

Village nixes Deer Lake boat ramp

By Marilyn Trumper

Clarkston Village Council is laying down the law—and says there'll be no improved boat launch at Deer Lake Beach.

At the July 27 meeting, upon advice from their attorney, council members agreed that since Independence Township leases the land from the village for Deer Lake Beach, Clarkston ultimately as landlord has the last say in what construction is done there.

"I'd personally say we don't need anything that would increase craft use in that lake," said Trustee James Schultz. "I feel very strongly we need nothing that big or permanent (he said of the boat launch).

"And finally, we open that whole lake up to everyone if we use federal money there. I'm sure of it," Schultz said. "We found that out from the county—and that's why we decided in the past not to use federal money in the park—then everyone could use it and we'd have to open the whole thing up."

Trustee Jackson Byers agreed.

"We're also stuck with it (the launch) if the township decides it's too expensive to maintain—or whatever—and breaks the lease. Also, we're legally responsible for potential lawsuits because we're the owners," he said.

At least two council members openly expressed disillusionment at being notified of the township's plan by the state's Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

The ultimate threat, said village attorney Thomas Gruich, "is to terminate the lease. Write them and say that as owners you were not informed the project existed and that you don't see how it can be done without your permission."

After discussion, the council agreed to draft letters to Independence Township government and the DNR, objecting to the planned boat launch construction.

According to village Clerk Bruce Rogers, Independence Township holds a five-year lease on Deer Lake Beach, and, it's up for renewal within the next three years.

Deer Lake residents move to block launch

By Marilyn Trumper If the choice is up to Ronald Turner, there'll be no improved boat launch at Deer Lake Beach.

Turner, a waterfront homeowner on Hillside Drive, Independence Township, is rallying residents to block the planned boat launch improvement to be paid for with $5,995 in federal revenue sharing money.

"What irks me the most is the board approved the construction without notifying those who attended the March hearing and spoke out against the plan then," Turner said.

"To me, there are many more uses for that $6,000 than to please a couple of boat owners."

He speculates the township board is bending to outside pressure from residents threatening to sue for damages the present launch allegedly made to boats and cars.

But, Turner says he's concerned with more than safety.

"What's happened to Deer Lake in the seven years I've lived here is that it's gotten filthier every year," he said.

"The boat traffic has increased. I'd speculate at

Conserve, take care of land by recycling oil

Stick it to the Middle East, Independence Township style, and at the same time be a conservationist, environmentalist and help out local service stations—all by recycling oil.

According to a study released by the Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service, over 60 percent of the people change and discard their own oil into backyards, landfills, storm sewers, garbage cans, empty lots and by other unknown means.

But says James Hock, ordinance enforcement officer for Independence Township, the unwanted used ____near_the Waldon Road intersection and their M-15 oil can be converted into a re-usable resource when a station, on the corner of M-15 and Dixie Highway. collected and reprocessed by businesses which specialize in the service.

Hock's rounded up local recycling points and he made a plea to the general public at the July 21 board meeting

"This is a way to get, you do-it-yourselfer oil changers to drop off used oil in a special drop-off area rather than pollute the ground water," he said.

The following service stations have agreed to accept residents' used oil:

• Roy Brothers Standard Service, 6480 Sashabaw

Village Union 76, 148 N. Main, Clarkston, near the Clarkston-Orion; M-15 intersection.

•All Rex Towing, 5465 Sashabaw; on the corner of Sashabaw and Maybee roads in Independence Township.

Estimates in the university study indicate rerefined oil can meet up to 50 percent of the lubricant oil demand in the U.S. and supply 1 percent of the total energy demand. In addition; of the 1.3 billion gallons of recycled oil used last year, 50 percent was burned as fuel oil, 20 percent was used for dust control on roads and as an asphalt extender, and four percent was re-refined into lube oil. Service stations and dealerships selling used oil to recycling plants receive 10 to 15 cents per gallon, according to a spokesperson from A.B.C. Oil Service of Utica.

least 1,000 people live around the lake and now all we need to do is improve that facility (the launch) to enhance that situation. It's absolutely ridiculous,' Turner said.

Turner's first move is to call the state's Department of Natural Resources (DNR) for a public hearing "...to discuss the concerns of Deer Lake, its traffic and development," he said.

The plan is welcomed by Independence Township Supervisor James B. Smith.

"When the township had its federal revenue sharing hearing in March, the proposed dock and launch idea didn't fly," Smith said. Board members instead allocated fixed amounts of revenue sharing to different departments and parks and recreation received $25,000, he said, for maintenance and management in general.

At that March meeting, none of the residents who spoke favored the proposed boat launch and dock.

"It was said then that improvement was needed at the beach because of damage to the boats," Smith said. "It has also been said some residents would like to have no public facility there, but it's mandated we have public access because the DNR stocks the lake."

Smith did say he is concerned with increased boat traffic.

Some subdivisions sport unusual restrictions

By Marilyn Trumper

Deed restrictions. They outline what can and cannot be done in respective subdivisions, dictating such items as roof pitch, whether garages shall be connected to the house, landscaping rules, square footage and more.

They're designed to protect homeowners and ensure a consistent "look" about the place.

Digging through deed restrictions at Independence Township's Building Department produces rules and regulations from the snobby and the bizarre to the difficult and the ridiculous.

