Sprucing up the spruce

Rachel Elsea reaches up to hang her ornament on Clarkston's Christmas tree. She was one of many children who brought their parents to the Friday evening event sponsored by the Clarkston Village Business Association. They provided donuts and cider for the crowd. The Clarkston High School Madrigal Singers were there to lead the crowd in Christmas carols.

Schools gear for tax levy

The Clarkston board of education wants to be prepared when expected approval of a law allowing school districts to collect half of the taxes in the summer comes about.

At Monday night's school board meeting, Superintendent Milford Mason noted that the governor is expected to sign the bill next week.

The board unanimously approved publishing the necessary notice to conduct a public hearing on summer tax collection during its next meeting Monday, Jan. 10.

If the district collects taxes twice yearly rather than waiting for one lump from December tax payments, the projection for savings on interest paid for loans to meet expenses in the interim is $266,000, Mason said after the meeting.

"That will not right the financial problems of the district in and of itself, but it's significant so we sincerely have to look at it," he said.

If approved, the procedure requires the public hearing for comments from community members, a resolution by the board to collect summer taxes and a bid for township or county cooperation in collecting the taxes for the district.

If the township and the county refused to take on summer tax collection duties, the district could decide to serve as its own tax collection agency.

If all goes as planned, the district should be able to collect summer taxes in 1983, Mason said.

Oakland Woods foster care ruling challenged

By Marilyn Trumper

Donald Schuster, attorney for Lake Oakland Woods subdivision, remains confident his "landmark" case outlawing a group home for six mentally retarded adults will continue to stand on its own despite moves to chip away at the circuit court victory.

In a motion for rehearing Dec. 8, Jon Garrett, the attorney representing the foster care home, pointed to a subdivision in Oakland County that had amended its deed restrictions to prohibit group homes. The appeals court found the amendment invalid.

Drawing on that case, Garrett sought a reversal from Oakland County Judge Hilda Gage who last September found the six-member Lake Oakland Woods group home in violation of the subdivision's single-family deed restrictions. The deed specifically restricts use of homes to those related by blood, marriage or legal adoption, Schuster said.

In the six-page opinion delivered last September, Judge Gage said the deed does not violate the United States Constitution as challenged by the defendants, Kay Jan Inc., operators of the home at 5127 Timber Ridge Trail. Her decision was made because the deed restrictions were so specific, Gage wrote.

Last week Gage denied the motion for rehearing, according to Schuster.

"The distinguishing feature (between the two cases) is that the amendment to the deed restriction was a blatant discrimination against the retarded. It was specifically excluding group homes," Schuster said. "Ours doesn't. Ours is a neutral deed restriction that says all non-family groups are out."

Garrett has yet to appeal Gage's September ruling at the court of appeals level, but indicated at that time he would do so. He could not be reached for comment.

Schuster is not worried about the appeal.

"I'm secure and confident the court of appeals will uphold Judge Gage's decision," he said.

For over two years the subdivision's residents have sought to oust the home.

Teachers expect contract soon

'... so we may end the year in a state of tranquility'

By Kathy Greenfield

A contract settlement between the Clarkston school district and the 290 teachers represented by the Clarkston Education Association (CEA) may be in sight.

The date of Jan. 7 has been set for presenting both sides of the issue before an advisory factfinder from the Michigan Employment Security Commission.

"We hope, because we are nearing the end of the process, we can follow that the factfinder is successful... so we may end the year in a state of tranquility," said CEA President Allen Bartlett at Monday night's school board meeting.

According to Superintendent Milford Mason, the CEA seeks a contract settlement of a 7.5 percent salary increase plus increments for those not at the top of the pay scale. The district's stance is that no raises at all should be granted, he said.

The factfinder is expected to file a report recommending a settlement 30 to 40 days after hearing both sides of the argument. Both sides can decide to accept the recommendations, or negotiations can resume to try to reach an agreement.

After the meeting, Bartlett said it was possible the contract could be settled before the meeting with the factfinder, although such action was unlikely.

Mason agreed.

"If we were looking at factfinding on March 1, that would put it in a different light," he said, noting that with the holidays coming up meetings to discuss settlement would probably not be held.

The tranquility portion of Bartlett's comments could have referred to CEA expectations on the factfinder's decision, Mason said.

"They're confident their position will prevail," he said. "He's saying we hope you approve it and harmony will prevail."

The teachers have been working under an extension of the previous three-year contract since June.

Independence joins county solid waste plan

By Marilyn Trumper

Still unsure how it will handle garbage pickup in Independence Township, the board voted 5-1 to adopt the Oakland County's Solid Waste Plan at the Dec. 7 meeting.

Until a decision on pickup is made, the township's five independent garbage haulers remain in limbo not knowing if they'll keep their hold on the market or if the township will be bid in quadrants.

'It's an "I gotcha" all the way around'

Angered that the county is "the only game in town," several board members said they'd approve the plan because the township emerged relatively unscathed, and missed being targeted for a landfill, collection site or incinerator.

Key to the plan, however, is its review and update every five years which could easily change the township's status, said Edward Thomson, chairman of the township's Solid Waste Task Force, as he recommended adoption.

In the proposed plan, which must be adopted by 40 of the county's 61 municipalities, garbage collection is the township's responsibility, with local communities forced via contract to dump all refuse at the county's central incinerator site. The communities then pay for the privilege of dumping at the only available site.

In turn the county would burn the refuse creating steam and making electricity which would then be sold; hopefully recouping the cost of the system.

"It's an 'I gotcha' all the way around," said Supervisor James B. Smith.

"And that is why it grates on me," echoed Treasurer Frederick Ritter. "If the communities get their act together and deny the plan it will be a fact of life the county will have to deal with. Nothing here's been cast in concrete if there's enough objection."

"I think we should decide how we're going to implement (trash collection) here at the local level before agreeing to the plan."

If the county plan is denied, the Michigan Department of Natural Resources will step in and implement its own solid waste plan, one in which it's feared the township will not escape as a targeted site for landfill, incinerator or collection site.

"It galls me that everytime I turn around the state or county is force-feeding us and we end up with a bad taste in our mouths. I'm going to vote 'yes' because it looks like we're going to end up with some kind of a program, whether it's the state's or county's," said Trustee Dale Stuart.

Ritter was the lone dissenter in the vote. Smith, Clerk Christopher Rose and trustees Stuart, Larence Kozma and Daniel Travis favored the plan. Trustee William Vandermark was absent.

According to Thomson, implementation of the county plan is still several years away, assuming enough municipalities in the county adopt the plan.

Family makes bid for foster care home

The David Cox family of Wellesley Terrace in southern Independence Township wants to open their home two mentally retarded adults.

If the application for state licensing is approved, the home could open within six months, according to Laurel Berger, community liaison coordinator with the Macomb Oakland Regional Center, the proposed home's sponsoring agency.

"Normally there's little problem with homes like this and no objection from the neighbors, so we don't anticipate any public meeting," Berger said. "There will be no staff. They'll live in the home with the family like family members."

"Once the home is licensed for a maximum of two (retarded adults) we'll place one person in the home for a period of six months to a year and make sure it works well. Then we'll place the second person."

The Cox family could not be reached for comment.

Actual choice to be made Jan. 18

Preliminary nod goes to Multi-Cablevision

By Marilyn Trumper

After more than two hours of discussion, the Independence Township Board and Clarkston Village Council jointly selected Multi-Cablevision as the first choice to serve the township, and Omnicom, a division of Capital Cities Communication, as the second. The selection is not binding and was used at the Dec. 7 meeting to prioritize the two bidding companies as last-minute franchise contracts are hammered out. Adoption is expected to take place at the

Jan. 18 township board meeting.

The vote, with just four dissents from both groups, follows two years of talk, a year of review by the cable TV Task Force and 60 days of head-to-head negotiations with the two companies.

"Both are very good," said Clerk Christopher Rose, in charge of township negotiations. "Both have very good proposals. No one stands head and shoulders above the other."

Dismissing pressure from school officials who want the broadcast studio located in the high school, the council and board shied from targeting a studio site, approving rate controls and addressing whether permits will be required to place cable boxes in homes.

"These issues should not be decided now," Rose said. "I think as far as tonight's discussion they should not be a major point. They are not part of the negotiations, and don't have to be taken care of now."

Resident Michael Clark asked the board to consider locating the studio in the "white elephant" Department of Public Works (DPW) building on Flemings Lake Road.

"There is concern that the schools will monopolize the studio if it's located in the schools, and the DPW building is more centrally located," he said.

Key in discussion was Multi-Cablevision's promise to service 100 percent of the homes in the township over Omnicom's plan to reach 90 percent.

"I think it's rare when we have the opportunity to please all of the people at once, that's why I'm voting for Multi," said Treasurer Frederick Ritter, pointing also to Omnicom's control of WJR radio and a suburban daily newspaper.

"I'm not sure I want them in control of the local citizens' broadcast," Ritter finished.

