Swimming in leaves

When it's too cold for the old swimming pool, recycling is the name of the game for Ray Eckhardt of Eastlawn Avenue, Independence Township. His kids use the pool in the summertime, says Ray, it makes a great leaf catcher in autumn, and he expects the pool to see splash action again in warm weather. Ray is busy keeping the leaves in check on Main Street in Clarkston Saturday.

Village residents quietly greet law

Discussion is calm at public hearing; council now weighs final adoption

By Marilyn Trumper

Expected fervor fizzled at the public hearing on Clarkston Village's proposed historical ordinance, aimed at maintaining and protecting the integrity of century-old homes and businesses in the historic district.

Approximately 30 people filled village hall Oct. 28 to ask questions and voice opinions on the proposed ordinance which, if finally adopted by the village council, would require residents living in the historic district to first seek approval from a five-member commission before remodeling, making major repairs or demolishing any homes or out-buildings.

The sole voice of Paul Stoppert, co-owner of The Clarkston Corners building, pleaded with residents and local business people to consider the powers such an ordinance gives to the yet-to-be-appointed five-member commission responsible for ultimately approving proposed construction work.

"Our position is we don't feel we should be subject to the control of the committee. Ours is a commercial property. You're telling me I don't have the option of being exempt from the ordinance, so I guess the only way to stay out is to defeat the ordinance," he told the hearing committee.

Stoppert challenged the committee to explain how he could protect his business investment, and stressed that perhaps the ordinance should be limited to residential buildings, not commercial.

"I like Clarkston and I'm not trying to block this ordinance. I want that understood. But I also want you all to see how much power this gives the commission," he said.

Hearing committee member Susan Basinger immediately countered his charge.

"The implication in your comment is that the businesses have an investment to protect that residents don't have. We do have an investment of equal or perhaps in some cases greater value.

"If you're asking us to draw a division between business and residential, I think that would be a mistake. Homes and businesses reflect the village's character and that's what we're working to protect."

Edward Thomson, chairman of the planning commission and member of the hearing committee, pointed out that most property changes are now subject to review by the building department and that this ordinance would not cause many changes in the procedure.

Peg DeCosta of Church Street, whose home is located in the historic district, approved of the proposed ordinance.

"I feel a lot of people think this (proposed) commission is negative, and personally I'd like the opinion of 10 people or whatever when it comes to advice on how to keep my property," she said. "I'm in favor of it. I welcome their advice and expertise.

"I too don't want Big Brother telling me what I can and cannot do. But I've found something here that I really like. There's something unique about Clarkston and I want to protect that."

Jennifer Radcliff, hearing committee member and former president of the Clarkston Community Historical Society, stressed that the changes the commission is to consider will affect each member of the commission and their homes, as the commission will be comprised of village residents living in the historic district.

Johnny Stringfield, of Holcomb Road, Clarkston, asked whether the ordinance could be expected to be enforced when current ordinances are not.

"I've been trying for the past two years to get some junk cars off my neighbor's property. I hope the township will be more receptive to this historical ordinance," he said.

Michelle Gaskell, law clerk with the firm Barry and Gaskell on Main Street, Clarkston, was opposed to the way commission members will be selected and after the meeting, elaborated.

"According to the committee last night, the commission will be selected from people living in the village in the historic district. I think everyone should have the right to be represented on the commission. An ordinance cannot pre-empt a state statute, and state statute says the commission shall be selected from the local unit of government, which in this case, is the entire village."

Gaskell lives on Surrey Lane in Clarkston, an area not a part of or slated to be governed by the historic district ordinance.

After an hour and a half of discussion, the committee ended the hearing. The next move, according to committee chairman Gary Symons, will be to submit a final report to the planning commission and the village council with recommendations for any changes. The village council makes the final decision on whether the ordinance will be adopted, he added.

Wednesday night's hearing ended two years of work on the proposed ordinance, which will regulate approximately 100 homes in the village located in the historic district. In June of 1980, the area was admitted to the National Register of Historic Places.

Insurer demands apology from village council

Leveling charges the village council was "unfair and misleading," Richard Huttenlocher demanded the council apologize for its earlier error when members said one-third could be saved in workmen's compensation insurance by switching to the Michigan Municipal League.

Huttenlocher issued his complaint at the Oct. 26 village council meeting.

The firm of Huttenlochers Kerns Norvell Inc. of Pontiac has been insurers of Clarkston for the past 20 years.

Huttenlocher stressed the premium he charged the village for workmen's compensation was submitted pending the new payroll audit figure which would lower the payment.

"There was the inference in the article in the paper that we were gouging the village. I received three calls to that effect. (The council) said it could save one-third by going with the Michigan Municipal League. That's just not true," he said.

"We certainly didn't intend to have it appear as it did," said Trustee Jackson Byers in apology. "I think it was a misunderstanding on our part. We appreciate your coming down here to meet with us, and hope we've straightened things out."

The village, according to Huttenlocher, was still paying its compensation premium as if it maintained a staff of CETA employees, long since layed-off. The insurance company has for the past year been awaiting budget audit figures based on the current payroll, sans CETA employees, which will effectively slim down the premium payment, he added.

"Trustee (Gary) Symons knew this, I had three conversations with him on this subject and the village had been instructed not to pay the premium until we had the new figures," he said.

The unpaid premium with the current payroll was $1,217. If the village were to stay with the firm the premium would be $1,240 for the 1981-82 year. With the municipal league, the village will pay a 1981-82 premium of $1,246 for workmen's compensation.

Village outlaws park parking

It's almost official.

At the Oct. 26 Clarkston Village Council meeting, members unanimously adopted the traffic control order outlawing streetside parking at Depot Road Park.

The move caps the first of many proposals to curb teenage activity in the village park which culminates—neighboring residents say—in loud radios, abusive language, screeching tires and an increase in traffic.

The law takes effect as soon as the posted signs are erected, according to village attorney Thomas Gruich.

Trustee James Schultz said he and Gar Wilson, director of public works, are difficulty producing a "temporary-permanent" barrier which could be removed to allow road parking when events like the

"I'm not sure the Michigan Municipal League isn't the way for you to go, they offer dividends that we can't, although theirs are not guaranteed," Huttenlocher said.

The village council, at the Oct. 12 meeting, voted unanimously to switch its workmen's compensation policy to the Michigan Municipal League. Huttenlochers Kerns Norvell Inc. continues to insure the village in all other areas.

Crafts and Cider Festival are happening, but added the team would keep trying.

In other action, Trustee Jackson Byers said he's seeking a young village resident interested in joining the six-member task force to represent the views of his or her peers as they relate to the park.

The Village Depot Road Task Force, formed two weeks ago, is slated to study parking, noise, activities and the proposed tot-lot, and to make recommendations to the council.