In Hartwick Village Subdivision, located in the southeast area of the township, platted in 1966, it is against the law to erect a For Sale sign, without permission of the developer.

In Heritage Heights Subdivision, platted in 1975, all exterior residential wood must receive two coats of paint—no more, no less.

In Deer Lake Pines off Dixie Highway, platted this year, all driveways must be paved with concrete over asphalt over gravel.

Residents there are allowed no more than two dogs or cats—and all barbecue grills must be kept in the rear of the lot unless they're an integral part of the garage.

In Hubbard Hills Estates, platted in 1971, above ground pools are not allowed. Neither are campers or boats—unless they're "concealed" in the garage.

In Independence Homes Subdivision, which was platted in 1955 and consists of 14 lots near Sashabaw and Woodhull roads, residents are strictly prohibited from practices of oil drilling and mining—and the excavation of mine shafts and erection of oil derricks. In addition, no lots there may sell for under $8.000.

Lakeland Vale subdivision, platted in 1959, absolutely forbids reptiles. Homeowners there are allowed only the standard cat and dog and bird.

Lastly, Timberline Estates, platted in 1968 off

White Lake Road, prohibits the sale of intoxicating liquor by homeowners.

According to Kenneth Delbridge, director of Independence Township's Building and Planning Department, deed restrictions are law but are left to respective homeowners' associations to enforce. - If one homeowner violates a restriction and is notprosecuted there's often the domino effect, Delbridge said, which results in more violations.

"They're (deed restrictions), more powerful than ordinances sometimes," Delbridge said. "I wish I had them to work with."

'Running at large of chickens is strictly prohibited...'

A deed restriction for a house on Clarkston's Robertson Court prohibits owners from installing an outhouse in the backyard, or the sale of the home to "colored people."

Outdated?

Discriminatory?

Times change. Laws change. Transportation, fads, rights, first amendment interpretations and morals all change.

But more than deed restrictions are passe in Clarkston. Some laws drafted close to 66 years ago would create havoc if enforced today.

Ordinance No. 53, drafted in 1967 during the big glue sniffing craze of the bell-bottomed '60s, prohibits the sale of model glue to minors without a letter from their parent or guardian.

Ordinance No. 53, drafted in 1949, completely overlooks any of today's battles for first amendment rights and says the Chief of Police will inspect all films or moving pictures slated for village showings, and will decide their morality.

If the film is rejected by the chief, it cannot be shown and the violator is punished. Ordinance No. 51 prohibits residents of the village from carrying knives—unless they're onearmed and-need the knife to make their living.

Ordinance No. 18, drafted in 1915, prohibits the riding of bicycles on village sidewalks. Any person apprehended violating the law can, upon conviction, be fined up to $25 and serve 10 days in the Oakland County Jail.

Ordinance No. 12, drafted in 1915, strictly pronibits "...the running at large of chickens and other fowl."

"That means," pointed out James Hock, ordinance enforcement officer for the village, "that Clarkston is violating its own ordinance by allowing the geese to run loose at the Mill Pond."

According to Ordinance No. 7, drafted in 1915, it is illegal to "hitch your horse to a shade or ornamental tree in the village." Violators will be fined up to $100 and serve 90 days in the Oakland County Jail.

Another 1915 ordinance, No. 41, says hawkers and peddlers must pay $5 a day for each day they work in the village, and $1 for each extra helper.

Yes, these ordinances are enforceable and are working laws on the books.

Merchant squelches teen thief's fast getaway

By Marilyn Trumper

What was schemed as a scam turned out to be a costly, backfiring venture for a youth who came up against Al Tatro, owner of Town and County Market on Davisburg's Broadway Street.

A youth, described as 14 years old, 131 pounds and 5 feet, 5 inches tall, sauntered into the store at 5 p.m. July 31 and proposed to exchange two rolls of dimes for two $5 bills.

Tatro agreed, the money exchanged hands and the boy headed for the door and his waiting bicycle. It was then Tatro discovered the rolls were filled with pennies—not dimes— and he began pursuit behind the wheel of his van.

According to Tatro, the youth led him to a private lane off Tindall Road"...and he was headed for the trails. I knew my van couldn't follow him—so I gave it one chance and cut him off," he said.

It was then, Tato told police, he ran over the boy's front wheel, "totally damaging it."

Seemingly beaten, the boy offered Tatro the two $5 bills, adding he was "sorry." According to Tatro, the boy fessed up to being Bob Jones of Ormond Road—and Tatro let him go. But later, upon investigating, Tatro discovered there was no Bob Jones of Ormond Road. "I guess I should have known the kid wouldn't give me his sight name". Take said the following day give me his right name," Tatro said the following day. "This isn't the first store he's done this to though. He's done it to Sunshine Foods on the Dixie, and I just called police so they would be aware of what's going on. I'll bet there are other stores that have been hit—and just haven't reported it," he said.

You may hold the key Silent Observer helps police solve cases

By Marilyn Trumper

Hello. Police? I'm calling as a Silent Observer. I have some information I think may help you solve the breaking and entering last Saturday on Clarkston-Orion Road in Independence Township:

"I'd like my identifying number to be 123456789. Here's what I have, I hope it helps you out..

The secret witness Silent Observer program.

Used by the Oakland County Sheriff's Department (OCSD) the program helped officers solve the Richardson's Farm Dairy murder and apprehend those responsible for taking the life of an Independence Township woman.

