Cranberry waters roiled

By Kathy Greenfield
Staff writer

What happens when a 22-acre lake is allowed to flow into a pond measuring less than one acre?

What if the pond doesn't hold water and the lake becomes shallow?

And what about the homeowners around the pond who bought "lake property" and want the pond to be given a chance to maintain a usable water level?

The controversy surrounding the pond on the southeastern shore of Cranberry Lake, located north of I-75 and east of M-15, has continued for at least 18 years since homesites were developed around the pond.

A civil suit regarding a dam built on the property of Frank and Delores Blumenau of Amy Drive, to keep the lake water from flowing into the pond, has been brought by seven of the 10 pond dwellers.

The case is pending in the Oakland County Circuit Court of Judge Frederick C. Ziem.

The latest action has been an order by Ziem that a permit be received from the Michigan Department of Natural Resources before any more digging can take place between the two bodies of water, according to a DNR official.

The DNR became involved in the case because of the Inland Lakes and Stream Act of 1972 that covers dredging within 500 feet of a lake or dredging or filling below the ordinary high water mark, said Hal Harrington, water quality administrator for the DNR, who works out of the Pontiac district office.

"At one time there was apparently a lagoon or swamp off the lake, and when the lake was up two or three feet, there was water back in there," he said.

The area was dredged by the builder and attempts have since been made to keep water in the pond, he said.

"Allegedly there was $15,000 spent for bentonite clay for the bottom," he said.

Because the act was passed after the issue of the lake and the pond went to court, the first case was in 1960, the judge had to decide whether the guidelines of the 1972 act would be followed, he said.

The permit request for digging will be reviewed by federal, state and at least six agencies of the DNR, Harrington said. The process takes 60 to 90 days if the decision by the DNR is not contested, he said.

"We take all the comments and make a determination based on the comments that come in," he said.

Residents on and around Cranberry Lake contacted State Representative Claude Trim (D-Davisburg) with their problem when they noticed digging between the lake and pond about 12 days ago.

"This again points out that there's definitely a need for regulation of our wetland areas, for my understanding is this was originally a drainage ditch for lake runoff that was dug much deeper by the developer without any ground studies," Trim said.

"The question is: the DNR has to make some studies to find what it is going to do to the lake, because it would be senseless to allow the lake to deteriorate further, because it is at a low level now," he said.

The problem has to be resolved on a reasonable basis, Trim said, and he's asked the DNR to collect the data for him to review.

"I've taken the stand at this point in time that something has to be done immediately," Trim said.

The issue, however, will have to be resolved in the courts," he added.

"I want to assure that the DNR is working with the judge on this matter," he said.

All about signs

Expert advice will be available to Clarkston residents concerned about the proposed rewriting of the village sign ordinance.

During Monday night's Clarkston Planning Commission meeting, Betty Lee Francis will give a slide presentation and a lecture entitled, "An introduction to Signs as Communication" beginning at 7:30 p.m. at the Clarkston Village Hall, 375 Depot.

Owner of Preservation Planning, an architectural firm which has restored buildings in Michigan and Ohio, Mrs. Francis teaches at the Lawrence Institute of Technology in Southfield.

Sponsoring Mrs. Francis' appearance are the Clarkston Village Council, the Clarkston Planning Commission, The Village Business Association and the Clarkston Community Historical Society.

A discussion will follow the lecture.

Miss Apple Queen of Oakland County is Jill Ashton, 17. The Clarkston High School senior will represent the county in the Miss Michigan Apple Queen contest Dec. 5, 6 and 7 in Grand Rapids. Jill was eligible for the contest, because she works at the apple orchard owned by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Ashton of Sashabaw Road, Independence Township.

Among citizens, officials

Support grows for White Lake light

By Pat Braunagel
Associate Editor

Motorists—more than 4,000 of them—have been joined by local, county and state officials in seeking a stoplight for the intersection of Dixie Highway and White Lake Road.

Petitions with 4,182 signatures were presented to State Rep. Claude A. Trim, D-Davisburg, who passed them on to state highway department representatives last Friday.

The petitions resulted from a three-week campaign spearheaded by Thomas R. Boothby, whose gift shop is on the southeast corner of the intersection.

Another appeal for a stoplight at the intersection was made last week by John L. Grubba, managing director of the Oakland County Road Commission.

His recommendation for installation of the light was made in a letter to State Highway Commissioner Director John P. Woodford.

Grubba backed up his request with a study of the traffic and accident rate at the intersection, where 19 accidents were reported during the year from August 1977 to August 1978.

Six of those were right-angle accidents, which are considered to be avoidable with a stoplight. Boothby referred to the accidents he has witnessed when he presented the stoplight petitions to Trim.

Many motorists, he said, are "afraid" of the intersection and avoid White Lake Road as an access to Clarkston or to Springfield Township.

The petitions were signed by school bus drivers, truck drivers, Independence Township firefighters, post office employees, teachers, area residents and motorists from outside the area who are familiar with the intersection. Boothby said.

They are circulated among the staffs at every school in the Clarkston district, he noted.

Trim said he had received letters in support of the stoplight campaign from the Clarkston Village Council, Independence Township Board, Waterford Schools, Grubba and Oakland County Commissioner Robert H. Gorsline, R-Milford.

On hand to speak in favor of the stoplight were Independence Township Supervisor Floyd (Whitey) Tower and Keith Hallman, former Clarkston village president.

Paul Riley, district traffic engineer for the State Highway Department, said the department is working on a study of the intersection.

"Basically, we're all interested in safety," Riley said. "If a signal is warranted, the department has no qualms about putting one in."

Riley indicated he was surprised by the stoplight campaign campaign.

"Clarkston has maintained for an awfully long time they don't want the traffic," he commented.

Hallman said the village is getting the traffic anyway. He referred in particular to gravel trucks from Springfield which come into the village because their drivers are afraid to make a left turn onto Dixie Highway at the intersection. "The lack of a light is forcing trucks into the village, which is dangerous," Hallman said.

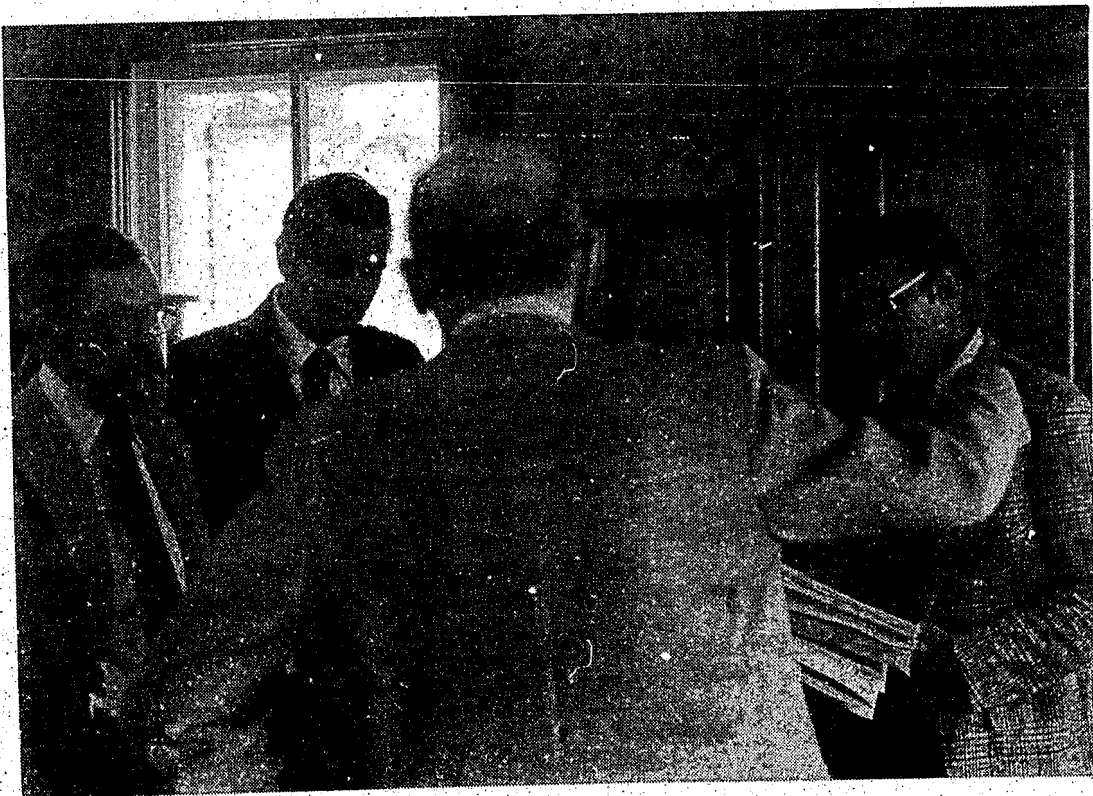

Tower also spoke about the "anxiety" of drivers who approach the intersection from Clarkston.

To aid drivers approaching the intersection from the other direction, the highway department is going to remove a clump of brush on the southwest corner of the intersection, Riley said.

After the department completes its study, Riley said he would report back to Trim.

Random survey aimed at seniors

Close to 500 senior citizens in nine local communities can expect to receive a survey soon.

The Northwest Oakland Senior Citizens Housing Advisory Committee has been writing the survey, which may determine the housing and support services needs for the elderly in Independence, Springfield, Brandon, Rose, Holly and Groveland Townships as well as the villages of Clarkston, Ortonville and Holly.

Formed as a coalition of seniors, local officials and community residents, the committee has written a rough draft for the survey.

Springfield Township Supervisor Collin W. Walls said tentatively, the survey will open with questions on the recipients' age, sex, income, household expenses and living arrangements.

The questionnaire will then ask what housing and support services seniors want, Walls continued.

Among the choices survey recipients can weigh are hot meal programs, transportation, recreational activities and housing models ranging from cottage communities to low-rise apartments, Walls said.

Walls said he estimates survey costs will run between $350 and $400, which will cover printing and mailing costs.

Bill Daub, a liaison from United Community Services of Metropolitan Detroit, a non-profit social services agency which spearheaded the committee's formation, said survey costs may reach $500.

Members of the senior citizen housing advisory committee are soliciting funds from local service organizations to cover survey costs.

Using voters rolls to obtain names and addresses of local seniors, Walls said survey recipients will be selected by a random sample. Only adults aged 55 and up will receive the survey, Walls said.

"It would be nice to know what people younger than 55 think of it (senior citizen needs) but it would be difficult to tabulate," Walls said.

Daub said he expects work on the survey to be completed within four to six months.

The survey is one step in a long-range plan to build housing for senior citizens at different sites throughout the nine-community area, Walls said earlier.

Once the needs for the elderly are established, committee members and representatives from United Community Services will seek funding from federal and state sources to develop the projects.

Bill Brueck isn't sure he's ready for all this as he looks on . . .

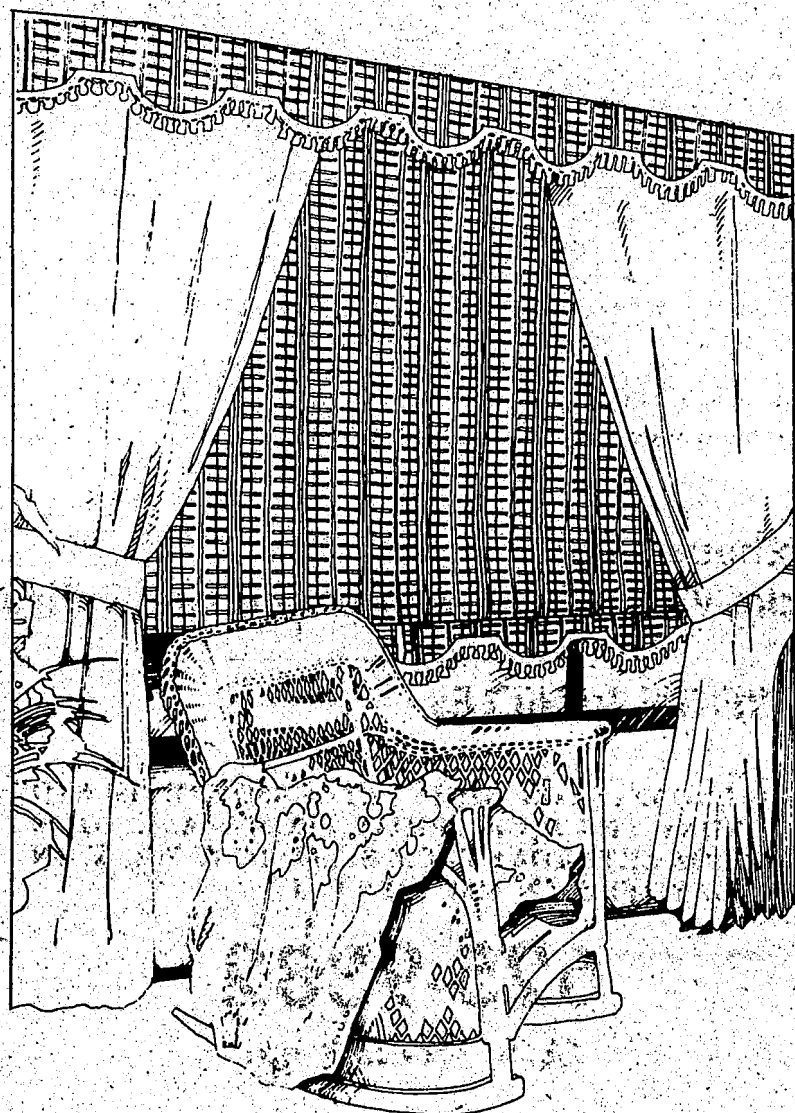

while Santa Claus and Ryan Derisley plan to meet again at the Jaycettes' Santa's Shed bazaar.

