Clarkston schools lose 272 pupils

By Kathy Greenfield

The financial blow of losing about 272 kindergarten through 12th-grade pupils has been offset somewhat by a dramatic increase in Adult Education enrollment in the Clarkston school district.

The official Fourth Friday tally was taken Oct. 1, and while there may be a few adjustments due to absences for illnesses, trips or injuries, the tentative figures are 6,026 K-12 pupils; 100 Adult Education students and 48 preschoolers in SPICE, for a total of 6,174; said Mel Vaara, assistant superintendent of schools.

"We're a little bit to the plus through adult education which is a magnificent gain because of the involvement of Kathleen O'Donnell, our community education director, and Ginney Farmer, her assistant," he said.

Last year, Vaara said, there were only 29 Adult Education students.

The SPICE program which serves preschoolers who may have special needs also doubled its enrollment from 24 to 48, and Vaara credited the efforts of Robert Brumbach, special services director, for the increase.

The final tentative enrollment figure of 6,174 is 184 less than last year. The count will not be official until Oct. 11, because the state allows 10 days for adjustments to be made for verifiable absences.

"Our student count, K-12, will probably vary within two or three," he said. "It's almost on the money. (The final figure) won't go up, but it could be less."

State aid and local tax collections which provide income for the school district are based on the Fourth Friday count. The total revenue per pupil is expected to be about $2,000 this year, Vaara said.

The district closed South Sashabaw Elementary School in June, and the school had an enrollment of 260, just a bit below the drop in the number of K-12 pupils. The building is now the Clarkston Community Learning Center, housing some Adult Education courses, the SPICE program and several community education class offerings.

Elementary school enrollment (K-6) showed the largest decrease with 229 fewer pupils than last year. By school, the tentative Fourth Friday figures are: Andersonville 439 (down 33), Bailey Lake 676 (down one), Clarkston Elementary 569 (down 66), North Sashabaw 477 (up 84) and Pine Knob (up 47). Last year, South Sashabaw had about 260 pupils, and there was some re-districting when the school closed, with pupils now attending North Sashabaw, Bailey

Lake and Pine Knob elementaries. The total elementary enrollment figure is about 2,805.

Clarkston Junior High School has a tentative enrollment of 769 (up 16) and Sashabaw Junior High's is 872 (down 66). Clarkston High School's enrollment stayed exactly the same, with 1,580 students, making the secondary enrollment figure about 3,221, down 50 from last year.

Some great pumpkins

In years past, the Robitaille family pampered their pumpkin patch, putting manure under the plants and taking special care to grow giants. "This year, we didn't do anything. All we did was plant the seeds," says Pam Robitaille, who grew eight pumpkins, each over 70 pounds, with her husband Chris and son Jon, 14. The biggest one tips the bathroom scale at over 150 pounds, she says, and it outweighs any they've grown in seven years of gardening off Holcomb Road in Independence Township. Pam does have a theory about what happened: "When June was so cold everything stood still, but those vines kept going. It was about the only thing in the garden that did." The patch produced only eight pumpkins because the Robitailles snapped off all the other little green pumpkins when they appeared, a trick that makes the ones left grow larger. The family plans to carve some terrific jack-o'-lanterns for Halloween and save the seeds from the biggest one for next year's crop. The greatest pumpkin is on display at Ritter's Farm Market on Dixie Highway where Pam works. Sitting with the impressive crop are (from left) Timmy O'Neill, Pam and Jon.

But LCC prepares to file complaint

Township accepts Pine Knob's liquor license

By Marilyn Trumper

Technically a majority transfer of stock can mean a transfer of ownership, and it's this the Liquor Control Commission (LCC) has raised eyebrows over with Pine Knob's request to transfer the Hamburger Mansion's liquor license.

With little fanfare at the Sept. 28 meeting, the Independence Township Board voted 4-2 to approve the application to transfer the license to Gary Francell and Joseph Locricchio, co-owners of Pine Knob Investment, from former owner Alexander Bardy.

But, according to enforcement officer Norman

Zielinski who was contacted after the meeting, the LCC isn't satisfied and is alleging improprieties with the stock transfer.

Zielinski says he'll file a formal complaint with the attorney general's office this week charging Locricchio and Francell are in violation of transferring the stock in ownership prior to making the official application to transfer the license in December of 1980.

Locricchio could not be reached for comment. According to Zielinski, the attorney general's office will review his complaint and decide if charges should be leveled.

"Really all this is a technical violation," Zielinski said. "Pine Knob will have the opportunity to a hearing if they want to appeal, or they can pay a fine. But all this is really premature because the attorney general hasn't decided if there is a violation yet."

After transfers are complete, the LCC is expected to review Locricchio's request to sell alcohol in the pavilion area of the Pine Knob Music Theatre. If finally approved by Lansing, patrons would be pro-

Cable TV decision goes on hold for 30 days

By Marilyn Trumper

It will be at least 30 days before the cable TV issue is decided in Independence Township.

Opting not to award a franchise to one of the three bidding companies at the Sept. 28 meeting, the board directed Clerk Christopher Rose to sit down independently or collectively with company representatives and hammer out a specific contract in an attempt to get the best possible agreement for the township.

Multi-Cablevision, the task force's recommended company, shied from the plan but agreed to go along with the proposal.

"I see this three-way negotiation as a new bidding process," said Gil Clark, general partner. "But, yes, we'll go along with it."

Trustee Larence Kozma said a "bidding war" could be the ticket the township needs to make its decision.

"I'm not too worried about a bidding war. If it comes to that the township and the village will come out on top," he said.

Treasurer Frederick Ritter was ready to vote and award the franchise that night.

"I'm prepared to make a decision tonight. I did a lot of thinking over the past two weeks to come to a decision," he said.

Rose was directed to report back to the board in 30 days when it's expected the township board and Clarkston Village Council will hold another joint meeting, with both bodies having an equal vote in the decision.

The all-inclusive motion allows Rose to hire a cable consultant to assist him in the decision making.

"Which I will do," he said after the meeting. "Cable TV is a very complex business. I need the expertise of a consultant particularly where the company wants to change its proposal. Also when it comes to writing the ordinance."

Rose is expected to select a consultant within the week.

hibited from bringing their own alcoholic beverages.

Clerk Christopher Rose and Trustee Larence Kozma voted not to transfer.

"According to articles I read in the paper, Pine Knob wanted to be notified and be present when we next reviewed this. I did not know this was on the agenda, and I think we should table this until they can be here," Rose said.

Kozma's dissent was for entirely different reasons, and after the meeting he explained his vote.

Kozma pointed to two of the township attorney's five criteria on which to base "considerations" for a transfer approval or denial.

The first, "Where the applicant does not have sufficient assets for the successful operation of the proposed business" and "...failure to comply with applicable codes."

"There was no information on those criteria," Kozma said, suggesting that because Pine Knob is in Chapter 11 with tied assets it could mean funds are not there for "successful operation" of the mansion.

"And we didn't have any reports to show if he is up to code. So, I voted no."

Kozma also referred to 1978 when Bardy received the license and the township received Locricchio's assurance that he would remain separate from the restaurant.

"By doing this, he's not," said Kozma.

There's no official word when the LCC is expected to consider the final decision on transfer.

First raise in 10 years

Township ups on-call fire fighters' pay 30%

By Marilyn Trumper

After 10 years without a pay hike, Independence Township's on-call fire fighters have received a raise. In a 5-1 vote at the Sept. 28 meeting the board approved an increase from $5 an hour to $7.50, a raise that was 50 cents less an hour than requested, and a spokesman for the 32 paid volunteers took time to air complaints before a filled township hall.

The raise followed settlement of the full-time fire fighter's contract that had been under negotiation nine months. Township officials had refused to consider raises for the on-call staff or fire department purchases until a contract settlement, tying both to how they would affect the overall fire budget.

The on-call staff had sought a wage increase to $8 an hour, or a 60-percent raise, with spokesman William Rausch saying, "Keep in mind we haven't had a raise in 10 years."

The 14-year veteran of the force compared the salaries of the on-call men to that of the supervisor, whose salary has been boosted by 95.6 percent over that same 10-year period.

Smith warned of spending over budget, pointing to the $40,000 budgeted for on-call raises.

"We could not negotiate with you until we settled with the full-time men first. We didn't know how their contract would affect that $40,000," he said.

The raise to $8 an hour would have overshot the budget by approximately $6,000, Smith said.

"Comparing your salaries to ours, I don't think $8 an hour is out of line," Rausch countered. "You don't take into account that for eight months we did away with our pay, forstalled it, so that you could make the adjustments."

"If I hear you, you're saying to the volunteers that we are not equivalent to you. It's been 10 years since our last request, and we don't hound you for money."

Rausch continued.

"How many volunteers get up at 3, 4 or 5 in the morning. We don't know what our hours are. Umpires do and are paid more than us and they know when they're to show up for work and how long it will take."

