Independence ready to fight

Newest foster care home stirs ire

By Marilyn Trumper

To date there are one dozen foster care homes in Independence Township, but the number could tally 13 by August.

The Macomb-Oakland Regional Center (MORC), an arm of the state Department of Mental Health, has plans to build from the ground up an adult foster care home on the south side of Whipple Lake Road, two doors west of Michigamme Road.

The 2,300 square foot, three bedroom brick ranch would house six developmentally disabled adults. Groundbreaking is planned for August with the home in operation by December, according to James M. Clark, development specialist with MORC. Independence Township is gearing up for a new court battle following the June 16 meeting where board members charged such a home violates the ordinance outlining single family residential zoning.

Board members unanimously agreed to have the attorney expedite action to protect the township's interest, which will probably lead to court, said Trustee Larence Kozma.

Trustee William Vandermark proposed an "across the counter refusal" of the building permit needed to begin construction of the home. The permit has yet to be applied for.

"I'm in favor of helping them select the site," said Treasurer Frederick Ritter, "as long as it's restricted to commercial (zonings) which is where it belongs."

MORC's policy in the past has been to inform local governments of plans for adult foster care homes after the locations had been chosen, but a new policy established by the state Department of Mental Health added that local governments should be included in beginning site selections, said township Supervisor James B. Smith.

When the township was informed that the new home was to be built, MORC disregarded its new site selection policy, Smith said, and he strenuously objected.

According to Clark, of MORC, the policy is obeyed, but the proposed Whipple Lake home was in the works prior to adoption of the policy and is

Kisser: Clarkston's resident mascot

By Marilyn Trumper

He's an aristocrat but acts like a hobo.

Born into blue blood, he looks as though he's filled his veins with alcohol. He stands on Clarkston Village street corners, peering into business windows, haunting storeowners and trying to gain entry.

He's the upper-crust, the who's-who of his kind—but he looks and acts and roams like common riffraff.

The old-timer appears down on his luck, without family or ties. He's always wet and looking for a freebee.

Passersby offer the character a friendly hand and perhaps some advice to return home.

"Whatcha doing here fella?" is a common question.

He just wags his tail in response, turns and heads towards the Mill Pond for another dip in the cool waters.

His name, Sunkist. "But we call him Kisser," says owner Carol Ackerman of Langle Road, Independence Township.

Kisser's a two-year-old blond Labrador retriever of the English breed, Carol said.

"You'd never know his mother and father were real uppity-uppity, according to his papers. We bought him from the Jarosboro Kennels in Troy," she said. "He's a real special dog."

Kisser shuns his upper-class background, opting instead to become a near permanent fixture on Clarkston's Main Street.

Throughout the week, he stops traffic on the corner of Washington and Main, sidesteps flying bicycles, looks to Rudy's Market for meaty handouts and monopolizes doorway shade.

His fur's always wetted with water for labs are drawn to H<sub>2</sub>O like children to swings.

Kisser, whenever he escapes the Ackermans' home, makes it standard practice to follow his master and mistress, Marc, 7, and Nicole, 13, to school.

"We can always find him at the elementary school or junior high," Carol said.

Apparently, Kisser sometimes tires of waiting for his family to leave school and heads down to Clarkston to see what kind of action's brewing.

The Mill Pond's always good for a diversion—or stopping traffic, or looking for free pets.

Kisser the Blond Lab—Clarkston Village's mascot of blue blood and hobo manners.

With tongue lolling and fur amply wetted down, Kisser haunts the doorways of Clarkston's downtown business district. Between hounding storeowners for handouts and pedestrians for pats, the white Lab takes dips in the Mill Pond to cool off his canine hide.

M-15 widening could go to 3 lanes

By Marilyn Trumper

For years Independence Township residents have rallied in opposition to the proposed widening of M-15 to five lanes south of the village.

It now appears the state Department of Transportation is willing to compromise with an alternative to the proposed five-lane widening, and will perhaps accept a widening to three lanes with the third lane used as a center turning lane, according to James B. Smith, township supervisor.

In addition, the state has shown a new spirit of cooperation and is open to trading information in the search for a viable alternative, Smith said.

The traffic-bogged and improperly draining M-15 corridor between Dixie Highway and Paramus Drive has been battered about for years in local government.

As a wedge to block the proposed widening, village residents worked diligently to have Clarkston admitted to the National Register of Historic Places, certain the state would balk at destroying historic Main Street.

Recently, village resident Jennifer Radcliff of Main Street pleaded with the township board to interview representatives of two engineering firms which specialize in traffic engineering and, if hired, could produce viable alternatives to the proposed widening.

Township board members interviewed the firms at a special meeting June 9, but made no decision in the hiring.

From that meeting board members learned the state had indicated to the firms that a maximum widening of M-15 to three lanes could perhaps be a viable alternative, at least one open to negotiations, said Clerk Christopher Rose.

At the June 16 regular meeting, Smith touched on the interviews and read communication from the state.

In a letter to Independence government Jack D. Morgan manager of DOT's Public Involvement Section wrote, "...If Independence Township wishes to hire an outside consultant to review the problems of the area, he will be happy to work with them and you to find a mutually acceptable alternative."

Morgan further said he would share with any firm and local government any existing data concerning the proposed widening.

Township officials at the June 16 meeting expressed relief over the new spirit of cooperation and agreed to meet in the near future with representatives of the Department of Transportation.

Art award given

In the listing of Clarkston Junior High School departmental awards in last week's Clarkston News, a ninth grader's name was omitted.

Michelle Law received a special award for outstanding achievement in art classes.

Because the award is not presented every year, her name was inadvertently left off the list, said CJHS Principal Duane Lewis.

Correction

The name of a scholarship was incorrectly identified in the list that appeared in The Clarkston News 1981 graduation supplement last week.

Scholarships awarded to Grant Anderson, Chris Fenton and Mark Hanna should have been listed under the Pete Koneda Memorial Scholarship.

Schools ok $15.1 million budget

By Kathy Greenfield

The 1981-82 Clarkston Community Schools $15.1 million budget has been approved. The figure includes $13.8 million for K-12 education and $1.3 million for the Northwest Oakland Vocational Education Center.

The figures were based on a projected student enrollment of 6,450 K-12 pupils, 202 fewer than the 1980-81 school year, said Superintendent Milford Mason.

The actual number of pupils is not official until the fourth Friday count, slated to take place in September. All state aid is determined by that figure. Expected state aid for 1981-82 is $1,938 for each pupil.

The school board voted to approve the budget in a 6-0 vote Monday night.

Once the official number of pupils is in, adjustments are likely to take place, Mason said, adding that he expected the board to make the changes in November.

