Voters quash police tax

By Marilyn Trumper

For the fifth time since 1976, Independence Township voters have soundly defeated a police millage increase.

In what Clerk Christopher Rose described as "looking like heavy voter turnout," residents cast 1,877 ballots in favor of the 1-mill increase compared to the 4,543 against.

Local officials had hoped the millage would be approved to bail out the ailing police fund, which this year used $59,000 from federal revenue sharing to pay the Oakland County Sheriff's Department bill.

Township Supervisor James B. Smith, long on record as a proponent of the millage increase, refused to comment on its defeat.

Rose was disappointed in the vote.

"I think it's too bad it lost. It means other programs will suffer. We do have to provide for police protection and the money will have to come from somewhere," he said.

Although no official counts of voter turnout were available, Rose commented on the overall picture.

"It looks heavy right now, but we haven't any percentages," he said. "They were predicting 70 percent in the county and it's possible we'll reach that here. At 6:30 p.m., I was at a couple of precincts that were at 50 percent."

Party victories at the local level were a mixed bag as Republican L. Brooks Patterson did well at home, garnering 4,650 votes in the attorney general's race, over Democrat incumbent Frank J. Kelley's 2,900. Libertarian Robert W. Roddis, got 47 votes.

2,000 vote difference

Dunaskiss upsets Trim

By Greg Nelson

Only 2,000 votes made the difference in the Michigan House of Representatives race, with the victor Republican incumbent Mat Dunaskiss over Democrat incumbent Claude Trim in the newly formed 61st District.

"I'm very elated of course, and very grateful," Dunaskiss said, when reached at the victory party held at the Oxford American Legion Hall.

"One of the things about campaigning are the people who help with the work. There was a lot of blood, sweat and tears that went into this and it paid off."

On his victory over Trim, an eight-year veteran of the House before the redrawing of district lines which forced the two incumbents to face off, Dunaskiss said, "You can't feel good about beating Claude Trim."

Dunaskiss keeps seat.

"He's a fine, decent human being and he's been a darn good rep. I have a lot of respect for Claude and I'll do my best to serve the people of Clarkston and the western part of the district, just as he has."

Reached at his Springfield Township home, Trim said he overestimated the people by thinking they would split tickets, noting that the Republican nominee for governor Richard Headlee won as well in the areas taken by Dunaskiss.

"I'm disappointed because I'm at that point in my life where I thought I could contribute to people in their services and their needs," Trim said.

"It's not the end," he added. "I've served eight years in the legislature. The people have decided they want a new representative in the 61st District—let's get behind him and work with him."

Area residents favored Trim, who outpolled Dunaskiss 6,141 to 4,054 in voting returns from Independence and Springfield townships.

Kuhn wins in commission race

By Marilyn Trumper

A Republican victor in a sea of Democratic wins, Richard Kuhn Jr. bucked national trends and is the new county commissioner for the 3rd District encompassing Independence and Springfield townships and part of Waterford Township.

When reached at his home on Wellesley Terrace just minutes after a majority of the final votes were tallied, 22-year-old Kuhn commented on his victory.

"It's fantastic. I basically feel the people responded to a positive campaign," he said. "There was a lot of footwork to this campaign."

Kuhn wins race.

Kuhn, who went door-to-door during the primary race, will reportedly be the youngest commissioner at the county.

Reports at midnight, with only three of the five precincts showing returns in Waterford Township, had Kuhn beating Democratic opponent Brian Cybul. In Waterford, with only three of the five precincts showing returns at midnight, Kuhn captured 824 votes to Cybul's 764. Final unofficial tallies in Springfield showed Kuhn with 1,256 votes to Cybul's 1,1103; and Kuhn had 4,152 votes in Independence Township over Cybul's 2,945.

Kuhn campaigned on a platform to cut property taxes, and consolidate overlapping government at the county level.

Voters drew a fine party line when casting ballots in this race, for both Kuhn and Cybul are 22 years old and live within houses of each other on Wellesley Terrace in Independence township. Both graduated from Waterford Kettering High School in 1978 and from Oakland University in 1982.

Fire chief offers to take demotion

By Marilyn Trumper

The Clarkston News has learned that over a month ago, via memo to the Independence Township supervisor, Fire Chief Frank Ronk offered to resign and take a demotion. The move marks 53-year-old Ronk's 10 years as the department head and 35 years on the force.

Ronk's reason for the decision: Because "...the present township board has little or no trust in my ability to manage and direct the fire department," the memo read.

When contacted by the News, Ronk elaborated, "I feel as though my position is not really necessary, not because I think that, but because that's the way this board has made me feel," Ronk said. "It doesn't matter what I say or what I do, I feel less necessary."

Although no public discussion of Ronk's offer has taken place at board meetings, The Clarkston News learned of the memo and asked Supervisor James B. Smith how he planned to handle the situation.

"Let's just say it's been resolved," said Smith on the afternoon of Oct. 27. "There's been board consensus that (Ronk) should remain where he is."

When contacted by the News, board members indicated that a consensus had not been reached, although all received "confidential" copies of the memo from Smith and have been aware of Ronk's offer to resign for over a month.

At least two trustees, Larence Kozma and Daniel Travis, said they had been contacted by Smith on the issue only after Smith was contacted last week by the News.

Following the discussion with Smith, Kozma asked that the issue be placed on the agenda for the Nov. 9 township board meeting, and he explained his silence to date.

"It appeared to be a confidential memo. I did not think it was something to be discussed publicly. I am not aware of any consensus and was not contacted for any consensus."

Travis, who said he was contacted by Smith after the planning commission meeting the following night, explained his silence to date.

"I expected to take it up at a township meeting should that be an issue the chief wants to pursue. I understood from (Smith) that he would stay on as chief. I believe it was agreed upon. I certainly concur."

"I think that if he does in fact resign, it would be a tough position to fill. Look at the years and quality he's put in," Travis said.

Treasurer Frederick Ritter, the only board member who said he contacted Ronk after receiving a copy of the memo, said, "As far as I'm concerned the chief is doing a good job and he should continue in that position."

"I had a discussion with the supervisor and I was unaware it was for purposes of forming a consensus," Ritter said. "And, I basically believe if certain members of the township board would quit jerking the fire chief around, he would function very properly."

Trustee Dale Stuart refused to confirm if he had been contacted by Smith for a consensus opinion, and pointed to the "confidentiality" of the memo. Clerk

Christopher Rose also refused to say if he had been contacted for a consensus vote, saying only, "I think there are other possible courses of action rather than that which is suggested (to resign and take a demotion)."

Trustee William Vandermark said it would be very "...foolish for (Ronk to resign). I think it would be to his disadvantage. I don't think anybody wants that."

"There's no opening for him to fill below, there's no place for him to go. I don't think he would be effective in a secondary position."

"He's a damn good fire chief and I'd hate to see it happen. He's done a darn good job in engineering that department and I'd hate to see it happen," Vandermark said.

Ronk continues to wait for official action, with only the supervisor's statement that the board is in agreement he should remain as chief, without a demotion.

Ronk remains willing to step down from his $27,000-a-year job and take a $5,000 pay cut to lieutenant, but he's not willing to leave the fire hall.

"I love this department, I think I made that clear in the memo. I just want to be able to run it without a hard time every time I make a decision or recommendation," he said.

Levy Co. submits new plan

Proposed 300-acre gravel pit still on table for Independence

By Marilyn Trumper

The Edward C. Levy Co. has filed a revised Environmental Impact Statement (EIS) regarding its proposed plus-300-acre gravel mining operation near the headwaters of the Clinton River. The second study has been termed "more inviting" than the first proposal by State Department of Natural Resources (DNR) officials.

According to Brad Wilkins, water quality specialist with the DNR's Land Resource Program Division, the new study arrived Thursday, one day after Independence Township officials had the opportunity to review it.

