Last one there's a rotten egg!

Despite the beginning of cold winds Saturday that ultimately led to a six-inch pileup of snow Monday evening, a large crowd of local kids turned out for the annual Clarkston Area Jaycees' Easter-Egg Hunt at Clintonwood Park in Independence Township. Above, the scam-

Schools officially lay off 33 teachers

By Kathy Greenfield

Citing declining enrollment, planned program cuts and reductions in state aid funding, the Clarkston schools board of education unanimously approved layoff notices for 33 teachers at Monday night's meeting.

The action was the second step in the district's effort to trim over $500,000 in expenses for the coming 1982-83 school year and maintain a budget of $13.8 million.

At previous meetings, the board closed South Sashabaw Elementary School, effective when the present school year ends, and agreed to demote four administrators to teaching positions.

The 33 teacher layoffs would save the district some $413,000, said Superintendent Milford Mason, adding that in May the layoffs of 11 non-instructional personnel are expected.

Because the present district enrollment of about 6,250 pupils is expected to drop by 250 pupils in 1982-83, the effect of teacher layoffs on class sizes is to be minimal, Mason said.

On the elementary school level for first through sixth grades, the average this year is 27.09 pupils per teacher and the figure is to go up to 27.7 next year. On the secondary level, the average teacher/pupil ratio this year is 24.7 to 1, and that is to increase to about 26.5 to 1. Kindergarten classes are to stay about the same, with about 22 pupils per teacher.

Targeted for layoffs are 16 elementary teachers, five special education teachers and 12 secondary teachers.

The elementary teachers include Susan Adamson, Jean Bierlein, Ann Craven, Mary Dedrick, Mary DeHart, Julie Dickerson, Nancy Dion, Joanne Genaw, Marion Herrell, Natalie Hewko, Debra Latozas, Deborah Licata, Leonard Loveless, Russell Samuel, Julie Samuelson and Bonnie Valuet.

Special education teachers to receive pink slips are John Getzan, Wendell Jennings, Janice Kirchgessner, Mary Ann Oshier and Ervin Thomas Smith.

On the secondary level, layoff notices were approved for Sandra Grider, Kathryn Germuska, Michael Kaul, Pamela Kneeland, Barbara Markwood, Darrell Marsh, Patricia McMillen, Jeffrey Smith, David Stobbe, Michael Taylor, Carla Teare and Lynn Thompson.

Also in the offing are plans to trim academic programs.

District payless payday looms

Layoffs and program cuts aren't the only problems facing Clarkston school district employees—now there's a payless payday looming in June.

"Tax collections are down both in Independence and Springfield," Superintendent Milford Mason told the school board Monday night, putting the figure at about 16 percent.

"On June 18, we may be about $1.2 million short of making our payroll," he said.

Deadline nears

As the April 12 deadline approaches for filing for the Clarkston Community Schools Board of Education seat, three candidates have taken out petitions, said Stanley Darling, business manager.

The one seat up for election is now held by Mary Jane Chaustowich, elected to the four-year term of office in 1978.

Residents wishing to file petitions for the June 12 election may pick up the forms at the Clarkston Community Schools Administration Office, 6389 Clarkston-Orion, Independence Township, between 7:30 a.m. and 4 p.m. weekdays.

The signatures of 20 registered voters are required, Darling said.

areas," Mason said, explaining that program cuts shall be discussed at May and June school board meetings.

The final decision on which administrators shall lose their jobs is expected to be made at a special meeting Thursday, March 29, beginning at 7:30 p.m. at the administration offices, 6389 Clarkston-Orion, Independence Township.

Easter Chicken awaits visitors

Gather all the kids 'round Saturday, April 10, and head out to Sashabaw United Presbyterian Church for the Third Annual Easter Egg Hunt and a visit from the Easter Chicken.

The mad dash begins at 11 a.m. as children up to age 12 join the hunt for free prizes, eggs and candy.

The church is located at 5300 Maybee, Independence Township.

Smith contemplates tax for garbage collection

By Marilyn Trumper

Struggling to end the mounting problem of public dumping on private property, Independence Township Supervisor James B. Smith is weighing the feasibility of an ad valorem trash pick-up tax.

"I think that would be the way to go," Smith said, pointing out the plan would require voter approval.

"The task force on solid waste has been asked to look into that, and make a recommendation, but they haven't dared to yet because of the confusion involved in the county's solid waste collection site and the wait to determine if there'll be designated (refuse) carriers," Smith said.

"We need some kind of control on the amount of dumping in this township, even among our own residents. It's not all outside people. There are many who no longer pay for carriers and just take their garbage out and dump it in fields or behind commercial stores."

Currently three independent companies contract to work Independence Township, making commercial and residential pick-ups on different days.

Smith points to Commerce Township and the way Supervisor Robert Long tackled a similar public dumping problem by encouraging subdivision special assessment districts.

As a result dumping has been curbed, Long said. "There's no question but that it's worked. Before that, (residents drove) 15 to 20 miles and maybe rented a trailer to dump a refrigerator, couch or whatever.

"Now, they put it out by the curb and it's picked up."

Long sees other benefits. "Now everybody puts their garbage out on the same day, and it's picked up. There are no longer three and four contractors coming to different homes on different days in the subdivision, with garbage at the street all week long."

The subdivisions found they save approximately one-third of the cost of pick-up, Long said, not including the township's 5-percent fee for levying the annual assessment.

Traditionally, homeowners pay approximately $84 a year for independent pick-up. Bills for residents in specially assessed subdivisions total approximately $54 annually, Long said.

Correction

A portion of the annual meeting story that appeared in the March 31 edition of The Clarkston News could have been construed to mean Independence Township budgets $1 million to pay its 40 full-time employees.

In fact, the $1 million pays the wages of those 40, plus a 30-member volunteer firefighter force, seasonal summer parks and recreation help and election employees' daily allowances. The budgeted amount also includes a contingency fund for temporary help hired during the tax season.

Department heads may get $1,200 yearly raises

By Marilyn Trumper

Although voters denied members of the Independence Township Board a pay increase at the annual meeting March 27, it appears department heads are targeted for a 5-percent raise, bringing all seven men to a parity salary level of $27,000.

Trustee Dale Stuart made the proposal at the March 30 meeting, and included the same raise for all non-union, full-time employees. The matter was tabled for individual discussion with department heads and for board consideration.

"(The proposed raises are not) meant to be an increase that shows what these people are worth," Stuart said, stressing the move as more a good faith effort. "It is something that will give them recognition and I'm sure they're worth a great deal more."

Treasurer Frederick Ritter said department heads have traditionally been given the opportunity to "speak for themselves."

"I know I had a raise in mind for my deputy treasurer, not 5 percent but something along those lines, and I'd like to think about this too. I didn't know it was going to be brought up tonight, and I'm not prepared to talk about it," he said.

