Yesterday today: "Relaxing" is how O.D. Livermore describes riding in a horse-drawn carriage. He paused in the Village of Clarkston during the family soiree last week for cooling ice cream for his wife, Kay, and their granddaughter, Becky DeLong. Then they rode on in the red-wheeled carriage to the Livermores' home on Big Lake in Springfield Township. Becky lives in Clarkston.

Fire destroys house; injures couple

By Marilyn Trumper

Two Independence Township residents, a husband and wife, are in the Ann Arbor Burn Center for treatment of injuries sustained in a fire that destroyed their $45,000 ranch home on Harvard Road.

Jackie Price, 39, and Gerald, 40, are listed in critical and serious condition respectively according to Capt. Dale Bailey of the Independence Township Fire Department.

Jackie was pulled from a rear bedroom engulfed in flames where she had passed out from smoke inhalation.

Their children, 19-year-old Kent and Jerry, 11, escaped injury.

According to Bailey, the family home in northeast quadrant of the township had been burning for an hour and a half before fire officials were called.

"We're still not sure how it started," Bailey said. "We know that Kent was asleep in the basement and woke up because his father was upstairs in the living room stomping around.

He tried to get through the door, but couldn't because of the flames. So he exited through an outside door. He broke out the doorwall so his father could get out."

The younger son, Jerry, awoke, saw the flames and escaped through a bedroom window, Bailey said. "When we arrived the neighbors were cutting a hole in the bedroom wall where the woman was sleeping so that they could get her out. The windows were too small to get out," Bailey said.

According to Bailey, the fire was extinguished within 20 minutes

Drumming up bands for July parade

Music is needed for the annual July 4 Parade sponsored by the Independence Township Firefighters' Association.

More float entries are also wanted, and the top three will win $25.

"If your organization has a band or group that would like to perform in the parade, please let us know," says Neal Sage of the firefighters' association. "We have several floats entered, but we would like more."

This year's theme is "Mother Goose Celebrates the Fourth of July."

To enter a float or a band, call 625-1924 between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. weekdays.

Millage passes

Voters passed the 3-mill tax renewal for Clarkston schools Monday and elected Janet Thomas and Elaine Keeley Schultz to four-year terms on the school board and David Kithil for one year.

Fernando Sanchez, who sat on the board 15 years, was defeated in his bid for re-election.

Thomas Azoni, appointed by the board in March, was also unseated.

The voter turnout was light, with 2,131 votes cast from the district which has about 14,000 registered voters.

Issue search brings Carr to Clarkston

By Kathy Greenfield

"Needs assessment" was United States Congressman Bob Carr's goal last week as he visited the Oakland County portion of the 6th District.

He defined the term this way: "What they would like to see their Congress doing for their local community."

Carr was elected to his fourth term in Congress in November. He represents the Lansing and Pontiac areas and a portion of Oakland County including Independence and Springfield townships.

The Democrat, who resides in Okemos, served three terms in Congress prior to election defeat in 1980, but came back to retake the seat in the 1982 election.

Local issues on his mind Friday involved Stables and the toxic waste cleanup in Springfield and Rose townships.

While the proposed Stables toxic waste disposal plant in Brandon Township is not located in Carr's district, a portion of the underground aquifer is, he said.

Carr has received letters regarding Stables, and he said he remains opposed to the development.

"I took that position in the campaign and followed through to make sure our friends up in the (Michigan Department of Natural Resources) in Lansing know how we feel about it and to make sure the governor knows how we feel about it," he said.

As one of the 57-member House Appropriations Committee where all budgeting begins its course through the House, Senate and to the president for approval or veto, Carr said he was particularly pleased with the proposal to increase the budget of the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

If approved by the legislature and the president, there will be 400 more people hired with the $200 million increase which puts funding back to the 1981 level.

"My fear was at previous funding levels it would run out before it got here," he said. "The Springfield-

East Lansing and for Focus Hope, the federal surplus food agency, to come into Pontiac.

President Reagan has already indicated he'll veto some of the appropriations bills, although he has not been specific, Carr said.

"This is sort of an obstacle course," he said. "But the things I'm trying to do for this district will somehow get through the obstacle course. If it doesn't get through this time we'll get it back on the track next year."

[Carr's comments on some national and state issues are on Page 9.]

Rose site is one of the smaller in the nation."

If work does not continue at the local site, Carr said a different method will be used.

"The key here is just to get the darned thing cleaned up," he said, adding that if action is not speedy, the appropriations committee report will include specific locations.

While that step is drastic, it will be taken if necessary, he said.

The congressman said he has also earmarked some Jobs Bill funds for train stations in Pontiac and

Sacroiliac Strain

"An individual suffering from sacroiliac strain may not be able to stand straight without experiencing sharp pain."

One of the more common areas of injury to the back is the slipping of the sacrum or tailbone, in relation to the bones of the hip.

This is commonly referred to as sacroiliac strain. Many times there is widespread ligament and muscle strain. The sciatic nerve can become involved which can create further disability. An individual suffering from sacroiliac strain may not be able to stand straight without experiencing sharp pain.

A similar condition can be found along any part of the spine.

For example, if the strain is located in the upper back, the arms and shoulders may become involved. Heightened pain, whether lying, standing or sitting, may be caused by motion. If left untreated this pain and strain may cause further damage and complications.

Corrective chiropractic adjustments to the involved vertebrae can bring about rapid relief of the symptoms and correction of the disorder.

You or someone you know may be suffering needlessly from upper and lower back pain at the risk of furthering complications. Please give our office a call if back injury is suspected.

Schultz, Thomas, Kithil take seats

By Kathy Greenfield

Two incumbents were unseated in the Clarkston school district election Monday.

In July when the new members take office, gone will be 15-year board member Fernando Sanchez and Thomas Azoni, who was appointed by the board in March to fill the seat vacated by Addison Hubbard who moved to Indiana.

School board President Janet Thomas was the lone incumbent to be re-elected.

Also winning a four-year term was Elaine Keeley Schultz, and David Kithil will replace Azoni for the one year remaining of Hubbard's four-year term.

69% say 'yes'

In a light turnout at the polls Monday, 69 percent of the Clarkston school district voters approved the 3-mill tax renewal for 10 years.

The unofficial tally was 1,416 yes, 636 no. Three mills are $3 for each $1,000 of assessed property valuation.

School district Supervisor Milford Mason said he was "sort of overwhelmed" by the margin of victory.

"A renewal such as this is a referendum on the school district," he said.

"Obviously there are some other factors that come into play (but) it certainly gives me and the whole operation—myself and the teachers—the motivation to strive even further to try to do everything we can to present the best education possible with the resources we have."

When the election totals were read at the school board meeting Monday night, applause from the crowd of about 50 greeted the millage renewal victory.

"I certainly want to thank all the residents in the Clarkston school district. Once again they came through when we needed them. I'm really proud of our district today," said Assistant Superintendent Mel Vaara.

"We would like to thank the community for its support," said Clarkston Education Association President Allen Bartlett.

"It proves once again that children do count in Clarkston...and we will do our best to maintain the high quality of teaching this community has come to expect."

There are about 14,000 voters in the school district, according to Independence Township Clerk Christopher Rose.

Of that number, about 2,131 voted in the election, he said, a turnout of about 15 percent.

In the race for the four-year term, the unofficial totals announced at Monday night's board meeting were Schultz—1,022, Thomas—808, William Medlin—641, Sanchez—619 and Sara Lou Reabe—542.

The 50 people at the board meeting gave Sanchez a standing ovation.

"Thank you all. I enjoyed being up here. I always gave my best shot," he said.

"Thank the public for their confidence in me over the years," he added after the meeting.

Thomas, 44, of Warbler Lane, Independence Township, will begin her third four-year term on the board.

"I just appreciate the support the people gave the millage and I certainly appreciate the support I received by my re-election," she said. "I'll try to continue to represent the people of the district."

Newcomer Schultz, 34, resides on Clinton Drive, Independence Township.

"I'm very happy," she said. "I appreciate all the support that was given to me and I'll do the very best job that I can."

In the Kithil-Azoni race, the vote totals were 994 Kithil, 792 Azoni.

"I'm really pleased that the millage passed and that the community is so firmly behind the schools. I look forward to serving," said Kithil, 43, of Pine Ridge Road, Independence Township.

"I would like to see Thomas Azoni get some words of praise from me," he added. "Thomas Azoni did serve in a very distinguished way in a most challenging time."

"It's been a privilege to serve on the board with such distinguished people, and it is a privilege that I will carry with me a long, long time," said Azoni.

22 teachers recalled to Clarkston school posts

The contrast in atmosphere was striking as the Clarkston board of education recalled 22 of 28 teachers who received layoff notices in April.

The action came shortly after the announcement Monday night that voters had renewed the 3-mill tax levy at the polls.

"We were not over-confident of the millage, we were just prepared," said board President Janet Thomas. "This is a decidedly more pleasant task than what we had to do a few months ago."

