Schools brace for belt-tightening

By Kathy Greenfield

Clarkston schools are planning a tighter budget while state aid problems continue.

District employes may experience a payless payday in June, said Superintendent Milford Mason at Monday night's school board meeting.

And the school board should plan to spend only the money coming into the district and no longer rely on surplus funds to balance the budget as in the past three years, he said.

"It is quite apparent the day of reckoning is at hand," he said.

The latest blow is the knowledge that the February state aid payment of $486,300 will definitely be delayed and may never be received, he said.

"I don't see it as gloom and doom," he said. "I see it as reality. Hopefully we can deal with it in that context."

In the past, Mason has indicated the state aid payment was expected, although it could be late. He's changed his opinion.

"At this point, I don't have any knowledge when we will receive it or if we will receive it," he said.

The payment hinges on the decision of the governor and the state legislature on increasing the state income tax, he said, and that issue may not be settled for a long time.

'...day of reckoning is at hand'

Mason also mentioned other factors that will influence cash flow.

The district's $4.2 million loan plus interest of about $215,000 is due in April, and delinquent taxes are expected to be about $1.6 million. The taxes not collected by the township go to the county for collection and the district receives the money, but not until the latter part of June.

"Based on the factors I've mentioned, the possibility of a delayed (payroll) payment in June continues to be quite real at this point," he said.

The school board took no action, and Mason indicated his comments were merely advisory as he continues to work on the proposed budget for the 1983-84 school year.

Board member Carolyn Place referred to a recent opinion poll conducted by the district in which nearly 56 percent of the 400 people surveyed said the biggest problem facing the school district is the lack of proper financial support.

The number indicated residents may support a tax request "rather than see programs decimated and staff cuts," she said. "I think we should continue offering this alternative."

Mason countered by saying board members have indicated they do not wish to ask residents to pay more taxes.

He noted that school district voters approved 3 additional mills of taxes in 1981. (Three mills are $3 for each $1,000 of assessed property valuation.)

"There wasn't a strong desire of members of the board of education to ask additional tax support at this time and I haven't...worked at building that into this report," Mason said.

At the end of the meeting, a woman who worked on the district telephone survey told the school board people she spoke to were not willing to pay more taxes, but indicated they felt more support should come from the state.

Dreams of schussing fade with tow rope

Dick Logan describes his reaction to the winter weather this year in a word.

"Unhappy," says he.

The Independence Township resident has cause for disappointment.

For 20 years, he's thought about building his own ski tow rope. And this year he and Hillside Drive neighbor Vito Guido did it.

The story begins with membership for Logan and his wife Laura in a private ski club that had its own rope tows in the Pontiac Recreation Area. The club changed its direction, buying a small ski resort, and the Logans dropped out.

But Dick Logan has savored the memory for the two decades since.

"I thought, 'Gee, this is neat. Someday I'd like to have little rope tow of my own," " he says. His neighbor thought it was a great idea.

Extinct canine tags

Here's a tip for those whose dogs were licensed

Save that cute little metal dog house hanging around Fido's neck.

Someday it will be a collector's item, because they're...well, in the dog house.

A report from a canine owner that the sharp edges on the dog house cut her dog prompted him to ban the licenses from future use, said Carl Anderson, division manager for the Oakland County Animal Control Division.

This year the licenses are in the shape of fire

'So we went to work on it," Logan says. "And now we don't have any snow.

The rope tow is driven by Logan's garden tractor, anchored into the ground.

Ready since Christmas week, the tow leads up the hill from Deer Lake.

There are visions of schussing—Logan is to ski down and head in one direction; Guido is to go the opposite way.

"It's all worked out," Logan says. "All we need is the white stuff."

Moral: You just can't count on the weather.

Pamakid—get it?

We know who they are.

Pictured in the February issue of The Michigan Runner are pa, Fred Jones; ma, Jill Jones; and the Independence Township couple's youngest kid, Jamie.

Used in a collection of 1982 pictures, it's labeled "Pamakid," but there are no names.

"That's really something, to have your picture in The Michigan Runner for a race like that," said Fred. "But I'd rather have my picture in there for something fabulous-running 26 miles with a broken leg or something."

Subscribers to the monthly newspaper published in Ypsilanti, the Joneses had not looked at their copy the day it arrived in the mail.

They were informed about their claim to fame by a fellow runner, Elaine Bass, who called and told them to turn to Page 8.

Watch for tax bill

All that remains is the receipt of the tax bills.

The Springfield Township Board has offically received approval from the Holly, Brandon and Oakland Intermediate school districts to collect onehalf of the school taxes in July.

The Clarkston school district gave the township board appoval earlier in the month to collect the

"We would collect the tax and just charge the actual cost for collecting it," said Supervisor Collin Walls. "That's for the postage, data that is provided and other things. It could be around 78 cents a parcel.

Schools officially turn down paving project

By Kathy Greenfield

The message from the Clarkston school board is loud and clear—they will not pay for paving a portion of Pine Knob Road.

