$250 reward offered

By Kathy Greenfield

A $250 reward is offered for the arrest and conviction of the person or persons responsible for stealing $17,000 worth of micro-computer equipment from Sashabaw Junior High School.

The theft occurred Oct. 29, 30 or 31, sometime between 1:30 a.m. Saturday and Monday morning, according to George White, assistant principal.

"Needless to say, we're sick," he said.

Stolen were assorted disc drives, three keyboards, two monitors and some connecting cords.

"What's ironic about this whole thing is it appears as though the people who came in knew exactly what we had and what they wanted," he said.

White speculates the thief or thieves climbed over the roof, jumped into a courtyard, and gained entry to the school building by prying off a lower window panel.

The departure, he said, must have been made in a similar manner because all exit doors were chained.

"People went to a lot of trouble to get in," he said. "What puzzles us is why our alarm didn't go off. Now we're investigating more sophisticated equipment."

The timing of the theft couldn't have been worse, he said, because the equipment was not insured and window bars were on order.

The bars are now in place.

The school secretary had been working on a list of the micro-computer equipment to be added to the school district's new insurance policy.

The equipment will be replaced with money from the capital outlay fund, he said.

The theft shut down computer classes for the eighth- and ninth-graders.

"They left an awful lot. We expect to be back in order very soon. This week's classes were canceled because of the connection cords that were taken," White said.

Persons with information on the theft are asked to call White at 674-4169, or the Oakland County Sheriff's Department at 858-4911 and ask to speak to Deputy Bill Evans or Deputy Jim Snover.

Tulip tree crushes automobile

A 100-foot-tall tulip tree cut down on vacant property Saturday on Deerhill Drive crushed one car and damaged two other vehicles sitting in an adjacent driveway.

The incident prompted a request to Independence Township.

"I want the township to take some action. I want them to check their ordinances and rules," said Terry Evans, whose driveway was involved. "I want to stop irresponsible acts on the part of real estate people and developers."

Evans said it was his understanding permission was given to Chris Gourand to cut down dead trees for firewood.

When the incident occurred Saturday afternoon Terry and Pat Evans were not home, but their teenage daughter, Kara, was. Her friend Tony Lennon's car, a 1977 Chevrolet Malibou, was flattened.

'We were just sitting inside and we heard the crash," she said. "We ran outside to see what happened. I knew something had been hit because it was really loud. We had the radio on and you could still hear

Evans' Chrysler LaBaron was also severely damaged and there were numerous dents in his Colt Vista, he said.

In addition, the garage door was dented and some shrubs were damaged.

Oakland County Sheriff's Department Deputy Michael Bray was at the scene Saturday afternoon.

"Chris Gourand was cutting the tree. Apparently he had it tied off, but not enough to hold it," Bray said. "He said the tree was rotten inside.

"It's accidental damage. I imagine it will have to be taken care of by the insurance company," he added. "Thank God nobody was in the vehicle." Gourand declined comment on the incident.

Kids' Halloween candy taken

Halloween candy stealers struck in Independence Township Monday night.

"I was just very upset," said Connie John, mother of one of the victims. "It was very tacky, these big kids picking on these little kids."

The muggers looked like they were 18 to 20 years old and one was wearing a hat, she said.

John's 11-year-old son and a friend were robbed as they planned make their last trick-or-treating stop. It was between 7 and 7:10 p.m.

Her son's bag of candy was held to his arm with strings.

"They literally dragged him and took his candy away," she said.

She later learned two little girls had candy stolen in a similar attack on nearby Greene Haven Road.

One girl hit a candy robber over the head with her bag of candy, but he got away with the goods nonetheless, John said.

Reports of the thefts were made to the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, she said.

According to news reports, phones are lighting up in recruiting offices of United States Army and Marines nationwide as young men swelling with patriotism sign up for fighting theaters in Grenada and Beirut.

Local recruiting offices are no exception.

"There has been a slight influx here," said Sgt. George Ingraham of the U.S. Army Recruiting office in Independence Township.

"I'm getting more calls from persons wanting to go back into action, guys that are in the reserves.'

Sgt. Walter Dale of the nearest Marine recruitingoffice, in Pontiac, said they're enlisting four men a week.

"But that's really no more than usual. Each guy here usually gets one per week. But we are getting a lot more phone calls on an average. There's been a slight increase in numbers coming from the schools too," he said.

Young man joins quest to bring home P.O.W.'s

By Marilyn Trumper

Don Filarski was 3 years old in 1968 during the early years of Vietnam when H. Lee McDonald enlisted in the Army.

He was 5 when McDonald was killed.

During the Saigon airlift in 1975 when the U.S. withdrew its troops from war-torn southeast Asia, Filarski was 10.

Today at 18, he's made the P.O.W.'s and M.I.A.'s still in Vietnam his crusade. So much a crusade, he asked the Dearborn father of a M.I.A. to speak before his Clarkston Community Education class.

It manifested a month and a half ago when Filarski began working in Colombiere Center's kitchen with Janet Ledogar, H. Lee McDonald's sister.

"I was always against the draft and I know the government doesn't always make the right decisions, so I really wanted to learn, to understand

Vets remembered

Thursday, Nov. 10, at 11:30 a.m., Veteran's Day ceremonies are scheduled on the steps of the state capitol with special ceremonies for the estimated 2,500 P.O.W.-M.I.A.'s still held in Southeast Asia.

According to Janice Ledogar, active in the P.O.W. Committee of Michigan, 30 state legislators have said they'll be there, as has Gov. James Blanchard.

"We need everyone to show up and give support to get these men back and let the government know we have not forgotten," Ledogar said. "That's the only way they'll know we're going to keep pushing for the return of the 2,500."

In 1970 the Springfield Township woman's brother was killed in Vietnam. To fight the helplessness she felt, Ledogar joined the Michigan Committee of P.O.W.'s.

