lessen the strain on the budget. With the help of friends who dabble in interior decorating she developed a traditional decor that stresses comfort.

"The color scheme is the same as in the old house," Joyce said. The greens and golds that prevail in the country kitchen wallpaper flow into the lakefront dining and living area. There they are accented with bright orange rust in the patterned upholstery on the conversational grouping of couch and loveseat and in the cording on the solid colored chairs before the windows and fireplace.

In the master suite light blues join the green and then spread into the children's bedrooms where white and red accent the color.

The gold turns to brown in the family room and is blended with black and white for a scheme that doesn't reveal crumbs from late night snacking or sand tracked in from the beach.

The job that made the redecorating possible has put a damper in Joyce's summer fun, she admits.

"I hate going to work when I'd rather be out enjoying the lake," she said.

Joyce has that enjoyment on her list of things to do in the future. "I love to knit," she said. "And I'm going to play the piano someday," she added with conviction.

Her job with its varying hours has also put a crimp in her community activity. "I used to bowl and be active in the church," Joyce said. "Someday I have to get back into it, but it's not fair to get involved and then not be able to participate."

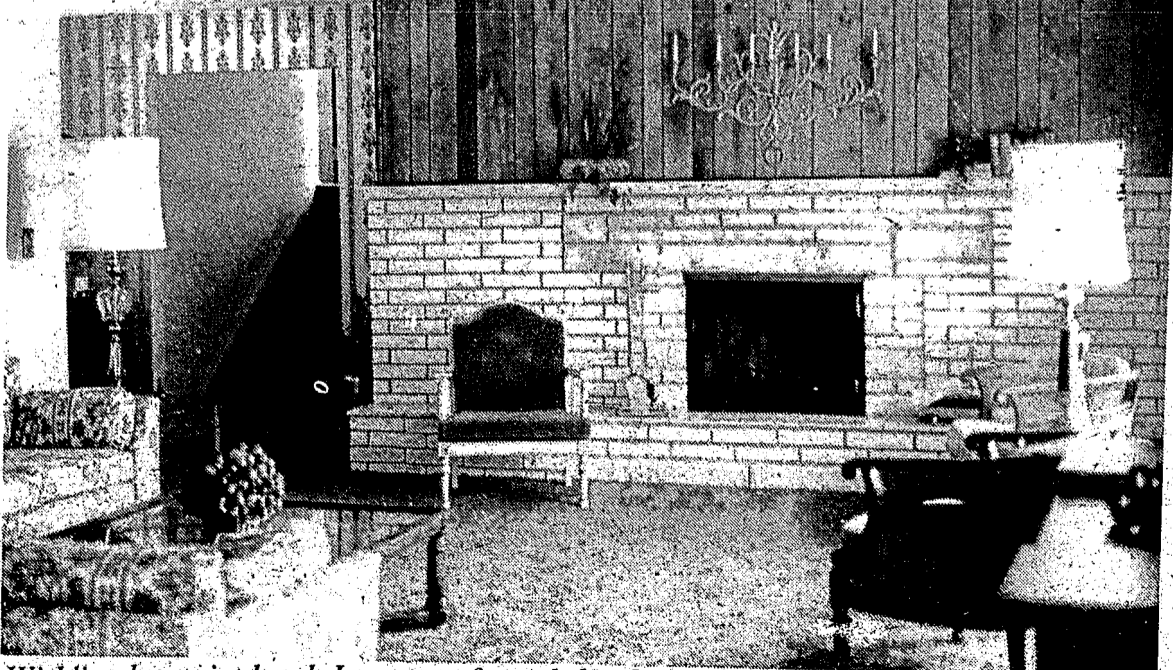

Her husband, Bill, manager of sales at Jessop Steel Company in Warren, has found time to be an area representative on St. Daniel's parish council.

And the children are involved in their own interests. Pamela, 21, is at Michigan State University studying merchandising. Paul, at 19, is studying journalism at Oakland University with hopes of joining his sister at MSU.

"I hate to see him go," Joyce said. Not because she's the clinging mother type but because Paul is so handy around the house. Thirteen year old Patty attends Sashabaw Junior High and David, 16, is a sophomore at Clarkston High School.

