

Schools face state aid cut

Preliminary enrollment tallies for Clarkston schools indicate an even greater loss of revenue than anticipated.

The head count, taken Sept. 5, indicated a drop of 142 more pupils than expected by school officials.

The preliminary figure is 6,622 and the enrollment was expected to be 6,765. Last year, 6,844 pupils were enrolled in Clarkston schools.

If that stands as it is now, we'll create another $233,000 loss in state aid and that is not built into our budget cutbacks," said Milford Mason, superintendent of schools.

The district has already made approximately $300,000 worth of cuts in the budget and is expecting to run with a $.5 million deficit, using money saved from previous years to balance the $13,056,135 budget for the 1980-81 school year.

"Our financial plan is in pretty good shape," said Mason. "We were going down the road and zap!"

If the official fourth Friday count was used to determine state aid reveals the same lower-than-expected number, more budget cuts will be made in October, he said.

The figures were released at the school board meeting Monday night.

"This is strictly a preliminary count. It could change before the fourth Friday," said Mel Vaara, assistant superintendent of schools.

Proponents of 3 tax proposals to debate

Voters can take advantage of a Tax Proposal Debate to be presented Thursday, Sept. 18, by the Independence Township Republican Club.

Representatives for the three tax proposals to appear on the November ballot are to participate in the debate.

Gerald Miller, state budget director, is to represent the Milliken Coalition Tax Reform Proposal; Richard Putney, executive director of the Michigan State Police Troopers Association, is to speak on the Smith-Bullard Proposal; and Dick Jacobs, who has previously appeared before the local Realtors Association, is to present the Tisch Tax Cut proposal.

The debate is to begin at 7:30 p.m. at the Clarkston High School Little Theatre. It is free.

Although sponsored by the Republican Club, there will be no political speeches allowed by any candidate for office and no fund raising, said a club spokesperson.

A question and answer period is to follow the debate portion of the program.

Ex-CHS football players files lawsuit

A 1979 Clarkston High School graduate has filed a $1 million law suit as a result of a knee injury he sustained as a football player two years ago.

Attorney Gary Veltman filed the suit on behalf of 19-year-old William Kratt in Oakland County Circuit Court Aug. 26. The suit charges the injury was the result of unsafe playing conditions on the Clarkston High School football field due to improper maintenance.

Named as defendants in the suit are CHS Principal Dominec Mauti, Maintenance Supervisor Cliff Kintz, Clarkston Community School's Superintendent Milford Mason and William Velasco, former CHS head football coach.

"I would decline to make a comment at this time," said Mason. "The matter is now in the hands of the lawyers."

Kratt also declined to comment on the suit.

The injury occurred in a pre-season scrimmage game in August 1978. Kratt injured his left knee while playing quarterback, an injury that required two operations and ended his athletic career, according to the suit.

The suit alleges the field's condition was beyond reasonable standards of safety and was responsible for the injury.

"We have a film of the incident," said Clarkston High School Athletic Director Paul Tungate.

The suit has been assigned to Oakland County Circuit Court Judge Steven Andrews. No hearing date has been set.

Sewer tax topic of township debate

By Marilyn Trumper

How much, if any sewer tax will be levied this year by Independence township is a question of great debate by the township board.

George Anderson, head of the department of public works, requested at the Sept. 2 meeting that 1 mill be levied this year to pay for sewer assessments.

Within seconds, William Vandermark, trustee, produced a letter from Oakland County verifying that Independence has $1.5 million in a surplus construction fund.

"I have a problem with levying 1 mill when we have all this money at the county," Vandermark said. "We're sitting on $1.5 million and I think this surplus in construction funds should replace the millage this year."

"That's not a surplus," countered Anderson. "That money has been calculated into the overall payment forecast and will be needed to make the payments in 1996 when the millage is no longer collected on the sewers."

"Our debt grows greater every year and to continue to make the plan work, we need to continue collecting the millage," he said.

In 1976, the township hired Robert Bendzinski, a municipal advisor from Detroit, to create a financial forecast leading to the year 2000.

The tax money to be collected yearly for the sewer fund was set at $210,000 or 2 mills, whichever was less.

A 1-mill levy would produce approximately $203,000, Anderson said, and while that wasn't the forecasted $210,000 it would be enough.

"People have been screaming ever since Tisch," said Trustee Rudy Lozano. "I'd rather pay $80 next year than $40 this year. People have been fighting for survival and I'm in favor of not levying the millage this year."

Treasurer Frederick Ritter was against using money from the county construction fund.

"Using that money and forgetting about the millage would be very remiss," Ritter said. "And not financially responsible."

"Using that money in 1996 was anticipated," he said. "We also knew the money was there in 1976 when we had our financial forecast. It's not some unexpected surplus."

Vandermark's motion to use money from the county construction fund to pay this year's sewer bill was defeated in a 3-3 vote.

Trustees William Vandermark, Rudy Lozano and Clerk Christopher Rose voted "yes," and Frederick Ritter, treasurer, Whitey Tower, supervisor, and Michael Thayer, trustee, voted "no." Trustee Jerry Powell was absent.

The board tabled any decision on the amount of millage to levy for this year's sewer tax until the next board meeting scheduled Sept. 16.

The $1.5 million does exist, said Donald W. Ringler, manager of Oakland County's Sewer, Water, Solid Waste Division, after the meeting.

"But upon the advice of our bond council, it has been their opinion that only if a municipality is completely unable to meet their debt to the county, then some of that construction fund could be used," he said.

In 1976 and 1977, Independence levied a 2-mill ad valorem tax. In 1978 the state equalized valuation reduced the millage to 1.46. Last year, the township's general fund had a $1,000 surplus transferred to the sewer fund, lowering resident's payments to .635 mills.

One mill is $1 for each $1,000 assessed property valuation.

The Independence Township Board is scheduled to meet at 7:30 p.m. at Independence Hall, 90 N. Main, Clarkston.

Independent view

You might say that things were really buzzing at the Springfield Township board meeting last week.

There may not have been too many township residents present at the meeting, but that ubiquitous summer pest, the mosquito, was there en masse.

As a result, board members and the audience alike found themselves swatting, shooing and scratching during the two-and-one-half hour meeting.

Who says it's easy to be a politician?

It didn't take very long.

A full week before the season-opening kickoff arched its way across the field Friday evening, two members of the Clarkston High School football team were victimized by injuries.

Junior Steve Nichols is out for the season with a broken leg suffered in a pre-season scrimmage in Flint, and senior Mike Ogans had to pose for the team picture sans full gear due to torn ligaments in his knee.

"Football is war," former Ohio State Coach Woody Hayes used to say.

And as everybody knows, war has its casualties.

No one seems quite sure what will happen if voters approve one or more of the three tax-cut proposals on the November ballot.

Clarkston schools Superintendent Milford Mason knows the consequences if all three pass, however.

"By the time the litigation is done, we will be in the next century," he predicts.

The three proposals that will appear on the ballot are the Tisch Amendment, the Smith-Bullard Tax Plan and the Executive-Legislative Tax Shift.

Oops.

A story in last week's sports pages listed an incorrect team as second place finisher in little league tournament held in Sterling Heights last month.

Volunteers sought

The Springfield Oaks Life Enrichment Center Program is looking for volunteers.

The program provides recreational, vocational and socializing activities for the mentally and physically handicapped, giving them the opportunity to work their way into the general community, said Marty Kope, director of human services for League Goodwill of Detroit.

"We don't just need people with a lot of experience — we need individuals who are just willing to help, too," said Kope.

Among the program's sponsors are League Goodwill and the Oakland County Community Health, Social Service and Parks and Recreation departments.

Persons interested in helping can contact Ann Clinton-Cirocco at the Springfield Oaks Activities center during regular business hours by calling 625-8133.

The activities center is located at Andersonville and Hall roads in Springfield Township.

Candidates file statements

Thousands spent in August primary election

By Marilyn Trumper

The figures are in. September 4th was the final deadline for filing post-primary campaign statements for all candidates and political interest groups active in the Aug. 5 primary election.

The single political interest group, Independence Residents for Responsible Government (IRRG), contributed an average of $796 toward the campaign of each of the seven candidates endorsed for office, with total expenditures in excess of $7,900.

Each individual candidate running for office is required by law to file a statement under his or her own committee name, listing all money contributed or spent during the campaign.

However, candidates are not required to name financial support spent on them by an outside interest group.

Each of the seven candidates endorsed by IRRG group were successful in the August election as top vote-getters and won positions on the November general election ballot.

Several of those candidates, James Smith, running for supervisor; Carol Balzarini, candidate for treasurer; and trustee candidates Dale Stuart and Daniel Travis, have filed shortened campaign statements which say their election committees did not receive or spend in excess of $500.

One candidate, Ralph Chambers (R), who ran for clerk's office and lost during the election, filed a detailed report listing expenditures of $1,437.69.

Larence Kozma, candidate for trustee, is among those endorsed by IRRG.

Kozma filed a detailed statement listing expenditures of $502.99, under his own committee name.

Christopher Rose, township clerk, running for re-election and endorsed by IRRG filed a detailed report listing expenditures of $312 under his own committee name.

Township Supervisor Whitey

Tower, running for re-election, on the Democratic ticket, filed a detailed statement listing total expenditures of $936.28.

Frederick Ritter (D), township treasurer, running for re-election filed a detailed statement listing total expenditures of $712.37, under his own committee name.

Tower and Ritter said the money was not used for campaigning in the August election, rather it will be used for campaigning in the November election.

As of Friday, Sept. 5, six of the 15 candidates who ran for office had failed to file a statement and are being fined $10 daily until the statement is submitted.

Those candidates include clerk candidate Karen Herron (D), and trustee candidates William Vandermark (R), Jerry E. Powell (R), Lynn Edward Mead, (R), Michael Thayer (R), and Guy Z. Derryberry (D).

All candidates slated for the November ballot will be required to file again by Dec. 4, listing all the money spent and contributed to their campaign between now and December.

Every candidate's statement is available for public review at the Oakland County Elections Office on the ground floor of the Oakland County Court House, 1200 N. Telegraph, Pontiac, between 8:30 a.m. and 5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Fire damages sauna

Fire destroyed the inside of a sauna built in a garage behind 104 N. Main, Clarkston, Saturday night. Oakland County Sheriff's Deputy Douglas Edgar spotted smoke coming out of the building at about 9:51 p.m. as he drove out of the driveway that leads to the police substation that sits behind Independence Township Hall. Damage to the outbuilding was contained inside the sauna because of its heavy insulation, said owner Anne Langs. "The kids had a sauna just before 7 and closed all dampers," said Langs, adding that the cause of the fire was "Just one of those question mark things." An estimate of the cost of replacing the burned cedar and insulation has not been made yet, but they are planning to rebuild the sauna, she said. Langs also praised the Independence Township Fire Department for its prompt action in putting out the fire.

Pothole relief

Drivers who use Cranberry Lake Road regularly can look for some relief from the potholes come November.

The Michigan Department of Transportation has awarded the job of resurfacing six-tenths of a mile of the Independence Township Road to Stolaruk Corp., Southfield.

The firm submitted the lowest of seven bids for the job that is to cost $21,638.

'80 taxes on upswing

Property owners in Independence Township will be hit with higher taxes in December, the result of several factors.

Voters recently approved additional millages for three projects: .3 mill to purchase 80 acres adjacent to the township's Clintonwood Park and part of a proposed 480 acre gravel mining operation, .5 mill for safety paths and 1 additional mill for the fire department.

In addition, the township board did not levy the general fund tax last year, opting to use a portion of surplus funds instead.

So this year, the tax is back, and 1.3122 mills will be collected for the general fund.

Other taxes paid by township property owners are the police millage (.9307 mill), additional fire millage (1.8614 mills) and the sewer millage which has not been set by the township board (last year, .635 mill was levied and the board is considering 1 mill this year).

