ABOVE THE CROWD: Tim Rohlfing sits on his dad, Bill's, shoulders while munching on a donut and watching an etching demonstration at the Crafts & Cider Festival on Saturday. The Rohlfings, who live on Pheasant Run Road in Independence Township, were among the estimated 10,000 people who attended the three-day festival in Depot Park sponsored by the Clarkston Community Historical Society.

Village withholds signature for group home

By Marilyn Trumper

To make a point about having its hands tied, Clarkston's village council refused to approve a proposed group home for the aged at 55 Clarkston Rd.

A motion to approve was defeated in a 3-2 vote at the Sept. 12 meeting.

Trustees James Schultz, David Raup and Ethel Sinclair dissented. Trustees Fontie ApMadoc and Jon Gaskell voted "yes."

"I feel this village has built up to something. I know there have to be places like this, but....," said Trustee James Schultz, "...what if we don't sign it?"

"I'm not sure I want to," said Trustee David Raup.

Failure to sign the state form will not prohibit the proposed group home for six elderly people. State law says local zoning cannot prevent group homes from establishing as long as the number of residents doesn't exceed six and it is not located within 1,500 feet of another group home.

"They meet the limit," said President Jackson Byers. "They're within 2,000 feet of the other (group home) on Waldon Road. This will make two (such homes) we'll have."

Francis Ver Lee of Ver Lee Associates, Pontiac, is proposing the home which has not yet been licensed by the state.

"It needs a lot of repairs. After we're licensed and spend a few thousand dollars, we'll open, hopefully before the first of the year," Ver Lee said.

"This is not a home for the retarded or anything like that. And I hope we're as well-received as we have been on Chickadee."

Ver Lee operates Grovecrest Continuing Care in Pontiac, a 57-bed skilled care nursing facility, and a six-bed residential home on Chickadee Lane in southern Independence Township, which offers supervisory care to senior citizens and accident victims learning to function independently.

The Clarkston Road home would mirror that one, she said.

In addition, Ver Lee holds an option to buy 19 acres at I-75 and Clintonville roads for a proposed $3 million, 120-bed skilled care nursing facility. The application is currently under state review.

Costs on rise

By Dan Vandenhemel

Improvements on Ellis Road in Springfield Township are going to cost 50 percent more than originally estimated by the Oakland County Road Commission.

The Township Board voted unanimously at the Sept. 14 meeting to accept the increase of $12,000, from $24,000 to $36,000. Half the cost will be covered by the township.

"The original estimate, about six months ago was just that, an estimate," township supervisor Collin Walls said. "I assume the estimate had missed something or it was just under-estimated."

Under the tri-county plan, the township, county road commission and Oakland County Board of Commissioners will split the originally estimated cost of the project. But the increase will be split by the township and the road commission.

The township will pay a total of $14,000.

"The board was aware that the cost may go up," Walls said. "There's not much money left in the tri-county agreement. They (originally) said anything over the original estimate the township would have to pay, but they said they would pay half."

Walls said he doesn't know when the project will start but he expects it to be completed this fall.

Ellis Road is a .3-mile-long dirt road located one-half mile west of Dixie Highway off Davisburg Road.

The work will entail grading and crowning the road because of poor drainage.

Woman killed

An Independence Township woman driving a moped was killed early Saturday morning, struck by a motorist on Sashabaw Road near the Oakman Road intersection.

Dead is Debra Dean Reed, 21, of Pinedale Road. She was not wearing a helmet.

The driver of the car was 16-year-old Kenneth Shaun McCafferty of Pontiac. He was not injured.

According to police reports, McCafferty crossed the center line when the accident occurred.

No tickets were issued and the investigation is closed, police said.

Miss Reed is survived by her parents, Allen David and Janice Reed; brother, Allen D. Reed III of Texas; and grandparents, Leo A. Martell of Pontiac and Elsie H. Reed of Pontiac.

Funeral services were held Sept. 20 at the Riverside Chapel, Waterford Township.

Burial was in Oak Hill Cemetery, Pontiac.

Boy hit by car

A 13-year-old Pontiac youth who darted out in front of a car on Clarkston's Main Street is in serious condition at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

According to reports at the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, Larry J. Curtis ran into Main Street and was hit by William Anderson, also of Pontiac, shortly after noon Sept. 17.

Voters say 'no' to new historic law

By Marilyn Trumper

Advisory ballots mailed to 174 homes in Clarkston's historic district show those who responded don't want a historic district ordinance.

The ordinance would regulate all home construction and repairs.

Of the 94 postcards returned; 97 people voted "no" and 81 voted "yes."

If the property was in two names, owners were given two votes. Some parties used both votes, some used only one and in one case three names were one the deed and all three voted, said Trustee Carol Eberhardt.

The council is not bound by the election and at the Sept. 12 meeting made no decision on readopting the law.

The first historic district ordinance was repealed by the council last year following controversy over decisions made by the appointed Historic District Commission, the governing body responsible for granting permission for changes on historic buildings.

The issue is expected to be discussed at the Sept. 26 meeting beginning at 7:30 p.m. in Clarkston Village Hall, 375 Depot, Clarkston.

At last week's meeting, some residents asked the council to make a decision that night.

"Do the nays carry?" challenged Hawley Skarritt, who won application before the Historic District Commission last October to aluminum-side his historic Miller Road home.

"Are you going to vote tonight or not? That's the survey results. If you're not going to vote it down tonight, then you wasted eight months."

President Jackson Byers pointed out the ballot was advisory, not binding.

"Just like the federal government we don't always do what the people want," Byers said. "My feeling was the first ordinance was a good ordinance. The problems weren't with the ordinance, they were with administration of the ordinance."

Gary Sutton disagreed. Last September Sutton lost a bid before the historic commission to aluminum-side his 80-year-old home on Holcomb Road.

"The problem is with the ordinance," Sutton said. "It's vague and leaves decisions to the discretion of the appointed commission."

Sutton suggested the ordinance include all of the village, not just the 174 homes.

"Make one and all suffer along with the rest of them," he said.

Byers pointed out that with repeal of the ordinance, Sutton was able to aluminum-side his house—and did.

"It doesn't look to me like you're suffering Gary," Byers said.

"My problem is not with aluminum-siding. I don't want anyone telling me what I can and cannot do with my house," Sutton said.

Path review

By Marilyn Trumper

If Independence Township can come up with creative financing to build 1,077 feet of safety path, the Village of Clarkston might be interested in funding construction of the township and village link on White Lake Road.

That was the word to township Treasurer Frederick Ritter at the council's Sept. 12 meeting.

In March a $41,500 price tag for the work was out of the village's reach.

The township's latest low bid is $19,700.

"We're really small potatoes," said Trustee David Raup. "We don't have these kinds of funds. We were sitting here tonight trying to figure out how to pay our police officer a little bit more."

"Unless the township finds a long-term financial arrangement with the village...we won't be able to do it. You're welcome to come down and look at our budget and see what we're working with."

Trustee James Schultz agreed, and was concerned about safety and the short distance between the road and the safety path guardrail.

"What I don't understand is this is so close to the road, yet the Clarkston-Orion path was turned down for that exact reason. It was too dangerous for your board."

"And, I can't rationalize the cost of that for so few who will use it," Schultz said.

Ritter asked the council to review its budget and "come up with something it can live with" and report to the township board for its Oct. 4 meeting.

Housing on rise

In February Ken Delbridge, building and planning director, predicted an upswing in the economy, a building boom to pull Independence Township from its two-year doldrum.

New homes, Delbridge said, would go up as interest rates stabilized and/or dropped.

He was right.

Last year the township issued four new home building permits.

This year, through August, it issued 38.

Sixty-four electrical, plumbing and heating permits were issued so far this year compared to 15 last year.

The total number of permits issued, including remodeling, is 94, compared to 32 last year.

Planting for posterity

With $1,000 set aside for beautification, the Village of Clarkston is lining its streets with 27 more trees.

Planting of maple, ash, oak and locust is scheduled between Oct. 15 and 30, according to Edward Thomson, village coordinator working with Bordine's Better Blooms of Clarkston.

Last year the village planted 17 trees, and lost three.

"People just don't seem to think about watering them," said Trustee James Schultz. "They want the trees, they want the village to look nice, and they die of neglect."

"Please," Schultz said, "water the trees."

TRANSITION: The call for clowns for St. Daniel's Fall Festival is answered by Gerald Garrett of Rattalee Lake Road, Springfield Township. On Sunday clown volunteers prepared for the festival planned this weekend, Sept. 23-25, with a make-up workshop conducted by Homer Blondi, otherwise known as Sandy the Clown. "Tonight they have a chance to see how it's done," said Blondi. Putting on Garrett's clown face is Linda Chad, a member of St. Daniel's Teen Club. The teen club is sponsoring the clown corps. They'll sell helium balloons and trinkets from their pockets during the festival on the church grounds, at the corner of Miller and Holcomb roads in Independence Township.