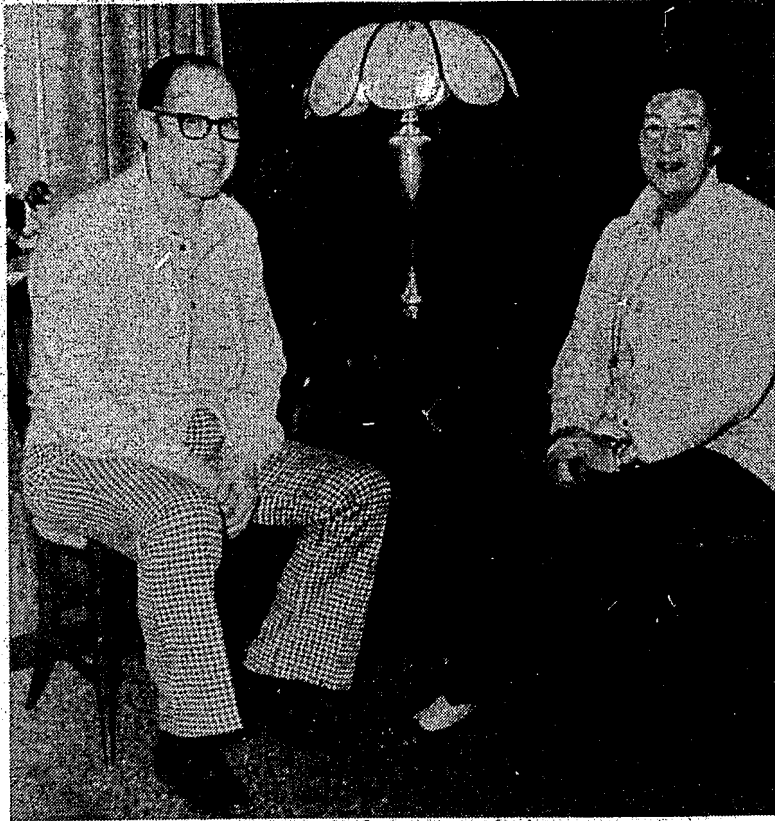

Watercolor of Martha Washington in antique frame, a family heirloom, is surrounded by French scenes in display over serving cart.

Wielding her paint brush Joyce transformed the glaring pink brick of the fireplace into soft, subtle white that blends with the traditional furnishings.

Parlor Stove opens in Clarkston

Walking through the doors of The Parlor Stove is like taking a step back in time.

The old wooden telephone booths, wooden sleighs and ancient stoves are just a few items representing by-gone eras and customs both here in America and many foreign countries.

Charles and Norma Backdull, who recently opened the store at 64 South Main, are no strangers to the area. They have relocated from The Parlor Stove in Ortonville.

The Bloomfield Township couple, whose items have been in several antique shows and displays, deal strictly with general antiques and collectibles representing past periods of history and countries.

Ski club forming

The Independence Township Recreation Department is trying to form an adult ski club. The club will have three or four weekend trips plus extended trips available.

We will do cross country skiing as well as down hill and may even have some racing instructions. If you have any interest in this program please call the Recreation Department and we will then set up a formal meeting.

No experience necessary and great chance to make new friends. We need your ideas and input so please call 625-8223.

Sign okayed

Charles Grant, whose State Farm Insurance Agency is in the Clarkston Cinema building, will have his illuminated sign.

The Independence Township Zoning Board of Appeals agreed with Grant the present sign on his agency door cannot be seen from the highway unless one is looking for it.

At the November 17 meeting, the board approved his request for an illuminated ground sign for easier identification of his business by clients.

If it's smoke there's fire

Springfield Township Fire Department responded to two calls on November 17.

Shortly after midnight they were called to the home of Michael Richmond at 17088 Canterbury Circle. $5,000 worth of damage resulted from the blaze started by faulty electrical wiring in connection with the furnace of the mobile home.

At the second fire there was no damage. The department found garbage burning in the basement of a storage building at the Edward Lawrence Jr. residence at 11855 Shaffer Road.

Friday afternoon Mrs. A.H. Sczerenet, 9858 Clark Road, backed her car into the garage and a huge cloud resembling smoke rose from the hood. The fire department responded and discovered a broken radiator hose.

A very Happy Thanksgiving to all our customers and friends.

Dear Clarkston,

With all new businesses, success often depends on response and the essence of time. Apprehensive about my move to the small town of Clarkston, I wondered about both. Undoubtedly, many are curious about my venture at this point, and I am pleased to say because of the responsiveness from the townspeople. . . . great! What better time than now to say

If you feel like giving ---

For years people in the community have been donating gifts and holiday decorations to the patients at Clinton Valley Center (previously Pontiac State Hospital) and Oakland Medical Center.

Ted Panaretos, director of the community relations department, urges that at Christmas-time all donations be new. He says that "second hand gifts, or hand-me-downs, tend to make the patient feel like a second-class citizen—especially during Christmas."

