Music follows Lions' roar

A spectrum of human emotions is evident in the faces of the Clarkston High School band [above] as the musicians watch the Detroit Lions square off against the Minnesota Vikings last Sunday in the Pontiac Silverdome. Led by the rushing of rookie sensation Billy Sims [right, wearing no. 20] the Lions mauled the visitors, 27-7. After the game, the CHS band took to the field and performed. See Page 21.

Pine Knob takes ski run to court

By Marilyn Trumper

Pine Knob Investment Co. and Independence Township are facing each other in court again — but this time on a new issue.

Pine Knob contends it does not have to appear before the township's planning commission for site plan approval for a proposed ski run, and instead can immediately apply for a building permit.

Timothy Palulian, head of the township's building department, says that while the proposed ski run is a structure, its proposed use constitutes it as a new principal use which requires planning commission review.

Section 5.12 of the township's zoning ordinance is the focal point of debate between both parties.

It reads, "... site plan review and approval is required for all new principal uses, accessory buildings and additions to existing structures."

"The ski run would not be a new use," said Thomas Raguso, attorney for Pine Knob. "The land is already being used for skiing so the ski run is not a new use."

"We're asking for a building permit and we're saying we don't have to go before the planning commission for approval. The ski run is already allowed as a structure and does not require planning commission approval," he said.

Palulian disagrees.

"I equate this ski run as a new principal structure added to the site. And I consider it as a new, additional structure onto the existing ski set up," he said.

"For that reason, in my opinion, they must go before the planning commission for review.

Co-owners of Pine Knob Investment, Joseph Locricchio and Gary Francell, are charging that the township illegally and improperly denied a building permit for the construction of a proposed ski run and have taken their argument to court.

Thursday morning, Oakland County circuit Court Judge Frederick C. Ziem, issued a show cause and temporary

ZBA statements?

Judge to rule on motion Oct. 8

There's been new action in a $30 million lawsuit filed by Pine Knob Investment against Independence Township for the construction of a proposed 20-story, ski-run-roof hotel.

The latest move by Thomas Raguso, attorney for Pine Knob, is to appear before Oakland County Circuit Court Judge Francis X. O'Brien on Oct. 8, and motion for sworn statements from each member of the Independence Township Zoning Board of Appeals (ZBA).

Raguso refused to comment on the planned action, stating that he could not disclose why he was asking for depositions.

If O'Brien rules in Pine Knob's favor on the motion, members of the ZBA will be questioned under oath.

Richard Campbell, township attorney, does not know the particulars of Raguso's motion, but said that he will ask the judge to dismiss the request.

In July, the ZBA complied with a circuit court order, and reviewed the height question on the proposed hotel.

They unanimously denied a variance request of 200 feet for the hotel and a 1,000 space parking lot variance request.

At that time, Pine Knob's lawsuit for $30 million or a building permit resumed in circuit court.

The lawsuit was filed against the township in February.

It has not yet been heard by Judge O'Brien and no court date has been set.

A fungus amongus

An extraordinary puffball is the find of Kurt Meyland [left] of Shelley Drive and Alex Morouse of Amy Drive. The boys discovered the giant fungus while walking near Cranberry Lake in Independence Township. Alex thought it was an ostrich egg and Kurt thought it was a rock, but as they carried it home, a neighbor spotted them and set them straight. The puffball has a circumference of 43 inches by 36 inches, and Alex says he's going to charge admission to see the wonder.

restraining order to Independence Township.

The restraining order prohibited the township's planning commission from discussing the ski run's conceptual site plan which was slated for the commission's review that night.

Judge Ziem also ordered Palulian to appear in court on Oct. 8 and show cause why the permit should not be issued.

The show cause hearing is scheduled for 8:30 a.m. at the Oakland County Circuit Court House, 1200 N. Telegraph, Pontiac.

According to plans submitted to the township's building department, Locricchio's proposed ski run will rise 185 feet above the highest peak at the Knob, five feet above the present radio tower.

The ski run is to be constructed of poured concrete and steel and to measure approximately 92 feet wide, with approximately 80 feet in the center for skiing.

Sign hangs in limbo

Panel switch may mean ordinance violation

By Marilyn Trumper

A snarled zoning ordinance and attorneys' legal opinions are keeping the Clarkston Aquarium sign hanging in the village, long after the business is gone.

The sign is located on the business fronts of the Clarkston Travel Bureau and Elam Real Estate, 6 N. Main, Clarkston.

"I want to take out the sign's panels and put in my own, and I'm sure the real estate office wants to, too," said Claudia Jakus, travel bureau owner.

"I have from three to four people in almost every week asking where the aquarium store is. When I tell them it's been gone for over a year and a half, they can't believe the sign is still up there," she said.

The sign was erected prior to the village adopting a sign ordinance, which makes it a non-conforming sign, said village attorney Thomas L. Gruich.

Overhanging signs are prohibited in the village, but because the sign was erected prior to adoption of the ordinance it has been allowed to remain.

"If it loses its non-conforming status it can't remain, and it can do that in one of two ways," Gruich said. "If the use of the sign is changed, or if a certain percentage of the sign is repaired, which would alter its appearance, to make it look like a new sign.

"We gave an opinion on this once before, and it was our opinion that changing the panels in the sign would be sufficient enough change to consider it a new sign," he said.

"The idea of the sign ordinance is to discourage or eliminate non-conforming uses by following a master plan to achieve continuity in the village," Gruich said.

Some time ago, Harold Reekwald, owner of the building which the sign hangs on, hired an attorney to interpret the village's sign ordinance as it related to his sign, Gruich said.

"His attorney disagreed with our opinion and now the only way a decision can be made is in court," he said.

"My attorney said he had one question," Reekwald said. "Does the sign have to come down when the owner of the building changes, or when the panel changes?"

"No one seems to have the answer to that question. I bought the building in 1975 and took out the Clarkston Auto Parts panel. Nothing was said a couple of years ago when I did that. Then two years later they tell me the aquarium sign has to come down, that I'd changed the panels.

"Other businesses have the same signs they've always had, and have changed owners," he said. "If they (the village council) say no standout signs at all, I'll go along with it."

"But I'm taking my sign down," he said.

The village planning commission is in the process of drafting a new sign ordinance which may end the problem.

According to Edward Thomson, head of the planning commission, the sign in question may be in conformance under the new ordinance as it's now written.

There is one other possible answer to the problem.

"In the near future, we hope to have the new sign ordinance adopted," he said. "They always have the option of going before the village's zoning board of appeals and asking for an exception until the ordinance is adopted."

At the Sept. 22 meeting, Clarkston's Village Council agreed unanimously to draft a letter to Reekwald asking him to remove the sign.

Where?

Still hanging a year and a half after the business is gone, the Clarkston Aquarium sign is the subject of conflict and debate.

Incumbent Floyd (Whitey) Tower

'I've worked the job, so I know the job'

By Marilyn Trumper

Democrat Floyd (Whitey) Tower sees experience as the best advantage in running for the seat of township supervisor.

Elected to the office in 1976, Tower's past political involvement includes five years on Independence Township's Planning Commission, two years on Clarkston's Village Council and he has served on the township's electrical board.

"It may sound too easy to say I've worked the job, so I know the job," Tower, 48, said. "But it's true. Over the years I've made contacts and I've learned the avenues to reach different agencies and solve problems in the township.

"I've worked long, hard hours. I've been dedicated and I've been responsive to citizen complaints," he said. "I've worked without the influence of interest groups—I make good, common sense decisions."

A township resident 39 years, Tower said he had seen great changes and growth, but he said the most important issues facing the area today are the economy and tax structure.

"In our township, funding is the biggest concern we have, and it'll be a tough two years ahead," he said.

"It will take common sense budgeting and handling. It's going to take a lot of fighting to get outside funding from state and federal sharing."

Tower said he sees the township being threatened by the proposed Tisch Amendment on the upcoming November ballot, and has prepared strategy to deal with the loss in money should the proposal pass.

"The Tisch Amendment is prorated to cut about 32 percent of our income. We're going to lose money and there will be cuts in service and employees," he said.

"There is always the priority problem when it comes to budget cuts. The public voted in police and fire, so cuts will have to come from the general fund and cuts will be distributed among departments."

Challenger James B. Smith

'I have the experience this township needs'

By Marilyn Trumper

James B. Smith, Republican candidate for Independence Township Supervisor, points to a need to get involved as his primary reason for running in this election.

"All of us are prone to criticize government and the bureaucracy, but we keep saying we don't want to get involved," he said.

"We always leave it to someone else—period. I have become involved, and am running for this office, because I think I have the experience and ability that this township needs.

"I think I can influence others to become involved in citizen volunteer rolls, and I hope to set a pattern for others in leadership and management positions to reinforce this office," he said.

Smith, 63, said if he is elected, his main strategy to generate public involvement would be the establishment of task committees.

"One of the things I've found out over the years I've been on boards, is that you establish task committees with the best people you can find, and ask them to address your concerns thoroughly," he said.

Smith's past political career includes eight years on the township's planning commission.

As president of Howard Smith Inc., he said he's learned the administrative experience necessary to qualify him for the job of supervisor.

My company works primarily with governmental agencies and the government requires business be conducted with cost-effectiveness in mind. It's absolutely essential," he said.

