Readers' masquerade

Teen shares bad drug experience

By Kathy Greenfield

Jane's in trouble, and she knows it.

A 16-year-old high school junior who describes herself as an occasional drug user, she decided to try cocaine.

"They kept asking why I didn't want to try it. I said, 'I don't know.' So I decided to try it," she says, referring to two friends.

"That night, I decided I was going to die or something. I couldn't go to sleep until quarter after 5."

The feeling didn't go away.

It's nearly a week later and she's in the doctor's office. Aside from a pale complexion, she looks like most other girls her age. She wears her hair pulled back with barrettes, and wears neck chains, a cotton shirt, stylish jeans and the latest in tennis shoes.

The doctor suspects that instead of taking cocaine as she thought, Jane took a drug called PCP (phencyclidine), an animal tranquilizer which carries bad side-effects.

She's been light-headed, scared to sleep—"I thought I wouldn't wake up"—her arms are numb, she has no appetite and she's depressed.

"It's like there's nothing to look forward to the next day or in the future," she says, and she begins to cry, as she has off and on continuously since she inhaled and snorted the drug.

"Hopefully it will go away. It's driving me crazy," she says.

Jane is not the real name of the Waterford Township teenager. She and her mother agree that the story of what she's going through need not include her real name and they request anonymity.

What's happened to Jane is all too common, says Dr. James O'Neill, Independence Township pediatrician.

'It's like there's nothing to look forward to the next day or in the future,' she says, and she begins to cry ...

cian. Drug usage in high schools is about the same all over, he says, noting that, on the average, an area teenager who has mixed alcoholic beverages and drugs ends up in a hospital intensive care unit each week.

But the dangers of mixing booze and pills aside, O'Neill also stresses that drugs bought from friendly pushers are not always what they are supposed to be.

"We get a lot of kids who think they're getting coke (cocaine) and they're really getting PCP laced with God knows what," he says. "I think (cocaine's) a terrible drug, but worse than that, they're not even getting it."

PCP frequently results in what O'Neill calls a "whack attack."

"They're mean, violent, depressed and they just have totally inappropriate behavior for what happens," he says.

In Jane's case, drug usage was a casual part of her life. She says all that is going to change.

"I have it figured out that I'm not taking drugs any more," she says. "I'm going to quit smoking and start taking vitamins so I don't have to feel like this again."

Jane talks about the drug usage situation among her fellow high school students, and says her practice of drinking alcoholic beverages, occasionally smoking "pot" (marijuana) and sometimes taking "speed" (amphetamines or pep pills) is fairly common.

"There are quite a few that do it (take drugs) all the time," she says. "There are a lot of stonies."

An appointment has been made for Jane with a psychologist.

"She wants to get over this feeling, and I want her to get back to normal—when she's normal, she's peppy, bitchy—just a normal teenager," says her mother.

Jane used to like to go roller skating and to teenage nightclubs, but lately her time has been spent with her boyfriend and working part-time. She dislikes arcade games and likes TV soaps. Her favorite class in school is art.

The part she'd like to change about her life involves experimenting with drugs.

She explains her reason for telling her story to The Clarkston News like this:

"If it could help someone else, then they know what they would be going through if they got into this," she says. "I want them not to do it."

Here are some 'how-tos' for rookie voters

By Marilyn Trumper

An 18-year-old faces the curtains hanging on an Independence Township voting booth.

Taking a deep breath, the first-time voter peels back the cloth and steps inside only to be greeted by the over 300 levers.

Panic sets in and grips the novice.

Not to despair says Clerk Christopher Rose in an effort to waylay fears and educate first-timers and old hats at the polls.

Although the township has two types of voting machines, both basically work the same way: In the first, voters are asked to declare the party in which they'll be voting. In the second, there is no lever to designate party, but the machine will only allow votes to be cast in one party, that of the first lever pulled.

First: Step behind the curtains, grip the red handle located to the right and pull. The curtains close.

Second: If you're in a machine that requires you declare a party, flip the lever of that party, Democrat, Republican or the Anderson Coalition.

Third: Begin to vote. The far left category outlines what seat you're voting for—governor, state representative, congressman, etc. Follow the category across to the name you want; and flip the lever above the name so a red "X" appears. Remember, the machine will only allow you to cast straight party votes.

If you change your mind and want to begin voting in the other party, ask the election worker to return your machine to base one. If you're in a machine that does not require you to declare a party, just flip all your levers back to first base, and begin again.

Fourth: When you've finished voting, open the curtain by pushing the red handle, the curtain will automatically open and you're done.

Slots for the write-in candidates are located at the top of the machine. Voters are asked to look at the number next to the seat they're voting for and select the corresponding door above. Slide open the door and write-in the name of the candidates.

"Some people don't like to vote in primaries because they don't like to declare a party, they don't feel it's American," said Clerk Rose. "Some don't like the primary because they can't cross party lines. First time voters are confused by all the levers."

In an effort to end misunderstandings, the clerk's inviting all first-time voters and confused old-timers to visit Independence Township Hall on Thursday, Aug. 5, from 8:30 to 10 p.m., to tryout the machines.

The polls will be open on Tuesday, Aug. 10, from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. in the township's 11 precincts.

Independence Township's voting machines are primed and ready for Tuesday's state-wide primary election. Clerk Christopher Rose gives a quick lesson on how to operate the machines at township hall.

Absentee ballots are available

But a word of caution—don't cross parties

Words of caution for those who cast absentee voter ballots for the Aug. 10 primary election come from Independence Township Clerk Christopher Rose.

"If you crossover, the whole ballot is void. Nothing will be counted," Rose said, emphasizing that votes must be cast in one political party only.

"Primary elections are the biggest problem elections for all areas, because people are constantly trying to split the tickets and you cannot do it in the primary. You have to vote for one party," he said.

Unlike voting machines which either lock out all other political parties after one vote is cast or direct voters to choose the party they'll vote for before other levers are moved, paper ballots force absentee voters to be more aware of toeing the party line.

After an application for absentee voting is presented, paper ballots may be taken out of Independence and Springfield township halls until Saturday, Aug. 7, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m., to be returned by 8 p.m. Tuesday, Aug. 10, when the polls close.

Absentee voters can also fill out the ballots in the township halls now through Monday, Aug. 9. Hours are 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday and from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday.

Registered voters are allowed by law to cast absentee ballots if they'll be absent from the community the entire time the polls will be open, if they're physically unable to attend the polls without the assistance of another, if their religious beliefs prohibit attendance at the polls, if they've been elected precinct inspector at a poll other than their own, if they're 60 years old or older, if they've been confined to a wheelchair, or if they are in jail awaiting trial or arraignment.

Four vie for District 3 county commission seat

All the action is on the Republican side in the District 3 Oakland County Commissioner's primary race.

In Tuesday's state-wide primary, voters can select from a field of three GOP candidates—incumbent Charles T. Whitlock, Richard D. Kuhn and Paul M. Stupka. On the Democratic side, Brian G. Cybul is running unopposed.