"Because I laid them off, may I please call them back?" asked Mary Jane Chaustowich, who then read off the list.

And the crowd of 50 applauded when the list was completed.

The teachers whose jobs are no longer in jeopardy are:

- Elementary school teachers Patricia Andrus, Carolyn Young, Carol Schuette, Joette Kunse, Dalana Hunt Weil, Susan Banworth, Anne Dipaolo, Bernice Rynders, Leonard Loveless, Linda Spannaus and Mary Madden

- Special education teachers Ervin Thomas Smith, Patricia Moore-Schulte and Laurel Rightler

- Secondary teachers Deborah Shotwell, Vincent Lacata, David Smith, Lawrence Mahrle, Michael Taylor, Hannalore Rupprecht, Laura Schaefer and Linda Robenault.

Eight of the positions were recalled because of resignations and 14 were because of the operational millage rate of 33.33 mills, said administrative assistant Conrad Bruce.

The millage rate was determined because of election results and the unanimous decision by the school board to levy the highest amount of millage allowed under the law.

Nine retire from district jobs

Seven teachers and two other Clarkston school district employes have retired.

Ellis Allen served as an auto body instructor at the Northwest Oakland Vocational Education Center for 12½ years.

Enid Cooper, a kindergarten teacher at Pine Knob Elementary, taught at Clarkston schools 23 years.

Dorothy Greenman, a custodian at Clarkston Junior High School, worked in the district 16 years.

Douglas Griffiths, a fifth-grade teacher at Bailey Lake Elementary, taught 23 years.

Betty Kinsler, a vocal music teacher, taught for Clarkston schools 23 years.

Ruth Montney, a home economics and art teacher at Clarkston Junior High, taught there 17 years.

Mary Russell drove a special education bus for about 26 years.

Dorothy Schreiner, a fourth- and fifth-grade teacher at Bailey Lake Elementary, taught in Clarkston for about 16½ years.

Loretta Shrapnell, a media aide/library technician, worked in Clarkston since 1966.

Five of the teachers took an early retirement incentive of $5,000—Allen, Cooper, Griffiths, Montney and Schreiner.

The only stipulations were they had to be in one of the district's top three steps in the salary schedule and they had to complete the school year, said Administrative Assistant Conrad Bruce.

$500 reward

Repeat attacks of thievery and vandalism have prompted management of the Sunoco Service Station to offer a $500 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of those responsible.

The station is located at 148 N. Main, at the corner of Bluegrass Drive, Independence Township.

"We had the pumps vandalized last week. Somebody poured sand into one of the engines, that cost us $2,000," said station manager Tom Allen.

"They've broken in and stolen tools, $50 in starting cash and last weekend we had seven tires slashed. This has cost us over $3,000. I hope somebody out there knows something and can help us out."

Persons with information are asked to call Detective/Sgt. Roger Allen at the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, 858-4960.

$17,000 bill

Independence's townshipwide cleanup cost $17,000—but only $6,000 was budgeted to foot the bill.

On June 7, the township board unanimously approved using a portion of $22,500 in earned interest from invested federal revenue sharing to make up the difference.

The mid-May cleanup was designed to encourage residents to bring unwanted refuse to the DPW Building on Flemings Lake Road, instead of dumping along public roads and on private property.

-Correction-

In last week's Clarkston News, there was an error in the story announcing the winners of a fund raiser for Independence Township Parks and Recreation junior baseball and youth softball programs.

The prize listed for second-place winner should have been a portable AM-FM cassette recorder.

-Sheriff's log-

Tuesday, vandals threw an unknown missile off the Holcomb Road overpass and smashed the windshield of a car traveling below on I-75, Independence Township.

Friday, vandals damaged the screen in a summer home on Edgewood Road, Independence Township.

Friday, thieves broke into a garage on Sashabaw Road, Independence Township, and stole a $135 10-speed bicycle and a canoe.

Friday, thieves broke into a toolshed at the Ottawa Park Cemetery, 6180 Dixie Highway, Independence Township, and stole a $140 motor.

Friday, vandals caused $1,000 in damages when they broke windows at Clarkston High School, 6595 Middle Lake, Independence Township.

Friday, thieves broke into a disabled car on Clarkston-Orion Road, Independence Township, and stole two jackets, a purse and wallet.

Saturday, thieves broke into Grecian Village II, 6540 Dixie Highway, Independence Township, and stole $750.

This information came from reports at the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

Water safety tips

Now that the thermometer has finally broken through the 90-degree mark we can begin our summer activities in earnest.

It is unfortunate that as more people flock to our area's numerous lakes, drowning and boating accidents become more frequent.

A few words of caution early in the season may prevent a tragedy.

Drowning, nationally, is the third most common cause of accidental death.

Inability to swim, exhaustion, intoxication and injuries to the neck are frequently associated with drowning.

It appears people in different age groups drown for different reasons.

Toddlers easily escape parental supervision and have not developed a fear of the water.

Older children are often left to swim alone.

Most children drown in a neighbor's or relative's pool, not their own.

Teen-agers tend to be aggressive, over-confident swimmers and begin to experiment with drugs and alcohol.

Adults are often intoxicated.

We can hopefully prevent a drowning from occurring if we practice the following:

•Children near the water should be supervised at all times. Drowning can occur in just a few minutes. This includes bathtubs, pools and lakes.

•Everybody who will be near the water should learn to swim.

•Never swim alone.

•Be very careful mixing alcohol with water activities.

CLARKSTON NEWS LETTER POLICY

We welcome our readers' opinions. Letters to the Editor must be at The Clarkston News office by noon Friday to be considered for the following week's paper. We reserve the right to edit all letters for the sake of brevity and clarity and to limit the number of letters from any one individual on any one issue. Jim's jottings

Bar none

I'm sure regular Jottings readers would like to know my dad's favorite bar in Bannister has been remodeled. It came as a big surprise to my 91-year-old pappy and I to find the walls had been paneled, ceilings re-done, and new bar stools.

It took a change of ownership to see the need for the investment. The man who owns the hardware in Eureka bought the bar from the son of the Bannister grocer.

Never did learn the name of this bar dad and I have been frequenting a couple times a year for 10 years. I can tell you it's the one on the west end of the 3-store business block, and it's not the saloon that has the bullet crease in the bar.

I'm telling as much as I can about this Gratiot county community because I just know you'll want to put it on your 'things to see this summer' list.

For those kind enough to ask of my father's health, he's doing just fine. He seems to have an inner satisfaction in seeing how the railroads have failed since he was retired over 25 years ago. In our youth dad told us the RR couldn't survive without him.

He continues his nicknames for staff members at Griffin's Home for Aged in Corunna. He no longer sees Do Little or Useless, but he's got Cyclone who, he says, jumps around like a whirlwind. His alertness makes him a favorite, and he's shaved his nearly bald head to get even more attention. He used to do the same thing, for the same reason, when he was 50.

Speaking of age, but not seriously . . . Ed Perlberg, publisher of the Arenac County Independent in Standish was telling about a recent dental appointment.

Seems Ed had just come from having a very complete physical exam. X-rays, samples of this and that, cardiograms, the works.

A couple hours later his dentist completed a likewise complete exam. An estimate of $600 was given for the repair/replacement work. Then the dentist asked if he could get started.

Ed bolted. He said, "Look, you aren't going to do a darn thing to my teeth until I get the results of my physical."

"If I'm going to die I don't need to have good looking teeth where I'm going."

Letters to editor

Law firm mix-up is corrected

We would like to make you aware of a factual error which appeared in your May 25, 1983, edition in your first page article titled "Independence, Pine Knob team up."

In your article, you stated that Borg-Warner Corp. was one of the largest creditors of Pine Knob Investment's bankruptcy proceedings and that Borg-Warner was represented by the law firm of Honigman, Miller, Schwartz and Cohn.

Borg-Warner Equities Corp. has involvement with Pine Knob Investment, not Borg-Warner Corp., and Borg-Warner Equities Corp. has never employed the Honigman, Miller law firm with respect to Pine Knob Investment or with respect to any other legal matter.

With respect to Pine Knob, Borg-Warner Equities Corp. is represented by the firm of Schluskel, Lifton, Simon, Rands, Kaufman, Galvin & Jackier.

Because of our continuing involvement with the property commonly referred to as Pine Knob, we think it important that the record be set straight.

Music to my ears

by Kathy Greenfield

I kept reading aloud newspaper reports of what had happened to people around the nation who were out running in streets wearing radios with earphones.

I verbally noted there were several areas that had banned the contraptions for drivers and pedestrians.

When my husband and son got together and decided to buy a cassette recorder that straps to a belt and the earphones, I decided that at least they were well-versed in the potential dangers.

I refused to do more than give the thing a cursory tryout.

Months went by.

Then one Saturday when while entertaining myself with housework I looked on the table and lo! the orange-tipped earphones beckoned.

"Try me," they said.

So I did. First I played one of my son's tapes and rocked through the dusting and dishes.

Then I played one of my favorite cassette recordings.