Smith's primary concern for the future of the township is the control of growth.

"We don't have control of our own growth. The question is: Is someone else going to control it, or are we going to have control of our future?"

"Unless we have a township government that is going to stand up and fight, we'll have another Southfield or Troy. It's going to take good economic development to have quality standards and a good master plan," he said.

Road situation critical; solid waste important

There are many other issues facing the township right now, he said, some are immediate and some will have to be dealt with and prepared for in the future.

"Our road situation is critical. The reduction in use of gasoline and the lighter cars have resulted in less money for the roads," he said.

The township's growth problem can only be handled with standards and constraints, he said.

"We can't keep people out, and we have to constantly monitor and relate to our master plan which is outdated," he said. "We need to take a look at the plan, update it and continue to look at it. Our zoning is always changing."

Solid waste disposal is an area Tower is strongly concerned about.

"Solid waste disposal is an important issue in this township," he said. "We no longer have a place in the township and currently we're using Rose Township and the Collier Road dump."

"Both have limited space and we'll have to address this issue. In the future, private collectors will have no place to go, and we did not join with the county when offered," he said. "Down the road this will be critical."

Moves for trailer park development in the township is another issue which bothers Tower. It is complicated by the fact that senior citizens on fixed incomes and young people cannot afford to buy homes," he said.

"We just turned down a proposal for a trailer park, but as the population grows, so will the need for housing, and national housing may mandate a push in this direction," he said. "In the same light, senior citizens and young people are being crippled by real estate costs."

The question of Independence becoming a charter township has been the subject of debate for some time, but Tower said he does not see an immediate need for that action.

"Right now I don't think we're big enough to go charter," he said. "With a population of 23,000, it's not really necessary at this point, I don't think."

"But it may be a good idea in the future, and I feel it should be brought up at the annual meeting and given to a vote of the people," he said.

In the same vein, the subject of hiring a township manager has been discussed, and Tower sees both pros and cons to the idea.

"The one problem I see with this immediately is the addition of another salary. But, the hiring of a manager to take over labor negotiations and employee grievances would be fine."

"If that were done, there would be less time-consuming of a work load for the supervisor and he could better deal with township business," he said.

Gravel enforcement dismal

Smith sees additional immediate and long range problems in Independence.

"There's the issue of solid waste disposal," he said. "We opted not to be a part of the county's. Ultimately we'll have to face the issue of solid waste disposal in this township. At the same time we should address the problem of municipal waste collection and disposal, perhaps on a contractual basis."

Proposals for gravel pits in the township is another issue Smith is concerned with.

"This is another area where we've seen good cooperation among township citizens. But we've had a dismal record in enforcement on existing violations. We have to have the foresight to avoid past crises."

Economics as it relates to police services is a future problem for the township, he said.

"Our public safety is probably as good as it can be as it's arranged now through the sheriff's department. But the citizens should be aware of rising costs and be willing to sacrifice service as we look to a better solution," he said.

Another problem, Smith said, is the shrinking gas tax revenue used to maintain our roads.

"One of the problems is finding enough money to improve roads. There is a 1/2-mill township proposal on the November ballot and that's a partial answer," he said.

"There is also the problem of senior citizen housing. It would be a travesty for us to allow these people who have been loyal contributing citizens to be forced out because they can't afford to live here."

Smith has definite ideas on the proposed Tisch Amendment.

"I don't feel it carries the benefits it claims, especially to senior citizens," he said. "I also feel its effect would be catastrophic in a community with expanding needs and population."

Smith said he intends to review the issue of Independence becoming a charter township.

"As I understand it from townships that have already gone charter, they did so for additional powers and economics."

"I've heard it spoken of highly and it bears investigation. I would establish a task committee to study and report on the prospects," he said.

Smith would also do the same thing on the question of a township manager for the township.

"I do not feel, at this time, that a full-time manager and supervisor would be economic. I believe it may be premature for us to be seriously considering a township manager. If elected, I'll name a task committee to study reports from the township's that have managers and of our own operations, and have them make a recommendation," he said.

CJH team shows real class

Dear Editor:

On Sept. 24, our Clarkston Junior High 9th grade football team traveled to Warren/Lincoln for a game.

During the game, our team was subjected to some of the worst verbal abuse I have ever heard.

We should all know that our boys showed real "class" by not lowering themselves to respond.

We have every reason to be proud of our team for this reason and also for the fact that their record is now 4-0.

Here's Herb

Winged winos

by Herb Rose

One of my friends who grows wine tells me the time-honored method of keeping the birds from the ripening grapes is to have the village women run through the vineyard screaming.

Unfortunately, it is difficult to convince the average liberated woman that bird screaming represents an achievement of some socio-economic pinnacle.

One option is to launch a weather balloon with an artificial hawk under it "making lazy circles in the sky." This plan works until either the birds decide "that thing won't bite" or the neighborhood MLU (mischievous little urching) cuts the tether.

Wine growers have been trying to develop a tether which, when cut, will snare the cutter.

Then they could still lose the balloon and the spurious eagle, but they would feel a warm inner glow at the sight of the MLU drifting off into the blue accompanied by the fervent prayer that he lands in Tibet where wine growing is a marginal enterprise and people may get their kicks with fermented yak milk.

It is also possible to install a cannon that fires at random intervals, but this system is not wonderfully popular with the neighbors.

A farmer might wake up in the middle of the night with the understandable misconception that his house is under attack, grab an old army rifle and run from window to window returning fire, while calling to his wife, "Hide in the basement, Marthy. I'll hold them off as long as I can."

In the morning, when he finds an assortment of farm animals in various states of disrepair, he may be a mite testy.

There is also an alarm system that broadcasts the agonized cry of a snared bird: "They've got me. Save yourself."

This system may work until some skeptical bird decides that he's just saying that in order to have more grapes for himself.

However, after three or four days of listening to a tape of an anguished bird, the neighboring farmer may stoically plod into the vineyard dragging a shotgun and pump the speakers full of buckshot.

There is another system that emits a signal that is inaudible to humans but maddening to birds. Unfortunately, it is not soothing to dogs and horses, either.

A puzzled farmer might remark: "You're not going to believe this, Marthy, but Old Nell is sitting in the lower branches of the oak tree holding her front feet over her ears."

As a last resort, the wine growers are forced to spread nets before the grapes are sweet enough to attract birds, but after the vines achieve the season's growth.

If the vines grow through the interstices, you can't remove the nets or the grapes and the birds chortle and point and tee-hee behind one wing.

The solution may be to develop a strain of birds that are winos who don't pick fruit, but will willingly weed and prune the vines and viciously attack non-drinking interlopers who dare to eat raw grapes before they can be turned into vino.

If it's a major fire or a minor oddity, we want a call at The News. 625-3370.

Ren Fest delights

by Kathy Greenfield

With each day's mail, comes a stack of promos extolling the wonders of numerous events.

Sometimes it's something that sounds too good to be as good as it sounds, like the Michigan Renaissance Festival now underway at Colomiere Center on Big Lake Road in Springfield Township.

Because it was so closeby, I decided to take some pictures for the paper.

To be honest, I expected the worst.

What I found was an absolute delight.

Nestled in the woods, the festival covers some 25 acres, parking is plentiful although in a field and it's the kind of event that disrupts little of the surrounding countryside peacefulness.

While listening to the plays that stressed audience participation, watching an entertaining puppet show and enjoying the British accents of the costumed hosts as they recreated 16th century England, my pessimism vanished.

I hesitate to compare it to an amusement park, but that's what comes to mind when family entertainment for a day is mentioned.

The Renaissance Festival seemed much more sophisticated and was certainly more fun than riding in circles on some mechanical thrill machine.

The festival is one of four in the country run by Festivals Inc., said one of the owners, Jim Peterson who lives in Minnesota.

The others are in Minnesota (it's about six years old), Missouri and Kansas.

He came to Detroit with the festival idea because he had been invited by someone connected with the Detroit Renaissance, Peterson said.

"I said it wouldn't work there," he said, talking about boat whistles and traffic noises and integrity.

He was contented with the Springfield Township location, because the only sounds festivalgoers could hear were the sounds of music, the street theater group's chatter and other ongoing entertainment.

"We have a tremendous emphasis on the history, a tremendous authenticity," he said. "It's frankly one of the few businesses I've seen where the more authentic you make it, the more successful it is."

It is his plan to continue with the festival for several years and to use Michigan talent and local employees, he said.

Members of the Clarkston High School Drama Club were there costumed in period styles and running a concession or two.

Behind the food stands were several students from Clarkston school district's Northwest Oakland Vocational Education Center.

There is an admission fee—$4.75 for adults, $1.50 for children 5 to 12 and it's free for those under age 5.

Hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. and it is to be open Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 4-5, 11-12 and 18-19.

Aside from making money eventually, Peterson said his motives are those of a history buff who's found his niche.

"It should be a tranquil walk in the woods," he said. "It's a pastoral scene. You get a feel for that era of history."

Bravo.

Jim's jottings

Like father, like son

by Jim Sherman

There's always a risk of turning off a great segment of people when you write about your family too often.

At the same time there are a few people who think a personal column by the newspaper publisher helps give a better understanding of the person at the helm.

