Garbage haulers angered over one-firm pickup

Subdivision residents echo concerns over possible loss of present free enterprise system

By Marilyn Trumper

Local garbage haulers are fearful they'll be run out of business if Independence implements the controversial one-firm townshipwide pickup.

Some residents of Deer Lake Farms Subdivision have sided with the haulers and say they want to continue to have a choice in who collects their garbage, demanding the free enterprise system remain alive.

As both groups converged at the Aug. 17 meeting, the board backpedaled from an earlier plan to have an ad valorem or special assessment tax pay for the townshipwide pickup. The tax proposal was placed on a back burner at least for the November election and Chairman of the Solid Waste Task Force, Edward Thomson, proposed the haulers bid to work sections of the township, instead of bidding for the monopoly.

"Leave trash collection the way it is," said Leonard Smith, owner of Smith's Disposal. "You're going to put me out of business and ruin my life.

"I've got 3,500 homes in this township. That's half my business. What do you think this is going to do to me?"

Supervisor James B. Smith countered with, "That's not our major concern. Our major concern is to serve the people of this township."

The issue came to a head when the task force reported on the county's plan for solid waste pickup. When 41 of Oakland County's 61 communities approve the plan, all communities will be forced via contract to dump refuse at the county's central location site, and pay for the privilege of doing so.

For cost-effectiveness and efficiency, the task force proposed the low bidder be awarded Independence Township's pickups, ending overlapping routes and different pickup days, which should drive down rates. Currently five haulers work the township.

The mandatory pickup would force those not subscribing to a service to have their garbage picked up, and eliminate public dumping, Thomson said.

Gary Coop, owner of Coop's Disposal, started his business two years ago and says he's owned by the banks, and got loans based on the number of customers he has. Currently he services 80 percent of the township's commercial sites along Dixie Highway, M-15 and White Lake Road.

"What are you going to control now?" Coop asked. "The next time I go golfing you'll tell me I have to golf at the county course and not Spring Lake.

"It's hard for us to bid competitively on a section when 100 of those home are tied right to us and the banks."

When Smith said the bids weren't forever, a redfaced Coop said, "If I don't get the bid this time around, I won't be around the next time to bid.

"And why should we have to bid for something that's already ours? I'm scared to death. I'm already in up to my neck now," Coop said.

Ron and Betty Wagner of Deer Lake Farms Subdivision repeatedly criticized the board for considering a one-company pickup.

"We're opposed to having disposal go out to the lowest bidder. We come from a community that had municipal pickup. At first you save money. Then a monopoly forms and prices are raised.

"We'll loose neatness, cooperation and service... and we won't be able to change companies if we're not happy with the service," Betty Wagner said.

Supervisor Smith repeated that the township "does not want to go into the garbage collection business. The board agrees with the task force to leave it to private enterprise."

"But," Smith told the haulers, "if you're willing to cooperate and help us find out how many people are not subscribing to a pickup service, we may be able to work something else out and leave things the way they are."

Coop, Moore and Smith agreed to compare notes and come up with the names of people who do not subscribe to pickups.

"I'll bet it's less than one in a hundred," Moore said after the meeting.

State puts PK license on hold

By Marilyn Trumper

The state Liquor Control Commission has put on hold Pine Knob's request to sell beer and wine at the music theater. If approved, the request would outlaw fans bringing their own alcoholic beverages.

The petition, made in December 1980, is tangled in Pine Knob Investment Co.'s second request to clean up an outdated permit which still lists Indusco Corp. and Ogden Foods Service as the liquor licensees. Ogden Foods no longer operates the concession stands at Pine Knob.

According to Walter Keck, director of the Office of Executive Services for the Liquor Control Commission, the request was heard Aug. 18 but a decision was postponed until the license is updated, even though the proposed plan had the Oakland County Sheriff's Department stamp of approval.

Earlier Joseph Locricchio, co-owner of Pine Knob and theater landlord, said the plan to expand the ski lodge's license to cover the theater will be a money-maker.

Theater management welcomes the plan, which they say will cap underage and excessive drinking.

Locricchio could not be reached to comment on the state's postponement.

State officials indicated that if the plan is approved, the OK would not come in time for implementation this year.

Board approves three more race track dates

By Marilyn Trumper

Sound data collected by township engineer Richard Kolano is consistent with reports of the audiologist hired by the Waterford Hills Racing Association to study ways to ease track noise.

The news paved the way for the track's third piecemeal OK of the summer to race Aug, 28 and 29 and Sept. 6. The township board approved the dates in a 4-1 vote at the Aug. 17 meeting. Trustee Larence Kozma was the lone dissenter. Trustees Dale Stuart and Daniel Travis were absent.

After almost a month of work, Kolano handed in a seven-page sound analysis report recommending two ways to ease noise. The first, to adequately muffle the cars with exhaust systems as outlined in state statute; the second, to erect the proposed berm designed to trap track noise and buffer the neighboring residential subdivisions.

"We do not think the berm alone will be adequate, but then sound itself is a subjective thing. Under optimum conditions, (the audiologist's) proposal would work. But you don't always have optimum conditions," Kolano said.

Supervisor James B. Smith called for an "interim Band Aid" and Trustee Kozma asked track President James McIntosh to self-monitor races and pull off all cars exceeding 80 decibels, the limit outlined in a 1965 consent judgment regulating the track.

McIntosh said, "It's hard to pick a reasonable limit." "You don't have any intention of coming anywhere close to our ordinance of 55 (decibles), do you?" Kozma asked.

"We told you that in May," McIntosh respond-

After more discussion, McIntosh agreed to "...monitor and remove cars, to the best of my ability." The issue is to be discussed again at the Sept. 7 meeting at Independence Township Hall, 90 N. Main, Clarkston.

Cable pick: Multi-Cablevision

Acting on its own initiative, in direct conflict to what was outlined by the Independence Township Board in July, the Task Force on Cable TV made a recommendation to hire the franchise Multi-

At the Aug. 17 meeting, Supervisor James B. Smith passed out "sealed" packets of the review and recommendation to board members. Inside, the task force indicated Omnicon had run a close second to Multi-Cablevision.

Individual vendors and members of Clarkston's Village Council had already received similar packets, Smith said, adding the recommendation was included at the request of the village council.

The news visibly irked Trustee Larence Kozma, long in opposition of the task force's freehand review without direction or perimeters.

(The task force wasn't) authorized to make that recommendation...and they were created by the board-not the village council," he said.

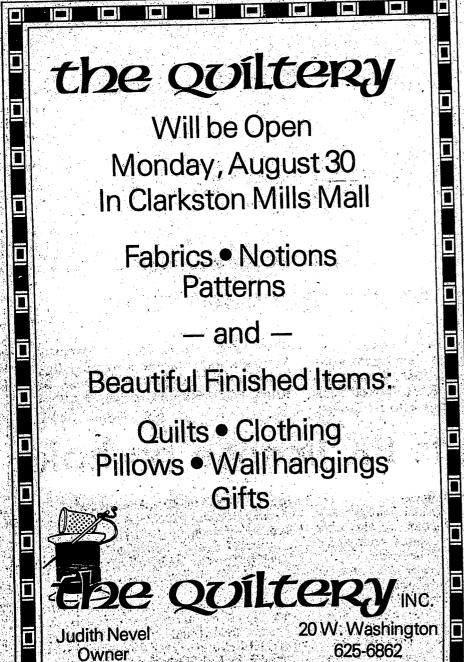

As board members voted to accept a recommendation, Kozma remained the lone dissenter.