The vote was unanimous at Monday night's board of education meeting.

Earlier this month, the Independence Township Board agreed to pay one-third of the cost of paving 1,600 feet of the road up to the southern driveway at Bailey Lake School.

The total estmated cost is $101,000 for that portion and, through the Tri-party Road Agreement, the cost will be split three ways, with the Oakland County Road Commission and the Oakland County Board of Commissioners each also paying one-third.

The school board was asked to join in the agreement by paying one-third of the $14,000 cost to extend the paying 452 feet, the area between the school's southern and northern driveways.

Cost to the district was estimated at $4,666, said Milford Mason, and the work would probably never done at a lesser cost.

"If we have to start cutting, when are we going to start? There's always something else. I say, 'No,'" said board member Fernando Sanchez.

Member Steven Werner asked if the road paving would cut down on wear and tear of school buses.

"That little stretch of road would have little benefit," said William Dennis, director of transportation for the district.

Following the elimination this year of clerks in the junior high schools to check on attendance which saved the district about $10,000, board member Carolyn Place said she could not approve spending money on paving a road.

Residents along the Pine Knob Road stretch campaigned for the project because of the heavy bus and car usage during school and for township parks and recreation activities.

The traffic, they said, created constant dust and the road was riddled with ruts caused by the excessive use.

Board member Mary Jane Chaustowich noted that the portion to be paved would solve the problems for the residents.

"We're not being bad neighbors if we do not to the paving at this time," she said.

Seat's on hold

By Marilyn Trumper

Opting not to accept attorney Jon Gaskell's bid to fill a vacant trustee seat, the Clarkston Village Council voted unanimously to postpone the appointment until after the March 14 election.

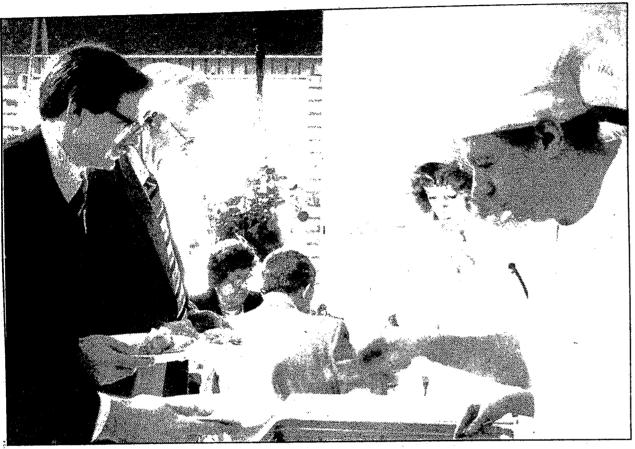

John Bisha, President Jackson Byers' candidate to fill the vacancy, was not present at the meeting, but the council did review his resume.

"I just think that we have two meetings until the election, and nothing that earth-shattering is going on that would require us to fill the seat now," said Trustee David Raup. "I think we should wait until after the election and then make a decision."

After the meeting, Gaskell said he was disappointed in the council's postponement. He has appeared on three occasions to hear discussion of appointments by council members.

Incumbent Clerk Norma Goyette and Trustee Carol Eberhardt, both Republicans, are unopposed on the ballot for the one-year balance of terms they were appointed to fill following resignations of former council members.

Incumbent trustees David Raup and James Schultz and past-president Fontie ApMadoc are on the Republican ticket and Bisha's on the Democratic ticket for three two-year trustee seats.

Showing their stuff

About 40 public officials joined in the celebration of National Vocational Education Week by breakfasting at the Northwest Oakland Vocational Education Center on Friday. Students enrolled in the food service program dished up steaming plates of scrambled eggs, potatoes and ham. In his welcoming speech, Principal Dan Manthei noted that Clarkston's vocational education program serves 760 students each day plus 250 in afternoon and evening classes. in the photo, State Rep. Mat Dunaskiss (R-Lake Orion) and Superintendent Milford Mason are being served carved ham by Chris Rener, a Waterford Mott student. The vocational center serves students from the Clarkston, Waterford, Holly and Brandon school districts.

People who own an older home or are thinking of buying one can benefit from attending a program offered by the Clarkston Community Historical Society, says club president Denise Symons.

The program is the second in the society's series, "Restoration Techniques for the Historic Homeowner." There is no charge to attend.

Speaker David Juneau, from Midwest Restoration of Birmingham, is to present a slide program on Detroit's historic Hudson House and its resoration.

It is to begin at 7:30 p.m. in Clarkston Village Hall, 375 Depot, Clarkston.

Also to be discussed are available tax credits, refinishing interior wood, reconstructing Victorian porches and a demonstration of wood shingle roofing.

Symons suggests taking advantage of the question-and-answer session by asking about specific problems.

"If they want some hints on how to do something, come and pick (the speaker's) mind," she said.

Programs in the series are planned the last Tuesday of every month through the end of May.

Last month's program, the first in the series, was well-received, Symons said.

"We had a full house," she said. "And it was really encouraging.