Knowing the risk, we still take it. And, this personal column could well give an insight to the writer.

We haven't written much about our son, Jim, in recent years. At 26, single and out of sight we have very little one-on-one exposure.

Of course, there is Tuesday, the one day each week when he and the crew from the Davison Index come to our Oxford composition plant to put the paper together.

Jim has been "coming to the plant" since he was about 15. He's run the gamut. He's swept floors, bundled papers, cleaned presses, written sports, taken pictures of numerous subjects, sold a lot of advertising, sold subscriptions door-to-door, did keylining and set type.

He's had more experience than we did when we bought The Oxford Leader in 1955, our first newspaper.

While Jim was in college and after he left college we asked him to be sure he wanted to stay in newspaper work and, "Don't do it just because you think we want it. Do whatever you want, but like what you do."

Always he said he wanted to stay. Well, almost always. He had one offer to make a million dollars selling islands in the Fiji chain... seriously, he did. That was tempting.

When we bought The Davison Index in Nov. 1976, Jim said he'd like to go there and "make it go." The weekly paper was in serious financial difficulties.

Under his guidance the paper has more than doubled in number of pages, the format was changed completely, the circulation is nearly 10,000 though free, and it is a well accepted newspaper in the community.

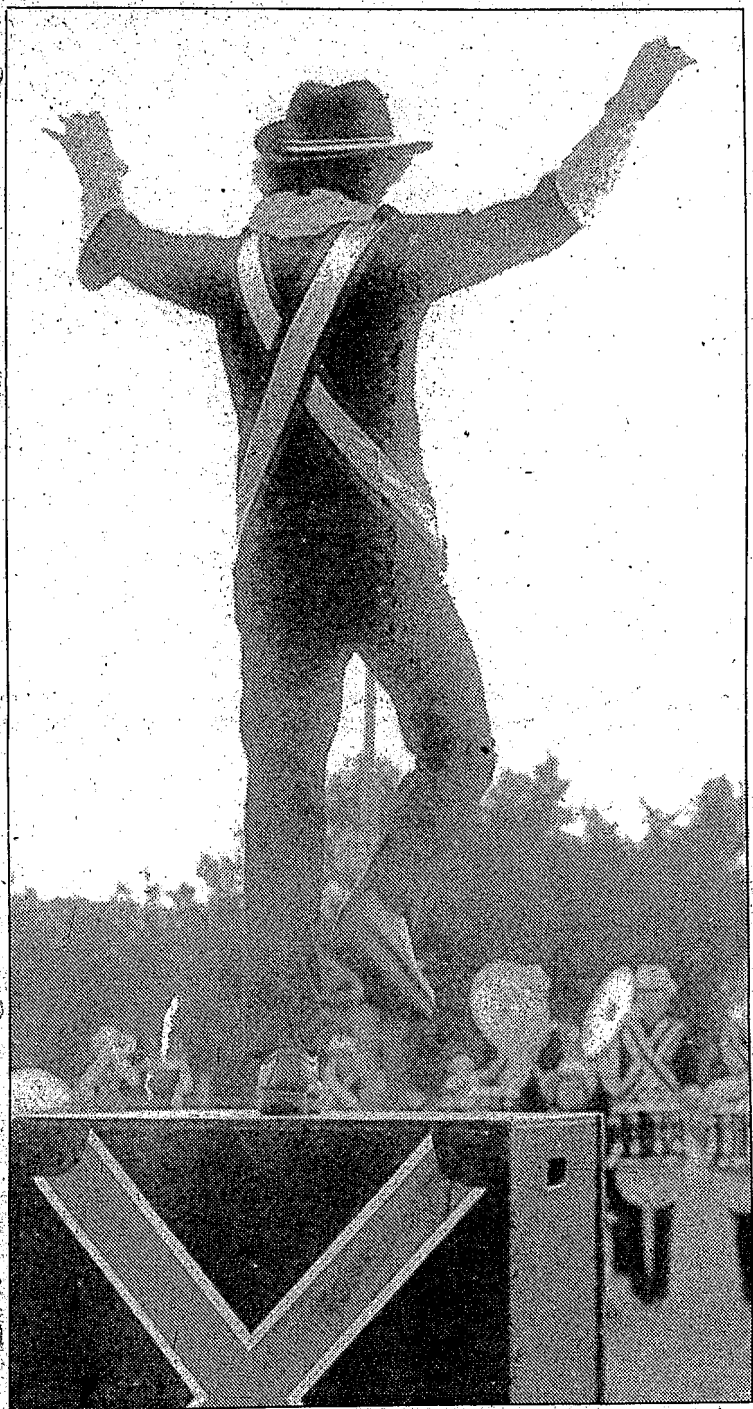

Since he'd done it all, we asked Jim if he wanted to own the paper.

That would really tell us if he was doing what he liked, not doing something to please the folks. Nothing like debt to bring out the truth.

We became warm and chilled at the same time as we sensed the turning of mental gears, saw a slight grin, and became convinced Jim really did like what he was doing... he wanted to buy The Index.

Certainly one of the things that makes parents most happy is to know that their children have chosen a field they truly enjoy. The fact that Jim chose the field that we enjoy so much, perhaps makes it more rewarding, but not much.

Band battle

Drum majors lead their bands during the Clarkston Invitational Marching Band Contest Saturday. Thirteen bands competed for trophies at the Clarkston High School athletic field. The Flint Powers Catholic High School Marching Band [above] won second-place honors in Class B. First place honors in Class B bands went to Montrose High School [pictured at left]. For a complete list of the winners, see Page 13. The CHS band hosted the event, so they could not compete, but the marching band members put on an exhibition performance at the end of the contest.

'If it Fitz. . .'

The only way to go

by Jim Fitzgerald

On a Saturday night early this summer, pianist Bob Milne and his band were playing Dixieland in the Woodbridge Tavern, the old-time saloon in whose famous shadow the lesser-known Renaissance Center was purposely built. I was fascinated by the drummer because he was the only person in the tavern who looked older than I did.

This doesn't happen often. As my wife frequently complains, I am forever dragging her into places where she immediately feels like the housemother. She accuses me of hanging around young people in hopes some of their Clearasil will rub off on me. This is an unfair accusation.

The truth is that I still remember the humiliating days when I was regularly kicked out of bars for not being 21 years old. I envied the mature, sophisticated people who could stride confidently into saloons without fear of being hassled for proof of their age. I vowed that when I finally reached the legal drinking age, I would never abuse the privilege by not exercising it.

Thirty-three years later, I am still fulfilling that vow. It isn't my fault most of my contemporaries are made of less sterner stuff, and have forgotten the painful discrimination of the old days when they were too young to do what they're too lazy to do today. It isn't always easy to sit around saloons when I could be home painting the bathroom, but someone has got to do it and, besides, a vow is a vow.

So it was while performing my sworn duty that I learned the skinny drummer was Karl (Doc) Mayers and he was 75 years old. He was also an unusually fine drummer. It turned out to be one of those nights when everything was perfect, especially the Dixieland, and especially Mayers. We met and talked, and I thanked him for looking older than I did.

Later, Bob Milne told me more about his drummer. Mayers had been suffering from cancer for three years. There was also a heart attack. Every Monday he underwent heavy medicinal treatment — the kind that knocks you down for days. He spent Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday recuperating, so he could come to the Woodbridge

Friday and Saturday nights "to thunder out Dixieland with the boys."

"There he was, every weekend, playing intricate rhythms that don't jump out and overpower you; playing an imitation of what the clarinet just played, playing a rhythm of three in one hand and four in the other, playing softer and louder to make the soloist sound even better than he is, playing over the body-breaking medicine he had to take four times a day, and playing until two in the morning like it was the first job he ever had," Milne said.

"Doc never complained about the pain. He always said he felt fine. He had class. The whole bar would come to its feet when one of his solos was through. The last night he played at the Woodbridge, I walked him out to his car, and he got a standing ovation from the time he got up to leave until we were out the door."

A few days later, Doc Mayers died.

"We loved him, and we'll miss him," Milne said. "There will no longer be a drum in the band, since we retired the position, so next time you come to the Woodbridge, Jim, bring your washboard. I'll try to show you how to play three with one hand, and four with the other, like Doc did."

I have a fine feeling about the last days of Doc Mayers. He didn't wither away in a nursing home, where he might have lived longer, but why? He did what he enjoyed doing and he did it exceptionally well until he could do it no longer, and then he left to a standing ovation from people who loved him.

I also have a fine feeling about the younger people who stood and applauded, the people like Bob Milne who walked Doc to his car on that last, warm night. They made a dying man feel good.

It was splendid to meet Doc Mayers, however briefly. The night I heard him drum was one night I was glad my youthful vow prevented me from staying home and painting the bathroom.

When I think about Doc, I'm reminded of other old folks and how I wish they could all bow out doing what they want to do, surrounded by people who make them feel good.

Think snow

A free snowmobile safety course, the first scheduled this season, is to be offered by the Oakland County Sheriff's Department Marine Division on Saturday, Oct. 11 and 18.

The class meets from 9 a.m. to noon at the Oakland County Law Enforcement Building in the Civil Defense Room, 1201 N. Telegraph, Pontiac.

