Tight rein for 1983's cleanup

By Marilyn Trumper

Last summer's carte blanche clean-up campaign that left Independence Township sites clogged with garbage and a bill over $16,000 will never happen again.

That's the word from the board as it readies for another townshipwide cleanup.

Instead of 10 targeted sites throughout the township, there'll be one site policed on a 24-hour basis.

And residents will be required to show proof they live in Independence Township, according to Supervisor James B. Smith.

At the March 1 meeting, the board failed to set a date for the cleanup, held last year June, 18, 19 and 20, but said a proposed site could be the Department of Public Works building on Flemings Lake Road.

"I'd like the board to think about it, and be prepared to discuss the issue again by the March 15 meeting," Smith said.

Last year's townshipwide cleanup, suggested by one resident who tired of public dumping on rural routes, cost Independence over $16,000 and took crews over a week to clean.

Trash overflowed from the 10, 40-cubic-yard dumpsters, clogged intersections throughout the township and remained an eyesore behind township hall and Sashabaw Junior High School for a week.

Vote March 14

Get your lever-flipping wrist in order.

Monday, March 14, from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m., the polls at Clarkston Village Hall will be open for casting votes in the 1983 election where four candidates are vying for three open trustee seats.

Incumbent Clerk Norma Goyette and Trustee Carol Eberhardt, both Republicans, are unopposed on the ballot for the one-year balance of terms they were appointed to fill following resignations of council members.

Incumbent trustees David Raup and James Schultz and past-president Fontie ApMadoc are on the Republican ticket and John Bisha on the Democratic ticket for three two-year trustee seats.

Clarkston Village Hall is located at 375 Depot.

PK jobs open

Applications for employment at the Pine Knob Music Theatre are now available at The Clarkston News office.

The News distributes the applications as a community service and they must be returned to the music theater by mail, as the written instructions indicate.

Because of the high demand, we limit each person to one application.

Positions people may apply for are in the security, ushering and maintenance departments.

The News office, located at 5 S. Main, Clarkston, is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. Our phone number is 625-3370.

One of the owner's two pet dogs waits patiently beside the smoldering rafters of the 90-year-old farmhouse on Pine Knob Road. The house burned to its fieldstone foundation early Thursday morning. The frantic dogs' barking is credited with saving the life of Elbert Stumph.

Fire destroys aged farmhouse

By Marilyn Trumper

A $35,000 insurance policy is not expected to cover the loss of a 90-year-old Pine Knob Road farmhouse that burned to the ground during the early morning hours of March 3, according to Capt. Dale Bailey of the Independence Township Fire Department.

Firefighters from Brandon and Independence townships answered the two-alarm blaze at 9844 Pine Knob at 5:03 a.m.

A fieldstone foundation is all that remains of the house.

No one was injured in the blaze, Bailey said. Two pet dogs have been credited with saving the life of their sleeping owner, Elbert Stumph.

The barking dogs awoke Stumph who was asleep in bed, surrounded by flames, Bailey said.

Stumph escaped through the bedroom window and ran to the neighbor's to phone the fire department. It is not know how the fire started, Bailey said, adding no investigation is expected to take place.

Sign-up for Clarkston kindergarten

The search is on for children who will be eligible to enter kindergarten in September 1983.

If you have a child who will be 5 years old on or before Dec. 1, 1983, the Clarkston Community School District would like to know the child's name, address, telephone number and birth date.

The elementary schools and their telephone numbers are: Andersonville, 625-5300; Bailey Lake, 625-2812; Clarkston Elementary, 625-4900; North Sashabaw, 625-3139; and Pine Knob, 625-1583.

Waterford track moves into a troubled 1983

By Marilyn Trumper

The 1983 season is creeping up without a license for the Waterford Hills Race Track, and track officials are still in the outside lane with neighboring residents.

After working months to hammer out problems between residents and the track, a three-team committee of track, township and neighbors presented a proposed ordinance amendment to the Independence Township Board at its March 1 meeting.

The eight-page document's center of controversy limits sound to 70 decibels during the week and 75 decibels on race weekends.

It also allows track officials to petition the township to up the maximum level to 90 decibels in 1983, 85 decibels in 1984, 80 decibels in 1985 and finally caps the number at 75 decibels in 1986.

The proposed amendment is more specific than the 1963 consent judgment's restrictions.

It draws a line between weekends and weekdays, limiting hours of operation to 10 a.m. and 6 p.m. weekends and 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays.

Speed exhibitions would be allowed 35 days out of the year and on alternating weekends, 15 days less than the judgment's 55 days.

It would also allow the township board to hold a public hearing and impose additional restrictions on the track.

The proposed law also develops a "Speed Exhibition Fund" into which the track pays $50 for each day a violation exists. Independence Township would use the fund to buy expert advice and sound monitoring equipment.

According to Robert Vargo, one of two committee members representing track neighbors, track officials have indicated they will begin construction of a berm this year to cut down on noise. The berm is to be completed in 1986.

"(The board) wants us to submit a written proposal of what we want and how we feel about the proposed amendment. Robert Hall (the second committee member representing the residents) and I feel the berm should be constructed sooner than the three-year period, and we're not happy with the decibel limit.

"The neighborhood is mad at us because they don't want to compromise. Most of them say to limit the sound to 55 decibels or shut the track down.

"Whatever happens, it won't be what we want," Vargo said.

Jeffery Heldt, attorney for the track, said he too has little faith in how much attention the board will pay to his report.

"I'm not sure yet how I'll respond (to the township's request for a report on the proposed amendment). I have a (track) board of directors meeting tonight I'm sure will give me some direction. But I have so little faith in how much attention (the township board will) pay to what I have to say," Heldt said.

"I'm not happy with the amendment. The 90 decibels we can live with. The 85 and 80 I think we can live with—but not the 75. And that's, of course, if our request for an appeal will be met."

The Independence Township Board is expected to discuss the issue again at a special meeting on March 14 in the Independence Township Hall Annex, 90 N. Main, Clarkston.

Courts strict with gravel mine

The courts are holding to strict adherence of the consent judgment between Independence Township and the Stolaruk Corp., operators of an abandoned 23-acre gravel mine off Stickney Road.

In February, Oakland County Circuit Court Judge Frederick Meister denied Stolaruk's request for relief on the strict outline for reclamation, attorney Gerald Fisher told the township board at its March 1 meeting.

As outlined in the agreement, Stolaruk is expected to seek an opinion of a third, independent engineer regarding the slope and grading of the land as the judgment decrees.

The township and mining officials have been locked in legal battle since 1979 when the first consent judgment was drafted.

The agreement, a binding plan approved by both parties under the court's sanction, outlines restoration of the land officials vacated when mining ended.

Independence Township has since moved for forfeiture of a $20,000 performance bond, and that case is still in court.

Independence Township Supervisor James B. Smith had only praise for the court's decision, and pointed to liberal adjustments made by the bench on similar past cases.

"I felt very good about (the Stolaruk decision). There have been repeated cases of delay, deferral and moderation, and it's most refreshing to see Judge Meisner take decisive action," Smith said.

Union talks into second month

Talks are described as "slow" but "good" for the new contract under negotiation by Independence Township and its workers, the American Federation of State, Local and Municipal Employees (AFSCME).

Linda Richardson, president of the 18-member Local 2727 Chapter B, remains tight-lipped on progress and contract specifics, saying only, "It's been slow. The problem we have is getting everybody together, setting a time and date, where we can talk. We've been meeting after hours and on Saturday.

"But there is good, open communication."

Since talks began in early February, both teams have met five times and were expected to meet again Saturday.

The last contract, settled for three years in 1980, included a 5.5-percent raise each year. It's not been decided how many years the new contract will cover.

The union is pushing for an April 1 deadline to ratify, Richardson said.

Village of Clarkston 1983 election

To assist Village of Clarkston voters in selecting their choices for trustee seats on the Clarkston Village Council in the Monday, March 14, election, we asked each candidate to submit biographical information and answer four questions in writing.

