Energy cuts save schools $500,000

By Kathy Greenfield

The Clarkston school district has saved a half-million dollars over the past seven years with energy conservation measures, and the push is on to do more.

The statistics were presented in a report to the board of education by the five-member school district facilities committee last week.

Despite the savings, based on lower consumption of gas and electricity, the costs have increased due to higher rates charged by the utility firms, according to administrative assistant William Dennis.

Gas consumption was reduced by 31 percent. But the 76,305 units used in 1976-77 cost $176,610, compared to the 52,000 units used in 1982-83 at a cost of $226,200.

Electrical consumption was reduced by 20 percent. The 3,146,067 units consumed in 1976-77 cost $146,227, compared to the 2,536,000 units used in 1982-83 at a cost of $191,214.

Dennis then used the figures to compute the savings that could result if consumption was reduced 10 percent more.

Using conservative increases of 9 percent a year for electricity and 11 percent for gas, he projected saving over $738,000 in the next 10 years.

The committee report was the result of two years of work studying the seven school buildings in the district, the learning center and special services.

"We would meet in crawl spaces of the various buildings and sometimes on the roofs of various buildings," said committee member William Neff.

For each building, a report was made on the condition of the grounds, construction (including roof and windows), heating, water and electrical systems.

Then recommendations were made on ways to reduce energy consumption and on general maintenance.

Virtually all of the school buildings need roof replacement, three need new boilers and chimneys need repair.

Suggested energy management projects included removing all skylights, and reducing the amount of glass, installing vestibules and increasing insulation in all school buildings.

Other recommendations included the following:

- Hiring an architect with experience in renovating older buildings, placing high priority on energy management.
- Considering closing Clarkston Junior High if the present enrollment decline continues.
- Phasing out portable classrooms.
- Studying computerized management systems for possible installation in other schools. (CHS now has one.)
- Providing elementary physical education and

DNR mum on Levy decision

Answer expected next week

By Marilyn Trumper

Until a formal report is drafted the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) refuses to announce its decision on the Edward C. Levy Co.'s application to mine 300-acres near the headwaters of the Clinton River.

The long-awaited decision was made early last week, according to Chris Shafer, chief of the Great Lakes and Shoreland Division, who indicated a public announcement might be made this week.

"We have to be careful because whatever our decision is, we're probably going to be sued," he said.

Officials of the multi-million Detroit-based Edward C. Levy Co. remain in the dark too and must wait for the DNR report for the decision, according to corporate attorney Norman Hyman.

In late July the Michigan Environmental Review Board (MERB) approved the plan with stipulations, when less than three weeks earlier the Army Corps of Engineers denied the Levy project.

The denial essentially leaves the mining company with hands tied. Its only recourse, even if the DNR approves the plan, is to file suit in federal court.

Youth Theater is set to go on stage Aug. 27-28, 7 p.m. at the Depot Theater on White Lake Road, a 2 p.m. show is scheduled for the 28th. Tickets are on sale at the door only for $2 for adults and $1 for children under 12 years old.

Physician warns of poison mushroom danger

By Marilyn Trumper

Mona Hyndman feared grandson Daniel had eaten what she thought were poison mushrooms. "They were growing on the lawn, and he'd been playing near there, his toys were there, and the mushrooms were all broken up."

"I was so sure he'd gotten into them I called Poison Control at Detroit Children's Hospital." As it turns out 2-year-old Daniel had not eaten any mushrooms, and Hyndman, a Springfield Township resident, breathed a sigh of relief.

Repeat days of hot, humid weather are perfect for mushrooms growing. "I tore them out, and the next day they were back again," she said. "They're beautiful. Red on the top and a chartreuse on the bottom. They're so colorful, I know kids look at them and think they taste good."

Kanta Bhambhani, M.D., pediatrician at Children's Hospital, agrees. "The best thing to do if you suspect this, is call the poison center and ask for advice. Home methods of making children vomit are quite often dangerous."

"Since antidotes are not very helpful, the best thing to do is make them vomit." According to Bhambhani, there are three kinds of physical reaction to different poison mushrooms. The first manifests as intestinal disorders, nausea, vomiting and diarrhea. The second, increased salivation, tearing and high temperatures. The third is billed as the "Deadly Angel." Its victims hallucinate, have kidney and liver failure, go into a coma and usually die. Poison Control's telephone number is 494-5711.

Village shorts Council eyes street furnishings

Victorian benches described as "gorgeous" by Trustee Carol Eberhardt may soon be on Clarkston village sidewalks, in parks and around the Mill Pond, paid for with community development funds. Two styles with price tags between $110 and $589 were reviewed at the Aug. 8 Clarkston Village Council meeting, with Eberhardt offering possible sites for the street furniture, and asking for council input. In her 1980 proposal to historically preserve Clarkston, architect Betty Lee Francis wanted benches, planters and streetlights. "You don't spend $18,000 on a plan and then not implement it," said Eberhardt, giving her reason for pursuing the benches. "I think the merchants might be inclined to buy a bench and put it out front of their businesses if you keep the costs down," she said.

Planter to move

Three times cars hit the triangular planter at the Main Street entrance of the Mill Pond parking lot. Three times it was repaired. Tired of piecing it back together, the Clarkston Village Council agreed at the Aug. 8 meeting to move it the village hall parking lot in Depot Road Park.

"I think it's very essential to move on this and not just receive the report, because it's easy to let things go and then the next month there are other fires to tend to," said Dennis. "You've taken two years to develop this...I agree it shouldn't be left now. We need to target and decide how some of these things should be accomplished," said school board President Janet Thomas. The board agreed and set a date to discuss the report—Monday, Sept. 19, at 7:30 p.m. in the administration building, 6389 Clarkston-Orion, Independence Township.

Slow beginning for 'rap-sessions'

By Kathy Greenfield

It was a slow beginning, but optimism remained that one-half hour for open discussion before regularly scheduled school board meetings would work.

At the pre-meeting last week were 14 people—teachers, administration members and school board members.

Thomas Azoni, the lone resident-only, lost his bid for a school board seat in June's election. He asked the sole question.

"How did the Michigan Youth Corps project turn out this summer?"

Administrative Assistant Conrad Bruce said the nine 18- to 21-year-olds hired with state funds would be working almost through September.

"The work I have seen has been of good quality," he said. "We have enough work to keep them busy."

Assistant Superintendent Mel Vaara said he sent a letter to Gov. James Blanchard praising the program. He also noted that Walt Wyniemko has been doing a good job as supervisor.

In addition to work at the Clarkston High School football field, painting and grounds maintenance had been done at several schools, said administrative assistant William Dennis.

School board member David Kithil gave a brief report on the Cable-TV Casting Board. He was selected last month to represent the district on the casting board.

During the first meeting, the board elected Robert Hurlbert chairman, and it was noted that the receiving tower would be installed behind Rademacher's Chevy on Dixie Highway and M-15 and that the system was to be completely installed by this time next year, Kithil said.

The remainder of discussion centered on the pre-meetings.

It was noted that once school begins, more people would probably attend.

Procedure was discussed—the two members from the administration, the school board and the teacher's union, the Clarkston Education Association would serve on a rotating basis for the half-hour sessions.

As often as possible, the people would gather around a conference table in the board meeting room rather than have the district representatives behind the long, sometimes imposing, school board table.

The next pre-meeting is planned Monday, Sept. 12, at 7:30 p.m. before the 8 p.m. regular meeting in the administration building, 6389 Clarkston-Orion, Independence Township.

The discussion meetings are scheduled for one year, one-half hour prior to regular monthly school board meetings, in order to give the idea an opportunity to catch on.

Regular school board meetings are held the second Monday of each month.

Neighbor wants house condemned

By Marilyn Trumper

For seven years Margie Olliffe's lived next door to an abandoned, burned house—and she's sick of it.

Olliffe wants to see it condemned.

"The weeds are growing high all over the yard and there's a township ordinance that says the grass must be cut. Now he's dumped a bunch of concrete and asphalt in the back yard. It's a rat trap. Last year the neighbors caught seven rats in a trap over there.

"And it could be a safety hazard if neighbor kids played in there," she finished.

The house is off Sashabaw Road, behind the Union 76 Service Station at Maybee Road.

Zoned commercial, a sign outside advertises All Rex Towing.

Five years ago a section of the small frame house burned inside, but owner Rex Egres contends it's safe.