In addition, the council approved Trustee David Raup to chair the task force.

The group has not yet targeted a date for its first report.

Application made for 15th foster care home

By Marilyn Trumper

Independence Township has pulled in the reins in an effort to control the mounting number of applications for adult foster care homes by challenging each application in court as it surfaces.

While 12 such homes already exist in the township and two more are pending, another application for a group home has surfaced. The latest proposal is for an adult foster care home to house six aged adults at 5881 Chickadee.

Before making any further legal stands, the township should oppose such homes and wait for the State Supreme Court decision on the recently appealed Brandon Township case, said Independence Supervisor James B. Smith, stressing this is his opinion, not necessarily the board's.

"I feel the township's position must be one of opposition until the supreme court rules in the Brandon case," he said. "The (proposed) Chickadee Road site appears to be in violation of the 1,500 foot limitation and will have to be measured. There's another group home on Maybee Road near the entrance to Chestnut Hills Estate subdivision."

Current law says foster care homes may house no more than six persons, and cannot be located within 1,500 feet of another such home.

The burden of proof to show there is no violation would be the responsibility of the applicant or sponsoring agency, Smith said.

According to Michael Swajanan of the State Department of Licensing, the application for the home was submitted Oct. 20 by Grovecrest Continuing Care Home Inc., and would require a 24-hour staff to supervise residents in the event the home is approved for licensing.

In addition, there's renewed activity from the Macomb-Oakland Regional Center (MORC), an arm of the State Department of Mental Health, to build on Whipple Lake Road, two doors west of Michigamme Road, a new house which is to ultimately house six developmentally disabled adults.

MORC proposed the plan last June, but remained silent until last week when officials informed the township the proposal was still on the drawing board.

The home's applicant Lutheran Social Services, a non-profit organization, has selected a builder which in turn is seeking financing for the project, according to MORC's Tom Miller, director of community services development.

The proposed 2,300 square foot, three-bedroom brick ranch would be home to six developmentally disabled adults.

In June, when the project was proposed, the township dug in its heels and in discussion argued the home would violate single family zoning and would operate as a commercial venture in a residential district.

The application by Lutheran Social Services to run the Michigamme Road house "seems better than private organizations for profit," Smith said.

The township board is expected to discuss the issue at the Nov. 3 meeting, and take an official stand, Smith added.

2 businessmen weigh arcade possibility

By Al Zawacky

Two Springfield Township businessmen are currently investigating the possibility of opening an electronic game arcade in Springfield Township.

"It's just an idea in the working stages," said Dennis Potulsky, who along with business partner Keith Dutcher is considering the venture.

"Nothing is definite, but if we're going to do it, we're going to do it right," Potulsky said. "It's going to be properly controlled—we don't want any of the problems sometimes associated with arcades."

Potulsky and Dutcher are both Springfield Township residents and co-own the Carpet Crafters, a floor and wall covering store at 6798 Dixie Highway. The prospective location for their arcade would be "somewhere along the Dixie Highway corridor," according to Potulsky.

"If somebody is going to open an arcade, I'd rather have it be someone from the community," he said.

"We wouldn't have it open during school hours. There'd be no smoking in the building, no pool tables and I think it'd be a good idea to hire an off-duty police officer to patrol the building and the parking lot. The troublemakers won't be allowed to hang around and spoil it for the people who just want to enjoy the games.

"The utmost in respectability will be maintained. But if the community isn't comfortable with the idea, we're not going to fight for it. If we get a lot of flack, I'm not going to go running to my attorney and try and jam an arcade down anybody's throat."

Potulsky said he had discussed a possible arcade with Springfield Township Supervisor Collin Walls. Springfield ordinances require that any business using more than three game machines or similar devices apply for a special license with the township.

"Collin gave me the impression that if it's done right and maintained well, it shouldn't cause any problems," Potulsky said. "And again, if we can't do it the right way, we're not going to do it. It's going to be controlled."

Walls said he viewed the arrival of an arcade business in Springfield as an inevitability.

"Sooner or later, it's going to come—it's a profitable business," he said. "Obviously, a lot would depend on where it's located, but if it's properly run and controlled, I don't see any problems with it."

"Denny (Potulsky) of all people would probably keep a better handle on it than most," Walls added.

Halloween: Pranks, problems

Devil's Night and Halloween pranksters were up to their usual mischief last weekend, soaping windows and decorating trees and houses with toilet paper.

But on a few occasions, Halloween celebrants crossed the line between harmless pranks and malicious property destruction.

According to Oakland County Sheriff's Department reports, some homeowners in Independence and Springfield townships awoke Saturday and Sunday mornings to the sight of tire tracks through lawns, smashed windshields and other acts of vandalism.

On Devil's Night (Oct. 30), several lawns on Holcomb Road and Bluegrass Drive in Independence Township were damaged, according to police. Mailboxes were also favored targets of vandals.

A small rock or BB gun was used to break a driver's side window in a car parked in front of a house on M-15 in Independence Township Friday night.

The same evening, a motorist traveling east-bound on Davisburg Road near Ormond Road in Springfield Township had a heavy metal wrench tossed through the windshield of his moving car.

On Saturday, Halloween night, vandals kicked in the passenger door of a 1982 Ford parked on Clinton Road in Independence, and also smashed the passenger door window of a nearby car. Damage to each car was estimated at $100, according to police reports.

M-15 car count underway

BRW gets assist from local Explorer Scouts

The license plate tabulation and counting for the M-15 study is underway, and members of Clarkston Explorer Scouts and volunteers reported a 3,000-car tally in an hour and a half, according to township Supervisor James B. Smith.

Although the township and village are paying BRW of Minneapolis a fee not to exceed $20,000 for a study on alternatives to the proposed five-lane widening of M-15 south of the village, Smith said Independence would realize a savings by using volunteers to make the license plate count.

Scout and citizen volunteers were at checkpoints earlier in the week, writing down the license plate numbers of passing cars in an effort to determine who is using M-15, how many are going through to I-75, etc., to achieve a good data base for calculating alternatives to the proposed widening.

"This will save the township money as well as allow people to provide a public service," he said. "The BRW contract was 'not to exceed' the $20,000. This way, we perform a service they would do and don't reduce the amount of professional services our money can buy."

Earlier Richard P. Wolsfeld Jr. of BRW targeted a study completion date of five months with a preliminary list of alternatives available within four to six weeks.

There are two types of coal: soft (bituminous) and hard (anthracite). Anthracite is the cleanest and longest burning but in this area it is scarce and costly. There are high grades of bituminous coal available which are much less costly. Coal burning requires different techniques from wood burning, but by mastering these techniques you will only refuel once or twice a day. There is no creosote worry with coal. Take the time to examine coal burning carefully—have the proper stove installed safely—use the proper coal and you will be rewarded with an economical long burning heat source.