The candidates were asked to respond to each question in 50 words or less.

Norma Goyette, the Republican candidate for village clerk, is running unopposed for the remaining year of the two-year term vacated by Bruce Rogers who moved to Florida.

Because the village clerk does not have a vote on the council, Goyette said she would prefer not to respond to the questions.

Fontie ApMadoc

Republican candidate Fontie Apmadoc, 60, resides at 14 N. Main. She attended college two years. She has four children and eight grandchildren and has lived in the community 24 years.

She previously served on the village council six years, but did not run for office in 1982 when her latest term expired.

She is seeking a two-year term as trustee.

A major complaint regarding a historic district ordinance has been that there are no checks and balances on decisions of the historic district commission. What's your solution?

"I believe in a historical ordinance, but fairness and logic must be paramount. In cases where the historical commission and the applicant cannot come to an agreeable solution, I would like the village council to make the final irrevocable decision."

Preservation of Clarkston's historic buildings is a much-debated issue. How much control do you think village government should have?

(ApMadoc did not submit a response to the question.)

Why do you think you should be elected?

"I was a trustee and president pro-tem for two-and-one-half years and I believe that people know how much I care for our village and community. Whether I am elected or not, I will continue my beautification efforts and hope you will join me in this project."

John Bisha

Democratic candidate John Bisha, 52, resides at 89 N. Holcomb. He is president of Enco Marketing Inc., Bloomfield Hills, a company founded in 1974 to sell electronic components in Michigan.

He became a resident of Clarkston in 1964 after purchasing the Terrace Building at 24 S. Main. He later moved to 52 N. Main until a job transfer located him out of the state in 1968.

Since his return in 1970, he has lived on Holcomb Street. He has two children.

He is a member of the Clarkston Community Historical Society and served as treasurer of the original board of directors for the historical society and is past president and board member of the Independence Land Conservancy.

He is seeking a two-year term.

A major complaint regarding a historic district ordinance has been that there are no checks and balances on decisions of the historic district commission. What's your solution?

"A plan to avoid unilateral decisions made by the historic commission could be established by the commission using the 'Standard for Rehabilitation' published by the Department of the Interior making recommendations to the planning commission and/or the zoning board of appeals with final decision resting with the village council."

Preservation of Clarkston's historic buildings is a much-debated issue. How much control do you think village government should have?

"I am concerned about how the residents respond to historic preservation and will act accordingly. I see historic preservation as the responsibility of all the people of the village."

Why do you think you should be elected?

(Bisha did not submit a response to the question.)

Carol Eberhardt

Republican candidate Carol Eberhardt is seeking election to the remaining year of a two-year term vacated by former village council trustee Jerry Powell.

Although she is unopposed on the ballot, she was given the opportunity to respond to the questions.

Eberhardt, 36, resides at 38 E. Washington with her husband Larry and their three children.

She is the owner of One More Time, serves on the Northern Oakland County Girl Scout Board of Directors and is parliamentarian for that board; is a member of the Waterford-Clarkston Business and Professional Women's Organization; served as president of the Waterford Jaycee Auxiliary from 1975-76; and was on the executive board of the Michigan Jaycee Auxiliary from 1976-79.

She has lived in the village one year and her business has been located in Clarkston four years.

She was appointed to the village council in September 1982.

A major complaint regarding a historic district ordinance has been that there are no checks and balances on decisions of the historic district commission. What's your solution?

"Since the enabling legislation does not allow for an appeal process for the ordinance, I feel that the ordinance itself is going to have to be very specific. Education of the homeowners as to specifically what the ordinance regulates is essential."

Preservation of Clarkston's historic buildings is a much-debated issue. How much control do you think village government should have?

"No one likes to be controlled, especially by government. The ordinance should allow people to have choices. The people can work toward the same goal as long as the ordinance can be presented in a 'this is what we can do for you' manner, rather than 'you must do it our way'."

Why do you think you should be elected?

"I feel strongly that it is important to have someone from the business district on the council. I am not afraid to voice my opinion, or take a stand on an issue. I have the ability to compromise, which is important when working for the good of the entire community."

David Raup

Republican candidate David Raup, 35, resides at 53 Waldon. A sales representative for Hallmark Cards Inc., he was graduated in 1970 from Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo, with a bachelor's degree.

He and his wife Kathryn have two children. They have lived in Clarkston nine years.

An incumbent, Raup is seeking his second two-year term on the village council.

A major complaint regarding a historic district ordinance has been that there are no checks and balances on decisions of the historic district commission. What's your solution?

"There are probably several viable solutions to correct this. It is not in the best interest of anyone to have decisions challenged in court. We should be able to handle problems at the local level. I would like to have an appeal process recognized within the ordinance."

Preservation of Clarkston's historic buildings is a much-debated issue. How much control do you think village government should have?

"More can be accomplished when people are willing participants in a preservation program. An ordinance that is too restrictive alienates people from the cause. An issue this important needs the support of the community."

Why do you think you should be elected?

"I feel I can effectively represent the residents of the village. The last two years have been an excellent learning experience. This background should make the next two years even more productive."

James Schultz

Republican candidate James Schultz, 44, resides at 40 Robertson Ct. He is a co-owner of Clarkston Main Street Antiques and Country Store and is employed at Cranbrook Schools/Brookside where he is director of the Day Camp.

He and his wife Virginia have one daughter. They have lived in Clarkston 16 years.

Schultz has a bachelor's degree from Albion College where he majored in science and art. He was a design major at Cooper Union, New York City, N.Y., for two years. He has a master's degree in humanities from Wayne State University, Detroit, and 31 graduate hours in education at Michigan State University, East Lansing.

He serves on the board of directors of Rotary International and is a member of the Independence Land Conservancy and C.R.E.W.

An incumbent, Schultz has served on the village council 10 years. He is presently the president pro-tem, the street commissioner and a member of the village zoning board of appeals.

He also served on the Independence Township Cable Television Task Force and the M-15 Widening Task Force.

Lawyer appointed to fill school board vacancy

By Kathy Greenfield

Clarkston school board membership numbers seven again.

The board has appointed Thomas Azoni to fill the post vacated last month by Addison Hubbard who moved to Indiana.

The four-month appointment lasts until June when candidates for the remaining year of the four-year term will be on the ballot along with candidates for two four-year terms.

Azoni, 30, is an attorney with Buchanan and Buchanan of West Bloomfield. He and his wife Elizabeth and daughter Lauren reside on Kingfisher Lane in Independence Township.

"My wife and I had our first daughter last December and it was at that time that we began a new awareness for things that are going to be important to us in the future," Azoni said.

"The decisions being made on the board are going to have a profound effect on the education of our child.

"I wanted to take part in making the decisions that will shape her education and this would be an excellent opportunity and that's what I told the school board."

Azoni was one of eight applicants for the position.

The school board met with the candidates March 8, rated their top choices from one to three and Azoni received the highest total, said Barbara Cowen, the superintendent's secretary who also takes minutes at board meetings.

The board was required by state law to fill the seat even though only four months remain until the next election.

Azoni's first school board meeting will be Monday, March 14.

He has prepared for the meeting by studying budgets and the School Act of 1976 which describes the functions of a school board. He has also talked with a neighbor who is a teacher about the unsettled teachers' contract, he said.

"This is truly going to be a baptism by fire," he said. "It's been an educational process right from the beginning and I see the next four months as a continuous education."

Azoni said he plans to be on the June ballot and that the knowledge he'll gain in the next four months will contribute to his qualifications.

Schultz makes re-election bid

He seeks election to a two-year term.

A major complaint regarding a historic district ordinance has been that there are no checks and balances on decisions of the historic district commission. What's your solution?

"The Michigan enabling legislation spells out specifically what must be in a historic district ordinance commission. Clarkston must comply with that state law. If it were possible to go around that law everybody would come to the village council directly instead of requesting hearings from the commission which defeats the ordinance's purpose."

