Ritter to run for congress

Filing to follow in 10 days

By Marilyn Trumper

Tom Ritter, an Independence Township resident and owner of Ritter's Farm Market, will try to unseat Democratic U.S. Congressman Bob Carr in the 1984 election.

Ritter, a Republican, told The Clarkston News that within 10 days he plans to file a statement of candidacy and in four to six weeks, sometime in mid-November, he'll formally announce the race.

"...or a hair longer than that," he said. "I will give me time to get the issues in order and to establish positions. We want to hit the ground running at 40 or 50 miles per hour."

Upon returning from a four-day trip in Washington, D.C., last week Ritter said, "It looks very good and I feel very good about it. When the announcement comes in a few weeks there are going to be a lot of surprises. We're putting together some good people."

The 6th Congressional District had lines redrawn following the 1980 Census, and now includes areas around Ingham County from Lansing east, parts of north and northwest Oakland County, parts of Pontiac, all of Livingston County, townships in Genesee and Jackson counties and a small part of Shiawassee County.

"If I didn't think (I would win) I wouldn't be running," Ritter said.

Carr, the incumbent, lost the 1980 election but won again in 1982.

Incumbent Bob Carr, U.S. Congressman for the 6th District: He says he's not going to worry about an election that's more than a year away.

Thomas Ritter: The Independence Township businessman announced to The Clarkston News he'll try to unseat Bob Carr in 1984.

GOP targets our 6th District

By Marilyn Trumper

The Republican Party's targeted the 6th Congressional District, which includes Independence Township, as one of 20 political hotbeds nationwide in the 1984 election.

Thomas Ritter, a township resident and owner of Ritter's Farm Market, has the GOP's support to unseat incumbent U.S. Congressman Bob Carr.

The 6th District race will be heated, according to Spencer Abraham, GOP state party chairman.

"The main reason is the numbers," Abraham said, "and the very position of the district in that Republicans have a majority of the vote."

"More importantly, polling data shows Bob Carr is not as strong as he, and others, might think."

Of the 20 critical districts nationwide, the state claims three, he said: the 6th; and the 3rd and 10th, located in central Michigan.

Incumbents, he added, are seldom defeated. "We used a barometer to question and compare and see whether our chances are good. They are. We ask for approval or disapproval of the incumbent's job and who is the incumbent."

"Based on the answers to those questions we know we have a good chance."

Carr is quick to point out the election is more than a year away and is hesitant to talk about competition, stressing a primary election will determine his opponent.

"I'm not concerned about who my opponent is—I don't know who it will be. The only way (Ritter) can be assured of facing me is if he has no primary and there are other Republicans who've indicated they'll be running."

"Number one, the election is a long, long, long way, more than a year away. The people elected me to do a job—and that's what I'm going to spend my time doing."

Carr dismissed the 6th District's billing as political hotbed.

"It rolls off my back," he said. "(The Republicans) have targeted me like that in 1974, 1976, 1978 and 1982. Historically, targeting doesn't mean I'm going to lose."

News takes 7 press awards

The Clarkston News won seven awards in the Michigan Press Association's 1983 Newspaper Contest.

First place in the spot news picture category was awarded for a photograph of the Old Mill fire taken by Clarkston News editor Kathy Greenfield.

Greenfield's photograph of a gymnast took second place in the sports picture category, and her photograph of a mother and her young son at an aerobics class took honorable mention in the feature picture category.

The Clarkston News took second-place honors in the editorial writing and the editorial page categories.

In the enterprise story division, Greenfield's story on the New Unemployed published Feb. 2, 1983 took a second place.

The special section "An Old-Fashioned Christmas" received a second-place award.

Winners were announced to coincide with National Newspaper Week (Oct. 9-15), a time when a concentrated effort is made to stress the community service role of a newspaper and the relationship between personal freedom and freedom of the press.

Judges were members of the Nebraska Press Association. They awarded 300 certificates of excellence to daily and weekly newspapers throughout the state.

The judges worked with 1,392 entries from 81 weekly newspapers and 38 daily newspapers.

Twenty weekly newspapers received awards in The Clarkston News' circulation division (3,000 to 5,000).

County proposes 30 road repairs for township

With $30,000 to spend on road improvements and 30 proposed projects, the Independence Township Board has some choosing to do.

The board received the proposals Oct. 4, and Clerk Richard Holman said it's likely two will be selected at the Oct. 18 meeting.

Under the Tri-Party Road Program, the construction costs will be split equally, with the township, Oakland County Road Commission and Oakland County Board of Commissioners each paying $10,000.

The Tri-Party Program is in its final year. In the four years it has been in existence, $138,481 has been spent improving roads in the township.

Supervisor James B. Smith added Oak Hill Road

at M-15 and Clement Road at Andersonville Road to the following list submitted by the county:

- Gravel for miscellaneous roads.
- Improve Sashabaw Road at the Pine Knob Road intersection.
- Pave Major Road at Sashabaw.
- Pave Hadley Road at M-15.
- Pave Foster Road at Dixie Highway.
- Pave Pine Knob Trail at Clintonville Road.
- Pave Deer Lake Road at White Lake Road.
- Pave Clintonville Road at Clarkston Road.
- Improve drainage in Sunshine Acres.
- Improve drainage on Pine Knob Court.
- Improve the ditch at Waldon Road east of Clintonville Road.

•Improve drainage on Oakhill Road, west of Sashabaw.

- Clear site obstructions on Stickey Road at Pine Knob Road.
- Clear site obstructions at Whipple Lake Road and Pine Knob Road.
- Clear site obstructions at Pine Knob Road and Clarkston Road.
- Widen Clement Road.
- Widen Oakhill west of Sashabaw Road.
- Widen Stickey Road.
- Clear vision at Rattalee Lake Road and Ellis Road.
- Widen Perry Lake Road east of M-15.
- Widen curves on Clarkston Road, from Clintonville Road to Eston.
- Extend Sashabaw north at Maybee Road to three lanes.
- Improve Pine Knob Road at Sashabaw Road.
- Pave Eston Road north to Indianwood Road.
- Pave Clintonville Road from Walton Road to Clarkston Road.
- Improve Allen Road at Rattalee Lake Road.
- Install flashers on school speed signs at Bailey Lake Elementary.

Construction on the selected projects would be scheduled in 1984, according to Holman.

The board's Tuesday, Oct. 18, meeting begins at 7:30 p.m. in the Independence Township Hall Annex, 90 N. Main, Clarkston.

Ritter jumps in political arena

Ritter comes from a predominantly Democratic family. His brother Dennis, a Democrat, is treasurer for Waterford Township, and another brother, Frederick, also a Democrat, is Independence Township's treasurer.

"Nobody (in the family) has discouraged me from doing it. We're diametrically opposed on political issues and on many opinions. I didn't ask for permission to seek office—and I won't," he said.

"My involvement in the Republican party is extensive. I worked for Gerald Ford, on the Headlee campaign and I'm vice president of the Independence Township Republican Club. So this is not something that's happened with me in the last six months. I have a credible track record."

Dennis Ritter offered little comment.

"I will expect to continue to wholeheartedly support Bob Carr. Other than that, I have no comment."

Frederick Ritter offered his reaction.

"First of all I read about it in the paper. There's been no family discussion with him.

"I previously supported Bob Carr. Bob's become a close and personal friend of mine," he said. "A major consideration for whomever runs against Carr is Bob's seniority in congress and what I consider to be a crucial assignment on the house appropriations committee and transportation sub-committee."

"Until I hear an official announcement, I consider it premature speculation," Ritter said.

Dennis Ritter's wife, Sandra, is Carr's administrative assistant in Pontiac.

Asked for her reaction, she said, "It's inappropriate for me to comment."

Ritter denied rumors the family sold its 54-year-old market on Dixie Highway.

"We are selling the property the house is on next door," he said. "Our intention is to move the house and continue to live in it, and move the barn behind the market."

Ritter said he will also continue to keep a hand in the day-to-day operation of his business during the campaign.

Independence raises 3 of 5 taxes

Township bill to increase by $16.04 for typical homeowner

By Marilyn Trumper

Independence Township residents will pay more taxes than last year for police, fire and property purchase—but the board agreed to hold safety path and general fund taxes at last year's levels.

Township tax bills will increase by $16.04 for a typical home assessed at $30,000, or half the market value, located outside the Village of Clarkston but inside the Clarkston School District, according to David Sherrill, township assessor.

At its Oct. 4 meeting the board set millage rates for 1984, starting with the general fund.

"I am very against us having a general fund millage increase for the same reason I've given in the past," said Trustee Dale Stuart.

"I want us to have operating expenses—but not a penny more."

Trustee Larence Kozma agreed.

"Putting that up for a public hearing, even those who were moderates, opposed any tax increase. We can't justify it."

Clerk Richard Holman also agreed.

"I don't see any dramatic difference. I would support keeping the general fund at 82's level."

After discussion the board voted unanimously to levy last year's total of 1.2186 mills. It will yield $335,115.

Safety paths too remained at last year's level, with the board voting unanimously to levy .4321 mill. It will yield $113,210.

After brief discussion, the board voted unanimously to levy the maximum allowed for the police millage with a public hearing: .9948 mill which yields $260,638.

The board also voted 5-2 to levy the full amount allowed with a public hearing for property purchase: .2984 which yields $82,060, $11,000 more than last year.

Voters approved the tax in 1979 to pay for the condemnation of 80 acres, targeted by the Edward C. Levy Co. for gravel mining. The township is currently negotiating the purchase.

Trustees Larence Kozma and Dale Stuart dissented.

"Since we're talking just $11,000, I think we should get it from some other source," Stuart said, with Kozma agreeing.

Kozma was the sole dissenter in levying the 2.6096 mills for fire, the maximum allowed without a hearing.

"I don't think it can be justified," Kozma said.

Sewer gets boost, too

By Marilyn Trumper

Independence Township residents will pay the sewer ad valorem tax this year, which means an increase of $10.50 to the tax bill of an average property owner with a house assessed at $30,000 or half the market value.

After more than an hour of debate Oct. 4, the township board voted 4-3 to levy 0.35 mill, which generates $90,000, the maximum allowable levy with a public hearing as outlined in the Truth in Taxation law.