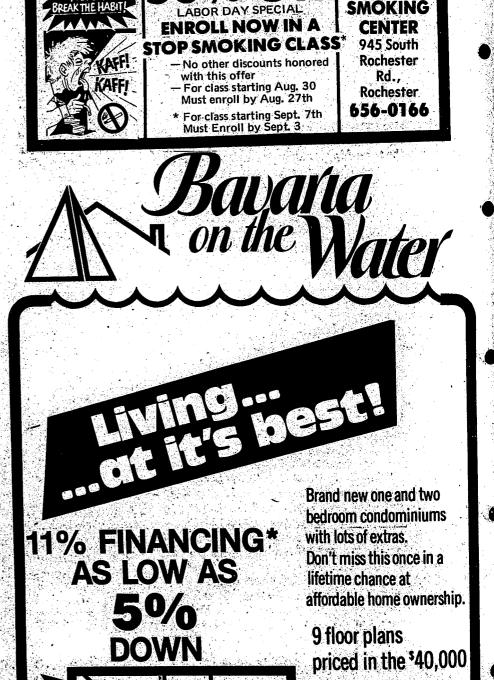

"It would be absurd for the board to give them authority to do what they've already done," he said.

The township board has scheduled the issue for a special meeting, Sept. 14, at Independence Township Hall, 90 N. Main, Clarkston. The village council is expected to be on hand to question the individual vendors.

Police millage to appear on ballot

By Marilyn Trumper

Although the question has gone down to defeat four times since 1976, this November Independence Township will be asked again to approve a 1 mill increase for police protection, under the heading "public safety" or "police protection."

At the Aug. 17 meeting, board members unanimously approved putting the binding question on the ballot, but have yet to adopt the wording. If approved by voters, the mill would be collected for the next 15 years, beginning in December of 1983, and would generate approximately $243,300 each year, based on last year's figures. But, it does not include the State Equalized Value factor currently pending in court which could up the total by 9 percent.

Currently the township collects I mill for the police fund.

Clarkston Village residents are exempt from the vote because they contract the Oakland County Sheriff's Department through the township and pay their bill from the general fund, not through a millage. But, according to Clerk Christopher Rose who spearheaded the millage campaign, the village council can increase its share on its own initiative.

"The police fund is not properly financed and we need more police protection in order to allow us to increase the number of deputies and prevent crime,"

Rose said after the meeting.

He pointed to one resident's hour-and-a-half wait for police response, the fact that last year the board borrowed $25,000 from other township funds to finance police protection, and this year buffered the bill using $59,000 in federal revenue sharing. Rose also indicated the first year's collection of the additional mill would be used to get the police fund back on solid ground.

Ritter said the additional mill is "...needed desperately," citing current national studies that say there should be one police officer for every 1,000 peo-

"Using that we should have 22, and we have six," he said.

A rift over ballot language is expected to split the board as Supervisor James B. Smith pulls for a 'public safety millage" instead of the traditional

According to Smith, the category would allow the tax to be used for police, fire and health, services, but he guaranteed the ballot question would restrict this millage for the police fund alone.

When pressed, Smith said he did not know how the $243,300 would be used to beef up police protection, only that initially the millage would be used to repay borrowed money to keep the police fund affoat.

And, he indicated the additional income could increase the township's number of deputies by two and "perhaps" pay for a liaison officer to coordinate volunteers for crime prevention activities at the local level.

The township board is expected to ratify the ballot language at its next meeting, Sept. 7, at 7:30 p.m. at Independence Township Hall, 90 N. Main,

Independence grudgingly proposes tax boost

Tentative . 1244 mill hike would raise average property owner's 1982 tax bill $5

By Marilyn Trumper

Criticizing the state and county for blocking efforts to keep tax bills down at the local level, the Independence Township Board tentatively settled on a total increase of .1244 mill for 1982, which means nearly $5 to each taxpayer.

At the Aug. 17 Truth in Taxation hearing, Clerk Christopher Rose pointed out that earlier this year, while the township sought to hold assessment increases at 2 percent, the county pulled for 5 percent and the state won with 10 percent.

The net bottom line is that when you try to hold the line in the township, you don't have the support of the county," Supervisor James B. Smith said.

After brief discussion, the board informally settled on a total increase of .1244 mill which will bring approximately $33,000 additional revenue to the township. (A typical home assessed at $40,000, or one-half the market value, would pay about $4.96. One mill is $1 for each $1,000 of assessed property

Rose offered a possible budget breakdown for the funds, targeting $8,000 for the general fund; $16,000 for the fire fund; $5,300 for the police fund; $1,700 toward the planned property purchase of 80 acres of a proposed gravel mine; and $2,600 for safety paths.

Last year the township levied 5.8325 mills collectively for police, fire, property purchase, safety paths and the general fund. This year's total is down .4 with a proposed levy of 5.4273.

No final decision was made and the board is expected to discuss the issue again at its Sept. 7 meeting to begin at 7:30 p.m. in Independence Township Hall, 90 N. Main, Clarkston.

Walls to keep juggling 2 jobs

Until at least the start of next year, supervisor Collin Walls will continue to do double duty at Springfield Township Hall.

Walls, a certified assessor, has been helping out in the township assessment department without compensation since June of 1980.

Currently, Walls is the township's only certified assessor, and the lack of a certified, full-time individual is requiring the Springfield supervisor to stay

Working with Walls in the assessing department is Paul Linenger and Judy Shirk. Leninger, who is not certified, is planning on retiring soon and is now just finishing up some field work on a part-time basis, Shirk hopes to become certified in January 1983. "I'll continue on until such time as Judy Shirk becomes certified," said Walls.

In the busy months of January, February and March, Walls had been dedicating as much as 25 hours a week to assessing duties, in addition to his full-time responsibilites as township supervisor.

In recognition of that, the township board agreed unanimously at its Aug. 11 meeting to compensate Walls $500 a month beginning in September for his assessing work.

Walls said that township finances and the fact that the assessing department was running smoothly were the primary reasons the township waited until this year to begin actively seeking a full-time certified individual.

'Basically, I didn't think at the time I agreed to help that I'd have to be at it this long," Walls said.

"But I like the work."

Facade review

There was action on top of Clarkston Village roofs last week as well as at sidewalk level. Dave McNeven, owner of Coach's Comer, surveyed the rooftop of his building at 12 S.

Main. Bending to pressure from the local municipality McNeven says he's going to repair the brick's facade, and called on the township building director for guiding words. McNeven is not sure when the work will begin or how extensive it will be. For years business owners and members of the council have expressed concern over the deterioration of street facades.

Township cracks down on junk

Springfield Township's rural countryside is looking even better these days, thanks to the efforts of township ordinance eforcement officer Jerry Rumph.

Rumph, who was hired to enforce the township's anti-litter and junk ordinance, has been busy lately informing residents to clean up their yards of unlicensed old cars, assorted junk and other illegal eyesores.

The vast majority of residents contacted have complied with his instructions, but a few have not and will receive letters of warning from the township, according to Springfield Supervisor Collin Walls.

"Of the 70 or 80 households he's dealt with—and

I'd say that estimate is on the low side—we've only had problems with about six of them not complying,

Rumph, who has no prior police experience. earns $10 an hour plus mileage for for approximately eight to 10 hours of work a week, Walls said.

He does not wear a uniform and travels in his own vehicle while on duty.

To date, the township is pleased with the results. "Instead of just responding to complaints, he's driving around the township looking for violations," Walls noted.

Lake weed harvest costs less

Residents living along Springfield Township's Big Lake will be getting a break in their special assessment for weed harvesting.

Originally, each lake front property unit was to be assessed $100 for the work. That figure has been reduced to $75 for each of the 161 paying residents.

'Apparently, when the work was done the charge came in an considerabley less than the original bid,' said Collin Walls, Springfield Township supervisor.

Walls said that the final cost of having the weeds removed was slightly in excess of $12,000-$4,000 less than the original bid and $7,000 less than first-hand estimates.

According to Big Lake Lake Board Chairman Bernard Wendt, the work was done by the firm of Maney's Aquatic Weed Harvesting, based in Evart. Mich.

In addition to the bargain price, Wendt noted that the quality of the harvesting work done was "excellent-better than we had expected."

Riding in style

Employes of Independence Township's Depart ment of Public Works will soon be riding in style.

At the Aug. 17 meeting, the township board unanimously approved purchase of three pickup trucks for $27,000, from Rademacher Chevrolet, Inc., 6750 Dixie Highway, Independence Township.

Editorial Seat belt law makes sense

The mandatory installation of seat belts in vehicles was the first step. Now it's time to make the wearing of those belts a law in Michigan.