Preservation of Clarkston's historic buildings is a much-debated issue. How much control do you think village government should have?

"As a trustee on the council I have demonstrated my interests by encouraging the Betty L. Frances study of the commercial buildings. Owners of the historic buildings are encouraged to preserve their historic aspects and I believe they are proud enough of their structures to maintain the historic value identified with the buildings."

Why do you think you should be elected?

"Over the past 10 years it has been proven that I am truly a voice of the people. Citizens know that when there is a problem I am available to help find a good solution. I am not afraid of asking advice from other communities about local problems."

Letters to editor

Supporter defends Clarkston basketball coach

Dear Name Withheld:

In your letter to the editor (Clarkston News, March 2, 1983), you ask "Why must a starter play every second of the game right to the last minute, with a 17-20 point lead the entire game, before a boy on the bench can replace him?"

I would like to ask you why you would ask this question, because it is something that has not happened to the Clarkston team all year.

I believe Coach Fife has played more players more minutes than any other varsity coach I have seen.

I also wouldn't take much stock in what the other coach said, as I am sure he was just trying to be nice.

We do have seven or eight players that I feel could start for most of the teams we have played this year.

Also any player on the bench could make their bench, but start?

You mention what several players did last year. I would point out to you that players develop at different times, so just because Joe beat John last year is no sign that John can't beat Joe this year.

You rave on, "This has happened at every game I've been to this year. One boy has been repeatedly singled out as the only player not to play."

NOT TO PLAY? You make it sound like this player never gets to play. If you mean he doesn't play as much as some others, you are right.

If this is the worst thing that happens to this young man in his life, I envy him.

You say half the team would like to quit, feel like failures, and can't face their friends. I think you are wrong on all counts.

Just where do you get the gall to write the half-truths and out-right lies that permeate your letter?

By reading your letter I can see you don't know the meaning of the words humiliation and degradation.

Do you know the meaning of the word slander? If not, you should look it up.

I feel you owe Coach Fife and the team a public apology.

If the next time we meet I don't speak, don't be surprised.

Not ashamed to sign my name,
Arden B. Collier

Pick-up-and-go fantasy

by Kathy Greenfield

Two weeks before they left for vacation, my parents were almost completely packed.

One week before a neighbor left for vacation, the ironing board was out and things were pressed and ready to go.

All the pre-planning brought my favorite vacation fantasy to life.

It's this: Grab a sweatshirt and a pair of jeans and depart.

Usually I think about freedom from everyday necessities when I'm packing for a vacation.

Take last summer when we went to the Colorado mountains.

Not only did we need the usual casual attire, but because mountain climbing was planned we needed heavy sweaters, winter coats, hats and gloves.

Try multiplying all those needs times four and then limiting yourself to one suitcase a person because your car is one of those small, fuel-efficient types.

We ended up buying a covered rack for the top of the car after we added backpacks, pillows, a sleeping bag, tools, food for the trip, clothing for dinner out in a nice restaurant, hair dryers, shoes for all occasions, laundry detergent, and so on.

I haven't decided where it is I'd be going with the jeans and the sweatshirt.

I don't want to think too much about what life would be like without things like clean socks and at least three pairs of shoes.

Fantasies weren't made for mundane details.

I met someone once who commented about her batch of mismatched luggage. Her story was that she ended up buying a another suitcase wherever she went to bring all the new stuff home.

Someone else said she always brings an empty suitcase along for the same reason.

I identify with the first person. The suitcase purchases at least take a stab at spontaneity.

Me, I take care of that by packing for all trips the day before. That way, there are always surprises.

I also don't have much time to say, "Oh, yeah, I might need that" and toss it in with more junk than any person could possibly use for a week or two away from the homestead.

Column comebacks

By Jim Sherman

Steve Mitchell, writing for the Post in Martin County, Florida, came up with a good column on comebacks, quick wits and insults. He said, "Few are as good at it as the late Sir Winston Churchill.

"On one occasion, Churchill and some friends were discussing Prime Minister Clement Atlee, whom Churchill loathed. In a desperate effort to come up with something good to say about the man, one of Churchill's friends ventured that at least he was modest.

"He has a great deal to be modest about," Churchill snorted.

Churchill also had a strong aversion to Sir Stafford Cripps, of whom he observed, "There but for the grace of God, goes God."

At a dinner party, Churchill was seated beside a hostile female who said, "If I were married to you, sir, I would give you poison."

"If I were married to you, madam, I would drink it," Churchill retorted.

The English politicians are masters at this sort of thing, and one of Benjamin Disraeli's favorite targets was William Gladstone. In one debate between the two, Gladstone turned to Disraeli and sneered, "You, sir, speak for the moment; I speak to posterity."

"I had not realized that you intended to hold the floor until the arrival of your audience," Disraeli said suavely.

Our American politicians don't do badly in this department, either. John Randolph of Virginia once described Henry Clay of Kentucky as "so brilliant, yet so corrupt. Like a rotten mackerel by moonlight, he shines and stinks."

When the two men met on a narrow sidewalk in Washington, Clay glowered at Randolph and said, "I never step aside for scoundrels."

"I always do," said Randolph smoothly as he gave his enemy the right of way.

Sometimes small-arms fire from the audience gets a devastating salvo in return. During one of his campaigns for governor of New York, Al Smith took a shot from a sniper even before he started to speak.

"Tell us all you know, Al," sneered the anonymous assassin. "It won't take long."

"I'll tell 'em all we both know," Smith said. "It won't take any longer."

"Show business seems to foster this talent, and Groucho Marx was one of its most deft practitioners. Who can forget this classic riposte to a heckler: "I never forget a face, but in your case, I'll make an exception."

Mike Royko of the Chicago Sun-Times, who in my opinion is the nation's best in the column-writing business, collects imaginative criticisms of his work sent in by readers. Among his favorites is this one:

"I am sitting in the smallest room in my house. Your latest column is before me. Soon it will be behind me."

My personal favorite for the most insulting comeback ever delivered issued from the lips of 18th century politician John Wilkes, who was told by a venomous opponent that he was destined to perish either by public hanging or of some loathsome social disease.

"That sir, depends on whether I embrace your politics or your mistress," Wilkes said.

So wroteth Steve Mitchell.

Choose rational safety path

We've watched with interest the Independence Township Board's handling of how to choose the safety path routes to be constructed this spring.

A few weeks ago, we wrote an editorial suggesting the choice of a safety path along Clarkston-Orion Road which would join the existing village sidewalk and lead to the library.

We said it would benefit not only village residents, but provide a link for thousands of township residents who could begin the library trek at all corners of the village sidewalks and continue safely to the library.

The latest engineer's report has indicated a safety path would be unsafe along Clarkston-Orion. It would have to be fenced, safety bars would have to be put in place. The township would be liable if someone got hurt on the path it built for safety.

Perhaps that's true. Perhaps we should, then, put up signs to tell pedestrians to stay off Clarkston-Orion Road.

But the safety factor is why we decided to speak out in the first place.

Many people on foot and on bikes already traverse the side of that curvy road with its loose-gravel shoulder.

They're trying to get to the library, and beyond to the township park.

We think the safety path plans should take notice of places people already travel.

We know there is a need for a safe way to get to the library.

And we believe every effort should be made to encourage people to go to the library without having to get in the car and drive there—if they're old enough to drive.

I thought your readers should be aware that the House Taxation Committee last week passed a bill to hike the state income tax 38 percent—from 4.6 percent to 6.35 percent—without a single Republican vote in favor.

The measure, which the Democrats insist is "temporary" because the tax rate would drop .1 percent for every .75 reduction in the average employment rate after it declines to 13 percent (from the present 17 percent), was rejected by those of us in the Republican caucus because it will raise billions of dollars that I can only assume will be used to expand state government in years to come.

Once again, instead of undertaking a serious evaluation of long-range programs in this state—as I have repeatedly asked for—the Democrats are devising a complex scheme to raise far more money than is needed to continue basic services.

