Outlook bleak for Clarkston schools

By Kathy Greenfield

A grim picture was placed before Clarkston School Board members Monday night.

Superintendent Milford Mason placed the figures on a blackboard and the tallies revealed that even if all extracurricular activities—including athletics, band, chorus, drama and drivers education, were removed from the budget—cuts in staff totaling over one-half million dollars would have to be made to balance the 1981-82 budget.

At the end of the three-and-one-half-hour long meeting, school board members had made only one firm decision, to appoint a 20-member citizens' council to react to cuts proposed by the school administrators.

And even that decision was made in a 4-3 vote.

Several options were discussed, and board members suggested that consideration be given to each idea.

The main problem in establishing a philosophy on where to make eliminations or reductions in staff and programs was summed up by school board President Janet Thomas.

"We would much rather be discussing program additions than these cutbacks that will be affecting our children," she said.

One solution, that all board members agreed will be pursued, is to ask voters to approve higher taxes, although an amount was not determined.

"I think it's irresponsible for us to make these cuts without giving the community the opportunity to make that option," said board member Robert Walters.

"I content that our community has under-supported education over a long period of time, particularly with the affluent direction we're taking," he added.

Mason reacted by saying the board had to approve cuts well before a request for more taxes could be placed on the June ballot.

"We're not going to have the results of a June 8 election until the evening of June 8," he said, stressing that before employees can be laid off, they have to be given notice—90 days for administrators, 60 days for teachers and 30 days for non-instructional staff.

Options discussed during the meeting included the following:

- Seek millage approval from voters and also consider asking them to eliminate the Headlee rollback which Mason said has meant $895,000 less income in the two years since Headlee was approved than would have been received without the tax amendment.

- Put athletics on a pay-as-you-go plan where participants would help cover the costs with fees. The Waterford school district's present practice of charging each athlete $50 was mentioned.

- Freezing salaries of employees. The labor unions would have to agree to that solution before present contracts could be changed. Employees could also agree to accept approximately eight days' less pay and eliminate lay offs for a year or so.

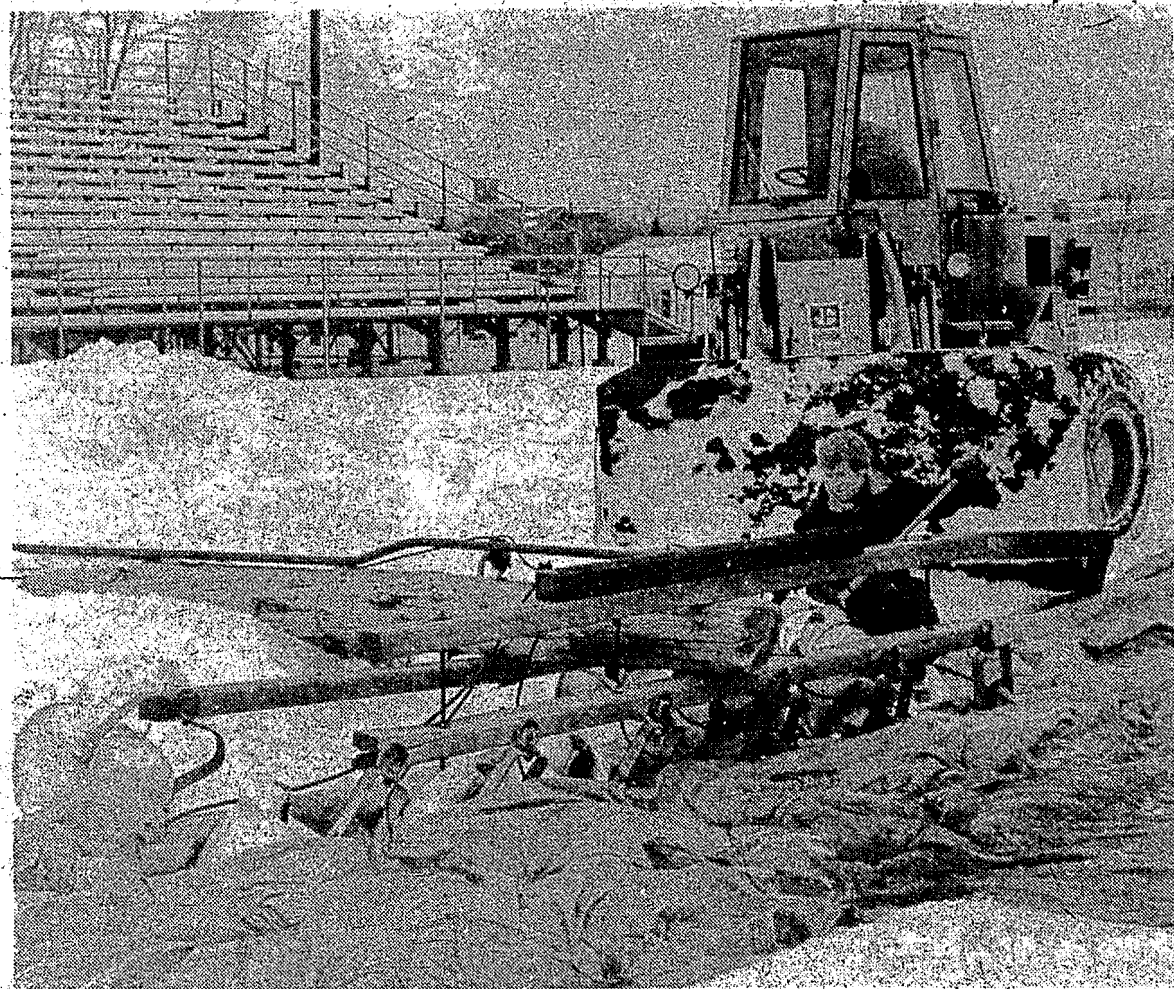

- Eliminate drivers education. Mason predicted that, due to the state of the economy, cars may no longer be provided by dealers for the program. If that option is taken, however, the district would be breaking the state law that mandates the program for schools.

- Cut back on transportation. One method under consideration by the state is to recommend no buses for pupils who live up to two miles from schools, and the distance is now one-and-one-half miles, Mason said. In the Clarkston district, however, that would be impractical in some areas, he said, naming Pine Knob Elementary where most of the school population would then be required to walk down the shoulder of

Toppled tower

After 25 years of service, the decaying light poles at the Clarkston High School athletic field are no more. Friday morning, workmen labored into the afternoon cutting down the old poles to make room for a new system, planned to be installed and ready by next fall's football season. The work was done free of charge by a construction firm owned by area resident Ed Mandilk as a contribution to the Clarkston lighting fund drive, which is raising money to purchase and install a new lighting system. Here, a workman clears snow from around one of the felled towers. The snow had been used to cushion the tower's initial fall.

Sheriff's log

Friday, thieves entered an unoccupied home on Washington Street, Clarkston, and took $60 in rolled pennies and a variety of single coins from a bedroom closet, according to police reports.

Friday, thieves broke into a home on Big Lake Road, Springfield Township, and took two rifles and two shotguns with a total value of $400, according to police reports.

Friday, thieves stole a glass T-top valued at $500 from the roof of Camaro parked on Kingfisher Road, Independence Township, according to police reports.

Friday, thieves stole a T-top valued at $225 from the roof of a Firebird parked on Rockcroft Road, Independence Township, according to police reports.

Friday, thieves kicked in the basement window of a home on Rustic Lane, Independence Township, and stole two 50-cent pieces valued at $100 from the top of a bedroom dresser, according to police reports.

Saturday, vandals burned mail from a mailbox on Holcomb Road, Independence Township, according to police reports.

Saturday, a man pumped $10.02 worth of gasoline at the Payless Gas Station, 6594 Dixie Highway, Independence Township, and drove off without paying, according to police reports.

Saturday, a man pumped $17.50 worth of gasoline at the Payless Gas Station, 6594 Dixie Highway, Independence Township, and drove off without paying, according to police reports.

Saturday, a passing vehicle on Bridge Lake Road, Springfield Township, spun gravel into the windshield of another motorist's car, shattering the glass.

Cost to repair the damage is estimated at $200, according to police reports.

The above information was gathered from Oakland County Sheriff's Department reports.

School Board weighs cuts

Sashabaw Road where the speed limit is 50 mph.

•Cut board members salaries. "We can make that decision in June," Thomas said. Board members are presently paid $30 a meeting, with a limit of two paid meetings a month. Each of the seven-member board has an approximate income of $600 a year.

•Cut curriculum offerings. If a class was not in great demand, it could be dropped, board members suggested.

•Make staff cuts. The move was called the "final option," one that board members said they would like to avoid.

"Ultimately, it does come down to people and programs," Mason said. "I don't see any way around it, given the present circumstances."

Concern that residents would see proposed cuts as threats only to get millage passed was expressed by board members, and they talked about eventually listing only those cuts that would definitely be made if millage failed.

The need to get the message to the people was expressed by board member Carolyn Place when she proposed naming the 20-member advisory committee.

"It's really critical that citizens go out and talk among their neighbors and friends...so the common people get a good idea why this has to be done and how it will be done," she said.

Spending $20,000 hits two agendas

Independence Township anticipates receiving over $120,000 this year in federal revenue sharing, and is calling for citizens' opinions on where that money should be spent.

The township board set aside Feb. 17 and March 17 for public hearings, at the Independence Township Library, 6495 Clarkston-Orion, Independence Township, at 7:30 p.m.

The hearings must be held in a barrier-free building, said Christopher Rose, Clerk, explaining the meeting location.

Last year, the township received $121,414 in revenue sharing, and allocated the money toward roads, dust control, community center, microfilming, safety paths and the fire department.

The money provided $15,000 toward last summer's paving of Holcomb Road, $3,000 for dust control and $250 for microfilming records, Rose said.

While all of the township's 1980-81 revenue sharing money has not been spent, it has been allocated, he said.

The board will hear citizens' input at the February meeting. After additional input at the March meeting, it will make the decision on how to spend the money, he said.

Office, industry mix

The Independence Township Board has amended the zoning ordinance to allow office development in a limited industrial zoned area.

This action freed Dr. John Cowan to appeal for final site plan approval of his proposed chiropractor's office slated for development south of Waldon Road on Sashabaw's east side.

The township planning commission gave Cowan the high sign to go ahead on Jan. 22, and the amendment becomes law in 30 days.

"We've tentatively set Feb. 20 as the day to begin construction," Cowan said. "I've always liked the Clarkston area. When I discovered it after graduating from school, I thought it was one of the neatest places I'd ever seen."

Cowan is an Independence Township resident and has lived in Deer Wood subdivision for two-and-one-half years.

His new office is planned to be of contemporary design, he said, constructed of cedar and Michigan fieldstone and surrounded by an earth berm.

"Because chiropractics is natural, so's the location for the office. It's a perfect location," he said.

"At the time, I couldn't afford to be in Clarkston, so I bought a building in Waterford and set up practice there," he said. "But I knew the Sashabaw and I-75 area would be growing, it was the next spot to M-15, but that was already too developed. So I bought three acres and planned to build."

American tradition

It's an American tradition, says James B. Smith, Independence Township supervisor.

"The annual meeting of townships was what this country was founded on. It's a great opportunity for each member of the community to speak and vote directly. We should cherish this with our history," he said.