We spent years reading about the wisdom of wearing safety belts, trying them out for a while, then going back to the old beltless routine. After newspaper work required close-up looks at accidents, the need for safety belts took hold.

We know from experience that the "different" feeling caused by wearing belts turns into "the way it's supposed to be" when the habit is established.

The state House of Representatives is expected to vote on HB5567; the mandatory safety belt law, in early September. If approved, the proposed law would go to the Senate.

We urge you to write to your state legislators in support of the law which would require the use of safety belts in the front seat for a trial period of three years. The maximum fine would be $25 and there would be no penalty points on drivers' records.

The majority of people cannot continue to ignore the facts that surround safety belt usage:

From the Traffic Safety Association of Michigan: "Highway safety officials estimate that safety belts could have saved at least 300 of the 1,774 deaths and eliminated or reduced many of the 144,000 highway injuries in Michigan in 1980. Savings in deaths alone would have totaled at least $100 million."

From the Michigan State Police Department: None of the 25 fatal accident victims over the 4th of July long weekend was wearing a safety belt.

From the Automobile Club of Michigan: In Sweden, a mandatory safety belt law resulted in a drop in fatalities and serious injuries by 47 percent for drivers and 67 percent for passengers.

Don't wait for the law to pass to do what you must to protect yourself and family as much as possible by wearing seat belts.

And then drop a note to your legislators urging passage of the mandatory seat belt law. Their addresses are: State Rep. Claude Trim, State Capitol, Lansing, MI 48909; and State Sen. Kerry Kammer, State Capitol, Lansing, MI 48000

Letters to editor

Keep trash pickup the same

Following our attendance at the Independence Township Board meeting of Aug. 17, and the lengthy discussion concerning the Solid Waste Task Force's report, we urge the township board to consider these

We strongly suggest that the township maintain the private enterprise system of garbage collection. This will assure the continued "small town" personal service that we now enjoy. It will eliminate the possibility of any of the collection agencies going out of business, thus not increasing the already high unemployment of our township. It will give people the choice to change from one agency to another if service is not maintained. It will eliminate the need for the township to become administratively involved. And it will eliminate the need for any assessment of tax,

We encourage the township board to look for alternative means of eliminating unlawful dumping in our community. One suggestion would be to identify those people who do not employ a garbage service and determine how they are disposing of their refuse.

Whatever the township board's decision concerning this issue, the majority who are lawfully disposing of their garbage should not be penalized. The township's efforts should be addressed to the minority who are unlawfully dumping.

Finally, we are concerned about a governmental body taking over direction of a private service. Even though some members of the township board and the task force claim greater efficiency and lower costs, we are skeptical.

We fear from past experiences that garbage collection service will deteriorate and that the cost to us will eventually increase.

Ron Stanley, Deer Lake Farms, President Betty Wagner, Vice-president

He opposes capital punishment

Probably this November, Michigan voters will have to decide if we need to reinstate capital punishment. Our state was the first English-speaking political territory to abolish the death penalty in 1846.

As president of the Michigan Lifers Association Inc., I oppose capital punishment. After more than 20 years of concentrated study on capital punishment, I am convinced of the following facts:

—The death penalty is not a deterrent to first-degree murder. Some research shows that it might increase murder, especially the witnesses to a killing.

—Capital punishment brutalizes our society and thwarts the criminal justice process. It does not allow for possible rehabilitation of the offender. It handcuffs our legislators in finding other rational and more humane alternatives.

—Capital punishment is a "social cop-out" in that we cannot deal with our social problems, and we have to kill people to teach people that killing people is wrong —Law enforcement officers and prison guards are safer in non-capital punishment states.

The death penalty is more costly to taxpayers than life in prison without parole.

—We might execute the innocent.

—Murdering the murderer will not restore life to the victim.

—Capital punishment will be, as prior history records, racially biased and carried out indiscriminately against ethnic minorities, poor and oppressed citizens, black and white (especially black), who cannot afford a competent defense attorney.

—Wealthy citizens who commit murder tend to escape the death penalty. History records no rich man or rich woman being executed for murder.

—In our society, we place a greater value on "white life" than we do "black life."

-Capital punishment is a political tool used by nefarious and mendacious politicians seeking political office.

-Records show that those who have been executed were of limited intelligence and education.

—Since 1930, 3,862 condemned persons have been executed in the United States. During this half-century (1930-1982), 54 percent of those were black, 45 percent were white and 1 percent were of other races.

—First-degree murderers are least likely to repeat, but more likely to repent.

—Since 1938, Michigan governors have commuted the life sentences and paroled more than 440 first-degree murderers, and not one of them has repeated another first-degree murder.

These are only a few of the many reasons why I oppose the death penalty.

I hope these reasons will become your reasons for rejecting it.

Willie-nilly

The day after Willie Nelson appeared at Pine Knob theater I got a call telling me one of my employees had dinner with the entertainer.

The caller didn't leave me guessing, he knew the name, Jean Roberts. She and her husband, Alex, live on Indianwood Road, Lake Orion.

While I was still on the phone I yelled to our proofreader, 'Jean, did you have dinner with Willie Nelson last night"

"Sure," she quickly responded, thinking I was jesting.

I later told her my information, she asked me to check his source. His wife's hair dresser had mentioned the Jean and Willie affair. (I just added the word affair to spice things up.)

ny hand, cither.

Jean: How in the world could such a rumor have gotten started in the first place?

As she and Alex tried to figure it out, they continued hearing the rumor. The hair dresser has a good business, obviously.

Straining for recall, the Roberts think they know how the story got started.

Seems two men were at the Roberts home when their daughter called from Lansing and said she was going to see Willie Nelson. "Oh, yes, Willie", Alex said into the phone.

Once the phone was on the hook, Alex, who doesn't mind kidding or being kidded, said to his visitors, "Willie and I were in the Army together."

That statement and the phone call is believed to be the source of the Nelson-Roberts dinner story. Personally, I love it. A harmless rumor that added some excitement to someone's day.

Jean really wanted to kid me about their having dinner with Willie. But, she just knew I'd put in in the paper and that would be too much.

The closest the Roberts may have come to Willie Nelson that night was when they saw a black limousine, with shaded windows go by their house and Alex wondered out loud if that might be Willie.

I heard Alex was really in the Army with the O limousine.

Their performance is over, and members of the cast of "The Cleanest Town in the West" have just taken a bow. Now, they invite members of the audience to take a break before the next play. A trio of one-act plays featured young actors, and actresses the weekend of Aug. 14 and 15 at the Clarkston Village Player's Depot Road Theatre.

Young actors hit the heights

A graffiti wall backstage at the Depot Theatre is the perfect place for performers to jot down thoughts, jokes and signatures.

Hours of practice payed off for the 23 youngsters who appeared on stage recently at the Clarkston Village Players' Depot Theatre.

The kids performed in three one-act plays on Aug. 14 and 15.

Backstage before the performances began, several of them tried to cope with minor cases of stage iitters.

But once the casts stepped out on stage, no one would have guessed they were anything but confident.

Lee Ann Woolcox volunteered her time this summer to direct the performances.

"I've learned a lot. They've taught me a lot—just little things you don't think about when you're on stage," said Woolcox. "I think I'm more nervous than when I'm on stage."

After seeing what the talented troupe of youngsters could do, Woolcox was pleased. The summer program sponsored by the Clarkston Village Players will run again, she said.

Backstage hand Karen Lowe takes a quick look through the side entrance to the stage to see how the members of the cast are doing. Script in hand, she's ready to lend assistance if necessary and she operates the curtain.

Poddy Carter's $2 haircuts

According to the newspaper, President Reagan's manicurist was fired for talking too much. Which reminds me that, no matter what the newspaper said, I've never had a manicure.

In the cast of my fingernails, the newspaper was The Lapeer County Press. In a recent issue, Publisher Bob Myers wrote: "Jim Fitzgerald was in town last week, baring the untanned ears of a fresh haircut. He says he's licked inflation in the barber business. He used to get a $2 haircut from Poddy Carter every two weeks. Now he gets a $25 job every six months, and they throw in a manicure.