Currently Fire Chief Frank Ronk receives a $500 premium above salary for the risk, danger and hazards nonexistent in other township jobs.

Supervisor James B. Smith indicated if Ronk would reaccept his recently resigned Civil Defense Director post, board members might be encouraged to continue the $500 premium.

Ronk recently resigned the post, saying he could not devote the time and work it needed.

After the meeting, Ronk said he would not reaccept the position just to keep the $500 premium.

"I quit because I didn't have the time to devote to the job, and the $500 isn't going to change that," he said.

Later in the evening, board members shifted line items to reflect the proposed $1,200-a-year raises in the township's 1982-83 fiscal budget.

Currently department heads are paid $25,800 a year.

Entertainment!

Children enrolled in North Sashabaw Elementary School provided entertainment for parents who attended the school's PTO meeting last week. There were pianists, dancers, singers and even a gong show as the lively group showed their talents in "Sashabaw Stairway to the Stars." Pictured above is a group dressed in rainbow shirts and knickers to match their song—clockwise from left are fifth-graders April Beck, Rachel Carson, Kelly Stickney, Tammy Stevens and Julie Newton. At right is fifth-grader Christi Johnson who did a ballet routine to "The Dance of the Sugar Plum Fairies." Below, is upside-down Linda Vardon, also a fifth-grader, whose gymnastics routine included cartwheels.

Springfield seeks ways to beef-up police

By Marilyn Trumper

Springfield Township Supervisor Collin Walls has joined the chorus for some kind of additional police service and he's made an official plea to the Oakland County Sheriff's Department (OCS).

"Perhaps a neighborhood watch program or something along those lines. If we can work together as citizens, to me that's much more important than hiring additional police. We can never hire all that we need anyway," Walls said.

"It may be nothing more complex than teaching people what to look for and what to do if they see something suspicious."

The issue surfaced at the township's annual meeting as Oakland County Sheriff Johannes F. Spreen talked to residents about police protection.

"I've talked with (the sheriff) about the plan, and brought up what's going on. I know Independence is trying for some kind of a neighborhood watch program.

"The sheriff talked about his scooter patrol and, frankly, I laughed. Springfield is just not set up for that kind of patrol. A scooter's too slow. A motorcycle is probably a better thought," Walls said.

He pointed to Springfield's rural dirt roads unlike the more prevalent paved subdivisions with clusters of homes in Independence.

In a second arena, Independence Supervisor James B. Smith continues to push for county implementation of volunteer deputies and stepped up patrol from the county's Public Safety Division which has jurisdiction over county parks and county property. He's also pursuing a township-wide volunteer crime prevention force.

A few weeks ago, a representative from the OCS indicated Spreen would be ready to kick-off the neighborhood watch "Eyes and Ears" program by May 1.

Cop contract OK'd

With the final formality aside, Independence Township's continued police coverage remains in gear.

At a special March 30 meeting, board members unanimously approved the Oakland County Sheriff's Department (OCS) two-year contract which buys six deputies, seven-day-a-week patrol and a back-up circle car to step in for emergency aid at a cost of $42,854 for each deputy in '82 and $48,708 in '83. Fees include supervisory and equipment costs.

The new contract began April 1, at the start of the fiscal year.

Travel, workshop expenses fall under scrutiny

By Marilyn Trumper

There may be changes in the wind for Independence Township budgeting.

Trustee Dale Stuart wants to tighten procedure on repaying employes for expenses. Not stopping there, Stuart wants to cap at 40 the number of hours employes can attend seminars, workshops and conferences without board approval. And he seeks to have all outstate conferences approved by the board and prefers the township purchase cars over the current partial leasing policy.

High budget totals, misuse or misappropriation did not spur the proposal, Stuart said.

"I just think we should have ways to have better control over the cost of expenses. I think we need regulation and a clear-cut picture of what will be allowed so that we don't have an open-ended policy like what we have now."

Stuart tested his theory in the waters of the March 29 board meeting.

"I don't know that we want to do that, cap the number of hours that can be used attending conferences," said Supervisor James B. Smith, citing the time he and the clerk devote to numerous conferences and workshops key to their administrative positions.

Treasurer Frederick Ritter preferred to leave the number of hours devoted to conferences to the discretion of department heads.

After discussion, board members agreed to solicit a recommendation from the Task Force on Personnel Policy and Procedures, and voted 6-1 that all outstate conferences require prior board approval. Ritter dissented. Smith, Clerk Christopher Rose and trustees Stuart, Daniel Travis and Larence Kozma voted "yes." Trustee William Vandermark was absent.

Stuart continued with the proposed belt-tightening, and sought to cap mileage reimbursement at 20 cents a mile, an overnight room at $35, breakfast at $3, lunch at $5 and dinner at $8.

In addition, Stuart proposed the township not pay for air fare within the state, for no hotel rooms within a 50-mile radius of the township and that all textbooks be paid for by employes.

Travis said it was "...very difficult to get away from a dinner table for $8" and cited some of the totals he pays in business travels.

Finally, Stuart proposed the township review purchasing all vehicles instead of leasing.

"In my opinion it's a way to be more cost-effective with township funds.

"After a couple of years of leasing, you could have the car paid for and still have the car," Stuart said, elaborating after the meeting. "I think we ought to buy the cars and get the interest benefit for the township."

Currently Independence leases two of its 30-vehicle fleet, which includes fire vehicles.

Board members agreed the proposals deserve consideration and moved to table the issues to a future meeting, after discussions with department heads.

SYNOPSIS

OF THE SPECIAL MEETING OF THE INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP BOARD MARCH 29, 1982

The meeting was called to order at 9:15 p.m. Roll: Kozma, Rose, Smith, Travis; present. Ritter, Stuart, Vandermark; absent.

There was a brief discussion on the progress on the Fire Union negotiations.

The meeting adjourned at 9:28 p.m.

All votes were unanimous unless otherwise indicated.

Special meetings of the Township Board are called as needed with notice posted on the doors of the township hall at least 18 hours before the meeting.

Target: $36,000 in revenue sharing

The Springfield Township Board will determine the final destination of an expected $36,000 in Federal Revenue Sharing Funds at its regular monthly meeting April 14.

The board's decision follows two public hearings seeking citizen input on the matter, the second of which was held at Springfield's annual meeting March 27.

Springfield Supervisor Collin Walls explained at the meeting that the township had already received $18,000 in revenue sharing funds and expected another $18,000 from the federal government by March 1983, a total of $36,000.

"Revenue sharing funds are available for basically any general fund item," Walls said.

"In the past, revenue sharing funds have been used for road chloride and parks and recreation. It would be my preference to continue that."

Springfield resident Valdon Garrison of Davisburg Road suggested at the annual meeting that some of the money might be used for road graveling. None of the other citizens present commented.