The board has set Saturday, March 28 at 1 p.m., at the Independence Township Hall, 90 N. Main, Clarkston, as the time and place for the annual meeting.

Residents are encouraged to attend and discuss allocations in the 1981-82 budget and to approve or deny salary hikes for elected officials.

Independent view

Patriotism rings around the world and downtown Pontiac as well, as two Clarkston area men and their business partners welcome the return of the 52 Americans freed from Iran.

James and Rick Huttenlocher from the Clarkston area, and partners Howard Kerns and Ralph Norvell are of the bonding and insurance company Huttenlochers Kerns Norvell Inc., 1007 West Huron, Pontiac, have filled two trees outside their office with 52 yellow bows each.

All the employees have garnished their outfits with yellow ribbons, and the building's interior is decorated with yellow bows as well.

Said one employee, "We're supporting the freed hostages all the way home."

Landfill solution

Negotiations moved rather rapidly after a meeting Saturday between members of the Michigan Refuse Contractors Association and county and state officials. By late Tuesday afternoon, Oakland County had agreed to begin negotiations to purchase Marlowe's Landfill, according to Patrick Nowak, deputy county executive. Marlowe's served about 300,000 county residents and, if the matter had not been settled, some disposal firms were talking about refusing to pick up garbage until the county did something. Larry Powell, who represented Ben Powell Disposal at the meeting Saturday, made such a suggestion as the TV cameras rolled.

Commuters can breathe sigh of relief

By Marilyn Trumper

The state's coming through to whittle away some of Independence Township's car-pool parking problem.

The Department of Transportation plans to construct park-and-ride lots at the intersection of Dixie Highway and I-75 and at Sashabaw Road and I-75, with 40 and 100 spaces respectively, says William J. Schram, coordinator of the statewide car pool parking lot program.

"We've tried for a long time to build a lot at the Sashabaw location, but there was no available land and real estate prices were too high," Schram said. "Now they've redone that intersection so land's available."

While Independence requested the state consider the township for car-pool lot locations, Schram said he became aware of the parking problem after seeing cars parked near those intersections.

"Commuters park along expressway interchanges, and that's the easiest way for us to spot a need for car-pool lots," he said. "On any day you can see two dozen cars near the Sashabaw, I-75 interchange.

"There is a need for these lots. Local communities' commercial parking lots are filled with commuters parking all day. No one complains too much, because in small towns they don't want to step on anyone's toes. We advertise for people to let us know they need public parking for commuters," he said.

Independence commuters should see the two lots completed by summer, he said, adding the construction bids are expected to go out at the end of March.

Legal fees reach $5,000 for 80-acre condemnation

The Independence Township Board scurried to add a property purchase budget to the 1980-81 fiscal budget, because tax dollars are rolling in with no place to go and attorney bills need payments.

The property purchase tax is being collected for the first time this year, following voters' approval in 1979 of .3 mill to purchase 80 acres adjacent to Independence Township's Clintonwood Park.

The township is in the process of condemning those 80 acres, which are slated for a gravel mine, with the purpose of purchasing the land to construct a municipal building or to add onto Clintonwood Park.

Attorneys' fees for the condemnation reached $5,000 last month, said Clerk Christopher Rose.

"Our township attorney is doing some of the work and we hired a firm which specializes in condemnations," he said.

The township anticipates collecting $62,000 from the property purchase millage, he said, adding most of the money had already arrived.

The board adopted the addition of the budget at the Jan. 20 meeting.

17 year old injured by door-wielding motorist

Robert Gragg of Drayton Plains was bicycling westward on Pinedale Road in Independence Township Saturday, when a male in a passing car opened the passenger door knocking the 17-year-old youth off his bike.

The man, described as dark haired, approximately 40-years-old and weighing 225 pounds, got out of the car and began yelling obscenities and threats, according to police.

Gragg's right arm was injured in the fall, police said.

Police are looking for a blonde woman driving a blue, full-sized car and her male passenger.

According to reports, Gragg remembered seeing his assailant on two occasions, but said he did not know the man personally.

Legion replies to editorial

To Whom It May Concern:
This is in reply to a few items that have appeared in The Clarkston News—Free Winter Parking Becomes Past Luxury, 3 Dec. '80; Car Poolers Rebel; American Legion Lot Empty, 17 Dec. '80; Different Drummers, 14 Jan. '81.

I would not be writing this response if it wasn't for Kathy Greenfield's editorial, especially the first four paragraphs.

(1). "There are many ways to serve your country." Definitely a true statement. How did you serve yours?

(2). "The most obvious is to join the military forces and serve your time. It's safe to assume members of American Legion posts fit that category."

Definitely a true statement. To say "serve your time" sounds like a prison sentence. To serve would country would be more appropriate, I believe.

I am one of the very fortunate to be here today, and make it a point, once a month, to pay my respects to my departed comrades.

(3). "Then, there are more subtle ways. Take car-poolers, and those who turn their heat down or conserve energy in any other fashion—we have been encouraged to do such things by our Presidents."

Definitely a true statement, I will agree, at one time, there was a crisis in the form of shortage of gasoline—natural gas, etc.

However, it is my opinion now that the oil companies have got the prices at their satisfaction, that the crisis is over, and that car-pooling is a way of saving money, not gas.

(4). "For a time, the different forces of patriotism joined together in Independence Township."

Definitely a false statement. I would like to list a few things the American Legion still contributes to the community.

Donates building for a voting precinct. Through State Police, Oakland County and Independence Township, the building is available for their use in any emergency or disaster for relief.

Make generous donations and sponsor the following: Fireman's Muscular Dystrophy Fund; pay registration fees for Girl Scout leaders, sponsor two girls to Girl's State; sponsor three boys to Boy's State; sponsor one girls' and one boys' baseball team through Independence Recreation Department.

Donated to Clarkston Band Boosters. Have, in the very recent past, offered to donate hall to Senior Citizens' meal program; donated hall to Pine Knob neighborhood Girl Scouts for Mother/Daughter Banquet; donated to the Independence Center; donated to the Kops for Kids program; donated hall to Parent Awareness group; donated hall to SCAMP for fund raiser; donated 14 flag kits to Camp Fire group at Camp Oweki; donated funds to North Oakland Girl Scouts; donated hall to little league football for sign-up and physicals; donated funds to Clarkston Band Boosters trophies for band competition; and donated hall one night a week for a Boy Scout Troop and one night a week for a Girl Scout Troop.

And further, that the American Legion Post 63 has furnished the color guard for just about every parade in Clarkston.

Also, donated hall to members and other veterans' families for the purpose of funeral dinners.

Accordingly, I now have to make a statement to remind certain individuals that you are trespassing upon private property, and that if your concern is based on our President's encouragement, that you express your opinions through the proper chain of command in that area.

It has been stated that the state has a parking lot nearby. Why not petition the state to enlarge the lot or add more to the area?

I remain,
Dave Froling
Commander, Post 63

Insidious timing for hostage return

Dear Editor:

The Iranian government had the opportunity to display at least a small sign of compassion as human beings.

After all agreements were signed, and all necessary transactions fulfilled, that government purposely stalled the actual release until the moment Mr. Carter was no longer in office.

What a blatantly "spit in his face" action!

These people are clearly a disgrace to the civilized world, and this response is just one more example of the way they think and operate.

I hope that in the future, President Reagan will treat the Iranians in a manner that barbarians should be treated.

Donald W. Porter

We need to work together

by Kathy Greenfield

Well, I guess my attempt to assist car-poolers frustrated in their endeavor to regain access to the American Legion Post 63 parking lot for less than $20 a month during winter has failed.

The good thing is that it gave the Legion post a chance to list many of the things they do to benefit the community.

It was never my intention to discount those things. Our paper has covered several of the events listed in Post Commander David Froling's letter that appears at the left.

The bad thing is that my comments apparently stirred up more anger than the car-poolers or I can overcome.

To state the purpose of the editorial blasted by Froling in but a few words: I don't understand why a lot setting empty, or nearly empty, during the day cannot be put to good use.

And, while I understand that snow plowing is expensive, it seems that a more reasonable fee could have been levied.

In spite of what Froling writes, I still believe car-poolers are patriots.

They may be motivated by a desire to save money on gasoline, but sharing rides with others requires much more effort than just hoping in a car and driving off.

And at least part of the reason they can feel good about car-pooling is that it does save energy. That's something we, as Americans need to work on improving.

Conspicuous consumption has been our mode—two or more cars in each garage and one passenger a car more often than not, that sort of thing.

We have a story in The Clarkston News this week about plans by the state to build two more parking lots for local commuters, so part of the solution, as Froling states it, is being met.

Meanwhile, until the lots are finished sometime next summer, the car-poolers who formerly used the Legion lot will continue doing whatever they have been doing since they were ejected.

Any time we, as communities, work together for such worthwhile tasks as saving energy, for whatever motivation, we will be stronger.

The American Legion post may have won the battle, but unless we work together to cut down on needless waste of such non-renewable resources as gasoline, we're all going to lose the war.

I worry about what will happen to places like the Clarkston area that exist primarily as places to live and not to work. Life as we know it could virtually disappear if people can't drive to work.

If it's a major fire or a minor oddity, call the News. 625-3370

Jim's jottings

Mother Nature provides excuse

by Jim Sherman

Frost hit the citrus crops in Florida on a Monday. Wednesday high prices were announced.

It's a sad story repeated every year on the oranges, etc.

However, it's a story repeated every year on every crop. Coffee is hit by a bug, wheat affected by the draught, corn eaten by grasshoppers, sugar cane destroyed by a hurricane, tomatoes lay rotting from a strike, lack of food puts all the beef on the market forcing a shortage of meat the next year, chickens suffocate from the heat, and floods take the beans.

Also, every year there is a record crop of all these things, imports are taking over domestic output of farm products, and government pours more taxpayer money into price support.

So, don't get excited over the loss of "20 percent of the citrus" crop. Prices were going up anyway.

Mahatma Gandhi, the late and great Indian leader stated that seven great sins exist in the world today: wealth without work; pleasure without conscience; knowledge without character; commerce without morality; science without humanity; worship without sacrifice, and politics without principle.

Whatever our faith, belief or code of life, these words can give us cause for reflection.

Advertising executive, Art Kudner has been quoted as saying: "Big long words name little things. All big things have little names—such as life and death, peace and war, or dawn, day, night, hope, love, and home."

"Learn to use little words in a big way. It is hard to do. But they say what you mean. When you don't know what you mean, use big words. That often fools little people."

Noticed while driving by a public access fishing site the day after one of our January snow storms that the parking lot was being cleared by DNR trucks.

That same day we couldn't get down one not-so-rural road because of snow.

Somehow we believe our priorities are mixed up again.

CREW urges community action

Attend meeting; write to DNR

Dear Editor:

This letter has gone out to our membership and we would like it to reach the wider audience of the News subscribers also.

Sincerely,
Neil Wallace, Director
for CREW

Gravel, gravel dust, gravel trucks, processing plant noise, destruction of the Clinton River system headwater wetlands, destruction of an important animal and plant habitat, quality of ground water reduced, less ground water, loss of natural flood control mechanisms, adverse effect on downstream water quality and quantity...

