Renovation of Hawk Tool begins

Frank Walker has been employed by Marc Allen, Inc. of Grosse Pointe to serve as project manager for the conversion of the former Hawk Tool Co. on Washington Street into a mall to be known as Hawke's Cove.

Walker who has moved to the Clarkston area with his wife says the restored and renovated structure should be open for business by early summer of next year. The exchange of title from the Hawke family of Clarkston to the Allen firm has already taken place, he said.

The property, which is zoned for industrial usage, must be rezoned for commercial purposes, Walker said.

Plans are to retain as much flavor of the past and to use the building as a setting for businesses which will complement those already in existence in downtown Clarkston, he explained.

An architectural firm has been hired to finalize exterior plans in keeping with the village character, and to make plans to meet parking requirements while yet preserving as much of the natural beauty of the five-acre site as possible, he reported.

Walker visualizes non-boutique type shops, serving a heavier traffic volume and offering among other services good men's and women's clothing stores.

A restaurant is also included, to be located at the rear ground level and utilizing a curving stone wall now there. Walker also said plans are to renovate and keep on display an old generator in the northwest corner of the building.

Walker said plans are still under consideration to build a boardwalk across Washington on the edge of the Mill Pond and to position a gazebo there.

The plant, formerly owned by Henry Ford and used in war production during World War II, also holds title to the water rights of the Mill Pond.

Playmates

Nat Doolin, 9, of 6847 Snowapple, Bob Pursley, 12, of 6260 Waldon and Bradley Cole, 10, of 6601 Transparent spent a sunny afternoon with two new found friends. Bashful and Speedy Gonzales were caught in the Parke Lake swamp.

Regional bargaining comes to schools

by Dan Trainor
of The Clarkston News

The delicate art of position jockeying for the teacher contract negotiations is in full swing this week.

The school board Monday night went into executive session to lay out its guidelines to the administration's negotiating team as to what is expected of them during the summer months of bargaining.

This weekend, representatives of the Clarkston Education Association (CEA) will be attending a convention of the state-wide teacher association in the Detroit Plaza Hotel to consolidate area union locals for bargaining of contracts.

With the opening of bargaining between the CEA and the administration still about three weeks away, both sides are unsure of what effect bargaining on a regional basis will have this summer.

Michigan Education Association President David McMahon said local union chapters, "have been summoned to the convention" to lay the groundwork for restructuring MEA's 537 local affiliates into larger units.

"We call it unified bargaining," McMahon said. "It literally means that several thousand teachers in a given area will consolidate their efforts to bargain meaningful contracts for all members, regardless of the school districts in which they teach."

McMahon continued to say that the solution to arriving at equitable contracts is not going to be found in the courts or legislature and while the organization will continue efforts to bring about legal changes, "we must also seek means of providing teachers with protection from vindictive boards of education until that occurs."

CEA President Al Bartlett said the purpose of the regrouping is to coordinate the teacher's approach to bargaining and to obtain a better understanding on the workings of other teacher units and a better understanding of other contracts.

The concern of mass striking by teachers has not been considered, Bartlett said. "There is nothing yet to indicate that type of action."

The thought and idea of regrouping is in its infancy, Bartlett added, and what effects it will have in years to come is hard to answer.

Teachers are concerned, he added, over the difficulty of arriving at a set contract settlement which is something that has to be resolved.

The ultimate, of course is to have the legislature move and make negotiations effective, Bartlett added.

The prospect of regional bargaining, School Board President David Leak said, would, if successful, mean the end of local control.

The teachers, Leak said, already have more protection under state law than the school districts and the taxpayers and if they are successful it will make local bargaining impossible.

Leak feels, however, that the MEA will be no more successful in their efforts toward regional bargaining than the Michigan Association of School Boards.

"We (MASB) are more successful in communicating ideas than implementing targets," Leak added.

A water sport

Terry Yuska, 14, of 10158 King Road in Davisburg and Julia Charest, 16, of 6705 Mill Lake Road in Clarkston, got tired of standing on shore so they sat in the water. The girls didn't catch many fish, but they certainly kept their cool.

Drive for senior citizen center wins support

Senior citizens in Independence Township are beginning to gather architectural drawings for a proposed center. This comes after receiving assurances from the school board Monday for needed property and becoming the Seniors prime benefactors of the township's federal revenue sharing funds Tuesday.

The senior citizens, who have packed several meetings in recent months, are beginning to see their efforts show some results.

The school board, in an unofficial vote of confidence, gave the seniors assurances they would sell, to the township, the needed property to build a senior citizen center behind the township's library on Clarkston Road.

During a series of meetings between school officials and Parks and Recreation Director Tim Doyle, it was felt a possibility may exist the facility could be an addition to the present library now situated on 2.5 acres.

If the need arises for additional property for the facility, the school board said it would be willing to sell the land on the condition that it be used exclusively for a senior citizen center.

Assistant Superintendent Mel Vaara said if they decide to add onto the library and sometime in the future the center is relocated the addition could be used for library expansion.

Seniors have already been reviewing centers in other communities and are requesting architectural drawings of facilities ranging in costs of up to $150,000, according to Doyle, and are considering all alternatives to reduce the price to the money they have.

Tuesday, that budget took another step toward being finalized with the township appropriating $25,000 of its $90,312 in federal revenue sharing funds to the senior citizens.

The finalization of the federal fund split, gives the seniors approximately $69,000 toward its center.

Other funds include $42,000 earmarked from Community Development Act Funds over the past two years and assurances of the major share in $15,000 in federal revenue sharing funds being set aside by the township for land acquisition.

The seniors, like other township departments, also stand a chance to share in $30,000 in CDA monies for private roads and park lighting which the county says is not allowed under the federal guidelines. The township is appealing that interpretation, however.

The township board eliminated its $10,312 in federal revenue sharing funds for improvements to the township hall because the building is not barrier free.

In dividing the money, the seniors received an additional $5,000 from the original $20,000 being proposed, with the library and police receiving an additional $2,000 boosting their share of the monies to $6,000 and $12,000 respectively and the remaining $1,000 being set aside to microfilm township records and documents.

Remaining unchanged from when the board first proposed the revenue sharing budget at its annual meeting are spring clean-up, $6,000; $15,000 land acquisition; $10,000 as part of the township's subsidy to chloride roads this summer; $16,000 to the recreation department; $8,000 toward park development and $1,000 to replace road signs.

As part of the federal revenue sharing funds, the township said it would again subsidize the cost of chloriding roads in the township to reduce the problem of dust this summer.

The Oakland County Road Commission said the cost of chloride on a per foot charge would remain at 12 cents.

The subsidy, the board said, would be terminated once the $10,000 has been exhausted.

Votes not to appeal

The Independence Township Board voted unanimously not to appeal a decision by the Oakland County Circuit court overruling the township zoning board of appeals in their denial of a lot size variance last summer.

The board, citing the costs of an appeal and fear of jeopardizing its zoning restrictions, voted instead to accept a consent judgment allowing the construction of a home on an 87-foot lot, 13 feet below the zoning requirements.

The case involved a Dennis Campbell who purchased a 100 foot lot and one-half of a second lot.

After constructing his home at 6349 Pine Knob, he purchased the remaining portion of the second lot, officials said.

When he went to construct a home on the second lot, Campbell discovered his home was too close to the property line and requested a variance.

The request was rejected by the zoning board of appeals and Campbell filed suit in Oakland County Circuit Court.

Last week Judge Alice Gilbert ruled in favor of Campbell and ordered the township building department to issue a building permit.

Township Attorney Richard Campbell said there was a chance the township may win a reversal in the appellate court, but in appealing the township stands a chance of having its entire zoning laws being declared illegal.

Former supervisor recalls the good old days

Davisburg once a hub of activity

John Carey

By Joe Gitter of The Clarkston News

The good old days — a time when life was simpler, people were friendlier, the future promising and government was smaller, much smaller and a lot less confusing.

It used to be Davisburg was the hub of activity in Township, according to John Carey. The Grand Trunk Railroad, now devoted to freight traffic, carried through that tiny town.

"There used to be 10-15 occasional train roars through the quiet town, but it never stops anymore and it carries passengers."

Carey was at the center of activity in the growing years of Davisburg. As township supervisor for 14 years he has seen the town and the surrounding community change and grow from a farming center to a bedroom community for commuters.

Two hotels and a grist mill, used to grind grain into flour, once lined the main street in downtown. They are gone too.

"Davisburg was once a very prosperous, active town," Carey said. "Now the farms have been mostly chopped into subdivisions. There's not many real operating farms left."

Carey was elected to seven consecutive terms as township supervisor. He served from 1953 until his appointment to Oakland County Jury Commission almost 14 years later.

When Carey took office in 1967, 1,610 people lived in Springfield Township. Today that figure is over 6,000.

But, even 25 years ago the job of supervisor was a busy, full-time one, especially since his office was located in his livingroom, kitchen and dining room.

"People would drift in at all times of the day or night," he remembers.

As supervisor Carey had many of the same duties and problems that face today's office holder, Collin Walls. The annual budget, recently approved by the township board, was always a problem, but not as much of a headache as it is today, Carey said.

The supervisor's duties have also been broadened since his days in office. "The people moving into the area are from the cities. They want to continue the services they were used to," he explained.

An expansion of population means an expansion of services which leads to a greater expenditure of money which in turn leads to higher taxes. Growth needs money, he relates.

Springfield's 1977-78 budget totaled $321,331.00. "Our budget . . . well, sometimes they'd get as high as $30,000," Carey recalls.

Salaries have increased. Today's supervisor receives $14,500 annually. Carey estimates he was paid about 50 cents an hour.

But, even over 25 years, some things never change. People never change. They complained (not unrighteously) about high property taxes when Carey was supervisor and they complain today.

Hospital participation indefinite

B Dan Trainor of The Clarkston News

Independence Township officials are being cautious about proposed plans by Pontiac officials to build a satellite hospital near the Oakland-Pontiac Airport to serve the communities of Independence, White Lake and Waterford Townships.

Supervisor Floyd Tower said there are several hurdles that have to be overcome by representatives of the city and Pontiac General Hospital before the satellite can be seriously considered by the three townships involved.

The major hurdle will come this July when voters go to the polls in Pontiac's primary election to decide upon a ballot proposal to allow for the creation of a Comprehensive Health Authority that would oversee the construction and operation of the satellite facility.

until August of 1978, Tower said, so unless something occurs that requires a special election, a decision by township voters is more than a year away.

The township, Tower said, could not justify the costs involved in calling a special election for just that one proposal.

In the meantime, Tower said, township officials will be meeting with area doctors directly involved with Pontiac General Hospital to get their views as to the needs of residents in the health care field and to determine if the proposed satellite would be that beneficial to township residents in relation to the millage.

Current plans, Tower said, call for the creation of a 17-member hospital authority with 10 members selected on a population basis and seven members appointed by the 10 members.