I am committed to the creation of jobs and the down-sizing of state government.

That is why I am unequivocally opposed to any permanent income tax increase.

Such a permanent plan, as far as I can tell, will not put one more unemployed person back on the job, it won't make Michigan more attractive to business and industry, it won't provide one penny for property tax relief, and it could very well mean more state government later on.

For all those reasons, the House Democrat plan falls short of being a reasonable response to the state's fiscal woes.

I do believe that Michigan has grave economic ills that must be cured—but the current plan is not the answer.

I believe other alternatives should be considered. One plan which several Republicans saw merit in was a two-year income tax hike.

This more modest proposal would have closed the projected deficit for this fiscal year and enabled a balanced continuation budget during 1984-85.

The first level of the proposed income tax hike (probably around 1.4 percent in 1983 and 1 percent

Get out and vote in election

Last year, 32 citizens cast votes in the Clarkston Village Council election.

The year before, the total was 114. In 1980, there were 45 voters.

And the number of registered voters is over 400.

At the rate it's been going, it wouldn't take much strength or effort to be a write-in candidate and sweep the election.

But that's not what we're here to say.

The village has been rocked with controversy over the historic district ordinance. The one in existence was repealed and work is underway to draft another.

That's why we asked the five trustee candidates for the village council election to respond to questions about the historic district and preservation of historic buildings.

Their answers, in this issue, should assist voters in making their choices.

Maybe it doesn't need to be said again, but complacent residents who talk about their positive and negative reactions but don't use their strongest statement by going to the polls deserve everything they get.

The Clarkston village election is Monday, March 14. The polling place is Village Hall, 375 Depot, Clarkston, and votes can be cast from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Be there.

'If it Fitz. . .'

Amen, Sister

by Jim Fitzgerald

Recently I talked with a Catholic nun who is a social worker. The subject was birth control. She is in favor of it.

I will call her Sister Blank because if I revealed her identity, the Most Rev. Edmund Szoka might demand she either resign from her job or be kicked out of her religious order.

Or would he?

Szoka, the Roman Catholic archbishop of Detroit, is not easy to understand.

I've listened hard to what he has said about the conditions under which Sister Agnes Mary Mansour must, or must not, resign as director of the Michigan Department of Social Services.

And my only conclusion is that Archbishop Szoka must be auditioning for a seat on the state Supreme Court where he would help Justice Charles Levin explain why a fellow justice can serve on the court, or maybe not, depending on whether the sun comes out tomorrow with a political bumper sticker on it, in which case the entire world deserves an apology.

On one February day, the archbishop said Sister Mansour absolutely must resign because her job requires her to direct spending on Medicaid abortions and abortion is an evil sin.

But no understandable explanation was offered on why Medicaid abortions were so sinful in February but apparently not in January when Sister Mansour took her job without incurring the archbishop's ultimatum.

On a later day, Archbishop Szoka told a reporter Sister Mansour wouldn't have to resign if she publicly denounced Medicaid abortions while continuing to approve paying for them.

But the next day a spokesman said the archbishop didn't mean to say Sister Mansour didn't have to resign. What he meant was she could have kept her job if she had publicly denounced Medicaid abortions earlier "but it is now too late."

Got that?

NOT ONCE WHILE I was getting a Catholic education did it occur to me to ask a nun if it was OK for me to continue committing the same moral sin just as long as I publicly denounced the sin early on in the sinning.

Of course, times change. Another thing I didn't do during my many years as a practicing Catholic was buy a drink for a nun in a saloon. But that's what I did for Sister Blank while we talked about birth control. Some progress makes more sense than other progress.

Sister Blank doesn't agree with me about abortion. As I continue to have grandchildren, and am reminded that innocent babies are life's most marvelous miracle, I more and more hate the idea of abortion. But I also hate the idea of government telling a woman what she must do with her body.

So, until science persuades me, there is no time when an embryo is less than a human being capable of feeling pain and loss, I will continue to be pro-choice in the first weeks of pregnancy.

BUT SISTER BLANK and I do agree on birth control which, according to the official stance of the Catholic Church, is almost as big a sin as abortion. But today's sophisticated Catholics know better, according to Sister Blank.

No matter what the pope says, they can find a priest who will approve birth control for the flimsiest reason (A third kid will get on my nerves").

Or a Catholic couple justified planned parenthood within their own consciences by simply agreeing that zero population growth is good for God's world. The hypocrisy is monumental.

But the people who need birth control most—who can't support one child, let alone 12—lack the sophistication to be modern hypocrites. They blindly obey church laws, and the babies keep coming.

They are the type of people Sister Blank works with, and aches for. And they live and propagate all over the world.

The Catholic Church should not only allow but also encourage birth control, Sister Blank said flatly.

When that happens, she added, Archbishop Szoka and other Catholic leaders will make a lot more sense when they denounce abortion, and they'll have fewer abortions to denounce.

Amen, Sister.

Independence targets four safety path routes

By Marilyn Trumper

Independence Township is closer to choosing the next four safety path routes slated for development this year.

Although bids are to be taken for four specific routes, the selection is not written in concrete. The board has yet to set a date for the final decision.

On March 1, after two hours of discussion, the board directed its engineers to solicit bids for the following paths:

- Snowapple Road to the Independence Township Library along Clarkston-Orion Road.
- Maybee Road from Winell to Sashabaw roads.
- Eston Road from Clarkston-Orion to Algonquin Road.
- White Lake Road from Mustang Drive to the Clarkston village limits.

Key in the decision was the number of people that would be served by the paths and safety.

"I know there's been a lot of pressure for the path from the village to the library, but our own engineers tell us that to make it safe we'd need a guardrail and fence between the road and path," said Trustee Daniel Travis. "I don't think we want that kind of aesthetic, a concentration camp, in this township.

"Not only that but the village sidewalks we'd be connecting to are three-feet wide and there are steps at Robertson (Court) we'd have to knock out."

Trustee Dale Stuart pointed to the close proximity of a proposed path to one homeowner on Maybee, and suggested the path begin at Winell instead of Williamson, a street farther to the west.

"I'd hate to have someone get hit on the way to safety," Stuart said, referring to the controversial library route proposed from the village to the library.

The township expects to have $113,000 to blacktop approximately 3.4 miles with this year's collection of .5 mill.

The millage was approved by voters in 1980 to finance a then planned 50-mile safety path network. At the end of the 10-year millage, Independence Township will have collected over $1 million for safety paths.

It will be two years before the township has money to begin the next phase of construction, according to Supervisor James B. Smith.

Adopt plan to benefit the taxpayer; save pay

1984) would have also restored the state's cash position within three to five years.

The Democrats have still not presented projections that would justify continuing an income tax increase beyond 1984.

It is clear that the difference in philosophies is centered on what the size and scope of state government should be.

Instead of rushing through a large tax boost, I would rather develop an agenda for change.

Now, we are forced to seek dollars from our citizens and we should be responding to the demands for streamlining state government and assuring that it is run efficiently.

A long, hard look at policies and programs is an absolute necessity.

While I am continuing to work toward solving the problems of the state, I am completely dissatisfied with the plan approved by the Democratic members of the House Taxation Committee.

The increase they are proposing would not address the long-term problems facing Michigan.

I will not be satisfied until a plan is adopted that will benefit the taxpayer by assuring a permanent bite is not taken out of the family paycheck.

After all of the debate and sacrifice by the people of Michigan, I want to be certain that state government will be changed and improved in significant ways.

Signatures make letters valid

Your publication is in my opinion very well done and gives good coverage to our area.

It is read thoroughly by all members of our family and, on occasion, we forward articles and notes of interest to our daughter who is in college out of state.

A "name withheld by request" letter was published in your March 2 edition regarding some person's thoughts on the Clarkston High School varsity basketball team.

I cannot comment on the validity of the opinions expressed by this person, but I do recognize the right all citizens have to openly make their thoughts known on a variety of subjects.