The same program helped officers in a neighboring township apprehend a Pontiac man who shot and killed an Independence Township mother as she watched a movie at the Miracle Mile Drive-in.

The program, sponsored by the Oakland County Chamber of Commerce, rewards citizens who give tips to their local law enforcement agency which leads to the arrest and conviction of those responsible for a crime.

Citizens may remain anonymous if they wish by calling police and giving only a number which they themselves can readily recall, like a social security, telephone or license number.

Since its inception in 1971, the Silent. Observer program has paid $49,925 in rewards for armed robberies, breaking and enterings, larceny, sale of drugs, arson and 20 murders.

Lt. Richard Hubble, in charge of the Silent Observer program for the sheriff's department, says the idea works for one reason.

It's the type of thing where a person will give us the information we need to put a case together—and yet can remain anonymous," he stressed. It is the anonymity that's the key, he said.

'Let's face it... These people who call us with information are very close to the bad guy. They live with him and are under the same roof. But, they have what we need to solve the case."

Hubble praised the program for the number of cases it's helped the OCSD solve.

If a conviction is the direct result of the information provided by the silent observer, confidential arrangements will be made for payment of the reward money.

Tips which lead to the arrest and conviction of those responsible for a crime pay up to $1,000 for murder, up to $500 for armed robbery, arson, breaking and entering, larceny from a building and sale of narcotics. Other felonies pay up to $50.

Letters to editor

"...they won't fool me twice"

I sat down to write this letter in an absolutely furious mood. Two items in your July 22 issue prompted my anger,

First, there was the front page story about the pay raises for the school administrators. My wife and many others worked very hard to get the milage increase passed.

Many of us attended meetings and heard the stories of doom, cutbacks, eliminations and lay-offs. At the meeting I attended, I saw a very impressive presentation by William Neff on how bad things were and what a good job the administration was doing to keep expenses down. The pay raise story indicated that Mr. Neff and four others are now making over $40,000 per year.

Next, I read the ultimate irony on Page 6 of the same issue. You printed a thank you note from Mr. Neff for your assistance and coverage in passing the millage!

I was ready to unload on both you and Mr. Neff with some unprintable words. But I happened to also read your editorial "Easy Come." You said it far better than I could without a single expletive.

Like a majority of the voters, I voted for passage of the millage. Mr. Neff and the others fooled me once; shame on them. But they won't fool me twice, Charles Long

They feel betrayed by board

The people who have worked so hard on the s millage approval with the hope of bettering the quality of education for our children are thankful to you, our community who endorsed this and made our common goal a reality.

As was published in The Clarkston News, July 22, unbeknown to the millage chairperson, Jeanne Molzon, and her co-workers, the school board approved a 7 percent salary increase for all school administrators.

We feel that the timing of this action is very poor for their "community image." The taxpayers, who through much hard work and sacrifice approved a millage increase, must feel very betrayed.

Granted you were due a salary increase; however, under these circumstances with just barely passing our school millage under a threat of decreasing the quality of education for our children, isn't some sacrifice by the administration in order?

When businesses hurt, the administrators don't take an increase in salary. Why does our school board administrators think it is due them?

Let's not lose our community togetherness over this issue or pass any final judgments until all the facts are presented us, however we feel an explanation is due.

Spirit of millage suffers harm

We are disillusioned!

We thought when we voted for the millage that only the children of Clarkston would benefit from the raise.

Even though the salary increases may have been previously approved, the spirit of the millage was to provide for the basic education of our children. We certainly will consider the fact the next time there is a millage vote.

> Concerned Parents for Quality Education in Clarkston Joanne and Richard Kozlowicz

Pay raise raises voter's ire

It was with deep regret that I read in your paper last week that the Clarkston school board had voted a 7 percent pay raise to our school administrators.

We just completed an exhausting and nervewracking millage campaign to persuade the voters of Independence Township that our schools desperatelyneeded money to provide a minimal education for our children.

One of the biggest complaints I found among the of our school district and almost immediately the school board has the audacity to give away our money in a pay raise.

Is it right for the voters of Clarkston to tighten their belts while our school board pads the pockets of administrators?

Are we going to allow this to happen to the money we set aside to benefit the children?

The second se

Bad timing

by Kathy Greenfield 🖉

When I wrote, back in May and June, about the need for more money for the schools, I strongly believed in what I said. I still do.

If the 3 mills approved by voters on June 8 had not made it, all after-school programs would be gone—sports; music; drama, clubs. Class sizes would have increased and several classes would have been dropped—some in foreign languages; shop, home economics, reading support, art, drama, band and chorus.

The result would have been a school district that was less than adequate.

Even with the millage, several programs have been dropped, some classes on the elementary level will be larger than in the past and expenditures on supplies and library books are lower than before.

The 3 mills are expected to generate $967,500 in increased revenue. The district's 1981-82 budget is $13.8 million for K-12 education.

Enrollment in the district's six elementary school buildings, two junior high schools and one high school is expected to total about 6,450 for the 1981-82 school year, a figure roughly 200 pupils lower than last year.

Any time a program is dropped or classes are made a little larger, some kids are bound to be affected. But, looking at the overall picture; it appears it was time to do a bit of belt tightening and to, react to dwindling enrollment.

