Lest we forget . . .

The small American flags blew in the breeze as the ceremony honoring veterans was underway at Lakeview Cemetery Memorial Day. Put on by the Campbell-Richmond Post No. 63, American Legion of Clarkston, tributes included patriotic songs, music, a six-gun salute and words to remember the high cost of protecting our nation. Children perched on a gun while watching the ceremony say it all.

Assessments increase by 9 percent

By Marilyn Trumper

The state's handed Independence Township a bitter pill to swallow with its proposed state equalized value (SEV) factor of 1.0904.

The move will materialize as an increase in residential assessments and tax bills, completely against the will of Assessor David Sherrill, who's fought on the local level to keep SEV's constant and tax bills at a minimum.

"If I've figure it right, and I think I have, the state's proposal means about a 9-percent increase in residential properties (assessments)," Sherrill said.

"Based upon the few sales we've had, I still hold the opinion this increase of approximately 9 percent will push many property owners over the 50 percent (evaluation level, or half the market value) as required by law."

Oakland County appears to agree with Sherrill and officials there have indicated the county will file suit to thwart the increase, determined that the county SEV residential assessments should not increase, based on the past year's sales, and should be frozen at '81 levels.

Herman Stephens of Oakland County's

Equalization Division says the county wants to see SEV's frozen and has until June 21 to file suit in the State Court of Appeals to reverse the state's decision.

Traditionally the township sets its tax rate in September or early October, and is required by law to levy the full spread, which will include the state's factor, unless the court reverses that decision.

If the battle before the bench goes into next year and the county wins, the state must issue refunds or reduction in the tax rate for 1983, Stephens said.

Arson is blamed for Old Mill blaze

By Kathy Greenfield

The proof is in that fire which destroyed the Old Mill restaurant was arson, according to Waterford Township Fire Department Chief Wendell Trager.

"We can now say it was intentionally set. We suspected that all along," said Trager. "We found what we suspected to be remains of flammable liquid in areas there shouldn't have been. We sent them into the state lab and they confirmed there was flammable residue in our fire debris, and there was absolutely no reason for flammables to be in the areas we took our samples from."

The fire was reported shortly after 4 a.m. May 14, and fire fighters were unable to stop the blaze which consumed the landmark restaurant at Dixie Highway and Andersonville Road in Waterford Township. The restaurant was opened in 1924.

"Probably to replace it, it would cost $1 million," said Trager, estimating its worth.

The fire chief is also a member of the Waterford Township Arson Squad which utilizes members of the fire department and police department for investigations. Until debris is cleared and the team can get a closer look, the location where the fire started is only speculation, Trager said.

"We have an idea where it started, but we're not sure, so we can't comment," he said, adding that the type of flammable liquid used to start the fire also cannot be divulged.

There are no suspects at this time, but investigations are underway.

"We're interviewing a lot of people to find out who had a motive or anyone who knows who had a motive," said Trager.

"I feel we're going to find out who did it."

One method that may be effective is the secret witness program which offers $2,000 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons responsible for the arson.

Those with information need not give their names. The number method of identification will be explained to callers.

There are three places that the secret witness information may be phoned in—the Waterford Township Fire Department (623-6665), the Waterford Township Police Department (674-0601) or the State Fire Marshall's office in Lansing.

Boy Scout tribute

marched in the parade, then attended the ceremony, proudly displaying the American flag and their troop flag.

All Thendara Park to attend Clarkston schools

By Kathy Greenfield

When the children in Thendara Park subdivision leave their homes to get on school buses in September, they'll all be heading to Clarkston schools. The 1981-82 school year will go down in history as the last time the sub, located in the northeast portion of Independence Township, was split between two districts—Orion and Clarkston.

In a unanimous decision, the Oakland Schools Board of Education voted to approve the switch after a public hearing May 27.

The decision was an unusual one, especially with school districts struggling to meet financial obligations, but the reasons for the district change were presented well by Thendara Park residents, said Dr. Robert Fichtenau, assistant superintendent of Oakland Schools.

"The homeowners made the point that it would be better for all the children to be in the Clarkston school district," he said. "It's usually not as clear-cut."

Although Orion school board members have 10 days after the decision date to appeal, and a polling of board members is underway, it looks like they will let the decision stand without seeking a State Board of Education rehearing.

"On the one hand we're losing money, but we think it was in the best interest of the children," said Orion schools' Superintendent Dr. Paul Rundio.

For Clarkston schools, the addition of about 31 new students to the district means about $65,000 more for district coffers next year.

But money aside, the decision places children in about 31 homes with the other 136 residences in the same school district, and that's cause for happiness, said Michele Weversted, whose husband Alan and neighbor Dave Reschke were spokespersons for the homeowners at the Oakland Schools hearing.

"We were astounded by the unanimous vote of the Oakland Schools' board members and were very thankful that they took into consideration the welfare of our children," Weverstad said.

"Basically, on the whole, I think (the children) are quite happy about it," she added. "There are going to be some minor problems, but children are versatile."

A meeting has been planned with Clarkston schools' Superintendent Milford Mason to plan ways to make the switch easier for pupils who will attend Bailey Lake Elementary, Sashabaw Junior High School and Clarkston High School, she said.

"We're happy to receive them and we'll do everything we can to make the transition a positive one," said Mason.

Clarkston Postmaster Donald Stoll holds the sesquicentennial die hub bought with Clarkston Village Council funds to help celebrate the village's 150th birthday.