The top vote-getter among the Republicans will then face Cybul for the District 3 county commissioner's seat in the November general election. District three consists of all of Independence and Springfield townships, and part of Waterford Township.

Profiles of the four candidates follow:

DEMOCRAT

Brian G. Cybul

Brian G. Cybul, of 6431 Wellesley in Waterford, is making his first attempt at elected office.

A 1978 graduate of Waterford Kettering High School, Cybul studied chemistry at Oakland University and received his degree in 1982. He plans on furthering his education by taking business courses at OU in the future.

Cybul is 22 years old and single.

Reason for running: "The problem with county government has always been that they wait for problems to develop before doing anything."

"I think if problems are anticipated and plans are made ahead of time, these problems would be easier to solve. Chemical waste problems in the county are a good example."

"I hope to use my age to develop more interest in government in high school and junior high students. Someday, they'll be making the decisions."

REPUBLICANS

Richard D. Kuhn

A 1982 graduate of Oakland University and a political science major, Richard D. Kuhn is making his first attempt at elected office.

He served as a Reagan precinct delegate in 1980 and as a delegate to the county and state Republican conventions in 1982.

Twenty-two years old and single, Kuhn makes his home at 6471 Wellesley Terrace in Waterford. He is a

Brian G. Cybul

Richard D. Kuhn

Paul M. Stupka

Charles T. Whitlock

1978 graduate of Waterford Kettering High School and hopes to attend the Detroit College of Law in the future.

Reason for running: "As I see it, the main issue is property taxes. My main goal is to promote efficient government."

"There was recently a 3-percent raise in assessments. As commissioner, I will vote to cut property taxes or assessments."

"If elected, I'll act against waste in county government and certainly be on the lookout for any possibilities for combining and economizing county agencies."

Paul M. Stupka

A police officer with the city of Pontiac, Paul M. Stupka resides at 10203 Graham in Springfield Township along with wife Diane and son Ben.

Stupka, 32, is a 1967 graduate of Royal Oak Kimball High School. He attended Wayne State University, where he received his degree in psychology in 1973.

He has served two years as a representative on the bargaining team for the Pontiac Police Officers Association and serves as secretary of the PPOA.

Reason for running: "My campaign grows out of my disgust with my tax bill. I looked around at who was spending what and investigated the actions of the county commission. The things they're spending money on should not continue."

"I decided to do something about it, and when I started looking at my own qualifications for office, I knew I could do the job."

"There's a lot of waste in county government, and I know it doesn't have to be this way. We can definitely change it."

Charles T. Whitlock

Incumbent commissioner Charles T. Whitlock, of 5364 Drayton Rd. in Independence Township, was elected to the county commission for the first time in 1980.

Whitlock, 60, is a retired captain with the Oakland County Sheriff's Department. He previously worked to found the Waterford Township police force, and has taken numerous college courses in management, personnel, public relations and labor relations. He is a graduate of high school in Illinois.

Whitlock is married to Thelma, his wife of 40 years. They have three children and six grandchildren.

Reason for running: "I'd like to maintain the good fiscal integrity of Oakland County. We have one of the best financial pictures in the state."

"At the same time, we also have one of the lowest millage rates—I think that speaks well for our county management."

"I have 35 years of experience in public service, and I think my exemplary record speaks for itself."

Where to vote Aug. 10

In the Tuesday, Aug. 10, primary election citizens can choose to cast their votes in the Democratic, Republican or Anderson Coalition parties.

At the polling places, open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m., voters will choose the party they'll cast votes for after they're in the voting booths.

There are several contests within the Democratic and Republican parties to determine which candidates will represent each party in the November general election. There are no candidates listed on the Anderson Coalition ballot, but voters can write in candidates' names, as on any ballot.

To determine where they go to cast votes, voters can look at their voter registration cards, with one exception in Independence Township's 11 precincts. Residents of Precinct 3 will now vote at the Independence Township Senior Citizens Center, 5980 Clarkston-Orion, rather than the fire hall at the corner of Sashabaw and Clarkston-Orion roads.

New voter registration cards mailed to residents of Springfield Township reflect the one change in the four precincts there. Voters in Precinct 2 will now vote at the new fire hall on the corner of Dixie Highway and Rattalee Lake Road, rather than at the Springfield Estates Mobile Home Park on Dixie Highway.

Local question:

Summer taxes for schools?

What it says in Independence Township:

Shall the township of Independence, if requested by the school districts, collect school taxes on a semi-annual (twice a year) basis rather than the present annual (once a year) basis?

What it says in Springfield Township:

Shall the township of Springfield collect school taxes on a semi-annual basis rather than on an annual basis starting July 1, 1983, and each year thereafter?

What it means:

Because the questions are advisory only, the township boards have the final decision whether to levy school taxes twice a year. If the Independence Township and Springfield Township boards approve the summer tax collection, taxpayers will pay one-half of their school taxes (half of 32.7 mills in the Clarkston school district) in July, due Aug. 1, and the remainder in December when taxes are traditionally levied. The first summer tax collection would take place in July of 1983, giving residents almost a year to prepare for the levy. Late payments would be subject to a 4-percent penalty charge on the unpaid balance.

Voter turnout predictions mixed

Locally, predictions are mixed on expected voter turnout for the Aug. 10 primary election. Independence Township Clerk Christopher Rose expects brisk business.

"We have quite a number of absentee ballots out, so it looks like we're going to have a good turnout," he said. "Both because there's a lot of interest generated, and because there are two local people that are running for governor."

In contrast, a small number of absentee ballots have been taken out in neighboring Springfield Township, said Clerk Calvin Walters.

"I don't expect really heavy turnout, probably rather on the light side, I would assume," he said.

Deputies cracking down

Problems ease in village park

By Marilyn Trumper

The police crackdown on congregating teens in Clarkston Village's Depot Road Park appears to be working.

Neighboring residents report Oakland County Sheriff's Department (OCSD) deputies have stepped-up patrols, passing by the park some weekend nights as many as four times an evening. And the police department's Captain James Curtis reports deputies are issuing tickets to lawbreakers for illegal parking, curfew violations and possession of alcohol.

At the July 26 council meeting, President Jackson Byers was critical of deputies who dispersed those parking illegally along Depot Road at a Friday night Concert in the Park.

"Parking there should be overlooked up to 10 p.m., when the park closes, when we have special functions; and we have a lot of them still to come this summer," Byers said.

"We have the Crafts and Cider Festival, Ivan Rouse's musicians, the Village Singers and the Country Fair. I think we should write a letter to Capt. Curtis and inform him of those nights."

Trustee David Raup agreed saying, "Those are special events, and we should allow parking."

Curtis has his hands tied.

"We can't do that. (The village council) can't do that. You can't say give all speeders on this street tickets—except for the people who live here."

"The council can't just pick and choose what will be enforced. The ramifications of an act like that are far reaching, even though the council means well," Curtis said.

The problem of noisy teens violating the park curfew, reportedly using drugs and alcohol, and vandalism complaints came to a head at a village council meeting two weeks ago.