Her brother, H. Lee McDonald, was a 1968 Clarkston High School graduate. He was buried with full military honors in Lakeview Cemetery, Independence Township.

why it's so important to serve your country," Filarski said, "especially when your country can be wrong."

He first read a book: "With God in a P.O.W. Camp."

"It was about a P.O.W. who was tortured for seven years. He wrote about it, and some of the tortures he wouldn't write about because they were so horrible," he said.

"I figured after seven years of torture, there must be something to it, to remaining loyal. Now I understand. This is a great country to live in. And if called I'd serve my country."

Filarski's begun reading and gleaning information about the estimated 2,500 men still in Vietnam.

"We can't betray the soldiers there who had to fight—we have to fight with them. I can empathize with the families that have P.O.W.'s in Vietnam. These are their mothers, fathers, brothers, sisters, sons and daughters," he said.

"Vietnam's known to keep prisoners for up to 16 years after a war; it's documented. People have seen American prisoners taken through he jungle in chain gangs.

"When the man came and spoke to our class, it really moved a lot of people. Too many don't know about these men. Since 1975 there have been 500 firsthand, live sitings."

Filarski points to the U.S. invasion of Grenada.

"Today they reported eight men missing, two were found. Where are the other six? Their relatives are waiting to know what happened to them."

Don Filarski: The Vietnam War took place when he was playing neighborhood baseball and worrying about spelling tests. Today at 18, a generation removed from the war, he's worried about the 2,500 men still in southeast Asia.

Keeping alive the memory of F. Lee McDonald

Her brother was killed in Vietnam, so Janice Ledogar works to save P.O.W.'s

By Marilyn Trumper

The life of H. Lee McDonald is reduced to an oil painting hanging on a hall wall and the contents of a small, worn cardboard box.

The painting is from a photograph taken in 1970 when he was on leave in Thailand from Vietnam.

Inside the box is a frayed, camouflage hat with the words "Blind Faith" embroidered on the crown in black; a 5-by-7 photo of him at 18 in full Army dress, standing beside a globe and the American flag; and a poem he composed in the war-torn country during his one-year, two-month tour.

Not one day passes that Janice Ledogar doesn't remember her kid brother, and the way he'd come over to the house on impromptu afternoons, stuff a diaper in his pocket and throw her young son on his shoulders—taking off for the day.

Lee was a 1968 Clarkston High School graduate, he sang in the church choir and played the organ.

He was buried with full military honors in Lakeview Cemetery, according to a story in The Clarkston News on Sept. 6, 1970.

"I've never been able to read that, or the telegrams they sent my father," said Janice, 40. "I can't. Until I got active in the P.O.W. Committee of Michigan I hadn't been able to talk about my brother to most people. Dad wouldn't talk about my brother at all, he was just so crushed.

"My mother lives in Auburn Heights. She talked to two parents in her trailer park that have a son who's an M.I.A. She talked to them about it, but it brought it all back."

H. Lee McDonald's five buddies enlisted after graduation.

"Lee had already been accepted at Oakland University. But they were a tight bunch, and he joined too. He did his first year, then signed up for another. He was in his second month when it happened," Janice said.

"They were on what they call a 'Search and Destroy' mission. They'd jump out of a helicopter and go looking for Vietcong. They were ambushed.

"He was injured and taken to (a hospital) in Japan. He died 15 days later."

His five buddies returned.

"I've gone over and over it in my head why he joined again. He said it was to get more money and to get away from the spit and shine (required on bases stateside.) I know he lost a close buddy he was supposed to go on R&R with. I think that had something to do with it."

And she speculates that by re-enlisting, Lee thought he could end the children dying.

"I was watching Channel 56's special on Vietnam and they showed the bodies of children being picked up. They looked just like dolls. I know that had to have affected him. I can only imagine how he must have felt."

DEFRELE TOSOMBE AN ARMY FOR Whe? I Fight FOR KNOW ONE, MT EVEN YOU MY LIFE IS MY OWN, I Fight to Be FREE I Kill FOR ANYONE, MONEY, And ME.

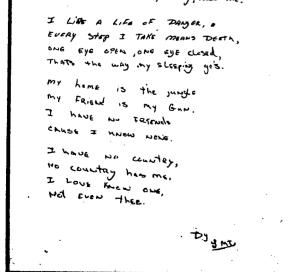

Janice Ledogar sits in her Springfield Township home and remembers her brother Lee, a former Clarkston youth killed in Vietnam. To ease her pain, the 40-year-old woman became active in an M.I.A.-P.O.W. organization. At right, the organization's symbol.

To combat the feeling of helplessness, last March Janice joined the P.O.W. Committee of Michigan, a group dedicated to securing the return of the estimated 2,500 prisoners of war and men listed as missing in action still in Vietnam.

"I got involved because I wanted to do something," Janice said. "When I lived in New York you could give blood and designate it for Vietnam. I used to give blood all the time. Then I moved here and you couldn't, I guess because there was no international airport. Then I found out about the Michigan Committee of P.O.W.'s and joined.

"When I think of these families going years and years waiting to find out what happened to their sons, and the government not doing anything but giving you lip-service..."

According to Janice, the government has documented reports of American servicemen working on chained road crews as slave labor in Laos and Cambodia; men caged in caves big enough to drive a truck through, and reports of them repairing tanks, trucks and planes.

"Equipment is left behind, and the Vietcong don't know how to operate or repair it," Janice said. "We figure that's what they keep them there for. Or, there could be any number of them just sitting there in those tiger cages.

"Their families can't presume they're dead just because they haven't been heard from them in 15 years. There are some still alive."

She cites a warehouse allegedly housing rows of coffins filled with embalmed servicemen.

U.S. officials pushed for a look and were granted it six months later.

The warehouse was empty.

The United States should withhold aid and encourgage other countries to boycott United Nations' funding for Vietnam as leverage to get the soldiers back, Janice said.