Postmark pays tribute to Clarkston's 150th birthday

The Clarkston Post Office's stamp of approval for the village's 150th birthday celebration begins this week.

"Clarkston Sesquicentennial 1832-1982" is the postmark that goes into use at the post office for six months beginning June 1.

Those who want the special stamp cancellation on their cards, letters and packages should drop mail off at the counter, and make the request. Mail dropped in the "Clarkston only" mailboxes will also have the special stamp. Otherwise, time constraints enter the picture.

"We'll try to cancel as much mail as we possibly can," said Clarkston Postmaster Donald Stoll. "If they present it to the window clerks, we'll make sure they cancel it (with the sesquicentennial postmark). But when it comes 5 o'clock and we have the get the mail out, we can't hold up the truck."

Letters and post cards had begun filtering in from California, Georgia and other Michigan communities last week with requests for the first-day cancellation.

The Clarkston Village Council footed the bill for the unique postmark, paying $111.90 for the special die hub approved by the National Postal Service which fits into the existing cancellation machine.

Ordered March 19, it arrived early in May, in plenty of time for the special stamping period.

School board to talk tax hike

Residents who want to delve into the whys and wherefores of Clarkston school district taxes can attend a public hearing Monday, June 7.

The hearing is required by a new state law, commonly called "Truth in Taxation." It is to begin at 8 p.m. at the Clarkston schools' administration office, 6389 Clarkston-Orion, Independence Township.

In the past, taxes automatically increased with higher assessments up to the limit allowed by the Headlee Amendment which allows tax levies to rise only as much as the national Consumer Price Index, or 10.4 percent this year.

The Truth in Taxation law sets levys at a level that would allow the same income as the previous year unless a public hearing is held and the governmental unit (in this case the school board) votes to increase the levy anywhere up to the limit the Headlee Amendment allows.

Under Truth in Taxation, based on tentative state equalized valuation (SEV) of the school district, the allowable millage rate is 28.7. The school board has determined it is in its best interest to levy an additional 3.1 mills, up to the limit Headlee allows. Three-and-one-tenth mills are $3.10 for each $1,000 of assessed property valuation.

"Were we to reduce the levy from the proposed allowable Headlee level of 31.8 mills, additional reductions in operations will be necessary before school opens this fall," said Superintendent Milford Mason.

The difference in income would be about $1 million less than the proposed school budget for 1982-83 of $13.6 million.

"The hearing is held for the purpose of hearing public testimony and answering questions, and to justify the published intent to set the school operational levy at 31.8105 mills," Mason said.

"The (Truth in Taxation) law is intended to inform the taxpayer that annual property tax increases are not solely a result of increases in property values, but also a result of the tax rate annually imposed by the local governing body."

Residents ignore tax hearing

Residents' voices were noticeably absent at the May 24 public hearing, as Clarkston's Village Council sought to implement an additional .2 mill levy to fund the 1982-83 budget.

"Zero. Zilch. Not one resident was there," said village President Jackson Byers. "I think this speaks to the individual apathy on the part of the public and their financial responsibility to the village."

After discussion, the council voted unanimously to levy the additional .2 mill, which will affect only those residents whose State Equalized Value (SEV) increased in 1982.

Last year Clarkston collected 4.7 mills. (One mill is $1 for each $1,000 of assessed property valuation.) As SEVs go up, the millage rate goes down under the new Truth in Taxation law. Unless action was taken by the council the result would have been a reduction in the village's base rate for 1982 to 4.5 mills.

The council agreed the additional .2 mill was needed to continue offering present levels of service, and an additional 4.44 percent, or $2,627, will add to village coffers, according to Treasurer Artemus Pappas.

Those whose SEVs increased will see the .2 mill reflected beginning in the June tax collection for 1982.

Council says 'no' to Quik-Sav

Bowing to the planning commission's recommendation and attorneys' advice, Clarkston Village Council unanimously turned thumbs down on Robert Eastman's two site plans for Quik-Sav Inc., a convenience food store targeted for the vacant Village Total Station on the corner of Clarkston-Orion and Main Street.

No residents voiced opposition to the plan, although 24 citizens strongly urged site plan denial when the issue came before the planning commission May 3, according to village President Jackson Byers.

Eastman's first plan proposed "the tearing down" of the building and relocation on the site, a move that would cause loss of non-conforming status, forcing the property to revert back to residential zoning which would prevent a commercial business there.

The second plan involved a face-lift of the current site on the same lot. Council agreed the plan created a hazard for entering and exiting the parking lots, Byers said.

Village attorneys via letter have said the character of that building cannot be changed or it will lose its non-conforming status.

The now-vacant service station is located in the village historic district which is restricted by laws aimed at preserving the character of properties in that district. The ordinance restricts everything from house siding to fencing.

An appeal at the circuit court level is Eastman's next option, or he can revamp his site plan and again appear before the planning commission.

Pensive piping

Memorial Day parade watcher Michael Aulgur rides atop his dad's shoulders, his bubble pipe clutched tightly in his mouth. His son travels everywhere with the Popeye-like attachment, says his dad, John of Springfield Township. Although John doesn't smoke a pipe, a good friend of the family does, he said.

Attaman withdraws from race

Eugene Attaman has withdrawn from the Clarkston school board race, leaving five candidates actively vying for the one seat up for election June 14. "It was done with remorse by all means," said Attaman, who submitted a letter declaring his withdrawal from the race "due to present contractual obligations" to the school district's administration offices last week.