Village officials at that time looked to the OCSD for help to end the problem.

One 'yes' on tax question

by Kathy Greenfield

As voters, we rarely have a chance to vote on issues that can make a real difference where we live.

On the Tuesday, Aug. 10, primary election ballot, however, there is a local advisory question that needs to be addressed by all of us.

The Independence and Springfield township boards are asking voters in their districts for their opinion on whether taxes for the schools should be split in half and collected twice a year—in June and in December, rather than only in December as now.

While the results will not be binding—the boards will still make the decisions—it's likely that whatever the voters recommend will be followed.

The Clarkston school district has been lobbying hard to convince the township boards to add the June tax collection. In both townships, the boards rejected the proposal, but feelings of board members were mixed, and they decided to put the question to the people.

I have decided to vote "yes" for the summer tax collection. There are two main reasons for my decision: I pay taxes monthly with mortgage payments and I would rather have my money working for the school district than for the bank; and if the summer tax collection is started, the district will have roughly $75,000 more than if they have to borrow money to make it until December tax payments are collected.

In making my decision, I talked with several people about the pros and cons of splitting the tax collection.

First, the arguments against summer tax collection.

"I see it as someone coming to the taxpayers and saying, 'I spent all my money. Could you pay me twice a week?' If we continue in this direction now, eventually we'll need to collect monthly." That's the fiscal irresponsibility argument which says, in essence, that the money should have been handled differently by the school district. If everything had stayed the same, it would make sense to me, but the fact is the state aid formula has changed and the local tax base has increased. The money from the state used to offset the once-a-year tax collection because it was paid in equal installments every other month. In the last few years, local taxes have jumped to 78 percent of the revenue when they used to provide less than half of it. Now the split is: Local taxes, $10.1 million; state aid, $2.8 million. Thus, the need to borrow while waiting for local tax money has come about rapidly and it's costing the district thousands of dollars that could be used in better ways.

"In Independence Township, 60 percent of the taxes are paid by people who don't have (mortgage) escrows who have to come up with the tax in the middle of the year or be penalized." No one seems to be able to answer what makes up the 60 percent—do most of the people own their property outright or are we talking about people who own large parcels of land—developers or those with incomes large enough so that paying half of the school taxes in June would not be a hardship.

Now for the reasons summer tax collection should be started.

"There is protection for senior citizens with limited incomes." Senior citizens who have incomes of less than $10,000 yearly could wait to pay taxes until December without penalty.

"If the school district had summer tax collection, the net gain would be about $75,000." Program and staff cuts could be offset for a time by the additional money. No one is saying the district will never have to borrow money again while waiting between tax periods, but the problem should be eased for a number of years, and then the borrowing should be much less than now.

Traditionally summer tax collection ballot questions have been overwhelmingly defeated.

It will be interesting to see how residents of Springfield and Independence townships respond to the question.

Their votes should reflect how the summer tax collection would affect them as individuals and their attitudes on whether laws should be changed to help public education.

Editorial

Many of us will sleep through Tuesday's state-wide primary

Another oh, hum! election. We expect voter turnout to be near the record low. You will not be chided from this quarter for not voting. Just as it is the American privilege to be able to vote, likewise it is our privilege not to vote.

The campaign at this juncture is hardly heated, exciting or even appealing. It has certainly brought no revelations.

Not that there aren't different points of view. We do have conservative and liberal candidates. We do have business-backed and labor-backed candidates.

But we have also learned once elected, little is changed. Mr. Reagan came in with guns flaring... "cut, cut, cut" came out of the barrel. In the end, we have a new, record-high and unbalanced budget.

In Michigan, we have for the GOP governor's race:

a man many assume was promised a chance at the position, and who seems to have Mr. Milliken's persuasion, James Brickley;

a man who rode an emotional issue to the Oakland County Prosecutor's office (busing), L. Brooks Patterson, who is riding another emotional issue, the death penalty;

a man who is running against Milliken's accomplishments, conservative Jack Welborn;

a man who heads an insurance company and sponsored a tax amendment the common man doesn't understand, and who still claims to be a fighter for cutting taxes, Richard Headlee.

Dems after the same post include:

a man who is riding gun control and support of the sportsmen to the hilt, Kerry Kammer;

a perennial candidate from every direction, Zolton Ferency;

a man who is winning in the polls and gaining labor endorsements, James Blanchard; and three men we heard of only after looking at a sample ballot—Edward Pierce, David Plawecki and John Safran.

We think Brickley will gain from the numerous splits, then lose to Blanchard in November because "people don't want more of the same."

However, we favor the most non-political men, Richard Headlee and sportsman Kerry Kammer.

The state representative race has the Republican candidates hustling, but neither seems to have a groundswell of backers.

The incumbent rep, Mat Dunaskiss, has done a lot of homework in his first two years in Lansing. He has said about all a freshman rep can do is help folks at home. Senior colleagues control the juniors.

In his favor is his stand against the recent increase in income tax. He went against party bossman Milliken, and that's not the way to get ahead in Lansing.

His opponent, Tom Gitter, is oh, so very young. And while he has youth on his side, his age group is not known for going to the polls. Seniors are, and they generally go for experience.

Financing education a better way, lowering taxes, cutting welfare costs, creating more jobs, etc., comments have been attributed to both men...as they have to political candidates since time began. It's getting too unbelievable.

It's planks in platforms like these that prompted our opening comment...another oh, hum! election.

Dirty windows a plus?

by Jim Sherman

Isn't there something energy efficient about dirty windows?

Less heat escapement? Maybe layers of dust disturbed by rain drops diffuses sunlight, permitting only good rays to shine in.

One end of our house drops off to where I need a 30 ft. ladder to reach the dining room windows. I don't really need the ladder, but Hazel thinks anything higher than the second rung is man's work.

These windows are probably the most useless in the house as far as needing them clean. We only take company in there after dark. And even then I doubt if anyone notices what's on the glass.

After all, people look OUT of windows, not at them.

I can truthfully say I have never noticed anyone's windows. I can't even remember if a window is bay, casement, or walk-out. And, I'd appreciate it if people would view ours the same way.

You realize by now I took on window cleaning chores again. The occasion was the annual office party. It's an outdoor pool-type affair when the only use the house has is to provide a ceramic room, with one high window, and one low seat.

The necessity for clean windows had to be for punishment or future visitations.

In the first place, just manipulating a 30-ft. extension ladder isn't easy for a way-past middle age man. The balance of ladder and man isn't what it used to be. There was the constant thought of (1) having the ladder fall into the window, (2) having it slide into them once I was on the ladder, and (3) my falling on the ground and the party being very successful without me.

Hazel said the secret of cleaning windows is using lots of dry cloths and elbow grease. Every time I applied pressure with the elbow I felt the ladder strain to leave the side of the house and tip outward.

It was another frightening experience, even more frightening than the last time Hazel sweet talked me into this daredevil act.

The only advantage to being scared is the automatic polishing effect a shaky arm has on achieving squeaky clean results.