Based upon population, Tower said, Waterford and Pontiac would have equal representation on the hospital authority with one member each from Independence and White Lake Townships.

A millage proposal may have a difficult time in the township, Tower added, citing the fact that voters turned down millages for a police department twice and the upcoming school millage proposals.

"What it comes down to," Tower said, "are the people willing to pay .4 mills to be part of the North Oakland Hospital Authority?"

If the residents of the communities involved choose not to finance the satellite hospital, Tower feels several private clinics will be scattered around, no one of which would have a hospital as a base.

If residents do approve, then they have a chance to be a part of it and have representation on its authority.

The proposed satellite is one of four latest proposals being discussed by city and hospital officials in an attempt to end a long standing debate as to how best to keep pace with its North Oakland County service area.

Clarkston pediatrician Dr. James O'Neill, who is chief of staff at the 50-year-old facility, said the hospital faces loss of Blue Cross-Blue Shield coverage and loss of competent staff members unless the hospital provides more modern facilities.

The hospital, located on Huron Street, has been the focal point of a political debate in Pontiac on the issue of renovating the present facility versus expansion to the suburbs with satellite facilities and short-term care.

Climate for hospital is favorable

On the same ballot will be a proposal for the levy of .4 (four-tenths) mill to fund the construction of the satellite to be located on M-59 just west of the airport.

As far as Independence is concerned, Tower said, it comes down to whether the facility would really serve all of the township and whether residents are willing to tax themselves .4 mill to be part of the hospital's board of trustees.

Another factor that will play a major role in plans for the satellite is time, Tower added.

Pontiac General officials would like to start immediately on the satellite once they have the authority, but for Independence to be a part of the hospital authority, voters would have to approve the .4 mill levy.

Independence Township does not have an election scheduled

BY Hilda Bruce of The Clarkston News

In an unofficial telephone poll conducted this week by The Clarkston News, virtually 100 percent of the 15 families contacted say they are in favor of taking part in Pontiac's plan to construct a new hospital and to provide a satellite facility for this area.

The proposed new care facility would offer diagnostic, emergency and short-term care. It has been suggested that it will be located somewhere in the vicinity of Oakland-Pontiac Airport. To get it we would have to participate in a program that would mean approving a .4 mill levy.

Only Marjorie Baril of Clarkston felt she needed more information than is presently available in order to make a conscientious decision.

While she felt the hospital would be good to have, she considers the .4 mill levy important. "I am an apartment dweller and the rent goes up once a year. If I were paying on a home it would be different," she said.

Marjorie McNally has to travel to Pontiac General on a regular basis for treatment of arthritis—and her husband, James, has to drive her. She would favor a facility closer to Clarkston.

"If I had my way we'd have THE hospital out here," said Cheryl Futrel. "This is where the people are," she said.

Sharon Furgurson of Harvard agreed. "We need the facility for safety reasons. With all of our lakes and schools and the children that use them, we have an emergency situation in our populace."

"We don't mind paying for services. Once we get another elementary school the next thing we need is a hospital," continued the mother of three.

Penny Barnard of Dubuque also placed schools first on her list but the hospital was a close second.

"We have five daughters and we don't mind paying for services. I'll be first in line for the school millage," she commented.

Continuing, she noted she believed the hospital would be a big boon to the people. "I'm all for it for the suburbs but it would take away from Pontiac. I would hope for better care, though."

John and Cherie Webster of Church Street don't have children to rush to the emergency room but John favors the idea of a satellite. The required millage isn't much for some, but a nearby emergency center is needed.

Jesse and Mary Quigly's children are grown but they too agree that the cost is not much considering the convenience of a modern treatment center.

The financing of the facility is something to be considered at the Robert Furman household on Cecelia Ann. Furman is an excavator and his work is seasonal.

"Rising costs are never pleasant," his wife, Marlene, said. "But we have an asthmatic son and the convenience might be worth it. It takes 25 minutes to get to Pontiac General if the traffic is light, longer if it's rush hour."

"A neighbor told me once after taking her children to Pontiac that it was the longest ride in the world, said Mrs. Keith Pitcher who agreed that a more convenient emergency center is needed.

Area deaths

Former fire chief Don Beach dies

Donald G. Beach of Hidden Lane, chief of the Independence Township Fire Department from 1942 to 1972, died Monday morning. He was 64.

Funeral services were to be 11 a.m. Wednesday from the Lewis E. Wint Funeral Home, Rev. James R. Balfour officiating. Burial was to be in Lakeview Cemetery.

The family suggested memorials to Clarkston United Methodist Church or the Michigan Heart Association.

He is survived by his wife, Henrietta; a daughter, Mrs. Nolan (Shirley) Jessee of Big Rapids; a son, Jack G. of Independence Township; two grandchildren; and a sister, Mrs. Raymond (Betty) Graessle of Florida.

Beach was retired from General Motors Truck & Coach Co., having served 40 years on the fire department, 30 of them as chief.

He took the chief's job when the department consisted of one truck and a one-stall firehall, and built the force to the point that his successor became the first full-time employe of the department.

Along the way, he developed a reputation for kindness and good works. His retirement party in July of 1972 drew more than 200 people, including neighbors and representatives of other area fire departments.

Frank Ronk, his successor as chief, at that time told the group, "Con Beach has given of himself more than anyone will be aware of. When there was a call for help of any kind, he went. He would buy many small things from his own pocket and make trips on behalf of the fire department without turning in a bill."

At that time Beach responded, "I think most people join the department because of the glamour, but after the first time in zero weather and frozen fingers and frozen toes, and getting hauled out at 4 a.m., about 25 percent fall by the wayside. It takes a person who loves all his neighbors and wants to do something for them," he said of his volunteers, who then numbered 50.

Beach was also an avid amateur historian, having one of the best collections of glass negatives of old Clarkston anywhere. Many of his pictures were incorporated in the Bicentennial "Heritage," a book put out by the Clarkston Community Historical Society.

He was also a buff on fire department history, having researched village and township records to learn the Clarkston Fire Department was organized May 7, 1901, and equipped with four ladders at a cost of $10 and a hundred buckets costing $11.69.

Beach was the first to admit that times had changed.

Edward Lee Porritt

Edward Lee Porritt, owner and operator of the Porritt Dairy of Orion township for more than 40 years, died suddenly April 15. He was 68.

Funeral services were Monday afternoon from Goyette Funeral Home with Rev. James Balfour of Clarkston United Methodist Church officiating. Burial was in Lakeview Cemetery, Masonic graveside services conducted by Clarkston Cedar Lodge No. 40.

He is survived by his wife, the former Gladys B. Jones; four daughters, Mrs. William (Mary) Radoye of Vienna, Va., Mrs. Robert (Elaine) Sharrock of Smyrna, Tenn., Mrs. John (Sally) Curry of Clarkston, and Mrs. Patrick Thompson of Clarkston; two sons, William of Fairview and Robert W. of Hazlet; his mother, Mrs. Winifred Porritt of Oxford; 23 grandchildren; and two brothers, Harvey of Barrego, Calif., and Marvin of Ortonville.

The family suggested memorial to the Michigan Heart Fund.

Elinor Grogg

Elinor Grogg, 50, of Independence Township died April 12. Private funeral services were April 14 at Donelson-Johns Funeral Home with burial in Ottawa Park Cemetery.

Mrs. Grogg is survived by her husband, Leon; two daughters, Mrs. Nancy Cheryl Pitstick and Mrs. Barbara Jeanette Fisher; a son, Leon Jr.; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Tuttle of Portland, Ore.; a sister, Mrs. Betty Ball, and two brothers, J. Gordon Tuttle Jr. and Robert Tuttle all of Portland, Ore.

Area youth jobs

hill 'n gully

Nobody's perfect

by Jean Saile

We hope you noticed—The month.

Clarkston News recently printed a story outlining some 700 summer jobs for youth, almost 500 of them restricted to those who live in the Clarkston School District area.

Most of the jobs are within bicycle distance of the various residential areas, and they pay anywhere from the minimum $2.30 an hour to $4.70 for skilled workers.

Opportunities like this don't just happen and we feel there is a large thank you due on the part of the community to the various agencies that make them possible.

Kids by the score have been trooping into The Clarkston News office to pick up applications for the 300 jobs that will be opening at Pine Knob Music Theater.

Another 125 jobs go on the block May 1 when Ogden Foods begins to hire people for its concession stands and the parking lot at Pine Knob.

Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department last year hired 125 kids to help with summer programs. Applications for those petitions are being accepted until the end of the

The Oakland-Livingston Human Resources Agency has made another 41 work training programs available to disadvantaged youths. Oakland County will be hiring about 300 young people, some of them to work at parks in Independence and Springfield townships.

In addition several merchants hire extra help to get them through the vacation season, and various restaurants provide year round work for young people. Those who live in this area should consider themselves fortunate over the variety and quantity of employment available to our young people.

It's really hard being the perfect mother.

Take the other night. Pete was in the hospital, having just undergone surgery on a broken arm. Liz and I had gone grocery shopping to stock the shelves for the onslaught occasioned by Easter week.

And there were all those grocery bags there, and it was dark out, right?

I put them in the fireplace and set a match to them.

Jim yells at me for burning things in the fireplace, intimating I'm going to roast everybody in their beds some night. I have always thought he was being overly cautious. A fireplace is for fires, is the way I see it.

Anyway, when the flames began to shoot up, he started getting a little edgy and it soon turned into downright concern.

The panic situation developed about the time the shower of sparks cascaded by the window next to which he was sitting. Racing outdoors, he saw flames shooting about three feet out of the top of the chimney, and inside there was a growing noise that was reminiscent of "The Towering Inferno."

The inside of the chimney had caught fire!

I was all set to call the fire department, but he went rushing downstairs to get a big piece of plywood as a substitute for the fireplace screen and we choked off the draft.

Before we got things under control, he'd gouged his arm in the headlong flight and the kids were in a state of suspended animation, not knowing whether to pack their clothes and their records and high tail it, or to stick around and see what was going to happen.

It didn't take long for them to reach the vocal stage. I heard things like "Don't tell me not to play with matches" and "Mom set the house on fire."

I also heard "If you ever burn papers in the fireplace again, I'm going to —" and I didn't even hang around long enough to find out. A dull book I'd been reading suddenly became very interesting and I retired with all the grace possible, to my room.

They look at me now with wise eyes. The trouble is things like that always come in threes. We've had the broken arm, the fire in the chimney, and now what?

I can hardly wait.

M-275 hearing not a hearing

What most people thought would be a public hearing to consider route alternatives to M-275 has turned into a regular meeting of the Michigan State Highway Commission.

Slated for 10 a.m. April 27 at the Oakland County Courthouse auditorium, it is advertised by Peter B. Fletcher, commission chairman as "not a public hearing, but a regular meeting of the commission, with the alternatives one of many items on the agenda."