When invited to speak at three functions and he could not attend any of them due to job obligations, Attaman decided to withdraw.

"I wanted to attend—that's definitely where I would receive my votes," he said.

Attaman, who serves as principal of the Utica Community Schools' Adult Education Program, has commencement for 118 graduates this week, and he also serves as activities director at Utica's Heritage Junior High School and must attend an honors convocation and sports banquet, he said.

His name will still appear on the June 14 ballot, because to have names removed candidates must withdraw within three days after the filing deadline, which was April 12.

The five candidates still in the race for the four-year Clarkston Community Schools Board of Education seat are: incumbent Mary Jane Chaustowich of 11060 Clark, Springfield Township; Robert Clark of 9765 Dixie Highway, Springfield Township; Sara Lou Reabe of 7660 Allen Rd., Independence Township; Elaine Schultz of 4682 Allen Rd., Independence Township; and Paul Van Klaveren of 6443 Woodglen Rd., Independence Township.

Music lovers: Give band aid

Dear Music Lover,

Summertime is almost upon us and for the third year the Clarkston Village Business Association is hosting a series of "Concerts in the Park."

The Village of Clarkston is celebrating its sesquicentennial, or 150th birthday. To enhance our concert series we are having theme concerts: July 2—Happy Birthday Clarkston, July 9—Balloon Night, July 16—Disney Night, July 23—Moonlight Madness, July 30—Western Night.

These concerts are financed through a grant from the Pontiac Federation of Musicians "Music Performance Trust" and through business and individual donations.

There are three ways you can support these concerts:

1. A $200 donation sponsors one full concert.
2. A $100 donation co-sponsors one concert.

3. Purchase a one-sixth-page band-aid box in our program for $20 for one concert.

All sponsors and co-sponsors will be listed on a full page in our program. There will be a program for each concert.

Programs will be printed and distributed in stores the Monday before the concerts, as well as at the concerts.

Please help sponsor the worthy village activity by contacting me as early as possible. Remember, the programs must be laid out and printed and I need your commitment now!

I am available between 10 a.m. and 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday at 625-2511, or send a check to: Band Concert Fund, Village Business Association, 20 S. Main, Clarkston MI 48016.

Thank you.

Sincerely,
Joan Kopletz

That's the pits

by Kathy Greenfield

I can't stand it. It was bad enough when my children grew taller than me. It was bad enough when their feet grew longer than mine. It was bad enough when one of my favorite expressions, "That's the pits," was tagged an oldie but goodie by a younger person.

Now, I've just found out, I'm too old to be a Jaycee.

I know, I know, the Jaycees wouldn't want me anyway because I'm a woman. But still, the possibility of storming their ranks demanding equal rights just drifted by the wayside.

Wrinkles I can live with. Gray hairs can be removed (not that I have any). I can feign ignorance about past events, say I remember old tunes because my grandmother hummed them and demand that my children call me by my first name when in public.

But the Jaycees will no longer accept me into their ranks.

As I was bemoaning the passage of time, someone thought of the bright side of all this.

Here's the plan: Marry a younger man, one who's young enough to be a Jaycee. Then, join the Jaycettes, the club established for wives of Jaycee members. Simple, eh sonny?

Which is what my husband would call me (simple, not sonny) if I suggested the plan.

Jim's jottings

Touche

by Jim Sherman

Jim Dykes entertains readers of the Knoxville Journal with his regular "Without a Paddle" column. I liked this one he wrote May 21 while we were at the World's Fair.

Many people have asked why Ireland didn't exhibit at the World's Fair. Was it because they didn't have anything to exhibit? Mercy, no! If an Irishman has nothing better to show, he'll exhibit himself.

The reason is because they are furious with the Italians.

My friend, John O'Brian says, "We have had about all we're going to take from those prevaricating pasta peddlers. Bad enough the world ignored St. Brendan when he sailed the Atlantic in a leather boat in the year 741 A.D. . .

bad enough they took the credit when Christopher Collins sailed the ocean blue in 14 hundred and 92!

The crowning indignity," John says, "is when they tried to usurp the rightful place in history of our greatest explorer, Mark O'Polo!"

Irish history teaches that Mark O'Polo, of County Tyree, set sail about 1275 for the mysterious Orient . . . not for riches or gold or spices . . . for love. Mark O'Polo's light-of-life, Peg O'Day, had run off with a Swede and Mark's bag of seed potatoes.

Mark roamed China, visiting shrines where people gathered, shouting "Peg O'Day, Peg O'Day!" The friendly Chinese, misunderstanding his Irish brogue, thought he was using the Celtic word for shrine or church and, to this day, out of respect for Mark O'Polo, such a building in China is called "Pagoda."

The Chinese, contrary to popular legend, did not invent gunpowder. O'Polo ran out of usquebaugh (Celtic for whiskey) and tried to manufacture some more, using the same ingredients used in Ireland—bat guano, charcoal and sulfur. He got the ration wrong, and it blew up in his face. The shrewd and inscrutable Chinese copied the formula and patented gunpowder.

Had the Irish come to the fair they would have exhibited their "Plan for World Peace." If the Irish Peace Plan were followed, nation would not rise up against nation. They'd be too damn busy with civil war, fighting amongst themselves.

The noted Italian philosopher, George Bernard Shaw, once said, "Ireland's tragedy is that the people who live there are Irish, England's tragedy is that the people who live there aren't."