'We had a couple of village council members show up and we had a couple of people who were both positive and negative when the whole historical ordinance thing came up."

The historic district ordinance for the village was rescinded in November. The village council is working to revise the law that governs construction in Clarkston's historic district.

Recent sports stories have indicated that an ever-increasing number of athletes have been sidelined by bursitis. Is this a new disease caused by modern-day diet or stress? Of course not.

For a long time baseball players, golfers, etc., have been taken away from their games because of "sore arms," "frozen elbows," and "stiff knees." Many of the difficulties were, in fact, bursitis. It's only recently that sportsmen have begun to call the problem by its right name.

Of course, bursitis isn't a condition experienced only by athletes. Persons in their thirties and forties, especially the housewife, are particularly vulnerable to attacks.

And it isn't a condition that an individual can effectively self-treat through time

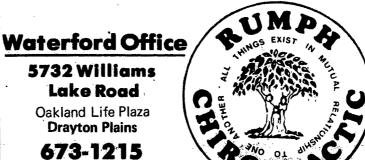

Left untreated, bursitis gets worse with activity and the pain can become so intense that throbbing discomfort can occur even when the limb is at rest.

When persons who are less active than athletes encounter the bursitis problem they are more prone to serious difficulty.

The long and short of it is that bursitis can affect almost anyone. And once it does, treatment is necessary. Untreated bursitis can lead to serious permanent disablements such as arthritis.

In other words, don't take a chance with bursitis.

in be your reminder that you need effective treatment. We urge bur ot the no sufferers to contact a Doctor of Chiropractic.

The state's new "Drunk Driving Law" takes effect April 1. The new law includes several important modifications and additions.

There is a new criminal offense called "Per Se

This means that a person whose blood level contains 0.10 percent or more of alcohol and operates a vehicle is in violation of the law, regardless of the effect of the alcohol on the person's ability to drive.

A new section provides that a police officer may request a preliminary breath test at the scene of the traffic stop.

The purpose of this test is to assist the officer in determining if an arrest for drunk driving is appriate. All offenders must undergo a pre-sentence screening for alcohol or drug abuse.

The offender may be required to attend a rehabilitative program, and in addition to, or as a substitute, the offender may be ordered to perform 12 days of unpaid community service.

A new provision provides that refusal to take a breathalizer test will result in a license suspension of six months and six points.

In Loving Memory of Emerson C. Vleit

There once stood a man Whose ancestors were here when Clarkston began.

He hunted, fished and tilled this land, And his children and friends could depend on his helping hand.

He's been gone just one year. But no matter where we drive around here There's memories of Emmett everywhere.

The farm out on Hadley, The corn fields he roamed, The fox furrows he used to dig. So many friends he's left here alone.

His coon dogs are silent, And his farms are at rest.

But as I and so many remember him, He was one of the best.

He roared like the lion, Was as gentle as a lamb. He was one heck of a man.

So sadly missed by friends and family.

Wisest course: Do not drink

A second refusal within seven years will result in suspension for one year.

There is a provision for a 23-person task force made up of members from the three branches of government and citizens' organizations. The task force will monitor the success of the new legislation and will recommend additional legislation.

The effects of a drinking and driving conviction on a driver's license are substantially more severe under the law.

There are provisions that provide for permanent loss of license and presumptions of "unsafe driver."

The new law limits the Circuit Court appeal and requests for restricted licenses.

Socrates said "nothing in excess"; or virtue lies between too much and too little.

In spite of what Socrates said, if you are going to drive, the wisest course would be not to drink at all. Judge Gerald McNally

Priority paths

Please be advised that the Friends of Independence Township Library supports the following proposals:

(A) Construction of a safety path to the township library. This path is to originate at the village limits and proceed east along Clarkston Road (preferably on the south side of the road) to the library.

(B) If there are sufficient funds, to install a second path. This additional path to start at Snowapple and proceed west along Clarkston Road (the south side of the road) to the library.

We feel that the library with its high, year-round usage, should be granted top priority for safety paths.

Also, these two paths would serve to link the existing path now along Clarkston Road to Clintonwood

It is our opinion that the amount of traffic on Clarkston Road warrants a safe passage for both pedestrians and bikers.

Therefore, we urge the Safety Path Committee and the Independence Township Board to initiate these paths as soon as possible.

Chris Shull, President Friends of Independence Library

Milestones

There have been some milestones in our family in the past few weeks.

Our daughter celebrated her 16th birthday. She moaned and groaned her way through the "sweet" part (don't you remember reacting the same way?) and put up with the antics of my husband who decided he wanted her never to forget the big event.

First, he slapped up a sign at our street cor-

Among the reactions was a phone call from a friend offering condolences. We shared the amazement of our daughters turning into young, women while their parents aren't aging a bit.

Then, during the birthday dinner in a restaurant, out came the record player my husband brought from home.

Our daughter laughed her way through the Neil Sedaka's oldie-but-goodie, "Happy Birthday Sweet 16."