I understand why Myers felt constrained to publicize my tonsorial habits. He wanted his readers to know that their former editor, since moving from a rural weekly to an urban daily, has changed, but not altogether. The cosmopolitan environment of the big city may have made me prey to the blandishments of sexy manicurists, but I still get my hair cut too late and too short, and I'm still a cheapskate.

I also understand why Myers, in making a gossip item out of my barbering, got most of the facts wrong. Like many reporters, he was the victim of the distractions indigenous to the setting in which he interviewed his subject. We were leaning on a busy bar.

It is true that, many years ago, I paid Poddy Carter $2 per haircut every two weeks. But if Myers hadn't kept hollering for more drinks while I was talking, he would have heard that I now pay $10, not $25, every two months, not six, and I get a shee shine, not a manicure, and it's not free, it's $2. Such sloppy reporting can be forgiven, however, just as long as the bartender hears the holler and the reporter owns the newspaper.

When Poddy Carter cut my hair, I always wanted a brush-cut but never ordered one because they cost. 50 cents extra. Instead, I told Poddy to keep clipping until he reached the exact point where the price went up and then stop immediately or I would bite his arm. Whenever he balked at such a chintzy arrangement, I threatened to put his real name in the newspaper. I probably wasn't LaVerne's favorite customer, and that was many years before he quit barbering and went on TV with Shirley.

PODDY (he got the nickname when he was a pod-shaped child) didn't have a manicurist in his shop, which is why I mentioned to Publisher Myers that there is a manicurist available where I now get my hair cut, in the men's Quarters Salon for Men in beautiful downtown Detroit. I wanted to impress him with how terribly sophisticated I've become since my rustic days when I lived in a town where the only salon was identified by a sign from which one "o" had

But not once during our tonsorial conversation did I claim to have employed the services of the Men's Quarters' manicurist, and it was libel for Myers to write that I did.

It has always seemed to me that only two types of men refuse to maintain their own fingernails. One type is a fop who wears lace cuffs and has a handkerchief up his sleeve. The other is a gangster who wouldn't be shot dead in a barbershop without a manicurist's lap to pillow his bleeding head. Because I have never possessed sufficient ostentation to sit idly by while another person trifles with my cuticle, it is unfair to publicly identify me with either type.

I don't know if Ronald Reagan is a fop or a gangster. All I know is the newspaper said the president's manicurist was fired for publicly disclosing the name of the product she used to keep his fingernalls so shiny. There was no sense in the kind of attention she was drawing to the president," a White House source said.

Likewise, there is no sense to the kind of attention Publisher Myers has drawn to me. Because of his libelous reporting, strangers stop me on the street and ask to see their reflection in my fingernails. I would sue Myers, except I can't afford to have a lawyer hold my hand, either.

Powell resigns Clarkston's council

After less than six full months in the trustee's seat, Jerry Powell has resigned from Clarkston's Village Council.

At Monday night's meeting council President Jackson Byers read Powell's resignation which cited a heavy work load as his reason for resigning

Byers must find a replacement to fill the two-year

After the meeting Powell, reached at his home on Overlook, said he's begun a new job that involves working Monday nights, and he feels it is unfair to continue on the council in a sporadic capacity.

Powell, a former member of the Independence Township Board, lost his re-election bid in August 1980, and after a year reappeared on the political scene and was elected village council trustee.

Local developer John Powe has plans to convert a small garage at 59 S. Main into a produce stand, according to Edward Thomson, chairman of the village Zoning Board of Appeals (ZBA).

Renovations and landscaping for the 300-squarefoot garage have alreay begun. The site is located between the red Sutherland Building and Village Needpoint, according to Thomson, who said Powe has indicated he'll rent the property.

Powe, who needs a rear lot size variance before he can open, is scheduled to appear before the ZBA Friday, Sept. 3, at 7:30 p.m., Clarkston Village Hall, 375 Depot Road, Clarkston.

"(Powe) gambled when he made the improvements before getting permission to open, but I don't anticipate any problems," said Thomson.

Powe could not be reached for comment.

Builders, lawyers, developers and the curious will find ordinance research cheaper, faster and easier with Independence Township's new codified list of laws, all under a single binding.

The thick, black binder has a cross index, table of contents and lists the ordinances with their amendments in full, and should cut by more than half the time for any research.

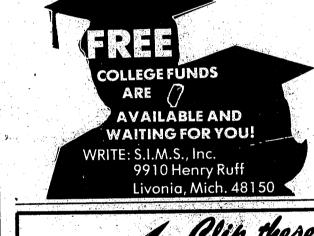

The work took three and a half years to complete and cost the township $10,000, according to Clerk Christopher Rose.

Last chance to enter News' birthday contests

It's your last chance to enter the photography and young writers contests sponsored by The Clarkston News and the Clarkston Community Historical Society to celebrate the village's 150th bir-

The deadline for both contests is Friday, Aug. 27, at 5 p.m. Entries may be dropped off at the News office or mailed to us at The Clarkston News, 5 S. Main, Clarkston, MI 48016. Office hours are 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays—use the mail slot in the door during other times.

Prizes of $25 for first, $15 for second and $10 for third in the general photography category are to be awarded by The Clarkston News. Two special photography categories sponsored by the Clarkston Community Historical Society carry prizes of $25 for first and $15 for second. Each winner will also receive a copy of "Heritage," the hardcover book of local history published by the society in 1976.

The contests are open to amateur photographers of all ages, and each person may enter each category once. Entries may be black and white or color and they must measure 5-by-7 inches. The photos must have been taken during 1982.

In the general category, almost anything goes as long as the photo was taken in the village.

The architectural photographs must be of a structure and should capture something that's typical of village architecture and have artistic value.

The photo-of-historic-value category covers anything of historic value—a picture that shows how the village operates today, so it will be significant in the future.

The photographer's name, address, age and telephone number, and where the photo was taken and date taken must be placed on the back of the photo.

All photographs become the property of the Clarkston Community Historical Society to provide a glimpse of life in the village of 1982 for future generations. The photographs will be on display at the historical society's Crafts & Cider Festival slated for Sept. 17, 18 and 19 and the winning pictures will appear in The Clarkston News fourth special section honoring Clarkston's 150th birthday to be published Sept. 15.

The Young Writers' Contest sponsored by The Clarkston News is open to youngsters in the third through ninth grades.

Up to 250 words may be written on "Why I Like Clarkston" or "What I Would Like Clarkston to Be."

Prizes are $25 for first, $15 for second and $10

Because the purpose of the contest is to honor the village's 150th birthday, keep in mind that "Clarkston" refers to the village.

The winners' themes will also be printed in the fourth special section of The Clarkston News honoring Clarkston's sesquicentennial on Sept. 15.

Gravel mine repairs planned

Independence Township attorney Gerald Fisher reports ongoing negotiations with the Stolaruk Corp., owner of the abandoned 23-acre Stickney Gravel Pit on Stickney Road.

In mid-July the board ordered Fisher to begin forfeiture of the company's $20,000 performance bond for failure to reclaim the pit as outlined in a 1979 consent judgment.

"We've got an agreement now between attorneys to amend the consent judgment in a three- to four-step procedure," Fisher said. "First we're going to have engineers prepare the specifications for reclamation and a timetable for restoration. Right now it looks like 60 days.

"Part of the order is to get an arbitrator to look at the schedule and decide if it's being complied with. If not, than the $20,000 bond is payable," he said.

Fisher was unsure when the final amendment would take place.

Coupons are included in the brochure and they should mailed in by Sept. 17 by 5 p.m. to ensure enrollment in Leisure Time (non-credit) classes. Walk-in registrations will also be taken weekdays from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at the Clarkston Community Learning Center (formerly South Sashabaw Elementary School), 5275 Maybee, Independence Township, or at Clarkston High School.

Vocational skill classes to be offered at the Northwest Oakland Vocational Education Center (NWOVEC) may be registered for in person only if the credits are to go toward high school completion. Otherwise, those wishing to sign up for Medical Office Assisting, Dental Office Assisting or Total Office Procedures should mail in their Leisure Time Coupons by Friday, Sept. 10, at 5 p.m.