"The property's not in my name, but it is mine, and because of that I haven't gotten anything from the township. I can't accept something that's not in my name," he said. "I called them once, and no one was in."

He denies charges the property draws rats.

"Rats only go where there's food, and there's no food there," Egres said. "Tell the neighbors to clean up their garbage. If rats are living in my rocks I can't help that."

"Business has been bad and I haven't been able to afford to get the crushed rock out of there. But I can't think crushed rock is hurting anybody," he finished.

Township ordinance enforcement officer Phil Gentile says condemnation appears to be the solution.

"I think that's what we're going to do—and he's on the list. We've made numerous calls and messages to the owner, he hasn't responded. Maybe this will do the trick," Gentile said.

... If rats are living in my rocks I can't help that'

Piles of broken concrete surrounded by long unkept grass are behind the garage of the vacant house on Sashabaw near Maybee Road.

One angry resident claims rats live in the debris.

Formal code-of-conduct adopted

The attorney suggested it, so the student code of conduct has been formally adopted by the Clarkston school board.

When Assistant Superintendent Mel Vaara suggested the action at last week's school board meeting, he spoke mainly about unexcused absences on the high school level.

The past policy of allowing 10 absences for any reason and the loss of course credit for the 11th absence was abolished three or four years ago, he said.

Now there is a limit of three unexcused absences in each class.

"On the fourth unexcused absence, they're dropped from the class and put into study hall and they've lost credit," Vaara said.

If that happens with four classes, the student is withdrawn from school, and allowed to return the following semester.

"We have to have a strict, fair attendance policy and I think we do," Vaara said.

In addition to having the student code of conduct printed in the school calendar that is mailed to all families with children enrolled in school, it is discussed at the beginning of each year in the high school.

English teacher Allen Bartlett said he would have

Reward offered in vandalism

It could mean up to a $500 reward if you know who's responsible for $1,000 worth of vandalism to new playground equipment in Clarkston's Depot Road Park.

Through its Silent Observer Program the Oakland County Chamber of Commerce is offering up to $500 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons responsible.

the "glorious honor" of going through the policy for the 17th time in the fall.

"Not only do they (all receive a copy), but it's gone through during homeroom so they not only get it, but they learn it, probably as well as they do the presidents," he said.

All tipsters remain anonymous, giving detectives from the Oakland County Sheriff's Department an arbitrary number known only to the detectives and themselves. It is this number tipsters use to identify themselves.

Persons with information are asked to call Det. Sgt. Roger Allen of the OCSA at 858-4860 or 858-4911.

Withstanding The Test Of Time

The importance of the spine to the health of the individual has been recognized
 throughout history.

Hippocrates (5th century B.C.),
 the celebrated Greek physician and author of over 70 books on healing after whom the "Hippocratic Oath" is named, recognized the importance of the spine saying, "Get knowledge of the spine, for this is the requisite for many diseases."

Claudius Galen, the famous Greek physician (130-200 A.D.), considered the greatest anatomist and physiologist of classical times, recognized the importance of the nervous system and said, "Look to the nervous system as the key to maximum health."

Many other cultures have recognized the central role that the spine plays to the health of the individual. Among these are the Hindus, Egyptians, Syrians, Tibetans, and the Indians of North, South, and Central America.

Isn't it a remarkable coincidence that so many diverse cultures from antiquity to modern times separately have recognized the importance of the spine? Perhaps it is an obvious conclusion after prolonged study of the role of the spine to health.

Basic laborers still needed

Has too much emphasis been placed on high-technology jobs as the employment hope of the future?

Stanley Modic, editor of Industry Week magazine, thinks so, and points to a study conducted by Stanford University's Institute for Research On Educational Finance and Government and statistics from the Department of Labor, to argue his case.

From the Stanford study:

"High-tech is not the place where most new jobs will be found. To the contrary, the expansion of the lowest skill jobs will vastly outstrip growth in high-technology ones."

From the Department of Labor:

By 1990, the country will need 748,700 new janitors, 470,300 more waiters and waitresses and 262,400 more typists, none of whom would be products of high-tech.

Modic went further, and compared those low-skill new job openings with the estimated 60 percent increase in demand for computer programmers and the 80 percent increase in demand for systems analysts by the year 1990.

Modic finds that together, these new high-tech openings will amount to no more than an estimated 493,000 jobs—far less than the new job openings for janitors.

However, it would be a mistake for anyone to use Modic's evidence to argue against elevating standards of education and science requirements for high school graduation.

Editor Modic has confirmed what most everyone already knows—that even advanced societies require basic labor services.

However, there's another truth—that any society that plans its future on the lowest common denominator in citizen skills is a society that is doomed to be a slave to the knowledge and intelligence of others.

Letter to editor

Mastin recall: full-speed ahead

Freedom of expression.

Sen. (Philip) Mastin doesn't seem to think it holds true for his constituents for he is doing everything in his "power" to try to place a muzzle on all those who signed the recall petitions.

Mr. Mastin and some of his cohorts went to the Ingham County Circuit Court and had sympathetic Judge Carolyn Stell stop the clerks count on the more than 28,000 signatures gathered for his recall, until the verdict is in on Mastin's appeal on the wording petition.

Judge Thorburn has already stated it is as clear as the nose on your face!

It is far clearer than the 22 pages on House Bill 4007, (vice-chaired by Sen. Mastin) which will create a new act allowing local authorities to impose more property taxes, which could go up to five mills for five years, and/or income taxes, which no limit has been set on the amount and could continue for five years to finance public transportation operations.

How many more taxing policies do you have up your sleeve Sen. Mastin that the citizens will not have a vote on?

Here's who will be deciding this bill: Sen. John F. Kelly, Sen. Dick Posthumus (and) Sen. Dan DeGrow. Send letters addressed to Sen.—, State Capitol, Lansing, MI 48909.

I Mr. Mastin, as the daughter of an hourly worker and a union-organizer, have become an independent. Since voting for both you and Governor Blanchard and you casting the deciding vote, I've gotten the shaft with a 38-percent tax increase!

You can't understand why we want to recall you over one little vote?

Well that one little vote took far more than one little dollar out of our hard-earned paychecks. Then I got the pleasure of hearing that our governor was going to expand the state's budget.

So much for promises!

We intend to keep fighting for YOUR RECALL Mr. Mastin.

Maybe we should start checking under our beds for our so-called representatives!

Mary L. MacMaster

Jim's Jottings

On the other end

by Jim Sherman

It's a lot easier interviewing others than it is being interviewed. It isn't often I'm on the answering end . . . and knowing something about writing down answers to questions I've asked . . . I'd rather be the questioner.

Recently a business magazine in Oakland county was surveying newspapers on media competition and what our newspapers were planning.

I haven't really given it that much thought. Mostly, my reaction to the dailies putting out weekly newspapers and weekly newspapers broadening their market has been to write an article or two for our papers and complain to my wife.

It's not that I don't plan. It's that I plan, and plan, and plan. I gather data, input, readouts, speculation, interpretations, projections, and extraneous remarks from skid row drunks.

In the end I close my eyes, aim the pin toward a fast changing map, and shudder. Mostly I shudder.

The first thing that went through my mind when called for questioning this time was, delay it. 'I haven't given it much thought, I'll call you back Monday,' I said.

Being a good reporter, the guy on the other end of the phone said, 'Well, that won't work too good. We've got a deadline of five o'clock today.'

So, let the questions fly, and word your responses carefully, lest you shudder and change colors when the publication hits the streets.

First of all, I said, don't let me give you the impression during this conversation that I in any way feel that competition is good for either the reader or advertiser.

Rights?

Al Zawacky

I often shudder to think what American society would be like without that noble protector of liberty, the American Civil Liberties Union.

Most recently, the ACLU's crusade for freedom has prompted it to sue the cities of Birmingham and Oak Park, where there is evil afoot. It seems Birmingham has this insidious tradition of erecting a tax-supported nativity scene on public property during the holiday season, while Oak Park is guilty of maintaining menorah and noel candles.

As we all know, nativity scenes and menorah candles are the very symbols of tyranny. An ACLU lawyer noted that "many people came to this country to escape the problems that arise when government and religion become entangled."

Of course. In the 19th century, thousands of people grabbed their children, bundled their belongings and fled to America in terror when their native governments began erecting nativity scenes. Read up on your history if you don't believe it.