Ah, this is the way housework should be done, I thought, while the vacuum cleaner noise was obliterated.

My whole attitude was undergoing a radical reversal—not that I wanted anyone to use the music box when hearing was essential, but there was a time and place...

The batteries died.

"Mom, where's the recorder?" came a loud, clear voice.

"Well, I was using it and the batteries went dead," I confessed.

He grinned as he grumbled.

Support safety belts, restraints

Previously, your paper has provided editorial support for a safety belt use law and we appreciate your position on this issue.

I am writing you at this current time to explain the current status of this legislation.

Due to the priority of a number of other measures and appropriations bills in particular, the decision has been made to hold the bill (HB4203) in the House Insurance Committee during the summer recess.

In mid-September, a formal hearing will be scheduled with a vote by the full House to follow shortly thereafter.

In the interim, we would like to encourage you to continue your support of safety belts and child restraints.

One of the most influential activities we have found is when media reports safety belt use (or non-use) in articles on local traffic crashes.

Beach bottoms

To use lifeguard John Schultz's words, swimmers last Friday afternoon at Deer Lake Beach "...got a look at the lighter side" of a pontoon boat crew.

Six young men aboard the boat got 20 feet into the swimming area and became tangled in the float lines.

Called on their poor seamanship, the six promptly turned and mooned the beach.

The Oakland County Sheriff's Department arrived and the boys were reprimanded on the bare essentials.

Frankfurter caper

Samantha, the Sunoco Service Station mascot at M-15 and Dixie Highway, has been watching too many Saturday morning cartoons.

Last week the German shepherd sniffed out a bag of linked hot dogs held by a customer exiting a neighboring deli.

Barrelling across the pavement Samantha snatched a frank from the surprised woman's hand, as the woman prepared to sink her teeth into it.

Samantha just wanted the hot dog and didn't hurt anything but the woman's appetite.

Angry, the woman complained to station owners and Samantha was properly disciplined.

Through the roof

If roof repairs have you down, calm yourself by being glad you don't have to take care of a school building.

The Clarkston schools board of education OK'd Monday a whopping $130,348 bill for partial roofing on Andersonville and North Sashabaw elementaries.

And that bill was a bargain at about $77,000 less than the next lowest bid.

The contract, awarded to Firebaugh & Reynolds Roofing Co. of Novi, included a performance bond, all insurance and a 20-year bond for workmanship and materials.

Five companies bid on the project.

'If it Fitz...'

Don't tell anyone

by Jim Fitzgerald

It was no surprise that several people asked why I've made no comment on the judge who led a double life. But I was surprised to learn that someone wondered why I didn't write anything about seeing a married man check into a hotel with a woman who wasn't his wife; the woman was an old friend of mine.

The subject for today is gossip. Pay attention and you'll learn the disadvantages of being Zsa Zsa Gabor.

It was almost midnight when my wife and I boarded the elevator on our way to the restaurant on the top of Detroit's Ponchartrain Hotel. In blatant defiance of the laws of probability, two other elevator passengers were from the little town where we used to live. We knew the woman well, and we knew the man just well enough to know he wasn't with his spouse. The woman blushed and the man looked glumly certain that the Fitzgeralds would never believe he and his companion were going to the Top of the Pontch for a late supper carrying two suitcases.

That was several months ago, and I'd forgotten the incident until last week when it was reported to me that the wayward husband was overheard discussing the accidental meeting. He said he'd read my column nervously for several days after, afraid of seeing his name. Why had I ignored such juicy gossip?

Because the gossipees were only ordinary people, of course. Just as gossip has to be redundant, it also has to be about well-known people to be worth wide circulation. His neighbors might be interested in learning about the straying husband, but everyone else would be bored — unless he strayed with Zsa Zsa Gabor.

THIS IS AN OPPORTUNE TIME to use Zsa Zsa as an example of how published gossip is one of the penalties of fame. She recently received much publicity for allegedly demanding the removal of a group of brain-damaged people who paid $20.05 each to sit near the stage upon which she was performing in Philadelphia.

Because Zsa Zsa is well-known for being well-known, a nasty gossip columnist might write that a person has to be brain-damaged to pay $20.05 to see Zsa Zsa perform.

That wouldn't be nice, of course, and Zsa Zsa would be justified in protesting: But that's the price of divorcing a lot of millionaires. If Zsa Zsa were a simple usher, she wouldn't get her picture in a thousand newspapers for simply displaying her monumental ignorance while seating her intellectual superiors.

As for Judge William Beer, who received nationwide publicity for fathering nine children by another woman while still married to the mother of his three other children, I don't have much to add. Obviously, if he weren't a well-known member of the Michigan judiciary, I wouldn't be writing about Beer at all, even if he'd boarded my elevator accompanied by both mothers and all the kids.

BESIDES, SEVERAL esteemed lawyers assured me that Judge Beer's colleagues have known about his two families for many years and it's unfair for the media to suddenly make a front-page scandal out of a life-style that is really the judge's own personal business. The legal profession apparently expects sympathetic recognition of the unique predicament faced by a judge who believes in judge not, lest you be judged.

I certainly don't want to write any gossip that might offend the American Bar Association. So, despite reader pressure for more cogent comment, all I have to say about the Judge Beer case is that I felt a special pang for one of his children, Matt Beer, who, by wild coincidence, is a Detroit gossip columnist who often demonstrates a great appetite for peering through transoms.

Because of his unique predicament, gossip columnist Beer felt constrained to make "no comment" on the juiciest hunk of gossip to hit Michigan in many years. That was the same as a baseball writer being unable to comment on Don Larsen's perfect no-hit World Series victory.

Onward and Upward, ironically, but don't tell anyone.

Jeff Marraccini leans over the top of a word processor in Sashabaw Junior High's computer room. The 15-year-old's mastered three computer languages and he's working on a fourth.

Computer whiz claims fluency in three computer languages

By Marilyn Trumper

Jeff Marraccini clears his throat.

"You load a number into the computer's accumulator and from there you can manipulate it."

Then he blinks, looking expectantly for comprehension.

Instead of an attache-case-toting executive, he's a 15-year-old, blue jean clad ninth-grader at Sashabaw Junior High School.

One who's self-schooled fluently in three computer languages—and he's learning a fourth.

"I know Basic, which is like English; Assembly, which is more cryptic; and CP-Assembly. I'm learning 6502 Assembly right now," he said.

"I go to Computer Mart and buy the books. I learned Basics in two weeks, but it's taken me two years to learn the others."

At home, Jeff's the proud owner of an Apple II Plus computer.

"Right now I'm writing adventure games (my parents and I are) going to sell. I'm the programmer and they're the agent. And, I write billings for my father. He's a mobile home and housing developer," he said.

Jeff wants a computer career, and said this summer he's looking into classes at Oakland Community College.

"I like (computers) because they give you instant feedback. If you make an error it gets mad at you. But it never makes an error."

Carr comments

United States Congressman Bob Carr (D-Okemos) paused to comment on some national and state issues while in Clarkston last week on a mission to assess the needs of the 6th District.

Excerpts from his comments on a variety of topics follow:

ON BALANCING THE FEDERAL BUDGET

"We're going to try, certainly at the appropriations level, to be more rational about military spending.

"I think we've got to restrict all spending.

"When we look at all the appropriations, my priorities, I would support an increase in funding for education. I would support a decrease in funding for M-X (missiles)."

"In my perfect world, I would really make a full-scale attack on tax loopholes—rather than pick on waitresses and busboys as Regan has chosen to do I would pick on wealthy people."

ON EDUCATION

"In my perfect world, if I was emperor, I would have taxes on property only for services that run with property—roads, fire, police... Education has nothing to do with property size or value."

ON CENTRAL AMERICA

"We're going down a very dangerous road," he said, comparing the situation to Vietnam and calling it a military solution to an economic problem.

"We have to be willing to see that to solve some of these difficult problems you may not be able to plow down...corporate capitalism.

"They need economic development but in terms that makes sense to them, not in our reality."

ON GOV. JAMES BLANCHARD

"I like him. I think he's a very able person."

ON THE RECALL DRIVE

"The state's requirement for a balanced budget says when General Motors, Ford and Chrysler do not sell cars your taxes get raised and your schools get closed.

"I think we'd be better off in our state to have a state finance system that allows us and encourages our state government and legislature to run surpluses.

"Part of the problem is to get popular support to run supluses in the Rainy Day Fund. I wish we could have a statewide town meeting so we could all get into one room and argue these things out."

ON NUCLEAR MISSILES

"There are good missiles (Trident I submarine) and bad missiles (Pershing II).

"I'm against missiles that are short times and high accuracy. It implies first-strike possibilities.

"If the game is to strike first, they'll be impelled to strike first. They (the Russians) do not (now have the capability) despite what you've heard... We should not have it.

"Reagan and (Secretary of Defense Casper) Weinberger seem to have this fascination with first-strike weapons and it is very dangerous."

Independence fills its shopping list

Independence Township's shopping list read: new car, fire hose and driveway paving.