"An umpire's job is not hazardous. Ours is. None of your volunteer task force has gotten out of bed to enter a burning building, pull someone from a car or work on a child or old person."

"We are the lowest paid group in the township," Rausch said.

Robert Morse of Snowapple Road, a 21-year-veteran of the fire department, said he was pleased with the settlement.

"I think things went real well," Morse said. "We didn't really think we would get the $8's and hour even though it was budgeted."

"I think we did real well."

Clerk Christopher Rose was the lone dissenter in the vote for raises. Supervisor James B. Smith, Treasurer Frederick Ritter, and trustees Larence Kozma, Dale Stuart and Daniel Travis voted "yes." Trustee William Vandermark was absent.

"I do not think part-time employes should make more than full-time employes doing the same job," Rose said, explaining his vote. "I think they're doing a good job. It would be nice to pay them much more. But it could be a factor in future union negotiations."

Clarkston area reacts quietly to Tylenol scare

By Kathy Greenfield

Local store shelves were stripped of Extra-Strength Tylenol capsules following the news that some were found laced with cyanide in the Chicago, Ill., area.

But other than people talking about the situation, public reaction has been quiet, according to merchants.

In a spot check of seven stores, merchants said only two bottles were returned.

Some stores eliminated all Tylenol products, but most removed only the capsules and none were found from the infamous batch No. MC2880, identified by the manufacturer, McNeil Consumer Products Co., a division of Johnson & Johnson, as a product that should not be bought or consumed until further notice.

Very few bottles of the capsules have been turned in at local stores.

At the Pine Knob Pharmacy on Sashabaw Road in Independence Township, only one customer returned the capsules, said owner Jim Lowery, but he has noticed a great deal of public reaction.

"I can't tell you the number of people who have commented on it. It's just amazing—maybe one out of every two people," he said. "They're sure there's a sicky on the loose—someone who's really deranged."

But while people aren't returning them, he has been told they aren't using the capsules either.

"Everybody I've talked to just dumped them down the toilet—disposed of them," he said.

One customer returned a bottle of tablets at the Food Town grocery store at Sashabaw and Maybee roads in Independence Township, one of the few stores that removed all Tylenol products—capsules and tablets.

"Nobody said anything that I know of," said manager Ron Allen. "There should be more of it out on the street, but they haven't brought it back to me. We'd refund the money."

All Tylenol products were also removed from the shelves at the A & P grocery store at the corner of M-15 and Dixie Highway in Independence Township.

"I heard it on the television Friday night and we pulled them off Saturday," said manager Dave Gilles.

"There's been no customer comments about it at all. I was surprised, it's such a popular product," he added.

Kim Hutchinson, cashier at Richardson Farm Dairy on Clarkston-Orion Road in Independence Township said all capsules have been removed, but the tablets remain for sale, and she was surprised when people purchased them Monday.

She's also noticed increased sales in similar products, but public reaction has been minor.

"Nobody seems to really have that much interest in it," she said. "It doesn't seem to affect them that much."

People have talked about the cyanide-laced capsules "a little bit," but no one returned any to Hallman Apothecary, said owner Bob Bennett.

"We pulled (the capsules) off the shelf just on general principle—it's just not going to sell," he said.

People are also reacting to the tragedy that resulted in seven deaths in the Chicago area after people swallowed Extra-Strength Tylenol capsules that had been filled with cyanide by following the old adage, "If we don't laugh, we'll cry."

The capsules were removed from Rudy's Market and no one has returned any, although there have been a few comments.

"A couple of people said, 'Hey, where's your Tylenol?'" said grocier Doreen Schwarze. "And Rudy wants my mom to take some for her headache."

And while there have been no returns or customers asking for information, there was one amusing comment, said Jerry Keener, pharmacist at Wonder Drugs in the A & P shopping center.

"A guy wanted a bottle—his mother-in-law was coming to see him," he said.

House construction starts plunge from 27 to 4

By Marilyn Trumper

Independence Township's building starts have dropped for the first six months of 1982 compared to the first half of last year.

That word comes in the latest figures released by the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG).

For the first six-month period of 1982, Independence Township was in a three-way tie for 10th place in all of Oakland County, with five applications made for building permits. The township tied with the City of Novi and neighboring Brandon Township.

Last year at this time the township was in eighth position with 27 applications made for building starts.

The Village of Clarkston is down four, and reports no building permits have been applied for this year for new starts.

Springfield Township, which took 17th last year with seven applications is further down the line near the bottom of the list, and reports one application for a building start to date in 1982.

In order from first through ninth place are: Avon Township, with 55; Bloomfield Township with 22;

Waterford Township with 17; Sylvan Lake and West Bloomfield Township tie for fourth place with 16; Commerce Township with 13; Farmington Hills with 12; Southfield with 9; Bingham Farms with 7 and Addison Township with 6.

Sewer payments lag behind $164,000

Independence Township property owners find it's more cost efficient to hold on to sewer and water use payments and sewer assessment payments, and let the bills be added onto the tax rolls at the end of the year.

Because, says Clerk Christopher Rose, there's no interest penalty charged.

"I think it's probably that way with the sewer assessments," said Rose, adding he thinks families just don't have the money to pay water and sewer use bills.

At the Sept. 28 meeting the Independence Township Board unanimously approved placement of the unpaid bills on the tax rolls, which include: approximately $164,003 for sewer special assessments; $6,285 for water use and $44,098 for sewer use.

Sheriff's log

Wednesday, police apprehended an Independence Township man dumping a motorcycle chassis in a swamp off Stickney Road, Independence Township.

Wednesday, thieves stole a gas grill from a yard on Davisburg Road, Springfield Township.

Wednesday, a man caused $450 in damages when his car left Mary Sue Road, Independence Township, crossed a lawn and ran down a cyclone fence.

The man then fled in the car.

Friday, thieves stole a $400 motorcycle from a yard on Holcomb Road, Clarkston.

Sunday, vandals throwing rocks caused $400 in damages when they smashed the windows and screens of a house on Walters Road, Independence Township.

Sunday, vandals caused $100 in damages when they smashed the rear window of a car parked at the corner of M-15 and Dixie Highway, Independence Township.

Sunday, thieves broke into a garage on Eaton Road, Springfield Township, and stole a $70 bike and $150 worth of tools.

Sunday, thieves broke into a car on Gibbs Road,

Springfield Township, and stole the radio, spare tire and siphoned gas

Sunday, thieves broke into a garage on Jerome Street, Independence Township, and stole over $7,600 worth of hand and power tools and welding equipment.

This information came from reports at the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

Letters to editor

Victims on two sides of wheel

As parents of a 15-year-old who was hit by a car in the high school parking lot last Tuesday (Sept. 28), we would like to thank all those who have expressed concern and shown support.

The high school staff's speedy action at the scene, as well as their phone calls during the week, were appreciated. Also, Mrs. Karpovck at Pine Knob Elementary must be credited for her gentle handling of our younger children that day.

Bruce is doing very well. There are many sprains, bumps and scrapes; but no broken bones. We're thankful. Many accident victims aren't as fortunate. The driver of the car came to the hospital and stayed with us until he knew the extent of Bruce's injuries. We feel this was a very adult action to be taken by a frightened young man.

Although the young driver was not physically hurt, the pain in his eyes made us aware that there are two victims in these types of accidents.

Realizing this, we urge everyone to be more cautious. Pedestrians, look more carefully when you step into the street; drivers, go more slowly. Don't be a victim on either side of the fender!

Jerry and Charlotte Wall

Photo commentary

It coulda been a chipmunk. It coulda been a squirrel. It coulda been the same kind of thing that happens to farmers who stray from straight furrows while behind the plow. So says Oakland County Road Commission spokesperson Dennis Pajot when talking about the crooked yellow line that recently appeared on M-15 just south of downtown Clarkston. If a crooked line is unlikely to lead to traffic accidents, it's left until the next line painting, he says. That's only about a six-month wait, for major roads in the county are striped twice a year. In the meantime we can all ponder: It coulda been...

Tribute to friend

Friends of Tim Parke of Clarkston who died this summer in a freak accident will be contributing approximately $450 to the Tim Parke Scholarship Fund thanks to a runner in the Free Press Marathon.

Debbie Spillum was a best friend of Tim's. When her friend, Kress Stein of Troy, decided to run in the marathon, Deb and several other friends solicited pledges of five cents to $1 a mile completed in the run.

Kress completed the 26.2 miles Oct. 3 and Debbie and Kress will be turning the money over to the Parkes as soon as it's collected.

Vote in a new rep

Once again, Michigan's budget is being balanced at the expense of our children's education. A large share of the proposed $150 million budget cut would come directly from education.

Yet, at the same time as these "necessary" cuts, the State House of Representatives voted to spend an additional $70 million on welfare. This increase is unjustified since Michigan's welfare payments are already higher than those in our neighboring states.

We are particularly disillusioned with Rep. Claude Trim, who voted for these higher welfare payments.