The list goes on and so must the fight against the proposed Levy gravel mining project.

Although the idea of such a project was soundly rebuked by our community's approval of the millage to acquire 80 acres of the gravel mining site, there remain hundreds of acres more to be mined.

On Wednesday, Jan. 28 at 7:30 p.m. at the Independence Township Hall, the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) will hold a public hearing on the application of the Edward C. Levy Co. for mining permits in our community.

Gravel STILL isn't green!

We need you to show both the DNR and Levy that this community continues to oppose projects which will have a major and adverse effects on the quality of life in our community.

It is critical that each of you joins with us that evening to be heard and to show that this community opposes the unnecessary destruction of its vital natural resources.

In addition to attending the public hearing, we urge you to write to the DNR at P.O. Box 30028, Lansing 48909 to express your opposition to this gravel mining proposal.

Sincerely,

Thanks!

Kathy,

Thanks so much for publishing my letter to the editor.

We appreciate the way The Clarkston News has kept the developments in this issue before the public.

As you may be aware, the DNR will be represented at the hearing not only by the Land Resources Program, but also by Virginia Pierce of the Enforcement Branch.

The Army Corps of Engineers is also becoming re-involved in examining the mining proposal.

Thanks so much again.

'If it Fitz...

Noisy in his hyphenations

by Jim Fitzgerald

As part of my never-ending, double-barreled, well-hyphenated effort to be chic and to enhance my marriage, I am now doing considerable walking in corduroy pants. Don't you just love it?

I walk with my wife, swoosh-swooshing gently. These are my first corduroy pants in 40 years. Corduroy today is much softer than it used to be. When I was a boy walking in corduroy pants, the sound was more swack-swack than swoosh-swoosh. There has been no change in the sound of the hyphens.

I wore corduroy pants while delivering newspapers to homes built along the bank of a river which, still today, separates the United States from Canada. My father said I walked so slowly he had to line me up with a tree to see if I was moving.

That was in the summer. In the winter, due to snowbanks and wicked winds, my movement was even slower. Often, snow stuck in my corduroy ridges, freezing my pants stiff. I was sometimes immobilized for long periods of time, forced to wait for road builders to evict me from my pants.

But that's enough history. You want to know how walking in today's softer corduroy pants enhances my marriage. Actually, it is the walking, more than the corduroy. I did read somewhere that corduroy clothes are chic for urbane men who strive for a look "midway between suburban and rural." That's me. I live in the city but I like to dress for having car trouble on the freeway, midway between home and a farm auction. I not only want to look stylish for my wife, but I also yearn to impress two-truck drivers.

However, the most important thing I read, enhancement-wise, was an article that said Nancy Reagan, for the past 15 years, has had a walker named Jerry Zipkin, nicknamed Baby Zip. If you read Women's Wear Daily, you know a human walker is a man whose raison d'être is to entertain and escort rich women with busy husbands.

Raison d'être does not mean a pudding with black spots. It is French for "reason for existing." A human walker's reason for existing is to substitute for busy husbands who don't have time to walk their wives from limousines to boutiques, beauty salons and ballet openings. According to the New York Daily News, Baby Zip qualifies as one of this nation's best walkers because he is a New York millionaire "who reeks of Sandalwood perfume, loves to nibble sweets, carts as many as 86 pairs of cuff links with him for a weekend out of town, and has reigned for decades as the flamboyant prince of New York society gossip."

Nancy Reagan has called Baby Zip "a sort of modern-day Oscar Wilde" (notice the hyphen) and Truman Capote often says that Baby Zip's face is shaped like a toilet.

Such darling information was persuasive enough for me. Everyone knows Nancy and Ronald Reagan have a perfect marriage, so obviously a walker is enhancing to wedded bliss. It is true that Truman Capote has never seen my face flushed, but that doesn't matter because I'm not a busy husband anyway. I am my wife's walker, a do-it-yourselfer reeking of my own hyphens.

Just last weekend I stuffed my corduroy pockets with my cuff links and took her for a walk, swoosh-swoosh, in a blizzard. I told her she was my raison d'être and she said I was her modern-day Admiral Peary. I told her my pants were midway between suburban and rural, and she said I should tighten my belt.

As we entered the downtown area, the walking got sluggish, and she lined me up with the First National Bank building to check my vital life signs. We were both knocked into a snowbank by a swiftly-moving interest rate.

My wife was able to struggle free from the snow, but I discovered that even soft corduroy will freeze if sufficiently provoked. Two days later, a road worker removed me and my cuff links and piled us outside my pants. The Reagan administration promises to be exciting.

SATURDAY

On Saturday morning, I woke up at about 7 a.m., got dressed, and went to the airport. Our plane left at 10:35 a.m. and our flight lasted about an hour.

Our hotel is the Marriott in Crystal City across the Potomac river from Washington, D.C.

We got settled in our room and then explored the hotel. Our room is on the 10th floor.

My mom and I took the subway to Union Station. There, people were picking up and buying tickets. To entertain the huge crowds, they had what was called "A Taste of America."

This featured cuisine and beverages from world-famous American restaurants. All the food was free, so I had a feast.

Some of the more unusual foods I had were oysters, clams, octopus, and turtle soup.

After this, we stopped at the Library of Congress on our way to the Republican Capital Hill Club. At the club, we went to a reception for anyone involved in politics in Michigan.

At the reception, I met Congressman Broomfield, Mr. Gnau (chairman of the Reagan, Bush Committee) and Mr. Larsen from Lansing.

My mother and I then rode the Metro (subway) back to our hotel. The subway comes right under our hotel, so we just walk up some stairs and we're in our hotel.

There is also an underground mall, so later that night we saw "Stir Crazy." After the movie, we went swimming in the indoor pool. Then we went to sleep.

SUNDAY

On Sunday, we got up and had brunch at the Marriott, our hotel, and met Charley Pride in the restaurant.

Then we took the Metro Union Station again. I came, because Strohs Beer had a booth and every day they gave out free elephant hats.

When I got there, it was too late, because they had given them all out. So I went and asked a man if he would sell his hat.

I was trying to talk his price down when he said, "Close your eyes and count to 5."

While I was counting, he placed the hat on my head and said, "Happy Inauguration."

Later that day, we went into a hotel called the Mayflower and had a Coke. Then we went to the National Geographic Explorers' Hall. It was very interesting.

Then we took a cab to The Washington Doll House and Toy Museum. There we saw many doll houses and antique toys.

We decided to go to Georgetown University and visit Martha Kennedy, a friend from Clarkston who goes to school there. We took her out to dinner at one of the three restaurants in our hotel.

Then I went up to the room, did homework, and went to bed.

MONDAY

We got up at about 8 a.m. and went downstairs to the dining room and went to the Michigan Brunch. The food was great.

In the lobby, I shook hands with and talked to Gov. Milliken.

We took the Metro to Kennedy Center. There, I waited while my mother went to the Distinguished Ladies' Reception with Nancy Ragan and Barbara Bush.

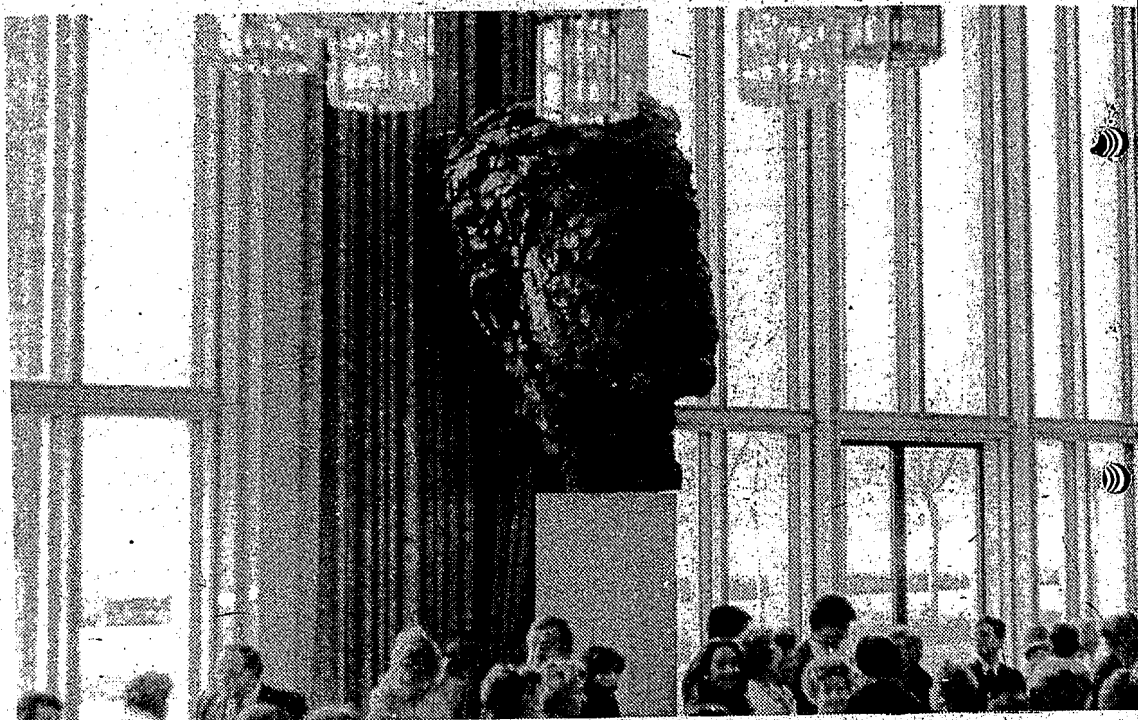

Then we went to Congressman Broomfield's office and got Inaugural Parade tickets. We ate lunch in the cafeteria and caught the Capital Subway to the senators' offices.

My mother and I then walked to the Hyatt Regency where there was a reception honoring Sen. Howard Baker and the new majority.