One other bothersome thought is, I distinctly remember the salesman telling us when we built the house that these windows "are cleanable from the inside."

Either Hazel didn't hear him, or (1) she didn't have them when she was back on the farm, (2) she didn't like my sneaking off and going fishing, or (3) she's hoping I break my neck.

Letters to editor

As a voter who came to know Charles T. Whitlock during the past few months, I feel I would like to share my opinion of this candidate with the voters of Oakland County Commissioner District N. 3.

"Charlie" came to the Charter Township of Pontiac in the capacity of Interim Police Chief in 1981. At that time, his long experience in the sheriff's department, as well as his background of active duty to his country in the armed forces, made him well-qualified to fill this position.

What the citizens of the township found, however, was that he also brought a wealth of common sense, leadership and management capability.

This expertise, when used with his position as county commissioner, carried over into many areas, including the recurring problems at the landfills, with which this district is familiar.

Although he will no longer represent Pontiac Township at the county level, this could be our loss, but your gain. I have no hesitation, therefore, in highly recommending Charles T. Whitlock as a good choice for your vote for county commissioner on Aug. 10.

Ethel Mowbray

Support Dunaskiss in primary

I would like to clear up any misconceptions and possible confusion over campaign signs advertising Tom Gitter as "our" state representative.

Mr. Gitter is not now, nor ever has been, a state legislator. He is, however, a 21-year-old from Oxford who would like to be a state representative.

In the August primary, he is opposing incumbent State Rep. Mat Dunaskiss of Lake Orion who has inherited Independence, Brandon and Springfield townships as a result of the new redistricting plan.

I urge you to support State Rep. Mat Dunaskiss in next week's election.

Letter Policy

We welcome our readers' opinions. Letters to the Editor must be at The Clarkston News office by noon Friday to be considered for the following week's paper. We reserve the right to edit all letters for the sake of brevity and clarity and to limit the number of letters from any one individual on any one issue. We don't publish open letters or copies of letters sent elsewhere. Letters must be signed and a phone number and address included. Names will be withheld on request.

Law for few won't work

The Oakland County Sheriff's Department (OCSA) is a twisted, tangled marionette when it comes to patrolling Clarkston's Depot Road Park and second-guessing the village council's wants.

Council's pleas to increase park patrol and put an end to lawbreakers finds cooperating deputies in a damned-if-they-do, damned-if-they-don't situation as officers struggle to understand just who it is they are to ticket, when and where.

President Jackson Byers, who two weeks ago begged for increased park patrol, criticized deputies at the July 26 meeting for following orders and ousting illegal parkers along Depot Road's no-parking strip after a Friday night Concert in the Park.

Byers and Trustee David Raup agreed there are events where illegal parking in a posted no-parking zone should be overlooked, citing the Crafts and Cider Festival, Country Fair, Village Singers and the park concerts.

The OCSA disagrees.

According to Capt. James Curtis of the OCSA, officers cannot arbitrarily decide who will and will not be ticketed.

Curtis likened the plan to residents asking all speeders be ticketed except those living on that street.

The OCSA did respond to the council's request for increased patrol, and that patrol is reportedly working. Neighbors say congregating teens, noise and vandalism have eased since patrols began.

Poor communication, arbitrary laws and criticism between government officials and the police can only create hard feelings and a shabby spirit of cooperation.

The neighbors, caught in the middle, are the ones who will suffer.

'If it Fitz. . .

How I spent my vacation . . .

by Jim Fitzgerald

On my summer vacation I spent two hours cowering in a forest in northern Michigan. And I saw four deer venture close enough to eat out of my trash can.

I didn't see the deer in the forest. I saw them after I returned home to downtown Detroit. The deer were grazing garbage off a Belle Isle playground, never flinching as kids swung on nearby swings and passing motorists braked for a better look at the crazy lawn ornaments.

In the forest, I saw only my friend Sherman, the newspaper publisher, and that was from a distance. We didn't stand close to each other for the same reason: President Reagan and Vice-President Bush never fly on the same plane together.

On the drive north, the car radio had reported the deaths of three northern Michigan residents, from being struck by lightning the day before. These tragic events became much on Sherman's mind when it began to rain as we played the third hole of the Sugar Loaf golf course near Traverse City. When the thunder and lightning arrived, he immediately disappeared into a nearby forest, planted there for the express purpose of capturing sliced drives.

By the time I found Sherman in the woods, he was allaying his terrible fear of lightning by pocketing golf balls that didn't belong to him. He rejected my sensible suggestion that we escape the torrential rain by speeding back to the dry clubhouse in our umbrella-covered golf cart. He said fleeing golfers in golf carts attract lightning. I told him not to stand close to me because, just as the federal administration would be crippled by the loss of the president and the vice-president to one plane crash, Michigan journalism would be sorely wounded by the loss of its wettest columnist and its dumbest publisher to one lightning bolt.

For two hours I stood in the woods and got wetter than I'd ever been before with clothes on, just so Sherman could fill his pockets with other people's golf balls. To pass the time, I looked for forest animals, hoping for an adventure that, properly described, would later astonish my urban friends. But the wildlife were obviously smart enough to retreat to the dry clubhouse. The wildest thing I saw was the violent color of my skin from the red dye running out of my cheap golf shirt.

At one point there was a shrill whistle. Sherman the ornithologist said I should quit sobbing and hollering for help so we could better hear the beautiful whistle of the purple-breasted finch as it faded deeper into the forest. Later we learned the whistle came from a rain-coated friend who, alarmed at our prolonged absence from dryness, had headed an unsuccessful search party intent upon discovering if Michigan journalism had indeed lost its wettest columnist and its dumbest publisher to one lightning bolt.

"If there had been such a double loss," the friend explained, "we wanted to start planning the parade and picnic as soon as possible."

My forest torture didn't end until Sherman couldn't find anymore golf balls. That's when he finally led me to a dry cottage just a short walk away, where the forest bends to catch hooks as well as slices. Under intense questioning, Sherman revealed he'd always known about the cottage because the people who live there are good friends of his. Under even more intense questioning, Sherman further revealed he hadn't mentioned the cottage two hours earlier because he was afraid he'd lose his good friends if he showed up at their door accompanied by a sobbing stranger, whose skin was the color of a cheap red golf shirt.

That night, after changing into dry clothes, I attended a golf awards ceremony in the dry clubhouse. I was given a prize for putting up with Sherman in the woods. My award was a golf towel. After receiving a towel 10 hours after getting wet, I wasn't surprised to drive back to the city and see four deer, 300 miles after leaving the forest.

That's what I did on my summer vacation, and I'm never going to do it again.

Cable TV trio hearing nets balanced offerings

By Marilyn Trumper

When the three cable TV companies vying for the Independence Township contract walked away from the public presentation and quiz last week, not one appeared to hold the better hand.

Financing proved to be a key issue among the competitors.