At the earlier public hearing held during the board's March meeting, no suggestions or comments from the audience were made.

The township board's April 14 meeting is to begin at 8 p.m. at township hall, 650 Broadway in downtown Davisburg.

CHS could lose good teacher

Having just recently heard about the dismissal of Gary Nustad from his Clarkston High School coaching position, I was prompted to write this letter.

I have never had Gary Nustad as a coach, so I feel that I am not qualified to comment on this aspect of the issue. However, one year ago, I did have the privilege of having him as an economics teacher.

In my opinion, Gary Nustad is one of the best teachers Clarkston High School has. He goes far beyond just teaching his students, he literally prepares them for college.

His classroom procedures give students a good taste of what college classes are really like. He expects his students to come into the classroom every day, fully prepared and ready to think. Not a minute is ever wasted during the hour.

Most students who have him criticize him as being too strict—I, too, thought the same thing.

However, now that I am in college, I look back and see how wrong I was. My friends here at the university who also had him as a teacher (Rick Selvala, Joe Duris and Craig Wood) wholeheartedly agree.

Though I may be wrong, I would have to guess that Gary Nustad will end up leaving his teaching position at the school in order to pursue another coaching job.

If this is true, Clarkston High School will be losing more than just a coach.

Computer error

by Kathy Greenfield

Most of the time when I receive letters from computers, I read at least a portion of them.

As I scan the pages looking for my name, I usually find something amusing on the printed pages. Sometimes I even read them aloud.

"And you, Mrs. Greenfield, have the opportunity to win a trip to Paradise just like your neighbors P. Winner of Podunk and I. M. Lucky of New Town." The list always includes people I have never heard of and places a bit remote from where I live.

But my favorite computer letter arrived a short time ago at The Clarkston News. It was addressed to Mrs. News. That has to be a short version of Clarkston News, but I'm still trying to figure out who or what determined Clarkston was a feminine name, let alone one that belonged to someone married.

As the mail was sorted, it was determined I was to be recipient of the contest entry-magazine subscription promotion.

Here is my favorite excerpt:

"Actually, Mrs. News, you may be the top winner right now. Imagine receiving a telegram from us saying... 'Congratulations Mrs. News. You've won...'"

I was tempted to respond. I could imagine receiving the good news telegram. But then I could imagine trying to claim the prize.

"Mrs. News isn't my real name, but..."

CJHS Silent Auction enthusiasm contagious

On behalf of the Theatre Arts and Chorus Departments of Clarkston Junior High School we would like to acknowledge the parents, students and other community members who overwhelmed us with support during the Silent Auction held March 26.

Although it has not been a necessary function of the community to aid the schools in such a direct manner, the only possible means of continued educational growth is through support similar to that found here in Clarkston.

We, therefore, are proud to be working with you, and through your contagious enthusiasm are encouraged to give your sons and daughters that "little bit extra" which we have always felt they deserved.

Thank you.

Joint effort worked

On March 23rd, the first Health-O-Rama was held in Clarkston. It was a great success and credit for the success goes to:

- The Clarkston Community Women's Club who sponsored the event and whose members volunteered their time to make the day go smoothly.
 - The students from NWOVEC and their teacher Mary Schwabe who performed so well the actual tests.
 - Alex Stewart who allowed us to use his church for the occasion and who helped throughout the day.
- Thanks to all of you for contributing your time and efforts to make the first Health-O-Rama a great day and a real plus for the community.

Jim's jottings

No calls please

by Jim Sherman

When one of our out-of-the-nest kids want to talk to me, they know not to call between 7 and 7:30 when the Frog shrieks "The Muppet Show" on Ch. 2.

Muppet watching goes back a long time to their special appearances, then special shows when they seemed to come on a meeting night.

"Meeting" time for me refers to township, village, school bodies and golf nights. The way I play golf it's like suffering through a meeting.

Anyway, I would get to see just enough Muppets to be intrigued by one of them exploding, blowing a horn that was his nose, the chickens or the mice.

Now the Muppets are on 5 nights a week, right after Dan Rather (another habit) says good-night, which follows Sonny Eliot making weather reports the way all tv presentations are supposed to be—entertaining, not informative, just entertainment.

I needn't concern myself about getting a kid call during the radio habit mentioned above. Sunday morning at 7:30 John Lair says, "Welcome to the Renfro Valley Gathering". By then my kids have had about three hours sleep. Hazel's have had eight.

We came through Renfro Valley in February after dark. It was not only closed by the hour, but also by the date. It just opened a couple weeks ago, the programs were taped all winter.

We only went through Renfro because driver Jerry Olrich wanted to prove you could see it from I-75. He didn't prove it because I didn't look.

Lair founded Renfro Valley (its a commercial venture) and directs the shows. He has narrated the show since it went on radio in 1941. He tried to retire a few years ago and listeners dwindled so much Lair had to return to save it.

John Lair's Renfro Gathering is as close as I get to protestant hymns and Sunday church going... unless you count the Jewish broadcast on WJR at 6:45 Sunday a.m.

But, don't count that. It's more interview than message.

The Betts: Grinding a path through music world

It's a jungle out there.

A thousand and one bands, each with talented musicians trying to carve a niche for themselves in the fast-paced, make-it-or-break-it music industry.

There in the midst of the fray are five Clarkston High School graduates—Rick Molter, Kim Harrington, Eric Harrington, Mark Harrington and Pat Harrington.

The Betts.

Devotees and performers of the music of the rock 'n' roll '60s, along with their own original songs.

Five guys grinding out the tunes in smoke-filled bars, working and living day by day.

"The old cliché about the starving artist is not a fiction," says Mark with a grin.

"Being good just isn't enough anymore.

There are so many bands around, you almost have to be more of a businessman than a musician.

"The economy is showing on everything. The record industry, the bar industry—a lot of bars have been closing.

"Back in the 1960s, there were so many good songs around because the money was there—if a band had just one good song, somebody would back you. But now the recording companies are a lot tighter with their money."

That isn't dismaying The Betts, however. They're investing their own money in a single which they hope to have on sale at local Harmony House record and tape stores this spring. Hearings with radio stations are also planned in order to get their music on the airwaves.

It's a long way from just putting out a single to success on the charts, but the five musicians are hopeful.

"I'm not worried about being a superstar," Eric observes, "but I definitely want to be able to live comfortably. The main thing, though, is that I love what I'm doing—that in itself is the reward."

In the meantime, it's back to the daily sweat sessions that putting on top-notch performances demand.

"The general public doesn't know half of what goes into a show," says Kim.

"The four hours we spend on stage," Mark adds, "are the easiest hours we work. It's the preparation between time that people don't appreciate."

by Jim Fitzgerald-

My wife, who is also my lookout, was confused by published reports that dollar bills aren't welcome on Detroit city buses. That's because she never rides the buses, she just looks out for them.