The plus-100-page document, prepared by the engineering division of Smith, Hinchman & Grylls Associates of Detroit, outlines ways to lessen the impact mining would have on the wetlands area, which according to Wilkins was a primary concern with state officials during the first go-round.

"This plan talks about mitigation, proposing ways to lessen the impact on portions of the wetlands area. They know we didn't like that in the first proposal, we had a problem with it," Wilkins said.

"I'd say this study is more inviting, especially with the (outline to lessen the impact)."

The revised EIS talks about the following:

- Mining 300 acres with 80 acres reclaimed for an "upland habitat," a kind of wetland area that doesn't exist now.

- Developing a 200-acre lake.

- Creating a 21-acre shallow wetlands area in the northwest.

- Within the first five years, it designates development of a township beach on a 12-acre lake abutting Clintonwood Park, isolated from the rest of the mining operation.

- The plan shows non-development areas outside the 500-foot buffer along the river.

According to Wilkins, the plan now goes to the Army Corps of Engineers to decide if there should be a second public notice made to all interested parties.

In either case there will be a second public hearing on the issue, possibly within one month, according to Wilkins.

Norman Hyman, attorney for Levy, anticipates the DNR's call for a second hearing.

"I would hope what we're proposing is judged on its merits, and that people don't take the position of opposing just for the sake of opposing.

"I rather hope that people see there's a lot of value to what's being proposed," Hyman said.

Since the Edward C. Levy Co. made its proposal in 1979, it's been embroiled in a bitter battle with township government and a half-dozen environmental groups determined to block the extensive mining operation.

In 1979, township citizens joined the fight against the gravel mining operation by approving a .5-mill levy to pay for the condemnation of 80 acres already owned by the firm. Government officials say the land will be used to increase the size of adjacent Clintonwood Park.

Halloween stays quiet despite prevailing fear

By Kathy Greenfield

Halloween came and went with no actual instances of contaminated treats in Independence and Springfield townships, but there were signs people were worried.

A youngster at a Halloween gathering tossed in one Independence neighborhood as an alternative to trick-or-treating put his reason for preferring a party this way: "Because there are a bunch of crazies out there," said Paul Strong.

The party, held from 6 to 7:30 p.m. Sunday during the time other youngsters were going door-to-door for treats, was at the home of Bill and Nancy Bildstein on Waldon Road.

Some 34 youngsters gathered for games and snacks and they left with bags full of candy and other goodies put together with contributions from the families participating.

The unsolved beating death a week earlier of a 5-year-old Brandon Township boy, the Tylenol tragedy and reports of booby-trapped candy prompted the party plans, said Nancy Bildstein.

"The kids are willing to give it a try," she said. "We all know each other and trust each other and we're trying to stay away from store-bought candy."

Patrolling the streets during Halloween is a regular event, said Oakland County Sheriff's Department (OCSD) Deputy Tom Poulin, who added this comment: "People are obviously glad to see us out patrolling neighborhoods."

At the main fire station on Church Street in Clarkston, a metal detector was at work, scanning goodies gathered by trick-or-treaters.

The safety check was a last-minute addition to the Halloween scene, said fire fighter Gar Wilson.

When Leon Verbouw of Maybee Road called Friday to volunteer using his metal detector, Wilson told him there was no time to get the word out. But then Independence Township Supervisor James B. Smith called, saying several people had requested such a service and Verbouw was asked to come in.

The fire department contacted the OCSD and McDonald's where metal detectors have been available in years past, and several people arrived after checking there for the service.

In all, between 70 and 75 youngsters watched while their candy was checked for metal.

"Almost every parent that came in asked the same thing, 'Did you find anything?' and we said,

"No, we didn't," said Verbouw, who worked with his wife, Donna, and fire fighters from 6:30 to 9:15 on the candy-checking detail.

"I did feel good about it, but the only thing I worried about was if we did miss something," he added, stressing that metal detectors cannot check for poisons or drugs.

"I hope they don't cancel Halloween," he said. "If they don't, I told them to keep my number and give me a call next year."

With more time to organize, it's possible metal detectors will be available at all three township fire stations next, Wilson said.

All was quiet in Springfield Township, said Supervisor Collin Walls.

"At our home we did have a considerable decrease. In fact, I think there were only three or four kids in one group that I didn't recognize," he said, noting there are usually about 60 trick-or-treaters and this year there were around 30.

"Most of the comments I heard had to do with the nasty weather on Halloween night rather than a lot of other things," he added.

Each family involved in the alternative-to-trick-or-treating party brought party food that filled the Bildsteins' dining room table. Munching on

Man arrested in cocaine bust

A former Clarkston village resident has been arrested with six other men on charges of smuggling $300 million worth of cocaine into the United States.

Charles Boldin, 43, now of White Lake Township, faces charges of violating federal narcotics statutes.

Boldin, and men from St. Clair Shores, Georgia, South Carolina and Houston were arrested last week when an airplane loaded with cocaine arrived from South America and landed at Lafayette Municipal Airport in northwest Georgia.

FBI agents and several police officers and members of the sheriff's department had staked out the airport when the Piper Navajo Panther arrived from Colombia.

Agents seized about 640 pounds of cocaine, a twin-engine plane and four cars waiting to pick up the drugs, and a small amount of marijuana.

Lt. Michael Robinson, head of the Michigan State Police Narcotics Division in Livonia, said Boldin's arrest is not an indication of any rampant high-stakes drug trafficking by area residents.

While state police monitored the actions of the St. Clair Shores resident, leading to his arrest, Boldin remained virtually in the background until recently, Robinson said.

"Clarkston has no more of a problem with drugs than any other community," he said.

Letters to editor

Thank you for all the concern

To the Friends of Robert Ogg Jr.,

I am writing this with very mixed emotions. We want to thank the people who have given their condolences, gifts, flowers and feelings.

We want everyone to know that, as grandparents, we have a great loss. This child had everything to live for. The "incident" is very hard on the family.

If this had been an accident, then last Wednesday Robert would have been put to rest. This is not an accident, but a murder or homicide, however we want to put it. This will not be put to rest until the authorities have done the "due process of law."

As you can imagine, I am very upset with the loss of my grandson, but we and the family will keep going on. We have been told we are a family of survivors.

I have to thank many people that have helped Pat and me in this very trying time, but all names could not be listed for fear of forgetting some. For this fear I just wish to thank everyone who has helped and given support.

I do wish to make a comment on behalf of the family. I wish the rumors that have been going around about Diane being jailed for murdering her son will be put to rest. She has never been implicated in this matter.

Yes, the father and mother have had to subject themselves to a polygraph test. The police have their reasons, but sometimes I don't comprehend the time, the methods, the questions.

For the people of Ortonville, I am sorry, because there is no way that I can say that your children are safe. The problem that keeps coming into my mind is that many parents will "protect the children in a glass house" or other means of protection. We have to remember that the children are also beings that have lives to live.

Because Bobby died, do not lock up your children. They have to live.

Rather than that, carry on.

I sincerely wish to thank the people who have helped. Thank you very much.

Jim and Pat Freitag
Grandparents of Robert Ogg Jr.

Support the Junior Miss show

Although the Junior Miss Program has been an annual event in Clarkston for the past 20 years, many people in our area are not familiar with it, thus we feel a need to write this letter.

The 14 High School senior girls of Clarkston who are participating in the 1983 Junior Miss Program are taking part in a nationwide scholarship program to recognize, reward and encourage excellence in our young people.

It emphasizes the positive and stresses the overall growth and development of the girl, accenting the importance of character, personality, intelligence, participation in worthy activities, creativity and talent and general appearance.

Junior Miss is a non-profit event supported by concerned parents, educators, and business and civic groups. Locally, support is given by the Clarkston Jaycees, Clarkston Rotary Club, Clarkston Community Women's Club, local businesses and many concerned citizens.