In a preview of what's to come at the Jaycettes' Santa's Shed Bazaar, some lucky Clarkston youngsters were treated to a brief visit the Jolly Old Elf. Santa plans to give out treats at the bazaar on Nov. 11 from 11 a.m. until 1 p.m. The bazaar will also feature at least 80 tables loaded with crafts ranging from macrame, pottery, weavings and candy to paintings and jewelry.

The Jaycettes will sell sandwiches and snacks during the event to be held from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. in the Clarkston High School cafeteria.

Our opinions on proposals

B, K - limiting

Emotional issues are never easy to deal with, and decisions based on emotion often have regrettable consequences.

Two such issues will be facing voters in next week's election. Voters will be asked to pass on restricting parole for certain crimes, and also whether they want to permit judges to deny bail to certain individuals charged with violent crimes.

On the surface both propositions appear to make sense; however, both are based on strong emotional arguments, and both are bad law.

***

Eliminating time off for good behavior, as offered by Proposal B, suggests that the sole purpose of prisons is punishment and incarceration.

Such ideas were the accepted notions during the Spanish Inquisition, and their time is past. We are dealing with people who will one day be returned to society.

At best, prison life may offer a convict a chance at rehabilitation.

While the wording on the ballot suggests a small number of violent crimes would be included, the proposal actually covers approximately 80 crimes listed in the petition. Some are extremely violent; others are left to interpretation. Among the crimes included in the throw-the-key-away proposal are breaking and entering, mayhem, illegal abortion, and dueling.

The proposed law infringes on the judge's discretion in sentencing, and the parole board's judgment. It takes away whatever incentive for rehabilitation the prisoner may have had.

We urge a "no" vote on Proposal B.

***

The basic premise of our court system has always been that a person accused of a crime is innocent until proven guilty.

Proposal K was placed on the ballot by an act of the state legislature.

Currently anyone accused of a crime is entitled to bail unless charged with murder or treason "when the proof is evident or the presumption great." Proposal K would amend the constitution to give judges broader discretion in denying bail.

We believe Proposal K allows imposition of pretrial punishment. A warrant or arraignment is not a conviction.

Because we believe that judges already have enough authority to deny bail in violent cases, we urge a "no" vote on Proposal K.

A - unnecessary

Our state constitution does not need re-writing at this time. It's still relatively new, just 15 years old, and parts are still being interpreted by the courts.

It will cost an estimated $10 million to $12 million to conduct the new convention. With the mood so very prevalent to cut government spending and save the taxpayers' money, not calling for another Con-Con is a good start. We urge a no vote on Proposal A.

D - imprudent

Proposal "D" - an amendment to raise Michigan's legal drinking age to 21 years, would affect the legal privileges of adults, not children.

Michigan's "drinking age" was lowered from its original 21 to 18 in 1972 with the passage of "age of majority" legislation.

It is evident that many states have been cautious in altering the privileges of young adults.

The prudent route for Michigan is to give the 19 year law a chance. There is no sound reason to create a broadened class of "underage adults" in such an arbitrary fashion as Proposal "D".

G - unfair

Michigan's state police troopers, members of the most professional police corps in the state, need the chance to be the highest paid.

They do not need the chance to go into collective bargaining with all the cards stacked in their favor. If Proposal G passed, they would have not only the civil service protection they currently enjoy, but a union and the potential of binding arbitration to settle contract disputes.

Proposal G gives them more than other organized state employees have and more than they need for fair collective bargaining.

M - wrong forum

We don't believe ballot proposals should be used as weapons.

Proposal M allocates at least 90 percent of gas tax revenues for general road purposes and the remainder for other transportation purposes.

Effectively, Proposal M would insure that the City of Detroit not get more than 10 percent of gas tax revenues for its proposed mass transportation package. Whether Detroit should or shouldn't get more than that figure is open to debate. We don't believe a law should be passed based on the merits of such an argument.

At the same time as it limits subway, rail and monorail use of gas tax revenues, the proposal would guarantee the highway department the remaining 90 percent of those funds.

Proposal M is spite legislation and deserves a "no" vote.

R - bureaucratic

Why should our state government finance private railroads?

Proposal R would create another Authority (bunch of bureaucrats) that could loan money to RR's in Michigan with the state's guarantee behind the loans.

That means if the RR's don't come out of their deficits, we taxpayers are stuck to pay off the loan.

Proposal R sets up another Bureau, and establishes nother financial risk for us all. We urge a no vote on Proposal R.

Jim's jottings

A-polling we go

By Jim Sherman

I see by the daily newspaper surveys Michigan voters favor passage of all eleven proposals on the Nov. 7 ballot.

How sad!

Both tax increases and tax limitations are among the eleven.

There are proposals that take away power from state government and at least one that gives them more power.

There's one proposal that promotes unionism, and one that promotes big business.

I can understand anyone being against all eleven, but not for them all. To leave them the same assures us of what we have. To vote yes on each proposition invites costly court action and chaos.

The surveys say people favor a new constitutional convention. It will cost an estimated $10 million to $12 million dollars.

The same survey shows voters favor two so-called tax limitation measures.

See the contradiction? Limit taxes but spend $10 million that might result in re-writing the constitution with unknown results.

Then there's the proposal for collective bargaining (union) for State Police. A majority favor this move.

Along comes Proposal R, which would have our state loan money to railroads on the gamble that they will start making money and pay it back.

If they don't the money is forfeited. That goes against tax limitation thinking and a little contrary to the labor movement.

Proposal M would set limitations on spending gas and weight taxes for roads and bridges. I guess the goal is to halt Coleman Young from drawing more than 10 percent to Detroit for rapid transit.

Then comes proposal H that puts all the spending on education in the hands of the legislature.

We'd limit the Lansing legislators with one act, and give them power with another.

To top it all off you'll have two minutes in the voting booth to make these eleven decisions, besides voting for candidates of your choice in the partisan and non-partisan portions of the ballot.

Heavenly days, results won't be in until Christmas.

Happy polling!

Letters to the editor

Building practices confusing

Dear Editor:

I have come to the conclusion that in order to have a new home built in an entirely new location, you must have an engineering background, be a master of the building codes and meet the leaders of the community before you sign on the dotted line. I plead ignorant to all of the above.

I read in the paper that the Township is taking Rose Builders to court over the thickness of the paneling being used in their new homes.

In October of 1977, a more knowledgeable friend of mine brought to my attention the fact that my paneling did not have drywall behind it and that it was only an eighth inch thick. He believed that this was against code.

I immediately phoned the Building Department. Nothing was said or done. I kept pursuing the problem without satisfaction.

Finally, this summer, out of desperation I contacted someone in the news media. Then I got action. Mr. Palulian came to my home at which time I gave him a piece of my paneling. As a result it was taken to court.

Why didn't the Township check into the problem when I first brought it to their attention?

Why do some of the homes built after mine have thicker paneling?

Why do I feel that everytime our subdivision goes to the Township with this and other problems, it's us against the Township and the builder instead of the township and us against the builder. Who's on our side?

I worked hard to be able to move into this community and would like to feel welcomed. Right now I am wondering whether I am welcomed at all. Ann Godoshian.

Oakland Woods Subdivision

Disinclined as I am to tell people what to do—as I have mentioned in this column before—I am not endorsing candidates in this election.

Elections are one area in which my philosophy of journalism and of democracy mesh with little strain on my part.

It is the responsibility of every voter to go to the polls as well-informed as possible. Newspapers, of course, play a major role in that education process.

This election, with its many interrelated propositions, has been a burden to us all. For that reason, I and my fellow editors in Oxford, Lake Orion and Davison and our publisher got together to make an intensive study of statewide issues and to present our recommendations on them.

Our consensus opinions were published last week on the "Big Three" tax proposals and this week on the other questions. We offer them as one more view for you to consider.

by Pat Braunagel

Local elections, however, are something else.

A weekly newspaper editor's making endorsements in a local election has been compared to participating in a family fight. It's not a bad analogy.

After the "ruckus" of the campaigns has quieted, we must all live with the victors.

If there were a candidate I didn't think you should be forced to live with, rest assured I would send up flares. But I would do so only if I saw treachery afoot that you should be alarmed about.

That simply is not the present case.

I do have personal preferences. I am not uninterested in the results of the various races.

I try to be disinterested—which is to say, impartial.

The Clarkston News, I believe, has done an excellent job in providing information for you on governmental activities in the two townships we cover.

If you've been reading us, you have the basis for being an informed voter. Add to that information supplied by the candidates for our voters' guide, and then make your decisions.

One last comment about impartiality—fairness; we rejected a number of letters to the editor this week in support of or opposition to various candidates and issues.

Because this is the last issue before the election, there is no time for others to respond. Giving a letter to the editor that much last-punch impact just isn't fair.

Study Dixie-M-15 intersection

To the editor:

An article in the October 19th issue of the Clarkston News, in regard to zoning changes in the area between A&P shopping center and Hidden Lane brought to mind a problem the township has not seemed to recognize.

A motorist, driving south on the Dixie Highway, cannot make a left turn onto M-15 at the stop light.

For years, people have used the A&P parking lot as a thoroughfare. I believe this is an illegal approach to M-15.

Most drivers like to take the shortest route to their destination.

A motorist, using the Dixie Highway at any point between White Lake Road and Parview, who intends to visit any doctor's office or place of business on the east side of M-15 is not apt to take White Lake Road into the village in order to reach his destination.

If he does take this route, he is unnecessarily adding to the village traffic problem. If he takes the short-cut, past A&P, he is adding to the congestion of the parking lot and making an illegal turn.

May I suggest that, before any final plans are accepted regarding the six parcels of land between A&P and Hidden Lane, a careful study of the traffic pattern be made. If a study by the State Highway Department proves that a left turn cannot be provided at the stop light I foresee problems developing in the future.

The only alternative to a left turn at the stop light would be the construction of a road between the Dixie Highway and M-15 at a point north of A&P. If the six parcels of land are developed in a way that would prevent a new road, Hidden Lane will then become the only link between the two main highways.

At the present time, I believe Hidden Lane has been blocked, preventing through traffic. Apparently, those residing in the area wished to reduce the traffic which greatly increased when the movie theater was built.

Although I do not personally know any of the residents in the Hidden Valley area I think they should be aware of the possibility that their quiet street could become a busy thoroughfare.

A few years ago, when the planning commission was discussing the building of condominiums between White Lake Road and Parview, I suggested that further population in that area might create a traffic problem. I was told, by a member of the commission, that the residents of the condominiums would approach the village

'If it Fitz . . .'

Becoming a seer

by Jim Fitzgerald

It was a magic moment. On a bright morning I was waiting at the bus stop across the street from my apartment building. An attractive woman I'd never seen before was waiting with me. She soon noticed the magic.

We'd been waiting for 15 minutes and our polite conversation gradually had turned from the weather to whether the bus drivers might be out on strike.

"I think this is the week for the garbage men to strike. The bus drivers' strike isn't until next week," I said. "But the bus drivers might have struck a week early, in sympathy, so they could stay home and sit on the curb with their garbage."