"It will not be that different," he told the board. "It will be adjusted to the fourth Friday count."

Mason said he had a budget worked out with basic figures before the 3 mills in additional taxes were approved by voters June 8. (Three mills are $3 for each $1,000 of assessed property valuation.)

After the meeting, he said the expected about $950,000 in increased revenue from the 3 mills meant the addition of 17 teaching positions, one custodian, the employees' benefits, and extracurricular activities including sports.

The increased staff and programs utilized about $430,000 of the increased income and the remainder is to be used as equity.

According to the 1981-82 budget, at the end of the '81-82 school year, the district will have a surplus of about $1.4 million.

"It's the key to try to stretch this out as far as we can and not substantially reduce the level of education," Mason said. "That's going to be the battle."

Budget figures for K-12 education included the following amounts:

- Andersonville Elementary—$609,903
- Bailey Lake Elementary—$824,615
- Clarkston Elementary—$735,733
- Pine Knob Elementary—$690,776
- North Sashabaw Elementary—$560,708
- South Sashabaw Elementary—$279,907
- Clarkston Junior High—$1,076,413

- Sashabaw Junior High—$1,308,189
- Clarkston Senior High—$2,171,034
- Special education—$841,253
- SCAMP—$57,500
- Special education 94-142 —$137,899
- CHS adult education—$21,395
- Vocational education-adult education—$22,000
- CHS vocational education—$43,267
- Title I reading support—$90,204
- Warehouse (building maintenance)—$739,245
- Grounds maintenance—$73,900
- Transportation—$994,416
- Administration—$2,514,660

The $1.3 million budgeted for the Northwest Oakland Vocational Education Center includes costs for the entire building including bookkeeping, hiring teachers and paying the bills, Mason said.

As host district for the center which serves several surrounding school districts as well as Clarkston, the local district is responsible for overseeing the operation, and is paid about 3 percent of the budget for the tasks, he said.

Balloon senders

Balloons reached to the sky Saturday with a little help from a group of volunteers including [from left] Renee Blakeman, Bob Stricklin and Jeff Moore. The Great Balloon Send-Off in the Village Park was a fund-raising event for the American Lung Assoc. of Southeast Michigan sponsored by the Durbin Co. Realtors of Clarkston.

Building starts decline in 1980

New construction has steadily decreased over the past three years in Independence Township and 1980 was no exception.

The deadline is blamed on the poor housing market, high interest rates and the bad economy by Kenneth Delbridge, director of the township's building and planning departments.

Delbridge said he sees no immediate end in sight. "But I don't think it can get any worse. We're at the bottom now," he added.

In 1980, 76 building permits were issued in the township, compared to 178 in 1979 and 279 in 1978. Of the 76 permits issued last year, all were for single-family home construction and Independence ranks 11th county-wide for communities issuing permits.

Avon Township is first with 513, Waterford Township is second with 435, Southfield is third with 424, West Bloomfield is fourth with 421, Farmington Hills is fifth with 381, Wixom is sixth with 221, Troy is seventh with 148, Bloomfield Township is eighth with 144, Novi is ninth with 102 and Highland Township is tenth with 80.

Neighboring Springfield Township ties with Walled Lake for 19th, issuing 44 building permits for 1980. Springfield is down from its 1979 total of 151.

Band music to fill village park

Music from a 31-piece band is to fill the air during the month of July with a series of five concerts in the Clarkston Village Depot Park.

The concerts are free. They are to begin at 7 p.m. and last about one hour each Friday evening, beginning July 3.

A tradition in years past, the concerts were revived last year by the Clarkston Business Association (CBA) which is also sponsoring the musical events this year.

As last year, the band is to be conducted by Independence Township resident James Morris.

A federal music grant of $4,500 from the Pontiac Federation of Musicians plus a donation of about $1,200 from the CBA will provide funds to pay the band members, said Carol Eberhardt, CBA president.

Because of the federal funding, donations cannot be taken during the concerts, but they can be made by mailing or dropping off contributions to the Clarkston Business Association, c/o Carol Eberhardt, One More Time, 6-N. Main, Clarkston 48016.

Refreshments will be sold by the CBA during the concerts. The park is adjacent to the Clarkston Village Hall, 375 Depot, Clarkston.

Signs snatched

Clarkston's Village Council is interested in any information which could lead to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons who stole over $700 worth of signs from municipal property last Thursday.

According to village President Fontie ApMadoc thieves traveled residential streets on the night of June 18 stealing stop and speed limit signs.

The village, ApMadoc said, might be forced to absorb the full loss and is unsure at this time if insurance covers the theft.

Sheriff's log

Thursday, thieves broke into a garage on Perry Lake Road, Independence Township, and stole an intake manifold, according to police reports.

Thursday, a thief pumped $3.80 worth of gasoline from the Clark Super 100 Service Station, 4951 Sashabaw, Independence Township, and drove off without paying, according to police reports.

Friday, vandals drove across a front lawn on Deerwood Road, Independence Township, and caused $35 in damages when they threw a bottle through the front window of the house, according to police reports.

Friday, thieves broke into a car on Snowapple Drive, Independence Township, and stole a stereo equalizer valued at $90, according to police reports.

Friday, a thief pumped $15 worth of gasoline from the Clark Super 100 Service Station, 4951, Sashabaw, Independence Township, and drove off without paying, according to police reports.

Friday, thieves stole an electric bug zapper from the front porch of a house on Clintonville Road, Independence Township, according to police reports.

Saturday, thieves entered a garage on Ellis Road, Independence Township, and stole a pair of torches valued at $250, a 12-pack of beer and a watermelon, according to police reports.

Saturday, thieves stole lawn furniture, a banquet table, a miter box and a saw from a garage and yard on Allen Road, Independence Township, according to police reports.

Sunday, thieves broke into an unoccupied house on Cecilia Ann Road, Independence Township, and stole three shotguns, a rifle, $40 in rolled change and $10 in silver dollars, according to police reports.

The above information was collected from reports at the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

Teachers recalled

Nearly half of the teachers who were pink-slipped at the end of the school year have now received notice that their jobs are intact.

Following voters' approval June 8 of a 3-mill tax increase for Clarkston schools, the school board approved the recalls in a 6-0 vote.

Three mills are $3 for each $1,000 of assessed property valuation.

The list approved by the board included 17 names, two of which were former administrators who will now join the teaching ranks.

Those recalled from the original list of 33 teachers who received lay-off notices are: Kyle Chaffer, Mary Dedrick, Joanne Genaw, John Getzan, Janet Gleeson, Nancy Graziano Weightmann, marion Herrell, Jerilyn Hon-Hawkins, Debra Latozas, Han-nolore Rupprecht, Ervin Thomas Smith, Julie Samuelson, Carla Teare, Bonnie Valuet and Walter Wyniemko.