Priority will be given to students taking the classes for high school completion credit. Late registration for the classes offered at NWOVEC is scheduled Thursday, Sept. 14, from 5 to 9 p.m. at NWOVEC, 8211 Big Lake Rd., Springfield Township.

Cougars' new regime touts effort, basics

By Al Zawacky

The new guys on the block sat in the coaches' office after another morning football practice at Sashabaw Junior High.

Talking about the upcoming gridiron season were rookie Head Coach Steve Pearson and assistants Jim Wiley and Dan Blower.

The new regime is not promising miracles. But they will guarantee an honest effort and sound football from their 1982 Sashabaw Cougars.

"We expect them to hit," Pearson began. "We want them to play just fundamental football-to execute the basics-tackling, running and blocking."

Pearson and company feel positively about the talent on their 45-man roster, but word around town that the Cougars have a lot of size this year brings a wry smile to the new head coach's

"I'd say we're average—we're not bigger than anybody else. And our foot speed is slow, but that's something we're working on and will try to improve every day."

Both Pearson and Blower played football at Clarkston High School during the highly-successful tenure of former coach Rob White. The new Cougar staff has utilized some techniques from both the departed White and current CHS varsity mentor Walt

"We've gotten ideas from the way Rob coached, and we're picking up ideas from Walt too," Pearson said. "We've been asking (Wyniemko) a lot of questions. This is a learning experience for us just as much as it is for the the kids."

Discipline will be a key part of Pearson's attempt to revive a football program which has not had a winning season since the 1970s.

"We want these kids to learn discipline and respect for football," he said. "We're going to get the most out of every athlete we have.

"If we get beat," Pearson stressed, "it'll be because we played a good football team. Not because we didn't come to play."

In a reversal of football orthodoxy, which usually has the head coach calling the offensive plays, Pearson will make the defensive calls while Wiley and Blower will coordinate the offense.

"We'll run a multiple offense, and it will not be strictly Walt's offense, although the majority of it will be what the varsity runs," Wiley said.

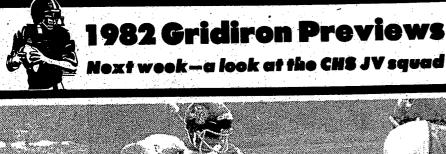

"It's nothing against Walt's offense. It's good. It's just that we feel it's a little too complicated for this level."

Pearson, meanwhile, is no stranger to the defense. In the past, he worked with the Cougar defense through some grim seasons in which the play of the "D" was one of several games' few bright spots.

"Sure we want to go 9-0," Pearson said, looking ahead to Sashabaw's Sept. 9 opener with cross-district rival Clarkston Junior High.

"We're all competitors and we want to win. And we want every kid to enjoy playing football.

'But our primary purpose is to work with and develop these kids for the varsity. We want to do our share to develop and maintain a good football program in Clarkston."

Sashabaw Junior High's new head coach Steve Pearson makes a point in practice— the stress is on hard work and fundamentals.

Clarkston Junior High head football coach John Craven talks to the numbers than he anticipated.

Coach changes tune as outlook brightens

By Al Zawacky

John Craven was singing the blues. Now, he's changing his tune.

A few months ago, the Clarkston Junior High football coach was fretting about a dearth of upcoming freshman talent. But he was smiling a few days after practice opened last week.

Some of the kids must have grown a lot since the spring," Craven observed. "We've got a lot more size than I expected.

"I'm certainly more optimistic now than I was back in the spring."

This year's turnout has proved to be another unexpected plus. Craven had figured the number of players on his 1982 roster would be somewhere in the 40s.

Instead, he's found himself with 56 players-so many that an equipment shortage has cropped up.

"I've had to give some of the kids Sashabaw helmets," he said with a grin. "We've got some new helmets on order, but I don't know when they're going to come in.

"This is the most kids I've ever had—what happened was that a lot of these borderline kids who weren't sure if they were going to play showed up-a lot more than I figured."

If there are deficiencies on the 1982 Wôlverines, they'll be found in the speed and experience departments. The Wolverines speed is only average, according to Craven, and their experience level is thin, owing to the fact that the eighth-grade football program was eliminated at Clarkston and Sashabaw junior highs two years ago.

"It's really starting to hurt," he said. "Our football background is zilch. We've only got 10 kids who have ever played organized football.

Still, Craven is encouraged by the turnout and the team's size.

He figures this year's squad has an edge talent-wise on last year's Wolverines—the small but determined group that put together a herculean effort to rout Sashbaw in the final game of the season and finish the year at 5-4.

That season kept intact the school's record of never having a losing football season. Craven is knocking on wood and hoping to see that tradition preserved.

"I'd say this year's team has more ability, but last year's had a lot of heart and determination," he said.

'We haven't strapped on the pads yet, so I can't really say-but, depending on how serious this group is about football, we should be better than last

There will be the usual surprises and innovations in the Wolverine offense the coach promised—an entertaining trademark of the CJH football program during the tenure of Craven and assistant coach Dave Smith.

the contract of the first country of the property of the

FOR EVERY SEASON, there is a slogan. Two years ago, Clarkston High School football players were working out in pre-season T-shirts that proclaimed the coming campaign as "The Year of the Wolf."

In 1981, the emblazoned battle cry was "The Challenge: To Repeat."

It is now 1982; and the Wolves hierarchy has come up with a rather cryptic slogan for the season just ahead.

The Eye of the Wolf. The Eye of the Wolf?

If you saw Rocky III, recall the movie's theme: Rocky Balboa, world heavyweight champion, grows soft and complacent and loses his crown. Exopponent Apollo Creen tells him he's not as hungry as he used to be. He's lost his killer instinct. He's lost "the eye of the tiger."

The reasoning behind The Eye of the Wolf motto becomes evident.

THERE ARE TWO aspects of a good football team—one physical, the other mental. If physical talent is the brick that goes into building winning football teams, enthusiasm, spirit and intensity—the intangibles of the mind-are the mortar.

It doesn't matter how strong the bricks are—without the mortar the walls will sooner or later come toppling down. On the other hand, you can't build anything with just mortar, either. But in the world of football, a surplus of one can sometimes compensate for a shortage in the other.

The Wolves don't have many bricks this year—a glance at the roster will tell you that. Coach Walt Wyniemko figures he's going to wind up with about 36 players. That's down 20 percent from last year and 40 percent from 1980.

So the key to the season is Wyniemko's hope that these 36 guys will be hungry. That they'll show the desire and confidence of the 1980 league champions. That they'll have The Eye of the Wolf.

"We have to go back to basics and we've got to be hungry," Wyniemko says, gazing 16 days down the road to the start of his fourth season at the helm of the Clarkston High School football program.

'It takes enthusiasm to win. We want to be hungry enough to want to go after it. It's like anything. A guy starts out in a new job, and he'll do anything to succeed. But then, he makes his goal. and maybe he relaxes a bit."

THE WORDS BRING to mind last fall's disappointment, but Wyniemko will not criticize his 1981 Wolves. It would be unfair for him to do so. There were plenty of people on that team who were intense and really cared, from the opener at Swartz Creek to the finale at Waterford Township.

He has no intention of being drawn into a re-hashing of the past, anyway.

"This is a new year and a new theme," he says. "Last year is last year. It's done.

"It's history."

But the implication behind the coaching staff's choice of a slogan is clear: After an 8-1 record and league championship in 1980, last year's team as a group was a complacent Rocky Balboa—a "10" in talent, but a zero in intensity.

All top-quality bricks. But no mortar.

This year, much of the Wolves' hopes rest on that mortar—their desire, their intensity, their tenacity.

"Hey, we're enthusiastic, Wyniemko says. "We have 36 kids and . we're going to fight and scratch like anything.'

Regardless of wins and losses, you get the feeling that this is going to be a fun season to watch. And with a few breaks, luck in the injury department and those mental intangibles, the Wolves could surprise a few people.

IN FACT, THERE'S only one thing bothering Wyniemko these days: The team still doesn't actually have its slogan-bearing T-shirts. The shirts were ordered at a local sport shop some time ago, but still haven't arrived.