Unless life and limb is in immediate jeopardy, however, I would suggest that comments such as these need the signature of the writer.

Without a signature, opinions of one person are no more or no less valid than the next person.

A signature lends credibility to what one says by virtue of identifying whether or not the person is qualified to offer criticism.

The writer of this letter indicated a history of coaching and building of self-esteem in players.

This should include instruction in having the courage to identify openly with what one believes.

Comments by anonymous writers do not constructively encourage others nor do they help change situations for the better.

Keep up the good work.

High Blood Pressure

By Paul A. Rumph, D.C.

Most people don't know if their blood pressure is high. Some signs of high blood pressure are headaches, redness of the nose or cheeks, the awareness that your heart is pounding while you are lying down.

You can regulate or lower this condition with drugs. You can also expect to eventually have a stroke, heart or kidney disease if you do not get at the root of the problem. If your high blood pressure is caused by nerve involvement, a simple examination can show this and it can be corrected before serious complications can set in.

Don't ignore these danger signals:

- Lower back and leg pains
- Difficulty in breathing
- Recurring headaches and nervousness
- Numbness in hands, legs or feet
- Painful joints and restless nights
- Neck, shoulder, or arm pain

If not corrected, these can lead to more serious complications.

'This group is unbelievable'

Neighbor for Neighbor

By Dan Vandenhemel

Residents of Springfield Township are getting together to help their neighbors with a free food program.

"Neighbor for Neighbor" started Feb. 25 and has already assisted 50 families in Springfield, Rose and White Lake Townships.

An additional 25 families are expected to pick up the food and paper goods this week.

"This is a bigger program than I had anticipated," said chairman Norris Walls. "The nice part of the program is how many people are concerned about others. Most of the people receiving food are willing to volunteer their help, too."

The program is assisted by the United Way and the United Community Service. Donations are also coming from people in the area.

"This is for the unemployed and low-income in the area," said volunteer Flo Logan. "This is just to help them out a little in the hard times. If they come in and show us their unemployment card or their social services card, we can take care of them."

The shelves are filled with canned goods, detergents, soaps, fruits, eggs, sugar, flour, paper goods, rice and noodles.

"Neighbor for Neighbor" also helps people with resume writing and counseling. Director Don Bradford and Tammy Vergin are planning to hold a class for the unemployed.

"We will help them, train them to get a job," Vergin said.

"We'll build their courage and confidence in themselves," Bradford said. "We'll teach them to hang in there. This group is unbelievable. Everyone helping like this is the most fantastic example of neighbors helping neighbors."

The building at 586 Broadway is open Tuesday 9 a.m. to noon, Wednesday 1 p.m. to 5 p.m., Friday and Saturday 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

For more information, call 634-0900 during those hours.

Fran Urbin separates some of the food and paper products donated for the Neighbor for Neighbor program in Springfield Township. The program is set up to help the unemployed and low income families in Springfield, Rose and White Lake Townships.

-Sheriff's log- 4 recover from gas poisoning

Wednesday, vandals broke into a storage shed at the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club, 4770 Waterford, Independence Township, took nothing but ransacked the place.

Wednesday, thieves stole four wire-wheel hubcaps off a car on Dixie Highway, Independence Township.

Friday, thieves broke into a garage on Kingfisher Lane, Independence Township, and stole a $125 pair of skis, a $70 stroller, $75 playpen and $65 car seat.

Friday, thieves broke into a house on Columbia Road, Independence Township. It is not known what was taken.

Friday, vandals egged a car on Greenhaven Drive, Independence Township.

Friday, thieves stole a $150 gas grill from a yard on Fox Chase Lane, Independence Township.

Saturday, thieves stole a $2,000 car from Lakewood Drive, Independence Township.

Saturday, vandals caused $100 in damages when they slashed a car tire on Tuson Drive, Springfield Township.

Saturday, vandals smashed a windshield on Eastlawn Drive, Independence Township.

Sunday, thieves stole a $300 bike from a garage on Robertson Court, Clarkston.

Sunday, thieves stole a $200 bike from a yard on Sundale Road, Independence Township.

This information came from reports at the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

The Paul Roberts family of Independence Township spent one night in the hospital after being overcome by fumes from an improperly vented hot water heater during the early morning hours of March 1.

While they've all recovered, Nancy Roberts says she's still afraid.

"And we lived 14 years like that with the heater vented wrong. I guess it was a combination of the right atmosphere and whatever. I had the fireplace lit and the draft was just right to suck it up from downstairs and into the house."

Firefighters from the Independence Township Fire Department arrived at 5010 Cecelia Ann at 2:20 a.m., and found the Roberts and their two children, Ryan, 10 and Rodney, 5, unconscious.

Her husband, up with one of the children, realized something was wrong and phoned the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, Nancy said.

The family spent one night in Pontiac General Hospital, Pontiac.

"We'd like to thank the sheriff's department, paramedics from Riverside and the fire department. They were just super," she said.

Street facade under fire again

By Marilyn Trumper

The Clarkston Village Council continues to debate the issue of crumbling Main Street facades.

The council unanimously agreed Feb. 28 to draft yet another letter to the three owners of the deteriorating buildings at 12, 14 and 16 Main, and requested a March 21 reply with specifics on what repairs will be made.

Spurred on by building and planning Director Kenneth Delbridge's warnings of falling mortar and brick, several council members said the issue has been going on long enough.

In December Delbridge called the situation "...dangerous as hell" and proposed cording off the sidewalk to preserve the public's health, safety and welfare.

Ron and Judy Galley bought the Flower Adventure last June, and have not been a part of the over three-year battle between property owners and the village.

"We'll be glad to cooperate with the village council. This is the first notification we've had," Judy Galley said when contacted after the meeting.

Dave McNeven, owner of Coach's Corner, said, "I'll fix it" and refused further comment.

Third businessman Donald Hayes, owner of the Clarkston Cafe, was out of town and could not be reached for comment.

Wrestler finishes second in state

By Dan Vandenhemel

After 49 straight wins, Clarkston's Greg Ellis lost in the finals of the state wrestling tournament in East Lansing last weekend.

Ellis, a junior, lost the 105-pound title match 3-2 in overtime to Greg Fleming of Grosse Pointe North.

"Greg had a great year," said coach Rick Detkowski. "Second place in the state finals is nothing to be ashamed of."

Senior teammate Al Wall also qualified for the state tournament. He won one match and lost two before being eliminated.

In the match Wall won, he pinned his opponent in overtime after a tough 0-0 draw in regulation.

"Al's pin in overtime was great," Detkowski said. "He does better as the match goes longer. His heart rate is only 49, and 56 is ideal for an athlete. He did a great job just to get to the finals."

Ellis was the first Clarkston wrestler to advance that far in the tournament. Throughout the season he set the record for most wins in a season (49), most consecutive (49) and the most pins (34).

After winning his semifinal match at 11 a.m. Saturday, Ellis had to wait until 7 p.m. for the finals.

"We got him right out of the gym and back to the hotel room," said Detkowski. "It was nerve wracking to sit around. We let him go back and sleep, watch T.V., just relax and get his mind off of the match." To help cheer Ellis and Wall on were about 30 parents, friends, teammates and some members of the pom-pon squad. But compared to the following Bedford High School had, they almost went unnoticed.

"It was great they came up to watch," said the coach. "But Bedford brought 1,000 people with them. They always have a big turnout like that. Wrestling is their sport."

For members of the Wolves' wrestling team, now the pressure is off.

"Knowing that the season is over, Greg can get back in the mainstream. He is such a disciplined person, he can eat again. He and Al both cut themselves off from most of the social activities, which says a lot for them," said Detkowski.

The team as a whole for the season finished 11-7. Most of the losses came when the team was hit with a rash of injuries and sickness.

Wall, regional finalist Jeff Lawrence and Tony Rafferty missed over a month due to injuries.

