Million-dollar landmark destroyed

By Kathy Greenfield

Independence Township resident Kevin Bickerstaff was heading for breakfast at about 4 a.m. Friday when he spotted the fire at the Old Mill that eventually destroyed the landmark restaurant and caused an estimated $1 million in damages.

"There was a lot of smoke and then I saw flames coming through the roof," Bickerstaff said. "A 30-foot flame shot up."

He drove past the Old Mill located at Andersonville Road and Dixie Highway in Waterford Township to the Ram's Horn restaurant and asked the manager there if the fire had been reported. It hadn't, and the manager telephoned the Waterford Township Fire Department.

The call reporting the fire came in at 4:05 a.m., said Fire Chief Wendell Trager.

"It had quite a head start on us—one of two things happened, either it burned for a long time before we got there, or it started very fast," he said.

While on the scene Friday morning, Trager speculated the fire started high in the building, but by Monday, he no longer was certain.

"We're still really digging into it. I'm not sure where it started right now. We're still investigating," he said. "We haven't ruled out arson and we haven't ruled out accidental. We're trying to figure out exactly what did cause it."

About 38 Waterford fire fighters fought the blaze and they were joined by a crew of eight from Independence Township and by members of the White Lake Township Fire Department.

Fire fighters entered the building from three areas, but they were forced out when it got too dangerous, Trager said.

So, they fought the battle from the outside, and the end result was total destruction of the restaurant and an estimated $1 million loss in the building and its contents, he said.

"We generally don't have losses like that. The reason we don't is because we are an inside fire

A Waterford Township fire fighter climbs to the top of the rubble to join the crew keeping water fighting department," he said. "Ninety-nine percent of the time we get inside and make the save—the guys are good."

One Waterford fire fighter was treated at a hospital for smoke inhalation and was released, Trager said, but he's gone back since for treatment. "He still isn't coming around real good," he said.

on the hot ashes where the Old Mill's dining room used to stand alongside Dixie Highway.

Trager blames several things for the severity of the damages—that the fire wasn't noticed right away, the layout of the building with a myriad of rooms and its age.

"Any wood in there is really dry and it's like a tinder box. It just burns hot and fast," he said.

Communication break bogs wetlands permit

By Marilyn Trumper

The Independence Township Planning Commission has recommended the township board deny developer Hugh Garner a wetlands permit needed to legally dig a pond off Dark Lake Trail.

In unanimous vote at the May 13 meeting, members agreed no permit should be issued for a pond until the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) puts its stamp of approval on reclamation of a canal Garner began digging this past March, but was ordered to refill by that same state agency.

An angry crowd of 25 Deer Lake Farms residents sat in audience at the meeting, criticizing state and township bodies for failure to enforce local ordinances and for improper communication between each other.

"I don't see how you can even sit here tonight and consider granting this wetlands permit, when the DNR itself has notified you that Garner is not in compliance with the specifications to refill that canal," challenged Ronald Turner, president of the Deer Lake Farms Homeowners' Association.

"It's true, 70 percent of it has been filled in, but it's not completed and it's not done right. It also has improper filtering devices. (Garner) has broken the law by our own wetlands permit. You can't allow him to continue until he complies."

Failure to obtain a wetlands permit at the local level before beginning construction can result in a $500 fine or 90 days in jail, he said, reading the ordinance.

"Last year Garner tried to put in a canal near there and we fought it then. We are steadfastly against anything going on in those wetlands. It is so vital to Deer Lake, and the only remaining wetlands," Turner finished.

Garner, absent from the meeting, was represented by his attorney who repeated that the DNR and Army Corps of Engineers, as well as the county, had approved permits for the digging in March.

The attorney repeated Garner felt he was on firm footing with those permits, and a verbal OK from the previous building director who oversaw first stages of the plan a year ago.

At the time, the DNR issued Garner a permit to create an acre-and-one-half pond on 12 acres off Deer Lake. The Army Corps of Engineers improperly issued the developer a permit to dredge the canal from the lake to feed the pond, on the recommendation from the Department of Fisheries that the pond would make good breeding ground for Deer Lake wildlife.

Key in communication breakdown was the fact the DNR was never notified of the move, and says it would not have issued the permit knowing that, according to a letter at township hall.

Commission member Holly Stephens repeated several times, "...I think I recall the acreage in question is outlined as dedicated wetlands in a consent judgment on Deer Lake Farms, and cannot be built on. I know I was involved in that the first time around, then it was taken out of our hands and into the courts.

"I think we should direct this to the attorney and have him look at it and see if it isn't part of that judgment."

Commission members voted to recommend denial to the Independence Township Board on issuance of the permit, and to seek the attorney's review.

"I find it appalling what one agency can do to another. If I were in Mr. Garner's position, I too would be confused. Not even the bureaucracy can agree.

"But," said Gray, "you only have Deer Lake once."

Liquor license debate continues

Independence officials table matter until all 7 members are present

By Marilyn Trumper

The scramble goes on for Independence Township's four available liquor licenses, with a new face and bid entering the arena at the May 10 board meeting.

After lengthy discussion, the five board members present again postponed a decision, tabling the matter until the May 18 meeting, so it could receive the full seven-member board's attention.

The newcomer in the liquor license debate was township resident Michael Clark. He asked the board to consider holding a license until January 1984.

Marriott Hotels and Holiday Inn are looking at 55 acres at a yet-to-be disclosed township site near the Pine Knob complex, and would consider locating here if a liquor license were available, Clark said.

Paul and Jean Clements, co-owners of Waterford Hill Courts Inc. on Dixie Highway, made a second bid for a Class C license, offering a revised building plan that outlined expansion for seating 60 patrons, and an alternative plan for seating 125. The move was made to abolish previous board concerns that the first proposal involved a relatively small area, with members questioning the feasibility of the plan.

No one opposed the couple's plan.

Comments ran 3-1 against granting Allie Assad a Class C liquor license for his proposed sitdown Italian restaurant, as residents again filled the hall in solid opposition of the plan.

Over the praise of a handful of residents, neighbors blasted Assad's plan to offer liquor at La Piazza in the shopping strip at Clarkston-Orion and Eston roads.

Repeatedly they argued the plan would increase traffic, noise and litter, jeopardize residents' safety, and lower property values.

Trustee Dale Stuart criticized residents for fears that Assad would one day expand the restaurant into a bar, reminding the opposition that the eatery was OK'd by the zoning board through a use variance, and could only be operated as a restaurant.

"If he were to one day open as a bar, we could shut him down. He'd be in violation of the law," Stuart said.

Treasurer Frederick Ritter favored issuance of a Tavern License, which would limit Assad to serving beer and wine and no liquor.

"It's been my experience people don't get sloppy drunk on beer and wine," Clerk Christopher Rose agreed.

Supervisor James B. Smith and Trustee Larence Kozma said they did not approve of issuance of the license, with Kozma pointing to residents' concerns.

His comments met with wild applause from the audience of over 30 persons.

The township board is slated to decide the issue at the Tuesday, May 18, meeting which is to begin at 7:30 p.m. at Independence Township Hall, 90 N. Main, Clarkston.

When fire fighters received the call at 4:05 a.m. that the Old Mill was burning, the fire was well underway, said Waterford Township Fire Department Chief Wendell Trager. Fire fighters from Independence and White Lake townships joined the battle, but the fire wasn't brought under control until about 7:30 a.m., Trager said. The building was a total loss.

• Past Old Mill owner recalls history

By Kathy Greenfield

When the Old Mill burned down Friday morning, it left memories for many residents. They remember the the wedding receptions, holiday feasts and the gatherings with friends.

For Dorothy White of Waterford, the memories span her lifetime. She was six months old in 1923 when her father, Louis Dorman Sr., was building the Old Mill restaurant.

The Dorman family lived at the Waterford Hotel that once stood where a gas station now sits at the corner of Dixie Highway and Andersonville Road. When the Old Mill was completed across the street and a bit northeast of the hotel in 1924, the family moved into the portion of the Old Mill that served as a hotel.

They lived there for five years until their home next door was completed. At that time, the restaurant only served food.

White didn't work at the restaurant until after she was married, but it was the place her wedding reception was held when she and Don White were wed in 1943.

A fire in 1949 caused considerable damage to the building.

"One of the old fellas that worked for dad in maintenance turned a wrench on the gas line and a spark started the fire," she remembered. But although the main floor burned, the top floor was left and so was the building's exterior.

As her father stood and watched the building burn, White remembers what another person standing there said.

"Someone told him, 'Don't worry. Good things come from bad,' and they did," she said, noting that the building was rebuilt with a new mortgage, and it became very successful.

"It just seemed that all the people in the Pontiac area, when they wanted to have a good time, the Old Mill was just the spot—it was just the place to go dance and have fun," she said. "There isn't anyplace like that any more."

White, her husband and two business partners and their wives bought the Old Mill in the early 1970s. Several years later, they sold it and it became John Laffrey's Old Mill. Next came A.W.'s Rodeo, and it was recently renovated by new owners William Jackson and John Holihan and renamed the Old Mill.

Just three weeks ago, the Dorman family and friends met for an "Old Timers Night" at the Old Mill, to recreate some of the fun they used to have singing around the piano and dining in the family restaurant.

In recent years, business at the Old Mill wasn't like it used to be, and during the reunion of Old Mill regulars on the Thursday night only a few other tables at the restaurant were in use, she noted.

"When it burned, I sort of felt maybe that's the best way out for the Old Mill," she said. "Nobody could make it run like Dad did."

"When I was home (on Andersonville Road), it didn't bother me so much, but then when I got down there and saw it, it really got to me."

White's father died a decade ago, but her mother, Jennie Dorman, still lives in the house next door to the Old Mill.

"Just like mother says, 'Well, it can't be helped. That's just the way it is,'" White said about her mother's reaction to the fire. "Maybe when you're 84 years old you can be that way."