Apparently we need a different representative—one who is for the working people, not the welfare people. Someone who will change state budget priorities from higher welfare spending to funding the education of our children.

Pride of non-strider

by Kathy Greenfield

Reflections on the 1982 Detroit Free Press International Marathon:

I consider it quite an accomplishment to have made it through my husband's third 26.2-mile marathon run. Not only did I survive the heat, miles of walking to watch the runners at different points and lugging tons of snacks back to the finish-line area, but we're still speaking to each other.

He's pleased that he ran about 35 minutes faster than last year. I'm pleased that he's alive.

He said the carbohydrate loading worked out just fine this year. (That means eating lots of pasta for several days before the race.) I'll be happy if I never see another spaghetti noodle.

At the eight-mile mark, we spotted him with some other Clarkston runners. While he was pacing himself over the next 17 miles of the course, I was pacing myself over a couple cups of coffee at the Big Boy across from Belle Isle.

When he was worrying about making it through the last two miles of the race, I was searching frantically for a break in the crowd lining the finish so I could take photographs!

His legs began to hurt somewhere between 24 and 26.2 miles and he walked a bit. My stomach began to hurt several minutes later when he didn't appear at the finish line when expected.

He woke up the next morning and said he felt better than ever before after running a marathon. I woke up with a pain in my right shoulder from lugging a cooler filled with ice, pineapple and cheese across the park.

He said he may just do it again next year, that there's no reason he could shave an hour off his time. I said, "Are you crazy?"

But when people say they don't understand how anyone could be compulsive enough to train for months and then actually run so hard so many hours, I feel myself start to bristle.

It was something he wanted to do, something he worked hard to achieve. And I'm proud of him.

We welcome our readers' opinions. Letters to the Editor must be at The Clarkston News office by noon Friday to be considered for the following week's paper. We reserve the right to edit all letters for the sake of brevity and clarity and to limit the number of letters from any one individual on any one issue. We don't publish open letters or copies of letters sent elsewhere. Letters must be signed and a phone number and address included. Names will be withheld on request.

Sign of the times

By Jim Sherman

It's a sign of the times when there are more "House for sale by owner" signs than there are "Garage Sale" signs.

Bite size shredded wheat does not taste as good as biscuit size.

For a while this summer my favorite song was "I'm gonna hire a wino to decorate our home." That took the place of "Take this job and shove it", which came back to first place in my heart after hearing it at Log Cabin Inn in Lakeville last week.

Played golf in the March of Dimes - National Football League Players Association charity last week. Our partner was Mark Nichols. He's a wide receiver signed from San Jose State in Calif. two years ago.

In the Chicago Bear game this year he had a touchdown nullified because refs said he pushed off on a defender.

Mark missed a shot or two and I think I heard some of the words he used when that td was called back.

Side note on the NFL strike, which doesn't disturb me one iota, Mark Nichols does not like not playing football. I gathered a lot of his teammates feel the same... but that's the way they voted.

The Pony Express, glamorized in Western movies for decades, existed just 18 months. And, investors lost $200,000 on the experiment. In those days $200,000 must have been worth $400,000.

Sen. Carl Levin's brother, Sander, is running for Congress. He's quoted Thursday as saying... trying to sell hope to the poor in this fall's campaign just can't be done. The Democrat was referring to Pres Reagan's promises. However, both political parties are making promises giving hope to the poor. Therefore, if Levin is right, we might as well exercise our right to not vote.

When I read that 10's of thousands turn out for a protest, parade, wedding, or whatever, I wonder... doesn't anyone play golf, work, have anything else to do? Don't they like staying home?

Monsters give second-grade flag keen glow

By Kathy Greenfield

Before talking about the flag designed by Andersonville Elementary School second-grader Abe Savas, the monsters have to be explained.

But before the monsters, the classroom rules have to be mentioned.

And then there's the link with the study of government.

First the monsters. They appeared in the classroom of teacher Pat Andrus last year, but this year they turned out in full force.

The monsters are the creation of author Mercer Mayer and Andrus bought an activity book full of them in a teachers' bookstore.

She found the children were delighted with the monsters and this year they voted on where to place them in the classroom.

There's "Quandery" all tied up in knots. The second-graders put him next to the bus schedule, a complicated list that tells them which bus they ride.

"Verakisser" hangs by the birthday train. She has great big lips, good for birthday kisses. The "Stamp Collecting Trollusk" rules over the bulletin board on the wall outside the classroom that tells the address of the school and the room's occupants.

"Oliliphant" wears glasses and watches over the alphabet strung along the top of the front chalkboard...and there are more.

Next, there's government. When school first started, the children learned what the "Pledge of Allegiance" meant before they started saying it each morning. They also talked about the United States flag and what it means.

Moving along with the government theme, they made rules for their classroom.

There are eight rules, all chosen by the children, and limits, which they set themselves. Rule No. 1 is: "I will not talk when another person is speaking."

For the first infraction, the child is warned. The second time, he or she has to sit for a while away from the rest of the class. The third time, a paragraph has to be written explaining why the rule is important.

After that, there's a ticket—a letter explaining what happened which must be signed by parents.

At first, the children said the limit for the no-talking rule was one month. That proved to be too long and an amendment was made. After one week, all infractions are removed and each child begins anew with a clean slate.

Other rules include: "I will not open my desk when someone else is talking" and "I will keep hands and feet to myself."

The rule idea has worked extremely well, Andrus said.

"They know exactly what the result of their behavior is—there isn't any question about it," she said.

The three activities came together when each child made a flag that illustrated important things about the class. Then they voted and selected the one made by Abe Savas.

He explained his design:

"This stands for listening to the teacher," he said, pointing to a monster sitting at a desk with the monsters' teacher, Mr. Griffix, at the front of the room.

"This stands for no stealing," he said, pointing to the Mail Trollusk in a coat with the Little Monster confronting him, asking if that's his father's missing coat.

Those are the two most important rules, he said, those and what another monster on his flag holding a pile of food illustrates—"Don't eat in school unless it's lunchtime."

There's a bold stripe across the center that says "school." Why is it red?

"Because I like red," said Abe.

Like government, the class has rules. The monsters are fun and they help tie activities all together. The flag takes care of symbolizing the things that go on there.

"The classroom is more important," says their teacher. "They feel they're more a part of it. They know we all have to work together to make our class effective."

Abe Savas, 7, displays his creation, chosen by his Andersonville Elementary second-grade classmates as their flag. When it's completed, the flag will hang on the wall under the American flag.

'If it Fitz. . .'

Gossip about me

by Jim Fitzgerald

When I was invited to the birthday party of Lawrence DeVine, eminent drama critic and style-setter (his collar doesn't match the rest of his shirt), I figured it was my chance to finally get mentioned in at least one of Detroit's many gossip columns.

It's not easy getting mentioned. A few months ago, at a party, I found myself standing right next to Carol T. I had been trying to find myself for many years, ever since the circulation manager of the Port Huron Times Herald told me 21 was too old to be a paperboy, and it seemed extremely fortuitous that I should finally get in touch with my real self while standing next to a gossip columnist.

I suggested to Carol T. that she should tell her readers Jim F. found himself standing next to her. But she worked for the Detroit News at the time and, she explained, her boss wouldn't allow her to write about anyone who worked for the Free Press. I told her I once received a letter from Tom Schoenith's aunt, but it didn't do any good. When Carol T. wrote about the party where I found myself, she mentioned that Jim Bannon, the society cop, was there, and so was Little Orphan Annie's dog, Sandy, but she didn't mention me.

SOON AFTER, it was arranged for Carol T. to bring her column to the Free Press, close to me, where Billy Graham used to be. When Mr. Graham's column was printed below mine, and people asked what in the name of heaven I was trying to accomplish with the dumb stuff I wrote, I always said I felt my function in life was to write enough words to crowd Mr. Graham onto the comic page.

I didn't mean it, of course, but I thought it sounded delightfully irreverent to claim I was crowding a preacher in the name of heaven. People who display delightful irreverence to the deity often get mentioned in gossip columns, as when Bill Flynn, general manager of Channel 2, said he'd never heard of J.P. McCarthy. But it didn't get me mentioned, so I tried another clever ploy.

I refused to give my autograph to a little girl, Stephanie Lawler of Troy. A note from Stephanie said she collects business cards and would I please sign one of mine and send it to her. Naturally, because I never found myself until just recently, standing next to Carol T. and had no idea who I was, I've never had business cards printed. What would I put on them?

But I didn't give that legitimate excuse to Stephanie. Instead, I simply ignored her request, hoping she would complain to a gossip columnist who would mention what an insensitive boor I was.

That didn't work, either, and I was ready to ask Jim Campbell whether I could play outfield for the Tigers, since Sparky Anderson doesn't require experience for that position.

BUT THEN came what seemed an even surer bet for a gossip mention—the invitation to DeVine's party. DeVine interviews movie stars, so I was certain his party would be at Cheeks, the Detroit disco currently in for in-people even if they can't get in.