Salute to veterans

The color guard of the Campbell-Richmond Post No. 63, American Legion of Clarkston leads off the Memorial Day parade. A ceremony dedicated to those local veterans who gave their lives and their service to their country followed the march down Clarkston's Main Street. Attending the ceremony at Lakeview Cemetery were World War I veterans, former Clarkston resident Herbert Baynes of Florida (at left in picture below) and Vernon Ridgeway of Springfield Township, the commander of WWI Veterans Barracks No. 2803 of Davisburg.

'If it Fitz. . .

The mayor gets a gate

by Jim Fitzgerald

Would you believe Detroit taxpayers loaned $1 million to Magnum Oil so Magnum can buy fuel to sell to Grand Prix racers whose cars will replace city buses on several downtown streets for five days beginning June 3?

Figuring it was just a dumb rumor, I tried to check it out with Mayor Coleman Young. Beginning on a friendly note, I asked the mayor's spokesperson if Coleman thought the Tigers would win their division this season. The spokesperson said the mayor would issue a written statement on the Tiger situation in August or September of this year, or next.

As for the rumor, the spokesperson refused to confirm or deny, but did point out that Prix cars are all foreign imports, and local bankers are prejudiced against imported cars, so it might be that, because of this blatant carism, Grand Prix drivers couldn't get a loan from anyone except unaware taxpayers who wouldn't expect to have their pockets picked while standing in a soup-kitchen line.

MY NEXT rumor-checking step was to place a call to the top executives of Magnum Oil. Their spokesperson accepted my call but said she didn't know where on earth she was going to put it.

"This office is so full of calls there is hardly room to run around," she said. "Lately, my bosses have received many more calls than they've made, most of them from reporters. If we don't soon start returning these calls, we'll have to buy a warehouse to store them in. Would you loan us $500,000 to buy a warehouse.

As a member of the public, I refused. It is my theory that reporters are merely conduits. They don't call people in the news to exchange idle chatter; they call to get information to relay to the public. And it's stupid for the public to lend money to someone who won't even talk to them through a conduit. If I could help it, I wouldn't buy gas from someone who won't talk to me, either.

Another person who should know if there really was a taxpayer-Magnum-Grand Prix loan is Robert McCabe, president of Detroit Renaissance Grand Prix Inc. But I couldn't contact McCabe because he was in Monte Carlo for the Monaco Grand Prix. His noble mission was to persuade Monaco Prix fans to attend the Detroit Prix. He may also have invited some of them to the Prix party he and Henry Ford II will co-host for the "Paddock Club" on the RenCen's heliport. The club will meet for three whole days and a membership costs only $3,500.

The Monaco bunch better hurry to the Motor City before all the Paddock memberships are grabbed up by laid-off auto workers who didn't have their pockets picked in a soup-kitchen line.

FINALLY, I got a straight answer on the alleged loan from a minor Grand Prix official after I agreed to withhold his name. He said it was a bloody shame that Detroit newspapers are not equipped to properly report the Detroit Grand Prix.

"The official champagne of the Detroit Grand Prix is Moët et Chandon," he said. "There is an umlaut over the 'e' in Moët, but local newspapers don't have any umlauts, so readers aren't being told the proper way to pronounce Moët."

I can't deny the charge. An umlaut looks like a prone colon. There are no umlauts on my computer keyboard, as you can see. If you cut out a prone colon (here...) and paste it over the "e," you'll see the correct way to pronounce Moët. But what does that have to do with the loan rumor?

"Nothing, I just wanted to point out your lousy press coverage," my informant admitted. "The loan rumor is nonsense. The Grand Prix isn't dumb enough to get involved in a million-dollar loan to Magnum Oil. When the city loaned $1 million to Magnum to buy bus fuel, it created a stench that won't go away for a long time. The Grand Prix doesn't need that kind of odor."

"Also, the press must be afraid of a soap company. Otherwise, after Coleman Young's million-dollar loan began unraveling like Watergate, some reporter would have named the whole affair..."

Colgate! Of course. Why didn't I think of that?

Jogger's death ruled heart attack

Officials from the Oakland County Coroner's office have ruled out foul play in the freak death last month of 24-year-old Alan Baker, whose body was discovered along a lakefront trail in Independence Oaks County Park.

A department spokesperson says cause of death is listed as "heart attack."

"It's listed as ventricular fibrillation and cardiac arrhythmia. (His heart) beat so fast it killed him," the spokesperson said.

The Clarkston (Mich.) News Wed., June 2, 1982, 11

The body of the Independence Township man was discovered clad in a running suit early on the morning of April 17. At the time, police theorized Baker had been out jogging when he collapsed.

Wolves bow out of race

There were some fine moments in the Clarkston High School girls' varsity softball game Friday, like the double-play that put the team in high spirits in the top photo. But the final score reflected the unhappy outcome—the Wolves were shutout by the Waterford Township High School Skippers 7-0. Their hopes to play in the state regionals were over. "You gave it your best shot. They were a good team," said Coach Carla Teare to the team after the game was over. "I'm proud of you. You did your best."

First in six years

Girls' golf team boasts winning season

The first winning season in six years was posted by the Clarkston High School girls' golf team.

With a record of five wins, three losses and one tie, the golf team had what Coach Jim Chamberlain termed "successful."

"We placed what I consider well in some of the tournaments we were in, we had some girls who I thought made outstanding progress," Chamberlain said. "I was very happy with the outcome."