There was a special cake with 16 candles and a round of singing by those of us out to eat and the restaurant employes.

On our way out, we found out a neighbor shared the same birthdate as our daughter. She was having dinner with her husband and remembering her 16th birthday.

She and our daughter swapped birthday greetings, and that was special.

My guess is our daughter will remember her 16th birthday. It was filled with planned and unplanned surprises.

A week ago, there was a milestone of a different sort.

Our 14-year-old son grew taller than his

After two months I started tormenting the public relations people at Buick in Flint, asking if the delay was normal. You and I knew the answer in advance from the PR'ers.

A plea for justice

Editor's note: Independence Township resident John Mulherin, 53; is a construction worker. He says warnings are issued about smoking, not wearing seat belts and not wearing belmets while on motorcycles, while a bigger problem is being ignored—the consumption of alcoholic beverages.

After many problems in my life, I finally came to the conclusion I am an alcoholic.

On my own, I enrolled in an alcohol therapy program at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

This program consists of a series of films and lectures on how a person gets into this condition, and what it does to you and your family.

You are also asked to attend Alcoholics Anonymous (A.A.) meetings to help control this sickness.

These lectures and meetings have convinced me that alcohol is the most addictive and dangerous drug used by people. It is also the most available drug you can buy.

Everyone can become an alcoholic-even doctors, judges and priests have become addicted.

This drug is allowed to be distributed to the public without any protection against it.

If a person who becomes addicted can be helped by programs (A.A. and alcohol therapy), the same ideas can be used to help a person control his or her drinking.

These same films, verbal and visible warnings on the dangers of alcohol should be seen and heard in all places selling this drug.

I have never seen or heard one thing where alcohol is sold stating alcohol is a drug that can cause drunk driving, divorce, crime, etc.

In fact, drinking is probably the cause of 75 percent or more of all court cases, making it very big business for the courts and attorneys.

This drug sold without controls of any kind is creating a new type of criminal.

Punishment being used—such as loss of driver's license, large fines and attorneys' fees-results many times in loss of job and imposing family hardships.

It causes a person to commit a crime when they disobey an order of the court not to drive. They drive in order to protect a job and provide for their family.

According to A.A., the alcoholic's condition should be treated as a sickness. A judge should be able to order a person with this sickness to attend treatment centers for cure and control.

If a person does not attend, then they are committing a crime. This order could be made by a judge without the expense of an attorney.

The sale and distribution of alcoholic beverages as it is done now is the most blatant form of entrapment possible.

The Liquor Control Commission and others we have elected must assume their responsibility by enforcing controls such as requiring films, posters on the walls and verbal warnings about this drug in all places where alcohol is sold and consumed.

Until that time, those who profit from alcohol consumption are much more guilty than those who become drunk or addicted.

These problems will never stop without drastic change. Our children and theirs will have the same things happening to them as we have now.

Of course there will be a great amount of lobbying by the alcohol industry and others against this happening, because their only interest is in financial gain, not in the misery it causes to the innocent.

By innocent, I mean those who have become addicted and drunk, and the persons they harm while in this condition.

Drinking is accepted as a pleasant pastime. Thirty million alcoholics exist at this time, proof that it cannot be controlled under present conditions.

Extreme measures are needed to exact change. Until then, the user of alcohol should not be treated as a criminal for not controlling this potent, destructive drug.

Alcohol, which causes a disease, is used to generate tremendous amounts of revenue to finance our courts and police departments.

by John Mulherin

The present system is doing little to help those who suffer, users or non-users, the damages done by alcohol.

To change this, the suggestions made in this article could be used and compulsary treatment centers should be funded by the profits from the alcohol industry and from the taxes alcohol

Perhaps this could be a beginning toward a little justice.

Sweet memory of lost temper by Jim Fitzgerald

The Ford key is gold and, according to the attached invitation, would open the door to something called the Gaslight Room in the Riviera Hotel in Las Vegas on Feb. 14, 1983, between 5:30 and 8 p.m. Without the key, I couldn't get in.

Af first, I wasn't sure why the Ford people were kind enough to offer me the key to nostalgia I've never done a cent's worth of business with them. But then I saw a line at the bottom of the invitation saying the Gaslight Room will be operating "during the 1983 Na tional Automobile Dealers Association Convention.

Obviously, there will be something in the Gaslight Room-perhaps a running board-to make me nostalgic for the long-ago day when I could afford a new car. And if the warm sentiment of the occasion prompts me to repeat the experience, maybe I will ask Ford Credit to finance the purchase of a Ford, and Ford Life Insurance to bet that I'll somehow live long enough to make the final payment.

Incidentally, isn't it a shame that hotel rooms in Cleveland and Newark are all filled this February and car dealers and manufacturers are forced to convene in dull old Las Vegas? It's not right that auto executives must risk being run over by rolling dice or kicked by dancing girls when the only reason they're going to Las Vegas is to attend business meetings aimed at beating Japanese competition and putting thousands of laid-off auto workers back to work.