Early deadline

Due the Memorial Day holiday May 31, there will be early deadlines for news items and advertising in the June 2 edition of The Clarkston News.

Deadline for news items is 3 p.m. Friday, May 28; display advertising deadline is noon Thursday, May 27; and classified advertisements may be placed in the Clarkston office until 4:45 Friday, May 28, or by calling the Oxford office at 628-4801 by noon Saturday, May 29.

The Clarkston News office is located at 5 S. Main, Clarkston. The telephone number is 625-3370.

The porch at the rear of the Old Mill still stands, but it leads to a charred door and fallen beams and ashes where the restaurant's entry hall, bar and dining rooms used to be.

Clarkston Village holds hearing for .2-mill levy

In an effort to fund the 1982-83 budget and maintain current levels of service, Clarkston's Village Council wants to collect two-tenths more of a mill for '82 taxes. The move, the topic of a special public hearing May 24, will affect only those residents whose SEV (state equalized valuation) increased in 1982, according to Treasurer Artemus Pappas.

"We're not raising the millage rate, it's the same as it was last year," Pappas said. "Just some of the village property got an new SEV rating and they'll be the only ones affected."

Last year Clarkston collected 4.7 mills. (One mill is $1 for each $1,000 of assessed property valuation.) As SEVs go up the millage rate goes down, reducing the village's base tax rate for 1982 to 4.5 mills.

"The council is saying, 'We'll collect 4.7 mills (or .2 of a mill more) and make more money, but only those whose SEVs increased will pay more. It's not that they're paying any more thousands, it's just that you have more thousands to pay on," Pappas said.

The public hearing is mandated by a new state law signed into effect by the governor this past February.

In the past, tax bills increased each time assessments went up, even if the millage rate stayed the same.

The new law requires tax rates be rolled back in relationship to the amount assessments increase, keeping tax bills on an even keel from year to year, as long as the rollback is implemented.

Unless waived by the council, the rollback will automatically occur.

Levy of the additional .2 of a mill would increase village operating revenue by 4.44 percent, or $2,627.

Last year the village's SEVs totaled approximately $11.6 million, which brought $54,842 in tax revenue. This year the village's total SEV is $12.2 million, which if the same 4.7 mills is levied will bring $57,469 in revenue.

The public hearing is scheduled May 24 at 7:30 p.m. at Clarkston Village Hall, 375 Depot, Clarkston.

Poppy Days

Keep an eye out on Independence Township corners, business fronts and intersections May 20, 21 and 22 as members of the American Legion and Auxiliary Post 63 of Clarkston offer red poppies for sale.

Contributions from Poppy Days are used by the post and its auxiliary to aid needy veterans and their families in the community and in hospitals throughout the state.

Salvage future for mentally ill

by Eric Hood

Editor's note: We encourage readers to express their opinions in letters to the editor and guest editorials. If you want to share your thoughts on a topic of local interest, you can mail your written work to The Clarkston News, 5 S. Main, Clarkston, MI 48016 or drop it by our office. We're open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and there's a mail slot on our door you may use any other time.

This week's guest editorial writer is Eric Hood, an English teacher at Brandon High School.

In a note accompanying his article, Hood wrote, "As a former employee of the Department of Mental Health, I've had the chance to see the de-institutionalization process from the inside. And, like everybody else, I am a citizen and property owner watching events take place in my own community.

"From both vantages, it is quite obvious that the plan is flawed in many ways. This discusses what I see as the major flaw."

An understandable controversy embroils the placement of the mentally ill in community settings. Unfortunately, the essential truth of the matter is rarely addressed.

In our utter confusion over where and how to confine these people, one fact is always obscured: The vast majority of mentally ill persons have never received any truly effective treatment for their conditions.

To be mentally ill in this society is to be forever banished to some weird purgatory on the outer fringes of civilized existence.

Now numbering well into the millions, this group of people has been systematically misdiagnosed, misunderstood, mistreated and basically ignored for hundreds of years. Grandiose and ill-conceived community placement plans are but another example of this.

Psychiatry, the branch of medicine devoted to the treatment of mental disorders, is virtually archaic in its understanding and treatment methods. The first, last and only major therapeutic breakthrough occurred in the '50s. At that time, Thorazine and other potent tranquilizers like it were first utilized on a large scale.

These drugs allowed what is euphemistically referred to as "management" of many disturbed individuals. Hundreds of thousands of previously "unmanageable" patients were now safely subdued and immobilized.

Since then, tranquilizers and other similar substances have been universally indicated in the treatment of almost every variety of mental disorder.

Given a sufficient dosage of a particular medication, a disturbed and agitated individual will not act so crazy. Their symptoms are temporarily restrained. In the treatment of any disease or condition, this would be a therapeutically acceptable starting point.

In psychiatry, however, progress usually begins and ends with this treating of symptoms. The real causes and catalysts of major emotional breakdowns are largely ignored in an overwhelming majority of situations.

The psychiatric establishment is not entirely to blame for their shortcomings. The problem lies with the general order of things in medicine and society as a whole. Psychiatry is not prestigious, nor does it project an aura of vitality and pervasive immediacy.

Mental illness doesn't rouse the emotions like cancer and heart disease. It doesn't usually result in physical death, either.

So, even though 10 to 15 percent of us will face a serious emotional problem in our lifetimes, the money and desire to research and develop new techniques is noticeably wanting. It remains a second-class disease.

It is also a mysterious and frightening disease. Most of us are unaware of the symptoms of and differences between the various psychological dysfunctions.

But, we are acutely cognizant and wary of the fact that these people (whatever is wrong with them) are inherently capable of rape, murder and every conceivable perversion.

In reality, only a minute percentage of emotionally disturbed people commit violent or anti-social acts. Consumed by their own inner turmoil, most of them exist in a timeless vacuum of solitude. Not unwanted or unwilling, but bewildered and incapable of interaction with the world.

Witnessing the descent of an individual into this strange realm, what becomes obvious is just how little that can actually be done.

Once a schizophrenic cycle has commenced, the chances of ever regaining full normality are quite slim.

We can debate provisions for community placement in public assemblies, courtrooms and secret meetings forever. All manner of ordinances and restrictions can be written and enacted to protect all involved parties.

It makes absolutely no difference what we decide to do. The plight of the mentally ill will not improve because their deficient clinical condition cannot facilitate any meaningful change.

They are the lepers of the Western world. Until our social and professional attitudes are transformed, that is certain. At this point in history, it would be ludicrous to expect any high level dramatic action.

What we can do is charge ourselves with evolving a new comprehension of mental illness. One that accepts, understands and actively searches for honest solutions rather than quick fixes.

Maybe then, we can salvage some kind of future for those unfortunate lost souls who have become mentally ill.

Taxpayers made it all possible

Now that the "Big Winter of '82" is finally over, I would like to express my thanks to the men who worked with and for me, keeping our streets free of snow and ice.

Many cold winter night hours were spent behind the plows. But they kept at it and did a super job.

I would also like to thank the members of the village council for their open praise of our accomplishments. But, without their cooperation and the excellent equipment they have purchased for road maintenance, we would have had many problems in doing the job.

And last, I can't forget the village taxpayers. They are the ones that really made it all possible.

Nuts to tax increase

by Jim Sherman

William Milliken is Robert Tisch's greatest booster.

The Shiawassee County Drain Commissioner gained considerable support last week when promoter Milliken pushed, shoved, promised, and prostrated himself for the non-party candidate.

Actually Michigan's no-longer-boyish-looking governor has been causing second looks at Tisch for more than a couple years. But, particularly in the past five months Milliken has produced campaign results for the drain man in unbelievable proportions.

He's done it by reversing himself so many times that if he were a Ford he'd been recalled and recycled.

In January Governor William G. Milliken announced in his definite monotones, "Michigan does not need a tax increase" to balance the $4.5 billion budget.

By March a tax increase was a definite possibility and then he set April 9 as a deadline for final enactment of a one percent tax increase on income.

Later the absolute deadline set by Milliken became May 1 and there were a couple more positive deadlines after that.

Milliken also promised steadfastly that he would not consider discussing any additional budget cuts, and was even more hardnosed about actually making any more budget cuts.

When Tisch was in our area a couple months ago he said Milliken "can't be believed". There's truth in that statement.

Last Tuesday's pressure and promises tactics reached a new low as far as I'm concerned. It became a case of say yes to Milliken and get a judgeship.

Isn't that just great?

I still don't believe Michigan needed a tax increase to survive. Four years ago the state of Massachusetts put through a tax CUT. Since 1979 their state's income has zoomed according to the Wall Street Journal.

In that time 200,000 jobs have been added, welfare rolls are down, state revenue growth in the last six months has been the greatest in memory. Mass. is headed for a $25 million surplus.

In Michigan we have to have a tax increase. Nuts. Our thanks to our Sen. Donald Bishop and Rep. Mat Dunaskiss for staying opposed to the increase.

'Oh say can you see . . .'

After the Clarkston High School Madrigal Singers broke into song with the "Star Spangled Banner" in front of CHS, applause for their performance flowed through the open windows of the school's administration offices—a small-scale preview of what's to come.

Thousands of sports fans at Tiger Stadium shall be treated to their voices when they perform the National Anthem prior to the Saturday, May 22, baseball game between the Detroit Tigers and the California Angels. The game is to be televised on TV Channel 4 and WJR radio, so chances are the 17-member group will be seen and heard, too, by sports fans in their homes, says CHS choral music department director Grayce Warren. Game time is 1:30 p.m.

Now hear this:

May is 'Better Speech and Hearing Month'

"What? What did you say?" becomes a common phrase this time of year.

Those who suffer from allergies may not have hearing problems the rest of the year but are hit hard in the spring when glands swell, affecting eustachian tubes and limiting hearing.

The American Speech and Hearing Association, with President Ronald Reagan's stamp of approval, has designated May as "Better Speech and Hearing Month"—and Clarkston School's speech and language pathologist Jan Kirchgessner has some advice for the hearing and speaking disabled.

