DNR sued over Levy pit

Independence to meet in court June 23

By Marilyn Trumper

Independence Township has filed suit in Oakland County Circuit Court in an effort to force a Department of Natural Resources (DNR) decision in the Edward C. Levy Co.'s application for an Inland Lakes and Streams permit. The permit, applied for over a year ago, is one of many needed to mine the about 400 acres near the headwaters of the Clinton River, a controversial issue townshipwide since its proposal two years ago.

In February of 1980, following a public hearing where 200 voiced strong opposition to the proposal to mine, the DNR promised a decision on issuance of the permit within 90 days. But, this past February almost a year to the date of the hearing, the DNR waivered when negotiations for an alternative to the plan appeared fruitful between Levy and members of the Michigan United Conservation Clubs and CREW, state and local groups which have been closely monitoring the proposal.

"We've sued the DNR to require a decision in the Levy application. It's our position that the law says the DNR shall act within 90 days. The DNR feels it can take longer if the applicant (Levy) makes the authorization," which it has, said Independence Township attorney Gerald Fisher.

A motion hearing is set for June 23 in Oakland County Circuit Court where the township will move for summary judgment, according to Fisher. In summary judgment, the court makes a ruling based on the law, and no jury trial takes place.

Independence Township has fought against the Levy plan and three years ago residents approved a special millage to pay for condemnation of 80 acres targeted for inclusion in the gravel mining operation adjacent to Independence's Clintonwood Park.

Last year officials of the Levy Co. outlined the potential 400-acre site, saying 101 acres or 20 percent of the site would not be touched, leaving 299 acres. Of those 299 acres, 66 were targeted for wetlands, another 51 acres would be used for earth berms and the processing plant would utilize 15.

In 20 years when mining is complete the site would be reclaimed into a 198-acre lake stocked with fish and 44 single-family homes would line its edge, according to the plan.

the school district who did not speak out.

Under Act 5, the new state law commonly called Truth in Taxation, governing bodies must set the tax rate at a level which would generate the same income as the previous year (28.4729 mills) unless they hold a public hearing and then vote to increase the tax rate up to the limit allowed by Headlee (31.5525 mills).

Monday night's public hearing was the first step. It was held to receive public input and to explain the district's reasons for seeking more money than last year. The board will vote on the tax rate at its regular meeting Monday, June 14, which begins at 8 p.m. at the administration office building, 6389 Clarkston-Orion, Independence Township.

Superintendent Milford Mason presented the proposal on chalkboard and overhead scene.

Voter authorized operational millage in the district is 33.33 mills, but that amount has never been collected because of the Headlee amendment which allows tax payments to increase only as much as the Consumer Price Index (CPI). The CPI was set at 10.4 percent this year, a figure designed to reflect inflation, and the coordinating increase in expenses. Mason proposed a tax rate increase above last year's 31.2221 mills to the Headlee limit of 31.5525.

Because of the projected increase in property assessments of about 10 percent, the higher tax rate would mean more taxes for property owners. For example, Mason said, if a homeowner's property was assessed at $30,000 last year (or one-half market value of $60,000), the assessment would increase to about $33,000 this year. With the change in tax rate and the higher assessment, operational taxes for Clarkston schools would increase by $104.57, up from $1,041.23

Down at the village park last week, greenhouse management and landscaping students from the Northwest Oakland Vocational Education Center put together some of the 35 half barrels of flowers and greens ordered for $25 apiece by Clarkston businesses to put along Main Street. The project was headed by Fontie ApMadoc, former village president (above) who says she is the "Village Beautification Committee of one."

to $1,145.80. (One mill is $1 for each $1,000 of assessed property valuation.)

Several people who spoke at the hearing were upset over any proposal that would increase tax

"Do you realize how many houses are up for sale and how many people are losing them? And you want more," said Glenn Dougherty of Mohawk Boulevard, Independence Township, "The people are getting riled up and if the people get riled up, you're going to see something you've never seen before. The people aren't going to put up with it."

Dougherty's sentiment was later repeated by David Kithil of Pine Ridge Drive, Independence Township, when it was stated that all governing bodies statewide are now required by law to hold Truth in Taxation hearings.

So all the other districts around us, Lake Orion and everybody, they're going through the same thing," Kithil said. "There's going to be a revolt."

Leonard Cotter of Edgar Road, Springfield Township, also objected to higher tax payments.

"I've come to the conclusion it's not a government of the people any more, but it's a beauracracy now." he said.

campaign last year, suggested that the district keeep its millage rate the same as last year, rather than increase it to the limit allowed by Headlee.

"I really feel that I know the pulse of the district," she told the school board. "I'd like to see you go for the support of the community."

Other items brought up for discussion included raises given to school administrators after the 3 mills were approved by voters last year, the hiring of coaches who do not teach in the school district and the effect of layoffs and fewer students (projected to be down about 300 pupils from this year's enrollement of School board President Janet Thomas defended past decisions.

"All (employe groups) had settled contracts before we went into the millage (last year). The only people left were four central office administrators. As a board member last summer, I did not feel since every other employe group in this district had received a raise-roughly 10 percent-that it was right to withhold (7-percent) raises from four people, Thomas said, later speaking about plans for salary incrases this year. "I think giving raises of much of anything cannot be justified at this time."

She also noted that the proposed tax rate increase to the limit allowed by Headlee would bring only an additional $114,000 to the district, a figure far below the $.5 million needed to maintain programs at last year's level.

'Every time we make a cut, we have twice as many people jammed in here (than at Monday's public hearing) saying, 'Don't do it,' "she said. "We can cut $114,000, we can cut $200,000, but you've got to remember every one of our children is going to be affected by it.'

Just which tax rate to approve was also debated by school board members.

"I don't feel that I've got a right to raise the public's taxes," said Fernando Sanchez. "I think we should go to the taxpayers and say, 'This is what we need, either vote for it or don't."

"I would really like to have more information about where we stand on different millages. I'm not comfortable," said Dr. Stephen Werner. "I would rather err somewhat on the conservative side.

'I have a problem with going with 31.5 (mills)," Werner added. "I disagree with (Sanchez) in the sense that he says it's not our right. It is our right, but I feel it just isn't proper."

Waterford Hills summer racing permit on hold

By Marilyn Trumper

Summer licensing for the Waterford Hills Racing Association continues to hang in jeopardy.

Unless racing officials submit a professional audiologist's data offering ways to ease noise at the track, the Independence Township board may not approve a license for the remainder of the season. Currently the track is licensed thru July 4th.

A handful of track neighors who've long opposed noise and back-to-back weekend scheduling of races, watched as a steadfast board agreed on that action at the June 1 meeting, with Trustee Daniel Travis, a life member of the Oakland County Sportsman's Club, abstaining from the vote.

Officials of the racing association and its attorney Jeffrey Helt were unwilling to release the information during a public meeting, citing it as "proprietary information," subject to the rights granted trade secrets which he says can be discussed in closed meetings.

"We bought and paid for that information. We've indicated in a letter we're willing to disclose that during a closed meeting," Helt said.

Board members and township attorney Gerald Fisher disagreed, saying, "...We could be putting outselves in jeopardy and subjecting ourselves to notential litigation."

potential litigation."
On other turf, Supervisor James B. Smith criticized James McIntosh, racing association president, for failure to produce the expected data, promised by association members at a meeting in late April when the board approved a partial license.

"As far as the data, not all the calculations are complete," McIntosh said. "But, we have been assured by (the audiologist) that construction of a berm would mean a substantial reduction in the noise" to residents in neighboring Pelton Heights and Woodhull Lake subdivisions.

"We encouraged you to present a plan at this time. The problem we're presented with is what is...the (audiologist's plan) going to do? We really don't know, especially when we haven't seen the data. We're not in a postion to accept a pig in a poke," Smith said.

Trustee Larence Kozma agreed, proposing the director of building and planning visit the track on either of the two race weekends scheduled between now and July 4th, and collect the township's own sound data.

Trustee Dale Stuart said race officials must show they're taking steps to minimize the noise so that racing can continue

"We don't need your data to show you violated our ordinance. We already know that. No one that I'm aware of on this board wants to put the Hill out of business," he said.

Helt repeated the track has yet to be officially cited for violation of the ordinance.

Supervisor Smith criticized Helt for taking an "adversary role."