The season ended May 21, in the regional tournament held at Great Oaks. The team placed 12th out of 20.

Now that the season's over, three seniors on the seven-member team will be presented with CHS plaques—Karin Karlstrom and Sara Spillum tied for most valuable, and Lynn Burkemo was selected for most improved team member.

Other CHS golfers are junior Stacey Wasik and sophomores Lisa Burkemo, Katrina Lussier and Debbie Spillum.

Chamberlain also noted the beginning of what he expects to become a tradition: the seven team members played with seven faculty members in a Scotch tournament last week, where the two-person teams take turns hitting the golf ball.

The winners were Lisa Burkemo and John Getzan.

"It turned out well and everyone enjoyed themselves, and that's one thing the underclassmen are looking forward to now," Chamberlain said.

Wolves finalize season with 11-10 record

Clarkston High's varsity baseball team finished its regular season with an 11-10 record and kicks off the first game of the state play-offs Wednesday against Rochester on that team's home turf.

"We had three tough games in those losses," said coach Roy Warner, looking over the season record.

"We played tougher teams and lost real close games. Two were three-hitters and one was a two-hitter. We couldn't get those hits together when we needed them."

Highlighting players of the season, Warner points first to senior "ace" pitcher Mark Piazza, who tossed seven complete games in seven starts and worked some relief. In all, Piazza holds 55 innings pitched, giving up only eight earned runs, striking out 77 batters. His ERA (earned run average) is 1.02, or one hit per game.

Sports

Of his seven games, Piazza boasts four two-hitters and two six-hitters and one three-hitter, Warner said.

Sophomore Mike Harbaugh pitched seven innings against Orchard Lake, striking out nine, allowing one earned run.

On defense are the Schrader brothers, junior Ricky and senior Joel. Ricky boasts a .357 batting average while brother Joel's .369 has driven in 25 runs.

Junior Mike Howe with a .382 batting average has stolen 20 bases.

Other top hitters are Dale Hessey with .338 and Bill Weeks with .370.

Reminding opponents of their strengths into the waning season, the Wolves battled and beat Oak Park 3-1 at the Gary Tournament, an invitational comprised of the 16 best teams in the county.

JVs clinch league's title

Clarkston high's JV baseball team wound up its season by clinching the league title with a 6-2 record.

Overall the Wolves boast a 10-6 season record, one coach Kurt Richardson is proud of and credits assistant coach Steve Pearson with helping to win.

"If you were going to sum up the season the key is hitting the ball. We were hitting the ball pretty well."

The three-year coaching veteran cites sophomore Kurt Bottorf and his consistent .304 batting average.

"(The average) may not be real high, but he was hitting real steady. He's a good defense ballplayer and real heavy ballplayer."

Other top hitters include: Chris Bruce with .466; Mark Ushman with .433; Mike Harbaugh with .416 and Greg Molzon with .365.

Catcher Rob Mortimore, who stepped down from varsity to aid the JVs, batted .315.

"His defense as a catcher when he came down the last five or six games really made a difference," Richardson said.

Key to this season's success were the pitchers: Greg Molzon with a 4-0 record and Mike Harbaugh, who Richardson terms his "best." Harbaugh boasts a 2-2 average and a 0.86 ERA (earned run average), that Richardson calls "excellent."

Tennis dismal

The season was dismal for the Clarkston High School Boys' Tennis team, which finished last in the Greater Oakland Activities League (GOAL) with a 0-5 record and posted a 5-8 overall record.

"The competition in the league is really tough," said Coach Dick Swartout.

Other teams in the GOAL sprout state champions, thus the strong reputation of the league as a whole, he said.

But he has no complaints about the efforts of the Wolves.

"Everyone certainly played their hardest and did their best," he said. "We lost a lot of matches 4-3 and 5-2. It was close, except for 7-0 (losses to) West Bloomfield and Rochester."

7 named to All League post

Seven members of Clarkston High's varsity baseball team have been selected for All-League titles in the Greater Oakland Activities League (GOAL).

That, according to varsity coach Roy Warner, is the league's annual way of honoring its finest players for performance.

Included in this year's GOAL All-League team from Clarkston are: Mark Piazza, first team; Catcher Mike Dearborn, second team; first baseman Bill Weeks, honorable mention; infielder Dale Hessey, honorable mention; outfielder Joel Schrader, first team; outfielder Ricky Schrader, second team.

GOAL coaches collaborate at the end of the season to select their best players, who will be presented with plaques at a future ceremony, Warner said.

Rose joins ranks of municipal clerk's academy

At past meetings of the Independence Township Board, Supervisor James B. Smith's made it a point to see Clerk Christopher Rose receives funds to attend workshops, conferences and seminars.

Few, Smith has said, have Rose's dedication to the job and exhibit the self-motivation to further their education and exhibit professional levels of office performance.

The International Institute of Municipal Clerks appears to agree, announcing last week that Rose, elected to office in 1976, has been accepted into the Academy for Advanced Education of the International Institute of Municipal Clerks. The academy is comprised of clerks who have continued their "...high level of educational achievement beyond the prestigious Certified Municipal Clerk Award," which Rose earned in 1981 after completing the municipal clerks' institute at Michigan State University.

"I like to be able to do the job, the best possible job I can. I can't do that if I don't have the information," Rose said, when asked about the honor. "Going to classes to find out what is available and how it's done is what I can and should be doing."