"We learn of school-age children's problems easier because they're in school and undergo testing. If they can't hear the teacher or communicate properly, we know about it.

"Adult situations are different. They don't always know. Spring brings allergies that are often the cause of hearing impairments. Glands swell and cut off the eustachian tubes and they can't hear as well.

People walk around going, "What?"

"Those who work in factories and around loud machinery should be aware it can affect their hearing. They're not necessarily getting old."

Kirchgessner points to those who lose motor coordination from a stroke, and have to go through rehabilitation to learn how to speak all over again. Or those who have oral cancer. They too can go through rehabilitation and learn how to talk again, she said.

A 50 cent lawsuit

by Jim Fitzgerald-

Last Jan. 16., one of the more astonishing rip-offs in the history of paid parking took place at the Pontiac Silverdome. The parking fee for Piston basketball games is $2.50 but parkers were charged $3 that night simply because it was cold out and attendants didn't want to handle chilly coins while making change.

Two lawyers quickly filed separate lawsuits aimed at collecting refunds and damages for the 3,100 customers stung in the cold sting. Neither one of those lawyers was Bernard A. Friedman of Southfield. Please make note of that. He would appreciate it, and so would his rabbi, who has condemned him unjustly.

LAWYER MARC FISHMAN of Southfield filed the first lawsuit. "It's not necessarily the money, it's the principle of the thing. It's more or less to let them know they shouldn't be able to get away with something like this," he told a reporter. "I mean, if they couldn't make change, why didn't they charge $2 and give both the employees and the fans a break?"

The second lawsuit was filed by lawyer Bernard Friedman of Southfield. He is not lawyer Bernard A. Friedman of Southfield. The Bernard Friedman who filed the cold parking fee suit has no middle initial. I don't know why. It probably has something to do with the fact that he has no middle name.

Both lawsuits are still pending, so there is nothing new to report on these noble attempts to restore justice to the Silverdome parking lot. Given the haste usually employed in our courts, if any refunds are ever won, they will probably be awarded to the plaintiffs' survivors, who will wonder why their ancestors parked cars at the Silverdome which, by then, will have been converted into the state's only domed grease rack for space ships.

THE ONLY REASON the parking gyp is aired now is to answer the plaintive (not to be confused with plaintiff) plea of Bernard A. Friedman. he is good-naturedly seeking relief from the notoriety heaped upon his innocent shoulders ever since newspapers reported on the Silverdome lawsuit filed by Bernard (NMI) Friedman.

"Ever since this appeared, I have been deluged with calls, hate letters, and so forth," Bernard A. Friedman wrote. "In fact, even my Rabbi came up to me with a disappointed look and added his condemnation to me. A day has not gone by that I have not had to explain to clients, judges, fellow attorneys, friends, etc. that it was not me, BERNARD A. FRIEDMAN, who filed the lawsuit . . . perhaps some explanation or statement in your paper that there are two attorneys with the same name, but one (myself) has the middle initial 'A' could put a stop to the aggravation."

OK, you people out there, quit picking on Bernard A. Friedman. He didn't do it.

ALSO, you people out there, maybe one of you could explain to me why a lawyer or anyone else should be criticized for protesting the greedy decision to raise a parking fee because it was supposedly too cold to touch 50 cents in change. To me, Bernard (NMI) Friedman and Marc Fishman are unsung heroes deserving to be sung.

Probably, people object to the parking-fee lawsuits on the grounds that our society is already too litigious and lawyers should be discouraged from pursuing frivolous lawsuits just to make a buck. Ordinarily, I say amen to such an argument.

But not this time. There is nothing frivolous about the crimes committed against humanity as part of the national effort to prevent the free parking to which every citizen is entitled and which every entrepreneur or community should be obliged to provide.

Already, parking fees are raised simply because an event is too popular. (Parking near the baseball park on opening day costs $1 more than the next day.) If parking lots are allowed to raise prices because the weather is too cold, there will soon be weather too windy to make paper change, or weather too wet to give any change at all—just stick your life's savings through the slot provided and park it yourself, Sucker.

Onward and Upward.

Depot Park parking barrier nears reality

Clarkston's Village Council has agreed on a removable barrier to thwart parking along Depot Park roadfront, with completion slated for June 15.

That's the word from Trustee David Raup who spearheaded the campaign to beef up park beautification and fought for the better part of the village's $10,000 allocation of federal Community Development block grants in '82.

After hearings in February, the council split the $10,000 between historic preservation, planning and management and the park. And two weeks ago, the council padded the fund with an additional $3,500 from the village's general fund, Raup said.

That last allocation brings to $10,000 the amount of money for the park, with Raup continuing to push for construction and purchase of a gazebo and playground equipment.

The barrier is to consist of seven- to eight-foot-long railroad ties stacked two high, and filled with dirt and shrub plantings, according to Raup.

Springfield ups fee for fires fought elsewhere

Non-Springfield Township residents will be paying $100 more when the Springfield Township Fire Department responds to extinguish their home, business, car or grass fire.

Davisburg facelift talks slated soon

Almost a year after talks began to renovate downtown Davisburg, the Springfield Township Board, armed with two alternate proposals, is looking to host a public hearing for input from business owners who'll ultimately bear renovation costs.

At the May 12 board meeting, members agreed to call a hearing in early June, but set no date.

Township engineer Ray Cousineau of Mosher-Kapelczak, unveiled his alternative plan to the county's, which similarly calls for extensive landscaping, pigmented concrete and street furnishings like benches and tables.

Key difference is that Cousineau proposes smaller sidewalks to accommodate angle parking, where the county plan outlines parallel parking.

In addition, Cousineau proposes construction of a parking lot for 25 to 30 cars off Eaton Road on township land, around the corner from township hall, eliminating any conflict of building near the road right-of-way, which the county plan proposes.

"Our plan does increase the county's parking plan by 100 percent," Cousineau told the board, "but the sidewalks will have to be smaller, and therefore you won't be able to accommodate all the landscaping and benches."

Cousineau's plan, like the county's, provides for installation of underground utilities, gas-light-style street lighting and facade renovation.

Supervisor Collin Walls has stressed the plan remains entirely volunteer on the part of the business community.

The move exempts Independence Township which enjoys a mutual aid pact with Springfield. Fire fighters from both townships respond to each other's fires when needed, at no charge, according to Supervisor Collin Walls.

With brief discussion at the May 12 meeting, the Springfield Township Board unanimously upped the fire department's fee from $300 to $400 a call. Rising insurance costs and shrinking revenue spurred the move. The last increase was in 1979.

Residents of neighboring Rose Township will most likely feel the brunt of the increase as it has no fire department and relies on Springfield, Holly, Highland townships and the City of Fenton to respond to fires.

According to Clerk J. Calvin Walters, fire department calls outside the township generate a minimal amount of revenue for the department—approximately $3,000 a year, he said.

The Springfield Township Fire Department currently charges Rose Township property owners, the Grand Trunk Railroad for grass fires it is determined to have caused and for extinguishing non-residents' car fires on I-75.

Be practical and responsible, Mich. conservationist urges

Glen Sheppard

The majority of Michigan citizens will support nature, even during tough economic times, if conservationists are practical and document their case, a Michigan expert says.

Glen Sheppard's advice comes from a unique vantage point. For the last 14 years, he has watched Michigan's environment as editor of The North Woods Call, a conservation journal. Based in Charlevoix, The North Woods Call has a large readership in southern Michigan.

From his long experience, he knows that "troubled times are not new for conservation. They are new only for most of the young people who discovered the environment in the 1970s."

"Maybe we went too far, too fast, and sometimes in the wrong direction in the 1970s," Sheppard says. "Government regulators and misinformed citizen zealots sometimes demanded--and got--too much."

He says that government agency payrolls and political rhetoric are not what made Michigan the incredibly beautiful natural wonderland that it is.

"This has been accomplished by deeply committed citizens since the late 1800s," Sheppard says. "This cadre of knowledgeable, selfless citizens is bigger and wiser than ever. The public is more aware than ever that shoring in natural resources for short-term gain is poor economics."

The greatest threat to the state's conservation gains during Michigan's troubled economic times comes from those who make unreasonable demands in the name of the environment, Sheppard says. "Good conservation does not demand that we two-legged creatures be sacrificed, live in the cold or teach our children to read by candlelight," he insists.

Charlevoix is a good example of how that approach can threaten the credibility of conservation, Sheppard says. "Those of us who have had the Big Rock Point nuclear power plant as a neighbor for 20 years have no problems with it. Study after study has shown any rational person that it is no threat. "But in 1978, a small group staged a Vietnam protest-style demonstration against Big Rock. As far as I know they numbered only a couple dozen. I recognized none of their names as local folks."

"Overnight, local people were repulsed. I was horrified when newspapers and television called them 'environmentalists,'" Sheppard said.

"Friends I fish and hunt with, who live here for the sunsets, clean water and air and quiet forests and beaches, were suddenly outraged at any and all so-called 'environmentalists.' Anything advocated in the name of the environment became suspect."

"They saw these people costing the county (for court hearings and law enforcement) and those who buy electricity from Consumers Power Company thousands of dollars. The local people knew their claims against Big Rock were based on ignorance."

Sheppard says the "bottom line for conservation is being right and responsible. That takes hard, cautious work. It requires the flexibility to reason and to compromise."

"Ranting and raving, especially when dollars are short, are conservation's worst enemies," Sheppard says.

This advertisement, which is paid for by the shareholders of Consumers Power Company, is based on an article written by Glen Sheppard.

School boards react to district switch plan

By Kathy Greenfield

The recommendation of both school boards was unanimous, although one was totally "for" and one totally "against."

Under dispute is the request by a portion of homeowners in the Thendara Park subdivision, located in the northeast portion of Independence Township, to change from the Orion school district to the Clarkston school district.