But Janice remains a patriot.

She encouraged her son, now 21, to enlist after high school. He did and was discharged a year ago.

"You have to have faith in your government. Buy there's only so much faith you can have. I encouraged my son to join, and I'm glad he did, and is back home.

"That was before Grenada."

peeders cause Main Street wor

Speeders on Clarkston's Main Street need to be ticketed more often, according to village council Trustee Carol Eberhardt.

She told the village council of concern with highspeed Main Street traffic at the Oct. 24 meeting, and later elaborated.

I know we're a small village, paying just our 1 mill for police, but it's gotten to the point where you take your life into your own hands crossing. Main Street," she said.

"Cars drive 50 to 60 miles per hour. If you don't step off the curb and start to cross immediately when the light goes red, you'll get halfway across and they'll run you down. People just drive too fast and they need to slow down."

Eberhardt proposes a crackdown by Oakland County Sheriff's Department deputies.

"I feel the county's got to start doing it. If people see that tickets are going to be written, they'll slow down," she said.

Posted traffic speed for the village is 35 mph.

Twice in the past few months two pedestrians were hit by cars; the first a man crossing legally at Main and Washington streets and the second, a boy, darted out into traffic from between parked cars.

"Is it going to take more of that before something's done?" Eberhardt asked.

In addition to the sheriff's department deputies contracted by the township for Independence Township, traffic division Deputy Robert Wark patrols the area Tuesday through Saturday from 3 to 11 p.m.

"I'm the only traffic car that works the northend," Wark said. "Since they've cutback our traffic program due to budget cuts in the sheriff's department we're down from 18 or 19 officers to about eight.

"You've got to work Springfield, Brandon and Independence. It makes it a little difficult. But I concentrate on Independence Township because it has the highest population and the most traffic,'

Hot spots are on Dixie Highway and on Waldon Road near the schools. Wark said he recently ticketed drivers on Waldon going 74 mph and 72 mph in the 35 mph zone.

"As far as the Village of Clarkston goes, I do keep an eye on it," he said. "I'm through the town all the time.

"The fastest I've had anybody go through town is 55 and that's been once in the past two years, by my recollection," he said. "Most of the time they go 10 miles over (or 45mph in a 35mph zone).'

Wednesday, thieves attempted to break into a house on Algonquin Drive, Independence Township. Unable to enter, they left.

Wednesday, vandals throwing rocks damaged a van's custom paint as it traveled on Maybee Road, Independence Township.

Wednesday, police recovered a car on M-15, Independence Township. It had been stolen earlier from the City of Pontiac.

Friday, thieves stole doorwalls and screens worth $500 from a house on Cecelia Ann Road, Independence Township.

Friday, thieves caused $25 in damages when they stole a $160 louver from a car on Tuscon Blvd., Independence Township.

Wark has some suggestions for improving traffic problems in the village.

Two recent accidents he remembers at the crosswalk at Main and Washington streets were caused by people turning right on a red light despite the no-turn-on-red sign.

"I would recommend they make that sign bigger," Wark said. "They say it's so small they can't see it, and if it's big they have no excuse."

He also said efforts should be made to force unloading of delivery trucks in alleys behind the shops rather than from double-parked trucks on Main Street.

Remember back when...

Revenue enhancements were called tax increases?

Peace-keeping was called going to war? Alcoholics were called drunks? Shoplifters were known as thieves? Mis-stating the facts was call lieing?

According to my American Heritage dictionary, a euphemism is "the substitution of an inoffensive term for one considered offensively explicit.'

Now. I'm all in favor of being polite, but I think one of the problems with our language these days is that no one speaks directly. Too few are willing to call a spade a spade; everything is couched in the wishy-washy mush of euphemism.

The political arena, particulary, is rife with the practice. Political persuasions of both the right and the left are in love with words and phrases that don't really say what they mean.

Have you noticed, for example, that no one is "pro-abortion" anymore? They're all "pro-choice" these days, on the reasoning that one can be "personally opposed" to abortion for themselves, yet be in favor of it for everyone else.

That's a sophism if there ever was one-you're either for abortion or you're not. This hazy middle ground some have created is a hoax.

MEANWHILE, THE RADICAL left has coined a neat term, "economic democracy," which, it must be admitted, does sound a whole lot more wholesome and American than "communism.

Indeed, no political group has so mastered the art of euphemism as the Soviet communists (or should that be the Soviet economic democrats?), who have come up with phrases like "collectivization" and "liberation" to take the place of a term that invariably proves offenseive—"murder." One of the most recent examples of uphemism is a term used to take the place of "socialism" and "state control of the economy." Our new, squeaky-clean phrase is "industrial policy." It's being touted by individuals who believe the all-wise and all-powerful U.S. government is better suited to set economic priorities than the free marketplace. Not to be outdone, the creatures of the political right hold title to possibly the greatest example of cuphemism in American history. It was the product of southern demagogues, who came up with the term "states' rights" as a nice way to refer to the practice of trampling on civil rights and maintaining legally-sanctioned bigotry.

Chance to show caring

We could have chosen to ignore the PBS, TV-Channel 56, special broadcasts on "The Chemical People" planned Nov. 2 and 9.

We could have turned our backs on the meeting early last month put on by the Clarkston school district and social workers to encourage community leaders to get involved in taking a look at the national problem and exploring the possibility of a local problem.

We could have ignored the fact that the school district felt town meetings to view the possibility of forming task forces were so important they are taping the Nov. 9 program so people have another chance to attend the session at St. Daniel's Hall on Nov. 16.

We could have said all our kids have avoided alcohol and drug abuse.

We didn't, of course.

The people were interviewed, the articles written.

No one said Clarkston High School is being overcome with drug and alcohol abusive teens.

We know the problem with alcoholic beverages is the larger of the two. There have been too many deaths of young people in automobile crashes to ignore the possibility of a problem there.