The two administrators included on the list who will now be teaching are Marvin Hess and Paul Tungate. Tungate is to devote half of his time directing athletics, but will be paid a coaching fee for his duties, said schools Superintendent Milford Mason.

The notices have been mailed, and the recalls are definite, Mason said.

"If other people change or resign, we may be calling a few more back," he added.

Something to cluck about

Preparing for the feast, Jerry Bass [left] and Frank Poole tackle the task of cooking 600 half-chickens for the second annual Sashabaw United Presbyterian Church Bar-B-Q on Saturday. The men of the church, located on Sashabaw Road in Independence Township, cooked the poultry under the direction of chairman Doug Roy.

therefore "grandfathered."

Following the meeting, Clerk received word of board members' objections and made an about-face concerning the grandfather clause.

"Our real concern is with the attitude they've (the board) taken with the site," he said.

It's possible that since the home is still in the early development stage to...work with Mr. Smith and the board to shift to an alternate site.

"We're more than willing to screen and review alternate sites," he said. "We want to cooperate."

"This is more of a rural setting," he added, "and while we're not totally isolated, it is a dirt road and a little bit off the beaten path."

If Independence is unable to find an alternate suitable site and files suit to prevent the home from establishing, it will be the second court battle on the issue of adult foster care homes in the township.

For almost a year, the township has been locked in a bitter battle to oust an adult foster care home from Lake Oakland Woods subdivision, charging the home violates zoning ordinances and limits the township's right to self determination.

Smooth riding

Clean up those bicycles, wax the skateboards and make sure the roller skate's wheels are moving freely. Independence Township could see the first three miles of a planned 50 mile safety path network in working order by late fall.

At the June 16 board meeting, members unanimously awarded to Mosher-Kapalczak of Dixie Highway, Springfield Township, the engineering contract for the job.

The firm submitted the lowest bid, a fixed fee of $17,900 for Phase I and II of the job--or the first three miles. Phase I and II includes preparing contracts, overseeing bids, recommending contractors, working on site and staking, according to Frederick Ritter, township treasurer.

The first three miles slated for construction include: the west side of Sashabaw from Clinton Road, north to Maybee Road; the east side of Sashabaw from Maybee Road, north to Pine Knob Elementary School; the completion of the Maybee-Sashabaw intersection; and the northwest side of Clarkston-Orion Road, from Snowapple Road to Clintonwood Park.

Last August voters narrowly approved a .5-mill tax for safety path construction to be collected annually for the next ten years. The tax generates $100,000 in revenue each year and would total $1 million at the end of the 10-year period.

One mill is $1 for each $1,000 of assessed property valuation.

Board oks Maybee Road Park

Plans for ball diamonds off Flemings Lake Road have been temporarily shelved as the Independence Township board approved purchase of acreage off Maybee Road for a planned park.

At the June 16 meeting, board members unanimously gave the go-ahead to purchase the land and for the addition of one-and-one-half acres, increasing the park size from 13 to 15 acres.

The plan for the Maybee Road site is to develop a neighborhood park complete with ball diamonds, soccer fields, picnic tables and barbecue pits.

"It will be a walk-on type park that will mainly service kids and families in that area," said Timothy Doyle, director of Independence Township Parks and Recreation Departments.

Doyle dropped an earlier bid to use federal revenue and community development money set aside for the Maybee Road Park for a proposed Flemings Lake Road ball field area.

"The urgency is not as it was several weeks ago," Doyle said, referring to the Class D players who he said needed space to play ball.

"We're using the school fields, and have rearranged this and that. But if that land (on Flemings Lake Road) remains vacant, keep it in mind," he said. "It has very good merit. We still have the need for new fields."

Storm brews for Gov. Milliken

When or what will it take for Gov. Milliken and our crack legislators to shift priorities from social services and back to the education of our youth.

Our most important natural resource, our youth and their education, seems to rate second best when one observes the way Mr. Milliken and company spend our tax dollars.

In the past three years, K-12 education funding has been decreased more than 8 percent and social services has increased more than 18 percent.

There are many more tax paying citizens living north of 8 Mile Road than live south of it. So how about proportionally spending our tax dollars with this in mind, Guv?

The thundering in the distance is getting closer! We the people demand fair and equitable tax reform, a good public school education, strict enforcement of the law and all those treasures our tax dollars are supposed to buy.

In California, Gov. Jerry Brown fought tooth and nail to stop tax-cutting Proposition 13 from passing, but come election day, the voice of the people was heard loud and clear! Proposition 13 passed hands down!

Gov. Brown, the next day on TV, expounded on how he and his administration would fully support the decision of the people.

In our state of Michigan this year, Gov. Milliken told us how great tax-SHIFT Proposal A was. The voice of the people was also loud and clear... "No!"

The next day, Gov. Milliken on TV proceeded to tell the people of Michigan they had been misled, confused and made a bad decision when they cast their votes killing the tax-SHIFT A.

Nov. 2, 1981 (Election Day) is just around the corner, Gov. Milliken, look in the distance... there is a storm on the horizon.

Toast a roaster

by Kathy Greenfield

The flames suddenly appeared, engulfing the chicken on the grill. The quick-thinking outdoor grill master grabbed a bottle of barbecue sauce and doused the raging inferno.

But, yipes, it caught on fire again. The lid to the grill was slapped in place. The fire died out. The lid was removed, cautiously, after peeking in through one corner first.

And there it was. Chicken charred almost beyond recognition. One brave almost-diner carefully scraped off the black stuff and found a surprise inside—raw chicken.

That's when Al Zawacky and his father headed to Kentucky Fried Chicken for their Memorial Day feast.

This is the tale of woe Al told the rest of us at The Clarkston News office the day after the holiday.

We all laughed. We all remembered such tragedies on the grill—the times when we ended up eating over-cooked barbecued or grilled-out whatever. We told Al he should write to Kentucky Fried Chicken and sell the experience as an ad—we could picture it in full color on the TV screen.

Then, office humor struck again. With the advent of The Clarkston News summer cookbook, Al took an awful lot of flack about sharing a recipe with our readers—"How about your recipe for barbecued chicken? Ha, ha, ha."

Grappling with the enough-is-enough reaction of one who has had it with the jokes, Al composed the following:

ZAWACKY EXTRA-CRISPY BARBECUED CHICKEN

- 1 medium-sized chicken
- 1 gallon gasoline
- 1 match

Douse chicken with gasoline. Light with match. Let burn for several hours, or until skin is crumbly. Will serve four and gross out six.