"For more than a year we have operated with the Oakland County Sportsman's Club and the Waterford Hill Racing Association in a spirit of cooperation and goodwill to arrive at a mutual agreement with the residents," Smith said. "...perhaps it is your chosen role to be an adversary attorney. You have destroyed 90 percent of what has exchanged between the two of us. If that was your goal, you've accomplished it. I would hope the officers of your group do not share the same attitude."

Board members agreed to place the issue on the June 15 agenda if the data is presented or new information is made available.

Since 1964 the track at the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club has generated persistent complaints from neighbors tired of the noise and back-to-back weekend scheduling of races without relief.

Long, hot summer looms for school negotiators

By Kathy Greenfield

It looks like it's going to be a long, hot summer at the bargaining table for negotiators representing the Clarkston Education Association (CEA) and the Clarkston Community School Board.

The CEA represents 312 teachers in the Clarkston school district. Their three-year contract is up this year, and it's time to renegotiate.

There have been two official meetings between representatives of the groups, on May 27 and June 8.

Both sides agree the major issue at hand is economics.

Since preliminary budgets for the 1982-83 school year began coming under discussion in January, district Superintendent Milford Mason has frequently pointed out that no pay raises for any employes of the district have been figured into the budget—instead, the same figures as last year have been used. Although he has never been specific about the effect layoffs of staff members have on the total budgeted salarys, it has been clear that there will be a reluctance to give substantial raises to employes.

"Economics. That's the major thing with us. Of course, we're both at different ends of the spectrum on that," said Administrative Assistant Conrad Bruce, chief negotiator for the board of education. "The economics are going to be the major issue and anything that deals with economics.

"I think it's going to be one of the most difficult rounds of bargaining we've ever experienced as I see it right now," he added. "Not only in Clarkston, the whole metro area. Districts don't have the money to give the kinds of raises they've given in the past—most districts don't have the money, period. Unions expect raises as usual, that's what's going to make it very difficult."

Allen Bartlett, president of the CEA, also calls economics the key issue.

"A lot of people don't realize the position teachers are in," he said. "We're always considered a labor union."

But unlike labor unions of the automotive industry, teachers do not have paid holidays, cost of living adjustments in salaries, extra paid days off or overtime, he said.

"We don't have these kinds of things to bargain with. Our salaries are based strictly on the days we work," he said.

The CEA requested expedited bargaining earlier this year, hoping the contract could be settled before the school year ended, but the request was denied by the board of education, according to Bartlett.

"We were waiting and waiting to hear if the board approved expedited bargaining. As a result, we had to change our direction and go to our regular methods," he said. "And we got started later than usual.

"It's a funny year. It really is. I don't know if we'll have a lot of answers until both sides get down to serious bargaining," he added. "We're going to the bargaining table in good faith. We're optimistic we'll have a settlement at the end of August."

Expedited bargaining is designed to handle negotiations that are expected to be settled promptly, said Bruce.

"It looked, as we discussed what areas we sould be discussing, especially in economics, we would meet not meet the demands of the association," said Bruce. "Therefore, both parties agreed not to go any further."

Negotiations begin with the school calendar, Bruce said, and he expects the first day of school to be set soon.

Feds up ante for Independence

With cuts the key word funneling out of Washington during the past year, Independence Township is bucking the trend.

At the June 1 meeting, Clerk Christopher Rose announced the township can expect an additional $33,000 in federal revenue sharing for the 1983-84 year, as Washington's upped the ante using new 1980 Census figures, the township's new tax rate, which includes the safety path and fire millages, and a difficult new mathematic formula.

This year the township received $87,000 and can expect $120,000 next year, Rose said.

In the past, revenue sharing has helped bring about projects that would normally not have materialized with limited local funding.

Past projects have included funding to pay for contracting the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, library books and carpeting, Deer Lake Beach repairs and upkeep, street signs, Maybee Road Park improvements and road paving. Federal revenue sharing funds are also paying for the upcoming townshipwide trash collection June 19 and 20.

The annual upper and lower Mill Pond treatment for acquatic nuisance plants and algae is coming up June 15, weather permitting.

The Mill Ponds will be lowered for about eight days to follow conditions of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources permit which states that the treated water must not flow in Parke Lake, said Henry Radcliff, president of the Clarkston Mill Ponds Association, which pays for the weed control.

The lower water level has a bonus.

"They use less chemicals and get a better treatment," Radcliff said. "The chemicals they use work much better if they're contained."

The lower water level will also permit residents along waterway to clean the shoreline of debris.

The following restrictions should be observed during the treatment period:

 No swimming for 24 hours after the treatment. •Do not use water from ponds for watering animals, irrigation or lawn watering, or household uses for a three-week period.

•Do not fish for three days after the treatment.

Signs listing the restrictions will be posted around the ponds beginning the day of the treatment. "$600 TO OVERHAUL A TRANSMISSION IN A CAR ONLY 3 YEARS OLD?"

Music correction

In your last week's edition referring to the Memorial Day services at Lakeview Cemetery, you mentioned that the Clarkston High School Band played "The Star Spangled Banner" and "America the Beautiful.

I did enjoy their playing of "The Star Spangled Banner," but I must call your attention to the fact that they did not play "America the Beautiful," but rather "The Battle Hymn of the Republic."

America the Beautiful" and "Tenting Tonight on the Old Camp Ground"were sung by a group of local men who, for the most part, have been doing this for a number of years. Robert Jones remembers having sung in the 1930s, and I started much later, possibly in 1949.

As this is the last year for me to participate in this pleasant undertaking, I wish to thank all those who have joined me in making it such an enjoyable experience.

The only way you will have any input into this matter is if you shut off the television and drag your bottom side off the couch and down to this meeting.

If property taxes do not bother you, I strongly suggest you turn on Channel 50 next Monday night, because there's a helluva good "I Love Lucy" program

Roadlet Thanks for article

Thank you very much for the article you did on our Swap Meet & Show, which was held at Lake Orion Township Hall on May 23.

Even though the weather wasn't the best the event turned out to be a big success.

We made $625, and $75 was donated to Lake Orion Township Parks and Recreation, with the remaining $550 donated to Special Olympics.

- Out of the eight papers in the immediate area that were contacted to publicize our event, only four chose to do so, and your article was by far the best.

I guess it pays to deal with local people. Thanks again,

Financial experience praised

Since only 25 citizens were able to attend the public forum to ask questions of the school board candidates, I feel it is important to let you know my personal decision from that meeting.

I am extremely pleased to see five candidates interested in running for a tremendously difficult, almost non-paying, time-consuming, and nonrewarding job.

Each of the candidates have some good ideas, and I hope those who haven't done so will choose to get involved in our school district for the betterment of our schools.

With the present economic condition in Michigan which is devastating our public school system, I feel the prime consideration at this time for a school board member must be financial awareness.

I choose to support Mary Jane Chaustowich, the incumbent, for she has studied the financial problems extensively in her four years in office and has spent much time in Lansing, working with CURE and studying finances to attempt to find solutions to the problems of funding education in this state. Each of the other candidates admit this is an area they have very little knowledge about.

Of all our present school board members, Mary Jane is the most accessible since she is not employed. She uses a great deal of her time actively participating in our schools and answering questions and being available to citizens of this district.

She really cares about our kids, is dedicated to doing a good job, and her knowledge and experience are vital qualifications at this particular time.

hope you will join me in voting "yes" for Mary Jane/Chaustowich on Monday, June 14.

Forum organizers make pick

We would like to thank all the candidates for their participation in the Candidates' Forum for the board of education candidates.

It was a very informative evening. The comments and answers made by the candidates has convinced us to vote for and endorse Mary Jane Chaustowich.

We welcome our readers' opinions. Letters to the Editor must be at The Clarkston News office by noon Friday to be considered for the following week's paper. We reserve the right to edit all letters for the sake of brevity and clarity and to limit the number of letters from any one individual on any one issue. We don't publish open letters or copies of letters sent elsewhere. Letters must be signed and a phone number and address included. Names will be withheld on re-

Our schools desperately need experienced. knowledgeable board members, and we believe Ms. Chaustowich fills that need.

It was obvious to us that she has a broader understanding of the complex problems facing our schools. She has proven she is willing to commit the time required and has performed in an outstanding manner.

Re-elect school team member

I don't think any of us have come through the last two or three years without some profound changes in our lives due to the present economic situation. Likewise, with our schools.

Yet in spite of these difficulties our present board, I believe, has done a remarkable job of spending our dollars wisely and providing an excellent education for our children.