Trustees William Vandermark and Daniel Travis supported Omnicom, stressing the company's larger financial base.

After discussion, Ritter, Rose, Supervisor James B. Smith and trustees Dale Stuart and Larence Kozma voted in favor of Multi-Cablevision. Vandermark and Travis dissented.

On the Clarkston Village Council, trustees Gary Symons, Ethel Sinclair and David Raup voted for Multi-Cablevision and trustees Ruth Basinger and Carol Eberhardt dissented.

If Multi-Cablevision is selected in the binding vote expected Jan. 18, it will be at least 12 months before completion of the $2.5 million system, according to Gil Clark, representative for Multi-Cablevision, which is in partnership with the Tribune Co.

She's a jolly Goodfellow

Julie Darling, the only woman fire fighter in Independence Township, also turned out to be the only female Goodfellow last week. Members of the all-male Rotary Club and the township fire department joined forces to raise money for local needy families and sold the papers throughout the township Friday and Saturday. The result was $1,705 for the cause, $285 more than last year. "It's kind of a sign of the times," said Fire Chief Frank Ronk. "If there are tough economic times for some, the others are doing what they are able to do. The response this year to paper sales was encouraging. According to the Rotary Club, there are a lot of orders for shoes and we're right now getting calls for clothing and food." Coordination with local churches and the Salvation Army is underway to ensure that all needy families will receive something for Christmas, he said. The fire department also provides names for groups interested in helping an individual family.

Pine Knob Road paving cost drops $100,000

By Marilyn Trumper

Each time the county looks at paving Pine Knob Road from Bailey Lake School to Clarkston-Orion Road, the price is driven down.

'I don't think we'll ever get it done this cheaply again'

"If this keeps up, maybe we'll get it done for free," commented township Supervisor James B. Smith at the Dec. 7 meeting of the Independence Township Board.

According to Smith, county officials say paving of 1,600 feet can be done for approximately $78,000, with $25,000 coming from the Tri-Party Road Agreement, $25,000 from township coffers, $5,200 from the county and the remaining $23,000 from either a residential special assessment or Clarkston Schools.

A year ago the county quoted a paving cost of $178,000. Three weeks ago $113,000 was the price and now officials say $78,000.

The school board was expected to discuss financing its share of the project at the Dec. 13 meeting, Smith added, saying, "It may be the residents won't have to submit to a special assessment if the schools can come up with the money."

According to George White, assistant principal at Sashabaw Junior High School, the school board has never officially been approached on the issue.

Unable to muster funds to pay for the paving of the washboard riddled road, Lynn Mead and fellow Pine Knob Road residents have petitioned the local government for help, agreeing to submit to a special assessment to finance the project.

"When the oil prices go up and the government implements its 5-cent User Tax, the cost of paving is going to go up," Mead told the board. "We want to do this as cheaply as possible, and I don't think we'll ever get it done as cheaply as this again."

Trustee Dale Stuart warned against the township paying more than 25 percent of the paving cost as agreed to in a similar project in a southern township subdivision.

"Even though the bigger burden here rides on less people, I think we have to tread carefully and not get ourselves into any unexplainable position," Stuart said.

For years residents along the busy dirt and gravel thoroughfare have struggled with potholes and dust, and with traffic to and from the school, soccer games and summer classes.

Colombiere welcomes U of D

It's official.

Now locals can enjoy all the prestige of attending the University of Detroit without leaving the county as the Jesuits open their first extension campus outside Detroit at Colombiere Retreat and Conference Center in Springfield Township.

At a reception held last week, school officials announced the scheduled September 1983 opening of the new campus where students will be able to pursue liberal arts and business courses.

According to Dr. Robert P. O'Neil, campus director, classes at Colombiere will be held four days a week, Monday through Thursday, and will be taught by U of D faculty, 90 percent of whom have PhDs. The faculty-student ratio is expected to be 1-16.

The first class and subsequent freshman classes will be limited to 150 students with total undergrad enrollment targeted at reaching 600.

Students can pursue one of two bachelor's degrees: liberal arts with a business certificate or business administration with liberal arts emphasis.

8:51pm—EMS responded to 7777 Pine Knob. Patient refused treatment.

The Independence Township Fire Department has responded to 821 calls to date.

hires, and agreed to look at a fourth addition during the upcoming 1983-84 budget review.

The department's new employees begin work Dec. 27 at an annual salary of $16,600, 80 percent of base pay.

By Jan. 18 Ronk predicts the opening of Fire Station 2 at Sashabaw and Clarkston-Orion roads, closed since the summer of 1980 following a strict belt-tightening of the ailing fire fund. Two men who left the department were not replaced which forced the closing.

Voters approved an additional 1 mill for the fire fund in the August 1980 primary election, but government officials opted to bail out the department and use the first year's tax collection to repay money borrowed from the sewer fund.

"I'm excited," Ronk said following the Dec. 7 meeting. "We can supply the people with much better service now. If we can get the two more people we need, we'll move into the more civic programs like (teaching cardiopulmonary resuscitation)."

Although the chief recommended hiring the top five scorers from the field of 35 who tested for the jobs, the board turned him down.

"I thought we agreed three was what we could afford, and I'm surprised to have your request here for five," said Supervisor James B. Smith. "I have not received projections for the 1984 budget or cash flow, and frankly I'm at a loss without those figures. I will consider three, but not five."

Ronk pointed out the board had budgeted to hire three fire fighters for the full year in 1982-83, salaries that had not been paid, and that hiring five men instead of three would virtually eliminate all overtime pay.

... three but not five

The board remained steadfast and after discussion agreed to look at hiring additional employees during the upcoming budget review for the new year.

The new fire fighters are Jack Bailey, 20, of Pine Knob Road; Robert Cesario, 21, of Brandon Township; and Greg Olrich, 24, of Groveland.

Bailey, out of work for the past year and one-half, said he was especially pleased to be hired and ready to start work.

Board should obey law

Open Meetings Act exists with purpose

The Independence Township Board continues to test the legal fiber of the Michigan Open Meetings Act. Over strong opposition from this newspaper, the board on Dec. 7 again secluded itself in private chambers to discuss unnamed "pending litigation."

Trustee William Vandermark was absent and not a part of the unanimous vote to close.

Although the board made its decision upon the attorney's recommendation, it continues to be the steadfast position of this newspaper that the board's refusal to name specific cases is in violation of the Michigan Open Meetings Act.

We have appealed to the Oakland County Prosecutor's Office to enforce the law, and requested the Office of the Attorney General deliver an opinion regarding the Independence Township Board's interpretation of the law.

The law regulating open meetings allows closure to discuss pending litigation only "...for the board to consult with its attorney regarding trial or settlement strategy in connection with specific pending litigation, but only when an open meeting would have a detrimental financial effect on the litigating or settlement position of the public body."

As the public watchdog we continue to ask: How can it be determined if the meeting is legal when it's not known what is being discussed? How can we ensure there is a detrimental financial to the township if we don't know a financial stake exists?

The board goes behind closed doors with nothing on the public record that discloses what is being talked about. A separate set of minutes from closed meetings are recorded, kept from the public and destroyed a year later. Only a court order can release those minutes for public scrutiny.

Independence Township residents are expected to swallow the actions of the board and not grimace at the bitter pill. We are expected to trust the board, give them free rein and a blank check on decision-making.

There is no assurance the board is using the Michigan Open Meetings Act the way we believe it's designed and not taking advantage of closed-door talks to map strategy for a suit that might be filed, rather than meeting with its attorney behind closed doors only to discuss cases that have been filed.

This newspaper will continue to fight for that which the law mandates: that the board name the specific pending litigation.

We need a workable historic law

by Kathy Greenfield

I look at the demise of Clarkston's Historic District ordinance as a darned shame.

But, linked with the same thought, is the knowledge that something had to be done.

The five-member commission appointed to oversee construction in the 175-building district was doing its best to enforce the law. The decisions, however, were causing more of an uproar than anything I've seen for years.

Rumors were flying about rejections of homeowners' plans to improve their property that never really happened. When we checked into one story that was making the rounds, it was found to have no basis in fact.

"I heard it from (a person) who heard it from (another person). I'm not sure who's house it is, but if you check with (Jane Doe), she knows."

It was that kind of merry chase.

It seems to me there were several problems at work including a basic agreement with the plan to have an ordinance (almost no one showed up at public hearings where the law was discussed before it was enacted by the village council). When the reality hit and people were informed they'd have to have historic commission approval to build porches, add bay windows or redo siding, it was a shock.

I was told that making amendments to the ordinance required an almost identical procedure to starting over from scratch.

I was told people were unwilling to go before the commission because they feared plans that suited their tastes and needs would be rejected publicly.

The need to do something about the ordinance, to make it more specific in areas like aluminum siding, was clear. Pressure was on the council members to do something about the commission and the way it handled its power.

The solution was to do away with it all while the ordinance was rewritten.

I find myself almost wishing someone would do something outlandish with a historical structure during the time period when there is no law to drive home the need to protect what is here.