Cuts in education must stop

CURE (Citizens United to Restore Education) is continuing to work representing 72,000 students in nine Oakland County school districts. Each week, a different school system from CURE is sending a group to Lansing to talk with legislators and encourage them to keep K-12 education a top priority of this state.

On Oct. 27, eight Clarkston people including Milford Mason, superintendent of schools; school board member Mary Jane Chaustowich; teachers Al Bartlett and Larry Rossa; Karen Ohrnberger, vice chairman of CURE; CURE member Carol Balzarini; and parents, Mary Jane Scharfenkamp and myself, spent the entire day attending meetings and meeting with legislators in Lansing.

First we attended a meeting of the House Committee on Education, where the discussion focused on the possibility of allowing Taylor to sell bonds.

Our Senator Kerry Kammer met with us in his office and told us of the bill he is presenting to help provide more funds for education.

Our State Rep. Claude Trim informed us he is also working on a bill for education.

We sat in on the House Taxation Subcommittee which was discussing summer tax collections and their benefit to schools.

Frederick Whims in the department of budget and management met privately with our group and informed us the letters from citizens, which we sent during the millage campaign, were read by both the governor and the department of budget.

He is faced with lobbying groups from every aspect of the population who want state funds for their area of interest.

We became very aware that our presence and persistence is necessary for the survival of public education.

We were introduced in each of committee hearings and also in the House of Representatives (by Rep. Trim), as members of CURE and our purpose for being there was stated.

The last appointment of the day was a private meeting with State Superintendent of Schools, Dr. Phillip Runkle, in his office.

He was extremely interested in our local problems and asked for insight into things such as what mandated programs make budgeting most difficult.

Although his staff has been greatly cut, he is attempting to set some new guidelines for education that better meet the needs of the time.

He feels consortiums between some districts is going to be necessary in order to survive (such as what Clarkston is doing with sharing a dietician this year with Lake Orion). Dr. Runkle said he feels this will be the only way smaller districts will be able to provide the benefit of many programs for their students, that otherwise would have to be cut.

We as parents and citizens must continue to support CURE, for a large representative group is most influential on legislators.

It is imperative for survival of public education in this state, particularly for in-formula districts, that Lansing not continue to cut funds, as Gov. Milliken did again in October with another executive cut to education.

2 down, 1 to go

by Kathy Greenfield

Bad luck, they say, comes in threes. Not that I believe in such superstitious nonsense, but it is somehow reassuring, when the roof is falling in, to think only one more rotten thing can happen.

As I was sitting in the driveway of a home Halloween afternoon, I starting thinking about threes.

All in all, the day had been bad news. First, I went to the Independence Township Library's Halloween Party for local kids.

The room was dark and I had taken some pictures outside first, so rather than change the film and the film speed for indoor picture taking without a flash, I zipped out the flash and proceeded to take photos of cute kids in Halloween finery.

I got lots of names and responded to librarian Jim Hibler's query, "Did you get some good shots?" with "You can't go wrong in a room filled with kids in costumes."

I was wrong. Later, when I discovered I had the shutter speed on the camera set incorrectly for flash photos, I groaned. But, there was no turning back. All the kids were gone and the party was over. I crossed my fingers and hoped the outdoor shots were good.

For my next flub, I headed over to the Lake Oakland Woods subdivision off Maybee Road in Independence Township.

Earlier in the week, a woman had called and asked if we would take pictures of some special Halloween decorations planned for trick-or-treaters there.

I told her I'd try, but I didn't taken her name or address. So, I figured I could drive around the subdivision that afternoon and find Halloween goings-on amounting to more than window decorations and pumpkins on porches.

Wrong again. I drove through twice, and then stopped at my sister's house to see if she had heard about anything special. She hadn't, so I drove through again and gave up. I must have been too early, but I was out of time.

After that kind of day, I figured it was going to end with another almost-picture at my last scheduled stop. The woman had called. We set up a time. I had the address. I drove in, knocked on the door and no one was home. I decided to wait 10 minutes.

As I was sitting in my car, surrounded by a ghost in a bush, a ghoul in the window and miniature goblins, I started thinking about threes.

And then I thought, "How perfect, for what would Halloween be without black cats, full moons, incantations and superstitions?"

As luck would have it, the women drove up and the number three in my trio was squashed.

Now, let's see, if I go back to the day before, or the day after, surely—knock on wood—I can come up with something-else that happened...

Thanks to UNICEF helpers

Seventy-five young people from churches in the Clarkston area canvassed the community for UNICEF on Sunday afternoon, Oct. 25.

A total of $411.41 was sent to UNICEF. The churches thank each one who contributed, and the youths and adults who helped by going door-to-door.

For Jr. Miss group

A big bouquet of thanks to eighteen of the nicest, loveliest, most energetic young women I have ever had the pleasure of meeting.

Being on the Jr. Miss Committee enabled me to work with these girls for six weeks prior to the program.

It was a privilege and I thank each girl for making those long weeks such a delightful experience.

I wholeheartedly agree with the letter Rich and Marty Johnston set to The Clarkston News—where was the all-deserving support and enthusiasm the contestants should have been receiving from the public and, most important, the school administration?

Also, a thank you to Barbara Hamaker and Bruce Harley. Without their true commitment to this worthy program, Clarkston would not have a Junior Miss.

who want to go into the "house sitting" business. They want to know how to get started. They did it for a month for friends and liked it.

The wife is a healthy 68 the husband equally healthy and 72. If there's a catch to their goal it's that they want summer house sitting in the north and winter sitting in the south.

However, if you're looking for such a sitter, contact me at 628-4801. We'll put you in touch.

I don't know who thought of it first, but think the idea of putting the state legislators in Lansing part time is sound. Used to be that way, but politicians extended the hours to justify their needs.

We'll credit both state senator Don Bishop (R-Rochester) and drain commissioner (D-Laingsburg) with promoting the 3-or 4 month term. Of course, we shouldn't forget Gov. Milliken mentioned it in his January State of the State speech, too.

My late mother told me once, how many years ago someone came out of Battle Creek trying to promote investments in cold cereal making.

People stayed away in droves. "Never take the place of Oatmeal", they said.

Today Kellogg Co. makes enough dry cereal to fill 70 freight cars a day. They use 17,000 bushels of corn, 60,000 gal. of flavoring, 96,000 pounds of wheat, and 30,000 pounds of oat flour a day.

Personally, we still prefer oatmeal.

'If it Fitz. . .'

Always a joke, except ---

by Jim Fitzgerald

There are a couple of things you should know about TV stars and hyphen....