Higher taxes will also result from property assessments in the township that increased on the average of 12 percent this year.

Each levy, except for the additional fire department 1 mill and the safety path .5 mill will be affected by the Headlee amendment rollback factor.

One mill equals $1 for each $1,000 of assessed property valuation.

Considering the Headlee rollback which reduces the millage in order to increase revenue only by the amount the consumer price index increases the millages should provide the following income, according to David Sherrill, township assessing department head:

- Fire department — 2.8614 mills, $611,842.

- Safety paths — .5 mill, $106,913. The millage was approved by voters in August and is to be levied for 10 years.

- General fund — 1.3122 mills, $280,582.

- Police — .9307 mill, $189,373.

- 80 acres — .2928 mill, $62,608. Because the millage was approved by voters in October 1979, it was affected by the Headlee rollback factor and reduced from .3 mills to the present amount. It is to be levied for five years.

The total millage to be levied in December for the township is now 5.8971 mills. The levies were set Sept. 2 by the township board.

It would increase by up to 1 additional mill when the decision on the sewer levy is made by the township board.

As it stands now, however, a homeowner with property assessed at $40,000 (or one-half market value) will pay township taxes of $235.88 for the present total of 5.8791 mills.

In addition, taxpayers can expect to pay 30.118 mills for Clarkston schools and 8.9 mills for Oakland County taxes.

For Independence department heads

10.5 percent salary boosts

Salaries of Independence Township department heads have increased by $2,625 over last year's figures, a boost of approximately 10.5 percent.

"In the past, department heads have received the same benefits as union employees," said Christopher Rose, township clerk. "This time there was a compromise. They will not receive a cost of living allowance, but they will receive the same union benefits, the life insurance policy and medical."

The township board delayed a decision on the salary hikes more than four months, pending the outcome of the township union employees' three-year contract that was ratified Aug. 15.

The board approved the department heads' raises at the Sept. 2 meeting. The agreement includes retroactive pay to April 1 when the old agreement expired.

The fire chief's new salary is $24,625. Salaries for heads of public works, parks and recreation, assessing and building are $23,625. The library director will be paid $22,125.

School crossing guard to take post Friday

The familiar bright orange stop sign of the school crossing guard should be visible at the intersection of M-15 and Middle Lake roads by Friday morning.

At Monday night's meeting, the Clarkston Village Council voted unanimously to hire Mary Ann Shiff, 7950 Perry Lake Rd., Independence Township, at the pay rate of $5 an hour.

Following training this week at the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, Shiff is expected to begin work at approximately 6:50 a.m. on Friday.

Shiff's hours are from 6:50 to 8:20 a.m. and 2:20 to 3:40 p.m., said Bruce Rogers, village clerk, but may change if the school district alters the elementary school's hours.

Targets: Clarkston schools at work to improve math, writing and meet 4 more goals

By Kathy Greenfield

Clarkston schools pupils' writing and mathematics skills are slated for improvement.

The two R's are at the top of the list of six target goals set by the district for the 1980-81 school year.

The move to improve the ability to demonstrate mathematics skills for Clarkston kids is a result of some concern by teachers and administrators that culminated in test results gathered early this year.

All Clarkston schools third and fourth graders—some 1,000 children—took the Metropolitan Achievement Test in February.

"We found the overwhelming amount of kids were at or above their ability," said William Potvin, director of planning and evaluation.

"We had a group of kids, particularly in the fifth grade, who were not doing as well as they could (in math)," he said. "We gave the test to find out how we were doing. We knew we had a problem. Now we're going to do something about it."

The "how tos" for making those improvements have been in the works since the test results came in, he said.

Areas of weakness in math skills have been identified and material in addition to what's in the textbooks will be introduced as needed.

Individuals will also receive more attention.

"All teachers said most of the information they got (from the test) confirmed what they knew. The surprises were kids who had more ability than they showed," Potvin said. "That helps teachers in knowing who can be pushed."

One other factor is being pursued to improve the test scores.

"Kids didn't finish, because it's a timed test," he said, adding that the only other test the children have taken is the Michigan Assessment test which is not timed.

So, the pupils can expect to experience more practice tests which are timed and then realize they have to try to finish, Potvin said.

In the area of improving writing skills, the basics are to be stressed—things like grammar, punctuation and paragraph structure.

"I worked all last year trying to find a measure to test children's writing skills," said Mel Vaara, assistant superintendent of schools. "We looked all over the United States and couldn't find one."

The idea is to "find out if we're doing what we're supposed to be," said Vaara.

So, students in grades seven through 12 can expect to face tests developed by the school system that will evaluate writing skills.

The additional target goals are: increasing communication with the public concerning the district's needs, a study of affective education, the design of a comprehensive community education program and establishing a system of identifying all student dropouts.

Although the study of affective education has not begun, plans are to form a rather large group of people to study the matter, said Milford Mason, superintendent of schools.

"Affective education surrounds the whole idea of self-concept of children," Mason said. "If they feel good about themselves, they obviously become better students and ultimately perform better in society."

The community awareness target goal places particular emphasis on informing the public about facility needs.

"We've got to resolve the problem in this community with school facilities," said Mason.

Voters defeated a $9.1 million building package, the bulk of which would have been used to construct a new junior high school, in June 1979.

Tentative discussion by the school board on converting Clarkston High School to a junior high school and constructing a new high school has taken place, but there have been no firm proposals to date.

The community education program expansion includes such possible areas as gifted and talented programs, summer school for K-12, remedial classes and offerings in the arts—dance, plays, art and crafts.

The sixth target goal concerns dropouts in grades nine through 12.

"It's particularly difficult when somebody says to you, 'You have too many kids dropping out,'" said Potvin. "We don't know for sure how many drop out and never do anything positive—night school, military service.

"Any time a kid quits school, you kind of count it as a failure. By not tabulating and not keeping an accurate account, you don't know.

"School just isn't for everyone," he added. "I don't think people are going to be appalled at the number who drop out and never do anything else."

One method to keep an accurate count will be to note on files when requests come in for records—an indication that students have returned to school.

Record keeping for dropouts is so complex that the state ceased trying, said Vaara.

The problem stems from the question: "Who really drops out?"

A student, for example, can drop out and return the next semester; or drop out and then move and attend school in another district, Vaara said.

"I don't think we have a dropout problem," he said. "But we're going to try to come up with some honest figures for the board and for the public."

At last count, the dropout rate for the three-year span between ninth and 12th grade was 5.6 to 6.1 percent, or 96 to 100 students if using a tally of 1,600 high school students.

Springfield appoints EDC board

'The EDC's primary purpose is to retain and attract jobs.'—Collin Walls, Springfield supervisor

By Al Zawacky

Springfield Township has taken the final step toward creating an Economic Development Corporation district by naming its nine-member board of directors.

The newly-formed Springfield EDC board will meet for the first time Sept. 16 at 8 p.m. at the Township Hall, said Springfield Township Supervisor Collin Walls.

Walls appointed eight of the nine Springfield Township residents at the township board's regular meeting last week, asking the township board to select one of its own members to fill the ninth vacancy.

The board responded by selecting Clerk J. Calvin Walters to the six-year term.

"What we wanted was a board fairly representative of the geographical spread of the township," Walls said. "That, and a good cross reference between people in industry, banking, business — and people who are just interested citizens."

Appointed to six-year terms were Harry Kirk of Big Lake Road, insurance agent; Ralph Tredway of Gibbs Road, design engineer for Chevrolet; Jack Watson of Clark Road, builder; and Walters.

Appointed to a five-year term was Pete Beale of Big Lake Road, commercial loan officer for Community National Bank.

RUBBER STAMPS & PADS, The Clarkston News, 5 S. Main, Clarkston. 625-3370!!!!Cp9-1f to a four-year term Mary Barker of Eaton Road, housewife; to a three-year term Gene Acey of Ormond Road, businessman; to a two-year term Kirk McLaughlin of Ellis Road, Pontiac Motor employee; and to a one-year term Helen Vergin of Scott Road, farmer.

There was considerable interest in serving on the EDC board by township residents, according to Walls.

"I had the experience of talking with, and having interest expressed by more people than I could appoint," he said.

State statute regarding the formation of an EDC board requires that no more than three be employees of the township and at least two appointees live in the vicinity of a potential EDC development, Walls added.

"Two likely developments would be the Davisburg Clinic and the Holly Green Industrial Park on Dixie Highway," he said.

Acting as a publicly-owned mortgage company, the EDC will provide low interest loans to businesses and developers in Springfield Township.

The township board voted unanimously to create an EDC district in Springfield Township last May, but could not take further action until the state recently approved its petition to form the district.

"It's a vehicle that creates a source of funding to township developers at low cost," Walls said of the EDC. "It's primary purpose is to retain and attract jobs."

"I think the EDC is going to be a definite asset to the township."

Letters to editor

Watch TV show on adult foster care group homes

Dear Editor:

I'm writing in regard to the proposed group foster care home for the mentally retarded on Timber Ridge Trail.

I don't know how many of your readers are aware of the process the state takes in locating these operations, but it definitely tries to eliminate all local input.

The state simply feels they can overstep any local concern. They don't follow zoning, and they believe they're exempt from local deed restrictions.

It's not that the neighbors of Timber Ridge oppose alternatives to institutions for the mentally retarded.

We feel they have the same rights as you and me. We also feel they must follow the same rules.

Our feeling is that an operation staffed on eight-hour shifts by workers and funded to the tune of $121,000 a year to care for five persons is not a residential use, which is called for by zoning.

It is also not a single family use which is called for in our deed restrictions.

So that your readers and members of our community can have a better understanding of the widespread problem this program is causing, I would like to suggest the viewing of the television show "Saturday Evening" on Sept. 13 at 7 p.m. on Channel 7.

It is a discussion on the pros and cons of the adult foster care group home program and it includes question and answers from the audience.

Respectfully yours,
William Craig

Fonda, Fitzgerald friends?

Dear Editor:

This letter is in response to Jim Fitzgerald's article in which he asked how Ronald Reagan could call the Vietnam War a "noble cause."

The purpose of our involvement in Vietnam was to help the South Vietnamese defend themselves against Communist aggression from the North Vietnamese and Vietcong.

That Fitzgerald, is a "noble cause."

Had Congress voted to supply the South with arms so they could continue defending themselves, South Vietnam would be free today.

Nor would we have had the "boat people" fleeing their country to escape the senseless killing by the barbaric North Vietnamese.

While it is true that American weapons killed civilians, you "conveniently forget" the fact that the North Vietnamese and Vietcong tortured and killed entire villages of people who were not on their side.

Mr. Fitzgerald, are you and Jane Fonda close friends?

I have to agree with you on one point. There was poor management of our role in Vietnam.

It was not until Richard Nixon took office that the war was managed properly.

His "Vietnamization" program was a success; training the South Vietnamese to fight for themselves, while reducing our troop involvement.

President Kennedy once said, "We will pay any price, bear any burden to stop Communist aggression against people who want to be free."

I suppose that you were against our actions in Cambodia and Laos also. The areas of these countries in which we bombed were inhabited by the North Vietnamese and used as staging areas for attacks against South Vietnamese and American troops, as well as South Vietnamese villages.

Yes Mr. Fitzgerald, I do intend to vote for Ronald Reagan.

We can thank President Carter for the hostages still held captive in Iran, and the fact that America is becoming a second rate power.

I won't go into detail about President Carter's poor domestic economic policy. Inflation and unemployment lines tell that story.

Sincerely
Dan Seale

Golden eyes

by Kathy Greenfield

The cat had golden eyes and a warm, friendly purr.

She had been wandering around our neighborhood for a week or so, several families were feeding it and no one knew where it came from.

One day, in chilly end-of-summer rain, my kids made her a resting place in an old blanket on the back porch.

They invited her inside later and her contented purr added warmth to our home.

She looked at our dog, a 13-year-old terrier aging not-so-gracefully, and seemed totally at ease.