Michigan State law requires a child between the ages of 12 and 16, while operating a snowmobile on property other than that owned by a parent or guardian, to have in his or her possession a snowmobile safety certificate.

Call the Marine Division at 858-4991 for further information and pre-registration.

Classes, tennis, hayrides

Exercise is for every season, say the folks at Springfield Oaks Activities Center, and there's no need to put on another layer of fat as cold weather sets in.

Exercise Works Best is a new addition to this fall's classes at the center located at 12451 Andersonville Rd. in Springfield Township.

The 10-week class begins Thursday, Oct. 9, from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m.

Other five-week-long evening classes begin Wednesday, Oct. 8. The list includes picture matting and framing; stained glass window panels, sun catchers and terrariums; basketweaving; and clowning.

Beginning Thursday, Oct. 7, 10-week dog formation and dog obedience classes are to be offered.

Six weeks of organized games supplied by the Oakland County Parks and Recreation Sports Mobile begin Oct. 7 as well, from 3:30 to 5 p.m. Cost is 25 cents per session.

Open tennis for $1 an hour and hayrides for groups by reservation are also available at Springfield Oaks.

For more information, pre-registration or reservations, call 625-8133.

Hunters.

Trade those rifles in for something else.

Anyone found using a rifle in Independence Township is committing a misdemeanor, a crime punishable by law.

At the Sept. 16 meeting, the Independence Township Board voted unanimously to ban the hunting or discharge of rifles in the township, except at target ranges.

The law becomes effective 30 days after publication in a newspaper, said Christopher Rose, township clerk.

The decision followed a recommendation from the hunting committee which said that the population of Independence had become too dense to safely fire a rifle bullet from which travel distances up to a mile.

The board of the Clarkston Community Historical Society, on behalf of its members, would like to thank the community for its support of the Sixth Annual Crafts and Cider Festival.

We are most grateful to the Village of Clarkston and Gar-

Wilson and, also, Independence Township and George Anderson and the Lakeview Cemetery for their help with grounds preparation and set-up.

The Society always receives many comments about the lovely park setting and the open friendly atmosphere it provides.

The participation of area civic groups always insures an interesting, successful fair. This year we are grateful to St. Daniel's Women's Guild, the Clarkston Village Players, the Clarkston Band Boosters, the Clarkston Senior High Mimes and the Clarkston Women's Farm and Garden Club.

We, also, owe thanks to the Clarkston News and other newspapers for their coverage which helped to make this year's attendance the best ever.

The festival was a great success. We enrolled 41 new members in the Society during the weekend and added $3,500 to our treasury. Both the new members and the funds will be of great help in our continuing preservation and education programs.

We are already looking forward to the next successful Crafts and Cider Festival, Sept. 18, 19, and 20, 1981.

Sincerely

Wolves romp; Lakers 'believe'

Shutout victory leaves Clarkston alone atop the GOAL

Clarkston's Karl Fritzinger [30] leaps to break up a pass attempt by West Bloomfield quarterback Kevin Asher [10]. Fritzinger led the Wolves rushing attack with 129 yards in his team's fourth straight victory.

By Al Zawacky

Dominic Livedoti is a believer. So is Mike Weigandt, Bill Apisa and every other enemy coach who has come up against the undefeated Clarkston High School varsity football team.

Livedoti, coach of the previously undefeated West Bloomfield Lakers, had a simple explanation for his team's 12-0 defeat at the hands of the high-flying Wolves in West Bloomfield Friday evening.

"We just made too many mistakes against a good football team," Livedoti said outside the Lakers' dressing room.

"I don't think we played very well, but that's not to take anything away from Clarkston. They deserved to win."

But Livedoti also added a caveat for the victorious Wolves: "The race (for the Greater Oakland Activities League title) certainly isn't over. I know we'll bounce back."

The contest was the fourth straight blue-chip performance by the Clarkston defense, which has surrendered just seven points all season.

The offense, meanwhile, showed its versatility by punching in two second-half touchdowns to ice the victory.

Dominated by the running of senior Mark Hughes the last few games, the Wolves' ground attack against West Bloomfield was led by senior fullback Karl Fritzinger, who rushed for 129 yards on 20 carries.

The running of Fritzinger combined with the aerial combination of quarterback Brad Sheldon and receiver Kevin Krause spelled doom for the Lakers.

"We couldn't stop their (Clarkston's) full back trap," Livedoti said. "They executed well and blocked well — they really blew us off the line."

The Wolves' broke the game's scoreless deadlock in the third quarter on a 21-yard pass from Sheldon to Krause in the end zone.

The two-point conversion run failed, but Clarkston added to the lead in the final stanza on Sheldon's 3-yard burst across the goal line.

Another two-pointer was tried and failed, but it really didn't matter. Although the Lakers penetrated deep into Clarkston territory late in the game, turnovers ended the threats.

Kurt Norman recovered a Laker fumble and Steve Wyckoff intercepted a stray enemy pass to seal West Bloomfield's fate.

Wolves' head coach Walt Wyniemko praised the work of Fritzinger, Krause, Sheldon and his parsimonious defense — especially ends Wyckoff and Mike Ogans and the entire secondary.

But from there the coach's thoughts quickly turn to GOAL opponent Lake Orion, who will play the Wolves at Clarkston's homecoming this Friday evening.

"I'm not worried about a let-down (after the big West Bloomfield win)," Wyniemko said. "But I am hoping that we don't get all involved in the homecoming frills."

"Sometimes homecoming games can get all involved in the homecoming activities — which are fine, but we can't forget our real purpose in being there — the football game."

The Point After

by Al Zawacky

Wolves winning games—and respect, too

WEST BLOOMFIELD — It was very quiet in West Bloomfield High School Friday night.

While the Clarkston gridders noisily celebrated their 12-0 win aboard the team buses, the only audible sounds in the corridor outside the Laker dressing room was the hiss of the showers and an occasional slam of a locker. A "Beat Clarkston" sign hung lopsided near the entrance, looking very forlorn, very anti-climatic.

It's always like that when you lose.

The eerie silence was broken when West Bloomfield Coach Dom Livedoti entered the building, confronting the three sports writers patiently waiting for him at the dressing room entrance.

"Well gentlemen, fire away,"

Livedoti said.

It was the most disappointing night of the season for the man, but he still managed to smile. Somehow, it is easier to lose to an opponent you respect.

And respect is a commodity Coach Walt Wyniemko and his Clarkston Wolves are earning in abundance this season.

"I FELT WALT has his kid prepared tonight," Livedoti said. "They (Clarkston) executed well, blocked well and really blew us off the line."

"I'm not saying we were out-coached — but we definitely were out-played."

Wyniemko, meanwhile, savored the biggest win of his Clarkston coaching career only briefly. It didn't take long for his thoughts to shift to Friday's homecoming contest against Lake Orion.

YOU CAN'T HELP but feel good for this man, a man who stoically endured a season of criticism last fall in his freshman year at the helm of the Clarkston football program.

Wyniemko never uttered an angry word, even though no one would have blamed him for it. He let his coaching and his program do the talking. Now he is 4-0, and where are his critics hiding?

"The thing about football is that it's a one-shot deal," he said, pondering the fact that the season is almost half over. "In any other sport you get the chance to face an opponent two, three, maybe even four times."

"West Bloomfield would probably like another shot at us — but they're not going to get it. We've got Lake Orion Friday — one game, and that's

it. If we lose, we're not going to get another chance."

Like their coach, the Clarkston players seem to have that quality of looking ahead, always ahead to their next win instead of resting on past laurels.

Before the Wolves' buses left the West Bloomfield parking lot Friday night, a chant began in one of them — muffled at first, but quickly growing in volume to a deafening crescendo:

"Lake Orion! Lake Orion! LAKE ORION!"

Right then, I felt a little sorry for Coach Doug Holcomb and his Lake Orion Dragons — who seem destined to be the fifth course in what could be a nine-course meal entitled "The Year of the Wolf."

Cagers clip Mott; blasted by Kettering

By Al Zawacky

An ambulance might have been a more appropriate mode of transportation for the Clarkston High School girls' basketball team Thursday night.

Suffering from a range of illnesses and injuries that included everything from a broken hand to the flu, the Clarkston team bus departed Waterford Kettering after the Wolves had endured a 75-35 loss, easily their worst defeat of the season.

The loss dropped Coach Dave McDonald's cagers to 1-1 in the Greater Oakland Activities League race and 3-2 overall.

"That particular night they (Kettering) were a good 20 points better than us," McDonald said. "That combined with all the other things that happened.

"We just had some key people not playing well, and they (Kettering) just took it to us."

Lisa Forsyth was the standout in the Wolves stats, scoring a team-high 14 points and pulling down nine rebounds. Teammate Annette Ulasich chipped in with a nine point effort.

Two nights earlier the Wolves led all the way to down Waterford Mott in a non-league game, 45-40.

Tracee Antos led a balanced Wolves' attack with 13 points, while Forsyth and Lynette Whitehead contributed 11 and 10 points respectively. Lynn McCormick was Clarkston's leading rebounder, cleaning the boards nine times.

"We played well," McDonald said of the Mott victory. "We had a chance to put them away, but they kept coming back and keeping the score close.

"Kettering was the first time we've looked bad all season — up to then we've played good games. I'm not worried."