And we believe we have a responsibility to let people know what the authorities have to say on the topics of chemical abuse by our young people.

Anyone who has read the articles and has concluded Clarkston High School is a bad place is wrong.

It's an excellent school, one we're proud of

But there are some students there who have turned to alcohol and drugs to ease their way through their adolescent years.

That's a tragedy.

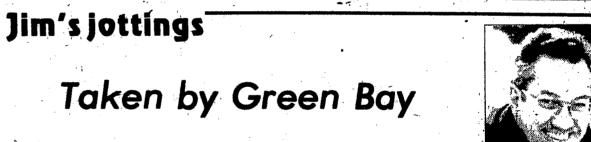

And if community involvement can help save just one teen-ager it's worth all the time and effort.

Such an effort would certainly not an indictment against one school or against all teen-agers, but a tribute to a community strong enough to care.

If for some reason you planned to visit Green Bay, Wisconsin for the first time, what would your thoughts be?

Cold? Yes. Green Bay Packers football? Probably. Desolate, barren, backward? Also, probably.

Well, 'taint so. We were there just recently. The occasion was to visit friends we had in Keith Miller of Eureka, MI and his wife, Bernie, formerly of Fowler, MI, have been in Green Bay 15 years. He's being kept (as in kept man) there by Kellogg, the flake folks, and they've been trying to get him to return phone calls ever since.

Green Bay is the home of Fort Howard Paper Co., among the largest napkin makers in the world. Next time you see a cocktail napkin with cartoons, see if it isn't from Ft. Howard.

It is also the home of a rather large grocery chain, Red Owl, a large trucking company, American Can Company which owns Northern Paper Co., there, and the Oneida Indians. There were 2,000 Indians in convention in a new arena in Green Bay while we were there.

Their goal at the time was to get back 240,000 acres the white man took from them to add to their 2,500. add to their 2,500.

A Concerned Student-Bob Ruelle

Wed., Nov. 2. 1983 7

Question: What do a bird's nest, an old T-square with brass trim, a wooden-handled jackknife and three metal cigar boxes have in common?

Answer: They are treasures that wouldn't have been found if it hadn't been for our new roof.

We already knew there were treasures to be found below the soil in our backyard, for some digging there awhile back unearthed an assortment of old bottles.

But the most of the goodies hidden below the worn out shingles on our roof and in other places up above were a surprise.

The bird's nest is understandable and we can imagine how roofers at work some 60 years ago lost the tool and the jackknife, but we haven't come up with a solid conclusion on how the cigar boxes came to be stashed under the shingles.

Maybe the people at work on the roof smoked many cigars and decided to leave the leftover boxes up there.

Maybe they stashed the cache of cigars in a spot, used them up and then, by mistake, roofed over them.

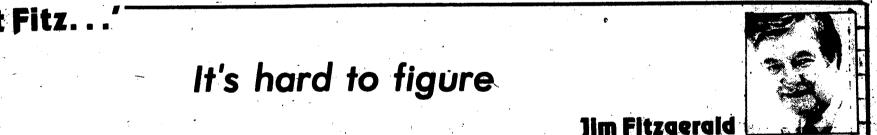

They certainly weren't worth tearing the shingles off to recover.

Unfortunately they weren't filled with money, or anything else for that matter.

But they're interesting. They include a line drawing of the factory in Detroit where the cigars were manufactured—on the labels on two and stamped into the metal on the other.

In any event, they brought pleasure to the people hard at work in 1983 replacing the roof on ' our 60-year-old home in Clarkston.

It makes me wonder what else is stashed behind the walls, under the floorboards and beneath the soil.

When a reporter recently asked Mike Wallace, of TV's "60 Minutes," how much he was paid for mak-ing a speech in Grand Rapids, Wallace answered: "I don't believe that's anyone's business but my own." And Detroit Mayor Coleman Young said he doesn't want his chief of police to make public statements about police protection.

I mention those two occurrences just so you won't rised when the pope says he's not a Catholic.

But when Wallace refused to contirm whether he received his reportedly standard $5,000 speaker's fee, some reporter should have demanded to know it it's true that the only reason Wallace's hair doesn't reflect his true age is because he regularly rubs it with Amway shoe polish.

213. 1

A couple of years ago, with the backing of a nationally known fashion expert, I wrote a fearless column criticizing Morley Safer, another "60 Minutes" reporter, for wearing a polka dot tie with a striped shirt and a checkered jacket. Since then, Safer's oncamera attire has been decidedly less clashy, with two plains for one fancy. You've probably noticed.

I don't mean to spotlight the warts on my beloved Detroit. I know people in plush suburbs who are loathe to leave their $500,000 homes at night because of frequent break-ins. A Bloomfield Hills widow's house was recently burgled while she slept and now she is as afraid to be home alone as my wife is to walk in the park below our windows. The bad guys are everywhere.

But why shouldn't the police chief talk about the

MY POINT IS that it's ludicrously incongruous, not to mention quite unexpected, for super-snoop Mike Wallace to fret about someone prying into his business. And it's even more ludicrous to suggest, as Mayor Young did, that Police Chief William Hart would "jeopardize the safety of Detroiters" if he publicly answered City Council questions about crime 1. 1. 1. 1. 1. in Detroit.

For many years, Wallace has earned a fine living by slithering into the presence of unsuspecting strangers on the pretense of seeking their informed opinion on worldwide hunger, and then demanding to know if they felt guilty about being so horribly fat. Wallace's Grand Rapids speech was made at a convention of distributors for Amway Corp., a direct sales company recently probed by Wallace on *60 Minutes." He said he saw "nothing inappropriate" about being hired by the subject of his investigation:

If it soon become easier to see the scuff marks on Mike Wallace's hair, I may ask "60 Minutes" for my standard $5,000 consultant's fee.