Thank goodness Al's recipe is one-of-a-kind. It's the only one I wouldn't try from the collection gathered from our readers for our cookbook, which appears in this week's Clarkston News.

Happy eating!

Hooray for millage, winners

Hooray for the millage and congratulations to Carolyn Place and Dr. Werner for your new seat on the Clarkston school board.

It was an honor to run in a school board race where there was so much citizen participation in the form of stumping for the millage, where candidates were willing to commit their time to run for office, and where so many citizens exercised their privilege and prerogative to vote.

It is "kids that count" in Clarkston and, for that reason, I have become a perennial candidate. I continue to believe that we can better utilize teacher talent, and we can add "basics" without added cost like physical education, more art and crafts and more music.

I continue to believe that education is more than attendance and that individuals should be respected—both parents and students.

I hope my "third" will make both board and central administration more sensitive to this.

I believe that all parents must register their likes and dissatisfactions with the appropriate official following the chain of command.

First the teacher is informed; if the problem is not resolved, ask for a conference with the teacher and principal; then teacher, principal, central administrator; and lastly, the school board.

In order for our system to work, we need to be involved and to urge problem solving. We should not have fear of reprisal in carrying this out, NOR SHOULD OUR CHILDREN!

I appreciate and thank everyone who helped me and all who placed confidence in me at the ballot box.

True wealth

I believe an apology is in order for neglecting to thank all the wonderful people, club members and non-members, who had a hand in providing the means for us to return to Michigan this summer.

I also have an excuse or two. The generosity and goodwill of you folks overwhelmed us and we were and are at a loss to express our appreciation for your kindness.

We take this opportunity to thank you very much. We do appreciate your generosity and friendship.

Lessons learned

by Jim Sherman

I hope I remember two lessons (learned at great expense) from our recent trip to Atlantic City. One has to do with hotel reservations, one with car renting.

The machinery show was June 6-10. We called the "Convention Bureau" in early May. City convention bureaus are designed to give visitors the run-around and second class rooms. Never trust one.

We asked for any of three good hotels. "No openings" we were told. "What's next best?" we asked. "The Midtown Bala Motor Inn."

"Fine, give us two doubles." Driving Pacific (or Atlantic) avenues into downtown Atlantic City at midnight isn't thrilling. Then when the taxi driver warns to not go past Arkansas St. at night, or a couple others or "you'll get mugged", the entry is much less than an enthusiastic welcome.

The wives were upset from parking lot to room, and could hardly wait to leave at 8 a.m. We ate breakfast in the lovely Bally Park Place, and immediately made reservations.

Lesson One: I had called the Bally in early May. They asked who we were with, they said you coming for the ANPA show? we said yes, they said, sorry those rooms are gone.

The lesson is, next time say you are retired and just coming to visit a friend. The Bally had several rooms that weren't turned over to the convention bureau.

The Bala was $50 a night, the Bally, $100. But our wives at least got to sleep at the higher rate.

Lesson Two: Hertz says pay a daily charge, no mileage. Just $48 a day and you can drive as many miles as you want.

Why not? That's $17,520 a year for a 1978 Impala.

However, the lesson is to listen to the word "day". That's 24 hours. Let it soak in. We were just a few hours past 24 hours in returning the Hertz and paid for one more day.

"The hourly rate exceeds the day rate," she said. And, of course, we paid for the gasoline they put in.

This is all looked upon the way the late Paul Gunnerfeldt used to put it: "What the heck, when you split enough ways it's not too bad."

A Friendly "HELLO" On FATHER'S DAY

Handwritten messages and a central illustration of a tractor with 'W-E' on it. Text includes: 'This brings a warm Hello there!', 'And a wish that Father's Day will be the kind that you'll enjoy in your own favorite way', 'And may the days that follow it hold pleasant things in store', 'Good luck, good health and happiness— No one deserves them more!', 'Happy Father's Day', 'Ray & Carol'.

15 years of greetings

That's a lot of mileage out of one little card

By Marilyn Trumper

The date, 1966, is circled in red.

The corners of the Father's Day card are slightly dog-eared. The back, from bending to and fro, is showing wear.

Rawley Hallman smiles as he opens the card and points out paragraph after paragraph of handwritten messages in blue and black ballpoint and fountain pen ink, and felt-tip pens.

Some paragraphs speak of "sorry we missed yous" and others speak of health. There are references to poor memories and aging—a personal poem and one good jab at the government spending—as relevant in 1981 as it was 15 years ago.

For 15 years, Hallman and his daughter's father-in-law Ralph Darling have sent the same card back and forth for Father's Day.

Darling who lives in Boca Raton, Fla., had the letter in Hallman's mailbox on Main Street, Clarkston, by Saturday—just in time for the Sunday celebration.

"My daughter lived here then (in Birmingham) and she invited me and her father-in-law over for dinner for Father's Day," Hallman said. "She had a gift for each of us—but she only had one card."

He laughs remembering, then continues.

"I came in first and she said, 'Daddy, I've only got one card. I'll give you your gift first—then you give me the card back.' So I did and she gave it to him."

But not before Hallman wrote inside, "Happy Father's Day Ralph, but I saw this card first."

Hallman laughs again then says, "The card came on Saturday. It's my turn to send it back next year. I'll do it."

And the tradition goes on.

Next year the card will be a little more worn—will have one more message—and be Boca Raton bound.

Kids and laughter

by Jim Fitzgerald

It used to be widely believed that children are a comfort to parents in their old age. But recently, the National Opinion Research Center made an extensive study that indicates that people over 50 with children aren't any happier than those without children.

I am a parent over 50 with three grown children. My friend Ralph is the same age, and he has no children. I asked him if he were as happy as I am.

"No, you must be happier because you laugh more, and usually you're laughing at something your kids did," Ralph answered. "I can only laugh at things my goldfish do, and they're not very funny."

It is true that I laugh a lot at my children. The youngest, for instance, is 23, presently attending his fourth college and planning to transfer to his fifth next fall. It is taking him a long time to complete his education because he doesn't believe in skipping classes—he skips semesters instead.

Once he quit school to spend the winter in Minneapolis, where he worked from 11 to 7 in a 7-Eleven Store because he liked the sound of it. One spring, he said he was going mountain climbing in Oregon. He returned home several months later with many photographs of the trip, all taken in a Chicago motel.

And I thought I'd never stop laughing one morning at a Kentucky motel when I overheard the people next door exclaiming about the incredibly weird thing they'd seen in the motel pool late the night before. There was no water in the pool, but there was a body lying stiffly on the bottom, at the deep end, and on the diving board there was a camera on a tripod. My son was taking his own picture by moonlight.