Plans for M-275 north of I-696 were cancelled by the commission on January 26. Originally conceived as running north to intersect M-59 in White Lake Township and finally joining up with I-75 in Springfield Township, it had been responsible for much of the master plan zoning in the affected and abutting townships.

Fletcher reports many alternatives have been suggested by representatives of cities, village and townships in the area during meetings the department has held with local officials. The department has held with local officials.

"Our planning people are working intensively to study and evaluate all of these alternatives, prior to the commission's meeting," he said.

'If it Fitz . . .'

What's Red write about?

by Jim Fitzgerald

"I just read the latest from my favorite philosopher," I told my wife. "According to him, we should get five stones and a candle. Then we sit around in the garden and think nice things about that television dealer who said it would cost $300 to fix our set."

"I know who the television dealer is. He is a crook," Pat said. "But who is your favorite philosopher?"

How quick she forgets. Comedian Red Skelton is my favorite philosopher. I began listening to his wisdom about seven years ago, when Red added romance to my marriage.

Red told the world how he kept his wife happy. He got up at 5 o'clock every morning and wrote her a letter. They slept in the same bed, but he still sent her a mushy message every day. He probably had his own mailman and a stamp machine on the night table.

I tried the same thing, except I got up at 4 a.m. so I'd have time to find a pencil. After the salutation, I had an awful time thinking of something to say. My first letter went like this:

Dear Pat

Do you know I've killed 16 mosquitoes in this bedroom this summer? I just counted the spots where I smashed them against the walls.

And did you know you have 42 shoe boxes and 38 of them are on my side of the closet? I'll bet I'm the only man in town who has to hang his pants on a tie rack.

I just went to take a peek at the children. They aren't home yet.

I'd sure like to know what Red Skelton finds to write about every morning. Maybe he tells what he dreamed about that night. Last night I dreamed I loved you. Now I'm awake, at 5 a.m., and I still do.

And I can reach out and touch you. Let Red Skelton write letters. He is a big clown.

—Your husband

After that morning, I never wrote my wife another letter. A year later, the Skeltons got a divorce. Seven years later, Pat's shoe boxes are still on my side of the closet.

Obviously, Skelton didn't know what he was talking—or writing—about. When I call him my favorite philosopher, I am fooling around. Socrates is my favorite comedian, right?

But since the letter bit, I have kept track of the Skelton wisdom. It is easier than looking for the latest jokes told by Socrates. Show biz writers are always quoting Red's theories on how to be happy even though you own only seven Rolls-Royces and four homes. Last week I read how Skelton and his new wife handle hurts.

"When anyone hurts us," Red said, "my wife and I sit in our Japanese sand garden and drink iced tea. There are five stones in the garden—for sky, wind, fire, water and earth. We sit and think of five of the nicest things we can about the person who hurts us. If he hurts us a second time, we do the same thing. The third time we light a candle, and he is, for us, dead."

The latest guy to hurt me was the TV dealer who sold me a color set a few years ago. When the screen went blurry last month, the dealer made an examination. His diagnosis was less than hopeful.

"It will cost you $300 to fix your set," he said, hardly blinking when I fell on the floor, writhing in agony.

The dealer conceded that my TV wasn't worth $100, so it certainly wouldn't make sense to spend that much money on it. The smart thing to do was buy a new one for $400. He would sell it to me.

I decided to get a second opinion (the first one cost $24). The next repairman didn't sell TV sets. He fixed my old TV for $60. It now works better than it has in years.

Obviously, that TV dealer was trying to screw me into buying a set I didn't need. And I thought he was my friend. That hurt.

After reading the Skelton philosophy, I searched the apartment for a Japanese sand garden. But I couldn't even find five stones. Also, I couldn't think of five nice things about the TV dealer. But I did find a candle.

Skelton wastes too much time writing letters and counting stones. Whether it is loving or hating, you should hurry up and light that fire.

For me, the TV man is now dead as Socrates.

Driving up walls

by Dan Trainor

Governmental rules and regulations will eventually drive everyone right up that proverbial wall. Take for instance the township board in preparing its 1977-78 budgets for the general fund and the federal revenue sharing. In its general fund, the officials budgeted lightly for improvements to the township hall relying, instead, upon the $10,312 they put into the revenue sharing budget for that purpose.

Now other departments and/or accounts have been given the general fund monies and, as it turns out, the $10,312 may be gone because the township hall is not a barrier free building. Barrier free means that all persons, including the handicapped, have access to all portions of the building. The township board had hoped to spend the $10,000 to sand and revarnish the upstairs floors which are quickly losing its mirror like finish and to install screens in the upstairs windows, a noble thought is you've ever sat through a township meeting during the summer months. Now the township has been told they cannot spend the money unless they make the building barrier free which means the installation of an elevator. In fact, the township has been told they cannot even purchase a folding chair with federal monies unless they spend thousands of dollars on an elevator. Now comes Pat Biernat, who is studying for her masters degree. In researching for her master thesis, Mrs. Biernat found a book on Renaissance Art at the township library which contained the exact information she needed. The book also contained slides, which Mrs. Biernat wanted to view. Only one thing was wrong. The library doesn't, and for that matter never has had, a slide projector so Mrs. Biernat couldn't view them there. So thinking about the next best alternative, Mrs. Biernat asked to take the slides home but that was against the rules because the slides are reference material which is not permitted out of the library. Oh well, rules and regulations. You got to have them but there are times you would like to sneak off to a secluded room and let out with a scream.

Error-free administration?

By David Leak, President
Clarkston Board of Education

The most frustrating public complaints that have come to me as a board member are those related to administration. Many seem to want an error-free administration that gives super service at very low cost. This is an admirable goal, but one that is impossible to achieve. Let's take a brief look at their responsibilities:

- Principals are the building managers. They plan classes and schedules, supervise teachers, look to the safety of students and make sure the buildings and grounds are well maintained. We have one principal at each grade school. At the junior and senior high schools, assistants are in order to help with class scheduling, student control and

- larger number of students.
- The central staff consists of a superintendent and five managers in charge of elementary schools, secondary schools, accounting, personnel relations and transportation and maintenance. They are necessary to support the principals and to provide services that can be most efficiently provided centrally:
 - Financial budgeting, controls and reporting.
 - Employee relations, including contract negotiations and grievance hearings.
 - Student communications.
 - Public communications.
 - Forward planning (very important and time consuming!).
 - Transportation, including maintenance and scheduling of buses.

- Scheduling and control of events on school premises, including athletics and public use.
- Interface with other public agencies, including application for specially funded programs.
- Research into new curriculum, teaching techniques, books, etc.
- Attending seminars and meetings to discuss mutual problems and new ideas.

All one can do as a board member is to continually monitor activity and make suggestions when weaknesses in services or personnel seem evident. This is one area that takes considerable attention and extra investigative effort from board members. We can't possibly run the school, but we can evaluate and guide those we hire to do the job.

Broomfield reports

More than 13,000 Michigan residents in Oakland and Livingston Counties responded to my 1977 Congressional Questionnaire on important national issues. Because of your interest in the views of average citizens, I thought you would like to know the results. More than ninety-six percent of those responding favor "sunset" legislation requiring every Federal program to rejustify its existence at least every five years—a program which you and I both support. Ninety-two percent support mandatory sentencing for all crimes committed with a gun, and nearly as many—ninety percent—are opposed to extending diplomatic recognition and aid to North Vietnam. Sixty percent favor your efforts to begin negotiations to normalize relations with Cuba. A large majority—eighty-two percent—favor delaying auto emissions standards to allow the industry time to develop the technology to comply, an effort which I wholeheartedly support. The same percentage back Federal tax breaks and low-interest loans in the production and marketing of solar energy for residential and commercial use. Two thirds of those responding said they favor legislation giving your Administration authority to re-establish the military draft, but only twenty-six percent said they supported your Vietnam-era amnesty program. Only twenty-eight percent said they felt national health insurance was an urgent priority if it means higher taxes, while twenty percent backed direct Federal subsidies to cities in danger of defaulting. Three quarters of the respondents favor legislation allowing parents a tax deduction for the costs of financing their children's college education.

Respectfully,
William S. Broomfield

Rec department revises some ball rules

By Joe Gitter of The Clarkston News
 Planning and preparation for the 1977 summer season of Independence boys' baseball and girls' softball is underway. Registration for the girls' and boys' leagues was April 4 through 16. Late registration, with a $5 penalty fee, is still open.

A few new rules and policies will face coaches and players this season. The changes are designed to simplify the game and procedures and give the kids a fair shot at playing ball, according to Mike Engan, director of the leagues.

This year's registration was moved to the Parks and Recreation Department offices, in the Township Hall. Registration was held there to eliminate the school sign-up of youngsters, some of whom never intended to play in the summer leagues, Engan said.

Because of the new policy, registration is down this year compared to last. It is a more meaningful figure, according to Engan, because all those that signed up intend to play.

Eight hundred boys have registered so far compared to about 1,000 last year. Three hundred girls have signed up for softball in 1977, while 400 registered in 1976.

Engan estimates there will be about 50 Junior baseball teams this year, with 12 to 15 boys on a team. Last year the league had 69 or 70 teams, he said. But, often there were barely enough boys at the games to play.

"The teams will be solid this year," Engan said. "I hope we've eliminated the problem of managers losing ball players."

Another major rule change is what Engan calls a "professional scale." Starting with the boys' T-ball and newly formed, girls' soft-T-ball, as the players' skills progress the rules will progress accordingly.

By the time they reach the boys' pony league and the girls' maxi-miss they'll be playing very close to actual baseball and softball rules, Engan said.

The innings played, time limit on the games, pitchers' distance as well as base length and other factors of the game will be gradually increased to standard baseball rules.

The last major rule change instituted this year will allow coaches to pitch to their own team in the boys' eight and nine-year-

Basketball is a real all American sport, having been invented in the United States by Dr. James Naismith, an instructor at the International YMCA Training School at Springfield, Mass., now Springfield College. Though Dr. Naismith's original peach baskets have been replaced by hoops of metal, twelve of the original thirteen rules are still used as the game is played now. At first, any rule disputes were handled by the Springfield YMCA, so there was a certain formality about the game, though rules were often adjusted in the early years for local conditions. Then the YMCA joined the AAU, and later with the NCAA, these organizations standardized the basketball rules and made it pretty much into the game we know today.

All kinds of shoes for all types of sports are available from us at COACH'S CORNER, 31 S. Main, 625-8457. Adidas shoes are carried for every sport and season.  old peewee league. Engan feels this change will turn an otherwise hitless, walk-filled game into one in which every player gets a good shot at making contact with the ball. It should improve their form and confidence at the plate immensely, he said. A game time change made last year was carried over into 1977 because of its success, Engan added. All games for leagues of 11 year-olds and younger start at 10 a.m. The other leagues will start their games at 4 p.m. and 6:15 p.m.

Missing phy ed credit denies him diploma

By Dan Trainor
of The Clarkston News

Lon Grabowski will be leaving the Clarkston School system next year to pursue a college education just like many of his fellow students.