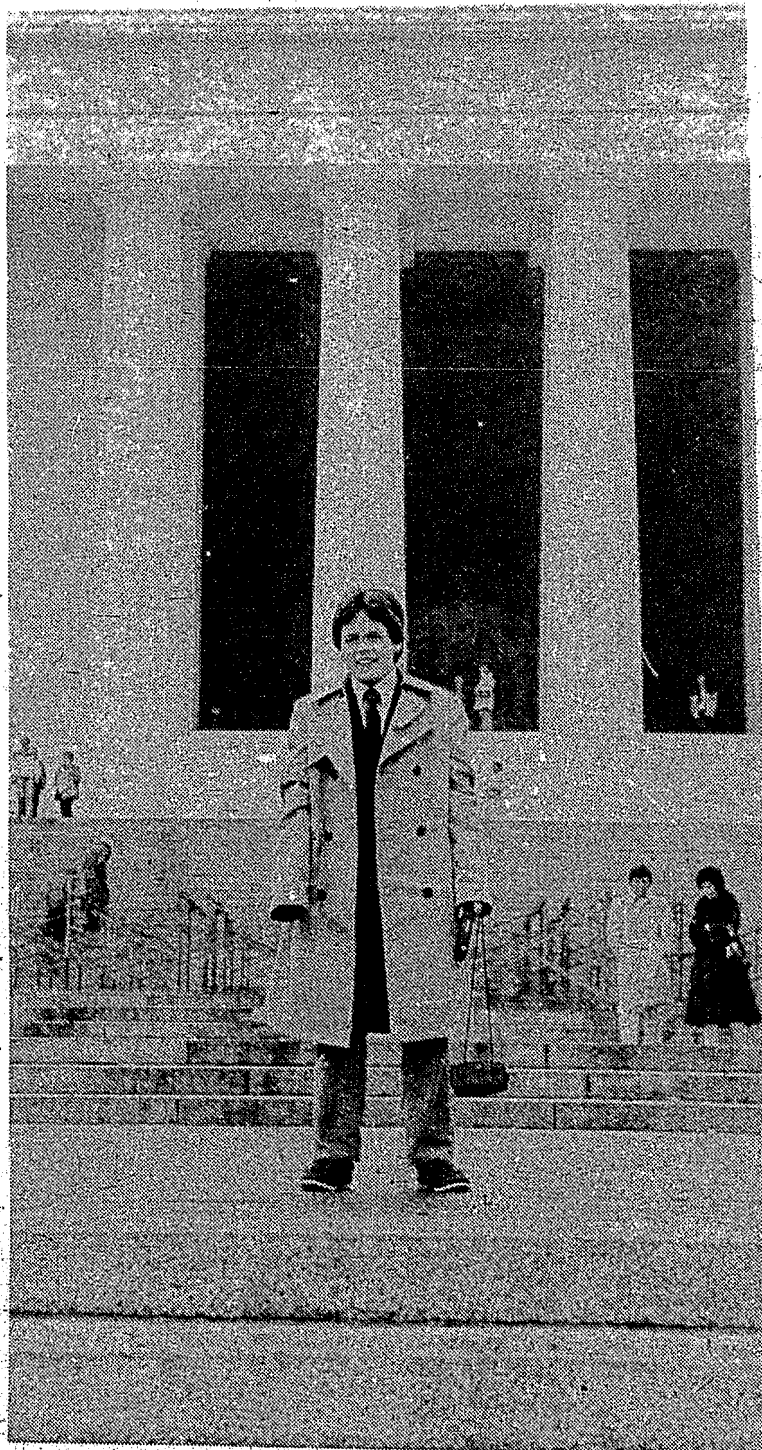

I shook hands and talked with Sen. Baker and Sen. Jesse Helms from North Carolina.

On our way to the Inaugural Reception, we stopped at the National Archives and saw the Constitution and other famous documents.

Then my mother went to wait in line for the reception while I went to the top of the Washington Memorial. The view is incredible.

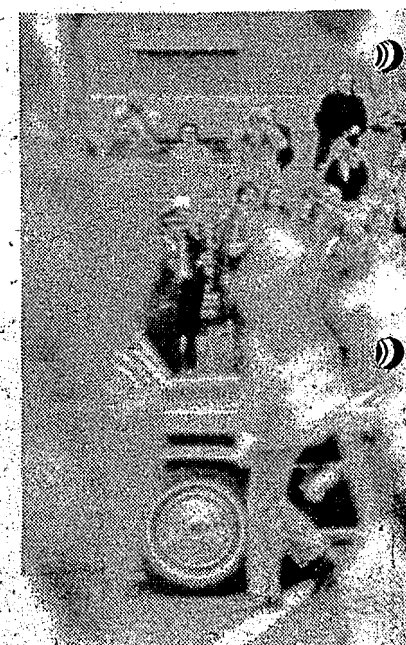

"We took the Metro to Kennedy Center. There I waited while my mother went to Distinguished ladies' Reception with Nancy Reagan and Barbara Bush.")

"My mom and I took a cab to Lincoln Memorial after we packed [to go home]. The memorial amazes me every time I see it."

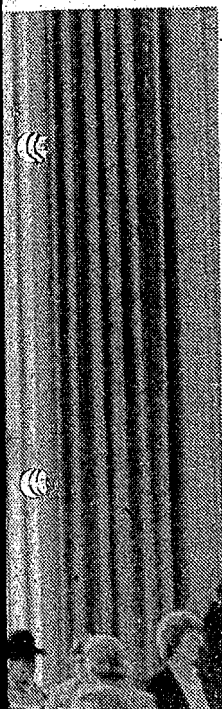

"...he said, 'Close your eyes and counting, he placed the hat on my Inauguration'."

After the reception, I saw George Bush and family. I was jammed in the crowd during his speech. About two-thirds of the way through Vice-President Bush's speech, a man standing next to me in the crowd picked me up so I could see.

After the reception, we went back to the Marriott, swam, and went to bed after watching the Gala.

TUESDAY

This morning we got up and went to Congressman Broomfield's office for coffee and donuts.

I met him again and got to sit in his chair. Then we walked to Capitol Hill and watched the Inauguration of Ronald Reagan.

At the Inauguration, I saw stars like Charlie Pride, Ben Vereen, Ethel Merman and Pat Boone, and I shook hands with Charleton Heston. President Reagan gave a very impressive speech.

Then my mom and I ate at a restaurant called The Chancery. We walked to our seats at the parade. We waited for a long time and the parade finally came.

President Ronald Reagan and Nancy Reagan rode right by me in an open-top limousine. After them came Vice-President George Bush and Barbara Bush in the same kind of car.

Then came the bands. There were about 20 bands, a few floats and some military units. We took the subway to our hotel.

We changed clothes and then took a cab to a cocktail party. A friend of my mother's friends was having this party. I met many of my mother's friends from school.

My mother and I went straight from the party to the Inaugural Ball at the Smithsonian Institute of American History.

At the ball, it was wall-to-wall people. On every one of the floors, there was a band and a few bars. Out of all the things I did, I enjoyed the ball the least.

On the way back to the hotel, I was so tired I fell asleep in the cab.

WEDNESDAY

This morning, we got up, got dressed and went downstairs for breakfast. Then I went swimming.

My mom and I took a cab to the Lincoln Memorial after we packed. The memorial amazes me every time I see it.

Then we got back in our cab and drove to the airport. We took the flight to Detroit.

Art sums it up with 'My feelings about Washington'

Over all, I thought the Metro was a cheap and easy way to travel. A few times, we had to wait about 15 or 20 minutes for trains, so if you're in a hurry, take a cab.

One other disadvantage was that since you are underground, you don't see any of the monuments and buildings.

The cab drivers were mostly friendly and the fares were reasonable. If you were in a hurry, cabs were the way to travel.

Cab drivers also knew where everything was, so if you didn't know where things were, you didn't have to worry about going to the wrong place.

It was a thrill for me to be in the middle of such an important event. I was stunned by the number of movie stars and political giants I saw and met.

I loved Washington, D.C. and I enjoyed this trip to the city more than my two previous trips. The hostages release was a great time to be in Washington also.

I love Washington, D.C., but it's good to be home.

Plan okayed sans five-acre parcel

By Marilyn Trumper

A decision of the Independence Township Planning Commission to recommend approval of 110 condominiums on 25 acres—without the proposed five-acre commercial development—has left developer Hugh Garner no choice, he said, after the Jan. 22 meeting.

"I made my decision on the way I'm going to develop the land, and I'm leaving it (the five acres) commercial," Garner said, adding he would develop all 30 acres commercially if the consent judgment is not amended to allow the building of condominiums.

"But, that would be a big problem to most people living here," he said. "I don't doubt a discount store would go in there, similar to a K-Mart. K-Mart approved the site at one time, but when Grants moved out, they moved in the store down there.

"I've heard rumors that they're unhappy with that location and that company's been snooping around here," he said.

A store like K-Mart would use approximately 10 to 12 of the 30 acres, he said, leaving the rest for additional commercial development.

Garner, who owns Winchester Real Estate, proposes condominiums on 25 acres of the land near the intersection of Dixie Highway and I-75.

The land is shared by Independence and Springfield Townships, with Independence having an additional five acres of commercially zoned land.

Garner's plan requires an amendment to a 1976 Oakland County Circuit Court judgment holding the land to commercial development, even though the property is zoned multiple.

At the meeting, the commission recommended approval to the township board, but with the stipulation that Garner not develop the controversial five-acre parcel and instead build all condominiums, according to Timothy Palulian, director of the township's building and planning department.

In addition, Palulian said, the commission wants the township board to keep an eye on sewer capacity and the option of widening Deer Hill Drive to handle excess traffic flow in and out of the proposed development.

After the meeting, Garner said he has no problems with sewer capacity or the widening of Deer Hill Drive.

"The widening of Deer Hill is up to the Oakland County Road Commission, and I'll do it if that's what they want. I have no problems with that," he said.

Garner next appears before the township board to request the amendment to the consent judgment.

Falcon coach lauds winning Wolfpack

By Al Zawacky

Rochester varsity basketball coach John Bailey stood in his team's locker room, hands on hips and gushing praise.

The plaudits were directed to Clarkston High School's first-place Wolfpack, who only moments before had wrapped up a 49-39 victory over Bailey's struggling Falcons.

"I think the other teams (in the league), the teams that played Clarkston earlier in the season, were fortunate," Bailey said. "Clarkston was struggling a bit then—they hadn't found their strengths, they didn't know yet where they wanted to play people."

"Now, they're by far the best team in the league. I can conceive of Clarkston beating Kettering by 15 points the next time the two teams play."

Bailey paused for a moment, unsure as to where the next Clarkston-Kettering contest would take place. At Kettering, the Rochester coach was informed.

"I don't care," he responded. "I'll still take Clarkston by 15."

That's pretty heady stuff for Coach Gary Nustad and his high-flying Wolfpack, whose convincing win at Rochester Friday evening firmly established Clarkston as the odd-on favorite to win an unprecedented fourth straight Greater Oakland Activities League championship.

But there was no overconfidence in the Wolfpack camp. Nustad dismissed the possibility with an incredulous grin.

"How can you be overconfident when you've played 10 ball games, and seven of those 10 have been decided by seven points or less?" Nustad asked.

"There are still several facets of our game that need improvement. We still haven't played 32 straight minutes, although we are getting more and more steady."

"I think our progress is right on schedule."

Although the first quarter ended in a 10-10 deadlock, the Wolfpack opened up a 24-16 lead at the half and blew the game wide open in the third stanza, pulling ahead 38-19.

With the score 40-19 and six minutes remaining in the game, Nustad began to substitute heavily—making the 49-39 final a little misleading.

Bailey admitted as much.

"Every game we've played this season has been close, until tonight," he said. "We ended up losing by 10, but let's face it—it could've been 20."

Scott McKoin was the major source of the Falcons' woes, notching game-high totals of 26 points and 15 rebounds.

Other contributors to the Clarkston cause were Brad Beattie with eight points, Greg Lane with six, Craig Schnabel with three and Ray Kubani, Ric Schebor and Scott Weaver with two. Lane had seven assists and Kubani pulled down eight rebounds.

The Wolfpack will face former GOAL rival Bloomfield Hills Andover in a non-league affair this week before traveling to Lake Orion on Friday.

"Lake Orion is definitely improved," Nustad said. "We expect a tough game."

"But we'll be prepared."

JVs take control

By Al Zawacky

In the driver's seat.

That's where you'll find the Clarkston High School junior varsity basketball team these days—in command and in control of the Greater Oakland Activities League title race.