There are buildings in Clarkston with their historic value virtually destroyed because of remodeling. The changes have been gradual. Whole blocks have not been destroyed.

We don't have to look too far to find other communities nearby that have gone through changes over the past 20 years or so that have affected their historic character.

Rochester, Mich., lost buildings to parking lots and homes to mini-mall structures. It's still historic, but no longer as good as it was.

Oxford's Main Street is a four-lane drive-through affair dotted with empty buildings.

I believe Clarkston needs to protect what it has. It is a sort of living museum, reflecting yesterday in a way that needs to be preserved.

Its residents need to realize they have something important to protect—a bit of history to take care of.

I'm told the historic district ordinance will be again. I sincerely hope it reappears on the books soon.

Flat news

By Jim Sherman

Okay! Who left the truck tire in the middle of I-75 Friday night 29 miles north of the Ohio line?

Don't deny any knowledge—fess up. I may give up popcorn, and 50th birthday celebrations.

What connection has that got to do with a dormant truck tire, you probably won't ask. I'll tell you.

Friend Marsha Olrich had one of the inevitable-if-you-live days last week. Her husband had to devise a way to get her out of town so a couple daughters could prepare a feast and a party.

The Olriches have always been very big popcorn eaters. For many years they have gone to Napoleon, Ohio and bought tons of popcorn from Sigg. He's an old friend of Orville Redenbacher's, of tv fame. That's right, tons

This trip Marsha bought 600 pounds. That, plus the 200 we bought, may have saved numerous bruises a few hours later.

Having delayed and dilly dallied long enough, we headed out of Toledo with just enough time to arrive at the surprise party a little after 7 p.m.

Jerry Olrich was taught a few years ago to not break the speed laws by much, so he was driving his van less than 60 this dark and rainy night, when suddenly a truck tire appeared immediately in front of his front wheel.

Up we went, bumping a couple times, and down we came, hard on the left front corner. The van was silent inside and swerving outside as Jerry controlled it to the side of the road.

At first only the front tire was flattened. But after maneuvering the van to the other side of the road for better access, the rear tire was flat, too.

Ah, thank goodness the van has a phone. First the state police, then a wrecker, then the Brownstone township police, the latter two dispatched by the state police.

However, when the state police in Flatrock were contacted later, they denied making any calls or knowing anything about our troubles. Yet we talked to the trooper, wrecker driver, and Brownstone policeman who all said they were dispatched from Jerry's original call.

Seems a feud is going on for 'control' in the area north of Monroe, and cooperation is difficult to come by. As the wrecker driver said, "Too bad, I'd like to have them both working for me."

Feud aside, we thank all three who helped us get to the party just an hour or so late.

Thief snatched more than tree

I hope the person who cut down the tree in front of our house has a rotten Christmas.

We moved into our house on Woodglen Drive three years ago and bought the tree for our first Christmas in our new home. We decorated it, carried it outside three days later because it could only be indoors that amount of time, and planted it.

We watered it, fertilized it and watched it grow. The tree thrived. It remained a symbol of our very enjoyable first Christmas and all the Christmases thereafter.

We noticed the tree was gone Friday night, Dec. 10. There's just a stump left.

Our daughters were very sad, my husband swore and I almost cried. You work so hard to achieve something and some jerk takes it away.

If the person needed money for a tree that badly, I would have given it to him or her. But I doubt if that was the case.

Township clerk denies quote

I wish to bring to your attention an error that appeared in the Dec. 1, 1982 edition of your paper.

In the article on the proposed location of the cable television studio, I was quoted as listing a number of concerns about placing this facility at the high school.

While the article was correct in providing the listing, it was not correct when it said they were my concerns.

I was asked to give reasons why some people might object to having the studio at the school. I merely provided the listing. I did not give my position on the question.

I also object to having to write this letter rather than having a correction printed in the paper, but since no correction is forthcoming, I felt this was necessary to clear the air.

Christopher Rose

Independence Township Clerk

Editor's Note: While the story did not say specifically that Mr. Rose's concerns were merely a listing of thoughts expressed to him, Rose is quoted in the story as saying he does not know if the concerns are enough to warrant putting the studio in a location other than Clarkston High School. We stand by our story and by our decision not to run a formal correction.

Thanks, but . . .

Thank you for your article about our mother-tot language enrichment program ("Mothers and Tots Exercising: the latest in fitness," The Clarkston News, Dec. 8, 1982).

As our name implies, we are more than an exercise program. In fact, exercise involves only 10 percent of the time the children spend with us.

The primary purpose of our program is to introduce tiny tots (ages 18 months to 3 years) to basic language concepts and beginning socialization with their peers. We also provide a social atmosphere for the mothers.

We accomplish these objectives through play activities that also help develop listening skills, creativity through art, and gross-motor (movement) skills.

Our program provides an exciting opportunity for mothers (or fathers) to spend time with their tiny tots in a learning environment and to share their experiences with other parents.

What bread box?

by Jim Fitzgerald

What is smaller than a bread box? No bread box at all, that's what.

You don't understand what I mean by that? I know how you feel. I often don't understand what something means. But it's interesting to guess.

For instance, I recently read about a woman described succinctly as a "free-lance librarian," with no details offered. I understand what a free-lance writer does, but what does a free-lance librarian do?

BUT A free-lance librarian? Does she (or he) offer an independent shushing service? For a fee, will she come into any noisy environment for a contracted period with a finger pressed to her lips and tell people to ssshhh? In return for a free hand in my popcorn box, will she sit beside me in a theater and demand quiet from all those assembled there?

I realize, of course, that librarians have more important duties than shushing. It is possible that a free-lance librarian might be hired temporarily by a business that needs books cataloged, cards stamped or tardiness punished. But, until otherwise informed, I prefer to believe that somewhere there is a free-lance librarian with a silencer-equipped gun who, for a reasonable fee, will travel anywhere anytime to shoot any person heard cracking gum.

ANOTHER THING I don't understand is what the Taster's Choice coffee people are saying in their TV commercial that begins with a man and a woman looking anguished on the beach. From their pained expressions, it is apparent they've been having an exceedingly traumatic argument, perhaps over an infidelity or a clothing bill or the proposed nuclear freeze.

"I didn't mean it," he says.

"I know, I know," she says.

"I'll make some coffee," he says.

And suddenly the scene changes and they are drinking Taster's Choice in a kitchen, the mysterious argument is resolved and bliss runs rampant on a field of smooch.

DOES THAT mean Taster's Choice is an instant aphrodisiac, a bargain at any price? Or does it simply mean the couple was quarreling over who would make the coffee and she won?

Who knows? That commercial is easy to misunderstand. But, until otherwise informed, I prefer to believe that couple suddenly quit arguing on the beach because a free-lance librarian came in with the tide and told them to shush.

But enough off what I don't understand. You want to understand what I meant when I wrote that there is nothing smaller than no bread box at all. That was my clever way of saying there is no bread box in our home, my wife keeps the bread in the refrigerator and I hate cold bread.

WHATEVER happened to the old-fashioned bread box?

"Our family is too small for a bread box," my wife explained.

Honest, that's what she said.

Under further questioning, she elaborated. She said the cold bread is my fault because I don't eat it fast enough even though she bakes it herself and it is a lot better than any bread sold in supermarkets.

She said she didn't put any lousy preservatives in her bread, so she has to keep it in the refrigerator, otherwise it would turn moldy in a bread box because we no longer have three children at home and she can't eat bread because of her diet and I only eat two slices a day and it certainly isn't her fault if I don't appreciate homemade bread baked just for me so what's the sense in owning a bread box?

I said I'd make some coffee. Understand?

Over supervisor's objections

Kozma takes over ZBA position; Stuart quits

By Marilyn Trumper
 Independence Township Board Trustee Dale Stuart resigned his post on the zoning board Dec. 7 and minutes later was replaced by Trustee Larence Kozma, against the supervisor's wishes.
 Supervisor James B. Smith called Stuart's suggestion that he be replaced by Kozma "highly irregular" and was the lone dissenter in the 3-1 vote in which Kozma and Trustee Daniel Travis abstained. Trustee William Vandermark was absent.

 "I think it's unusual a recommendation be given with a resignation. I feel the board should allow time for review. I think it would be a definite benefit to have someone with legal background on the board, and feel Larry is qualified," Smith said.

 "We have one attorney on the ZBA now and a number of them on the planning commission. I have not heard from some of the people (I have) under consideration.

"I have already considered naming Travis to the ZBA and Kozma to the planning commission," Smith finished.

Treasurer Frederick Ritter, Clerk Christopher Rose and Stuart voted yes on the appointment.

Strapped with time-consuming talks in the Waterford Hill Race Track noise and safety issue, Stuart, a member of the negotiating team, said he felt compelled to resign the ZBA post and thanked the township for the opportunity to serve.

Kozma, an attorney in the Oakland County Prosecutor's office, is to sit on the ZBA through 1985.