SPEAKING OF TV (you'll love this brilliant segue), I was watching a crime show the other evening when, for real live action, I should have been looking out my front window. It wasn't dark out yet and I could have seen a woman I know get knocked down and robbed by four young punks.

We live in Lafayette Park, supposedly one of Detroit's "inicer" neighborhoods and my wife is afraid to walk across the street to the grocery store in the daytime. What if we lived in one of the many not-sonice neighborhoods? I would like to hear Chief Hart talk about that problem, and what he's doing about it, before the City Council? Mayor Young's explanation is that council members might demand information that, if reported by the media, would tip off crooks as to where the cops were waiting in ambush, and they'd just go be crooked on another block.

That's the type of brilliant reasoning that makes a person grateful to be a taxpayer. But why not take the next logical step? Chief Hart should lie to the council and say there are 20 cops in every dark doorway. Crooks, who believe everything they read in the newspaper, would immediately leave town in search of a more secure income, and there would be no more crime in Detroit.

The crooks might go to Grand Rapids where they could become TV anchors by stealing Amway shoe polish to take the incongruous scuff marks off their hair.

Bohl entered the center Oct. 25 after regaining consciousness the week before.

The 16-year-old suffered a head injury Sept. 22 in a Clarkston High School soccer game and underwent surgery that evening to remove a blood clot.

Rosalie Bohl, Jim's mother, said he still can't move his legs and is in some pain because of muscle spasms.

"He is talking much clearer now than when he first woke up," she said. "He is eating by himself and is sitting up much more."

Bohl is in therapy twice a day for two hours, seven days a week.

"He is really aware of what is going on," Mrs. Bohl said. "I've read to him the cards he has received. He loves that.

"He just was issued his wheelchair and it is sad to see him in that," she said. "But at the center they keep telling the patients there that they aren't sick, they just need to be strengthened. He wants to walk again and he will."

Jim is in Room 279, bed two and Mrs. Bohl said he welcomes cards and letters. Visiting hours are from 1 to 3 p.m. and 6 to 8 p.m. at the hospital.

Township requests policy printing

Dear Editor:

As you are aware, the Independence Township Board voted earlier this month to establish a 1983 tax levy

While Marilyn Trumper did a fine job of reporting on the discussion and subsequent vote, several members of the board felt that a formal policy statement from the township board, explaining the levies, was in order.

I would, therefore, ask your cooperation in publishing the attached public notice from the Independence Township Board.

On Tuesday, October 4, 1983, the Independence Township Board voted to establish the 1983 tax levies. The total tax levy will increase from 5.3685 mills in 1982 to 5.9035 mills in 1983. The Township's total millage rate is 27.8% below the maximum authorized rate. Furthermore, even with the new rate, the Township's taxes represent about 12% of the total property tax bill paid by its residents.

For two of the Township's funds -- General and Safety Path -- the 1983 millage rate remains the same as the 1982 rate. For the Fire Fund, rates were increased slightly from 2.5943 to 2.6096 to accommodate the proposed fire expenditures for 1983. For the Police Fund, the cost of police services is expected to exceed the tax revenue by $70,000, even after the new rate is levied. For the Property Purchase Fund, additional monies are needed to meet contractual obligations to the Levy Company for acquisition of the 80-acre site. For the Sewer Special Assessment Fund, a majority of the Township Board voted to reinstate a small portion of the historical 2-mill ad valorem tax to eliminate a potential deficit of over $1.3 million.

Rickety bridge distresses Clarkston residents

By Marilyn Trumper

Seventy-five-year-old Bud Campbell wants the Village of Clarkston to take over maintenance of a deteriorating 50-year-old timber bridge in front of his house on Pinehurst Drive.

Campbell made his second appeal to the village council Oct. 24.

The village is looking into it.

The bridge is on private property, as is the deadend circle road on the west side of the bridge that services Campbell and his three neighbors, according to village President Jackson Byers.

What we have to do is attempt to find a means of getting a 30-foot easement (from where the pavement on Pinehurst ends to the bridge) and have it dedicated to the village," Byers said after the meeting.

"Next, we have to get the 60 or 70 homes in Clarkston Estates I, on Overlook and Middle Lake roads, to dedicate the bridge, and the rest of the circle to the village. Then we can take it over."

After the attorney and engineer review the case, Byers said, he will appoint a small committee to circulate petitions that would give the bridge to the village

'All' I know is that I can't repair the bridge anymore," Campbell said after the meeting. "I'm 75 years old. My neighbors are 90, 80 and 75 years old. We've been fixing it up for 35 years.

'Look, the handrail wiggles. The ties are rotting. Somebody's going to get hurt-they're going to go through-and there'll be a big lawsuit."

Bud Campbell stands in front of the bridge that's created controversy at village hall. Campbell, 75, says he can't take care of the deteriorating bridge in front of his house anymore-and wants the village to do it. The council's exploring the possibility.

The Clarkston Chiefs' varsity team bowed out of the season with a 20-12 loss to Waterford.

() the season with a 20-12 loss to waterfold. But coach Dick Heath says he's not worried about the loss.

The Chiefs are a little league football program for ages 8-13 with three divisions—freshman, junior varsity and varsity.

Heath is varsity coach, and he helped the team to a 7-2 season.

"The record isn't very important to me or some of the other people in the program," he said. "We just try to teach the kids how to win or lose with pride and dignity. As far as I'm concerned, that's all I'm out here for."

Dick Heath and an assistant coach watch from the sidelines during the season's last game.

The varsity team finished second in the Suburban Midget Football League, behind Waterford. Last year the team finished with a perfect 6-0 record.

"Some say that winning doesn't matter, but it does," Heath said. "That 7-2 record to me is a good record, but not to those 12- and 13-year-olds."

Against Waterford, the Corsairs opened the game with a 70-yard touchdown run and scored once more before the half to lead, 14-0.

"We came back like gang-busters in the second half," Heath said. "We scored two touchdowns and were just short of another. But this is all the part of growing up. At this age, you have to feel good about yourself. We didn't walk off the field with our heads down."