When it is packed, people line up outside and the Cheeks host goes out and chooses which in-people may go in, based on their attire. Gossip columnists mention people who don't get in, as well as those who do, so I figured I couldn't lose, even if my collar matched my shirt.

However, upon listening closer to the DeVine invitation, I learned the party was in my neighborhood saloon, Jacoby's, for lord's sake. I've been hanging around Jacoby's for years, trying to find myself. I even took a Jacoby bartender to a Tiger game (Sparky put her in right field), and the owner, Ed Jacoby, just recently said my writing makes him cry.

Not once has my patronage of Jacoby's earned me a mention in a gossip column, and DeVine's party was no exception. But it was a good time anyway. At one point I went outside to evaluate the line of people waiting to get in and told Max Fisher and Henry Ford II to go home. Maybe I could put "Saloon Host" on my business card.

Fire fighters' contract includes 7.15% raises

By Marilyn Trumper

The Independence Township Board and fire fighters have ratified a 30-month contract after nine months of dispute.

The new contract raises salaries from the current $19,365 a year ultimately to $21,003, and is broken down with a 7.15-percent raise the first 12 months and a 2.65-percent raise for the next 18-month period.

With little discussion after a half-hour closed session at the Sept. 28 meeting, the board voted unanimously to adopt the contract.

"We're very happy to see it signed," said Supervisor James B. Smith, noting the contract expires in September 1984. "There were several innovative parts that I think were in the best interest of both parties."

Fire negotiators agree, with spokesman Neal Ashley elaborating after the meeting.

"All in all we're pleased with the contract. The real stickler in this, the reason it dragged over nine months, was a dispute over loss of sick days and benefits," Ashley said.

Key in negotiations, according to Ashley, was township officials' proposal to eliminate the payoff on "unlimited" accumulation of sick days which fire fighters used as a kind of "disability insurance."

Before the new contract, fire fighters could accumulate an unlimited amount of sick days, receiving 12 a year, and upon quitting or retirement cash them in at full pay at a maximum of 25 days.

First, the new contract gives fire fighters the opportunity to cash in up to 75 percent of their existing accumulated sick days.

The remainder go into a Individual Supplemental Disability Account (ISDA) which will continue to grow by the now allotted six sick days a year. Fire fighters have their fund in their name and accrue interest on the money.

In the event of a long-term sickness, disability will pay 60 percent of the fire fighter's wages and the ISDA will pay the remaining 40 percent.

Supervisor James B. Smith praised the self-drafted contract as "the only one of its kind."

"It's really very innovative, and it's in the best long term interest of the township. We have seen how cities like Detroit and Allen Park and many can't pay retirement and sick-leave because they've borrowed the funds, or never provided such a fund."

"This will mean more security for our firemen than they've ever had before with assurance the fund will be there. It had never been there before."

If a fire fighter retires, quits or is fired, his sick days revert to the fire fund for the fire department's use, according to Smith.

"The important thing to remember is we have written the contract so that this account can never be touched for any use other than what it was intended," Smith said. "It can't be used to borrow from to build and new fire hall or bail another department out of a cash-flow (problem)."

"This is a real pay-as-you-go plan, one I'm proud of. But it couldn't have worked if our men hadn't had such a good sick day record," Smith said, adding the fire fighters average one sick day a year.

Republican party at O'Neill farm

A fund-raising party is planned Friday, Oct. 8, at the Independence Township home of Dr. James O'Neill for Jim Dunn, Republican candidate for reelection in the 6th United States Congressional District, and L. Brooks Patterson, Republican candidate for State Attorney General.

Expected to also make appearances are Richard Headlee, Republican candidate for governor, and Oakland County Executive Daniel Murphy.

Tickets for the cocktail and hors d'oeuvres party are $125 a couple.

Clarkston News takes 8 MPA contest awards

The Clarkston News won eight awards in the Michigan Press Association's 1982 Newspaper Contest.

Certificates were received in the following categories in the News' circulation division: First place in graphics; first, second and third in spot news photography; second in sports coverage; second in feature story; second in feature photography; and honorable mention in general excellence.

Members of the Kansas Press Association judged the 1,098 entries from 68 weekly newspapers and 35 daily newspapers.

The awards were announced in conjunction with National Newspaper Week, Oct. 10-16.

The Clarkston News' sister papers, also published by James Sherman, received several awards as well.

The Lake Orion Review won seven awards including a first-place plaque for general excellence in its circulation category. The Oxford Leader won three awards.

Sherman said he was really pleased with his staff being recognized for their efforts by their peers. "Our papers won more awards this year than ever. I'm really happy for the the editors and writers. I'm sure it makes the subscribers feel good, too, knowing how other newspaper people view their hometown paper."

Obituary

Blanche L. Beardslee

Blanche L. (Smith) Beardslee of Jesup, Iowa, formerly of Clarkston, died Oct. 3 at 90 years of age. She was the mother of Mrs. Alston (Ivabelle) Penfold of Jesup, Iowa, and Mrs. Anson (Marian) Raymond of Dunedin, Fla. She is also survived by five grandchildren and six great-grandchildren. Her parents were Israel L. and Elenora (Benjamin) Smith. Mrs. Beardslee lived on Pine Knob Road 69 years before moving to Iowa. Her husband, the late Grant E. T. Beardslee, passed away in 1978. They celebrated their 65th wedding anniversary on Oct. 29, 1977. They were married in 1912 in Pontiac.

Mrs. Beardslee was a member of the Sashabaw United Presbyterian Church and a member of the Sashabaw Plains Cemetery Association. She and her husband were among the founding and charter members of the Clarkston Farm Bureau and were active members 40 years. She was a life member of the Oakland County Pioneer and Historical Society, a member of the Joseph C. Bird Chapter No. 294, Order of the Eastern Star, and a member of the Gen. Richardson Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution with ancestor bars of Ephraim Batchelder, Samuel Batchelder, Isaac Buck Sr., Peter Eddy, Levi Colvin, Amos Robinson, Theophilus Harrington and Peregrine Smith.

Mrs. Beardslee was active in genealogical research, being a descendent of Smith, Benjamin, Colvin and Allen families who were among early settlers in Oakland County in the 1800s.

Her research papers were cited in publications of some family heritages in America and she assisted many others in the United States in their genealogical research.

Funeral services were to be held Oct. 6 at the Sashabaw United Presbyterian Church with the Rev. Jenny Schram and the Rev. William Schram officiating. Burial was to take place in Sashabaw Plains Cemetery.

The family suggests memorials to the Blanche L. Beardslee Memorial Fund of the Women's Association of the Sashabaw United Presbyterian Church. Envelopes are available at the Goyette Funeral Home, Clarkston.

M-15 widening topic of talks

After a year of study, the Private and Arterial Roads Task Force is scheduled to make its report the plan to widen M-15 to five lanes south of Clarkston village, between Dixie Highway and Paramus Drive.

The Independence Township Board has scheduled a special meeting Oct. 12 at 7:30 p.m. at the township hall annex, 90 N. Main, Clarkston.

BRW of Minneapolis, the firm hired to seek alternatives to the controversial five-lane widening, is expected to be on hand for the presentation.

At last word the task force had ruled out the controversial maximum five-lane widening, and looked instead to adding fewer lanes, and condensing the number of business driveways, according to its Chairman Lew Wint.

The Clarkston Village Council, which has been closely monitoring the study, is expected to be in attendance.

The traffic-clogged and improperly draining portion of M-15 has been a topic of debate for years in local government and a thorn for businesses along that route.

As a wedge to block the controversial five-lane widening from eventually spreading to the downtown business district, residents worked to have Clarkston declared a National Historic District, certain the state would balk at changing historic Main Street by eliminating parking.

Tax fee waived

Once again in keeping with tradition, the Independence Township Board waived the tax collection fee for 1982, designed to be levied in townships where the treasurer is not paid a salary.

The tax pays for the administrative costs of collecting taxes, said Treasurer Frederick Ritter at the Sept. 28 board meeting, adding some townships continue to levy the tax even though it has a salaried treasurer.

Waiving the tax saves property owners approximately $125,000 townshipwide.

Wolves rally in 2nd half, 27-8

Brian Davies takes a breather following his 62-yard touchdown run against Waterford Mott Friday night. The Wolves won the varsity football game, 27-8 and face Rochester in the annual homecoming game this Friday.

By Greg Nelson

Despite a dismal first half, the Clarkston High School varsity football team had more than enough fire-power to rout Waterford Mott, 27-8, Friday night at CHS Athletic Field.

The win was Clarkston's third in four games and kept them in a first-place tie in the Greater Oakland Athletic League with a 2-0 mark.

Clarkston faces its biggest test of the season this Friday with a homecoming game against Rochester. Both teams are unbeaten in the GOAL.

Running the plays correctly was the main ingredient for the Wolves who looked like two completely different teams in the first and second halves.