Grabowski, however, will not have something other students will possess—a high school diploma.

The Cheboygan transfer student lost his appeal to the school board Monday to drop the one semester credit hour of physical education required to graduate.

Honor student and member of the marching band, Grabowski contended he had physical education as a freshman in Cheboygan but that Clarkston refused to accept the credit hour.

School officials said, however, that credits earned during 10-12 grades are transferrable and that physical education is required by law of all senior high school

Grabowski admitted that he refused to attend the class after Dom Mauti, high school principal, enrolled him this semester.

Instead, Grabowski said, he used the time in independent study pursuing his music career. Lon said the reason he refused to attend the physical education class was that it would hurt his academic studies.

He added that he plans to major in music in college and to take physical education, he would have had to eliminate part of his music studies.

Grabowski added that he has talked to university officials and they will accept him without a high school diploma because of the circumstances.

So this June, when the Clarkston High School seniors march into the auditorium for commencement exercises their ranks will be minus Grabowski.

Gensley to head rec program

After interviewing "three or four people for the job" the Springfield Township Parks and Recreation Department elected Monday, April 18, to hire David Gensley as its new recreation director, according to Bob Peters, department head.

Gensley, also the township assessor, will be in charge of planning recreation programs for the township on both an immediate and long range basis. He and Margaret Cavanaugh, recreation coordinator, will work together to improve recreational services to the township, Peters said.

Gensley is a 1970 graduate of Michigan State University with a degree in Recreation. He has worked for the Lansing YMCA, the Pontiac Boys Club and most recently Oxford Township, setting up its recreation program.

"I've got a bunch of ideas for improving the recreation programs in the township," he said. Most important is encouraging "community participation" in those activities, he added.

"I think it is vital if we are going to have a recreation department that we get the people involved," Gensley said. "I plan to take what there was last year and expand."

High school seniors who plan to pursue medical or biomedical careers may apply for two $500 scholarships being offered by the William Beaumont Hospital Research Institute to finance a work-study program at Beaumont this summer.

The program is scheduled for an eight-week period from June 20 through Sept. 1, with exact dates to be arranged according to the students' school commitments.

Recipients of the two scholarships will have the opportunity to learn anatomy, physiology and surgical procedures while assisting medical researchers in the Royal Oak hospital's investigative medicine laboratory. The students will also be assigned to several medical and surgical departments which match their interests.

Research Institute scientists will judge applicants on the basis of scholarship, scientific achievements and recommendations from science teachers or others with scientific background.

Applications may be obtained from high school counselors or by writing Dr. Gerald C. Timmis, director, William Beaumont Hospital Research Institute, 3601 West Thirteen Mile Road, Royal Oak, 48072.

Deadline for applications is April 30. The awards will be announced May 15.

Joan Kopietz at Tierra Arts and Design is hunting for the names of area artists and art events that she can have included on a county arts calendar. Call her at 625-5211. We've a lot of people the area can be proud of. Let's get them listed.

If you found the story concerning the library renovation in last week's Clarkston News confusing you're not alone. Inadvertantly the first five paragraphs of the story were omitted. Alfred Lopez, who is opposed to the $20,000 advance budgeted for the library this year, is a Planning Commission member. He has worked closely with the Library Board putting together specifications for the proposed renovation project.

At the April 4 meeting of the Springfield Township Board Lopez suggested that the advance be deleted from the budget. Lack of support killed the move. Lopez feels the $20,000 is not enough to properly complete the project.

Bramston Beach of Clarkston was only 15 years old when he began collecting newspaper clippings and pasting them neatly in scrapbooks to record the history of the era.

He's a spry man and not telling how old he is, but the books begin in 1920.

Among the headlines are Mourners Line the Route, Lone Workers in Fields and Thousands in Cities Pay Their Tribute. It is the account of the death of President Harding in August, 1923. The next is Thousands Say Adieu to Lenin and War President Warned His End is Approaching (the death of President Wilson).

The books are thick and the copy is prosy and what might be considered now somewhat irrelevant. There is one account of a breakfast eaten by His Royal Highness Edward Albert, Prince of Wales, following an all-night gambling party.

"His Royal Highness ate hard-boiled eggs and roast beef sandwiches 'heavy with mustard' and washed these solids down with two tall whisky and sodas, which, we may presume, were tilted triumphantly to the rising sun."

Even Shirley Eder couldn't do better.

Another titillating account - came in with only his two back landing wheels down.

The plane came down okay but not until it skidded several hundred feet down the runway on its nose. The pilot, a little shook, was uninjured.

To top the evening off, when Tower arrived home, he found fire engines all over the place.

Seems his next door neighbors were cooking popcorn and the cooking oil got out of hand. No fire damage but an awful lot of smoke.

Township board meetings are going to appear rather dull after that "uneventful" night.

The statistics are in for Oakland County's 1976 traffic accident toll, and the figures are jolting. 37,654 traffic accidents occurred on Oakland County's streets and roads last year. Of these, 25,353 accidents resulted in damage to property, 12,153 in injury, and 148 in death. In all 18,560 people were injured and 165 were killed.

The projections for this year are equally depressing. About one in every 10 Oakland County residents will be involved in a traffic accident during 1977. Bad as these statistics sound they do little to convey the terrible impact traffic accidents have on the lives of the families of those involved, as well as on the victims themselves.

Clarkston area residents gathered around their television sets Monday night to hear President Carter spread the word for conservation.

While he came out with no concrete proposals Monday night, he indicated Americans would need the same moral commitment to save energy as they need in wartime.

Pat Booth of Bridge Lake Road, one of the watchers, summed up the general feeling following his speech.

"I can understand the situation and I think we as Americans will have to learn to conserve, but it seems the program will be really stringent, curtailing travel and even just getting around."

She, like the rest of us, is waiting until Wednesday night for Part 2.

A special meeting of the Clarkston Village Council to discuss changes in the new garage plans was cancelled. The meeting scheduled for Monday evening, April 18, will be postponed to next week. The designer of the garage, Jerry Carter, did not have the new plans completed in time for the meeting.

Supervisor Whitey Tower thought he would be going to an informative but not exciting meeting last week at the airport Voyager Restaurant regarding the proposed satellite hospital that would serve Independence Township.

But things didn't turn out that way. Towards the end of the meeting there was a distress call from a turbo-jet plane circling overhead.

The pilot radioed that his landing gear was malfunctioning and he was ordered to circle until his fuel was low and then come in for an emergency landing.

The Pontiac General Hospital, city and township officials interrupted their meeting at the Voyager and stood by as the plane Clarkston's public works budget contains money for a new street sweeper. Gar Wilson, part-time director of the department has asked for a new $7000 street sweeper, otherwise the budget is the same as last year.

The Springfield Township board moved to renew the contract with their planning consultant Tod Kilroy, of Community Planning and Management. Last year's salary of $400 a month was agreed upon.

Unemployment in Michigan and the Detroit metropolitan area dropped to its lowest levels in over two years, according to the Michigan Employment Security Commission.

At 22 he's a business whiz

Dennis Omell

By Joe Gitter
of The Clarkston News

A college education has become nearly essential to "make it" in today's job market. But, there are those who either through a stroke of luck or hard work and their own talent become successful without that coveted sheepskin.

Very few, however, make it at 22. Dennis Omell has.

Omell is an up and coming young man. He has not graduated from college, although he's working on it. And he's combined a little luck with lots of talent to entrench himself in the business world.

He has involved himself in a variety of business and community activities that set a pace few could manage for long.

Omell is a part-time real estate salesman. Selling vacant land, homes and commercial buildings for Bob White Real Estate is "enjoyable," he's found. "It's something to do," he said.

Omell plans to get his broker's license the end of the year. "Not to move out on my own," he said, "but merely to become more knowledgeable about the business."

Since his graduation from Pontiac Catholic High School in 1972, Omell has owned and operated a package candy distributorship. Twice a month he delivers over 150 varieties of candy to his 80-odd customers.

Delivery of 800 cases of candy and the paper work involved keeps Omell busy 40 or 50 hours a week. Compiled with his real estate sales he spends 70 to 80 hours a week on the job.

In addition, Omell is a licensed builder. He has turned down jobs this year, simply because he doesn't have the time. But, he hopes to get started this fall after completely remodeling his own home at 10091 Graham in Springfield Township.

Omell's exploits have also taken him into the world of politics.

He's run for office twice in Springfield, losing both times in the primaries.

In 1974, running for township trustee, he was defeated by Glen Vermilye by margin of 11 votes.

And again in 1976 in the race for treasurer he lost by seven votes.

Omell isn't really disappointed in his unsuccessful bids for office. "I don't really know what I would have done if I was elected," he said. He just doesn't have the time.

Last fall he bowled in three, sometimes four leagues. He organizes the annual Springfield Township clean up, coming up Saturday, May 7.

One weekend a month he travels up north to trail ride motorcycles. "It's the only place they belong," as far as Omell is concerned.

And last (at last), but not least, Omell organized the Boy Scout troop in Davisburg and ran it for one year.

"I just go crazy if I sit around with nothing to do," he said.

Drinkers don't steal?

Imbibers in Springfield are outdoing the thieves while the situation in Independence appears to be the reverse, according to the March crime statistics released by the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

In Springfield the occurrences of drunk driving increased by 400 percent in March as compared to the same month in 1976 while public drunkenness increased by 66.7 percent.

At the same time robbery decreased by 100 percent and burglary by 32.1 percent and auto theft by 33.3 percent.

Statistics covering Independence, however, were about the reverse with drunk driving increasing by only 11.1 percent and public drunkenness decreasing by 8.3 percent.

At the same time the number of robberies doubled. Some bright parts of the statistics showed that burglary decreased by 24.5 percent and auto theft by 41.7 percent.

District will save on early bond sale

Time is money and for the Clarkston School District one month's time could save them approximately $2 million.

The school board Monday received authorization from the Michigan Department of Education for placement of two bonding proposals before the voters this June 13 totaling $5,245,000.

In reviewing the bond proposals that would finance the construction of an elementary school and additions and renovations to existing facilities, the state revised the scheduled sale of the bonds, moving it ahead by one month to November.

In doing so, the school district will have its December tax receipts to begin payment on the bonds, saving the district $1,470,000 in interest costs over the life of the bonds.

That savings also puts the district under the seven mill debt levy allowing it to float a 20-year bond issue instead of the planned, 25-year repayment enabling them to reduce the total by $456,462.

The bond issues to be placed before the voters include $3,010,000 for the construction of a new elementary school at Holcomb and Bridge Lake Roads, the addition to the high school's media center, renovations to the Clarkston Junior High and a program to make schools more energy efficient.

A second proposal totaling $2,235,000 would finance the additions of multi-purpose rooms on the district's six elementary schools.

The school board also approved the submission of its preliminary 1977-78 budget, reflecting a $497,999 deficit, to the Oakland County Tax Allocation Board.