I had no problems with what had been done after the millage passed—some money was saved to be sure the budget would balance next year when state funds are likely to continue to drop or, at the very least, not keep pace with the rising costs of everything.

Then, on July 13, the school board met and approved the 7 percent increases in salaries of administrators. The portion of the meeting when the pay hikes were discussed was closed, as allowed by the Michigan Open Meetings Act when either the employees or the school board requests to close the meeting to the public.

Perhaps it would have been better to keep the meeting open. At least then we would know the reasons Superintendent. Milford Mason recommended the wage increases. And we would know how the school board reacted during the hour-long discussion.

In any event, the meeting was reopened, also following the mandates of the Open Meetings Act, when the vote was taken at about 12:15 a.m.

After all the talk about cutting back, about voting for the millage for the kids' sake, about the need to still eliminate $500,000 from the original budget, the school board approved the salary increase for the administrators and other supervisory staff members.

The raises came at the wrong time. The people of our community gave the school district a vote of confidence, and the voters sorely needed something in return—the willingness to take no raise or only a very small one would have been just the ticket.

Flags now fly over Clarkston

Only in Clarkston could we have such a wonderful response to the Clarkston Village flag request. So many civic-minded people generously gave or offered to give a flag!

The village now has flags flying at the Depot Park, the Village Hall, and Main Street at Washington. When we retire these at the end of the season (the approximate life of a flag), we now have replacements.

May I convey my deepest appreciation to all the area residents who responded. My special thanks to: the Masonic Lodge which donated one in memory of Tom Corbin, Mrs. Wilder who donated one in memory of her husband, Ron and Linda Chambers who gave one. Ernie Cosmas who gave one, and the anonymous lady who gave one in memory of her husband.

Cinema owner says he's aware of problem

Paying only $1,50 to see a highly acclaimed film like "Raiders of the Lost Ark" seems like a real deal, but the old adage "you get what you pay for" comes into play if the film is being shown at the Clarkston Cinema.

"Raiders" played to a full house Thursday night and unfortunately I was one of the patrons. The filmwas frequently out of focus and the sound system was so bad that only the lip readers in the audience could follow the storyline.

Having previously seen this film at a $4 first-run movie house. I must place the blame on the Clarkston. Cinema so the others in attendance don't blame the filmmaker.

be proud of

On behalf of the Independence Township Michigan Week Committee, I would like to express thanks to everyone who took part in making the third annual Community Awards Ceremony on July 9 such a success.

It was wonderful opportunity to give recognition to the truly important people in our community those who give extra time and effort on behalf of others.

_Our community certainly has a lot of great people to be proud of.

James Hibler Awards Dinner Chairman

Dan Daniel responds to the complaints:

"The film was not out of focus. I had no complaints whatsoever on the focus. The sound does not equal a $4 film house—I'm aware of it.

"Not having the $8,300 necessary to purchase a new sound system, we have made every attempt to bring it up as best as possible. We apologize for any inconvenience and discomfort due to our sound, but only on certain movies is our sound system inadequate due to the way the sound track on the film is manufactured.

I'm in the process of borrowing the money to put in a new sound system and 1 hope that my patrons will be patient.

"If my patrons have a complaint, please see me at the time so I can correct it. I don't know if there's a problem unless somebody comes and tells me."

Squealing for time

The Michigan House of Representatives is seriously considering a bill requiring local school boards to provide "non-instructional time" for students to say prayers in school. So far, no legislator has proposed a law requiring local churches to provide non-prayer time for congregations to do in this manner to pay his wife's golf cart fees.

It is perfectly legal for a businessman to say thanks to a legislator by buying $1,000 worth of tickets to his fund-raiser, but it's a bribe if there's no fund-raiser-and the $1,000 is handed directly to the official. You tell me the difference her transactions, and I'll apologize for saying the law is often deliciously dumb, Sometimes the hypocrisy is more delicious than the dumbness. A federal grand jury is investigating Ogonowski on charges he took the bribe in return for trying to help a grocer get licenses to sell Daily state lottery tickets and liquor. The lottery tickets are nothing more than the old neighborhood numbers game which is illegal gambling except when the state drags the pot. And how many unlawful acts are caused by the wholesale liquor business run by the state?

a corner. It has long been my opinion that people who squeal tires are the world's biggest nuisances, not to mention jerks.

Whenever I hear tires squeal, I also expect to hear the crash of one car hitting another or, worse yet, the sickening thud of a car hitting a pedestrian, perhaps a child. I expect the result of the squealing to be damage to humans and/or property, or at least a near miss that leaves someone shaken but glad to be alive.

arithmetic in church. That's too bad.

But legislators were extremely busy the last few days before their annual summer recess. One of them, for instance, was busy denying charges that he traded his influence for a bribe, and another was busy getting arrested for allegedly driving carelessly.

Generally, I don't get angry at lawmakers who have trouble with the law, because the law is often so dumb. Take the case of Casmer .Ogonowski, D-Detroit, the state representative accused of accepting $4,000 from a businessman seeking state licenses. In a TV interview, Ogonowski denied taking a bribe and pointed out that whenever citizens he has helped want to show appreciation, "they participate in my fund-raisers."