Case in point: Friday evening at Rochester where Clarkston's junior Wolfpack cruised past the Falcons 61-53, improving its league record to 5-0 and overall mark to 8-2.

"A big win for us, emotionally and physically," said Clarkston Coach Larry Mahrle. "We came to play ball tonight."

Mahrle was all but rubbing his hands with glee. Last season the Clarkston JVs lost the GOAL title on the same court by bowing to the Falcons. The sweet smell of revenge was in the air.

"We got down early, but we came back," Mahrle said. "We got in the situation where they were continually fouling us and we were hitting the free throws."

Free throws did tell the story, as Clarkston hit on 25 of 36 opportunities at the charity stripe, compared to just five points from the line in 10 chances for the Falcons.

"Anytime you've got a rough game, you've got to make your free throws," Mahrle noted.

The junior Wolfpack's 61-point attack—Clarkston's highest offensive production this season—was paced by an 18-point performance by Mike McCormick. Rick Williams chipped in with 12 points, while teammates Scott Temple and Mike Dearborn each had 10.

Kevin Brown notched eight points and Joel Schrader tallied three to pound out the junior Wolfpack's scoring. John Truba led the Falcons with 16 points.

Earlier in the week the Clarkston JVs posted a 47-34 non-league victory over Rochester Adams. McCormick was high man with 16 points, followed by Rick Williams with 13, Dearborn with seven, Temple with five, Brown with three, Schrader with two and Tom Williams with one.

There's still a half season remaining to the junior Wolfpack's league championship quest, and anything can happen, Mahrle pointed out.

In the meantime, if you're looking for the Clarkston JV basketball team, check out the driver's seat.

Clarkston's Brad Beattie [35] cuts toward the hoop for two more Wolfpack points in the first half of his team's 49-39 victory.

Odds Are...

CLARKSTON at LAKE ORION (Jan. 30): The Dragons are tough at home, as Kettering, Rochester and Milford will attest. Orion has some talented players who know where the hole is in Bruce Bullard, Terry Russnell and Dennis Recknagel—but they can't hope to compete with the Wolfpack on the boards.

Therein lies the difference in this game. CLARKSTON by FOUR.

CLARKSTON at TOWNSHIP (Feb. 3): Make no mistake, the Skippers are good.

They beat Milford Lakeland, and absolutely destroyed West Bloomfield recently to push their record to 9-1. Maybe they're not quite as good as their record, but they're good nevertheless.

Township plays good defense. They have a balanced, difficult to contain attack.

The Skippers may be due to lay an egg and come down to earth, but they're not going to do it at home. At least not on Feb. 3. TOWNSHIP by TWO.

KEEP THE THERMOMETER RISING...

The lighting fund drive got a big boost from the Clarkston Chiefs little league football association last week, and more help from Elias Brothers restaurant is on the way.

The Chiefs presented the lighting committee with a check for $1,000 Thursday, raised by an annual beef raffle, candy sale and hard work by the program's youngsters.

In a letter addressed to the lighting committee from Chiefs' President Michael Boyer, the Chiefs expressed their strong support for the lighting drive.

"The member families of the Chiefs know that athletics are perhaps the best means of teaching character development, discipline, health and social development of our youth," Boyer said in the letter. "Our cheerleaders and football players look forward each year to our only game played under the lights during parent appreciation night.

"In light of the recent projected budget deficit for the coming year, the necessity of funding the Clarkston athletic programs and the success of the lighting drive becomes far more important. We encourage participation in this drive by all civic, youth and service organizations in this area and the people of the Clarkston school district to show the youth that we really care."

Elias Brothers is ready to do its share. Mike Bogle, manager of the Big Boy restaurant at 6440 Dixie Hwy. reported that 50 cents will be donated to the lighting drive for each Big Boy hamburger sold Jan. 30, 31 and Feb. 1 at his restaurant.

"I follow the high school sports here a lot," Bogle said. "This is something we want to do to help out in some way."

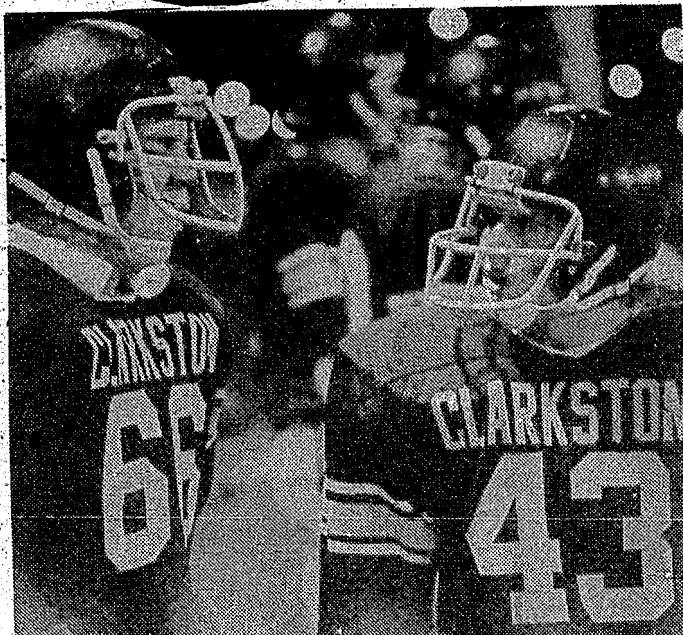

"If it works we might go with donations on a couple different sandwiches sometime later."

Thanks to the recent contributions of money and professional assistance, the lighting fund drive soared to the $22,160 mark last week, which left $37,840 still needed to purchase the new lighting system and have it ready for football season next fall.

Ed Mandilk's construction firm knocked down the old light poles last week free of charge, a contribution worth between $3,000 and $4,000. Glen Hagyard of Schultz Electric is contributing his time as the project's construction manager, at a savings of approximately $2,500 to the lighting drive.

Individual contributions are still needed and always welcome. Tax-deductible contributions can be mailed or dropped off at Clarkston Community Schools, 6389 Clarkston Rd., Clarkston 48016.

Checks should be made out to Clarkston Community Schools and indicate that the money is for the lighting drive.

Clarkston gridders Ron Thompson [left] and Dennis Hughes confer in a 1979 contest between the Wolves and Bloomfield Hills Andover. The lighting system that made this contest possible has breathed its last.

Showdown: Grapplers face Orion Thursday

By Al Zawacky

The moment of truth arrives Thursday for the Clarkston High School wrestling team.

On that day Coach Rick Detkowski's grapplers will take to the road for a dual meet with Greater Oakland Activities League power Lake Orion.

Coming off a second place finish in the Southfield Lathrup Invitational tournament Saturday, Detkowski was optimistic about his team's chances.

"The way the guys wrestled in the tournament, I still think we can do it (defeat Lake Orion)," Detkowski said.

"The way we're going, it looks like we're going to peak at the right time—at the districts, which is just when we want to."

Prior to their tournament appearance, the Clarkston grapplers traveled to Milford and battled to a 27-27 deadlock. The tie gave Clarkston a dual meet mark of 6-1-2 overall and 1-1-1 in the GOAL.

Clarkston's winners were Mike Conway (pin, 1:44), Jeff Miracle (decision, 13-8), Mike Ogans (decision, 6-5) Bruce Burwitz (pin, 1:28), Tom Hecker (decision, 4-3) and Mark Karrick (pin, 1:28).

"Saturday at the tournament, everybody was really up after tying Milford," Detkowski said.

Pontiac Northern was the tourney champion, finishing with 153 points to 144 for runner-up Clarkston. "We had more guys in the finals, but Northern cleaned up in the consolations," Detkowski said.

Clarkston had four first place winners: Conway, Miracle, Ogans and Burwitz. Todd Thompson placed second. Al Wall took third and Hee Hecker and Karrick finished fourth.

Top individual records on the team belong to Conway (24-1), Miracle (25-1), Ogans (22-3), Burwitz (13-4), Hecker (19-11) and Wall (15-7).

Spikers post 2 GOAL wins

By Al Zawacky

The Clarkston High School varsity volleyball team has this habit of starting slow—and finishing fast.

Coach Linda Denstaedt can't really complain. Not after her Wolves opened up Greater Oakland Activities League play with victories over Lake Orion and Waterford Kettering last week.

"I guess my girls like to see me sweat on the bench," Denstaedt joked. "We were totally out of the first game against Kettering."

"Totally out" was an apt description as Kettering waltzed to a 15-1 victory in game number one Wednesday in the CHS gym. But the Wolves rallied, taking a 17-15 decision in game two and winning the match by taking game three 15-7.

Earlier in the week, Clarkston downed Lake Orion in two straight games, 15-9, 15-10 in a match that also featured some come-from-behind tactics by the Wolves.

Clarkston pulled out in front after spotting Orion an early lead thanks to the strong serving of Shaun O'Brien and Beth Walker.

Against Kettering, the Wolves comeback was sparked by the blue-chip play of Beth Haddad in the second game, and by O'Brien, Walker, Michelle Ulasich and Kathy Weber in game three, which saw Clarkston behind 7-0 at one point.

It was a key victory in Clarkston's defense of the GOAL championship. Last year the Wolves shared the title with Rochester, and Denstaedt figures Rochester and Kettering to be her team's toughest league opponents this season.

Clarkston's first clash with Rochester will take place at Rochester Feb. 2.

The Point After

Confessions of a superstitious man

I HAVE ALWAYS considered myself a man of the 20th century. Sophisticated. Suave. Skeptical. Scientific.

So it is a trifle embarrassing to admit that I watched most of the 1981 Rose Bowl game while standing in the kitchen.

You see, I did start out by making myself comfortable on the sofa, only to see Washington boot a field goal and pull ahead.

So I stood up and went hunting for a snack in the kitchen, and lo and behold, Michigan comes back to score a touchdown and take the lead. I sit down again and Washington splits the uprights to trim the lead to a single point.

I got the message. For the rest of the game I remained standing near the kitchen sink, peering at the distant TV screen from the same spot where I stood when the Wolverines last scored. Result: Two more Michigan TDs and a Wolverine victory in the Rose Bowl.

You call that a coincidence?

Listen, you tell Bo that I'm not denying he did a great job coaching this season, and that Anthony Carter, John Wangler, Stanley Edwards and the rest are good football players.

But the Wolverines wouldn't have won a thing in Pasadena if Al Zawacky hadn't stood in his kitchen.

Sophisticated, suave, skeptical and scientific men of the 20th century aren't allowed the luxury of indulging in superstition. So allow me to explain my actions in purely scientific terms.

I believe it is possible for two, ostensibly separate events to be mysteriously related: If "X," then "Y." If I eat an orange by the kitchen sink, John Wangler will throw a touchdown pass. It's that simple.

That's how a 20th-century man rationalizes his superstition.

ATHLETICS HAS ALWAYS fascinated me in this respect.

The people in sports must be the most superstitious people in the world. There is the baseball pitcher who always steps on the chalkline on his way to the mound, the basketball player who always puts his right shoe on before his left, the hockey player who always uses the same amount of friction tape on his stick.

I suppose superstitions like these are innocent enough, but mine have occasionally gotten out of hand.

A few months ago, the hockey team I play on was coming off a disastrous loss, and I decided to try and change our luck by taking a different, out-of-my-way route from my house to the arena.