Heath, 56, who started the program in 1970 with Fred Dyke, is now retiring.

"I was getting tired and I feel it is time to just sit back and watch for a while," he said. "There are so many people that contribute to the program, so many that give up their time. They are the ones that make this a good program."

Nov. 10 is the annual banquet for the Chiefs and every player, over 130, will receive a trophy.

The Clarkston Chiefs contain a Waterford Corsair runner in the first half of the game. The Chiefs lost, 20-12, to finish in second place with a 7-2 record.

It was May-day for Clarkston when they beat Avondale 6-0 in junior varsity football Oct. 27.

Mike May, a sophomore running back, ran for 100 yards on 18 carries to lead the Wolves to the win that raised their record to 4-4.

"That was his best day of the year," said coach Gordy Richardson. "He was running, and reading the holes and finding them."

Quarterback Bob LaPorte scored the only points of the game on a 1-yard run with 26 seconds left in the third quarter. The Wolves recovered a fumble on the 10-yard line and moved it in for the score.

Defense controlled the entire game with Avondale turning the ball over to kill their own scoring drives.

Late in the opening quarter, Avondale completed ((() a long pass and Bill Bastuba saved a touchdown with a tackle at the 2-yard line.

The Wolves' defense tightened up and kept the Yellow Jackets from scoring.

"The defense was mighty stingy," Richardson said. "We held them to only 13 offensive plays in the second half and only 98 total yards. We've had good defense all year."

Jim Casper caused two fumbles by Avondale and Dale Traver and Tim Weir also played good defense, Richardson said. Avondale team members make a crunching tackle of a Clarkston runner in the Wolves 6-0

Clarkston totaled 172 yards on offense with most of that coming in the second half.

"We were fortunate to control the ball in the second half," the coach said. "We ran 24 plays in the

From the opening play by Avondale, it appeared to be the Clarkston Wolves' varsity football game. Senior Kurt Bottorf came charging through the line and hit the Yellow Jackets' quarterback, causing a fumble the Wolves recovered.

But the Wolves couldn't move the ball.

Before they started to move, Avondale had built a 14-0 lead in the first quarter.

Avondale's sophomore running back Chris Hudson did all the damage by scoring four touchdowns and piling up 206 yards rushing. He scored on runs of 40, 22, 2 and 5 yards.

Rob Mortimore recovered a fumble for the Wolves on the Avondale 38-yard line. Three plays later the Wolves were on the board. Jeff Davis ran up the middle twice for 5 and 8 yards before Jim Ruelle scrambled 25 yards for the score.

The last touchdown for Clarkston came with only 36 seconds left in the half.

Quarterback Mike Galley rolled out to his right from the 23-yard line and threw to Erik Kline, who fought off a defender at the goal line to catch the ball. -6}

Galley said after the play that he saw a shorter defender guarding the 6-foot-2-inch Kline and knew Kline could go over him for the catch.

"We had a good feeling at halftime," said coach Walt Wyniemko. "We struggled a little but we started playing better in the second quarter.

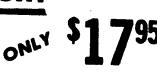

'The game was give-and-take all the way," he said. "It was a good, clean football game, not many penalties. We did make some mistakes, like not tackling Hudson.'

Each team committed only three penalties, but Avondale compiled 306 yards on offense to the Wolves' 201.

Wolves finish 0:13-1 Kickers lose final game to Flint Powers

By Dan Vandenhemel

"We learned a lot this year, both the players and the coaches," said Clarkston soccer coach Neil Granlund.

The Wolves finished the season against Flint Powers with a 4-1 loss. Their final record is 0-13-1.

"This season was a fantastic learning experience," Granlund said. "It was a little disappointing not winning a game. I knew I was inexperienced (and) the kids were inexperienced, but I had hoped we'd do a little better."

This was the first year for soccer at Clarkston

C

High School. The Wolves lost a few games by one goal and a few by five or six. Their tie was against Flint Powers Sept. 27.

Doug Learmont and Greg Molzon led the team in scoring.

"They both showed a lot during the season," Granlund said. "Doug was fantastic on scoring on corner kicks because he was so tall, he's 6-3." Steve Zoss was overlooked on offense, not because of the skills but his height, 5-2. "He impressed a lot of teams this year," Granlund said. "Some teams were snickering about his size but after he dribbled around them, they stopped laughing. He handled the ball very well. Flint Powers even put a special man on him to try and contain him. He told me that he promised to grow before next year."

The Clarkston (Mich.) News Wed., Nov. 2, 1983-15

The defense was held together by Rod Nocol and Derek Brown. Along with Chris McBride and goalie Ken Temple, they tried to keep the Wolves in the games.

"They were impressive. Derek is a real hustler out there. Nobody is going to get behind him very often," Granlund said.

"Next year we're going to start conditioning earlier and then keep it up during the season," he said. "We started to get tired late in the games. It was hard to take losing all the time, but we didn't lose a player all year. They came to every practice and tried. That was a good quality about this team."

Season ends with promise

Coach Jim Chamberlain is counting the days until the season begins next year for the Clarkston High School golf team.

The Wolves, with only one senior graduating, finished third in the league and had a 9-5 overall record.

Juniors Rich Lay, Chris Hunter and Steve Willis led the team with an average just over 42 strokes per round.

"Rich was the most consistent for us at the start of the season," Chamberlain said. "Those three were the main stays of the team. We'll have a good nucleus coming back next year."

Other golfers who helped in the scoring were John Stapleton and John Gaulin.

The most improved player on the team was junior Todd Olson, the coach said.

"He had never played golf before this year," Chamberlain said. "His average was 44.1. His 85 in the league meet was the second best on the team to Willis' 82. He was a nice surprise for us,

"Gaulin had an average of 46. But for a sophomore, he did a super job."