Tax rate freeze

Property owners in Springfield Township will have the same tax rates in 1983 as they did in 1982. The 2.26 mills (or $2.26 for each $1,000 or assessed property valuation) collected for the township's general, police and fire department funds will stay the same.

Township supervisor Collin Walls credits the stable rate to "prudent financial management."

"We feel if we don't need it, don't levy it," he said. "When it comes to taxes, only collect the portion needed."

Revenue generated from property taxes is divided into three areas. This year, the fire department is expected to receive $98,439, the police fund $80,000, and the general fund $44,000.

"There was a millage increase of 3 percent but at the same time, the township's SEV (state equalized value) was reduced 3 percent," Walls said. "So everything stayed even."

If the township decided to increase the tax rate, they would have held a public hearing, as required by the state Truth in Taxation law.

Davisburg improvements set

The bids have been awarded and construction is set to start on the Downtown Davisburg Improvement project.

On Sept. 14, Springfield Township officials accepted the low bid of $72,476 by L.C. Excavating of Holly.

With the cost of moving Edison and Michigan Bell utility lines, the total bill for the construction is $104,608.54.

The project will be paid with federal Community Development Act (CDA) funds of $93,000, with the difference of $11,000 from the township's general fund.

"There are some things that we can knock off the list that will bring the price closer to what we have in the CDA," said township supervisor Collin Walls. "We can cut somewhere between $3,000 and $6,000 off it. The general fund will cover the amount up to $11,000, but it won't need that much."

Work is scheduled to begin around Sept. 26 and should be completed within three weeks, Walls said.

"The alternative was to scrap the project for this year and wait until next year when we had more CDA money coming in," Walls said. "Or we could go through the general fund and make up the difference."

The project includes new sidewalks, road grading, painting street parking areas and landscaping the downtown area.

SCIATICA

INSURANCE CASES ACCEPTED

The sciatic nerve proceeds from the lower back area down through the entire leg. Pinching of the sciatic nerve is accompanied by a dull, deep, throbbing pain in the lower back and continues in hot, sharp stabbing flashes over the buttocks to the thighs, down the calf of the leg and into the heel and toes.

Letters to editor

He wants to see less alcohol

Attention interested people, on Feb. 16 this paper published an article written by me, "A Plea for Justice." It was also published in other papers.

The replies I received proved to me people are interested in putting better controls on alcohol, our number one drug problem.

I would like to join others who are interested in finding more effective ways to control the sale and distribution of alcohol.

Alcohol has been proven to be the major contributing cause of family problems, crime, loss of time at work, loss of jobs, as well as the problems caused by drunk driving.

Let's work toward a solution so our children and grandchildren will live in a less alcohol-oriented society.

Quality, not just quantity

It is time for quality not just quantity in our school system.

There are persons out there trying to extend our school year from 180 to 200 days.

If a student is in an unqualified teacher's classroom 180 or 200 days, that teacher is still unqualified and the student does not get the help he or she needs.

In the state of New York the Board of Regents has proposed expanding their school year from 180 to 200 days at a cost of $40 million.

How many more tax dollars is this going to cost the already over-burdened taxpayer in our state?

In my opinion up and above the testing of students for the lack of skills, we should look to the teachers who are teaching these skills.

If the state and local school boards set and maintain high quality in our teachers' skills, then our students should show this in their skills.

This is done by testing, not more days in school.

When we go to a doctor or a lawyer or even to buy a car or other product, if that person or product does not perform to the high quality we set, then we can go elsewhere.

But when it comes to teachers we are stuck with them.

If we test the teachers in our schools we will find out which are qualified and which are there for a free ride on the backs of the good teachers.

We have to weed out the unqualified teachers and keep the qualified teachers, and this can be done by testing.

As I said, we need quality, not just quantity.

Trudie P. Callihan

Near tragedy—or mistake?

As a resident and concerned citizen of Clarkston I feel this incident should be related to the community.

Last Tuesday morning I was in the Pontiac State Bank on Main Street with my 20-month-old son. I was keeping an eye on him at all times and he was playing by the gum machines with two other small children.

As I was at the teller's window I noticed a man take his hand and attempt to leave the bank with him. I looked over, my son strenuously objected and ran over to me.

At first I thought nothing of it as I was concentrating on my banking transaction.

I assumed the man was with the other small children and took my little boy's hand by mistake.

However before I could approach him, the man left the bank and drove off alone.

I would like to think this man was helping the other family leave the bank, my son accidentally grabbed his hand or anything but what could have been a tragedy for my family.

And if this man is reading this and had no criminal intentions, I sincerely apologize.

My family and I know Clarkston is not perfect, but at times it is easy to assume nothing as horrible as the kidnapping of a child could occur in our gentle town.

I have only written this so every father and mother will keep an extra close watch on their children.

Last Tuesday made me appreciate him, crying and all, even more.

Ever listen to a crowd? The sound reveals a great deal about how everyone's feeling. And the sound coming from Crafts & Cider was one of the most pleasant we've heard in a long time. It was quiet, yet happy. The sound of a children crying was almost unheard. Laughter was in the air. If you put that memory with this photograph—well, it's worth 1,000 words of praise for the fine job done by the Clarkston Community Historical Society on its ninth annual fund raiser. While donuts certainly weren't the only good things to eat at the festival, they were enjoyed by many, including Ryan Dunlap of Brandon Township, who'll be 2 in October.

Jim's jottings

Two topics

Jim Sherman

A thought or two.

The media (that's those other newspapers) recently told us of the doubling of license plate costs in Michigan.

They reported the increases, effective October 1, were in the tax package that increased gasoline taxes much earlier this year.

This just-mentioned license fee increase leaves me wondering what other goodies are in this tax package that have not heretofore been made extremely public.

In some cases license costs were more than doubled, in some cases they were just nearly doubled. But, in all cases the fee became a tax. This tax is based on cost of the car, not on weight as is presently the case.

Being a tax, the fee is deductible from our federal income tax. However, Michigan's August legislature did not see fit to make it a deductible expense for state income tax.

Of course, we should be thankful for small favors. The license increase could have gone through without the tax provision. Now I wonder if the lawmakers were looking out for us, or if we taxpayers just lucked out.

I was in one of the exit ramps at Oxford High School as the start-for-the-doors bell rang last week. That's what the bell was when I went to school.

Two things struck me as I looked for a doorway to squeeze into to escape possible trampling: 1. There was no rush of students in the exit hall I was in. 2. Every student I saw leave the building had at least one textbook in hand. Boys and girls.

It was a sign of weakness when I was in high school for a boy to carry his own book from school. Homework was something parents wanted, even then.

Recognizing one student, carrying a full load of books, I asked if she was taking the books home to impress mom and dad.

Sue Seyler said, no, she really had a lot of studying to do after school.

After I told her she was taking home more books right then than I did in 4 years of high school, she said, "That's the way teachers are now."

I'm glad she said that. I was beginning to believe all we've been hearing lately about how poorly educated every student in America is.

... true confessions

Al Zawacky

Scandalous thoughts and true confessions—things I'm sometimes a little hesitant or embarrassed to admit...

In traffic, I'll never extend the smallest courtesy to the driver of a foreign car. If they're pulling out to make a left-hand turn in heavy traffic, hang 'em, I'll crawl right on past and block the way as though I don't see them at all.

If a foreign car driver lets me pull out in traffic, I won't give him the customary wave of gratitude either. I figure if he doesn't care whether or not his neighbors keep their jobs, why should I care about his feelings?

I actually like winter. The snow and cold I find invigorating. I wouldn't live in that hot, stuffy swamp called Florida, or that smoggy, earthquake and mudslide-riddled mess called California for the world.

Even knowing what I know now, I'd still have voted for Richard Nixon over both George McGovern and Hubert Humphrey. So shoot me.

Another driver's confession: sometimes when I'm on the freeway and feeling defiant, I'll deliberately drive 55 mph in the left lane.

I don't think I've ever played a game of solitaire straight. I always end up cheating.

I donate to the Muscular Dystrophy Association and my heart reaches out to the families and victims of the disease, but I can't stomach the Jerry Lewis Telethon. The parade of Hollywood phonies, pining away about "Jerry's Kids" (what did he do, adopt them?) is enough to make me switch channels. If you really want to know how much a lot of these stars love kids, try asking one of their own sons or daughters, who probably manage to see mom or dad about once a year—between shifts of their day and night babysitters.

I'm personally opposed to abortion, but in the case of Yuri Andropov's mother, an exception would have been nice.