Whitehead was the unlucky victim of the broken hand. The injury required a cast, but it remains uncertain how long the Wolves will be without her services, said McDonald.

"She was playing really well for us," McDonald said. "Having her out has got to affect us."

On Sunday the Clarkston High School Band played for over 80,000 fans at the post-game show following the Lion's rousing victory at the Silverdome. The Band put on an inspired performance and enjoyed themselves completely. Both as spectators and performers.

COMING UP: A 5,000 and 10,000 meter run to benefit the band. Organized by CHS Senrion Ed McInnis, the race is to be held on Oct. 12th beginning at 1 p.m. Entry fee is $2.00 for the 5,000 meter race and $3.00 for the 10,000 meter race for those who pre-register, and $2.50 and $3.50 respectively, for registration the day of the race. C'mon out and do some fancy foot work for the Band!

Many thanks to this week's sponsors . . .

Wolverines bomb Warren

By Al Zawacky

Like a time bomb with a delayed-action fuse, the Clarkston Junior High football team finally blew up last week.

Warren-Lincoln Junior High was the victim.

"We reached our potential — and that's what we've been waiting for," said CJH head coach John of his team's 46-0 victory, putting them at 4-0 on the year.

"We've been winning, but we weren't playing well, they (Warren-Lincoln) weren't that strong, but the way we were playing I think we could have scored 30 or 40 points against anybody."

Indeed, the Wolverines played their second string offense in the entire second half and part of the first, the back-up unit responded by scoring three of their team's six touchdowns.

Clarkston TDs were scored by Tim Parke on a 3-yard run; Rob Mortimore on a 13-yard run; Parke again on a passing play good for 38 yards from teammate Craig Kulaszewski; Larry Thelmas on a 5-yard run; Mike Harbaugh on a 3-yard run; and Lee Boyd on a 4-yard run.

The Wolverines converted on five of the six PAT attempts, with successful conversion runs chalded up by Parke, Boyd, Harbaugh, Ted Louse and Bill Hudler.

Cougars battle to tie

By Al Zawacky

Sashabaw Junior High's football team could feel both good and bad about its 6-6 tie with Oxford last week.

Bad because Sashabaw led throughout much of the game, but good in view of Oxford's size and record.

"Oxford was undefeated going into the game," said SJH assistant coach Jim Smith. "It was a real good game all the way."

Sashabaw scored the game's first touchdown on a 3-yard run by Mark Cummings in the second quarter, but Oxford came back to gain the tie with a fourth-quarter TD.

The dominance of both team's defensive units was reflected in the statistics. The Cougars totaled just 140 yards offense, 80 on the ground and 60 in the air.

Lance Walenski, Mike Goodsell and Don Fischer were three of SJH's defensive standouts, Smith added.

Odds are...

"The best prophets are those who guess well..."

— Euripides

So I guessed wrong last week. With these prognostications, the pigskin prophet will redeem himself.

LAKE ORION at CLARKSTON (Oct. 3): Lake Orion's winless record is a little deceiving. The Dragons have played some pretty good ball games — at least on defense.

Offensively though, Lake Orion has been struggling. It's difficult to imagine a scenario in which the Dragons put more than seven points on the board against the highly efficient Clarkston defense.

And the Wolves' offense has proven itself to be more than adequate. CLARKSTON by 16.

MILFORD at KETTERING: The Redskins can score, but the defense is shabby. The Captains will capitalize. KETTERING by 11.

ROCHESTER at WEST BLOOMFIELD: Rochester's born-again offense will sputter. Coming off a disappointing defeat, the Lakers will be especially hungry. WEST BLOOMFIELD by NINE.

JVs rip West Bloomfield, 19-6

Led by a 70-yard, two-touchdown performance by running back Bruce Dale, the Clarkston High School JV football team posted its third win of the season Thursday.

The Wolves downed the Lakers of West Bloomfield 19-6 to up their overall record to 3-1 and Greater Oakland Activities League mark to a perfect 2-0.

Clarkston opened the scoring in the first quarter on a 70-yard punt return by Dale. Willie Williams followed with the extra point kick and the Wolves led 7-0.

The Wolves scored twice in the third quarter to put the game away as quarterback Kevin Brown plunged in from the one on a sneak and Dale scampered 39 yards into the endzone on a fullback screen pass from Brown.

West Bloomfield tallied its lone touchdown with just minutes remaining to spoil the shutout.

In addition to Dale's 70 yards, Clarkston also picked up strong running performances from Jim Walker (65 yards) and Brian Davies (45 yards). The Wolves gained a total of 216 yards rushing, while Brown was five for 18 through the air for 87 yards.

Defensive standouts for Clarkston included John LaPorte, Pat Rausch, George Diehl, Greg Seddon and Williams.

Talking about . . .

On Main Street, Clarkston, we asked this week's question:
Do you believe in ghosts?

"No I don't. I don't have any reason why not, but I might believe in ghosts if I saw one."—Richard Charter, Peach Road, Independence Township, detective with the Michigan State Police.

"No, I believe in God. I don't think God would permit people to come back. I don't believe in reincarnation either." Mary Van Schoick, Waldon Road, Clarkston, seamstress.

"No. When I think of ghosts all I can think of is Halloween, and that's fictitious. Ghosts are a fabrication."—Robert C. Anthony, Pontiac, automotive design engineer.

"In a way I guess I do. There has to be something after death. It would explain the unexplainable."—Jill Green, Ascension Road, Independence Township, housewife.

"No, I guess I just believe in what you can see and feel. Ghosts are a figment of people's imagination." Ernie Slade, M-15, Clarkston, data processing manager.

The newest water sports option for vacationers heading to Nassau and Paradise Island is windsurfing. This is an activity that combines the elements of sailing, surfing and skiing. The windsurfer stands on an unsinkable board, hauls the mast and sail from a horizontal to a vertical position, and by manually changing the sail's angle to the wind, skims across the open water. The warm, placid waters around Nassau and Paradise Island, the trade winds and the fine weather contribute to excellent windsurfing conditions year round.

If you plan to vacation this winter Nassau may be the place for you. Take the time to come in and talk over your travel plans with our consultants at CLARKSTON TRAVEL BUREAU INC., 6 N. Main St., 625-0325. We are conveniently located in downtown Clarkston with ample parking. We have over 14 years of experience serving the traveling public. Street dance, auction to assist United Way

There'll be dancing, an auction and community camaraderie when the Clarkston Business Association and the United Way join forces on Saturday, Oct. 11.

The two groups are sponsoring a fund raiser for the United Way, that serves 51 non-profit area agencies, at Ritter's Farm Market, 6684 Dixie Highway, Independence Township.

Admission will be $1 a person. The event is to begin at 7:30 p.m.

The auction will feature items donated by area businesses and some celebrity auctioneers are to be on hand.

Street dancing to the music of the 1894 National Washboard Co. Band will add a gala touch to the event.

Beer, wine and munchies will be sold.

The village business association decided to join forces with United Way, because "we thought it sounded like fun, something the community could get involved in," said Carol Eberhardt, president of the association.

"The premise on which we're running our campaign this year is: Let's Enjoy It," added Jeanette Morrison, community division chairperson for United Way.

All money made during the fund raiser is to go to organizations in north Oakland County.

It's a rain-or-shine event complete with tents for shelter. Those who wish to attend may buy tickets that evening or purchase them in advance at several Clarkston businesses — One

More Time, Country Greens, Village Needlecrafts or Christie's of Clarkston Mills.

Retirement luncheon

A party honoring Margaret Turk, head cook at Clarkston Junior High School who is retiring, is planned Friday, Oct. 10.

More spending time at Independence Oaks

Attendance at Independence Oaks County Park reached new heights this year.

Tallies taken from Jan. 1 through Sept. 20 show an increase of 7,819 people for day use, up from 108,368 in 1979 to 116,187 this year.

Park Supervisor Ray Delasko attributes the increase to several factors.

"More people are moving out to the area and less people are going up North," he said. "I think the price of gas has a lot to do with it."

Day campers and overnight users also grew this year, he said, noting that the figures are tabulated separately.

In 1979, there were 7,720 day campers and 1,696 overnights. This year, the day camp total was 9,600 and overnights were 2,655.

The park may be used for camping by organized youth groups and not by adult groups, Delasko said.

Yearly vehicle permits which cost $7 a car were up as well. Last year 2,300 were sold and this year, 2,826.

Of that number, the highest had Clarkston mailing addresses — 982 in 1980.

"That was by far the largest percentage of all permits sold,"

he said, adding that the next highest was Pontiac with 782, then Drayton Plains with 284.

Usage of the park for group picnics is one area where the increase has been large, Delasko said.

The larger numbers were probably because the park allows alcoholic beverages, he said.

Although state parks have banned alcohol because of problems with drinkers, Independence Oaks has had few problems, because the park is well patrolled, he said.

Business is slow Saturday, but Jane Acton of Independence Township keeps busy by cleaning out the pedal boats that are for rent at Independence Oaks County Park. Rowboats and canoes are also for rent at the park through mid-October, then they're taken out of the water to prepare the way for the skating rink that operates at the site in the winter. For information on boat rentals, call the park at 625-0877. Boat rental fees for senior citizens are cut in half weekdays and the park also waives the admission fee for senior citizens Monday through Friday.