We decided that what we needed was a cat.

Lots of activity ensued — my daughter made the rounds of neighbors, asking if they would mind if we took the cat — an allergy prevented one household from taking her, a jealous cat prevented another.

Don't Be Shy

Don't be so shy!

We like to hear from you! We need your ideas for feature stories. We need news tips for other stories, too. Drop us a line or give us a call, 625-3370, Clarkston News, 5 S. Main, Clarkston, MI 48016.

There were phone calls to the cat owners in our family and lots of advice on what to feed her, what kind of kitty litter to buy, how to tell her age.

We stocked up on the needed supplies, a neighbor cut a piece of screen to fit the top of a guinea pig's box and the cat moved in.

Everyone who knows my usual practice of ignoring cats was surprised.

"Kathy, I can't believe you have a cat," said my sister, for one.

"Don't be silly," I answered in my best older sister voice. "This is a neat cat."

We named her Felicia.

I had forgotten what name choices do to a family. My father-in-law, for one, hated it.

Our new cat found a spot, as cats will, that she loved. She spent nearly all her time in the window between the sill and the screen.

On Wednesday, my son called me at work and said, "Did you hear that?"

"Yes, what was it?"

"It was the cat purring."

Meanwhile, I had decided that such a neat cat had to be somebody else's pet, so I reluctantly placed an ad in The Clarkston News: "Found. Butterscotch and white kitten..."

On Thursday, the phone rang.

This sweet young girl said she had lost her cat a few weeks earlier. She and her dad came over later and picked it up.

I asked her the cat's name.

"We called her Butterscotch," she said.

I'm glad I wrote such an accurate description and I'm glad the cat with the golden eyes found its way home.

Sort of.

At 'The Zoo'

by Jim Sherman

They call the complex of buildings where Susan is housed at Central Michigan University "The Zoo."

It is aptly nicknamed.

But, it's explainable, even predictable.

The set of four, 8-story dorms apparently house freshmen, primarily. It stands out as the tallest building in town, and the entire town is visible from the buildings.

Of course, Mt. Pleasant isn't very big.

It takes two days to move a girl student into college. That's a fact based on experience. We had two CMU students working for us this summer who live in Lake Orion, Cindy and Connie Garland.

It took them two trips to "outfit" their rooms and clothe their bodies.

Same for Susan.

Others doubtless make it in one trip. They were the ones who had vans, motor homes, and U-Hauls.

I'm sure you picked the point we said girls need two trips. Our son went to college with a t-shirt and jeans. He wore them four years. Same set.

The only other thing he had was a stereo. Every college student has to have a stereo. Probably the same stereo every high school student has to have.

The goal is not to have one, but to have the largest speakers.

Boys stay in the room across the hall from Susan. (The tremble you feel is mother shuddering.) The noise emitted at one point during our rug laying session with Susan registered 7 points on the Richter scale.

One lad came in and apologized when her learned parents were on the floor.

But, back to the predictable 'zoo'

It's predictable through heritage.

Hazel and I 'dressed' to take our daughter to college. Just as we did the daughter and son before her. We were the only 'dressed' people on the entire campus.

Next best dressed was a guy who just got off the golf course. He had bright slacks and a shirt with an alligator on the pocket.

I swear the parents are competing with their children to look bad. Cut-offs and t-shirts for fathers, tube-tops and short shorts for mothers.

The wrong ones are housed in "The Zoo."

Teen keeps family orchard in shape

You've heard of Johnny Appleseed. Now, there's Roger Pacer

With the aid of a ladder, Roger picks some apples for market from one of the 50 trees in his 12-acre orchard at 10380 Gibbs Rd. in Springfield Township. Currently selling pick-your-own bartlett pears, MacIntosh apples will be ready for picking in about a week, he says.

By Al Zawacky

Some people might be a little surprised when they go apple picking at Pacer's Orchard this fall.

"Sometimes people will ask who takes care of the orchard, and they're a little surprised when I tell them it's me," says Roger Pacer.

Clad in blue jeans and a T-shirt, Roger doesn't look like your average business man.

The end result of his work is a veritable horn of plenty. The young entrepreneur estimates that his 12-acre orchard will produce about 1,000 bushels of apples this fall.

"We have MacIntosh, Red Delicious, Northern Spy, Jonathon and Golden Delicious," Roger says.

Although there's a good deal of work involved, Roger says he

A 15-year-old sophomore at Holly High School, Roger operates the orchard next to his Springfield Township home at 10380 Gibbs Rd. Maintenance of the business is his responsibility, although he occasionally gets a helping hand from his mom, Helen.

"My dad passed away seven and a half years ago, and he used to run the orchard as kind of a second income," Roger says.

After his dad died, operation of the business went to his older brothers, and finally to Roger last year.

"My brother's a veterinarian, and the money from the orchard helped him through high school and college," he says.

Spraying, pruning and mowing are some of his duties in the orchard, and it keeps him busy. In the fall during picking season, Roger schedules his enjoys working in the orchard. "It's kind of a hobby with me," he says.

And his interest in working with the soil ties in with his career goal, too.

"I'd like to own my own excavating company," Roger says. "I'd be doing things like digging basements, driveways, things like that."

"I like being my own boss. It's basically a matter of getting the equipment — I know some people in the business."

Naturally, apples are a regular item on the Pacer menu — to the point that even an apple grower can begin to sense an over-abundance of apples in his diet.

"When they really come in heavy," Roger says with a grin, "You sometimes get a little bit tired of them."

B'ham keeps Karras out

by Jim Fitzgerald

A lot of people can't figure out why Birmingham, by a 5-1 vote of the city Board of Commissioners, refused to allow Alex Karras to film a television movie there. Towns are usually eager to have visitors from Hollywood and to appear on prime-time TV.

Ordinarily, it's not that hard to understand Birmingham's motives. For instance, take low-income housing, please. Everybody knows why the majority of Birmingham voters regularly reject low-income housing. It's not because they're prejudiced against cheaply constructed homes, but because they realize that once a city allows low-income housing, the next thing you know, people with low incomes want to live in it.

It's easy to understand why Birmingham fears such an invasion. Low-income people are notorious for not having much money. When is the last time you saw a wealthy low-income person? The Birmingham economy depends largely on impulse buying in boutiques. So it's only natural that Birmingham is wary of residents who can't afford impulses. Too many low-income people in a town can cause unsightly piles of unsold impulses in alleys behind boutiques.

But movies aren't made by low-income people. The Alex Karras film has a $1.5 million budget and certainly some of that money will be spent on impulses. When an awful movie called "The Betsy" was filmed in Detroit a few years ago, the city fathers were so grateful they washed Laurence Olivier's feet. Many states, including Michigan, pay bureaucrats to persuade movie producers to bring their cash and glamor to town.

A visit from Hollywood is generally regarded as good publicity as well as good business. If the resulting movie shows the town in a bad light, wo what? All those movies revealing the seamy sides of Chicago and New York don't keep tourists away from those cities. On the contrary. If the Karras film revealed a dirty boutique window in Birmingham, TV viewers would travel there just to see where the squeegee failed.

So what is Birmingham afraid of? I suspect the city is afraid of being stereotyped. To understand what I mean, consider the case of American League baseball pitcher Ferguson Jenkins, who was recently arrested by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police on a drug charge.

When I read that Jenkins was nabbed by the Mounties, I immediately wondered what he was doing pitching on the frozen tundra, up to his number in snow, which is where the Mounties always get their man. In my mind I pictured Jenkins squirming on the tundra while Nelson Eddy and Jeanette MacDonald stood above him, singing up each other's nose.

My reaction is understandable for a middle-aged movie fan. I am a victim of a stereotype created by movies. I can't help believing that all Royal Canadian Mounted Police sleep in snowshoes. No matter what anyone says, I'll always believe Ferguson Jenkins wouldn't have been caught if his huskies had been properly mushed.

If the Alex Karras movie were made in Birmingham, the city could be stereotyped Mountie-style. The movie is called "Word of Honor" and will star Karl Malden. Everyone who watches TV knows Malden. He's the guy who constantly reprimands people for not carrying American Express Travelers Cheques for impulse buying. Naturally, TV viewers assume he lives where a lot of people don't have American Express Travelers Cheques.

Low-income people don't have any more travelers checks than they do money. If a movie revealed Malden as a Birmingham resident, Birmingham would become stereotyped as the city where Karl Malden finds all the dumb low-income people who don't know what to do because they don't have American Express Travelers Cheques.

Forever after, whenever people read or heard about Birmingham, they would visualize a city with unsightly piles of impulses behind its boutiques.

Birmingham commission members are wise in refusing to let Karl Malden give their city a low-income stereotype. Besides, Jeanette MacDonald could not only sing up Malden's nose, she could crawl inside and sit down while carrying a boutique squeegee.

Thursday, vandals threw a whiskey bottle through the front window of a home on Ellis Road, Independence Township, and fled in an automobile, police reports said.

Cost to replace the windows was not available.

Thursday, residents returning to their home on Weber Road, Independence Township, discovered the front door kicked in by thieves.

Several rooms of the home had been ransacked and thieves took over $600 in cash, a woman's watch, stereo, eight-track player and speakers, according to police reports.

Friday, thieves broke into a van parked in the Pine Knob Music Theatre lot and took a portable television valued at $300, according to police reports.

Friday, thieves stole an unlocked bicycle parked on Main Street, Clarkston.

The value of the stolen bike is estimated at $160, according to police reports.

Friday, thieves took a tractor from a shed located on Clintonville Road, Independence Township.

The value of the stolen tractor is estimated at $1,800, according to police reports.

Saturday, an unoccupied trailer on Detroit Road, Springfield Township, was broken into.

Thieves pried the trailer's rear door open with a screw driver, according to police reports, entered the trailer and took a typewriter with an estimated value of $312.

Saturday, a resident living on Parview Road, Independence Township, discovered thieves had stolen tires off his car and damaged the rear bumper.

Cost to repair the bumper is estimated at $250, according to police reports.

Saturday, residents living on Avalon Road, Independence Township, discovered their garage had been broken into and thieves took merchandise valued over $570, according to police reports.

Missing were a circular saw, drill, a brief case filled with tools to repair computers and two bicycles.

Saturday, a patron of Pine Knob's Music Theatre had a $6,000 vehicle stolen from the parking lot, according to police reports.

The pick-up truck was recovered the following day, reports said.

Sunday, thieves siphoned $15 worth of gasoline from a parked car in the driveway of a home on Algonquin Road, Independence Township.

According to police reports, the thieves also took a C.B. radio with an estimated value of $125, and a carton of cigarettes.

Sunday, thieves stole $8 worth of gasoline from a car parked in the driveway of a home on Cayuga Road, Independence Township, according to police reports.

Sunday thieves siphoned 12 gallons of gasoline from a car parked in the driveway of a home on Cayuga Road, Independence Township, took a C.B. radio valued at $140 and speakers, according to police reports.

Sunday, a Springfield Township man recovered his own stolen automobile parked in the lot of the I-75 rest stop in Springfield Township, according to police reports.

The above information was collected from Oakland County Sheriff's Department reports.

New anti-gravel group forms

A new organization is forming to block the establishment of a proposed 480-acre mining operation near the headwaters of the Clinton River in Independence Township.

The Clinton River Environment Workers (CREW) has several members of the former "Gravel Isn't Green" group active in the issue last fall, said Chairman Janet McCord.

"We want to fill the need for organized opposition to this project and meet the necessity for long term protection of the river. That's our primary goal," she said.

"We feel that public opinion is very important on this issue, and if it boils down to state action on the matter, our opinions will be even more important," McCord said.

The group has been working closely with State Sen. Kerry Kamer's office, the Department of Natural Resources and the Clinton River Watershed Council, she said.

"This is the best way we know of to keep the lines of communication flowing and to keep everyone involved updated.