The budget, based on current millage levies, shows the district anticipates revenues of $9,393,428, an increase of about $550,000 over current revenues.

The budget also shows anticipated expenditures for the next fiscal year of $9,891,427, an increase of some $761,574 over this year's operating costs.

The submission of the budget to the tax allocation board is required by law.

The tax board will meet next month to divide the 15-mill county tax among school and governmental units.

Sheriff officials reported that an increase is expected in the thefts of boats, bicycles and other summer recreational equipment being reported with the advent of warm weather.

Area rich in recreational facilities

By Joe Gitter

of The Clarkston News

With the warm weather comes a 25,000 square-foot fenced and outdoor activities—lying on the lighted horse arena and a 35,000 beach soaking up a few rays of square foot fenced horse arena. sunshine, fishing in a favorite Springfield - Oaks traditionally lake, or just gathering family and hosts the Longhorn Rodeo and game. Independence - Oaks County park's huge facilities.

And you need not even leave the Clarkston or Davisburg area to find a suitable spot. Independence - Oaks County park's huge facilities.

Park, located off Sashabaw Road on Crooked Lake, is the largest of the six Oakland County parks. Its 750 acres, mostly wooded by man, surrounds Crooked Lake. The lake's 68 acres offer an abundance of pike, bass and bluegills. Crooked Lake is being stocked this spring with thousands of fingerling pike that, in a few years, should develop into game fish.

Independence-Oaks is constantly expanding and improving its facilities. A new boat house with boat rentals is being offered this year. Visitors can rent a rowboat, paddle-boat or canoe for an hour or a day at a minimum charge.

A log cabin has been reconstructed and is available for picnicking, reunions or company picnics. Picnic sites are spread throughout the park, many with playground facilities. Miles of nature trails wind through the wooded areas of the park. If the urge strikes, it is an easy matter to lose yourself among the tall oak and pine for an afternoon or a day.

Park officials hope to have an organizational campground available to Girl and Boy Scout troops this June.

Independence-Oaks is open year around, 8 a.m. to dusk. The swimming and boating facilities open officially Memorial Day weekend. The park is patrolled by uniformed security guards available to assist visitors. An entrance fee of $2 is charged per car. Yearly passes are available for $7.

Springfield-Oaks, on Andersonville Road south of Davisburg, offers a youth activities center unequaled between Flint and Detroit.

A 3,000 square-foot hall is available for wedding receptions and parties and an 8,400 square-foot area for concerts, shows, dances and similar activities.

For horse lovers, the park offers a 25,000 square-foot fenced and lighted horse arena and a 35,000 square foot fenced horse arena.

Springfield-Oaks also houses one of the county golf courses. The 18-hole, 6,300 yard par 72 area course is open to the public. A modern clubhouse and dining room capable of hosting 85 is available. Green fees are: weekdays, nine holes, $3.25; 18 holes, $4.75; weekends, nine holes, $4.25, 18 holes $6.00. Senior citizens receive special rates on greens fees.

Located right in Clarkston, the Village Park is an excellent picnic area. Surrounded by trees, with a quiet brook running through its midst, the park, located on Depot Road, offers escape and a chance to relax close to home.

Deer Lake Beach, farther out Depot Road, officially opens Saturday, May 28. Swimmers must purchase a beach pass at $9 which will entitle them to use of the guarded water all summer. The Parks and Recreation Department also hopes to have paddle boats available for rental by the opening date.

Independence Township's 36-acre Clintonwood Park, off Clarkston Road, officially opened Monday, April 18. Four tennis courts and a multi-purpose court containing two basketball courts, a volleyball court, two badminton courts and two shuffleboard courts are available to township residents at no charge.

Twenty-five picnic sets with grills and trash containers are supplied along with playground equipment and two softball fields. The Independence Parks and Recreation Department has applied for a federal grant to finance lighting of the softball fields, add more playground facilities and construct a platform tennis court.

Davisburg's Mill Pond offers fishing, swimming and picnicking to Springfield residents. Plans for the park are not finalized, but it is expected to open on Memorial Day weekend as scheduled.

The scenic beauty of the Clarkston Village Park.

Beautiful surroundings make the Springfield Oaks 18-hole golf course an enjoyable place to play.

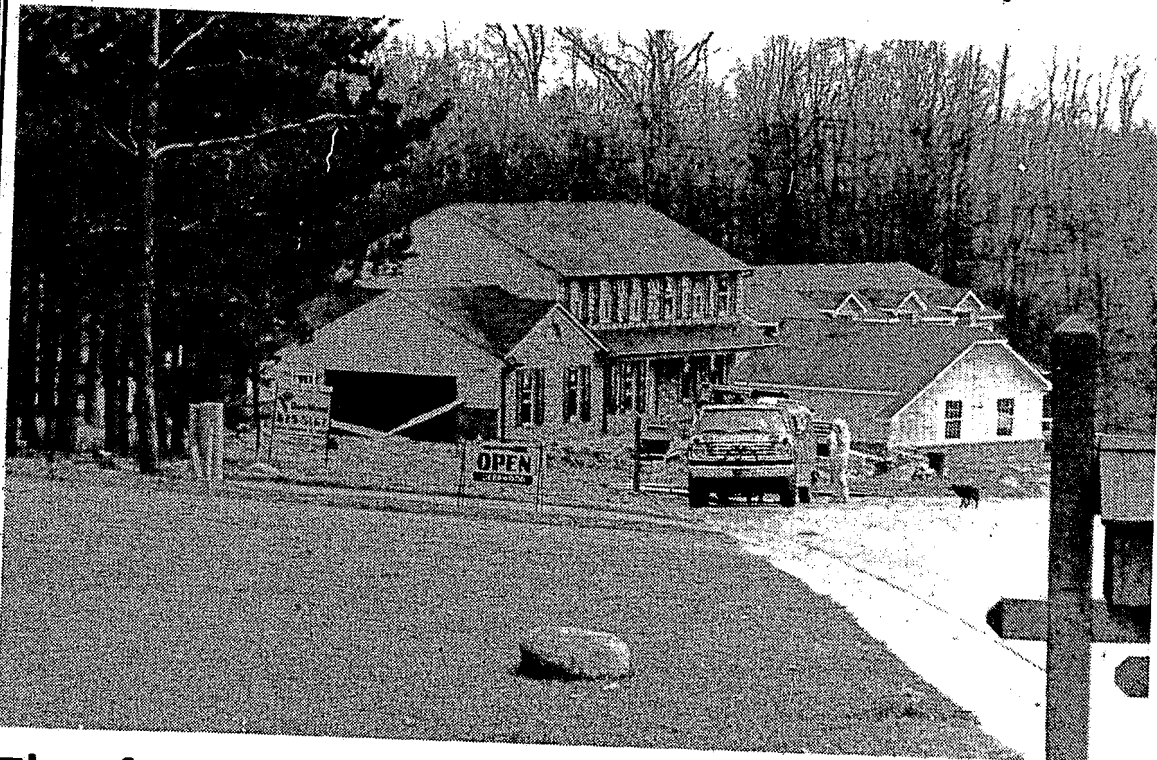

The shelters at Independence Oaks surrounded by tall pines are designed to blend into the natural landscape.

These young adventurers found the water along the Deer Lake beach to be very warm.

Tips from the Oakland County Sheriff's Department

If you're remodeling, think security

By Hilda Bruce
of The Clarkston News

How long would it take a burglar to get into your home?

"Crime is an action of opportunity and no matter how secure a home, there is someone who can get in," said Deputy Gordon Walker of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department's Crime and Accident Prevention Unit.

"The idea in prevention is to slow the burglar's progress until he becomes discouraged or is detected and to keep some kid from getting into crime," the deputy added.

This week we asked the unit to conduct a security survey for us. The home we chose for inspection was an average house—some aspects for securing it were good. Some were not.

The windows of the house were high and not obscured by shrubbery, making it difficult for a burglar to get into the house without being seen.

He advised helping your neighbors prevent crime by leaving on exterior lights both front and back when you are away at night.

"They know who should and shouldn't be around your home," Walker said.

Be a nosy neighbor yourself. If you see a suspicious person or situation, call the sheriff's department, he said. They'll check it out.

"Often when we are interviewing neighbors after a crime they say, 'I thought something wasn't right over there,'" Walker related.

The windows of the test house had better interior locks than many but still could be released with a coat hanger, Walker said.

To further secure windows the deputy suggested inserting pins where the two sashes meet. They can be removed to open the window. Dowels can also be placed between the window sash and framing so the windows will not slide.

To prevent someone from lifting out a window or sliding door wall, Walker recommended putting screws into the upper track high enough so the window will slide but low enough that the frame will hit against them when pushed up.

Basement windows are difficult to secure, Walker noted. About the only protection is unbreakable glass or grill work over the window. Both are expensive, he added.

If exterior doors have windows within 18 inches of the door knob (and the doors or our survey house did) the lock is useless. The lock on that same door was a relatively useless spring type that could be released by inserting a credit card between the door and the frame.

According to the deputy, there are two glass substitutes that are unbreakable—polycarbonate and methlematracromate. Both are available at hardware stores. A substitute should be properly installed with pins in the frame.

In our security check we found one exterior door to be of solid wood construction—as it should be.

Doors should be secured with a dead bolt lock. There are two types. One operates with a key and can constitute a fire hazard. The other knob-operated type should have a bolt that protrudes into the door frame at least one inch, Walker said.

"But the frame must be of sturdy construction," he cautioned.

The doors of our house also opened inward as they should. If they open to the exterior the hinge pins are exposed and can be removed to open the door.

Garage doors have notoriously poor locks, the officer said. The house we checked still had one that worked after 15 years.

Added protection could be provided in the form of a padlock on a hasp or "Fort Apache" bar in brackets on the inside of the door, Walker explained.

After locking everything up tight, you might also want to install an alarm. If you live in a densely populated area an audible alarm will suffice.

"No one is going to look to see if the noise attracted the neighbors. He'll just get out," Walker said.

If your home is in a more remote area an alarm that is connected directly to a central station that in turn contacts the police may be more practical.

There are also telephone dialers that play a taped message to the police station.

Walker stresses buying an alarm from a reputable dealer. The most expensive part of the alarm system is the servicing. If your dealer goes out of business two months after you buy, even your guarantee is worthless, he noted.

"If you rent your equipment you can be pretty sure of good service. After all the company wants to protect its investment," Walker said.

Along with alarms Walker recommends smoke detectors. Most are reliable. The only differences are in the frills.

He does not recommend heat detectors, because by the time they go of it is usually too late to get out of the house.

"The best protection is fire drills so children know what to do in case of fire," he noted.

A silent but effective alarm is Operation Identification, available through the Sheriff's Department. Engrave your valuables with your driver's license number and the deputies may apprehend a thief with your possessions before you know they are gone.

"It's happened," Walker said. The program includes placing a sticker on your home warning potential intruders.

"If everyone in a neighborhood participates in the program, criminals know that the area is off limits," the deputy noted.