SOME PEOPLE MIGHT think the ACLU suit is silly, and that public nativity scenes are no big deal. Dummies. The people in the ACLU aren't so easily fooled. They know that public-funded nativity scenes are only the first step toward a national church, religious persecution and burnings at the stake, as surely as night follows day.

This anti-nativity scene crusade is indeed a noble cause, but then the ACLU is a veteran of many noble causes, none nobler than their defense of the right of a bunch of swastika-bearing Nazis to march through a Chicago suburb that just happened to have a large number of Jewish residents, many of who were concentration camp survivors.

Again, the crusaders of freedom knew full well that if Nazis aren't allowed to wave swastikas in the faces of people who had their friends and families gassed in places like Auschwitz and Buchenwald, the whole frail fabric of American freedom would have come undone. The next presidential election would have been cancelled, newspapers would have been closed down and the Statue of Liberty's torch would have blinked out, all in short order.

BY THE WAY, the ACLU has graciously said it has no objection to public displays featuring lighted trees or Santa Claus.

I suppose that's because there's no concrete religious significance to Santa Claus. There's no truth to any rumor that it's because a number of ACLU members believe in him.

'If it Fitz...'

Birthday ritual

by Jim Fitzgerald

It was an eventful birthday. Terrible Jean sent an unbelievable birthday card, my wife took me to a movie, and Secretary of State Richard Austin sent a license plate.

Austin trifles with my emotions. Most of the time I love him. He was Michigan's first secretary of state with sense enough to do the obvious. He eliminated the annual same-for-all deadline that forced car owners to wait in long lines to buy license plates. Now, instead of everyone's plates expiring on the same freezing winter day, they expire on the owner's birthday.

And it's no longer necessary to appear in person to buy new plates at a secretary of state branch office operated in his spare time by a hardware dealer with no spare time. They can be purchased through the mail.

Marvelous. I appreciate the convenience Richard Austin added to my life, not to mention the ritual he added to my birthdays—but I will mention it. It used to be that once I'd opened the presents and blown out the candles, there was nothing else to do. But now I can put on my new license plate.

For me, changing car plates is not the same as for everyone else. My car is parked in a garage under my apartment building. After I descend to the basement and discover my screwdriver won't fit the screws holding the expired plate to the car, I have to ride an elevator back up 26 floors so my wife can tell me the screwdriver I need is back downstairs in the car trunk.

And after the rusty screws resist screwing, and the proper screwdriver is screwed into my innocent flesh several times, and my blood is dripping on the unsolicited, unpaid-for advertisement the greedy car dealer welded onto the back of my car—after all that has happened, I have to go up 26 floors again before I can tell my wife that the lousy car is for sale and I'm going to ride taxis the rest of my natural life.

It isn't the secretary of state's fault that most journalists took up the trade because they were too clumsy to pound nails and build bridges. I don't blame Richard Austin for the bloody part of the ritual he added to my birthday celebrations. When I implied that he is not always lovable, even though he brought common sense to the purchase of license plates, I was referring to his invasion of my privacy.

Recently I wrote about the JCPenney Insurance Company sending me warm birthday greetings along with a warning that if I didn't buy their insurance before "August 5th—your 57th birthday" the price would go up. Subsequently I heard from several readers who were also unhappy that JCPenney knew their exact birth date and used it in a mailed sales pitch. How does JCPenney know something about us that our close relatives usually forget?

It buys the information from the secretary of state for $6 per birth date. Michigan residents who don't want JCPenney or any other mail-order organization to know when they were born must drive without a driver's license. I object.

Also objectionable, not to mention unbelievable, which I did, was the birthday card from Terrible Jean, my much older sister. Actually it was a personalized card she received from our little sister last year. On the front it said "For a sweet sister" but Terrible Jean crossed out "For" and put in "From." The inside verse said "To lovingly tell you/it's certainly true/Sisters don't come/Any sweeter than you." She crossed out "you" and put in "yours." Honest to God.

But it was a happy birthday anyway, thanks to one good laugh. My wife and I arrived late at the movie and had to fumble in the dark for seats. She took her customary second seat off the aisle so I could have the first seat and trip little kids who walk backward to the popcorn counter. Except when my eyes got used to the darkness, I discovered I wasn't sitting beside my wife, I was sitting behind her.

So I leaned forward and told her to let me off at the next corner.

School may give bonus points for hard classes

By Kathy Greenfield

A plan to give Clarkston High School students bonus points for fourth-level and advanced placement classes was met with positive reactions by school board members.

If the final reading of the policy change is approved next month, the bonus points could make a difference in class ranking for students who take the tougher courses.

"I think it's a good idea. It's important for kids to take challenging classes and I know a lot of them don't because they're worried about their grade point averages," said board member Mary Jane Chaustowich.

Following the procedure for policy changes, assistant superintendent Mel Vaara presented the first reading of the policy change at last week's board meeting.

Nine classes would include the incentive of .25 bonus point for each semester completed with a passing grade: college writing, French IV, Spanish IV, psychology, economics, calculus, chemistry II, physics and Euro-Asian studies.

That would mean if the grade was A, it would be calculated at 4.25 rather than 4.0; 3.25 instead of 3.0 for a B; and so on.

The bonus for advance placement classes would be .50. English is the only course now available in advance placement, but Vaara said he hopes mathematics, science and social studies will be added.

When the calculations were used to see how the bonus points could affect class ranking, one student ranked 31st would have moved to 22nd and another at 20th would have moved to ninth last year, Vaara said. If approved, the bonus point system would begin this year and would not be retroactive.

The student's transcript would include the notation that bonus points were given for taking the courses.

Board member Carolyn Place suggested bonus points for advanced art or music classes, but the idea was rejected.

"I want to encourage kids to take (academic) classes. I don't mean art or music. It's just hard for me to fathom giving students bonus points for art or music," Vaara said.

The board voted 6-0 to accept the first reading of the policy change and requested a statement on why the classes were chosen for bonus points be attached to the policy for the second, and final, reading in September.

"It's a start in the right direction," said board President Janet Thomas.

"I'm glad to see this," added Chaustowich.

Kammer lands $10,000 grant

By Kathy Greenfield

The lobbying efforts of former state senator Kerry Kammer on behalf of the Clarkston school district have made a difference, according to Superintendent Milford Mason.

Kammer, a Springfield Township resident, made a progress report to the school board Aug. 8. He was hired by the board in January for an annual fee of $3,400.

"In my opinion (he has done) an excellent job," said Mason. "Kammer spent a great deal of time in Lansing as the Blanchard administration was developing the budget. He's just done a great deal on behalf of the in-formula districts in the state."

Kammer represents five in-formula school districts—Clarkston, Huron Valley, Waterford, Pontiac and Ferndale.

In-formula districts are those with tax bases small enough to still receive state aid and are, therefore, victims when state budget cuts are made.

During his progress report, Kammer noted that the trend in cutting money for schools was turned around with this year's state budget.

"As recently as 1970, 27 percent of this state's entire budget went for education," he said. "In the last budget, 19 percent had been spent for education."

In dollars, the state spent $900 million on education four years ago and $220 million last year, according to Kammer.

With the latest budget, in-formula districts benefited with an overall increase of 7½ percent, he said.

"I feel very good about this year's budget. I think it's a strong budget and it assists in-formula districts," he said.

But the fight isn't over, he noted, and he shared something State Superintendent of Schools Dr. Phillip Runkel said over lunch: "Yes, we won a victory, but let's not rest on our laurels. Let's put some emphasis on keeping schools a number one priority."

In addition, Kammer reported on his role in assisting the Clarkston school district in receiving a $10,000 grant for the arts.

Also mentioned was a meeting with United States Congressman Bob Carr and a trip Kammer said he hopes to make to Washington, D.C.

"We're trying with Clarkston and Huron Valley to come up with some dollars for a computer lab program," he said.

Tax reprieve

There's a two-month reprieve for paying the Village of Clarkston taxes.

On Aug. 8, the Clarkston Village Council agreed to extend the Aug. 31 deadline to Oct. 17.

"We do this every year," said Treasurer Aretmus Pappas.

"I'm Sold On The Clarkston Adult Education Program"

Name: Mary Carol Ridgeway

Adult High School Graduate: Class of 1983

College Scholarship Winner: Detroit College of Business

"I am very proud to have been a part of the first graduating class of the Clarkston Adult Education Program.