"We want more people to join us. Over 3,000 voted in the last election for the .3 mills to purchase the land proposed for mining," she said. "We know more than 3,000 feel the same way we do."

CREW is against every aspect of the proposed operation, from the greenbelt to be left along side the river's edge, to the proposed lake which would be on the property after the mining is completed, she said.

CREW plans to offer an educational program on the issue, to submit any and all information discovered about the project to the Department of Natural Resources, Michigan Environmental Review Board and the township, and to closely follow all litigation proceedings, she said.

"We've become very single-minded about this," McCord said. "We're going to contact other communities to help. The headwaters affect everyone from here to Mt. Clements."

Voters shall consider paying 1/2 mill

Independence moves toward road maintenance

By Marilyn Trumper
The Independence Township Board has taken two new steps toward road maintenance.

While the first move is immediate, the second is a ballot proposal slated to come before voters in November.

With a unanimous vote on Sept. 2, the board created a new road maintenance fund and transferred approximately $3,000 in accumulated interest from invested federal revenue funds.

In the same vote, the board transferred into the new fund approximately $3,000 budgeted several years to purchase equipment for the township's now defunct police department.

"By budgeting the money in a new fund under road maintenance we're more free in the way we want to spend it than we would if we transferred it to dust control which is a specific way the money would be spent," said Christopher Rose, township clerk.

In the second step, the board unanimously approved a proposal for a 1/2-mill tax to be placed on the November ballot.

The new tax which would be collected for the first time next year, would generate a yearly sum of $102,000 into the township.

A homeowner with property assessed at $40,000 (or one-half the market value) pays $20 for each 1/2 mill tax levy, because 1/2 mill is 50 cents for each $1,000 of assessed property valuation.

After the meeting, Rose said federal revenue sharing funds currently pay for the cost of maior road projects in the township.

"Congress is talking about continuing revenue sharing, but so far have not done anything about it," he said. "If this millage passes, there will be more money available than there has been in the past to make more repairs and pay for paving projects as they come up."

Last year Independence received $40,000 for road projects from federal revenue sharing and $15,000 for dust control, he said.

"While we have not spent the entire $40,000 there is not enough left to pay for any kind of major road repair work," he said.

Currently the township pays for approximately one-third of major road work, Oakland County pays one-third and the Oakland County Board of Commissioners pays the remaining third.

The new road fund would be separate from all other funds like fire and sewer, he said, and would pay for road improvements, paving, repair of potholes, dust control and the cost would hopefully be shared with Oakland County.

"Right now the county takes care of maintenance, but with major repairs we have to bear half or one-third of the cost," Rose said.

Fire department ready to hire

Within the week, Independence Township Fire Chief Frank Ronk expects to begin hiring procedures to fill two vacant positions in the department.

In August, Ronk was two men short of the needed staff to run all three of the township's fire stations on a 24-hour basis and consequently closed the station on the corner of Sashabaw and Clarkston-Orion roads.

In July, the township board had suspended all hiring in the department because of fund shortages, and any new hiring hinged upon passage of a 1 mill tax increase on the Aug. 5 ballot.

Voters approved the additional tax.

At the Sept. 2 meeting the Independence Township board gave Ronk the go-ahead to begin hiring.

"I expect it will be four to six weeks at the earliest before the department opens the third station," he said. "First we have to contact the applicants, set up the testing, do the testing and have a two week break-in period."

"In the past we've always hired from within the ranks," he said. "Now we're moving outside the township for equal opportunity employment and we're accepting applications from the people at large."

Currently Ronk has 15 applications on file from as far east as St. Clair Shores and as far north as Howell.

"They'll all be contacted to see if they're still interested in the job. If so, they will be tested on physical agility and will have an oral and written exam. They will also receive some points for past service in the volunteer ranks," he said.

First year firefighters receive a starting salary of $13,176, Ronk said, plus medical benefits, a life insurance policy and a $50 quarterly cost of living allowance.

Obituary

George C. Barnier

Memorial service for George C. Barnier of Independence Township was held Sept. 8 at St. Mark's Lutheran Church, Union Lake.

The Rev. William C. Grafe officiated. Burial followed at Lakeview Cemetery, Independence Township.

Barnier, 53, died Sept. 4. He was chief executive engineer of advanced engineering at General Motors Technical Center and a GM employee for 28 years.

A captain on the Oakland County Sheriff's Department Mounted Division, Barnier was also a member of the Independence Township police reserve unit.

He was a member of the Good Shepherd Lutheran Church, Lake Orion.

He is survived by his wife Marjorie; children, Marjorie Wojcik of Detroit and Thomas, Robert and Richard of Independence Township; and brother, Glen Thomas Barnier of Livonia.

The family suggests memorials to the building fund of the Good Shepherd Lutheran Church or the Beth Grafe Recovery Fund at St. Mark's Lutheran Church.

Funeral arrangements were made by Goyette Funeral Home, Clarkston.

How's that for openers? 43-0

Hughes scores 3 TDs as Wolves trounce visiting Swartz Creek

By Al Zawacky

It was an often-asked question in the local taverns and restaurants Friday night.

Earlier, they were asking it in the stands, in the press box and at the concessions.

Are the Wolves for real?

It was the first game of the season at the Clarkston High School football field Friday, and the late arrivals may never forgive themselves.

There were still people standing in line to buy tickets when Clarkston quarterback Brad Sheldon hit teammate Kevin Krause with a pass that put the Wolves in front, 6-0.

They were just getting settled in their seats when Karl Fritzinger dashed 36 yards for the second Clarkston TD and a 12-0 lead. And when the final seconds of the fourth quarter passed into history, the scoreboard read Clarkston 43, the Dragons of Swartz Creek 0.

"I don't think Swartz Creek was a bad football team," said Clarkston head coach Walt Wyniemko, reflecting on the Wolves' biggest gridiron win in three seasons.

"We just got on the board real quick and they got down."

Understandably, there was a lot of wild revelry going on in the happy Clarkston locker room, but Wyniemko's face was etched with concern for one of his players — junior Eric Beamer, who left the field on a stretcher with a neck injury late in the game.

Beamer was taken to Pontiac General Hospital and released shortly after midnight when his injury was determined not to be serious.

"Any time you win, you're happy," Wyniemko observed, managing a smile. "The important thing is that we come back to earth tomorrow, look at what we did and evaluate it."

"We've got to look at the positive things and look at the negative things. The only way to be a better football team is to correct those negative things."

By scoring 24 points in the first half, the Wolves exceeded their highest four-quarter production in all of 1979. After Sheldon and Krause combined for the 54-yard passing play that netted the first Clarkston TD and Fritzinger ran for the second, senior running back Mark Hughes launched his campaign for game star.

Hughes ran 75 yards into the Swartz Creek end zone for Clarkston's third first quarter touchdown, then followed that with a 2-yard TD dive in the second quarter and a 6-yard run good for six points in the third.

Rounding out the Wolves' scoring in the final stanza were Tim Brennan with a 50-yard scoring run and Don Mack, who plunged one yard for Clarkston's seventh and final tally.

Statistically, the Wolves totaled 383 yards rushing, with Brennan leading the way with 121. Sheldon was two-for-five through the air for 72 yards and one TD.

Ron Feneley, Steve Alexander, Greg Thomas and Adam Kline picked off interceptions for Clarkston, while Al Nielson and Bruce Buriwitz recovered Swartz Creek fumbles.

In contrast to the home team's offensive outburst, the Wolves' defense limited Swartz Creek to 120 total yards, 81 on the ground and 39 through the air.

Dragon Coach Mike Weigandt, fresh from a post-game talk to a rather depressed Swartz Creek football team, cited a lack of experience as the chief cause of his team's demise.

"I've got 55 kids, and 45 of them have never played football before," Weigandt said as his players boarded the team buses. "Not having a JV program these past two years has really hurt."

"You could see that we were moving the football tonight, but then we'd made a mistake that an experienced team wouldn't make."

Speaking of Clarkston, Weigandt was reserved in his praise.

"They're a good football team, but certainly not a great one," he said. "If they can correct some of their errors, they'll be real good and pretty tough to beat."

When confronted with the "Are the Wolves for real?" question, Wyniemko pursed his lips and pondered for a moment.

"You've got to put things in perspective," he said. "This was one game out of nine (the nine-game season)."

"We're all real pleased with the victory, but we've got a lot of things to work on. We've got to get better."

Starting quarterback Brad Sheldon [22] didn't waste any time penetrating the Swartz Creek secondary Friday night, hitting teammate Kevin Krause with a touchdown pass in the opening minutes.

JVs also victorious

Clarkston High School's junior varsity football team is picking up in 1980 right where it left off in 1979.

Coach Gordie Richardson's Wolves limited Swartz Creek to just 85 yards total offense while racking up 255 yards of their own to post a season-opening 20-6 victory.

Mike Clem scored the first Clarkston TD on a 2-yard run, but Swartz Creek came back with a Dragon six-pointer to pull within one, 7-6.

Clarkston claimed a 13-6 halftime lead however, when quarterback Kevin Brown combined with teammate Richie Schrader on a 63-yard passing play that netted the second Wolves' touchdown.

Brown did an encore in the second half, teaming up this time with Scott Temple for a 52-yard play through the air that finalized the score at 20-6.

The non-league victory stretched the Wolves winning string over two seasons to nine games, including 18 wins in their last 19 contests.

The Wolves' ground game didn't encounter much resistance from the Swartz Creek defense—in fact in this case, the Clarkston ball carrier's biggest obstacle was hurdling his own teammate.

Odds

are...

CLARKSTON at CLINTONDALE (Sept. 12): This contest raises two prominent questions: One, can the Wolves win on the road? And two, where is Clintondale, anyway?

Question two can be answered by your local travel bureau. The answer to question one is a simple "yes".

If it seems like awhile since Clarkston won a game away from home, there's nothing wrong with your perception of time. It has been a while—two years, to be exact.

A lot of that is probably just a coincidence, but coincidences have a way of becoming trends and trends can become hard-to-break jinxes.

And Clintondale is not going to be a soft-touch for the Wolves. Forget their 4-5 record last season—the Dragons have a new head coach in Bill Apisa, a solid quarterback in Tom Cannon, a dangerously quick back in Adam Mial and a seasoned defense.

Regardless of where the game is played, the field is 120 yards long, the ball is brown and the turf is green—and the home team plays with an advantage. It's hard to explain why, but the stats will bear that out.

So... can the Wolves win on the road? Of course. Expect the jinx to end right here. CLARKSTON by THREE.

The Point After

by Al Zawacky

Cagers going from rags to riches

Clarkston varsity basketball coach Dave McDonald stared out into the empty gymnasium, nodding thoughtfully.

"The girls worked hard all season and never gave up," the coach said proudly. "We all feel bad about our record, but it wasn't a result of a lack of effort. We've got talent—it's just a matter of gaining the experience."

McDonald spoke those words at the end of last season's 3-16 campaign.

What a difference a year makes.

TODAY, THERE IS a veritable volcano spewing optimism in the Wolves' camp. The players are eager, McDonald is smiling, and even the most casual observer can detect the air of enthusiasm at one of the team's practices.

"We're going to be decent," McDonald said, looking relaxed and satisfied as his players practiced their free throws out on the court.

"We're going to be in the thick of it (The Greater Oakland Activities League title race), and I think we're going to be fun to watch. We have a good pool of players here."

The outlook for the girls' basketball program hasn't always been that rosy.

A teacher at Clarkston Junior High, McDonald took over the team's coaching reins last season, bringing with him experience gained as coach of the CHS boys' team for several years.

The program was down, some key seniors didn't come out for the team and league competition was murder—factors that combined to form a season that McDonald would just as soon forget.

This year's squad should help him do just that.

"We could play our first game tonight—right now, we'd be ready," McDonald said, citing his team's preparedness and prowess in their offensive and defensive patterns.

"The practices are so much better than last year, because there's better competition."