Trustees Dale Stuart, William Vandermark and Larence Kozma dissented.

"I don't think we have the figures that we need to levy the tax," Stuart said, referring to investment projections. "If interest rates would come down to a predictable rate, then fine. But that's not happening."

"I'm not in favor of passing an ad valorem tax," Kozma said, proposing the board use money from the general fund to pay the sewer bill.

"Use that for debt retirement and let it be paid by the users of the system," he said.

The ad valorem tax is paid by all township residents, whether or not they have sewer hook-ups or access to sewers.

For the past two years no tax was levied because the township used a portion of its $1.2 million excess sewer construction funds to pay the bill.

Acting on its auditor's recommendation in 1980, the board waived a full 2-mill levy and instead levied 1 mill, which was expected to generate $203,000 and still meet the sewer payment. But sewer hook-ups didn't increase as predicted and interest rates dropped.

Without a millage increase, a $3 million deficit was projected for the year 2000, the end of the sewer bond debt.

"There are two reasons why I don't want the tax levied," said Treasurer Frederick Ritter. "First, because I'm a taxpayer, I don't have sewers, and don't know if I ever will see them."

"Second, I want to be re-elected. But we have an obligation to meet here and we're relying on the recommendation of a paid professional."

Cop millage receives increase

By Marilyn Trumper

Four times in the past six years Independence Township voters have soundly defeated a proposed police millage increase.

Tax revenue has not increased, police costs have gone up 50 percent in the past four years, and last year Independence Township supplemented its $300,000 police bill with $60,000 in federal revenue sharing.

On Oct. 4, the board voted unanimously to levy the full police tax allowed with a public hearing, .9948 mill, which will yield $260,000 to pay for six full-time deputies.

For that, the township has one officer on duty covering the 36-square mile township, and a back-up circle car that covers northwest Oakland County.

Cost per deputy is $48,750 a year.

Commissioners from southern Oakland County have proposed an increase in deputy pay, which Independence Township Supervisor James B. Smith says he hopes will not happen.

"As we can see (township funds) will be totally inadequate if the rates go up. On top of that we've had a severe cutback in road patrol as a result of commissioner layoffs last year. For some time we've had to augment our police funds," Smith said.

Below is a list of the annual fee per deputy and percentage increases from 1979, when Independence Township disbanded its police force and went with the Oakland County Sheriff's Department:

- 1979, $32,448.
- 1980, $35,232, up 8.85 percent.
- 1981, $37,716, up 7 percent.
- 1982, $42,854, up 13.62 percent.
- 1983, $48,708, up 13.66 percent.

If the upward spiral continues deputies in 1984 will cost $55,000 a year, a 69.5 percent increase from 1979, according to Smith.

The fee covers the deputy's salary plus all equipment and supervisory costs.

Schools to fight for cable-TV site

By Kathy Greenfield

The Clarkston school district wants Independence Township's cable TV studio near Clarkston High School and Superintendent Milford Mason's going to fight to get it there.

Mason received the school board's unanimous support Monday night to propose a site to the Independence Township Board.

"The closer it is to the high school, the better. That's my total rationale," he said following the meeting.

Mason told the school board he learned Multi-Cablevision selected the site it will recommend two weeks ago when he was invited to a meeting with township Supervisor James B. Smith and village President Jackson Byers.

The cable firm wants the studio behind or adjacent to the township library on Clarkston Road.

The township board and village council have final say on the site, but Mason said he voiced his objections immediately.

He was told to come up with an alternate and present it to the township board at its Tuesday, Oct. 18, meeting.

"It was from that I started driving up and down Waldon Road to see what could happen...the grounds maintenance building came into view," he said. "The more I thought about it, the more I thought it would be a possibility."

The building presently houses grounds maintenance and snow removal equipment. It is adjacent to Clarkston Junior High School, across the roadway that leads to the high school.

Mason said he had a cable-TV representative inspect the building and was told it was large enough to house the studio and business offices. He was also told it would cost about $80,000 to remodel the building.

The head-in location with the satellite dishes and tower will remain at the already approved site—behind Rademacher Chevy at Dixie Highway and M-15.

"I think it's about time, frankly, that we put some pressure on the township board" —Place

Mason cautioned the school board that there was some risk in taking a stand.

If the district entered into a lease, it would have to be for 15 years, the length of the franchise agreement between the township, village and Multi-Cablevision.

"Is it the best use of our resources, our assets?" he asked.

Bill Genshaw, the CHS media instructor who is working on his doctorate degree in communication, supported the fight.

"For our purposes it probably can offer a lot of opportunities for our students in terms of careers in the broadcast field," he said. "I think we're missing the boat if we don't push to become an active part of cable TV in the community."

His students, Genshaw said, are willing to assist community members with presenting programs for the community cable channel.

The cable TV system includes a another channel designated for the school district.

School board members also voiced their support.

"I think it's about time, frankly, that we put some pressure on the township board," said Carolyn Place. "If the schools can't be involved, there really isn't much point in it at all."

Because the district is supporting the concept of life-long learning through community education, its involvement in cable TV would cover all ages and groups, she added.

"I'm a strong supporter," said C. Vincent Luzi. Following the unanimous vote of the board to support the cause, President Janet Thomas turned to Mason and said, "We encourage you to pursue that."

Chiropractic Clinics

Why Spinal Check-Ups Should Be A Part Of Your Health Care

Many spinal problems which lead to irritation of the nerves actually start through birth defects, faulty development of the spinal supporting structures, an accident in early childhood, or simply a failure to develop a very strong spine.

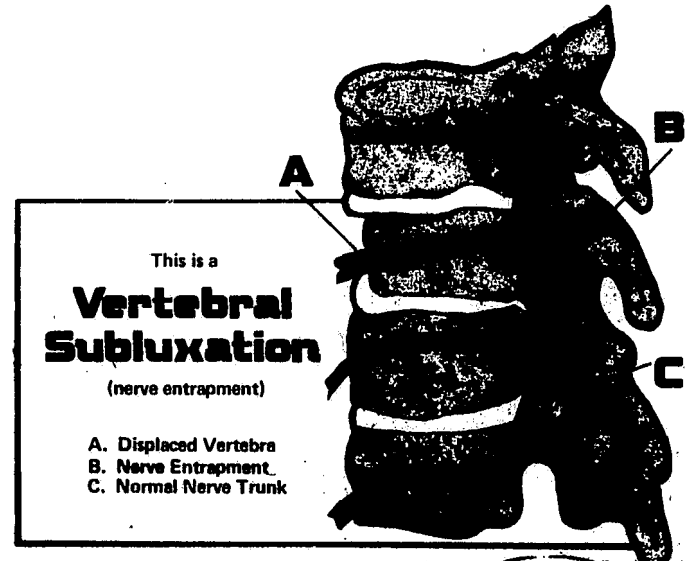

With subsequent strain and stress throughout the lifetime, the spine gradually bends, curves, kinks and twists to the weak side.

The stress of everyday living eventually brings the abnormal movement of the spine to a point where the nerves are trapped and pinched because of improper positioning of the vertebrae.

Injuries such as a fall, automobile accident or improper lifting, can affect a weakened area of the spine causing it to "come out of place" and irritate nerves. This is called a vertebral subluxation.

Chronic long standing vertebral subluxations can wear away at the soft tissues of the spine, particularly the disc that separates the vertebrae. If such a condition exists long enough, a disc can slowly rupture and degenerate. A sudden violent accident can also rupture a disc causing pressure on spinal nerves.

Accident victims should always come in for a spinal check-up however you don't have to be in an accident to benefit from a spinal examination. It is designed to detect vertebral subluxations and other abnormalities. If it turns out that your condition could be improved by chiropractic then a personal program will be designed for the fastest correction of your health problems.

Fall rings in hockey

For most people, I imagine, the arrival of October is a matter of supreme inconsequence—about as exciting as the arrival of laundry day. There are perhaps only three groups of people I can think of who make up the exceptions.

- Cider and doughnut addicts.
- Fall color freaks.
- Hockey fans.

I could claim membership in all three categories, but it is in the third group that I find my natural home. I love this game we imported from our neighbor to the north with a passion that sometimes transcends reason.

But not to the point of confusing games with reality and putting a higher value on winning than on decency and fair play. Nor have I lost sight of the real reason that people play games: to have fun, pure and simple.

EACH NIGHT THE Red Wings play finds me somewhere near a radio, TV or down in Detroit to see the game in person. Every Tuesday night I cut away from work to play in a men's league at an arena not far from my home.

It is all very official on these Tuesday nights—colorful jerseys, referees, timekeepers and accurate stats to tell you who's hot and who's not. There is even a tiny contingent of wives, friends and girl friends braving the cold arena air, cheering or booing when appropriate.

I enjoy the whole experience, and plan on playing as long as I am physically able. Yet some of my fondest memories of this beautiful game are set not in indoor arenas, but in wind-swept backyards.

We used to play in the flooded backyard of a guy I remember only as "Gary," who lived not far from a school buddy of mine. The ice would be choppy and covered with a powdery layer of snow; the "nets" consisted of a few crooked two-by-fours nailed together with a patch-work of chicken wire.

Faces turned crimson and noses ran in the blustery cold; pucks would constantly sail off the ice into nearby piles of snow, never to be found until spring; and the most equipment anyone had was a pair of skates, a stick, gloves and shinpads.

No one knew who was leading in scoring, or who had the best goals against average. No one remembered or cared who won the day before—with no electronic scoreboard or timekeeper, the final scores were always disputed, anyway.

But we had a riot out there in the cold, feeling the wind on your face as you cut up ice, doing an imaginary play-by-play in your head. It was sport in its purest form—pure fun.

I THINK OF those days sometimes in reference to little league sports. I'm not against them—I think parent involvement is fine. But I hope these kids also have plenty of opportunities to play in a park, a backyard, a parking lot—someplace where they can make a dumb mistake and not feel embarrassed because everybody is watching.

A place where there is no pressure to win; a place where nobody keeps stats to remind you that you haven't had a hit in 10 games and are currently batting .127.

Of course it's nice to win. But every now and then it's nice to play in a setting where it just doesn't matter who wins and who loses. Which explains why, while I love Tuesday nights, I still miss Gary's backyard.