"I was never informed or consulted about the possibility of being appointed by (Mr. Smith) to the planning commission," Kozma said after the meeting. "It was news to me."

The board has yet to fill the planning commission vacancy left by Gordon Andringa, who resigned several weeks ago.

New purchase for fire fighters

There will be two new equipment purchases for the Independence Township Fire Department: the first for fun, the second work-related.

At the Dec. 7 meeting, board members voted 5-1 to approve the purchase of an exercise machine at a cost of $2,300. The equipment will be housed at Fire Station 2 where it's hoped fire fighters will compete for workout time, according to Capt. Dale Bailey.

Trustee Dale Stuart, the lone dissenter, explained his vote after the meeting.

"Because I don't see it as necessary equipment to the fire department. I'm not sure it's an investment that we need. It's a luxury item," he said.

In a second vote, the board unanimously approved purchase of 20 air tanks at a cost of $17,000, which includes a trade-in of 20 obsolete tanks outlawed by the federal government.

According to Fire Chief Frank Ronk, some of the department's self-contained breathing apparatus were 22 years old. The department received $377 on each trade-in, more than was paid for the tanks in 1962, he said.

Funds for the purchase will come from the fire department's contingency fund.

Woman resigns on-call fire job

Just three months after joining the Independence Township Fire Department's on-call/volunteer force, and blazing new trails as the second woman to do so, Beverly Shaver has resigned.

The 30-year-old Waldon Road resident left the force Dec. 8, according to Fire Chief Frank Ronk.

"She's very pleasant and would have been a real asset to this department," Ronk said just minutes after receiving the news. "She felt comfortable with the medical (emergency service) end of it, but not with the fire (fighting).

"I'm sorry to see her go," he said. Of the six on-call fire fighters hired in September, four remain with the department.

"One man from the northeast section of the township didn't even pull his gear after he passed," Ronk said.

Shaver could not be reached for comment.

Historical society marks its 10th anniversary

By Kathy Greenfield

The Clarkston Community Historical Society's 10th anniversary will go down in history as a very tough year.

While the society had cause to celebrate a series of successes since it was established in 1972, the decision by the Clarkston Village Council to repeal the historic district ordinance was a blow to the organization's leaders.

For a time, plans to sponsor a series of workshops on historic home preservation hung in limbo, but now the society has decided to go ahead with the education process, a goal that goes back to its beginnings.

"The society does other things besides village work and it's not worth breaking your heart over," said Denise Symons, president.

"We've always had emphasis on education for children in local history and architecture, but now in our community there's also a need for getting adults to study restoration techniques for their homes."

Confusion over the role of the society is rampant. The historical society has been criticized for decisions of the presently defunct historic district commission, when the two are not the same.

Last week, someone called Symons and asked if the historical society would approve construction plans on a building in the historic district when the society has no power over such matters.

The role the society plays and its link to the historic district need to be explained, she said, and

Developer says they'll go to court

Board rejects subdivision plan

By Marilyn Trumper

For engineer Bernard Feldhauser, the drawing is over.

Unable to win approval at the local level, he says it's time to go into court and fight for his client's proposed development off Reese Road.

Despite the planner, engineer and planning commission's recommendation to approve at the Dec. 7 meeting, the Independence Township Board denied Feldhauser tentative preliminary plat approval for 17 three-acre minimum lots with two 1,000 foot cul-de-sacs on property that abuts James B. Smith's, the township supervisor.

"I'm all through drawing," Feldhauser said after the 4-2 vote. "I asked you to deny me the variance for the cul-de-sac the last time and you wouldn't do it. You had to have the engineering done. I did that, spent $600, and you denied me anyway."

After the meeting, the owner of Feldhauser and Associates elaborated.

"I half expected (the denial) so I wasn't too surprised. My clients are already talking about going into court with this to have the decision reversed on grounds that it's unreasonable."

Treasurer Frederick Ritter and Trustee Dale Stuart favored approval of the plan, both pointing to the best way is to go back 10 years.

"The society was established to encourage restoration, to educate the public in methods of restoration and to prevent the M-15 widening (in the village)," Symons said. "It was an organization of people with similar interests—history, architecture and preservation. People found there were many people interested in this and they said, 'Hey, let's get together and organize this.'"

As a group, the society aided in establishment of the 175-home Historic District, now listed in the state and national registers. The Clarkston Village Council provided momentum and aided the cause by providing an employe paid with funds from the Community Employment Training Act (CETA) to help with the necessary research needed to provide proof of the ages of historic district structures.

Individual members also worked on establishment of the now defunct historic district ordinance, that regulated construction in the 175-home historic district. But the society as an organization was not involved.

And, following the guidelines of Public Act 169, a state law that regulates historic district commissions, when the commission was formed to enact the ordinance, two members were historical society members. Again, the society was not directly involved.

"The society had never in the past come out with a political stand on the ordinance," Symons said. "However, many of our individual members supported it and helped organize the movement for the ordinance."

The historical society's activities have been geared to maintaining its original purpose—"to educate community members on preservation and help preserve the township's historic character," Symons said, and activities have remained non-political in nature.

During the society's 10th anniversary, activities included the eighth annual Crafts & Cider Festival which raised $5,000 to be used in historical preservation projects.

This year, money spent includes $600 to the Sashabaw United Presbyterian Church on Maybee Road for paint and plaster for its 135-year-old original church building and continued work on programs underway—research and restoration of Case Cemetery on Dartmouth Road in conjunction with the Independence Township Board, research on historic structures and oral history interviews, microfilming township records, an education program for Clarkston Elementary School pupils that would be expanded to other schools if volunteers could be found, work toward recognition of Independence Township heritage families, and the latest project, a series of programs on historic home restoration.

"This whole thing is going to be geared around 'restoration is not a rich man's hobby'—you can feasibly do it without it costing a fortune," Symons said.

The free programs will be open to all, whether they belong to the society or not. Tentative dates are Jan. 25, Feb. 22, March 22, April 26 and May 25. Topics are to include specifics like insulation, paint, siding and porch reconstruction.

A good turnout for the programs would indicate people are concerned about taking care of history, Symons said.

"What we need at this time is a lot of community support. What we need is people to say they care," she said.

Single or family membership in the society is $10 a year. Call Theresa Scholz at 625-9371 for more information.

the trade-off for less densely developed parcels.

"If we're going to get three-acre lots we have to give up something," Ritter said.

Supervisor Smith, Clerk Christopher Rose, and trustees Daniel Travis and Larence Kozma voted "no."

"We have fought cul-de-sacs for years," Smith said. "It seems that all we need to hear is a sob story and we'll grant the variance. All we need is to have a fire back in one of these places and not be able to get an emergency vehicle in there. We'll have a lot of guilty consciences on this board."

Trustee William Vandermark was absent.

Arthur L. Klemm

Memorial service for former Springfield Township resident Arthur L. Klemm of Titusville, Fla., was held Dec. 1 in Titusville.

Klemm, 77, died Nov. 29. Born in Otterburg, Germany, he was a retired baker. A former member of the Davisburg Baptist Church, he was a long-time member of the Davisburg Joggers, a senior citizens kazoo band.

He is survived by his wife, Gertrude; children, Larry Arthur Klemm of Clarkston and Gloria Jean Lie of Romeo; eight grandchildren; and sisters, Dinana Knoller and Anne Steiner, both of Germany.

Schools' monthly utility bill: $28,000

Homeowners who gasp at the monthly utility attack on family budgets can ponder the situation for Clarkston schools.

With the nine school buildings, administration offices, bus garage and special services building, the district paid a whopping $28,000 bill last month.

"I always hate it when utilities come up—$28,000. Wow!" said school board President Janet Thomas at Monday night's meeting.

After the meeting, Superintendent Milford

Mason said the bills included electricity, natural gas, telephones and probably sewer bills for a building or two.

"We have been going up 15 to 20 percent a year," said Mason, adding that the increase has been as high four or five years with the most dramatic increases in electricity and gas fees.

The utility budget for the 1982-83 school year includes $275,000 for natural gas and $230,000 for electricity, he said.

Fire fighters raise $400 in successful raffle

The drum was spun. The 508 tickets jumbled and scrambled to rest.

On the nearby table in the Independence Township Fire Station 1 in Clarkston stood the five prizes that included fruit baskets, liquor and canned hams in the drawing sponsored by the fire fighter's association Saturday.

And the winners were: First, D. Griesbeck of Sterling Heights; second, Les Andrich of Waterford Township; third, Mike Fahrner of Independence Township; fourth, Jon Abbot of Independence Township; and fifth, Donald Scriver Jr. of Lapeer.

"We went all out this year—for just $1 a ticket we got some good prizes," said association member Dan DeLongchamp. "Our association is broke so we decided to get this going in case something comes up."

DeLongchamp figures the net proceeds were about $400, enough to take care of the business of flowers, cards, and trophies for the annual Labor Day water fight with other local fire departments.