He recalled an incident the other day in which one of his players accidentally gave a hefty elbow in the stomach to a teammate during an intrasquad scrimmage.

"They were both able to laugh at it," McDonald said. "Here all these girls are fighting for jobs, yet they're still able to laugh and enjoy the game."

"That's what I really like to see—good, hard, clean competition."

Last year's chief malady—an acute lack of experience that forced the varsity to raid the JV roster—isn't going to be a problem this year with returning players Jane Acton, Tracee Antos, Lisa Forsyth, Lynn McCormick, Michele Ulasich and Lynette Whitehead.

Forsyth, Antos, McCormick and Whitehead were the Wolves' four leading scorers last season. McCormick was named to the all-league second team and Forsyth received an all-league honorable mention.

That's a sample of the type of firepower Clarkston will have this season—and the good news doesn't end there.

"We'll only be losing three girls next year," McDonald said, looking ahead to 1981.

He smiled in anticipation. Girls' basketball at Clarkston High School is on the move.

Turnout up for Clarkston cross country

By Al Zawacky

While most of us were lounging at pool side or seeking shelter in air-conditioned homes during the recent late-summer heat, a group of Clarkston High School students were out running a quick six miles or so.

The dutiful runners, a group of 13 boys and 10 girls, are members of the 1980 CHS cross country team. Improving their school's recent ill-fortune in the sport is the harriers' gal this season.

"People say you have to be a little crazy to run cross country and go out on a hot day and run six or seven miles," says Mike Kaul, CHS cross country coach.

"It takes an incredible amount of endurance. I can't think of any other sport where you can't let up for a second, but have to keep putting out."

Team captains this year are seniors Scott Ferguson, Mark Reene and Ed McInnis; and juniors Chris O'Rourke and Mary Ann Frericks.

The Wolves will also benefit from the services of seniors Sharon Ketvirtis and Lisa Demaree; juniors Steve Coleman, Jim Locher, John McInnis, Kim Hughes and Angela Balzarini; and sophomores Robin Ronquillo, Amber Shanahan, Sheri Rowland, Amy Bruce, Bill Weeks, Marc Hewko, Alan Wall, Paul Burch and Andy Balzarini.

Last season, Kaul's first as coach, the boys' team won just two meets while the girls' came up empty-handed in the win column.

"Last year things were a little disorganized," Kaul says. "It was my first year as coach, and we didn't have much of a turnout."

"We're gratified to see our numbers up this year, particularly with the girls. Hopefully with more people coming out, we can improve and keep building our program."

Clarkston's league — the Greater Oakland Activities League — isn't the easiest league to compete in, not Kaul.

"The GOAL is really tough, especially in girls' cross country," he says, pointing out that GOAL members Milford and Rochester took first and second in all of Oakland County last season.

"We have more numbers with the girls, but not a great deal of experience," says Kaul. "Only two of our 10 girls ran cross country last year — but several of them did go out for track this past spring."

"The boys should be improved. We've got just about everybody back — four of our top five runners — so the experience is there."

The CHS boys' cross country squad will be anchored by these five returners: [from left] John McInnis, Mark Reene, Scott Ferguson, Steve Coleman and Ed McInnis.

Fourth quarter decisive

Wolverines grind out win over Sashabaw

By Al Zawacky

Clarkston Junior High Football Coach John Craven looked like a very relieved man Thursday night.

With a considerable advantage in size and weight, Craven's Wolverines were expected to roll to an easy victory over cross-town rival Sashabaw Junior High in the season-opener for both clubs.

But a parade of penalties and turnovers—and an impressive performance by a stubborn Sashabaw defense—kept Clarkston out of the end zone until the final quarter.

"It wasn't a very good game to watch," Craven said after his gridders posted a hard-fought 20-0 victory. We'd carry twice and fumble, they couldn't move, we'd get it back and take a penalty—it looked like a typical first game of junior high football."

The two teams battled through three scoreless quarters before the Wolverines broke the game open with three TDs in the final stanza.

"I thought our first string defense played an outstanding game," said SJH Coach Cris Krueger. "I can't single anybody out—they all played super."

"Overall, I had to be very proud of our kids and the way they played. I think we surprised some people."

Craven may not have been surprised by the Cougars' tenacity, but was generous in his praise of the opposition.

"Hey, they (SJH) played a heck of a football game," Craven said. "They played good ball and certainly gave us all we could handle."

"I told our kids at the half that we can't just go out there and expect them to fall down."

Clarkston broke the scoring drought in the fourth quarter when running back Rob Mortimer found daylight in the Sashabaw defense and charged 20 yards for the touchdown.

Quarterback Bill Hudler scored the two-point conversion on a keeper to make the score 8-0 Wolverines.

"That was our dive play," Craven said of Mortimer's TD run. "We kept pounding away at it, figuring it had to break sooner or later—and we finally got it to work at the 20."

With time running out, Sashabaw took to the air, penetrated into Clarkston territory and appeared to be on the threshold of tying it up.

But the Cougars saw their hopes evaporate when CJH's Lee Boyd intercepted a pass at his own 6-yard line and returned it 94 yards for the Wolverines' second tally of the night.

Tim Parks scored the final Clarkston TD on a 4-yard run after teammate Larry Thelmas set up the play with a 14-yard gainer.

Wolverines Jeff Dufour [21] has a first down on his mind but three Sashabaw defenders have other ideas in a first-half play in last week's cross-district freshman football clash.

Coach Chris Krueger makes a point to one of his Cougar gridgers during halftime. When the contest ended, Sashabaw had suffered its third shutout defeat in as many games with the Wolverines.

Kari [left] and Kelley Boatright of Brandon Township discuss paint colors for the mural at Calvary Lutheran Church. Kelley assisted Kari in the project. They met through their summer job at Pine Knob Music Theatre where Kari was Kelley's crew leader on the maintenance staff.

Kari gets ready to paint the faces of the crowd that represent Jesus and all the people of the world in the church mural.

From rock music to murals, she shares her talents

By Kathy Greenfield
There are two distinct sides to Kari Peterson's personality.

On one hand, she is the lead singer and rhythm guitar player for a rock band.

"I like the energy of it, I guess," she says. "It's fun."

On the other hand, she paints murals.

"I like to just totally get into it and forget everything else," she says. "It's relaxing for me."

Kari's latest endeavor in mural painting was underway recently at Calvary Lutheran Church on Bluegrass Drive, Independence Township.

The design was taken from a pen and ink drawing in "Good News for Modern Men," a form of the New Testament.

"It's my gift to the church," said Kari. "It represents Jesus and all the people of the world."

Kari's interests in music and art were combined in several of her other works that adorn Clarkston High School and Clarkston Junior High.

Now 18 and heading for Michigan State University late this month to begin her freshman year, Kari is leaving behind murals of the Beatles and rock star Bob Seger on lockers at CHS and a picture of Pegasus, the emblem of the Steve Miller Band, in the CJHS cafeteria.

She also painted lettering that says "Clarkston Wolves" over the CHS commons area and a geometric design, and a serpent on the walls at CJHS.

"Usually I'm pretty happy,"

Kari says about her murals. "Sometimes I come back and work on it a little bit more, but it's real satisfaction."

Kari's rock band was started the same year her mural painting began, when she was a 10th grader at CHS.

"It started out as a joke," she says. "We needed more acts for the 'Gong Show' and my adviser said, 'Why don't you do something?'"

She was the president of her class and a member of student government, sponsor of the show.

Kari's brother Eric and his friend Bill Mosher joined her and they formed the singing group — Prez and the Dents.

"So we wrote a song, 'Your Mother Wears Army Boots' — it was kind of a spoof on Punk Rock, and we won third prize," she remembers.

The three decided to stay together as a band. They performed at school variety shows, a church dance, parties and graduation open houses.

A few months ago, they added a lead guitar player, Dave Gilewski, a junior at Waterford Township High School, and changed the group's name to Tokatta.

Kari's brother, who is a sophomore at CHS, helped her with all the murals except the one she's now painting for the church.

She expected to complete the painting at the church after working about eight hours on the project.

Kari has immediate plans for one more mural. Told she could not paint on the wall of her room in college, she decided to paint a mural on canvas to hang.

It has an appropriate theme for a woman who is leaving part of herself behind in her works of art.

"I'm going to put in some of the things that remind me of Clarkston — one part of Main Street with the old houses and something to do with the Clarkston Wolves," says Kari.

Clintonwood Park was the scene of the state championship softball tournaments last Saturday and Sunday, and three local teams competed—Deer Lake Inn, Crest Homes and Clarkston Fuel Pumpers. Here, Russ Reekwald of the Fuel Pumpers takes a cut during a game played on Saturday.

Clintonwood hosts state tourney; Deer Lake takes 2nd

Of three local teams participating in the state championship softball tournaments held at Clintonwood Park last weekend, Deer Lake Inn proved to be the most successful.

Competing in the women's class C tournament, Deer Lake finished second behind state champs Mill Inn of Muskegon. The Clarkston Fuel Pumpers placed third in men's class C competition and Crest Homes took fourth in women's class D. Tim Doyle, Independence Township Parks and Recreation director, said Clintonwood's selection as the state tournament site was a tribute to the park's excellent facilities.

"When they pick the sites they alternate from one year to the next — one year they'll play in the metro area and the next they'll have them outstate (outside of Wayne, Oakland, and Macomb counties)," Doyle said.

"One big factor at Clintonwood — besides the fact that the fields are well-groomed and in good shape — is that all our fields are on one site," he added. "That makes it a lot easier on the teams and the umpires."

It was the second time in the past three years that Clintonwood had served as the setting for the state tourney, Doyle said.

Ben Powell nets playoff title

Team manager Mel Vaara called it "thrilling."

How else could one describe Ben Powell Trucking's 30 and over softball team's meteoric rise in the post-season playoffs?

Finishing fourth in the regular season with a record of 7-5 behind A.C. Firestone (11-1), Wide Track Automotive (10-2) and Bogie Lake Golf Club (8-4), Ben Powell's chances in the post-season playoffs seemed slim.

"The top four teams in the 10-team league make the playoffs," Vaara explained. "Those teams are paired off first vs. third place and second vs. fourth place."

But Ben Powell Trucking clipped Widetrack 4-3 to advance to the finals, where they soundly upset A.C. Firestone 10-2 to take the playoff championship.

Members of the playoff championship squad are Ron Hetherington, Jeff Hetherington, Paul

What a spin they're in

The kids at Pine Knob Elementary School were in for a real treat when they returned to school. A giant playground apparatus complete with a spiral slide, tire swing, two tire climbers, platforms and a climbing pole awaited their attention.

It was so popular, the classes now rotate days so everyone can get a good turn to climb and spin down the giant slide.

The school's PTO bought the toy with $5,500 earned mainly in a spice sale conducted last year, said Linda Gray, PTO president. The Clarkston school board chipped in with an additional $2,000 for installation.

"The kids just went wild," she said about their reaction to the new super toy. "They think it's just the greatest."

She is also enthusiastic about the physical exercise the toy offers. "Since we don't have any gym program in the elementary school, they really need it," said Gray.

There has been one damper on the project, however.

The two tire climbers were slashed with a knife by vandals shortly after it was installed and two days later the ball atop the slide was punctured with rocks.

"It's just discouraging to think that so many parents worked so hard and donated time to this and in just two days, it's damaged to this extent," she said.

Although upset by the incidents, the PTO plans to continue with other projects. Soccer goals and a work weekend to paint existing, older equipment is planned.

And a fund raising project in November should help buy more learning computers for the school and some playground equipment designed for kindergartners and first graders.

We would like to express to the parents, students, teachers and administrators, support staff personnel and citizens of Clarkston our most sincere appreciation for the incredible support given our fund raising spaghetti dinner for North

To spaghetti dinner fund raiser participants

Sashabaw Elementary's Outdoor Education Program.

The response was overwhelming. Over 800 people participated making the endeavor a total success.