Looking back at the year with all the injuries and flu, we didn't look that bad," said Detkowski. "We started out pretty good and finished good."

Wall finished with a 27-8 record and Lawrence was 27-7. Senior captain Brad Mosher and Dean Buchanan each held 19-11 records.

"We had a young team this year," Detkowski said. "We only have three seniors on the team, Wall, Mosher and Mike Wendorf, but they were tough."

Sophomores Ken Stuk, Jack Basham, Mark Morales, Rocky Tucker and Gene Larson came through with some tough victories for the Wolves as did juniors Keith Edwards and Rafferty.

"I'm really looking forward to next year," said the coach. "Ellis is coming back and so is Lawrence along with most of the team. That plus the JV team is going to have a full schedule next year should help a lot."

Sports Wolves fall from districts

By Dan Vandenhemel

The Clarkston Wolves' volleyball team ended its season last Saturday in the district tournament against L'Anse Creuse North.

The host Crusaders eventually won the district by downing the Wolves in two straight games, 15-12 and 15-9.

"I knew it was going to be tough going into the tournament," said coach Linda Denstaedt. "We were at a disadvantage because we've been inconsistent most of the year."

The Wolves started the first game out slowly but were able to fight back and pull within two points, 14-12.

In the second game, Clarkston jumped out to a 9-3 lead before the Crusaders could mount an attack.

"The girls played well in the first game after their slow start," Denstaedt said. "In the second game, our passing stopped. Once that happens our serving breaks down, then our setting breaks down."

"I think the girls were mentally there. They were ready for the tournament," she said. "But the physical errors hurt. The inconsistent play has just haunted us all season."

For the season, the Wolves finished with a 16-11 record overall and 7-5 in the Greater Oakland Activities League.

"When we won, we were awesome," Denstaedt said. "We kept striving for teamwork. When we achieved that we were quite good."

"In all of my 10 years of coaching, this has been

Amy Stark keeps her eye on the ball as she sends it back over the net with teammate the most confusing season I think I've had. The girls worked hard all season. They didn't quit or give up at all, that's a mark of a good team."

Denise Giroux standing by to help. The Wolves lost to L'Anse Creuse North Saturday.

Leading the Wolves most of the season were Jamie Howenstine, Marina Hamlett, Renee Mercier and Annette Ulasich.

"Looking over the team I'd have to say those were the standouts," Denstaedt said. "Jamie and Marina were all-around players but Renee and Annette were indispensable."

"With so many ladies playing good, it's hard sometimes to keep them together. This was, as the team calls it, a family feeling. I'm not ashamed of them at all," Denstaedt said.

Skiers place fourth in state tourney at Crystal Mountain

By Dan Vandenhemel

With the temperature reaching toward 60 degrees, the Clarkston boys' ski team finished fourth in the state finals at Crystal Mountain in Thompsonville.

The skiers were paced by Andy Balzarini and Craig McLeod at the finals. Balzarini skied to a fifth-place finish in the giant slalom and McLeod finished 10th in the slalom.

"To finish fourth in the state is great for the team," coach Don Balzarini said. "We are the fourth best team in the state."

Also qualifying for the individual competition at the state finals was Lisa Burkemo of the girls' team. She was in seventh place after her first run in the giant slalom, but missed a gate in her final run and was disqualified.

For the regular season, both the boys' and the girls' teams had 7-1 record in dual meets. In the Pine Knob Ski Resort Divisional meet, both teams captured first place.

The boys held the top spot in the state regional and the girls' team finished fifth. In the Southeastern Michigan Championship, the girls' team took top honors and the boys' team came in second.

"I never expected either team to do as well as they did," said Balzarini. "My hope was they would win the division meet. They went farther than I thought."

During the season, Andy Balzarini couldn't be any more consistent if he tried. In the eight regular season meets, Andy finished first eight times. McLeod wasn't far behind as he had five second-place finishes and a third and fourth.

For the girls, Burkemo was disqualified twice but won every other race. Stephanie Brown accomplished two firsts, five seconds and a fourth.

"I didn't have to worry about the top two very often in the meets," the coach said. "What was the big lift for us was our depth. I could count on our fourth, fifth, sixth skiers to place."

Mike Roeser, Dave Huttenlocher, Mark Southby, Jeff Douglas, Mark Mitchell and Rick Whitaker also came through for the Wolves during the season.

On the girls' team, Jennifer Hodges, Heather Laurie, Amy Spaven, Lynne Howse, Kelly Haskins and Kelly Fish figured in on the scoring most of the year.

"This was a very good season for us," Balzarini said. "Next year the entire girls' team will be back and all but Andy, Huttenlocher and Douglas will be back. The girls' and the boys' teams should be better next year."

Senior Andy Balzarini led the boys' team with fifth-place finish

Boys' track team has jump on the weather

By Dan Vandenberg

The unseasonably warm weather is helping the Clarkston Wolves boys' track team get ready for the season.

"With this weather, we've been able to get out here and practice on the track," said assistant coach Mike Kaul. "We've accomplished more this past week than we could in five weeks in the gym."

Despite being outside, some of the team was still jokingly complaining about the running drills.

When Kaul or head coach Walt Wyniemko called for the WISS drills, the biggest moans rang out.

"WISS stands for walk, jog, stride and sprint," Wyniemko said. "They walk a quarter of the track, then jog a quarter, then stride and sprint."

Seniors Rusty Bennett, Paul Burch, Dave Lippincott, Craig Esslink, Willie Williams and Tim Pike and others should help out a great deal, said Wyniemko. They are returning from last year's team which won just two meets.

Their record last year can be a little misleading and, as Wyniemko explains, could get some people angry.

"When people see there's not a lot of W's up there, they think the team isn't that good," he said. "People get angry at that because they know the team is better than that. It's not that we were a real good team but we weren't bad at all."

"This is just a very tough league. You look at the top teams in the county and you'll see our league right there. Our league is just so competitive," he said.

Unusually warm weather enabled the boys' track team to practice outside early in the season. Junior Scott Alsup gets set to land as he practices the long jump.

Wolves open district tournament with win

By Dan Vandenhemel

One down, two to go.

Clarkston won the opening game in the district basketball tournament against Pontiac Northern 65-47 Monday night.

The Wolves will meet Waterford Township Wednesday with the winner advancing to the district finals Saturday night at Waterford Mott High School.

"I'm happy to win the ball game," said coach Dan Fife. "We got the big buckets when we needed them."

The Huskies started the game by putting pressure on the Wolves with a full-court press. They jumped out to quick 4-0 lead.

But Clarkston used quick passes to Dave Jokisch from Craig Kulaszewski and Greg Molzon to take control of the game.

Early in the second quarter, with the help of Huskie turnovers, the Wolves upped their lead to 26-11 and led 30-15 at halftime.

"I think our trouble with the start of the game is getting the feel for the game," said senior Ray Kubani. "Once we get into the game we're all right."

Kubani led all scorers with 20 points. Mike McCormick followed up with 17 points and Jokisch added 14.

The entire game was hard fought. Late in the third quarter, McCormick suffered a cut lip after a scramble for the ball.

"I think someone stepped on it," McCormick said. "It was physical out there, they are a physical team and they (referees) were letting a lot go. We were lucky to control the boards."

The Wolves seemed to be running the ball more, trying to quicken their offense.

"I enjoy the running game," Fife said. "We've been making mistakes looking for someone to pass it to so I figured we could run and make the mistakes too. They have a tendency to look east and west instead of north and south for a pass."

JV Wolves tie for top spot

By Dan Vandenhemel

For the fourth straight year the Clarkston Junior Varsity volleyball team boasts the best record in the Greater Oakland Activities League.

The Wolves finished tied with Rochester High School with a 14-4 record in dual meets.

In the four seasons with Nancy Foster as coach, Clarkston has an overall record of 58-13.

The Wolves beat Rochester in three games on Feb. 14 but lost to Lake Orion Feb. 16. They wrapped up their league season with a win over West Bloomfield Feb. 21.