I can't say I feel the least bit sorry for Robert Kennedy Jr., Steve Howe, or anybody else who fouls up their lives with drugs. What ever happened to individual responsibility? They made their own beds—now let 'em sleep in them.

Park name could honor legacy

The ninth annual Crafts & Cider Festival held in village park serves to remind us that Clarkston summers have been much enriched, not only by the park, but by other natural amenities along old Depot Road as well.

The unspoiled marsh, reaching from the pioneers' cemetery to the park, provides spectacular floral displays while serving as a wildlife preserve and a much needed water filter...and the pleasure derived by the entire township from Deer Lake Beach is renowned.

These irreplaceable park sites are ours to enjoy because they were gifts from local families who had a deep feeling for community-wide values and a willingness to assume any responsibility they could for the protection of those values.

With the heartfelt concurrence of many other grateful residents, I would like to propose that the village park be named the Lambert-Boothby Park.

It would be a meaningful name which would both acknowledge our appreciation of the legacy, and contribute to an awareness of village history.

While today's federal money has bought recreational accessories for these facilities, it was made possible only because of the Lambert-Boothby concern for the quality of life in coming generations—for today's generation to benefit.

'If it Fitz...

Cliche or slur?

Jim Fitzgerald

Last Tuesday night on national TV, sportscaster Vin Scully called Yankee outfielder Dave Winfield "daddy longlegs." Was that a racial slur?

A daddy longlegs is an insect—a spider, scorpion, mite or other member of the Arachnida class. I had to look it up in the dictionary. I used to think a daddy longlegs was someone with long legs who could dance like Fred Astaire. I think Astaire made a movie in which he was nicknamed Daddy Longlegs, maybe Vin Scully was similarly confused.

Or maybe Scully called Winfield daddy longlegs because Winfield is black and Scully believes that in the evolutionary chain, black people are fewer long-legged steps away than white people from being spiders.

THE REV. JOSEPH LOWERY, head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, so far hasn't called a press conference to urge Scully to apologize for calling Winfield daddy longlegs.

So the question might be asked: Is it a bigger racial slur to be called a monkey than an insect?

When another TV sportscaster, Howard Cosell, called Alvin Garrett, a black football player, a "little monkey," Lowery immediately called for an apology. Cosell balked, denying the racial slur charge and insisting he was complimenting Garrett on his swift running.

ning.

As for Dave Winfield, although he does have unusually long legs, I would never call him daddy longlegs. To me, he seems more like a mammoth than a mite.

Earlier this summer, on TV, I saw Winfield do something that stuck in my mind because it personified the almighty status of the superstar athlete. After making the third out of an inning by being thrown out at first base, Winfield headed directly for his defensive position. But first he had to shed some batting equipment, and he did it with a magnificently imperial gesture.

Winfield didn't take off his batting helmet and throw it toward the dugout, as most players do in similar circumstances. And he didn't hand it to someone headed in that direction to deliver for him. As he walked toward left field, Winfield simply jerked his head backward and the helmet fell to the ground behind him. He didn't look back. He knew someone would pick up his helmet and take proper care of it until he needed it again.

I WAS REMINDED of an emperor letting his royal robe fall for a servant to retrieve. To call the mighty Dave Winfield a spider because he has long legs is the same as calling Babe Ruth a beetle because he was rotund. Ruth was a bear or a bull, but he was no more an insect than Winfield is.

So Vin Scully's description wasn't apt, but was it racist? And was Howard Cosell slurring Alvin Garrett's race, or simply mouthing one more weary cliché? I'm inclined to declare the two sportscasters guilty of sloppy windiness, but innocent of racism, conscious or otherwise.

But it should be admitted that I may not be good at spotting racial slurs. Recently I thought I read a glaring racist sentence on the front page of the Detroit News, but apparently no one agreed with me. So if I see slurs where they aren't, maybe I don't see them where they are.

The News, in trying to describe the late Msgr. Clement Kern as a compassionate priest who helped people of the lowest circumstances, said: "His Corktown ministry encompassed the Hispanic, blacks and drunks."

I thought the juxtaposition was unfortunate, although unconscious. To be a drunk is to have an addition that you're too weak or too sick to shake. It is not the same as being Hispanic or black.

I expected the News to suffer a slight public protest, or at least an indignant letter to the editor. But there was neither. Did I see a slur that wasn't there? Did the Rev. Lowery do the same thing in the case of Howard Cosell's remark?

Glorious glories

Purple, blue and white

By Marilyn Trumper

On Clarkston Road, just around the curve from the village limits, there's a mailbox dripping with morning glory blossoms of purple, white and two colors of blue linked with green, leafy vines.

It's Larry Clark's.

And he's proud of it.

"I just wanted to give the people something to look at when they drive by," said Clark, who's lived in his brown brick ranch since 1976. "I planted them from seed. At first there were no blooms, but I fertilized it and fertilized it. Now they're growing."

"I tried them in the back yard but there's too much shade. They need a lot of sun."

Pink, red and purple zinnias brighten either side of the driveway.

He points to a clump of yellow daisies.

"Pulled them up from a field—and planted them here," he said.

A purple and pink azalea bush dots the front lawn in a splash of color.

Of the morning glories he simply says, "They've come up real nice."

St. Daniel's prepares for first fall festival

The idea of a church festival is not a new one, but it's a first for St. Daniel Catholic Church.

Their first Fall Festival is this weekend, Sept. 23-25, on the church grounds at the corner of Miller and Holcomb roads in Independence Township. Plans are to make it an annual event.

Arts and craft booths, clowns, casino games and carnival rides will fill the parking lot.

"The reason we are having the festival is to bring the community and the parish closer together," said Keith Pitcher of the festival committee.

"We are expecting somewhere between 30,000 and 40,000 (people). It all depends on the weather and the other activities going on in the area."

On Sunday a chicken dinner will be served in the church hall from 1 to 6 p.m. Tickets for the dinner are $5 for a half a chicken or $2.50 for a quarter serving.

Also on Sunday a car will be raffled off. The car, valued at $6,500 can be selected from one of four dealerships.

Entertainment for the weekend will be supplied by the Threepenny Opry band with leader Gary McMullens.

The festival will be open on Friday 4 p.m. to midnight; Saturday noon to midnight; and Sunday 1 to 10 p.m.

Indianwood group home established

A group home for five mentally retarded adults opened on Indianwood Road near Dartmouth Road, Independence Township, bringing the township's total of similar homes to 14.

According to a spokesperson from Lutheran Social Services, the sponsoring agent, the home opened in June.

A staff of six full-time and four part-time employees keep the home operating on a 24-hour basis.

Residents attend Montgomery Development Training Center in Waterford Township and Hamlin Prevocational Center.

Last July the Independence Township Board monitored the state's plans to build the home, but favored its location in what was called a "more rural area of the township."

Sewer savings

Clarkston village residents won't feel a raise in their sewer payments, but the bill will be more.

At its Sept. 12 meeting, the council voted unanimously to use $426,000 of excess sewer construction funds at the county to offset the fee increase.

The county cash comes from interest earned on invested sewer construction funds.

Hustle helps, hurts Clarkston

By Dan Vandenhemel

Their ability to hustle helped the Clarkston Wolves' basketball team win one game last week, but it hurt them in another.

Clarkston is the fastest team in the county, said coach Dave McDonald. But he added they have not learned to control it yet.

"They're fast and aggressive on defense," he said. "But quickness leads to turnovers if you can't control it."

Turnovers led to the Wolves 47-39 loss to Flint Bentley Sept. 15 in Flint. On the other hand, the Wolves speed led to turnovers by Rochester two days earlier as Clarkston won 45-41.

Against Bentley, Clarkston had 18 turnovers in the first half and trailed by 15, 27-12.

"We had a poor first half," McDonald said. "We shot poorly and the turnovers hurt."

The Wolves were able to cut the lead to eight early in the fourth quarter behind the shooting and rebounding of Janet Herron. She ended the game with 14 points and 14 rebounds.

Denise Giroux added eight points and Kim Ottman tossed in six.

"Those 14 rebounds for Janet are real good because she isn't that big," McDonald said. "She has been a pleasant surprise. She is holding us together right now."

Against Rochester, Clarkston jumped out to a 10-0 lead in the first quarter. The Falcons did not score until the last minute of the quarter.

The Wolves led most of the game. But in the final quarter Rochester took the lead and the two teams traded baskets.

Ottman iced the victory with a pair of free throws with less than 10 seconds left. Ottman was the game's high scorer with 16 points, Herron pitched in with 10 points.

"Right now we're 3-2 and OK," McDonald said. "When we get back to full strength, we have a couple players out, we'll be a lot tougher."

The Wolves were able to hold off a Rochester comeback and win 45-41 Sept. 13. Wendy Learmont goes up to block a shot Julie Beamer [left] and Janet Herron watch.