Many elected officials regularly stage fundraisers and sell tickets to everyone who can't afford to say no. Guests pay, say, $100 for $10 worth of food and booze. The $90 profit goes to the official to spend pretty much as he pleases. There has even been a recorded instance of a legislator using money raised

To punish a state legislator for helping a constituent sell the state's gambling tickets and liquor. is similar to arresting the ticket-taker at a porno theatre but allowing the dirty movie to continue.

So, because of legalized dumbness and hypocrisy, I can't get real indignant about Rep. Ogonowski's alleged transgression. But House Speaker Bobby Crim, the allegedly careless driver, is something else. Lansing police said the Davison Democrat was squealing the tires of his 1981 Toronado while turning

And when I see that the tire-squealer is simply a cowboy who went around a corner too fast, or went from a standing start to 55m.p.h. in one second, I don't also want to see that he's a state legislator. People ignorant enough to squeal tires needlessly shouldn't be making laws. And there's always the possibility, that he doesn't mind burning rubber because he's figured out some way to make taxpayers pay for the tires.

Certainly I don't mean to imply that all legislators are dumb tire-sqealers who don't know a fund-raiser from a bribe. In fact, once recess is over, I wouldn't be surprised if a majority of the House is smart enough to decide it is no threat to the constitutional separation of church and state to require everyone in church to recite the multiplication table whenever they're not praying. I wouldn't be surprised at all.

First Independence safety path up for bids

Almost a year to the date voters approved the .5 mill for safety path, construction, the Independence Township Board gave the go-ahead to solicit bids for the 50-mile network's first three miles.

Township board members voted unanimously at the July 21 meeting to give William Pfahlert, chairman of the safety path committee, the high sign to request bids and acquire easements.

The first three miles slated for construction include the west side of Sashabaw from Clinton Road, north to Maybee Road; the east side of Sashabaw from Maybee Road, north to Pine Knob Elementary

A vacant house, up for sale, was destroyed in a blaze July 25.

Independence Township firefighters answered the call to the burning home at 4903 Algonquin, Independence Township, at 9:39 p.m., said Capt. Dale Bailey, who estimated the damages at $46,500.

"The house is still standing," Bailey said, "but it's pretty much irrepairable."

The fire in the old farmhouse started in the dining room, Bailey said, but the cause is still under investigation.

Rake to smooth park roadways

Senior citizen and ball players headed to the fields and senior center in Independence Township's Clintonwood Park may find the going a bit easier in the near future.

At the July 21 meeting, board members voted unanimously to purchase a York Rake to even up both entrance drives, according to Christopher Rose, township clerk.

Board members approved the low bid of $1,865 for the rake from King Brothers Inc. of Pontiac. Financing for the equipment comes from Federal Revenue Sharing money, Rose said.

The rake will be used primarily to level ball fields, and any place there is gravel and dirt, like in driveways and parking lots, he added.

Director of Independence Township Parks and Recreation Timothy Doyle says the rake will prove most beneficial at the proposed Maybee Road Park.

"When we go in there to do the initial cutting and weeding and clearing out, that will do a fine job of getting in there," Doyle said.

The township expects delivery of its purchase within the next 10 days, he added.

Last August voters narrowly approved the .5 mill tax to be collected annually for the safety path construction for the next 10 years. The tax generates $100,000 in revenue each year and would total $1 million at the end of the 10-year period.

One mill is $1 for each $1,000 of assessed property valuation.

The board expects to open bids at the first meeting in September, said Christopher Rose, township clerk.

Shouting encouragement from the third base side is Arden Collier.

Tossing the ball toward home plate is Ray Davis. Just a few weeks out of Clarkston High School, all three look like big brothers of the young ball players on the field -8 and 9-year-old boys from "Trim's Tigers," a Pee Wee team in the Independence Parks and Recreation Pee Wee baseball league.

Actually, these three are the Tigers' coaches. And they and their boys have formed a pretty successful partnership.

Ten wins, two losses and just a shade out of first place. The kind of stats Sparky Anderson can only dream of.

"It's just fun—being able to teach kids how to play baseball," says Arden.

"The games we lost, we just didn't get the breaks," adds Ray.

Now, that sounds like a coach, all right. Actually, the Tigers' coaching trio were looking

The result is an age difference between player and coach far narrower than the norm—and that can make it a little tough sometimes to maintain team discipline.

"Yea, some of them will mouth back," Ray grins. "Some do, but not most of them," Arden says quickly. "Usually, all the kids are pretty good."

The Tigers' eighth win of the season—an 11-3 mercy win over the Raiders—was typical of the team. For three innings the game remained close until the Tigers suddenly exploded for 10 runs in their half of the fourth.

"When this team starts hitting, they really come alive," says Dave.

"I think the key is that we try not to get the kids upset," says Ray, assessing the team's success. "We never yell at them."

After the big 11-3 win, it was time for coaches and players to join in a victory celebration at the local Dairy Queen.

Thank you Thank you?

It was a matter-of mutual admiration, On the one hand, Clarence and Sharon Catallo of Springfield Township were honored for their contribution as sponsors of three Independence Township Recreation Department baseball teams-a boys' Midget and girls' Mini-Miss and Maxi-Miss.

After the boys' game Thursday, - the teams a gathered around the Catallos and presented them with two large trophies-the larger one thanked the Catallos and E. F. Hutton Co. with the inscription, "1981 Sponsor of the Year-Your kindness and generosity will always be appreciated."