The matter is to come before the Oakland Schools Board of Education in a public hearing Thursday, May 27, at 7:30 p.m. in the Oakland Schools building, 2100 Pontiac Lake Rd., Pontiac.

Thendara Park subdivision resident Michele Weverstad wrote the letter that accompanied the petition requesting the change to the Oakland Schools board.

The letter stated only 31 out of 167 homes in the subdivision are in the Orion school district, distances to all Clarkston schools and commerce are closer than Lake Orion's, the district lines are unnatural and illogical, and a past precedent was set in 1967 when five homes were changed from the Orion school district to Clarkston.

"In a nutshell, what we want is our children to get to know the other children in the subdivision. We just feel now is the time," said Weverstad when contacted last week. Of the 31 homeowners, 85 percent support the change, more than the required two-thirds, she said.

Both school boards voted last week on their recommendations to be presented to the Oakland Schools board.

In Clarkston, the proposal was greeted with wholehearted support. The change would mean about 37 more pupils in Clarkston schools, and over more in $70,000 in state aid.

"The board unanimously accepted the proposal," said Milford Mason, superintendent of Clarkston schools. "If they are set in the district, we will do everything we can to make the experience for the youngsters as positive as possible."

Two nights later, the Orion board wholeheartedly rejected the idea.

"We discussed all the ins and outs," said Dr. Paul Rundio, superintendent of Orion schools. The subdivision is located 2.3 miles from the nearest Orion elementary school and 5.3 miles from the nearest junior high school, he said, and the people who bought homes in that portion of the subdivision knew they were in the Orion district.

While he acknowledged the move would mean a substantial loss in state aid to Orion schools, Rundio noted other reasons for fighting the change.

"As you look at the district boundary, these were established some time ago. It doesn't make much sense to change it," he said, noting that it can be hard on children to change schools.

It's customary for the Oakland Schools board to make a decision the same night as the public hearing, although it's possible the board will adjourn and meet later to make the decision, said Dr. Robert Fichtenau, assistant superintendent of Oakland Schools.

The decision can be appealed to the State Board of Education if one school district is unhappy with the results.

"That's the general route these go if there's any controversy at all," he said.

And he expects controversy.

"If one looks at what the petitioners are asking for, it makes sense," Fichtenau said. "On the other hand, I'm sure Lake Orion doesn't want to lose that valuation."

"It's going to be a very difficult decision for the board members."

Doctors lauded for sports work

Lifetime passes for all future home athletic events and certificates of appreciation for their contributions to Clarkston schools were presented to two retiring local doctors at the board of education meeting last week.

Dr. Rockwood Bullard and Dr. Robert Buehrig were honored for countless hours of contributions in giving sports physicals, attending sports events as physicians and giving first aid to injured athletes.

"Both of you are now entering your well-earned retirement years and we want to wish you continued happiness," said Superintendent Milford Mason.

"It has been nothing except a great deal of enjoyment we have had working with these young athletes," said Bullard. "We were very happy to have been given the opportunity."

Springfield's 2nd fire station ready to respond

After more than six years in the planning, the Springfield Township Fire Department has opened the doors of its new $150,000 Fire Station No. 2 on the corner of Dixie Highway and Rattalee Lake roads.

The new station which opened May 2 will cut by half the critical minutes needed to respond to fires in the northeast section of the township, according to Fire Chief Marlan Hillman.

"That corner has been growing in population and has been a critical part of the overall (fire station master) plan since 1976," Hillman said.

A fire fighter in the township department since 1948 and the only remaining charter member, Hillman's seen a lot of additions and sophistication in those years.

"I've seen it grow from one truck to nine," he said.

The new station houses a pumper truck, rescue vehicle and grass rig, vehicles bought since 1976 with block grants and federal revenue when officials first approved the project.

The township fire millage paid for the new station; he added.

Springfield Township's Fire Department operates with a volunteer, on-call force.

Supper club rezoning on tap

Hopeful restaurateur Russell Elkins is forging ahead with plans to open a "supper club" near I-75 and the Holly Road exit, and is scheduled to appear before the Springfield Township Planning Commission May 18 for a recommendation on rezoning of the 13-acre parcel.

Elkins holds an option to purchase the land contingent upon the rezoning from residential to commercial. Last month board members agreed to hold a Class C liquor license for one year for the restaurant.

His plan includes a barn-style dance and banquet hall, seating for 100-plus patrons, seating for 240 in the bar and a dance floor.

Elkins, a Rose Township resident, has indicated the supper club plan includes a Phase II and III with development of a hotel.

The Springfield Township Board will have final say on the rezoning.

The meeting is scheduled May 18 at 7:30 p.m. at Springfield Township Hall, 650 Broadway, Davisburg.

Obituaries

Carl J. Brendel

Memorial service for Carl J. Brendel of White Lake Township was held May 18 at the Lewis E. Wint Funeral Home, Independence Township, with the Rev. Otto Schultz officiating.

Brendel, 81, died May 14. He was a lifelong farmer in White Lake Township and a member of the White Lake Presbyterian Church.

He is survived by his wife, Dorothy; children, Mrs. Scott (Polly) Sewell of Highland Township, Mrs. Robert (Onalee) Davis of Birmingham, Mrs. Jack (Pat) Watson of Davisburg, Mrs. Stephen (Cheryl) Schultz of Clarkston, Mark of White Lake and Bob of White Lake; 18 grandchildren; one great-granddaughter; sisters, Mrs. Alberta Gee of Highland and Mrs. Barbara Rogers of Highland; and brother, Lawrence of White Lake.

Following the service, burial took place in Lakeview Cemetery, Independence Township.

Edward G. Brisson

Memorial service for former Clarkston resident Edward G. Brisson of Bradenton, Fla., was held May 7 at Sacred Heart Catholic Church, Bradenton, with the Rev. Nugent officiating.

Brisson, 73, died May 5. He was retired from General Motors Truck and Coach.

He is survived by his wife, Henrietta; daughter, Betty Jane Sage of Mackinac Island; son, Ronald E. of Waterford; sisters, Ida Lutz of Forest Lake, Minn., and Adele Voegtline of Forest Lake, Mich.; nephew, Dick Courteau of Bradenton, Fla.; five grandchildren; and three great-grandchildren.

Following the service, burial took place in Manasota Memorial Park, Oneco, Fla. Arrangements were made by the Bradenton Funeral Home.

Board grants $1,000 to CAYAC

Clarkston Area Youth Assistance Committee (CAYAC) finds itself $1,000 richer as the Springfield Township Board unanimously voted to make the contribution at the May 12 meeting.

"Thank you so much for your support," said Garry Pullins, social worker.

CAYAC reports sending 21 Springfield Township kids to camp last summer, with 20 percent of all its participants coming from Springfield, Pullins said.

CAYAC is a citizens' group aimed at developing and conducting programs of guidance and aid to community youth, their families, and gears itself to preventing delinquency and neglect.

Springfield and Independence townships, Clarkston Village, Clarkston Community Schools and the Oakland County Probate Court are key sponsors of the organization which hosts the annual summer camp; sponsors PLUS, a program similar to the Big Brothers-Big Sisters; and hosts diversified guidance seminars for children and their parents.

New planner

Look for a new face on the Springfield Township Planning Commission.

After brief discussion at the May 12 meeting, the board unanimously appointed Marjorie Reuter of Roberts Court to serve a two-year term through June of 1984.

Marjorie and her husband own Spun Metal Products, formerly of Dixie Highway, and boast a 30-year history of operating businesses in Springfield, according to Supervisor Collin Walls.

She replaces commission member Mike Boyer, who was forced to resign as he and his family relocated in Washington, Walls said.

"We will have two additional vacancies to fill on the commission in July. If anyone is interested in serving on the planning commission or any other boards, please feel free to contact me," Walls said.

The number at Springfield Township Hall is 625-4802.

Kids, join in the cheers!

First- through sixth-graders, both boys and girls, can learn some of the cheers of the Clarkston High School Varsity Cheerleading squad in clinics planned the next two Saturdays, May 29 and June 5. On May 29, the clinic is to be held at Clarkston High School, and Sashabaw Junior High School is the location of the June 5 clinic. Hours are the same both dates, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Cost is $2 per child for each clinic, and the youngsters should sign-up at the door at 10 the mornings of the clinics. The Cheerleading Clinics are to begin with a demonstration by the 10-member squad and include the teaching of cheerleading stunts, chants and an exercise routine to music. Participants should bring a sack lunch, with beverages and cookies provided, and wear T-shirts, shorts and tennis shoes. Practicing

Seniors ready for softball open

By Marilyn Trumper

If Friday's scrimmage against Waterford Township was an indication of the Independence Senior Citizens coming softball season, Captain John Thomas will be seen at the diamonds ringing his hands and clutching worry beads.

"They're not thinking out there and they don't know where to throw the ball," said Thomas, monitoring the ball game at Carl Shell Park.

"This is the first real game of the season, although we've had practices, so I expected some of this."

The final score remains a mystery as Independence gave up tallying efforts when Waterford boasted 12 runs.

Thomas says the Independence Seniors will finish in the league's top four, which includes cities as far south as Sterling Heights, Warren and Troy.

Last year the team finished third in the league with a 7-7 record.

"We could use a couple of more ball players, and a sponsor," Thomas said. "Right now we've got some of our best ball players missing. I know there are others out there, some of these guys retiring from General Motors. Come on out. We need you."

All seniors 55 years and up are eligible.

Sports

Dust billows around third base as a Waterford senior slides—safely!

Next man at bat hits a line drive to second, it's fumbled by Independence and he makes it safely to first.

Iola Herbert and Lois Lake are the seniors' cheering section, with vacant bleachers sorely obvious.

The team's first home game is against Sterling Heights, May 26 at Independence Township's Clintonwood Park.

"And we're going out for blood," said 78-year-old Oliver Herbert, catcher. In the '50s Herbert's son Ray pitched for the Detroit Tigers, and still pitches batting practice.