She is a good lookout. In fact, if Detroit had more lookouts like my wife, Mayor Young's name would be lettered on the top of every city bus.

As it is, the mayor's name is on the side of every bus, near the front door. Printed along with his name is the information that he is "Moving Detroit Forward." Whenever a busdriver is forced by untoward circumstances to use the reverse gear, he or she is required by terms of his employment to tell passengers in a loud voice that he, not the mayor, is moving Detroit backward.

My wife looks out for buses through the window of our 26th-floor apartment. From that high up, she can see a bus approaching from several miles away. Down on the ground, at the bus stop across the street from our home, my vision is blocked by trucks and huge piles of dirt removed from below the street by the excavation company in charge of constructing city potholes. I can't see whether a bus is coming until it's close enough to read the mayor's name.

SO MY WIFE sends me signals from above, using a newspaper for a flag. If she shakes the newspaper toward her right (my left), it means she can see a bus. If she shakes the newspaper toward her left (my right), it means there is no bus in sight. If she shakes a sprinkling can instead of a newspaper (my tough luck), it means she is watering the plants in the window and has completely forgotten that I'm standing 26 floors below, waiting patiently for bus information while wondering why I didn't listen to my mother and marry a railroad semaphore.

The reason I need signals from on high is that I'm psychologically unable to wait more than 10 minutes for a bus. If my wife signals a bus is coming, I know it will pick me up within 10 minutes. If she can't see a bus coming, I know it could be hours before one appears, so I walk to work, which takes only 15 minutes. If my wife waters the plants, I am in limbo, not knowing what lies beyond the pothole piles.

Obviously, it's not easy to beat the parking-lot gougers in a city where the bus schedules are made up en route. Bus officials demand a lot of co-operation from passengers. Not only are we expected to be ready to travel whenever the bus is ready, but we also must have the right change ever-ready so the driver can treat us like cargo instead of customers.

THAT'S WHAT CONFUSED my wife. Many times she'd heard me complain that I didn't dare leave home without a pocketful of silver because bus fare is 75 cents and drivers absolutely refuse to change a dollar. Under those circumstances, she wondered, why did the city recently bother to start a "Don't Pass the Buck" campaign, asking passengers not to pay fares with dollar bills because they must be unfolded and counted slowly by hand while silver can be counted swiftly by machines?

Do some 75-cent passengers stuff dollar bills into the fare box, wasting 25 cents for the sake of expediency, the same way some pay telephone customers insert a quarter for a 20-cent call? Not very often, according to Conrad Mallett, Detroit's bus boss. The typical bus passenger doesn't have a quarter to throw away, he told me. But many passengers board buses in pairs, just like on the ark, and drop a dollar bill and two quarters into the box.

Also, some passengers fool a busy driver by dropping half a dollar bill, well folded, into the box, and then use the other half for the return trip. This thievery occurs often enough to make it impractical for Mallett to try to glue the same dollars back together again, and the federal government pays only 70 cents for mismatched dollars.

So that's why the city is discouraging, but not forbidding, dollar bills in fare boxes. When I explained all this to my bus lookout, she said she still didn't understand why Mayor Young won't put his name on bus tops just for her.

Independence board adopts 1982-83 budget

It took some line shifting and some sacrifices among department heads to whittle down individual items, but when it was all over the Independence Township board unanimously adopted the 1982-83 general fund budget at the March 30 meeting.

This year's general fund totals $1.2 million and reflects an anticipated cut of $165,000 in state shared revenue.

Of the township's remaining $2.8 million in budgets, fire remained unscathed at $744,000, police equals $244,200, safety path totals $130,000 and property purchase for 80 acres adjacent to Clintonwood Park totals $74,000.

The sewer budget totals $417,800 and water totals $100,969. The budget for the department of public works equals $42,000.

Tree seedlings on hand at county

Tree seedlings for spring planting are available from the Oakland County Soil and Water Conservation District at nominal fees.

Evergreens include eight species and are sold in minimum orders of 50 for $7 to $9. The trees measure from 4- to 12-inches high.

There are also eight leaf-shedding varieties. Minimum order is 25 for 10- to 12-inch Black Walnut trees ($6 for 25), 5- to 10-inch Autumn Olive shrubs ($4), 5- to 10-inch White Birch ($4.50), and 2- to 3-foot Hybrid Poplars ($15). Minimum order for 3- to 6-foot English Walnut trees is two for $18.

The only requirement purchasers must fulfill is that the trees will not be resold.

Order blanks may be obtained from the conservation district office by calling 666-2232.

Distribution of the seedlings is planned April 17.

All departmental budgets in the general fund were adjusted upward $1,200 to reflect a proposed 5-percent raise for department heads.

Eliminated were $3,000 for community promotion already budgeted under federal revenue sharing, $1,500 under miscellaneous and $1,000 from the supervisor's budget for part-time help hired to type task force reports. Between the clerk and treasurer, board members cut $2,500 for miscellaneous and contingencies, used to pay the difference when cost exceeds the budgeted amount.

Then end result was a cut of approximately $2,400 from the general fund budget as a whole.

Trim proposes sales tax hike

By Kathy Greenfield

A shift in taxes from property to a 1-cent increase in sales tax is the goal of a proposal spearheaded by State Reps. Claude Trim (D-Springfield Township) and Roy Smith (R-Ypsilanti).

The proposal is now in petition form and enough signatures are sought to get the question on the November ballot, Trim said.

"One of the loud and clear messages people have sent me is they cannot afford any more property taxes," Trim said. "If I had my druthers, I would rather not go with the sales tax, but looking at the situation in our school districts, we've got to come up with a system."

"At this present time, it's the only way I feel we'll get property tax relief and ensure quality education."

The petitions are being circulated statewide through the Michigan Townships Association Ballot Question Committee, and on Monday there were 30,000 petitions ready to go, Trim said.

Trim supports the proposal for three reasons:

• "Number one, it puts K-12 education a priority in the constitution over and above other funding on behalf of the state. This is necessary because over the years school funding has been dropping."

• "Number two, many people have said if we take operating taxes off we'll lose local control (of education). No place in the constitution does it state local control. We do state twice in the amendment to put local control in."

• "Number three, it will remove school operating taxes for those 62 years of age and older for those people with homesteads and residential property if they live there more than six months out of the year. Then for all others, it will reduce it down to 75 percent on the homestead and residential property for those who live there more than six months out of the year."

If voters approve the change, it would cost the state about $1.56 billion. The 1-cent sales tax increase would bring in about $600 million. Because the reduction in property taxes would come off tax bills, the circuit breaker method now in force would be eliminated for most people and the result would be an additional $440 million in taxes paid to the state. There would still be $520 million less in taxes collected by the state, Trim said, but he has a solution.