We won, so naturally I did the same thing next week, taking an even stranger route to maximize the effect.

We killed a pretty tough team that night, so the pre-game treks to the arena kept growing longer. I finally had to surrender the good luck effects for fear of the following scenario:

"Hello, Mark? I'm calling from a gas station—my car broke down on the freeway. Can you pick me up and give me a ride to the rink?"

"Sure. Where are you?"

"Toledo."

There was also the time when one of our rare winning streaks came to an ignoble end the day I washed all of my equipment. Aha, I thought. I did not wash any of my equipment the next week, or the week after that, or the week after that. Sure enough, we began posting triumph after impressive triumph.

Months later when I happened to drop my jersey on the floor and a piece of it broke off, I realized I had no choice but to wash all of my equipment.

We got wiped out that very night, but my teammates insisted it was worth it.

THE MOST DIFFICULT superstitions to nurture involve pro baseball, simply because of the length of the season. I had a dental appointment last year on Detroit's opening day in Kansas City, and the Tigers rolled to an impressive win over the Royals.

My dentist, obviously not a baseball fan, couldn't understand why I was in his office the next day requesting 161 appointments through the first week of October.

Anyway, I wound up canceling most of them and you know what happened to the Tigers.

You call that a coincidence?

Coach celebrates victory, 'good volleyball'

By Al Zawacky

Volleyball coach Sue Koslosky looked like she had just won the grand prize in the Michigan lottery.

Naturally, there were plenty of smiles for her Sashabaw Junior High Cougars, who had just pulled out an exciting 15-7, 15-17, 15-10 road triumph.

But Koslosky was also feeling pretty good for the opposition Clarkston Junior High Wolverines and the 9th grade volleyball program in general.

"I love to play this team, because they're really playing good volleyball," she said. "I'm just really pleased to see how well both our schools are playing—and I think they're starting to see the results at the high school.

"We're really playing a good level of volleyball."

The Wolverines had beaten the Cougars earlier in the month when the two cross-district rivals met in tournament play, but last Thursday in the CJH gym the tables were turned.

"I thought both teams played well, but we didn't play good offense," said Clarkston coach Mary Colwell. "You can't win when you don't play offense."

"Our strong game has been our serving, but we couldn't win today just on that. We didn't pass and set well."

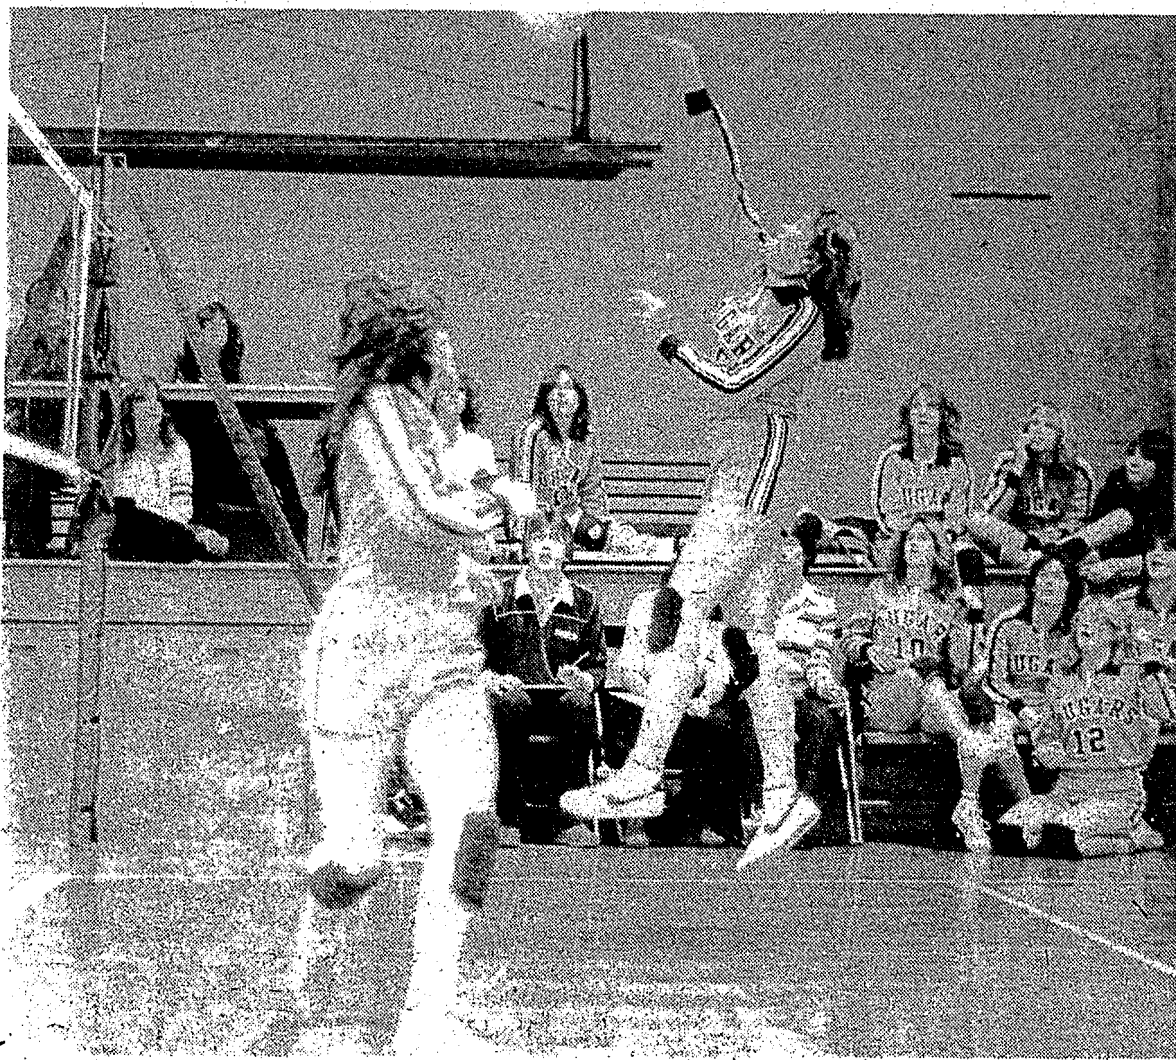

Koslosky cited the strong serving of Janet Herron, Linda Klingler and Kim Lorenz as major factors in the Sashabaw victory. Also playing well for the Cougars were Kelly Keating, Lisa Ashton, Sue Castillo and Kim Kildal.

Standouts for the Wolverines were Denise Giroux, Shellie Johnson, Sue Ketvirtis, Kris Tisch and Carolyn Harned.

"We're going to play them two more times," said Koslosky, noting that a contest in the Sashabaw gym and another tournament clash remained on the schedule.

"So it's not over yet. I'm sure both teams will be looking forward to it."

Cougar Joy Schmidgall drives the ball into Clarkston territory following a set from teammate Kelly Keating [left].

Musical five make up Argus band

By Kathy Greenfield

"I am the guardian of Io/ Watchdog of the gods/ Blessed and cursed with 100 eyes to watch you/ And you/ And you/ I am Argus/ I AM ARGUS!"

The voice is Bill Williams', slowed down to befit the image of the giant in Greek mythology with 100 eyes.

The music belongs to Argus, a rock 'n' roll band appearing on stage at Pontiac's Eagle Theatre on Saturday, Jan. 31.

Four of the band's members graduated from Clarkston High School in 1978 and the fifth member is a 1978 Brandon High School graduate.

Bill, Bob Hecker and Don Swanson were once the rhythm section of the Clarkston High School Jazz Band.

Bill and Bob have written the music and lyrics for about 20 tunes, eight of which the band performs on stage with the security of copyrights.

Matt Doolin is the fourth CHS graduate and Mike Conigliaro, who hails from Brandon Township, also writes some lyrics for the band's music.

Bill emerges as spokesperson of the group. He's the keyboardist.

A former Oakland University student, Bill is presently without a job, but he has plans to earn a living with the band by playing area clubs. His musical interests center on sophisticated rock.

With the help of his father, Bill has provided most of the sound equipment for the group, including a computerized synthesizer affectionately dubbed "Hamlet."

"Our parents have backed us 100 percent," Bill says, adding that most of their equipment was bought with loans from them or outright gifts.

"Right now, we think we're up to our max in debt, buying equipment to make our music sound good enough," he says.

"If it doesn't work out, we're going to open up a music store," laughs Mike, who is the lead guitarist.

Mike adds a touch of humor to the group. He says he was voted best musician of his high school senior class, but modestly adds it was because his music always included the showmanship of a rock musician.

A draftsman, he prefers the country rock sounds of bands like the Allman Brothers.

Bob is the rhythm player for the band and progressive jazz is his first love.

A former disc jockey, he headed home after the station where he worked spinning Rock discs changed its format to Muzak. He now sells clothing, donning pin-striped suits each workday.

Mark is the "chainsaw" rocker—he likes his music loud and long. He works for Ben Powell Disposal and attends Oakland Community College.

Don, the drummer, likes fusion jazz, or jazz rock. He is auditing classes at OCC and thinking about signing up for the Navy's music school.

Despite their divergent musical tastes, Bill says their variety is a strength.

"I really think we're going to stay together, because all of us respect each other's music," he says. "None of us considers anyone else a hack. It's the first band I've felt was going somewhere."

Saturday, when they appear on stage at the Eagle Theatre, the lights will go out and Bill's voice will announce the band.

Argus was chosen for its name after their original choice, October, was cinched by another local band when a story appeared in a Detroit daily newspaper.

"Eventually we settled on Argus," Bill says. "It seemed a little more appropriate, because we do plan to be a visual band—with lights and lasers."

"I have great dreams of a whole graphic, three-dimensional of this guy with a hundred eyes above the stage saying, 'I am Argus...'"

Tickets for the show on Saturday are $4. The doors open at 7 p.m. Call the box office at 335-5470 for more information.

Mark Doolin [left] serves as bass player for Argus while Mike Conigliaro is lead guitarist.