And the board didn't come up empty-handed.

On June 7, the township board unanimously approved purchase of a $9,000 1983 Chevrolet Celebrity for the assessing department, 1,000 feet of hose at $7,390 for the fire department and $31,148 for paving the Maybee Road Park-entrance drive.

"The new hose will allow me to get my new tanker and (another engine) into service," said Fire Chief Frank Ronk.

"We can begin development of the park as soon as the road goes in," said Timothy Doyle, parks and recreation director.

Dozen apply for Clerk Rose's post

By Marilyn Trumper

Twelve people had applied for Clerk Christopher Rose's job as of June 10. He has yet to establish procedure to fill the vacancy.

Rose resigned to take the job of town manager in Littleton, N.H., and is scheduled to leave in three weeks.

Supervisor James B. Smith says the board is expected to go in closed session at its June 21 meeting to "...arrive at a consensus," and Rose will be part of that review.

"We recognize this as more of a challenge because it's not an election, and we're not privy to depend on the public to make the decision," Smith said.

Smith said he thought the decision could be made that night to give Rose at least a week to work with the new clerk.

Following are the applicants:

•Burke Reid (R), 42, lives on Perry Lake Road. He owns a security management consulting firm and served on the township Business Policies and Procedure Task Force.

•Keith Sherwood (R), 23, lives on Eastlawn Road. He is an accountant with Facet Filter Production Division in Madison Heights.

•John C. Weiler (R), 44, lives on Reese Road and is an independent business consultant.

•Eric Hood (R), 31, lives on Columbia Road and is an English teacher in the Brandon School District.

•Barbara Lawless (D), 34, of East Circle Drive is a student at Oakland Community College.

•Marguerite Schmidt (I), 41, of Tiohero Road is an accountant.

•David Meyer, 40, lives on Sashabaw Road, and is a service manager for the Farmington firm of Tektronics.

•Carol Eberhardt (R), 36, lives on Washington Street in Clarkston. The owner of a resale shop, she's also a Clarkston Village Council trustee.

•Carol Balzarini (R), 45, lives on Reese Road. She served on the Cable TV Task Force and now sits on the planning commission. Balzarini lost her 1980 election bid for the treasurer's seat.

•Vivian Barna, 43, of Clarkston-Orion Road, is a bookkeeper, and is non-partisan.

Victor Racosky, (non-partisan), lives on Paramus Drive. He is a diesel instructor at Clarkston's Northwest Oakland Vocational Education Center.

The 12th candidate felt public disclosure of her application could jeopardize her current job.

Cable studio debate continues

By Marilyn Trumper

Officials from Tribune/United failed to get Independence Township's rejection or approval on the four proposed cable TV studio sites.

"Of the four we're looking at, can you give us just one you don't like?" asked Manuel Copado, commercial marketing manager. "Or one you like more than others, so we can get going with collecting our readings?"

On June 7, board members refused to single out one site, and instead agreed on a three-man committee to discuss the issues: township Supervisor James B. Smith, Clarkston Village President Jackson Byers and Clarkston Community Schools Superintendent Milford Mason.

The township has added Clintonwood Park and the Department of Public Works (DPW) Building to the the list of the cable company's proposed sites—Clarkston High School; a planned office development at Dixie Highway and M-15; vacant school property on Clarkston-Orion Road next to the township library; and Helvey Orchards on Sashabaw Road, south of Waldon.

"We are a little bit ahead of schedule (installing the system)," Copado told the board, adding there could be problems because cable officials see a conflict with microwave paths at the library site.

"If a satellite near the dishes is in or near a microwave path, we are receiving them and that interrupts the signals our subscribers want," Copado said.

"So, before we hire a company to take readings and determine if there will be problems at the sites, we'd like to know if there's one or two we can exclude now. It costs $600 for each site review."

Split denied for 240-acre development

By Marilyn Trumper

Strict interpretation of the zoning ordinance resulted in a lot split denial for Kieft Engineering's James Scharl, representing Donald Nolta and Martin Brennan Jr.

The partners want to develop 240 acres into 10-acre parcels off Indianwood Road.

The low-density development and 60-acre wetlands deeded to the Independence Land Conservancy were "trade-offs" for the hoped approval of the plan.

The township Zoning Board of Appeals approved the proposal and private road, with the stipulation the 60 acres be deeded to the conservancy.

The plan was then denied by the lot split committee strictly interpreting the ordinance which said the landlocked 60-acres must have road frontage.

Scharl hoped to appeal to the township board but lost when it unanimously denied his request June 7.

His only options are to take the case to circuit court or to engineer a new development.

"That wasn't a private road as far as I'm concerned," said Clerk Christopher Rose after the meeting. "The ordinance says a private road must serve more than one parcel, and this one doesn't so as far as I'm concerned it's nothing more than a driveway."

"I also see problems with the width-to-depth, road frontage and possible problems with the cul-de-sac and block link."

Scharl could not be reached for comment following the meeting.

Semifinals ahead for Clarkston

By Dan Vandenhemel

For the second time in two years, the Clarkston Wolves varsity softball team captured the regional title.

Saturday at Clintonwood Park, the Wolves downed Midland Dow in the semifinals 6-1 then shutout Lapeer West 8-0 in the finals.

Annette Ulasich won both games. Since the tournament started May 28, she has won all four games for the Wolves and has given up just one run.

"You can't say enough about that kid," said Wolves' coach Carla Teare. "She digs down when she has to and gets tough."

Ulasich set down 11 in a row in the middle of the Lapeer game only to hit a batter with a pitch to stop the string. She allowed only two hits and struck out two.

In the first game, Midland had five hits while walking twice and striking out three times.

Third baseman Laura Hurren also dug down and played a tough two games, especially against Lapeer. She tallied seven assists in the title game including the final out.

"She played fantastic," Teare said. "But even when she was hurt last week, Sheila Moore did a good job at third. I knew we weren't hurting with Laura back in there."

The title game was almost over as soon as it started.

Coming off the easy win, Clarkston jumped out to a 4-0 lead in the first inning of the next game.

Lapeer, coming in from a tough game with L'anse Creuse North, got their lead-off batter on base but she was gunned down at second by right fielder Sue Castillo on a bloop single.

With a runner on first, Ellen DeView lined to Becky Buhl at second and she turned it into a double play.

"Obviously it was good we came out strong," Teare said. "We didn't do much after that."

Ulasich had two doubles and a single against Lapeer and scored twice to help the cause.

Denise Gretz doubled leading off the sixth inning. She had an easy triple but she missed second base and had to return.

"I missed it by a full step," she said. "I wasn't even close to it."

Teare said the the bright sunshine and 85-degree temperature were factors in both games.

"In this kind of heat a team has to be in good condition," she said. "You can ask the team how much I condition them. I left it up to Annette to tell me if she was getting tired. If she was I still had a real good pitcher in Julie (Marshall)."

The Wolves are one of four Class A softball teams left in the running for the state title.

They will meet the winner of the Plymouth-Canton contest Friday in Midland at 5:30 p.m. with the finals at 5:30 p.m. on Saturday.

One more hit and one more run for the Wolves had their bench cheering for more in the 6-1 regional triumph over Midland at Clintonwood Park Saturday.

Wolves bow out in finals

By Dan Vandenhemel

The Clarkston Wolves were eliminated by West Bloomfield 11-3 in the district finals, but not before they made their presence felt in the semifinals.

The Wolves clubbed Rochester Adams 12-6 in the semifinals Tuesday at 11 a.m., then went on to play West Bloomfield later that afternoon.

"We felt we had to pitch our best pitcher (Shawn Mosele) in the early game," said coach Roy Warner. "West Bloomfield was able to save (Todd) Krumm, theirs, for the finals. He was tough."

Mosele gave up only three earned runs on eight hits in seven innings in the opener. Mike Harbaugh supplied all the runs that were needed with five RBI's.

Adams took a 6-2 lead in the fourth inning on five runs. Clarkston came back with five of their own, all after they had two outs.

Harbaugh and Rick Williams each had two-run doubles and Jeff Swan pitched in with the final tally of the inning which proved to be the game winner.

Against West Bloomfield, it was a different matter.

"West Bloomfield was always getting their lead-off man on base and we weren't," Warner said. "We had the bases loaded with two outs late in the game

Audrey Campe heads for second in the Wolves' victory over Midland Dow in the regional semifinals. Clarkston shut out Lapeer West 8-0 for the title.

and couldn't do anything with it."

Harbaugh and Williams again led the hitting attack with five hits between them.

For the 15-9 season, the Wolves had four hitters over .300. Dale Hesse was at .328 and Bill Weeks at .346. The big guns were Harbaugh and Williams.

Harbaugh set a school record with a .486 average. He had 70 RBI's but his most significant statistic was four strike outs in 70 at bats.

Williams had seven home runs for a school record to go with his .446 average. His 71 RBI's led the team.

Mosele led the pitching corps with a 8-3 record

Clarkston sends 8 runners to state finals

By Dan Vandenhemel

1983 was a record-setting year for the Clarkston High School girls' track team.