Kamikaze bee target

Kathy Greenfield

Usually bees don't bother me. If they're flying around and land on me, I just wait for them to zoom off.

Of all the insects, they have been my favorites for years. They make honey, keep the flowers blooming and are crucial in the growth of fruit and vegetables.

But last week I encountered a first in on-the-job hazards.

I was doing a story on a beekeeper, and one of the little buggers dive-bombed into my hair and stung me.

Stinging requires a bee to use 22 different muscles.

It hurt, and three days later it still hurts.

Let's go back to the scene of the accident.

A woman who oversees 80 hives of industrious bees got to talking about her charges.

Did you know (or remember)?:

- All worker bees are female.
- The queen doesn't really rule the hive, the worker bees do.

•A hive produces a half-dozen potential queens and the one that hatches first makes a piping sound answered by the others. She then stings her rivals through their cells and kills them.

•Drones can't sting at all; worker bees can sting once and when the barb on their stinger gets caught in the victim they die; queen bees have no barb so they can sting repeatedly.

•The queen bee mates with drones just once. She flies high into the sky for this ritual. Only the strongest drones can make it to that altitude, thus assuring hardy offspring.

•After drones mate, they die.

•Worker bees have a lifespan in the summertime of only about a month—their wings become tattered as they literally work themselves to death.

•If too many bees survive the winter in a hive, the worker bees grow more queens and two-thirds of them leave with the hive's existing queen in the springtime and swarm. Before they leave, they stuff themselves with honey so swarming bees are relatively docile.

•Bees aren't as aggressive in months when blossoms—and food—are plentiful. That's when beekeepers can pull honey out of the hive and not worry much about being stung.

That's what the beekeeper told me. She was right; she didn't get stung.

Leave it to the one kamikaze worker bee in the bunch to find me standing nearby when the hive was disturbed.

I wasn't going to write about this until I ran across the illustration that accompanies this column.

Darn, that bee sting hurts!

I've been saving up some things to tell you.

The National Wildlife Federation sent me this note. Cave dwelling bats may roost at densities of up to 300 bats per square foot. A single cave may house more than 40 million bats. Know why I don't like caves?

The Washington Post carried a story recently about the drought this summer shocking the corn-cob-pipe industry. Seems the Missouri Meerschaum Co. uses between 7 million and 9 million corn-cobs a year. They're grown on contract by farmers to company specifications, using a large cob, small kernel hybrid seeds.

The heat and lack of rain devastated the corn crop. The cobs are undersized. The company plant manager said, "It will be touch and go this year. You know, a corn-cob is a corn-cob, and there's not that much you can do with it."

Two weeks ago Jack Robinson, founder and president of Perry Drugs, told the Economic Club of Detroit retailers in southeast Michigan the economy will continue to expand and unemployment decline.

He said, "I am confident about this prediction except for the supermarket segment which faces a highly-competitive operation environment."

We all know groceries are bargains by comparison, even if the bottom line does seem awfully high.

Then Robinson cautions businesses to not "weaken and succumb to the temptation of adopting less than frugal policies lest we may suffer a new recession from which we may never recover."

— O —

The Bingo division of the state lottery has issued an annual report that covers two years. I don't know how they do it.

Oakland County ranks third in the number of bingo licenses issued for religious groups. Wayne County has 484, Macomb, 143 and Oakland, 99. Genesee is fourth with 72.

More bingo licenses are issued for service groups than any other category.

The average bingo player spends $14.97 per game. The average number of players per week has climbed from 140,577 ten years ago to 244,942 in 1982.

Bingo profits in Michigan in 1982 were $32,828,170. Gross receipts for 1982 were $188,355,169.00.

That's just bingo. The state also licenses raffles, Reno-type gambling, and a new Charity Game. Pay the fee and get the state's blessing, but don't bet illegally.
Super hypocrisy.

Join schools in cable TV fight

Finally, the Clarkston school district has decided to go public with its fight for a location close to Clarkston schools for the cable-TV studio.

In a unanimous vote Monday night, the school board supported Superintendent Milford Mason's quest to ask the township board and village council to tell the cable-TV firm to locate across from Clarkston High School.

We believe there is no better site in the township.

It's on a main road. The students will have easy access and so, too, will the members of the community.

The site proposed by Multi-Cablevision behind or adjacent to the township library on Clarkston Road has built-in problems—the library is accessible for the majority of township residents only by car and there are ongoing vandalism problems.

We don't understand why the township board has, so far, appeared reluctant to support a location close to the high school.

In a community so involved with its young people, it only seems natural that the adult members would be comfortable seeking assistance from students already trained to use such equipment.

There's built-in interest there, and the cable TV studio would receive instant use. If any group begins using the studio others will follow.

It would be sad to have such an asset and not encourage its use to the fullest capacity.

We ask community members to contact the township board and village council members with their support for the school district's proposal.

Letters, phone calls and attendance at the township board meeting on Tuesday, Oct. 18, are in order. The board meets at 7:30 p.m. in the Independence Township Hall Annex, 90 N. Main, Clarkston.

Say thanks for Levy denial

The Levy Company's intention to mine the heart out of Independence Township is now on the rocks.

At the outset, the odds seemed overwhelmingly in their favor when they pitted their enormous economic and political strength against us.

Miraculously, the combined opposition of government (the township and county), many organizations, and a multitude of private citizens was able to tip the balance our way.

We left "no stones unturned" to prevent the "stones gathering moss" by the Clinton River headwaters from being hauled away.

Now that the dust has settled, we should take note of not only this unprecedented victory and its beneficial consequences for the future of our community, but also the united effort of many dedicated citizens.

We have repeatedly urged the DNR and the Army Corps of Engineers to carefully review the proposed project and prevent the disastrous effects that would have resulted.

Now it would seem appropriate that we each make the effort to write to them just one more time to communicate our satisfaction with their review and the ultimate denials of permits to Levy.

Rate mix-up blemishes Edison

Among utility companies, Detroit Edison seems to have the best reputation. For a monopoly, they serve us very well.

They are, of course, not without fault. A recent Michigan Supreme Court decision made that very clear.

That court affirmed the decision of the Michigan Court of Appeals ruling that Detroit Edison illegally collected a surcharge on fuel bills for 123 months in 1976-77 and in January 1978.

When Michigan Attorney General Frank J. Kelley challenged the surcharge, the Circuit Court in Ingham County first upheld the utility's right. Through Kelley's persistence, Detroit Edison has now been ordered to refund, with interest, the surcharges for deferred fuel cost for the period mentioned.

Considering the esteem we have held Detroit

Edison in for several years, it is difficult for us to think they tried to get away with something. They MUST have felt the surcharges necessary, justified and legal.

Mustn't they?

You see . . . now we have that trace of doubt. When Edison goes to the Public Service Commission again with a rate hike request, what will go through the public's mind?

We know one thing, Frank J. Kelley did a job for us. He has always been a watchdog for consumers when utility companies seek rate increases. Now we know, at least in this instance, his challenges are justified.

We thank and commend Kelley for his persistence on our behalf, and at the same time feel a little sad that a blemish has been exposed on a company with such great public trust.

Vicious rumors

It's probably not true that Gov. Blanchard's chef was fired for refusing to allow a state helicopter to land the governor in his kitchen so he could watch his son eat chocolate chip cookies.

That's one of several vicious rumors that began circulating in Lansing after it was revealed that the chef, Andrew Billups, had departed. While it's true that Blanchard sometimes rides taxpayers' helicopters to unlikely locations to watch his son play baseball, there is scant evidence supporting a Republican claim that a damp Democratic washcloth was used to convert the governor's Formica countertop into a heliport.

It must be remembered that, when he was campaigning for governor, Blanchard frequently played baseball with his son in TV commercials, but at no time was either one of them seen eating a chocolate chip cookie. Of course, it's possible that a heretofore unmentioned chocolate chip cookie could suddenly surface after the election, just like a 38 percent tax hike, but such an eventuality seems beyond the bounds of subterfuge, even for a politician.

HOWEVER, ANOTHER RUMOR can't be easily discounted. The governor's past conduct indicates it could be true that Billups was dumped simply because Blanchard wanted his own chef in the kitchen.

Sources point out that Blanchard recently cir-cumvented the state Agriculture Commission to force the resignation of the Agriculture Department director so the job might be given to the governor's own farmer, John Hertel, who grew up in close proximity to a window planter.

Also, Blanchard used the same circumvention ploy on the state Natural Resources Commission in an unsuccessful effort to get his own gamekeeper appointed director of the Department of Natural Resources. So if the governor could so roundly attempt to circumambulate the agriculture and resource commissions' right to select their own directors, it wouldn't be surprising if he used similarly circumambient behavior on the state Natural Governor's Chef Commission, especially if it is true, as the rumor says, that Blanchard wants the chef's job to go Maurice Hertel, one of the 68 Hertel brothers eager to serve the public. Although Maurice has never cooked food, he has eaten some.

Of course, none of the above may be true. Indeed, Chef Billups may have left the governor's kitchen on his own volition, which is similar to leaving on your own velocipede, except a volition has front-wheel drive.

ACCORDING TO the Associated Press, Billups said he didn't like the job much anyway because, besides being chef, he also had to be the governor's waiter and butler, and was required to wear a different uniform for each job. I don't blame Billups for being unhappy. It can't be easy changing your clothes while walking from the kitchen to the dining room, and then having to change again if the doorbell rings.

I don't know why one person has to do three jobs. It probably has something to do with the state of the economy, which shouldn't be confused with the economy of the state. The state of the economy only causes people to be poor, but the economy of the state causes the state governor to blush when his dinner is served by a waiter only 38 percent into his waiter's pants.

In conclusion, it should be noted that the Lapeer County Press recently quoted me as making this comment on Gov. Blanchard's boyish appearance: "He always looks as if his mother combed his hair for him."

I don't remember saying that. Admittedly, and understandably, I often forget what I say before I say it. But it does seem more likely that the governor has his own barber, in proper white uniform, with Blanchard's name lettered over the comb pocket, just like in the Youth Corps.

In fact, the governor probably circumvented the state Natural Striped Pole Commission to appoint bald Pierre Hertel to the hair-combing job. Perhaps the previous barber left on his own volition, after getting the brakes fixed.