...Some things just have to be said. For instance, on a recent morning as I was walking to work, a car pulled up to the curb with a question, and I couldn't resist giving a weird answer.

Three women wearing hopeful smiles were inside the car. One of them asked me: "Can you tell us how to get to the Sonya Friedman show?"

Immediately an old joke jumped into my head. On a New York City street, a man carrying a violin case asks how to get to Carnegie Hall, and the answer is, "Practice, practice, practice."

So I told the women looking for Sonya: "Have a sex change operation."

The women gave me a strange look, of course, and quickly left, before I could give them straight directions to the WDIV (Channel 4) building. But as they drove off, I think I heard one of them laugh. By Jove, I think she got it. I hope so.

People who've had their sex changed are frequent guests on morning TV talk shows. Also wives acquitted of murdering husbands, women having babies for money by artificial insemination, unmarried men who want to adopt babies, authors who want everyone to be sexually fulfilled, men who married each other, women who married each other and 100-pound people who weighed 600 before they had a bypass operation which diverts their food to an emerging nation.

I never see any of these shows because I have to work and the TV in my office is turned on only for assassinations and baseball playoffs. But my wife tells me about them when I get home in the evening, and sometimes I get so excited by her descriptions of Phil Donahue's guests that I can't eat dinner without first taking a nap. Also, every night on Channel 4, over and over and over, I see a taped Sonya Friedman advertising the show she will present the next day.

When Sonya looks sincere, and speaks warmly, I know she cares deeply about my viewership. I find it difficult to look into her TV eyes without feeling guilty about not being able to watch her program in the morning. I can't help wondering whether my work is really that important. Frequently, the morning after Sonya has 10 times implored me to tune her in, the only way I can force myself to go to work is to look at my Master Charge bill.

If I were a psychologist, like Sonya, I could probably explain why I gave a flip answer to those women seeking directions to her show. My strange behavior probably had something to do with my chagrin at letting Sonya down. I was striking out at innocent people because they were able to do something I couldn't. I'm sincerely, deeply ashamed of myself.

If those women didn't get to Sonya's show, it was my fault. And if they ended up in Carnegie Hall, using the men's room, I don't want to hear about it.

...Speaking of attractive women on TV, there is also the case of the misplaced hyphen and Beverly Draper, anchorwoman on Channel 2. Recently I wrote that, for a short time after Beverly married her agent, Guy Draper, she called herself Beverly Payne Draper, using one of the hyphens left over when Jo-Jo Shuttly-MacGregor left Channel 2. Not true.

At no time whatsoever did Beverly Draper call herself Payne-Draper or in any other manner use a hyphen. She told me so herself. My mistake was believing everything I read in the newspapers.

It seems some troublemakers tried to make a big thing out of Beverly getting married and changing her name, implying that Channel 2 management was upset because a lot of promotion money had been spent mainly on the Payne. The story was that a compromise was reached through the use of a hyphen. Beverly denies this.

She says there was no dispute and no compromise. As for Jo-Jo Shuttly-MacGregor's leftover hyphens, Sonny Elliot is using them, cleverly spliced together and slanted, as designated rain on his weather map. Naturally, whenever you see Sonny using Jo-Jo's hyphens in this manner, you should beware of sunburn.

CURE invites residents to meet with legislators

Residents unhappy with the way school districts receive funding from the state can go to a meeting in nearby Waterford Township and express their concerns.

A legislative breakfast is planned by Citizens

United to Restore Education (CURE), a coalition of 21 school districts in Oakland, Macomb and Genesee counties.

Scheduled from 8 to 11:30 a.m. at the Waterford schools administration building, 6020 Pontiac Lake, Waterford Township, the tentative agenda includes registration and continental breakfast (for $1.50 donation), an explanation of CURE, a response from the legislators regarding educational needs and a general discussion period.

The legislators are to respond to written questions from members of the audience.

Independence Township resident Karen Ohrnberger is vice chairperson of CURE.

"We want the legislators to listen to our concerns for public education," Ohrnberger said, explaining the purpose of the organization.

She encourages people to attend the legislative breakfast, she said, because it's an opportunity to show widespread concern.

Ohrnberger said she is certain State Sen. Kerry Kammer and State Rep. Claude Trim will be there.

In all, the governor, lieutenant governor, state superintendent of schools, 15 state senators and 25 state representatives have been invited, although a tally on how many will attend is not yet available, she said.

Residents wishing to be there may register at the door, or they may call Carol Balzarini at 625-5948 or Ron Arnold at 666-4000.

Springfield breaks ground for second township fire station

The ground has been broken, and Springfield Township's Fire Station No. 2 is on its way to becoming reality.

Last week at a special ground-breaking ceremony at the corner of Dixie Highway and Rattalee Lake Road, Springfield Township Supervisor Collin Walls and Lumber Jack Builders' President Jack Watston grasped the ceremonial shovels and turned over spades of soil to mark the official start of construction on the township's second fire station.

Also on hand were Springfield Township Treasurer Patricia Kramer, Clerk Calvin Walters, Springfield Fire Chief Marlin Hillman and Assistant Fire Chief Elwyn Hillman, and county officials Fred Houghten, chairman of the Oakland County Road Commission, and Paul VanRoekel, county highway engineer.

The station, to be built by Lumber Jack Builders of Lake Orion, is to cost about $150,000 including the cost of paving and landscaping, according to Walls.

"May is the deadline for completion," Walls said. "Our hope is to be finished a little earlier, but May is the latest."

Springfield Township currently is serviced by a single fire station located at the corner of Broadway Street and Eaton Road in downtown Davisburg.

Walls said arrangements with the county road commission were essential in plans for the second station.

"The township was able to get a very good lease of the property at low cost from the road commission," he said. "The cooperation has been super. We've had good rapport and a good working relationship to get this started."

25.3 acres rezoned off Dixie Highway

There's been a change in zoning south of Deer Hill Drive off Dixie Highway in Independence Township.

At the Oct. 6 meeting, board members in a 6-1 vote, approved the rezoning request made by Peter Rose of Dixie Highway. His son, Clerk Christopher Rose, abstained from voting.

In all, approximately 25.3 acres zoned rural residential and highway commercial, were rezoned to suburban farm residential where one-and-one-half acres minimum are needed for building, as opposed to the required three acres needed in rural residential zoning.

Rose was unavailable to comment on why he requested the zoning change.

Both the Independence Township Planning Commission and planner recommended approval of the rezoning, according to a building department spokesperson.

Wolves, Kettering to tangle in Silverdome

Catch the Clarkston Wolves in action, and then sit back and watch Isaiah Thomas, Kelly Tripucka and the rest of the Detroit Pistons battle against the Boston Celtics.