Cougars romp 48-20 over Livonia Bentley

By Dan Vandenhemel

The Sashabaw Cougars attacked Livonia Bentley with three, first-quarter touchdowns and went on to win 46-20 Sept. 16.

Joe Hamlin scored two touchdowns on runs of 5 yards and 10 yards, and Jim Hall dashed 52 yards for a 22-8 halftime lead for Sashabaw.

When the Cougars came out after halftime, they treated Bentley much the same, scoring three times in the third quarter.

Hank Zilka ran in the first TD from 25 yards out, then Hall added his second touchdown of the night, this time a 53-yard run. Mike Grable tallied the final points for the Cougars with a 28-yard run.

Cougar coach Steve Pearson said Bentley's players are larger in size than Sashabaw's.

"Our kids came out knowing Bentley was a bigger team," he said. "We came out to play. We did a lot of things right."

Sashabaw tallied 310 yards in rushing and 30 yards in passing.

"The kids are handling the big win pretty well," Pearson said. "They are getting a little cocky but we'll have to take care of that."

The win against Bentley raised the Cougars' record to 2-0. Earlier they beat Milford 22-8.

Sashabaw has 40 players on the team.

"We are a small team but we are quicker than most other teams," he said. "We basically use the same offense as the varsity team, but simpler. That lets us do different things that make up for the size difference."

"We have a good attitude right now," he said. "Those two wins are important to us. They were good wins, but we'll find out what kind of football team we are later."

Defense powers Wolverines to victory over Walled Lake

By Dan Vandenhemel

The Clarkston Junior High football team edged the powerful Walled Lake Western team 6-0 Sept. 14 for the team's second straight win without a loss.

Jim Turk scored on a 3-yard run late in the first quarter. The Wolverines recovered a fumble on the 30-yard line to set up their only point-getter in the game.

While he had praise for the team, luck played a hand in the win, said coach John Craven.

"They are a very good and very big team," he said. "I'm glad we met them early in the season before they were able to get things going."

The game was the first for Walled Lake this year, but they held the Wolverines to just 28 offensive plays.

"Our defense seemed like it was out there all day," Craven said. "We'd run three plays and punt, run three plays and punt. There were a lot of penalties though, more than I've ever seen before."

Craven mentioned another factor that contributed to the win. Western's starting quarterback sustained a minor injury early in the second quarter and had to miss the rest of the game.

The Wolverine defense allowed Western to move up and down the field, but they got tough when they needed to.

Western was driving toward the goalline and had a first down and goal from the 9-yard line. Clarkston stopped them on four plays at the 5-yard line.

"The defense played a heck of a game," Craven said. "For as much time as they were on the field, they did a great job."

Birtsas sets goals

By Dan Vandenhemel

It's a time for goal-setting for Tim Birtsas.

He wants to become a major league baseball player and to complete his bachelor's degree at Michigan State University.

And progress is well underway toward both.

Birtsas, a 1978 graduate of Clarkston High School, loaded up his 1982 Datsun 280ZX last week and headed back to MSU after his first full season in professional baseball.

The 23-year-old southpaw was the first choice of the New York Yankees in the June 1982 draft. He pitched for the Fort Lauderdale Yankees, the lowest level minor league team for the Yankees.

While the possibility is strong that Birtsas may reach the major league level, his degree in municipal recreation is at the top of his list of priorities. He needs 20 more credits.

"It's really important to me," the 6-6, 230-pounder said. "If I make it to the majors, the degree won't matter, but if I don't, it might."

The diploma was important enough to Birtsas that when he first signed with New York, he asked the club to pay his tuition. His signing bonus, between $50,000 and $100,000, includes that.

Birtsas bought his car, a sail boat for his parents and invested the remainder.

This year at Fort Lauderdale, he compiled some respectable statistics, a 12-8 record, 160 strike-outs in 167 innings pitched, and no home runs allowed. The left-hander's earned run average was 2.28, with his final game yet to be added in.

Last February, Birtsas was invited to the Yankee's spring training camp.

"Here I was sitting alongside guys like (Dave) Righetti and (Dave) Winfield and thinking, 'My God,' " said Birtsas. "But then I thought there isn't much difference between the players in the minor leagues and the majors. The talent isn't that much better but the consistency is."

"I have to learn to be more consistent throwing strikes before I can get to the big leagues," he said.

Tim Birtsas, wearing the shirt of his employers, leans against his sleek brown Datsun 280ZX as he prepares to head to Michigan State University to finish his degree.

"Instead of throwing a curve for a strike two out of five times, you'd better do it four out of five times—but then the Yankees didn't draft me for my curve."

Birtsas knows his abilities and how fast his 90-mile-per-hour fastball can get him to the major leagues.

"I just turned 23 last week and I figure with a good year I could be in New York next September," he said.

Next year he will make the second step of three steps to break into the major leagues. Birtsas will be playing for the Nashville team in the Double A (AA) league.

With a good winter workout program, will be trying his hardest during spring training next year with hopes of moving up to the AAA level or making the jump to the Yankees major league roster.

Stevenson holds Wolves at bay

By Dan Vandenhemel

Sterling Heights Stevenson was the overwhelming favorite against Clarkston and the final score of the football game indicated that. But Stevenson did not have an easy time against the Wolves.

The Titans won 21-0 in Clarkston Sept. 16. Big plays helped them jump out to a 14-0 halftime lead.

In the first quarter, they scored on a 30-yard pass play. On their second score they punched the ball in from the 1-yard line after the Titans called their field-goal team off the field.

"You have to be able to stop the big plays," said Wolves' coach Walt Wyniemko. "They had the big plays and we didn't."

Clarkston had its own scoring opportunities but turnovers hurt. The Wolves committed two fumbles and had two passes intercepted. They also dropped the ball two other times but recovered it for losses.

One of the Wolves' best scoring chances came with 8 seconds left on the clock in the first half. Mike Galley came on for a 43-yard field goal attempt but the kick sailed just wide to the right.

Another threat came late in the third quarter. At the 40-yard line, quarterback Craig Kulaszewski scrambled and threw a bomb to David Ladd who was wide open on the 5-yard line.

Ladd had to slow up and wait for the ball, and just as the ball was arriving so were two Stevenson defenders. The ball was tipped away at the last minute.

"We've got a lot of pride," Wyniemko said. "They're keeping their heads up. No one likes to lose but we've been down 14-0 before and come back."

"We've got a lot of pride.

They're keeping their heads up."

—Walt Wyniemko

"Stevenson is a good football team. They are very strong and physical," he said. "We just didn't execute. You have to do that to win. You can't make mistakes. All we tried to do was execute, we didn't change our game plan at all."

The Wolves' next opponent is Pontiac Northern. It will be Clarkston's first game in the Greater Oakland Activities League.

Salary hike

Despite its tight grip on coffers, Clarkston's village council has come up with a gas allowance and additional $25 a month for Charles Smalley, enforcement officer.

Smalley, who's paid $7 an hour and works 12 hours a week, appears in court for village traffic cases on his own time and is not compensated.

"I feel when we've got someone that dedicated we should do something more," said Trustee James Schultz.

"There's nobody better than Charles, and I'm a firm believer in that. But we have to go to the end of the year on a $2,000 surplus, and we're awfully close this year," said Trustee Fontie ApMadoc.

The vote was unanimous to increase Smalley's pay and provide a gas allowance.

THE PLEASURES OF THE PAST ARE PRESENT

Depot Park trouble may turn rules into laws

By Marilyn Trumper

A disturbance at Depot Road Park that brought Oakland County Sheriff's deputies to the scene has instigated action toward making park rules and regulations into law.

According to village President Jackson Byers, police dispersed rowdy youths playing on the gym equipment.

"We've always had park regulations but no ordinance, and unless we have an ordinance the police don't have anything to enforce.

"They need something in their hands," Byers said, producing a list of 24 park rules at the Sept. 12 meeting.

The council unanimously agreed to have its attorney draft an ordinance to include the following rules.

- Hunting, trapping and discharging a firearm, air gun or spring propelled gun is prohibited.
- Interfering with, injuring, destroying or removing park wildlife or their habitats is prohibited.
- Driving a motorized vehicle including cars and motorcycles in the park or on sidewalks is prohibited unless council permission is obtained.
- Vandalism is prohibited.
- Solicitation and begging is prohibited without council permission.
- No littering.

- Post no bills.
- Only leashed animals allowed.
- No horses unless council permission is obtained.
- No fires unless council permission is obtained.
- No camping.
- No archery.
- No model airplanes or rockets.
- No wading and bathing in the stream.
- No plays or general entertainment without council permission.
- Sound is restricted between 55 and 65 decibels.
- No alcoholic beverages.
- Permission to use village hall and its restrooms must be obtained from the council.