"We just executed a lot better in the second half. If we come out and execute, we're going to play football with anyone," said CHS Head Coach Walt Wyniemko.

Clarkston has made strong improvement every game, said Wyniemko, but he added they have yet to put a complete game together.

"We have yet to play four quarters of football," he said.

That was never more evident than Friday as the Wolves led only 6-0 at halftime against a winless Mott team.

The Wolves had several good scoring opportunities in the first half and continually held the upper hand in field position, but the only score they could manage was a five-yard run by John LaPorte. The extra point kick was blocked. The score was set up by a 40-yard pass from quarterback Craig Kulaszewski to Rich Schrader.

The Wolves had a first down on the Mott 12-yard line with 1:07 to play in the half but came away empty-handed.

Clarkston managed just three first downs in the first half while the hapless Mott offense fared even worse, picking up just one while being held to a negative-15 yards rushing.

While the first half was a punchless 24 minutes with little scoring, the second half was just the opposite. And it started with a flurry.

Schrader grabbed the second-half kickoff and proceeded to race 82 yards for a touchdown and the Wolves led 13-0 when Willie Williams kicked the first of his three extra points.

A few minutes later, Kulaszewski capped a 36-yard scoring drive with a one-yard quarterback sneak and Clarkston led 20-0.

Following an interception by Chris Bruce, the Wolves pushed across another touchdown, this one a 62-yard run by Brian Davies with 11:01 to play in the game.

That put the Wolves ahead 27-0 and Wyniemko and his team could breathe a lot easier.

Mott scored its only touchdown late in the fourth quarter on a 38-yard trick pass play against a makeshift Wolves defense. Tim Chester passed to Joe Cook who lateraled the ball to Glenn Barie who then carried the ball the final 20 yards to the end zone.

Clarkston finished the game with eight first downs despite gaining 216 yards rushing. Kulaszewski completed two of 12 passes for 47 yards but had a number of passes dropped by his receivers.

The Clarkston defense stifled Mott throughout the game in holding the Corsairs to zero yards rushing in 35 attempts.

JV team falls

Every statistic favored the Clarkston High School junior varsity football team in its game against Waterford Mott Thursday. Every statistic except the score.

The Wolves dropped a 14-7 decision to Waterford Mott and saw their record dip to 2-2 this season.

"We weren't very sharp. We lacked aggressiveness and intensity," said CHS Coach Gordie Richardson.

The defense played quite well but we never got a single drive sustained," he said.

Clarkston fumbled a punt early in the first quarter which led to Mott's first touchdown. The Corsairs then got the two-point conversion on their only pass completion of the game to take an 8-0 lead.

The Wolves pulled to 8-7 on a 13-yard scoring pass from Mike Galley to Robert Newblatt and that's the way the first half ended.

A 66-yard touchdown run on Mott's second play of the second half finished the scoring as the Wolves' offense failed to score another point against a big Mott team.

The Wolves threatened several times in the second half including one drive in which Clarkston had a first down at the Mott 9-yard line. But CHS failed to take advantage of any of the opportunities and were saddled with the loss.

JV cagers still undefeated

Record 7-0 following 39-32 win against Rochester

Like a fine-tuned machine, the undefeated CHS girl's junior varsity basketball team just keeps rolling along.

The Wolves claimed victories number six and seven last week in trouncing Brandon 52-17 and then topping Rochester 39-32 Thursday night.

Clarkston had to battle all the way against Rochester but that was exactly what CHS Coach Larry Sherrill wanted to see.

"We needed a game like that. We've been blowing people out lately," he said. "In the first half I was a little worried but we made some adjustments and got the fast-break going in the second half."

Winning seasons continue

X-country teams victorious

Taking advantage of the warm weather, the Clarkston High School boys' and girls' cross country teams continued to run well last week in claiming victories.

In a dual meet Friday, the boys beat Brandon, 22-37, while the girls took a 20-42 decision. The boys' team now has a 4-3 record while the girls are 5-1 on the year.

Paul Burch and Scott Banks finished together to share first place against Brandon with identical times of 17:54 over a 5000 meter course. Mark Jordan, Al Wall and Jeff Richardson also ran well for Clarkston.

Pam Stoecklin (21:51), Kris Baert (21:52), Monte LaPorte (23:01), Beth Galley (23:12) and Lisa Burkemo (23:16) placed second through sixth in the girls' win over Brandon.

The teams ran a tri-meet against Corunna and Swartz Creek on Sept. 24. The boys beat Corunna, 22-39, but lost to a strong Swartz Creek squad by an 18-44 margin. The girls beat Swartz Creek, 25-34, while Corunna did not field a complete girls' team so no team score was kept.

Paul Burch was the top runner for Clarkston, finishing third in the 37-runner field with a time of 16:05. Scott Banks was ninth overall in 16:52.

Pam Stoecklin and Kris Baert were the leading runners for the girls' team in the tri-meet with times of 20:36 and 20:37, respectively.

J.P. saves day

J.P. McCarthy, radio talk show host at WJR, is the "winner of the day" as far as the Sashabaw Junior High football team is concerned.

When the Waterford schools cut back on their sports program, ninth-grade football was eliminated. This also eliminated three games on the Sashabaw schedule for this season.

The Cougars were able to reschedule two new opponents but Oct. 6 remained an open date, according to George White, Sashabaw assistant principal.

At least it was open until McCarthy stepped into the picture.

Sashabaw Head Coach Steve Pearson called McCarthy Sept. 28 during WJR's morning show, looking for help in finding an opponent.

McCarthy relayed the call for help over the airwaves and by 10 a.m. the Cougars had filled their schedule.

Detroit Country Day will travel to Clarkston Oct. 6 for a 6:30 p.m. contest against the Cougars.

Girl cagers grab first-place tie

By Greg Nelson

Thursday was a night of stars for the Clarkston High School varsity girls' basketball team as it won an emotional game over Rochester, 55-51.

The win boosted the Wolves into a first-place tie in the Greater Oakland Athletic League with Rochester. Both teams are 3-1 in the GOAL while CHS is now 6-1 overall.

It was an early season showdown and credit for the Wolves' victory belonged to a number of players.

Annette Ulasich scored 18 points, including 11 in the third quarter.

Lin Klinger pulled down 10 rebounds and, more importantly, sank eight of nine free throws in clutch situations.

Sue Ketvirtis scored 15 points and had eight rebounds.

Lori Martin had eight points, four assists and handled the ball well in breaking the Falcons' full-court press.

Julie Beamer had seven rebounds and four points.

CHS Head Coach Dave McDonald praised the Wolves' all-around team effort but was particularly pleased with Klinger's four important free throws down the stretch that halted a Falcon rally.

"Klinger did a great job. She really held us in there when it was crucial," said McDonald.

The coach was also pleased with the scoring of Ulasich.

"They put their best defensive man on Annette but she still had a great night," he said.

The game was emotionally played from start to finish as both teams played aggressively. Both squads utilized a full-court press defense much of the game and both tried to fast break on offense.

The first half was a see-saw battle. CHS jumped out to an 11-8 lead and was up 15-12 at the end of one quarter.

Rochester grabbed a 20-17 lead in the second quarter but the Wolves scored eight straight points to go up 25-20. The Falcons came right back with six unanswered points of their own and led 26-25 at the half.

Free throws were a big story in the first half as Clarkston sank only three of 11 free shots while Rochester hit six of seven. The Wolves finished the game sinking a dismal nine of 30 free throws. Rochester made 16 of 35.

The third quarter belonged to Clarkston. Sparked by Ulasich's big quarter, the Wolves outscored Rochester 18-4 to take a 43-30 advantage.

But the Falcons weren't ready to quit yet.

Rochester came back in the final quarter with a vengeance. Reeling off nine unanswered points, the Falcons cut the CHS lead to 47-43 with 6:08 to play.

Things were going Rochester's way, but then Klinger entered the picture. She calmly sank four straight free throws in a one-and-one situation to halt the rally and Clarkston was able to hold on the rest of the way.

Clarkston beat Brandon 55-40 on Sept. 28 for its fifth win of the year. Every player scored for Clarkston as Martin led the way with 11 points while Ulasich and Beamer added 10 and eight, respectively.

Rose joins forces

Independence Township Clerk Christopher Rose has been appointed to the International Institute of Municipal Clerks for a one-year term. The 15-member committee, comprised of clerks from all over the United States, reviews proposed classes, workshops and books to see if they will be helpful.

On the prestigious appointment Rose said, "It will be a real learning experience. This is a very good association. They work hard to provide information to clerks for classes, workshops and associations."

Plaza winners

Winners of the Waterfall Plaza Kick-Off Campaign were announced Monday.

The drawing took place Sept. 30 and Oct. 1 and 2 at the shopping center located on Dixie Highway in Waterford Township. Children shopping with parents in the plaza were asked to draw the names of the winners.