It's an evil thought of mine, but I hope the they weren't accidently shipped to Swartz Creek.

Pistons, McDonald's to go

There'll be some familiar faces from the ranks of professional basketball in Thursday's softball game in Waterford.

For the second year in a row, members of the Detroit Pistons will square off against the McDonald's All-stars in a charity softball game to benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

Game time Aug. 26 will be 8 p.m.

McDonald's All-stars team is made up of crew members from six McDonald's restaurants, including McDonald's of Clarkston on Dixie Highway near M-15 and McDonald's of Sashabaw on Sashabaw Road near Maybee Road.

The team will be coached by Mike Starnes, manager of the Sashabaw Road store, and Don Platt, first assistant manager at the Dixie Highway store.

Lions Park is located on Avery Road, just off Elizabeth Lake Road and across from the Pontiac Country Club in Waterford Township.

Admission to the game will be $1, with all proceeds going to aid in the fight against muscular dystrophy.

1982 Wolverine preview

Cross-district rival Sashabaw will provide the opposition when the Wolverines open the season next month. The rival Cougars have a new coaching staff, and after years of a less-than-warm relationship with the Sashabaw coaches, the hope is that a spirit of cooperation will prevail.

"I'm looking forward to working with the Sashabaw coaches and looking forward to the cooperation improving," Craven said.

"Hey. I'll say what I've always said: I want to see Sashabaw win. The only time I'd rather see them lose is the two times we play them."

Independence Library's Lucy Embrey retires

By Marilyn Trumper

Just because Lucy Embrey's retiring from the Independence Township Library Sept. 3 doesn't mean she'll be gone for good.

The 65-year-old, finely coiffed and classically dressed silver-haired senior promises to make a return in "grubbies" for the library's upcoming fall renova-

'I'll hike across the field in my grubbies ready to pitch in and help. I already promised," she says, then laughs, her blues eyes smiling behind glasses. "We're going to be putting in new shelves and carpeting. We have to take everything out to do that.
"I told Mr. Hibler (library director) that any time he gets stuck, just to call me. I won't say no."

Working above and beyond the call of duty is this petite woman's unspoken motto after 16 years as a municipal employe.

While Embrey could have retired in June, she stuck around to let colleagues take their vacations, so the library wouldn't be shorthanded.

Many times she came to work an hour early. Those hours never appeared on the paycheck.

"My husband told me he was going to give me a cot and let me stay here, I'm here so much," she says.

And Embrey, who rarely misses work, has racked up a number of unused vacation and sick days she'll take in pay.

"I hate to take off I guess. I enjoy the job so. I enjoy books and what I do isn't boring," she says. "I'm retiring under pressure from my family. My husband's been semi-retired. He wants me to do things with him and I can't. Now I can.'

When the 9 to 5 clock is no longer being punched, Embrey says she'll write her son who's teaching in Lima, Peru; travel; "play golf again; and get out the old recipe box and update it.

"I like to cook, and spend time with my two grandchildren. I never get to do much with them, I'm always working," she says.

James Hibler, library director, says Embrey will be sorely missed.

"She's a great woman, an outstanding woman," Hibler says. "She's thoughtful, kind and helpful, and dedicated. There's no way to count the extra time she's put in, the extra hours, her own time.

"She's incredible, and that type of person doesn't come around very often."

Jim Hurrell: his political views and his party's philosophy

The Clarkston (Mich.) News

Jim Hurrell wants voters in the 6th congressional district to know that this November's battle for a seat in congress in not a two-horse race.

A resident of Independence Township, Hurrell is one of the minor party hopefuls running against Republican candidate James Dunn and Democrat Robert Carr for a place in the 98th congress.

Hurrell, 34, is making his second attempt at public office on the Libertarian Party ticket. In 1980, he ran unsuccessfully for a seat on the Michigan State University Board of Trustees, but garnered a surprising 80,000 votes statewide.

A veterinarian, he is the former owner of the Drayton Plains Verterinary Hospital in Waterford. After selling the clinic in the fall of 1981, he has dedicated most of his time to teaching at Macomb County Community College.

An MSU graduate, he is married and has two children.

Clarkston News reporter Al Zawacky interviewed Hurrell at his home recently, during which the candidate discussed his reasons for running, his own political views, and the political philosophy of the Libertarian Party.

NEWS: First of all, what is a Libertarian?

HURRELL: A Libertarian is very similar to what our founding fathers were in this country—that is they realized the evils of large government and oppressive taxation. Our basic premise is that the indivdual, rather than big government, should be sovereign, and the individual should have the freedom to do anything as long as it does not infringe on the liberties of others.

NEWS: Why are you running?

HURRELL: Number one, I'm very upset with what's happening in Washington. It doesn't seem to matter whether we have a Democrat or a Republican in charge. We Libertarians call the two-party system the "Republicrats," because it really doesn't matter who you get in office—you still get more spending, more taxation, more oppression.

Secondly, I want people to have some freedom of choice. Fifty percent of the eligible voters in this country, regardless of the election, aren't voting. They're obviously feeling the frustration of knowing that it doesn't make any difference between the two major parties.

Third, I'm very concerned that this country is going bankrupt incredibly fast, and who is going to pay for that but my children and my children's children? I guess I feel I have to stand up right now and say what I feel is right, so that my children don't have to be the slaves for the spend-thrift ways of our generation.

NEWS: Where would congressman Jim Hurrell recommend that cuts be made in order to balance the federal budget?

HURRELL: My recommendations would be very radical—if you want to call it the meat-ax approach, I guess you could because I feel that's the only way to get government back to where it should be.

I would eliminate the following from the budget: The departments of energy, education, agriculture, transportation; I would also eliminate the FTC, the CIA, EPA, OSHA, FDIC, DEA, HUD and the Federal Reserve Board; I would bring home the armies in Japan and Germany—obviously, if Japan and Germany are capable of making cars cheaper and better than America, they're perfectly capable of defending themselves.

I'd also like to see elimination of federal revenue sharing and all forms of subsidies from the federal government. What we have now, for example, is one segment of the federal government telling us that smoking is hazardous to your health, while another segment subsidizes the tobacco industry to grow tobacco.

NEWS: You would advocate the abolishment of an institution like the FDIC? Why?

HURRELL: If all the banks in the country went bankrupt today, the FDIC would only be able to cover 5 percent of the deposits. So we really don't have anything to cover a fush on banks right now...

NEWS: But isn't the psychological factor the basic virtue behind the FDIC? That there won't be another run on the banks if the FDIC is there to reassure people that all the deposits are secure, even if, in fact, they're not?

HURRELL: Well, the problem with the FDIC is that unfortunately big-money interests have manipulated it. At this point, rather than have the FDIC and Federal Reserve Board, I'd rather see us go back to sound money—the gold standard. Right now if there were a rush on banks, the FDIC would not do anything for us, so I think the FDIC is a ruse, more than anything.

NEWS: Would you concede, though, that the federal government in 1982 should, of necessity, be larger than in, say, Jefferson's time? The food and drug administration, for example—isn't there a general agreement that the federal government is needed to inspect our food and test drugs before they become available to the public?

HURRELL: A couple of points—number one, we're over-regulated, and the increased cost is passed to the consumer. Number two, if I felt we were being regulated well, I guess I'd feel comfortable with it.

'This country is going bankrupt
... and who is going to pay for that but my children ... ?'

But, for example, I happen to be a member of the board of mortuary science examiners for the state of Michigan, and in the year and a half I've been on that board, I've seen $100,000 go through for costs to have meetings and so on. In that time, I've never seen a single person lose his license—with the lone exception of a convicted murderer. So I don't think the interests of the people are being served by the bureaucracy.

NEWS: Few would argue that the bureaucracy isn't in need of reform. But to completely abolish regulatory agencies—doesn't that open the door to a whole boot of new abuses?

whole host of new abuses?

HURRELL: Not if we have the type of court system we should have, where someone who has been the victim of an abuse is able to sue the company. You see that happening even today, and that is evidence that the consumer isn't really being protected. Again, if the court system works as it should, an individual should be able to sue a corporation, and a corporation will not be able to stay in business if it's following shoddy business practices.