Springfield ends response dispute with OCSD

By Dan Vandenhemel

A problem between the Oakland County Sheriff's Department and Springfield Township has been straightened out, according to township Supervisor Collin Walls.

Walls discussed the situation at the township board meeting Sept. 14.

"Back in July we were receiving complaints about the dispatcher," Walls said. "If someone called during a time we did not have a contracted deputy on duty, they were telling them to call the state police."

"They (dispatchers) didn't ask if it was an emergency or if it could wait until the morning."

"Now the dispatchers ask what the trouble is and if there isn't a patrol car in the area, they will call the state police," he said.

"It was just a foul-up in communication."

The communication problem occurred during the hours when Springfield Township contracted deputies were not on duty.

Springfield Township contracts for two officers at the cost of $96,000. The price includes the deputies' salaries and all other expenses, and provides coverage by a deputy assigned specifically to the township 80 hours a week.

A special tax of .8 mill (or 80 cents for each $1,000 of assessed property valuation) is collected by the township to help pay for the two officers.

"Part of the county property tax indirectly goes to the sheriff's department, too, and helps pay for them," Walls said.

On March 31, 1984, the contract with the county will run out. Walls said there has been discussion about not renewing the contract.

"That could just be political rhetoric," he said. "But we have to be aware that it might happen."

The option open to the township is to rely on coverage from the Michigan State Police Department.

"There have been suggestions that we drop the county and go with the state police," Walls said. "That would save money, but I personally feel that we couldn't get the same protection with the state police that we get with the sheriff's department."

Get ready for Davisburg Daze

Davisburg Daze is coming.

This Saturday, Sept. 24, from 9 a.m. until midnight, The Davisburg Mill Pond Park on Broadway Street will buzz with activities.

The event, sponsored by the Davisburg Rotary Club, is a fund raiser for different community organizations including the Rotary Club, Neighbors for Neighbors and the Boy Scouts.

The fun begins at 9 a.m. with a fishing tournament, open to all ages, in the Mill Pond. Horseshoes, shuffleboard and table tennis contests are to start at 10:30.

A floatable boatable, bathtub race will be featured during the day as well as the Davisburg Double Decathlon.

Some bathtub boats will be supplied for the race but entrants may bring their own.

"We're making four boats," said Rotary President Al Schofer. "We just started building them. We'd like to make it as fair as possible."

The double decathlon is a spoof of the Iron Man Triathalons where contestants test their athletic endurance.

The race is about 100-yards long. Named after Rotary Club members, obstacles include a trip through Purve's cave, over Fern's Gulley and across Rigoulot's Rapids, among others. The race is advertised as a test of a person's athletic ability but in reality there is little physical exertion.

A pig roast is set for dinner. In the evening hours, there'll be music and dancing.

Rory Windrim and Hollis Daughtery try to figure out how to make a bathtub float.

Pontiac's Fiero: Talk of the town

By Marilyn Trumper

For two years those close to the auto industry treaded softly when talking automobile imports, and when discussing layoffs, lost benefits and closed plants.

Suddenly it's OK to talk cars— and Pontiac's new Fiero is the talk of the town.

People want to know someone associated with its production. Employees there make it known they're part of the team.

No-holds-barred J. Bruce

Make-up consultant critiques Michigan women

By Marilyn Trumper

One man, and over 300 women, came to the Deer Lake Racquet Club from all over Clarkston and surrounding communities to hear the philosophies of private beauty consultant Jeffrey Bruce.

He didn't disappoint them.

Bruce, 36, whose main office is in New York City, is a frequent guest host on the Detroit talk show Kelly & Co.

He's recognized for his quick wit, charming personality and no-holds-barred critiques.

"You asked me—and I told you," he said to one surprised woman told to get her midback-length tresses cut.

"You're doing wonderfully," he told another woman. "Your makeup looks good. So does your hair. There's nothing more attractive than a well-groomed woman."

Women wrapped in gold jewelry, dressed in the latest fashions and wearing straw hats with colorful silk bands munched on fresh vegetables and sipped sherbert-colored champagne punch in the Deer Lake Racquet Club's banquet hall.

They listened with rapt attention to Bruce who talked of Kelly & Co., panned Kay Ballard's latest stage appearance in "The Barbary Coast" at the Fisher Theatre and shared some shoptalk escapades of Este Lauder and Revlon hierarchy.

Then he hit the nitty-gritty.

"All the women in Michigan either wear everything make-up wise—or nothing at all."

He offered cover-up tips.

"The sun shines from above, and because we all have a prominent brow, it compounds the shadows under eyes. Put the (under-eye concealer) in the line of demarcation. You don't want to look like a panda bear."

Tips for contouring cheekbones.

"Don't suck in your cheeks. When you're done it'll look like you have a beard."

For the lips: "Always use burgundy lip liner. I only manufacture one color. That's all you need."

Some general advice: "Look your age, and look smart."

And some words on hair.

"No one should be a single-processed blonde anymore, it's too harsh."

On letting natural hair roots grow out after color Bruce humped, "They are skunk stripes on your head."

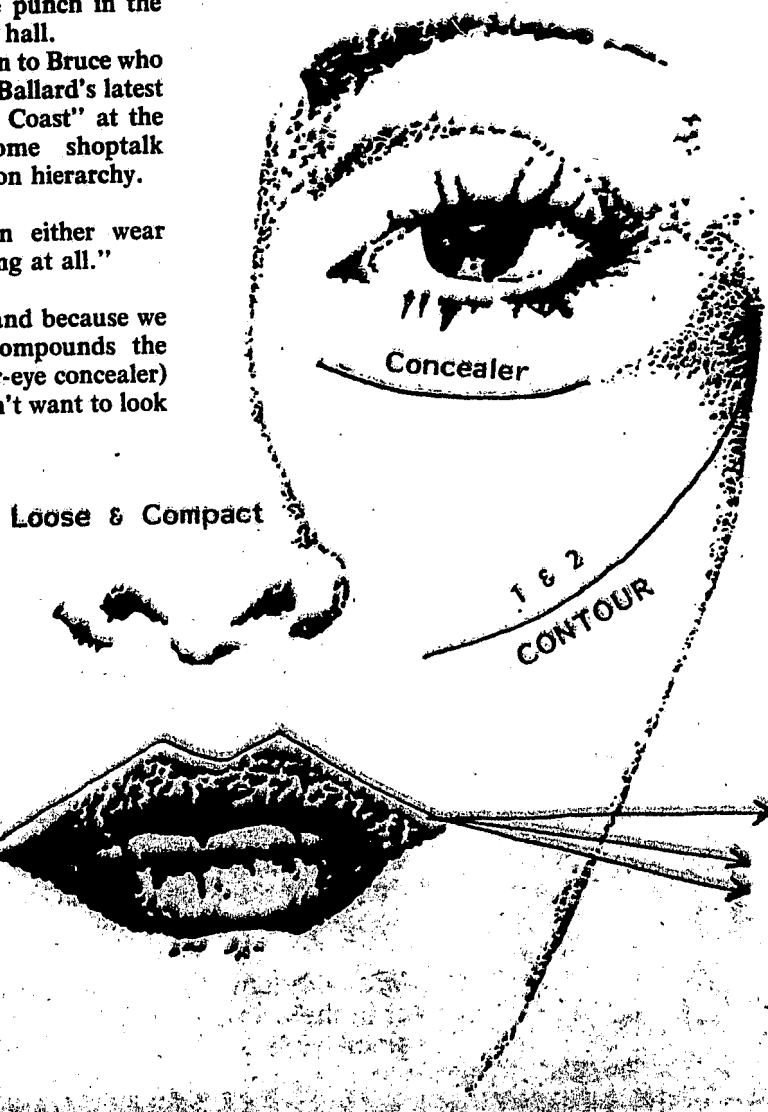

To a woman concerned about spotty skin Bruce asked, "Have you had the kids yet?"

She nodded.

"Then get off the pill and stay out of the sun."

On make-up techniques: "It's always easier to add than to take off. Go slow."

Bruce was in town to promote his cosmetic line now available at Joy's Hair Racquet at the Deer Lake Racquet Club.

Kids from Sashabaw Junior High's gifted children's class toured the new plant last week and sifted through their families for an uncle, dad or distant cousin who had a hand somewhere with production.

Billed as an "All New" car, it's made of Enduro Flex, a compound that withstands repeated assaults from a drop-chained bowling ball without cracking or splintering or denting. The kids were impressed with that display.

It's a sporty two-seater with an optional luggage rack for traveling, and comes in black, white and red.

"They have small engines. They did have bigger engines but the car was too light—and too fast, so they took them out," says Cory Whisner, whose dad is an ad manager for Chevrolet.