Mrs. Earl Hotchkiss of Drayton Plains submitted her entry coupon at Waterfall Jewelers. Darla Buchanan, 12, of Drayton Plains drew her name.

Clarkston resident Jack Collier put his coupon into the drawing at Roddy's Shoe Outlet. Drawing his name was Andy Holland, 5, of Clarkston.

Phyllis Dorris of Pontiac won the third pair of tickets. She submitted her entry at Roddy's. Three-year-old Kim Dengate of Drayton Plains drew her name.

New equipment to help in accidents

A car loses control on Clarkston-Orion Road and winds up in a ditch, the driver's door pinned against the steep embankment.

Inside a man endures the pain of a broken leg while fire fighters work to pop the twisted wreckage free of its confines.

Inserting an air bag under the frame and inflating it, the car begins to rise and pops loose of the ditch. Fire fighters from the Independence Township Fire Department use the Jaws of Life to force open the door and assist the injured man.

"We'll be using the air bags in conjunction with the Jaws of Life," said the fire department's Capt. Dale Bailey. "The bags can lift up to 50 tons and are more stable than the Jaws of Life. Whatever we lift with those has a tendency to want to tip."

Calling it, "...a good adjunct to the equipment we have," Independence Township Supervisor James B. Smith put his stamp of approval on purchase of the $1,675 air bag.

In addition, the board authorized purchase of 12 coats, 12 hats and 12 pair of boots at a cost of $3,540.

Fire prevention week eyes safety

Most home fires stem from poor maintenance, carelessness

By Greg Nelson

Fire. The word brings forth visions of destruction and possibly death. But most fires can be prevented.

National Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 3-9, is set aside each year to educate the public to the potential hazards which cause most fires.

The majority of home fires stem from two basic problems, carelessness and a lack of maintenance, according to Gar Wilson, driver engineer and fire inspector for the Independence Township Fire Department.

But while most fires can be prevented, doing so is a full-time job, said Wilson. Homeowners should always be on the lookout for a possible fire source and take time out to check the home for fire hazards, he said.

"We average two to three calls a day," said Frank Ronk, Independence Township fire chief.

Ronk said the majority of fires in the township are small fires rather than major disasters.

"Major fires aren't a regular thing," he said. Carelessness is the biggest cause of fires in the township, according to Ronk. The most common problems are stove fires, maintenance problems on heating devices, children playing with matches and adults discarding their smoking materials.

Wilson lists four points homeowners should consider concerning fire safety precautions. These include having smoke detectors, an escape plan, two ways out of every room and a meeting place outside.

The fire department has literature available and will discuss how an escape plan should be routed, said Ronk.

Clarkston News

SECTION TWO

The Clarkston (Mich.) News Wed., Oct. 6, 1982 21

Much of the fire department's duties revolve around fire prevention rather than the actual fighting of fires.

But in the case of a fire, Wilson warns, always feel for hot doors before opening them; stay low by crawling through smoke; once outside a burning building, never return; and call the fire department from outside the burning building.

Despite all of the precautions that can be taken to avoid a fire, not all fires are preventable, said Ronk.

"There will always be human error that can cause something to go wrong," said Ronk.

Yet the safest route for a homeowner is to continually check for fire hazards. Some common maintenance problems to check are rubbish and trash accumulations, unsafe painting materials, or oily rags and combustibles stored near heating devices, according to Wilson.

Other problems include ashes improperly handled, flammable liquids improperly stored, unsafe chimneys, fuse boxes over-fused, frayed wiring, smoke detectors not working and portable fire extinguishers absent or discharged, said Wilson.

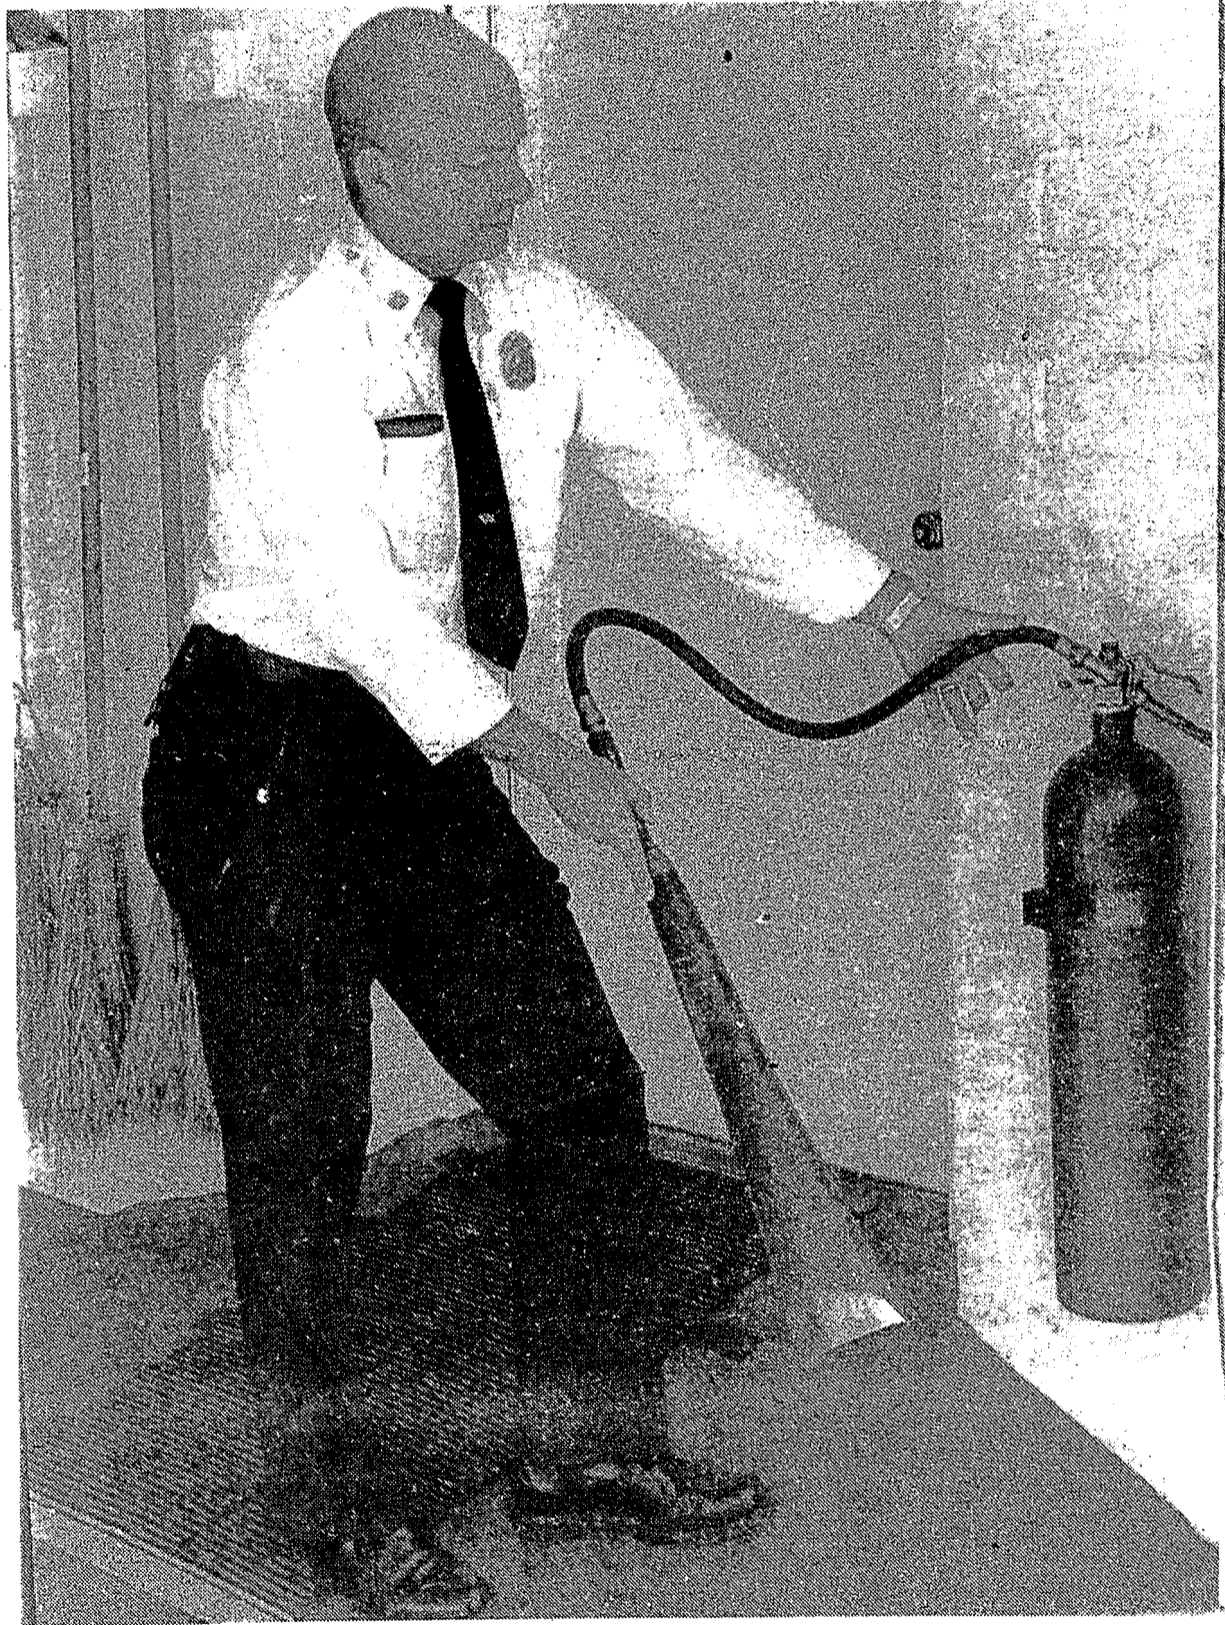

Supplemental heating devices can be a major cause of fires and Wilson advises to follow the manufacturer's recommendations and maintain the unit properly.