This being our first fund raising meal, we were somewhat unprepared for the size of the response. We must apologize to all those who patiently waited in the long lines to be served.

We will correct that problem next time.

To name all those who worked, contributed and supported this project is impossible.

Special thanks must be given to Debbie Dillon, Doris Amos and Elsie Davis of Clarkston's food service, teachers of North and South Sashabaw who helped in so many ways, support staff from North Sashabaw and Sashabaw Junior High who came to our aid when needed, and of course our super sixth grade parents and students many of whom worked so hard helping serve, hustle tickets or bake desserts. We are proud of all of you for your effort in working toward the goal of seeing no child is denied the opportunity of attending the Outdoor Education Program due to inability to pay. With your support, this program cannot fail. Thank you again. You're the greatest.

To MDA contributors

The Independence Township Fire Fighters would like to thank everyone who contributed in any way to the Muscular Dystrophy fund raising effort within our area.

The show goes at Pine Knob Music Theatre and the people who attended the pancake breakfast at the fire station Labor Day morning were most generous with their donations.

Donations from local organizations and many private individuals and businesses helped to make our presentation to Muscular Dystrophy at the Jerry Lewis Telethon the largest we have ever made.

Independence Fire Fighters collected and presented $8,800.00 to this year's Muscular Dystrophy Fund Raising Campaign.

To playground helpers

I would like to extend sincere thanks to the following individuals for all the help they have provided over the past year in planning and installing the new playground equipment for Clarkston Elementary:

Gary Trüssel; Bill, Jeanne and Marc Molzon; Dick and Jean Moon; Don and Jan Pebbles; Lowell Mullins; Bill and Shirley Wollerman; Gary Eason; Mike Crowley; John Schoff; Larry and Lauri Keech; Leo and Delene Blimka; Tom Yoder; Jack Ackerman; Ann Wood; Cindy Davis; Judy Roeser; Cindy Hubbard; Mary Alice Cook; Barb Banker; Glenn Jensenias; Bob Smalley; Don's Trucking; H.G.

Ziegler and Assoc.; Price Brothers; William Dennis.

I would like to extend a special thanks to each of their families for their understanding in the many hours that these individuals spent away from home.

Also a special thanks to Mr. Kintz and his ground crew for all the fine work they provided and any workers I may have missed.

This support shows me that the parents of Clarkston Elementary are truly concerned with their children's school and take pride in it.

Mark valuables with engraver

Catch thieves by tripping them up in their tracks

By Marilyn Trumper
Thieves. By night or day they enter private homes or property as if it were a public freeway. Non-discriminately, they take everything from transistor radios to home entertainment systems and much of that property is never recovered. There is a way to trip the thieves in their tracks. Project identification involves marking valuables with an engraver by scribing in the owner's driver license.

With a $10 investment for the engraver, property owners can perhaps see the return of hundreds of dollars of merchandise in the event of a robbery, said Oakland County Sheriff Deputy Jim Snover.

"There have been officers who have found items that they are sure have been stolen, but due to the fact that the victim had not engraved the property or written down the serial number, nothing could be done about it," he said.

A driver's license number is used, because police can trace down the owner, their address and phone, Snover said.

"We can then contact the owner and find out if that property was stolen.

"Several years ago I stopped a vehicle and found a driver's license number on an eight-track in the car," he said. "I called the man whose number was on it and he told me it had been stolen two years before. An arrest was made."

The recent sting operation in Waterford Township, where thousands of dollars in stolen goods was recovered, is a prime example of being able to return stolen property from numbers and identification marks, he said.

"After the engraving has been done," he said. "A master list should be kept of everything that's been engraved, the serial numbers of the property and a good description of the color, make and model."

Then call the police department. An officer will come out to homes, check to see that it's been done correctly, and place a sticker in the window stating the home has had its valuables marked, Snover said.

"I've been told that only one out of every 100 homes with this sticker on it has been broken into and entered," he said.

The engraver can be purchased at any hardware store for approximately $10, he said.

All valuables can be marked in an easily accessible area where it won't damage the property.

"For example, t.v. sets can be marked on the back, bicycles under a bar and like that," Snover said.

For information on group speakers on the subject of Operation Identification, phone the Oakland County Sheriff's Department at 858-4950.

Remove solar covers before popping in pool

This week's article from the Independence Township Fire Department stems from a warning issued by the U.S. Consumers Products Safety Council.

The report released Aug. 5 warns consumers of a potential drowning hazard posed by solar pool covers used on swimming pools.

The "Solar Cover" is a floating translucent plastic cover which floats on top of the pool surface. The dark cover attracts the rays from the sun and heats the pool. The cover is cut to fit the shape of the pool and thus leaves no open water exposed.

These covers cut fuel costs immensely but pose a severe hazard when they are not completely removed from the pool's surface while swimmers are using the pool.

Swimmers should never be allowed to use a pool until the solar cover has been completely removed.

This warning was issued following a tragic triple drowning accident in San Francisco. A 30-year-old mother and her two sons drowned when they became trapped under a solar cover.

A swimmer swimming under a solar cover cannot surface and find air to breathe. For this reason any pool cover should be completely removed from the pool's surface before allowing swimmers to enter the pool.

Adult ed receives praises from later-in-life grad

By Marilyn Trumper
Bookkeeping.

That's the one thing Sora Pryomski's adult education classes and her business, "The Fashion Gallery" have in common.

About 10 years ago, Sora, 44, returned to the classroom pursuing a high school diploma via Waterford School District's Adult Education program.

"I really like going back to school and I'd recommend it to anyone interested in learning," she said, sitting at the kitchen table of her Springfield Township home.

"I quit when I was 17 years old to get married. At 17, you tend to look at life a lot differently. When I returned to school it meant a lot to me.

"I wanted to learn. At 17, you think about everything but learning. I went back for me, for my own enjoyment," she said emphatically.

For three years she studied, receiving her diploma two years before her oldest son graduated.

"I felt I had to be firm about education. I couldn't preach to my kids about going to school and explain the importance of education if I myself hadn't finished," she said.

"I beat his graduation by two years, that's not much. And now he's in his last year of medical school," she said proudly.

Sora Pryomski

Following her graduation, Sora went into the clothing retail business with her sister for about four years.

"Then I opened up my own shop and I've been busy ever since," she laughed. "I enjoyed the classes in school, but the one thing I've really used is the bookkeeping I learned.

"If it hadn't been for that class I don't think I would have known how to read an invoice."

Now she said, she's thinking about taking classes at Oakland University or Oakland County Community College.

"That's one thing I learned from adult ed. The more you learn, the more you know you don't know anything. You just hit the tip of the iceberg," she said. "It's time for me to go back."

Returning to school for anyone is tough, whether it's the second-grader moving into third grade or someone absent for 15 years.

"I went back because my husband was afraid of what would become of me if anything happened to him," she smiles. "My first day home from classes I'd been so nervous I broke out in raised, red hives.

"But that's never happened since then," she laughed.

The benefits of being in a class filled with varying ages is one of the prime aspects of adult-ed, Sora said.

"We would have discussions and everybody put in their point of view. That's one of the best ways to get opinions," she said. "The classes are different atmospheres for learning too.

Everyone who's there wants to be there, they want to learn."

"I don't have any sympathy for someone who says they're bored," she said. "If they are 60 years old and say life is passing them by, I say 'Get out, meet people — go back to school!'"

Together, as ministers and mates

Schrams make Independence home

Country Living

by Marilyn Trumper

When exiting Pine Knob Music Theatre traffic churns up the dust on Walson Road and drivers yell and honk their horns, it doesn't bother Bill and Jenny Schram.

The sound of crickets might be hushed but all the commotion is kind of nice they say, reminiscent of the home they've just left.

"WELCOME TO YOUR NEW HOME JENNY & BILL."

"That made me feel real good when I pulled in with an 18-foot rent-a-truck full of things from home," Bill said.

"We'd been to the house just once before and in the dark," Jenny said. "All I could remember was that the house was gray. A lot of the church

'This is excitement. A new house, a new yard, a new church and a great parish.'

Chicago-the Windy City. People move into the Clarkston area for different reasons — to escape the big city life, the noise, the crime and the taxes.

The Schram's reason is different.

The couple, both ministers in the Presbyterian Church, have come to meet a challenge.

They've been hired as co-pastors of Sashabaw United Presbyterian Church on Maybee Road in Independence Township.

"When we decided that this church was for us," said Jenny, 25, "it was the people in the congregation that kind of made that decision for us.

"It was their openness and willingness to accept us a married team. Others are not that open minded," she said.

Bill and Jenny's status as married ministers is rare they said, but rarer still is that they both serve in the same church.

"That's what I think I liked the most at the start about the people in this church," Bill, 28, said. "They were looking for clergy and wanted to help the couple grow, not only in the church, but in a relationship.

"They have been without a pastor the past nine months, but in that time they have never stopped planning and there's a real team effort in the 125-member congregation," he said.

When the couple arrived at their new home on Aug. 17 members of the church were there to greet them.

A sign hanging in their front window marks that day with big bold words which say, people were there, they helped us unpack the truck and even had a lunch for us. That was really something."

Bill and Jenny graduated in June with Master's of Divinity degrees from McCormick Seminary, a United Presbyterian seminary on the south side of Chicago.

"That's where we met," Jenny said smiling.

Monday marked the couple's first year wedding anniversary.

Sunday marked the couple's first service in their new church.

"We're really excited about it," Jenny said. "And we'll both be participating in the service. Because we both had a year long internship at a church in Chicago it's not new to us, but the congregation will be new."

Just like any new job there are plans to be made, perhaps some changes and new things to learn, they agree.

"We've been very busy ever since our arrival," Bill said. "We've met with the church's governing body and we've been working on restructuring things.

"One thing I'd like to do is make use of the old church just across the street from the new one.

"I'd like to see it used for perhaps teen meetings, meetings in general or perhaps as an occasional chapel. It's a delightful kind of historic building," he said.

Moving to any new area is always tough, but the Schrams have been learning the layout of the county.

"We've already been over to the Oakland County Planning Commission, picked up maps and census figures. Those kind of things tell a lot about a community," Bill said.

In the twilight, surrounded by shade trees, Bill and Jenny Schram are slowly becoming acquainted with their new backyard. The couple recently moved from Chicago to Independence Township to work as new co-pastors of Sashabaw United Presbyterian Church.

"We moved from a second story apartment building in Chicago to this home and it's really nice," Jenny said. "The apartment was cramped but here we have a choice about where things can be placed."

Bill surveys his new yard. "No one lived here for nine months and although the parishoners kept the grass mowed and have done a lot of work, we started weeding and found Iris's under the weeds," he said laughing.

"And when we mow the lawn it's a good thing it's a pusher mower. You have to move slower with those and that's important. We don't want to run over the toads, he laughed again.

The Schram's backyard abuts the Pine Knob golf course.

"We're not real big on golfing," Jenny said. "We've both tired it a couple of times though."

Bill said he was thinking about taking up the sport.

"At least I figure I can occasionally shag balls from the backyard if nothing else," he laughed.

In Chicago, Bill and Jenny enjoyed playing racquet ball.

"Now that we're here, we've broken out the bicycles," Bill said. "I've already ridden mine to work. It takes about 10 minutes."

"It's going to take some time to get used to the bumpy roads," Jenny said laughing. "In Chicago, they may have been paved, but there too I guess they were full of potholes and bumpy."

The job requires they work 75 percent of the time, Jenny said.

"If it works out that way," Bill said, "I'll have some time to take up the bagpipes, I've always wanted to do that."

"I like the idea of the banjo," Jenny laughed.

With a yard and free time, the couple said they plan to grow a garden next year.

"We've already gone out and bought a couple of books on 'how to'," Jenny said. "I've already frozen and canned a lot of the vegetables parishoners have given us."

"One thing we really miss is the mass transit of the city," Bill said. "With both of us working and coming and going at different times, it looks like we'll have to buy a second car.