Friday, vandals caused an unknown amount of damage when they smashed the windshield of a disabled car on I-75 at Clintonville Road, Independence Township.

Friday, thieves broke into a house on Autumnlo Drive, Springfield Township. It is not known what was taken.

Saturday, thieves broke into law offices at 6751 Dixie Highway, and stole $1,200 worth of checks.

This information came from reports at the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

6 flags stolen

Wanted: Old Glory thief

"I'd like to know just what kind of steps we have to take to keep a flag flying over the Village of Clarkston," said Charles Smalley, village enforcement officer.

"We've had six flags stolen from the flag pole at Main and Washington, and I'd like to know who's responsible. These kids can't be bringing the flags into their home without the parents knowing."

According to Smalley, one of the stolen flags sent by a congressman had flown over the nation's Capitol. A second flag was donated by parents who'd lost a son in Vietnam. A third flag was donated by one of the local lodges.

"Now we don't have a flag at all. This is getting expensive," Smalley said.

Persons with information are asked to call the village hall on Wednesdays at 625-1559 or Smalley at 623-0806.

Two thieves steal drug van

Police continue to look for two black men who stole a pharmaceutical van carrying $17,000 worth of drugs and merchandise and attempted to kidnap the driver making a delivery at the Davisburg Medical Clinic.

The driver was making a routine delivery at the Springfield Township clinic on Monday, Oct. 3, shortly before 3 p.m. when a man brandishing a .38-caliber pistol forced his way into the van.

A second man stepped into the passenger door, took the gun and held the driver at bay while the first man started driving away.

A struggle ensued, the gun fell to the floor and the driver escaped, pulling his assailant with him.

The man got back into the van and the two thieves drove off, down Andersonville Road.

The driver was not injured.

Police recovered the stolen van about four miles away in Rose Township. A box of over-the-counter drugs from the van was found in Detroit's 16th Precinct.

Missing from the van were several prescription pain killers, sedatives, tranquilizers, and quinine sulfate, which police say is used for cutting heroin.

Police are looking for a black man, approximately 30 years old, 6-1, 165 pounds, wearing a red and white ball cap and light-colored jacket.

Persons with information are asked to call the Oakland County Sheriff's Department at 858-4980.

Girl escapes

A 16-year-old girl escaped three attackers on Sashabaw Road, Independence Township, shortly before 9 p.m. Oct. 6, according to a report at the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

The Waterford Township teen was walking alone near the Maybee Road intersection when she was overpowered by three men and molested, the report said. They tore her clothing and attempted rape.

The men fled and the girl ran for help to a nearby service station.

Police are looking for three men, the first described as having a medium build, 5-8, with below-the-shoulder-length straight blond hair and a mustache and bushy eyebrows.

The second man is described as 5-6, slim build, with brown curly hair.

The girl did not see her third attacker, but said she heard one of the other men call him "Tom."

Persons with information are asked to call the sheriff's department at 858-4960.

Greenhouse on way

Board OKs change in zoning

By Marilyn Trumper

With the planning consultant's recommendation to deny and a split vote from the planning commission, the Independence Township Board voted 5-2 and approved a rezoning at Allen and Holcomb roads Oct. 4.

The 13-acre parcel was rezoned from single family residential to rural residential, and makes way for Joseph Cook to erect a 4,000 square foot greenhouse for commercial plant sales, with a variance from the zoning board.

He's expected to seek the variance but has not made application.

Supervisor James B. Smith voted to approve the rezoning.

"I felt that the specific layout with berming and bushing will make this a very isolated use," he said. "From the outside, I don't think it will be apparent it's even there."

"In addition, he has to go to the zoning board for a variance, and I'm sure they'll take steps to ensure he does not have other uses."

Two trustees disagreed.

"I think it's totally inappropriate to have rural residential zoning there," Trustee Larence Kozma said after the meeting. "With his new zoning, he can have a farm with cows, sheep and pigs right in the middle of a residential district."

"The planning consultant recommended it be denied and the planning commission had trouble with it. (Cook) indicated he'll have a 4,000-foot greenhouse, five employees, two trucks, and there'll be deliveries of growing materials, plants, things like that."

"Even though he'll be selling the plants commercially and not at that site, it will be a commercial enterprise in the middle of a residentially developed area."

"That is not good planning," he said.

Trustee Dale Stuart cast the second dissenting vote.

DAR winner

Paula Ziolkowski, 17, a senior at Clarkston High School, is the Daughters of the American Revolution award-winner for 1983. She was chosen by a vote of teachers and administrators. The award makes her eligible to compete for scholarships. "I was sitting in class and they announced I'd won over the PA system," Paula said. "It was a surprise. I consider it quite an honor." She is the daughter of Sandra and Conrad Bruce of Almond Lane, Independence Township, and Charles Ziolkowski of Warren.

"I think it's a clear departure from what we have done as long as I've been on the board, and a departure from the planning commission and ZBA."

"This is a commercial setting in a residential area, surrounded by residents that will be affected by it."

Via memo to the board, planning consultant Richard Carlisle recommended denial for the same reasons given by Kozma and Stuart.

Supervisor James B. Smith, Treasurer Frederick Ritter and trustees William Vandermark and Daniel Travis voted "yes."

Plats on move

In separate moves at its Oct. 4 meeting, the Independence Township Board tackled a final plat approval and preliminary plat extension for two subdivisions.

The board voted unanimously to grant final plat approval to Clarkston Ranch Estates II on Clarkston Road, east of Eston Road.

Frederick Jacobites, of Jacobites & Schultz Realty plans to build 61 homes on 3-acre lots.

"We're building right now," he said after the meeting. "We've got one sold and the other two up for sale."

The first phase has 36 lots, he said.

In other action, the board tabled a request for final plat extension of Oak Hill Meadows II on Oak Hill Road in the northwest quadrant of the township.

According to Clerk Richard Holman, more engineering plans were requested.

The subdivision has nine lots.

Big can cash

Eighty-thousand cans cash into $7,500. Just ask the Pine Knob Music Theatre rangers.

They did the collecting.
The rinsing and storing.
They know.

All summer the rangers gleaned the theater's hills and pavilion and collected cans.

Last week, they donated the proceeds to SCAMP, an Independence Township summer camp program for children with learning, emotional and physical disabilities.

"I can't thank them enough on two levels," said Margaret Olesnavage, SCAMP's coordinator of development. "First, it's the fact that it's young people who conscientiously made a decision to do this on their own, and that's laudable.

"Then it's the concept of kids working to help kids."

It costs $300 to send a kid to SCAMP.

"The $7,500 will be used for SCAMPerships," Olesnavage said. "We can take care of 50 kids with that."

Rezoning denial

With brief discussion Oct. 4, the Independence Township Board denied a rezoning request for 2½ acres near Whipple Lake and Pine Knob roads.

Joseph Yingling sought a rezoning from suburban farm, with minimum lot sizes of 1½ acres to single family residential, so he could build three homes on the land.

The board denied the request.

"That property was part of a major rezoning in 1975, and was rezoned then to bring all the property into conformity," said Kenneth Delbridge, director of building and planning.

Keep to the facts

Dear Jim Sherman (Clarkston News publisher),

I do not know why Marilyn Trumper keeps writing her stories to start a controversy, "to sell more papers?" She does not seem to realize that this is a small community and we do not need a reporter who stirs up trouble.

I did not say "exclusive" Main Street. I said that I thought the Main Street residents would be favorable to a Historical Ordinance, and if they do, others may follow.

Jim, I cannot tell you all of the misquotes your reporter has made, but as a member of the Village Council, I am wondering what kind of sensationalism she is going to make out of our meeting.

The Clarkston News is an excellent newspaper, but should keep to the true facts especially on township and village news and meetings.

Fontie ApMadoc
Clarkston Village Council Trustee

Publisher's Note: The quoted word from reporter Trumper's story of Oct. 5, 1983 is in her notes taken at the time of the meeting. The News will stand by those notes. J.A.S.

Don't ignore good

I am very disappointed with your paper, especially this week.

You did not give any advance notification of the Clarkston Band Invitational on Oct. 1—and there is no report of it this week. Not even one picture.

You had space to give a half-page picture of a young man who repaired his family gravesite and a whole page to a young man who fixed his own car, but not even a snapshot of the bands.

In case you didn't know, those bands (15 or 16 of them) were made up of about 2,000 high school youths—plus the flag troops.

There was music that night from 6 until 11 at Clarkston High. These are high schoolers that spend thousands of hours each year in practice and drills to perfect their skills.

I admit you did mention the invitational—in an accusatory tone connected with a robbery in town.

And you did mention the high school students in yet another article about drugs and narcotics.

Please, pay a little more attention to the good kids in Clarkston and surrounding subdivisions.

Sashabaw falls, 26-8

Rivals clash; Clarkston rolls

By Dan Vandenhemel

Outgunned, but not outclassed.

In the Clarkston Wolverines' 26-8 win over the Sashabaw Cougars Oct. 5, the Wolverines blew open the game in the third quarter to surge on to victory. But in the game of high intensity and hype between the cross-town rivals, Sashabaw held its own.

"They're a good team and they just controlled us," Sashabaw Cougar coach Steve Pearson said. "They got some breaks. They made the breaks happen."

Early in the game, a penalty was called against Clarkston. Pearson turned to his team and told them not to clap about the the mistake.

"In our program we want to stress discipline and sportsmanship," he said after the game. "I don't want them to clap because it is like rubbing it in. Some people take the clapping the wrong way so we don't do it."

Six minutes before the end of the first half, Craig Chamberlain scored on a 4-yard run, and the Wolverines were ahead 8-0 at the mid-game break.

They returned for the third quarter charged up. On the Cougars' first possession of the quarter, the ball was fumbled. Dan Jokisch picked it up and ran 20 yards, putting the Wolverines ahead 14-0.

"That might have been the deciding turnover in the game," Pearson said.

Late in the quarter, Chamberlain scored again on a 5-yard run to increase the lead to 20-0.

Sashabaw got on the board with eight minutes left in the game on a 55-yard run by Jeff Bellig.