The program provided an opportunity for me to finish my high school education with a wide variety of subjects taught by excellent teachers, in a setting that is relaxed and comfortable with people of various backgrounds and ages.

As children, the choice of education is made for us by our parents and the government. As adults the choice is ours! The hardest thing about going back to school as an adult is calling for the counseling appointment.

Having this learning experience behind me, I now feel college will be much easier."

Equestrian team forming

The Clarkston Equestrian team is forming for the 1983 fall season.

The team is open to any rider in the Clarkston School District in grades nine through 12.

The equestrian team is the defending state champion.

Its first meet is Sept. 18 at the Davisburg fairgrounds on Andersonville Road, Springfield Township.

For more information on joining the team, call coach Arlene Laurie at 625-0267.

Fall softball registration

The Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department is accepting registration for its fall softball league.

All games are played at Clintonwood Park. There are leagues for both men and women of all ability levels.

Sponsor fees vary with the level of the league. The last day for registrations will be Aug. 19. For more information call the parks and recreation department at 625-8223.

Youth soccer sign up

Registration is on for the Independence Township Parks and Recreation Fall Soccer Clinic.

The clinic is open to ages 5 through 10-years-old for $12.50 a person.

The five week program starts Sept. 10 and runs through Oct. 8, on Saturday 9:30 a.m to 11:30 a.m. at the Bailey

Lake Elementary School.

Director Hana Olsen says it's designed for children who have never played soccer. Ball control, fielding, passing, dribbling and shooting will be taught.

For more information call the parks and recreation department at 625-8223.

Clay pigeons drop, awards pile up for Hill

Member of the skeet shooting Hall of Fame

By Dan Vandenhemel

The shattering of clay pigeons is muffled by the sound of the shotgun.

A pile of the broken targets lie in a field behind the Detroit Gun Club in Walled Lake, testimony of the many hours of skeet shooting practice.

Practice has paid off for Ila Hill of Birmingham. The 54-year-old manager of the Davisburg Medical Clinic was named to the Michigan Amateur Hall of Fame in 1981. In 1982, she entered the National Skeet Shooting Hall of Fame.

"I thought when I first heard on the selection, 'Who me?'" Hill said.

She started shooting in 1969 and since then has won 11 medals in the national level including seven gold medals. In the Championship of the Americas, Hill has brought home three gold medals.

There is a big difference between national and international skeet shooting. In national competitions, the target is moving between 55 and 65 miles per hour and the gun is held at the shoulder ready to fire.

In international shoots, the target is traveling at 120 MPH and the gun is on the hip.

"You have about 1.3 seconds to hit the target," Hill said. "Concentration is most important. You can't let the overall picture of shooting in a tournament come in, you just have to shoot your own game." When the Summer Olympic Games are coming to Los Angeles next year, Hill plans to make a run for the team.

"I've been on the U.S. team the last 11 years and have competed in the world championship each year," she said. "I'll be training to fill the dream of being in the Olympics."

To be good at any sport, many hours of practice are involved. And in an international sport, long trips to places like Europe, the Orient and South America takes the person away from their job.

"You have to have the group behind you," Hill said of her co-workers. "I'll tell you, they really support me. When someone is gone, everyone has to work harder."

"If you wanted, you could be in a tournament every weekend," she said.

Hill, not one to brag about her accomplishments, tried to discourage friends from holding a benefit in her honor.

The benefit went on anyway last Saturday, sponsored by Springfield Lions Club, Roaring 20's C.B. Club and the Detroit Gun Club. But instead of the proceeds, ($20 a ticket) going to Hills travel expenses, the money went to a private cancer research program.

"When I was first approached about it, I thought, 'I don't need that,'" she said. "I didn't do anything to deserve that. After a while I thought of sending the money to the cancer project that helped so much when my brother died a couple years ago from cancer."

Careful aim and a quick trigger helped Ila Hill enter the National Skeet Shooting Hall of Fame.

Harvey's Electric finishes fourth in state

By Dan Vandenhemel

The dream of being state champions ended in Dearborn for Harvey's Electric Friday.

Harvey's of the Independence Township Parks and Recreation Midget league, lost to East Detroit 3-0 in the semifinals of the state play-offs.

"We finished in the final four of the state," said coach Dave Larkin. "That's not bad."

Larkin's team managed only two hits off pitcher Brent Beardsley: A first inning infield single by Dave Larkin and a sixth inning bloop single by Keith Mercier.

"We ran into a tough pitcher," Larkin said. "He had a curve ball and we're not use to seeing one that good. He threw hard and that made his curve ball even better."

"I think we'll be back"

—Dave Larkin

"We struck out 13 times. He set our hitters up well, he knew what he was doing. I guess the old saying is true—good pitching will stop good hitting," Larkin said.

East Detroit scored all three runs in the first inning on two errors, off losing pitcher Scott Harvey. Harvey gave up only three hits, struck out seven and walked two.

The only scoring threat by Harvey's came in the sixth following Mercier's lead-off hit. He stole second then went to third on a wild pitch but the team of 13-14-year-olds could not bring him in.

To get into the semifinals, Harvey's out-slugged Mt. Clemens 10-8 in Dearborn Aug. 8.

"We scored nine runs in the first two innings,"

Larkin said. "Then we held them off the rest of the game."

The big hitters in the game were Allen Logan with three hits including a triple and four RBI's. Dan Jokisch and Joe Hamlin also added three hits apiece.

"We finished with a 15-2 record, but the team lost with class to East Detroit," Larkin said. "They really took it well, I think we'll be back."

Julie Walsh and Golden Boy have a good working relationship, Julie rides the 14-year-old Welch Pony, and he doesn't complain. Julie won a reserve champion trophy at the recent 4-H fair.

Horsing around wins trophy

By Dan Vandenhemel

Being 10 years old and already near the top of her field has not dented Julie Walsh's train of thought.

At the recent Oakland County 4-H Fair at Springfield Oaks, Julie came home with a Reserve Champion trophy for the speed and action class in horseback riding.

This is the first year in horse-showing competition for youngest member of the Triple B's 4-H Club in Davisburg.

At the fair, the Caberfae Trial, Independence Township, resident rode a Welsh Pony owned by Marge Rollins.

"I come over and ride Golden Boy almost every day during the summer," Walsh said. "We try to get here one or two times a week during the winter too."

In the speed and action event, Julie had to ride an estimated 200 feet, circle a barrel and head back to the start-finish box and have Golden Boy come to a complete stop inside the 12-by-24-foot chalk box.

"I was really nervous that day (Saturday)," Julie said. "I just kept telling Goldy to come on."

Besides winning that trophy, she came home with three other ribbons for horse showing.

"I'm going to put all the ribbons on the mirror in my room," she said. "I've got seven of them now."

Being the youngest member of the club has helped Julie prepare for show and meets. The next youngest in the club is 13 years old.

"The rest of the club really helps me," she said. "They show a lot of things that help in shows."

The fifth-grader at Our Lady of the Lakes school said she grew up wanting to be in meets.

"I started to ride when I was three," she said. "When I was little, I always wanted to show horses."

Basements scheduled for fill

After more than a year of controversy, two open basements at Bluewater Bavarian Village are going to be filled in.

At its Aug. 10 meeting the Springfield Township Board unanimously approved the work for $2,900.

The bill will be added to the property's tax rolls, according to Clerk J. Calvin Walters.

A year ago the condominium developer ran out of money and abandoned the project at Dixie Highway and I-75, leaving the dangerous open basements half-finished, Walters said.

Firemen relax on ball field

By Dan Vandenhemel

A line drive hit to right field skips under the fielder's glove.

Before he can take his next breath, he is bombarded with catcalls and friendly jeering.

"All we do is have fun out here," Jack Hess, coach of the Independence Township Fire Department softball team said at a recent practice.

The team, consisting of firefighters and their families, play blooper ball softball Sundays at the Clarkston Junior High at 2 p.m.

Even though the league is just for fun, practice is still needed for the Independence Township Fire Department softball team. Gar Wilson waits at second base for the throw from the outfield.

One problem that might come to mind about a fire department team is: Who's watching the store?

"We are one of the more fortunate departments around," Hess said. "We have one of the biggest rosters. We can have 16 to 20 on the team and still have about 15 firefighters ready to go on a run."