I explained to my friend Ralph that parents sometimes laugh to keep from crying. But I didn't deny that, despite the wear on my nerves, there is something funny about a son who is totally incapable of remembering to take his house keys with him, so he is perpetually locked out. This never bothers him, because he usually resides in three towns at once, so he simply goes from one place to another until he finds someone home to open the door and let him in.

I would never advise a couple that marriage without children is no fun. To each his own. There may be many childless couples who'd be happier with kids, but I don't worry about them. A person who'd rather vacation in Bermuda than change diapers can't be all wrong, or terribly pitted.

The couples who worry me are those who shouldn't have children but do. Recently I read about a Southfield woman and her boyfriend who allegedly tortured her sons, ages two and five, beating and burning them. A neighbor reported the two little boys were in such bad shape they couldn't play in their yard: "They just squatted there together and would hold their heads."

Whenever I read something like that, I have to stop and grab hold of my emotions. I don't want to continue reading. The idea of adults beating on defenseless children is beyond understanding. I know it happens all the time, but I can't accept it. I don't know how the authorities who must deal with such situations retain their sanity or resist striking out at the parents who abuse the kids.

Who cares whether elderly people with kids aren't happier than elderly people without kids? Maybe they don't deserve to be happier. Or maybe the childless couples have really funny goldfish.

People shouldn't have children as a hedge against an unhappy old age. They should have children because they want to make the kids happy, or forget it. I don't need the National Opinion Research Center to tell me my friend Ralph can be happy even though he doesn't have a son who floats in dry swimming pools.

In my old age, I would be greatly comforted if someone would tell me there never again would be two little boys so terribly abused they couldn't play; they could only squat together in their yard and hold their heads.

'81-82 season still in doubt for McCormick

By Al Zawacky

University of Michigan basketball player Tim McCormick is resting at home in Springfield Township following an operation on his left knee last week at St. Joseph Hospital in Ann Arbor.

While the operation went without a hitch, McCormick's playing prospects remain clouded for the upcoming 1981-82 basketball season.

"It's really touch and go," said McCormick, a 6-foot-10 center who averaged five points and four rebounds a game with the Wolverines last winter.

"If I'm not 100 percent at the start of the season,

I won't play. I'll either play at the beginning of the season or not at all."

The operation performed involved the removal of calcium deposits and scar tissue around the left kneecap. McCormick suffers from patellar tendonitis, a degeneration of the knee caps commonly called "jumper's knee."

A decision on whether or not to perform a similar operation on the right knee will be made in the next six weeks, McCormick said, depending on the progress shown with the left knee.

An exercise program for the left knee will begin as soon as the cast is removed in about two weeks, he said.

"I'm excited about starting the rehabilitation and seeing how much work I'll have to do," McCormick said.

McCormick will be a sophomore at U of M this fall. A 1980 Clarkston High School graduate, he earned All-American status in his three-year varsity career and lead the CHS basketball squad to a berth in the state Class A semi-finals as a senior.

Wolverines, Cougars split

You win some and you lose some.

Such was the case in a Thursday-afternoon double-header at the Clarkston High School baseball field May 28, where cross-district rivals Sashabaw Junior High and Clarkston Junior High each picked up a victory in two well played freshman baseball contests.

It was the Wolverines of CJH that emerged victorious in the opener by a 5-3 final, but the Sashabaw Cougars came right back in game two to post a 6-5 triumph.

"Both teams did a real fine job," said SJH Coach Jim Koslosky. "There's a lot of tension when these two teams play each other."

Clarkston won the first game on the strength of a two-hit performance by pitcher Ken Temple. Leading the Wolverine attack were Ken Johnson with two hits, Jeff Dufour with two RBIs and Mark Ushman and Mike Harbaugh each with one RBI.

Sashabaw's Bob Ruelle touched Temple for an RBI double in the first inning.

Chris Bruce was the winning pitcher in the Cougar triumph in game two. Teamates Chris Hadley and Dan Crawford each had two hits for Sashabaw, while Johnson had two hits and two RBIs for Clarkston.

Home plate was the scene of plenty of action when Sashabaw Junior High and Clarkston Junior High squared off in a baseball doubleheader at the Clarkston High School diamond May 28.

Smith, Craig Lansing bound

Mary Smith and Kelly Craig are bound for Lansing for the Western Tennis Association Closed Championship coming June 28.

Mary, who will be a senior at Clarkston High School in the fall, and Kelly, who will be a ninth grader at Clarkston Junior High, both qualified for competition in Lansing by placing among the top 10 in their age groups at the recent qualifying competition at Waterford Oaks County Park.

Over 250 girls from around the state competed at Waterford Oaks for the right to go to Lansing.

The Western Tennis Association Closed Championship will feature tennis players from Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Wisconsin in addition to Michigan.

Liz wins state

Clarkston High School sophomore Liz Turnbull is now a state bowling champion.

Liz took first place in the Junior Girls category at the Michigan Youth Bowling Association state championship held May 30-31 in Kalamazoo.

She bowled a final actual series of 555 (723 with handicap), including a sparkling 221 score in game two.

Liz is the daughter of Robert and Marci Turnbull of Independence Township.

Clarkston's loss is SVSC's gain

Three familiar faces from Coach Walt Wyniemko's 1980 league champion Clarkston High School varsity football team were getting used to their new surroundings during Saginaw Valley State College's recruitment day activities recently. CHS alumni Mike Schumborg, Steve

The sad, sad saga of the Clarksville Hounds

With apologies to Hans Christian Anderson, yours truly presents the following fairy tale from the world of sports...

ONCE UPON A TIME there was a little village named Clarksville, and in this little village there was a baseball team known as the Clarksville Hounds. The Hounds were a team with a glorious past, having won the championship crown of the entire kingdom only a few years ago, a feat that made Clarksville very proud.

The latest version of the Hounds were not blessed with that kind of ability, but some talent was there nonetheless. Trouble was, the desire, dedication and spirit of these latter-day Hounds wasn't very impressive.

Only a handful of the Hounds really cared about the season. The others said they did, of course, but actually thought a lot of things were a lot more important.

For example, baseball was of little consequence compared to the sacred obligation of each individual to make a pilgrimage to the Sun Belt during the mid-season Holy Week. Even though the Hounds could have better used that week polishing and refining their skills on Clarksville's ancient diamond, nothing was going to keep some of them from making that holy journey to the land of orange juice and palm trees.

AND SO, SEVERAL of the Hounds disappeared down south, promising to follow their coach's instructions and work out down there—sometime between the days of sunbathing and nights of revelry. And maybe they really did work hard that week—remember, nothing is too incredible for a fairy tale.