"I guess I'll have to give up and walk to work," the attractive woman said. "Don't do it. There's a bus coming right now," I said.

She stepped off the curb and looked down the street. "I don't see a bus coming," she said. She obviously thought I was lying to keep her from leaving me.

"I don't see one either, but trust me. There'll be a bus here in less than two minutes," I said with calm assurance.

The attractive woman waited, and the bus arrived as promised. From the way her breathing accelerated, and her chest heaved, I could tell she was impressed.

"How did you know?" she asked. "It's magic," I said.

That's when she first realized it was a magic moment.

Aboard the bus, there was only one empty seat and she beat me to it. She got off before I did and disappeared into the passing crowd but, at the last second, she looked back, obviously reluctant to leave the magic of the strangely attractive man.

Chances are we'll never meet again. The attractive woman may never know the source of my magic. It is semaphore. I have a spy in the sky.

Every morning, while waiting for the bus, I sneak occasional glances at the corner windows of my apartment 26 floors high, across the street. My wife is stationed there.

On the ground, I can't see a bus coming three blocks away. In the air, Pat can see one coming three miles away. She signals me.

This isn't as simple as it sounds. Twenty-six floors is a long way and our apartment windows are full of plants. Unless she waves her arms extravagantly, it's not easy to distinguish Pat from a hanging fern.

Also, she has more than one signal. When she waves her right arm, it means there's no bus in sight and I might consider walking downtown. When she waves her left arm, it means be patient, there's a bus approaching. When she waves both arms, it means I forgot to kiss her goodbye. I have to be on my toes.

At first, I returned Pat's signals as blatantly as she sent them, but no more. I discovered it is considered alarming for a grown man to stand on the curb of a busy street and wave his arms. Traffic stopped. Drivers thought I was trying to tell them their backseats were on fire. Embarrassing.

So now I disguise my signals as scratches. People who share my bus stop think I have an itchy nose. They have no idea I'm telling my wife that I forgot to bring the correct change for the bus and I'm thinking of killing myself.

The only problem is that, to be seen 26 floors up, I must give my nose a two-handed scratch with arms akimbo. People don't blink when you akimbo your hands to your hips, but they tend to stare when you akimbo your nose.

But I don't care if people stare. My deception makes magic moments possible. If I'd waved openly, that attractive woman might have thought I was having an unnatural relationship with a hanging fern.

Village moves on crumbling facades

Crumbling facades which may endanger Main Street pedestrians have caused consternation among members of the Clarkston Village Council and representatives of the Independence Township Building and Planning Department.

Portions of a concrete form that trims the top of a facade have broken on the Maccabee Temple, between 4 and 10 South Main Street.

Concrete on the Landi Building, between 12 and 16 S. Main, has disintegrated so the bare brick is exposed.

Trustee Fontie ApMadoc brought the facades to the council's attention at an Oct. 9 council meeting.

Thomas Gruich, the village attorney, was authorized by the council at that time to research legal methods to force the owners to repair the crumbling facades.

Timothy Palulian, director of the building department, said owners of the building had been contacted last year but confusion over owners and their responsibilities halted further action on the facades.

Speaking of one building, Palulian said, "Even though it's under one roof, there're three areas of ownership." Palulian added that he is still attempting to learn who has what responsibility over the facades' repair.

Palulian said he will then recontact the owners, inform them of the village council's concern about the problem and request that the facades be repaired.

"If we don't get any reaction or action from the owners on this new notice, we will notify the village and request a note asking how far to go on it," Palulian said.

Meet Mr. Wright, of Wright Janitorial Supply Co.

Keith M. Wright is a young man with Man's age-old aspirations.

As long as he can remember, he's always wanted to be in business for himself.

He took a 1500-word aptitude test one time. The test was designed to determine if he were business oriented. No doubt about that. On a scale of 0 to 100 he scored 99.

Today, he is owner and proprietor of The Wright Janitorial Supply Company at 4700 Dixie Highway in Drayton Plains. He opened for business October 2.

"I like to be able to work for myself so what I do gives me what I earn and no one has a control over it but me," says the 26-year-old Wright.

What problems beset a man going into business for himself? One, for Wright, was finding suppliers. There is no one particular supplier for a janitorial supply company, he quickly found out. He spent the first month writing letters to manufacturing representatives and waiting for replies.

Getting the building ready was another obstacle he had to hurdle... which he did adroitly and achieved, at the same time, his first success in his own business... he saved money by doing it himself.

He replaced the floor himself—"One thing for sure, you have to have a sharp looking floor in this business"—at half the cost he would have had to pay if he had hired someone.

He found that shelving was so expensive that he built his own.

He bought a used sign, had it rebuilt and ended up paying out only about a quarter of what he would have paid for a new sign.

Those were but a few of money-saving steps he took, but he was quickly learning Yankee ingenuity and the hard lesson of keeping overhead down.

In all, it took about five months to get it all together.

He gave attention to the smallest details, too. Every item on his shelves had a price tag.

"It took a long time to price everything out," he says, "but I believe you should have everything marked so the customer doesn't have to ask a salesman how much it costs."

Wright found quickly to be beware of the over zealous salesman coming in the front door.

"You have to watch your buying so the salesman you're talking to doesn't overload you with a particular product. And, you must have the ability to restock your shelves at a decent cost. That is, an original order from California might be prepaid but you might have to foot the freight bill when you reorder. Then you can't sell at a profit at all, perhaps."

A lot for the young man to learn, but learn them he did! Wright Janitorial Supply Company supplies industrial, commercial, institutional and residential accounts.

"You might say," Wright enthuses, "that everyone can use what we have to offer. Everybody has to keep their place clean."

Wright Janitorial offers about anything anyone needs for any type of cleaning problem—from a kitchen broom to waste receptacles, to a chamois to mopping equipment, squeegees, cleaning chemicals, waxes and floor finishes.

The business is located at 4700 Dixie Highway near the Old Dairy Queen, with Doors of Pontiac and Brinker's Plumbing and Heating its neighbors.

A research physiologist and Olympic coach, he organized the first women's international marathons in his home town of Waldniel, W. Germany in 1974 and 1976. "League champions" is a name the Clarkston High School junior varsity football team now can proudly wear.

The JV Wolves were howling with glee following an exciting game Thursday in which they defeated the Bloomfield Andover Barons 21-6.

"They really played hard," said Gary Warner, head JV football coach. "They knew how important the game was and they played one of the better games of our season."

"We were all pretty happy. It really meant a lot to the kids and they showed how much it meant because they really played well," Warner added.

The game's first touchdown was made by Clarkston's Mark Hughes following a 24-yard run. Like all his kicks in the game, Mark Feneley's first was successful, making the first quarter score 7-0 in the Wolves' favor.

Jack Sprung jumped into action during the second quarter throwing a 50-yard pass to Kevin Krause, with the play adding a second touchdown to the Wolves' score.

During the third quarter, Andover made its single-touchdown, followed by a conversion that didn't work. The score was 14-6 with Clarkston winning. The fourth quarter opened with a coup by the Clarkston defense. The Wolves caught the Barons on their two-yard line, preventing Andover from upping the score.

With four minutes left on the clock, Hughes scored once again on a two-yard run. Feneley's kick roped a 21-6 final score for the Wolves.

Throughout the game, Hughes racked up 90 yards rushing, followed by Mike Olgen's 79 yards rushing and Sprung's 67 yards rushing.

In the Clarkston defense, Tom Roberts recovered a fumble. Both Phil Brenninger and Kurt Esselink intercepted Andover passes, Esselink's occurring late in the fourth quarter.

Feneley tallied 14 tackles in last Thursday's game.

The JV Wolves' final match was against Waterford Mott Tuesday.

Varsity cagers drop two

Clarkston's varsity cagers dropped two league games last week and saw their season record slip to 4 wins and 10 losses.

On Tuesday, against Rochester, the Wolves fell behind 5-16 in the first quarter and never recovered. The final score of the contest was Rochester, 60, Clarkston, 51. Leading scorer and rebounder for the Wolves was Kay Pearson, who netted 15 points and 10 boards.

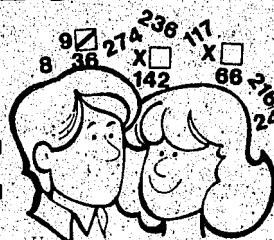

Thursday's home game against the West Bloomfield Lakers was much the same as Tuesday's contest.

Clarkston fell behind 22-8 in the first quarter and had to play catch-up ball the rest of the evening. The final score of the contest was Lakers, 60--Wolves, 41.

Despite a 20-point scoring effort by Pearson to lead both teams in that area, the rest of Clarkston's offense couldn't tally enough points to offset the Lakers' balanced attack.

This week, the Wolves face two more league opponents by traveling to Milford on Tuesday and hosting the captains from Waterford-Kettering on Thursday.

Varsity gridgers win

Winning its second game this season, the Clarkston varsity football team zilched Rochester Adams 13-0 last Saturday.

The two Clarkston touchdowns were made during second quarter action when Jim Farnsworth scored on an eight-yard run and Brad Sheldon crossed into the end zone on a one-yard rush.

A touchdown scored by Scott Curry was called back because of a holding penalty.

"We're happy that we won but we're not necessarily satisfied with the way we won," head coach Bill Valasco said.

"We felt it could have been more convincing if we hadn't made more physical errors," he continued. "We were getting to the right places on occasion but we didn't knock people down."

Nevertheless, the Clarkston defense kept Adams from penetrating the Wolves' 30-yard line throughout the game. Valasco called Ed Eaglen "a stand-out."

Ron Thompson was termed "outstanding" by Valasco and Dave Leichnam and Jeff Leak both nabbed Adams' passes.

Offensively, Clarkston gathered 149 yards rushing with a total offensive yardage take of 251.

Curry got the offense prize by covering 93 yards rushing and 17 carries while Farnsworth totaled 72 yards rushing and 13 carries.

The Wolves' final game begins at 8 p.m. tomorrow when they take on Waterford Mott on the Clarkston field.

Despite Mott's 1-7 record, the Wolves will have to play hard, Valasco said. "We know we'll have to improve if we're going to beat Waterford Mott," he said.

"They're probably the best 1-7 team I've ever seen," Valasco continued. "They're not a bad football team despite what their record says. If we lay back, they may beat us."

Open footrace Sunday

Reviving an American Indian intertribal tradition, a footrace will be held Sunday in Independence Township.

The first Ottawa Nation Footrace planned to become an annual event, will begin at 10:30 a.m. at the Independence-Oaks County Park, 9501 Sashabaw Road, one and a half miles north of Clarkston-Orion road.

Anyone is eligible to enter one of three cross country races of varying lengths which follow park trails.

The shortest race, covering the 2.5-mile lake shore trail, is recommended for younger or inexperienced runners. A 5.5-mile race and an 8.5-mile race are also planned.

The park entrance fee will be waived during the two-hour footrace, Park Supervisor Ray Delasko said. A $4 registration fee will be charged to all runners.

Registration will continue until 15 minutes before the race begins although early birds can obtain race applications at the Independence Oaks offices or by writing P.O. Box 3602, Flint, MI 48502.

Certificates featuring a picture of a runner tracking along an Independence-Oaks trail and inscribed with the name, rank and time will be awarded to each runner. No trophies will be given.

Wall ball tourney

Players of raquetball, paddleball and handball can sign up for the second annual Oakland County Closed Raquetball, Paddleball and Handball Championships until November 6.

Held at the Crescent Lake Raquetball Club, 1585 Crescent Lake Road, Waterford Township, the tournament will offer 23 divisions for Oakland County residents, including novice classes.

The championships will take place Nov. 10-12. The entry fee is $12 for singles and $14 per team. Balls will be provided and each participant will receive a souvenir T-shirt.

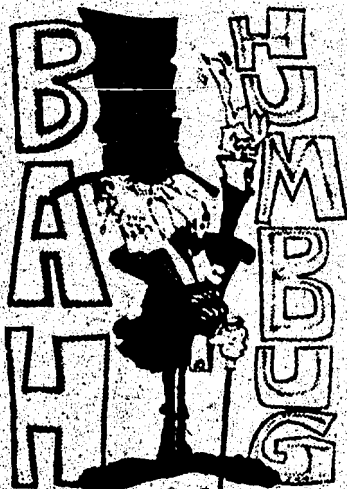

The draw will be held at noon, November 8. Contestants can enter two classes.