That's the offering at the Pontiac Silverdome Saturday, Nov. 7, where the Clarkston High School varsity girls' basketball team will square off against league rival Waterford Kettering at 3 p.m.

Later that day on the Silverdome court, the Pistons and Celtics will clash in a National Basketball Association contest beginning at 8 p.m.

Tickets admitting spectators to both games are currently on sale for $6 at the Clarkston High School main office on regular school days until 4 p.m.

Odds Are . . .

by Al Zawacky

Clarkston Junior High at Sashabaw Junior High (Nov. 4): This was supposed to be an easy pick to make. At least it would have been back in the beginning of the season.

Since these two teams met in the season opener Sept. 10 (a 26-6 Sashabaw win), the Wolverines have improved steadily, while the Cougars have regressed.

There are plenty of reasons to go with Clarkston here. The Wolverines managed a sorry eight yards rushing in the opener, relying heavily on the air attack, but lately the ground game has begun to establish itself. The defense also has made strides.

Meanwhile, the Cougars have seen a breakdown in virtually every aspect of their game.

But Sashabaw is not without a few pluses of their own. The Cougars have an advantage in numbers and depth that might prove decisive in the second half.

It'll be closer this time, but beyond that any prediction is just sheer guesswork. We'll flip a coin and call it Sashabaw by One.

Mahrle nets varsity coaching job

By Al Zawacky

Larry Mahrle's highly successful five-year tenure as Clarkston High School's junior varsity boys' basketball coach has come to an end.

Larry Mahrle: Avondale's new varsity basketball coach.

Mahrle, who came to Clarkston from Our Lady of the Lakes in 1976, has accepted the head varsity job at Avondale High School in Auburn Heights and will begin his duties there immediately in preparation for the 1981-82 prep basketball season.

Also leaving the Clarkston program to work with Mahrle at Avondale are Tim Kaul and Dave Partlo. Kaul originally planned to coach freshman basketball this winter at Sashabaw Junior High but instead accepted the junior varsity post at Avondale.

Partlo, a scout and JV assistant at Clarkston, will leave to become Mahrle's varsity assistant.

"I've waited eight years for this chance," said Mahrle, who will continue to teach at Clarkston High School while coaching at Avondale.

"I've wanted to coach varsity from the very beginning, and this is such a tremendous challenge.

"Number one, they (Avondale) didn't play summer basketball. Number two, I don't know any of the kids. Number three, we've got to go up against six Class A teams to start the season.

"There are no guarantees, and the first year is always the toughest. But nothing is ever easy in life. I'm just really looking forward to it."

Avondale, a Class B school, competes in a four-team league with Oxford, Cranbrook and Brandon. Clarkston is not scheduled to play Avondale in the 1981-82 season.

Mahrle will be replacing Chuck Granger, a Clarkston High School alumnus. Granger decided to call it quits after one year of coaching when budget cuts at Avondale cost him his teaching job.

Avondale Athletic Director Chuck Nurek approached former Pontiac Central basketball coach Ralph Grubb about the job, but Grubb wasn't interested and recommended Mahrle as a possible replacement.

"I've known Ralph for eight years, I've scouted for him and I've always respected him tremendously," Mahrle said. "He gave me the break I needed."

In five seasons at Clarkston working under varsity coach

Gary Nustad, Mahrle compiled a 67-31 win-loss record and won three league titles. Last year, his most successful ever, the JVs posted a 15-4 record en route to a first-place finish in the Greater Oakland Activities League.

"Anytime you coach at one place for five years, you've got to have some second thoughts about leaving," Mahrle said. "We've got some real good young men coming up this year.

"I just feel really good about all the players and parents who have been calling me wishing me luck.

"Dom and Paul (CHS Principal Dom Mauti and Athletic Director Paul Tungate) were really enthusiastic and supportive."

Jinxed: Wolves, GOAL just can't beat Rochester Adams

By Al Zawacky

Joe Zelmanski knows what he wants for Christmas.

Not a stereo. Not a new car. Just a place in the Greater Oakland Activities League.

You see, the Rochester Adams Highlanders like GOAL teams. They like them a lot.

"This is our level of competition," said Zelmanski, Adams' head varsity football coach, after watching his Highlanders post a 16-14 win over the Clarkston Wolves.

'There's just something about Adams and Clarkston ...'

—Coach Joe Zelmanski

It was only the second win of the season in eight outings for the Highlanders, the other victory coming against Lake Orion—another GOAL member—back in the season opener.

And last year, Adams finished the season with a 3-6 mark, with wins against Clarkston, Lake Orion and Rochester—all members of the Greater Oakland Activities League.

The Highlanders haven't lost to anyone in the GOAL since 1979.

"I'm not saying Clarkston isn't a good football team or that the GOAL isn't a good league," Zelmanski said. "But we get hammered in the Metro Suburban with schools like Troy Athens, Royal Oak Dendero.

"Again, this (the GOAL) is more our level of competition."

Friday's Adams-Clarkston contest didn't start out like a typical Highlander-GOAL clash.

Motivated by revenge for last season's 3-0 loss at the hands of the Highlanders, a loss that cost Clarkston a possible playoff berth and an undefeated season, the

Contrasting the wild hysteria seen in the first half, the Clarkston sideline turns silent as time runs out in the fourth quarter and another loss to non-league nemesis Rochester Adams becomes inevitable.

Wolves came out with fire in their eyes and quickly built up a 14-0 lead on touchdown runs by Dan Brennan and Dave Fulcher.

But Adams struck back before the first half ended, notching two six-pointers of their own and pulling ahead 16-14 on a Tom Carroll field goal from 24 yards out.

The quick 16 points by the Highlanders seemed to deflate the Wolves, as Clarkston generated very little in the way of offense the rest of the way and wound up losing by the halftime score of 16-14.

"We had them where we wanted them," Clarkston Coach Walt Wynnemko said. "For some reason, we lost our intensity. Why, I don't know."

"There's just something about Adams and Clarkston," Zelmanski said. "I remember when I first came here as an assistant coach, we were 0-7 going into the game and had no business beating them but we did."

The Wolves, at 4-4 on the season, will play their last game of the 1981 campaign Friday at home against 5-3 Waterford Township.

McCormick uncertain about 1981-82 season

By Al Zawacky

Tim McCormick is continuing to make progress from two knee operations this summer, but the 6-foot-10 University of Michigan sophomore remains a question mark for the upcoming 1981-82 college basketball season.

"I'm looking forward to playing this season, but whether I can, I'll have to wait and see," said McCormick, a 1980 Clarkston High School graduate.