NEWS: What about the so-called social safety net? The food stamp program, for example?

HURRELL: That again is an abused area, and that's an area that should be totally cut out from a federal standpoint. Local, private groups can better take care of the people who really need help. We would prefer as Libertarians to see all of the tax dollars stay in the pockets of the individual and let each person decide which group to give it to.

NEWS: What about national defense and foreign

HURRELL: My feeling on foreign policy is: "Free trade with all, alliance with none." The draft, we feel very strongly, is unconstitutional. Defense should be strong, but that doesn't mean we need enough nuclear bombs to blow up the world 100 times over. We favor a foreign policy of strict non-intervention—we've gotten egg on our face so many times by interfering in other countries—if we would just come home and show people around the world how strong we are with our freedom and free enterprise system, we'll plant seeds around the world. But when we start to interfere, that's when we get the El Salvadors, the Vietnams.

NEWS: Is the Libertarian philosophy of individual freedom consistent when it comes to matters of personal life-style?

HURRELL: Yes.

NEWS: How far does that go? Does it extend to drug use and prostitution?

NEWS: Again, we believe very strongly in the free market and the individual being his own master. I personally, morally, cannot accept prostitution—I'm Libertarian congressional candidate Jim Hurreli: "Our basic premise is that the individual,

Little Sarah dazzles 'em with style

Her hand covers her mouth as she answers questions about her experiences modeling in the Northland Center's Back-to-School Fashion Show. And, as the adults talk, she finds the most comfortable spot snuggled in her mom's lap.

But her shyness evaporates when a camera appears—she smiles and poses with ease.

"It's fun being a model," said Sarah, a tall, slim, perfect size 5. "I like to be a model. My mom told me if I wanted to be a model and I said yes."

Sarah, her vounger sister and their parents, John

'All my friends have always said, 'Why don't you get her in commercials?'

and Liz, moved to Iroquois Road in Independence Township from New Orleans, La., just three months

A newspaper article about Northland Center's search for 20 "regular kids" to be models in the fashion show resulted in Liz's decision to take Sarah to the audition.

Over 500 hopefuls showed up at the Southfield mall, and about 50 were in Sarah's age group, Liz

"All my friends have always said, 'Why don't you get her in commercials,' "Liz said. "This was a chance to try out and show her potential."

Sarah was one of only four models selected in her age group. She modeled a vest and knicker outfit and a blouse from Hudson's in a morning and afternoon show on Aug. 19—the audiences numbered about 300 for each show, Liz said.

"It was nice. As she walked out, everyone said, 'Oooh!' As she stepped out, she smiled," Liz said. "I was really proud. She was able to get out there and do it, and enjoy it at the same time.'

a Christian person-but I must realize that I myself should not be able to set laws or moral standards for others

NEWS: What about abortion?

HURRELL: That's a difficult area, and I often find myself at odds here with my Libertarian counterparts. Many of them feel very strongly that the women has the right to control her own body. But myself, I was an adopted child, and I feel basically that the unborn child has rights too.

NEWS: You also have some rather unconventional viewpoints on federal income tax, social security and how Washington should be run, correct?

HURRELL: Yes-I think the personal income tax should be eliminated and the IRS abolished entirely. A tremendous souce of federal revenue is corporate income taxes. Corporations are creatures of the state, and they should pay for the opportunity of being able to use that special interest they got by becoming a corporation in the first place.

The social security system is bankrupting our country. This is one area we cannot cut immediately, because many older, retired and disabled people rely upon social security dollars, but Libertarians feel the system should be modified and gradually phased out.

Finally, I think we should have no pensions for elected officials. We shouldn't send people to Washington to become life-time politicians. Our representatives should be average people, and the president and senators should be limited to six years in office, and representatives to two years, after which they should get out and back into whatever their life's

NEWS: Given the track record of third-party candidates, do you really feel you can win the elec-

HURRELL: Yes. I certainly consider myself a dark horse, and I'm sure the major party candidates aren't even aware of my existence at this point. But I feel they will be by Nov. 2.

Village players spotlight fall season

Don't miss the fall lineup of plays planned by the Clarkston Village Players (CVP).

Season tickets for the trio of productions—"Romantic Comedy," "Good-By Charlie" and "Catch Me if You Can"—are now on sale

The $10.50 season ticket fee covers all three performances and purchasers can choose the dates they wish to see the plays. The price is a $1.50 savings over the regular ticket fee of $4 for each production. Advance notice of a dinner-theater production by the Comedy Cheaters at Deer Lake Racquet Club will be provided to season ticket holders, although the price does not include the play.

"Romantic Comedy" show dates are Oct. 1, 2, 8, 9, 15 and 16. "Good-By Charlie" is to be on stage Dec. 3, 4, 10 and 11: "Catch Me if You Can" is planned May 6, 7, 13, 14, 20 and 21.

To purchase season tickets, include desired dates for viewing the plays and send a check or money order to Clarkston Village Players, P.O. Box 214, Clarkston, MI 48016, write for a season ticket order form, or call Marlene Sewick at 363-0188.

Theater group holds hands out for help

As thoughts turn to the Clarkston Village Players' 22nd season, the call is out for "Angels" and "Patrons of the Arts."

The names are given to those making contributions to the non-profit community theater troupe that presents a lineup of plays at the Depot Theatre in Independence Township and, from time to time, at other local locations.

Those who make contributions of money or materials that equal $25 to $99 are recognized as Patrons.

Contributors of financial or material assistance of $100 or more are Angels.

For their efforts in assisting the Clarkston Village Players, the names of all persons or businesses recognized as Angels or Patrons are listed in all organizational publications. And anyone contributing $50 or more receives two season tickets.

To make contributions or for more information, write the Clarkston Village Players, P.O. Box 214, Clarkston, MI 48016.

Guard's fund raiser: Clever Road Rally

Maps, clues and intrigue await at the Road Rally to benefit the Clarkston Winter Guard planned Friday, Sept. 17.

The $20 donation per couple includes a party at the finish line with a light meal, live music and dancing, and cash prizes.

The winter guard is a group of Clarkston High School students who compete with other high school groups across the nation in precision marching with flags and wooden rifles. The group raises all funds necessary for travels and costumes.

Reservations for the road rally must be made by Sept. 9.

For more information, call Eunice Mandilk at 625-8793, Linda Little at 625-9214 or Connie Farmer at 623-1138.

Honors

Two Clarkston area residents have won scholarships for the fall 1982 session at Oakland Community College.

Birch Hollow Farms uses good old horse sense

Birch Hollow Farms doesn't horse around when it comes to providing stud service, training schools and boarding.

Located at 10065 Allen, Independence Township, the horse farm that boasts stallion Skip N Fitz is enjoying what owner Jackie Moody calls a "lucrative" success after just six years.

"We're what you could call multi-faceted," Jackie said, describing the farm. "Our primary purpose is the breeding. We stand a 5-year-old stallion named Skip N Fitz, a grand champion just point away from his AQHA Championship (American Quarter Horse Association).

"Next is the training. Our son Jeff manages the farm. He's ridden since he was a little boy. His primary purpose is to train and instruct young people. He trains and instructs the 4-H Caballeros."

According to Jackie, the 14 Caballeros competed in the recent 4-H Fair at Springfield Oaks County Park. There were 14 first places in various classes and many "reserves and several grands," she said.

Cheryl Hodgson, featured in The Clarkston News, was a student of Jeff's and won her class and the reserve class in English pleasure riding during the 4-H Fair.

"Jeff trains in western riding, works horses from green (unbroken) to correcting the bad habits of horses that need schooling," Jackie said.

"Just like people, horses need to be re-taught," Jeff said.

The farm is also open for boarding.