Among his accomplishments, Rose lists: Continuing Certification Program for Municipal Clerks at MSU, and Central Michigan University's Logic of Political Inquiry and Governmental Accounting, Auditing and Financial Reporting Workshop.

Rose was graduated with distinction from the University of Michigan-Flint and is working toward his master's degree in management and public administration.

He and his wife June and their two daughters live on Snowapple Drive, Independence Township.

Get down there and show 'em how to do it

Springfield Township Supervisor Collin Walls is putting out the call to residents.

Get involved! Attend board meetings! Volunteer to sit on commissions!

Don't sit home and grumble about the way things are run at township hall.

Offer your voice, experience and opinions.

Sit on the planning commission and learn about entrances and exits, parking formulas, lighting and berms. Grab a chair at the zoning board meeting and learn about the importance of zoning, master plans and why areas of the township are the way they are.

Walls is calling on citizens to get involved with their talents, interests and skills to fill slots now and in the future on the zoning board of appeals, planning commission, Economic Development Corporation, park commission and library board.

"It's important we see them here because those of us on the board are just plain people," Walls said, calling for attendance at township board meetings. "We can't think of everything. I can't recall a single time when a comment from the audience wasn't pertinent to what was being discussed."

"The people in the audience help us with their comments and input. When they're not there, we're working in a vacuum."

Interested persons should call Walls at 625-4802 or 634-3111.

Wayne Banycky: Modern cowboy

Living out of compact pickup, 26-year-old works rodeos throughout western states

By Marilyn Trumper

Live fast. Die young. Bull riders.

—Johnny Cash

Twenty-six-year-old Wayne Banycky is a modern-day cowboy.

The real thing all the way from his tobacco chewing to his southern drawl and black, five o'clock shadow.

He's the stuff little boys' hero dreams are made of, sans gunfights and war painted Indians.

He's a bronc buster and bull rider complete with leather and suede-fringed chaps, spurs and neck bandana.

Living the romanced life of a drifter, he moves from town to town throughout the west and midwest, sleeping in the back of his truck cab and shabby motel rooms in one-car towns, working odd jobs between shows.

Blowing the travel dust off his compact pickup, Wayne's stopped off at home in Independence

Riders mount the up-to-1,500-pound bull and must remain on its back for eight seconds. In four out of five attempts, a rider gets hurt, according to Wayne.

"You never know how that bull's going to react and that's part of the challenge and thrill. In my mind, I've rode him a hundred times before I get on him.

"He'll turn his head, using his horns to try and hook the rider's knees and throw him off. It's an ungodly force of power."

Knowing that, the psyching up process is a semi-religious event.

"You draw to ride an animal before the show begins, so you know for about an hour which bull is yours. I go away from everybody and say my prayers before I ride. Most everybody does," Wayne said.

He goes to the bull's stall, sizes up the beast and in the style of Mohammed Ali the talk begins.

"You wouldn't want to hear what I say," said Wayne smiling with private thoughts.

Bull riding, according to Wayne, is the most dangerous athletic sport in the world.

"There's no question that you have to stay in good physical shape, but that's kind of second. The most important thing is to keep your mental capacity together. That's 60 percent of it.

"You fight your fears. Tell yourself you can do it and you'll come out all right. You look at that bull and think, 'God, he's big. But I'm not going to let you hurt me.'"

Cowboys are traditionally broke, it's part of the overall image.

"If I had to live off what I'm doing now, I'd starve. I've spent a lot more than I've ever made," Wayne laughed.

"But I love it. I wouldn't trade it for anyplace or anything. I tried real estate class once. Stayed in it three weeks. Said, 'This is not for me.' It required more than what I'm used to thinking.

"I'll deal with rodeo in one way or another the rest of my life. It's the only thing I know. It's the only thing I want to learn more about."

Clarkston News

SECTION TWO

The Clarkston (Mich.) News Wed., June 2, 1982 21

Township to promote Oakland County's 4-H rodeo, sanctioned by the Mid States Rodeo Association, Aug. 6 and 7 in Davisburg.

Sitting in his parents' home on Sashabaw Road, dressed in faded jeans, worn leather boots and a blue work shirt, his head topped by a black cowboy hat, he rivals the Marlboro Man plastered on the back pages of Time and Newsweek magazines.

At that he laughs.

Two years ago, just days before he was to join the ranks of the United States Marine Corps, the former Clarkston high student imbibed in a bit too much drink and signed up to ride in an Otisville rodeo on the Fourth of July weekend.

That's how it all began.

"I rode him. Stayed on the whole eight seconds. All the way to the buzzer. I said, 'This is a hard enough job, who needs the Marines?'"

That was all it took to chuck Uncle Sam's challenge in favor of a cowboy's life, and fulfill his lifelong dream.

"I always wanted to be a cowboy. Even when I was a kid."

Wayne rode the circuit all that summer, staying close to home until he was put out of commission in Sandusky when fate dealt him a broken arm.

"The guy pulled the chute gate on me before I was ready to ride. I knew I had a good horse, one of the best you could draw. But I wasn't ready, and the horse took off.

"When you're on a bronc everything in front is a complete blur. It's like driving around a sharp curve with your eyes closed. You feel the turn and lean into it."

His leather gloved hand fits tightly into a rigid rawhide strap on the horse's back.

While the horse worked furiously to throw its rider, Wayne gave way: "...I went into a handstand, flipped my arm and broke it.

"After it healed, I went back and broke it again—in the same place."

Wayne knows the stands fill with spectators who wait for a rider to be hurt.