McCormick underwent knee surgery twice last summer to remove calcium deposits and scar tissue from his chronically painful knees. The left knee was operated on in June and when the results proved encouraging, a second operation was performed on the right knee in August.

A prescribed daily weight lifting and rehabilitation program for the knees is continuing, but McCormick is still unable to do any running.

"There's still a little swelling," he said. "I'm hoping I can start running in a couple of weeks, but I really can't tell."

"I can't really be sure how long I have to go—it's a day to day thing."

The Michigan Wolverines will open their season Nov. 28 at Arkansas and will play their first Big Ten conference game in Ann Arbor Jan. 7 against Wisconsin.

Cagers rip Mott; battle in 'Dome Saturday

By Al Zawacky

Cold shooting.

That's been the Wolves' weakness all season, and last week was no exception.

Shooting just 19 percent from the field, the Clarkston High School girls' varsity basketball team succumbed to Waterford Township 58-52 to open up last week's action.

But two nights later—despite hitting on just 23 percent of their field goal attempts—the Wolves bounced back to a 47-29 romp over league rival Waterford Mott.

"We've been playing good defense, but we just aren't shooting very well," said Clarkston Coach Dave McDonald. "That's been our nemesis all year.

"We played good defense against Mott. It was parents' night, and the girls really played excellent."

Much of the problem against Township could be traced to the boards, where the Wolves were out-rebounded three to one, despite a 13-rebound performance from senior Lanette Whitehead. Tracee Antos and Michele Ulasich led Clarkston in scoring with 11 points each.

McDonald made a few personnel changes and shifted to a man-to-man defense against Mott, and the moves paid off. Lori Martin led the way with 13 points while Whitehead had 11 points and 13 rebounds.

With the win, the Wolves improved their Greater Oakland Activities League record to a 3-4 while boosting their overall mark to 7-8.

Clarkston will play twice this week, at Oxford

Nov. 3 and at the Pontiac Silverdome against league foe Waterford Kettering Nov. 7. The Clarkston-Kettering clash will be one of three high school contests that afternoon prior to the Detroit Piston-Boston Celtics National Basketball Association game beginning at 8 p.m.

The Wolves will tip off at 3 p.m.

"It's going to be a good game," said McDonald, looking forward with his players to the Silverdome battle. "The girls are really fired up to beat them. And playing in the Silverdome, I don't think I'll need to give a pep talk before the game.

"We looked good last night (against Mott), and hopefully the changes we made will keep working for us."

Stage set for Wolverine-Cougar showdown

By Al Zawacky

The Wolverines are flying.

The Cougars are fading.

And the climatic showdown between the two teams in the final game of the 1981 freshman football season happens tonight at the Clarkston High School athletic field.

In their last action before today's cross-district clash, the Clarkston Junior High Wolverines ran all over Walled Lake Central last week, winning 28-0 to boost their record to 4-4.

Meanwhile, the Sashabaw Junior High Cougars stumbled again, losing to Lake Orion East 16-6 and falling to 2-4-1 on the season.

How things have changed.

When the two rivals met in September to open the season, Sashabaw ripped the Wolverines 26-6 and seemed destined to roll to their finest season in years, while in the Clarkston camp there were whispers that the Wolverines might not win a single game.

"We're definitely on the rise and they're definitely going down," said CJH Coach John Craven, assessing the trend in recent weeks.

"We were unbelievable last night. They (Walled Lake) didn't have a single first down in the first half and wound up with four in the game.

"We could have beaten anybody, the way we were playing."

To make the win all the more impressive, Walled

Lake Central was 6-1 heading into the game, and the Wolverines won it on the road.

"The kids are really up for the game (against Sashabaw) and looking forward to it," Craven said. "If you want to call it revenge, I guess you could.

"I don't think they're afraid of Sashabaw anymore—they believe in themselves."

For the Cougars, caught in the throes of a five-game winless streak, the season finale represents one last chance to redeem themselves.

"We're just hoping to end our season on a winning note," said Sashabaw Coach Chris Krueger. "We opened up with a victory—we'd like to finish that way."

tive and said they were behind me. Gary (Nustad) offered his congratulations and talked about some possible scrimmages together."

Nustad, Tungate and Mauti planned to meet this week to discuss possible replacements for Mahrle, and with the first day of practice less than two weeks away a decision is anticipated soon.

"It's a loss for our program, losing a coach of the stature of Larry Mahrle," Nustad said.

"He's been instrumental to the success of our program, and I know he'll do well at Avondale. He's been a capable assistant for many years and certainly deserved an opportunity at a head coaching job."

A decision is also expected soon on a replacement for Kaul at Sashabaw Junior High. Kaul scouted last year and was planning on returning to Sashabaw after a two-year absence during which Gary Mason held the reins.

"I had some reservations about leaving, because I was going to coach ninth grade at Sashabaw," Kaul said. "But what really swayed me to do it was Larry being the head coach.

"We've worked very close the last few years. I've scouted for him and our philosophies and approach to discipline are very similar."

Halloween spunk

You name it, it was to be found in the front yard of Pam Tweed's home on Bluegrass Drive, Independence Township, as she prepared for Halloween trick-or-treaters Saturday. In addition to the witch Kitty Todd (left) and Pam put into place, there were ghosts, a scarecrow, skeletons, pumpkins and a ghoulish window.

A CONSUMER SHOPPING TIP

When waterproofing your basement, make sure your contractor's reputable. Read your contract carefully before signing. Question all language you don't understand. Be prepared to remove your own interior basement walls if contract so states. And don't let a salesman tell you soil conditions and water table are irrelevant. They're important.

Jaycettes laud their members

"Outstanding" is the word the Davisburg Jaycettes choose when honoring one member each month for service to the community and the club.

For October, the Jaycette of the month award went to Cindy Carr who planned the annual '50s/'60s Dance at the Springfield Oaks Activities Center. A Jaycette board member five years, Cindy currently serves as vice president.

In September, Debbie Budry won the Outstanding Jaycette Award for her assistance during the Clarkston Country Fair, during which the Jaycettes sold pop and bagels to raise funds for their community service projects. Debbie serves as secretary of the board.

Two entertaining socials for the chapter organized by Paula Cochran won her the award in August. She planned the "Swim Party on Big Lake" featuring water skiing and swimming, and a "Kid's Day" with cartoons and snacks for the children of Jaycettes. President of the club in 1980, Paula now serves as director of the board.

Barbara Hurren's job organizing Safety Town won her the honor in July. The program is a community service designed to teach children many aspects of safety.

The Davisburg Jaycettes is a young women's leadership training organization. Members develop personal growth skills and management techniques through service to their communities.

For information on membership or services of the Davisburg Jaycettes, call their president, Laura Western, at 625-5663.