Clarkston Village Players kick-off new season

Celebration with a pleasing touch of déjà vu surrounds the Clarkston Village Players' season which opens Friday, Oct. 3.

The delightful comedy, "No Sex Please, We're British" was done by the Players five years ago, and the other three plays are also repeats of past successes as the community theater group marks its 20th anniversary.

Several cast members in "No Sex Please..." and director Pat Thomas are assuming their roles the second time around as well.

The play was the most frequently requested for a repeat performance, Thomas said.

"When we did it the first time, we had full houses and many people didn't have a chance to see it," she said. "We hope the ones who saw it enjoyed it and will come back."

All the cast members agree the play is funny to see and fun to perform.

"We still laugh," said Sandy

Sanford, who plays Francis Hunter.

Perhaps the biggest surprise in redoing their roles, however, was that it was just as hard to learn the lines.

"In fact, there are things about the story I didn't remember," said Carol Arend who plays Eleanor Hunter.

Hugh Rose, who is Peter Hunter in the play, said it was time for him to appear on the Village Players' stage again and he enjoyed being in it the first time.

"It's a very, very funny play," he said.

"No Sex Please, We're British" is to appear on stage at the Depot Theatre on White Lake Road, Independence Township, on Oct. 3, 4, 5, 10 and 11.

Tickets are $3.50 and they may be purchased at Tierra Arts and Design on Main Street, Clarkston, or call 363-0188.

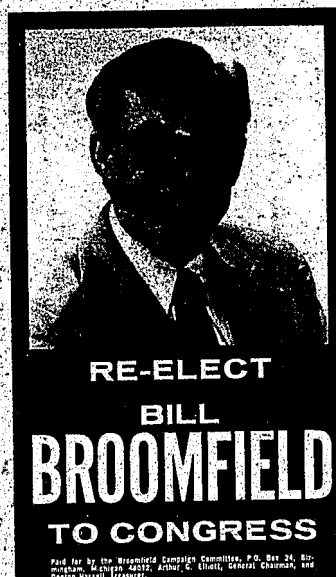

A newly married couple, played by Hugh Rose [left] and Sandy Sanford, receive an assist from a timid chief bank cashier [center] played by Scott Myers in ridding their home of undesirable printed material.

Seals discover lakefront sanctuary

Country Living

by Marilyn Trumper

A canal leading off Greens Lake flows slowly up to the backyard of Floyd and Belinda Seal.

This month, the couple's speed and pontoon boats sit lonely at the water's edge. It's October and summer's over.

Only the warm-blooded or daring venture out for water skiing now.

"But next summer," Belinda, 31, sighed, "next summer I'll be water skiing again."

With the couple's expectation of the birth of their second child, Belinda's summer activity season was cut short.

Jody was born just three weeks ago, Belinda said smiling.

When the Seals moved to Bronco Road in Independence Township, they had dreams of building on a lakefront.

"There just wasn't any vacant lakefront land available," Floyd, 31, said. "Then we found this spot and decided this was it."

They agree now they couldn't have chosen a better place to raise their family.

"When we had the house built it was a combination of things that made us decide this was it," Floyd said. "The village of Clarkston so near was one thing. The fact that it was a dead-end street and private and the canal was a big part of it."

Jessica, 4, the Seals' older daughter, enjoys the canal with the best of them.

She giggles, admitting that while she swims in the canal with the aid of a life jacket, she always takes a rubber duckie.

Belinda discovered extra pluses after moving in.

"Our neighbors are the greatest," she said. "In Madison Heights we only knew a few people, the people next door and across the street."

"Here, because it's a dead-end street, we know everybody in the 50 homes and it's great. The homeowner's association has pig roasts, clam bakes and annual picnics and we all get together."

"They'll watch the kids so others can have a night out, and this summer when I couldn't pick the vegetables in the garden because I was pregnant, they'd come and pick them and leave the vegetables on the doorstep," she said.

When Jody was born, neighbors even hung pink streamers and balloons on the mailbox and a congratulations sign on the garage door.

"There's just a world of difference here than from where we used to live," Floyd said.

Floyd, a CPA, bought into the partnership of Mellen, Seal, & Pivoz about five years ago.

"Another great thing about living here is the fact that I can bring out clients and entertain them. It's not crowded and it's private."

He's also active in the Clarkston Rotary Club and considers it a good way to express interest in the business community.

"When I moved out here I didn't know a soul," he said. "But through the Rotary I've been able to meet people and become familiar with the area."

On the west side of the canal is a bird sanctuary. Rustic, wild and wooley it rises up to provide a backdrop only nature could provide.

"The best thing about the sanctuary is that no one will be able to build behind us," Floyd said.

The Seals enjoy watching the different birds, and remark about the ducks. But one special bird, a Blue Heron, is spoken of with pride.

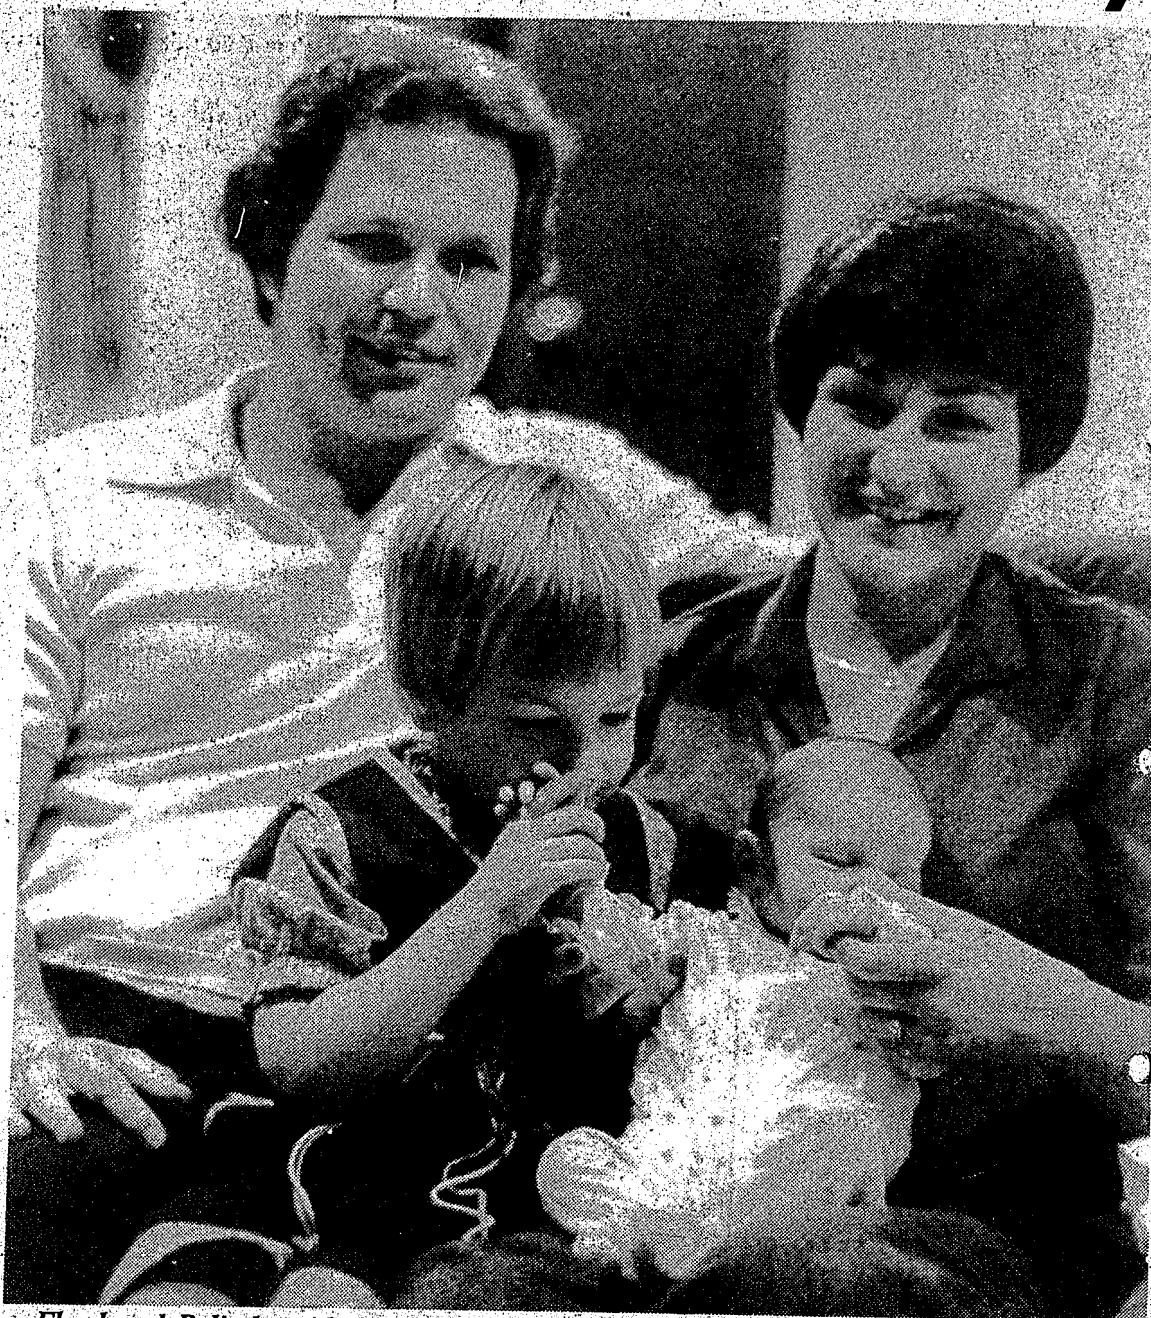

"He's been here for awhile," Belinda said. "And he's beautiful. But the one thing I worry about is someone shooting him."