"I'm still on record that I feel we can cut other programs (in the state)," he said.

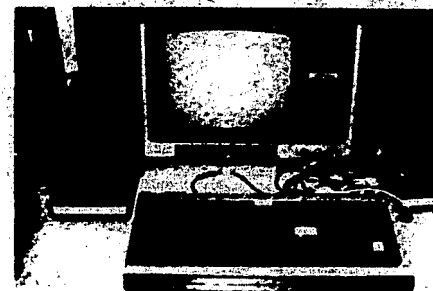

Petitions will be available in local businesses, Trim said, or those interested may obtain petitions by calling him at 625-5516.

Springfield writer's book hits shops

After two years of wrestling with publishers, jacket designers and deadlines, author Richard Downer's seeing his novel "Dancer's Dream" on area bookstore shelves.

"I'm happy, very, very happy," the Springfield Township resident said last week as he hustled around town offering signed copies of his hardcover book for review.

The inside sleeve offers a brief insight into what's been called a "...novel rife with incredible hair-raising incidents."

The book explores star character Richard Dancer's relationship with three young girls who suffer abuse from their father. In an effort to save the sisters, Dancer plots an involved kidnapping, establishes a communal retreat for all, and spends time dodging the law, social workers and fighting courthouse battles.

"...All characters in this story have pluck and verve. But most of all they have a great love for one another which keeps them together against all obstacles" reads the inside jacket.

"...The book is moving testimony to the power of love which can cross all known boundaries."

"Dancer's Dream," a Carlton Press publication, sells for $9.95 and is available at Village Bookstore, 26 Main, Clarkston, and Thrifty Drug Store, 4895 Dixie Highway, Waterford Township.

Bravo! Dyzhe Dobre! Harno! Choodovo! The words brought grins and outright smiles of pleasure to the fifth-graders as they received praise—in Ukrainian—for their work. The Andersonville Elementary pupils of Natalie Hewko explored "Who Are the Ukrainians?" last week with special guests from the Conception School in Hamtramck—teacher Zenig Brezcan, sixth-grader Greg Woloszczuk and

Wendy Drake (seated) works on a blue cornflower for her vase as visiting Ukrainian pupil Greg Woloszczuk looks on. The fifth-graders also learned how to write their names in Ukrainian, saw an egg-decorating demonstration, heard a story, and performed a Ukrainian dance and song as they learned about the culture of the country.

Cultural swap —Choodovo!

Spring photos can bring cash

The fall and winter photo competitions sponsored by the Oakland County Parks and Recreation Commission were such a success, there's a new contest heralding springtime.

Amateur photographers can win cash prizes for capturing signs of the season on film and submitting prints to the Oakland County Parks Spring Photo Contest.

The pictures must be taken at one of the nine Oakland County parks, and can be of people, an event, scenery or any appropriate subject. Categories include black and white prints, color prints and color slides. There is a special category for children age 14 and under.

The grand prize is $200. Additional prizes of $100, $50 and $25 will be awarded in each category, and winner of the children's category will receive $50.

Each photographer may submit only one entry. The contestant's name, address and phone number must be included on the entry as well as the specific park and the date taken.

Deadline is Tuesday, June 1.

To obtain an entry form, write to Spring Photo Contest, Oakland County Parks and Recreation Commission, 2800 Watkins Lake, Pontiac, MI 48054 or call 858-0906.

Flag held until April 1 in ice out

The flag atop the pole sank into the icy waters of the Mill Pond at 4 p.m. Thursday, April 1, and the Clarkston Village Ice Out contest came to an end.

The event was sponsored by Clarkston Village merchants who put the yellow flag in place March 1 and gave customers the opportunity to guess when it would sink.

Each participating merchant displayed prizes and the winners could choose their prizes from any shop.

Claiming first prize for the closest guess was Anne Beck of Springfield Township. She entered the contest at Country Greens and she'll collect her prize, worth $150, from Lovette Jewelers.

In second place was Linda Powe of Independence Township. She made her guess at Hallman's Apothecary and she'll claim her $100 in merchandise from Coach's Corner.

Third-prize winner was Cam Parsons of Independence Township. He entered the contest at Tierra Arts and Designs, where he's also chosen to collect his prize worth $50.

Handling spring's canine wanderers

Springtime makes the dog's fancy turn to roaming country roads and neighbors' gardens, soiling shrubs, and maybe even barking and chasing joggers, cyclists or cars.

How can an angry encounter with an unruly or roaming dog be turned into a pleasant and productive conversation with its owner?

First rule in keeping peace is to contact your neighbor on your first negative encounter with the dog. Simply state your case in a sane manner.

A responsible owner will not want his dog to be a nuisance. Also the owner may be unaware that his dog is getting bad habits—dumping garbage, chasing, digging, soiling or whatever—and an immediate deterrent will correct the behavior in the dog.

The second point to remember is to offer your help and cooperation in correcting the problem.

"What can we do to help you confine your dog?" In one case, we worked out a cooperative effort on a fence with neighbors since we both have dogs.

Communication is the best medicine to cure a dog problem. It doesn't help to tell the neighborhood and ostracize the party involved. It doesn't even help to brutalize the poor innocent dog who is merely the victim of lack of supervision.

I have found most people sensitive to having their dogs be good citizens and neighbors. I have also been the offender, and my dogs have caused a problem when I didn't even know they were out.

In such a case, I would want to know of any damage or nuisance created and to rectify the situation.

Country living has its advantages, beauties, responsibilities and problems. The best way to avoid problems is to do unto others as you would be done by—if you can't say something nice about someone or his dog, say it to him, not about him.

Most of all, remember the five C's—contact and communicate so as not to create country chaos.

Cub Scout Pack 199 races to finish

Flags and banners transformed the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club into an indoor race track for the annual Pinewood Derby of Club Scout Pack 199 from Pine Knob Elementary.

As the boys placed their homemade miniature race cars on the wooden track for the elimination heats, the event was watched by Steve Novosel, professional drag car driver and two quarter midget drivers, who brought their cars along to show.

And the winners of the March 17 event were: Webelos—first place, David Woodruff; second place, Shane Marietta; and third place, Wally Woolfenden. Bears—first place, Richard Mulhaupt; second place, Derek Hackbardt; third place, James Cohoon. Wolves—first place, Aaron Councilman; second place, Paul West; and third place Mark Galbraith. First-place winners received trophies and gold medals, second-place winners won silver medals and third-place winners were awarded bronze medals.

'72 grads to meet

It's been a decade since the Clarkston High School Class of 1972 donned their robes and marched to "Pomp and Circumstance," so it's time to meet again and catch up on events.

Plans are underway for a reunion at Deer Lake Racquet Club on Sept. 11. There is a May 15 deadline for tickets.

Information has been sent to all '72 grads the reunion committee has been able to track down, but there are still some missing members.