Eight girls qualified for the state finals in Jackson June 4.

Although the Wolves didn't collect any points at the finals, coach Gordy Richardson said it didn't take anything away from their performances.

Julie Beamer, Sandy and Kelley Craig, Jamie Howenstine, Bridgette Kilcline, Wendy Learmont, Kim Ottman and Michelle Trzcinski made the trip to Jackson.

"Ottman was replacing Ronnie Barnard because her sister was getting married that day," Richardson said.

"But to qualify for the state means you have to be in the top three of the region. That puts you in the top 30 in the state. Our girls ran good but some of the times at the finals were incredible."

The mile relay is a good illustration of the times. The Wolves set a school record earlier in the year with a time of 4:06.99. The winning time was under 3:50.

"We ran comparable to our other times," Richardson said. "It's quite an accomplishment to get there (finals). With what we were running against, we were a darned good track team."

The Wolves finished the regular season with an 8-1 record. Their 6-1 record in the Greater Oakland Activities League put them in a tie with West Bloomfield for second behind Rochester.

Clarkston set nine school records this season with five coming in relays.

They were 440-yard relayers Barnard, Trzcinski, Tammy Putsey and Ottman; the 880-yard team of Beamer, Trzcinski, Kilcline and Barnard; the mile-relay team of Barnard, Sandy Craig, Beamer and Kilcline; the sprint medley team of Kilcline, Trzcinski, Barnard and Pam Stoecklin; and 2-mile relayers Amy Stark, Beth Galley, Kris Baert and Stoecklin.

Individual records were set by Kilcline in the 440-yard run; Beamer in the 330-yard low hurdles; Kelley Craig in the high jump; and Howenstine in the discus.

"It's nice as a team to be successful," Richardson said. "But all the kids have to be successful for that to happen. All of them have to get involved.

"This team is better than last year's team. They're faster, the kids are more involved and we had better depth. There is a good group of kids coming up next year too, so I'm looking forward to it again."

Boys' track: 'best finish ever'

By Dan Vandenhemel

The Clarkston High School boys' track team made a complete turnaround from last year to have one of their most successful seasons ever.

The Wolves finished with a 6-3 record and in fourth place in the Greater Oakland Activities League.

The previous year the team suffered through a 2-7 season.

"There are a lot of elements that go into a successful season," coach Walt Wyniemko said. "We had a number of seniors who were strong and we had a lot of hard workers.

"But in the past we've had people who have worked just as hard and ran just as well even though their record wasn't as good."

To prove his point, Wyniemko said not a single record was broken this year except for the win-loss record.

"In past years the times have been the same but they were good for second or third place. This year they were good for firsts," he said.

Many of the team points came from the distance events, the one- and two-mile run, and the 880-yard run and relay.

Wyniemko credits most of that to coach Mike Kaul, who is also the cross-county coach in the fall.

"That helped so much," he said. "That's where a lot of the points came from. Paul Burch ran the one- and two-mile races and got most of those."

Rusty Bennett also piled up points in the 100- and 220-yard dashes, and the 440- and 880-yard relays.

Other top point-getters for the Wolves were Marc Hewko, Scott Alsup and John Selent along with high jumpers Joe Powe and Paul King.

"I knew we would be competitive in those events," Wyniemko said. "But not as good as it turned out to be. We did much better than I thought we would."

"Our three losses were against three real tough teams," he said. "We were fortunate that the injuries weren't too bad. That was luck. But we had the younger players step in and give us some strength."

The All-Sports Trophy is tied between Sashabaw Junior High and Clarkston Junior High. Holding the trophy, that is staying at

Rivals split All-Sports Trophy

Since Sashabaw Junior High was completed in 1969 the rivalry between Sashabaw and Clarkston Junior High has grown into a friendly tug-of-war.

But this year, it's all even.

For the first time in 14 years, the schools tied for the All-Sports Trophy.

The trophy is awarded to the school that wins the most in the nine different sports.

Sashabaw won both football games between the schools and Clarkston came back to win both girls' basketball game to be tied after the fall sports.

During the winter, Clarkston grabbed a big lead by winning both games in boys' basketball and in volleyball. They split wrestling.

Sashabaw had to sweep all six meetings this spring to win the trophy but fell one short.

Sashabaw's baseball team won both games against Clarkston and the boys' and girls' track teams each won.

When the schools split the two games in softball, the race for the trophy ended in a tie.

Clarkston won the trophy the first three years before Sashabaw could take the title.

Sashabaw won it the next six out of seven seasons and hold an 8-5 advantage.

and a 2.23 ERA. The first game of the season against Milford, Mosele fashioned a no-hitter. He added a one-hitter later in the season.

Mosele, Harbaugh and Williams were named to the all-league first team with Hesse and Richie Schrader tabbed to the second team. Weeks and Rob Mortimore were selected for honorable mention.

"We've had some excellent play this year," Warner said. "You always try to go as far as you can in the playoffs. I love it; I don't want to see it end. But it's good to see some individuals get their rewards."

There's no complaint when one daring boy splashes another, for the water feels good on a hot day. This was just one of the antics at the annual party for Sashabaw's gym assistants.

Host Jim Koslosky braves the barbecue to feed a hungry hoard of gym assistants at his backyard on Flemings Lake Road, Independence Township. The background sign's a joke, Jim assures, and is no reflection in his abilities as a chef.

Here comes summer

SJH gym aids' party says thanks

By Marilyn Trumper

Hot sun and a cool blue-water filled pool.

What could be better unless it's a bathing suit, a barbecue lined with smoking gray coals, covered with grilling hot dogs and all the Coke you can drink?

That's what more than 30 gym assistants from Sashabaw Junior High School had at their hosts' home, Sue and Jim Koslosky and co-host, Kurt Richardson.

The three gym teachers held their ninth annual thank you to a backyard filled with screaming, laughing and splashing kids.

Laree portable radios blasted rock music.

Wet towels and T-shirts lay on the grass and fence posts to dry.

"This is the first time our little soiree has ever made the Clarkston paper," laughed Sue, keeping an eye on shenanigans at poolside.

"I suppose in all the years we've had this here, and that's the last three, the worst thing that happened was chocolate cake in the pool."

Asked why she wasn't taking a dip, Sue said, "I will before it's over—but it won't be my idea. By the time I see them over there plotting in the corner, I jump in."

Thus spoiling their fun, she said.

Safe water's their goal

By Dan Vandenhemel

Springfield Township is taking measures to ensure safe groundwater in the area.

The township was one of four communities selected to be part of a groundwater study by the Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments.

"There were 140 communities eligible for the study," said township Supervisor Collin Walls. "Only 50 applied for the study and we were one to get picked."

Walls said the survey is to develop and improve the current zoning regulations.

"This is for several years from now," Walls said. "It's to help so the groundwater does not get screwed up."

"We were chosen apparently because of the impact of land development in the area," Walls said.

"We are really next in line in the I-75 corridor to be developed. Also three major rivers start here. This is a study to prevent any damage."

After 12 years of teaching, Allen turns to fishing

By Dan Vandenhemel

Sitting alongside a trout stream in Luzerne, watching the water and doing a little fishing are in the future for Ellis Allen.

The 63-year-old auto body instructor at the Northwest Oakland Vocational Education Center is retiring after 12½ years at the school.

"Retiring is something you look forward to all your life," he said. "But once the time draws nearer, you start to have doubts."

His class is not making it easy for him to say goodbye.

They gave him a card signed by them all plus a half gallon of whiskey and a gallon of whole milk.

"You should see that card," the Rochester resident said. "It was huge. It must have cost over $10."

"The milk will come in handy this weekend. We have some friends visiting that live on a farm. I spent a lot of time on a farm when I was younger. The milk is a special present."

Allen is the only auto body teacher NWOVEC has had. He began at the center when it first opened. Before teaching, he was self-employed in a repair shop.

"I was a pretty tough boss to the kids," he said. "I don't give them any B.S. and I come across knowing what I'm talking about. I think they appreciate that. I feel like I haven't wasted my time."

"Teaching is the last thing in the world I thought I'd be doing," he said. "Someone suggested I apply for it when the building opened and I got it."

Allen is moving to the river front property 20 miles east of Grayling to relax and to give him some room to work.

"When you're a mechanic, you need some room to tinker," he said. "I've done some work on antique cars. I think I'll work on one for myself."

Just one final word with his auto body class at NWOVEC, Ellis Allen thanks the students for the presents they gave him: a card, a gallon of whole milk and a half gallon of whiskey.

For rent; not free

The Springfield Township Board has turned thumbs down on a request by the Blanchard Recall Committee to waive the Township Hall rental fee.

The cost is $25 for both upstairs and downstairs or $15 for one level. The hall is free to youth or senior citizen groups.

"Why not keep it? We've always had it that way," said Supervisor Collin Walls. "I don't see any need to change it now."

The board's decision to retain the fee was unanimous.

Architecture Archives

Not so ordinary after all

by Susan Basinger

Queen Anne detail on large arch.