MEANWHILE, THERE WAS another village not far from Clarksville called East Cornfield, and this village also had a baseball team of talents and abilities similar to the Hounds. But this team did not go on the mid-season holy pilgrimage.

Instead, the East Cornfield team worked hard and practiced in the cold, wind and rain that dominated the kingdom during most of the Holy Week.

"We are holding full practices. We are only missing two ballplayers," said the East Cornfield coach. "We are working hard to be the best we can be."

By coincidence, the Clarksville and East Cornfield squads met a month later at the end of the season to determine which team would continue on in the quest for the kingdom crown.

IT WAS A sad day for Clarksville. The East Cornfield villagers who came to watch the contest sat out on the lawn, cracking jokes and laughing at the play of the Hounds.

The East Cornfield bench and infield was alive with enthusiasm and spirit, while the Hounds bench was so quiet that even the umpire opined that the Hounds didn't seem to care.

After a tragic first inning, the Hounds asked the arbiter if the winner could be decided on the basis of which team had the best sunbathers. But the umpire shook his head no. That doomed the Hounds. And so the game droned on and when it was over—to nobody's surprise—the Hounds lost.

Later, opinion was divided as to whether Clarksville's pilgrimage really made any difference in the Hounds' season performance.

But everyone agreed on this: East Cornfield deserved to win more than many of the Clarksville players did, and thus it seemed only fair and just that the Hounds went down to ignoble defeat.

The moral of the story?
If you're going to play ball, best remember one thing—
Do your partying in the summer.
Stick to ball in the spring.

(Any similarities between the Clarksville Hounds and any real baseball team, living or dead, is purely coincidental.)

Dobson Open slated July 24

Good eating, good golfing and a good time for a good cause are coming to Spring Lake Country Club, which will host the second annual Dobson Open July 24.

The day's events will begin with tee-off times between 8:30 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. and culminate with an evening banquet around 6:30 p.m.

Proceeds from the golf outing and banquet will be donated to Clarkston High School to create scholarships in the name of Tim and Jennifer Dobson, who lost their lives last year in a tragic plane crash that also claimed the life of their father Ron Dobson.

Tickets, which include 18 holes of golf, one golf cart per foursome, breakfast, buffet lunch, steak dinner, entertainment and an open bar between noon and 10 p.m. are $75 per golfer.

Non-golfers who would like to support the Dobson Open can buy separate dinner tickets for the banquet only which include dinner, entertainment and the open bar for $30 per person.

Tickets can be purchased by calling L. Brooks Patterson at 858-0646 or Dan Daniel at 623-0585.

"Sales are going briskly," says Patterson, a personal friend of the Dobson family and organizer of the event. Persons wishing to participate in the Dobson Open should call for tickets as soon as possible, he added.

Spring Lake Country Club is located at 6060 Maybee Rd., Independence Township.

Last year's Dobson Open raised money for one $1,000 scholarship and four $500 scholarships. Jan Dobson, widow of the late Ron, recently presented the scholarships to five Clarkston High School 1981 graduates.

Annette Weber received the $1,000 scholarship, and Kim Roberts, Richard Harken, William Innis and Richard Sevala were the recipients of the $500 scholarships.

Golf outing to raise MDA funds

Pontiac Country Club and Bogie Lake Country Club will host the third annual M.D. Golf Outing June 27 beginning at 9:30 a.m.

Wanted: Oldies but goodies

Have you something growing dusty in the basement corner—something you don't need?

Perhaps you've tired of looking at that hand-painted dish, fuzzy pink rug or garden tool.

If so the Independence Township Senior Citizen Center has an easy way to rid the homestead of unwanted merchandise—donate it all to the Center's Flea Market set for July 24 and 25.

Seniors plan to have their own booths set up for the two-days event, slated to be held outdoors if weather permits.

The center is located at Clintonwood Park, 5980 Clarkston-Orion, Independence Township, between M-15 and Sashabaw roads.

Those with items to donate may call 625-8231 or 625-8238.

McDonald's handouts

They'll be no more trudging from car to McDonald's now that the Dixie Highway, Independence Township store has a drive-through window. Before employees and management had the ribbon cut for the opening ceremony several cars had sidled up to the window ready for food. It was Rodger Barton of Novi—builder in Deer Lake and Chestnut Hills—who was first to officially order—and his breakfast came free. The Clarkston McDonald's taped $100 in bills to the ribbon used in the cutting ceremony and donated the funds to Clarkston Area Youth Assistance. Chairman Al Carter was on hand to accept the gift and Independence Township Clerk Christopher Rose cut the ribbon, officially opening the drive thru window.

Peace

As the sun sets over Deer Lake, fisherman in waders dot the shoreline, motor boats take skiers for one last spin and sailboaters prepare to glide home. It's a peaceful, relaxing scene. Rick Esser, of Main Street, Clarkston, is pictured as he pursues a favorite pastime. The moment was captured by Clarkston News MAGAZINE editor Kathy Greenfield.

Here's Herb

by Herb Rose

I WAS MADE aware of seemingly helpful but actually non-definitive statements the other day when I realized I had misplaced the card that turns off unselected selections from a book club. My avaircious nature had succumbed to the enticement of "four books for a dollar." Unfortunately, my response included assuming the risk of being inundated with unwanted books if I didn't return a little card on a routine basis.

In this instance, my panic was not assuaged at being told the card was on the "dining room table." There are so few things that might not be on the dining room table.

Only one corner of a fair-sized table is used for dining, and the remaining area is available for interim storage of random documentation. "Interim" does not translate to a precise time span and occasionally we find advertising brochures extolling the merits of the new Edsel.

The situation is exacerbated by the ambient light. Those parts of the house I have rewired, like patrons of an all-night bistro, tend to be reasonably well-lit. We have several closets in which you can read, the upstairs hall is suitable for minor surgery and you could use the kitchen to dry paint.

When I started to work on the dining room, Anne (apparently apprehensive that I would adapt something normally used to land aircraft) suggested we not install a chandelier, but depend upon small lamps sitting on side tables.

Look where?

As a result of this thinking, I haven't seen anything in the dining room for years. When we have guests, food is not served at the head of the table but distributed by the "help yourself" or "fang and claw" system.

Stating that a piece of paper is on the dining room table is as helpful as suggesting that an article of clothing is in the laundry room.

Our current edifice, when purchased, was a two-family unit. We were not a two-kitchen family, so the upstairs kitchen was converted into a laundry room.