Anyway, returning to nostalgia, the last time I was in the Riviera Hotel was in 1975 for a midnight show starring John Davidson. Along with hundreds of others with reservations made well in advance, we stood for two hours in a long line that never moved, and ultimately we were told by a stuffed-shirt headwaiter that the showroom was filled, our reservations were useless and we might as well go to bed and cry ourselves to sleep. I figured that was incredible, even if John Davidson didn't know about it.

WHILE THE DUMB SHEEP had been waiting passively, as instructed, saying "Baa, baa, we have reservations" to each other, a steady stream of big shots, none with reservations, had whispered into the ears of the armed guards surrounding the headwaiter. protecting him from being contaminated by the sheep. And when a guard turned to ask the headwaiter: whether: Mr. Big Shot was on the "guest list,"

Big Shot reached around the guard to slip a $20 bill to the headwaiter who quickly waved the Big Shot party through the door.

When I asked the headwaiter how the Riviera could justify taking hundreds of reservations it had no intention of honoring unless there was an unexpected shortage of big shots with $20 bills, he reacted snippily. And that's when I blew 40 years of meekness. Up until that point in my life, I'd never complained about hields cold soup or greasy never wanted to cause any trouble.

BUT I CALLED that headwaiter every rotten brand of bleeping bleep I could think of. Several times. And my unaccustomed wrath paid off. The headwaiter suddenly found four seats down front for our party, and I didn't slip him one lousy cent. Also, the bill was over $50 and I left a 25-cent tip. How sweet it was. So I'll have more than running boards to be nostalgic about if I use Ford's key to the Riviera's Gaslight Room. Ever since my last visit there, it's been no more Mr. Wimp for me, and I've discovered how good it feels to sock unto others what they sock unto me

The meek can have the Earth. They il let the rest of us aboard anyway, without reservations, just because they don't want to cause any trouble.

Academy boasts a new gym

By Marilyn Trumper

What better way to enjoy your senior year of basketball than with a homecoming win by 30 points in a brand new gym?

That's what the Springfield Christian Academy's Eagles did last week in the 10-year-old school's new $600,000 gymnasium, financed completely through goodwill offerings.

'I've been going to this school for 11 years and it was really a blessing to see this gym go up," said 16-year-old Randy Harless of Independence Township, team center.

Senior Rodd Phillips, point guard, agreed.

"It was great to be a part of playing the first game in the new gym," he said.

White ceiling fans circulate the air above the glossy wood floor, marked with purple basketball court keys. A stand of empty bleachers watch a dozen boys wildly shooting baskets and girls playing volleyball.

According to the Dr. Paul Vanaman, pastor of the Dixie Baptist Church on Dixie Highway near 1-75 in Springfield Township, $150,000 is the only outstan-

"The rest is all paid for from goodwill offerings,"

"The architect said it would take $1.3 million to build this. My son Tim became the general contractor, bidded out each job, and had the gym built and equipped for just under $600,000."

Before the gym's construction, the ball team practiced as early at 6 a.m. in gyms at Clarkston High School, Clarkston Junior High and the Maranatha Baptist Church.

The school complex will use the gym for dances, games, physical education and assemblies, Vanaman

Hubbard resigns school board

People interested on sitting on the Clarkston school board may now apply.

Member Addison Hubbard's resignation was accepted by the board Monday night and, according to state law, the vacant seat must be filled within 20

The person selected will be appointed for four months, until the next school election when candidates for the one year remaining of Hubbard's fouryear term will be on the ballot along with candidates for two four-year terms.

Hubbard resigned after he accepted the position of administrative coordinator and sales manager of Starcraft of Goshen, Ind. The firm specializes in van conversions.

"The hardest thing was leaving the school board because of the (financial) problems they're having,' he said when contacted after the meeting.

"You don't run for something like that without wanting to stay on.'

He's happy about the move, he added, and Goshen is a good place to raise a family.

Hubbard lived in the Clarkston area over 26

He and his wife, Cindy, and sons, 9-year-old Brian and 6-year-old Brad, plan to live in Goshen, which has a population of between 19,000 and 20,000, similar in size to Independence Township.

The school system there is excellent, he said, noting there's a gymnasium in every elementary school and a swimming pool in the high school, unlike the Clarkston school district.

The school board will accept letters from those interested in membership until Wednesday, Feb. 23. A brief biography should accompany the letter. Call 625-4402 for more information.

In order to interview candidates, the board set two dates, Tuesday, March 1, and Thursday, March 3, with meeting times to be established when the number of applications is known.

Board member Steven Werner expressed concern over appointing someone to the position for such a short period of time, but he was told the action was required by law.

"Sometimes it seems like one day is a long time," quipped board member Fernando Sanchez.

Wolves win, take GOA

By Dan Vandenhemel

With Clarkston's 49-37 victory over Rochester (and Lake Orion's 57-54 loss to Waterford Kettering Friday, the Wolves clinched first place in the Greater Oakland Activities League for the first time in two years.

There was joyful noise in Clarkston's locker room after the win over Rochester.