"But this is excitement," he said. "A new house, a new yard, a new church and a great parish."

S.T.A.G.E. call for 'California Suite'

Get your act together and try out for a part in the hit comedy "California Suite" by Neil Simon.

Brandon S.T.A.G.E. auditions for the play are scheduled Wednesday, Sept. 10, and Friday, Sept. 12, at the Ortonville Village offices, 395 Mill St., Ortonville. The time is 7:30 p.m. on both nights.

There are parts available for five men and five women.

The play is to be produced dinner-theater style at Spring Lake Country Club on Maybee Road, Independence Township.

Show dates are Sunday evenings from Nov. 2 through Dec. 7.

"California Suite" is a production made up of four playlets, so individual roles are to be rehearsed only once a week prior to the week before opening.

For more information, call 625-8250.

Business women welcome newcomers

Working women may attend the Thursday, Sept. 18, meeting at Waterford-Clarkston Business and Professional Women.

The dessert meeting is to begin at 7:30 p.m. at Oakland-Pontiac Airport, 6500 Highland, Waterford Township.

While all of the club's monthly programs are open to interested persons, the Sept. 18 meeting is designed specifically to acquaint newcomers with the membership and objectives of the local group and its parent organization, The National Federation of Business and Professional Women.

For reservations or more information, call Phyllis Bradford day or evening at 625-4995.

Backyard wildlife lures

Create a habitat for wildlife in your own backyard with some help from Oakland County Parks naturalist Kathleen Dougherty.

She is conducting a "Plantings for Wildlife" program at Independence Oaks County Park on Sashabaw Road, Independence Township, on Friday, Sept. 19.

Through a talk and a slide presentation,

Dougherty aims to show the variety and types of plants that help birds and wildlife.

The program runs from 7 to 8 p.m. and is to be held at the Twin Chimneys Shelter at the park.

Admission is $2 per vehicle for the park entrance fee.

For more information, call 625-0877.

Designer fabrics: For sale at Barbara Garrett's Springfield Township home

Barbara Garrett has been interested in designer fabrics and making her own clothing for some time—about 15 years, to be exact.

And now she's turning that interest and expertise into her own home-based business.

Her home at 8715 Rattalee Lake, Springfield Township, will be the scene of a Sept. 15-20 showing of Leiter's Designer Fabrics, a Missouri-based firm which sells fabrics nationwide.

"When we moved out here a year and a half ago, I found a real need for designer fabrics," Barbara says. "We used to live in Troy and I'd do my shopping in Birmingham—but that's a long way to drive now.

"Out here, there doesn't seem to be any place people can go."

She saw a Leiter's ad in a magazine, sent in her resume and the required information, and was recently approved as a sales representative.

Some of the classes she has taken over the years to round out her knowledge are basic sewing, a pant course, ultra suede course and a knit class. Barbara also plans on taking a tailoring course this fall.

"The quality in the clothes now is so lacking and everything is so expensive," she says.

"Everybody is feeling the inflation bite, and this is one way to save money."

Showing will be by appointment only, Barbara says. The entire display features literally hundreds of fabrics and is shared by different representatives.

Doing business

"I'll be having the set in my home every six weeks or so," she says. "I'll also be doing custom clothing for people who don't want to do the work themselves."

If the business goes well and the demand is there, Barbara says she'll consider opening up a shop. "My husband and I looked into buying a store now, but money is really tight," she says.

"But the possibility's there in the future, if everything goes well."

Persons interested in viewing

Leiter's Designer Fabrics can call Barbara at 625-2403. Orders usually take a week to 10 days to be filled, she says.

Barbara Garrett, a sewing machine and Leiter's Designer Fabrics form a successful team. The ultra suede outfit she's holding and the outfit she's wearing are both the end results of her handiwork—and now she's selling Leiter's fabrics from her home.

Lakeland Players open its 1980-81 season with Bob Randall's "6 Rms Riv Vu."

Geoff Savage and Chris Abbot star in the roles made famous by Alan Alda and Carol Burnett on television.

The story revolves around two married, but not to each other, prospective tenants of a New York apartment.

Somehow, the two get locked in while inspecting the place, and what ensues is comedy as the two come to know each other perhaps better than they should.

The play is to be presented at the Eagle Theatre "Live," 13 S. Saginaw, in downtown Pontiac. There is ample lighted parking across the street.

Show dates are Sept. 12, 13, 19 and 20 with an 8 p.m. curtain and a special 2 p.m. matinee on Sunday, Sept. 14. Tickets are $4.

For more information, call 335-5470.

Dine on an array of foods at St. Mary's In-The-Hills Episcopal Church annual Smorgasbord on Saturday, Sept. 13, from noon to 7 p.m. and on Sunday, Sept. 14, from 1 to 6 p.m.

The church is located on Joslyn Road southwest of the village of Lake Orion, three miles north of the I-75 Joslyn Road exit.

It is housed in the old schoolhouse on the former Scripps Estate and is one-half block south of Keatington Antique Village.

Single parents may attend the general membership meeting of Parents Without Partners, Orion-Oxford Chapter, on Tuesday, Sept. 16.

Meeting time is 8 p.m. at Clear Lake Elementary School on West Drahnner Road, Oxford, 2.5 miles west of M-24.

Representatives of Oakland County Council of Children at Risk are to speak on child abuse.

For more information, call 628-4494 or 693-7806.

Area members of Sigma Sigma Sigma Detroit No. 1 Oakland Alumnae Chapter plans its first fall meeting Saturday, Sept. 20.

The noon meeting is to be held at the home of Ruth Pratkanicki of Huntington Woods. Her co-hostess is to be Sara Woolfenden of Clarkston.

All interested Sigmas may attend and may make reservations by calling Debby Romanelli of Farmington Hills at 553-3127.

Season tickets for Pontiac-Oakland Symphony's 1980-81 concert season are now on sale.

The season includes five concerts, three in Oakland University's Varner Hall and two in the concert hall of Pontiac Central High School.

The first concert on Oct. 12 features composer/conductor Joel Thome. The other concerts are scheduled Nov. 7, Feb. 20 and April 12.

Series tickets are $20 for adults and $10 for senior citizens and students. They may be purchased through the symphony office, 35 E. Huron, Pontiac 48058.

For more information, call 334-6024.

Newcomers to the area may join Waterford Welcome Wagon Club's Sept. 18 get-together that will include the Arts and Apples Festival, lunch and shopping in Rochester.

All new residents in the Waterford Township, Clarkston and Union Lake areas may attend.

Phone 673-6053 for more information.

The Past Becomes Present

By Michele Barks, Age 15

When I was just a little boy
mama told be it was bad,
But I didn't listen no-sir-ee and now I wish I had.

It started a long time ago when I was just a little lad, Gramp gave me a cigarette and I lit it without dad.

As years past my lungs filled up, with nicotine and tar
As I walked in and out of any singles bar.

Here I sit with just one lung
(the other one departed.)
Thinking back years ago
wishing I had never started!

New shipment of paper tablecloth...

Coping with kids

Making friends vs. making good grades

"My mother says I can't worry about being social this year," Walter said recently. "She wants me to get good grades."

Walter is entering the ninth grade in a new high school. His grades last year did not measure up to what his parents expected.

Neither did his behavior, as he was suspended for a week last spring for having pot at school.

He was asked what he thought about his mother's wish that he not be "social."

"It's dumb. I like to go to school because I can see my friends there. She expects me to study and not think about my friends."

Are Walter's mother's expectation unrealistic? Clearly yes.

One of the major developmental tasks of early adolescence at just the age kids enter high school is related to being accepted and playing a role as a member of the peer group.

In Walter's case the problem is compounded, because Walter is 4 feet, 11 inches tall. He is greatly concerned about being short and being rejected by both boys and girls.

The central theme of this early teenage phase is discovering one's self. Walter is very self conscious about being so short and trying to establish a secure self identity has been difficult for him.

His grades are a matter of concern to him, but not nearly so much as for his parents.

He turned to smoking marijuana, because it helped to define who he was, gave him a peer group and showed a certain passive-aggressive defiance of his mother who does not understand him.

After his first day in high school, Walter reported: "You know it wasn't so bad. No one said anything about me being short, although there is only one other kid in the whole school as short as me. I met a new boy in my gym class, but I don't think he would be good for me."

"Oh, why not?"
"He was wearing a T-shirt that said, 'Smoke Dope.' That shows where he is at."

Walter's comments about his very first day in high school suggest the tremendous concern he has with his place in the peer group and his desire to make friends that are right for him.

No matter what his rather rigid mother thinks or wants for him, it is impossible for the average early adolescent (age 13 to 15) to be anything other than social.

Achieving a set of friends and trying to settle on a self identity are far more important than grades.

Walter knows this, but his mother hasn't figured this out yet

Christine's Delicatessen moves a bit north

The location is different and the selection's bigger — but Christine's Delicatessen still has the same friendly service.

So says Christine Karbownik, owner of the deli now located at 5801 M-15, Independence Township, just a few doors away from her old location.

"My customers knew I wouldn't move far," she says. "The community here is a wonderful place — my customers are just like my family."

"I don't know if people believe that when I say it, but it's the gospel truth."

Christine's new location is a full three times larger than her old one, enabling her to expand her line of groceries and deli items.

"We've been waiting for this a long time," Christine says. "I was a nervous wreck at the old location — people would bend over to get something off the shelf, and boom! They'd be hit by somebody opening the door.

"I don't know how I managed with that little space. I'm really happy here, my help is happy and my customers are happy."

Doing business

She describes her business's new location as "homey" — stressing that her personal approach to customer service won't change a bit with the larger shelves, floor space and selection.

"I've been here 13 years, and I know my customers will support me and I'll always be ready to help them," she says.

"I'll always treat people the same way I like to be treated — that's the important thing."

Christine's Delicatessen owner Christine Karbownik is congratulated by a customer at her new location at 5801 M-15, Independence Township. Her new store has three times the floor and shelf space of her old location a few doors down, she says.

Picture purrrfect

That kitten in the window is not for sale, says Laurie Stern, owner of Country Greens on Main Street, Clarkston. Chloe the cat took up residence in the shop about two months ago. Her favorite spot is the window and that causes crowds to gather night and day in front of the shop, says Stern. "I worry, because they're all looking in and I think there's a fire—and Chloe is causing the commotion," she laughs.

TOWNSHIP OF INDEPENDENCE LICENSING AND REGULATION OF SOLICITORS

PREAMBLE

An ordinance to provide for the licensing and regulation of solicitors, and permit solicitors to function within the bounds of Independence Township so long as they are licensed hereunder, to prohibit such solicitations in the case of violation hereof, and to provide penalties for the violations hereof, all in recognition of the fact that soliciting is a valid public and private business, and the promotion of soliciting and the dissemination of public and private views should be encouraged so long as such solicitations and disseminations are not a substantial threat to the public health, safety, and welfare, and further recognition of the fact that persons, under the guise of soliciting often go onto premises for the purpose of committing theft, or for other such illegal purposes, and in addition that repeated soliciting, contrary to the wishes of the owner or occupant of the premises solicited, can be a public and private nuisance.

The Township Board of Independence Township, Oakland County, Michigan, ordains:

ARTICLE I. Short Title.

Sec. 1.1. This ordinance shall be known as the Independence Township Ordinance to License and Regulate Solicitors, and may be referred to as the "Solicitors" Ordinance and shall hereinafter be referred to as "this Ordinance".

ARTICLE II. Definitions.

Sec. 2.1. "Registered Solicitor" shall mean and include any person who has obtained a valid certificate of registration as hereinafter provided, which certificate is in the possession of the solicitor and on his or her person while engaged in soliciting.

Sec. 2.2. "A Residence" shall mean and include every separate living unit occupied for residential purposes by one or more persons, contained within any type of building or structure.