"By using common sense and caution, citizens can improve their personal lives and their community life too. That is our aim," Walker said.

Members of the volunteer Crime and Accident Prevention Unit give presentations on almost any topic to groups of all sizes, day or night. To arrange for film, slides, or speech presentations contact the Community Services office of the OCSA at 858-5004.

Old Methodist Church is home

Country Living

By Hilda Bruce
of The Clarkston News

"It takes a lot of lovin' to make a house a home" and it takes a lot of patience, persistence, hard work, time and money to make a church a house.

Bob and Kathy Adams, former Detroiters, have all that and the church, too.

After eight months of dealing they finally have possession of the old Methodist Church on the corner of Buffalo and Church Streets. In the bargain they also got the two houses north of the church.

Two days after they signed the final papers, they drove out to look at their prize. What they found were condemnation notices nailed to the doors.

"I was a little upset, to say the least," Bob said, laughing now.

Not to be daunted, the couple visited township and village officials and finally got the condemnation relieved. With that done, they got their building permit and began renovation of the green house next to the church.

They started the first of March by cleaning out the debris—"three dumpsters full," Kathy said, still amazed.

Then they made even more mess by gutting the nine-room house and starting all over. They replaced all of the wiring, plumbing, walls and installed new flooring and siding where it was needed. Soon all the insulation will be in.

As soon as Bob finishes up the woodwork, painting, pours one more foundation wall and a sidewalk, and landscapes the lot a bit, the house will be ready for sale.

"If I didn't have the challenge of that church I'd live in this house," Kathy declared, surveying her surroundings.

The money from the house sale will go into their fund for renovating the church. So will the money they get from the church pews. They have a sanctuary full of them to sell.

Kathy's plants add a vital touch to the landing of the Adam's "efficiency apartment".

While their physical labors have been spent on the house, their creative endeavors have revolved around plans for their church—even the furniture placement.

Everything that can be restored to its original condition will be. The church doors will stay and behind them will be glass doors so when the wooden doors are open the church will look welcoming.

Beyond the foyer the old church hall will make way for an oak room to be inhabited by the Adams' collection of oak furniture and the dining furniture to be made from church pews.

Opposite the oak room will be the recreation room complete with an old time juke box and ping pong table for Bob.

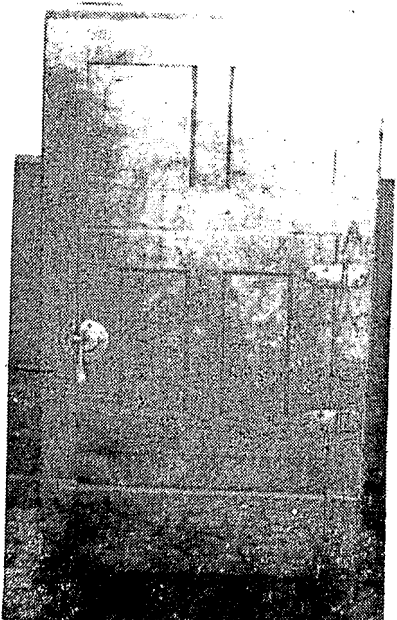

Behind the rec room Kathy will have her billiard table and the bar.

"Bob wanted to get a billiard table with the ping pong table on top. But I'd always be waiting for the pool table so I wouldn't let him do it," Kathy said. Behind the oak and dining room the kitchen will remain much the same as the Methodist women remember it—complete with three ovens, two refrigerators six burners and a griddle.

"Bob removed three of the 44

Oak ice chest will find its way to the bar.

Kathy's sister made the wall hanging that hangs on the door to the sanctuary.

The old piano came with the church as did the church pews that are now for sale.

cupboards to make room for the washer and dryer," Kathy said, pointing to the hole he left.

The former sanctuary will become four bedrooms, a library and a music room. Suspended above it will be a loft open on three sides so nothing will interfere with the 11-foot windows.

When the Adams first contacted the Salvation Army, former owners of the church, there was only one of the stained glass windows broken. By the time the property became theirs most of them had been destroyed by vandals.

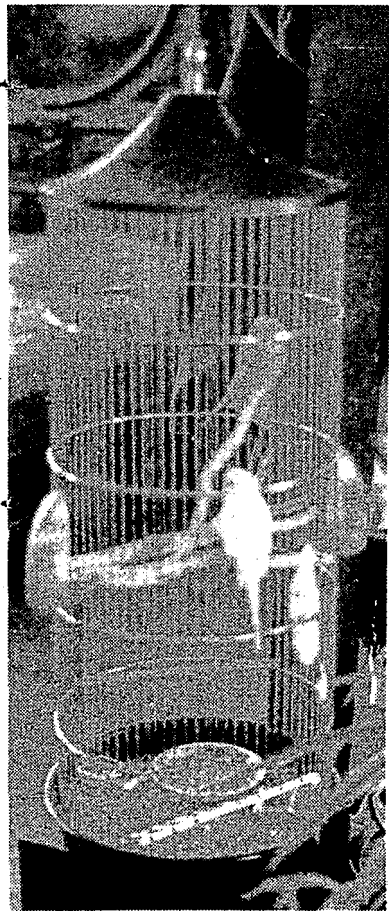

"I think we can salvage enough of them to have the tree at the front complete," Bob said.

Either there or in the foyer will be a circular staircase to the couple's sitting room—the bell tower.

Until they accomplish their dream home, the Adams live in part of the church—their "efficiency apartment" of five rooms in one.

The church's kitchen is a cook's delight—three ovens, two refrigerators, six burners, a griddle and 41 cupboards provide enough to feed an army.

Bob and Kathy's family includes this pair of love birds and a calico cat named Gretchen and a dog named Rock.

BY THE THIRD EYE

Building will continue in Independence Township, but at a reduced rate from the present volume. There will still be a lot of building this year, slowing down in 1978.

Motor homes and apartments will become increasingly popular as building costs continue to escalate. Homeowners, too, will be moving to warmer climates.

Carter's energy plans may undergo some revisions, involving compromise on his part. There seems to be a question about the use of gas rationing to keep the energy plan from penalizing mainly the poor, but it won't happen soon.

We'll be using our cars less, but we won't cut back to one per family.

Laetrile, the Mexican cancer drug still disallowed in the United States, does help some people, but it is not a magic cure-all. Its legalization here will take some time.

Saccharin seems to be available only by prescription or on shelves but not in pop or diet foods. Government may eventually turn it loose, marked with a warning that it might be dangerous, even as cigarettes are so marked today.

The Tigers will get better. A couple of new players will help. I see Tiger Stadium filled later in the season.

The controversy over allowing the SST to land in America will engender violence before it's over. I see a bombing in connection.

The proposed '78 mail hikes will be in keeping with what's happening to prices all over. Salary raises aren't going to mean anything.

Many will watch David Frost's interview with ex-president Nixon, but not nearly so many as saw "Roots." The financial backers may panic. What will happen will be that many people tune it in, but turn it off before it's over. The topic doesn't hold that much interest anymore, and people will be inclined to doubt Nixon's version of what happened.

Clintonville Baptist plans to build

Final site plan approval has been granted for the construction of Clintonville Baptist Church, a one-story structure to accommodate its growing 45-member congregation.

Rev. Dwight Young, pastor, told Independence Township Planning Commission Thursday night, alterations to increase parking provisions had been made in line with recommendations from the Zoning Board of Appeals.

The building, which Young hopes will be completed by fall, will be located on Clintonville Road.

In other business, plans for a new hardware store on M-15 south of Clarkston where the House of Style is now located were given conceptual approval.

Louis Warrington plans to build a hardware store around the present structure, which would be renovated and maintained as a hair salon until the owner's lease expires in two years.

Questions about proper zoning—the area is C-2 for small shopping centers as opposed to what one member contended would be a more logical highway business zoning—were raised, along with questions about paving of a service drive to the north of the property.

Warrington said he had to acquire an easement to the access strip and he hesitated to pave it because he did not know whether the owner might some day choose to regrade the now sloping land.

Conceptual approval allows Warrington to proceed with Zoning Board of Appeals application for variances regarding setbacks and to get engineering plans. He will have to return to the planning commission for final approval.

A request to add onto an office building at Dixie and Depot Road was tabled when Forrest E. Milzow, the owner, failed to appear at the hearing.

The commission will meet again this Thursday to review the master plan recently put out by the Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments.

The next regular meeting is April 28.

As you may have noticed, our employees do not wear uniforms. They dress in the way they think is most appropriate to get their jobs done. While this permits them to look like the individuals they really are, it really doesn't help you identify them as Bell employees. But, there is a way. Every Bell employee who comes to service your phone is required to carry a Michigan Bell identification card giving his or her name, photograph and signature. For your protection, ask to see this card before you admit them into your home. They'll be happy to show it to you.

Spring is for house cleaning

A few quick tricks from the Lestoil Homemakers' Service will help you wash the hassle out of cleaning difficult stains.

Ball point pen ink. Sponge this stain repeatedly with acetone or amyl acetate. Washing often sets ball point ink stains.

Fruit or berry stains. Stretch material over a large bowl and pour boiling water through the stains. If stains remain, bleach with hydrogen peroxide or chlorine bleach. Camphor will remove fruit stains from table linens if it is applied before the cloth is wet.

Coffee. Soak cloth overnight in large pan of strong vinegar water and hang in sun while dripping wet. Then wash as usual. You can use commercial coffee pot cleaners.

"Disaster" stains like oil, tar, mud, grass. Rub Lestoil's hard-working, grease-dissolving ingredients full strength onto the badly soiled areas. Then soak overnight in a tub filled with hot water. Drain and launder as usual.

Chocolate. Massage glycerine into the fabric and wash it out with plain water. Repeat if necessary.

Streamline your laundry schedule by doing a load or two each day at dinnertime, when you're preoccupied with domestic things, anyway. Fold the clothes while you're waiting for the coffee to perk. Or, make it a family venture by letting the kids fold their own, while you have a gab fest about their daily activities.

Heat pumps work, but insulation is important

Ask the man who has one if you want to find out how the new heat pump heating systems work.

Dick Logan, when he built his new home on Deer Hill Drive, priced the pumps and found them as cheap to install as equivalent oil-fired furnaces with air conditioning.

He is happy with the even, clean heat the pumps provide, but if he had it to do over again he says he would insulate his home better. Styrofoam in the walls and at least 12 inches of insulation in the ceiling would, he believes, cut the heating bills back.

Last winter, he thinks the system cost him about a third more than oil would have.

Logan, partner in Precision Bore Design, Inc. of Madison Heights, explains that the heat pump works much like a refrigerator freezer. As the coils draw heat out of the freezer and release it at the bottom of the appliances, so does the heat pump draw heat out of the air and release it through ducts to warm the house. With the heat pump, the process can be reversed to provide cooling in summer.