The most common causes of fire in heating units result from heat radiation from the stove, sparks and coals escaping from the stove into the house, flames from faulty chimneys, conduction of heat through the chimney to combustibles and chimney sparks shooting out to the roof, said Wilson.

Minimum protection for a home is having a smoke detector on each story of the house and one in each bedroom, said Wilson. He suggests using both electric and battery-operated smoke detectors as they back one another up.

Wilson says units should be cleaned once a year and units with batteries should get fresh batteries as batteries weaken. Smoke detectors should be placed as high as possible since smoke travels upward, said Wilson.

Wilson also warns to keep units away from corners when mounting them, because corners have dead air space, and, he says, never paint a smoke detector.

Frank Ronk, Independence Township fire chief, inspects a fire extinguisher as part of a routine safety check. This week is National Fire Prevention Week, set aside each year to educate the public the potential hazards that cause most fires.

Clarkston-area Jaycees seek new members

The Clarkston Jaycees pulled itself up by the bootstraps and kept its charter, just two days under the wire, but the search for new members continues.

"Yes, we kept it. We now have 22 members and we needed 20, but it was close," says Dennis Dael, Jaycee president.

The months of October and November are packed with traditional Jaycee events for Independence Township: the Pass, Punt and Kick contest tentatively scheduled Oct. 23; the following week the Haunted House; Nov. 6 holds promises of Santa's Shed, the annual arts and crafts sale; and Nov. 19 and 20, the Junior Miss Scholarship Program.

The Jaycees is a community-oriented organization open to men between the ages of 18 and 35.

"Our next meeting is scheduled for Oct. 20th at the old church where we'll have the haunted house (Sashabaw' United Presbyterian Church, 5300 Maybee, Independence Township). Anyone who's interested in joining is invited to come.

"They can call me at anytime between 9 a.m. and 7 p.m. at the store," Dael said.

After 10 years in bush, hunter bags turkey

It doesn't take much effort to buy a turkey for Thanksgiving feasting. But hunting a wild turkey can be a challenge for any sportsman.

Paul O'Dell of Paramus Drive, Clarkston, is one of the few hunters in Michigan to kill a wild turkey.

O'Dell bagged his prize last spring after 10 years of hunting the bird. Out of 20,000 turkey hunters in the state each year, only about 600 of the birds are killed annually, said O'Dell.

There are several reasons O'Dell listed in explaining the difficulty in hunting a wild turkey.

"Their eyesight is so tremendous. They can detect any movement. They are very keen in hearing, also. You have to be very patient," said O'Dell.

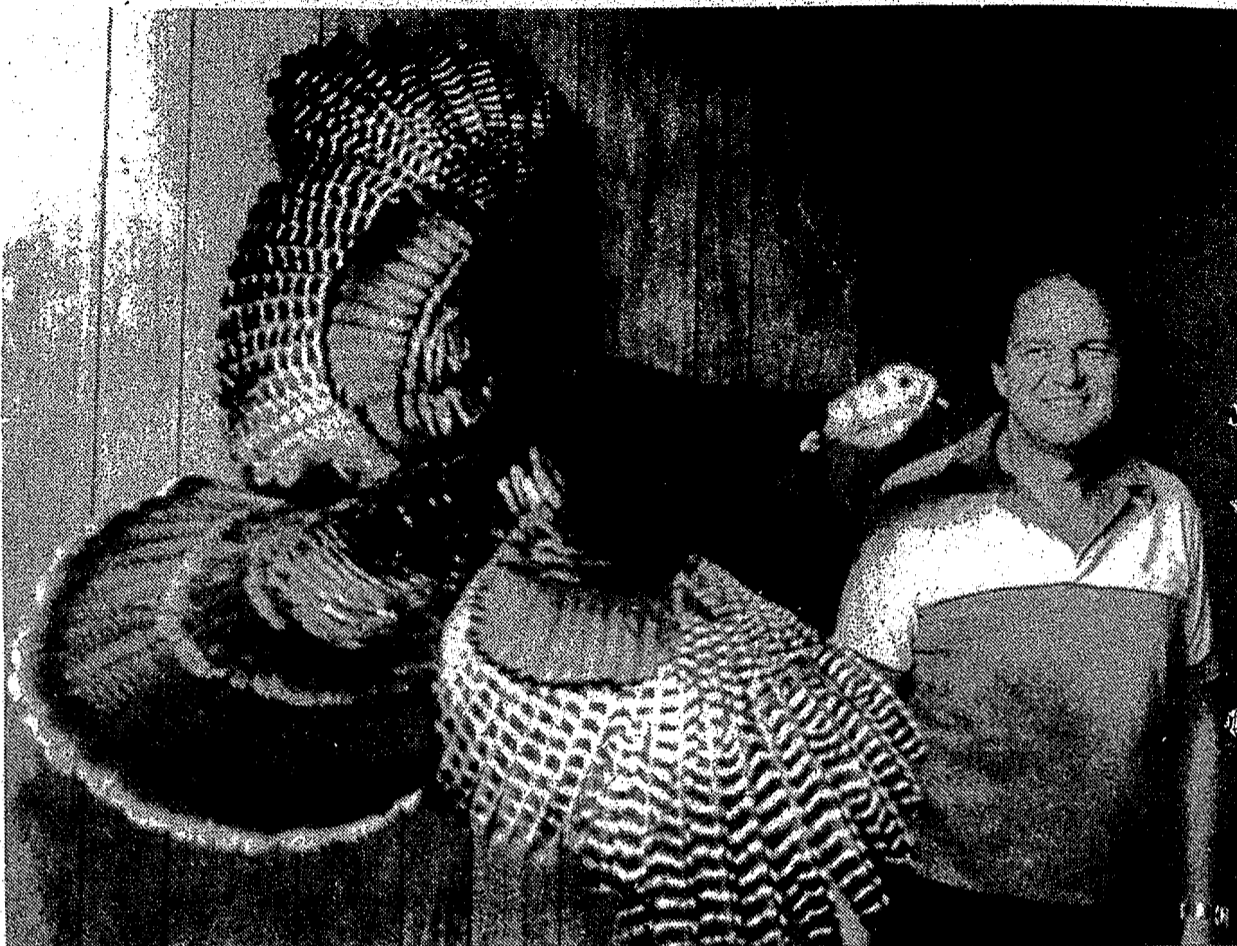

'They can detect any movement'—O'Dell

Turkey season is spread out over four separate seasons during the months of April and May. Hunting can only be done between the hours of dawn and noon, according to O'Dell.

"Hens don't come off the nest until noon. So that way the hens are protected from the hunters," said O'Dell.

O'Dell's turkey, which he had stuffed and mounted, weighs 18 pounds, 3 ounces. Its beard length is nine inches and the spurs measured 1 1/4 inches. The beard and spur lengths are signs of maturity in a turkey, said O'Dell.

—Greg Nelson

Paul O'Dell stands with his prize kill, a wild turkey. One of the toughest game birds to hunt, the turkey was bagged last spring after 10 years of trying.

Amy Selvala: Clarkston's 1982 DAR winner

Amy Selvala: 1982 Daughter of the American Revolution (DAR) Award winner at CHS.

Amy Selvala appears to excel in everything she does.

Sometimes when she doesn't even try.

The 17-year-old Clarkston High School senior who lives on Rattalee Lake Road has been named recipient of the Daughter of the American Revolution (DAR) Award for 1982, after being nominated by her teachers and the school principal.

"I was really surprised when they read my name over the announcements in the morning," Amy smiled. "It was a surprise. I didn't know anything about it at all. I hadn't been told. It really is an honor."

This week Amy plans to apply to the University of Michigan's School of Engineering, where if accepted, she'll follow in her dad and brother's footsteps and become an engineer.

"I'm not sure what kind yet. I think industrial," she smiles again.