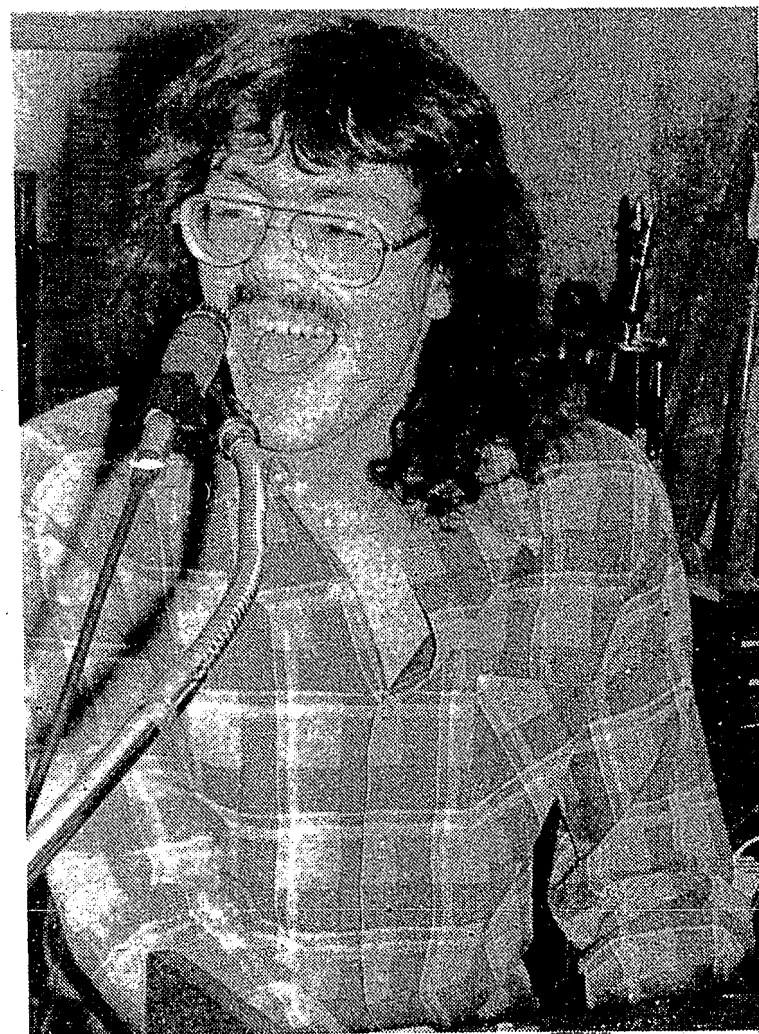

Jazz rock is Don Swanson's favorite music to play and he works some of it into the concert performances.

1980 Remembered for Fire Safety

With the year 1980 now in the history books, we can look back and review the figures released by the Independence Township Fire Department regarding their responses for 1980.

1980 Totals Read as Follows:

Building Fires	46
Commercial Building Fires	7
Vehicle Fires	40
Grass Fires	63
EMS Runs (Emergency Medical Service)	446
False Alarms	12
Smoke Investigators	20
Arson Fires	21
Miscellaneous Alarms	207
Assists to Other Township Fire Depts.	9
Automatic Fire Alarms	6
Public Service Calls	27

Total Alarms Responded to in 1980 875

The total number of alarms increased 4.6 percent over the totals for 1979. The fire department responded to and protected $4,111,455 worth of property in 1980. Of this amount $135,901 was damaged or destroyed.

Comparing this loss figure with property loss figures from years past, we can commend the people of Independence Township, as the year 1980 proved to be one of the lowest fire loss years in recent records.

Total Alarms Responded to for the Last Five Years

1975	320 Alarms
1976	696 Alarms
1977	615 Alarms
1978	777 Alarms
1979	837 Alarms
1980	875 Alarms

To all residents of Independence Township, the fire department wants to express our thanks and commend you on a year marked by increased fire prevention and fire safety.

Local poet publishes

An original poem by Steven Petroff has been accepted for publication in "Young America Sings," published by the National Poetry Press.

Steven is a student at Our Lady of the Lakes High School in Waterford Township.

His parents are Joseph and Geraldine Petroff of Cranberry Lake Road, Independence Township.

Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Oleskie of Utica announce the engagement of their daughter, Debbie to Kevin Kerr, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Kerr of Pinedale Avenue, Independence Township. The bride-elect and her fiancé are employed at Kroger Co. of Rochester. They plan an April 4 wedding.

Recipe File

By Lorna Bickerstaff

The last two years, Gail Olson has brought her "Green Stuff" to our Christmas luncheon. The Green Salad is very tasty and one you are sure to go back to for seconds.

Green Salad

- 1 8oz. size Cool Whip
- 1 can pineapple chunks (16 oz.)
- 1 pkg pistachio jello pudding (3 oz.)

In large bowl mix pudding and pineapple with juice together. Then add Cool Whip and mix well.

NOTE: If you have a favorite recipe, please either mail it into the office or drop it off. Leave your name and telephone number in case we have any questions.

Lamphere, Wright exchange vows in double-ring ceremony

Deborah Lynn Lamphere and Dale Travis Wright recently exchanged marriage vows at Gloria Dei Lutheran Church, Pontiac.

The Rev. Richard Chilkott performed the traditional, double-ring ceremony in the poinsettia-decorated church.

The bride's grandmother, Mrs. LaVon Ryden sang "We've Only Just Begun" before the ceremony began.

For her Dec. 28 wedding, the bride wore a white organza gown with lace appliques on the sheer sleeves and on the bodice to form a mandarin collar.

She wore her Aunt Teresa Ryden's veil for "something borrowed" and carried a bouquet of cranberry-tipped white silk carnations trimmed with white bows.

Maid of honor was the bride's cousin, Beth Lamphere of Waterford Township, who wore a cranberry, floor-length gown.

The bride's sister, Beth Lamphere of Clarkston, was bridesmaid. She wore an off-white gown topped with a cranberry jacket.

Kathy Lamphere, the bride's sister of Clarkston, served as junior bridesmaid. She wore an off-white gown trimmed with a cranberry sash.

Best man was Lynn Wright, brother of the bridegroom.

Donald Ostrun served as a groomsman and the bride's brother, Richard Lamphere of Clarkston, was an usher.

A buffet dinner was served at the reception at the home of the bride's parents, Richard and Linda Lamphere of Laurelton Road, Independence Township.

Parents of the bridegroom are Roscoe Wright of Independence Township and Thelma Wright of Drayton Plains.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Wright honeymooned in northern Michigan.

They are residing on Groveland Road in Brandon Township.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Wright

Academy candidates to compete

Peter Hoopfer and Matthew Townsend have been selected to compete for 1981 appointments to the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md.

Congressman William Broomfield (R-Birmingham) made the announcement of his selections of the two Independence Township boys last week.

Peter, the son of Mary Lynn Hoopfer of Winell Drive, is a senior at Clarkston High School.

Matthew, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William

Townsend of North Holcomb Road, is a senior at Our Lady of the Lakes High School, Waterford Township.

The boys are among 20 nominees competing for two vacancies at the Naval Academy. They were selected strictly on a competitive basis, according to merit, said Broomfield.

Young men and women interested in attending any of the service academies in 1982 may contact Broomfield before November at 2306 Rayburn House Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20515.

New arrivals

Former Clarkston resident Carrie Smith and her husband Glenn are the parents of their first child.

Thomas Allen was born Jan. 20 at 7:10 a.m. at St. Joseph Merch Hospital, Pontiac. He measured 19½ inches and weighed 6 pounds, 4½ ounces.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Purvis of Independence Township and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith of Almont.

Great grandparents are Mr. Charles Purvis of Holly, Mrs. James Most of Owasso and Brookie Stroud of West Virginia.

Dr. and Mrs. Michael Baker of Holcomb Road, Clarkston, welcomed their first child into the world Dec. 20.

Elisabeth Ruth was born at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac. She weighed in at 5 pounds, 9½ ounces and measured 18¼ inches.

Grandparents are Eugene

Beck of Pontiac and Mr. and Mrs. Leon Baker of Florida.

Great-grandparents are Mary Browne and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Baker, all of Florida.

At college

Annette Stove has been initiated into the Alpha Lambda Delta honor society at Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo.

She was selected for the honor because of outstanding grades achieved during her freshman year.

Annette resides on Rattalee Lake Road.

Chris Kortge achieved straight A's during the fall semester at Michigan State University, East Lansing.

Chris, a freshman studying chemical engineering, resides on Chickadee Lane in Independence Township. He graduated from Clarkston High School.

Dayna Swanson was named to the Central Michigan University, Mt. Pleasant, honors list for the fall semester for achieving all A's.

A sophomore, Dayna resides on Snow Apple Drive, Independence Township.

THOUGHTS

The hostages are free,
Just like you and me.

I am so very glad,
Not really mad.
I would have fought
Just to get them out
I hope that you
Would have too.

Partying octogenarian

On the afternoon of Jan. 18, Helen M. Jackson of Springfield Township, celebrated her 80th birthday and was honored guest at a surprise party held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Jackson of Drayton Plains.

In celebration, 24 guests toasted her with champagne and sang Happy Birthday as she blew out the candles on her three-tiered cake, decorated with red and white carnations.

Church teens celebrate

The youth of the First Church of God celebrate National Youth Sunday on Jan. 25.

The teenagers are to participate in worship services throughout the day, according to local youth president Dale Quie.

At 6 p.m. the youth are to show a film called "Friend or Foe" to the congregation and have a discussion about Christian values. The public may attend.

The church is located at 6300 Clarkston-Orion, Independence Township. For more information, call 625-1323.

Voll-a-thon to run all night long

At midnight on Friday, the Clarkston High School girls' volleyball team and the student government members meet on the court in the gym.

The late-night rendezvous is for a good cause, and the teams are but two of 10 that plan to participate in a Voll-a-thon for SCAMP.

In all, about 100 CHS students are expected to participate.

Sponsored by the CHS student government, the event is to raise funds for the local summer camp program for children and youth from northern Oakland County who may have special needs or who may be handicapped.

Participants are gathering pledges for each hour they play volleyball during the 14-hour-long event. The minimum a person can donate to a player is a total of $1.50.

The Voll-a-thon is also the reason for canisters awaiting contributions for the SCAMP found in several area businesses.

The canisters are located at the Big Boy, Kinney Shoes, Ritter's Farm Market, Country Value Hardware, True Value

Hardware, Dr. James O'Neill's office, Little Caesar's, the Clothestree, Hallman's Apothecary, Coach's Corner, Rudy's Market and the Raintree restaurant.

The Voll-a-thon is to begin at 6 p.m. Friday, Jan. 30, and end at 8 a.m. Saturday, Jan. 31. It is not open to the public.

A network of franchised offices

This beautiful three bedroom colonial sits at the rear of five heavily wooded acres in prestigious CLARKSTON. Sitting in the massive kitchen you can warm yourself in front of one of the fireplaces, as you can in the family room or the formal living room. The solar room also contains a woodburning boiler, to compliment the main system, which is gas and/or oil fired, with seven zones of control. From the wet bar in the family room to the heated garage with its running water, nothing has been excluded. This home is not for everyone, but it may be for you. Call Jim DeKoninck for a private exposure to this wonderful experience with more features, too numerous to list. 625-0101.

A CONSUMER SHOPPING TIP

When waterproofing your basement, make sure your contractor's reputable. Read your contract carefully before signing. Question all language you don't understand. Be prepared to remove your own interior basement walls if contract so states. And don't let a salesman tell you soil conditions and water table are irrelevant. They're important.

Things to do

Activities outside the Clarkston-Independence-Springfield area

Voices blending in perfect barber shop synchronization is the focus of the 38th annual Parade of Harmony, put on by the Pontiac Chapter of the S.P.E.B.S.Q.A. Inc.

Everyone's invited to attend the gala scheduled Feb. 14 at 8 p.m., at Pontiac Northern High, 1051 Arlene St., Pontiac.

The show features the "Cincinnati Kids" from the Johnny Appleseed District and the "Music Mart" from Indiana.

Tickets are $5 and are available at Hallman's Apothecary on Main Street, Clarkston, or through Rawley Hallman by calling 625-1545.

There are no reserved seats for the event.

If visions of cruising along on iceless lakes and goin' fishing are dancing through your head, the place to be is the 23rd annual Greater Michigan Boat and Fishing Show.