Tournament applications can be obtained at the Crescent Lake Raquetball Club or at participating businesses. Call 674-0341 for a list of these businesses and for further information.

Keith Hallman and Betty Redder go through another 'take' of a television advertisement shot outside the Clarkston Mills shopping mall last Thursday.

Hallman, Redder star in ad

Keith Hallman and Betty Redder are the featured performers in a television commercial filmed in Clarkston last Thursday.

Two cinematographers, a still cameraman, a producer, a writer and a director clustered around the West Washington entrance of the Clarkston Mills shopping mall making the television commercial for Community National Bank starring the former village president and Redder, manager of the bank's Clarkston office.

Jerry Anderson, the copywriter for Wilding Advertising who masterminded the project, explained that the video promotion was designed to focus on the good relation shared by the bank and local community leaders.

"We decided to use Clarkston Mills because it's the biggest thing happening in Clarkston," Anderson added.

The Clarkston ad is part of a series of similar commercials shot in suburban communities in which prominent local figures take leading roles, Anderson added.

The Hallman-Redder commmercial will run at 10 a.m. on Channel 4 during a telecast of the Hudson's Thanksgiving parade.

Classics at Colombiere

A concert of five classical pieces by cello and piano will be performed Sunday at Colombiere Center in honor of the late political activist and music lover, Russell Grinnell.

David Levine, a cellist with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, and Wesley Fishwick, a professor of piano at Wayne State University, will play in the concert which starts at 3:30 p.m. in the center on Big Lake Road in Springfield Township.

A member of a prominent Detroit musical family, Grinnell was a well-known passivist and environmentalist who received posthumous honors from the Michigan Legislature, according to Ivan Rouse of the Clarkston

Conservatory of Music. Grinnell died in 1976.

Levine and Fishwick will perform music by Mendelssohn, Bruch, Frescobaldi, Tchaikovsky and Granados.

Following the recital, a reception will be held for Grinnell's widow, Miriam. Admission is $4 for adults and $2 for students.

Letter: Dixie/M-15 traffic

via I-75. Knowing that White Lake road provided the shortest route to the village, this postulation seemed absolutely incredible. In fact, the traffic pattern had not been given any consideration.

The condominium project failed to succeed, however, it is still possible for this complex to come to life and expand in the future. If this should occur, I shudder to think of the increase in traffic in the A&P area as motorists race through the lot enroute to the post office and increasing businesses east of

M-15.

Our township is growing rapidly and, consequently, our traffic problems are also increasing. As an atypical area, created by many lakes, we must plan realistically and carefully.

Sincerely yours,
Anne Hubchen

Traffic flow, parking problems persist

Traffic patterns and parking habits used by truckers and local residents in the Clarkston business district are under close scrutiny by local officials.

Among the topics discussed by the Clarkston Village Council and Charles Kimbel, director of police services, was traffic patterns in the alley running between West Washington Street and Depot Road, directly behind the stores located on the west side of Main Street.

Also discussed was the clot of cars which often edges from Mill Street parking lot to ease the problem.

Kimbel is presently studying trustee James Weber's suggestion that two-way traffic on the alley become one-way, running southbound from W. Washington to Depot Road.

Although Kimbel had suggested that a northbound one-way pattern might ease the alley's traffic problems, Weber objected.

"If you make it northbound, you get a lot of traffic at the light," located at the West Washington-Main Street intersection, Weber said, adding that traffic congestion is already a problem there.

Kimbel's recommendation on changing the traffic pattern in the alley will depend upon the proposed intersection improvements at the Holcomb Road-White Lake Road-Depot Road intersection.

A section of Depot Road stretching between the crossroads and the western entrance to the village hall parking lot will be changed from one-way running west to two-way once the intersection improvements are completed.

Should a one-way traffic flow be established in the alley, a bad automobile accident may occur, Kimbel said later. "People are victims of habit. People who've been using Depot Road as a one-way westbound road may get into trouble," he said.

Traffic congestion in the Mill Street Parking lot south of Rudy's Market may also be eased once the Holcomb-Depot-White Lake intersection improvement is implemented, village president Keith Hallman said.

"What you have is a backup of traffic waiting at the light on Main" and West Washington, Hallman said. Filtering traffic out of the business district via Depot Road and from there to White Lake and Holcomb Roads may help the situation, he added.

Kimbel will contact the village council with his recommendation on the alley's traffic flow.

Another improvement for the alley discussed by Kimbel and the village council was the addition of painted crosswalks near the Clarkston Mills side entrance by Mill Street.

Hallman suggested placing stop signs near the crosswalks to give additional protection to pedestrians.

No action was taken on the crosswalks.

Instituting a loading zone in the Mill Street parking lot south of Rudy's Market was another means discussed by the council to control village traffic. Though Kimbel said issuing parking tickets has been an effective tactic in clearing congestion from the parking lot, two-way traffic in the area plus stopped cars blocking traffic flow persists as a problem.

Kimbel was authorized by the council to study the problem.

Neighborhood split by dam controversy

By Kathy Greenfield
Staff writer

Some property owners on and around Cranberry Lake say the pond southeast of the lake doesn't hold water.

Homeowners on the pond say the pond hasn't been given a chance to prove its water-holding capabilities.

Property owners on both sides have requested that their names not be used in a story, although they are willing to talk about the problems.

They are concerned about making enemies of their neighbors and cite some acts of vandalism that have occurred since a lawsuit was instigated in April, 1977, by seven of the 10 homeowners around the pond against Frank and Delores Blumenau, who own the property between the two bodies of water.

"The court proceedings were really more a smoke screen for the issues," Blumenau said. "The pond group would like to have water, and the pond doesn't have the ability to hold the water."

The main issue in the court case is the dam that has kept the lake water from flowing into the pond, he said, and the dam has been in existence off and on for about 18 years.

Blumenau's property faces the lake and the pond.

"I guess I'm sort of a middle man," he said.

He contends that the property owners around the pond knew a problem existed when they bought their homes.

"There's always the hope, including myself, that I would have water on both sides, and it never materializes," he said. "But the fact is, I knew there was a problem. I knew there was a risk."

The latest dam was constructed on his property using money provided by the Cranberry Lake Homeowners Association, he said.

"The dam has been removed this year in the beginning of April by unknown people," he said. "Subsequently the lake has been lowered."

Although the dry summer has contributed to the lower lake level, he said that the reduced lake level is linked to the pond.

"Even without any worse damage, the lake has already been a problem," he said. "We can't sail across the lake."

In the springtime, the pond fills up. The dam allowed overflow from the lake to run into the pond. As the lake level lowered, the dam prevented more water from flowing into the pond.

"This thing (the pond) is truly like a sieve. There have been several attempts to seal it," he said.

"Obviously the concern of all the property owners here, with the exception of those around the pond, is for the lake," he said.

One of the homeowners on the pond does not agree with Blumenau.

"We don't want to damage the lake, for heaven's sake, we're interested in the lake," she said, adding that the people on the pond have lake access.

"We've tried for so many years to settle this case with neighborhood meetings and so forth that we finally took it to court," she said.

The pond dwellers would like to have an unbiased study conducted to find out if the pond will hold water, she said.

"We depend on that source of water and they've never given us a fair time," she said.

When the bentonite clay was placed in the bottom of the pond, the lake was dammed and water was not allowed to flow on the clay naturally to allow it to form a seal, she said, but a partial seal was made and tests should be conducted.

"We wanted it done on a scientific basis where an uninterested party came in. We wanted it done over a period of time to see if the pond holds water."

Both sides have had experts check the problem, but the results support different views.

"We've sat on a swamp and we still pay lake taxes," the pond dweller said. "We don't pay as much as people on the lake, but we pay more than people not on the lake."

"Our children have also come and gone without a lake home," she said. "We bought a lake home and we don't have a lake home."

In any event, she would like to see the study done and the problem settled.

"The whole thing has been most unfortunate," she said. "In spite of it all, I love the area and our little section of the pond."

"It's too bad all of this happened," she added.

Meadow Brook holiday fantasyland

"Christmas at Meadow Brook Hall" starts soon with the transformation of the 100-room mansion into a fantasyland of flowers and decoration.

Only time and space will limit the creative genius of the florists who donate their service to benefit the preservation of this historic home on the campus of Oakland University, Rochester.

Among the special exhibits scheduled for the five-day event are two elaborate displays of handmade miniatures—the Von Oettingen Crech and the Detroit Bank and Trust Villages.

Candles will again be displayed and sold above the Carriage House by The Candle Factory of Davisburg.

Food and beverages will also be available at the Carriage House.

Guests touring the mansion will see one-o-a-kind toys, doll houses, intricate needlework tree ornaments and authentic ethnic decorations.

Children and adults alike will be welcomed by Santa Clause to Knole Cottage, a mini-mansion playhouse set in the trees.

Hours for the Christmas walk that runs from Nov. 29 through Dec. 3 will be Wednesday, 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. for group tours and 5:30 to 9 p.m., general admission. All other days, the mansion will be open from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Admission prices are $5 for adults on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday and $6 on Saturday and Sunday. Groups of 20 or more are $4 a person and adults over 64, students and children under 19 will be charged $3.

Knole Cottage tours are 50 cents per person for all ages.

Patrons Parties are a special event being offered. They are scheduled for Nov. 30, Dec. 1 and Dec. 2.

Piano prodigy 11-year-old David Butzu will play during the reception hour for the parties starting at 7:30 p.m. with dinner at 8:30 each evening.

Reservations for these parties will be taken on a first-come basis with tickets priced at $50 a person.

Meadow Brook Hall is located on Adams Road, one-third mile south of Walton Boulevard in Rochester.

For more information, call 377-3140.

Don't give up your right

Vote Nov. 7

In mock election

CHS students predict winners

By Kathy Greenfield
Staff writer

This generally will not be a year to unseat incumbents, but Carl Levin may just slip by Griffin into the Senate anyway. Thus say the political pundits at Clarkston High School.

As Clarkston High School government students vote, so goes Independence Township.

That's the indication since the mock elections, with genuine voting booths and ballots, started in 1970 under the direction of CHS government teachers Larry Rosso and Jim Wenger.

They held the latest election last week, and it looks like the Democratic party will make a strong showing locally and the races for governor and United States senator will be close.

"Over the past general elections, the results have been fairly representative, not specifically, but fairly, because there have been a few exceptions," Rosso said.

One difference has been votes for the township clerk, because the clerk, who sets up the booths at the high school, is present during the election, Rosso said.

Two years ago, he pointed out, the incumbent clerk Robert Lay had a clear victory at the high school and lost during the actual election to Christopher Rose, the present township clerk.

The two voting booths were set up exactly as they will be on Nov. 7. All local, state and federal candidates, the 11 statewide proposals and the township police and fire millages were on the ballots.

Of the 320 government students eligible to vote, 254 appeared and flicked the levers behind closed curtains.

The election was set up to give students some practical experience on the voting machines.

"When they're old enough to vote, and some of them already are, they won't be intimidated by it as many new voters are," Rosso said.

The government classes prepared to vote by considering the background and experience of each candidate, talking about the advertising techniques used in the campaigns and discussing the proposals.

"They might be as well prepared, or some of them better prepared than the general electorate," Wenger said.

As for the indications of the students' votes, family traditions show.

"In past years, they've been amazingly accurate on candidates," Rosso said, "because there's a generally known statistical fact that most children are very reflective of the voting habits of their parents."

On this year's vote tally, some of the proposals may not reflect the actual outcome, Rosso said, citing the complex tax limitation proposals and one issue the students have a personal interest in, the proposal to raise the drinking age.

'In past years, they've been amazingly accurate on candidates ... most children are very reflective of the voting habits of their parents.'

—Larry Rosso, CHS government teacher

HAPPENINGS

by Bob & Marvel White

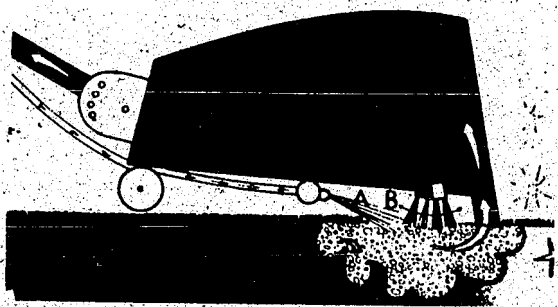

Part of the process of buying a house is obtaining proper insurance coverage, as most banks require protection for their security. Often, the bank granting the mortgage has its own insurance requirements. Still, it is an area in which you have a great deal of leeway. There is no doubt that insurance is necessary to assist in protecting your investment. Not only the house itself, but its contents should be adequately covered. Generally, a properly written, all inclusive homeowner's policy will suffice.