Unlike some dungeon laundry rooms that house creepy-crawly things with lots of legs and spiders hanging by one thread, this room was well-lit, well-ventilated and had a scrap of carpet on the floor.

Unfortunately, the environment made possible a procedure whereby the clothes were put in the washer, subsequently transferred to the dryer and finally thrown on the floor.

Any lament like, "I'm out of black socks," would be countered with, "They're in the laundry room." I couldn't argue with the accuracy of that statement. They had to be in the laundry room. I had already checked the dining room table.

Anne and I had an entire non-definitive conversation, if a series of questions can be called a conversation, when she came into the room with something in her hands and forgot my flaky vision.

A: "Do you want this?"

H: (After a considered pause.) "Not if you're carrying a dead aardvark."

A: "How many times have you known me to walk around with a dead aardvark?"

H: "I don't know. Do I count this one?"

And some people think meaningful conversation is a lost art.

Deja Vu

How the laundry chute was wrung dry

Laundry baskets overflowing with clothes is a common sight in homes today—for the laundry chute's demise has forced us to carry clothes from backrooms to where the washers are located.

What ease.
How convenient.
Junior strips off his soiled t-shirt, enters the bathroom, opens a small metal door in the wall and—whoosh! His soiled clothes travel down the laundry chute to the waiting washing machine and dryer in the basement.
Here comes dad with his socks, sis with her jeans and mom with the towels and sheets.
No hamper's needed.
There's no lugging of dirty clothes from a distant bedroom to the laundry room. There's no hauling of clothes down the stairs for washing.
A simple whoosh and it's over.
Once in the basement, mom unzipped the bag cupped around the laundry chute's opening, and out tumbled a week's worth of clothes onto the tiled floor below.
She sorted by color and did the laundry, hauling it back upstairs to respective family members once completed.
The convenience of a laundry chute's lost on today's young people.
Laundry chutes have virtually disappeared from the new home housing market, lost in the same time tunnel as the milk chute.
"I'll bet I've probably put only two into homes I've built in the last five to six years," said Joe Noll, owner of Stylemaster Builders.
Noll points to architectural changes for the laundry chute's demise.
"Many homes now have no basement and have the laundry room on the first floor," he said. "Another reason is because there is no common wall. To make the laundry chute come out where the laundry room is in the basement, you'd sometimes have to put it in an inaccessible place—like the closet."
"It's amazing how many things 25 years ago were taken for granted in a house," he said. "You no longer see those things today."
The laundry chute: It's been washed right out of the home and into the past.

—Marilyn Trumper

"The Gumdrop Dragon"

The princess, played by Chris Scharfenkamp, happily greets her gumdrop dragon in a play performed by Clarkston Elementary School sixth graders recently. Watching the happy reunion to the princess, right are the prince, played by Jeff John, and the villain, played by David Lally.

"The Gumdrop Dragon" and "The King's Creampuff" were two plays performed for fellow classmates by Barbara Clover's classes near the end of school.

She's mom away from home

"Don't you look pretty today
Laurie.

"How much do I owe you for the rock-a-thon Stephie? Oh, you rocked 12 hours? I owe you $3, let me get it for you."

"Hi Rory. You want to buy an eraser? Okay."

Larry. What can I do for you?"

On it goes.

Phyllis Karpovck, office secretary at Pine Knob Elementary, knows the name of every student in the school.

For one reason or another the tykes amble into the office for paper, pencils, notes, with questions, complaints, how-do-you-dos or just a smile.

Many come in search of her famous ice cache—proven to heal any aching knee or quench the thirst of a dry mouth.

She greets each one by name.

Fourteen years ago, Mrs. Kar-povck began working as the playground/library aid.

"I think that's really when I began to learn the childrens' names," she said reminiscing.
"You'd learn them as you checked out their books or filled out their library cards.

"Now I make it a point to learn each kindergartner's name as they come in new each fall. Kids are all important. I try and attach a name to a face so the child knows he's important. They seem to like that. To be remembered makes them feel important," she said.

With problems, questions and just wishing to chat, kids pile into the office at Pine Knob Elementary School to talk with secretary Mrs. Karpovck. She knows the names of every pupil in the school—and doesn't hesitate to take care of business using that knowledge.

Mrs. Karpovck's every action reflects her philosophy.

Few can deliver paper, pencils, notes or ice with her sincerity and one-on-oneness.

"Many of the students will come back from junior high—and it takes me a minute to recognize them. They've turned into such young men and women. But I do."

Kindergartners slated for Pine Knob El's halls next fall should look for her smiling face and helpful hands.

Walk up and just say "Hi, my name is _____."

Mrs. Karpovck will remember you.

She'll sell you pencils, deliver messages from home, hand over the ice for a wounded knee and praise your work.

She's a mom away from home.

A CONSUMER SHOPPING TIP

Confused by names given different cuts of meat? Help's on the way. The National Live Stock and Meat Board has recommended new labels to identify the kind of meat, where on the animal it comes from, and the name of the retail cut which you buy. 80 percent of the nation's super-markets should be using these new identity standards soon. In the meanwhile, you'll just have to continue asking your butcher.

MOUSIKI By the Joannidis Family Royal Oak

1 1/2 lbs. ground beef
3 egg plants (medium)
6 oz. tomato paste and 1 c water
1 small onion, minced
Black pepper and salt to taste

CREAM MIXTURE

1/3 c corn starch
1 quart milk
1 stick butter
4 eggs and a little water
3 oz. Parmesan cheese

Wash egg plant, peel four strips off sides, then slice 1/2-inch thick. Place in salt water and soak for 15 minutes.

Brown meat with onion, salt and pepper. When pink color has left meat, add tomato paste and 1 c water. Boil 5 to 10 minutes to remove all water, until only sauce is clinging to meat. Set aside.

Start frying pan for egg plant. Make sure oil is really hot. Be sure to squeeze water out of each piece of egg plant before cooking.

Fry egg plant until just cooked. Place in bottom of aluminum casserole pan. Make sure there are no holes in pan. Line all of bottom of pan. Then spread one-half of the meat sauce over the top of the egg plant.

Start again with a layer of egg plant and finish off with remaining half of meat sauce. Let sit and start cream. Turn oven on to 450 degrees.

To make cream mixture, add corn starch to milk. Place on medium heat, add salt, pepper and butter. STIR CONSTANTLY. After bubbles start, turn off heat.

Beat 4 eggs and add a small amount of water. Beat well and add to milk mixture. Continue beating until mixture becomes thick and creamy no more than 5 minutes. Add cheese, saving some for the top, then spread completely over the casserole. Sprinkle remaining cheese on top.

Place in pre-heated 450 degree oven. Bake for 30 to 45 minutes. Remove from oven and let sit for one-half hour before cutting.