Call Bill Bildstein at 625-8326 or Bill Craig at 623-9638 for more information.

Spring schooling

Plans for two spring mini-sessions are underway at Crosshill Community Preschool of Davisburg.

Sessions are to run April 26 through June 11. The Monday-Wednesday-Friday session, for children who will be 5 by Dec. 1, is to meet from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. Designed for youngsters who are to begin school in September, the program stresses kindergarten readiness. Fee is $50.

The Tuesday-Thursday session from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. is for 3- and 4-year-olds. Fee is $35.

Crosshill, a non-profit community organization licensed by the Michigan Department of Social Services, meets in the Davisburg United Methodist Church, 803 Broadway, Springfield Township.

For registration information, call Mrs. Fournier at 634-5137.

In service

Strong joins U.S. Army

William M. Strong, a Clarkston High School senior, has enlisted in the United States Army Delayed Entry Program and has been guaranteed training as a military policeman. Upon completion of training, Strong's to be assigned to a post in Korea. He departs for Fort McClellan, Ala., this August.

Marine Lance Cpl. Todd Collins has completed the advanced automotive course at Marine Corps Base, Camp Lejeune, N.C.

A 1980 Clarkston High School graduate, Collins joined the Marines in October 1980.

He is the son of Alfred and Joan Collins of Pine Knob Road, Independence Township.

John Bennett, a 1978 Clarkston High School graduate, entered the Marines Feb. 4.

Bennett enlisted for four years and is currently stationed in San Diego.

Susan Allerton Ham has been named to the fall semester dean's list at Indiana State University, Terre Haute, Ind.

She resides on Treece Court in Springfield Township.

Recipe file

By Lorna Bickerstaff

The recipe for Pineapple Muffins is one of my mother's (Mrs. Alfred Bell) and has been in my file for a number of years. The muffins are easy to make, and they're delicious.

I use the unsweetened pineapple, and like the muffins for breakfast.

Pineapple Muffins

Mix and sift:

2 c flour
4 t baking powder
½ t salt
½ c sugar

Add:

1 slightly beaten egg
1 c crushed pineapple with juice

Add:

4 T melted butter

Mix lightly. Turn into buttered muffin pans and bake at 375 degrees for 20 minutes.

Reunion

Attention, Waterford Township High School class of '67.

Your 15-year class reunion is coming up next summer.

Grads who wish to attend should contact Judy Frisch, 3965 Midland, Drayton Plains 48020, phone number 673-5998.

The reunion party is slated for Aug. 21 at the Santia Hall in Keego Harbor.

Graduates of Pontiac Northern High School's Class of 1972 take heed.

The gang's scheduled its 10-year reunion for June 19 at Airway Lanes on M-59 in Waterford Township. For ticket information, phone 335-0407.

Honors

The University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, recently awarded Class Honors to six local students for academic achievement for two terms during the 1981 school year.

Four of the students reside in Independence Township—Andrew Hull of Heath Avenue, Mark Randall of Balmoral Terrace, Jonathon Territo of Allen Road and Michelle Wenzel of Algonquin Road.

Springfield Township residents receiving the honor were Hollie Luter of Ellis Road and Tamara Newton of Hillsboro Road.

They're all William Kreiner

Four generations of William Kreiners gathered recently for a family portrait with the newest member of the family. From left are grandfather William Glenn Kreiner Sr., great-grandfather William Kreiner, two-month-old William Kreiner III and the infant's father William Glenn Kreiner Jr. The littlest Kreiner was born Jan. 25 to William Jr. and Cindy, former Clarkston residents, of Pontiac. He weighed in at 9 pounds, 7 ounces and measured 21¼ inches long. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. William Glenn Kreiner of Union Lake, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Debnjak of Clarkston, and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Purves of Clarkston. Great-grandparents are William Kreiner of Midland, Mr. and Mrs. Swanson of Pontiac, Mrs. Olive Most of Owosso, Anne Debnjak of Bay City and Charles Purves of Holly.

Fife takes over as cager coach

By Kathy Greenfield

On Wednesday Dan Fife was selected Clarkston High School varsity basketball coach, and on Friday he held the first meeting with returning varsity players and junior varsity players.

His concern was the controversy surrounding the dismissal March 19 of former coach Gary Nustad, who held the post six years. Included in discussion was a letter that appeared in The Clarkston News, signed by several basketball players, that said, in part, "We were shocked, hurt and confused by the action..."

Fife looks to the future.

"For the players that signed the letter, I told them I respected their loyalty and I hoped they'd have the same loyalty for me," Fife said. "They're an excellent group of kids from my observations. I think these are the kinds of kids that will adjust. From talking with them, I feel very good about next year."

There were two applicants for the varsity coaching post, Fife and Larry Mahrle, a CHS teacher who coached CHS JV basketball five years before becoming varsity basketball coach at Avondale High School in November 1981.

CHS Principal Dom Mauti and district Athletic Director Paul Tungate who made the choice agreed it was a difficult decision.

"We had two outstanding candidates—both Dan and Larry—and our feeling was, considering everything, Dan was the man to best lead our program in basketball," said Tungate.

"He's coached all ages of kids and all the references we have say he related well with the kids and they become very close to him, and he's very knowledgeable in the game of basketball," he added.

Mauti's feelings about the decision were similar: "After talking with both of them and interviewing them, both of us decided Dan would fill our post the best at this time," he said.

"It would have been rough for anybody coming in and Dan understands that. It's a rough situation because of everything going on right now. He's very excited about getting with the kids and starting a summer program."

Fife, 32, is a former CHS basketball star. In 1967, the year he graduated from CHS, he was named to All State and All American basketball teams. He attended University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, on a basketball scholarship. He played on the U of M basketball team three years, served as captain his senior year, and was also on the baseball team. He graduated from U of M with a bachelor's degree in secondary education.

In 1971, he signed a baseball contract with the Detroit Tigers. In 1973, he was traded to the Minnesota Twins, resigning in 1978 after a shoulder injury. He then returned to U of M as an assistant basketball coach, where he remained three years before returning to Clarkston and taking over duties as general manager of Spring Lake Country Club.

Fife, who is also part owner of the club, recently became golf pro shop manager at Spring Lake after the food service portion of the business was leased to another firm.

Fife met his wife Jan at CHS and they were married after he graduated from U of M. They have three sons, ages 8, 5 and 2.

Since Fife's return to his hometown, he has coached in little league baseball, been in charge of the township recreation department little league basketball program and has coached flag football. He also just wrapped up a successful year as freshman basketball coach at Sashabaw Junior High School with a 15-2 record.

"I probably ran my freshman team, as far as conditioning and work, harder than I ran my JV team in college," Fife said. "I enjoyed my year at Sashabaw—those kids became like my sons. You have a feeling with your players. They're just like your own family."