Insurance protects your investment. A reliable, reputable and knowledgeable firm such as BOB WHITE REAL ESTATE, 5856 S. Main St., next to Clarkston Post Office, is also a good insurance Policy when dealing with real estate. Our experience, knowledge and professionalism will add a certain touch to your next real estate transaction which may well mean the difference between complete satisfaction and mediocre acceptance of the final arrangements. ## Many vie for job

Lots of local people want to be Clarkston's new parking enforcement officer.

Director of Police Services Charles Kimbel, who has been conducting interviews for the position during the past two weeks, said, "There must have been a total of 25 people who applied at least."

"Kimbel said he was 'surprised' by the variety of applicants. 'They start from college kids up. I'm surprised how many women applied,' Kimbel said, adding many of the applicants are relative newcomers to the Clarkston area.

Expect to see the meter minder on the street soon, Kimbel said, adding that he hoped an officer would be on duty this week.

The meter minder's nine-hour week will be staggered to confound incorrigible parking violators, Kimbel told the Clarkston Village Council Oct. 23.

"It will be scheduled so even you won't know when they'll hit," he said.

Doing business

Decorating kids' beds

Mary Himburg [left] and Su Phardel show the "Cozy Cottage" applique for bed spreads they sell in kit form.

"Spreading fun" with a new business of the same name are Mary Himburg of Clarkston and Su Phardel of Ortonville.

They made their debut at Clarkston's Crafts and Cider festival with their kits for decorating children's bed spreads.

The kits can also be used for wall hangings or window hangings.

The brightly-colored soft-sculpture appliques are a culmination of their talents and ideas.

Mary and Su were friends in high school in St. Clair Shores.

They went to college, pursued careers—Mary as a French teacher and Su as an art teacher—got married and lost track of each other until Su moved to Ortonville about two years ago.

Mary had developed an interest in needlework and home decorating. Her seven-year-old son Robert's room was one she had especially enjoyed doing.

Su's artistic talents led her to a job as an interior designer for an architectural firm. She also sold her pottery and weavings at art fairs.

Having two daughters, Erica, 6, and Allison, 4, and a special interest in arts for children, Su readily accepted Mary's bed-spread ideas.

"Our original idea was to actually make the quilts and sell them retail, but the price of the finished product would have been very high—$75 to $100," Mary said.

"We thought that would have really narrowed our market and people seem to like kits," she said.

The kits are simple, basic shapes that can be sewn by hand or by machine.

"There's always something on the kit that the child can do," Su said, pointing out the clown applique that has a movable happy or sad mouth and eyebrows.

"When we had them up at the Clarkston fair, the parents couldn't tear the kids away—the children loved them," she said.

Other kits they sell include a "Cozy Cottage" with a door that opens and shuts and a hand puppet, a "Baby Pram" with wheels that turn and three stuffed animals in the carriage, and "Rob's Robot," designed to go on a sleeping bag with a movable helmet and ray gun.

They also make kits called

"Circus Tent," "Tree Swing," "Strawberry Sundae" and "Ice Cream Cone."

The kits' prices range from $13 to $20 and most include fabric and designs for large pillows to match the spreads.

They will fill orders for kits to match room color schemes.

"All they have to do is buy the spread, crib blanket or sleeping bag and the polyester stuffing," Mary said.

They are now at work seeking retail outlets for the kits and setting up a mail order business.

For information on available kits, write to Spreading Fun, PO Box 316, Clarkston or call Mary at 625-8164 or Su at 627-4688.

Betty Anderson enjoys busy life

Country Living

BY Kathy Greenfield
Staff writer

Betty Anderson thrives on keeping busy.

She works as a speech clinician for Clarkston Community Schools, enjoys a range of artistic pursuits, takes part in a variety of physical fitness activities and loves to travel.

After graduating from Western Michigan University six years ago, she moved to Independence Township because of her job.

Having been raised in Highland Park, she has found the rural atmosphere pleasing.

"Being from the city, I grew up with sidewalks and alleys and not a lot of grass," she said.

"What's nice about living here is there's room to run, room to ride your bike," she said, "and it's nice to look out the window and see a view of a lake and trees and not the house next door."

"I used to be able to touch the house next door from my bathroom window when I was growing up," she added.

Since moving to the township, she has continued her formal education and was awarded a master's degree from Eastern Michigan University last year.

The bulk of her job involves working with children, starting as young as 2½, who need to master communication skills, not just pronounce words correctly.

First comes learning to talk about things and later the goal of being precise is added.

"It's not just a child saying 'cat' instead of 'tat,' but he says, 'The cat had kittens,'" she explained. "It's the communication that's important."

Because communication is a skill needed to thrive in the adult world, as Betty sees children making progress, it's a good feeling.

"A parent will come in and say, 'He talked to his grandmother on the phone yesterday and she understood him,'" she said. "The child is just beaming, the parents are happy and the grandmother is happy."

Betty usually works as an art teacher in the summer for Clarkston SCAMP, a summer camp for children with handicaps.

"Teaching art in the summer is like a vacation for me," she said.

But for the first time, this year she traveled instead of continuing with her job.

"This summer was my big trip," she said. "I decided I needed a vacation, got my backpack and went to Europe and that was fun."

She started in England and went south as far as Greece. The highlight of her trip was an afternoon spent in the mountains of Italy visiting relatives. Her grandmother sent them a letter announcing her arrival.

"I practiced my communication skills, being that I don't speak any languages," she said. "(They) don't speak any English, so we did a lot of hugging and kissing and that was great."

Because of the difference in lifestyles, Betty's belief in physical fitness was re-emphasized.

"I think it's important for people to take care of themselves," she said. "When I was in Europe and you see the people there—they don't have cars and they don't have machines to do everything. They walk three miles to town and they're healthy."

One exercise she enjoys is jogging.

"When I started, I think I went two blocks and said, 'Nobody can run faster than that,'" she said. "Now I can go a mile and it feels good; it's nice to feel healthy."

Betty also enjoys cross country and downhill skiing, racquetball and swimming, and she is taking an aerobic dance class.

She takes one pottery class a year and uses pieces of her work to decorate the walls of the apartment she shares with another woman.

Her interest in crafts has been mostly self-taught, using magazine articles and books from the library.

Friends admired her Christmas crafts and convinced her to conduct classes. She now has 15 students learning to make apple head Santas and Mrs. Clauses, corn husk dolls and wreaths and ornaments from dough.

Another hobby she enjoys is collecting "things."

"I used to joke that my apartment was furnished in early Whoopee Bowl, until I realized it was too close to the truth," she said.

Aside from a serious collection (Continued on Page 25.)

Small rooms are her favorites to decorate, the bathrooms being no exception. In this room, she used graphics and her name to adorn the walls.

Several of the wall groupings in Betty's apartment include paintings by her mother and pottery she has made.

Small straw dolls like the one Betty holds are among the Christmas crafts she teaches in evening classes.

and independence

Country Living

tion of dolls, many of the collectibles in her home are "other people's junk," she said.

But the treasures that adorn the walls and corners of her apartment are arranged in eye-appealing fashion with an old child's wicker chair used as a plant stand and wall groupings that include intriguing artifacts.

For variety, she trades paintings with her mother who is an artist and has a friend who brings her goodies.

"I have a friend who's a garbage collector and he brings me the most marvelous things," she laughed.

Having friends who share her interests is an essential part of Betty's life, but being able to stand on her own is also part of her philosophy.

"If I think of important things, being independent is important to everyone, to me it's very important," she said.

"I think too many people rely too much on others and don't look to themselves first," she said. "I think you need help from your friends, but you need to be able to handle basic situations.

"There are too many men who don't know how to sew on a button and too many women who don't know how to change a tire."

Betty's enjoyment in collecting special things to decorate her apartment is reflected in this grouping of a drawing titled "Hear the ocean?", a conch shell found on the beach in Venice, Fla., and a small mirror.

Village of Clarkston
Minutes of Regular Meeting
Village Hall, 375 Depot, Clarkston
October 23, 1978

Meeting called to order by President Hallman at 7:30 p.m. followed by the pledge of allegiance to the flag.

Roll: Present—ApMadoc, Byers, Schultz, Thayer, Weber.
Absent—Basinger

Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

Police Chief Kimball and the council discussed traffic in the alley by the Clarkston Mills and Mill Street, and he reported that they would be hiring a parking enforcement officer soon.

Trustee Thayer will refer the sewer hook-up problem with the Rummins house on Robertson Ct. to Kieft Engineering to get their opinion as to the best possible solution to this.

A letter will be sent to Mr. Van Roekel of the Oakland County Road Commission stating that we are still interested in receiving their share of funds for the Depot-White Lake-Holcomb intersection improvement. The project will be postponed until spring due to time.

Trustee ApMadoc reported that the building dept. will be following through on the dangerous condition of some of the facades on the stores at the east side of S. Main.

Moved by Schultz, seconded by Byers to authorize Trustee
ApMadoc to attend the upcoming convention of the Michigan
Alliance of Small Communities at village expense. Roll: Ayes—ApMadoc, Byers, Schultz, Thayer, Weber. Nays—none. Motion carried.

Trustee ApMadoc met with the chairman of the planning commission and the board of appeals and discussed the idea of them forming a committee to review building department applications for permits before they act on them. Correspondence from the attorney suggested that this would be a good idea.

Moved by Schultz, seconded by ApMadoc to appoint a review board consisting of the chairman or his designee of the council, planning commission, and board of appeals to review permit applications within the village after they've been applied for at the township building department and make a recommendation on them. Motion carried unanimously.

Trustee ApMadoc stated that she would like to see consideration given to beginning the implementation of the Vilcan-
Leman plan for the business area in the village, particularly parking.

President Hallman reported that he had reviewed the motion that the council made at the last meeting, asking him to reconsider resigning his position as president. He felt that it would be best if he resigned and that other capable people are available to take over his duties.

Moved by ApMadoc, seconded by Schultz to accept with regret the resignation of Keith Hallman as Village President, to be effective October 24, 1978. Motion carried unanimously.

Moved by Schultz, seconded by Thayer to appoint Fontie ApMadoc as the new Village President, effective on October 24, 1978. Roll: Ayes—ApMadoc, Byers, Schultz, Thayer, Weber.
Nays—none. Motion carried.

Moved by Byers, seconded by Weber to authorize the President and Clerk to sign the agreement to approve the Sign Upgrading Contract with Oakland County. This project will be done at no cost to the village. Motion carried unanimously.

Correspondence from the township building dept. was read, stating that the gas station at Clarkston Rd. and M-15 did not obtain a permit from them for their temporary sign. Our attorney, John Steckling, indicated that temporary signs are not allowed under the terms of our zoning ordinance.

Moved by ApMadoc, seconded by Thayer to authorize the building dept. to institute proceedings against the gas station at the intersection of Clarkston Rd. and M-15 for violating Section No.
10.05 of Zoning Ordinance No. 72, no temporary sign being allowed.
Motion carried unanimously.

Moved by Byers, seconded by Schultz to reappoint Carol Balzarini of Reese Rd. as our representative on the Oakland County Cultural Commission. Motion carried unanimously.

Moved by Byers, seconded by Weber to adjourn at 9:00 p.m.
Motion carried unanimously.

Lurking around Clarkston Friday night and proving that adults, too, can have Halloween fun were [from left] Kris Goodwin of Morningstar Court, Pam Tweed of Bluegrass Drive and Rob Cook of Bloomfield Hills. The trio was part of a party of 25 people gathering goodies for a scavenger hunt held at Pam's. Among items requested were a cotton ball, a plastic flower, a raw egg and a blue birthday candle.

Concert at CHS

A Clarkston concert by the Luther College Concert Band scheduled for Nov. 15 is an event Grayce Warren, Clarkston High School vocal music director, is looking forward to in more ways than one.

For five of the summers Miss Warren has worked as assistant director at Northern Michigan University's summer music camp, the Luther band's director, Frederick A. Nylene, was the camp's director.

"I've seen him work with high school students and he is absolutely fantastic," she said. "He loves working with students."