Serves six.

Note: You may have some cream mixture left over. It may be used to prepare this dish using noodles instead of egg plant.

Country Living

Big Lake is tops for the Cochrans

The Cochrans, Paula, Ken and their daughter Amanda, feel right at home in the Springfield Township countryside, where the lifestyle is quite a bit different from the city apartment in Flint where they used to live. Recreational activities on Big Lake and their home's two-story design make it easy to entertain friends, says Paula.

It seems only appropriate that the home of Ken and Paula Cochran should be embellished with ships, ship wheels, lanterns and other nautical decorative pieces.

After all, water has played—and continues to play—a prominent role in their lives together.

The Cochrans' Springfield Township home overlooks the waters of Big Lake, where Ken and Paula occasionally take to the waves in one of their boats—a sail boat, paddle boat and a canoe.

In the winter, Big Lake hosts their ice skating parties and cross-country ski ventures, and there's fishing to be enjoyed all year 'round.

And before they lived in Michigan, Ken and Paula first met at a lake in their native Indiana.

"I guess we have a history with the water," Paula smiles. "And we've always liked nautical things—that's why we collect them around the house."

When they're on the job away from home, however, the nautical connection is broken: Both Ken and Paula have jobs that stick to terra firma—he as a social security claims representative and she as a high school English teacher.

Both their jobs take them into Flint, but the little drive isn't too much of a bother.

Returning home each evening to the unique barn-shaped house off Big Lake makes the drive worth the time.

"We did a land survey of this area when I was in school," says Ken, who attended the University of Michigan's Flint campus. "I really liked it, so we watched the papers to see when something would become available."

The chance came in 1974, but the small, one-story cottage Ken and Paula bought back then bears little resemblance to the home that currently overlooks Big Lake.

Beginning in 1977, Ken started adding a second story to the home. The outside was modified to take on a barn-like appearance, further enhanced by a "silo" on the side enclosing a spiral staircase connecting the upstairs to the downstairs.

"We pretty well thought up the design ourselves," says Ken. "The silo idea came about because we needed a place for a stairway, but we didn't want to have to sacrifice any living space. It worked out pretty well."

Ken did all of the addition and improvement work himself.

"It was a matter of necessity financially," he says. "There were a few jobs that I thought about contracting out, but the estimates scared me away."

"It's not really too difficult—I just kind of picked up on it."

When books and intuition failed him, Ken sought out expert advice. The attractive field stone front on the house stands as a testimonial to that strategy.

He traded a local field stone expert a handmade wooden table for some instructions on how to go about the job.

"I went out with him on a couple jobs and he got me started," Ken says. "It's not easy—a lot of times you'll be making that last chip on a stone only to have it crack—and then you've got to start all over again."

"I think he has a natural aptitude for building things," Paula opines. "I could read 10 books, and I'd never be able to do that sort of thing."

A member of the Davisburg Jaycettes, Paula just completed a term as Jaycette president in May. She joined the organization in 1977.

"Back then we didn't have any children, and didn't know many people from the community," she says. "All our friends were in Flint where we used to live."

"I thought it would be nice to meet women my own age and get involved in the community here."

The result has been a myriad of activities to keep her busy.

"We always have the SCAMP Carnival at Andersonville Elementary," she begins, listing some of the major ones. "There's our 50s and 60s dance at Springfield Oaks; our Halloween party, Santa Claus party, teacher appreciation program..."

"It's quite a bit. It keeps you busy."

Since 1977, the Cochran family has gained a new member—2½-year-old Amanda—and another addition is due in early December.

"December 5, to be exact," says Paula happily. "I'm hoping for a boy—we already have our girl."

—Al Zawacky

Much of the Cochran family home overlooking Big Lake is Ken's handiwork. Ken built the home's second story, added the field stone in front and built the silo structure on the left that encloses the spiral staircase leading to the upstairs.

Socking it to 'em

One team managed a tie against coaches Robert Steeger and Chip Caruso's soccer team this season.

That was as close as anyone came to knocking off their group of 9-, 10- and 11-year-olds in the Independence Township Parks and Recreation Youth Soccer League this past season.

The team recently wrapped up an undefeated campaign by posting an 8-0 victory at the Bailey Lake Elementary School field.

"I was especially pleased by the way we went from a bunch of individuals at the beginning to team play by our last game," said Coach Steeger.

The team which racked up the sparkling 9-0-1 record consisted of 13 boys and one girl.

ed the '81 campaign with a 9-0-1 record. The sign carried by Robin seems to say it all--"We're No. 1."

Mark Arsenault foils the defensive tactics of an opponent as he moves the ball up field. Mark's team, coached by Robert Steeger and Chip Caruso, went on to win 8-0 and wrap up an undefeated season in the Independence Township Parks and Recreation Youth Soccer League.

Matt Arsenault (right) leads the attack toward the opposition goal as teammates Stuart Smith (left) and Mike Elgie follow up the play.

He captures grand old England in miniature

Derek R. Shirley's quiet as he talks of his mother England.

The grand island becomes almost private territory for memories are strong, the pull toward home almost constant and the small 10-year-old wrestles with torn roots.

Three years ago his dad's job as automobile designer with General Motors Corp. brought the Shirley family to Williamson Street in Independence Township.

Thousands of miles away from Britain, Derek clings to his heritage but willingly accepts the United States' lifestyle.

"Sometimes the kids tease me about my accent," he said. "But most of the time they ask questions. It feels special to be English—sometimes different—but most of the time I don't notice it."

"Here you can wear tennis shoes to school. It's nice in the summer when it's warm. In England, it rarely rises above 70 degrees. Here, on almost every block a kid has a bike. Now I have one," he said, rattling off the important difference to one of 10.

Derek's sister enjoys building and playing with miniature cities, and when she asked her brother to build one that "looks like one in London," he jumped at the chance.

Utilizing a jackknife and roll of tape, Derek built a replica of the House of Parliament—complete with Big Ben, pinnacles and spires.

In the Young Author's Conference, Derek took first-place among his fifth-grade classmates at Pine Knob Elementary school for his book "A Tour of London," dedicated to his parents in thanks "for his English heritage."

The book is filled with illustrations and his observations from a recent trip back to England, covering everything from taxi cabs to Queen Elizabeth and beyond.

If his parents were to return to the old homestead in Birmingham next week—would he be glad?

"Oh, it'd be fine. But I like it here, too," Derek said.

—Marilyn Trumper

Derek reviews his book, "A Tour of London," with his model of Parliament in the background. Proud of his English heritage, Derek uses each situation to his advantage to extoll the virtues of Britain.