"That's why they leave the bull riding to the last event," he said. "They want people to stay to the end and keep buying those beers. And they come to see the bull riders.

"Everybody has to pay their dues. Everyone who begins, gets hurt. But you learn by your mistakes and get lucky once in a while. If you live by your mistakes, you get killed."

The cowboy speculates he's ridden 200 head of stock, "And not one of them bucks the same way. Not even the same animal will buck the same way twice.

"Riding a bull is like 'a hurricane dancing with a kite,'" he said, borrowing a few of Johnny Cash's words.

Every cowboy's responsible for his own equipment maintenance and purchase. "You're looking at about $1,500 right here in this little bag,"

Wayne said, offering a look at leather gloves, custom leather and suede-fringed chaps, spurs and custom harnesses.

Heather Anne Unsworth takes her teddy bear to all important events, like Memorial Day parades. Standing with Heather are her parents, Pat and Rob of Deer Lake Court, Independence Township.

Parade pals

Angela Ferrell of Hubbard Road knows balloons are important parade ingredients.

Ted Wagg and his son Michael brought their own flag to the parade, an appropriate gesture for Memorial Day. The Wagg's reside on Flemings Lake Road in Independence Township.

She celebrates sixes galore

Carolyn Harned considers six her lucky number, and she's adding one more of the digit to her vital statistics this month when she turns 16. Born 6-6-66 in the sixth hour of the day, she weighed 6 pounds, 7 ounces. A sophomore at Clarkston High School, Carolyn says her number shows up at unexpected times, like when she won a prize at an amusement park. There are no special plans for her birthday other than attending a Pine Knob concert. "I haven't thought about a gift for my birthday," she says, adding with a laugh, "a car, of course would be nice." Perhaps a V-6?

Couple to wed

Genevieve and Donald Dryden of Parkwood Court, Waterford Township, announce the engagement of their daughter Denise Ann to Marty Mazer, son of Edward and Shirley Mazer of West Bloomfield. The bride-to-be is a 1981 Clarkston High School graduate. Wedding plans have been set for March 1983.

10 years of work

Oakland County Parks Manager Eric Reickel was recently honored for 10 years of service by the Oakland County Parks and Recreation Commission. He was cited for his leadership in such projects as development of Independence Oaks, the Wave-Action Swimming Pool, and the Water Slide. His contributions to the field of parks and recreation were also saluted including 10-year membership in the Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments, and participation as past president and member of the board of directors of the Michigan Recreation and Park Association and current chairmanship of the public affairs committee. He is currently chairman of the Board of Regents of the National Recreation and Park Association Revenue Sources Management School. Reickel resides in Independence Township.

Jaycee retirees honored

There was a surprise in store for two Clarkston Jaycees as their fellow club members presented the Jaycees International Senator Awards during the Community Awards Banquet held May 20. At left, Bruce Shull accepts the honorary title and, below, James Brueck (left) accepts his award from Jaycee Jim Randall. Brueck has been a member of the club since 1972, and Shull's membership began in 1977. Shull and Brueck will retire from the Jaycee organization this year when they reach their 36th birthdays, the upper limit for membership. The award was voted on by the local chapter and then had to be approved on the national level. After months of wading through red tape, the awards arrived only one day before the planned presentation.

Honors

Clarkston High School senior Stacy Nichols has been named a 1982 United States National Award winner in speech and drama by the U.S. Achievement Academy.

She was nominated for the honor by CHS teacher Barbara Gibson for outstanding work in the school's theater group.

Stacy is also listed in the latest edition of "Who's Who Among American High School Students," and she was selected the outstanding member of the Academy Singers, a group of high school students enrolled in the Academy of Vocal Arts which meets at Oakland University, Rochester.

Her parents are Therm and Judy Nichols of Paramus Drive, Independence Township.

Recipe file

By Lorna Bickerstaff

Nancy Hall of Patricia's Beauty Salon, Clarkston, gave The Clarkston News' business manager Donna Fahrner one of these cheese cakes. The sample was excellent.

CHEESE CAKE

1 1/2-inch cupcake tins
(use 1 1/2-inch cupcake papers)
2 8-oz. packages cream cheese
2 eggs
1/2 c. sugar
1 tsp. vanilla
dash cinnamon
1 box Sunshine Vanilla Wafers

Blend all ingredients together, except the cookies. Put one cookie in each cupcake paper, round side down. Put in filling. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes. When cool, put canned fruit pie filling on top—cherries, blueberries or whatever you like. Makes about 2 dozen.

Now is the time to register for the Camp Wanna-Read-a-Book Summer Reading Club, open to all interested readers in grades one through six.

If participants do not have a library card, it will be necessary to apply for one. Registration will be accepted now through June 19, with the first meeting June 16. A certificate will be awarded to everyone who reads a minimum of eight books. Registrations must be made in person.

Vacation planning this summer can have added zest for members of the Independence Township Library.

The Clarkston Community Historical Society recently gave the library a gift of unique books.

Four of these are "Country Inns of America" which cover upper and lower New England, California, New York and mid-Atlantic states.

Color plates and pictures show charming 18th and 19th century hotels and inns. Directions and descriptions are given and, in some cases, prices as well.

Also available are two guides to architecture in California. One is for Los Angeles and southern California and the other, San Francisco and northern California. The guides contain street maps, descriptions and hours.