The concert band from the Lutheran college located in Decorah, Iowa is internationally known.

In existence for 101 years, the 72-piece symphonic band has toured several European cities and 12 of the western United States recently.

The concert at the CHS auditorium at 8 p.m. will feature works by such classical artists as Strauss, von Weber, Handel, Sousa and Tchaikovsky.

Tickets for the concert are on sale now for $1.50 for students and $2 for adults. They will also be sold at the door. For more information, call CHS at 625-5841.

Here Now: NO- BOUNCE CHECKING

It's embarrassing for both of us when one of your checks doesn't clear because of insufficient funds.

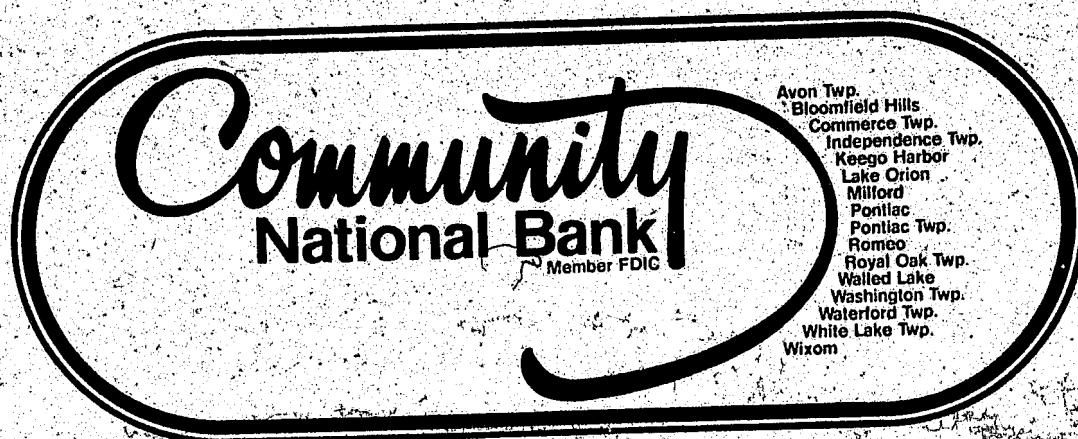

So, we are introducing Community National's "No-Bounce" checking system.

Its more formal name is Automatic Funds Transfer.

Here's how it works:

You maintain a savings account at any one of our 28 branches, and establish a Check 76 checking account as well. Fill out our "No-Bounce" checking form and we make sure there's never less than $76 for you to draw on. If a check for more than that amount comes through, we cover it out of your savings.

Simple? Convenient? Comfortable? Certainly.
Ask about "No-Bounce" checking.

Recipe File

By Lorna Bickerstaff

Mrs. Richard Smaltz of Stowe Trail, Independence Township, gave us her State Fair blue ribbon-winning recipe for German sweet chocolate cake. Pam said when she read last year in the Free Press that the German Chocolate cakes were so bad no ribbons were given out, that was when she decided to enter her cake. She said a State Fair cake does not have to be made from an original recipe and hers wasn't. The cake is her husband's favorite birthday cake.

German Sweet Chocolate Cake

1 pkg. (4 oz.) Baker's German's Sweet Chocolate

½ cup boiling water
2 cups sugar
1 cup butter or margarine
4 egg yolks
1 teaspoon vanilla
2¼ cups sifted all-purpose flour*
1 teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup buttermilk
4 egg whites, stiffly beaten
*Or use 2½ cups sifted cake flour

Melt chocolate in boiling water. Cool. Cream butter and sugar until fluffy. Add yolks one at a time, beating well after each. Blend in vanilla and chocolate. Sift flour with soda and salt; add alternately with buttermilk to chocolate mixture, beating after each addition until smooth. Fold in beaten whites. Pour into three 9-inch layer pans, lined on bottoms with paper. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 to 35 minutes. Cool. Frost tops only.

Coconut-Pecan Frosting

Combine 1 cup evaporated milk, 1 cup sugar, 3 slightly beaten egg yolks, ½ cup butter or margarine and 1 teaspoon vanilla. Cook and stir over medium heat until thickened, about 12 minutes. Add 1½ cups flaked coconut and 1 cup chopped pecans. Cool until thick enough to spread, beating occasionally. Makes 2½ cups.

When Mark Mitchell, 11, won his first contest, he did it with style.

Not only did he win a three-day, all-expense paid trip to Disney World in Florida for himself, but he was able to take three members of his family along as his guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Mitchell of Tremblant Trail, Independence Township, paid for the fifth member of their family so they could all take part in the vacation from Sept. 15 through 17.

The Pooh-Zoo contest was sponsored by Sears, Roebuck and Co. Mark's name was drawn from over 200,000 entries in the Detroit area.

"It was wonderful. They treated us like royalty," Mrs. Mitchell said.

A group of area supporters of the Easter Seal Society discoed the night away Saturday at the Spring Lake Country Club.

Clinton Valley Barracks No. 2803 of World War I and auxiliaries met last month for a pot luck lunch at Springfield Township Hall, Davisburg.

Several members sold apple blossoms Labor Day weekend to benefit the five Veterans Hospitals in Michigan. A donation for the Christmas party at the hospitals was also made by the group.

The auxiliary's secretary-treasurer Lucile Gries attended the national convention in Cleveland. She was presented a key to the city by the mayor.

A plaque made by Dr. Hazen Atkins was presented to the group by him and was hung next to the charter.

The next meeting is scheduled for Nov. 11 at the Springfield Township Hall.

Coping with kids

Troublesome teens

By Jim and Ellen Windell

How come there are no books that tell a parent what to do with a troublesome teenager?

That's a question that a good many parents ask. There are many books by child psychologists and other family life experts that discuss and give advice about raising and managing toddlers and young school children. There is Ginott's "Between Parent and Teenager," but that is for your basically normal, middle class teenager who is still capable of responding to a parent's change in technique.

When an adolescent has run away from home, broken into a store, been stealing money regularly from family members, or tends to defy in a belligerent manner most home and school rules, who can give a beleaguered mom or dad help?

The reason why there are not more books written offering suggestions and advice about how such a teenager can be dealt with successfully is that parental manipulation at that point will be in most cases too late. A teenager is close to adult physical size, is often asserting needs for independence, and problems may have existed or been building up for so long that the situation is actually beyond easy help.

It is relatively simple to understand the problems of a three-year-old or a fourth grader. Also, parents are still in control at that time and often some changes in the parental discipline style will bring about almost any necessary change. Things are not so easy with a drug-using teenager or an adolescent who is determined to run away and wreck any attempt at alliance with his or her parents.

When parents are advised to "keep the lines of communication open" or "start using a reward system," this can be fairly easily understood and carried out if a child is eight or 10. He probably will happily respond to that approach. Not so with a rebellious, six-foot 15-year-old or the 18-year-old who can leave home if there is too much pressure to change.

Dealing with teenagers is never simple and the only possible conclusion is that if child psychology books are to be consulted they should be read and followed (that is, pick one that you like and feel comfortable with and throw the rest away with a firm resolve never to buy another) when the child is an infant. If control is lost in the beginning, it cannot be regained when the child has reached nearly full maturity in the teenage years.

Two millage proposals in Independence

Fire

Independence Township voters will be asked to approve a 2-mill continuation of taxes for the fire department on the Nov. 7 ballot.

RE-ELECT ROSE

Democrat

Independence Township CLERK

Paid for by: Committee to elect Christopher Rose, 6767 Snowapple, Clarkston, Michigan

The present 2 mills of taxation, or $2 for each $1,000 of assessed property valuation, expire with this year's tax collection. In 1963, voters approved 1 mill for 15 years and in 1972, the second mill was approved for six years.

If approved, the 2-mill taxation would continue for a 10-year period, from 1979 through 1988.

The 2 mills are the sole source of the fire department's income. Fees for services like fire inspections or ordinance violations go to the township's general fund.

The present 2 mills are expected to provide $290,000 this year for running the fire department.

Police

A proposal to increase police protection funds is on the ballot for the Nov. 7 election in Independence Township.

Voters will be asked to decide whether the income for the department should be increased by a 1-mill tax levy.

The 10-year tax collection, if approved, will start in 1979 and continue through 1988.

The additional mill would double the police department's income for one year until the present 1-mill of taxation approved by voters in 1970, expires in 1980.

The present 1 mill is expected to produce $145,000 for the police department. At the present time, the budget is supplemented with $49,000 from federal revenue sharing funds received by the township and $15,000 from the general fund. Other sources of income for the department total approximately $34,000.

For supervisor: Floyd Tower (Democrat)

Floyd (Whitey) Tower, 47, of 177 N. Main, Clarkston, has been Independence Township supervisor for one two-year term.

Tower, who has lived in the area for over 35 years, is a Detroit Trade School graduate. After being elected supervisor, he took a course in local government accounting sponsored by Michigan State University.

A former Clarkston Village Council trustee, Tower was a member of the township planning commission for five years.

Tower is secretary-treasurer of the Oakland County Association of Township Supervisors and a member of the Oakland County Community Development Act (CDA) advisory board.

He is a member of American Legion Post No. 63, was chairman of the Girl Scouts' fund raiser this year and is organizational representative of Boy Scout Troop No. 49.

Tower has been a member of Clarkston United Methodist Church for 34 years, and has served on its building committee and board of trustees.

His statement:

"Taxes and inflation are the biggest item of township residents.

"We must continue to hold the line on spending, constantly monitor programs for cost effectiveness and address budget changes due to the loss of CETA personnel in the police department (30 percent), recreation department (50 percent) and the DPW (45 percent).

"Cash reserves: We'll have to evaluate the effect of tax limitation proposals and local surveys being conducted to get citizen input before spending, and we must maintain an emergency share.

"Growth: The planning board and zoning board of appeals, with zoning ordinance and master plan as tools, can provide orderly growth and preserve the natural amenities and beauty of our township."

For supervisor: Carolyn A. Place (Republican)

Carolyn A. Place, 43, of 5615 Chickadee Lane is an employee of Oxford Area Community Schools.

She was a member of the Independence Township Planning Commission for four years.

Her education includes a master's degree in special education from Wayne State University and a bachelor's degree from the State University of New York at Potsdam.

A trustee on the Clarkston School Board, she is also chairperson of Independence Bottles for Building, the Oakland County Recycling Center, and the Concerned Citizens for Mental Health.

This year she has been appointed to the Governor's Search Committee for a state mental health director and to the State Department of Social Services' Adult Community Placement Advisory Committee.

Her statement:

"Abraham Lincoln said, 'He has the right to criticize, who has the heart to help.' I'm willing to help because I feel the major issues in this election for supervisor are: lack of strong, creative leadership and inadequate professional planning.

"Although the title is supervisor the job is one of management. A strong manager gives direction but should have the skills to encourage the individuals involved (in this case, fellow board members, department heads, employees of the township) to put forth their best effort on the job and work cooperatively toward agreed upon goals. This is not happening under the present supervisor.

"Job descriptions and policies to ensure fair and responsive management and accountability are non-existent. No business could long operate under such conditions.

"Two major developments that we point with pride to today — Pine Knob and Deer Lake — came in when this township had the benefit of a full time planner and aggressive leadership. With still over 50 percent of this township undeveloped, we cannot afford to short change the citizens in the area of planning.

"We need either a full time planner or a full time competent planning firm. Errors made now in planning will affect our lives in the future.

"All growth and development must be well planned and of high quality with preservation of the character of the village and the township of the highest priority.

For treasurer:

Frederick Ritter (D)

Frederick P. Ritter, 29, of 6674 Dixie Highway has been an Independence Township trustee for four years.

Ritter also has served on the township planning commission for one year and the zoning board of appeals for three, two of those as its secretary.

His 12 years of retail experience include eight as a store manager.

His statement:

"I feel the treasurer's position is twofold: administrative and legislative. I will bring into office technical and administrative skills that I've acquired in 12 years of retail business experience.

"Having four years' experience as a township trustee, I can offer continuity on the board. I have the awareness and knowledge of the issues that are currently facing our township. I will maintain the high degree of integrity that now exists in the treasurer's office.

"Regarding issues: I support the police millage and the fire millage renewal. Until a recommendation is made by the police advisory board, I feel we should continue with the police services as they currently exist.

"Surplus funds should be used on capital expenditures only, not on operating costs.