Amy has marked her tenure at CHS with a number of accomplishments: A 3.90 grade-point average; a place on the Pom-Pon squad; and secretary-treasurer of Student Government.

This summer she worked part-time at Frosty Boy on Dixie Highway, Springfield Township.

Grad on the road

William Gaff Jr. of Independence Township was among recent graduates of the Truck Driver Training Program at Lansing Community College.

The four-week course included a road trip in excess of 1,000 miles in addition to 40 hours of classroom instruction.

Gaff resides on Cecelia Ann Street.

Betrothed

Kathleen Mary Hammond and Jeffery Michael Curnutte plan to be wed in February. The bride-to-be, a 1977 Clarkston High School graduate, is a 1981 graduate of Northern Michigan University and is employed as a medical technologist at Oakland Diagnostic Laboratory, Southfield. She is the daughter of David Hammond of Waterford, and Barbara and Leon Blachura of Clarkston. Her fiancé, a 1980 graduate of NMU, is employed as a design draftsman at William P. Young Co., Farmington. His parents are James and Margaret Curnutte of Westland.

New arrivals

Ralph and Jane Hettich of Pontiac are the parents of a new baby girl.

Michelle Ann was born Sept. 26. She weighed 9 pounds, 4 ounces.

She is the second child for the Hettiches who also have a three-year-old boy, Gregory.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Hettich of Waterford, and Mr. and Mrs. William Jackson of Clarkston.

Mark and Penny (Bixby) Bennett of Oxford Township, both former Independence Township residents, are parents of their first child, a son.

Collin David was born Sept. 9 at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Pontiac. He weighed 6 pounds, 13 ounces.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. David Bixby of Clarkston, and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Bennett of Independence Township.

Great-grandparents are Anna Bennett of Independence Township, Mr. and Mrs. David Bixby of Clarkston, Dale Morningstar of Saginaw, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence McClellan of St. Charles and Rhoda Thompson of Zephyrhills, Fla.

See gospel's Burnell on TV Oct. 17

Gospel music fans can tune in TV Channel 62, WGPR, and see Independence Township resident Joel Burnell on Sunday, Oct. 17.

"It's not your standard gospel-type thing," said Burnell. "We do kind of an original style—especially the original songs are a little different than you hear in most churches."

Burnell, 22, wrote two of the songs, "I Don't Want No Glory" and "Where You Are."

The gospel music TV special, This is My Song, is to be on the air from 1:15 to 1:30 p.m.

Playing the guitar and appearing as the lead singer, Burnell is to be accompanied by two guitarists, a drummer and a harmony singer.

A Clarkston High School graduate, he is presently attending Oakland University, Rochester, where he is completing his final year in pre-medicine.

Classes on tap for women of all faiths

Family Living Bible Study is offered for women of all Christian faiths beginning Thursday, Oct. 7.

The two-hour meetings are to be held weekly from 9:15 to 11:15 a.m. at the Drayton Heights Free Methodist Church, 5482 Winell at Maybee Road, Independence Township. The sessions are free.

Emphasis is on family relationships and attitudes and the discussions are aimed at women in any aspect of their lives—wives, mothers and grandmothers. The classes are to include a study of James, a practical verse-by-verse look at understanding afflictions and difficulties; and Temperaments, a study of Abraham, Moses, Peter and Paul.

Harriet Boyer, noted Oakland County Bible teacher, begins her second year as the instructor.

"The Bible gives a great deal of practical advice about how Christians should behave and live together," she said. "People who study it find that it changes their lives."

A nursery for children up to age 6 will be available for 50 cents per child. Activities include stories, crafts, singing and games.

Pre-registration is not required, but for more information, call the director of the program, Nancy St. Charles, at 625-1088.

Wedding vows for Folwell, Nelson

Nancy Folwell and Robert Nelson Jr. were wed recently in an afternoon ceremony at Drayton Plains Community Presbyterian Church.

The bride, a 1979 Clarkston High School graduate, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bobbie Folwell of Farley Road, Springfield Township. Her husband is the son of Robert Nelson of Davisburg and Mrs. James Lichtenthaler of Las Vegas, Nev.

Guests numbered 125 at the Sept. 11 wedding.

Maid of honor was Lori Folwell of Clarkston. Bridesmaids were Kim Raedeke of Clarkston and Candy Tovar of Pontiac. Michelle Folwell of Clarkston served as junior bridesmaid.

Best man was Jim Tanner. Ushers were Jim Folwell and Mike Mann.

The wedding reception was held at Lanesons in Walled Lake.

The newlyweds will reside in Waterford.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nelson Jr.

Neville, Lengyel wed in candlelight

Lori Ann Neville and Charles G. Lengyel were recently united in marriage in a candlelight service performed by the Rev. James Balfour in the Clarkston United Methodist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Neville of Hubbard Hills Drive, Independence Township. Her husband is the son of former Union Lake residents Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lengyel of Austin, Minn.

For the double-ring ceremony Aug. 7, the church altar was decorated with gladiolas, white daisies and baby's breath. Karen Clapp sang "The Wedding Song" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, a retired Detroit police officer, the bride wore a formal gown of nylon organza embroidered with Chantilly lace, accented with tiny pearls. Her lace Bishop sleeves were cuffed and ruffled, and a matching headpiece held her Chantilly lace chapel-length veil.

She carried a cascade of white silk roses and pin cushion mums accented with baby's breath and variegated greens.

Angela Terzes of Northville was maid of honor and bridesmaids were the bride's sister Cathy Fornwall; the bridegroom's sisters Ann Marie Lengyel and Mary Knuff; and Cori Sharrard.

Their handkerchief-style, dotted swiss gowns with spaghetti straps were covered with matching jackets in a rainbow of colors. Their bouquets were matching silk long-stemmed roses, white baby's breath and variegated greens. Their headpieces of tiny silk roses matched the bouquets.

Melissa Daly, niece of the bridegroom, was the flower girl. She wore a blue, dotted swiss dress and tiny blue silk roses for her headpiece. She carried a white basket of matching blue silk roses.

Andy May was ring bearer. He carried a white, heart-shaped pillow to match his white tuxedo.

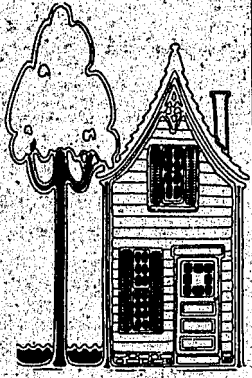

Best man was Tom Archambeau. Groomsmen and ushers were Larry Fornwall, Jim Sharrard, Jim Nicholls, Joe Guzman, the bride's brother Chaz Neville and the bridegroom's brother Jim Lengyel. Chaz and Jim also served as candlelighters.

The bride's mother wore a floor-length peach chiffon gown with peach accessories and matching flowers in her hair. The bridegroom's mother wore a floor-length blue gown with matching jacket for the

Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Lengyel

SYNOPSIS

of Clarkston Village Council Meeting Minutes
Sept. 27, 1982

Present - Byers, Basinger, Eberhardt, Schultz, Symons, Sinclair.

Absent - Raup.

Report on the curbing on Washington St. is all done.

Symons reported on the Solid Waste program. Eberhardt asked if this could hurt free enterprise. There will be a County meeting in Oct.

Flood Plain Ordinance was approved.

Cable T.V. report. The Council will have a joint meeting with the township Sept. 28th.

Lot split of John DeLind on Washington St. approved.

Emergency 911 was turned down by the council.

Gary Sutton from Holcomb St. would like the Council to take action on the way the Historical Comm. is handled. Mr. Sutton feels the Commission has taken over the strong arm of the community. Pres. Byers appointed three council members and one member from the Commission to go over the ordinance.

Jennifer Radcliff turned over a three month report from the Historical Comm.

Bids on sidewalks on Clarkston Rd. None were turned in.

Three trees will be planted this fall for Dean Smith, Fontie ApMadoc and Bruce Rogers.

Gift of a stained glass 150 year wall hanger was given to the Village by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Johnston.

Adjourned at 9:46 p.m.

All votes unanimous unless otherwise indicated.

Norma Goyette
Village Clerk

The children brought apples from home, and they waited patiently on top of their desks while other projects, like an apple book, were completed. Hard at work behind his apple and cap is Brad Patterson.

In autumn, thoughts turn to colorful leaves, frost on pumpkins and caramel apples. The second-graders in Pat Andrus' Andersonville Elementary School class combine cooking and art projects to make "Caramel Apple Friends." The recipe is clipped over the chalkboard in the front of the class as the children plan what their fruit will look like.

Making autumn's caramel apples

Dipping the apples in the sweet goo takes muscles, and patience while waiting in line. As Sarah Hubbach (left) twists her apple in the caramel mixture, Adam Rice concentrates on the technique.

Carefully adding water to the caramels before they're popped in the microwave oven is Adam Rice. He is assisted by his teacher Pat Andrus.