While Concord Cable Inc. and Multi-Cablevision announced the addition of new partners, Louis Edmondson and Tribune/United respectively, Omnicom challenged their announcements as "Perry Mason courtroom tactics" used to sway favor in their directions at the last minute.

The three companies offered the expected commercial-free "premium stations": "HBO", "Show Time", "Cinemax" and the "The Movie Channel" and a smattering of what are called "satellite stations," those that boast all sports, all music, all news and health in addition to shows that cater to kids' programming, etc., and come in from all over the United States.

Competition was stiff for what each company could offer in the way of for local programming to the township, schools and interested groups.

Omnicom, owned by Capital Cities Communications Inc., offered the township 54 channels on the satellite system for $9.95 a month. This does not include cost to receive the "premium stations" like HBO. In addition, Omnicom offered free FM service, which means residents can receive programs transmitted on the FM frequency and increase the selection; a fully equipped mobile van to film on-the-scene; and "character generators" at the library, senior citizens center, township hall and schools. A terminal of sorts, the generator would, for example, allow the library to type in a book review and transmit over the government station. Or it would allow the seniors to broadcast free health clinics, upcoming trips, etc. Independence Township could have an electronic events calendar.

Multi-Cablevision offered 56 satellite stations for $9.95 a month, with a $3 a month FM charge. In addition, the company said it would provide a $150,000 fund to pay for a community studio, character generator, mobile van, etc., and was the only company to offer addressable converters, which would allow viewers to link into a special event like the recent "Cooney vs. Holmes" fight.

Concord Cable Inc. offered 54 channels and would allow subscribers to buy all 54 or a lesser number for two different monthly charges. A mobile van, studio and program director would be shared between Independence Township and neighboring Oxford Township, which recently awarded Concord its franchise.

A handful of residents expressed interest in local programming, with the Rev. James Balfour, representing the ministers' association, calling for a religious station.

The president of the Clarkston School Board Association requested the companies provide a full-time station director, equipment to the schools, free cable drags to all public buildings and hook-up to Oakland University. In addition he requested consideration for an educational liaison to coordinate between the company and schools, and educational channels, a fully equipped mobile van and internship program for students.

Kenneth Wilson of Allen Road, questioned whether the township could censor local programming and prevent the public from getting news.

"Something controversial like the Iraq-Iranian war or something politically, racially or sexually controversial the township board has taken a stand on. Could they blackout the township?" he said.

Robert Hurlbert, chairman of the Cable TV Task Force, said "...The board couldn't do that. It would be illegal."

Michael Clark, township resident, asked the task force to consider an alternative to a straight franchise. Clark proposed establishing a five-member, non-profit board to operate the local station and hold in 51 percent of the stock. The board would be appointed by the Independence Township Board and answer to them.

After more than four hours of discussion, the task force wound up the meeting and is expected to make a report to the township board in the coming weeks. Following that, it's anticipated the board will award a franchise.

Bridge Lake boaters survive brush with death

By Marilyn Trumper

A six-man boat carrying five adults, an infant and toddler resulted in a near-fatal accident when it capsized in Springfield Township's Bridge Lake.

While the adults and the children made it to shore, Mike Pritchard of Pontiac is credited with returning to pull the limp body of Daniel Rayment from where it hung suspended six feet below the surface of the 50-foot-deep lake. Pritchard revived the 31-year-old Pontiac man.

"My God, I never want to go through that again," Rayment said, recalling the afternoon of July 25. "We were 50 feet from shore when we went over. I had on skin-tight jeans and shoes with foam rubber soles. They soaked up water like a sponge.

"I kept kicking to hold myself up and we kept passing the babies back and forth. Finally they all made it to shore. I saw them make it in, I saw them on shore, and I let go. I was so tired it felt so good to give up."

Rayment, who says he can swim, also said there were no life jackets on board the boat, just seat cushions.

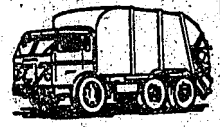

"I've learned a lesson from this," he said. "Never take a baby in a boat, never go in a boat with shoes and jeans on and never go out without life jackets.

"It was really a scary experience. I remember yelling, 'Help me, I'm not going to make it.' I looked up and the water looked like green Jell-O with bubbles above me and the sunlight shining down in streaks. Mike said, 'I can't let him drown,' and swam back out and got me. I was in six feet of water. If he'd have been any later I would have sunk down too far and it would have been too dark to find me."

According to Rayment, the boat capsized when the 12-foot aluminum oar broke and one man jumped in to retrieve it.

Emelie Heber's garden reaps month free rent

By Marilyn Trumper

Seventy-six-year-old Emelie Heber looks visitors square in the eye, bold and brassy, with the surety that comes from age and without embarrassment says in a thick German accent, "My daughter. She's an angel sent from God to take care of me...An angel sent from God."

"She bought me the seed for my garden. She bought me the dahlia bulbs for Mother's Day. She's an angel sent from God, that Maryanne."

The hours Emelie's spent weeding the vegetables, working in the flower garden sometimes as early as 6 a.m., melt into nothingness when she talks about her daughter and son.

"Oh, Maryanne worries about me. She says, 'Mama, you do too much. Slow down, take it easy.' But I say no. I couldn't be without a garden. I believe in exercise. I'm 76 years old and I still believe you've got to have it. I say, 'It's good for me.' I don't crochet, knit—I did that for years. That's all over for me."

"My garden is my pleasure."

Emelie's pleasure earned her one month free rent in Clarkston Lakes Estates, a mobile home park on Sashabaw Road, just north of the Independence Township line. Neighbors there compete annually to see whose coiffed and manicured yard will win them a month's free rent.

A redwood wishing well is surrounded by marigolds, a decorative deer stands nearby, the bird-bath is surrounded by flowers, pine trees dot the green grass and more flowers circle the porch and shed.

Emelie thanks neighbor Eddie Eastman for the weekly lawn mowing.

"Without him I wouldn't have such a beautiful yard."

The vegetable garden boasts tomatoes, squash, raspberries, cucumbers and more.

Emelie recalls when she sacrificed a few lost moments to the green beans.

Out weeding, a vine twisted around her ankle and she fell to the ground. Unhurt, but unable to get up, she was rescued by two neighbors.

"They tried and tried to get me up, but they couldn't. I said, 'Go in the house and get me a footstool, I'll get myself up.' And I did," she laughed.

Her daughter Maryanne Charest lives on Middle Lake Road, Independence Township, and looks patiently on as her mom smiles and says again, "That Maryanne, she's an angel sent from God."

Emelie Heber grabs a rake and stands before her finely coiffed lawn in Clarkston Lakes Estate. Emelie took first place in the mobile home park contest—a month's free rent for having the most beautiful yard.

Herk's rips Harvey Electric, captures 'city championship'

By Al Zawacky

They started as underdogs. But when the playoffs were over, the boys on Herk's Auto Supply were the only ones left standing in the ring.

Herk's finished the regular season with a solid 10-2 record, but that was only good enough for runner-up honors behind first-place and undefeated Harvey Electric in the Monday-Wednesday division of the Independence Parks and Recreation Midget League.