"I'm concerned about the uncertainty of CETA funding. I will work toward maintaining the level of service that currently exists in the township with CETA.

"I will work toward the creation, implementation and enforcement of a private road ordinance to assure continued orderly growth in the township."

For treasurer:

Michael Applegate (R)

Michael Applegate, 33, of 6340 Middle Lake, Clarkston, has been a resident of the township for 23 years.

Applegate attended Northern Michigan University and Murray State University in Kentucky.

He served three years in the U.S. Army and worked seven years at Fisher Body Division. He was manager of the cocktail lounge at Howe's Lanes for five years.

Applegate has been an active supporter of SCAMP for three years.

His statement:

"My qualifications and reasons for running for treasurer of Independence Township are my concern for this area that we have called home for 23 years.

"I have handled over $1.25 million in the last five years. I have a reputation of being trustworthy and hard-working.

"Also, I believe I can be an asset to the township because I have had a good relationship with people of all ages and am able to relate and listen to all.

"With the surplus in the township now, I do not see why there is a necessity to spend it so quickly. I would advocate to retain the surplus funds until an in-depth study has been made for its utmost use that would benefit all residents.

"I would like to see a controlled township growth, with a country atmosphere that would benefit the entire community.

"I strongly support the need to increase the size of the fire department to handle the continuous growth of the township.

"I would like to see a program set up to curtail juvenile crime and its problems."

RITTER

Because experience counts

Fred Ritter has the experience it takes to be your Treasurer. He has four solid years experience as a Trustee. That experience shows that Fred Ritter knows how to make government work for the taxpayers, not the other way around. It shows that Ritter will work the long, hard hours necessary before making critical decisions. Those four years as your Trustee represent Fred Ritter's commitment to the place where you and he live. He hasn't shied away from the tough decisions of the last four years. He'll meet the future's problems head-on, too.

But that's not all you have to recommend Fred Ritter as the right choice, when you vote for Treasurer. Ritter has more than 12 years experience as a retail merchant, now supervising dozens of employees and managing a $2 million-a-year business operation. He knows about budgets and priorities in services.

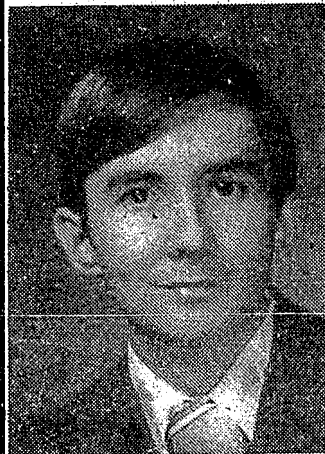

Experience in government. Experience in business. Experience and a genuine interest in people and the community. It's an unbeatable combination. Vote for Fred Ritter for Independence Twp. Treasurer.

She has been a commissioner on the Independence Township Building Authority for five years and was treasurer of the Independence Township Land Conservancy for two years, having been the latter's auditor for four years.

Her statement:

"Independence Township is entering a period of rapid growth and development. We must realize our community can grow and be a healthier and happier place to live, however, the issues must be explored and researched in order to render decisions that are in the best interest of the majority of the people and the community.

"The trustee is an active participant and an integral part of the Township Board. My education, experience in planning, environmental and health research, and business administration will enable me to have a professional input which will aid the board in decision making that best meets the local needs.

"As trustee, I will represent the total community. I will continue my community involvement and be aware of local problems and concerns. I will also encourage citizen involvement via public meetings, citizen special interest groups and citizen advisory committees.

Herron

(Democrat)

Ron Herron, 40, of 6315 Maybee Road is an electrician at Pontiac Motor Division.

He has been an Independence Township resident for 19 years.

His statement:

"I believe that we are paying much more than a fair percentage of our paychecks for taxes. I would like to see a more justified tax on income rather than property.

"I am in favor of using the tax surplus in the township for a community center for our youth, and reducing the tax surplus in the future by applying the extra mills to the reduction of the sewer debt; thereby reducing the taxes.

"I believe that the present township officials have done a good job in holding down the costs of government, but would like to now see them pass those reduced costs on to the public by a tax reduction wherever and whenever possible."

- destroy local control of public and private schools.
- create one state-wide school district, run by the legislature.
- lower the quality of education in a great many school districts, while increasing the cost.
- double your income tax.
- again try to circumvent the state constitution, and give a new push to creeping parochialism.

Here's what PROPOSAL J would do to Michigan

- result in increased costs for senior citizens, young home buyers and renters.
- cut in half local revenues for fire and police protection.
- it's a phony tax cut that benefits business and corporations.

Where to vote in Independence Township

Lozano (Republican)

Rudy D. Lozano, 35, of 5419 Tamarack Park Lane is co-owner of L.H.R. Evans and Associates, a Drayton Plains real estate firm.

A resident of Independence Township for two years, Lozano was chairman of the township's board of review this year.

He attended St. Michael School in Pontiac, Lawrence Institute of Technology, Oakland Community College and Oakland University.

Lozano served with the U.S. Army in military intelligence.

He is a member of the North Oakland County Board of Realtors, North Oakland County Builders Association, North Oakland Chamber of Commerce, Pontiac Elks Lodge No. 810 and the Clarkston Rotary Club, and he worked on the John Laffrey SCAMP benefit.

His statement:

"Additional funds: I wouldn't make any commitment for these funds until we had a good idea how the tax amendments would affect us if approved in November.

"Fire department: I'm a believer in a good fire department; I think they've done a fine job to date; and this is one area that we can't depend on someone else to handle.

"Police department: I'm not totally sold on expansion of the police department; it's tough to compete with the services that the county offers; plus the township doesn't have any long term liability, i.e., unemployment, contract negotiations, etc.

"Sewer: It's a real problem; the thing that has to be explored is a way of paying the bill without penalizing every resident in the township; a possible solution—the additional funds.

"Growth: I hear a lot of people concerned with the growth in the township. If we continue with the guidelines and zoning ordinances, we shouldn't have any problem—I think we can be proud of the Deer Lakes and Deer Woods."

Thayer (Republican)

Michael Thayer, 42, of 46 Orion Road, Clarkston, has been elected to the village council for three terms.

A 41-year resident of the township, he has been employed by Michigan Bell Telephone Co. for 21 years, working as a station installer, station repairman and PBX installer.

In the early 1950s, Thayer worked for the Village of Clarkston as a parttime street laborer, street superintendent and policeman.

He has been a township volunteer fireman for 21 years.

Thayer attended Eastern Michigan and Northern Michigan universities, is a charter member of the Clarkston Jaycees and a member of the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club.

His statement:

"I believe that planning and building of new developments must be well coordinated. New subdivisions should have paved streets with curbs or gutters, with storm drains, and sidewalks, along with community water and sewer systems. No more private roads.

"The 2-mill fire millage must be continued so they can maintain their excellent service. "I would work to straighten out the sewer fund and remove the unfair ad valorem tax.

"Police services need to be improved at the most reasonable cost.

"Other concerns would be to expand our library, study a community center, build bike paths and improve senior citizen services.

"As a village of Clarkston trustee, the experience gained would be helpful as a township trustee."

Vandermark (Republican)

William D. Vandermark, 37, of 6594 Cherrylawn is a member of the Independence Township Police Advisory Board, the Clarkston Jaycees and the Calvary Lutheran Church council.

A process engineer at Borg and Beck Corp., he is a journeyman tool and die maker.

Vandermark attended Oakland Community College, Manufacturing Trades School in Detroit and Wayne State University.

He has served as president of the Thendara Park Homeowners' Association.

His statement:

"The most important issue facing the township is proper management of our growth. Development costs money and will come, welcome or not. It will take money for water systems, streets, to solve traffic problems, sidewalks, sewers, street lights, proper drainage, etc.

"The burning question is: Who will pay these costs? The developers as they come in or the taxpayers later? Perhaps these problems will never be faced and we will settle for a second-class community.

"Any exceptions to such things as water systems, sewer extensions, sidewalks, drainage plans, proper roads, street lighting, etc. will be the taxpayers' burden. The fiasco that is taking place in Lake Oakland Woods is a good example.

"As a board member, I think I can provide good input on the needs and wishes of the citizens. I can provide good input on planning and financial responsibility."

maintain their excellent service. "I would work to straighten out the sewer fund and remove the unfair ad valorem tax.

"Police services need to be improved at the most reasonable cost.

"Other concerns would be to expand our library, study a community center, build bike paths and improve senior citizen services.

"As a village of Clarkston trustee, the experience gained would be helpful as a township trustee."

To the people of Independence Township:

The leading issue facing the township board over the next 5 to 20 years is the management of our growth. This will determine two things that will greatly affect all of us.

1. The character of the community that we will live in 5 to 20 years from now.

2. How much it will cost us to live here and provide government services to ourselves.

There is no question that development is expensive to us. It increases and compounds the demand for roads, sewers, water, police, fire protection, storm drainage, etc.

Some think that the tax base added by development will handle the costs and reduce our tax burden. This is not true. A quick look at the tax rates of all the communities in the county shows that the ones with the high population density have highest taxes and poorest services, and that the ones with low density have the lowest taxes and in most cases good services, low crime rates, etc.

The truth is that the cost of government service compounds as population density gets greater. Just one example is storm drainage. The developed communities in South Oakland County have spent millions of taxpayers' dollars on storm drains (eg. the 12 town drain). There was no pressing need for the drain until development took place.

It is obvious that we cannot prevent development, nor should we try. However, we should insist on quality low-density development, good high class commercial development, and clean light industrial development. In all cases developers should be prepared to pay for all of the costs that will be incurred as a result of their development. This means public paved streets, storm drainage, sewers, water, low density, etc.

The previous three township supervisors with all of their differences and imperfections have clearly understood this. The result is self-evident. The township now has some of the finest high-quality development in the state and at least until recently had the respect of the developers.

It has cost us thousands of dollars in legal fees and a good deal of controversy to achieve this. It has and will save us hundreds of thousands of tax dollars and in the long run millions. It has also preserved the character of the community. In addition it has enhanced the demand for property in the township which can only be of benefit to the developers themselves.

The current Twp. Supervisor has clearly taken us away from these policies. Private roads are permitted everywhere, with no set guidelines for storm drainage, sewers, water, maintenance, etc. Conditions laid down by the zoning board are forgotten (eg. Lake Oakland Woods.) For a savings of thousands of dollars to the developer, the planning dept. has been virtually eliminated as a regular function. Planning Commission vacancies remain for a year or more. The absentee rate is high.

Carolyn Place has consistently demonstrated an understanding of these problems and the ability to get things done. She provided substantial leadership during her term on the Planning Commission. She has been a leader in community affairs, Independence Center, Bottles for Building and School Board. It is for those reasons that she has my vote for Twp. Supervisor. If the growth of our township is not properly managed, the citizens will bear the burden of higher taxes and second class community. I urge you to vote for Carolyn Place for the Twp. Supervisor's office.

State Representative Trim Urges, 'Vote, but avoid the line-up if you can.'

State Representative
CLAUDE TRIM
60th District

There are 11 state proposals on your November 7 ballot. They deal with taxes, crime, transportation, the drinking age and other matters important to your welfare. They need clear thinking and the time to make a decision, and they will undoubtedly cause long line-ups at the polls. Therefore, I urge all those eligible, particularly those citizens who are physically handicapped or over the age of 60, to vote by absentee ballot.

The DEADLINE for receiving ABSENTEE BALLOTS is 2 P.M. NOVEMBER 4. However, absentee ballots can be completed in your municipal clerk's office until 2 p.m. November 6.

A skilled tradesman, he has been employed at Fisher Body Division in Pontiac for 18 years. He is a former chairman of the consumers protection committee for UAW Local 596 and a former member of the administrative board of Clarkston United Methodist Church.

Nelson is a member of the Northwest Oakland County Senior Citizens' Housing Advisory Committee and the Michigan Townships Association.

His statement:

"Transportation: We have a great need for transportation. The present Southeastern Michigan Transportation Advisory (SEMTA) plan does not provide transportation for all county residents, therefore is unacceptable. Unless a plan is adopted to provide transportation for all residents, I favor withdrawal of Oakland County from SEMTA.

"Tax relief: The county commission has an obligation to reduce the county budget, eliminate waste and unnecessary spending in order to give the intended tax relief under the recently adopted fixed allocation plan.

"Police protection: Ways must be found to contain the costs of contracted police protection to the townships.