The show is scheduled Jan. 31 through Feb. 8 at Detroit's Cobo Hall.

The highlight is a water simulator tank which will allow show visitors to water ski inside Cobo Hall.

Hours are noon to 11 p.m. Saturday, noon to 9 p.m. Sunday and 4 to 10 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Admission is $3.50 for adults, $1.50 for children ages 5 through 12, and $1.50 for senior citizens.

A "Pre-Groundhog Day Celebration" is planned at the Nature Center of Stony Creek Metropark near Utica and Rochester on Sunday, Feb. 1, at 2 p.m.

The party is designed to prepare people for Groundhog Day on Feb. 2 by learning how the tradition of watching the groundhog and his famous shadow began.

Advance registration is required for the free program.

For more information, or to register, call 781-4621.

Theatre of the Arts Productions Ltd. of Royal Oak is holding auditions for upcoming musicals on Thursday, Jan. 29.

The auditions are to begin at 7 p.m.

Friar Tuck's—haven for dieters, non-dieters too

Before Friar Tuck's Diet Delight opened a month ago, Dan and Kathi Foley served a sandwich from the menu to their neighbors in the Lake Oakland Woods subdivision.

"They couldn't wait until the store opened up," says Kathi.

Dan manages the restaurant located at 4348 Dixie Highway, Waterford Township, and a second location in Flint.

There is booth seating for those who wish to dine there plus complete carry-out service for the foods designed for the diet-conscious and members of their families not limiting their eating.

The menu features smaller portions for the dieter, ice cream without sugar or salt and a line of baked goods without sugar or salt.

Because there are seven Friar Tuck's in Michigan, there is a central bakery in Troy and an ice cream company makes the confection to the restaurant's specifications, but everything else sold there is made on the premises.

"We buy the best available," Dan says. "The tuna we serve is white albacore—there's a world of difference between that and what you buy in the store to serve at home."

Prices range from 60 cents for a cup of onion, minestrone or cabbage soup to $3 for luncheon items, and the top price on the dinner menu is $4.25 for chicken rolls made of fileted chicken breasts rolled in rice and spices with a salad and vegetable.

Dan has worked for the restaurant chain for about four-and-one-half years. He was instrumental in selecting the newest Friar Tuck's location.

"I live three miles from here, so I wanted one a little closer to home," he says.

The restaurant is owned by Anthony and Anne Rubino and Dan's brother and his wife, Mike and Rene Foley.

"My brother was on the Weight Watcher program and was going to (the Rubinos') restaurant and he talked them into expanding," Day says. "I was running a MacDonald's and he decided to open a store in Flint and asked me if I would run it for him."

Although Dan agrees the change in the menu from his former place of employment is radical, he is pleased with the change and he's enthusiastic about the menu selections.

"I don't think you'll believe the actual things people can Managing a restaurant closer to home makes life easier for Dan Foley and his wife Kathi.

have and still remain on a diet," he says. "Here they can actually satisfy their cravings and still stay on their diets with cream puffs, banana splits, parfaits, short cake a la mode and chocolate cake a la mode."

There's even an equivalent sheet that goes with menu items so patrons can figure out ingredients and match them with their diets.

Kathi, who works as a secretary for Heat Treating Services of Pontiac, is also happy to have Dan working closer to home.

"I think it's terrific, because he's working for himself," she says. "The kids think it's terrific, because they can drive by and tell their friends, 'That's where my dad works—that's his restaurant.' And they love the ice cream."

Hours are 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Monday through Saturday and noon to 10 p.m. Sunday.

Menu items include soups, sandwiches and salads for lunch and complete dinners in the evening. Beverages include several kinds of diet soda pop.

Coping with kids

The Clarkston (Mich.) News Wed., Jan. 28, 1981 27

by Jim Windell

Humor—a discipline tool all-too-often ignored

Read a book about child discipline and management and what do you find?

You find chapters devoted to such time-honored topics as Punishment, Reinforcement, Communication, Positive Relationships and Rewards.

You would have to look long and hard to find even isolated mention of humor.

Humor, I believe, is a form of communication and effective parenting that has been overlooked with the rush toward more esoteric and scientific methods for getting kids to do what you want.

Child management and parenting has been taken so seriously in the last few years that perhaps joking and a genial use of humor have been neglected even though good parents are probably adept at its use.

Kids have a great sense of humor and delight in laughing. Adults often take things too seriously.

When it comes to a serious discipline situation, the parent may tend to take the problem too seriously while the child, the anxious or distraught mother or father might think, is taking it too lightly.

Humor and laughter can serve several useful functions for parents. It is a great release for tension.

When Mr. S. confronted his daughter Karen about a problem, she immediately became defensive and suggested she should leave. Mr. S. said nothing for a few seconds and then got a very worried look on his face.

"What's wrong?" Karen asked.

"I was just thinking," Mr. S. replied. "Who would I bawl out if you weren't here?"

Karen got the point and started smiling. The crisis was past for the moment and some perspective on the problem was gained in the release of tension.

Humor can also call a child's attention to a problem and let the child know you have a concern without raising defensive rebelliousness.

Eight-year-old Darren had a habit of standing in front of the TV when others were trying to watch it.

He didn't apparently do it out of deliberateness. Nevertheless, everyone else found it annoying and irritating.

Darren got yelled at a lot and frequently warned by his mother.

One time when he walked in front of the TV and just stood there his mother said, "Boy, am I glad you're standing there, Darren."

"Why?" Darren asked, intrigued.

"Because you're going to block those icky microwaves from the TV from getting to me and probably save me from some dreaded disease."

"Oh, mom," was all Darren said. But, he moved.

There were no threats, no punishments and no misunderstandings. The point was, however, made.

Exaggeration can be combined with humor to tap into a child's normal interest in making things bigger, but at the same time a message is being delivered.

Bill frequently put his feet up on a coffee table in the living room. This bothered his mother. She had tried threats and punishments, but he still seemed to forget and the feet would go back up.

She usually got terrifically angry and in turn Bill often ended up mad at his mother's nagging.

That changed when she tried humor.

Grabbing him in a big hug one day when his feet were on the table again she said menac-ingly, "I'm going to twist your leg into a pretzel and hook it around your head. How would you like that?"

They both laughed. But, Bill's feet came off the table, and no one was mad.

Humor is a sign of strength and security when used wisely by a parent. When it has an edge of sarcasm or is used to humiliate a youngster, it is no longer humor but revenge, vindictiveness, or punishment.

That is never funny.

Designs may be spare and simple, but the overall effect of our Consensus grouping by Drexel® is mellow indeed, thanks to pecan solids and veneers cut to show off swirl and shell figuring, under a honey-toned finish. The pieces are richly detailed, too, with touches of brass-finished trim, bronze glass and cane. Won't you look in, this week?

Homecoming-open house, 10th anniversary at NWOVEC

It's a gala homecoming/open house and 10th anniversary all rolled into one for Clarkston school's Northwest Oakland Vocational Education Center (NWOVEC.)

Honoring the years marking the decade since the school's opening, administrators at NWOVEC are inviting back alumni and teachers who attended or instructed at the school in 1971.

The school's current students and their parents are also invited to attend the open house, tour the school, meet the teachers and participate in different activities planned for the afternoon, said Alberta Ellis, vice-principal.

The hunt for alumni has been difficult, she said.

"We've contacted 85 of those students, but there are about 70 we've been unable to locate," she said. "What we plan to do is distribute a survey sheet and see how many went into careers or related fields that they studied here," she added.

The open house has been scheduled Sunday, Feb. 8, from 1 to 4 p.m. at NWOVEC, 8211 Big Lake, Springfield Township. The school's cafeteria and dining room are to be open for lunch and snacks, she said.

Alumni or teachers who worked or attended the school in 1971, and have not yet been contacted, are asked to phone the school at 625-5202.

Local student gears up for race held motorcross style

Clarkston High School senior Brian Barlow plans to participate in the "Coliseum Classic III" bicycle motocross race, coming to the State Fair Coliseum in Detroit Jan. 31 and Feb. 1.

The race features skilled riders of all age groups from across the country in the biggest BMX racing program ever staged in Michigan.

Gate fee is $3 for a one-day pass and $5 for both days. Racing will begin at noon Jan. 31 and at 9 a.m. Feb. 1.

Also featured in the two-day activities will be an American Bicycle Association (ABA) professional tour stop with a $5,000 pro purse, scheduled for the evening of Jan. 31. A separate admission for the pro event is required.

Barlow is the reigning 16-year-old-and-over expert in Michigan, and is recognized as one of the finest riders in his age group nationwide. He is the son of Paul and Rolena Barlow of Independence Township.

Independence airman escapes Titan Missile blast

By Kathy Greenfield

A visit to the site of an Air Force Titan II missile explosion left a lasting impression on the Hoskins family.

The accident occurred in September near Damascus, Ark., rocking the countryside and killing one Air Force man and injuring 21 others.

The Hoskins family—Martin, Gerda and two of their four children, Becky and Mary—took the trip from their Independence Township home on Heath Avenue to Arkansas to visit their son and brother, Teddy.

An airman first class, Teddy was one of the men in charge of caring for the missile, although he was not on duty when the accident happened.

"He was in Pennsylvania on a three-day training for a new pump they use for refueling," said Mr. Hoskins. "Sgt. Livingston, who got killed, was his commanding officer."

They took the trip shortly after Christmas, staying a little over four days.

Before they left home, they had to be cleared for security purposes to be able to visit the site.

Once there, other precautions were taken including a metal detector scan and security checks between sections of the tunnel that led to the actual structure which had an intact Titan II missile. Photographs were not allowed.

Family members of those who work on the missiles were the only civilians allowed to visit the location, Mr. Hoskins said.

The site of the explosion suffered heavy damage, and even though the accident had occurred months earlier, the scattered debris was still very visible.

"If you saw it, you wouldn't believe it," Mrs. Hoskins said.

"The top that goes above the hole, it's about the size of this house," Mr. Hoskins said. "It's made of concrete and steel and weighs about 750 tons."

"It was thrown out through the woods, 450 feet I think they said it was. It was broken up a little bit, but not much."

Part of the missile still sits about one-half mile from the explosion site, he said.

They brought home some souvenirs from their visit. One is a large metal socket that weighs about 9 pounds.

It is a duplicate of the one believed to have been dropped, falling into the Titan II and rupturing the fuel tank.

The leaking fuel was highly explosive and although Air Force personnel kept it under control for about a day, it eventually blasted.

Modifications on tools have since been made, he said, and it is no longer used.

Although the damage was severe, they say they don't worry too much about their son.

"It was just a plain mishap, just like a fender-bender," Mr. Hoskins said. "It could happen."

"If Teddy had been there and this had happened, I'd still feel the same way," he added. "We still need Titan II missiles to keep the Russians from knocking at our door."

Teddy joined the Air Force in June 1979, and he chose liquid fueling as his specialty. He's now learning to fly an airplane by taking private lessons.

"He says the next time he comes home, he'll be flying a plane," Mr. Hoskins said. "I think the things he does are really good for him. I'm really proud of him."

Bits and pieces of the Titan II missile and its surrounding structure illustrate the impact of the explosion.