When Fife talked about his philosophies of coaching, he listed the family-type approach first.

"I treat the players like I treat my own kids and how I'd like my own kids to be treated," he said.

"I guess what I'm trying to do is help them every way I can. I'd like them to know if they have a problem on the floor or off the floor I'm there to help them," he said.

For now, thoughts are on summer conditioning for the basketball season which doesn't officially start until November.

"Basically, I said from this day forward let's look to the future," Fife said, talking about how he wrapped up his first meeting with the CHS Wolves.

Equal footing for baseball

By Al Zawacky

The Clarkston Wolves aren't going to be dominating anyone in the Greater Oakland Activities League varsity baseball race this spring.

But then, the other five teams aren't going to outclass anybody, either.

"Looking down the league, there doesn't seem to be any clear favorite," says Wolves Coach Roy "Pops" Warner, analyzing the competition awaiting in the GOAL.

"Nobody has a dominating pitching staff, nobody has five outstanding hitters coming back."

Warner is hoping for some tight defense, consishonorably mention as a junior last season. "He gets a lot of sting on the ball. It jumps right off his bat," Warner says.

"Weeks, the Schraders, Kline and Hesse are all good contact hitters."

On defense, Warner figures he'll be in pretty good shape. Outfield candidates include Carpentier, Kline, Joel and Rich Schrader, Shawn Mosele, Klaus Ohrnberger and Scott Temple.

In the infield, the Wolves can rely on the gloves of Mike Howe and Bill Turk at second, Dan Gaulin and Hesse at second or short, Carpentier and Mark Piazza at third, and Weeks or Scott Temple at first.

"We look pretty sound," says Warner of the defense. "We've got some people in the outfield with good range and in the infield, Howe has great range and Gaulin and Hesse have excellent gloves."

On the mound, Piazza is currently the Wolves' number one man. "He's got good velocity, good control and he's been working on a breaking ball that's coming around for him," Warner says.

The pitching of Temple, Mosele, Ohrnberger and Hesse also figures prominently in Clarkston's hopes. Howe will see duty in short relief, and Joel Schrader and Turk are also available.

Forming the other half of the Clarkston battery will be backstops Dearborn, Rich Schrader and sophomore Rob Mortimore.

"They all handle the job well," Warner says. "The difference in who is starting will be whoever is hitting the best."

Spring Sports Preview

tent pitching and timely hitting to advance the Wolves to the league's top rung. Last year Clarkston wound up second behind West Bloomfield with a 6-4 league record.

"I don't have any power hitters this year—we're going to have to win on defense and take advantage of every offensive opportunity we get," says Warner. "Hopefully, we'll get base hits in some key situations."

Most likely to deliver those key hits are seniors Pete Carpentier, Adam Kline and Joel Schrader and juniors Bill Weeks, Rich Schrader and Dale Hesse.

Carpentier hit .333 and received All-league

Elite BMX riders honored

The elite of bicycle motocross (BMX) riders were recognized at a special banquet March 24.

The affair featured a banquet meal and a special audio-visual presentation honoring the assembled riders. The American Legion Hall in Independence Township was donated free of charge by the American Legion for the festivities.

The top 50 riders in a district that includes Waterford, Clarkston, Davisburg and parts of Lake Orion and Oxford were recognized by the American Bicycle Association. Trophies and number plates were awarded to the top 10 riders, while the remaining 40 received medals and number plates.

Honored as the district's number one rider was 7-year-old Brian Colgrove of Springfield Township.

Other local riders recognized were 16-year-old Craig Marchbank of Springfield Township, the district's number two rider; 14-year-old Jay Richardson of Springfield, the district's number 10 rider; and 16-year-old D. J. Balhorn, also of Springfield, honored as the district's 32nd top rider.

Also recognized was Independence Township's Brian Barlow. The 18-year-old Barlow, a 1981 Clarkston High School graduate, recently started a professional career racing BMX after years of success as an amateur.

Fitness

Physical fitness, needlecrafts and stained glass make up spring classes offered by the newly established Clarkston Community Education Department. All classes have mid-April starting dates. A six-week long Pulled Thread Class is to begin April 20 and meet Tuesdays from 7 to 9 p.m. The Leaded Stained Glass Class is eight-weeks long. It is to begin April 19 and meet Mondays from 7 to 10 p.m. Vital Options Inc. presents "Fitness Celebration" on Tuesdays and Thursdays for seven weeks from 7 to 8 p.m. at Clarkston Junior High School. And Aerobic Slymnastics by Kathy White Inc. is to begin Tuesday, April 27, at Sashabaw Junior High School. Two sessions are planned—one from 7 to 8 p.m. and another from 8 to 9 p.m. To register or for more information, call Kathleen O'Donnell, director of the community education program, at 625-4402. Plans are also underway for a comprehensive fall lineup of activities, and those interested in sharing their talents or those with requests for classes may also call O'Donnell.

Independence hosts soccer clinic

Soccer players and coaches will have a chance to learn from the pros at two soccer clinics coming to Bailey Lake Elementary School.

Members of the Detroit Express soccer team will provide tips and professional instruction to interested players and coaches at the clinics.

The coaches clinic is to be held April 14 from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m., while the player clinic is to take place April 17 from noon to 3 p.m.

Pre-registration is required at the Independence Township Parks and Recreation office, 90 N. Main, Clarkston. The fee is $2 per person.

For more information, contact the parks and recreation department by calling 625-8223.

Waterford Oaks opens motocross May 1

Waterford Oaks County Park's bicycle motocross track is slated to open for another season of racing May 1.

Beginning on that day, races will be held every Saturday. Entry fee in the races is $5 and spectators will be admitted free.

Waterford Oaks is located on Scott Lake Road in Waterford Township.

Take Home Some Bordine's Sunshine

For weeks now, Bordine's Greenhouses have been converting the brilliance and warmth of the sun into thousands of beautiful flowering plants — special plants for your family at Easter time.

Kudos for 13 top athletes

Six members of the Clarkston High School varsity volleyball team and three players on the varsity basketball team have been honored by the Greater Oakland Activities League for their performance this winter.

Named first team All-league in volleyball were Clarkston seniors Lanette Whitehead, Sandy Mason and Michele Ulasich. Three first team All-league players in one season is a new high for CHS.

Senior Kathy Weber was named to the second team All-league, while junior Annette Ulasich and Jamie Howenstein received honorable mention.

In basketball, Clarkston juniors Ray Kubani and Mike McCormick were both named to the eight-member All-league squad. Junior Rick Williams received honorable mention.

Four members of the CHS wrestling squad also earned All-league status back in February by taking first in the GOAL meet—sophomore Greg Ellis and seniors Jeff Miracle, Mike Conway and Bruce Burwitz.