The Clarkston Junior Miss Program will be held Saturday, Nov. 20, at 7:30 p.m. in the Clarkston High School Little Theatre.

A panel of five judges from other communities will be judging in the areas of scholastic achievement, physical fitness, creative and performing arts, poise and appearance, and judges' interviews.

You can be supportive by attending the program on Nov. 20. It is an evening of fine entertainment suitable for the entire family.

Could this boy have been your child?

On Saturday, Oct. 23, around 10:30 I was driving north on M-15.

I was horrified when I saw a slim blond boy around 12 or 13 years of age riding his skateboard on the EDGE of the road between Paramus and Princess.

A car had to swerve into the northbound lane to miss hitting him. There is a cement sidewalk on that side of M-15 and I find it very unnerving that this should have even occurred.

I'm sure this young man didn't even realize the peril he was placing his life in.

Please parents: Find out if this was your son. A few minutes of discussion now could save a lifetime of grief or loss later.

Name-calling election

Perhaps my memory is fading, but it seems to me the election just past was the dirtiest, name callingest I've ever witnessed.

I loved it.

Letters to the editor complained of literature they received from one candidate or another exclaiming over the low tactics the other guy used.

A couple candidates talked to me personally about the phone calls supporters of their opponents were making, attributing all sorts of dire deeds to the innocent one.

"How awful," exclaimed the letter writers. "I can't believe he would resort to this kind of campaigning," spoke the office seeker.

It was great. Enough of this mamby, pambly, milquetoast oratory. Let 'em take the gloves off and have at it.

The newspaper business has exposed us to a great many . . . "let's you and him fight" specialists.

You know, they say, "Why don't you write an editorial about . . . Why don't you look into the budget or financial statement of . . . Why don't you tell that guy what you really think?"

We label these people as spitball rollers. They roll 'em, then ask us to throw them. It's a trick many practiced in grade school and perfected in adulthood.

But in this campaign there were few spitball rollers. Politicians turned into real throwers. Remember the Attorney General debates? They really hated each other and had at it.

People who say they don't think there is any place in a political campaign for mudslinging had

From fun to fear

by Kathy Greenfield

I can't help but blame some of what's happened to Halloween on the media. All of a sudden, parents are frightened and so are children. No one can be trusted—people waiting to hurt kids lurk at every corner, behind every door and even in places where Halloween treats are manufactured.

I cringed when I read the first article linking the Tylenol tragedy to what could possibly happen on Halloween. It seemed like an invitation to every kook among us to think about ways to get to the candy.

And, as the furor grew, it seemed like anyone foolish enough to go trick-or-treating deserved everything that happened—they had been warned, so to speak. At least that's how I imagine a twisted mind might work.

Darn it! The whole thing makes me angry. I remember looking forward to Halloween trick-or-treating when I was young. It was always an adventure, going from door to door, seeing who was dressed for the occasion, never missing the house where they gave a quarter and a large candy bar.

It's not right that the fun has been turned in to fear.

My parents were always cautious about Halloween. We were never allowed to eat treats while going from house to house, driven by a parent because we lived in the country and there were ditches, roots, and nooks and crannies to fall into in the dark.

Part of the ritual included dumping all the goods on a table, throwing away anything that was unwrapped, and giving all the apples to our parents because nobody was interested in keeping the doctor away—not on Halloween!

The change is ironic and sad.

There's a fine line in news reporting, one that covers providing information and at times sending the message that caution is needed. Unfortunately it can be overstepped with sensationalism.

What happened to Halloween is an example of the results of going over the line.

to have second thoughts after those two lawyers had a couple exchanges.

The governor's race was sparked up with some unthought-through comments by Headlee. Who backed what legislation, and the following counter charge in the Congressional race made it more interesting that the usual dribble of making promises that were ridiculous.

Of course, much of the talk was ridiculous. Each one would give you the idea he alone walked on water, only he/she could provide jobs, only they could eliminate the state or federal deficit, etc.

But, while I loved this name-calling election, I expect to like the one two years hence even more. Can't wait to hear that song again about Chappaquiddick.

Praise for New's bonus section

From time to time, my sister-in-law Jessie Swain (Mrs. George Swain) sends us clippings from your paper.

We were especially interested in your recent publication of Clarkston's Sesqui-Centennial.

We were surprised that we remembered so many names and faces in the photograph of the entire Clarkston school from the year 1922.

Other articles were also very interesting and a lot of fond memories were recalled, as both my husband and I were born and raised in Clarkston.

We want to express our thanks and appreciation. We think you are doing fine work in bringing to light so much of the past.

Seeing the bittersweet reality

Remember when—gasoline was eight gallons for $1?

Remember when—bittersweet was just a pretty bunch of berries picked out in the woods or along a country road "back home?"

Remember when—bittersweet was sold for 50 cents a bunch way back during the depression?

Remember when—bittersweet was picked along the road from the farmers' fence rows (without the permission of the land owner)?

Well, that law passed in 1962 fixed that.

That wild bittersweet isn't seen anymore—except rarely. My American Bittersweet is domesticated, fertilized, watered, protected, pampered and not cheap. Mine is beautiful, brilliant in color, long-stemmed and the non-falling-apart kind.

It is the best bittersweet found anywhere. Like

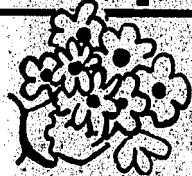

Chrysler's Mr. Iacocca—"If you can find a better buy, buy it."

If you want the best, you will pay the most. This kind doesn't need to be sprayed with hair spray or "fix-it" to hold the set. Mine lasts for years.

The sticker-shock upsets many people who would like depression prices to still be in effect!

Photo commentary

Thieves are bold in Clarkston Village. So bold they'll steal the magnetic sign off a police car that's parked on busy Main Street during the daylight, flanked by two full-dress police motorcycles, while the sheriff and two deputies enjoy a donut break inside the bake shop. The sign read: Sheriff's Crime & Accident Preventive Patrol. Acknowledging the irony of the theft Oakland County Sheriff Johannes F. Spreen laughed. "Now that's the height of something or other. I would say that Clarkston is a high crime area." Spreen added the sign was paid for totally with E.S.C.A.P.E. money, which comes from fund raisers, and that cuts would come from somewhere else in the program to replace the sign. The cost: Approximately $20. Above, Deputy Marc Cooper models a replica of the stolen sign. The theft was double slap in the face for the department. Several months ago while deputies enjoyed a coffee break in that same spot, someone stole the light rack off the top of the police car roof. It, like the sign so far, has never been recovered.

All shapes and sizes

by Jim Fitzgerald

In the men's room nearest the Grill Room in New York City's plush St. Regis Hotel, a tall man leaned over the sink to get close to the mirror as he carefully applied eye shadow.

As I stood facing the wall, I alternately watched the tall man, who was on my right, and the short man standing on my left, also facing the wall. The short man seemed as intrigued as I was to see someone putting on eye shadow in the men's john.

After the tall man finished outlining his eyes, he sprayed his hair. There was a can of hair spray on a shelf below the sink, available to everyone, but he carried his own eye shadow. Finally completing his toilet, he tipped the restroom attendant and departed.

At this point, the short man suddenly pulled a little change purse out of his pocket and began fumbling for coins. The purse was the leather-pouch type, with a metal clasp. I hadn't seen a man use a purse like that since my grandfather died in 1938. And I certainly hadn't expected to see one in 1982 in the men's room of a fancy Manhattan hotel where the dinner theater stars Steve Allen and $20 bills are loose change.

BUT THAT'S the fascination of New York City. Some people like to walk in the woods so they can look at the trees. To each his own. I like to walk on Broadway and Forty-second Street so I can look at the people. For me, the contrast of men using eye shadow and old-fashioned coin purses in the same setting is more intriguing than the different shapes and colors of autumn leaves.