Mary Jane Chaustowich has been part of that team and I believe a very important person in making the tough and important decisions for your children.

Please join me and a lot of her friends in reelecting her to the school board.

Apartment-utopia

Spring pressure was never as severe as this May. The urge toward apartment living peaked from envy.

Look at the time cubical dwellers have for golf, ball games, grand prixs, rest and pursuing the unknowns.

Instead, of challenging another nonlandowner to cribbage, I'm out in a row boat before the wind comes up spreading goop on the lagoon to prevent sea week takeover....

Instead of sweating of excess waist in a racquet ball game I'm weeding and feeding my lawn. would have to be a

Instead of washing and waxing the car so it Mighid look inice another year, I'm wrestling a rotoring, ground tearerupper.

I even had to remove the ping pong table (no time to use it) to make room for repairing the tractor, lawn sweeper, string lawn trimmer, tiller, t and friend's lawn mower . . . which I had to borrow because I was unable to fix the tractor which I'd made room for in the first place.

Spring training was going just fine until the rains came. Enthusiasm was high as I made plans to rearrange the rocks in the flower garden, remove the quack grass from the ivy, frim back the crab apple trees, and paint.

All of a sudden the weekly lawn mowing was advanced to every 5 days, then three days. The latter schedule I couldn't keep, partly because of the rain, thus lawn sweeping became a necessity.

Of course, all of you remember May was just an outstanding month for outdoor activity. We should be so lucky in August, by which time we will either have lawn and garden under control or be in an apartment.

May, being so grand, plus the month to plant, and the fastest growing month, put pressure on the property owner to work beyond evening seeing time.

Remember, this great month also calls boggy busters to green pastures with long stemmed flags growing out of tiny holes.

Perhaps that urge to swing a stick at a ball is the one thing that makes it possible for the property owner to complete the springtime plans he/she started dreaming of on Ground Hog's FI 60 + FT 7 18 06 1

This, too, may be why said property owner each June promises to give more space to lawn and less to flowers and garden next year, and think more about apartment dwelling.

Except, next Feb. 2, we'll only remember how nice it all looks that one day when he/she took a minute out to absorb what they had done.

Party celebrates learning to re

By Kathy Greenfield

Learning to read is cause for celebration, and that's just what the 21 first- and second-grade Andersonville Elementary School reading pupils of Pat Andrus did last week.

Their parents were invited to the party that included a slide presentation of pictures and the children's recorded comments on their favorite stories, a snack of cake they made themselves and some time for each child to read his or her parent a story or two.

"It's just to encourage reading and the enjoyment of it," said Andrus.

The parents and kids wholeheartedly agreed.

"It's the only thing she wanted to go to school for, to learn to read-her brother knew how to read and her sister knew how to read," said Terry McMullen, giving his freckle-faced daughter credit for her skill.

"I thought it was interesting, very interesting. I enjoyed it," he added. "I especially enjoyed the cake. Right, Erin?"

'Right," she said, flashing back a thank-you

Mary Ann Ward and her son Shane shared the same word as they summed up the experience.

"I think it's terrific," said Mary Ann. "It shows hard work by the kids and it's nice for the parents to come and see what they're doing."

"Terrific," said Shane, stating his pleasure in a word. "I'm also glad I got a piece of the cake."

Nikki Vallad especially liked having her mother

Jeanne visit her classroom, "It's fun," said Nikki. "One thing, this is about the second thing my mom has come to school for. I had fun baking the cake. It was nice."

"I think it's important for parents to get involved with things at school," added Jeanne.

The enthusiasm of her daughter Sarah at home while plans for the party were underway and the experience of seeing the culmination of reading studies in one sitting were Judy Rood's pleasures.

Even when you see it at home, it doesn't hit," said Judy. "You're aware that the child is learning, but when you come into the classroom it's a bigger reality of how much the kids have absorbed in a year's time.'

Sarah called it a surprise.

"I don't think she'd ever been in this room (where her reading class meets)," said the firstgrader, "and she was so excited that I could read this."

Sarah was all smiles as she pointed to her reading book, "Sun and Shadow."

First-grader Sarah Rood and her mom Judy are all smiles as Sarah shows her literary skills.

Terry McMullen and his daughter Erin, a second-grader, swap pleased looks as they enjoy cake and celebrate Erin's progress this year in learning to read.

Save that glint!

In 1976 there was a presidential candidate named Ellen McCormack who ran on a pro-life platform. Her TV ads featured gruesome photos of aborted embroyos. Her thesis was that abortion under any cir-

The age of the embryo didn't matter, McCorcumstances was murder. ck's ghoulish advertising plainly implied that a two-week-old embryo, if aborted, suffered and sobbed like a 10-year-old child hit by a truck.

"McCormack is so pro-life she can make a guy feel guilty for breaking a date," I wrote at the time.

'I was being facetious, of course. I realized no one was really stupid enough to accuse a person of murder for simply withholding procreative cooperation. I was exaggerating to make a point, and perhaps cause a chuckle. Ha ha. That was six years ago. Today we have Sen. Hesse Helms, R-N.C., who wants to amend the Constitution to proclaim that "life begins at the moment of conception." And, of course, anyone who ends life is a murderer. If Helms has his way, a bed partner who changes his or her mind at the last second could be risking capital punishment.

In fact, considering artificial insemination, a lab technician who accidentally drops a test tube might be charged with negligent homicide.

Which must be as far as one can go, even facetiously, to protect the rights of the unborn, right?

Wrong, according to Robert G. Faber, an Ann Arbor fabric merchant. He claims there is now a theory that insists life begins at the moment of perception, not

According to Dr. Blinky Schwartz, director of the Ophthalmologic Institute, life has its genesis in the glance that gives rise to the idea that in turn begins the process that ultimately leads to conception," Faber said.

Schwartz maintains that more wisdom was embodied in old saws (familiar sayings) than has been properly credited. It was the careful examination of one old saw that led Schwartz to the development of the Schwartz Theory of Perceptive Conception.

THAT OLD SAW is still heard today. It is said by adults when meeting the child of a friend for the first time: "I knew you when you were only a glint in your father's eye.

In life according to Schwartz, before a child is a fetus or an embryo, he or she is a glint. Naturally, a glint's right to life should be protected. But how?

A glint in the eye is produced by love or lust or some similar emotion. But when the emotion fades, due to satiation or new bifocals or whatever, the glint also fades. How can that be prevented?

Sure, there could be a constitutional amendment proclaiming life begins at glint. There could be a law

by Jim Fitzgerald-against dousing a glint's gleam. And there could be pro-life TV commercials featuring gruesome photos of dead glints.

But how could pro-glint philosophy and legislation be made viable? If a man would rather not, thanks, how could he be forced to keep a glint in his eye long enough for the perception to lead to conception? No medical help is required to abort a gleam. And the dismaying threat of prosecution and imading gleam to glow prisonment wouldn't anew.

MAYBE THERE is no way to prevent the abortion of a gleam. An alternative would be gleam control, similar to birth control. Congress might legislate against the exposure of all female flesh, thus removing the occasion of gleaming. But that would be sexist. You could tell a child: "I knew you when you were only a gleam in your mother's eye," too. To prevent a revival of the Equal Rights Amendment, Congress would have to drop a cloak over male flesh, too. With all flesh covered, there would be an alarming decrease in carnality, soon there would be no people, and Helms would have no one to vote for him.

I really don't know what can be done about protecting the life of a glint in an eye, but Phyllis Schlafly will probably think of something.

Sunshine Acres residents seek paving assist

By Marilyn Trumper

Residents of Sunshine, Acres subdivision off Maybee Road are willing to subject themselves to a special tax assessment for road paving, but they want Independence Township to foot the entire bill for the paving of one road, Mary Sue, which ends at the American Legion Hall.

The Independence Township Board was sympathetic to residents' pleas for financing at the June 1 meeting, but repeatedly stressed a lack of funding for roads, and tabled a decision to the next meeting, scheduled June 15.

Subdivision property owners said the hall—which holds regular blood banks, Boy Scout camp-outs, fish fries, weekly bingo, fishing, swimming, baseball and hall rentals—makes Mary Sue a routine route for delivery trucks. The facility is akin to a "community center" used by dozens of township residents, they

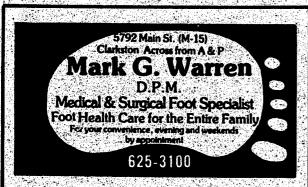

"It's like living on a major highway. We feel that road is not used as a subdivison road. (Mary Sue) is the only entrance to the American Legion," Karen Haines said, offering a petition signed by 54 people, or 64 percent of the Mary Sue Road residents.