"We're going out for blood this season," Herbert repeats. "We're going to finish pretty well up there in the standings."

Seventy-four-year-old Pete Dugaw of Waterford uses a bat to strike the side of his foot and approaches the plate. A short brown cigar stub is clamped tightly between his lips, his blue eyes scout the ball. He swings and sends the sphere sailing to centerfield as he races to second base, steals third and comes into home on the next batter's efforts.

Independence is suffering, and can look forward to a rigorous workout a Monday's practice.

Win takes girls to top 10

Tension mounted during the final minutes of the Clarkston High School Girls' Track meet against Avondale May 20.

"It came down to the mile relay, the last event of the meet," said Coach Gordon Richardson.

Final score: Clarkston 65, Avondale 58.

"Avondale, up until this meet, had been ranked ahead of us in the county," Richardson said. "According to the county rankings in one of the newspapers, we're back in the top 10 again."

"I'm really excited—the kids have come a long way," he added. "We've set a school record for most records in the season, which is six."

That performance put the Wolves' record at six wins, one loss overall; and three wins, one loss in the Greater Oakland Activities League (GOAL).

Posting firsts in the meet were Kelley Craig in the high jump and 220-yard low hurdles; Julie Beamer in the 110-yard low hurdles and the 440-yard dash; Pam Stoecklin in the 880-yard run; and the mile relay team of Kris Tisch, Sandy Craig, K. Craig and Beamer. Winner of the two-mile run, Kris Baert, deserves praise for improvement throughout the season, Richardson said.

In an unusual turn of events, a school record was set in the 880-yard relay, but the runners did not win the event, because the Avondale runners were faster. The record, made by Wendy Hunt, Ronnie Barnard, Beamer and Tisch, was 1:50.48.

Wolves rank 10th in state

Too many walks, errors and losses by one run—that sums up the reasons the Clarkston High School Girls' Varsity Softball team has lost games, says Coach Carla Teare.

The team, as of May 12, posted a Greater Oakland Activities League (GOAL) record of four wins, three losses, and an overall record of 14 wins, five losses.

"The games we lost, I feel we shouldn't have lost," Teare said. "The games we have lost, we have given them away."

The team, she added, is very good. The Wolves are ranked 10th in the state, and the team placed second in the 10-team tournament held May 8 and 9, losing only to Garden City.

JV boasts 5-1 record

As of May 15, the Clarkston High School Girls' Junior Varsity Softball team was sitting atop the Greater Oakland Activities League (GOAL).

With a record of five wins, one loss in the GOAL, Coach Don Peters was nodding his head in agreement that the team belongs in first place.

"The girls are playing really good," he said. "My evaluation of them was correct—they're as good as I thought they were."

The team posted wins in both games last week, besting Waterford Kettering Wednesday 12-11 with the winning run scored in the last inning, and creaming West Bloomfield 9-5 in Saturday's game.

Peters praised the pitching, fielding and hitting of both teams in the contest against West Bloomfield.

"We probably played our best game so far—really one of the best JV games I've seen," he said.

Winning pitcher Julie Marshall hit her ninth home run of the season, and pitched seven strikeouts.

Kelli Keating had two runs; Cindy Covert went two for four; Michele Barks went three for four; and the defensive plays of Janet Herron and Kim Lorenz earned the coach's praise.

Talking faces

Their lips are sealed, so members of the Clarkston High School Mime Ensemble must say it with their faces and gestures during the second annual Mime Night Thursday, May 20. Tickets are $1 and the price includes refreshments. Showtime is 7:30 p.m. at the CHS Little Theatre. Here, a few of the performers show their mime faces—above at left is Alec Puscas in his role as a dog; above at right is Tim Kirby as a restaurant customer; and at left is Karen Stringfield buying a hat in a skit called "The Mall." The mime troupe is also available for parties, banquets, reunions and school shows. Call 625-0900 for more information.

Stroll kicks-off village birthday

It's party time in downtown Clarkston this weekend as merchants and local groups join together to make the annual Spring Stroll extra special in honor of the village's 150th birthday.

Festivities start Friday, May 21, with sidewalk sales from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. and in-store specials in virtually every shop. There'll be bake sales by the Clarkston High School volleyball team and softball team, a popcorn machine at Pontiac State Bank, hot pretzels and baked goods by the Springfield Township Friends of the Library and helium-filled balloons for sale by CHS Winter Guard members.

The Huron Valley Barbershop singers, 20 voices strong, are to stroll in the Clarkston Mills Mall and along Main Street from 6 to 9 p.m.

On Saturday, the village sales continue from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. and the American folk-country Western group Easy Pickin's is to provide the strolling music in the Mills and on Clarkston's Main Street.

There'll be concerts inside the Clarkston Mills from 1 to 3 p.m. when students of the Clarkston Conservatory of Music perform free of charge. Beginning at 7:30 p.m. pianist Brian Connelly, who has performed at Carnegie Hall, shall present a concert in the mall. Tickets are $3 and they may be purchased in advance at The Drop'd Stitch in the mall or at Tierra Arts & Design on Main Street.

Rounding off the weekend, the Clarkston Conservatory's instructors are to present chamber music in the mall at 3:30 p.m. on Sunday, May 23. The $3 tickets may be purchased at Tierra Arts or The Drop'd Stitch.

The Spring Stroll is sponsored by the Clarkston Business Association.

Business brief

Dr. Tarlika Dhabuwala Dr. Bhupendra Patel

Family practice

A new family practice partnership opened May 1 in the Clarkston Medical Center, 5790 M-15, near Dixie Highway in Independence Township.

Tarlika Dhabuwala, M.D. and Bhupendra Patel, M.D. both received their medical degrees from Bombay University, India, but they did not meet until working on their three-year family practice residencies at Pontiac General Hospital.

Before coming to Clarkston, Dhabuwala worked as a physician with a general practice in Bombay, and in the emergency room at Hutzel Hospital, Detroit. She presently divides her time between the Clarkston office and the Community Medical Center in Warren. She resides in Bloomfield Township with her husband, Dr. C.B. Dhabuwala, a urologist and member of the faculty at Wayne State University, Detroit.

She is on staff at Pontiac General Hospital and is in the process of receiving a staff position at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac.

Patel completed his internship in India and South Africa before coming to Pontiac. He has worked two years at Lakeside Community Health Center in Pontiac, where he now also works part time.

He and his wife, Hansa, reside in Bloomfield Township with their son, 7-year-old Sameer, and daughter, 3-year-old Sheeta.

Patel is on the staff of Pontiac General and St. Joseph Mercy hospitals.

The two family practitioners decided to open their office in Clarkston at the suggestion of Dr. John Naz, whose office is located in the same building.

"Dr. Naz was aware of the fact I was looking for a place to practice, and Dr. Buehrig retired," Pantel said. "When Dr. Naz got ahold of me, I thought it was a good place with good people."

Dhabuwala and Pantel's office is in Dr. Robert Buehrig's former location.

Hours are 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. Monday through Friday and 9 a.m. to noon Saturday. Call 625-7200 for more information.

Senior complex hits planners

Local developer Hugh Garner continues pursuit of his proposed $18 million senior citizens village planned for construction on land shared by Springfield and Independence townships.

Garner, owner of Winchester Real Estate, is to come before the Springfield Township Planning Commission May 18 for recommendation on rezoning of Springfield's 13 landlocked acres zoned for high intensity commercial use.

The full proposal includes development of 27 acres in Independence Township, bound to commercial development by a 1976 consent judgment.

To date, Independence has warmly received

Garner's proposal, endorsed by the Senior Citizens' Task Force, but finds Springfield Supervisor Collin Walls questioning the cost of living in the complex for median and low income couples.

Garner has described the proposed development as similar to Porter Hills, the model village in Grand Rapids.

The $18 million complex offers several different modes of housing with duplexes, housekeeping and non-housekeeping apartments, a nursing center, supportive care unit and social dining area.

The planning commission is scheduled to hear the case May 18 at 7:30 p.m. at Springfield Township Hall, 650 Broadway, Davisburg.

Rock 'n' roll show plans fold

Officials of the 4-H Fair Board lost a bid to host a rock concert featuring Mitch Ryder at the Springfield Oaks County Park in August, as the plan went down to township board defeat May 12.

With hopes of seeing attendance hit the 8,500 mark with tickets going for $5 and $6 a shot, 4-H Fair Board member Shirley Hines presented her plan outlining volunteer patrol from the Oakland County Sheriff's Department and the county's safety division.

The plan included the exclusion of alcohol in the concert arena, erection of 30 portable toilets, use of auxiliary fields to handle overflow parking and compliance to the township's noise code.

"I think you're drifting away from the concept of a 4-H fair," said Trustee Glen Vermilye.

Clerk J. Calvin Walters echoed the comment.

"I can't see mixing rock and roll concerts with a 4-H fair," Walters said, motioning for denial.

Even with Supervisor Collin Walls call to secure additional security, guarantee 30 toilets and place control of music levels with the township, the plan was defeated in a 3-2 vote. Walls and Treasurer Patricia Kramer voted "yes." Walters, Vermilye and Trustee William Whitley voted "no."

The concert, featuring Mitch Ryder, the Look and Mayhem, was to be held in conjunction with the 4-H's annual summer carnival and fair which features a parade and traditional animal judging.

Scout director

Bruce Shull has been elected to a three-year term as a member-at-large for the Northern Oakland Girl Scout Council Board of Directors.

Shull, who resides on Allen Road in Independence Township, is employed by the Chrysler Corp. as manager of professional recruitment and placement.

He has served as assistant scout master of Warren Boy Scouts and in 1981 as personnel advisor to the Northern Oakland Girl Scout Council.

Sun-Day

"Oh look, they missed a pile," said Julie Rosser, pointing to a freshly swept mound of cigarette butts, gum wrappers and general debris on the steps of Clarkston High School.