Panaretos has issued the following suggested gift list: For men he recommends giving dress and sport shirts, sweat shirts, jackets, trousers, suits, socks, topcoats, underwear, cigars, pipes, chewing tobacco, shaving cream, suspenders and ties. The women enjoy dresses, blouses, skirts, nylon hose, nightgowns, stoles, shawls, shoulderettes, lingerie, cosmetics, purses, head scarves, permanent kits, hair rollers, bobbie pins, talcum boards and ping pong tables are powder, jewelry, sewing material, yarn, knitting bags. Both the men and women patients enjoy receiving billfolds, gloves and mittens, scarves, pajamas, sweaters, belts, socks, slippers, washable scuffs, toothpaste, soap, deodorants, cleansing tissues, comb and brush sets, candy, nuts, cookies, cakes, books, stationery, mechanical pencils, ball point pens, cards and stamps, Christmas decorations for the hospital units, bathrobes and shampoo. Parlor games, such as checkers, scrabble, chess, Chinese checkers, cards, cribbage boards, picture puzzles, paint-by-number sets, and bingo games are also welcome gifts.

For the children at the hospital, Panaretos recommends giving toys, table games, clothing, candy, cookies, educational items and instruction-kids. For the wards, furniture, fire-proof curtains, television sets, appliances, pool tables, shuffle boards and ping pong tables are useful. Leather, plastic, new cotton materials, sewing material, art supplies, plywood and wood are welcome gifts for occupational therapy supplies. Clothing should be washable, and sizes should be common ones. Permanent press clothing is ideal.

The hospital prefers that Christmas gifts be donated unwrapped with the wrapping paper included for packaging the gifts at the hospital. This allows for individualized patient gifts. Containers should be plastic, cardboard or tubes.

Panaretos asks that Christmas cards donated be new ones and says that patients have a need of stamps also. Christmas decorations for the wards should be for walls, ceilings and mantels, since artificial trees are provided throughout the hospital.

The phone number is 338-7241, ext. 422 and 423. Mailing address is: Clinton Valley Center, Community Relations Department, 140 Elizabeth Lake Rd., Pontiac, Michigan 48053.

Christmas mail deadline advanced

Mailing early for Christmas might be especially important this year due to a 15-state United Parcel Service strike.

The postal service is suggesting a Dec. 3 mailing deadline for all domestic parcels and a Dec. 10 deadline for greeting cards, in anticipation of an unusually high mail volume due to the strike.

The service indicated that it has managed to handle the increased volume to date by extending working hours of employees. Confidence was expressed that the service could handle the Christmas mail with UPS on strike if public and major mailers cooperated with the established deadlines.

Parcel volume already has more than doubled in the strike area and is up nationwide, the service reported. It said most of the increase to date has been from large volume mailers who presort their mail and deposit at scheduled non-peak hours.

However, as Christmas nears, the service expects more mail from the general public deposited at neighborhood post offices, branches and stations on top of the already high volume of business mail.

As a result, the service said, many postal facilities normally dedicated to letter mail may have to be used to prevent an unmanageable backlog of parcels.

The requested deadlines for Christmas mail are one week earlier than the final dates under a normal postal volume.

Real Estate
HAPPENINGS

by Bob & Marvel White

The American Revolution momentarily halted land speculation activity in the colonies. During the war, however, seeds were sown for the frantic activity that would follow. As the costs of war mounted, the Continental Congress began assessing each of the states. The states, in turn, issued "debt certificates" and other "scrip"—most of which was worthless. When the scrip came due, the government solved its problem by selling off portions of new land holdings to entrepreneurs. The proceeds were used to retire the war debt.

You'll profit by the professional knowledge and experience of the friendly salespeople at BOB WHITE REAL ESTATE, 5856 S. Main St., 625-5821. VILLAGE OF CLARKSTON MINUTES OF SPECIAL MEETING November 12, 1976

Meeting called to order by President Pro-Tem Granlund.
Roll: Present - ApMadoc, Granlund, Sage, Thayer, Weber. Absent - Schultz.

Bids for a new garage on Depot Rd. were presented to the council. The lowest was $62,500 for a 36x40 foot building, from Joseph Noll of N & N Building Co. This would be for a block building that would sit on 50 foot pilings.

The council discussed ways to reduce the price of the building, such as making it smaller and eliminating some of the extras. The builder and Kieft Engineering, Inc. will go over the bid again and see if adjustments can be made.

The council decided to hold another special meeting on Monday, Nov. 15, at 7:30 p.m. at the village hall, to further discuss the proposed new garage and its prices.

Meeting called adjourned by President Pro-Tem Granlund.