It's scheduled to be paved in the spring of '83, and we're asking the township to help defray the cost."

Estimates are set at $317,000 to pave Sunshine Acres subdivison, which includes Cecelia Ann, the southern part of Pine Knob Lane, Sunnyside and Oak Park. To institute a special assessment district, the county requires that 51 percent of the front footage on the project must be represented by property owners' signatures, according to Dennis Pajot, information officer for the Oakland County Road Commission.

Front footage is key, Pajot said, as is "user

All property owners deemed to benefit from the paying can be part of the special tax assessment, according to Pajot, which could include the American Legion Hall. In addition, the township can agree to carry part of the assessment in an effort to reduce the

Clarkston school board candidates

Election Monday to decide winner of board of education seat

On the school election ballot Monday, June 14, there will be six names for the one four-year term open on the seven-member Clarkston Community Schools Board of Education. Candidate Eugene Attaman withdrew from the race last week, too late to have his name removed from the ballot.

Board members vote each year to approve their salaries. This year, it was decided to pay $30 a meeting up to 52 meetings a year, for a maximum annual salary of $1,560, the most allowed by state law for school districts the size of Clarkston.

The polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. Clarkston school district voters use the same voting locations as in other elections with the exception of Springfield Township residents, who vote at Andersonville Elementary School.

Also on the ballot are 12 candidates for Oakland Community College Trustee seats. (See story on Page

In order to assist voters in their selection, The Clarkston News asked each of the five remaining candidates for the Clarkston school board to submit in writing their answers to four questions. Responses to each question were limited to 50 words.

The questions, and the shortened version that appears before each answer, are:

1. With declining enrollment and declining state aid come the need to reduce staffs and programs. Where would you make cuts? (RECOMMENDED

2. What would you suggest as the proper method to fund education? (HOW TO FUND EDUCATION)

3. Why are you running for the school board? (REASONS FOR CANDIDACY)

4. Why do you feel you should be elected? (QUALIFICATIONS)

The candidates' responses and biographical information about each of them follow.

Mary Jane Chaustowich

Incumbent Mary Jane Chaustowich, 45, is a 12, and Mark 10. housewife. She resides at 11060 Clark Rd., Springfield Township.

She was graduated with a bachelor's degree from Wayne State University, where she also has 48 hours of graduate work credit toward her master's degree. She taught school at Cass Technical High School seven years.

Chaustowich is currently treasurer of the Clarkston Community School Board and sits on the Clarkston Community Women's Club Board. She is a member of Clarkston Area Youth Assistance and the Clarkston Junior High School Volunteer Program.

She has lived in the Clarkston area 13 years. She and her husband Frank have two children, Frank Jr.,

RECOMMENDED CUTS

"I want to move toward tightening up the whole budget picture rather than drastic cuts in any one area. Consolidation is better than elimination. If we can weather this financial crisis while keeping the majority of our curriculum and programs intact, we will become a better district.

HOW TO FUND EDUCATION

"Everyone dislikes property taxes; however, they are the only sure income the schools have. Lansing must come up with a program of school finance which cannot be tampered with or be cut indiscriminately by the legislature or by the governor before we can afford to give up our property tax base." REASONS FOR CANDIDACY

"The next few years are going to be crucial for education in Michigan, I've put a great deal of time and effort into learning how to be a good school board member and I feel my experience and knowledge can benefit the district in the coming difficult years.

QUALIFICATIONS

"I can bring these qualifications to the board:

Understanding of school financing.

•Knowledge of the Clarkston schools and many of their individual problems.

Experience in dealing with school board pro-

Sara Lou Reabe, 54, is a reading specialist in the Waterford school district. She resides at 7660 Allen Rd., Independence Township.

She has attended Purdue University, Wayne State University and Oakland University, and has been in education over 30 years. She is a member of Delta Kappa Gamma, an honorary educational

She has resided in Clarkston over 48 years. She and her husband John have five children—Kevin, 29, John, 26, Catherine, 24, Thomas, 21, and Mary Ann, 18.

Reabe's candidacy has been endorsed by the Clarkston Education Association.

RECOMMENDED CUTS

"Clarkston has always been a 'no frills' community. I really feel that there is nothing to cut. We must strive to continue our basic programs, even on a tight, budget. We must continue to educate all children—not take away from the many for the sake of a few."

HOW TO FUND EDUCATION

"We must find another way besides property taxes. Perhaps all the monies could be put in one budget and divided fairly and evenly among all school districts for the basic educational purpose. Wealthy areas could use their extra monies for the extras that they want to provide."

REASONS FOR CANDIDACY

"I am running for the school board because I would like to see more and better communication among parents, teachers, administration and the board. I want to be a voice for the community. I am a concerned and qualified taxpayer and I want to serve you."

QUALIFICATIONS

"I should be elected because the community needs a 'Voice,' I am qualified for the position and have time to devote. I have been in education for over 30 years and I understand all aspects of the educational system. Education is the future."

Elaine R. Schultz

Elaine R. Schultz, 33, is a former secretary whose current occupation is "wife and mother." She resides at 4682 Clinton Dr.; Independence Township.

A Clarkston High School graduate, she attended Pontiac Business Institute and Oakland Community College.

She has served as president of the Sashabaw PTO two years; treasurer of the Sashabaw PTO and Clarkston Nursery Inc., each for one year; and has served on the steering; food advisory and the new Community Education Advisory Council for Clarkston Community Schools.

Schultz has lived in the Clarkston community all her life except for 20 months in Germany when her husband Luther served in the United States Army. The Schultzes have two children, Heidi Lynn, 10½, and Jason Edward, 9.

RECOMMENDED CUTS

"With declining enrollment and state aid, we need to reduce the number of central administration office positions we have. Some of the positions in the administrative office can be combined to eliminate some of the high-paid positions. By making these reductions, the children would be less affected by the changes."

HOW TO FUND EDUCATION

"I feel Michigan needs to completely change its funding of schools. There is too much difference between in-formula and out-of-formula school districts. Each child in Michigan should be given the same educational opportunities."

REASONS FOR CANDIDACY

"I am running for the school board because I feel a school board member should be a concerned individual who has the time and energy to check into the issues facing the board of education and vote accordingly."

OUALIFICATIONS

"I feel I should be elected because I do have the time and energy to put into this position. I have been involved with the school district for 21 of my years as a student, secretary in the board of education office and an involved parent."

Paul Van Klaveren

Paul Van Klaveren, 32, is a staff assistant responsible for manufacturing computer systems with Chevrolet Motor Divsion, General Motors Corp. He resides at 6443 Woodglen, Independence Township.

A graduate of General Motors Institute with a bachelor's degree in industrial engineering, he is working on a master's degree in management at Wayne State University.

Three-year residents of Clarkston, he and his wife Maryagnes have two children, Amanda, 6, and Renee, 3.

RECOMMENDED CUTS

"Needed cuts must first be felt at the top. The curriculum and the students should feel cuts last, not first. Reduced enrollment means less support personnel are needed, but it does not mean increased class sizes. Further cuts if needed should be made where there is the least affect on students."

HOW TO FUND EDUCATION

"Property tax is an unfair tax. It should be scaled down and replaced with selected sales taxes and a graduated income tax. Property taxes collected should be used by each school district to supplement state funding. The state funding formula should also be changed to spread money based on need."

REASONS FOR CANDIDACY

"The current school board has failed in its responsibilities. They have turned a supportive community against them by failing to explain the activities of the school board and have failed to encourage and support the teaching staff. They have also failed to initiate or support needed curriculum and add ministrative changes."

QUALIFICATIONS

"Prior member of the Genesee County Planning Commission and Housing Corp. President of a national fraternity. Experienced in labor relations, budget development and project control. I have the experience and the desire to make the school system again responsible to the community and to establish teacher support and community respect."

was 6 feet, 9 inches, "one inch higer than last year." when he played for Clarkston, the.

The Cardinals took their highest finish ever two weeks ago, taking fifth place in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletes (NAIA) National Outdoor Track and Field Championships. Wyckoff suffered a bout with the flu and attempted to qualify for that meet, but could not make the open height, he said, calling it a "disappointment" after coming so far with the team.