Clarkston ended the scoring on a 35-yard screen pass from Brian Galley to Mike Norman.

"We definitely are a bigger team than Sashabaw," Wolverine coach John Craven said. "This is the most intense we've been all year, and in the end it really showed."

"We felt comfortable about being able to move the ball. At times, Sashabaw moved the ball but we weren't concerned about them putting a lot of points on the board."

The sizes of the two teams did not make a difference to Pearson.

"They did the right things and we didn't do the right things," he said. "The size didn't matter. They just outplayed us."

The game put the Clarkston Wolverines' record at 4-1, and the Sashabaw Cougars' record at 3-2.

Jeff Valenzuela of Clarkston gives chase to Jeff Bellig of Sashabaw during their game Oct. 5. The Wolverines blew open a close game with 18 points in the second half.

Wolves lose GOAL opener to Kettering

By Dan Vandenhemel

Poor shooting and a powerful pressing defense led to the Wolves' league-opening loss to Waterford Kettering.

Clarkston lost the basketball game 51-33 Oct. 6 at Kettering after jumping out to a quick 6-2 lead in the first quarter.

"They put the press on us early," coach Dave McDonald said. "Plus we shot poorly, especially from the foul line. We were 13-32 from the line."

McDonald said the team had a defensive lapse that enabled Kettering to take a big lead.

"We were too far down to really turn it around," he said. "Kettering went from the press to a zone offense and that was a good combination."

The Wolves have averaged 51 points a game while allowing only 39 by the opponents.

"We don't have any real stars on the team, but a lot of good players," McDonald said. "We have to play together as a team because no one person is going to carry us. We didn't play together and Kettering beat us in every punch of the game."

Kettering has a smaller gym than Clarkston and the size made a difference for the Wolves.

"We have to be able to get the other team going back and forth so we can use our speed," McDonald said. "We're a good team, not a powerhouse but we have good quickness."

"A game with Kettering is highly motivating," he said. "We just played flat. This was a great big game, the opener of the GOAL and each team had a winning streak going. Kettering now has won six straight."

Kim Ottman led the Wolves with 15 points. The next highest total was six by Lin Klingler.

"We only had nine steals for the game," McDonald said. "Usually we have near 20. Kettering just outplayed us."

A high jump-shot by Clarkston's Denise Giroux hits the mark, but the Wolves can't get their offense going and they lose, 51-33, to Waterford Kettering in the GOAL opener.

Homecoming triumph for Wolves

By Dan Vandenhemel

The homecoming topping came when Clarkston High School's Wolves shut out Waterford Mott 21-0.

From the the opening kick off, the Wolves controlled the game. In the first quarter the Corsairs ran only seven offensive plays.

"We wanted to establish the running game," said coach Walt Wyniemko. "We thought we could do it against Mott and we did."

Though the Wolves' first drive ended with a 35-yard missed fieldgoal, Mott fumbled their fourth play on their own 27-yard line.

Robert Newblatt scored his first of two touchdowns as he bolted in from the 3-yard line with under two minutes left in the quarter. The junior's second TD came on a 24-yard sweep to the right in the third quarter.

Quarterback Mike Galley scored the final touchdown for the Wolves on a 2-yard sneak with eight minutes left in the game.

Galley, playing for injured Craig Kulaszewski, moved the Wolves up and down the field. Kulaszewski is out with lower back pains.

"Galley took up the slack from Kool's (Kulaszewski) injury," Wyniemko said. "We thought it was more important to get him healthy."

The top defensive play of the game came with 1:26 left in the first half. Mott was driving toward a score, facing a fourth-and-one play on the 4-yard line.

Clarkston stopped them and went into the locker-room with their 7-0 lead intact.

The Wolves raised their record to 2-3 overall and 2-1 in the Greater Oakland Activities League with the win.

Waterford is 1-3 overall and 0-2 in the league. "Mott is basically a passing team," Wyniemko said. "We thought we could handle that. They are a good team."

The week-long homecoming festivities helped the Wolves prepare for the game.

"With homecoming there is a little more excitement," the coach said. "The team gets hyped a little more. Any win adds confidence to a team."

Clarkston quarterback Mike Galley gets set to be hit by a Waterford Mott defender. Galley helps the Wolves beat Mott in the Homecoming game 21-0 with a touchdown run.

Up My Alley

Never a dull moment

Dan Vandenhemel

One good thing about having a car that isn't in the greatest condition is there is rarely a dull moment. Take a certain Friday a few weeks ago, for instance.

After covering the football game at Clarkston High School, a Oakland County Sheriff's Department deputy pulled me over for, get this, drunk driving.

To set the record straight, I had not touched a drop of anything, not even a pop while at the game.

Just after pulling out of the school driveway, I noticed a patrol car behind me.

Thinking it was a deputy I was talking to at the game, I didn't give it much thought.

While heading up the hill on Waldon Road toward Main Street, I went toward the middle of the road to avoid any bumps because to my poor car would fall apart.

Then with the power steering by armstrong or manual steering, depending on who you talk to, I came to a complete stop close to the curb.

When those flashing lights came on, that well-known sinking feeling came in.

At first I thought it was the deputy I talked to earlier but with a glance in the side mirror, I realized something was up.

The deputy asked if I had been drinking and, with my nervous "no," he asked me to get out of the car.

After reciting the alphabet and being a little embarrassed, I was asked why I weaved across the center line.

With the car being the excuse, he warned me to be more careful next time.

Since then, my car's gotten worse.

I noticed a new rust hole in the side of the door. With all the slamming to get the door to close, it had to happen sooner or later.

My problem is everything seems to happen sooner.

Once I get a little money saved up, something else goes wrong with the car, like tires, battery, radiator, muffler, brakes, plugs, door and window handles, lights...

SOCCER: What causes injuries

By Dan Vandenhemel

Injuries and high school sports go together; some serious, some not so serious.

The more severe injuries, fortunately, do not happen very often. But when they do, the overriding question is, "Why?"

Football is a very physical game and padding is worn to prevent injuries. In basketball there is a tremendous amount of strain on the knees and legs.

Soccer is still a relatively new sport in America. Like basketball, it's hard on the legs and, like football, it can be a physical game. Soccer players wear shin guards for protective gear.

Recently there have been two major injuries connected to the new soccer program at Clarkston High School.

The gear wasn't enough to protect the goalie from Flint Powers whose leg was broken in a collision with Wolves' varsity player Greg Molzon Sept. 27.

The week before, Jim Bohl of the Wolves' junior varsity team bumped heads with a player from Birmingham Brother Rice, resulting in a blood clot in the brain for Bohl. Following surgery the same night, Bohl remains in intensive care in a semi-conscious state.

Comment

Clarkston varsity coach Neil Granlund believes both accidents were freak occurrences.

"With the broken leg, it was a very aggressive game between two even teams," he said. "Molzon feels bad about it. He was just going for the ball and the goalie hit the ground hard."

"We've asked the referees to call the games tighter to try and avoid things like this," Granlund said.

"We don't have the fundamentals of other teams or the ball skills. Our passing skills are improving as the players get to know each other a little better."

Gary Parsons, the soccer coach at Oakland University, said the newness of the CHS program could be the reason.

"With inexperienced players, there are more accidental collisions," he said. "With more experience there are less collisions."

"I don't think the injury rate in soccer is any worse than any other sport. In any sport there is a risk factor, but the injuries are rarely serious. It's shocking anytime there is a serious injury in a sporting event," Parsons said.

More protective equipment, such as a helmets for soccer players, have been suggested. But Parsons and Hana Olsen, director of the Independence Parks and Recreation Soccer program, said that is not the answer.

"I'm not high on that (helmet) idea," Parsons said. "It could cause more damage."

"The biggest and most important thing is to teach the basic skills to the players," he said.

Olsen, who runs a soccer clinic for area youths agrees with Parsons.

"With good training, the chances are better of not getting injured," she said. "With inexperienced players, they go after the ball with less control. The officials can also be blamed because of not controlling the game better."

When two serious injuries occur in the same sport in one week, players could become tentative in their play.

It's a tough way for a program to get off the ground.

Injured CHS soccer player continues improving process

By Dan Vandenhemel

Injured soccer player Jim Bohl is steadily improving and is now breathing on his own.

"The doctors have taken him off the respirator," said Jim's mother, Rosalie. "Every step is looking good. He still has a long way to go but we're not going backwards at all."

Bohl was injured in a Clarkston junior varsity soccer game Sept. 22 and underwent surgery that evening to remove a blood clot from his brain. He had been heavily sedated until this weekend when doctors took him off the medication.

"He is more alert and can focus on you," Mrs. Bohl said. "He can't respond to a question yet, but the doctors say that is the next step to recovery. His eyes are open but he is still in a semi-conscious state."

Bohl is fighting a virus and tests are being run to determine what it is and how to handle it.

"He can sit up now and the nurses have been moving him every couple of hours so he won't get bed sores," Mrs. Bohl said. "The nurses in the Neuro-Sensory Intensive Care Unit have been just great with Jim."

Looking at tomorrow.

Rest assured. Just because Michigan Bell is separating from AT&T this January doesn't mean you'll be separated from good phone service... not for even a second. You can count on the same highly skilled people to watch over your service, as always. And when you pick up your phone on New Year's Day, you'll hear the same reliable dial tone you've heard for years.

But we'll be bringing you a lot more than a dial tone. For one thing, we will continue to exercise our almost unlimited options for selecting and implementing the very latest technology from a wide variety of communications suppliers.

What that means to you, as we go down the line, is faster, more efficient and more flexible service with many interesting choices for you. One of the innovations we'll continue to adopt for the future is electronic switching service. This will give almost everyone in Michigan the chance to opt for Touch-Tone® Service, Custom Calling Services and other communication conveniences.

Lightwave cable is a recent transmission development that can carry as many as 96,000 simultaneous conversations. And soon it will send your voice and messages with the speed of light.

Before long, your telephone will be capable of performing surprising electronic tricks, such as ringing a certain way to let you know exactly who's calling. You'll have a new way to shop by phone in stores all over the country... to handle financial transactions by talking directly to your bank's computer. To receive electronic mail. To play bridge. And even to call your oven and tell it to start dinner.