Ask Kelly Averall what she thinks.

"I want one," she replies.

Carrie Mallott's dad works at Pontiac's Plant 55.

"I want one too," she says.

Colin Stockwell talks about the car's fuel-injected engine.

"It's neat. It's hot. Like the Ferraris."

Steve Myre likes its aerodynamics.

Duane Hosler, sales manager at Randy Hosler Pontiac, Clarkston, has over 70 orders on the car which had its public unveiling Sept. 22.

"It's a beauty. It's first-class," he says, secretive about the hooded mass in his showroom.

Years ago car companies had world premieres in New York City and remained mum about their product until the drum-roll unveiling.

"It's just like the old days," Hosler said.

$2 flu shots

The Oakland County Health Department will offer "flu" shots at the Independence Township Senior Citizen Center on Friday, Sept. 23, from 10 a.m. to noon.

The senior center is located at 5980 Clarkston Rd., between Sashabaw and M-15, at the Clinton-wood Park.

This year's vaccine protects against three viral strains, A/Brazil, A/Philippines and B/Singapore.

Flu shots are recommended for persons over age 13 with chronic illnesses such as diabetes, heart, lung or kidney conditions, and for all older persons, particularly those over age 65, because the risk of death during influenza outbreaks generally increases with age.

Persons will have the opportunity to read and sign an Informed Consent Form.

There is a charge of $2 a shot, however no one will be turned away because of inability to pay.

Influenza immunizations are also available at the county health department offices in Pontiac and Southfield during regular clinic hours.

Burning permit

There's no outdoor burning allowed in Independence Township without a permit.

"And we don't want people to think we issue those carte blanche," said Fire Chief Frank Ronk.

"We issue them only if there's no other way for people to get rid of leaves."

Good candidates are senior citizens who physically can't perform the raking and bagging, and may have to hire someone to do it, Ronk said.

Someone who wants to burn old building material will probably be turned down if it can be hauled away, he said.

Permits are issued two to a street, good from daylight to dark.

For a permit call 625-1924.

Banquet coordinator

Jacqueline (Jackie) Wolfe is the new banquet coordinator at the Deer Lake Banquet Center, Deer Lake Racquet Club, 6167 White Lake, Independence Township.

The township eatery caters weddings, reunions, parties, "...most normal functions," says Jackie.

The former Back Court lunch hostess replaces Jane Zengerle.

Attorneys buy hotel

Brace Case of Independence Township and Rodney Sabourin of Plymouth head an investor group that recently agreed to purchase the 146-room hotel and Fordney's restaurant previously owned by Capitol Park Motor Hotel Inc. in downtown Lansing.

The new owners are Farmington attorneys. They currently own hotel properties in Ann Arbor and at the Detroit Metropolitan Airport.

The closing of the sales agreement is scheduled in the fall, and renovations on the multimillion dollar project are expected to begin before the end of this year.

Clarkston Youth Assistance has a good year

By Kathy Greenfield

The list is impressive: 83 children sent to summer camp; 42 treated to a day-long outing called Operation Math; educational programs for families; and seven youngsters matched with seven adults in the PLUS program.

The Clarkston Area Youth Assistance Committee's annual luncheon included summaries of its successful programs and served to thank the volunteers, governmental units and organizations that lend support.

About 70 persons attended the luncheon Monday at the Episcopal Church of the Resurrection on Clarkston Road.

"Everyone here has helped," said Youth Assistance Chairperson Charles Barnett. "We just couldn't operate without you."

The motto of the organization is "delinquency prevention through community involvement," and they work with the goal of "building children's sense of self-worth (and) strengthening families through education, healthy recreation and counseling."

Al Carter spoke about the group's bowl-a-thon that raised $5,400 of the $5,800 needed for the summer camperships, and allowed them to meet the goal of sending 83 youngsters to camp.

The number was the highest of the 26 Youth Assistance groups in Oakland County.

"We are happy that we did send that many and we hope next year our goal won't be 83, it will be 103," he said.

Operation Math was also Carter's topic.

The 42 youngsters who participated went by SEMTA train to the Renaissance Center in Detroit, Wayne State University, the Detroit Science Center,

Volunteers

IBM in Southfield and wound up at Chuck E. Cheese (where computers abound).

The goal of the project was to motivate students toward specific career goals.

Kathy Nicholson reported on the parent education committee's work.

Following a survey made to determine what people see as needs, two programs were presented on alcohol abuse and one on teenage sexuality.

In the planning stages are programs on mother-and-daughter communication, and parenting of teenagers.

Ken Leslie's absence due to a computer breakdown at work was covered by Virginia Walter's report on the PLUS program, which matches an adult with a child.

The adult agrees to a year-long commitment, with a minimum of three hours a week spent with a child.

"It's a wonderful commitment that these people make," said Walter. "We are proud of all of them and we think it's a wonderful, wonderful service."

Clarkston Area Youth Assistance also provides a full-time social worker, who counseled 65 youngsters during the '82-83 year.

For more information on joining Clarkston Area Youth Assistance, call 625-9007.

Bond, Reeder wed

Dave Bond of Independence Township and Betty Bond of Brandon Township announce the marriage of their daughter, Nora E., to Edward A. Reeder of Florida.

The wedding took place Sept. 18 in Houston, Texas.

Reeder is the son of Nat Reeder of California and Janet Dowden of Tennessee.

The couple will make their home in Houston, Texas.

In service

Lance Cpl. Robert Percival and his brother, Specialist 4th Class Steven Percival, are coming home to visit at the end of September.

Robert, a member of the United States Marine Corps, is stationed in San Diego aboard the U.S.S. Longbeach.

Steven is stationed in West Germany with the U.S. Army.

They are the sons of Robert and Janett Percival of Mary Sue Street, Independence Township.

Spec. 4 Wayne Wedge has arrived for duty in Boeblingen, West Germany.

A 1978 graduate of Clarkston High School, Wedge is the son of Marian and Clifford Wedge of Susin Lane, Springfield Township.

Student to compete in teen pageant

Donna Pocięcha's keeping her fingers crossed for the Miss Teen America pageant Sept. 24 and 25 at the Plymouth Hilton.

The 15-year-old Clarkston High School junior is one of 75 young women competing for the state title.

"I want to go real bad and meet a lot of new people. It'll be fun," she says, "but I'm afraid I'll make a mistake."

The winner, chosen for poise, personality and appearance, and takes home a modeling scholarship, crown, sash and trophy, bouquet, portfolio and $100 worth of cosmetics.

Donna enjoys skiing, is a member of the school drama club and plans to play powder puff football.

Her penchant is horses.

Each day she and friend Tana Fick, 15, travel to a farm in northern Independence Township, then groom and ride two Chestnuts.

"They're beautiful," Donna says. "It's a mutual-benefit situation. The people want us to get their horses ready for sale and in shape, and we like to ride."

Donna's pageant sponsors are Speedy Pizza and Raphael Flajole, D.D.S., of Orion Township; and the Fine Arts Sculpture Center and La Piazza, of Independence Township.

Meet Donna Pocięcha, 15, a candidate in the Miss Michigan Teen pageant. She lives on Iniquis Road, Independence Township.

Clarkston balloons hit Niagara

By Kathy Greenfield

Quietly, in the dark of night, the helium-filled balloons sped on a 230-mile course—from Independence Township to a dairy farm near Niagara Falls.

Carol Zeller, mother of Todd, 14, and Terry, 10, tells the tale.

Her sons received the free balloons at the Buyer's Market in Waterford Township.

When the family returned from the shopping trip, Todd and Terry came up with the idea.

"I thought, 'That sounds pretty innocent.' "

Permission granted.

A note was written asking the finder to call collect. The boys tied their two balloons together in hopes they would go farther that way. They sent them skyward at about 9 p.m. from their Snowapple Drive home.

"I said, off the top of my head, 'If we get a call, I'll give you $5.' Me of little faith, I thought they'd go two streets over in somebody's tree."

The call came in Sunday night.

"The operator said, 'Would you accept a collect call from the balloon finder?'"

"It took me a couple seconds to get my mind together, because I said, 'I don't know anybody by that name.' "

Carol laughs at the memory.

She accepted the call and learned the balloons were found Saturday morning, just 11½ hours after launch time, by Kathy Killinn in Welland Point, Ontario, Canada.

The boys were thrilled.

"They could hardly wait to go to school, especially my 10-year-old. He said, 'This would be a good thing for show-and-tell, if my teacher believes me.' "

Now that the excitement has lessened, Carol's pondering the bottom line.

"Those free balloons have cost me a collect call, and a call to grandma and grandpa in Yale, Mich."

And, there's the $10 she promised if anyone called.

"That was the first thing they reminded me of."