Wolves beat Captains, go to 3-0 on year

By Dan Vandenhemel

Clarkston senior Willie Williams ended the Wolves' wrestling meet against Waterford Kettering in quick fashion.

Williams, wrestling in the last match of the meet in the heavyweight division, pinned Jeff Shipp in 10 seconds. The school record is nine seconds, set in 1969 by Al Knake.

The Wolves defeated Kettering 69-6 in the team's first league meet of the year. Clarkston is now 3-0 for the year.

Seven of the eight wins by Clarkston were by pins. Kettering helped the Wolves by four voided matches. The next fastest pin for Clarkston came from Jeff Lawrence, wrestling at 138 pounds. He pinned Todd Weakey in 30 seconds. Others winning by pins were Al Wall at 119 pounds, Dean Buchanan at 126 pounds, Jack Basham at 132 pounds, Andre Gourand at 155 pounds and Brad Moshier at 198 pounds.

The Wolves' Ken Stuk decisioned Ken Allen 10-4. Winning by voids were Rocky Tucker at 98 pounds, Steve LaClair at 105 pounds, Greg Ellis at 112 pounds and Keith Edwards at 185 pounds.

"Willie did a good job," Coach Rick Detkowski said. "He has only been on the team for a week. This was his first match of the year."

Detkowski said the reason Williams came out late for the team might be because he played football in the fall.

"After the season ended, he probably wanted a little break so he took some time off," he said.

"We have never lost at home in the three years that I've been here," he added. "Now I've probably jinxed us by saying that."

Jack Basham of the Clarkston High School wrestling team has the advantage over Steve Armstrong of Waterford Kettering. Basham pinned Armstrong in 5:03. The Wolves beat the Captains 69-6 in the team's first league meet of the season Dec. 9.

Clarkston defeats Kettering

Kubani high scorer with 28 points

By Dan Vandenhemel

Senior center Ray Kubani led the Clarkston Wolves with 28 points as the team defeated Waterford Kettering 67-57 Dec. 10.

Clarkston dominated the second half with its defense. The Wolves held a 34-33 halftime lead and allowed Kettering just 24 second-half points.

"We switched defenses at the half," Clarkston coach Dan Fife said. "They were hurting us man-to-man. We came out and slowed the play down to give our big people a chance to get back of defense."

In the first half of the game, the momentum switched back and forth between the two teams as Clarkston came on strong at the start of the game. The Wolves took a 6-2 lead midway through the quarter. The Captains came back to pull within one point, 18-17.

Kettering held the momentum into the second quarter as they took the lead for the first time in the game. With four minutes left in the half, Kettering led 26-22 before the Wolves came back to retake the lead.

"This was a tough game," Fife said. "Those kids for Kettering played hard. We knew we had to play hard if we were going to win the game."

Tim Bell was the high scorer for the Captains with 19 points. Tony Dudley and Craig Goins each added 16 points. For Clarkston, Eric Kline scored 13 points and Mike McCormick had 12 points and 12 rebounds.

"Ray Kubani dominated the game," Kettering coach Charles Shires said. "McCormick came through with some tough baskets near the end. Their size was the difference in the game. We played hard. We did the our best."

Both teams are now 2-1 overall and Fife said he believes Kettering is going to be tough all year.

"I was very impressed with Kettering," he said. "They are going to beat some people this year. They really played hard."

"We tried to establish some things tonight like our man-to-man defense but we still need some work," he added. "We still have to learn how to run with the ball, to work with the ball. In the second half we just stopped. We knew we could get set up and get a good shot."

Youth league still accepting registrations

Registrations are still being accepted for the Bud McGrath Youth Basketball League at Clarkston High School.

Any student in the third through sixth grade can participate in the league that meets Saturdays. Third-graders' games are between 1 and 2 p.m., fourth-graders play between 2 and 3 p.m., fifth-graders meet between 3 and 4 p.m. and sixth-graders fill the 4 to 5 p.m. time slot.

"Right now we have 90 kids signed up," Director George Porritt said.

The fee is $20 for the 12-week season. For more information, contact Athletic Director Paul Tungate or Porritt at 625-0900.

Sports banquets honor players

By Dan Vandenhemel

All of the fall sports teams have finished its' season, some successfully, other not so well. Every year at this time players from the fall sports teams are awarded for their outstanding performances during the season.

The Clarkston High School girls' tennis team had a very good year. The team tied West Bloomfield for first in the Greater Oakland Activities League with a 10-2 record.

The team went on to tie West Bloomfield and Andover for first in the regional tournament. Kelly Craig was voted most valuable player by her teammates. Tonya Cook was voted the most improved player and Kristin Tiaht was given the coach's award for the hardest-working team member.

Both the boys' and girls' varsity cross-country teams had strong years.

The girls' team finished second in the regional tournament, led by Pam Stoecklin with a time of 20:36, good for 66th place. She was voted the team's most valuable player and Beth Galbey was chosen the most improved runner for the year.

From the boys' team, Paul Burch and Guy Chandler placed in the state individual finals. Burch was selected the most valuable player and Chandler the most improved.

The varsity football team finished its season with a 7-6 win over West Bloomfield and brought the team's record to 6-3 for the year.

John LaPorte was chosen the most valuable and Jon O'Berry was voted the most improved. The B.J. Hanson award for the best scholastic player also went to LaPorte. The Heart Award went to Mike Weiler and Brad Moshier received the Tim Park Memorial Award for the hardest hitting defenseman.

The golfers finished 12th in the regional tournament, 19 strokes behind fourth place which would have sent the team to the state finals. John Kolchow was voted the most valuable golfer and Steve Willis the most improved.

After finishing the season with a 14-7 record, the girls' varsity basketball team lost in the second round of the district tournament to Waterford Kettering 46-41.

Annette Ulasich was named the team's most valuable player and Janet Herron the most improved player.

The Sashabaw Junior High Football team named two most valuable players, Bob LaPorte on offense and Dale Traver on defense. The most improved player on offense went to Dave Baren while Billy Hartley was the most improved on the defense.

Jeff Davis was the most valuable back and Jim Casper the most valuable lineman. Mike May received the Cougar Pride award for the hardest working player.

Clarkston Junior High's football team named Todd Edmunds the most valuable back. The most valuable lineman went to Todd Hallett. Jeff Minton was chosen the most improved player.

The Sashabaw ninth-grade girls' basketball team had two most valuable players—Michelle Taulbee and Sue Stefanski. Kecia Powell was named the most improved player and the coach's award went to Colleen Conway.

Susan Lovelady was named the most valuable player on the Clarkston ninth-grade team. Beth Grieger was selected the most improved player.

The intramural soccer league at Clarkston Junior High named Mike Norman the most valuable player of the eighth-grade and Graig Chamberlain was the most improved. The most valuable seventh-grade member was Jamie Shuttleworth. Mark Arsenault was elected the most improved player.

In the intramural soccer league at Sashabaw named 18 players to its all-star team. Picked as forwards were Matt Beamer, Jeff Bussell, Todd Doyon, Pat Lyons and Grant Reading.

Five players were selected at midfield, Greg Cherniak, Mike Koslosky, Pat Williams, Brian Lafferty and Troy Cook.

Making the defensive team were Mike Bilbey, Jamie Cunningham, Chip Galley, Tom Haden and Gunner Karlstrom. Todd Cook and Mark Whitcomb were named as alternates to the team. The goalie was Jeff Billig.

The girls' intramural basketball program at Clarkston Junior High named Ruth Webb the eighth-grade's most valuable player and Missy O'Dell the most improved. In the seventh-grade, Kristen Kildal was named most valuable player and Nikki Storrs the most valuable.

The eighth-grade all-star team at Sashabaw Junior High included 10 players. Tammy Spaven, Maggie Gdula, Kelly Laidig and Michelle Nelson were named from the first-place Kelly and Co. team. Lisa Ladd, Stacie Jensen, Koleen Kline, Michelle Hamby, Renee Davis and Shannon Turkette rounded out the team.

In the seventh-grade basketball league, Jackie Patrick and Rose Castle were selected to the all-star team from the first-place Team No. 1. Renda Beck, Róbynne Hubbard, Paula Tanner, Stacey Shurtz, Heather Luchenbach and Dana Dunn were also chosen.

CJH going after 5th straight winning year

By Dan Vandenhemel

Dave Stobbe is entering his fifth year as Clarkston Junior High Wrestling coach and the team has never had a losing season.

"We have a pretty good lineup this year," he said. "We'll have a decent team. We have a lot of depth."

A new weight class has been added to the team. There is a 76-pound division, bringing the total to 15 weight classes.

The Wolverines have 41 students out for the team which gives the team that added depth.

"Last year we had to forfeit a couple of classes because we didn't have anyone wrestling there," Stobbe said. "Now we have at least two wrestlers in every weight class except for the top three."

Last year the team finished 8-2 with two of the wins against Sashabaw Junior High.

"Beating Sashabaw twice in one season just doesn't happen that often," he said. "The previous years we've always split."