In the early part of the season, junior Scott Meyland helped the team, as did senior Mark Westlund.

After scoring in eight of the first nine matches, Meyland was hit in the forehead with a errant drive in a match against Pontiac Northern.

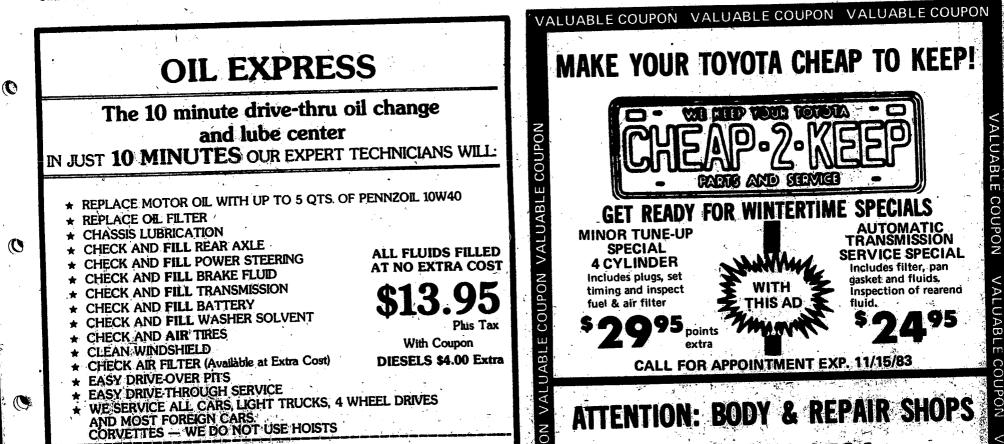

"He caught the ball square in the forehead," Chamberlain said. "He was lucky he got hit where he did. He wasn't hurt and he even finished the round." Chamberlain points to the upset victory over Brandon as the highlight of the season.

"They were rated in the state and were favored in Class B for the state title," he said. "It was a big upset. They finished very well in the county meet, seventh, and we finished 26th.

"We should do better next year with the golfers we have coming back."

Two very old, very well-used but important cliches come to mind when it comes to money.

Money makes the world go around, and a penny saved is a penny earned.

It seems both of them tie in together. But if you save all your pennies and not spend them, will the world stop on a dime?

As there are different people in the world, there are different ways of saving the green, silver, copper and gold stuff.

On paydays, cookie jars fill up and are tucked away behind the flour bin. Or mason jars are tightly closed and planted in the backyard for future harvest. Coin collectors have always struck me as serious, no-nonsense types.

You know, the ones wearing visor caps hunched over a pile of round metal objects on green felt.

There are variances. Some save 50-cent pieces or stash bills with certain serial numbers, say four of a kind.

Twenties, fives, singles are all vulnerable to loss in the dark recesses of a wallet or purse.

If they are left and forgotten (which occasionally happens) dollar signs light up in a person's eyes with the thought of "extra money."

The whole idea of saving money is to have it when needed. And everyone knows that once you have it, something will happen. Then you'll have to start all over again.

There is a hidden meaning to money makes the world go around.

It really means money will make you go in circles. ))

CHANGING EDUCATION:

Principals concur, school's getting tougher

By Kathy Greenfield

Education is changing in Clarkston's secondary schools.

Principals cite different reasons for the changes, but all agree there are differences this year.

"We didn't go on a big, extensive kick and say, 'OK, everybody buckle down and let's make it harder,' "said Clarkston High School principal Dom Mauti. "Many students took rougher classes, so they made it harder on themselves."

Mauti's not sure if students signed up for more academic courses because parents reacted to the highly critical President's report "A Nation at Risk."

But he does know enrollments in science, mathematics, English and social studies courses were higher than expected.

"That threw us off," he said.

The result was the addition of more science and math sections.

At Sashabaw Junior High School "there's something going on all the time," according to principal Gus Birtsas.

"Computers are just going hot and heavy," he added.

Last year all ninth-graders in the school received two weeks of "intensive, hands-on experience" with computers, he said, and this year all eighth-graders have been added to the program.

In the springtime, seventh-graders will participate as well, Birtsas said.

The computer program was started long before "A Nation at Risk" came out in April, he said.

The report, at most, may have caused and intensification of the programs already underway, he said.

A meeting of department heads planned last " week included going over objectives and the possibility of blending coursework together, Birtsas said.

At Clarkston Junior High, planning is underway to strenghten standards throughout the school.

Each department has been asked to provide a list of words students should know how to spell and a schoolwide writing policy under development.

"There probably are some key things kids (will be) expected to do like start their sentences with capital letters and end with punctuation," said principal Duane Lewis. "We'll look at grammar, punctuation, capitalization in all areas. We'll look at spelling in all areas.

"I hope by the end of the first semester it will all be in place and ready to go," he said.

Semester exams are also under study.

They're going to be more comprehensive and standardized so each student, regardless of the teacher, will be tested on key concepts that should be learned in academic and non-academic courses.

The Clarkston (Mich.) News Wed., Nov. 2, 1983 17

"A Nation at Risk" does not deserve credit for the changes, Lewis said, but it could have played a role.

"Actually I'm not sure it's because of the reports. On the other hand, maybe that was the stimulant I needed to make it happen this year," he said.

"It's been a concern of mine for many years—the spelling, or lack of spelling, for kids," he said. "I've always had some real strong feelings about interteaching."

There has been another change, and it just happened.

"I'm hearing there's more and more homework being given," Lewis said. "I don't feel bad about that."

Independence Township won its suit to stop the owner of Michigan Rental from selling premixed concrete. Gary Skibowski, standing atop the machine in question, says he'll take the appeal to the Supreme Court before he gives up what's become steady income.

Man to appeal cement law

By Marilyn Trumper

Gary Skibowski, owner of Michigan Rental Service, says he'll go out on Dixie Highway and flag in cars to buy mixed cement until the township stops him from making it.