"We were let down after the tough win over Rochester," said Foster. "We weren't up enough for Lake Orion."

Eight of the 12 players on the team were members of the junior varsity basketball team last fall that finished with a 19-1 overall record.

They came into the volleyball season in shape and they knew how to win.

"Volleyball has to be all teamwork," coach Nancy Foster said. "Those girls came in with a winning attitude. They weren't used to losing, which really helped. The whole team is pretty close-knit on the court."

Foster said Lisa Ashton, Laura Hurren and Roseann Hirneisen have been the leading players most of the season.

"Roseann was our super server this year—95 percent of her serves were in," said the coach. "Lisa just played great all season and Laura played super in the back row."

The highlight of the season, Foster said, was their second-place finish in the Lansing Waverly tournament Jan. 29.

"That was great," she said. "We beat Waverly early in the tournament but they went on to win it. It's great just because it's a tournament. You're there all day."

Spring break

By Dan Vandenhemel

Another college spring break has come and gone and I still didn't get to Florida.

All through high school and all through college I've wanted to make the trip to sunny Daytona Beach.

Each year something stops me: money, work, rides, money, friends, money.

How much could it cost, $200-300 maybe?

You could sleep in the car or on the beach if it's still allowed. That would save some money.

Food wouldn't be that much either. One square meal a day out of a McDonald's box would be just fine.

You wouldn't have to worry about washing clothes. Just pretend to fall in the ocean and go rinse yourself off in the showers, no one would notice.

Well at least the problem of the cost has been solved. Now to worry about how to get there.

A friend of mine keeps asking me to go down there with him. But one year, he has to work and I can go. The next he wants to go and I don't have the money.

Now he has all the time in the world since he is "between jobs." But he can't afford it. With just starting here I won't have time until next year, maybe.

Last year, John went down to Daytona with three other friends. He came back telling me all these stories about how great it is there and how sorry he felt that I had to work.

I don't think he was too sincere about his regrets because he was laughing uncontrollably.

Another friend of mine, yes I do have friends, told me he wasn't able to get much sleep because of all the noise that was coming from the parties in his apartment.

What are friends for, anyway?

I could just take off when I'm able to get some vacation time in a year or so.

My car gets great gas mileage but the strain of a 22-hour drive would be too much for it. It would probably break down and leave me stranded on the beach.

There's an idea...

Stereopticon

Touring the Whitney mansion by Betty Duris

Editor's note: Once a month, Betty Duris will use her "Stereopticon," or magic lantern, to take a look at historic treasures. She begins her series with the story of Detroit's Whitney mansion, a home that was very much alive in the Victorian Age and, though in a different context, very much alive today. She'll use the same style to look at Clarkston's living history in the months to come.

"There are probably only one or two left," he said. "One is the Whitney mansion, and...and..." His voice trailed off; he couldn't for the moment recall a second.

But Jeff Jones had already given my complacent memory a disquieting nudge.

The Birmingham businessman and Romeo civic leader was in Clarkston several weeks ago, speaking in a forum on historic restoration and preservation.

Aptly making his point that unless cherished and protected our historic treasures are lost to us, he lamented the now nonexistent grand landmarks that once dotted the length of Woodward in Detroit. Lost to memory; lost to posterity.

The Whitney mansion. Immediately I remembered the exquisite Whitney mansion.

A number of years ago an art history study of the 19th century architect Gordon Lloyd led me on a tour of the lumber baron's estate.

How very impressed I was, how in awe of the reflected former life-style, and how fortunate I thought the members of the Visiting Nurses' Association then quartered in such elegant surroundings.

Mr. Jones' remark prompted my search for the notes I'd made that detailed the mansion. (My original manuscript is probably still dust gathering in the deep recesses of Oakland University's art archives.)

"...Undoubtedly the most impressive of Gordon Lloyd's domestic structures in the Romanesque is the magnificent house of David Whitney Jr. on Woodward at Canfield."

The 1894 Free Press described it as "An American Palace," and surely it must have been. I continued reading...

"The home was built over a four-year period from 1890 to 1894 at a cost of $400,000 and is constructed of hand-cut Jasper stone from South Dakota, a stone so hard that a small blacksmith shop was maintained for continuous sharpening of the tools.

"The roof line is almost castle-like in its gables, peaks, and turrets. The rounded arch motif of the Romanesque style is used throughout the exterior and interior of the home.

"Covered porches decorate all corners of the Whitney house, with a two-story double porch at the southeast corner and a round conservatory at the southwest.

"A double carved archway with the Whitney crest leads to the main entrance at the northeast end of the house. The crest motif is repeated several times inside the house in wood carvings.

"The Whitneys opened their home to streams of carriages driving up to its porte cochere for receptions, teas and musicals.

"Inside, a Grecian style vestibule leads to the Grand Hall, the largest room in the house, 24 by 50 feet.

"The floor is of English mosaic tile of Flemish design; the woodwork, carved and quartered oak.

"Both overture and finale is the grand staircase, which sweeps to a broad landing highlighted by a two-story Tiffany stained glass window. Tiffany windows are used throughout.

"At the north end of the house is the music room, its ceiling painted silk and its flooring Honduras mahogany.

"Next is Mr. Whitney's private smoking room, with French canvas walls and mahogany woodwork.

"A vaulted ceiling converges into a cluster of lights—the Whitney house was one of the first in the city equipped with electricity.

"East of the Grand Hall are the drawing and reception rooms, resplendent with fireplaces of maple and onyx. These rooms are decorated in the graceful and delicate Empire period.

"At the south end of the hall is the library, an all mahogany room with 7-foot-high bookcases forming a wainscoting.

"Delph blue is predominant harmonizing with the blue tile from Italy used in the 10-foot-high fireplace trimmed in silver.

"The dining room is warmed by the dark glow of Flemish design mahogany woodwork. Gobelin tapestry panels hang from the walls, bordered by a painted oil on canvas frieze.

"Rich Numidian marble enhances the fireplace beneath a beamed and oil painted ceiling.

"Both the second and third floors were used as living quarters for the Whitney family; servants quarters were to the rear of the house.

"Mrs. Whitney's suite is Louis XI style with silver birch woodwork.

"The third floor ballroom is the size of the Grand Hall. Its domed ceiling of wood and painted canvas rounds to a large central skylight.

"The gallery adjacent housed the extensive Whitney art collection."

My notes ended with the Free Press issue of 1894

citing the mansion as a structure which would "last as long as it is given to houses made by man to endure."

And endure it has—or so I was smug enough to believe that evening as I put away my papers.

SECTION TWO

The Clarkston (Mich.) News Wed., March 9, 1983 21

The Whitney mansion: The 1894 Free Press described it as "An American Palace" that would "last as long as is given to houses made by man to endure."

Rep's grand opening

Everyone's invited to sip coffee, munch on donuts and meet State Rep. Mat Dunaskiss during the grand opening of a second district office at 6140 Dixie Highway in Independence Township. The party is planned Friday, March 11, from 8:30 to 10 a.m. "I'm very pleased to be able to have the Clarkston office because the district is quite spread out," Dunaskiss said. "I feel the roll of a representative, 50 percent, is helping with individual problems with state government and the office helps facilitate that." Dunaskiss said office expenses will be paid with private contributions and from his own accounts and no tax dollars will be used. A Republican, Dunaskiss represents the 60th District and lives in Lake Orion, where his other district office is located. Staffing the Clarkston office will be local residents Carol Balzarini, Jeanne Molzon, Sue Meszler and Karen Ohrnberger. The telephone number is 623-2256.

Dust relief

While some Independence Township roads are a muddy mess, summer's drying heat and resulting dusty roads are not far behind.

With this in mind, on March 1 the Independence Township Board approved paying 14 cents per foot for road chloriding, and oiling sanctioned by the Department of Natural Resources.