"We called the Department of Natural Resources, and while they're helpful, they haven't any solutions," she said. "I'd like to see hunting outlawed on Greens Lake."

Until a year ago, Belinda taught office procedures at Clarkston High School. Formerly she taught in the Warren School District.

"I really enjoyed teaching at Clarkston," she said. "Office was not a required class, so the kids who took the class took it because they wanted to learn."

"That always makes it easier to teach and easier for the kids to learn," she said.

Floyd and Belinda and their oldest daughter Jessica, are excited about the newest family member, three-week-old Jody.

Floyd does not fit any of the stereotypical pictures drawn about CPA's.

To prove it, he laughed and announced he's a drummer in a band.

"I've been playing with the same guys for about 17 years," he said. "We're called 'Fire and Rain,' and I get calls all the time about performing."

"But I turn them down because I want to keep it on a strictly hobby basis," he said.

Floyd said the band plays rock and roll, and laughingly admits they know "one or two polkas."

At the mention of rock and roll, Jessica comes alive.

At four, she's an avid Bob Seger fan, discussing song titles and how she loves to dance.

"When Bob Seger comes on," she said with wide eyes, "I get on my horse and I bounce."

A springed rocking horse sits in the living room corner, and Jessica proceeds to demonstrate.

Floyd and Belinda enjoy sharing a game of racquet ball and downhill skiing.

"I've been so out of everything lately that it's time to get back in shape," she laughs.

"It won't be much longer and I'll be active again. But there are some things worth waiting for," she said, looking down at 3-week-old Jody.

In a corner of the Seals' living room rests a treasured bouncing horse—a passion of Jessica's. While in the saddle, she bounces to the music of her favorite rock-n-roller, Bob Seger.

Hey kids:

It's Halloween party time

Ghosts and goblins, witches and warlocks, butterflies and beetles and all costumed kids up to sixth grade can start planning for a Halloween party.

On Saturday, Oct. 25, from 1 to 2:30 p.m., the Friends of the Independence Township Library host the annual event. Admission is free.

The party is to take place at the Episcopal Church of the Resurrection, across the street from the library, this year because of its popularity in years past.

Prizes are to be awarded for the most imaginative costumes and refreshments will be served.

In addition, special Halloween films are to be shown, including "Ghosts and Ghouls," "Georgie to the Rescue" and "Great Moments in Sports."

For more information, call the library at 625-2212.

Boxing exhibition planned

The Michigan Boxing Club is to stage a boxing exhibition at the Pine Knob Ski Lodge Saturday.

Tickets will be available at the door. Prices are $4 for adults and $3 for students for the event, which gets underway at 1 p.m.

Amateur boxers ranging in ages from 10 to 25 are to compete in 15-round bouts. Boxers from Pontiac, Flint, Detroit, Owosso, Rochester and other areas are to participate.

Proceeds from the event will go to the Michigan Boxing Club to help finance equipment and travel expenses.

PAUL'S POINTERS Which Pipe To Use

The first problem encountered by the home plumber is knowing what to ask for when you get to the hardware store. Get the right pipe.

Galvanized Iron, for all water connections, uses a threaded connection.

Black Iron, for gas connections, also uses a threaded connection.

Hard Copper, Commonly used in 1/2" and 3/4" sizes in residential water systems, connections made with a solder joint.

Soft Copper Tubing, Can be used for water (such as connecting an ice maker) or gas connections. Connections made with a compression fitting for water or a flare fitting for gas.

Get the right size:

Most iron and hard copper is measured by inside diameter (I.D.).

Most soft copper tubing is measured by outside diameter (O.D.).

When buying soft copper tubing ask for 1/2" tubing. When buying iron or hard copper ask for 1/2" pipe.

60th anniversary

Rawley and Donna Hallman of Independence Township recently celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary with a party and family reunion in Sebring, Fla. Over 100 family members and friends joined the Hallmans in the celebration and guests came from as far away as Montreal, Canada, New Jersey and Pennsylvania. The couple was married Sept. 15, 1920 in Yale. They have lived at their home on M-15 for the past 20 years. The parents of four children—Keith, Marilyn Hansen, Karol Darling and the late Alison—they have 18 grandchildren and 16 great-grandchildren.

Recipe File

By Lorna Bickerstaff

Volney Shafer brought in his wife's Zucchini Cake recipe. Mrs. Shafer freezes grated zucchini in 2 cup containers so she can make the cake in the winter. Volney and Inez live in Springfield Township.

Zucchini Cake

- 2 c. flour
- 2 c. sugar
- 2 t. baking soda
- 1 t. baking powder
- 1 t. salt
- 2 t. vanilla
- 1 T. cinnamon (heaping)
- 1 c. oil
- 3 eggs
- 2 c. grated zucchini (unpeeled)
- 1 c. raisins
- 1 1/2 c. nuts (divided)

In large bowl combine all ingredients but the last three. Beat at medium speed until well mixed. Stir in zucchini, raisins and half of the nuts. Pour into greased 13x9x2 inch pan. Sprinkle remaining nuts over top. Bake 350 degrees for 50 minutes. Cake may be frozen.

Condon, Burr exchange vows

Kathleen Sue Condon and Craig Edward Burr exchanged marriage vows recently at the All Saints Episcopal Church, Pontiac.

The Rev. Roger Derby performed the afternoon ceremony.

The bride, a Republic Airlines flight attendant, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Condon of Grand Rapids.

Her husband, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Burr of Bluegrass Drive, Independence Township, is an administrative assistant in residence marketing for Michigan Bell Telephone Co.

Given in marriage by her parents at the Aug. 16 wedding, the bride wore a white knit, sheer wedding gown with a Queen Ann neckline, re-embroidered French lace yoke, bishop sleeves, full accordion-pleated skirt and chapel-length train.

She wore a Juliet cap with a fingertip veil accented with Venise and Alencon lace. Her bouquet was pink roses, baby's breath and stephanotis.

Maid of honor was Susan Condon of Grand Rapids. Bridesmaids were Cheryl Stahl of Grand Rapids, Carol Burr of Clarkston and Susan Heyman of Ypsilanti.

The bridesmaids wore gowns

of pink polyester lacy knit fabric with sweetheart necks, drawstring shoulders, blouson tops and accordion-pleated skirts.

Nancy Little served as the bride's personal attendant.

Best man was Karney Yakmalian. Other groomsmen were Mark Burr, Gilbert Schmidt, Steve Yackey, Michael Condon and Robert Condon.

The wedding reception for the new Mr. and Mrs. Burr was held at Stevens Hall in the church. About 250 guests attended the party.

The couple honeymooned at Maui, Hawaii.

They are residing in Farmington Hills.

Ward, Stefanski wed at Colombiere

Now six share anniversary dates

Janet Dorothy Stefanski and Michael James Ward were wed Sept. 27 at the chapel in Colombiere Center, Clarkston.

Both sets of parents celebrated their 28th wedding anniversaries the same day.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stefanski of Oakhill Road, Clarkston, were married at St. Rita's in Detroit. Mr. and Mrs. Neil Ward of Waterford Township were married at St. Vincent de Paul's in Pontiac.

The bride, a 1975 graduate of Our Lady of the Lakes High School in Waterford Township, graduated from Ferris State College in 1977. She was employed by Birmingham-Bloomfield Board of Realtors as a graphic artist.

Her husband, a 1974 Our Lady of the Lakes graduate, completed his studies at Central Michigan University in 1978. He is employed by Precision Twist Drill of Crystal Lake, Ill. as a district sales manager.

Their wedding, performed by the Rev. James Cronk at 5:30 in the afternoon, was attended by about 300 guests.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of antique ivory satin and beaded lace with a cathedral train. She carried white sweetheart and red miniature roses and stephanotis.

Maid of honor was Denise Foran of Waterford Township. Sister of the bride, Susan Stefanski of Clarkston; Susan Salas of Pontiac; Maria Salmons of Pontiac; and sister of the bridegroom, Kathleen Ward of Waterford Township, served as bridesmaids.

They wore teal green gowns with croquet bodices and pleated skirts and carried ivory Spanish fans decorated with silk flowers.

The bridegroom's brother, Louis B. Ward served as best man. Other attendants were David Stefanski, Michael Stefanski, Kevin Ward and Patrick Ward.

The reception was held at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Independence Township.

Among the wedding guests were another couple celebrating their 33rd anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bandura of Streator, Ill.

Resale shop sells nostalgia for up-to-date styles

Amid a floating ceiling of hats, an aged dress and fine lace gowns, Kay Callen [left] and Vicki Moon stand inside their new resale shop, "Lady and the Tramp."