In the other Midget division, Moscovic Builders finished on top with an undefeated record. The odds seemed to favor a Harvey-Moscovic showdown in the playoffs for the final city championship.

The odds took a beating.

After dismissing third-place Cabinetree 12-0 in the playoff opener, Herk's downed Moscovic 4-2 and defeated Harvey Electric 9-3 in the finals.

The Midget city championship and a berth in the state playoffs was theirs.

"Our kids just gelled toward the end of the season," said Eric Reickel, who co-coached Herk's along with Larry Beamer.

Reickel pointed out that in the regular season, his team's only losses came at the hands of Harvey Electric—one in extra innings and another by a 1-0 score.

"I think Moscovic and Harvey Electric were both looking past us," he observed.

One big reason for Herk's strong showing in the playoffs was the pitching duo of Mike Ender and Mike Walters. Walters finished the regular season with a 0.80 earned run average and 40 strike outs, while Ender fanned 64 and posted a 1.50 ERA.

The two handled all of Herk's pitching duties in the playoffs. In the championship game, Ender pitched three innings while allowing just one hit and Walters hurled four innings of one-hit ball.

Key hits the the final game were delivered by Brian Galley, who stroked a two-out, two-RBI single in the first inning; Rob Ronk, who had an RBI-single in the fourth; and Walters, who put the game all but out of reach with a single in the fifth that drove in two runs.

Herk's carried more than its share of impressive batting averages at the end of the regular season. Leading the pack was Rick Reickel, who hit a powerful .539; Galley, who posted a .417 average; Walters at .400; Ender at .393; Dan Lewis at .341; Jon Miller at .321 and Matt Beamer at .296.

The team's RBI leaders were Reickel with 17, Walters with 15 and Ender with 11.

By winning the Midget playoffs, Herk's qualified for state playoff competition beginning this week in Pontiac. The team was slated to face a Pontiac Midget team Tuesday.

PCG is perfect—finishes 14-0

By Al Zawacky

With a flair for the dramatic, Pontiac City Glass fell behind in the early innings Thursday before storming back to wrap up an undefeated season.

PCG defeated the Pirates 13-10 for victory No. 14 in the 14-game campaign, finishing atop the Tuesday-Thursday division of the Independence Parks and Recreation Widget League.

"It was a fantastic season," said Coach Trudy Locher. "The kids worked together as a team—there wasn't one hot shot. Everybody backed up everybody else, and they showed good sportsmanship all season."

The last game had its anxious moments as the Pirates quickly went up 4-0 in the opening inning.

Pontiac City Glass chipped away at the lead until going up 7-6 in the fourth inning. PCG was ahead to stay.

The attack was led by Rick Keetch, who belted his first homer of the season; Jeff Locher, who slammed two doubles; and Jamie Shuttleworth, who collected a single and a two-base hit.

Chris Locher, who finished the season with a team-high five home runs, also hit a double in the game. Teammate Chris Chamberlain had a single.

Brenden McMullen and Jamie Shuttleworth provided the pitching. McMullen struck out one while Shuttleworth fanned three.

The team was also bolstered this season by the pitching of Tim Banfield and the steady backstopping of catcher Brian Riganon.

WL wraps up Mighty Miss crown

By Al Zawacky

It was a hot-and-cold season for the Waterford Lumber softball team, and coaches Sue Adams and Sherril Bailey got their crew rolling at just the right time.

Climaxing a playoff filled with upsets, Waterford Lumber downed the Q.C.E. Hotshots in the finals 8-4 to win the playoff championship in the Independence Parks and Recreation Mighty Miss league.

Early in the season, Waterford Lumber won six straight games before stumbling on a little overconfidence, says Coach Adams. Three straight losses were the result.

Adams pinpointed a loss to Q.C.E. late in the season as the turning point. The team had played four terrible innings before staging a comeback—and although they still lost 12-8, the corner had been turned.

"Since then, we've just been playing ball like you wouldn't believe," Adams says. "In the last 33 innings, we've only made four errors."

Waterford Lumber and Q.C.E. wound up tied for third at the end of the regular season with identical 8-4 records.

Playoff favorites first-place Trims and second-place Country Cords were quickly eliminated in the playoffs, leaving Q.C.E. and Waterford Lumber to battle it out in the finals at Clintonwood Park.

Little League Wrap Ups

Q.C.E. jumped off to a 3-0 lead in the first inning of the deciding playoff game, but an inning later, Waterford Lumber managed to tie the score as Amy Rice drove in the tying run on a single.

Waterford Lumber rallied for four runs in the fourth and added a single tally in the fifth while the pitching of Kristy Adams and Melanie Upcott kept the opposition bats in check.

The teams leading batting average at the end of the season belonged to Sue White, who hit safely in every game and never struck out en route to a .682 average.

There were eight .500 and above averages—Kristy Adams and Susan Lovelady at .571, Upcott at .562, Terri Sherman at .548, Kim White at .545, Amy Morris at .529, Dawn Krajenke at .516 and Tisha Sherman at .500.

Two batters hit .400 or better, and one hit above .300—Sandy Lovelady at .486, Rice at .483 and Jodi Brendel at .357.

"They're a great group of girls and showed terrific sportsmanship," Adams says. "And they're wasn't one kid on the team that worried about being a star—everybody played together."

"I don't think you could pick a better group of girls."

Director sought

The search is on for a league director for the Independence Parks and Recreation children's fall soccer program.

Persons applying for the position should have good working knowledge of soccer and be able to relate well to children and adults.

The program will run four weeks, with games twice weekly beginning in mid-September.

Interested applicants should call the parks and recreation office at 625-8223.

Joy Wint was recently informed she'd won a free trip for two to Miami Beach, Fla., as a result of a drawing at the CAI fair.

About 20 people came to the Ray Loba home to say goodbye to Klaus Matthius, a Niederaudorf, West Germany, youth who attended C.H.S. last year.

The Ind. Twp. Board refused Quik Pix an SDM license which would allow the sale of beer and wine not to be consumed on the property and to be sold in packages.

Ford appearance tickets available

Tickets are still available for the fund raiser Monday, Aug. 9, featuring former President Gerald Ford in Independence Township.

The event is to benefit the campaign efforts of United States Rep. Jim Dunn, the Republican running for the congressional seat in Michigan's 6th District.

It is to be held from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. at Deer Lake Racquet Club, 6167 White Lake, Independence Township. Tickets are $100 a person or $150 a couple. The price includes an open bar and hors d'oeuvres.

"The word they're getting is good," says Independence Township Supervisor James B. Smith about ticket sales. "As of the present time, I have sold twice what I had in the personal draw."

Reaction to Ford's participation in the fund raiser, his only appearance planned Aug. 9 in Michigan, has been positive, Smith says.

"People have said they were always such admirers and were disappointed when (Ford) lost. A lot of them also want to take a look at Dunn."

Because of security, tickets must be purchased in advance. Call Smith at 625-4574 or Tom Rademacher at 625-5071.