Sec. 2.3 "Soliciting" shall mean and include any one or more of the following activities:

- (a) Seeking to obtain orders for the purpose of goods, wares, merchandise, foodstuffs, services, and the like of any kind, character or description whatever, for any kind of consideration whatever;
- (b) Seeking to obtain prospective customers for application or purchase of insurance of any kind, type, or character; or
- (c) Seeking to obtain subscriptions to books, magazines, periodicals, newspapers and every other type or kind of publication;
- (d) Seeking to obtain gifts or contributions of money, clothing or any other valuable things for the support or benefit of any charitable or non-profit association, organization, corporation or project.
- (e) Seeking to sell or vend ice cream, foodstuffs, wares, or other articles of whatever nature from any vehicle, on or off any street, roadway, alley, highway or other passageway within this municipality, whether said vehicle is motorized or not.
- (f) The above described activities shall not be deemed to be soliciting if the activity takes place in a permanent structure open for business purposes, and if said activities are a part of that business purpose.

ARTICLE III. Registration.

Sec. 3.1. Every person desiring to engage in soliciting as herein defined from persons or residences within this municipality shall, prior to engaging in such solicitation, make written application for and in fact obtain a certificate of registration as herein provided. Such certificate shall be carried by the solicitor.

Sec. 3.2. Application for certificate of registration shall be made to the Independence Township Clerk upon a form provided by the Township. The applicant shall truthfully state in full the information requested on the application, to wit:

- (a) Name and address of present place of residence and length of residence at such address; also business address other than present address;
- (b) Address of place of residence during the past three years if other than present address;
- (c) Age of applicant;
- (d) Physical description of the applicant;
- (e) Name and address of the person, corporation or association whom the applicant is employed by or represents; and the length of time of such employment or representation;
- (f) Name and address of employer during the past three years, other than the present employer;
- (g) Description sufficient for identification of the subject matter of the soliciting in which the applicant will engage;
- (h) Period of time for which the certificate is sought;
- (i) The date or approximate date of the latest previous application for certificate under this Ordinance, if any;
- (j) Has a certificate of registration issued to the applicant under this Ordinance ever been revoked?
- (k) Has the applicant ever been convicted of a violation of a felony under the laws of the state or any other state or federal law of the United States?
- (l) All statements made by the applicant under the application or in connection therewith shall be under oath, and sworn to.

Sec. 3.3. The Independence Township Clerk shall cause to be kept in the Clerk's office an accurate record of every application received and acted upon together with all other information and data pertaining thereto and all certificates of registration issued under the provisions of this Ordinance. He shall also keep a record of the denial of any such applications as are denied. Applications for certificates shall be numbered in consecutive order as filed, and every certificate issued, and any renewal thereof, shall be identified with a duplicate number of the application upon which it was issued.

Sec. 3.4. No certificate of registration shall be issued to any person who has been convicted of the commission of a felony under the laws of the State of Michigan or any other state or any Federal Law of the United States, within five (5) years of the date of the application; nor shall any certificate of registration be issued to any person who has been convicted of a violation of any of the provisions of this Ordinance, nor to any person whose certificate of registration issued hereunder has previously been revoked as herein provided.

Sec. 3.5. Any certificate of registration issued hereunder shall be revoked by the Independence Township Clerk if the holder of the certificate is convicted of a violation of any of the provisions of this Ordinance, or if the holder of any certificate otherwise becomes disqualified for the issuance of a certificate of registration in accordance with the terms of this Ordinance. Immediately upon such revocation, written notice thereof shall be given by the Township Clerk to the holder of this certificate in person or by mail addressed to his or her residence address as set forth in the application. Immediately upon giving of such notice, or the mailing thereof, as aforesaid, such certificate of registration shall become null and void.

Sec. 3.6. The certificate of registration, when issued, shall be for a period of time applied for in accordance with the application as aforesaid or for sixty (60) days, whichever period is the shorter, and said certificate shall state thereon the expiration date thereof.

Sec. 3.7. Upon the compliance of the terms hereof, any person bearing a certificate of registration shall be entitled to solicit, so long as said solicitations are otherwise in compliance with applicable local ordinance and state and federal law.

ARTICLE IV. Notice Regulating Soliciting.

Sec. 4.1. Every person desiring to secure the protection provided by these regulations pertaining to soliciting shall comply with the following directions, to wit:

- (a) Any persons soliciting within the Township of Independence shall abide by any instructions given any person so soliciting by the occupant of any residence within Independence Township where said instructions are an invitation to the solicitor to come upon the premises, or a denial to the solicitor of access to the premises. Said instructions may be oral or in writing, and if in writing said instructions shall be in the following form:

A weather-proof card approximately three (3) inches by four (4) inches in size shall be exhibited upon or near the main entrance door to the residence, indicating the determination by the occupant, containing the words, as follows:

- 1) "ONLY SOLICITORS REGISTERED IN INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP INVITED" or,
- 2) "NO SOLICITORS INVITED".

The letters on such cards shall be at least one-third (1/3) inch in height. For the purpose of uniformity, the Township Clerk, may, on the direction of the Township Board, provide such cards to the Township residents requesting them at the cost thereof.

Sec. 4.2. Any such card so exhibited shall constitute sufficient notice to any solicitor of the determination by the occupant of the residence of the directions contained on said card, and any violation of such directions shall be deemed a trespass, punishable as a violation hereof.

Sec. 4.3. Any solicitor who has gained entrance to any residence, whether invited or not, shall immediately and peaceably depart from the premises when requested to do so by the occupant, and any refusal to do so shall be deemed a trespass, and a violation hereof.

ARTICLE V. Prohibitions.

Sec. 5.1. It is hereby declared to be unlawful and shall constitute a nuisance for any person to engage in soliciting as defined hereunder unless such person is registered in accordance with the terms hereof.

Sec. 5.2. It is hereby declared to be unlawful, and shall constitute a nuisance for any person to go upon any premises and ring the door bell upon or near any door or create any sound in any other manner calculated to attract the attention of the occupant of such residence, for the purpose of securing an audience with the occupant thereof, or engage in soliciting as herein defined, in defiance of the notice exhibited at the residence in accordance with the provisions of this Ordinance as aforesaid.

Sec. 5.3. It is hereby declared to be unlawful and shall constitute a nuisance for any person whether registered under this Ordinance or not, to go upon any premises and ring the door bell upon or near any door of a residence located thereon, or rap or knock upon any door or create any sound in any other manner calculated to attract the attention of the occupant of such residence, for the purpose of securing an audience with the occupant thereof, or engage in soliciting as herein defined, prior to 9:00 am or after 9:00 pm of any day.

Members of the Michigan Bell construction crew gather to raise high the Crafts and Cider banner over Main Street Clarkston on Friday. The event that features arts and crafts by over 65 artists and craftspersons and food items like honey, cider and doughnuts is to be held Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 19, 20 and 21 in the Clarkston Village Park on Depot Road. This is the sixth year for the festival that is sponsored by the Clarkston Historical Society.

Sign heralds festival

Jennifer Radcliff, board member of the historical society, shows the Michigan Bell crew how much space should be left between the pole and the banner. The telephone crew hung the banner for free, because it had to be attached to a telephone pole. On the ground, holding the banner at left is Bill Blodgett of Holly and atop the ladder against the light pole is Jim Schoch of Sterling Heights.

Growing things

Weather's just right for tomato blight

Our summer of 1980 with its almost continuous high humidity and its frequent rainfall certainly gave us some marvelous growing conditions for all our plants, but it also has been a favorable climate for insects and diseases that attack our flowers and vegetables.

Tomato plants are a good example of what can happen: Until the past few weeks tomatoes were green and healthy.

Then brown to black irregular spots often with concentric circles appeared on the leaves and fruits. These spots continued to spread until now whole portions of the plants are dead.

The trouble starts with the older leaves of the plants and spreads to take in the whole plant.

This blight of the tomato is a cousin of the disease that killed the potato crop in Ireland many years ago and led to the "potato famine" in that country and resulted in the great migration of the Irish people to our country.

Fortunately, we do have controls for the disease now. But the control is not easy and not effective unless it is begun early in the life of the plant. The directions on how to treat tell us to start the treatment after transplanting or when the plant is six inches high and to repeat at 7 to 10 day intervals.

Commercial growers follow this practice but I'm afraid many home owners, including myself, are not so diligent.

A variety of fungicides can be used to successfully control tomato blights. They are sold under such trade names as Bravo, maneb, Mancozeb M45 or Manzate 200 or tribasic copper sulfate.

Usually, for the home gardener, it is more convenient to purchase an all-purpose vegetable dust or spray and then be certain to follow the maker's directions.

Another problem with tomatoes is a condition called blossom end rot. The condition seems to come about when the moisture supply fluctuates from drought to plenty of water. It is not due to a fungus but a breakdown in the tomato growth pattern. Consistent watering may help.

We seem to have no trouble when the plants are planted through plastic mulch that keeps the moisture content more constant.

One of the most rewarding of flowers and one that is becoming increasingly popular with flower lovers is the impatiens.

They are suited to shady locations and will brighten up an otherwise dull corner with their cheerful pink, orange or red blossoms.

This year with our favorable growing conditions they have been especially profuse with their colorful blossoms.

Impatiens are strictly a warm season plant and are killed by the first frost. They do make excellent house plants, and popular in hanging baskets, and are easy to propagate from cuttings.

Impatiens belong to the family of Balsams and are sometimes called touch-me-nots. This name comes from the ability of the plant to discharge the seeds when ripe.

If the ripened seed container is touched the seeds explode to scatter for some distance.

There is a wild cousin of the impatiens that is very common in our North Oakland marshy roadsides and woodlands. It is the Jewelweed.

Growing three to four feet high with fleshy, green, pleasing foliage, it has attractive yellow flowers with red spots.

If you should take a hike on Lake Shore Trail in Independence Oaks Park you will find Jewelweed growing in great abundance along the trail at the south end of Crooked Lake. It is a very attractive plant.

Pre-school rompers

While the kids play on the toys behind Clarkston United Methodist Church, their mothers are busy inside preparing for the opening of Clarkston Co-op Nursery. At left, Steve Steck, 4, climbs high into the sky on the warm, sunny day. Brian Maloche, 4, [above] finds the cement cylinder a perfect spot to use as a track for his mini race car. The nursery opened its doors Monday. There are still some openings for 4-year-olds in the classes that meet Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. and the Tuesday and Thursday classes from 1 to 3 p.m. For information, call Donna Preece at 625-8430.

We're heading for the LONG BRANCH SALOON in Oxford. Their Lunch Vittles are great and priced from $1.85 to $6.95

Be sure to try the Greek Salads and Square Pizza.

They can handle groups of 20 to 200 in their Banquet Rooms!

Use Master Charge, Visa, Diners Club or American Express if you care to.

They're open Sundays now, 3 to 10 p.m.

595 N. Lapeer Rd. (M-24) Oxford 628-6500

Monday-Saturday 11 a.m. to 2 a.m.
Sunday 3 to 10 p.m.

Family affair

Sammie Graves of Springfield Township runs down the mat and gets ready to show her skill in gymnastics to the watching crowd.

One of the most popular events at the Crazy Carnival is the hayride. Here, Joe McCarthy of Cohoctah holds on tight as the ride winds over bumps and curves around the grounds of Andersonville Elementary School.

There are plenty of ways to win prizes at the Crazy Carnival for SCAMP, a fund-raising event of the Davisburg Jaycettes. Even those who worked the booths made it a family affair. As Karen Aiello [left] looks on, Ryan Willard "digs for gold" while standing alongside his brother Adam. Meanwhile, little Brian Aiello keeps himself busy with his bottle. The Aiellos live on Cherrywood Road, Springfield Township, and the Willards are Lake Orion residents.

An apron lady with pockets full of treasures assures a prize for each ticket. Taking her chances under the watchful eye of her mother Sandy Dougherty, who happens to be the pocket person, Stacy digs in. The Doughertys live in Springfield Township.