"So far this year we've had a run in the middle of a game only once," he said. "It was a medical run and it needed only three firefighters to go. We didn't even have to stop the game because I had enough on the bench to keep on playing."

The team is 4-0 so far this season against township teams from Groveland, Orion, Waterford and West Bloomfield.

This is the first year in the informal league for Independence Township.

"Groveland asked us if we wanted to come in the league," Hess said. "So we had the guys chip in and buy the equipment and we were in."

The season consists of two games against each team then a round robin tournament at the end of the year.

At the tournament, a family picnic is planned. "It's a really family affair," Hess said. "We get all the kids together and the families and have a good time."

Most of the enjoyment comes from not taking the game seriously, Hess said.

"When we played Orion Township, they had a 12-year-old play against us and he played terrific softball," he said.

"We make up our own rules," he said. "The umpires are actually one firefighter from each team. We don't have any arguments on balls and strikes because it's blooper ball—if the ball hits the plate (3-foot long by 18-inches wide) it's a strike."

"This is strictly for fun. There's a lot of joking and hollering going on at each game."

Howe's wins battle with Millrace 11-0

By Dan Vandenhemel

Howe's Lanes and Millrace Salon entered the game with identical 8-6 records and in second place of the Women's Alpha league.

Two hours later, Howe's Lanes was cheering a 11-0 mercy killing of Millrace, Aug. 8. Nancy Foster and Cyndie Blower each connected for home runs for the winners.

"Those helped the cause immensely," said coach Dave Blower. "We pounded the ball for a change and they didn't so we won it."

Millrace coach Greg White said a couple of his players weren't at the game because of sickness and vacations.

This play at first base was close as Howe's Lanes first baseman Pam Blower stretches for the throw to beat Mary St. Amour of Millrace Salon. Howe's beat Millrace in six innings 11-0.

"We had a lot of errors," he said. "They (Howe's) played pretty good. This was the worst game we played all year. We have to play good defense because we don't score many runs."

Howe's had its own good defense that stopped any scoring threat by Millrace.

In the third inning, shortstop Nancy Foster made a clean sweep of all three outs and five of the last six. On her next trip to the field in the fourth inning, some friendly jeering came from Millrace's bench.

White said to his team, "Try to hit the ball, but not to the shortstop."

"Roz Smith had a good game at third too," Blower said. "So did Pam Blower at first."

Defending league champions, Howe's is a long way from first place Moe's Sporting Goods (11-2).

"Our chances for first are pretty slim right now," Blower said. "In the last three years, we've won either the league or the league playoffs."

"We're one of the top teams that hasn't been drastically altered," he said.

Board ratifies bus drivers' contract

The buses will roll when school begins in the Clarkston district Sept. 6.

The school board voted 6-0 last week to ratify the school bus drivers' labor contract.

The 30 school bus drivers now have a two-year contract spanning 1983-84 and 1984-85, making them the only labor organization with a contract for '84-85, said administrative assistant Conrad Bruce, chief negotiator for the district.

The bus drivers accepted a wage and benefit freeze for the first year, because they were one of only two labor groups receiving a wage hike last year, Bruce said.

During the second year of the contract, a 4.8 percent wage increase of 37 cents an hour was granted, making the hourly rate $8.07.

On the average, bus drivers work 37½ hours a week during the school year.

While there were increases in all three salary steps, the third step applies to every bus driver in the district because they have all worked five years or more.

In addition, a $3 co-pay drug payment was added at a cost of $56.96 a year per driver. Because less than half of the drivers participate in the Blue Cross benefits, the district's cost would be $1,600, Bruce said.

Term life insurance policies were also increased, from $15,000 to $20,000. The move will cost the district 95 cents a month for each bus driver.

"It was quite a pleasant negotiating session," Bruce said. "We started in May and concluded in July. That's probably a record."

"I have to give Gary Bliss (transportation supervisor) a lot of credit. He was with me through the negotiations and was a big help. That's a lot of extra time for him in the summer. He's a very devoted employee."

Cafeteria cover

After working a year without a labor contract, the six cafeteria managers for Clarkston schools are now covered.

The Clarkston board of education ratified a two-year agreement 6-0 at last week's meeting.

The contract covers the school year just ended and 1983-84.

The workers accepted a wage and benefit freeze for '82-83 and a 5.95 percent salary increase for '83-84.

The increase, which is similar to other labor groups in the district, puts the hourly rate at an average of $6.56 an hour, said administrative assistant Conrad Bruce, chief negotiator Clarkston schools.

Most of the six cafeteria managers work 40 hours a week during the school year.

Also added in '83-84 is long-term disability insurance which provides 60 percent of salary after a 90-day waiting period.

The cost to the district is $50 a year for each manager, Bruce said.

Vaara gets Willie Nelson

Now that he's 50, Mel Vaara has some memories of the days before he hit the half-century mark.

When he was presented with a wonderfully decorated surprise cake at the end of the school board meeting last week, the assistant superintendent of Clarkston schools announced this:

It seems that Vaara's daughter arranged to let him notarize some documents for country music superstar Willie Nelson during his engagement at Pine Knob Music Theatre.

One woman's battle to forget

● Parents Anonymous works to break the vicious cycle of child abuse

By Marilyn Trumper

Samantha O'Brien was mistreated as a child. She was routinely beaten by verbally abusive parents and once, her father attempted sexual assault.

The 25-year-old Independence Township resident attends Parents Anonymous, a self-help group for abusive parents, and those who think they may be abusive.

She wants to prevent her children, 5 and 7, from suffering the same treatment she had as a child.

"And it could easily happen," said Samantha, (not her real name). "People who were abused as children, are most often abusive adults. And unless they're shown differently, it's the only way they know. That's what the studies show."

She sits in an overstuffed chair in her Independence Township home, punctuating words with an unlit cigarette.

Chewing ice cubes from a glass of tea she looks at the world through dark brown, almost black eyes.

She rarely smiles.

"Four years ago I was divorced. My mother-in-law told the court about my childhood, and said I was abusing my children so that she could get custody.

"I wasn't.

"(The social worker) suggested I go to Parents Anonymous, that it would help me keep my children, and I've gone ever since," she said, noting the children remain with her.

"The group meets once a week, for two hours. I thought about stopping, then got involved as the chair(person), and decided that just because I don't need it somebody may need me. So I stay."

The Clarkston chapter, once 18 strong, now has three members.

"It's the one place a person can go and talk about anything, whatever the problem is. It's like sitting around the table with a friend and having coffee," she said. "We cry, and worry, and talk. We can let all our emotions out.

"They all give you input into what to do in a specific situation. You don't have to follow it, but at least you can think about it."

An abusive parent might beat a child for spilling milk, Samantha said.

"In Parents Anonymous we teach the parent to look at the child and say, 'OK. You spilled it. You clean it up.' Hand the child a cloth and let them do it. Accidents do happen—a grown-up can do that!"

Samantha grew up in Pontiac, the oldest of 13 brothers and sisters.

Her mother left the family several times.

But always returned.

After more than 25 years of marriage, Samantha's parents divorced last year.

Her mouth forms a flat line.

"They were both crazy, good-for-nothings as far as I'm concerned. Both of them worthless."

Then in the next sentence.

"I talked with my mom yesterday. She's going to the zoo with us Friday."

For Samantha, it's as difficult to denounce her family as it is to forget the past.

"Whenever my mother left, my sister and I, she's 16 months younger, would take turns every-other-day staying home and taking care of the younger kids.

"Growing up I went from one foster home to another. Three of my sisters were adopted out. When I was 11, that was the last time I was taken away before I went to live with my grandparents in Roscommon," she said.

They are, she says, the only semblance of family she's known until today.

"I don't know what I would have done if it hadn't been for them," Samantha said. "I wouldn't trade them for the world. My grandma, she's 78 now."

She recalls her father's advances at the age of 11 in the basement of his mother's home.

"He offered me a dollar if I'd take off my clothes. I told him where he could put his dollar. He never bothered me again. My three sisters were sexually abused. I know that."

Samantha fell asleep that night with her hand on the light switch.

"My grandmother asked me why, and I told her. She told me never to be in the basement alone again with my father, and to never be afraid to tell her if something happens.

"She woke me out of many nightmares."

A ward of the state at 17, Samantha was living in a Detroit group home when she met her first husband.