Teresa Giroux served the Mexican Cheese Appetizers at the picnic held at the end of Calvary Lutheran Church's Vacation Bible School. Teresa said the snacks are good for a party, for dinner or brunch and they make an excellent nursery school treat.

Mexican Cheese Appetizers

1 lb. cheddar cheese, sliced thin or shredded
1 lb. Monterey Jack cheese

Note: 1 pkg. with peppers, 1 pkg. without.

If peppers are not in cheese, add 6 jalapena peppers, finely chopped.

6 oz. carnation evaporated milk

6 eggs

Layer cheese in four layers, alternating types. Beat eggs and milk and pour over cheese layers. Bake at 350 degrees for one-half hour or until slightly brown—15 minutes foil-covered and 15 minutes without foil.

Cool 2-3 hours before serving. Cut into squares once cooled. Serving suggestions: Good with Triscuits and Doritos. You may also vary the recipe by adding bacon or ham or omitting hot peppers.

NOTE: We have a request for a Texas Tornado Cake. If you have a recipe for this cake, please drop it off, send it in or call the office at 625-3370 after noon weekdays.

Shoes are Bob Roddy's business and he's surrounded by just a few of the selections in his discount shoe store, Roddy's Shoes for Women located in the Waterfall Plaza on Dixie Highway in Waterford Township.

Step out in style, save money with shoe values at Roddy's

Shoes are a specialty and a challenge for Bob Roddy, owner of Roddy's Shoes for Women in Waterfall Plaza.

Roddy had been an owner in a discount clothing shop in Rochester before opening his store in Waterford Township. Shoes were a profitable line in the Rochester store and he was looking for a challenge. He sold his share of the business to go out on his own.

Doing business

The merchandising philosophy is intact at Roddy's.

"This is a discount-type store and we offer discounts from 20 to 60 percent and that's all of the time," says Roddy, who also stresses personal service which he says is ignored in many stores.

"I've always contended that whether you run a candy store or a service station, personal service is important," Roddy says.

Personal service is extended by the whole staff which includes Roddy's wife Margaret who is the buyer for the store as well as the bookkeeper. She also works in the store on Saturdays. The more visible staffer is Liz Walker.

She brings 15 years' experience in the shoe business in Grosse Pointe, Trenton, Birmingham, Monroe and Pontiac. Roddy says he has learned quite a bit about the shoe business from her.

"She has seen a lot of feet in her time," he laughs.

At least 54 different brands of footwear are offered at Roddy's in styles ranging from dress shoes to molded rubber rain boots as well as handbags and slippers.

Browsing and shopping is done at a leisurely pace as shoppers try as many styles and sizes as they like without being concerned about the number of times they need to ask a salesperson for shoes. All of the stock is out on the floor.

"Stock is put on the racks when it comes in—it is on the floor before the day is done," Roddy says.

Roddy's shoes for Women opened in January 1981 at a time when all that was available to fill the shelves was spring and summer shoes.

"It was very slow—white toeless and heelless shoes in all that snow," Roddy says.

Business has definitely improved since those early months and Roddy has nearly doubled the capacity of the store with two center aisles of shelves.

Roddy's Shoes for Women is open 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., until 8 p.m. on Friday and closed on Sunday. Mastercard and Visa are accepted.

Update in Hawaii

Claudia Jakus of Clarkston Travel Bureau attended the 51st World Congress of the American Society of Travel Agents in Honolulu, Hawaii, Sept. 6-11.

The annual convention, held in locations all over the world, keeps agents abreast of what is happening in the industry and provides educational seminars.

Keynote speaker was former President Gerald R. Ford and other speakers represented all phases of the travel industry.

"Managing Change" was the theme of this year's congress, which was very appropriate due to the deregulation of the airline industry, Jakus said.

First for Suma Pure

Arthur W. Suma made water treatment history this past summer, breaking into a field formerly held only by municipalities.

Suma, owner of Suma Pure Water Co. in Brandon Township, on July 23 became the only private water consultant to be licensed by the Michigan Health Department in water treatment.

According to a company employee, such licensing in the past has been limited to cities, villages and townships, never private industry.

Leaf burning requires permit

Touching briefly on the subject at its last meeting in October, Clarkston's Village Council reminded all residents that burning without a permit is illegal in the village, as well as the township.

Township Fire Chief Frank Ronk is limiting the number of permits to burn to three per day, per street, good for one day, and reminds all that fires must be supervised by an adult and there is no burning allowed after dark.

In the last month, the department issued 150 permits to burn, he said.

"If it gets too bad, we'll limit the permits to even-odd (house) numbers, or less than three per street," Ronk said.

Burning without a permit is against the law, and violators can be ticketed, he added.

Permits to burn can be acquired by telephoning the fire department at 625-1924.

Sidewalk project off until springtime

There'll be a slight delay in the village council's plan to extend the sidewalk along Clarkston-Orion Road from where it now ends to the village limit.

The deadline for bids arrived last week and not one firm responded, according to Pat Keast, village engineer with Mosher-Kapelczak.

At the Oct. 26 meeting, Keast speculated it's too late in the year for firms to take on the job and said the council could expect a better response in the spring.

The village council approved spending $5,000 of Community Development funds during hearings held last December.

Council members expressed disappointment in the delay, and agreed to seek bids once again in the spring.

Black cats snarl. Orange pumpkins show treeth-baring grins and bat-wing ears.

Sidle up to the booth, munch a Big Mac and look at the artwork covering the windows at McDonald's—the work of four students from Sashabaw Junior High School.

For the second year in a row, art teacher Susie Kiser's students have volunteered their time and talents to create a holiday atmosphere inside the restaurant. And they plan to return for Christmas.

"I think it's important my students have a chance to do something like this," Kiser said. "It shows them they have an outlet for their talents outside the classroom."

Students Denise Shepherd, Mark Mitchell and Kelly Fish nod in agreement. Joe Hutchinson was another to pick-up a paint brush and let the creative juices flow.

Their two mornings of work have not gone unappreciated, according to McDonald's hostess Sandy Curtis.

"The customers just love it," she says. "In fact, so many people wanted to know who's responsible, we put up a special sign."

Ron Wagner:

*From music to sports
to hitting the books, this CHS student finds time for it all.*

There seems to be precious little beyond the talents and abilities of 17-year-old Ron Wagner.

Academically, the Clarkston High School senior holds a perfect 4.0 grade point average. He was recently confirmed as a semifinalist in the National Merit Scholarship competition, and has aspirations of beginning his pre-med studies at Harvard next fall.

Athletically, he's participated in everything from little league football, baseball, swimming, tennis, sailing, wrestling and track. He played briefly with the CHS varsity football team as a junior last year, was a regular with the CHS boys' tennis squad and is considering going out for the school ski team this winter.