These are just a sampling of the technological advancements you can expect to enjoy through Michigan Bell. The point is very simple: Next year we'll be bringing you the same good old dial tone, but we won't be the same old phone company. We'll be pulling out all the stops to bring you the last word in phone service. After all...

IT'S AT&T
WE'RE SEPARATING FROM...
NOT YOU.

 Michigan Bell

Facts down the line. Because your telephone business office is busily engaged in normal, day-to-day telephone service matters, we are providing this toll-free number as a source for answers to the questions you may have about your changing telephone company. Rudy and Elsa Schwarze accept well-wishes from members of the Clarkston community, 600 of whom attended a grand celebration Sunday. At left, the couple shares a kiss—they've been married 50 years, their Clarkston business has thrived 50 years and Rudy's 75.

Rudy and Elsa honored

By Kathy Greenfield

Six hundred people came to help Clarkston's Rudy and Elsa Schwarze celebrate a most special year.

The couple, owners of Rudy's Market, marked 50 years in business this year, 50 years of marriage (Oct. 12) and Rudy's 75th birthday (Sept. 10).

"I love it. It's beautiful, a wonderful party," said Elsa as she and Rudy paused between kisses, handshakes and well-wishes.

Held Sunday afternoon at the Campbell-Richmond American Legion Post on M-15, the party was hosted by the Schwarzes' sons and their wives, Fred and Doreen, and Bob and Pam.

They announced the festivities with invitations and a poster on Rudy's window.

"Rudy and Elsa are special people," said Doreen. "They've done so much for us, it's one way to pay them back. It's good to know there are so many who love them."

Doreen and her mother, Pat Freitag, a cashier at Rudy's, prepared all the food, and the rest of the younger Schwarzes credited Doreen with planning the party.

"I think it's super," said Bob. "I think it's great—look at 'em all dancing. Everyone seems to be having a great time."

"Clarkston's finest showed up here to say thanks for having the business in Clarkston all these years and serving the community, a nice community meeting," said Fred.

"We're having a good time," said Pam. "We're seeing everyone. It's really nice."

Pine Knob's Locricchio moves to township

By Marilyn Trumper

Joseph Locricchio, co-owner of the financially troubled multi-million-dollar Pine Knob Investment Co., has bought a house and 13 acres on Allen Road in Independence Township.

He plans to go before the zoning board of appeals for a variance to enlarge the barn—by adding a greenhouse, according to Building and Planning Department Director Kenneth Delbridge.

"To add onto any building over 1,500 square feet in R-1R zoning, you have to have a variance," said Delbridge. "He's doing that, and we've informed him he has to go before the ZBA for a variance. He's indicated he will."

According to Delbridge, Locricchio bought the house and 13 acres, and indicated he'll grow vegetables, fig trees and have two horses.

Work had begun on the barn before a building permit and variance were issued, Delbridge said, adding the township did not ask the courts to issue a stop-work order, preferring first to ask the work to stop via letter.

Work has stopped, according to a department spokesperson. Locricchio has until Oct. 14 to apply for space on the next agenda.

He could not be reached for comment.

Chris Shull lives across the street from Locricchio, and called the building department when work began.

"I don't want a business going in there, and for all the work and size of the greenhouse, it seems a smaller (greenhouse) would suffice for himself," she said.

"And there's been all the traffic up and down the street. Sometimes as many as 15 to 20 cars in one day—not including the trucks.

"Last spring (the former owner) wanted to be allowed 40 horses there—and (the neighbors) nixed that. We didn't want it. There's nothing wrong with a greenhouse in principle, I wouldn't object to that, but I am concerned about the size and what will be done after it's built."

Independence hard on cement

By Marilyn Trumper

Independence Township has filed suit to stop Michigan Rental Service from manufacturing cement.

The 20-year-old Dixie Highway business is zoned highway commercial. Mixed cement sales are allowed only in industrial zones, according to township attorney Gerald Fisher.

"If you let him do it on a small basis, a small patch plant, where do you draw the line?" Fisher said. "We have to protect the zoning ordinance."

Attorney Robert Bunting of Lake Orion represents Gary Skibowski, owner.

"He supplies cement to rental customers, homeowners making weekend patchwork repairs," Bunting said. "He sells less than 1 cubic yard.

"If the judge orders us to stop, it will cost my man his business. When the recession hit at the end of 1979, one had to innovate in order to survive.

"Shutting him down is not the American way," Bunting said.

Skibowski's owned the store four years, and last spring sought a variance from the zoning board to allow cement mixing.

He was denied.

"I don't consider this manufacturing. It's an important part of the business, and people have responded well," he said.

An hearing is scheduled before Oakland County Circuit Court Judge George La Plata Oct. 24.

Anna Jarvis: A real Waterbaby

Other Waterbabies cling to their mothers while Anna Jarvis, 2½, dives into the water and swims to her mother standing in the middle of the pool.

The tiny blonde can swim, unaided, the length of the Deer Lake Racquet Club's indoor pool, a distance of about 25 feet, says her instructor Gail Dickerson.

In the seven years she's taught swimming, Dickerson has never before had a child so young with so much ability, and she works with about 350 Waterbabies (ages 6 months to 3 years) each year.

"We started when she turned 2 in February," says Anna's mother, Terri. "She took to the water right away.

"She never had any fear. That scared me at first. I was afraid she'd jump in when nobody was around, but she doesn't do that.

"She really loves it. Every single morning she wants to know if we go swimming today."

Anna's style is that of someone totally at home in the water—her head bobs underwater and out as she gives the dog paddle a touch of grace.

She's too shy to comment on what she thinks about swimming.

But as she perches on the edge of the pool ready to dive in, a woman swimming laps glides by.

Anna turns her total attention to the older, accomplished swimmer. And she smiles.

—Kathy Greenfield

Anna Jarvis, a 2½-year-old super swimmer, leaps into the Deer Lake Racquet Club pool and heads toward her mother, Terri. The petite blonde has been swimming just six months. At left, the swimming lesson's over and Anna keeps warm in a snug towel with a built-in hood.

Independence folk dancer's off to Finland

By Dan Vandenhemel

Kristen Lehto is hoping to be in Finland for three weeks in July of 1985.

The 24-year-old director of Hoijakat Folk Dancers of Farmington Hills plans to attend the Kaustinen Folk Festival in Finland.

"People come from all over the world to the festival," she said. "It is really a big event."

An Independence Township resident, Lehto was born in Detroit and has traveled to Finland twice, the last time in 1979.

"They have a festival for everything there," she said. "We didn't think we could raise enough to get there for the Kaustinen festival in '84. We feel we can make it in '85."

Lehto became director of the group a year ago.

"When the director quit last summer I was the only one who wanted the job," the tall, blond, blue-eyed director said. "When I wanted to step down this year, they wouldn't let me. The work isn't too bad. I just work until the work is done."

Lehto joined the dancers in 1980 because she enjoys dancing and loves music.

"When ever the Finnish Center (in Farmington) has a dance we all go to it," she said. "We dance all night long.

"There are about 20 people in the group," Lehto said. "Our bylaws state we are together to provide Finnish Culture through dance. Mostly that's what we want to do. It's a lot of fun."

In her years with the dancers, they have performed with the Scandinavian Symphony Orchestra, appeared on TV and attended numerous festivals.

"We are getting a lot of exposure," she said. "There aren't many groups like ours in the area. Chicago, Columbus, Ohio and Minneapolis have real good groups too."

Between working as a waitress-manager at McGillacutty's restaurant in Clarkston and being a substitute band and chorus teacher in the Brandon School District, Lehto finds enough time to have the group practice once a week.

"Sometimes when we have a festival coming up, we'll practice twice a week," she said. "But we have a lot of fun."

Mini-fest time

A little bit of Scandanavia is coming to Clarkston.

The Scandanavain Mini Fest is planned Oct. 15 in the parking lot of McGillacutty's restaurant, 59 S. Main, Clarkston.

The one-day festival starts at noon, and features the Hoijakat Dancers, authentic baked goods, strolling musicians and imported items.

Kristen Lehto, director of the Hoijakat Dancers and a waitress-manager at McGillacutty's, said the festival's purpose is to introduce the area to different cultures.

"Next year we plan on doing even more," she said. "We can get a bigger variety, German, Polish, Greek, Italian.

"My manager Jim Kaminsky (of McGillacutty's) had the idea of doing something like this," Lehto added. "He liked the idea of doing something for the McGillacutty's along with Tierra Arts & Design, Matteo's, The Plum House and the Clarkston Conservatory of Music are sponsors of the festival.

For the Hojjakat Dancers, the festival will help pay for trip to Finland.

"We want to go for the Kaustinen Folk Festival in 1985," Lehto said. "We're not a money-making organization. We're asking for donations to help with the cost. We always get a good response from the people."

Bird savior

Thanks to Ned Parsons a sparrow caught Monday in an overhang outside a Clarkston business is free again.

But Parsons was a reluctant hero.

"I just happened to be home, much to my dismay, when I knew what I had to do," he said from atop a stepladder while putting the outdoor light fixture back together.

Parson's wife, Dotty, is a realtor at the Company inside the Clarkston Emporium at the corner of Main Street and Depot Road.

She called him after someone coming into the office saw the little bird's head sticking down from the overhang.

"He said he hadn't even had lunch yet and I said, 'That doesn't matter, you have to come and save the bird,'" said Dottie.

After Parsons removed the light fixture, he reached up and grabbed the bird.

"It flew in here and we had to open the back door to let it out," said Dottie.

The adventure lasted a good hour.

"We're all tender, loving people around here," said realtor Betty Ventimiglia. "Poor little bird."

Board beefs-up burning rules

By Marilyn Trumper

At the urging of Beverly Clemo, an opponent of air pollution and its effect on people with respiratory ailments, the Independence Township Board's tightened its leaf burning rules.

On Oct. 4, the board added three regulations to the fire prevention code:

- All burning must take place 50 feet from any residential structure.
- There'll be a five-hour limit for permits, instead of the former daylight to dusk.
- One permit will be allowed every 500 feet.

The rules are not law, only departmental policy, according to Clerk Richard Holman.

The township's policy does require that people planning to burn leaves call the fire department and receive verbal permits.