But, all-in-all, it's not so bad.

"My third son (Tim, 12) said, 'If I attached my balloon it would have gone as far as the Atlantic Ocean!'"

Rain dampens Crafts & Cider

More than one kind of sun

RAFTS & CIDER FESTIVAL FANS competed with the rain this weekend, but the annual event put on by the Clarkston Community Historical Society proved there's more than one kind of sunshine.

"We were down from last year because the weather was not that great—it rained on Friday, threatened all day Saturday and, somehow, we got sunshine on Sunday," said Denise Symons, Clarkston Community Historical Society president.

The statistics—between $5,000 and $5,500 for the historical society's community projects, 4,260 donuts sold and 275 gallons of cider consumed.

"We really enjoyed it," Symons said. "Everyone I asked to do something did that and more. It's enjoyable when you work with people who give. It's overwhelming."

Family room, garage make Plecs' 150-year-old house perfect

By Pat Emerson
Clarkston News Special Writer

Bob and Carol Plec fit well with the home they purchased on Waldon Road in Independence Township five years ago.

Built circa 1832, the Greek Revival-style farmhouse originally included an 80-acre farm bound by Eastlawn Road to the west of the house and encompassing what is now the Clarkston Gardens subdivision to the east.

The last split left the house, perched atop the hill, with an acre of land and no garage.

The Plecs wanted some room for gardening and for privacy, an interesting setting and an older home that would complement Carol's antiques, some of which are heirlooms from Germany.

Bob is a professor of English at Oakland Community College. He needed a home that would provide a place to gather his books and papers.

"A room away, where I could seclude myself and read my students' papers, plan lectures...a place where I can think," Bob said.

Carol, an artist, needed a place to set up her easel. She also makes her own quilts.

The house suited their needs perfectly after the addition of a family room and a garage.

"This is very much like the house I grew up in—I felt at home. It just felt comfortable and good," Carol said. "Most of the house was in good shape when we bought it, for such an old house."

Many layers of interesting wallpaper were removed, she said, and drywall has been installed over the old plaster.

The main entrance opens directly into what used to be the parlor, now converted into a master bedroom with its own bath.

The right wing, which at one time housed the kitchen and eating area, is now a foyer with a small den that has become Bob's study, a bath and a spare bedroom where Carol does her painting, quilting and sewing.

Off the kitchen was a screened porch with no foundation, which the Plecs had torn down before the family room was added.

The suggestion of country is enhanced with three large, six-paned windows across the back. The peaceful view: a gently sloping acre of lawn, fruit trees, garden plot and patio table placed under an old mulberry tree with drooping branches.

There is also an oversized window in the kitchen which overlooks this scene.

"I need that window to remind me to can all those pears," Carol said.

The dining area, also with a back-yard view, has

Carol's hand-stitched quilts add charm to bedrooms and the family room, where one is handy for curling up in and another under construction adds its color to the decor.

Emily and Matthew sit in the dining room window seat, found between china cabinets built and installed by their dad. Outside the window, a garden and fruit trees enhance the view.

Matthew and Bob stroll along the brick sidewalk they recently installed, along with a nearby picket fence.

built-in china cabinets made by Bob.

The family room was roughed in by professional carpenters but Bob did all the finish work, the electrical, and he laid the slate for the cast iron fireplace insert.

Their two children, Matthew, 12, and Emily, 9, have the upstairs to themselves, where there are two dormer bedrooms with ample under-the-eaves closets and storage, plus built-ins.

And, of course, the beds sport Carol's handmade quilts.

Other than the addition of the family room and garage, the house needed mostly just decorating—wallpaper, paint and new carpeting, refinishing some hardwood floors, painting most of the ceilings with texture paint and installing new molding around the ceiling, work Bob and Carol did themselves.

"We try to do a little more every year on the house, and always have some project going," Bob said, indicating the picket fence and brick walk connecting the garage with the house, which he and Matthew recently completed.

Since her children are growing up, Carol says she is becoming more interested in working outside the home.

She is attending Oakland Community College this fall to study printing production and publication technology, which would combine her interest in art with writing skills. She was also an English major in college.

How To... By Dave Petzal Editor Mechanix Illustrated

Talk about older homes

BARGEBOARD

GAMBREL ROOF

MANSARD ROOF

EYELID DORMER

More and more people are taking the time and effort to refurbish houses which, a few years ago, would have been torn down.

When dealing with these old-timers, you come across some unusual terminology to describe their construction.

Here are a few of these terms, courtesy of Mechanix Illustrated magazine.

A Bargeboard is usually scalloped or carved and hangs down from the projecting edges of the roof. It is also called a gable board or vergeboard.

A dormer is any structure projecting from a sloping roof and housing a window or vent.

A particularly interesting one is the Eyelid dormer. It's sometimes called an eyebrow dormer.

Everybody knows the difference between a gable-end roof and a hip roof. But in old houses you often run into the Gambrel roof.

This roof has two slopes on each side of the ridge... a shallow pitch at the top and a steeper one at the bottom.

Sometimes there is a flare or kick at the bottom edge.

Another is the Mansard roof. This one has two pitches on all four sides. The bottom slopes are high and steep, often containing dormers.

The upper slopes are shallow and usually not visible from the ground.

Then too, you will run into the terms like fanlight, the semicircular or semi-elliptical window over a door.

The fanlight is usually accompanied by sidelights, the fixed glass at the sides of windows and doors.

Solar heat warms

By Pat Emerson

Clarkston News Special Writer

After purchasing a small, three-bedroom home just outside the village limits, Linda and Ron Chambers found they needed more space.

Much more space.

The house had no basement or garage, and Ron and Linda have hobbies that take up room, and they work together. The needs of their children, Chris, 13, and Keven, 8, were also a consideration.

Linda has had training since high school in art. She enrolled in a tile painting class several years ago and the result is folk art or primitive painting on wood.

Together, the Chambers design objects such as wooden tissue box holders, recipe clips, totes, hobby horses and cookie boxes.

Ron cuts the form or shape in his garage workshop and Linda decorates them with paintbrush and acrylic paint. Another of Ron's hobbies is constructing stained glass panels.

An all-glass windowed wall in the back of the living room, facing due south, in the original house inspired the Chambers to install a passive-active solar heating system.

Knocking out most of this glass wall, a 20-by-24 concrete slab was poured with rocks under the surface for heat storage, four sliding glass doors were installed, along with double closet with mirrored doors, and a wide overhang was erected to protect the windows from too much sun.

Most of their fenced back yard is taken up by a swimming pool and extensive surrounding patio that act as heat storage, as does the bleached wood fencing surrounding the pool area.

Strolling around the pool, sitting at the patio table, it's like being on vacation.

The sunny season is so extended that the rose bushes are 8-feet high.

Chambers' abode

They call their addition the "great" room.

said we can't have 8-foot-high rose bushes, but there they are," Ron said.

It is very hot outside, but it's comfortable sitting what Linda calls her "great" room.

The ceiling fan is whirling, the solar shades are partly drawn and there is a beautiful breeze blowing through.

The work stations—drafting table for Ron and Linda's table for assembling and painting—are found behind the sitting area and facing the pool, so they can watch the children and work at the same time.

"We do everything out here. All I do in the rest of the house is cook and wash," said Linda. "It's so much more than a family room. We work here, eat here, the children play here and it also serves as our basement, a place to some day put a pool table. This is a functional room."

During the winter months their solar room heats the entire home, along with help from a wood-burning fireplace built into a corner.

They use the furnace only in the early morning, until someone puts wood in the fireplace.

A fan kicks on automatically when the cathedral ceiling area registers 80 degrees, venting the heat into the rest of the house.

"When the sun hits the floor, it heats the rocks under the floor, storing heat that is released later in the day," Ron said.

"This room is so well-built and sealed that no heat escapes. It is forced back into the house."

Photos by Kathy Greenfield

Large windows invite sunshine into the family room, providing enough heat for the Chambers' home in winter. Joining Ron and Linda and the boys, Chis and Keven, in the family portrait are their pair of soft-coat Wheaten terriers, Buffy and Ted E. Bear.

WATCH YOUR ENERGY

THE MODERN REFRIGERATOR-FREEZER IS UNSURPASSED FOR KEEPING FOODS SAFE AND GOOD-TASTING. FOLLOW THESE TIPS IN USING THIS APPLIANCE TO ACHIEVE PEAK ENERGY EFFICIENCY.

1. MODELS THAT ARE NOT SELF-DEFROSTING SHOULD NOT BE ALLOWED TO BUILD UP MORE THAN A QUARTER-INCH OF FROST. FROST IS AN INSULATOR, FORCING THE REFRIGERATOR TO USE MORE ENERGY IN MAINTAINING TEMPERATURE LEVELS.