Travelers going south or to the tidewater area will find a wealth of beautiful buildings to visiting in "The Virginia Landmarks Register." Line drawings show the county location. "Great Southern Mansions" pictures homes in nine states. "Maryland: A New Guide to the Old Line State" gives extensive history and description to places of interest in that area.

Superb narration and pictures are found in the most recent update of the National Trust book of "Great Houses of Britain."

"Essential New York" includes the history and description of Manhattan's buildings, parks and bridges.

David Gebhard's "Guide to the Architecture of Minnesota" completes the list.

"Quality Proves Performance"

His business makes goals more than dreams

Jim Butzine is into helping people become what they want to be.

He recently started a part-time business, Personal Management Institute, which offers programs in motivation with emphasis on goal-setting.

Jim Butzine

"Because of my personal experience, I'm interested in programs for young people and families," said Butzine, a social worker for Clarkston Community Schools and director of SCAMP, a summer camp program for children with special needs.

"A lot of people have goals, but they're too vague—instead of a goal, they're like a dream.

They're concepts they would really like to do, but action never follows," he said. "But if you set a goal, you set a plan of action to really get there. Instead of going through life letting things happen to you, you can make things happen."

The programs include cassette tapes, manuals and plans of action. During each of the 12 to 16 weeks the programs run, there are group sessions led by Butzine or one of his employees.

"The idea is multi-sensory. The more senses you use to learn something, the better chance you have of adding it to your knowledge base," he said. "It has a high potential to work."

Doing business

The five main programs Butzine sells were selected for their emphasis on young people and families:

- Adventures in Growth for pupils ages 8 to 11 teaches goal setting, problem solving and positive attitude development.

- Guide to Academic Success is for junior and senior high school students. It includes study skills and positive attitude development.

- Making of a Champion is for athletes from junior high school through adults. All areas from team to individual sports are included, for the program doesn't teach skills, but works on confidence building, concentration and developing a winning attitude.

- Dynamics of Personal Leadership covers late high school students through adults. Its purpose is to aid in goal setting and fulfilling goals with plans of action.

- Creative Family Living helps families set priorities and act on them. A preventive-type program, it's designed to produce family stability.

"The reason I really got into this is I have been involved in motivation with families and children for 14 years," Butzine said. "And by the time I get involved, the condition has existed for so long people aren't motivated to make changes. If they had set goals earlier, they would not be in the jam they're in."

Bliss attends post course out east

Emily Bliss, supervisor of postal operations at the Clarkston Post Office, just returned from three weeks at the Postal Service Training and Development Institute in Potomac, Md. The management training course included classwork "eight hours a day, five days a week, 15 days of it, 120 hours," she said. "It was really interesting. I enjoyed every day I was there." The course, paid for and conducted by the United States Postal Service, included the topics of sales and finance, mail processing, miscellaneous delivery services and city delivery. There were 35 people in the class from all over the United States, she said. A Clarkston Post Office employee since 1963, Bliss assumed her present position in 1975. She resides in Independence Township.

Million-dollar meeting

Robert Olsen of the financial planning and insurance firm of Oakley, Olsen and Associates of Clarkston is to be among about 4,600 members of the Million Dollar Round Table gathering in June in Atlanta. A Thirty-nine countries around the world are to be represented at the Life Insurance Association's 55th annual meeting which includes seminars in such areas as estate planning, taxes, inflation and law.

Jakus returns from Scandinavia tour

Claudia Jakus of Clarkston Travel Bureau recently returned from a week's trip to Helsinki, Finland, and Stockholm, Sweden.

The trip was sponsored by the Michigan Chapter of the American Society of Travel Agents of which Clarkston Travel has been an active member for many years.

Highlight of the Helsinki visit was the May Day Celebration—the coming of spring. Included in the week's itinerary was a train ride to Turku, the former capital of Finland, and a cruise aboard the Silja steamer to Stockholm.

Sightseeing in Stockholm included Old Town, City Hall and the 350-year-old warship Wasa which was discovered and raised in 1951.

Dr. Bush: Keeping on top of scoliosis

Dr. R. Alan Bush, a chiropractor, recently attended a seminar on the scoliosis, a condition commonly referred to as curvature of the spine, which affects some 600,000 American children.

The seminar was rewarding, because of the results obtainable in correction of progressive rotatory scoliosis, Bush said.

Upon completion of the seminar, Bush received a certificate of competency in the scoliosis screening procedure.

Bush's office, the Clarkston Chiropractic Life Center, is located on Dixie Highway in Independence Township.

This is the house CHS built

... this is the crew that lifted the hammers. . . put up the walls . . .

Landscaping the front and backyard marks the completion of the $75,900 contemporary tri-level built from the foundation up by Clarkston High School's Building Trades class, with June 6 targeted for open house.

The crew of 26 young men have worked diligently under the direction of instructor Dick Moscovic since the second week of school to arrive at their finished product.

The 1,960-square-foot house on Goldfinch Lane, Independence Township, boasts textured ceilings, a bay window, pine door trim, tongue and groove oak floor, indirect lighting in the kitchen, a family room with diagonal wall paneling, a bar and Ben Franklin-type stove. French doors open onto the backyard deck.

Upstairs there are three bedrooms. Downstairs two full baths, one with a whirlpool.

For information on the house, call 625-4402.

Raising rakes, hammers, axes and implements of construction are some of the members of Clarkston High School's Building Trades crew.

The group worked to build the contemporary tri-level on Goldfinch Lane, Independence Township. From left: Bill Mansfield, Pat