Sure, sleaze is rampant in New York's theater district. There's a porno shop every few feet, and the winos and hookers would prompt my grandfather to move his coins inside his socks. But mixed in with the inevitable crud are such jewels as the Circle in the Square Theater, where there are no bad seats and my wife and I sat close enough to touch George C. Scott as he put fresh excitement into Noel Coward's old chestnut, "Present Laughter."

I used to think Scott gave the finest comedic performance of all time as Gen. Buck Turgeson in "Dr. Strangelove," the best movie of all time, but he is even funnier in "Present Laughter." And only a few hours after laughing at Scott, and only a block away, we luxuriated in the big-band enchantment of "Sophisticated Ladies," a lavish review of Duke Ellington's glorious music.

Another show-biz jewel was the reason I ended up facing the wall between two worlds in that St. Regis john. Playing the piano and singing in the hotel's Grill Room, and also providing an opening act for Steve Allen's dinner show, was Detroit's own Kathleen Landis, formerly of the Caucus Club where, as savvy old-timers continually point out, Barbra Streisand sang when she was nobody. I'd rather hear Kathleen.

AS A FULL-TIME RESIDENT, Kathleen enjoys the varied people and excitements of New York as much as I do as a visitor. She also claimed to enjoy visits from old Caucus Club fans, even though one big rube — me — tested her severely.

First, I remarked it was thoughtful of the St. Regis chef to put pants on the half a lemon that came with my fish. I figured the purpose was to protect the fruit from bruising, and I removed pants before squeezing. Kathleen politely explained I should have left the pants on so I wouldn't squirt juice in my wife's eye.

And when a stranger offered to use my camera to take a photo of my wife and me at Kathleen's piano bar, I patiently told him how to look through the little hole and press the red button on my K-Mart camera. Later, when I commented on the fine quality of Kathleen's picture on the sign outside the Grill Room, she said all her advertising photo work was done by Donald Adamec, one of New York's finest professional photographers. Yes, he was the same guy to whom I gave camera instructions.

Maybe I should have gone for a walk in the woods.

Santa's Workshop

With only seven weekends left before Christmas, it's not too early to begin the search for perfect presents.

And this weekend, one place to start can be the Clarkston Area Jaycees' annual Santa's Workshop Show & Sale.

Over 90 exhibitors are expected to be in Clarkston High School's cafeteria, lobby and band room from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday, Nov. 6.

There'll be Christmas crafts, woodworks and toys, ceramics, crocheted and embroidered items, honey products, leatherworks, stained glass, basketweaving, candy, oil miniatures and more.

Also featured will be personalized leather bracelets made while you wait and a woodcarving demonstration.

Food to take home and feast on later plus items for snacks or lunch will also be for sale.

The high school is located off Waldon Road between M-15 and Sashabaw Road in Independence Township.

Barnwood and acrylic paints are Sally Kubani's medium as she completes a picture of the Clarkston train depot. She'll also sell reproductions of her pen and ink drawings, small wall plaques and framed paintings. A participant in the Santa's Workshop for four or five years, she recently won awards for two of her landscape paintings in a Rochester art show. "As far as participating in a local thing, it's nice to see friends you don't see often and keep track of what's going on craft-wise in the community," she says. "I just like doing artsy things I guess." Kubani, an Independence Township resident, prices most of her craft items under $10. She's presently working on consignment, doing pen and ink drawings for surprise Christmas gifts. "It's really just a hobby," she says about her art work. "But it's become one of those things you think about constantly—you go for a walk and you think about how you're going to do something. It really is an around-the-clock thing."

Friends first, and now business partners, Ann Janks (left) of Waterford Township and Karen Koch of Springfield Township are selling dolls and soft sculpture items at the Santa's Workshop. Janks made the first doll, using one her daughter bought for a model. They're huggable, washable and each one has a name of her own. Janks and Koch even send a birthday card to the doll's new owner a year after it is purchased. The name of their company says it all—Cuddle-Ups. The dolls are called Cuddle Kids and other animals are Cuddle Critters. Items sell for $5 and up, with the dolls priced between $40 and $60.

Two presents in one is the promise of the coloring books Barbara Siegert's selling at Santa's Workshop. Siegert, of Independence Township, did the drawings for the book, and the story was written by her uncle, Al Fraser. "It is a nice story," she says. This is the first time she's drawn anything for commercial purposes. "It was a lot of fun. I loved it," she says. "If I could keep right on illustrating books, I would be happy." The coloring book's title is "Sammy, the Snowflake Who Couldn't Stand the Cold." It sells for $1.50.

Village endorses M-15 plan

With little fanfare at the Oct. 25 meeting, the Clarkston Village Council unanimously endorsed the Independence Township Task Force's proposal to widen M-15 to three lanes south of the village.

The move followed the task force's proposal to the township board a week earlier, calling for widening of M-15 to three lanes between Paramus and Dixie Highway, and condensing business driveways along that route.

In addition, the council agreed to write officials at the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) and request, as did the township board, that the flashing green arrow at Dixie and M-15 be considered a separate project, and possibly eliminated, causing drivers to follow the dictates of the existing traffic light.

For years local government has sought to eliminate the green arrow and slow the constant stream of traffic off Dixie Highway.

Local officials now wait for MDOT's cost estimate of the widening project that's expected to be into the township by late November.

For years, fearful of effects the five-lane widening of M-15 would have on downtown Main Street and parking, the village council has closely monitored talks by MDOT.

As a wedge to block the proposed construction, residents worked to have Clarkston admitted to the National Register of Historic Places, certain the state would balk at destruction of a monument.

Leaf care can prevent future problem

Keeping leaves out of roadside ditches now can pay off later.

"Even burned remains may lead to problems," says John Grubba, managing director of the Oakland County Road Commission.

"As the snow melts and rains come, the runoff carries leaves and ashes along to culverts where they tend to accumulate and cause plugs. It takes only two or three thaw-freeze cycles to totally block the culvert," he says.

The result can lead to flooded basements, he says, so residents should remove the leaves from ditches and from the top of catch basins in front of their homes.

"You need not let the beauty of autumn's leaf falls become the ugliness of basement cleanup later," Grubba says.

More trees will grow in Clarkston

Clarkston Village is enjoying its new benefactor: Edward (Ted) Thomson of Main Street.

Finding the village $500 dollars shy of the bargain price to purchase 17 trees for beautification, Thomson has stepped in and made up the difference.

Council members praised the 31-year village resident at the Oct. 25 meeting, as "Oooohhs" and "Ahhhhhs" tittered through the room.

Said Thomson when contacted after the meeting, "It was supposed to be anonymous, so soft pedal it as much as you can."

A Clarkston resident since 1951, Thomson said he began planting projects when he was village president in the mid-1950s and has made similar donations throughout the years.

According to current President Jackson Byers, Clarkston will see the planting of 17 assorted trees throughout the village, purchased at the "bargain" price of $1,679 from the beautification fund.

"That's great," said Trustee David Raup.

"Terrific," commented Trustee James Schultz.

"Thanks, Ted," said Trustee Gary Symons.

Fire call

Saturday, Oct. 23

CHS votes predict Democratic election sweep

By Greg Nelson

With one exception, this year's general election should be a Democratic sweep if the results of Friday's mock election at Clarkston High School is any indication.

The voting took place among 194 senior government class students. The students voted in an official voting booth set up by Independence Township Clerk Christopher Rose.

The voting results show James Blanchard as the new Governor of Michigan and Democrats taking the other major offices, with the exception of local resident L. Brooks Patterson winning the Attorney General's race.

Rick Williams looks for the next voter in line after completing his vote in the CHS mock election.

Rick Ragatz made his vote a truly secret ballot by wearing a Halloween mask the day of Clarkston High School's mock election last Friday.