2. CHECK DOOR SEALS ON REFRIGERATOR AND FREEZER. THEY SHOULD BE CLEAN AND HAVE NO TEARS, HOLES OR GAPS. TEMPERATURES SHOULD BE SET AT MEDIUM RANGES, AS INDICATED IN USE AND CARE BOOKLET. COLDER SETTINGS WASTE MONEY AND ENERGY.

3. WHEN STORING THE WEEKS' FOOD PURCHASES, ASSEMBLE EVERYTHING THAT NEEDS TO BE REFRIGERATED OR FROZEN AND STORE AT ONE TIME. THIS CUTS DOWN ON DOOR OPENINGS AND LOSS OF ENERGY. REMIND EVERY FAMILY MEMBER TO BE SURE DOOR IS CLOSED SECURELY AT ALL TIMES!

4. DOES YOUR REFRIGERATOR CLOSE PROPERLY? PLACE A DOLLAR BILL HALF WAY INSIDE SEAL AND CLOSE DOOR. IF BILL PULLS OUT EASILY, YOUR LATCH MAY NEED ADJUSTING OR THE SEAL REPLACING. THESE TIPS ARE FROM THE NATIONAL ENERGY WATCH... AN ENERGY EFFICIENCY PROGRAM FROM THE ELECTRIC UTILITY INDUSTRY.

Write for free home security booklet

With daytime residential burglaries alone up 37 percent in the last five years, it may be a good idea to put home security at the top of your home improvement list.

For a start, you can learn how to make your home a safer place by getting a free booklet from the home security experts at ADT.

Prepared with the assistance of a reformed burglar whose 25-year criminal career included breaking into over 4,000 homes, the booklet shows you how to significantly reduce the chance of your being victimized by one of the more than 500,000 suburban property crimes occurring each year.

Here are some of the tips offered.

- Make your home appear to be occupied at all times. If you're away, be sure the grass will be cut or the snow shoveled.

- Leave lights on—preferably controlled by timers automatically turning them on and off.

- Tell trusted neighbors and local police about vacations and other long absences.

For the free, 20-page home security booklet, write: Richard Simonetti, Box M2, ADT, One World Trade Center, New York, NY 10048.

Some tips for patching hairline cracks

Plaster cracks form in walls and ceilings as a result of movement of the support framing, which is caused by normal expansion and contraction of the frame under load and with the change of seasons.

"They're nothing to be ashamed of, but they can be ugly.

Thomas H. Jones, a regular contributor to Mechanix Illustrated, suggests that they be fixed this way: Hairline cracks are hard to patch because it's difficult to get the patching material deep into the crack.

But joint compound, which is thin, can be forced into the crack with a heavy-duty putty knife, pressuring the blade almost flat against the surface and crisscrossing the crack.

Remove the excess from the surface and sand smooth when dry.

If the crack is a wide one (1/4 inch or more), first scrape it clean and then undercut it with a beer-can opener to make sure the patching material stays in place.

Also, because all patching materials shrink, you'll have to pack on a second layer after the first one has dried.

If you have gypsum-board cracks where the taped edges of the board join, you may have to re-tape before patching in the standard manner.

No place like home ?

The American dream, a home of one's own, is in mortal danger.

At present, home ownership is priced beyond the economy grasp of more than 80 percent of American families, including most of the baby-boom generation, the 76 million babies born between 1946 and 1964.

Protected from most material hardships in childhood, they have come of age as the healthiest, best educated and richest generation in history.

Yet they are the ones now facing the harsh reality that unless we all get involved, they may never be able to afford a house.

Rising land, construction and fuel costs plus inflation and record mortgage interests all share the responsibility for the current elusiveness of the American dream, but the price of land is unquestionably the major factor. And it hasn't peaked yet.

According to a study conducted by the national Gypsum Company, a manufacturer of housing products, the price of individual lots as well as acreage is on the rise everywhere.

The study concedes that wild land speculation during the boom years is a factor, but it puts most of the blame on government regulations.

Says the National Gypsum report; "To see the situation at its worst, we need only look to California, where so many housing trends start.

The restrictions and red tape of federal, state and local governments and agencies make it so difficult, time-consuming and costly to get permission to build that the developers often are forced to add $25,000 to the price of every house."

California developers complain bitterly about having to go through 54 different federal agencies and bureaus and at least 26 separate government bodies on the state level.

Government processing time is now running two to four years, and one home builder's group estimates that up to 20 percent of the cost of a new home is caused by government intervention.

Inflation, another factor related to government, is under control for the moment, but its devastating effects are still with us. Inflation in 1982 meant that a person making $30,000 could not buy more than his parents, earning $12,000 in 1952.

As the economic pressures increase, the American dream is being redefined.

Consumers are beginning to learn the advantages of shared ownership. Condominiums, whether converted apartments or newly constructed, have already become one of the most popular forms of housing for the '80s.

Housing industry leaders describe tomorrow's common owner-occupied dwelling as a cluster home, a townhouse, an attached house, a tandem house, a patio house, a quadplex, a sixplex or an octoplex.

But all have one common feature: living space is under 1,000 sq. ft., and sometimes no more than 600.

Another option becoming popular with the baby-boom generation is manufactured housing, namely the mobile and modular units that 11 million Americans now call home.

During 1982, manufactured homes make up no less than 36 percent of the single-family housing market.

According to the National Gypsum study, building smaller is definitely the leading way to produce an affordable house, but it also points out that the reason for the demand for smaller housing isn't limited to economics.

"People are getting married later and they have fewer children," notes the study.

"And, generally, the values in our society are changing. The bigger-is-better concept is no longer the standard. Some call it the 'Europeanization of the American taste.'

"The baby-boom generation drinks good wine, eats Brie, and knows how to deal creatively with the mundane and limitations of space. Their homes become mini-museums filled with tasteful things.

"Thus, in seeking solutions to where our children will live, we must be careful not to impose our own standards on them.

"Rather, we must respond to their needs and desires and fit them into the socio-economic context of today."

National Gypsum adds that the reason the issue of home ownership is so emotionally charged is the fact that it means a lot more than mere shelter.

"Owning one's home is synonymous with family, community spirit, citizenship, independence and faith in the future," notes National Gypsum chairman John P. Hayes.

"These are all values we want for our children . . . But if these values are to become the inheritance of future generations of Americans, we must get the housing industry moving again."

The solutions to the housing problem are obviously beyond the power of any single individual, organization or governmental body, but a summary of the National Gypsum study does suggest some initial steps.

First of all, housing industry leaders suggest an ease of governmental regulations that inhibit building, raise costs by delaying permits, and add the price of community improvements onto the cost of each new home to be paid for over the life of the mortgage.

They also want government to show monetary and fiscal restraint to avoid ruinous inflation and confiscatory interest rates.

From builders and suppliers of building materials and services, they are looking for innovation in construction methods, energy-efficient new products, smaller homes designed for today's life-styles, quality construction and furnishings.

From financial institutions, they seek a dependable supply of mortgage financing that is affordable for home buyers, yet fair and profitable for lenders.

And from the rest of us, they want action.

Specifically, they suggest that we let our elected representatives know where we stand, urge local governments to examine building requirements and tax practices, and support local bond issues to provide the schools, roads and parks necessary for community growth.

Naturally these solutions won't get us all the way to the goal, but they are a beginning—a first step toward offering our children the opportunity to obtain the American dream.

There comes a time in your life when you have to go out on your own. That's what Michigan Bell will be doing in January of next year, when we separate from AT&T and become a part of Ameritech, a new holding company for five midwest communications companies which include Illinois Bell, Indiana Bell, Michigan Bell, Ohio Bell and Wisconsin Telephone.

Frankly, a change like that could be unsettling, but we welcome the challenges it presents and the opportunities it provides to serve you even better. We've had time to think about it, to plan for it, to make sure that when you pick up your phone on January 1, 1984, you'll make those calls just as you always have. And you'll get the same reliable Michigan Bell service you've come to expect over the years.

Sure, there'll be some changes, but nothing we can't easily handle together. For instance, AT&T will be leasing you the phones Michigan Bell now provides you for a monthly fee. You may continue to lease them if you wish, or you may buy your own. The choice is yours.

There could be some changes in how your telephone repair needs are met... depending upon whether the problem is with the service or the equipment. Not a big thing for the most part, except for the possibility of new phone numbers to call if you need help.

You may notice one change right off... extra pages in your phone bill. That would be the result of your getting more billing information than you're used to seeing.

As we said, changes and choices... some now, some later... but nothing you can't take in stride with a little assistance. That's where we come in.

In the weeks ahead we'll be keeping you up to date with more detailed information on the changes as they take place.

We mean to make this transition as easy for you as possible because we want to be on the best of terms with you for a long, long time. After all...