The smaller trophy was engraved with "Mini-Miss 1st Place," a more fitting tribute than the small trophy provided by the recreation department, said Coach Bob Taylor, who planned the presentation.

"They're just the best sponsors I've ever seen in  $\mathcal{W}$ Independence Township in eight years," said Taylor, who coaches the Midget and Mini-Miss teams.

Under the E. F. Hutton sponsorship (Clarence Catallo is a vice president and branch manager for the firm), the teams have the best uniforms and safest equipment available, said Taylor.

"They're just all-around nice people," he added about the Catallos.

On the other hand, the Catallos took the opportunity to say good things about the teams and Taylor's coaching.

"They're just nice teams to sponsor," said Sharon.

"The world needs more Bob, Taylors-sponsoring's a piece of cake," added Clarence.

Young golfers can demonstrate their skills at the third annual Junior Walter Hagen Golf Championship coming to Pontiac Country Club Aug. 7.

Concentration is strong for she's attempting her first knitting project: A bright red scarf.

Surveying the first six inches her mouth suddenly falls open and her upright hands collapse into her lap in defeat.

point as they work inside the shop at 59 S. Main. The women agree they've filled the need in Clarkston's for a shop specializing in yarn and crochet items.

"We felt the area needed it," said Gerri, explaining why they opened the business.

"Before us, you either had to drive to Flint or Birmingham. We both were active in our respective churches and bazaars and knew Clarkston was filled with a lot of crafty people," she laughed at the play on words.

The shop is filled with most every shade, texture and style of yarn for the knitting and crocheting enthusiast.

yarns, the wide selection of needles, hooks, rings and stitch holders and the many pattern and "How To" books.

The store's cubby holes are filled with chenille yarns, natural wool from the chester Farms in Virginia, and yarns by Unger, Bernat, Pingouin, Jaeger, Belding Lily and Patons.

In the fall, the duo plans to offer knitting and crocheting classes.

"In the meantime," Karen said, "we'll be happy to help anyone who needs help. We also give 10-percent discount to senior citizens.

Building in downtown Clarkston and they welcome visiting patrons stumped on knitting and crocheting projects.

"And, we'll take a special order for a color or other type of yarn a customer might like to have. In a small town, that's the way businesses are," she said.

According to Gerri, it's been 15 years since the village has had a yarn shop.

"It was J. Bisha's," she said, "and was in the Terrace Building where the bookstore is now. We really have been well received-and the people are enthusiastic."

The Drop'd Stitch is open Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and on summer Saturdays from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Talking about . . .

What's your reaction to President Reagan's appointment of the first woman, Judge Sandra D. O'Connor, to the U.S. Supreme Court?

"I think it's fantastic. It's long overdue. The court needs a woman's point of view."—Patti Snook, Waterford Township, cosmotologist.

"I think it's a good move for him [Reagan] politically, and a good decision. It'll add a much-needed balancing factor to the court."---Leonard Williams, Independence Township, department head for Champion sparkplugs.

"I think it's fine, as long as she's qualified—I don't think what sex you are makes any difference in that kind of position."—Debbie Sheldon, Independence Township, cosmotologist.

"Very positive. I think there are many qualified women and that it's a good idea. And it certainly won't hurt him [Reagan] politically."— Martha Lacey, Arlington Heights, Ill., social worker.

"The sex of an individual should have little to do with it. The intelligence and ability needed to perform the job is what should count. I just hope she has the qualifications to fulfill the position."—John Gauss, West Bloomfield, accountant.

Oh, there are still a few slip-ups, but for the most part burnt toast's a thing of the past.

Automatic pop-up, select-a-temperature toasters are as prevalent today as crayons in a kid's room and they're more effective than ever before, says Bea Solley of Solley's appliance store on M-15 in Brandon Township.

But the evolution has been long and it came about as foods, needs and technology changed, Bea said.

The old two-slice electric toaster took a good eye and quick wrist to operate, she says.

"You had to watch those closely and just when it started to smoke, you'd quick open it up and flip it (the slice) over.

"Now they're (toasters) made automatic; so they don't burn, they just pop the toast up when it's done. The toaster's holes are wider, so you can cook frozen waffles, and they're longer so you can put in different kinds of bread." As many, she says, "as six at a time."

Bea speculates the old twoslice toaster could be as old as 50 years.

"I remember it as one of the first when we got electricity into our house," she said, adding that was in Ortonville in 1932. "Before electricity, we toasted bread over a kerosene stove in a wire stand without sides."

From kerosene stoves to frozen waffles, toasters have made break-fast better.

Though primitive at first, they've advanced from making two slices of crispy, charred bread to six slices of golden toast.

A toast to the toaster.

This antiquated toaster's been absent from kitchen counters for years as technology creeped in and replaced the appliance with more efficient, larger and less time-consuming tools. Today's toaster can handle waffles and as many as six slices of bread, but those with memories for nostalgia will remember the old toasters with a tendancy to burn bread.

As Michele prepares to hurtle another bowling ball down the alley, her mother, Brenda, looks on.

For Michele Green,

bowling provides competition

and family fun

It shouldn't come as any surprise that 13-year-old Michele Green placed a strong fifth place in the state singles bowling finals back in May.

Nor should it be unexpected that she and her dad Sonny Green teamed up to finish seventh in the state doubles championship.