Kathy Mullen exits the voting booth after placing her vote in Friday's mock election at Clarkston High School.

The results also showed the students passing five of the seven proposals and the police millage increase.

"In times past, the results of the student election has been more accurate than not—especially in the local areas," said CHS government teacher Jim Wenger. He is one of four teachers whose students took place in the voting.

Wenger wasn't surprised by the voting results with the exception of the overwhelming victory of Claude Trim in the 61st District state representative race.

Trim out-pollied Republican Mat Dunaskiss by a margin of 144-32.

The students had a chance to hear Trim, Dunaskiss and congressional representative candidates Bob Carr and Jim Dunn.

Carr, a Democrat, picked up 124 votes to 60 Dunn pulled.

Patterson beat the incumbent Attorney General Frank Kelley by a margin of 99-66 and Wenger said that may have been because Patterson is an Independence Township resident.

Wenger said he felt the mock election has made the students more aware of the actual election and more curious and accurate with their own vote.

Wenger, along with fellow government teachers Gary Nustad, Larry Mahrle and Larry Rosso, spent time in the classrooms educating the students on the candidates and proposals on this year's ballot.

"The students are much more interested than if they were merely studying the principles of government," said Wenger.

The voting results show that the students passed proposals B, C, D, E and H, while voting no on proposals A and G.

Wenger said the students may not have understood the wording of Proposal A which was voted down 104-66.

Cafe chef prepares cuisine for gourmet gala

By Marilyn Trumper

Chef Gary Grzywacz

Clarkston Cafe Chef Gary Grzywacz readily admits he talks turkey.

Oklahoma Turkey, that is.

The 28-year-old chef of the famed Clarkston restaurant has volunteered to prepare the poultry dish for Crittenton Hospital's upcoming Sixth Annual Gourmet Gala Benefit on Sunday, Nov. 7.

Twenty-seven eateries are to provide gourmet delights for tasting by the 600 guests who donate $35, $50 or $75 per person to feast at Petruzzello's Banquet Facility in Troy.

Proceeds go to purchase electric beds and equipment.

"I selected the turkey because it's what the U.S. Culinary Olympics team entered in the 1980 olympics," Gary said.

Asked if it's good, he laughed and said, "Would I make anything that isn't?"

Then he countered with, "It's also a very easy dish to handle and serve."

Below, Gary shares his succulent turkey dish with Clarkston News readers:

TURKEY OKLAHOMA

1 lb diced mushrooms

1 bunch diced scallions

1/8 lb diced liver and giblets from turkey

1/4 lb diced Virginia ham

4 egg yolks

1/4 lb bread crumbs, thyme, sage, to taste

1. Grind white meat and fat back. Blend eggs, and salt and pepper into meat.

2. Saute onions, garlic, carrots and parsley in 4 ounces butter. Add mushrooms, ham, scallions, sage and thyme. Add cooked livers and giblets. Remove from heat and add egg yolks and bread crumbs. Cool.

Talking About...

Rheumatoid Arthritis

- What is it? A system-wide disease resulting in joint inflammation, causing pain and sometimes disability.
- Who gets it? It can occur at any age, but most frequently occurs between 35 and 45.
- What causes it? Cause is unknown. There is evidence that the body may be producing antibodies (gem-fighting organisms) against its own tissue.
- What are the symptoms? Unexplained joint pain, usually in joints on both sides of the body at once. There may be fever, fatigue, joint swelling.
- How is it diagnosed? From the patient's reported symptoms and blood tests to detect the presence of the antibodies (rheumatoid factors).
- What is the treatment? Medicine to relieve inflammation, heat, periodic total body rest, programmed physical therapy in least painful periods to prevent joint freezing, in severe cases, replacement of damaged joints with artificial joints.
- What is the outlook? Satisfactory control is possible in most cases. Diagnosis and avoidance of "quack" cures is essential.

Harriers headed for state meet

Not to be upstaged by the girls' tennis team, the Clarkston High School girls' cross-country team qualified for the state final meet by finishing second in its regional Saturday.

The team travels to Flint Nov. 6.

"At the state final meet the competition is really tough. We hope our runners can finish in the upper half of their races," said CHS Coach Mike Kaul.

The Wolves finished second in the regional meet with 91 points. Troy Athens won the title with 42 points while Bloomfield Hills Lahser was third with 92 points. All three teams advance to the state meet.

Pam Stoecklin finished sixth individually in the 3.1 mile regional race in a time of 20:11. Kris Baert also finished high for Clarkston, placing 15th with a time of 20:49. Both girls earned regional medalist honors.

Monte LaPorte (22nd-21:13), Beth Galley (23rd-21:18) and Kim Heaton (25th-21:28) also ran well for Clarkston as did Trisha Johnson and Lisa Burkemo.

The state meet is to be run at the I.M.A. Brookwood Golf Course in Flint beginning at 12:30 p.m.

The Clarkston High School boys' cross-country team didn't qualify for the state final meet, but two of its runners did qualify for the state individual race.

Paul Burch and Guy Chandler are to represent Clarkston at the state meet in Flint on Nov. 6.

The individual race is for the top runners in the state from teams that didn't qualify for the team race.

"We expected Paul to qualify easily for the state meet, but having Chandler qualify too was really a pleasant surprise," said CHS Coach Mike Kaul.

Burch, a senior and the team's co-captain, ran one of his best races ever at the regional meet, said Kaul. He finished second individually in the 3.1 mile race with a time of 16:11.

Chandler was 16th overall, posting a time of 17:16.

Clarkston finished sixth in the team standings with 166 points. The 13-team field was led by Greater Oakland Activities League champion West Bloomfield.

Rochester and Troy finished second and third in the regional and qualified for the state meet along with the Lakers.

Al Wall (18:18), Rick Whittaker (18:24) and Tim Pike (18:42) all ran well for Clarkston.

Netters experience state tourney action

By Greg Nelson

The Clarkston High School girls' tennis team didn't win the state championship. But they did bring home a lot of memories and an experience they will never forget.

Clarkston traveled to Midland last week for the Class A state finals—the first time ever for a CHS tennis team.

"The girls were all winners. They put forth a lot of effort to get where they did. They accomplished their goal," said CHS Coach Becky Craig.

The Wolves earned four points in the state meet, falling far short of the 24 points earned by the Class A co-champions, Grosse Pointe South and Birmingham Seaholm.

Teams were awarded one point for each individual match won in the tournament which featured 23 teams from around the state.

Clarkston got one point from Mary Smith who won her opening round match at No. 1 singles.

The other three points were garnered by Kelly Craig at No. 2 singles. Only a sophomore, Craig won three matches and made it to the semifinals before bowing to the tournament's top-seeded player, Chris Gillies of Plymouth Salem.

It was the only loss of the year for Craig who finished with a 17-1 mark and won the state regional championship. Gillies went on to win the state crown at No. 2 singles.

Although she has two years of high school remaining, Craig wasn't in awe of the state finals.

"We knew this was the best team Clarkston has ever had. We knew we could beat all the other teams in our regional and that we could go to state," she said.

"I pretty much knew what the competition would be like. I beat the number three seed but Chris (Gillies) is really good," she added.

After coming so close to an individual state crown, Craig has her sights set on a possible championship in the future. But she's the first to admit that "it's going to be tough."

"We know this was the best team Clarkston has ever had"

Kelly Craig

When asked what she will remember most about her first state tournament, Kelly mentioned the weather.

"It was freezing cold. We had to wear gloves and coats all the time," she said.

A highlight for Craig was the forehand, cross-court winner she hit to end her quarterfinal match and send her on to the semifinals.

Although every team member but Smith and Craig lost her opening match, the trip was not considered disappointing or a failure.

"They all played real well. We came across some real tough teams. It was kind of overwhelming for some of the girls who haven't played any competitive tennis besides in high school," said Becky Craig.