Six of the varsity wrestlers from last year's squad have moved up to Clarkston High School. The Wolverines will be relying on a younger team this year.

"We lost a lot of ninth-graders from last year's team," Stobbe said. "We have a young team this year, they're not necessarily young but they have less experience. For some of the eighth- and ninth-graders, this will be their first time wrestling."

Some of the stronger wrestlers to watch this year are Brent Gwisdalla, Jeff Valenzuela and Pete Sans. Gwisdalla finished at 8-0 as an eighth-grader last year. Valenzuela was 8-2 as a seventh-grader. Sans finished strong with a record of 6-4.

Other Wolverines who could be tough to beat this year are ninth-graders Todd Edmunds and Scott Stuk.

The team's first scheduled meet is against Bloomfield Hills Junior High Dec. 14 in Bloomfield. The home opener is to be against Rochester Reuther Jan. 5.

Coach Dave Stobbe watches Pete Sans and Dave Turner during a Clarkston Junior High wrestling practice. The Wolverines have been practicing four weeks.

CJH loses its 1st two games

By Dan Vandenberg

The Clarkston Junior High Basketball team didn't start the season exactly the way coach Dave Smith wanted them to.

The team lost its first two games of the year—falling to Waterford Crary 63-39 Dec. 7 and Lake Orion West 57-45 Dec. 9.

"We shot very poor from the foul line in both games," Smith said. "We were 14 out of 53 for only a 26 percentage."

Against Crary, Clarkston only trailed by four at halftime. At one point in the game, the Wolverines were behind 12-10 with Craig Hoisington scoring all 10 points.

"In the second half, Crary's experience took over and they started to pull away from us," Smith said. In the Lake Orion game, Clarkston led 14-9 at the end of the first quarter and was down by one, 27-26, at the half. But West pulled away early in the third quarter to seal the game.

"The same thing happened against Lake Orion that happened against Crary," Smith said. "Our rebounding was terrible. We would get only one shot at the basket while the other teams were getting three or four shots off."

After two games, the team's leading scorers are Mike Walters and Hoisington, each with 15 points. Kevin McNally is the leading rebounder with 12, all against Lake Orion.

"Scott Riganon and Jason Chamberlain have been playing real well too," Smith said. "Scott is a real steady ball handler, and Jason is not flashy but does a good steady job on rebounding."

Cougars lose to Waterford

The Sashabaw Junior High Cougars opened the season with a 64-44 loss to Waterford Pierce Junior High.

Mike Peterson scored 18 points and Dave Baran pulled down nine rebounds for the Cougars during the Dec. 7 game.

"We had a lot of turnovers," Cougar coach Lance Baylis said. "We had about 12 turnovers in the second quarter alone. It was a very sloppy game."

Sashabaw led at the end of the first quarter 15-6 but scored only three points the rest of the half and trailed 30-18 at halftime.

"At the start of the second quarter, they put a half-court press on us that we couldn't handle. We just didn't attack their defense," Baylis said. "We are going to have to work on the zone press and the half-court press. The press isn't hard to beat, all you have to do is think about what you are doing and you'll beat it."

"We didn't shoot well either. We had a lot of first-game mistakes, which is expected. We brought it about ourselves with the mistakes."

Brian's family struggles to care for their autistic child

By Kathy Greenfield

Unlike most 7-year-olds, Brian Woods doesn't seem to care what he gets for Christmas. While he enjoys unwrapping the gayly wrapped packages, he usually spends the rest of the day carrying around the box tops.

For Christmas dinner, unless he's forced to do otherwise, Brian will eat scrambled eggs or cooked wheat cereal and applesauce.

And Brian won't be singing "Jingle Bells" or shouting greetings to family and friends at their home in Springfield Township. He can't speak very well, although he can communicate with sign language, possessing a vocabulary of about 250 signs.

Brian Woods is autistic.

Out of every 10,000 live births in the United States, five persons are autistic, making the number about 4,600 in Michigan, according to statistics from the Michigan Society for Autistic Citizens. A life-long affliction, autism afflicts males four times as frequently as females.

Clarkston News

SECTION TWO

The Clarkston (Mich.) News Wed., Dec. 15, 1982 25

As Brian Woods waits for two of his favorite foods to be prepared, scrambled eggs and applesauce, he keeps occupied with a collection of his favorite toys, lids.

Research has not pinpointed the causes of autism, but there are recognized characteristics.

Brian possesses all of them.

"The way his teacher put it, if there were 35 points (to identify an autistic person), Brian would have 37. There's nothing else wrong with him," said his mother Debbie Woods, who explained that tests show Brian has no brain damage or any other physical affliction that has been detected.

"Autism defines a behavior—they act a certain way—usually withdrawn, at least in the beginning; they don't like to be kissed and cuddled; are very particular about what they eat; they don't readily give eye-contact; they'll fix on an object and that's the thing they'll use for self-stimulation," she said. "Autism means self-involved."

In order to be autistic, the characteristics must appear before a child is 30 months old.

With Brian, everything seemed normal until he reached 15 months.

"He seemed perfectly fine. He was easily satisfied and good-natured. He had a 12- to 13-word vocabulary," Debbie said.

"Then at 15 months, he started wanting to stay in his bedroom all the time. He was afraid to leave the room—that was the first sign.

"Then he stopped eating, he stopped chewing. He just wanted pureed food. I had to puree everything in the blender.

"He would only relate or give eye-contact to me and that's when he started with this round business, lids. He would take the lid, hold it up to a lightbulb and stare at it for hours, and I mean hours.

"And he started tantruming extremely loudly." Debbie knew something was seriously wrong.

"For each one, I took him to the doctor. Individually, they didn't mean anything," she said, and she was told he would outgrow his problems.

Seven months later, when Brian was 22 months old, the first mention of autism was made. Debbie stresses the importance of identifying autism as early as possible, because teaching communication skills to autistic children is vital to their future and whether or not they can, some day, be relatively independent.

But, although she believes the diagnosis could have been made earlier for Brian, she has come to understand the problems involved for pediatricians.

"It's not the professional's fault. They see one so rarely. It was told to us at a workshop (for parents of autistic children) not to get angry at professionals," she said.

"Even the parents of autistic children do not know how to define it. It's a fairly recent diagnosis, 1953 I think, although it's a fairly popular diagnosis—kids on 'Quincy' who used to be retarded are now autistic.

"If it happened now, and it's only five years later, they probably would be able to diagnose it," she added.

Once Brian's pediatrician suspected autism, he recommended a neurologist.

"He was most unkind. He spent 15 minutes with Brian and recommended an institution," Debbie said.

"I was really furious. I didn't understand. I didn't know what (autism) was. I could see flashing signs of intelligence (in Brian)."

It was a time of even more frustration. Debbie read everything she could find on autism and she spent hours—night and day—trying to help her youngest child, who would only respond to her.

She asked a friend who worked for Oakland County to help by looking for programs within the state for the autistic.

That's how she found out about the Michigan Society for Autistic Citizens.

"They've been magnificent," she said. "Without their information, I wouldn't have known how to proceed legally—they provided the guidelines and rules and where the law stands on developmentally disabled kids."

In addition, there's a parent-support group, workshops are available twice yearly and the director of the society offers a sympathetic ear for parents whose child has been identified as autistic, Debbie said.

She's so pleased with the organization she is now a member of the board of its Oakland County chapter.

Once she found the society, the next step was contact with the local school district which is responsible for providing education for all developmentally disabled from birth to age 26.

Clarkston schools recommended evaluation through Oakland Schools, which provides such services for all public schools in the county.

During the period when a direction for Brian's education was being determined, he attended 45-minute-long speech classes twice a week for four months at the Oakland Schools building in Pontiac.

Brian's second diagnosis as autistic was made, this time by an Oakland Schools' psychiatrist. He was 2½ years old.

It was decided he should attend the Fairlawn Growth Center in Pontiac. Brian spent three years there as a day-patient.

"Thanks to them, he is able to button his clothes and put his shoes on and knows how to go to the bathroom himself—things we take for granted. He doesn't do anything by osmosis. It has to be repeated over and over and over again," Debbie said.

Fairlawn also provided Brian's first introduction to sign language. He learned 30 signs and his ability with the communication tool led to placement in the program for autistic children in Harlan Elementary School in Birmingham.

A total communications program, all teachers know how to use sign language.

"Now Brian has a sign vocabulary of about 250

Sharing Christmas

There are so many preparations before Christmas, what with baking special goodies and getting the house decorated and shopping for just the right gift for everyone on your list. Christmas is an exciting, busy time.

Autism: It involves the whole family

signs that he can use and, consequently, life for Brian is a lot less complicated," Debbie said. "Academically he's doing fine, but behavior...he has terrible temper tantrums and they just come and there's no rhyme nor reason usually."

Although there are four generations living in their home—Brian's maternal great-grandparents and grandmother, his parents and his older brother and sister—and they all help with his care, the burden lies with Debbie.