It was the escape she longed for.

"And a big mistake," she said.

"He used to beat me, and never worked. He was a bum.

"I got married too young."

On a hot August afternoon her children appear happy.

They ask for a lunch of hotdogs, request to play outside, drag out toys and roll on the floor with exploits for the company.

Samantha's 5-year-old son crawls in her lap.

"I knew that I could be abusive. It's hard not to be, especially when you've grown up with it. If it weren't for my grandparents, I wouldn't know any other way to do it."

For information on Parents Anonymous, phone 237-0943. It's free.

● Getting dental work done via construction

Workers put the finishing touches on the floor as the work is almost completed on the new dental office lab at the Northwest Oakland Vocational Education Center. The new equipment simulates a dentist office for students in the dental program at NWOVEC. Assistant principal Alberta Ellis said the students will learn chair side manners with the equipment. Oakland County Schools will pick up the $14,000 bill. "They set aside money for improvements to keep the facilities up to date," she said.

Jewelry designer's dog precious

Lynn Fill poses with his Saluki, Twyx, so-named for Fill's passion with the candy bar when he bought the dog two years ago.

Lynn Fill, designer at Lovett Jewelers in the Clarkston Mills Mall, took first place in the Best of Breed category over 200 other dogs with Twyx, his 2½-year-old Saluki.

The Gazehound competition, held the first weekend in August in Santa Barbara, Calif., included Afghans, Borzoi, Whippets, Greyhounds, Irish Wolfhounds, Ibizan Hounds, Pharaoh Hounds and Scottish Deer Hounds, according to Fill.

Twyx, the family pet, went on to capture second place in the hound's group, winning over 900 other dogs.

"We had a good idea (he would be a winner when we bought him) looking at his track record," Fill said. "He had 'Best in Show' parents." Fill resides in Union Lake.

She wins $150 shopping sweep

Pat Campbell bought a ticket to raise funds for the American Cancer Society—and came out a winner in the mad two-minute dash at Food Town's meat counter for $150 worth of free food.

Sponsored by the Food Town Super Market's grocery chain, the fund raiser brought over $7,000 to the American Cancer Society, according to supervisor Martha Williams.

"She had her two minutes and did it. She got $150 worth of food. But," Williams said, "she did it at the meat counter."

Each of the company's five stores participated, drawing a mini-sweep winner's name from each store.

The top four-minute sweep winner was a Rochester woman, Williams said.

Township woman world-ranking

Christine Rosenfield, M.D., an Independence Township resident, boasts the highest published rating of any woman postal tournament chess play in the United States.

The 47-year-old currently competes with 18 people in the U.S. Chess Federation with a membership of 7,800. In those games she usually wins 15, draws two and loses one, according to her husband, Don.

In addition, she's playing chess with men in Denmark, Finland and two Germans.

Christine's offered her skilled services to the U.S. Postal Olympic Team.

25th anniversary

Oh it was a gala event.

James and Eleanor Blumenschein of Independence Township were given a surprise 25th wedding anniversary party July 31 by their children, Corinne, Christine, Jim and Dan.

One-hundred friends and relatives attended the party at St. Daniel's Church Hall.

The party featured a slide show with narration of the Blumenscheins' lives together, a buffet and wedding cake, Eleanor's wedding dress on a mannequin and a live peach tree with 100 silver dollars.

Guests tossed rice at the couple and decorated the car with tin cans and a "JUST MARRIED 25 YEARS" sign on the car to mark their wedding Aug. 2, 1958 at Our Lady of LaSalette Church in Oak Park.

The Blumenscheins live on Whipple Shores Drive, and have been township residents for 20 years.

Brewer-Case

Mr. and Mrs. John Brewer announce the engagement of their daughter, Deanna Lynn, to Steven Mark Case, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Case. The Brewers reside on Crestview Road and the Cases on Balmoral Terrace, both in Independence Township.

The bride-to-be is a 1982 graduate of Clarkston High School. Her fiancé was graduated in 1982 from Waterford Kettering High School. He is employed as a baker at Dunkin' Donuts. No date has been set for the wedding.

Register now for Crosshill Preschool

Crosshill Community Preschool of Davisburg hosts an open house and fall registration Thursday, Sept. 8 from 7 to 8:30 p.m.

Teachers will be available to discuss objectives and the school's curriculum.

There are openings for 3-year-olds.

Crosshill Community Preschool is a non-profit organization licensed by the Michigan Department of Social Services.

Admission is not denied based on race, color, creed, sex or national origin.

It's located in the Davisburg United Methodist Church, 803 Broadway, Davisburg.

Phone 634-5536.

Couple wed in traditional ceremony

Janice H. Knapp and John W. Merz were wed the evening of July 2 in a traditional ceremony at Northbrook Presbyterian Church, Birmingham, officiated by The Rev. Michael L. Dunkelberger.

Janice, a graduate of Alma College in Alma, is the chorus teacher at Sashabaw Junior High School. Her husband, a graduate of Lawrence Institute of Technology and Wayne State University is employed by a Detroit-based Imprinted Sportswear Company.

Janice is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William L. Knapp of Birmingham. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene W. Merz of Florida, formerly of Beverly Hills.

Some 150 guests attended the wedding in a church decorated with white pew-bows and live Baker's fern with candelabras and mixed flowers on either side of the altar.

The bride wore a dress fashioned after her mother's wedding gown, using lace her maternal grandmother and mother wore on their gowns. The dress had a dropped-waist and pointed long sleeves. The chiffon and taffeta-fitted bodice had a sweetheart neckline and covered buttons to the waist. The full skirt included a cathedral-length train. The headpiece was a wreath of silk roses and stephanotis with a silk allusion veil cut from the veiling her maternal grandmother and mother wore. The bride's bouquet was a cascade of bridal roses, stephanotis and ivy.

The Matron of Honor was the bride's sister, Barbara Syrjanen of Wisconsin.

Other attendants were Peggy Tefft of Wisconsin and Shawne Cryderman of Naples, Italy. They wore sky blue full-length dresses with matching chiffon jackets. Bouquets were mixed bright-colored flowers and baby's breath. They wore bright pink mini-carnations and baby's breath in their hair.

Best man was Steven Merz, the groom's brother. The groom's nephew Travis Merz, and bride's brother Richard Knapp and Peter Eriksson Moore served as attendants.

The reception was held at the Bay Pointe Golf Club in West Bloomfield.

The couple honeymooned in Torch Lake and plan to reside in Clarkston.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Merz

High tech lab

It runs the gamut with robotics, computers and electronics

By Dan Vandenhemel

With many of today's jobs geared toward computers and electronics, Oakland Schools offered a two-week Introduction to High Tech.

The program was held at the Northwest Oakland Vocational Education Center (NWOVEC), Springfield Township Aug 1-11.

Twenty-four students from the Clarkston, Holly, Waterford and Brandon school districts took part in the course.

For a $10 fee, students were presented with instructions about computers, robotics and electronics.

"...This was ...to give students hands-on experience with the equipment," said instructor Tom O'Brien. "They can learn what's being done and how it's being done."

The program was split into three sections that taught basic electronics, programming computers and robots.

Larry Riley of Brandon and Tim Sherman of Waterford take a close look at their Apple II computer. The two students were enrolled in the two-week Introduction to High Tech at the Northwest Oakland Vocational Education Center (NWOVEC).

He is survived by wife Shirley, and children, Robert E. Minton of Florida and Donald G. Minton and Mrs. James (Jerilynn Kay) McClellan, both of Clarkston.

Brothers and sisters are Rheuben W. Minton of Texas, Mrs. Myrtle Hendrix and Mrs. Betty Puckett of Arkansas and Mrs. Marvelle Gilbert of Mt. Rose.

In addition he had 15 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Minton was retired from the Pontiac Motor Corp and was a charter member of the Dixie Saddle Club.

Funeral services were held Aug. 12 at the Lewis E. Wint Funeral Home, Independence Township, with pastor Wallace Lewien officiating.

Burial followed at White Chapel Memorial Cemetery, Troy.

Memorial tributes may be made to the Michigan Heart Association.

Creamer heads council to retrain unemployed

As steps continue toward organizing local job retraining for the unemployed, the second Independence Township resident has been elected chairman of a governing body.

Andrew Creamer, president of Pontiac State Bank, was chosen to head the 37-member Private Industry Council at the group's first meeting Aug. 5.