Community Good Friday service

The Independence-Clarkston Community Good Friday Service is to be held Friday, April 9, at 1 p.m. at Calvary Lutheran Church, 6805 Bluegrass, Independence Township.

Sponsored by the Independence Township Pastors' Association, the service is an annual opportunity for area residents to worship together.

The Rev. Alexander Stewart of the Episcopal Church of the Resurrection is to conduct the service, and the young people from Calvary are to dramatize the Passion story, under direction of Yvonne Lowe, director of music.

Other participating congregations include the Clarkston United Methodist Church, Drayton Heights Free Methodist Church, First Church of God and the Sashabaw United Presbyterian Church.

For $2.35 a week, you can reach 15,000 people in over 4000 homes every week with an advertising message on this page. Call 625-3370 and place your message today!

Doing business

1st anniversary

Donna Kolisnyk, owner of the Village Sampler, celebrated the first anniversary of her business last week, and topped off the celebration with a drawing for a pewter porringer.

The winner was Cindy Matusko of Parview Drive in Independence Township.

"It was nice, because she's one of my regular customers," said Kolisnyk. "She was really excited."

The Village Sampler is located inside the Clarkston Emporium, 31 S. Main, Clarkston.

Winship attends video photography conference

Kenneth Winship of Winship Photography Inc. recently completed a one-week conference in video photography at the Winona School of Professional Photography, Ind.

The conference was designed to update the skills of the professional photographer and acquaint him with the latest in materials, equipment and techniques.

Winship owns two photography studios—one on Sashabaw Road in Independence Township and the other in Union Lake.

Valentine named Ad Director

The Advertising Director position at Oxford Leader, Inc. papers, vacant for 18 months, has been filled with the appointment of Norrine Valentine.

Publisher of the Leader papers, Jim Sherman made the announcement this week.

As advertising director Mrs. Valentine will oversee a staff of five salespeople serving four papers, The Oxford Leader, Lake Orion Review, The Clarkston News and the Ad-Vertiser.

Mrs. Valentine has been in sales at The Oxford Leader since 1957, except for the period from 1965-75 when she worked for The Lapeer County Press.

For the past 18 months she has been special promotion manager of The Oxford Leader, Review and Ad-Vertiser.

Readers of The Leader-Review will recognize Norrine as the same person who does the popular home feature in Lifestyle magazine. She will continue this feature on a once a month basis.

Mrs. Valentine has lived all her life in Lake Orion and Oxford. She currently lives in Oxford with her husband, Jack. They have four children, all married, with only son, Dick, living in Michigan. He is athletic director of Lake Orion Schools.

Daughter, Penny, of Colorado Springs, Jackie, of North Miami, and Dan, of Sante Fe, N.M. are the other Valentine children. Norrine says, "And, don't forget the most important . . . four little granddaughters."

In making the appointment, Sherman said, "This will enable general manager Bill Ardelan to devote a little more time to planning, personnel, and promoting our newspapers and printing."

"It's just great when you have a person as enthusiastic and dedicated as Norrine Valentine to put in positions like advertising director."

Valentine: "Enthusiastic and dedicated."

PUBLIC NOTICE

By authority conferred on the Hunting Area Control Committee by Sections 2 and 3 of Act 159, P.A. 1967, and Section 251 of Act 380, P.A. 1965, a public meeting of the Hunting Area Control Committee will be held at 7:00 p.m., April 26, 1982, followed by a public hearing at 7:30 p.m. same date, at the Independence Township Hall, 90 N. Main St., Clarkston. At this hearing the Hunting Area Control Committee will present the proposed rules to (1) make hunting with rifles unlawful in township except at approved target ranges, and (2) prohibit hunting with a firearm in certain areas of the township (Independence Township, Oakland County). Rules become effective 15 days after filing with the Secretary of State.

All interested persons are invited to attend and offer comments orally or in writing. Submit written comments and/or request for copies of proposed rules to:

Robotics key to clever contest

The technical aspects of mechanical engineering might be all Greek to sixth-grade pupils at North Sashabaw Elementary.

At this stage, algebra's tough enough.

Nonetheless, verbal commands continue as the group, sans adult intervention, diligently works to complete construction of an "electric earth exploration vehicle" powered by a 12-volt battery.

Common sense and a good 'eyeballing' takes over.

Structural trial and error is basic.

Hook-up a pulley, put in the string and see what goes.

Think it will work better with a brace right here? Hammer one in and give it a whirl.

The entourage of academically talented plan to compete in statewide Creative Competitions Inc., where students tackle a "problem" using their creativity and ingenuity to solve the riddle.

In this problem, the five-member team from the plant OM has been selected to collect samples from Earth. The would-be Omonauts must design and construct an electric exploration vehicle to be powered by a 12-volt car battery. The plan is to maneuver the custom-made car over a gym floor in competition against other schools, and vie for the best time to collect the earth samples.

The catch?

None of the samples can be touched by human hands.

Rising to the occasion, student Phil Duftrin designed specialized scoops and a functional robotic arm complete with levers and pulleys, strong enough to pick-up a brick and delicate enough to grasp an apple.

In their earth travels, the group must collect a pile of sand, an empty soda can and inflated balloon.

Over a dozen kids of all sizes and shapes cluster around a cardboard tube car frame held together with glue. The plan calls for a fiber-board floor; wooden wheels with inner tubes nailed to the outside for traction, a bicycle fork for steering and more and more castoffs.

"We're not allowed to spend more than $35, plus the cost of the battery to build this car," said teacher Joette Kunz. "So, we've been going to the Whoopie Bowl and places like that to get the material."

Students cannot receive adult help, but Kunz has enlisted the aid of two Larence Institute of Technology mechanical engineers to help the kids bring their ideas to life.

Clarence G. Chambers Jr., associate professor of mechanical engineering sits on the floor, surveying the robotic arm made of two-by-fours with sheet metal claws, the creation of Phil Duftrin.

Colleague and student Leigh Gaither oversees frame construction.

"These kids are really something. We can't tell them what to do or give them help like that, because it's supposed to be all their creation.

"So, I ask them what they want to do, they tell me, and I help them bring it around," he said.

The school hopes to send two teams of five to the competition May 1 at Central Michigan University in Mt. Pleasant. Each teammate takes the car and tries to pick up an object, racking up points for their success, style, appearance, and losing points for traveling outside the boundary, going over building costs and floor damage.

Teachers Kunz and Susan Banworth are holding their breaths in anticipation.

Here come the Omonauts.

—Marilyn Trumper

Jeff Martin easily works the scoop, designed to pick up a cup full of water, as teammates Wendy Scorby, Kelly Parker, Jimmy Clare and Quinten Geyer observe his progress.

Designer of the robotic arm, Phil Duftrin, listens carefully to LIT's mechanical engineer Clarence G. Chamber Jr., as he outlines the planned pulley system of levers and string needed to open and close the sheet metal jaws.