"It doesn't matter how many people are here, he only relates to me," she said, adding, "It's alternately rewarding and frustrating, because it does play havoc with your home life."

Because of the problems, the family has decided Brian's placement in a children's licensed group home would be best for all involved.

The decision has opened new frustrations, because the community is very anti-group homes, Debbie said. And it's important that Brian live closeby, even though they believe he should live in a place that could be compared to a strict boarding school for a normal child.

"I feel that he needs 24-hour structure," she said. "My love for him does not give me a PhD for training an autistic child—I'm not sure what to do. That and some day he's going to have to be self-supporting. I won't live forever."

It would be wonderful, Debbie said, if there was a storybook ending to Brian's affliction. She's read articles and seen movies where everyone lives happily ever after when someone overcomes autism.

But for Brian, that's not the reality. She sums up her reason for telling his story like this: "If somebody sees this and stops dragging a child all over to pediatricians, maybe they'll go someplace else for help."

She recommends making contact with the Michigan Society for Autistic Citizens in Ann Arbor. The telephone number is 313-973-9004.

The problems of inflation, layoffs, recession and wage concessions don't disappear just because it's Christmas.

We as parents need to remember that Christmas doesn't necessarily translate into dollar signs. We can have a wonderful Christmas without spending tons of money.

Homemade gifts are precious to those who receive them. On my desk is a paper weight made for me by a child. It is made from an ordinary rock and is painted red with a face drawn on the top by my young friend. It is one of my most favorite things.

How many of us have something tucked away that was made for us by someone we love. Somehow we award effort with much higher esteem than the skill with which the gift is made.

The unexpected can also be a gift. If Dad has never romped in the snow or made a snowman with his children, it might be a very memorable event for them.

Have you ever taken a walk with your children at dawn? In winter, especially after a new fall of snow, it can be awesome. A stroll through the Mall to see the decorations is fun when you don't have a shopping list.

Eating out can be expensive. Taking one of your children at a time for an early morning breakfast can be a special time for both of you.

Breakfast is usually less expensive and the early morning adds a feeling of intimacy that is enhanced by the Christmas season.

There are concerts everywhere at this time of year, usually for little or no cost. Choose the type of concert or program in accordance with your children's ages.

Even Preschoolers love to sing... get the neighbors together and go caroling. Christmas is the time for families to be together... to worship together and to renew their love for one another.

No matter how you spend your holiday, I send you my best wishes for a safe, happy and very Merry Christmas.

July '83 wedding

Greg and Lori Masserang of Fawn Valley Drive, Independence Township, announce the engagement of their daughter Andrea Lynn to James Kenneth Petersen of Pontiac, son of Vern and Norma Petersen of Brookfield, Wisc. The bride-elect is to graduate in June from Michigan State University, East Lansing, with a degree in accounting. Her fiancé, a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, is a mechanical engineer. He is employed by Pontiac Motor Division of General Motors Corp. A July 1983 wedding is planned.

Christmas party

Movies, refreshments and a visit from Santa Claus await at the annual "Night Before Christmas" Party at the Springfield Township Library.

Free for all ages, the party is planned Tuesday, Dec. 21, from 7 to 8 p.m.

The library is located at 10900 Andersonville, Springfield Township. Call 625-0595 for more information.

Recipe file

By Lorna Bickerstaff

Planning your Christmas menu? We suggest you put Doreen Schwartz' Pumpkin Cheese Cake on your list. Doreen brought in samples of the cheese cake before Thanksgiving and, needless to say, not a bite was left.

PUMPKIN CHEESE CAKE

- 2 c graham cracker crumbs
- 7 T butter, melted
- 1 1/2 c sugar
- 2 1/2 t cinnamon, divided
- 4 pkgs (8 oz each) cream cheese, softened
- 4 large eggs, lightly beaten
- 3 egg yolks, lightly beaten
- 3 T flour
- 1 t ground cloves
- 1 t ginger
- 1 c heavy cream
- 1 T vanilla
- 1 can (16 oz) mashed pumpkin (not pumpkin mix)

In medium bowl combine cracker crumbs, melted butter, 1/2 cup sugar and 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon. Mix thoroughly and press onto the bottom and part way up the sides of a 10-inch springform pan. Place in the freezer and chill for one hour before filling.

In large bowl from electric mixer, combine cheese, rest of sugar, eggs and yolks. Beat until smooth. Add flour, cinnamon, cloves and ginger and beat until combined. Beat in cream, vanilla and pumpkin until mixed thoroughly.

Pour mixture in prepared chilled pie crust. Place in pre-heated 425 degree oven and bake 15 minutes. Reduce oven temperature to 275 degrees and bake one hour or until the middle of the cake is set.

Remove cake from oven and cool 30 minutes. Cover well with moisture-proof wrap and refrigerate until well-set, about eight hours or overnight.

Serve warm or chilled with whipped cream if desired.

33 included in high school 'Who's Who'

A total of 33 students with Clarkston and Davisburg mailing addresses have been included in the 16th annual edition of "Who's Who Among American High School Students 1981-82."

Those with Clarkston addresses are: Kimber Aiken, Kelly Bartlett, Mary Birkmeier, Ronald Coppersmith, Pamela Forsyth, Billee Hampshire, Barbara Kevern, Christopher Lufkin, Scott Martin, William McArthur, David McIntyre, Stacy Nichols, Chris O'Rourke, Ronald Oliver, Betsie Paalman, Ann Phipps, Patrick Rausch, Sandra Rice, Melissa Savas, Kelly Sokol, Joan Stewart, Shellie Van Keuren, Marcia Veltre, Craig Verch, Ronald Wagner and Mary Zubalik.

Those with Davisburg addresses are: Steven Martin, Kim Nelson, Sean Guinlan, Mark Sommers, Leslie Voorheis, Trisha Voorheis and Valerie Voorheis.

"Who's Who," published by Educational Communications Inc., Lake Forest, Ill., is the largest high school recognition publication in the country.

Students are selected by high school principals and guidance counselors, national youth groups, churches or by the publishing company based on the student's performance in scholarship award contests or extracurricular activities.

Engaged

Gordon and Rosemary Alkin of M-15, Independence Township, announce the engagement of their daughter Bernice to Brian Wendorf, the son of Melvin and Virginia Wendorf of Felix Drive, Independence Township. The bride-to-be, a 1979 Clarkston High School graduate, is employed by Wonder Drugs, Independence Township. Her fiancé, also a 1979 CHS graduate, is employed by the Nickelodeon, Independence Township. An autumn wedding is planned.

College notes

Among 45 Alma College students named "Meda Graham Scholars" to receive financial assistance from the scholarship fund for 1982-83 is Laura Acton.

Her parents are John and Paula Acton of Sashabaw Road, Independence Township.

Elizabeth Sans, a freshman at Central Michigan University, Mt. Pleasant, is a new member of the CMU Marching Chippewas.

She is the daughter of Elizabeth and Arthur Sans of Rattalee Lake Road, Independence Township.

Honors

Top honors in Part 1 of the 26th annual Michigan Mathematics Prize Competition went to Clarkston High School junior Eric Pilarcik.

Pilarcik was among about 1,200 students to finish in the top 6 percent in the statewide competition sponsored by the Michigan Section of the Mathematical Association of America.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pilarcik of Green Haven Road, Independence Township.

In service

Lt. Guy Riddle recently received the United States Navy Achievement Medal.

The award was presented for the Secretary of the Navy by Capt. W.E. Hagan, commanding officer, U.S. Naval Communications Detachment, Sigonella, Italy.

The citation complimented Riddle for "professional achievement in the superior performance of his duties while serving as Acting Officer in Charge of the Naval Communications Detachment at Sigonella, Italy, from Aug. 28 to Oct. 6."

"Lieutenant Riddle's exceptional efforts and dedication to duty throughout reflect great credit upon himself and the United States Naval Service," the citation concluded.

Riddle is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Riddle of Independence Township.

William Eddy II has enlisted in the United States Army Delayed Entry Program. A 1982 Clarkston High School graduate, he chose the Army's training of choice enlistment option and was guaranteed training as a wheel vehicle and power generator mechanic. Eddy is to depart for basic training in February. He is the son of William Eddy of Azalia Street, Brandon Township, and Laura Eddy of Columbia Street, Independence Township.

Marine Pvt. Donald Ostrom has reported for duty at Marine Barracks, Brunswick, Maine.

He is the son of Erika Ostrom of Brucedale Road, Springfield Township.

Wrapping up a musical Saturday, the Sashabaw Junior High School Encores sing their way through downtown Clarkston. Led by SJHS choral director Jan Knapp, the 24-member select group of singers Christmas caroled at the Clinton Valley Center in Pontiac and the Meadowbrook Village Mall in Rochester before sharing their holiday songs in Clarkston Saturday afternoon. This week, the group is to participate in the school's Christmas concert Wednesday. Then on Monday, they'll sing at North Sashabaw, Pine Knob and Bailey Lake elementary schools and finish the day at their favorite spot, Lourdes Nursing Home in Waterford Township. Last month, the Encores sang there. "They really liked going to Lourdes Nursing Home. They were so responsive to the people there. They enjoyed being able to say we'll be back next month," Knapp said.