A crew of 90 students began sweeping, raking, cutting, trimming, painting and planting CHS's grounds at 7 a.m. May 14, and didn't stop until late afternoon.

The final result: A sparkling campus, fresh flowers, neatly trimmed shrubs and spanking clean benches, all in honor of Sun-Day, the fifth annual spring cleaning for school improvement.

Under the direction of teacher Gary Nustad, students labored, joked and laughed, easily gripping rakes and wearing out their knees as they tackled flower beds.

All year long industrial oil drums transformed into colorful outdoor waste containers will remind the student body of Sun-Day, and the 90 volunteers who worked to keep CHS clean.

Building trades' year worth of hard work is going up for sale

By Marilyn Trumper

Fifty years from now Brian Sommer, on a trip home to Independence Township, might drive down Goldfinch Lane in Birdland to the Hummingbird Lane junction, point to a contemporary tri-level and say to his grandchildren, "I built that."

Maybe he'll get out of the car and take a walk around the place, remembering how he and Clarkston High classmates laid the brick and shingled the roof, and every two-by-four he nailed into the walls.

He'll recall landscaping the front yard in the hot May sun of 1982, laying the dining room's hardwood floor in one of Michigan's worst winters and how tricky it was putting up the diagonal paneling in the family room.

It was a pleasure to work on the backyard deck in the morning shade, and stuccoing the garage ceiling was one of the dirtiest jobs.

In the general course of time, that house is expected to still be standing in the year 2032, thanks to the hard work of determination of Clarkston High's 1982 building trades class.

The 1,960-square-foot home boasts textured ceilings, a bay window, pine door trim, tongue and groove oak floor, indirect lighting in the kitchen, a family room with diagonal wall paneling, a bar and Ben Franklin-type stove. French doors open onto the backyard deck.

Upstairs, there are three bedrooms. Downstairs, two full baths, one with a whirlpool.

The crew of 26 young men, green on carpentry, electricity and masonry, began work two weeks after school opened last fall.

Seasoned carpenters now, they present the finished product June 6 in an open house. The minimum asking price is $75,900.

This is the fourth home to be constructed by Dick Moscovic's Building Trades class at CHS, which hangs in limbo for a return next fall with budget cuts and revenue decreases.

"A lot depends on whether we sell this house," Moscovic said. "I think it would be a shame to lose the program. Not to knock (Shakespeare) or anything, but what they learn in this class, they can use for the rest of their lives."

"Out of all the high school classes, I think this has got to be the most useful."

School administrator Mel Vaara, assistant superintendent, agrees.

"The vocational programs get these kids an opportunity to learn home construction. Many of these kids will go on and be able to add a garage to their own home one day. Do the electrical, plumbing, buy a home one day and fix up the furnace, roof, windows...there are so many pluses in this program."

On several occasions, Vaara's taken prospective buyers on a tour of the home.

"Oh sure, I've left my gardening to take them through, weekends, nights. I don't care—if they're interested, I'll show it."

"I realize the building industry is down—but it's going to come back and statistics show that 75 percent of the kids who've worked in building trades can go on to get jobs in construction," Vaara said. "It's a valuable to have our own program."

Pastors explain premarital counseling need

By Marilyn Trumper

Who'll take care of the finances when Sue and Bill are wed?

Will they have children? When? How many?

Does birth control fit into the picture?

Does either soon-to-be-spouse have a drinking problem? What does it mean? How could this affect the marriage?

Why do they want to marry?

Will both Sue and Bill work?

These facets of matrimony and more come under discussion at area Catholic, Episcopalian and Lutheran church premarital counseling sessions.

Though some techniques can differ between ministers, their reasons are the same—some type of counseling is a must be it mandated by church law or not.

"If anything, I stress never to take anything for granted," said the Rev. Charles Cushing, pastor of St. Daniel's Catholic Church, Holcomb Road, Independence Township.

"Marriage is something to be lived, enjoyed and fruitful. You have to work at married life and most people have never thought about it as a state of living."

"It is perhaps the most important decision anyone will make in their life, and should begin at an early stage to prepare for it," Cushing said, pulling on his 27 years' experience in the priesthood. "People don't think much about it until they meet someone and think, 'I'd like to spend the rest of my life with you.'"

His job is to shake up the psyche and make the couple think about all the possibilities that lie ahead, to give them a preview of the decisions they'll face and the choices they'll be forced to make.

Cushing said he expects couples to approach him a minimum of six months before the wedding to get the machinery in motion and prepare for the six to 10 counseling sessions he requires. In addition, the church offers a weekend retreat for engaged couples, one that he "strongly urges" be attended.

The Rev. Robert Walters, pastor of Calvary Lutheran Church on Bluegrass Drive, Independence Township, expects some lead time prior to the wedding, six months at the least.

"My role in premarital counseling is to attempt to help the couple understand their relationship, to talk out all the kinds of things they'll be dealing with from the mundane to finances, money management and how to communicate. We'll talk about having children, raising children and birth control," Walters said.

"Anyone can get married. It's so darn simple it's ugly," he said. "Just lay down your $20, prove you don't have (venereal disease) and sit out the waiting period."

Walters covers the same points in his counseling sessions.

"I'll ask the bride-to-be, 'Does he drink too much.' Sometimes she'll say, 'Yes, but I'll wait to fix that after we're married.'"

"I say, 'Bologna. You fix it before you're married.'"

"Or I'll say, 'Why do you wish to marry?'"

"She'll say 'Love.' And I ask, 'What does that mean?'"

"As she answers me, she's really talking to him and he to her," Walters said. "I see myself as a catalyst forcing them to address things they may have put off, or never thought of before."

Walters is using a new technique called Prepare II, a questionnaire engaged couples fill out.

The program is sent off to be computer analyzed, and when returned it often gives him insight into what areas need assessment, the strengths and weaknesses.

After the ceremony, Walters encourages a continued active life in the church.

"I strongly encourage they be a part of the life of the Christian church. So often couples come to us and want to be married, they're not members of the church and you can tell by the way they talk to you, this is the 50th church they've been to.

"I think it's a hypocrisy they come to you to be wed before God and the community, and that's the last time they come to church," he said.

The Rev. Alexander Stewart of the Episcopal Church of the Resurrection on Clarkston-Orion Road, Independence Township, echoes Walter's and Cushing's dictums.

He, however, requires a minimum of three sessions to discuss "...Their ideas of marriage, what they should expect, pitfalls, the need to communicate and be open with each other."

Age often determines how much thought has been given to marriage, Stewart said.

"I find the older couples have quite often given a lot of thought to marriage and what it means. It is the younger couples that most often have not given it much thought."

Be it three counseling sessions or 10, individual or group discussion or the use of weekend retreats, the three men agree: Premarital counseling is a must.

Art on display

Local artist Patricia Kessler's painting "Paper Whites" is to be included in the Michigan Water Color Society's Annual Exhibition at Wayne State University.

The painting was selected from over 500 entries to be included in the show scheduled now through June 12 at the Wayne State University Community Arts Gallery, 450 W. Kirby, Detroit.

Gallery hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and 1 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. It will be closed Memorial Day.

Kessler resides on Perry Lake Road in Independence Township.

PK annual meeting goes 'well'

"It went well," said Pine Knob Community Relations Director George White, describing the annual meeting between theater officials and neighbors May 11.

While a total of 180 invitations were sent, 20 more than last year, sixty residents, the same number as last year appeared. Some voiced concerns, others offered praise and all received special stickers marking their cars as belonging to residents and picked up previews of upcoming concerts.

Concerns were limited to those discussed at every Pine Knob meeting, according to White; loud noise, excessive traffic, litter, honking car horns and loud radios.

In particular, White said, residents requested that after all traffic has left the theater the Oakland County Sheriff's Department (OCS) patrol Pine Knob Road north and south and other arteries to spur on stragglers and troublemakers.

Road funds drop

Clarkston Village won't feel the pinch as the state cuts $114 from its fuel and weight tax revenue allocation, used to repair roads.

That's the word from Gar Wilson, Director of Public Works (DPW) on Clarkston's 1982 allocation of $4,840, down from $4,954.

"It won't mean anything," Wilson said. "It's such a small amount it will all be absorbed."

State income for highways, roads, streets and other transportation fell by 8.3 percent in the first quarter of '82, and marked the ninth consecutive quarter in which revenues were down.

Easy riders: Volunteers assist handicapped in 4-H horseback program

By Marilyn Trumper

Every Monday night for 10 weeks in the spring and 10 weeks in the summer, a handful of dedicated 4-H volunteers put aside neighborhood baseball games and favorite TV shows, and reschedule homework and family outings to take part in the Handicapped Riding Program that begins at 5:30 p.m. and can run as late as 10 p.m.

Wendy and Kathy Rollins begin feeding, grooming and saddling up their three horses, a Shetland pony, Appaloosa and Morgan, about 4:30 p.m. every Monday.

From their home on Andersonville Road in Springfield Township, the 13- and 14-year-old mount their gentle steeds and traverse a footpath through the woods to the farm of Frank and Bertha Dennis on Clark Road.

In groups of twos and threes other 4-H volunteers arrive.

Clarkston News

SECTION TWO

The Clarkston (Mich.) News Wed., May 19, 1982 25

From next door there's Colleen Manning, 13, with two horses.

She's joined by Tracy Hutchins, 14, of Foster Road, with two horses.

Wendy Kellerman, 12, of Foster Road comes in atop all-white Chief who, sans bit, takes commands with a simple tug of the bridle.

Diane Smith, 13, of Andersonville Road joins fellow 4-H'ers and Tim Berquist tackles a dusty Chief with curry brush.

"I wish," says Tim quietly, "that I had my own horse."

Since 1974 the Dennises have offered their indoor riding barns to the Oakland County 4-H for its volunteer-run handicapped riding school.

Physically and mentally disabled kids of all ages don preppie black velvet riding caps. A special leather belt with handles on either side fits around their waists as volunteers lift the riders atop the horses, using the handles to keep them on their mounts.