The coach added that the girls on the co-champion Grosse Pointe squad have all played tennis a minimum of 10 years. That was experience the Wolves couldn't match.

Senior co-captains Audrey Campe and Sam Mallett agreed that the trip to Midland was a good experience.

"There were some excellent teams there. But the competition was pretty much what I expected," said Campe.

"It was great. The atmosphere was the best part. It was a lot of fun," said Mallett, who celebrated a birthday while in Midland.

Express to host soccer clinic

Members of the Detroit Express, the American Soccer League champs, are to conduct a soccer demonstration at Clarkston High School.

The demonstration is scheduled Nov. 11 at 7:30 p.m. in the high school gymnasium. Admission is $1.50 per person and tickets are available at Coach's Corner and the Independence Parks and Recreation Dept. Tickets will also be available at the door for $2.

The program features a video film of soccer action along with a control techniques demonstration, audience participation and an autograph session with the Express players.

For more information, call the Parks and Recreation Dept. at 625-8223.

Netters deserve accolades

Hats off to the Clarkston High School girls' tennis team.

This year's team became the first Clarkston tennis squad to ever compete in the state finals, held this year in Midland.

The Wolves came far short of equaling the point totals run up by Class A co-champions, Grosse Pointe South and Birmingham Seaholm. But just to be among the 23 teams represented at the state meet is quite an accomplishment.

Led by sophomore Kelly Craig, who advanced to the semifinals of the state meet, and the fine play of Mary Smith, who won her opening match of the state tournament at No. 1 singles, the Wolves, all of them, put on a more than respectable showing in Midland.

"The girls were all winners. They put forth a lot of effort to get where they did," said CHS Coach Becky Craig.

The Grosse Pointe team featured girls who had all played competitive tennis for at least 10 years.

In an individual sport like tennis, experience can take an athlete a long way. Yet Clarkston was without a single player who could say she can match those 10 years of experience.

Year in and year out, the Grosse Pointe and Birmingham schools turn out strong tennis teams. But for Clarkston the trip was a first. Clarkston just doesn't have the facilities to match an area like Birmingham.

The girls worked hard to get where they did and deserve the accolades of coach Craig who called the team "the best I've seen at Clarkston."

They met little success at Midland but they came home with a sense of pride and satisfaction that they had made it to the state finals.

For the six seniors on the Clarkston team, it was their last chance for high school tennis glory. For others, such as Kelly Craig, there may be another trip to the state meet in the future.

But for all the girls, the state meet was a learning experience and a chance to show the rest of the state its talents.

The girls can hold their heads high and be proud of their accomplishment. They've made their mark in the school record book and it's a mark the whole community can be proud of.

JVs beaten by Athens, record falls to 3-5

There was plenty of yardage but not enough points. That was the story as Clarkston High School's junior varsity football team dropped a 16-6 decision to Troy Athens Thursday night.

The Wolves, 3-5 on the season, scored 41 points in the last game. But against Athens, the Wolves found the end zone only once.

The first quarter saw the teams exchange punts and fumbles as neither team could mount much of an offensive attack.

Clarkston lost a fumble at its own 32-yard line late in the opening quarter and Athens took advantage to get on the board first. A five-play drive culminated in an 11-yard touchdown pass and with the two-point conversion, Athens led 8-0.

The second quarter started off much like the first for the Wolves who couldn't mount a consistent drive on offense. But with 2:01 to play in the half and Clarkston in possession at its own 19, CHS Coach Gordy Richardson changed the game plan.

The Wolves opened up their passing game and quarterback Mike Galley was outstanding. Galley hit six of nine passes, including three to tight end Todd Olsen for 42 yards, and brought Clarkston to the Red Hawk 21-yard line.

With two seconds remaining in the half, Richardson elected to let Galley try a 38-yard field goal. The kick had plenty of distance but hit the right upright and bounced away and the half ended with the score, 8-0.

Clarkston came out throwing in the second half and got immediate results. Galley hit Eric Kline with a 34-yard pass to move the Wolves from their own 16 to the 50. Three plays later, Galley connected with Doug Colling for 37 yards and Clarkston had the ball at the Athens three-yard-line.

From there Galley scored on a quarterback sneak, but the two-point conversion failed and Clarkston trailed, 8-6, with 5:36 to go in the third quarter.

The score brought new life to Clarkston and the Wolves had all the momentum after recovering a fumble at the Red Hawk 48-yard-line. The Wolves drove to the Athens 30 but fumbled the ball away and with it lost the momentum.

Athens put the game away late in the final period with a 60-yard drive ending with a five-yard TD run. The drive consumed six minutes of the clock and took the steam out of Clarkston.

Wolves win, league foe is next

Coming off a convincing 26-14 victory at Troy Athens, the Clarkston High School varsity football team is pointing toward its annual showdown with West Bloomfield.

Clarkston enters the Greater Oakland Activities League contest with a 5-3 record while the Lakers are coming off a 14-13 loss to Waterford Kettering and have a 3-5 record.

"It's a big game this week—a war realistically.

Both teams are traditionally good and really go at each other," said CHS Head Coach Walt Wyniemo.

Against Troy Athens, Wyniemo said his team played a solid, all-around game.

"It was a good victory for us. Offensively we did real well and our defense, as usual, held in there strong," he said.

The offense was sparked by the performance of junior quarterback Craig Kulaszewski who completed 10 of 17 passes for 193 yards and three touchdowns.

Kulaszewski added another touchdown on a one-yard run. The touchdown passes were of 10, 14 and 20 yards.

Wyniemo said the success of the passing game was a combination of several variables. Besides the fine passing of Kulaszewski, he praised the work of the receivers and the offensive line.

"The receivers did a good job and we really gave him (Kulaszewski) some good protection," said Wyniemo.

The coach also praised the work the rest of the coaching staff has done this season. Assistant coaches are Kurt Richardson, George Porritt and Don Peters.

"They're an outstanding staff—concerned about the players and the program," said Wyniemo.

Clarkston's game with West Bloomfield will be Parents' Night, Nov. 3, at the CHS athletic field. Game time is 7:30 p.m.

Rivals face 2nd showdown

Can history repeat itself? That's the question waiting to be answered as the Clarkston and Sashabaw Junior High School football teams prepare to do battle Nov. 3.

Last year Sashabaw opened the season with a convincing victory over the Wolverines only to see Clarkston return the favor in the season-ending rematch.

And after the Cougars' total domination of Clarkston in the opener this year, a 52-0 win, Clarkston Coach John Craven is hoping for the same kind of turnaround.

"I'm hoping that history repeats itself, but I don't know if we're good enough to beat Sashabaw," he said.

The Wolverines enter the rematch with a dismal 1-7 record and are coming off a 26-12 loss to Walled Lake Central. Meanwhile, Sashabaw is having its best season ever, putting together a 6-2 mark.

Sashabaw enters the showdown coming off a hard-fought 8-2 loss to Lake Orion East.

The Cougars are 5-3 on the season and are looking to beat Clarkston twice in the same season for the first time ever.

"Sashabaw has never beaten Clarkston twice in one season, so that's our goal. But they're an improved team—they'll be ready," he added.

JV cagers near perfect season

Four more victories.

That's all that stands between the Clarkston High School girls' junior varsity basketball team and a perfect season.

Clarkston's record now stands at 16-0 following victories last week over Bloomfield Hills Lahser and Waterford Mott.

"We've got four games to go but it's not going to be an easy road. Right now, every game is the most important one of the season," said CHS Coach Larry Sherrill.

The Wolves faced a stiff test Tuesday night with a game at Troy Athens. The Red Hawks entered the contest with only one loss this season.

Clarkston finishes the season with three Greater Oakland Activities League games. The Wolves travel to West Bloomfield and Rochester while hosting Lake Orion in the team's final home game on Nov. 9.