The Christmas he'll never forget

My husband Charles King Robinson remembers a Clarkston Village Christmas in 1955 when the mystery of Santa was solved for him.

I've enclosed a copy of the Christmas list he wrote that year along with his added "postscript."

He did receive a beautiful, shiny, red fire truck complete with hydraulic ladder lift. Today the truck is parked next to our fireplace and played with by every little fire fighter who visits.

Betty Anderson

"I remember Christmas Eve, 1955, as the year I discovered Santa Claus to be none other than my dad.

"It was traditional in Clarkston then to come down to the Clarkston State Bank (now PSB) steps and tell Santa what we kids wanted for Christmas. Christmas Carol was there also to hand out candy canes.

"I was 7 and reluctantly preparing my list at home to hand over that evening. I guess I was at that age when kids aren't sure that there really is a Santa but I felt I should make a list just in case.

"I heard a noise from the hallway and peeked into my parents' bedroom. There was my dad in red pants, whiskers and boots, stuffing a huge pillow into his pants.

"The mystery was cleared up but the fun of believing only increased. If my dad believed in the spirit of Santa to actually be him, it was OK for me to go along with his 'secret.'

"I added a postscript to my list and looked forward to the walk down Main Street through the snow."

I want a fire engine too, and a tank truck to carry water to put the fire out. Well I guess that's all I want. So long.

The Warm Up offers lots of stylish active wear

All over town folks are dancing, exercising and dressing stylishly in active wear by Danskin and Carushka from Wendy Lekander's The Warm Up, Clarkston's latest addition.

Located at 18½ Main, next to the Clarkston

Doing business

Cafe, The Warm Up opened the day before Thanksgiving and boasts a growing business.

A rainbow of colors hang from racks inside the paneled room. Leotards, swimsuits, tights and leg-warmers in navies, pinks, reds, turquoise and stripes.

Pacesetter promotion

Shirley King has been promoted to assistant manager of the Clarkston office of Pacesetter Bank-Southeast. An employe since 1979, she has held the positions of head teller and, most recently, administrative assistant. Previously, she taught in the Ortonville school district.

King holds a bachelor's degree in education from Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo. She and her husband Marvin and their two children reside in Independence Township.

"After Christmas I plan to expand the line to include children's sizes," Wendy said. "I tried to get them in for the holidays but couldn't. I've had a lot of people in here asking about them."

Wendy's idea behind The Warm Up grew from a trip to Birmingham, where three Clarkstonites were spotted shopping for dance tights.

"I said, 'I've got to go home and open one of these places up,'" said Wendy, adding she began drawing up plans that day to fill the marketing need.

"Women wear them for exercising, aerobics, and even the high school kids wear them. Right now (Danskins are) a fashion piece."

According to Wendy, 47, exercise and dance spas are within a half-hour drive from the Clarkston-area, a solid market base for her growing business.

"I exercise a lot at home, but I think what I'd really like to get into is body-building. I use weights at home, and I like the idea of seeing how strong a woman can be.

"Plus, for me to have this business I have to look good. It's incentive for me to keep in shape."

The Warm Up is open Monday through Thursday and Saturday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., Friday from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. and is closed Sunday. (Phone 625-4100.)

Standing in the corner of The Warm Up above Clarkston's Main Street, owner Wendy Lekander is surrounded by a rainbow of Danskin and Carushka wear.

Sheriff's log

Thursday, police recovered a stolen Lake Orion car on Pine Knob Road near Stickney Road, where it had been abandoned and set on fire.

Friday, thieves broke into a room at Clarkston High School, 6595 Middle Lake, Independence Township, and stole a $230 stereo.

Saturday, vandals caused $175 in damages when they smashed the windshield of a car on Tamryn Blvd., Springfield Township.

Sunday, thieves broke into a house on Sundale Road, Independence Township, and stole $30 in coins, a $217 stereo receiver and assorted jewelry.

Sunday, thieves circumvented the alarm system and broke into the American Legion Hall, 4819

Edgewood, Independence Township, stealing $1,800 in cash and vandalizing the game machines, television set and microwave oven.

This information came from reports at the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

Name that park

Names for the Maybee Road Park are trickling in at township hall, but Director of Parks and Recreation Timothy Doyle would prefer a landslide.

The contest to name the 15-acre wooded park near the Sashabaw Road intersection is open to all Clarkston school students, kindergarteners to seniors. The winner receives a $25 savings bond.

Some suggestions, according to Doyle, have been to keep the name in theme with Clintonwood, the township's other park, and call the new one Maplewood or Oakwood. He also received a suggestion the name reflect the strong Indian history in the township's southern sector and perhaps be called Sashabaw Plains Park.

Send entries to Independence Township Hall, 90 N. Main, Clarkston 48016. Deadline is Dec. 31.

31. Moved to adopt a resolution stating that the Township approved of the Oakland County Plan; Ayes: Rose, Smith, Stuart, Travis, Kozma; Nay: Ritter; Absent: Vandermark.

32. Agreed to hold a public hearing to discuss the full effects of the Federal Flood Insurance Program and all persons living within a flood plain area would be notified by certified letter and that a vote of those present would be held to advise the Board of their feelings regarding whether the Township should vote to include itself within the Federal plan.

33. Moved to direct the Township Planning Consultant Firm to complete the Michigan Department of Natural Resources land use resource inventory and to update the Townships' Master Plan at a cost to the Township not to exceed $4,600.

34. Discussed the maps of the Township, particularly the Townships' wetland map and the need for updating of that.

35. Agreed to delay action on the Township security service proposed for Township buildings.

36. Agreed to close the meeting to discuss pending litigation with the Townships' attorney.

37. A short closed session was held, the meeting reopened.

38. Reviewed bids received for exercise equipment within the Townships' Fire Department and awarded the low bid of $2,350. Ayes: Travis, Kozma, Ritter, Rose, Smith; Nay: Stuart; Absent: Vandermark.

39. Reviewed bids received for a self contained breathing apparatus for the Townships' Fire Department and the Township fire budget and agreed to award the low bid to Argus Supply for $17,580 for twenty S.C.B.A. units.

40. Agreed to hire three new driver engineers within the Township Fire Department and to discuss further the recommendation for additional hiring.

41. Agreed to close the meeting to discuss labor negotiations with the Townships' negotiating team.

42. A short closed session was held, the meeting reopened.

43. The meeting adjourned, the time being 11:58 p.m., December 8, 1982.

All votes were unanimous unless otherwise indicated.

The next regular meeting of the Independence Township Board will be December 21, 1982, at the Independence Township Hall. All citizens are urged to attend.

Members of the Clarkston High School Madrigal Singers Christmas carol at the tree decorating party tossed Friday by the Clarkston Village Business Association. The singers and the merchants were getting Clarkston into the Christmas mood with cider and donuts.

Children of all ages came to hang their homemade decorations on the tree.

Grace Warren (left), director of the Madrigal Singers, listens to Kelly May and the others as they fill the air with Christmas carols to ring in the holiday season.

Carolers' magic

Business Association. About 50 people brought their children to the event so they could hang ornaments on the tree.

Ruth Cascaddan of the Church Street Linen Outlet serves up some hot cider to carolers.

McGrath tribute

Margie McGrath accepts a plaque in honor of her late husband Bud McGrath from Clarkston High School Athletic Director Paul Tungate. McGrath and her family were recognized during the halftime of the Clarkston-Waterford Kettering basketball game Dec. 10. The late McGrath was honored for his 19 years of service to the Clarkston school district as a coach and timekeeper for the football and basketball teams.

Budding tower architects

Tall ones, short ones, one with spidery legs. Lollipops, straws, sugar cubes, marshmallows, cups of plastic and foam.

Dr. Suess would have had a ball with the burst of creativity of sixth-grade tower builders in Sherril Bailey's Andersonville Elementary class.

A reading assignment on towers led to the art project. The assignment was to work in groups and create a tower which is, according to definition, a vertical structure.

"It's probably the most successful of art projects that we've done and they had fun with it, too," Bailey said.

"The thing that I liked about the project was that they had to work as teams, and figure out how to balance things and learn about building and construction."

Awards were granted to each team with certificates for one and all.

Sturdiest, sweetest, spider leg award. Most delicate, most creative, tallest, best enclosed. Obelisk, super cup fortress, snow castle award.

Scott Vess demonstrates the paper cup elevator in the tower he created with Todd Beadon. The structure holds Play Doh men, including one listening to a radio on the toothpick bridge. "That's the boss and all these other guys are the workmen," Scott explains.

Hard at work putting last-minute touches in place on the plastic cup tower that took the Super Cup Fortress Award are Alex Menzies (left) and Scott Kehn.