"Senior citizens: The need for housing and support services for our area are tremendous.

"Regional government: Regional boards such as SEMCOG should be advisory only. Control should rest with the local government."

Richard R. Wilcox (Republican)

Wilcox, 981 Hummer Lake, Brandon Township, has served on the Oakland County Board of Commissioners for 14 years.

For four of those years, he was supervisor of Brandon Township.

A graduate of the University of Michigan, Wilcox is owner

"I would work with the other rural county commissioners to see that our area is not ignored by the urban commissioners.

"Also, with the many ballot questions this election, county government is at a crossroads. The possibility of a constitutional convention means that Oakland could find itself with a much different type of government.

"A government that could be more responsive than now because of transfers of independent boards to the control of the elected county commissioners."

"My nine years in public life (as township supervisor, state senate aide, newspaper editor and commissioner) have helped me to be an effective spokesman for my district.

"I am in the forefront of those forcing a 'hold the line' approach to county spending and led the effort to reduce the county's millage. I will continue those efforts.

"It is my belief that people are willing to pay tax dollars for necessary services—as long as these essential services are fairly and efficiently administered. It is the waste and excessive spending that taxpayers object to.

Holder of a master's degree in administration for the University of Michigan, Dunaskiss was honored as one of the "Top Ten Seniors" in 1973 and was selected for membership in the Micigama honor society.

Vice president of the Orion Oxford Optimists, Dunaskiss is a member of the Jaycees, the Eagles and the Knights of Columbus. He is chairperson of the Lake Orion Bandshell Committee and a past director of the Orion Republicans.

His statement:

"Have you ever wondered how to get in contact with your county commissioner, or what problems you would contact him about? As I have met with many of you going door-to-door and at various meetings, you have indicated that there is a dire need for two-way communication between your elected county official and you.

"As your county commissioner, one of my objectives will be to increase understanding of the responsibilities and issues facing your board of commissioners. To insure my availability to you, I will open a local office at my own expense.

"I want your input so that I can work for a road improvement plan and an ecologically sound, low-cost solid waste disposal system that will benefit all.

"Please call me at 693-1391 if you would like to discuss these issues, and any other concerns, or if you have any questions on the upcoming ballot proposals."

Incumbent trustee Glen J. Vermilye had some competition in the Democratic primary but is now running unopposed.

Other incumbents whose claims to office have not been challenged are Supervisor Collin W. Walls and Clerk J. Calvin Walters, both Republicans.

For district judge: Gerald McNally

Gerald E. McNally

Gerald E. McNally, 46, is completing his 10th year as judge of the 52nd District Court's second division.

An Independence Township resident, he teaches business law at Oakland College and has previously lectured in philosophy and law in the University of Detroit's evening classes.

McNally graduated from the University of Michigan Law School in 1963. He was employed as an attorney for the City of Dearborn and in the Oakland County prosecutor's office.

McNally sees the role of judge as that of a problem solver.

"Our society has become unbelievably complex in the last 25 years, and a complex society will give you complex problems," he said. "Since a judge is nothing but a problem solver, he must be capable of identifying the problem and arriving at an appropriate solution."

"A complex problem requires an equally complex solution—however, a solution with the least cost to our pocketbook and to our humanity."

McNally noted that "the old solutions of fines, prisons and welfare are no longer adequate to meet all of today's social problems."

"Obviously," he said, "we will always need prisons and welfare, but they should be the last alternative and not the first."

McNally said more people are taking their complaints to court in today's impersonal society because "the courts are really the only place you can go anymore."

Those who go to court can become frustrated, he noted.

"People want the certainty of math, but the law will not provide that certainty," he said. "It works in degrees and relationships."

After 10 years on the bench, McNally said he is "amazed at the inner resources people have to solve their own problems."

The judge in many cases is called upon to give some guidance and direction.

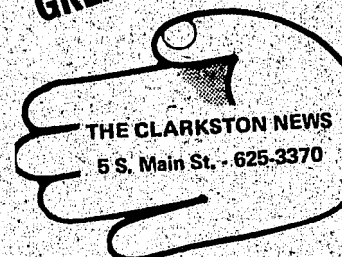

"If problems are solved from the outside, they're temporary solutions," he said.

McNally commented that a judge "is the only elected official who represents every citizen, rich and poor, privileged and underprivileged."

"His political base is the United States and Michigan constitutions and Supreme Court decisions," he said.

District Court Judge
52nd District Court - 2nd Div.
5871 Dixie Highway
Waterford, Michigan 48095

Dear Judge McNally:

This is just a quick note to wish you the utmost success in your bid for re-election. For almost ten years now you have worked long and hard serving the citizens of northwest Oakland County.

I am personally aware of the fact that you have put in many long hours and given up free time to perform the functions of your most important office. Your distinguished record as a jurist points out the fact that you share a common goal with me—that of reducing crime in Oakland County and keeping our highways safe for all citizens to travel and enjoy. You are a judge who has a reputation for working very closely with law enforcement and at the same time insuring the rights of all citizens.

Sincerely yours,

For district judge: Leonard Peres

Leonard A. Peres of Brandon Township is seeking election as judge of the 52nd District Court's second division.

He is a senior partner of the legal firm of Peres, Carr, Jacques, Batchik and Schmidt, which has offices in Waterford Township and Ortonville.

Peres received a bachelor's degree from Michigan State University in 1954 and his juris doctorate from Detroit College of Law in 1958.

He notes he would bring more than 20 years' experience as a trial lawyer with him to the bench.

Peres said if he is elected he would like to establish at least one other location for the 52nd District, second division judge to hold court.

The division includes the townships of Brandon, Independence, Groveland, Holly and Springfield.

"I do feel that everyone has constitutional rights, including police officers and victims—not just the defendants," he said.

Peres said he was concerned that the current location of the court, at 5871 Dixie Highway, Waterford Township, is responsible for the loss of considerable time by persons involved in court cases.

"I would like to set up a court in Holly so police officers could come in and take care of their business without going to Drayton Plains," he said. "Every time they do, they leave their area unprotected."

Peres, who referred specifically to the Holly Village Council chambers as a potential courtroom, said he could see another being established in Ortonville, with the district judge "riding a circuit" among the three.

"The way I feel, it's easier for one man to pack up his files and travel than to tie up the time of officers and witnesses," he said.

Peres has also suggested that police officers due in court be put on a one-hour standby notice so that they don't have to spend needless time in the courtroom.

"The Village of Holly has already paid officers something like 459 hours of overtime in court time this year," he said.

Leonard A. Peres

Polls open 7a.m. to 8p.m.

Statewide proposals in brief

PROPOSAL A: CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION

This proposal, required by the current State Constitution to appear on the ballot every 16 years, asks whether a constitutional convention should be called for the purpose of drafting a new State Constitution.

PROPOSAL B: RESTRICTED PAROLE

This proposal would require those convicted of certain serious or violent crimes to serve minimum sentences set by the court with no time off for good behavior. These crimes would include murder, armed robbery, rape, kidnapping, or any other serious felony where a citizen is injured or the potential for injury existed.

PROPOSAL C: INVESTMENT OF PUBLIC FUNDS

Adoption of this proposed constitutional amendment would allow state funds to be deposited not only in national or state banks, but also in credit unions and savings and loan associations.

PROPOSAL D: THE DRINKING AGE

This proposal asks the question of whether the minimum legal drinking age in Michigan should be raised from 18 to 21 years. Appearing on the ballot as the result of a petition drive, this measure would amend the State Constitution to prohibit anyone below the age of 21 from purchasing, possessing or consuming alcoholic beverages. It would also make it illegal for anyone to sell or give alcoholic beverages to anyone under 21.

PROPOSAL E: THE HEADLEE proposal

Resulting from a petition drive, the Headlee Tax Limitation Proposal would limit state taxation, and consequently state spending, to the current ratio of total state personal income—approximately 9.4 percent. It would further limit the taxing powers of local governments by requiring all new requests for taxes to be submitted for voter approval. In addition, the state would be required to back up any state-mandated programs with financial support.

PROPOSAL G: STATE POLICE BARGAINING

Proposal G would grant State Police troopers the right to bargain collectively. Any disputes not resolved within 30 days after collective bargaining begins, however, would require compulsory arbitration.

PROPOSAL H: School voucher plan

A citizen group petition drive placed this proposed constitutional amendment on the November ballot. Under this proposed school voucher plan, property taxes as a means of financing schools would be eliminated, thus requiring the state to replace all lost revenues by means of increases in the personal income tax and the Single Business tax. Parents would be given a voucher which could be used to pay for their children's enrollment at either a public, private or parochial school anywhere in the state.

PROPOSAL J: Tisch proposal

The Tisch constitutional amendment, patterned after California's Proposition 13, would cut property tax assessments in half (from 50 to 25 percent of true cash value), and would limit annual property tax increases to 2.5 percent. It would further authorize a one percent increase in the personal income tax and permit school districts to impose personal income taxes of one percent, with approval of the voters. State financial support of state-mandated new or expanded activities or expenditures would also be required.

PROPOSAL K: LIMITED BAIL

The Legislature initiated this proposed constitutional amendment. It would permit judges to deny bail to those "habitual and violent" criminals convicted of at least two violent felonies, and who are facing a third such charge, all within a period of 15 years. Judges could also refuse bail to those who are arrested for a violent crime while out on bail, probation or parole granted for an earlier arrest or conviction for a violent felony. In addition, those arrested for first-degree criminal sexual conduct, armed robbery or kidnapping for extortion, would fall into this category, unless a trial was not underway within 90 days of the bail denial.

PROPOSAL M: TRANSPORTATION FUNDING

This proposed constitutional amendment would establish a formula for allocating transportation funds on roads and mass transportation needs in Michigan. Under this formula, no less than 90 percent of all gas and weight taxes could go for road construction and improvements, while the remaining 10 percent could be spent on public transportation. The proposal would also make several administrative changes within the state transportation department.

PROPOSAL R: RAILROAD REDEVELOPMENT

Proposal R asks the voters to decide if low-interest loans should be made available for improving rail services in Michigan. It would amend the State Constitution by creating a Railroad Redevelopment Authority which could sell up to $175 million in bonds and make low-interest loans to railroads to be used to upgrade tracks and equipment.

Because of the importance of the tax limitation proposals on the ballot on November 7, I have decided to preempt this week's store ad with a position statement on the proposals. I offer this perspective as a concerned citizen, taxpayer & businessman.

I HAVE GONE ON RECORD IN STRONG SUPPORT OF TOTAL TAX LIMITATION, PROPOSAL E, ON THE NOVEMBER 7 ELECTION BALLOT. THIS PROPOSAL, OFTEN REFERRED TO AS THE "HEADLEE AMENDMENT" OFFERS A REASONABLE AND RESPONSIBLE APPROACH: IT CONTROLS TOTAL EXPENDITURES OF GOVERNMENT AT BOTH THE STATE AND LOCAL LEVELS.

THERE ARE 2 REASONS WHY I CANNOT SUPPORT THE TISCH (J) PROPOSAL OR VOUCHER (H) PROPOSAL AMENDMENTS:

First, analysts are now warning that APPROVAL OF EITHER THE H OR J PROPOSALS WOULD RESULT IN MAJOR TAX SHIFTS, which would lower the property tax but force higher taxes at the state level. And secondly, if Proposal H or J is successful, the single business tax would almost certainly be raised in order to replace local revenues.

As a taxpayer I know that a tax cut in one area that allows a shift for taxation in other areas is not the answer. And finally, as a concerned member of the business community I cringe at the thought of passing on a higher business tax to the consumer at the checkout counter.

Suffice it to say, the passage of Proposal H or J WILL NOT cure our taxation ills.

PROPOSAL E LIMITS EXPENDITURES OF PUBLIC FUNDS AT BOTH STATE AND LOCAL LEVELS, AND THEREFORE WOULD PREVENT MAJOR TAX SHIFTS.

MAJOR OPPOSITION TO TAX LIMITATION IS GROWING, ESPECIALLY FROM POWERFUL AND WELL-FINANCED SPECIAL INTEREST GROUPS. YOUR EFFORT CAN DO MUCH TO OVERCOME THIS OPPOSITION AND ACHIEVE VICTORY FOR WE THE TAXPAYERS ON NOVEMBER 7. I URGE YOUR YES VOTE ON PROPOSAL E & THE DEFEAT OF PROPOSAL H & J.