Shades of the '20s, '30s and '40s!

Not just colors and prints but textures, styles and all the flash associated with the three decades.

That's what Lady and Tramp has to offer.

The men and women's resale shop is located at 5963 Dixie Highway, Independence Township, and is filled with beaded sweaters, laced blouses and padded shoulder jackets with fur collars.

"Lady and Tramp denotes that it's both a men and women's resale shop," said co-owner Kay Callen. "We think of it as nostalgic, vintage — it's very old stuff."

According to partner Vicki Moon, the merchandise was for the most part acquired through estate sales.

"That's why it's so fancy with the beads and fur collars. The women who originally wore this clothing had money," she said.

"Fashion-wise, and money-wise, you get a better deal here than if you'd pay for it in a regular store. It's also made better," Vicki said.

Most importantly the owners agree, no one else can wear what you're wearing, because there's not another one like it anywhere.

The shop also offers, skirts, coats, gowns, shoes, purses, jewelry and belts for women.

The ceiling is covered with hats, trimmed with veils, silk roses, velvets and laces, creating a unique showplace.

The men's shop ceiling is covered with dozens of bow ties.

For men, the shop offers pants, ties, jackets and even an old army fatigue outfit.

Vicki and Kay will buy clothing from the public, but only on an appointment basis, they stressed.

Lady and the Tramp is open Saturday from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Monday and it's closed Sundays. through Wednesday, 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. Thursday and Friday, 623-9605. For information phone

1st year celebration

Business briefs

Independence Township resident Donald C. Brockman has been appointed a director of Ellis/Naeyaert/ Genheimer Associates Inc. of Troy, an architectural and engineering firm.

Also appointed as a director was James Page of Rochester.

Brockman was recently named vice president of the firm as well. He has 16 years' experience in facility planning, material handling systems and conveyor systems design experience.

He and his wife Lynn and their two children reside on Mustang Drive.

Lovett Jewelers Inc. recently gained membership in the American Gem Society, an organization of fine jewelers throughout the United States and Canada.

Donald Lovett, a gemologically-trained jeweler, passed the required courses for AGS membership. He was required to prove skills in evaluating gemstones and grading diamonds.

Lovett Jewelers is located at 20 W. Washington Street, Clarkston, inside the Clarkston Mills shopping mall.

The store is now one of 1,600 firms which has gained acceptance into the society.

Activities outside the Independence-Clarkston-Springfield area

Over 100 energy-related exhibits will be on display in the 1980 Eastern Michigan Energy Exposition in Flint now through Oct. 5.

Hours are 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. through Saturday and noon to 6 p.m. on Sunday at the IMA Sports Arena, Center Road at I-69.

Admission is $2 for adults and $1 for senior citizens and students. Children 12 and under are admitted free.

Parking is $1 for cars and $2 for buses.

Exhibits, movies and live entertainment will highlight products, services and methods to help families and businesses discover alternative energy sources, conserve energy and save money on utility bills.

An Open house is planned Thursday, Oct. 2, by the Neighborhood Child Care Center which recently moved from Pontiac to the Drayton Plains School, 3000 Sashabaw, Drayton Plains.

The center offers a pre-school program for children ages 2½ through 6 based on learning through play.

Open house hours are from 5:30 through 8:30 p.m.

For more information, call 333-3623 or 673-1721.

Youngsters 3 through 10 have entertainment lined up just for them at the new series of Children's Performances to begin Nov. 9 at the Somerset Mall in Troy.

The four-show series includes: Tom Glazer, Folksinger, New York on Nov. 9; Other Things and Co. from Oakland University on Jan. 11; Craig Babcock, Mime, Washington, D.C. on March 8; and Peter Pan, presented by the Nicolo Marionettes on May 3.

Price for the complete series is $10 and performances are at 3:30 p.m. each Sunday.

For more information, call 642-1452 or send a check to "Lively Arts for Little Ones," 2801 Somerset Mall, Troy 48084.

Christmas before Halloween? Carpenter Elementary School thinks so and is gearing up for its annual Christmas Craft Bazaar, scheduled for Oct. 25 between 11 a.m. and 3 p.m.

The school is located at 2290 Flintridge Rd., Orion Township, just off Joslyn Road.

Venders wishing to sell crafts are asked to reserve tables for a $10 fee.

Refreshments will be sold and a game room will be available to capture the attention of kids only, while mothers shop.

For more information or for table rental reservations, phone Pat LaLone at 391-1312.

Visit Upland Hills Farm's pumpkin patch — all 16 acres of it — and pick out a Halloween jack-o-lantern in the rough.

The October Pumpkin Festival offers other activities like hayrides, pony rides, a haunted house, crafts demonstrations and a farm tour.

Hours are 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturdays and Sundays throughout the month.

Admission is $1 for children and $1.50 for adults. Haunted house tickets are 75 cents a person, pony rides 50 cents and hayrides $1.

The pumpkins cost from $1 to $10 depending on size.

Food will also be sold during the festival, or families may bring their own picnics.

Coping with kids

by Jim Windell

Teens' difficult quests to become individuals

Why do teenagers rebel against their parents? And why don't they talk and let us know what they're feeling? Why do they always go against what their parents say and the values their parents hold?

The following quotes from an articulate, bright and insightful teenage girl, brought for counseling because she has used marijuana and has threatened to run away, seems to sum up what a significant number of adolescents apparently go through.

"A lot of times I can't talk to Mom and Dad and they think I don't care. I don't talk, but then why is Mom always so up-tight and down my throat?

"They're always yelling about my attitude and they say I have no respect for them. I'd like to talk more to Mom and let her know how I feel, but something blocks me. They always take everything so personally.

"It seems like I always want to take the opposite attitude from what they say. We are always, it seems, on different levels. They say it is my fault... maybe it is. I argue for pot, but inside I don't believe it. I don't even believe what I'm saying sometimes. I know I won't use it when I'm older. Sometimes it seems it's better if they think I'm totally rotten. Maybe I'm afraid I won't grow up to please them. No explanation need go along with these statements by this 15-year-old girl. Her insights are eloquent testimony about the difficulties of being a teenager and growing up with parents and trying to become a singular individual.

ADVERTISEMENT FOR BIDS

Independence Township of Oakland County, Michigan will receive sealed bids for the construction of an addition to Fire Station #3 located at Pine Knob and Maybee Roads, Independence Township, Michigan. Bids will be received by the Township until 3:00 P.M. EST., Monday, October 20, 1980 at which time they will be opened and publicly read aloud.

Bids to be addressed to Mr. Frederick Ritter, Treasurer & Community Development Administrator, Independence Township, 90 N. Main Street, Clarkston, MI 48016.

Bids are to be on the forms furnished by the Architect, sealed in opaque envelopes marked with the name of the project and the bidder, and are to be accompanied by a bid bond or certified check in the amount of 5% of the proposal submitted.

Plans and specifications may be obtained on and after September 30, 1980 at the office of the Architect, G. H. Forbes Associate Architects, 231 South Woodward Avenue, Birmingham, MI 48011.

A check in the amount of $100.00 must be submitted as a deposit for each set of plans and specifications which will be refunded when documents are returned in good condition within fourteen (14) days of the opening of bids.

Accepted bidder will be required to furnish satisfactory performance bond and labor and material bond, each in the amount of 100% of the contract.

Proposal submitted shall remain firm for a period of thirty (30) days after opening of bids.

All bidders shall follow the guidelines of wage rate schedules, affirmative action program, equal opportunity clause, equal employment opportunity specifications and labor standard provisions.

Independence Township reserves the right to reject any or all bids in whole or in part, and to waive any informalities therein.

Frederick P. Ritter, Treasurer
Community Development Administrator

Birds' feast

A yard sale with an unusual item - sunflower heads - is the result of a healthy crop. Sonya Sanley shows just how large they are and her father, Marvin, says there are about 500 of them growing on their property on Davisburg Road in Springfield Township. They were selling for 75 cents for the large ones and less for the smaller blossoms now gone to seed.

Powder puff prelude

Clarkston's gym slowly filled for the king and queen tapping ceremony. Those entering were greeted by the sight of an effigy of a junior class football player [above] dressed in the team's gold colors, sitting in a basketball hoop. The upperclassmen used the occasion to warm up the crowd for the next day's Junior-Senior powder puff football game. "We're going to be scraping them off the field come tomorrow!" yelled the senior's captain, Jill Koch [left] shared the same philosophy, but gave her opinion via an arm patch. The juniors countered by throwing about and stomping an effigy of a senior player stuffed with rags. The seniors won Saturday's game 16-0.

Clenching each other's hands tightly, and looking from side to side, the three candidates for queen wait impatiently on the edges of their seats to see which one will be chosen.

Tears brought on by a mixture of surprise and joy are the reaction Nancy Dennis has to being chosen Clarkston High School's Homecoming Queen for 1980.

After circling the candidates for queen, and huddling some more, the boys tap Nancy Dennis' head to the delight of Michelle St. Charles [left] and Darcy Armstrong.

Sitting on a throne comprised of fellow students, Mark Hughes smiles and enjoys being paraded about the gym floor. Mark was voted Clarkston High School's Homecoming King for 1980 at tapping ceremonies held Friday.