Independence Township Supervisor James B. Smith and wife Betty stand in front of their new Main Street home. After 11 years of country living, the township's first family is opting for downtown action.

Smiths move to Main Street

By Marilyn Trümper

Independence Township's first family is moving to the Village of Clarkston.

Township Supervisor James B. Smith and wife Betty bought the Richard Degener home at 58 N. Main, and plan to move from their 40-acre farm on Allen Road to the prestigious historic row in the coming weeks.

"I'm really doing this for my wife," Smith said. "Apparently she's had a passion for that house for years and I never knew it."

"We thought about buying it, and decided against it for financial reasons. But when push came to shove...and I saw that look in her eyes...well, I couldn't say no."

The farm, he said, was getting too big for the two of them.

"I was growing the garden and she was stuck with all the canning and freezing. It just didn't seem fair," Smith said.

Mrs. Smith says it's the way the yard backs up to Parke Lake that caught her eye.

"But there are a lot of other things too. It just seemed to me it was time to do something else and we didn't have the time to keep up the farm the way we used to."

"I'm not sure exactly when we'll be moving in, we have 44-years' accumulation to sort through."

"But it is exciting," Mrs. Smith said.

And, her husband jests, "I won't have that long commute into town anymore."

Kids—celebrate

There's a way kids can get involved in the village's 150th birthday celebration and win cash for their efforts.

The Clarkston News is sponsoring a Young Writers' Contest with cash prizes of $25 for first place, $15 for second and $10 for third.

Anyone may enter as long as they'll be in grades three through nine when school starts in the fall.

There is a choice of two themes: "Why I Like Clarkston" and "What I Would Like Clarkston to Be." Entries should be 250 words or less.

Because the idea is to honor the town's 150th birthday, keep in mind that "Clarkston" refers to the village.

Be sure to include the name, age, address and telephone number of the writer.

We are accepting entries now, and they must be received no later than 5 p.m. Friday, Aug. 22, at The Clarkston News office, 5 S. Main, Clarkston, MI 48016. They may be mailed or dropped off at the office—if we're not open, use the mail slot in the door.

The Clarkston (Mich.) News Wed., Aug. 4, 1982 21

Brian Barlow: Pro BMX racer

By Al Zawacky

It started as a hobby.

That was seven years ago, when Brian Barlow first visited the new bicycle motocross (BMX) track at Waterford Oaks County Park.

He found he liked the sport—and moreover, discovered he was good at it.

Seven years and about 400 trophies later, he joined the ranks of pro riders.

This past weekend, the 18-year-old Barlow was one of the professional riders competing at the American Bicycle Association National Motocross Race at Waterford Oaks.

On Saturday, he finished first in the A Pro Class and second in the Pro Open Class; on Sunday, he took another first in A Pro.

In addition to racing, Barlow also provided some commentary and announcing work for ESPN, a national 24-hour cable TV network which broadcast part of Sunday's competition.

His recent foray into broadcasting and announcing is something that motocross racing helped him to achieve, and Barlow hopes to make a career out of it.

"Things are working out pretty well for me," he says in the backyard of his parents home in Independence Township.

"Who'd ever think when I started racing seven years ago that it would turn into a lifelong ambition and help me get what I want in life?"

A 1981 Clarkston High School graduate, Barlow decided to plunge into professional BMX racing last December. Just a few months earlier, he had broken his leg while doing some trick riding near his home.

'I've been giving trophies away...'

"I thought I was getting a little too old for it and was thinking of giving it up," he recalls. "But after I broke my leg, I just decided that this was what I wanted to do."

"I sent in my pro application in December."

As a professional rider sponsored by Jag BMX, a California-based racing bike manufacturer, Barlow travels extensively, racing and promoting the sport and his sponsor's product.

"I'll be in about 37 states throughout the year—altogether about 15,000 miles of traveling," he says. "And all my expenses, hotels, meals, traveling, are paid for."

It's a thrilling—and often lucrative life. After getting its start in California in 1969, BMX has grown enormously in popularity. Today, some professional riders can earn between $90,000 and $100,000 annually racing the small, lightweight bikes.

"It's the dream of any BMX racer to get a factory sponsor—I'm one of the few nationwide," he says.

Planning his future, Barlow is keying on the broadcasting rather than the racing—even though he recently went through one two-week stint that included five races and $3,000 in winnings.

"It's going to end sometime," he reasons. "I can't race forever. But I figure if I can race until I'm 22 or 23, then I'll be able to stay with the broadcasting. I'll have that experience."

Besides, he already has a house full of trophies. "I've been giving trophies away," he confesses with a grin. "Sometimes, I'll give one to a little kid who didn't win. It's a great feeling to see how kids will react when you do something like that."

Agility and balance are two key aspects of becoming a top-notch competitor in BMX racing. Here, Brian Barlow puts on a show of both while stunt riding in a recent tour in Colorado. Yet while athletic ability is important, the mental aspect of racing is also vital to top performance, according to Barlow. "Ninety-five percent of racing is mental," he says. "If something goes wrong for you at the start, it can mess up the whole race."

Preparations for the American Bicycle Association National Motocross Race at Waterford Oaks included some mechanical work. Back from a stint on the west coast, Brian Barlow works on his dismantled racing bike in the backyard of his parents' home.

Hot dog! Coney Island restaurant opens doors

From taste-tempting Coney Islands, to steaming breakfast omelets to crispy fried chicken dinners.

It's all there at the Springfield Coney Restaurant, the Clarkston area's newest eatery at 8500 Dixie Highway, just north of I-75 in Springfield Township.

Opening its doors July 26, the new restaurant has already become a popular stop for area businessmen, local families, construction workers and highway travelers.

"Business has been real good," says Manager

Doing business

John Ewald. "We've already had a lot of returns—one lady has come in every day for our French Dip sandwich.

"Everybody's really liked our Coney Island hot dogs, however, at the Springfield Coney Restaurant. Regardless of the time of day, the menu has a wide variety of meals to choose from, and there's a complete carry-out service.

In the morning, there are hearty three-egg omelets, steak and eggs, French Toast and pancakes. At lunchtime, there are hamburgers, BLTs, roast beef and ham and cheese sandwiches, soup or chili, tossed salads, Greek salads and side orders like fries, onion rings and fried mushrooms.

Dinner fare includes fish and chips, breaded veal, fried chicken and hot beef sandwiches.

The prices will fit any budget, Ewald points out: The veal and fish dinners are $2.80; a Coney Island, complete with chili, mustard and onions is 85 cents; and a breakfast of two eggs, hash browns and toast is $1.49.

And dessert? A slice of pie will set you back just 70 cents.

"One of the first things people notice when they look at our menu is the prices," Ewald says.

"Really, I've been in the restaurant business for five years, and I don't see how we can go wrong here.

"We're offering good food, good prices and super cleanliness. Cleanliness is a big thing to me—the trainees we have here will tell you that."

The new restaurant is part of the "Springfield Place" complex, which includes a gas station, auto cleaning service, office space and other retail stores. Mike Giroux of Springfield Township and Duke Cummings of Waterford are co-owners of the complex.