While the changes adopted by the board strengthened the township's burning policy, they varied considerably from Clemo's original requests.

She declined comment on the differences.

At a board meeting two weeks earlier, the West Church Street resident proposed fire prevention codes be altered to:

- Prohibit leaf burning on public roads and right-of-ways.

- Allow leaf burning only in a fire department approved container or department approved location, and that the fire department continue to issue burnir permits.

- Establish a pin-board to mark all burning permits so fires are spaced at least 500 feet apart. All residents would notify the fire department of lung conditions affected by leaf burning, and their house locations would be marked on the map.

- Give special consideration to those areas of the township with hilly terrain where smoke can be trapped, particularly West Church Street and the Birdland subdivision off Maybee Road and Dixie Highway.

Checks could save on energy

Some timely tips on furnace maintenance

Taking a few minutes to make some simple checks around the house could save customers money on their winter heating bills, says M.A. Waggener, region general manager of Consumers Power Company's southeastern region.

The furnace should be high on the checklist. A malfunctioning or poorly adjusted furnace is an energy waster.

An excellent way to avoid furnace problems is to have a qualified, authorized heating contractor inspect the furnace, its flue ducts and the chimney.

There are some furnace maintenance tips for those who enjoy doing it themselves:

- Clean and lubricate the blower fan and replace the dirty air filter. Make sure to read the furnace maintenance instructions.

- Clean the furnace humidifier.

- Check air ducts and registers for any blocking.

- Visually inspect the vent piping for deterioration or rusting.

Adequate preparation for winter and wise use of energy will help keep down your energy bill, Waggener says. There are a number of other steps that are recommended to save energy. These include:

- Set the thermostat as low as is reasonably comfortable. One degree can save about three percent of the annual heating usage. A night setback thermostat can save considerable energy.

- Close drapes in the evening and on cloudy days.

• Clean them on sunny days on the windows that face the sun.

• Seal up all unoccupied rooms.

• Make sure the weather-strip around the front door is in good shape. The weather-strip should be replaced and caulked if necessary.

• Weather-strip outside doors and windows to unheated areas. A one-eighth inch check around a standard door or window frame allows as much heat to escape as a hole the size of a grapefruit.

- Check cracks between window frames and between door frames and the wall. Caulk if necessary.

- Check insulation. If the ceiling or attic has less than 3 inches, more is needed. A minimum of 6 inches is recommended. The number one cost-effective step to save energy is to install insulation in the attic.

- Use storm windows or plastic coverings to provide a second layer of protection. Repair broken windows.

- Check dampers on fireplaces, kitchens and bathroom exhaust fans and dryer vents to make sure they close tightly when not in use.

- If air-conditioners cannot be removed from windows, weather-strip around them and cover them.

"Energy efficiency should be the goal," says Waggener. "Planning and preparation are keys to ensure that customers keep warm during the coming frigid months."

Lew Wint on fire

Republicans roast roaster

The fourth annual roast hosted by the Independence Township Republican Club promises to be hotter than usual.

On Tuesday, Oct. 25, the club plans to roast Lew Wint, owner of the Lewis E. Wint Funeral Home in Independence Township.

He has emceed numerous events, locally and across the state, and was roastmaster of the club's first roast.

"Of course all my emceeing has been that kind of humor," said Wint. "I've always had the last laugh, so obviously I'm a tad nervous. I'm sure it will be fun."

Wint celebrates 25 years in business in Clarkston next year.

His community activities include serving as chairperson of the SCAMP Funding Corp. and chairperson of the administrative board of the Clarkston United Methodist Church. He's past president of the Clarkston Rotary Club and the Clarkston Area Jaycees.

Wint also served as national director of the United States Jaycees, and was named Outstanding Young Man of America by the organization in 1965.

His activities go beyond the local scene. Wint has served for years as a member of the Oakland County Parks and Recreation Commission and has been its chairman for the past five or six years.

He is past president of the North Oakland Chamber of Commerce.

And he is immediate past president of the Michigan Funeral Directors.

Wint and his wife, Diane, have two children, Bill and Joy Leonard. They are the proud grandparents of Joy and Alan Leonard's two small children.

Those are the facts. The roasters will have a chance to put them to work.

Roastmaster Tom Ritter will attempt to keep a tight rein on L. Brooks Patterson, Eric Reickel, Martha Wheeler, Frank Ronk, Tom Rademacher, Jim Butzine, Joy Wint Leonard, and possibly a few surprise roasters.

The party is to begin at 7:30 p.m. at the Deer Lake Racquet Club. Tickets are $10 each. The price includes hors d'oeuvres.

To reserve a place, call Carol Balzarini at 625-5948, Jon Gaskell at 625-8010 or Burke Ried at 625-1339.

SPOTLIGHT

'Dark Deeds' has stuff melodramas are made of

by Pat Emerson

"Dark Deeds at Swans Place or Never Trust a Tattooed Sailor"; by the Clarkston Village Players; Oct. 7, 8, 13, 14, 15, 21, 22; tickets $4 ($5 for Oct. 13 benefit performance for Clarkston Area Youth Assistance); Depot Theatre, 4861 White Lake, Independence Township; tickets for sale at Tierra Arts & Design, 64 S. Main, Clarkston.

The Clarkston Village Players opened their 23rd season Friday night at the Depot Theatre with the melodrama, "Dark Deeds at Swan's Place or Never Trust a Tattooed Sailor."

It was a roaring success, in more ways than one. The trite phrases, corny dialogue, hokey jokes ala Mel Brooks, it's all there. And the audience cooperates with the boos, hisses and raucous laughter. This is the stuff melodramas are made of.

The greedy villain (Larry McGee), along with saucy and devilish Carlota Castanet (Pamela Hill), properly tantalize the wispy damsel-in-distress (Michele Barclay) and attempt to trick her out of her just-inherited tavern from her now dead uncle, Sourdough Birthright (C. John Stuetzer).

Vic Dawson's debut as Rawhide, villain Montague Leach's henchman, is natural and seemingly without effort, and John Stuetzer's double role as Lt. Lorne Order is convincing as he wins the dainty damsel's hand. Judy Rood is touching as the old, frowsy charwoman, Mother McGoof, and her solo, "Nobody," lends an entertaining insight into her sad plight.

The wispy damsel is ultimately saved by Lt. Lorne Order with the help of Augusta Van Gush (Marty Johnson) and Ann Rose as the villain's discarded wife.

Quoting Linda Robenault's line as Mary Fairweather, chaperone to the orphan damsel, "This play has no loose ends."

Becky Olney as Tai-Pan helps Mother McGoof find her long-lost daughter, and Jack Swan (Mike Kaul) loses the girl but wins a tavern.

Last weekend, Kaul recited his last line—"Oh, who has seen the wind come whistling through"—and was interrupted by the Grand Trunk Railroad's 10:45 located behind the theater.

As the curtain lowered, he shouted, "Oh, who has heard the wind come whistling through..."

Day-long train trip promises fall color tour

By Joyce Bonesteel
Lake Orion Review Staff Writer

All-I-I aboard!

It's time to get ready for a 500 mile train ride to the Wright-Patterson Air Force Base near Dayton, Ohio and back Oct. 22.

The day-long journey features an autumn color tour and a 3-hour visit to the U.S. Air Force Museum.

On display is aircraft from the early days of the Wright Brothers, World War I bi-planes, the world's largest bomber and the ultra-sophisticated space equipment used by explorers on the moon.

Of other historic interest, the diesel-powered Dayton Flyer and coaches will travel the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton tracks, which haven't seen passenger service since 1954.

More commonly known as "Henry Ford's Railroad," the DT&I was once used to haul coal from Ford's mines in West Virginia and Kentucky to his River Rouge Plant.

The excursion is sponsored by the Bluewater Michigan Chapter of the National Railway Historical Society.

Fare is $39.50 for adults, and $34.50 for children 12 and under.

Tickets can only be purchased in advance, at the Train Center in Birmingham, and at any of Joe's Hobby Centers in Dearborn, Farmington and East Detroit.

Or they can be ordered by mail from the Bluewater Michigan Chapter, P.O. Box 296R, Royal Oak, Mich. 48068.

Send a check or money order and stamped, self-addressed envelope, and indicate whether a smoking or non-smoking car is preferred.

Box lunches can also be ordered in advance for $4.50.

Proceeds from the trip will be used to purchase railroad equipment for a planned museum in the Detroit metropolitan area.

The Dayton Flyer departing times from SEMTA stations are 7:15 a.m. in Pontiac, 7:35 a.m. in Birmingham, and 7:50 a.m. in Royal Oak.

Railroad and aviation buffs seeking more information should telephone 399-7963.

The Oct. 22 Dayton Flyer excursion is not affected by cancellations of SEMTA SERVICE.

For $3.35 a week, you can reach 15,000 people in over 4000 homes every week with an advertising message on this page. Call 625-3370 and place your message today!

It was held Oct. 10 and was directed by Laura Schaefer and Linda Robenault of CJHS. The performers were from the seventh through ninth grades.

The comedy skit "Saturday Night Live Goes United" started off the Variety Show.

These are the memories

From the June 25 wedding of Gina Fritzing and Tom Grobbel

The Clarkston News wanted to explore a wedding from several perspectives.

What does it feel like standing at the altar?

No one was excluded from our probe. We talked to the bride and her parents.

We talked to the bridegroom and his parents.

And we talked to the maid of honor, bridesmaids, best man and groomsmen.

Their memories of the milestone in Tom and Gina Grobbel's lives begin on Page 4.

The parents: Dave and Kathy Fri

Their engagement announcement surprised all four

By Kathy Greenfield

Gina Fritzing and Tom Grobbel made their engagement announcement over a year before they were married.

He was attending Central Michigan University and she was a student at the University of Detroit. They wanted to wait until both graduated.

The couple's parents, Bill and Edna Grobbel of Royal Oak and Dave and Kathy Fritzing of Clarkston, shared one emotion when their children made the announcement—surprise.

Gina and Tom met while working at the Pine Knob Music Theatre. She was a student at Clarkston High School; he was a student at CMU.

They dated that summer, then went their separate ways. During the next three years, they would talk to each other on the telephone or visit during vacation breaks.