Instructor Jim Ream hurriedly works to set up orange pylons and wooden ties as part of a course. Twin orange cats and a black curly mutt keep him company.

Evening sunshine filters through the high barn windows and open doors allow a gentle cross-breeze to refresh the air. Silence is broken by the whir of birds in flight and horses hooves on the dirt floor.

"For most of these kids, it's the first time they've ever been on a horse," Ream said. "At the end of the 10 weeks, they should be able to ride adequately. Maybe not by themselves, but they'll be able to maneuver the horse."

The dedicated volunteers are humble.

"I like to help out the handicapped kids and see what they can do," said Colleen Manning, a three-year veteran of the program.

It's the fifth year for Tracey Hutchins.

"I like working with the kids and helping them out."

Wendy Rollins, a seven-year program veteran said simply, "We live real close. I like to give the kids an opportunity to ride the horse."

Sister Kathy agreed.

"We like to ride, it's fun for us, so we know it will be fun for the kids. They like the freedom. Some of them are out of their (wheelchairs) and can really get around."

4-H skating party

Roller skaters can put their wheels to work to benefit 4-H at a skating party in Grand Blanc Wednesday, May 19.

Sponsored by the Oakland County 4-H Exchange Club, the event is open to people of all ages from the Clarkston, Holly and Brandon areas.

Tickets, which may only be purchased at the door, are $3 including skate rental.

The party is planned from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. from the at the Roller Haven in Grand Blanc.

For more information, call 887-6704 or 887-5483.

Volunteers cluster around Todd Carlisle of first time. Eager to mount the saddle, Todd sits Milford as he gingerly sits atop a horse—for the quietly getting the feel of things.

A volunteer stands to either side and grasps the leather belt of Stephanie Fenton, a Holly Township resident. This was the first time Stephanie had ever been on a horse.

NWOVEC test proves a challenge to students

The selling of an item, handling an irate customer returning merchandise and figuring tax and making change are all part of the daily routine for a salesclerk.

All of the transactions were included in the hands-on portion of competency testing recently given to marketing/retailing students at the Northwest Oakland Vocational Education Center (NWOVEC).

There were three phases of tests, general aptitude, a written test on the specific vocational program, and the hands-on portion graded by an observer, given to students completing programs in five areas of vocational schooling—retailing, computer accounting, auto body, total office and small engine.

NWOVEC agreed to take part in the pilot testing to benefit the programs by identifying strengths and weaknesses, to benefit the students who will receive the results and to benefit future employers who can use the competency results as a guide to hiring, said Daniel Manthei, NWOVEC principal.

"We do a good job, but how can we demonstrate or show it in an organized, easily identified, understandable manner? The competency test enables us to do that," Manthei said.

The testing also allows members of the advisory boards, made up of business people who contribute their ideas and experience to NWOVEC programs, to actually work with students.

"I think that's the most valuable aspect—a greater involvement of advisory members to students," Manthei said.

Marketing/retail advisory board member and owner of Featherston True Value Hardware in Ortonville Marv Featherston observed the selling transactions.

"I think it's a real good test to give them a little confidence that they are doing it correctly and, if not, to point out where they're making their mistakes," Featherston said.

After he took the test that included counting the money in a cash drawer, making change for a customer, and recounting the money to prepare a balance sheet, marketing/retail student, Clarkston makes change. The transaction is part of competency testing recently held at the vocational school.

High School senior Mark Bernier, offered his opinion.

"As an experience, it could help you out in your job future," said Bernier. "It helps me know what I did right and what I did wrong—it showed me what I thought I was doing right, but I was actually doing wrong, and that way I can correct it."

The tests were provided by the National Occupational Testing Institute. Comments on the tests are to be used to make changes before they are sold to school districts in their final forms, Manthei said.

Musical duo cut inspirational record

By Kathy Greenfield

Joel Burnell and Arnold Brookshear met six years ago when Arnold walked into a classroom and sat down next to Joel.

The two Independence Township residents have maintained their friendship through a common interest—music. And a few weeks ago, they put their second recording up for sale.

Joel, 21, writes the songs and the lyrics, while Arnold, 20, assumes the production duties.

"I look at it as he provides the message and I basically put it to music," explains Arnold.

Their first effort about eight months ago was a 45 rpm recording that featured a song called "The Light."

Their latest venture has a more professional sound, they say, and it's a 33 1/3 rpm extended-play record titled "Inspirations by Joel Burnell." Produced by Arnold Brookshear on his label, Sun Dance Productions, the record is available at The Record Bin in the Waterfall Plaza on Dixie Highway in Waterford Township. It costs $3.79.

Joel's songs are written to be inspirational, a term he uses to indicate there's more to his music than simple gospel singing.

"It seems like there's kind of gloom over everything," Joel says. "It seems like people are trying to find hope—that's why I call my music more inspirational than gospel."

"I try to bring the gospel message," he adds. "The word gospel means good news, and the gospel means faith or hope—it covers a wide range of things."

Arnold's role in the recording is more a reflection of his interest in behind-the-scenes work.

"It's given me an opportunity to give me some of the things I wouldn't have been able to do—produce a record, to get my own label, to do more than just perform," he says.

"It's kind of like a dream come true. We've always been interested in music. I never thought we could do something like this, so it's kind of nice."

They worked on the recording for about five weeks, spending almost every day for three weeks on the project.

The background music was recorded in a small studio Arnold has set up in his home.

Once the music was on tape, they headed to a recording studio in Southfield where Joel's singing was added, and a master tape was made. The final step was to mail the tape to a pressing company.

Total cost was about $1,200, far less expensive than if they had others do most of the work, they say.

Any money Joel makes from record sales or singing engagements will go back into music, he says. Arnold's goal is to help pay for his education.

Friends since junior high school, Joel Burnell (left) and Arnold Brookshear are now university students. The two young men put their common interest in music to work by making records.

A junior at Oakland University, Rochester, Arnold's summer plans include attending sound engineering school in Chillicothe, Ohio.

"I'd like to take this interest into film production somehow, either in technical or sound track production," he says.

Joel, a senior at OU, is majoring in biology, and he plans to attend medical school.

"I've been trying to juggle school and singing, both of them I really like. I tried not to cut either one out," he says. "Actually my first love is singing and music, I'm happiest when I do that. Pretty much, this summer I'll look at them both. I'll just go forward with both of them until one chokes the other out."

Luxury energy-saving home open for viewing

The "Approaching Zero Energy Home" sits on a hill in Deer Lake Farms subdivision, its multi-windowed front facing directly south.

Use of the sun's warmth for heating is only a portion of the energy-saving features which will add up to 50- to 70-percent savings on utility costs over existing homes, said builder Dick Cascaddan, owner of Cascaddan Building Inc. of Clarkston and three-year resident of Independence Township.

Doing business

"It's kind of like the gas guzzlers, the cars are becoming obsolete—the same thing is happening in the housing industry," Cascaddan said.

The two-story contemporary home located at 7055 Deerhill Drive has been accepted for sponsorship by Owens/Corning Fiberglas, which will assist with a slide presentation showing construction phases and promotional coverage when construction is completed, the builder said.

"Envelope house" is the term Cascaddan uses to describe the home's design. The phrase means there are two outside walls, "which make it like a house within a house, like a thermos bottle," he explained, with the double walls efficiently keeping the warm, or cool, air inside. The envelope feature includes a solarium, perfect for raising plants, in the front of the house.

Cost is $229,000 including the 1.6-acre lot. The 3,300-square-foot home's interior and exterior reflect the luxury expected with the pricetag.

The four bedrooms include two walk-in closets, a bedroom with an indoor gallery balcony open to the solarium, and the master suite with a two-way fireplace dividing sitting and sleeping areas. The bathroom adjoining the master suite includes a solid teakwood jacuzzi and a shower with a built-in seat. The den has a wet bar and built-in bookcases, and the living room's fieldstone fireplace is surrounded by a carpeted conversation pit.

The kitchen comes with all appliances including a Jenn-aire for indoor barbecuing. There's a formal dining room, and a first-floor laundry room and pantry.

The price includes all carpeting, lighting fixtures and some landscaping.

Then there are the energy-saving features—earth sheltering of about four feet on the north side, no windows on the north, triple-pane glass on windows on the east and west, double-pane glass on the south to allow solar benefits, R-30 insulation in the walls (R-19 is required by building codes), R-50 in the ceiling, a geo-thermal heat exchanger which warms well water with an air heat pump as the primary heating system, a solar water heater, air conditioning radio controlled by Detroit Edison for a 50-percent savings, an insulated basement and insulated garage doors.

"Actually, it's almost a turn-key operation—you can buy it, bring in the furniture and move right in," said Gary Sanders, general manager of C&H Associates Inc., a real estate firm formed in January with its office inside the "Near Zero Energy Home."

Sanders' enthusiasm about the home is boundless. He calls it "an idea whose time has come" and he stresses the truth in his statement, "We've had builders who have come in here and they can't believe we're selling this as inexpensively as we are."

Deer Lake Farms developer Hugh Garner is offering 10 percent off on a lot purchase to persons who wish to have a "Near Zero Energy Home" built in the subdivision. The savings would amount to over $5,000, he said.

Those who wish to see the home can attend the open house the first week in June, or stop by now Monday through Thursday from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. or Friday and Saturday from 2 to 5 p.m. Or, Sanders may be contacted at 625-0777 for an appointment.

Discount linens come to Clarkston's downtown

Ruth Cascaddan holds one of her favorites in the shop—a large, cuddly mouse. Behind her are a few of the towels sold at her new shop, the Church Street Linen Outlet.

Ruth Cascaddan sums up her reason for opening a discount linen shop in downtown Clarkston this way—"I wanted to do something happy."

Her upbeat attitude is reflected in Church Street Linen Outlet, opened May 22 at 6½ E. Church, across from the fire station.