Against Lahser on Oct. 26, Clarkston routed the Knights, 53-10. Denise Giroux led the way with 12 points while Laura Hurren and Kim Ottman combined for 17.

The game at Mott on Thursday saw Clarkston take a 49-39 verdict.

"We had a big lead at halftime but they came back in the second half and made a good ballgame out of it," said Sherrill.

Ottman paced the Wolves with 20 points while Hurren chipped in 12 points and six assists. Bridget Kilcline hauled down 16 rebounds for Clarkston.

Varsity wins two games

After a mid-season slump that saw the Clarkston High School varsity basketball team lose four of five games, the Wolves are back on the winning track.

Clarkston swept two games last week to raise its season record to 11-5. The Wolves are 4-5 in the Greater Oakland Activities League.

Thursday, the Wolves beat a hapless Waterford Mott team, 37-32, after beating Bloomfield Hills Lahser, 53-41, on Oct. 26.

"We've accomplished our main goal—a winning season," said CHS Coach Dave McDonald, whose team is now six games above .500 with only four to play.

"We're 11-5 and didn't really expect to be there. I'm satisfied with where the girls are," he said.

Against Mott, Clarkston opened up an 18-4 first-quarter lead but then lost its shooting touch.

The Wolves shot only 23 percent from the field in the contest, sinking a dismal 15 of 66 shots.

Annette Ulasich, Lori Martin and Janet Herron combined for 27 points while Lin Klingler pulled down 16 rebounds.

In the game against Lahser, Clarkston also opened up a big lead only to see it whittled away.

The Wolves led, 48-28, with three minutes to play in the third quarter and it looked like an easy victory. But Clarkston went the next 11 minutes without scoring a single point and the Knights had pulled to within 11 points, 48-37.

But that was as close as Lahser would get. Clarkston held on for the final three minutes and picked up the road victory.

Four players scored in double figures for Clarkston. Ulasich scored 12 while Lin Klingler added 11 points. Martin and Herron contributed 10 apiece.

Winter sports equipment sale

Schussing, sledding, gliding and keeping warm—it's time to think about winter sports.

The Winter Sports Equipment Sale planned Saturday, Nov. 6, at the St. Daniel Catholic Church Hall offers a chance to buy and sell items.

"We want people to be able to clean out their closets and get rid of what they aren't using and to be able to get a little money, too," says Marlene Romzek, spokesperson for the church's high school religious education and Teen Club, sponsors of the event.

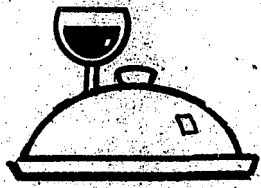

Those who have items to sell—like skis, snowmobile suits, skates, sleds, toboggans, hats and gloves—can drop them off at the church hall from 9 a.m. to noon the day of the sale. The items may be marked with the desired sale price, or they may be marked at the hall. Those who have things to sell need not be present during the sale.

When an item sells, 50 percent will go to the church and 50 percent to the previous owner. The church plans to put the money into the high school religious education fund.

The sale hours are from noon to 5 p.m. On hand with a film and display will be the Ski Patrol.

For more information, call 625-2734.

Two win with no-nuke posters

'Help Lift That Cloud: We Can Prevent Nuclear War'

By Marilyn Trumper

The question of nuclear arms is finding itself an issue at the high school level.

While Duane Nancarrow and Judie Menjo aren't No-Nuke activists, they've expressed those sentiments, strongly felt by some of their peers, in award-winning style.

The Clarkston High School art students were among 10 winners in a statewide poster contest sponsored by the Michigan Nuclear Weapons Freeze, the Michigan Federation of Teachers and the Michigan Education Association.

The slogan read: "Help Lift That Cloud: We Can Prevent Nuclear War."

Their posters are on exhibit at the state capitol in Lansing.

"My poster is an orange and black cloud in the sky with people underneath trying to get rid of it," 17-year-old Judie said. "I feel we should quit making the weapons, we have enough. There's no use in spending money on those weapons."

Duane, 16, agrees.

"The question is, is there a need? We should put that money into Social Security instead."

He describes his poster: "It's an orange, yellow and red cloud with a skull inside over an explosion that rides somewhere between Russia and the United States." Both countries are colored in their native flags, he said.

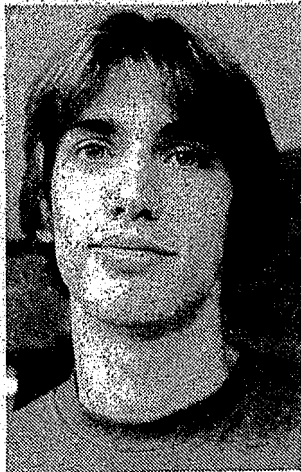

Jennifer Trester received an honorable mention for her poster, described as an explosion in the sky with stick people hovering below working to hold up the clouds.

A handful of students in Gary Nustad's political science class are learning the ways of activists as they lobby to have voters approve the state's Proposal E in the Nov. 2 election.

Mary Barnes, almost 18, will miss voting this election by one week.

"It's kind of disappointing," she said. "I would like to have been able to vote. I moved here from Denver, Colo., where they have the nuclear arsenal in Rocky Flats. There are always a lot of people out there protesting."

Keri Chenoweth, 17, hopes to sway voter opinion.

Duane Nancarrow

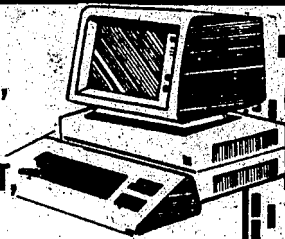

Judie Menjo

"I want to influence the people who are voting. A lot of them don't know what the issue is."

"What I've learned in class has really opened my eyes," said Dee Bruce, 17.

These students and Kristin Weichel, Karen Weichel, Karen Geukes and Julie O'Neil have joined forces for the yes vote on Proposal E.

The Clarkston (Mich.) News Wed., Nov. 3, 1982 21

Pictures and poetry

The eighth-grade Clarkston Junior High School English students of Sally Lindeman wrote the following Halloween poems as a classroom assignment.

Ghosts and goblins, witches and brews
I've got a secret and here's the news:
On Halloween night, when all is dark,
If you look real close, you'll see the mark.
The mark of every girl and boy
Who's full of excitement and plenty of joy.
But on Halloween night, the witches are out,
To scare little kids that are running about.
So here's my secret, don't be afraid.
But I wouldn't go out, even if I was paid.
Floy Licatovich

The sun goes down. The moon comes out,
Then the fun starts all about.
A misty feeling fills the warm air,
And bone-chilling scare is everywhere.

Wicked white witches glide overhead,
And all about walk the living dead.
Your path is crossed by mysterious black cats,
And the shrilling call of vampire bats.

Goblins and Ghosts, they all glow.
But of course you do know,
That none of it's for real.
Or is it??
Peter Hollis

Halloween can be such fun
When all the kids go out and run
To all the houses near or far
Just to get a candy bar.
All at once the children yell
Trick or Treat and all is well.
Their costumes range from cowboys
To nurses and maybe even old ladies with purses.
All the parents scream and shout,
"I'll never get these chocolate stains out!"
But when all the candy is through
The dentist will have a lot to do.
Kellie Abbott

On Halloween
I seen something green
That looked real mean
It was a giant jelly bean.

Then that same night,
I had such a fright.
I looked up and seen
A flying jelly bean.

After a while
I seen a crocodile.
Oh what a scene.
He ate one bean
And left the green.

I woke with a scream.
Phew! It was only a dream.
Dan Stuk
Mike Norman

One dark night,
When the moon was bright,
A witch named Wright,
Went out to fright.
She took her broom,
And with a boom,
She took off to the moon.
Serena Brown

On October thirty-first
Ghosts stalk into the night,
Which is the evil curse
That is set right.