And artistically, Ron Wagner is a member of the CHS marching band, CHS wind ensemble, CHS jazz band, the Pontiac-Oakland Symphony and the Livonia Youth Symphony.

He also teaches music, went to Interlochen music camp this past summer, has played for the Ann Arbor-based Michigan Youth Band and was nominated last spring for the Honors Orchestra at the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association Solo and Ensemble Festival held in Rochester.

Add all that up, and the bottom line is a young man with very little in the way of free time.

"I have this nasty habit of getting too involved sometimes," Ron grins, reflecting on his busy schedule.

Just his musical activities alone can occupy in excess of 18 hours a week, he says, doing some quick figuring in his head.

"Music—I love it. I get a big kick out of playing. I guess one of the reasons would be the same—as a lot of guys give for playing football—you're part of a team, and you work together as a team," says Ron.

He recalls playing with four fellow Clarkston High School students at the Clarkston Historical Society's Crafts and Cider Festival last month, breaks into a grin and exclaims, "That was great!

"We were just having a great time, not really caring if anybody was listening. We'd make mistakes, mess up, make up things as we went along—we just had a blast."

Hand Ron Wagner just about any wind instrument, and he'll be able to play it and play it well. But he concentrates his talents on the saxophone and the French horn, the instruments he plays professionally and in the Clarkston High School jazz band, wind ensemble and marching band.

And to add to his activities at school, he's also a member of the CHS Madrigal Choir and is looking forward to playing a lead part in Clarkston High's production of "Once Upon A Mattress" this November.

Yet with all that on the agenda, Ron has never felt pressured to maintain his academic standing.

"I'm lucky—school has never really been that hard for me," he says. "I can sit down and write a paper in one sitting, and it'll be good—the teachers will like it."

Incredibly—considering his involvement in a myriad of activities—Ron is a bit of a newcomer to the Clarkston area. He, his parents Ron Sr. and Betty, 15-year-old brother Greg and 13-year-old sister Kristen moved to Independence Township from Livonia in June 1980.

"I wouldn't be doing all the things I do without my parents," Ron says. "They've always encouraged me in everything I've wanted to do—there's no way I could handle it without them."

"I guess I just like to stay busy. If I've got an empty time spot—say at 5 o'clock on Wednesday—I'll still usually end up doing something."

—Al Zawacky

A cluttered desk in his bedroom is where Ron does his studying. "I'm lucky—school has never been that hard for me," he says. "I can sit down and write a paper in one sitting, and it'll be good."

Gone are the days of the Justice of the Peace

The worn out klunker vibrates up the moonlight-silhouetted driveway and two young people exit via a creaking door.

Arms entwined around one another, they slowly make their way up the steps and shyly ring the bell. The clock in the village square reads 3 a.m.

A Justice of the Peace rolls out of bed upstairs and bumbles his way to the hallway door, flicking on the light switch, welcoming the pair and calling his wife, maid and butler into the parlour where they'll act as witnesses.

This American scenario of a Justice of the Peace's home is gone forever—at least in the northern states.

According to Oakland County District Court Judge Gerald E. McNally, Justices of the Peace were eliminated at least 12 years ago, outlawed by the 1963 Constitution.

"The constitution effectively eliminated the J.P.'s by ordering the court system revision take place by 1969," McNally said. "You see, we used to have just the J.P.'s and the circuit court and then the supreme court—now we have the district court which has replaced the J.P.'s, the circuit court, the court of appeals and the supreme court."

McNally says the old system of J.P.'s was a "terribly political, shabby type of an arrangement."

"It was a third-rate, shabby, sloppy system. I'd call it creeky," he added.

According to McNally, the J.P. system was comprised of men who worked as butchers, bakers and barbers, everyday Americana, who'd hold court in the back of shops in between slicing a rump roast. No records were ever kept of fines, he added.

"If a J.P. was in tight with the state police, he'd get all their violators. He got $4.50 for each ticket. If (the police) liked the way he did business, they'd be in," McNally said.

The old scenario of young people ambling up to the judge's house is no more, for now couples wed by the black-robed justices do so in district court.

Laws were made to be broken, says the adage, perhaps it's true.

Moments to remember

A hug from her dad, Glenn Funck, awaited Clarkston's Junior Miss when she joined well-wishers after the presentation. Sonya is to travel to Marshall in January to compete in the Michigan Junior Miss Program.

This is the stuff memories are made on.

The 18 Clarkston's 1982 Junior Miss contestants culminated their hours of practice—or, perhaps as last year's Junior Miss Julie Greetham put it, a lifetime of practice—by presenting a program stockful of entertainment on Oct. 24 and 25.

On the final night, the five judges tallied the scores and named Sonya Funck Clarkston's 1982 Junior Miss, three runners-up and two talent award-winners. There were other awards, as well. A complete list follows:

Clarkston's 1982 Junior Miss:

Sonya Funck

First Runner-Up:

Second Runner-Up:

Each contestant was also awarded a plaque signifying her participation in the Junior Miss Program. Candidates not listed above are:

Walked through the crowd, paused to hug her mother. Now Sonya Funck makes her first speech as the new Clarkston's Junior Miss. She is warmly received by the audience and those standing backstage.

Behind the closed door is the dressing room and around the corner the audience awaits. But Lisa Laurie finds an empty spot in the hallway to quickly go over the lines of her poem again. Lisa's talent presentation included a film of her on horseback, pictures she drew of horses and the reading of the poem, "A Horse's Prayer." The presentation won her one of the two talent awards.

"Jake the Pumpkin" ghoulishly glows for Chip Sloane when he makes the correct matches.

Erin McMullen (left) and Shane Ward find the floor a perfect place to play "Monster Mash," a Halloween vowel game which strengthens reading skills.

Learning with Halloween help

From the whirl of activity and chatter generated by a roomful of Andersonville Elementary first and second graders comes reading and language skills and tasty art projects.

There are several projects going on at the same time. The children work on haunted houses made of empty milk cartons, graham crackers and chocolate frosting; listen to Halloween stories through headphones; make Halloween birthday cards; play language and reading games; and solve problems at the Science Center.

The calm and smiling ringleader is teacher Pat Andrus and, for this special day, she has a student teacher, Susan Ano, and two volunteer mothers to keep the activities going.

The Halloween theme prevails for this month, but the activity centers are used every day.

A CONSUMER SHOPPING TIP

Confused by names given different cuts of meat? Help's on the way. The National Live Stock and Meat Board has recommended new labels to identify the kind of meat, where on the animal it comes from, and the name of the retail cut which you buy. 80 percent of the nation's supermarkets should be using these new identity standards soon. In the meanwhile, you'll just have to continue asking your butcher.