She sells firsts and seconds at a discount, 10 to 40 percent or more—if she gets a good deal, Cascaddan says, she passes it on to her customers.

Bright Marushka prints line the walls above racks of bedding and towels, and cheerful accessories said. "I've always thought that a discount linen store would be great in Clarkston."

The building is owned by her husband, and it will soon change from its red exterior to a combination of cream with green shutters, she said.

Inside, the inventory will constantly change, so customers can stop by often.

Shoppers can always expect to find decorator designs and top-quality towels, sheets and pillow cases in an array of colors and prints.

There are also wooden, fabric and ceramic items made by local craftspersons, like a medicine cabinet that may be special ordered in any size, mirrors, paper towel holders, towel bars, bathroom hooks and rings and quilt racks. Pottery bathroom accessories found at the Ann Arbor Art Fair round out the hand-crafted selections.

An assortment of bargain beach towels are due to arrive any day, and in the fall there'll be comforters and bedspreads.

Hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday. The telephone number is 625-9068.

Doing business

suited for bedrooms, bathrooms and kitchens appear atop each shelf.

Cascaddan, who lives in Independence Township, also holds a wealth of ideas she's willing to share with customers.

"The thing I'm really trying to get people to do, because I know times are rough for everyone, is to make things with sheets," she said.

Printed instructions plus samples of creations like curtains, pillow shams and kimonas will be on hand, and she'll share ideas like using sheets for bathroom wallpaper and curtains.

Her husband, Dick, is a builder and she's gained experience in decorating while living in several homes. The emphasis is on things that are "creative and simple," she said.

Her work experience includes 15 years as a medical assistant and secretary. She quit that line of work about three years ago, and the Cascaddans now have a 2½-year-old son, Nicholas.

"I really started thinking about going back to work and I wanted to do something different," she

VILLAGE OF CLARKSTON

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

ON INCREASING PROPERTY TAXES

The Village Council of the Village of Clarkston, Oakland County, Michigan, will hold a public hearing at 7:30 P.M. on May 24, 1982, at the Village Hall at 375 Depot Road, Clarkston, Michigan 48016, to receive testimony and discuss a proposed levy of an additional operating millage rate.

In 1981, the Village of Clarkston's operating tax rate was 4.7 mills ($4.70 per $1000 SEV). Act 5 of 1982 reduced the Village base tax rate for 1982 to 4.5 mills.

To fund its 1982-83 budget and maintain Village services, the Village Council proposes to levy an additional millage rate of 0.2 mills ($0.20 per $1000 SEV) above the 4.5 mills base tax rate established by SPA1982, a total operating millage rate of 4.7 mills. Village operating revenues would increase by an estimated 4.44 percent. This proposed total operating millage rate of 4.7 mills equals but does not exceed the Village of Clarkston's operating tax rate in 1981. The increase in operating revenues is entirely the result of an increase in the Village of Clarkston's state equalized valuation.

Date May 10, 1982.

Car buffs can catch a close-up view of about 100 rods, customs, antiques and classics at the Swap Meet & Show planned Sunday, May 23, at the Orion Township Hall on Joslyn Road, three miles north of I-75, opposite Keatington Antique Village. Among participants in the event to benefit Special Olympics are members of Classics, Rods and Kustoms. Lining their pride and joys up for a photo are club members (from left) Jim Strine of Orion Township, and Independence Township residents Roland Elkins and Bill McCarthar. Strine owns the '64 Chevrolet Malibu; Elkins' car is a '47 Chevy loaded with extras like air conditioning, a six-way seat and power steering; and McCarthar's '33 Chevy is one of only 8,000 made before a slump in auto sales moved the manufacturer to offer a new model mid-year. Hours of the Swap Meet & Show are 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., admission is $1 for those over age 12, and over 100 swap spaces for auto parts fans are expected to be there, too. There's still time to sign up for swap spaces by calling 674-2007 or 391-1671. If it rains May 23, the show will go on Sunday, June 6.

NATIONAL FLOOD INSURANCE PROGRAM Proposed Flood Elevation Determinations

AGENCY: FEMA.

ACTION: Proposed rule.

SUMMARY:

Technical information or comments are solicited on the proposed base (100-year) flood elevations listed below for selected locations in the nation. These base (100-year) flood elevations are the basis for the flood plain management measures that the community is required to either adopt or show evidence of being already in effect in order to qualify or remain qualified for participation in the National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP).

DATES:

The period for comment will be ninety (90) days following the second publication of this proposed rule in a newspaper of local circulation in each community.

ADDRESSES:

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Mr. Robert G. Chappell

National Flood Insurance Program

(202) 287-0230

Federal Emergency Management

Agency

Washington, D.C. 20472.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

The Federal Emergency Management Agency gives notice of the proposed determinations of base (100-year) flood elevations for selected locations in the nation, in accordance with section 110 of the Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973 (Pub. L. 93-234), 87 Stat. 980, which added section 1363 to the National Flood Insurance Act of 1968 (Title XIII of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968 (Pub. L. 90-448)), 42 U.S.C. 4001-4128, and 44 CFR Part 67.4 (a).

These elevations, together with the flood plain management measures required by section 60.3 of the program regulations, are the minimum that are required. They should not be construed to mean the community must change any existing ordinances that are more stringent in their flood plain management requirements. The community may at any time enact stricter requirements on its own, or pursuant to policies established by other Federal, State or Regional entities. These proposed elevations will also be used to calculate the appropriate flood insurance premium rates for new buildings and their contents and for the second layer of insurance on existing buildings and their contents.

Pursuant to the provisions of 5 USC 605(b), the Associate Director, to whom authority has been delegated by the Director, Federal Emergency Management Agency, hereby certifies that the (proposed) flood elevation determinations, if promulgated, will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities. A flood elevation determination under section 1363 forms the basis for new local ordinances, which, if adopted by a local community, will govern future construction within the flood plain area. The elevation determinations, however, impose no restriction unless and until the local community voluntarily adopts flood plain ordinances in accord with these elevations. Even if ordinances are adopted in compliance with Federal standards, the elevations prescribe how high to build in the flood plain and do not proscribe development. Thus, this action only forms the basis for future local actions. It imposes no new requirement; of itself it has no economic impact.

Index Terms: FLOOD INSURANCE, FLOOD PLAINS.

The proposed base (100-year) flood elevations for selected locations are:

NATIONAL FLOOD INSURANCE PROGRAM

Proposed Flood Elevation Determinations

AGENCY: FEMA.

ACTION: Proposed rule.

SUMMARY:

Technical information or comments are solicited on the proposed base (100-year) flood elevations listed below for selected locations in the nation. These base (100-year) flood elevations are the basis for the flood plain management measures that the community is required to either adopt or show evidence of being already in effect in order to qualify or remain qualified for participation in the National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP).

DATES:

The period for comment will be ninety (90) days following the second publication of this proposed rule in a newspaper of local circulation in each community.

ADDRESSES:

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Mr. Robert G. Chappell

National Flood Insurance Program (202) 287-0230

Federal Emergency Management Agency Washington, D.C. 20472.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

The Federal Emergency Management Agency gives notice of the proposed determinations of base (100-year) flood elevations for selected locations in the nation, in accordance with section 110 of the Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973 (Pub. L. 93-234), 87 Stat. 980, which added section 1363 to the National Flood Insurance Act of 1968 (Title XIII of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968 (Pub. L. 90-448)), 42 U.S.C. 4001-4128, and 44 CFR Part 67.4 (a).

These elevations, together with the flood plain management measures required by section 60.3 of the program regulations, are the minimum that are required. They should not be construed to mean the community must change any existing ordinances that are more stringent in their flood plain management requirements. The community may at any time enact stricter requirements on its own, or pursuant to policies established by other Federal, State or Regional entities. These proposed elevations will also be used to calculate the appropriate flood insurance premium rates for new buildings and their contents and for the second layer of insurance on existing buildings and their contents.

Pursuant to the provisions of 5 USC 605(b), the Associate Director, to whom authority has been delegated by the Director, Federal Emergency Management Agency, hereby certifies that the (proposed) flood elevation determinations, if promulgated, will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities. A flood elevation determination under section 1363 forms the basis for new local ordinances, which, if adopted by a local community, will govern future construction within the flood plain area. The elevation determinations, however, impose no restriction unless and until the local community voluntarily adopts flood plain ordinances in accord with these elevations. Even if ordinances are adopted in compliance with Federal standards, the elevations prescribe how high to build in the flood plain and do not proscribe development. Thus, this action only forms the basis for future local actions. It imposes no new requirement; of itself it has no economic impact.

Index Terms: FLOOD INSURANCE, FLOOD PLAINS.

The proposed base (100-year) flood elevations for selected locations are:

The preschoolers gathered around the Encores after the show. Some talked, some touched the clever costumes and some, like little Pam Yaegar, snuggled in for a visit. Playing the role of Kathryn Cat was Kim Lafferty. The play was directed by vocal music teacher Janice Knapp.

Once the play was over, Mr. Peeps (Lisa Hofer) agreed to a parade around the playground with preschoolers in Clarkston Preschool who meet at the Sashabaw United Presbyterian Church.

Preschoolers townshipwide benefit from traveling character troupe

The Sashabaw Junior High School Encores put their singing voices to the task of teaching health, safety and human relations to preschoolers last week. The 23 eighth- and ninth-graders presented a one-day tour of the children's musical, "A Walk with Mr. Peeps," to the preschools at

Calvary Lutheran Church, the Sashabaw United Presbyterian Church and the SPICE program in their own building, all in Independence Township; and to the preschool at North Oakland Christian Church in Pontiac. The main characters were portrayed by Lisa Hofer as Mr. Peeps, Steve Gerber as Goober Gopher, Tina Leake as Chico Chihuahua, Dawn Cowie as Clara Chicken, Steve Murphy as Timothy Turtle, Kim Buchmann as Penelope Pig, Kim Lafferty as Kathryn Cat and Stacy Savage as The Lady.