Although they hadn't learned about Lake Orion's defeat, the Wolves knew they had at least a piece of

"We were really pumped up for this game," Scott Temple said. "We wanted to win this game."

The Wolves determination showed as they started out fast and strong and led 16-8 at the end of the first quarter and 34-18 at halftime.

Capitalizing on the Falcons' mistakes, they stopped them from working the ball inside.

But in the second half, the Wolves looked like a different ball club, scoring only 15 points.

We played a super first half," coach Dan Fife said, "We couldn't get into our offense in the second half. Our offense wasn't fluid in the second half. We kept deviating from the game plan.

Despite having a little trouble with the offense, Clarkston's defense forced the Falcons to take long jump shots the entire game.

* Sports Bowlers grab state tourney

By Dan Vandenhemel

Busy bowling in the Saturday Youth Leagues at Howe's Lanes, Dana Austin, 11, and Kari Abbott, 12, missed the announcement that they had won a state bowling tournament.

"They said it over the P.A. system here (at Howe's Lanes)..." Kari said.

"We didn't hear what they said, but everybody started clapping and talking to us. We didn't know anything about winning the state."

By bowling 1092 with handicapp as a team Dec. 12, Dana and Kari were first at Howe's Lanes for the second straight year in the Holiday Bowling tournament

Kari of Paramus Road in Independence Township and Dana of Northview Drive knew they had won the event at the local level but were surprised when they learned two weeks ago they also were tops in the state.

"We couldn't believe we had won the state tour-nament too," Dana said. "We weren't really thinking about it until they told us."

Their scores were then mailed to the Young American Bowling Association offices and compared to all the others from around the state.

Kari, with an average of 104, bowled games of 156, 130 and 130. Dana bowled 189, 132 and 107. Her average is 107.

Each girl received a trophy from Howe's Lanes for winning here and they both will get one more at a state champions' banquet in August. Dana also was presented with a plaque for her

The Clarkston Elementary sixth-graders said their parents and friends couldn't believe they won.

"My Dad was surprised and my Mom was jumping up and down," Dana said. "A lot of relatives call-

"Everyone was happy," Kari said. "They couldn't believe it.'

Bowling instructor Carol Olsen said this is the first time since she has been with the youth leagues that anyone took the state title.

"We've had a few that I thought might make it before, but you can never know," she said.

a Craig Kulaszewski, Ray Kubani and Mike Mc-Cormick each scored 10 points for Clarkston. McCormick added nine rebounds, with Kubani and Dave Jokisch each adding eight.

"This was a good win for us," Fife said. "To come into their gym and win is good. Kulaszewski had a good night. He gave us a lift at point guard. Now teams have to stop everyone on the court, all of them out there can score."

Clarkston is 10-0 in the GOAL and 14-1 overall. Rochester dropped to 3-6 in the league and 5-9 overall.

Skiers capture district meet

State regionals next for boys' and girls' teams

By Dan Vandenhemel

Both the boys' and the girls' ski teams at Clarkston High School won their divisional meets on Feb. 10 at Pine Knob Ski Resort.

The girls outdistanced second-place Rochester

Adams by 44 points. Lisa Burkemo won the giant slalom race for Clarkston with Stephanie Brown finishing third. Heather Laurie place 10th and Lynn Howse was 12th. Other finishers for the girls were Kelly Fish, 13th; Amy Spaven, 32nd; and Jennifer Hodges, 34th.

Craig McLeod won the giant slalom for the boys as the Wolves beat second-place Andover by 291/2 points. Andy Balzarini was third and Mike Raeser finished 10th. Rick Whittaker was 14th, Dave Huttenloche was 20th, Mark Southby was 22nd, and Mike Mitchell was 25th.

In the slalom, Brown was second for the girls with Burkemo right behind her in third. Laurie came in sixth, Howse 14th and Fish 33rd.

Balzarini placed second in the slalom for the boys and McLeod was fifth. Raeser continued his strong skiing by finishing ninth and Huttenlocher was 16th.

"Our aim at the start was to win the league," coach Don Balzarini said. "I wasn't sure we could do it but everyone did a good job."

The team will compete in the state regionals Thursday at Alpine Valley. The top two teams and the top three individuals at the regionals will go to the state finals.

"In the districts, the top 10 skiers received medals," the coach said. "I was really pleased with everyone's performance. Heather and Mike Raeser along with Howse were nice surprises."

Baseball league forming

A new Babe Ruth baseball league for 16- to 18-year-olds is starting in Clarkston this year.

The North Oakland Babe Ruth League is open to players in the Clarkston, Waterford, Lake Orion and Oxford school districts.

"The new league is to provide the kids in the area a chance to play baseball on a competitive level," said league president Richard Parker.

"We are hoping for about 50 players to make up four teams. We already have three managers and one? team sponsor."

The league schedule is not finalized but games are to begin the first week in June and end with the state all-star tournament in late July.

The registration cost is $20.

Interested players should send their name, address, birth date and desired position to Parker, 5020 Crestview, Clarkston.