"Gina was just a real nice girl. She kept in contact even though they had broken up, and we stayed friends," said Tom's mother, Edna Grobbel.

During the 1981-82 Christmas break from their schools, Tom and Gina began dating again.

"Tom mentioned her more over Christmas, then went back to school," said Edna.

When her son called to say he needed an appointment with his hometown dentist, Edna remembers asking him why he couldn't find one near the Mt. Pleasant campus.

He insisted and said he had a ride home with a friend.

Edna was surprised when he drove up with Gina in the car. She had made an appointment with the dentist and Tom was late.

"I thought, 'What is she doing here? He had to go all the way to U of D to pick her up,'" Edna said.

The dentist's appointment was canceled and rescheduled for the next day.

"We were standing by the sink, and those kids were still acting giddy," she said. "Tom said, 'Guess what, Mom, I'm engaged.'"

"I said, 'Oh, to who?' and he said, 'to Gina.'"

"This (reaction) happened so much because everyone thought they were just friends. They had all these plans made. I was so surprised and so happy."

They decided to tell Tom's father, Bill Grobbel, the news after dinner.

"It was the strangest thing I ever experienced," Bill said. "I thought, 'Now, what's he doing home from school?' We had dinner. He said, 'Guess who's engaged?' I said, 'Who?' He said, 'Gina and I.'"

"I just about fell off the chair."

"We always liked her. We were really happy about it, but it was a big surprise."

"I told him I always liked her and she was the type of person who would get along best with him, and I was happy he made up his mind to marry Gina."

The Grobbels' other child, a daughter, was married. But for the Fritzingers, the announcement marked a first for their family—they have three sons, none married, and Gina is their only daughter.

"Shocked," is how Kathy Fritzing remembers her reaction.

Fritzinger and Bill and Edna Grobbel

Nervousness gave way to happiness for their children

Gina and Tom pose with his parents, Bill and Edna Grobbel of Royal Oak.

On June 25, 1983, Tom and Gina's wedding day, she remembers worrying.

"It was nerve wracking," Kathy said. "The fact that everyone showed up and it started on time...and keeping the bride away from the groom. The parking lot was the same for the guys so we had to go over to them and say, 'Would you guys get him to turn around or something?'"

The wedding took place at St. Clement's Church in Warren. Gina converted to Catholicism before she and Tom were married.

"I had no idea what the service was going to be like," Kathy said. "The priest put everyone at ease with his stories.

"I didn't cry because I think I was too scared—afraid if I would start, I wouldn't stop.

"It turned out prettier than I thought—you never really know what's going to end up by putting pieces together."

Dave Fritzinger remembers the 90-degree weather and the lack of air conditioning in the church.

"But it wasn't that bad," he said. "I remember taking the pictures before the ceremony, walking down the aisle and tripping over whatever that thing is that hangs out from the dress.

"The only time I cried was when Joanie sang 'Ave Maria'."

There were tears from Tom's mother, Edna, too, when Gina's maid of honor Joan Moore sang "On Eagle's Wings."

"I had a hard time keeping the tears back. (The song) has a special meaning. At the end it says, 'keep you in the palm of His hand.' That's what I wished for them, that God would keep them in the palm of His hand.

"I remember the ceremony and the priest and the things he talked about, and just the way Gina and Tom looked at each other. You just knew they were going to make it.

"I can remember thinking, 'You want them to have a happy life,' wondering what their children will look like, and mostly that they were going to make it.

"She looked so beautiful."

Tom's father, Bill, felt a sense of deja vu, for the Grobbels' daughter's wedding five years earlier was in the same church.

"I thought Gina and Tom made an ideal couple," he said. "You couldn't find a better looking bride and groom, and I always felt they had the qualities to make a success of whatever they would attempt.

"I had a lot of faith in both of them. I was real happy."

"She went up to school to visit him, and that was it. He told her in such a way he had something important to ask her and she didn't expect it either.

"I was glad it was him, because I always liked him. It was kind of quick. It was like, 'Let's get married—but in a year.'"

Gina's father, Dave, remembers experiencing a whole range of emotions.

"The initial feeling is one of elation, immediately followed by, in my case, jealousy, loneliness. That then is followed by a feeling of acceptance and endearment to both of them, and now it's just dandy," he said.

With the wedding planned over a year later, wedding preparations calmly began.

"It was neat at first, because I had a whole year to plan," Kathy said. "And then you wait until the last minute to do everything."

The bride and her attendants:

They thought of friendship—and they thought of love

By Marilyn Trumper

Traditionally, the bride, maid of honor and bridesmaids have been friends for years, and that was the case when Gina Fritzingler married Tom Grobbel.

As they stood together at the altar June 25, maid of honor Joan Moore and bridesmaids Julie Meserve, Marianne Reid and Krys KaviEFF reacted as friends with their thoughts.

For Gina, her wedding was worthy of fond memories.

Bride, Gina (Fritzingler) Grobbel, 23: "I was so scared, and it was over so fast! Walking up the aisle I thought I'd buckle my knees.

"I remember listening to the priest—and being happy. Very, very happy—and hot! The church was so hot. When I first got to the altar I was scared, then Tom was with me and I was fine and thinking, 'I'm really doing it.'

"I started to cry at one point when the priest started telling stories about when he first met me, and started reminiscing. We were married in Warren at St. Clement's by Father John La Casse. He was Tom's priest when he was growing up.

"I remember never cooling off the whole night, and I had on the most uncomfortable dress. It was so tight all the way down, and heavy, and had a long veil. I remember thinking how I said I wouldn't take it off because I'd spent so much money on it.

"Walking up the aisle I couldn't see anybody. I heard someone say, 'Gina! Gina! Smile!'

"We turned around when Father introduced us as man and wife and I remember thinking 'all these people came?' It was so neat, too, that they would come to my wedding and not just the reception. I was really touched.

"It was worth all the planning. It was perfect."

Maid of honor, Joan Moore, 23: "I've known Gina since ninth grade. She called me over the telephone in either April or May of last year and asked me to be maid of honor.

"I had to sing at her wedding, Schurber's 'Ave Maria' and 'On Eagle's Wings,' so I was thinking about my singing a lot.

"No one had heard me sing for a long time, since high school, and I was wondering what they would all think.

"I was thinking I really wanted to sing well. That it would be a wedding gift I thought I could give them.

"I was thinking, 'My God! She's really getting married.' I was stunned, thinking, 'I'm the only one left. The last.'

"It was really, really neat. I met Tom with Gina at the wave pool when we were 16. I think that's where she met him. Little did we ever know this would happen.

"Gina converted to Catholicism and I was excited about that for her."

Bridesmaid Julie Meserve, 23: "There were tears, and tears and tears. I think I'm the only one who did. I was thinking, 'This is my best friend getting married.' I was happy for her. I thought about how pretty she looked. How small she looked compared to Tom.

"And how I couldn't wait to get out of my dress.

"The biggest part to get over was the nervousness. I was the first one to walk down the church (aisle)."

Bridesmaid Marianne Reid: "I was really happy. My brother, Gina and I are real close. She's married to my brother. I like Gina a lot.

"I don't have any sisters so I was glad to get her as a sister-in-law."

Bridesmaid Krys KaviEFF: "I was thinking, 'another one of my friends bites the dust.'

"I was really happy for her—Gina and Tom broke up for a while and then got back together. They had to see if they really loved each other. There's something there. I know that means something. It's love."

The groom and his party:

Their thoughts were of yesterday . . . and tomorrow

By Dan Vandenhemel

The row of men in tuxedos, standing in front of the altar waiting for the wedding to begin poses a question: What are they thinking about?

At Tom Grobbel's wedding to Gina Fritzinger June 25, the best man, David Sinkowski, and other members of the party, Karl Fritzinger, Ken Reid and Kurt Cheesbro had different thoughts going through their minds.

"It felt like my chest was going to pop out," said the bridegroom, remembering when his wife-to-be came toward the altar. "My heart has never beat that hard before in my life. I was so nervous, I was afraid I was going to trip or do something."

During the ceremony, the priest told the couple they should start thinking as one, Grobbel said. "He told me that I should try and curb some of my bossiness, too."

He also remembers an embarrassing moment.

"It was a Catholic mass and there is a part of it called the kiss of passion. That's when you go down and kiss and shake hands with the parents," Grobbel said.

"It was set up boy-girl so I went to shake hands then kiss, shake and kiss, shake and kiss. But some how Gina's grandfather and grandmother got turned around and I bent over to kiss the grandfather—he gave me the funniest look."

The best man, Dave Sinkowski remembered how hot it was inside the church and how nervous he was.

"It must have been in the 90s outside and they had the fans turned off near the readings so they wouldn't blow around," he said.

"I think I was more nervous than Tom was. I was scared to death. I was afraid of doing something wrong. I wanted to do the best I could for someone else.

"The ceremony went pretty smooth," Sinkowski said. "The priest was a friend of Tom's which made it nice."

Gina's brother, Karl Fritzinger, was happy and sad during the ceremony. He was happy for his sister, but he was sad because after the wedding his girl friend was going away for the summer.

"My sister and I have had a lot of good times together. It's been a good life for us," he said.

"During communion one of Tom's cousins came up in front of me and gave me the thumbs up sign, I remember that.

"During the wedding, I was thinking about my girl friend because she was leaving for up-north and wouldn't be back for a long time. I was wondering what the future held for me."

For Ken Reid, the Grobbel wedding brought back memories of his own.

"It was the same church that I got married in," he said. "I was thinking about what I was going through five years ago. About how the groom is just waiting in one part of the church and the rest of the party is in another. I was running around, helping get the car ready.

"I was thinking of the difference of being at the altar and just standing up there. The Father knew Tom, and during the ceremony recalled some things about the young kid in front of him. I could see Tom turning a little to the red side."

Kurt Cheesbro was remembering the good times he and Grobbel had while attending Central Michigan University.

"We played football together up there and were roommates for three years," he said. "I was remembering mainly how we met. We had a lot of good times together, but I wasn't really surprised that he was getting married. He's starting a new life now."

The Bouquet . . .

In olden days, wedding bouquets were made of strong herbs like thyme and garlic to frighten away evil spirits. Even the groom wore a few sprigs of the pungent stuff.