Bowling, you see, is in Michele's blood. In the Green family, the sport is truly a family affair.

It isn't rare to find the whole Green clan at the local alleys—mom, dad, Michele and her two sisters, 14-year-old Lyndsey and 9-year-old Regina.

It's something we can all do together," says Brenda Green, Michele's mom.

"I think our children picked up most of their bowling skill from my husband," she adds with a chuckle. "He's got about a 190 average, and had a 300 game once. "I just do it for fun."

An eighth grader at Sashabaw Junior High beginning in the fall,

Michele bowled well at the regionals in

Port Huron to qualify for the state com-

She and her dad placed second in the team regionals in Saginaw to qualify for the team state finals, held in Owosso.

Despite the strong performances. Michele expresses a shade of disappointment over the final outcome.

As it turned out, the girl that won the state singles was the same girl that Michele beat in the regionals.

"I missed second place by an easy spare," she says.

But that's hardly a crisis—after all,, fifth place in the state in your age group is a pretty good finish.

And there'll be other tournaments, other opportunities to do even better. Michele's been bowling for about four years, and is constantly polishing her game.

"It gets a little easier after a while," she says. "You start to learn how to move."

Just say education and Marian Emery gives a big smile. Education is one of the most important advantages anyone can have, she says, and proves it with her active involvement in the Philanthropic Educational Organization. The international group is educated to increasing educational opportunities for women and Marian has just recently stepped down as president of the Michigan chapter.

Marian Emery volunteers to advance education

Marian Emery and education go hand in to 1, and the college has an enrollment of hand.

She promotes education-and her past-presidency with the Michigan Chapter of the Philanthropic Educational Organization (P.O.E.) speaks for much of what she believes in.

"I think education is a vital part of our lives. Everyone should be involved in education-no matter what level, for when you help other people it's one of the great things in life," she said.

In May, Marian stepped down as president of the Michigan Chapter of P.O.E., an international organization of women dedicated to educational advancement.

From the kitchen of her home on Dixie Highway, just outside Independence Township, she eagerly talks about the group and its accomplishments.

P.O.E. provides low-interest loans to students and has loaned $15 million throughout its 112 years of service. In adddition, the organization offers an International Peace Scholarship Fund for foreign women graudate students.

But the pride of P.O.E. seems to be Cottey Junior College in Nevada, Mo.

"It's the only liberal arts college for women that is owned and operated by a women's organization," Marian said, smiling.

350. Last year we had seven students attending from Michigan."

Wed., July 29, 1981 5 Clarkston (Mich.) News Magazine

Local high school counselors seem to stress state colleges, which always overshadow the smaller two-year schools, she said.

"Really, there are advantages to smaller colleges. We have a counselor come out and go to the local high schools letting the young women know what is available."

The college and both the scholarship and the loan program are financially supported through the volunteer efforts of women like Marian.

"We have barn and yard sales, box lunches, fundraisers. There are 130 chapters in Michigan and each chapter all over the (the world) does similar things. We'll raise sometimes as much as $300 at a sale," she said, explaining where the organization's funds come from.

Marian's gearing up for the group's summer sale held annually in her backyard, proof that as she steps down from the presidency she's to remain active in P.O.E.

"I want to continue to work with what I've worked for all these 20 some years," she said. "I guess I believe that when you believe in something strongly enough, you always want to work for it.'

Mounting up to patrol Ind A trusty steed, welcoming crowds of kids and working to help others makes OCSD Mounted Division Deputy Chuck Carpenter's job special. Э

Picnickers, teeter-totterers and fishermen at Independence Oaks County Park may feel safer when they look up from scattered activities and see Chuck Carpenter atop his steed Banner.

The black quarter horse carries the Oakland County Sheriff's Department (OCSD) volunteer deputy along the park's winding paths and open areas, the banks of Crooked Lake and into playground areas.

The leather saddle creaks as it sways on Banner's broad back, his hoofs flip wood chips off to the side and he snorts heartily through flared nostrils.

At the sound, kids look up from what they're doing and clamor to pet Banner's mane, soft nose and shiny neck.

Chuck's a veteran rider of four vears with the OCSD Mounted Division and takes his part-time work very seriously, yet always finds time to slow down and allow friendly hands a few minutes to pet.

The job's fulfilled a life-long dream.

When I was in school, I studied criminal justice. My goal was to be a member of the sheriff's department. When I got out of school and tried to join I couldn't because they'd found a defect in my color vision.

"So, I got into industrial security-the closest thing I could find to law enforcement, and when the opportunity came to work part time (with the OCDS) I jumped at the chance," Chuck said from his Springfield Township home.

He lives on Hillsboro Road but boards Banner at his parents' home on Bridge Lake Road.

"I've used Banner for the past year and a half for this patrol," Chuck said. "He has to be able to go into crowds, hear sirens and noiseslike firecrackers without flinching or spooking.

"We've been in the parade too. Mostly the horses are used for park patrol and in parades, but they're used for crowd control too," he said.

Chuck said he's not been involved in any serious confrontations, in Independence Oaks County Park, but added some officers have had to step in and break-up fights.

'It seems they think twice about fighting when a big horse steps in between them," Chuck laughed.

The OCSD Mounted Division was loaned to patrol Northland Shopping Center last year during the Republican National Convention.

Chuck remembers the day the division was loaned to keep crowd control at Southfield's Israeli Independence Day as a situation primed for violence.