Cougars avenge earlier loss, win 41-30

By Dan Vandenhemel

The rivalry between Sashabaw Junior High and Clarkston Junior High continued as the Cougars downed the Wolverines in wrestling 41-30 on Monday.

Jason Vanderpool at 171 pounds clinched the victory for the Wolverines with a 19-second pin over Garett Bass. That put Sashabaw up 35-24 with or ly one match remaining.

Early in the match, Clarkston went ahead, then Sashabaw came back to tie it.

Walt Svenkensen beat Todd Edmunds to start four straight wins for the Cougars as they grabbed the lead for the first time.

"The turning point of the match was Edmunds' match," Wolverine coach Dave Stobbe said. "We didn't have our best team out there tonight."

In the first meeting between the teams, Clarkston easily handled Sashabaw 44-20 Jan. 20.

"We were hungery tonight," Cougar coach Greg Alessi said. "It's not hard getting the team fired up for Clarkston.'

Clarkston won the first match by forfeit, but the Cougars came back to win the next two. Rob Smith at 87 pounds beat Dan Stuk 5-3, then Jeff Funck at 94 pounds shutout Dan's brother Scott 5-0.

Rob Lund put the Wolverines back on top with a pin of Greg Cherniak at 101 pounds. Mike Grable quickly took care of Scott Durham of Clarkston at 108 pounds with a 29 second pin.

After Brent Gwisdalla won at 115 pounds for Clarkston and Mike Sanborn won for Sashabaw, Pete Sans put the Wolverines up 21-15 with his win. Rich Charles then won for Clarkston to set up the match between Svenkensen and Edmunds.

Mike Jasso, Bill Hartley, Jason Vanderpool and Rich Davis finish up the scoring for Sashabaw. Clarkston's Mike Norman won his heavyweight match against Jeff McDonald to end the match.

'Rich Charles wrestled well," Stobbe said. "He filled in for Jeff (Valenzuela) and came out with a win. I didn't expect that."

"I knew it would be close," Alessi said. "I didn't know if we would have won, though."

Bowlers to help kids go to camp

The bowling, and shoe rental, are free for those who gather pledges to help the Clarkston Area Youth Assistance Committee send kids to camp.

And the prizes for the three top money collectors in the Youth Assistance Bowlathon are a Toronto, Canada, weekend trip for two for first place; a wireless telephone for second; and a 12-inch black and white TV for third.

The place is Howe's Lanes on M-15 in Independence Township. The date is Sunday, March 20. The bowling is to begin at 2 p.m.

The Youth Assistance camp program, underway over 20 years, includes paying the way for 6- to 12-year-olds to attend Camp Oakland in Oxford for a nine-day camp experience.

The children are referred to the program by their teachers. They are all pupils in Clarkston schools.

While the motto of Youth Assitance is "Delinquency Prevention Through Community Involvement," the camp program varies from the theme a bit by simply offering assistance to children who may be going through a difficult period.

'A lot of the kids aren't kids who have been in a lot of trouble but they are kids who have some problems, so the teacher feels the child will benefit," said Garry Pullins, Youth Assistance social worker.

The problems range from shyness, to problems adjusting to a divorce or getting along with peers or parents, Pullins said.

"I think it is very positive," he said. "It helps them and adds to their maturation process.'

This year, Youth Assistance would like to send 70 youngsters to camp, and the price has jumped from $35 to $60 a session.

Because of the cost increase, it was necessary to establish a new fund raiser in addition to money for Youth Assistance provided by the Clarkston school district, Independence and Springfield townships, the Village of Clarkston and the Oakland County Juvenile Court, said Kay Robertson, Youth Assistance treasurer.

Adults and children may participate.

Residents will be asked to make pledges for the number of pins knocked down in a three-game series. So, if the pledge is 1 cent per pin, and the bowler scores 412 for three games, the amount due will be

To obtain pledge sheets, or offer pledges, call the Youth Assistance office at 625-9007 or Ken Leslie at 625-3442.

Kay Robertson warms up for the Clarkston Area Youth Assistance Bowlathon during league play at Howe's Lanes. Youth Assistance treasurer, Robertson sums up her participation to help send youngsters to camp this way: "It's a very worthwhile adventure for the kids."

Collins, Kloes wed on New Year's Day

Dressed in a gown she designed and made, Bettijean Collins married Thomas Kloes in a New Year's Day ceremony at St. Daniel Catholic Church.

The Rev. Charles Cushing performed the afternoon ceremony.

The bride's gown was fashioned of white chantilly lace for the overdress and a dark green underdress. She wore a long, white veil and carried a bouquet of red roses, white carnations, stephanotis and ivy.

Matron of honor was Noreen Schwarze of Clarkston. Bridesmaids were Robin Bisha of Florida, Cheryl Maxam of Alma and Sue Tezak of West Virginia.

They wore dark green velour gowns and carried crystal lanterns.

Ring bearer was Joshua Collins, the bride's nephew. He wore a white tuxedo.