Greek Revival entablature and roof pitch.

Built around 1860, this house on Buffalo Street is a perfect example of the combination of details from a variety of architectural styles—the Greek Revival entablature and roof pitch, two Gothic Revival pointed arches on the front with shingles reminiscent of Queen Anne details on the large one and Stick-style details on the other, plus a Victorian bay window.

Why are Clarkston's houses so special? There are no famous buildings like Meadowbrook Hall or Fairlane here, just "ordinary" houses built by local citizens to accommodate their own needs and tastes.

But Clarkston's "ordinary" houses are living examples of the development of a 19th century mill village, and they reflect the development of American architecture.

As the village developed, the architecture used for shops and homes reflected styles first seen in the East, revivals of European styles adapted according to the availability of local materials and the finances of the owner.

In the early 1800s the Greek Revival style swept the country.

Clarkston's earliest buildings adapted this style for commercial and residential use.

These simple wooden imitations of marble Greek temples were characterized by rectangular plans, low-pitched roofs with pediments or short roof returns at the corners and broken pediments.

Gothic Revival and Italianate architecture, introduced next, provided picturesque forms and details, in contrast to the restraint of the Greek style.

Very little of the ornate details typical of these styles have survived.

Most of the fancy scrollwork bargeboards of the Gothic style and the elaborate brackets of the Italianate have disappeared, leaving floor plans and roof pitches as the only clues to their original grandeur.

While owners of Greek-style homes lived in "temples," Gothic-style homeowners lived with details reminiscent of great cathedrals—stained glass, window tracery, and steep-pitched roofs and pointed arches reaching heavenward.

Farmhouses are often seen in this area as Italian Revival style cubes with low-hipped roofs, tall round-arched windows and ornamental brackets under the eaves.

The 1890s saw the advent of the Queen Anne style, hailed as a truly American invention also employing picturesque details, turrets, shingles and delicate porches.

Summer homes built at a time when Clarkston attracted vacationers employed this style with great success.

The 1920s brought numerous adaptations of the Bungalow style rivaling the early Greek style in popularity.

Our streetscape is a record of this succession of styles.

Builders and owners, often one and the same, worked from carpenter's pattern books which made even the most intricate details of these styles accessible to remote areas.

Builders could reproduce Greek or Gothic style structures to the last detail, or choose to combine elements of currently popular styles.

While allowing for local expertise and materials, builders could also include individual designs creating "vernacular" styles.

Houses built in this manner are often enigmas for those wishing to find the age of the structure or its "original" style.

Such detectives may be further confused by the previous owner's desire to update his house.

The owner of a stately Greek Revival, ©1850, may have added a delicate spindlework porch 30 years later so his house would keep up with the fashionable style of his neighbor's new house.

Likewise, other owners often removed the "silly Victorian gegaws" which characterized their late 19th century structures in an attempt to modernize them.

Architecture historians, until recently, found only the very earliest examples of American architecture valuable, often ignoring all else in favor of European cathedrals and stately houses.

They considered Victorian inferior. No wonder owners sought to camouflage or erase any traces of 19th century fancy work.

In the last 20 years, however, historians and "old house" owners have begun to prize the accomplishments of American builders coinciding with the rapidly dwindling examples of their work.

Block upon block of urban "gems" have disappeared to make way for skyscrapers and parking lots, making surviving structures even more valuable.

The decreasing supply of natural resources, especially wood, also makes our collection of structures more valuable since they are now irreplaceable.

Clarkston's structures thus represent a unique combination of tastes, materials and talents.

One way to see the value and charm of a structure is to look at its parts, the details which delight the eye and maybe even stir the imagination.

In the future, we'll look at some of these details. If you have an old house or are looking for one, perhaps you'd like to reproduce some features in a "revival" of your own.

Future articles will provide information and possible sources for materials.

Learn strokes at Deer lake

Swimming lessons for all ages

Children and adults can sign up for swimming lessons of all types at Deer Lake Beach through Friday.

Late last week, there were openings in every ability level, so the deadline was extended.

"With this heat wave, it's going to snap people back into reality," said aquatics director John Schultz. "They're living in Michigan and they should know how to swim."

Offered through the Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department, the Red Cross swimming classes include beginners, advanced, intermediate and swimmers.

The cost is $20 for the first child, $12 for the second and $40 for a family of three or more.

For the same fee, Junior Life Saving will be offered if there is enough interest.

Advanced Life Saving is also available for $32 and those who successfully pass the class receive Red Cross certification.

New this year is adult swimming "for people who won't even put their faces in the water to people who know all the strokes but want to brush up," said Schultz.

On a pay-as-you-go basis, the adult sessions are $1 for each half hour on Monday and Wednesday evenings beginning July 11.

All other classes are offered in two sessions beginning June 20 and July 25. Each includes 10 classes which meet a maximum of four weeks.

To sign up or for more information go to the beach located on White Lake Road between Holcomb and Dixie Highway.

The beach is open from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. seven days a week.

Ruth Montney hangs up spatula after 18 years

By Marilyn Trumper

The apex of Ruth Montney's 18-year career teaching home economics happened when a student set fire to a garbage can the morning of a parent breakfast—and the student's father put it out.

"Ohhhh, that was something," Ruth said, sitting inside the home ec room at Clarkston Junior High surrounded by stoves and counters.

"I'll never forget it. The student, a girl, used a towel instead of a pot holder to remove something from the burner, and the towel caught fire. So she threw it in the trash. The trash caught fire.

"Her father grabbed water and put it out. It created a lot of excitement."

There was another memorable learning experience.

"One time we were making pancakes and the girl wrote down the directions. She wrote 1__ of baking powder, and didn't remember what the blank was. So she put in a cup.

"That pancake rose this big," Ruth said, holding her hands a foot apart. "And it tasted bad—only worse than a bite full of soap would have been."

It's no wonder the petite 56-year-old is looking forward to a quiet, early retirement and traveling with her husband.

"I really have enjoyed myself teaching, but I think I'm really going to enjoy retirement," she said.

As Ruth Montney approaches her last days at Clarkston Junior High after 18 years of teaching home economics, she shares some milestone stories from the back burner.

Tour 6 Clarkston homes in SCAMP fund raiser

Tickets for the SCAMP Clarkston Home Tour are still for sale.

Those who wish to participate have two choices.

Tickets for the tour planned Sunday, June 26, are $15. The price includes a visit to six village homes and a complimentary reception at the Clarkston Cafe.

Those who pay $50 a ticket become SCAMP patrons and can attend the premier candlelight showing of the six homes on Saturday, June 25, from 7 to 9 p.m. An afterglow party is included.

The homes will be decorated with flowers, compliments of local florists.

All proceeds from the tour will benefit SCAMP, a day camp program for children with special needs in northern Oakland County.

The price of the tickets is tax deductible.

Call Margaret Olesnavage at 625-3330 for ticket purchase information.

Toppers opens in Waterford

Diann Donnelley (left) and Rosann Morrow designed the furniture for their new salon, Toppers Hair Fashions. "We want everyone to know we're a contemporary shop," says Donnelley.

The owners of the new Toppers Hair Fashions in Waterford Township met while working in a hair salon in Clarkston.

Diann Donnelley worked there four years; Rosann Morrow about 18 months.

"There comes a time when you say it's time to do your own thing," said Donnelley. "And it's nice."

"The advantage of working for yourself is everything's the way we want it," added Morrow.

They opened their shop May 1, working as remodeling continues.

Last week, the tile floor of large black and white squares was in place and they were awaiting delivery of other items including built-ins of white formica with chrome trim and a long bench beneath the hair dryers.

On the white walls, burgandy graphics with a strip of mirrors will go up.

Photographs of their clients—men, women and children— will go on the walls too.

"It will be very contemporary. As contemporary as we can get it," said Donnelley, who lives in Waterford Township.

"We designed our furniture ourselves, just using every bit of space in here we can. By the time we're finished, we'll have completely gutted the place and started over."

Morrow, a 1980 Clarkston High School graduate, lives in Independence Township.

Toppers is located at 5488 Dixie Highway.

Tierra on the move

Carts in hand, volunteers put their community spirit to work Sunday and helped a neighbor move down the street. This time, though, there was an unusual twist. The neighbor was a business, Tierra Arts & Design. The new location is at the corner of Main Street and Waldon Road in downtown Clarkston, the former home of Bob's Hardware. Pictured is Anja Hoeller, one of 15 to 20 volunteers helping move the inventory. With 3,600 square feet of retail space, up from 750 in the old location, there'll be expansion in every line, said owner Joan Kopitz. A full office supply department is to open at the end of June. The shop is open for business now with the grand opening planned over the July 4th weekend.

What's new in business

Working with stained glass is time-consuming, but enjoyable work for Rocky Martina of World of Glass on Andersonville Road.

Lessons and sales

World of Glass moves closeby

In May, Rocky Martina moved the World of Glass from Rochester to 5830 Andersonville, near Dixie Highway, in Waterford Township.