The Clarkston (Mich.) News Thurs., Nov. 25, 1976 25

Nancy Dickerson, prominent national correspondent, reports for Detroit Edison:

“November is Energy Month ...but energy conservation is a year-round job.”

November is “Energy Month” in Michigan.

Governor William Milliken has officially dedicated November to promoting energy conservation through increased public awareness of energy problems.

Throughout “Energy Month” everyone is encouraged to find and share new ways to conserve energy.

This is an important time. Many of the fuels used to supply our energy are becoming scarce and expensive.

So energy conservation directly concerns us all... during “Energy Month” and every month of the year.

Each of us, as energy users, is responsible for using energy wisely. The job begins right at home. Here are just a few things you can do to be wise, and be dollars ahead on energy costs.

Insulate exterior walls, floors, heating and cooling ducts, attics, and crawl spaces with the correct amount and proper type of insulating materials.

Regulate your heating and cooling loads by dialing your thermostat down in winter and up in summer, especially at night or when your house is empty. Lower water heater and furnace fan settings, too.

Ventilate with an attic exhaust fan in hot weather to lower your air-conditioning load and operating costs.

Control heat loss through glass areas in winter with storm windows and doors. Check weatherstripping and caulking. Drapes and shades also help; they control heat gain and air-conditioner strain in summer.

Maintain your furnace and air conditioner with regular service checks. Replace filters often. Repair faulty appliances because they could be wasting energy... and costing you extra money.

And Plan Ahead when buying a new air conditioner. Make sure it's the right size (BTUs) with an Energy Efficiency Rating of 8 or more (EER = BTUs/watts). Building a new home? Consider installing a heat pump... the most energy efficient way to heat, cool, filter, and dehumidify electrically... delivering over 1½ units of heat for every unit of electricity it uses.

As an energy supplier, Detroit Edison is an active and concerned participant in America's crusade for conservation.

So, even though the people at Detroit Edison cannot control the use of energy, other than their own, they are continually working to produce and supply electricity as efficiently as possible, both to conserve our non-renewable natural resources and to give you the most for your energy dollar.

Here's what Detroit Edison is doing:

- salvaging and recycling paper, wire, lines hardware, poles, street lighting equipment, transformers, capacitors... even oil, again saving limited resources and over $8 million in 1975

- using compact service vehicles for more efficient and economical operation and gas mileage

- pioneering time-of-day rates and remote-controlled air conditioning and water heating to save millions of investment dollars and reduce energy consumption and waste

- continuing research into alternative energy sources such as solar, nuclear, wind and refuse in order to conserve scarce fossil fuels.

America's crusade for conservation requires a working relationship between those who supply energy and those who use it.

Detroit Edison is working hard to do its part. But the success of this crusade depends on all of us... every day, every month, all year round.

Save energy for all it's worth.

A last look at Autumn

Jim's jottings

Short stuff

by Jim Sherman

Ever see a happy jogger?

Our nation has probably had other people elected to office with backgrounds such as senator elect Donald Reigle, but hardly as well publicized. Makes one wonder what his margin of victory would have been over Marvin Esch if he, Reigle, were a clean-cut, All-American boy.

On the other hand, apparently the voters went for a man who has the image they really want of someone forming their government.

Detectives vs. patrol.
This must give law enforcement people fits. It seems to me little is really accomplished by police patrolling non-primary roads in cars.

They seldom catch a b & e in progress, or halt any crime other than speeding.

The police car going by my house might make me feel secure, which is some benefit. And, it's good politics.

Traffic patrol is also necessary. Accidents have to be covered, speeders have to be caught, etc.

But, maybe more criminals would be apprehended if more of a police budget went into investigations by detectives. There ought to be a study... and there probably are several. Quick. Name a committee and appropriate some money.

Having such a poor memory I can really appreciate someone who has a good one.

Like Frank Mosser. Frank had an appliance and tv business in Oxford in 1956-57. He lost his business in a fire in 1957 and moved to California sometime thereafter.

So, it's been nearly 20 years since I've seen Frank. Yet this week I received a letter addressed to "Mr. James Sherman, publisher, owner, writer, & lover."

Gad, what a memory.

Are letters written by students in Brody Hall at Michigan State U. censored?

My daughter, Luan, found a piece of cardboard in her "Brody made" bread last week. She retained the cardboard and mailed it to me in an envelope.

The envelope arrived minus the cardboard.

Along the left hand edge, near the bottom was a tear. The evidence is missing.

Gone is the proof. Was it lost in handling? Was it taken by MSU campus police? Did the graphic arts department need the material?

Did the Brody bakers need it back?

Don't bother tuning in. We'll never know.