Following the guidelines of the federal Joint Training Partnership Act of 1982, the first step was the establishment of the Greater Pontiac Area Consortium, made up of the chief elected officers of each community represented.

Independence Township Supervisor James B. Smith is chairman of the consortium of six communities—the City of Pontiac and the townships of Pontiac, Orion, Independence, Waterford and White Lake.

The second step was the receipt Aug. 1 of state certification of the 37-person Private Industry Council nominated by the consortium.

Four days later the council held its first meeting and elected Creamer chairperson.

"I was delighted," said Smith. "He's a man whose business is Pontiac-centered, is very well-known in all areas of the consortium in business and governmental units and has a long record of public service, and I know he will do an outstanding job."

"I'm also delighted we have another Independence Township person. I'll look to him for help and cooperation in arriving at consensuses between the chief elected officials and Private Industry Council organizations."

Following his election as chairman of the council, Creamer selected a nominating committee for the other officers and received approval on applying for an $80,000 start-up grant.

After discussion of fiscal and operational decisions to be made, Creamer recommended the Oakland Intermediate School District be named for both functions.

Funding of the consortium's effort to train and retrain the disadvantaged and unemployed in the six-community area will be approximately $200,000 a month initially, starting Oct. 1.

A complete operational and financial plan must be in the state offices by Aug. 31, under federal regulations, so the consortium is seeking to compress what would normally be two to three months' planning effort into less than four weeks, Smith said.

For $3.35 a week, you can reach 15,000 people in over 4000 homes every week with an advertising message on this page. Call 625-3370 and place your message today!

Holman takes clerk's office

Richard Holman, the new Independence Township clerk, was sworn into office shortly before 6 p.m. Aug. 11 by Oakland County Circuit Court Judge Richard D. Kuhn.

The 29-year-old Clinton Drive resident began work Monday, Aug. 15.

Holman resigned his appointed post as treasurer of the City of Wixom and replaces Christopher Rose, who resigned the clerk's job after a six-year term.

The Place We Call Home

Supplement to The Clarkston News/Penny Stretcher

Wednesday, August 17, 1983

There are so many things to do for fun in Clarkston we sometimes forget to appreciate all we have.

So in this, the second in our series of three Clarkston News special sections, we put emphasis on recreation found in our community.

People come from afar to enjoy the beauty of our lakes, the clean air and abundance of trees here.

They also ski and listen to music at Pine Knob, shop in our quaint village and dine in our many fine restaurants.

Inside you'll find:

•Just for Fun: A look at our township parks and Deer Lake Beach.

•Photo Inquiry: We ask some residents "What do you do for fun in Clarkston?"

•Made in Clarkston: We make a visit to the Village Bakeshop.

•Great House: The story of a house on Walters Lake that was once a country club and is pictured on our cover.

•A Night on the Town: Reporter Marilyn Trumper indulges in a fantasy meal at Pine Knob's La Veranda while "Puttin' on the Ritz."

•Where Have I Seen You Before: We talk to people you see working in Clarkston.

Those who live in Clarkston are proud it's their home, and inside you'll find some of the reasons why.

Be sure to look for the final edition of "Clarkston, The Place We Call Home" in September.

Just for Fun

Swim, slide, picnic, play tennis

By Dan Vandenhemel

Be it softball or swimming or picnics, a spot can be found in one of the Independence Township parks to fill the recreational need.

The township has two parks, Clintonwood and Deer Lake Beach and a third, Maybee Road Park, still under construction.

Clintonwood, best known for its three softball diamonds, is the largest of the three. Besides the lighted ball fields, there are four tennis courts, picnic areas, two basketball courts and horseshoe pits.

"We're planning to put in a physical fitness course at Clintonwood and at the Maybee Road Park," said parks and recreation Director Timothy Doyle.

"We have the money to buy the equipment but not enough to install it. We put in for a park grant and should know any day about that," he said.

Deer Lake Beach offers boat launching, and paddle boats along with the supervised beach areas. One is more shallow, suitable for toddlers, and the deeper stretch of water includes a diving platform.

Doyle said he hopes to see the the Maybee Road Park open soon.

"We'd like to have some kind of use there this fall," he said. "We'll be working on it all during the fall and winter."

Planned for the park are tennis courts, three-walled handball courts, basketball courts, soccer fields and picnic areas.

There is no better place on a sizzling hot day than the beach. Nicole Colosimo, 2, of Bluegrass Drive, Independence Township, takes it one step further by sitting in Deer Lake.

Mae McDermott, 11, of Pontiac twists her way down the slide at the Clintonwood Park. The large playground equipment at the park has a number of slides. On hot days the sounds of children laughing and playing on the slides echo through the park.

Top officials share their viewpoints

By Dan Vandenhemel

Quiet, peaceful, a nice place to live and raise a family.

That description of Clarkston is echoed by three men who represent the community—village President Jackson Byers, Independence Township Supervisor James Smith and Springfield Township Supervisor Collin Walls.

Byers mentions its historical significance. "I think it is a big attraction to the area," he said. "It's in outstanding shape. I'm sure there are some that come here just for a casual visit."

Byers moved to Clarkston 20 years ago from Waterford Township.

"We came to visit and fell in love with it," he said. "It has a good school system and it's a thriving community."

Smith said people are attracted to Clarkston partially because of the restaurants and entertainment.

"There are a number of good restaurants in the area—Clarkston Cafe, the Cookery," he said. "Pine Knob gives a good variety of food and has the concerts. The Racquet Club in my impression is increasing in popularity with its banquet facilities."

"The area is infectious once you come here," he continued. "People really get a good impression and want to come back. Clarkston is a recognizable name and it gets around the state."

THIS is Clarkston

Smith said the local pride has much to do with the atmosphere in Clarkston.

Walls, a Springfield Township resident, has a little different outlook toward Clarkston.

"It's a quaint neighboring town," he said. "The most attractive thing about it is the old prestigious houses in the downtown area."

It's likely many people from Pontiac and Rochester come into the area for the same reasons he does, Walls said.

"There are some quality restaurants and social spots in the area," he said.

Puttin' on the Ritz

By Marilyn Trumper

The Clarkston News asked Bill Hall, chef of Pine Knob's exclusive La Veranda Ristorante, to create a fantasy meal.

One in keeping with Putting on the Ritz.

No holds barred.

Anything goes.

From the first sip of wine to the last drop of cognac.

He didn't let us down.

The price tag: $150 per person, excluding the price of the wines.

Hall, 26, smiles.

It was, he says, a fun challenge.

A white-suited waiter with towel draped over an arm flamboyantly sets the menu on the pink tablecloth.

An billowy single pink fabric flower rests in a vase.

Patrons sit on white, ice-cream parlor chairs resting on a gray, black and white tiled floor. A hint of burgundy runs through the art deco rooms boasting a brick glass bar, brass banisters and a glass enclosed veranda, designed for viewing the sunset.

Brass lamps hang over each table; the bar has a marble top; walls are painted pink, some are stucco; and the windows are broken with bands of tiered curtains.

The bold textures and pastel colors of La Veranda are as diverse as those in Hall's six-course meal.

We begin with the antipastas.

First, oyster moussline sauce garnished with green onions and beluga caviar. The caviar, he says, sells for $125 an ounce.

That followed by marinated octopus, a renown delicacy, with fresh oregano, vinegar and Sicilian olives.

"We make a lot of our own vinegars," Hall says. "Cultures are used to break down wine into vinegar and we have a fresh spice garden in front of the restaurant that we use for flavoring."

The accompanying drink: Fleur De Champagne, Perrier-Jouet, Epernay, France 1975 ($85 a bottle).

Next, pheasant with fresh basil consomme and Quenelles Pate De Foigras. The rich smooth spreadable liver from force-fed geese is an imported delicacy, Hall says, because the practice of force-feeding is outlawed in the states.

Then scampi, large red lobsterettes, in a Roquefort sauce of dry vermouth and cream.

"To cleanse the palate and get you ready for the rest of the meal, a strawberry and kiwi sorbet follows," Hall said.

"Then, if you're still with us," he laughs, "linguini with pink alfredo pancetta and peas, garnished with sliced truffles," a rare and exotic subterranean fungi (mushroom).

The accompanying white wine: Tocai Fruilano Killanoua di Farra, Italia Kendemmia, 1981 ($16.50 a bottle).