Besides doing glass art work in the shop, he also plans to hold classes to help people who want to do it themselves.

"Primarily we're looking for people who need supplies to do their own work," Martina said. "I've got about 75 different colors and styles of glass here to choose from."

The majority of the work is done for building contractors, interior designers and residents.

"I go back to people I've done work for and if they like it maybe I can get another job from it," he said. "If I do good work for a customer, they'll come back."

Martina, an Independence Township resident, said he felt it would be better to work close to where he lives.

"It's better to work here because of the response you get from your customers," he said. "They tell you what they think about the work."

"Nobody else really does what we do here," he added. "We thermal pane the stained glass. We actually sandwich the glass in between to other pieces of glass and it stays clean."

Boat safety class

Boating safety is the topic of a free six-hour course presented by the Oakland County Sheriff's Department at the Pontiac Ambulatory Care Center in Waterford Township.

The class is to meet from 6 to 9 a.m. on Tuesday, June 21, and Thursday, June 23.

Teen-agers and adults may attend. Phone 666-9000 for information and to register.

Fireworks tickets

Independence residents who reserved SEMTA train tickets for the Freedom Festival fireworks can pick them up Monday at Independence Township Hall.

Those who enclosed a stamped, self-addressed envelope with the ticket fee will receive theirs in the mail.

Township Hall, 90 N. Main, Clarkston, is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

A total of 480 persons purchased tickets and there are 200 on the waiting list, said a township spokesperson.

Those interested in bus rides from the Pontiac Mall to the fireworks in Detroit may purchase round-trip tickets for $3 at Hudson's.

Win with 15 reads

To encourage summer reading, children who read 15 or more books from June 20 through Aug. 12 will receive prizes and certificates at the Springfield Township Library.

Other features of the Summer Reading program include weekly movies (Wednesdays at 1 p.m.), Dinosaur Day, Design a T-Shirt Day, Bookmark Drawing Contest, Safety Day and a Magic Show.

A special feature this year is a Movie/Story Time for preschoolers on Wednesdays from 12:30 to 1 p.m. They may also participate in the other activities.

The program is free.

For more information or to register, stop by the library at 10900 Andersonville, Springfield Township, or call 625-0595.

Allen-Norton

Mr. and Mrs. William Allen of Buffalo Street, Clarkston, announce the engagement of their daughter, Jodi, to James Norton, son of former Clarkston residents Mr. and Mrs. Neal Norton of Silverpoint, Tenn. The bride-to-be, a 1978 Clarkston High School graduate, is employed by Terry Machine Co. Her fiancé, a 1977 CHS graduate, is also employed by Terry Machine Co. A September wedding is planned.

In service

Pvt. Brian Wallace has completed one station unit training at the United States Army Infantry School, Fort Benning, Ga.

The 12-week program combines basic combat training and advanced personal training.

Wallace is the son of Donald and Orana Wallace of Mohawk Road, Independence Township.

Pfc. Lynnette Frobish has completed basic training at Fort McClellan, Ala.

A 1983 graduate of Oakland University, Rochester, she is the daughter of DuWayne and Carnette Frobish of Wellesley Terrace, Independence Township.

Join township's summer reading club

A summer full of books and parties await children who sign up for the Independence Township Library's Summer Reading Club.

Open to first- through sixth-graders, the club meets for special events each Wednesday from June 22 to Aug. 10 at 1 p.m.

Children fill out a reading report for each book they read during the time period with a certificate for at least seven books and chances to win prizes in drawings held the final session.

The kick-off program, Creature Show, features live animals. Other scheduled events include mimes, clowns, contests, a costume party, games and more.

Those who sign up for the club can guess the number of marbles in a jar and a grand prize will be awarded to the person who comes the closest.

Members are also eligible to attend a Knights of Olde program with dancing and swordfights on Saturday, June 18.

For more information call the library at 625-2212.

Grads

Mark Sheppard was awarded a bachelor's degree in electrical engineering during spring commencement at Michigan Technological University, Houghton.

Collette Fortin is among recent graduates of Oakland University, Rochester.

She received a bachelor's degree, majoring in rhetoric, communications and journalism, and maintaining a 3.5 grade point average.

During her senior year, she was elected president of her dormitory council and was in charge of publicity for the university swim teams.

This summer, she is touring the western United States with a published author.

During her senior year at Clarkston High School, she wrote a column for The Clarkston News.

Fortin, her parents Earl and Roberta Fortin of Maybee Road, and her family are moving to Durango, Colo., at the end of June after living in the Clarkston area 11 years.

Mark Thompson recently graduated magna cum laude from Spring Arbor College with a bachelor's degree in business administration.

A 1979 Clarkston High School graduate, he is the son of the Rev. Clancy and Doris Thompson of Winell Street, Independence Township.

Barrie Craft has received his bachelor's degree in mechanical engineering from Lawrence Institute of Technology. He is now employed with Chrysler Corp. in the engineering department. A 1979 Brandon High School graduate, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Harvey Craft of Brandon Township. His parents own Waterford Hill Greenhouses on Dixie Highway, Independence Township. The younger Craft began working at the greenhouses when he was age 12 and continued through his college years.

Honors

Susan Allerton Ham has been named to the dean's list for the spring semester at Indiana State University, Terre Haute.

She resides on Raymond Road, Springfield Township.

Marcia Veltre has been named to the dean's list for the spring semester at Adrian College.

A freshman music major, she resides on Allen Road, Independence Township.

Clarkston High School senior Lisa King is the recipient of an Eastern Michigan University, Ypsilanti, Recognition of Excellence Award for 1983-84.

The university awards the $1,000 scholarships to one student from each high school and community college in the state.

Lisa resides on Chickadee Lane, Independence Township.

Julia Bullen, a graduating senior from Michigan State University, East Lansing, was recently inducted into Alpha Delta Sigma.

The honorary society recognizes students for superior scholastic achievement in advertising.

After graduation, she is to work in the public relations department of Health Central, a health maintenance organization (HMO) in Lansing.

She is the daughter of Tom and Sally Bullen of Kingfisher Lane, Independence Township.

Matthew Harris is one of nine Oakland University, Rochester, students chosen to present papers at the 13th annual Conference on Research in the Biological Sciences.

The conference is scheduled at OU June 26.

Harris completed his two-year research project under the direction of Dr. A.K. Roy.

He was graduated last year from OU with a bachelor's degree in biology and plans to attend Wayne State University, Detroit, Medical School this fall.

Harris resides on Allen Road, Independence Township.

High school senior Ann Zurbriggen has been selected to receive a University of Michigan Regents-Alumni Scholar Merit Award.

She was one of 316 students chosen for "outstanding academic achievement, scholarly promise and potential contribution to the university community."

The $750 non-renewable scholarship is given when the student enrolls at U-M Ann Arbor in the fall.

An Our Lady of the Lakes High School student, Ann resides on Waterford Hill Terrace in Independence Township.

David Paulsen, a Clarkston area resident, has been elected to the Eta Kappa Nu electrical engineering honor society at Lawrence Institute of Technology, Southfield.

Four local students have been named to the dean's list at Albion College for the spring semester.

Maintaining at least a 3.5 grade point average to earn a spot on the prestigious roster were Brian Ladd, Clark Maxam and John Schultz.

Ladd, a 1982 Clarkston High School graduate, is a sophomore at Albion. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. James Ladd of Kingfisher Lane, Independence Township.

Maxam, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Noel Maxam of Hillsboro Road, Springfield Township, is a junior majoring in economics/management. He graduated from CHS in 1980.

Schultz, also a 1980 CHS graduate, is a junior majoring in biology. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schultz of Phelan Court, Independence Township.

Connie Kuhn, a May graduate with majors in economics/management and education, was also named to Albion Fellows for receiving a grade point average of 3.7 or better for three consecutive semesters.

A 1980 graduate of Waterford Kettering High School, she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kuhn of Wellesley Terrace, Independence Township.

Principal's Award surprises two winners at CJH

By Kathy Greenfield

The secret was well-kept.

Until their names were announced at the awards ceremony Wednesday night, Clarkston Junior High School ninth-graders Kristin Schultz and Michael Walters didn't know they had been selected to receive the Principal's Award.

"I was very surprised. I was not expecting it at all," said Kristin.

Michael agreed. And his surprise was intensified by also winning the new Harry "Bud" McGrath Spirit and Citizenship Award, established to honor the memory of the junior high school counselor who died in August 1982.

"I was pretty honored," said Michael, and then he described the reaction of his parents, the Rev. Robert and Beverly Walters of West Church Street.

"They walked up and she was crying," he said. "Then they took pictures, quite a few pictures."

"I'm very happy," said Kristen. "Out of all the awards, I was glad I got this one."

Her parents, Robert and Joan Schultz of Phelan Court, were very proud, too, she said.

"My mom was all upset and crying. They didn't bring a camera, so the Walters had to take extra pictures."

Selecting the winners of the award takes four or five hours, said Principal Duane Lewis.