For on Halloween
Unusual shines the moon,
The only way it can be seen,
And it whistles a scary tune.
Sarah Nunter

THE PARTY'S OVER: Waiting for their ride home after the costume party tossed by the Independence Township Library on Saturday are (from left) Neil Kortge, Emily Kortge, Evan Brown, Sarah Kortge and Jenny Brown. The Kortges live on Marvin Road, the Browns on Snowapple Drive.

STASHING THE TREATS: Little Cathy Eby is busy as she can be eating suckers and tucking them away in paper cups following the Independence Township Halloween party Saturday. Cathy lives on Bitterbush Drive.

Are you tricking or treating?
Getting ready for eating?
I bet you're excited tonight.

One day in a year
For you to fear.
I bet it's a terrible fright.

From door-to-door
Everyone wants more.
It's getting pretty late.

A few houses down
You see a fat clown.
His loot looks pretty great.

Now the streets are dark.
All you hear is a bark
From a dog that cannot be seen.

Since jack-o-lanterns are shining through the streets
And you are carrying a bag full of goodies and treats,
It could only be Halloween.
Samantha Savas

For Halloween I'm going to be a dog.
My friend is going to be a hog.
We will be an awesome pair,
But a commonality we share.
Heidi Vines

Spooks, ghosts and flying bats.
Pointed little witches' hats.
Trick or treaters ring the bell.
Asking for candy with a yell.
As I sit here carved and glowing.
I watch them all coming and going.
Dawn Diederich

Halloween is a time for creeps and a time for shrieks. So if you give out treats, watch out because you'll never know what the trick might be.
Randy Maloney

STUDY IN CONTRASTS: Ricky Blount is dressed totally in black for the library Halloween party and Courtney Grimes of Snowapple Drive is a bride. Both children won prizes.

GI abroad

"Being in Korea is definitely an experience," says Army Sgt. Mark Wilcox, 22, who serves as a wheeled vehicle mechanic with the 802nd Engineer Battalion, Eighth Army, Seoul, Korea. "The country itself is very different from home. It takes some getting used to working the many hours and being in a war-potential country." The son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wilcox of Clark Road, Springfield Township, Wilcox attended Clarkston High School before enlisting in May 1980. He reported to Korea for duty in March. "The biggest adjustment I've had to make since coming here is the separation from family and loved ones," he says. "You don't know how important mail becomes when you're so far from home."

Pictures, poetry

Halloween is so keen. It's fun to scream even if you are a teen.

I was a Queen and Jack and Dean were two beans.
If I were them, I wouldn't of wanted to be seen, even on Halloween

Boy it sure is a sight on Halloween night.
I mean the ghosts and goblins.

What a sight to see, some were knights, some were even kites.

What a sight to be.

I was right there on Halloween night.
Too bad you weren't with me.

One deep dark night I went outside with fear because my brother told me that the devil was near.
So I grabbed my sword and spear and said, "Devil, you queer, why don't you get the heck out of here."

Lisa Martus

Halloween is the time of year

To laugh, to holler, to show some fear.

You can finally dress up real crazy for a switch
As a dragon, a goblin, or even a witch.

You can get apples, popcorn and a lot of candy,
But your dentist might not think that's very dandy.
You can scream and holler and play and play and play,

And wait for next Halloween Day.

Shelley Baker

HALLOWEEN BONUS: The money exchanging hands at First Federal Savings and Loan of Oakland Friday has nothing to do with Halloween, but the atmosphere is a whole different story. "It gets you into the spirit of Halloween," says Ruth Hine who appeared in Raggedy Anne finery and talked the rest of the staff into joining the spirit of things. Customers' reactions to the tellers' costumes were part of the fun. "When they see us like this, they look so surprised," she says, adding that next year it will be even better—the idea went over so well, they'll plan all year for the costume party.

PRIZE WINNERS, ALL: Jim Haneo (center) of White Lake Township wins for his portrayal of a robot at the Independence Township Library's Halloween party. He is surrounded by "old

On Halloween night, all the witches gathered around.
Not a thing in sight, but a back black kettle that sits on the ground.

A goblin, a cat, a ghoul and a bat.

All belong in a witch's brew.

A pinch of spider legs, a dash of bunny ears, a chunk of pig meat.

Now a sip of witches' brew.

Because of the meat, this brew tastes sweet.

This is one of the things that makes Halloween so darn neat!

Chris Hartman

As I scurry down the street

In my costume—very neat

I knock on doors yelling trick-or-treat

So they'll give me something sweet.

As I almost reach someone's door,

I stumble on something upon the floor.

It makes my big toe very sore,

For sure I won't go there no more.

Be careful on that Halloween night,

For the world is filled with fright.

If you're not, what happens might

Be—You are forever out of sight.

Maggie Sans

When the goblins and witches come out at night,

They'll scare the kids and run out of sight.

The dogs will bark, the kids will run,

Then they'll scream and shout and have lots of fun.

On the way home, we'll scare a black cat,

Then we'll eat lots of candy and get really fat.

Beth Moshler

man" Brad Zasu (left) of Curtis Lane, and Bruce Fylyplw of Andersonville Road. Others who won and are not pictured on this page or Page 21 were Brian Doyle and Matt Johnston.

Aaron Harrison of Snowapple Drive rates a library Halloween party prize for his surgeon garb.

Kristy Hopson, who won a library award for her bee costume, lives on Pine Knob Road.

A CONSUMER SHOPPING TIP

When waterproofing your basement, make sure your contractor's reputable. Read your contract carefully before signing. Question all language you don't understand. Be prepared to remove your own interior basement walls if contract so states. And don't let a salesman tell you soil conditions and water table are irrelevant. They're important.

Apple trees at Ashton Orchards fill the horizon as Pine Knob Elementary kindergartners file down the dirt path toward the fruit-laden branches. The group of 60, out to learn how apples grow, spent an autumn hour in the warm sun, surrounded by sweet-smelling fruit.

Picking apples at Ashton Orchards

Stepping inside the Ashton Orchard barn is like shoving your head into a bushel basket of apples and sniffing until there's no more air.

It's overpoweringly good.

The smell of autumn.

A blue sky covers Sharon Ashton's 10-acre orchard on Sashabaw, south of Waldon Road in Independence Township.

An Indian summer breeze tickles the 35 varieties of plucked apple trees dotting the rolling acres, most mere skeletons after weeks of harvest.

Today Sharon leads 60 kindergartners from Pine Knob Elementary on a tour through the hills to learn about apples, how to grow them, how to pick them.

With brown paper bags clenched tightly in their tiny fists, the boys and girls step down the winding dirt track.

First stop: the Banana Apple, one of the orchard's few remaining trees with branches bowing from the weight of its fruit.

Sharon explains this is a Winter Banana Apple. "Not everyone knows what a Winter Banana is or has the opportunity to taste one. You may all pick one, and put it in your bag," she said, giving the the word.

They descend on the yellow, pink-cheeked apples like butterflies to flowers.

Then onto the Johnathons and Steele Reds.

The kids learn it takes four seeds inside an apple to make it grow, and that 40 leaves are needed to nourish one apple.

They climb a special ladder designed to get pickers into the heights of trees and try on a special bag harvesters wear around their waists.

Tuesday they were scheduled to make apple sauce in class with their pickings.

For the 60-plus kindergartners there's no better way to spend a day than on tour of Ashton Orchards.

—Marilyn Trumper

As easy as one, two, three, the energized kindergartners scale a specially designed apple-picking ladder while their classmates look on. Made of aluminum, the tripod ladder allows the picker to get right into where the apples are most abundant.

A helping hand from an adult makes getting at the high branches and ripe yellow banana apples easy. This youngster prepares to place his pick in a custom designed brown paper bag.