In March, the Cardinals again made history when they became the first team north of the Mason-Dixon line in 10 years to become NAIA champions.

Shades of '76—Wolves triumph in district

By Al Zawacky

The hottest thing in town these days? Not the asphalt on Main Street. Not the grills at the local burger palaces.

Try the Clarkston High School varsity baseball team.

After an average regular season; the Wolves are rolling. They scorched Rochester 5-1 in pre-district play last week before pulling out two one-run triumphs over Waterford Kettering and West Bloomfield Saturday to win their school's first district champion-ship in six years.

The next hurdle the Wolves face is the regionals, coming up Saturday at Memorial Field on Woodward and 13 Mile Road in Royal Oak. Clarkston's first game will start at 10 a.m.

"I hope we can keep this up," said Clarkston Coach Roy Warner. "We played with great desire and hustle in the districts."

Pitching is the big reason for the Wolves sudden success, most of it being provided by senior Mark Piazza, who one-hit Rochester and tossed a three-hitter against Kettering. Piazza currently owns a microscopic 0.87 earned run average and has fanned 99 batters through 72 innings worked.

While Piazza was frustrating Rochester hitters, the Wolves touched Falcon pitching for nine hits, including a two-run bunt single by Mike Dearborn. Dearborn went two-for-three in the game, while teammates Piazza, Dan Gaulin and Richie Schrader each had one RBI.

Piazza struck out nine en route to the 3-2 decision over Kettering. The Wolves had to battle from behind in this one; rallying for two runs in the sixth inning. Joel Schrader had the big hit.

Dearborn started things by drawing a walk, Mike

Howe laced a single, Richie Schrader walked and Joel Schrader stroked a two-run single, scoring Howe and pinch runner Pete Carpentier.

In the district final against league champion West Bloomfield, the Wolves fell behind 3-0 in the third but came up with three runs in the fourth. The Lakers went on top 4-3, in the fifth inning, but Clarkston came back to tie the game in the seventh and force extra innings.

It took the Wolves just one more time at but to settle the issue. They loaded the bases with none out on a single by Gaulin, an error and a walk to Rob-Mortimore, setting the stage for Howe's sacrifice fly to Sophomore Mike Harbaugh started the game and was relieved by Piazza in the fourth. Joel Schrader, who pitched the decisive eighth inning, was credited with the win.

Ex-Clarkston coach steps up to college job

Coaching post won't affect CHS teaching duties, says Gary Nustad

By Al Zawacky

Gary Nustad terms his recent entry into the college coaching ranks as a "tremendous opportunity," but he doesn't see the new post affecting his status as a teacher at Clarkston High School.

Nustad, who coached the CHS varsity basketball team for six season before being dismissed in March, was hired as an assistant under Head Coach Jim Armitage at Henry Ford Community College in Dearborn in mid-May

Despite what shapes up as a hefty time commitment and long drives from Clarkston to Dearborn, Nustad says the Ford job won't conflict with his teaching duties.

"My major responsibilities (as assistant coach) will be in the areas of recruiting, bench coaching, public relations and off-season programs," Nustad says. "It doesn't necessarily include practice coaching, which would require me to be there a lot more often. But I will attend practices as often as possible.

"I currently plan on teaching at Clarkston High School next fall."

Nustad adds his experience at Clarkston proved to be a definite asset in his pursuit of a college postition, despite his dismisal from the CHS post 11 weeks

"The program that's been established at Clarkston High School in the six years I've been here has been a tremendous asset to me," he says.

"I'm thrilled at this chance. I view this as a tremendous opportunity to move up in the coaching ranks. It'll give me some experience in recruiting, which is nessessary to move up into major college coaching."

The (CHS) program . . . has been a tremendous asset to me.

Coach Jim Armitage has been head coach at Henry Ford Community College for seven years. The school has been ranked in the top five nationally on defense in six of those seven years and was third nationally three years ago.

Gary Nustad: He's still planning on teaching at Clarkston High School this fall.

POINT AFTER Wings in playoffs? Dream on

'Can I help you?''

"Yes, I'd like three dozen double chocolate doughnuts and six cups of coffee. And don't bother with a box—I'm having them here."

"By yourself? That's quite an order."

oraer.
"Well, I've got a lot of catching up to do."

"How's that?"

"Haven't you heard? It time for more 'thoughts between bites of doughnut and sips of coffee.' Madam, you can pass the word. Big Al is

THE FACT THAT Bruce Norris is relinquishing his hold on the Red Wings can only be regarded as good news, but pizza king Mike Ilitch may wind up regreting his prediction that the Wings will make the playoffs next spring. Players, not owners, make the playoffs, and with the bums the Wings have, that's a tall order.

A hand, please, for Pops Warner and his district champions. If these guys can keep getting the pitching and the defense they did in the districts, we might have some fun out in Royal Oak Saturday.

More good news: A Clarkston High School track team with a 6-2 record on the season. For years, looking for victories in CHS track has been like looking for sirloin in fast-food burgers. Hopefully, that's starting to change.

Gary Nustad better watch his step at Henry Ford Community College. Mess up and have a hand in winning four straight championships, and the man could find himself sacked for the good of another basketball program.

Three months to the start of the football season. Even this early I usually find myself feeling a sense of anticipation about that, but not this time.

It's not easy to get excited about another year of Clarkston vs. Swartz Creek in the opener.

Whatever happened to all that brave talk a few years ago about getting some quality people on the schedule? Names like Brother Rice and Royal Oak Dondero were being tossed around back then. Instead, we get our third straight year of the mighty Dragons, a team assassinated 70-0 by Grand Blanc last year.

Anyway, cream-puff schedules seem to be the trend around here. Check out the Wolfpack's 1982-83 slate. The South Lyon Tournament? Somebody must be playing a joke.

With competition like that, Clarkston may indeed go 20-0 next winter—but it won't mean much.

Went to my first Tiger game in two years Saturday—and it was rained out. Four bucks to park, four bucks for gas, and four bucks on food—just to watch them roll the tarp back and forth.

These doughnuts are great—which prompts me to say it's about time we fired the guy who baked them for the good of our doughnut program.

Half the roads and freeways in the city of Detroit look like the surface of the moon. Yet there's plenty of money to primp up for the Grand Prix. Priorities, priorities, you know.

It's getting harder every day to pick against Detroit in the American League East. I think this team is going to win it, but the city doesn't seem as excited about the whole thing as it did back in June of '68. Maybe that will come later in the season, as the possiblity of a playoff starts to sink in.

The hot dogs at Tiger Stadium are OK, but what the park really needs, if you ^ask me, is some quality, doughnuts...

Pine Knob paving possibilities explored anew

By Marilyn Trumper

Lynn Mead and seven of his neighbors want pothole and washboard ridden Pine Knob Road paved, from Clarkston-Orion Road to Bailey Lake School; and they'll take help from Independence Township, Clarkston Schools, the developer of Pine Knob County Estates, residents on and around Caberfae Trail and anyone who wants to get involved.

Cost to pave the four-tenths of a mile is estimated

"Eight houses can't pay $200,000. We want a special assessment district," Mead said to the Independence Township Board at its June 1 meeting. "Many township residents use that road to get to school for soccer and summer camps and other programs and buses use that road.

'What was designed to be a side road has turned into a major thoroughfare and is tearing that road to ribbons. We need some kind of action to get started on this."

Mead, a teacher at Clarkston's Northwest Oakland Vocational Education Center, stressed he's not out to see programs like soccer and summer camp

"Our kids use those programs too. The school and those programs are important. But we have to do something about that road. This week, you can't even go down there. You'll wreck your car. I had to go in the back way," he said.

Supervisor James B. Smith volunteered to approach the school district about joining the special assessment. Years ago the schools took the position that funding for road paving was not available. Smith

Members of the township board directed Mead to pursue the matter via the county, to get specifics on cost and special assessments and for more information on "user benefit."

According to Dennis Pajot, information officer for the Oakland County Road Commission, residents of Caberfae Trail, Stowe Trail, Boyne Highland. Sugarloaf and Mt. Tremblant Trail can be approached as part of the special assessment district, if it's determined they have "user benefit." Special assessments are traditionally paid by those who have front footage on the road in question.

Cost for paying the four-tenths of a mile has already been minimized, as the township board this spring targeted the first 50 feet of Pine Knob Road for paving under the Tri-Party Road, agreement. The township, Oakland County Road Commission and Oakland County Board of Commissioners each pay one-third the cost of paving selected road approaches.