"I put together a whole list of students—I ask the teachers to give me lists—then I find out all they have done, what organizations they've been in, what their grades are," he said.

Criteria for selection include scholarship and class participation, voluntary leadership, participation in extra-curricular activities and personality.

A committee of teachers selected the McGrath Award winner.

"All of us who worked with Bud know what he expected out of kids and that's what we were looking for—things like respectful, polite to other people, a good citizen around the school and outside the school," Lewis said.

Mike Walters and Kristin Schultz are pleased and proud to be winners of the Clarkston Junior High School Principal's Award.

125 receive honors for academic achievement

Honors for academic achievement were received by 125 Clarkston Junior High School ninth-graders last week.

The students and their parents were invited to an awards ceremony Wednesday night in the junior high school gymnasium.

In addition to certificates for being on the honor roll all year and for attendance, each department awarded certificates to its top students.

One or two students were also selected by each department for award plaques:

- English—Erin Dupree.
- Industrial Arts—John Barnfather.
- Theatre Arts I—Melissa Wilkinson.
- Home Economics—Cindy Barnett.
- Spanish—Patricia Haddad.
- Musical/Drama—Daniel Travis, acting; Andrea Zinotti, singing.
- Physical Education—Mark Gillis and Susan Lovelady.

- Instrumental Music—Erin DuPree and Kenneth Spencer.
 - Math—Elizabeth Pilarcik.
 - Art—Elizabeth Pilarcik.
 - Vocal Music—Leslie Parrish and David Johnston.
 - Science—Tracy Hill.
 - Social Studies—Beth Greiger.
- There are 253 ninth-graders enrolled in the school.

Assembly brings more awards

Clarkston Junior High seventh- and eighth-graders were presented with academic awards during honors assemblies last week.

Top problem solver:

Peggy Agar wins over pupils from 30 schools in contest

Peggy Agar's all smiles because she took top place in a brainstorming competition.

Peggy Agar, 12, is tops in Future Problem Solving.

She took first place in the national competition among 30 schools in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, June 4-5.

In two hours the Clarkston Elementary pupil gave 40 problems and solutions to how children would feel in a 1995 nuclear war.

"No, I wasn't tired. I was excited because I had 40 answers," Peggy said.

"I said they would have nightmares about it; headaches; they would skip school; get into crime; wouldn't communicate or listen to each other. I can't remember them all now.

"Some of the solutions were to have the kids talk to the president while he was having a tooth drilled—so he couldn't walk away, and to have a green bean protest.

"If (politicians) wouldn't listen to us—the kids wouldn't eat green beans. Which," she smiled, "we don't like anyway."

Teacher Joette Kunse accompanied Peggy and the other C.A.T. (Clarkston's Academically Talented) pupils to the competition.

"They worked together as a team, and although Peggy placed first, they all did a real good job," she said.

The team placed sixth in the competition. In addition to Peggy, members were Kellee Duty, Ben Huffman and Leanne Stevens.

Kunse suggests persons interested in the mind-boggling problem solving attend The Michigan Future Problem Solving Program's third annual Governor's Problems Solving Institute.

Scheduled July 12 through 15 at a cost of $90 for first-timers, the three-day fee includes room and board and program expenses.

'They give me love'

Bus driver Mary Russell will miss all her kids

Mary Russell and her yellow bus have traveled Clarkston roads for 26 years. She's taking an early retirement to be with her husband, and says she's really going to miss the job.

She's retiring on a happy note

Scanning 23 years of memories from teaching in Clarkston schools, retired vocal music teacher Betty Kinstler settles on a spring concert.

"Some of our programs were quite exciting," she said. "The year that President Kennedy died we did 'Ballad for Americans.'"

"When we did it that night it was like they didn't need me. They were all caught up in the spirit of peace and they sang as if they were inspired."

Betty, 55, taught for 34 years including some time in a two-room rural school in Henderson.

She shared her memories in a telephone interview from her new home in Owosso.

In the Clarkston school district, she was assigned to teach in each building but was always at Andersonville Elementary, where she was teaching at the time of her retirement at the end of April.

"It's been rewarding, in many ways enjoyable, once in a while frustrating," she said. "But in general I've enjoyed it and I'm glad I did get in the music education field."

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

ON
CUTHBERT & CROSBY LAKE RD. IMPROVEMENTS
Date/Time: Monday, June 20, 1983; 2:30 P.M. PLACE: Administrative Offices, Oakland County Road Commission, 31001 Lahser (at 13 Mile Road), Birmingham, Michigan 48010.

Project proposed would improve and widen Cuthbert Road and Crosby Lake Road from White Lake Road to Hillsboro Road in Springfield and White Lake Townships.

At the hearing, the project need and design concept will be presented. Advance copies may be obtained from our Transportation Planning and Environmental Concerns Department at the above address; telephone 645-2000.

Tentative Project Schedule is to acquire right-of-way by August 1983 and construct between September and November of 1983.

By Marilyn Trumper

When one of Mary Russell's "kids" are sick, she visits a children's shop and buys them an outfit or stuffed toy.

Then she stops by the house to drop off the gift. Mary's hooked on kids.

Retirement's going to be tough for the 59-year-old.

"I got through the picnic yesterday, and that was tough. My last day I'm going to have to wear sunglasses all day long. I'll be crying," she said.

Mary started driving for Clarkston Schools in 1957, behind the wheel of a bus.

For the past 16 years she's driven special education students to and from school.

"There's a lot of reward in it. From the first day when a child climbs aboard full of tears—then in a few days they're running to greet you, happy to go.

"They all have their own little personalities, and they've given me more than I've given them. They give me love."

Mary describes one child who says farewell with flair at the end of the day.

"He says, 'Bye Superman.' He's just a little guy who in the beginning I didn't think would talk at all. He's come a long way."

Put science in your summer at nature camp

Fifth- through ninth-graders can include science in their summer through two programs offered by the Clarkston Community Education Program.

Students entering grades eight and nine may attend Nature Outdoor Studies Camp where they will learn to identify edible foods, survival training and make a solar still. The instructor is Anthony Stachurski.

From July 18 to Aug. 4, the campers are to meet Monday through Thursday from 9 to 11:30 a.m. at Clarkston Junior High School.

Tuition is $45. Enrollment is limited and those registered to take the CJHS Environmental Studies class in the fall or those who have taken the class are not eligible to attend.

Pupils entering grades five, six and seven may enroll in Science Olympiad Camp from July 25 through Aug. 5, Mondays through Fridays from 9 to 11:30 a.m.

Activities include experiments with mystery powder, circuit puzzles and life science organisms.

The final session will be a Science Olympiad where students can test their knowledge and participate in outdoor activities.

Instructors are Sue Banworth and Joette Kunse. Enrollment is limited to the first 50 pupils who sign up. Tuition is $30.

Registration deadline is July 15.

Visit the Clarkston Community Learning Center from 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. weekdays or mail a check payable to Clarkston Community Schools to the center, 5275 Maybee, Clarkston, MI 48016.

For more information call 673-7756.

Youth theater auditions near

Anyone age 7 to 18 who wants to spend a portion of the summer on stage can try out for the third annual Summer Youth Theatre production by the Clarkston Village Players.

Auditions are scheduled Wednesday, June 22, and Friday, June 24, at 7 p.m. at the Depot Theatre, 4861 White Lake, Independence Township.

The play will be chosen after the number wishing to participate is known, said director Sandy Sanford. For further information call her at 625-4859.

In the courtroom scene, the Scrubbs family and their supporters fill up a bench. From left are they win the trial, their treacherous plot is revealed for the happy ending.

Grayce Abdo, Claire Needham, Chris Steeger, Lisa Suran, Jill Johnston and Bob Haran. While

Photos by Kathy Greenfield

Stage comedy

Jill Johnston stole the stage in Clarkston Junior High's performance of "Lumberjacks and Wedding Belles."

With lines like, "He's heavier than a pregnant cow," and "Boston's somewhere in Canada," the ninth-grader held the audience spellbound and earned repeat laughter from the crowd that filled gym.

Landing the lead role of Ma Scrubbs, Jill portrayed the iron-fisted leader of a hillbilly clan wreaking havoc on a lumberjack camp deep in the heart of the Washington Territory.

The presence of visiting "sophisticated" women from Boston threatens Ma Scrubb's daughters' chances of marriage to the single lumberjacks, and the results are amusing.

Despite the geographic error of southerners in a northern lumber camp, "Lumberjacks and Wedding Belles" delighted crowds June 2 and 3.

—Marilyn Trumper

"Hear me?" shrieks Jill Johnston (left) as Ma Scrubbs. "Yes, Ma," dutifully answer daughters

Claire Needham (center) as Venus and Lisa Suran as Aphrodite.

Joe Wilson, the judge, lives up to his middle stagename—Sleepy. He wakes up enough to say, "30 days, $30," regardless of the charges.

The announcement that the Belles have arrived brings on great excitement. From left are Amy Zeleznik, Mike Morrisey, Leslie Parrish and Wendy Jones.