Powered by electricity, it requires, in Michigan, the installation of resistors for supplemental heat. The pump, itself, is sufficient until the outside temperature approaches 20 degrees, he affirms.

DO-IT-YOURSELFERS
do it now and save
ON BUILDING SUPPLIES

HOME IMPROVEMENT

Logan also had the heating window walls that provide heat pump system installed in his place leaks in the normal home.

Logan is convinced heat pumps will become more popular, calling them one of the safest methods of heating available.

Soil testing kits offered

It is time to start thinking of getting the lawn back into shape but it is also time to start thinking the type and amount of fertilizer to put onto the lawn.

The Oakland County Cooperative Extension Service warns that incorrect soil fertility can result in weak plants and over fertilization can contribute to water pollution.

To help insure correct fertilization, the extension service is offering a laboratory soil analysis.

For $3.75, a soil sample box will be mailed with instructions for taking representative sample and mailing to Michigan State University Soil Testing Laboratory.

The test results and fertilizer recommendations will be returned.

To take part in the service, checks made payable to the extension service, should be mailed to Extension Service, 1200 N. Telegraph, North Office Building, Pontiac, Mich. 48053.

Build your solar heating

HOME IMPROVEMENT
April 21, 1977

In California, for example, where authorities are putting their foot down on gas heating of new pools, some homeowners already have built their own solar heaters. There's Paul Nankivell of Pacific Palisades, Calif., who recently completed a five-panel copper solar heater for his 40,000-gallon pool in the Hollywood Hills.

Nankivell, whose background is in marketing and not engineering, built his solar pool heater entirely by himself in about two weeks' leisure time. His chief "aide" in the project, he says, was the 46-page "How to Design and Build a Solar Swimming Pool Heater." The booklet is available free from Copper Development Association Inc., 405 Lexington Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10017. One of Nankivell's neighbors became so interested that the do-it-yourselfer taught him how to solder and assemble the copper solar collectors. Now the neighbor, too, is building his own solar pool heater.

Nankivell estimates that a solar pool heater should save from $50 to $100 a month in gas or electric bills, depending on pool size and in what part of the country you live. Materials should cost only about $1,000 retail, and can be purchased at building supply outlets. This means that the "payback" period on your solar heater could be less than two years.

In a typical solar pool heater, the water from the swimming pool is heated by running it through a sun-exposed collector (tubing attached to a metal plate), with the hot water then being transported through additional tubing back into the pool, then out again to be reheated in the collector. In Nankivell's case, he used 1/2" Type M copper tube on 16-ounce copper sheet which he mounted on weather-proof board.

Tools needed include a tube cutter and reamer, a torch, sand cloth, hammer and screwdriver.

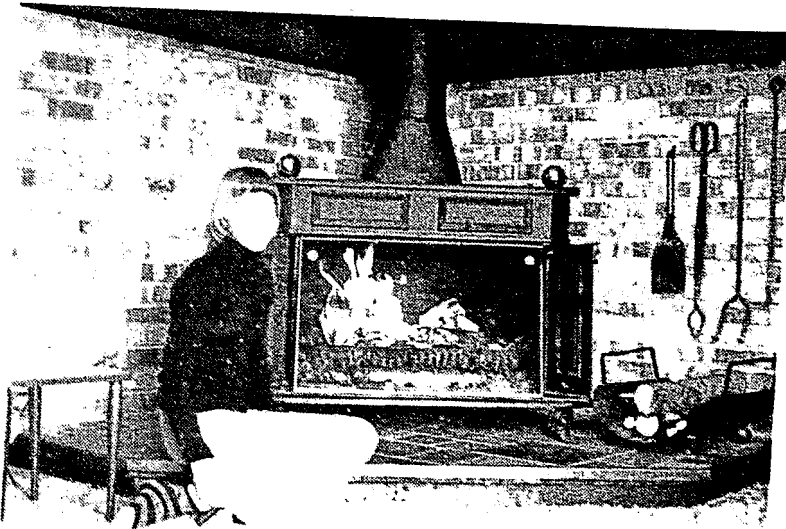

To build your own solar collector, says Nankivell, you mount the copper sheet on board, then cut copper tubing to length, ream the end of tubing, clean the tubing and fitting, and solder the tubing into a grid. The tubing grid is then soldered to the copper plate.

After the collectors are built and mounted, you connect them to your existing pool pump by additional copper tubing. It took Nankivell about six hours to build each of his four 4x8 foot collectors.

The Californian says he collected copper for his solar collector plate because with copper there is "virtually unlimited life expectancy. ultraviolet rays do not cause deterioration of copper." In addition, copper resists corrosion, and has "fantastic heat transfer capability."

More and more homeowners are turning to solar heating for their swimming pools to cash in on free energy, especially now that counties and municipalities have begun to outlaw the heating of new pools by gas.

And some of those homeowners handy enough to solder are building the solar heaters themselves.

A cozy fireplace is handy, no matter what type heat you use.

If you're modernizing, think energy

When Architect Vincent Rauth moved his family to Scenic Ridge Drive in Clarkston seven years ago, he paid 16.9 cents a gallon for the oil that heats his home.

This year he paid 45.9 cents a gallon, almost triple the cost from when he moved here.

As a consequence, the Minoru Yamasaki employe sees energy conservation a very important part of home improvement.

When he designed the Lufkin

Pharmacy building on South M-15, 12 inches of insulation were specified for the ceiling along with the foam sidewall panels sheathed in aluminum foil. Older homes can use blown-in foam insulation to achieve largely the same effect, and most attics should be upped from the standard six inches of insulation to a full foot, he believes.

Storm windows are an important part of his plan for older homes, and failing that, he believes winter taping or the use of clear plastic over the interior of the window frame can achieve the same purpose. The latter method creates a dead air space, even more efficient in preventing loss of heat.

New windows on the market are featuring double and even triple panes, the air space between them increased for better heat preservation, he notes.

Foam panels that can be inserted in window spaces are also practical, and Rauth says they present no particular problems if used only at night.

Earth berms around the foundation help preserve loss of heat through the floor.

And if you're thinking of replacing your present heating system, he believes solar collectors and heat pumps are worth investigating. While the Michigan winter requires that they have booster systems, they are still practical, he believes.

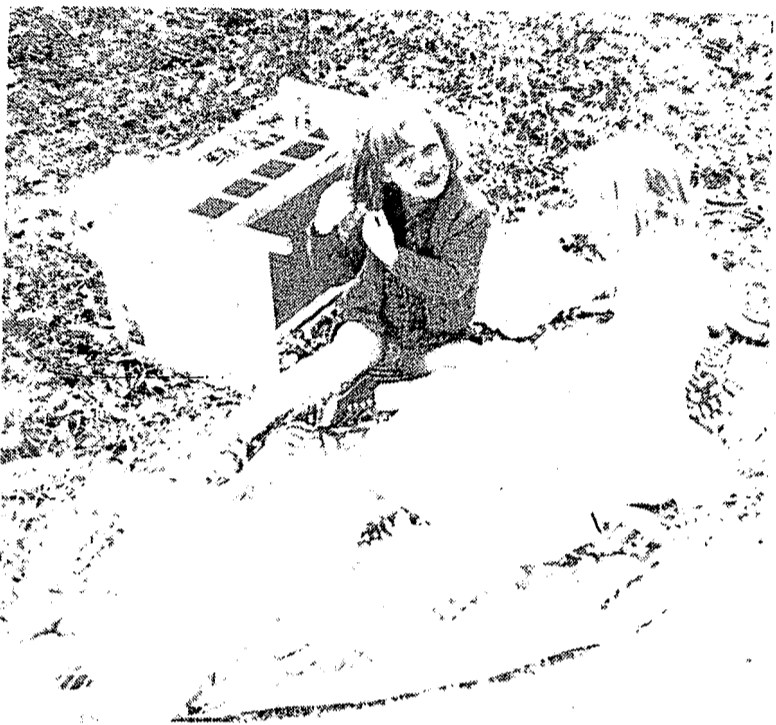

Solar systems require an initial expensive outlay and since the sun doesn't always shine in Michigan they, like heat pumps which can extract heat from the air down to a 20 degree temperature, are not as practical here as they are in the warmer climates.

He notes manufactured housing has come up with pre-cast concrete which has been found as practical for workers on the Alaska pipeline as it has for residents of Saudi Arabia. The insulation works well in both climates.

Rauth believes the country will eventually be able to obtain economical heating from shale, and he notes that in the West even thermals, hot air streams in the atmosphere, are being harnessed for heat.

He feels any break-through with atomic energy is still a long way off, the problem of safeguarding wastes the major roadblock.

Deadbolts and deadlocking latches operate only by key and thumb turn; they do not have knobs or handles. They lock automatically when fully thrown and cannot be forced by inserting shim. A word of caution: A double cylinder deadbolt is suggested where complete key control is desired. It is recommended for use on a door with glass panels, as an intruder may break the glass and reach inside yet he will be defeated by the deadbolt that requires a key to unlock the door from the inside as well as the outside. Should someone be in the house the key should be left in the lock on the inside of the door for emergency exit.

Another consideration, with the safety of your family in mind, is a lock that combines security features with the "panic-proof" operation for immediate exit. The latch is retracted—and the door is unlocked—with a turn of the inside knob in either direction.

Wall paneling perks up home

Like the proverbial purchase of new clothing to perk up flagging spirits, installation of new wall paneling may brighten up not only the home but also the individual's outlook on life. Psychiatrists say that part of the uplift for do-it-yourselfers may come from the actual physical work.

And for both men and women, the rest of the perking up of the spirits may come from the actual selection of materials, colors and patterns, they say. In essence, the remodeled room becomes an extension of the individual's personality.

This is the same type of effect as that obtained from careful selection of new clothes to brighten a gloomy period.

It may make little difference if the person has had any previous interior decorating experience. He or she can readily obtain help from major building materials manufacturers and distributors. For example, a current booklet from Georgia-Pacific Corp. entitled "How to make beautiful things happen with walls" tells what is needed to get started, explains how to put up paneling from beginning to end, and gives tips on decorating with color and style. Other pieces of literature from G-P, aptly called "idea" booklets, open a wide avenue of ideas the individual may borrow or adapt, and they are available at retail building material dealers.

When the project is completed, the combination of mental activity in planning renovation or remodeling and physical activity in actually doing the work may have been just what the doctor ordered.

CNB reports earnings

The highest quarterly earnings in its history were reported today by Community National Bank. In 1976, the Community National Bank moved up 45 positions to 274th place in the American Banker's listing of the nation's largest 300 banks. Growth in the bank's 1976 deposits also strengthened its position as Michigan's 14th largest bank and as the largest bank headquartered in Oakland County.

For the three months ended March 31, 1977, net income was $809,000, or $1.01 per share, up 10.5 percent over 1976's first quarter earnings of $732,000, or $.92 per share.

Earnings before securities transactions were $747,000, up 5.3 percent from $710,000 for the same period in 1976.