Mead is expected to bring the issue to the fore again at the June 15 Independence Township Board meeting at 7:30 p.m. in Independence Township Hall, 90 N. Main, Clarkston.

After the meeting, Clarkston Schools Superintendent Milford Mason said no money had been set aside for road paving, and that the final decision for school participation would be left to the school board.

State law gives farmers right to kill

According to a 1919 state law, farmers have the right to shoot predators, including domestic dogs and cats, that are "...worrying or harassing" their livestock and poultry.

That word comes from Carl Anderson, manager of Oakland County's Animal Control Division.

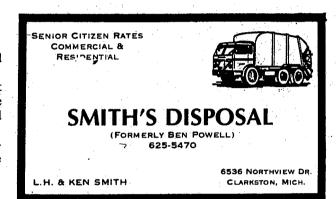

'Of course, we don't recommend people (shoot dogs and cats) because no matter what state law says, you're always liable in a civil court. And indiscriminate shooting is wrong. On the other hand," Anderson said, "people shouldn't let their dogs and cats run loose.'

According to Anderson, farmers who've lost stock to predators should call the county and make out a "kill report," which records the damage and allows for reimbursement.

"If we can't find the owner (of the preditor to insure a reimbursment) the county must pay (for the farmer's loss)," Anderson said.

Animal Control's number is 391-4100.

12 candidates seek OCC trustee positions

In the regular school election Monday, June 14, there are only two items on the ballot-candidates for the Clarkston schools board of education (see Pages 18 and 19) and candidates for Oakland Community College Trustee positions.

The OCC Board sets general policy for the institution. It consists of seven members who serve without pay and meet on the average of once each month, usually on the fourth Thursday. To run for the office, candidates must be registered voters who reside in the district OCC serves.

Candidates for the two six-year trustee positions are incumbent Earl M. Anderson of 30159 Palmer, Madison Heights; William J. Condon of 5835 Kingfisher, Clarkston; Adam S. Karibian of 133 Puritan, Birmingham; incumbent Suzanne K. Reynolds of 4253 Sommerville, West Bloomfield; and Antonia Sanchez-Murphy of 261 Draper, Pontiac.

Running for the one four-year trustee seat are Richard N. Corey of 31158 Perrys Crossing, Farmington Hills; Helen B. Cost of 3614 Dukeshire, Royal Oak; Ilene V. Komer of 30341 Club House, Farmington Hills; Edward H. Pappas of 29022 Creek Bend. Farmington Hills; and Barbara Jane Willing of 500 Park, Royal Oak.

Candidates for the one two-year trustee position are Elizabeth M. Hawthorne of 4573 Broughton, Birmingham; and William R. Sinischo of 35 Norwich, Pleasant Ridge.

Meet, hear-board candidates

There's still time before Monday's election to meet the Clarkston Community Schools Board of Education candidates, and listen to them speak and respond to questions.

A candidates' night is planned Thursday, June 10, beginning at 7:30 p.m. at Bailey Lake Elementary School, 8051 Pine Knob, Independence Township.

All five candidates for the one four-year school board term plan to attend the event.

The program is to include a maximum of five minutes each for the candidates to announce why they are running for the office. Written questions will then be presented by a moderator, with two minutes for a response and two minutes each for other candidates' responses.

For more information, call Bailey Lake at 625-2812.

6- to 12-year-olds

The six weeks of day camp in blocks of two weeks begins June 14, and one overnight camp-out is planned during each two-week session. Camp Independence is offered by the Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department.

The camp runs from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. weekdays. and participants may select a variety of options. Campers may attend three days a week—on Monday, Wednesday and Friday or Tuesday, Thursday or Friday—or they may attend five days a week.

Activities include active and instructional sports, arts and crafts, special events and ethnic themes, daily swimming, canoeing, fishing, environmental awareness, hiking, sing-alongs, group dynamics and camping skills.

Campers meet in a family grouping, with all ages participating together in activities.

Cost for the two-week session of six days is $36 for residents and $40 for nonresidents. For 10 days in the two-week period, cost is $60 for residents and $65 for nonresidents. Families with two or more children enrolled in the camp pay less for the second and subsequent children.

Students in the "Bye, Bye Birdie" telephone scene share gossip and talk about their peers, escalating talk with dance, gum chewing and hair twisting, all stereotypical of teens' nervous habits. "Did you hear about Hugo and Kim?" That's the big event, which ties up all the telephone lines in Sweetapple—the couple "going steady, going steady, going steady, steady for good."

For added emphasis Rose thrusts a heavy pile of books on co-star Mike Weber, who plays Albert. The pair scheme to make Conrad Birdle's one last kiss a big money maker.

'Bye, bye Birdie' blasts off

CJHS thespians take stage by storm to students, parents delight

Clarkston Junior High School presented this year's spring play with a first-class look at "Bye, Bye Birdie" last Thurday and Friday, June 3 and 4.

The musical-comedy followed the last civilian days of popular rock star, Conrad Birde (played by Daniel Travis) who's inducted into the army.

Albert and Rose (played by Mike Weber and Inger Nelson) promote the event, Birdie's one last kiss, in a last-ditch effort to make enough money to give up Albert's business, get married and pursue life as an English teacher and his wife.

Birdie is to travel to Sweetapple, Ohio, and give one last kiss to Kim MacAfee (played by Chris Little).

Sonja Ritter stole the show with a splendid performance as Mrs. Albert Peterson, the obnoxious overbearing mother of promoter Albert.

"Bye, Bye Birdie," directed by Janet Gleeson and Mary Conklin, was an event filled with song and dance, enjoyed by students and parents alike.

CHS Spanish teacher says, 'Adios, amigos'

By Kathy Greenfield

After a decade of teaching Spanish to Clarkston High School students, Virginia Addis is moving on.

Her husband is retiring from his 30-year career as a music teacher in Waterford and, come June 19, they're moving from their Independence Township home to Washington, the home of her daughter and granddaughters...

I'm flexible," she says about her plans for the future. "With the economy the way it is, I'll be looking in all fields.

Once Addis talks about her past, it's no surprise she's contemplating changing careers.

Her job history began with an advertising converiter position in New York City. Archeology then sparked her interest and she lived in Guatemala. Before that, says Addis, she didn't speak a word of Spanish.

Clarkston News

SECTION TWO

The Clarkston (Mich.) News Wed., June 9, 1982-21

She lived in California for 24 years, where she went back to school, earning her master's degree from Monterey Institute of International Studies. She taught Spanish and French at a high school in California four years, owned and operated a nursery school, lived in Mexico several years and spent the summer of 1970 in Spain.

"I've lived in many places. I really want to do everything," she says. "I want to add many dimensions to my life and have more than one career."

As Addis talks about her years at CHS, her phrase "add many dimensions" rings true, for that appears to be exactly what she did for her students,

The bulletin boards in her classroom are filled with pictures of different sorts. On some there are prints of famous Spanish painters-El Greco, Velazquez and Goya—because the teaching of Spanish culture is important, she says.

One large bulletin board is loaded with photographs. There are pictures of students doing skits and singing Spanish songs, photos of the first group of students she accompanied to Spain seven years-ago, and more photos of this year's trip to Spain. With the pictures, there's a fair share of pride in students': accomplishments and there are fond

'In all their competitions, they've always, always won first prize;" she says, talking about confests against students from all over Wayne and Oakland county held at Oakland University, Wayne State University and the University of Michigan-Flint.

Then their are the trips to Spain and Mex--nine in all taken during spring breaks.

"This was the best one ever," she says, pointing to photos of the trip to Spain this year. Then she pauses, points to photos of the first trip and says, "But when I look at that one...we really had a good time.'

Her: students have put on annual Christmas celebrations at Children's Village complete with bilingual plays, gifts and handmade pinatas. They've gone to Mexican restaurants together, and have worked as a group in annual clean-up days at CHS.

Their teacher is going to miss them.

"I'm very sad leaving these kids," says Addis. "This is a fantastic place to work as far as the kids are concerned. Kids are still cared for in Clarkston—it makes them better people."