With two more to go, Hall offers veal, topped with sweetbreads, sliced Italian pear tomatoes, prosciutto ham, Bel Paese cheese, morels, basil and lemon sauce. That garnished with anchovies, fontanelle in a puff pastry heart.

"First you saute the veal in butter, slice off an end of the Italian pear tomato, a slice of sweetbread, slice of ham, a slice of the Bel Paese cheese, then glaze it under the broiler.

"It is," Hall describes, "very rich."

As an accompaniment, he suggests the red wine: Chateau Lafite Rothschild, Pavillac France, 1977 ($75 a bottle).

Finally, spaghetti squash primavera, a squash served in spaghetti-like strips, with baby carrots, broccoli, mushrooms, zucchini and cherry tomatoes.

Dessert: a frozen fresh fig soufflé with brown sugar, frangelico and lemon sauce.

The meal's capped with a V.S.O.P. cognac, Remy Martin.

Corner bay windows on the upstairs and ground floors face southeast, as if to offer a look at the lake. But tall trees and overgrowth now totally obscure the view.

The view from Walters Lake allows a vision of what the Thendara Park Country Club must have looked like in its heyday. Add groups of people dressed in styles of the 1920s, for swimming, boating and golf and the vision is complete.

Once a country club; now a home

Former Thendara Park Country Clubhouse overlooks Walters Lake

By Dean Stanley
Clarkston News Special Writer

It's 1925. There is a secluded area overlooking Walters Lake where the well-to-do go on weekends and holidays to get away from the busy life in the city. A calm, quiet setting, and one man's dream.

Welcome to Thendara Park Country Club. Built around 1915 by Whalan D. Stearns of Stearns Pharmaceutical, and sitting high up above the lake's surface, the main building now serves as the residence of Richard Raisin, 41, Clarkston realty broker and builder.

Although the "white house," as Raisin calls it, now shows its age, the dream that Stearns had is still evident throughout the property's five acres.

Originally encompassing 350 acres, the land was bought by Stearns and used as a stock farm for 10 years, said Raisin, flipping through a record of court litigation, now almost the sole document of the house's history.

"Stearns' dream was to have a massive complex, with one central dwelling on the lake which would have been the country club for the spring and summer months," said Raisin, sitting on the front porch, looking past massive white columns toward the lake.

The view from the front of the house, combined with the quiet, almost tranquil feel of the Thendara Park subdivision, makes it easy to imagine the days when the club was in use.

Club members, having awoke from a good night's sleep far from the city, would leave their small bungalows and have breakfast in the main house before enjoying a game of golf on the nearby course or, staying closer to the lake, they could fish or use the boat house facilities.

The complex of small summer houses that Stearns had envisioned never really came true. Only 100 or so were built on the 1,250 100-by-40-foot lots that Stearns platted back in 1922, Raisin said.

Financial problems caused Stearns to give up the property to some of his partners, who in turn could not handle the costs of running the club.

Eventually ownership was transferred to the state as a result of non-payment of taxes.

The house itself features a large ballroom, added in 1925 just as Stearns began to sell off some of the platted lots, trying to defer the costs of ownership, Raisin said.

Along with the ballroom and its hardwood floor there is a sun porch on the west side of the house, and a large entry hall with the living and dining rooms opening from it.

There are three massive fireplaces, one on the sun porch, another in the living room and a third in the basement. The master bedroom also has its own.

Corner bay windows on the upstairs and ground floors look southeast to the lake, the view now totally obscured by large trees and overgrowth.

In 1941 the house and about five acres around it were purchased by Nate and Sophie Zach.

The Zachs, who wanted to live the same dream as Stearns, ran into legal problems and for almost nine years struggled through horrendous litigation, Raisin said.

During that time the Zachs used it as a hotel and most all of the rooms on the second floor have the original brass numbers on the doors.

The Raisins have done little to change the house from the way it was 40 years ago, and though Raisin himself may entertain thoughts about remodeling the house, he doesn't have the time.

The house stands as it has for over a half century, but the rest of the club has not weathered the years as well.

The boat house which sat on a large pier jutting out over the water burned down in the late 40s, and sunken tennis courts have long since been overgrown with grass, their clay bases overcome by roots and slowly covered by topsoil.

All that remains are the main house owned by Raisin's parents, the neighbor's house which served as club offices, possibly even a caretaker's cottage, and the grounds surrounding them.

The house has history but not much of it is documented. Most of what Raisin knows is covered in court documents, and those do not cover every aspect.

Word of mouth is the only other source. Unfortunately there once existed a photo album of the club in its heyday, but that has been missing for years, Raisin said.

"It's a shame to live in a historic house and not know that much about it," he said.

Thendara Park Country Club lives on, if only in memory; the by-gone days when the high-class of Detroit and Grosse Pointe could take advantage of Clarkston's seclusion and "enjoy the amenities of country club living."

Although the "white house," as Richard Raisin calls it, now shows its age the dream . . . is still evident

Richard Raisin relaxes on a bench in the front yard of the country club he calls home.

Homemade baked goods fresh from the Village Bakeshop ovens

By Marilyn Trumper

There's no "Made in Clarkston" stamp emblazoned on Susan Lyon's products. Primarily because they're not shipped in crates.

The market's here.

Her donuts, muffins, cakes and breads go right from the oven to the glass case in the Village Bakeshop on Main Street where they're snapped up, still warm from the oven.

Word-of-mouth fostered a steady clientele of locals: deputies from the Oakland County Sheriff's Department on break; businesses that start the day with a half-dozen donuts; and moms and dads picking up Sunday morning's sweets.

"Usually the same people come in every day. But we get a lot of out-of-towners from Birmingham. And they flip-out. They can't believe the variety, the numbers of different kinds of breads—and they can't believe we make it here," Susan said.

Two years ago the bakeshop opened.

The outside door hasn't stopped swinging since and the long line at the counter hasn't waned.

"They're surprised because we have things

Made
in Clarkston

they can't find anywhere else, like the Black-bottom (cupcakes). We take the recipes from home and make (the goods), testing them all out from scratch. I never went to baking school so I don't know of any other way to do it. We use no commercial recipes.

"That means there are no preservatives because we don't use any mixes. Most of the mixes have preservatives," she said. "And we use real cream cheese, real eggs, real sour cream. Customers appreciate that."

LA VERANDA RISTORANTE

presents
A REVIEW OF OUR DISCERNING CRITICS FOR 1982

WILLIE NELSON —

"My nights at LaVeranda were some of the high points of my summer tour. Can't wait to get back."

OLIVIA NEWTON-JOHN —

"The place was so beautiful I had to enjoy it with all my friends" (So she threw a party at LaVeranda, video camera, et al)

HENRY MANCINI —

"An ambiance that is unmatched and the homemade pasta is great."

JOAN RIVERS —

"I wish I had a few more nights at Pine Knob because I could have a few more dinners at LaVeranda."

WAYNE NEWTON —

"Some of the finest Italian food in the country"

KENNY LOGGINS —

"My wife Eva and I loved the place and we can highly recommend the scampi."

SHIRLEY EDER —

"Raves for the new LaVeranda restaurant. The Italian food is divine, the ambiance is dress-up-and-elegant, the service is wonderful."

MOLLY ABRAHAM —

"LaVeranda may just be the prettiest restaurant in the area. Its interesting cuisine equals its smashing looks, but LaVeranda's food proves it's more than just a pretty place."

Patrolling the township

On break, Deputy James Snover of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department is seated at a table in the Clarkston Village Bakeshop.

Slugging down cups of hot coffee, Snover, 41, talks life with town locals.

He's a familiar face, and known by the troublemakers for being a hard-nose.

For more than 12 years he's been a cop, and he's patrolled Independence Township the last eight of those years.

A man of few words Snover says, "I like my job. It's a chance to help people, it's interesting and it's a challenge."

Taking care of customers

Carol Currey's been part of the local color in downtown Clarkston for the past 14 years.

She knows by name adults and kids wandering into Hallman's Apothecary.

And they immediately recognize the petite Carol with bobbed hair and glasses standing at sentry behind the counter.

Ask where the vitamins are—she knows.

And the aspirin, saline solution for contact lenses and the cold pop.

"Down the second aisle there, fourth shelf from the left on the bottom."

That's small-town service, from a veteran.