Total loans at March 31, 1977 were $225,344,000 a 28.9 percent increase.

Total deposits increased 12.5 percent to $371,275,000, as compared with $329,927,000 last year, while total assets for the first quarter of 1977 reached $421,091,000, up from $384,289,000 a year ago.

Net income after securities transactions was down 26% from 1976's first quarter record because of the large portfolio profits taken early last year," according to Edward E. Barker, Jr., President.

"About two-thirds of our bank's $72 million year-to-year deposit gain was represented by funds of consumers and business. Year-to-year private deposit growth was better than 18%," he continued.

Rotary sponsors band benefit at Pine Knob

Bandsmen, dancers, fifers and drummers will be performing at Pine Knob at 7:30 p.m. on Saturday, May 28 as the famous international touring unit, the 5th Michigan Regiment Band, gives a concert sponsored by the Clarkston Rotary Club and The Band Boosters of area schools. Tickets at $6 per car or $2 per person are on sale through the members of Clarkston Rotary or from members of The Band Boosters.

Dressed in Civil War Infantry,

Artillery and Naval uniforms, this famous band will be bringing its full regimental unit, regimental and historical color parties, landing party of regimental dancers, and the regimental fifes and drums to Pine Knob.

The organization was formed in the fall of 1973 under the auspices of the Howell Bicentennial Committee, and has since been recognized and received major funding from the Michigan

Council for the Arts. The band has represented the nation repeatedly in Canada at the Canadian National Exhibition, Ontario Place in Toronto; Fort York, and Fort Henry at Kingston, Ontario; and at Chapeau, Ontario where the unit performed official ceremonies for the Canadian government.

Noted for its close attention to historic detail, both in uniforming and performance, the unit recreates the band of the 5th Michigan Volunteer Infantry Regiment which served with the Army of the Potomac from 1861 through 1865.

Although Civil War music is a major part of the unit's repertoire, close attention is paid to the recreation of the works of John Philip Sousa. Many of Sousa's marches have been closely re-examined regarding his original musical and stage directions so that audiences can see and hear the works as Sousa had intended.

The Regimental Fifes and Drums render such historic favorites as Yankee Doodle, Rally Round the Flag, Marching Through Georgia, Turkey in the Straw, Arkansas Traveler, The Sailor's Hornpipe, the Barren Rocks of Aden.

And firing demonstrations of historic muskets and rifles accompany the concerts, and historic anecdotes and narration tell the stories behind the musical selections.

Make a mental note

What's in the name?

by Jim and Ellen Windell

Both step-parents and step-children have many difficulties adjusting to each other.

An instant family complicates family life and what may have been viewed as a minor situation or problem before marriage may become later a near calamitous event. For instance, some step-parents and stepchildren become concerned about what to call each other.

It is a rare stepmother or stepfather who will not want to be called "mom" or "dad". However, this can immediately present some problems as children may resent a step-parent attempting to take the place of the natural parent.

There are step-parents who would like to view themselves as a hero who will be more of a parent than the original mother or father was.

The stepmother who says or thinks, "Poor Linda never really had a mother and I want to be a good mother to her and give her something she never had before," may be headed for a great disappointment.

Children despite cruelty and abuse from the natural parent continue to have an idealized and mythical parent in their mind and are more frequently resentful rather than grateful to a step-parent who tries to replace the "bad" parent.

If the step-parent insists on the child calling him/her "mom" or "dad", the child will feel guilty sometimes and believe that he is being disloyal to the original parent. This is an unconscious and at times an irrational process with the youngster.

One teenage girl said about her stepfather, "He was really a nice guy, but I would never let myself get to know him because I had a dad who I thought was really something."

Some step-parents see it as a matter of respect that a child begin to call him/her by the affectionate mom or dad. If the youngster prefers a first name, it is then viewed as evidence that the child lacks respect and is unwilling to be close and loving.

For this step-parent, the label mom or dad carries great significance and without it involvement in family life may be troublesome for the parent.

However, it is important that step-parents keep in mind that what the child feels for the parent may never be conveyed in a name. The enduring relationship is much more important.

Like many parent-child situations, this one may be handled in an open manner and discussed with the child. Most youngsters will be most comfortable initially with a first name.

This first choice can be open for revision and when a child feels more comfortable may request a name change to something more personal.

About Books

Raising of the Titanic

by Marian Trainor

In April, 1912, the 'unsinkable' Titanic, believed to be the safest ship afloat set off from England to New York on its first trip. Twenty-two hundred people were on board. The passage fee was $4,000, a large amount at that time, even for the most luxurious ship ever built. On April 14, the Titanic struck an iceberg and sank. One thousand and fifteen lives were lost.

It was a tragedy that is forever remembered and has been the subject of books, plays, novels and poems.

In "Raise the Titanic" by Clive Cussler (Viking), it becomes the framework for a novel so exciting that it makes the reader want to cheer out loud for our side when it out-manuevers the enemy and shout out a warning when danger threatens. To use a well-worn phrase, it is gripping drama. Not only is it a ripping good story but the wealth of engineering detail involved in the mighty task of raising a ship that rests 12,000 feet deep in the freezing depth of the Atlantic makes fascinating reading in itself. Those who have wondered about the possibility of raising the Titanic will be intrigued by the exhaustively sound research the author presents.

But with all its integral drama, the raising of the ship is not the focal point of the story. The tale revolves around an undercover plot to seize a cache of byzantium, an extremely rare element that if it is found will insure America's safety. In fact, it is so rare that it looks as though the only available byzantium in the world lies in the hold of the R.M.S. Titanic.

Amid threats of violence

Palulian keeps the township clean

By Joe Gitter
of The Clarkston News

Tim Palulian has been called a communist, threatened with bodily harm and just generally treated like he wasn't appreciated. All that over junk cars!

Palulian works for the Independence Township Building Department. It is one of his jobs to search out and eliminate unlicensed, unused or disabled cars in residential lots inside the township.

After four years on the job Palulian has become a veteran when dealing with violators of Zoning Ordinance #83 and the Abandoned and Disabled Vehicle Ordinance #64.

He has learned from experience and now stays in the relative safety of his township automobile, a rusting, dilapidated Chevy Nova.

"It's frustrating when somebody threatens to shoot you or says, 'Don't come on my property' and makes threats of bodily harm," he said. "So many people have guns nowadays it scares me."

No one, as yet, has actually pulled a gun on him.

When Palulian started the junk car clean-up, fresh out of college with a degree in Cultural Anthropology, it was a real problem in the township.

"The second day I was out I walked into a southern subdivision, Woodhull, and there were 35 violators." In his first eight or nine months on the job he estimates he processed 600 automobiles.

But, with enforcement the situation has improved dramatically. "When I go out in the spring now I may pick up 150 cars in the whole township," he said.

"It's no longer a serious problem," he added. "But, it is something you have to keep on top of."

Palulian cruises through suspect-

Jim's Jottings

Spring is the time when a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love. At least that's how I remember the poem, or was it a song?

Whoever wrote it didn't define "young" as in "young man's." If young is 22, like my son, then his thoughts didn't change with last week's spring weather. He still wants to sleep 'til noon, play handball until the sun starts down, then carouse 'til dawn.

Didn't we all at 22?

Considering all the springs that have come and gone since the age of 22, I have to conclude the poet was talking about the very young, early ed areas copying addresses of houses with junk cars. Returning to the office he processes the violations, sending out notices to the homeowners to take care of the problem. He often receives feedback.

The most frequent comments are in reference to communism or the excess power of government," he said.

"I've found that . . . people will take the situation in hand to express their views on their property rights.

"They don't see where it's bothering anybody and maybe it's not. It might not be bothering their neighbors, but that's not the point." The ordinance has to be enforced, he added.

"Some people, for whatever reason, are really sensitive to having anyone tell them to do anything," he said.

"If somebody tells me to hit the road I oblige. Then I send them a notice anyway."

But Palulian considers himself a fair man, too fair as far as some are concerned. "I give a guy every chance to dispose of or do whatever he wants to do with the car," he said.

He sends out a standard violation notice giving the violator 10 to 15 days, sometimes longer, to either license the auto, house it in the garage or move it off his property. Most of the time something can be worked out with the violator, Palulian said.

Sometimes people just will not cooperate. As a last resort he will issue a ticket and take the case to court.

"I've got to emphasize that we will do it," he said.

Enforcing the junk car ordinance is no longer a priority measure in the township. As a result Palulian has been able to expand his duties and responsibilities into new areas.

He has become the township planning coordinator, acting as a liaison between the township and potential builders.

But, his activities in zoning ordinance enforcement have taken their toll.

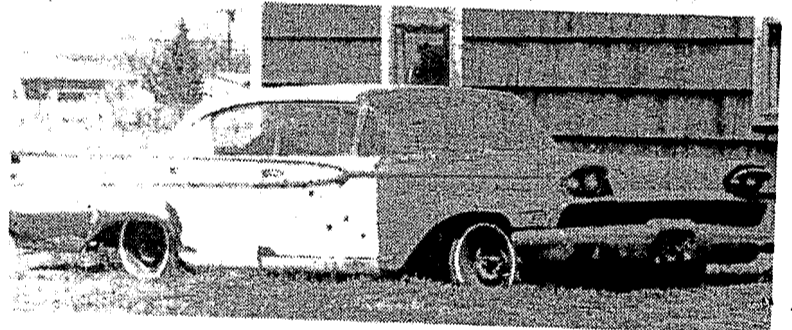

"I've gotten so that even when I'm off work and driving around the township I look for cars," he said.

Tim Palulian, ordinance enforcer, takes down the address of another violator.

Fleeting fancy

teens even, and that's too long ago.

The thoughts of spring are told in the ads. Get a new rake for the lawn that needs sprucing up. Buy a new tiller for the garden you're going to plant to save big money on vegetables.

Landscape your property with flowering crab trees, maples, and bushes. Make things lovely and fresh forever with all these new products and your new found enthusiasm.

Do it now. Get up early. That's the way it is now at the young age of 50.

Rather, that's the way it was on the first great weekend this Spring.

Boy, did things happen for a little while. Everything was started. But, nothing was finished.

And, Monday I went to bed at 9 p.m., Tuesday at 9:30. Spring had come and gone in one weekend. Enough of that raking. Enough of that fence mending.

It was time for this young man to turn his thoughts to love . . . love of fishing. Four phone calls found four other young men with exactly the same thoughts.

Not one time did I have to make a call back for them to check with their wife or other calendar. "I'm ready!" was the unanimous answer.

Of course, all five of us owe ourselves some stag vacation days. We either missed a deer hunting season or passed up an invite to something else in recent years.

Male reasoning (and I know there is woman's reasoning, too) justifies all hours and days away from the grindstone. We can always compare ourselves with some other working slob who takes six months off a year, or start complaining about the trouble we've had lately on our jobs.

Or, we can attempt to convince our spouse of her need to be rid of us for a couple of days.

Think up your own excuses, men. My time's already cleared.