CHS teacher Virginia Addis spends her free hour giving gifted Spanish students extra attention. Here, she discusses a paper with senior

Barb Kevern, one of 20 students either attending the special sessions or putting in extra work throughout the day,

Kindergarten Maryellen Steele retires

It's difficult to say goodbye after 41 years

By Marilyn Trumper

Ask Maryellen Steele, 41-year teaching veteran, what it's going to feel like walking out the doors of Bailey Lake Elementary School for the last time-and she burts into tears.

do. I don't like to think about it," she said, reaching under her glasses to wipe away a tear.

"I've loved it. I've loved every mindute of it. All 41 years."

Twenty-six of her teaching years are logged in the "I don't know. I don't know what I'm going to Clarkston school district. The state of Florida boasts three and Muskegon, 10. "That's where I started," she said of the latter.

"It was a one-room schoolhouse. You could not be married and teach, you had to wear hose and highheels, no slacks, and the pay was $810 a year.

"And you didn't smoke or drink, or at least they didn't think you did," she laughed.

Always she's taught kindergarten.

A former student of Maryellen's from 26 years ago, Mrs. Karen Gonzales, teaches today at Bailey Lake. Maryellen's also teaching a former pupil's child. The circle's come full swing.

"They keep me young, and you can see their progress, their growth, it's rewarding," Maryellen said of the kindergartners.

From now on, "My husband tells me my work begins, cutting hay for those 'beefalo,' " she said.

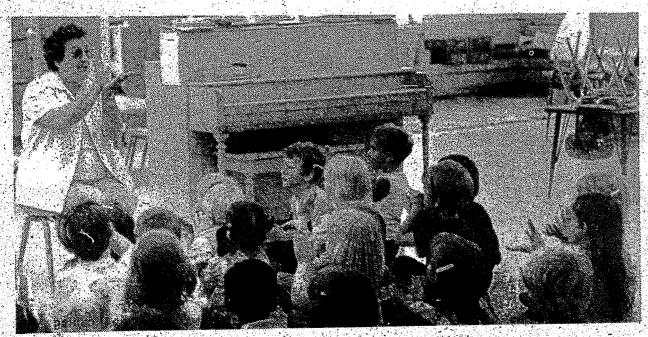

Mary and husband Grady, a veteran retiree of 16 years, own 24 head of beefalo, a crossbreed of cows and buffalo, on a 50-acre centennial farm ranch in northern Michigan: Winters, she says, will be spent in Florida.

The future looks bright.

But when school réconvenes next fall, Maryellen will be prohibited from the premises for the first month, a mandate of state law.

'I don't know why, it has something to do with the union," she said, "But if I can find a way to come in and help—I will."

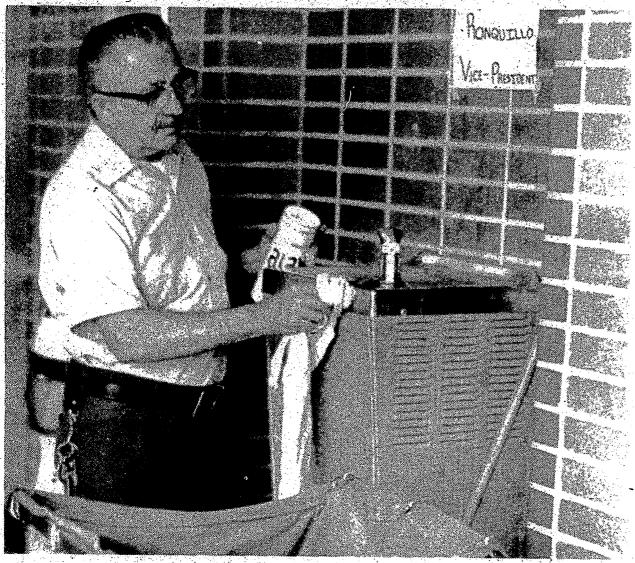

It's hard to break a habit of 41 years.

School as youngsters break out in song. With 41 years of teaching under her belt, the seasoned professional is headed toward retirement.

Sing-song and lots of hand movements are the norm in Maryellen Steele's afternoon kindergarten class at Bailey Lake Elementary

He sweeps through hallways, and moves on

Clarkston High School custodian Edward Secatch is ending seven years of work, and faces retirement for the second time. After 32 years in the U.S. Postal Service, Secatch retired and bored after a year at home, geared back up for the dally grind. This June, he retires again, and says it's for good.

By Marilyn Trumper

Custodian Edward Secatch is punching in on the time clock as scores of high school youth speedily exit the parking lot and yellow buses are lining up like migrating ants.

Behind the school in receiving, a stinking diesel tractor-trailer lumbers with impatience while custodians scurry for package deliveries.

The workroom has scarred red floors, a wall of light blue lockers, ladder, belts, shelves filled with boxes and jar after jar of nuts, nails and washers.

Secatch, 65, heads toward the faucet to fill the coffeepot for the afternoon shift, shuffling past two men bent over a broken floor buffer.

Custodians, they agree, are jacks-of-all-trades. When Secatch leaves the job for good next month after a seven-year stint, it will be his second retirement.

"I worked for the U.S. Postal Service for 32 years and then retired. I couldn't stand it. After a year I had all the jobs done around the house that I wanted to do and there was nothing else to do.

"Besides, I was too young to retire. I was 55."

Some kids today are "...sloppy, careless, and don't care about anybody else's property. Look. They tell me they sweep these floors twice during the day. (The litter) would be up to your knees right now if they didn't," Secarch said, sweeping his hand across typing and writing paper, fuzz balls and general debris scattered down the halls.

"What I hate worse is this wing here. These are the science classes. They dissect frogs, cut them up and then throw them in the wastebaskets and I have to empty them.

"Yyyyuuucckk!" Secatch said, making a face. "... And the smell of that stuff!"

Among his life's accomplishments, Secatch points to five years of service in World War II.

The Springfield Township resident leans back in his chair and says, "I get my first Social Security check next month."

She's thankful for opportunity to teach school

By Marilyn Trumper

Ten years ago Norine Reedy, at age 50, graduated from Michigan State University and began her teaching career at Bailey Lake Elementary.

The point I think needs to be recognized is that Clarkston (Community Schools) thought enough to hire someone at age 50," Norine said, recognizing the move as unorthodox on the eve of her retirement.

"I wanted to be a teacher from day one, but the opportunity never rose. I was 19 years old and my parents were willing to mortgage their home so I could go to college. I was the only one with the potential and it was their dream," she said, "World War II broke out and I got married and raised a family.

"I lost my mother near the end," Norine said noting the irony of her mom never seeing graduation.

I never suffered from the empty nest syndrome. My daughter is a teacher and gave me the encouragement I needed. When she left home I started taking one and two classes."

At 45, Norine tackled her first college class. Unable to draw on high school experience as most college freshman right out of secondary school do, she had to learn to study and re-learn learning.

"Oh, it was tough, and I'm not going to say it wasn't," she said.

Her first class, taught 10 years ago at Bailey Lake, is graduating from Clarkston High School this June and finds Norine saying, "I'm anxious to see those kids.

She sits behind a U-shaped desk level with the children inside a yellow room. Plants dangle in front of the windows, broken and worn crayons and potato chips are scattered about the floor. It's this third- and fourth-grade environment Norine will be saying good-

"I'm 60 now. I don't want to leave hubby at home and we have plans for travel.

Waving aside her emotions as maudlin, Norine says to the Clarkston School District: "I'll always be grateful."

When third and fourth grade teacher Norine Reedy says "listen," the split-session class at Bailey Lake Elementary sits up and takes notice.

Lingenfelter, Hutnick share vows

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Hutnick

Agnes Marie Lingenfelter and Mark Hutnick were wed May 22 at St. Rita Church in Detroit by the Rev. Gary Bueche.

The bride is the daughter of Joseph and Beatrice Lingenfelter of Pheasant Run Road, Independence Township. The bridegroom is the son of John and Sophie Hutnick of Madison Heights.

Three hundred guests filled the reception hall at St. George Cultural Center in Bloomfield Hills to help the newlyweds celebrate before embarking on a Caribbean cruise.

Maid of Honor was JoAnn Lingenfelter, sister of the bride, and Mike Riley of Mt. Clemens served as best man. Other attendants were Maria Polsinelli of Troy, Jean Lingenfelter of California, Linda Duguay of Troy, Jan Boyd of Huntington Woods and Angeline Stafford of Troy.

Groomsmen were John Hutnick of California, Steve Gerard of Royal Oak, and Bill Harris and Brian Hutnick of Madison Heights.

Agnes owns Jo-Bea Coiffures in Oak Park and Mark works for Design Landscaping Co. of Royal

The couple will reside in Madison Heights.