Ewald, Giroux and Cummings are all partners in the restaurant venture.

"All the people we've talked to feel that over the next five years, this is really going to be a growing area," says Ewald, himself a Springfield Township resident. "And we want this to be a family-style restaurant."

Currently, the Springfield Coney Restaurant is open Monday through Saturday from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. or 9 p.m., depending on business.

Waiting to serve you at the new Springfield Coney Restaurant on Dixie Highway are (from left) employees John Miller and Danette Graves, manager John Ewald and employees Pomalu Stone and Dawn Marshall.

activities enjoyed under the supervision of program co-directors Jan Kern and Carolyn Smith. Pictured here are members of the "Fearless Frogs" competing in the "Floatable Boatable" contest, where teams of youngsters attempted to stay afloat for 30 seconds in the waters of

Winning melody

It's been about a year since 10-year-old Margie Meehan and her family moved from their home on Paramus Drive, Independence Township, to Holland, Pa.

During that time, Margie said in a newspaper article, nothing was going right...until she became a national winner in the People for the American Way's "I Love Liberty" contest and turned her luck around.

One of nine winners chosen from over 35,000 entries, Margie composed a song and recorded it on a cassette to win a $500 savings bond and a congratulations letter from former President Gerald Ford.

Her song begins like this: "I love liberty because our contry's strong and free, because I love the world you see. That's why I lover liberty."

Margie will be in the sixth grade when school begins in the fall. Her parents are Marg and Bill Meehan.

Get your reserve calls in now to take part in the Clarkston High School Winter Guard fund raiser set for Sept. 17.

While officials of the competitive color guard haven't targeted a site for the big event, the time is 7:30 p.m., and promises a light meal, cash bar, live music, dancing and cash prizes.

The Winter Guard is self-supporting and receives no outside funding from the school board. This is their major way of raising capital.

Imagination

Originality and amount of work that went into the costumes were the criteria judges used to select winners at the Independence Township Library's Summer Reading Club costume party last week. Among the lucky winners of prizes ranging from posters or puzzles to a gym bag were the youngsters pictured here. In the photo above, robot Robert Glover of Stickney Road and his friend Greg Loechtenfeldt of Reese Road stage a mock stick-up. Robert won in the older boys' category. Winner of the first-through third-grade girls' prize was Dana Foraker of Fawn Valley Circle, pictured at right, whose Tweetle Bird head takes a rest while watching a movie. Dressed as a Japanese Lady is Bonnie Whetstone of Reese Road, who won the prize in the older girls' category.

College notes

Last year's seniors on the Clarkston High School wrestling team proved themselves to be top-notch athletes—now they're going on to make their marks in the collegiate academic world.

1982 CHS alumni Todd Thompson and Jeff Miracle plan on attending Michigan State University this fall; Mike Conway is going to Alma College; Tom Hecker is bound for Lake Superior State; Bruce Burwitz will go to Eastern Michigan University; and Mark Karrick will attend Oakland University.

Miracle, Conway, Hecker and Burwitz all plan on continuing their wrestling careers while attending college, according to CHS wrestling coach Rick Detkowski.

Ann's ark

by Ann Glenn

How about a dog walk? The summer season abounds with observations to be made, life to be seen.

Taking your dog for a walk alone or with family members in tow can not only improve your cardiovascular health, but sharpen your senses and relieve tension.

It can be a mode of communication with a teenager or spouse, a communion with nature, or a strengthening of self. And the dog is elated to just come along for the "walk."

A few commands to the dog will give him an opportunity to feel his prime role in life—that of an obedient creature created to please his humans.

One night recently, I walked down Oak Hill Road and watched the flaming sunset send orange and yellow dashing along the horizon, bumping silver and gray clouds, lighting them into brilliant reds. The trees made patterns of quiet green stability against the changing color.

I watched a woodchuck and encouraged my dogs to quietly watch as he returned the vigil, eyeing us.

Woodchucks have front and back doors to their underground dwellings and, in an open field, you can look for the second opening.

Birds are always a source of fascination whether it is a jay working to shell a seed or a cardinal dashing, his color in contrast to the normal camouflage of nature. The lakes have Canadian geese or ducks to watch.

Fascinating ground and tree squirrels stake out their territories on this planet. Ground squirrels race across the street, tails up like characters in a video game. Tree squirrels scold jays or others who near their homes or stashes of seeds and nuts.

There are turtles, salamanders, toads and frogs which are plentiful after a rain.

Lift a stone carefully and look underneath at the worlds of life, crawling, working, seeking shelter, surviving.

Walk and talk and think and organize. Come back refreshed and having been the companion your animal deserves.

Even a cat will follow along on a country walk!

★ NEW IDEAS

★ NEW LEADERSHIP

● PART-TIME LEGISLATURE!

We have too many Laws & Regulations being passed. Most of them do you little good. But they all cost you more money. We need Legislators who listen to the taxpayers. They need to be back home and working among us to do that. It also means they have to live and deal with the Laws & Regulations that they have created. Reduce their pay to a part-time job and elect Legislators, like Tom, who want to get the job done.

● REFORM SOCIAL SERVICES!

Last year each Michigan working man and woman handed over nearly $1000.00 to support Social Services. We do need to help those who need help, but let's stop the handout for those able to work. Tom supports the idea of workfare. Let's have able bodied welfare recipients work for their support. It gives them a chance to maintain their self respect while keeping our Highways and Parks neat and clean.

● JOBS!

Michigan has the most talented, hardest working labor force in the nation. So what's the problem? State Government has burdened business too long with excessive and needless regulations. We must make Business FEEL welcome in this state. If we attract business to Michigan, we will HAVE JOBS.

Kids, cars, horses and an appreciative group of onlookers are the makings of a good parade, and that was the story in Springfield Township Saturday morning as the annual Oakland County 4-H Fair kicked off with the traditional march down Andersonville Road. Participants in the fair, which will run through Aug. 7 at the Springfield Oaks County Park and Activities Center, paraded from the park all the way to the fire station in downtown Davidsburg before heading back to the fair grounds. Events remaining on the fair calendar from now through Saturday include horse and livestock judging, balloon rides, a demolition derby and rodeos.

Marchers and riders

Horses were trotting on Clarkston's Main Street this past weekend—just like they did in the days of the town's birth. It was all part of "Foxys Western Days Weekend" at the Clarkston Mills Mall, as Foxys at the Mill restaurant joined in the celebration of Clarkston's sesquicentennial. Music, special menu items, drinks and hayrides were the order of the day as Bob and Ruth Johnson of Holly did the driving while their four-year-old Belgians pulled cart and passengers through town.

Horses are a fixture in any 4-H parade, and Saturday's affair was no exception. Riders attired in dress outfits rode a vast array of spiffy show horses up Andersonville Road into downtown Davidsburg. Hundreds of onlookers lined the streets and admired the precision parading and the spit-and-polish look of horse and rider.