The 4-cent-a-mile increase represents a 40-percent raise in the township's matching funds over last year, when it paid 10 cents per foot.

Homeowners on dirt roads collect funds and independently contract for road chloriding in front of their homes.

Date changed

For those of you planning to attend the March 15 meeting of the Independence Township Board—cross it off the calendar.

Instead put a big "X" on the 14th.

Conflicting with the Board of Review which must meet by law that Tuesday to hear assessments, the township board stepped its meeting back one day to Monday, March 14, at 7:30 p.m. in the Independence Township Hall Annex, 90 N. Main, Clarkston.

"We figured that there would be a large crowd at the Board of Review, and they wanted to use the annex. We figured we might have a crowd too, and would need the annex. So, because they're required by law to meet (that Tuesday) we moved our meeting back," explained Clerk Christopher Rose.

'Cheaters'

Practice makes perfect for Paul Hoffmaster and Sandy Sanford for the Play "Cheaters. The Clarkston Village Players are performing their dinner-theater play at the Deer Lake Racquet Club on White Lake Road in Independence Township on March 11, 12 and the 18, 19. The buffet dinner is to begin at 6 p.m. and the play at 8:30 p.m. Tickets are $15 and are for sale at the racquet club and at Tierra Arts and Design, 20 S. Main, Clarkston.

Nominate the very best ones

The deadline is approaching for nominations of young people in the Clarkston school district who deserve special recognition.

The final date applications may be submitted is Monday, March 14.

Sponsored by the Clarkston Area Youth Assistance Committee, the project is new this year and plans are to make it an annual event.

"We've got 20 applications. I was astounded. We thought the nominations would be very scarce," said Carole Meyers, chairman of the youth recognition committee.

"Of course we want a lot more," she added.

Each nominee will receive a certificate of recognition.

The committee is looking for school-age children who responded to the community's needs without being asked or coerced by an adult and who did not receive payment for the deed.

One such nominee might be someone who cleared walks for a senior citizen because he was "doing it from his heart," Meyers said.

Another example would be a young person who raised a great deal of money for a charity on his or her own.

Or, the nominee could be someone who spends time each week visiting a person who is handicapped or elderly.

Nomination forms are available at The Clarkston News office, 5 S. Main, Clarkston. Hours are 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays.

Hats off to owner for tour

Whitney mansion is saved

But enduring does not take into account the wrecking ball.

Enter one Mr. Richard Kughn.

A recent Detroit News article disclosed that it was Mr. Kughn who saved the Whitney home from destruction after the Visiting Nurses' Association vacated the premises three years ago.

"...He couldn't sleep..." recalled friend Charles V. Hagler, who had taken a last tour of the doomed estate with Mr. Kughn. "...he pulled out a check and paid $375,000 cash for the place."

The mansion is now the home of Kughn Enterprises; its owner recently honored as March of Dimes' "Humanitarian of the Year."

Well, thank you, Jeff Jones, for jostling my memory and bringing the Whitney mansion back to life for me.

And thank you, Mr. Kughn, for keeping it alive for all of us.

Incidentally, I called Mr. Kughn and asked if I might visit again. He said, "Yes." We set the date for next Wednesday...

If it's a major fire, or a minor oddity, we want a call at The Clarkston News. . . . 625-3370

Editor's note: An Apple for the Teacher is the work of members of the Clarkston Education Association committee working to promote the image of teachers. It will run every other week until the end of the school year. This week's article was written by school social worker Dorothy Leaming, the chairman of the CEA committee.

Fourth-graders at Bailey Lake School are lucky indeed to have Kay Van Natta as their teacher.

Kay, a Clarkston teacher for 14 years (most of this at Bailey Lake), was born, raised and still lives in Davisburg.

She received her bachelor's degree from the University of Northern Colorado and her master's from Michigan State University.

Kay has always wanted to be a teacher and enjoys it.

Perhaps her appetite for the profession was whetted by her mother, presently a retired Clarkston teacher.

"I'm surrounded by talented adults as well as kids of all types. It's exciting, fun, aggravating, tiring, rewarding and frustrating," Kay says. "What it is not is boring."

"All grades have their own attractions, but I enjoy fourth. The children can do things independently, have interesting ideas and are, for the most part, really fun to be around."

Kay's classroom abounds with a variety of plants and she is frequently seen with her nose in one of the latest books.

Another of Kay's interests is travel and she has had the opportunity to do some while vacationing or showing horses.

She has seen most of Europe, the British Isles, Turkey, and the parts of Africa where they weren't shooting at the time.

"New England and the view from the top of the Great Wall of China are still on my list," she says.

Raising and showing quarter horses is a consuming interest with Kay.

She feels that the training and teaching you do to prepare for life is not so very different from the types of things you do to prepare a horse for showing.

She believes in being patient, firm and consistent.

Would you go watch the Michigan Panthers at the Silverdome?

"Probably not. I don't like football. I'm just not interested in it."—Vanya Honea of Independence Township.

"Probably I would. I like football and I like the guy they just signed, Anthony Carter. I don't understand what they are doing with the new league but I would go watch them."—Bill Shaw of Independence Township.

"I probably would go, I like football. It's an interesting idea. It's something new. Maybe the Panthers will do better than the Lions did."—Maria Shelton of Pontiac.

NOTICES

WORDS OF LIFE - "He spake this parable unto certain which trusted in themselves that they were righteous, and despised others: Two men went up into the temple to pray; the one a Pharisee, and the other a publican. The Pharisee stood and prayed thus with himself: God, I thank thee, that I am not as other men are, extortioners, unjust, adulterers, or even as this publican. I fast twice in the week, I give tithes of all that I possess. And the publican, standing afar off, would not lift up so much as his eyes unto heaven, but smote upon his breast, saying, God be merciful to me a sinner. I tell you, this man went down to his house justified rather than the other; for every one that exalteth himself shall be abased; and he that humbleth himself shall be exalted." 11-year-old amateur takes top three wins with three months' experience at the shutter

By Marilyn Trumper

An 11-year-old is the snapshotter of Independence Township.

A whiz behind the shutter.

A virtuoso at the lens.

Watch out, Clarkston.

Chris Luzi, photographer, is out winning prizes and you could be his next unsuspecting subject.

Armed with a 35mm Nikon, Chris has proven himself an artist of the black and white and captured first, second and third place from a field of 80 in Oakland County's Third Annual Employee Art and Photography Show.

And all that with just three months' experience.

His first place: A candid portrait of an aging neighbor clad in a plaid lumber shirt.

Second place: "Study in Transportation", a pair of well-worn tennis shoes at rest on a stoop.

Third place: Chris' pet cat, titled "Mouse Alert".

"My dad helped me come up with the titles, so when they announced the winners I remember thinking, 'Who's that?' I didn't know it was me. I was real surprised," said the smiling Clarkston Elementary student.

"My dad's into photography, and so's my brother. I asked for the camera for Christmas and I've been taking pictures since then. They both help me and show me what to do. I worked in the darkroom a long time before I started taking pictures," he said.

With the air of a seasoned veteran, Chris zips open a black portfolio and offers a peek at four of his latest works:

- The candid smiling face of a schoolmate hammocking it up from behind the bus seat.

- A lonely dirt road lined with mature trees.

- A portrait of his dad, half-shadowed.

- His aunt's wide-eyed dog.

"I like taking pictures of animals the best, especially cats," Chris said. "They're always interested in what you're doing, and look right at you."

"Sports and action shots are the most difficult because of all the movement."

And first in line to expand his equipment is a zoom lens, Chris said.

"My dad says I should start charging for the prints I give away to help pay for the paper and stuff. My dad buys our film in bulk, and we roll it, but I save my allowance to pay for the (print) paper."

Chris says he competes for darkroom time with his dad and 14-year-old brother. And being the youngest, he says he often comes up with the short end of the stick.

"And, I've taken a few bad pictures too," he confesses.

But it appears photography comes easily to this youngster.

Keep an eye out for Chris.