Rose celebrates 101st birthday

Rose Fiedrich pased the century mark and moved into the second, celebrating her 101st birthday June 6 surrounded by 20 well-wishers, friends Daughter Edith M. Young of Sundale Road, Independence Township, planned the get-together at Rose's current address, the Bloomfield Care Center in Bloomfield Hills:

On hand for the celebration were the Rev. Robert Walters of Calvary Lutheran Church and this year's entire confirmation class, who all sang "Happy Birthday." The room glowed with flowers from the church's altar where Rose was a member of the congregation.

Last summer 65 guests filled the Young's home to celebrate Rose's 100th birthday.

Among her life's accomplishments Rose lists: Being one of the first women in the City of Detroit to drive; bowling through the 1981 season; and salutations from former-President Gerald Ford, past President Jimmy Carter and current President

Volunteer Morrow honored by Scouts

"Very delighted," says Maxium "Mac" Morrow about the award he received recently from the Boy Scouts of America.

The National Court of Honor Silver Beaver

Mac Morrow

Award was conferred upon the Independence Township resident during a special ceremony at Silverdome's Main Event.

"It's probably one of the most coveted awards that a volunteer can attain, pretty much the ultimate as far as the award goes," said Morrow proudly.

A 25-year township resident, Morrow has been active in scouting 12 years. He has served as a Webelos leader, assistant scoutmaster, international representative and, currently, Scoutmaster of Troop 49, chartered by the American Legion, Post No. 63, of Clarkston.

The best part of his involvement is seeing youngsters attain goals, like scouting's Eagle Award, Morrow said.

'I'm very much committed to it," he said. "The youth of today are our leaders of tomorrow, and if we can give them good foundations, that's what it's all about.

The owner of Morrow Collision, he's also active in other areas of the community-in 1971, Morrow was chairperson of the Northwest Oakland Vocational Education Center Auto Body Advisory Committee, he's a member of the Knights of Columbus, and he was the recipient of the 1981 Clarkston Community Award for distinguished service.

Winships plan photography studio expansion

Business is good for Ken and Gail Winship, owners of the photography studio on Sashabaw Road, north of Maybee-and they're looking at expansion of both the darkroom and studio.

In addition, the couple have set their sites on developing the razed Boron Gasoline Station on the corner of Maybee and Sashabaw Road into a small shopping strip.

Doing business

At the May 27 meeting, members of the Independence Township Planning Commission had no problem with an addition to the studio, but voiced concern over intensifying development on what's already a busy corner and tabled the matter for further study, according to Director of Building and Planning Kenneth Delbridge.

The Winships proposed to develop three shops under C-2 zoning, a general shopping district which allows shops like hair salons, paint and hardware stores, Delbridge said. Such zoning requires a minimum five-acre site. The proposed site is approximately one acre, he said.

According to Delbridge the planning commission has recommended the Winships limit development to two shops, and the couple must still seek a parking and setback variance from the zoning board before construction can begin.

'I don't think there's a problem," Gail Winship said following the meeting, referring to the commission's proposal to limit development to two shops.

"We had an artist's rendering, of course we'll have to change the plan somewhat, but I don't see we have any other choice," she said. "What we'd really like to see are signed leases before we begin building.

To date, it's not known who will locate at that site, she said.

The issue is scheduled to come before the planning commission for conceptual site plan approval June 10 at 7:30 p.m. in Independence Township Hall, 90 N. Main, Clarkston.

Leaders' seminar

Darnell Associates of Clarkston will conduct their "Motivation" seminar for persons in leadership roles on Saturday, June 26, from 8 a.n. to 4:30 p.m. at the Kingsley Inn, Bloomfield Hills.

The fee is $50. For information, call 625-7767.

She'll sure miss the children

Andersonville Elementary School media aide Rema Kunkle retires

By Kathy Greenfield

She talks with pleasure about the phenominal growth of the Andersonville Elementary media center. She talks with enthusiasm about what she'll do when retired after 16 years on staff, including the last six as media center aide.

But when Rema Kunkle talks about the children. her eves fill with tears.

'You know they have added something to my life or I wouldn't have stayed 16 years," she says. "I wish I had the card I took home yesterday a little girl made

I'm not," she adds with determination, "going to cry the day I leave."

She'll remember the way the children have reacted to her retirement.

"A little girl came in and said, 'Mrs. Kunkle, I've had you since kindergarten. I'm going to miss you so

And she'll save special moments when adults in their late 20s recognize her—some of the first students she had contact with when she worked as a volunteer in the media center, and later as a playground aide.

'Those kids have grown up. They work at stores and gas stations, and when I go in, they say, 'Aren't you Mrs. Kunkle who used to work on the playground or the media center?' It makes you feel so good that they remember."

She laughs when asked why she's retiring, and states the reason with one short word.

"Age," she says. "I worked long enough to get old. I sent a note to (Doris Mousseau, former Andersonville principal) and I said, 'I started out to pay for my hobbies, three hours a day. Here I've stayed long enough to work my way into retirement!'

The hobbies—sewing, crocheting and all sorts of handwork—were set aside while she worked full time, but now she's looking forward to getting back to them, Kunkle says.

When her husband retires one-and-one-half years from now, there'll be time for traveling, too. And there are also her grandchildren, a 2-year-old and 4-month-old twins, in nearby Holly.

"I'm going to love them, and send them home when they cry," she says, making plans for some intensive grandmothering.

Labeling tapes and filmstrips is one of Rema Kunkle's last duties as she readies to retire.

Errin puts on her dancing gillies

Twisting and turning, using her feet to kick the back of her calves in a sound thump, 10-year-old Errica Shanahan offers a sampling of Scottish Highland folk dancing, from her parents' front steps on Eston Road, Independence Township. Two weeks ago she captured her class in state competition at Alma.

By Marilyn Trumper

Two years ago Errica Shanahan's Irish blood started churning to learn the Scottish Highland Dance—and it's never stopped.

Over Memorial Day Weekend in Alma during the Highland Festival, Errica, 10, captured a first, second and third place and racked up enough points to take her class.

Her elaborate dress—fine lace blouse; plaid kilt; red velvet vest with gold trim; and gillies, low-cut black leather ballet-like shoes with decorative lacing-are almost all made by her mom, Kathy. And says Kathy, if Errica were in complete dress, her kneehigh length solid red stockings would be replaced by Sacrifice has proven key to the young girl's success as a Scottish Highland Dancer. The whole family's chipped in.

Not only does Errica work hard and practice to achieve her wins, but mom and dad Charles have sacrificed too.

...it's hard work

There are the weekly drives to lessons in Holly Township. Traveling as far as Windsor, Ont., for the gillies and traveling to places like Alma for competition. Everyone's been caught up in the history and excitement of competition and dance.

Errica tackled the intricate Scottish folk dance after a year at the ballet bar.

"I don't know why," she said, hunching her shoulders. "I just like this better. It's faster. In ballet the turns are too slow."

But Highland dance is just as tough.

"You have to keep your shoulders back, keep your arms up without moving them, keep your points," Errica said.

Ready to offer a sampling, Errica crosses a sword •) and its sheathe on the Shanahans' living room floor. The tape recorder clicks on and the mournful sound of bagpipes fill the air.

And just as solemn, Errica takes her stance, heels together, toes outward, hands on hips.

She begins in a rhythmic series of jumps, striking the back of her calves with her toes to achieve a hard

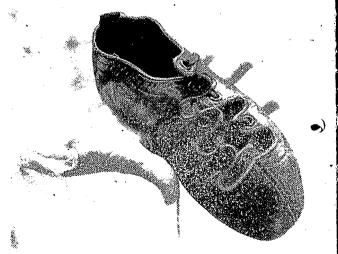

Jumping in and around the outstretched swords, raising hands into the air, twisting and turning in a hundred steps. The speed picks up and she's whirling, breathing becomes labored.

No question, it's hard work.

Upon completion Errica's chest is heaving, she's out of breath and tired.

It took two weeks to master that dance, she said. A the Alma competition, there were "a zillion pipe bands, and I could feel the banging of the drums in my heart," she said.

Errica admits that one day, she'd like to capture the state title for Highland dancing, a pastime and •) hobby she says she'll pursue.

Errica offers a closer look at her gillies, soft leather, ballet-like shoes with decorative lacing. The special shoes complete her decorative outfit worn in competition.