Best man was Michael Ward of Iowa. Groomsmen were Ken Kloes, David Stude and Dan Turnquist, all of Wisconsin.

Music for the ceremony was provided by the Clarkston High School Madrigal Singers, soloist Gretchen Weger and Regina Carter on violin, Barry Collins on horn, Bruce Collins on flute and Scott Turnbull on trumpet.

The reception for the about 200 guests was held at St. Daniel Hall.

The bride's parents are Ron and Genene Collins of Havelock Road, Independence Township.

The bridegroom's parents are Gerald and Sue Kloes of Green Bay, Wisc.

Bettijean is a 1980 Clarkston High School graduate. Thomas is a 1982 graduate of Wartburg

The newlyweds are residing in Wisconsin.

Just like candy

By Lorna Bickerstaff

Vi Biondi of Independence Township brought in this very good recipe for Heath Bar Cookies.

The recipe sounded so good to our Donna Fahrner that she bought the ingredients and made them-and brought in samples the next day. Heath Bar Cookies

2 sticks butter

1 c light brown sugar

1 c crushed pecans

24 cinnamon graham crackers

Line cookie sheet with foil. Place crackers on foil, sprinkle with pecans.

Melt butter, add sugar, allow to boil for 2 minutes. Pour over crackers.

Bake 10 minutes in 350-degree oven. Delicious when warm.

If any reader would like to contribute a recipe, we would be most happy to have it. Call Lorna Bickerstaff at 625-3370 weekday afternoons or write her at The Clarkston News, 5 S. Main, Clarkston, MI 48016.

While the rest of the class sits at a more con- in books and study at the rear of the room. A ventional table, two students bury their heads radio suspended by a coat hook softly plays rock and roll. This is the alternative high school class of MariAnn Pace.

Pacesetter: Education inroad

New program provides another way to finish high school

By Marilyn Trumper

Clarkston High School.

For some the changing of classes, six teachers, rules and regulations prove too much.

Unable to garner the one-on-one attention they need from teachers, some kids give up.

They sit back in class, put their feet up, and fail or are expelled.

For this kind of kid, there's new hope in the Clarkston School District: Pacesetter, an adult high school completion program, housed in the Clarkston Community Learning Center, the former South Sashabaw Elementary School on Maybee Road.

Most important, the program's working. "I had problems in school..." said Lori Crouch, 17, with sophomore standing. "Going to class got tougher and tougher. I wasn't doing the work...started skipping.

"Here I have all A's and B's on my report card, although the last time I went down a little.

Lori brushes ruler-straight light brown hair from her face and through green eyes looks at a pile of books and paper waiting her attention.

"This," she says empahtically, "is a lot better than high school. We do things here individually. Like I can write poetry. At the high school you can't do it as much. You have to take a special class for that.

'They discriminate against you, too. If you're not the teacher's pet they really don't care.'

Kathleen O'Donnell, director of community education, understands the dilemma.

"This program was put together for the first time last fall in response to secondary staff and administration who were concerned about the 16- to 18-year-olds (these are) '... the kids who fell through the cracks . . . ' who've quit school or have been expelled.'

O'Donnell describes them as "...the kids who fell through the cracks. Those not having their needs met in the traditional setting."

Except for the few attending the program under court order, most of the 15 students "...walked through the door saying, 'We want to come back.' They've found they can't find jobs, and they're bored," she said.

To qualify, students must have been out of school three months. Officials drummed up the first classroom of students by sending letters home, informing them of the program.

From 8:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m., the 15 buckle under in MariAnn Pace's classroom where there's structure amid disorder.

Several students sit around four tables shoved into a U-shape, leaning over books, pushing pencils and sharing notes.

At the back of the room, two young men sit, their faces shoved inside a book, while rock and roll plays softly from a radio suspended by an empty coat hook.

"The radio," says Pace, "is a new addition, here on a very experimental basis. They asked if they could turn it on while they study.

'I thought about it and said, 'Sure, but only if you promise to turn it off when I talk. And if it gets loud, out it goes."

Instead of changing classes and juggling six teachers, this class learns from one teacher and juggles different teaching mediums.

"We're still together all day, and they have only me, but for the first hour we'll read out loud. For the second we'll have question and answers, for the third they'll study in groups," Pace says.

'And if one kid just can't handle it that day, he can go and sit in the corner and be by himself. That's OK too.

"As long as they do the work. And, Pace says "they're doing the work."

She warns against ultimatums and the ineffectiveness they have on her students.

"The old 'you-do-it-or-else' doesn't work here. They won't do it. I explain it's something they need to learn, they'll have to have it elsewhere if they don't have it here, and that we'll sit down and work on it

"They do the work."

Lisa Helton, 17, sums up why the program's worked for her.

"Miss Pace is the best. If you don't get it, she'll show you until you do get it. She's a real good teacher. If you didn't catch on over there, the teachers walked away and left you. It's not that way here."

Her classmates agree, shaking their heads. For information on Pacesetter, call 673-7756.