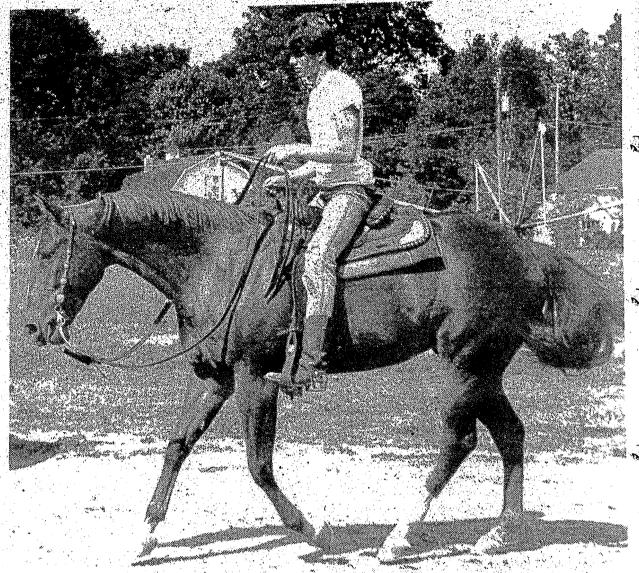

Currently there are 18 stalls at Birch Hollow Farms, and indoor riding arena and an observation room.

Jeff says he runs a tight ship in and out of the training ring.

"I'm strict. Not only is it important how they conduct themselves in the show, but outside as well. Their attitude. I don't like poor losers. I want them to have self-respect."

For information on Birch Hollow Farms, phone 625-6677

Schmids build $90,000 earth-sheltered house

By Marilyn Trumper

It's rare today to hear the sound of carpenter's hammers and saws building a house.

Rarer still to mortgage a $90,000 house at 13 percent.

Still rarer to build an earth-sheltered, arched house and anticipate fuel-heating efficiency.

For Sandy and David Schmid it's reality—and they're crazy about their new home on Whipple Lake Road, Independence Township, even though it means a half-hour daily commute to work for the husband and wife.

Built into the northern ridge of a hill with southern window exposure, the 2,000 square foot, three-bedroom home with vertical wood siding and a brick skirting sits on 10 acres of meadow flowers and ridges.

A 1,100 foot lane leads to the house that boasts a view resembling the foothills of the Smokey Mountains. A blue haze blankets the horizon. The Schmids can see for miles.

The earthern house was designed by Nova, an architectural firm in Grand Haven, and built in three months by Sunway Builders of Lansing.

All the walls are non-load bearing except one, according to David, and are covered in wet plaster. The arch is made of steel forms covered in blown concrete.

The Schmids altered the floor plan for their style of living, using all oak trim, putting shelving here and there, using the upstairs for the kitchen, living room and dining room and the lower level for bedrooms. Most creative is the secret closet in the unusable arch

"Look, you just press here and it pops open," David said, pressing a piece of the diagonal oak trim on the kitchen bar and stepping back.

Magically, a hidden door pops open. Inside the deep closet are piles of sleeping bags. The Schmids' 9-year-old son Christopher's been playing in his secret place.

The Schmids have installed a Ben Franklin stove in the living room with a fan above to circulate the air. Heat is electric. With the house built into a hill and good insulation David estimates he'll cut use of his British thermal units (Btus) from 100,000, what a regular house would use, to 15,000. A Btu is the amount of heat required to increase the temperature of a pound of water one degree Fahrenheit.

"I guess you could say this is our dream house, we've been looking at it for about three years now and finally decided to do it," David said.

"We looked all over northern Oakland County for a site with a southern exposure, had the realtors looking too. Finally, a realtor out here said he had 10 acres for us, and we bought the land," Sandy said.

Work began in April and ended two weeks ago, a timetable David said was a direct result of the economy.

"A lot of this was done with subcontractors. In good times you call a guy and get him out two or three weeks later. With times as tough as they are today, you call a guy, he's out that afternoon or the next day."

Competitive bidding brought the cost down for the home's $90,000 price tag, which David estimates cost $45 a square foot to build. The move to Independence means David will travel each day to Ford Tractor in Troy where he's a design engineer. For Sandy, it's Bloomfield Hills where she's a legal secretary in a law firm.

The adventure of building a home this day and age is a bit unusual, David agrees.

"I think the only people who are building today are the ones building unque homes. We haven't been able to sell our home in Troy but we knew that risk was there when we decided to build.

"There are advantages though to building today. The speed for one thing. Most people have estimated that normally it would have taken six months to get this house done. We got this in three months. That drives the cost down by about 25 percent. And, because we have a 10 acre site we qualified for a 13 percent mortgage from the Federal Land Bank."

Beginning Aug. 27 through September, from 2 to 8 p.m., Friday, Saturday and Sunday, the Schmids will host an open house for $2.50 a head, and give the inquisitive a tour of their earthern home at 5011 Whipple Lake Rd.

The Schmids' $90,000 earth-sheltered house on Whipple Lake Road, was built in a record three months by Sunway Builders of Lansing. Cost per square foot: $45.

Article meant success to church's produce stand

On behalf of the Sashabaw United Presbyterian Church, I want to thank you for the fine article you wrote on our produce stand, especially since we had asked only for a notice.

Since the point of the stand is to help others, your help in publicizing the stand is greatly appreciated.

One result of the story was increased business this last Saturday. Another result was that one woman from the community donated her own extra garden produce to the cause.

All such donations are welcome. People can bring produce in to the church Friday afternoons or Saturday mornings between 9:30 and noon,

As your story said, the produce is available to people for whatever they can afford to pay, be it $0 or $5, or anything in between.

All money collected is being given to local hunger programs like FISH. All produce not sold each weekend is being given to the Haven, a shelter for battered women, to help defray their costs.

Hundreds of fans came on bikes, on horses, in cars and via ATVs to sit on the sun-scorched hills around the backstop at

Clarkston High School last Friday and see the Doobie Brothers go up against WABX. Sponsored by Pine Knob, the game raised over $2,000 for the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

While the adults patiently waited for the game to begin, the less steadfast fan proved too pooped to stay awake.

Dressed in a tuxedo T-shirt and punk glasses, a Pine Knob employe tips a cold drink against the hot sun and gets into the spirit of anything goes.

Doobie Brothers make big hit

When the softball game ended Friday afternoon, WABX emerged victorious over the Doobie Brothers in an 8-5 score, and over $2,000 was raised for the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

Hundreds of people sat on the scorched yellow grass around the backstop at Clarkston High School's ball field. Rock group fans of all ages traveled to the game in cars, on bikes, all-terrain vehicles and horseback.

They drank pop, beer and liquor, and babies toted around plastic bottles filled with milk. The thirsty gathered around a McDonald's booth and ordered up cold orange drinks, with all sale proceeds going to the benefit.

It was a big summer party on the hill where almost anything went.

Large speakers blared music. Frisbees flew through the air. Dogs roamed around. Babies roamed around. Fans large and small roamed around.

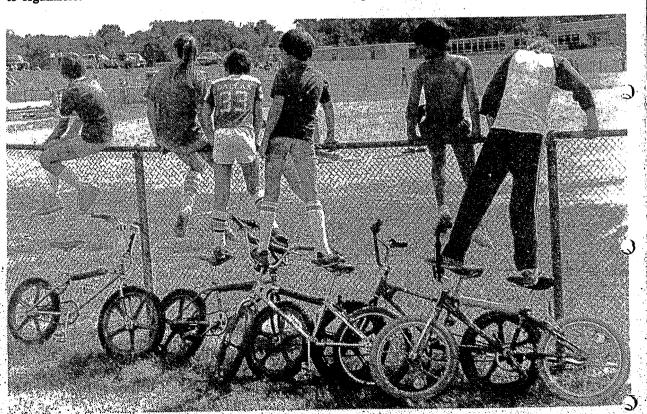

They wore Doobie Brothers jerseys, shorts, tops, jeans, hats and punk glasses.

They sat on top of vans for a good view, rode bicycles backward and walked around with cameras slung about their necks, taking pictures of people taking pictures.

The softball tournament between local radio stations and Pine Knob employes, with the big playoff against the band, was a unqualified success according to organizers.

John McFee, guitarist for the Doobies Brothers, tips his hat against the hot sun and takes time to talk to all courageous enough to approach.

Unable to see above the adults' heads, these enterprising boys mounted their bikes and got a bird's-eye view of the game.

There was great support among the fans as WABX took to the field in their blue and white jersies.