"That was when the Jewish people had their parade-and the Nazi's marched," Chuck said. "We had to get right in there with our horses and hold the crowds back."

The event tested the men's and horses' training, he said.

"But, mostly this job is just good PR (public relations). It's a chance to meet people and be close to the public. Às a matter of fact, I've never met anyone who wasn't 100 percent tickled to death to see us," Chuck said.

Park Supervisor Ray Delasko has nothing but praise for mounted officers.

We have eight-and-one-hal miles of trails in this park and these officers go where a patrol car can't. A couple of years ago, two officers saw a person in trouble on Crooked Lake and used their walkie-talkies to get help there by boat. We already had a boat on the water, but they directed it to that spot.

"There was a young boy who'd lost his life jacket and had gone under," Delasko said. "He was in) trouble."

Regular OCSD Safety Patrol keeps watch on the park, he said, and they drive the very recognizable scout cars with the light rack on the roof.

"But the mounted officers do an excellent job, especially in PR. I really welcome them here. The kids especially love to go up and see the horses and ask questions about the job," he said.

-Marilyn Trumper

Requirements for joining OCSD Mounted Division

What's it take to be a volunteer member of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department (OCSD) Mounted Division? "First it takes a horse," says Capt. James Curtis, in charge of the division: "All volunteers are required to have their own horses, often boarding them—but most keep them right at home.

"They also must buy all their own equipment and uniforms, which can run into a $1,000 investment," he said.

Volunteer deputies and their horses undergo intensive training in drills and police procedure to qualify for the patrol. The mounted officers, like police, must also qualify to carry a firearm.

"The mounted division runs the gamut from attorneys to disc jockeys to factory workers," he said. "There are 25 members total and they patrol the parks, march in parades and work in search and rescue. For example, if there's a lost child in a woods the mounted division will go in where regular patrol can't go on foot." All mounted police are required to attend a monthly meeting, Curtis added.

In addition, both horse and rider must be in good health and undergo physical examinations.

A background search is also made on the volunteers, he said. For information on joining the OCSD Mounted Division call Capt. Curtis at 858-5417.

Banner nuzzles his nose against tyke Lee Little's leg under the watchful eye of Lee's dad, Leland, Banner's comfort with kids makes him ideal for park duty, says volunteer Deputy Chuck Carpenter.

The Allens take full advantage of their dogs' friendly personalities and offer loving pats—as the curly cockapoos lean into the rubs. Bill [left] and Bert enjoy lounging in their backyard, claiming that in hot summer months it's where they live—under the shade amid the green grass.

Clarkston's history is their own

Bert, short for Alberta, Allen started working for the Clarkston school district when Clarkston Junior High School was the high school building.

- She began as a "salad girl" and delivered lunch to outlying country schools—in a panel truck.At the time, there was Bailey Lake Elementary, Hunter School on Clarkston-Orion and Clintonville roads, and the Clarkston Station School on the corner of Andersonville and White Lake roads.

Two out of three are gone now, Bert says with a sad note.

Bert grew up in Springfield Township and Clarkston, used to shop for fresh meats.

"Rudy would come up to dad's farm and buy calves and cattle,, butcher them, and take them down and put them behind the glass," he said, laughing at the mention of today's regulatory food and drug administration.

As a kid, he walked three miles to the Oak Hill School on Reese and Oak Hill roads. That school's gone too.

Bert, however, is still into salads and schools. She works in the same district in which she started, in charge of the salad department and purchasing in the restaurant at Clarkston's Northwest Oakland Vocational Education Center. just waiting to grant cool reprieve from the sun's rays.

"We live in our backyard," Bert said, and it's evident from the flourishing garden and busy boasts her mom transported kids from that area to the school before there were buses.

Her husband Bill has deep roots in Clarkston. Both tell parts of their history while sitting in the 175-year-old home on Buffalo Street in the village.

"Allen Road was named after my grandfather," Bill said. "I grew up on a working farm on the corner of Allen Road and Rattalee Lake Road. My grandparents' farm was next door.

"You drive by now and it's all a subdivision," he said, shaking his head. "It's called Allen Wood Estates and it's my parents' and grandparents' old farms.

"I really don't know how I feel now that it's all 'been subdivided into parcels. It's nice to see the old family house fixed up though. They really did a nice job," he said.

Bill recalls how Rudy, of Rudy's Market in

"I just love my work," she beams. "Working out there is like working for one big, happy family and I love the students. I'm just like a mother."

Bill works in plant security at Pontiac Motor Division of General Motors Corp. and recently stepped down from a 22-year career as a volunteer firefighter on the Independence Township force.

The Allens' daughter, Jodi, just moved out of the house and into an apartment.

Bert's summer days are filled partially now by the three grandchildren who bike it over from Warbler Lane in Independence Township.

"They're my son's children," Bert smiles. "They come over and swim in the pool."

A large pool dominates the Allens' backyard patio filled with table, chairs and an umbrella.

A wheelbarrow, milk-cream separator and kettle, along with egg baskets dot the wellmanicured lawn. The antiques make good planters and are filled with petunias and other flowers. They're symbols of the farm—for Bill's salvaged at least that much from the old homestead.

If it's northern Independence Township history folks out there are interested in, ask the Allens.

They've lived through the changes and readily remember the past.