On Oct. 24 Oakland County Circuit Court Judge George La Plata issued an injunction stopping Skibowski from mixing cement at the Dixie Highway location.

"I may get the order today, but until I do, I'm going to keep making it," he said.

In early October Independence Township filed suit to stop Skibowski from making cement, saying mixed cement sales are allowed only in industrial zones.

The 20-year-old business is zoned highway commercial, and was bought by Skibowski in 1980.

"I'll take it to the Court of Appeals in order to keep it, and the Supreme Court if necessary," Skibowski said. "The township is not being fair to the small businessman, and the person who finds alternate ways of supplementing his income."

According to Skibowski, there is other manufacturing in highway commercial zoning on that stretch of Dixie Highway.

"I think the public should know how many thousands of dollars this is costing the township," Skibowski said. "I've not had any complaints about the mixer. For crying out loud, it's not any bigger than a U-Haul truck, and (the township) is saying I'm making noise, that there's truck traffic, and they're worried about that and the traffic on Dixie Highway.

"I hope there's traffic on Dixie Highway_or all the businesses along here might just as well close. We need traffic to survive. And if I have to stand outside and flag people inside to buy cement, I'm going to do it!"

Skibowski says he's already spent $3,000 litigating the matter.

Township attorney Gerald Fisher said the court's decision was a victory.

Independence Township Supervisor James B. Smith says the zoning ordinance must be enforced.

"We're not after him as such," Smith said. () "Michigan Rental's been a fine organization. But if we allow mixing cement in an area not zoned for it, the courts in the future will allow it."

He also mentioned road safety.

"Pre-mix concrete is very heavy, and with the lower horsepower in today's car, it's hazardous for them pulling out into traffic hauling a load of concrete," Smith said.

"I know it creates a hardship to the businessman and an inconvenience to the public, but the overall consideration is preserving the zoning ordinance."  $\bigcirc$

Playwright lives right here

By Marilyn Trumper

Dressed in his three-piece FTD executive suit, Bruce Smith answers the door.

From 9 to 5 he's manager of membership development for the worldwide floral company.

On free time the 35-year-old Independence Township resident is a playwright-composer.

And Nov. 4 and 5 kids from the Church of Jesus Christ of the Latter Day Saints will be performing his "Trouble at Buster Gulch" in Grand Blanc.

Smith wrote the two-act, 14-scene musical over a four- to five-month period while driving his car and talking into a tape recorder.

This is my second play. The first I did a year and a half ago for the same group to produce," Smith said from his home on Snowapple Drive. "I wasn't going to write another one unless I knew someone was going to use it, so when they hinted I agreed."

'Trouble in Buster Gulch" isn't ringed with deep moral messages.

"The first one, 'For The Love Of A Child,' was. I didn't want this one to be too serious," he said. "I wanted it fun and light and wanted it to be something I knew people would enjoy."

Smith's wife's favorite musical is "Oaklahoma."

"'I combined that with Disney's 'Apple Dumpling Gange,' a group of crooks who can't do anything right, and it's worked," he said. Buster Gulch is a western town named after Buster Stride, the first prospector to discover gold there.

Town fathers display a golden bust of him once a year during the Buster Stride Festival.

Not knowing of the annual festival, a group of not-so-thorough crooks scheme for its theft.

A young tomboy is the heroine in the end-returning the bust to the town.

"I suppose if there's a moral it's good wins over evil," Smith laughed.

In the play's composing stage, there were a hurdles

"The ideas would come to me in flashes. I sat for two weeks and couldn't figure out anything. I finally got a rough outline of what I wanted to do-and that was it," he said.

Two scenes were added because so many kids auditioned, the church wanted them all to have a chance.

"There are two scenes that really don't have anything to do with the rest of the play, two musical scenes that are there strictly for entertainment. We put the extra kids in there," he said.

Smith, a planist and guitarist, taught drama for 10 years in Richmond before leaving the profession.

"I can't just sit down and write a song. I need an idea. If someone gives me an idea, I usually can. I have a hard time coming with with ideas," he said.

The Grand Blanc Stake of the church encompasses Pontiac, Clarkston, Flint, and four other communities, he said, and is known worldwide for getting its members involved in culture.

Because of his background, Smith volunteered to direct the plays.

"I wanted to do something the first time that wasn't real 'churchy,' one that anybody would fee comfortable going to. I began looking and didn't find anything I liked," he said. "Either they were too expensive, or too deep.

"So I wrote my own."

Smith concedes musicals are schmaltzy, but says that's half the fun.

"I guess I'm a schmaltzy individual. I like to be entertained when I see a play and forget about the real world for a while. It lets you look at a piece of life and enjoy it. Very few musicals are sad. Most are romantic," he said.

"I see it as a culmination of a lot of the arts put together. Dance, singing, instrumentation, art, acting, scenery, a combination of all fine arts.'

His first play was just bought by the Promise Valley Playhouse in Utah, but has yet to be perfomed by any other groups.

"The next one I hope is going to make me some money," Smith said.

Show goes on

This Nov. 4 and 5 Independence Township playwright Bruce Smith's "Trouble in Buster Gulch" will be performed in Grand Blanc at the Church of Jesus Christ of the Latter Day Saint's Cultural Hall, 4285 McCandlish.

Tickets are $2 per person, $6 per family, and can be purchased at the door.

The curtain rises at 8 p.m.

Smith, a church member, volunteered his talents to write and compose music for the two-act, 14-scene musical.

Fire destroys barn; injures firefighter

An early morning blaze Monday injured one firefighter, destroyed a wooden barn on Maybee Road and caused over $35,000 in damages.

The Independence Township Fire Department responded to the fire report at 1:47 a.m. Oct. 31.

The barn had been burning approximately one hour, according to Capt. Dale Bailey.

Firefighter Neil Ashley fell through the floor and was injured.

"He's probably limping around today and will take a couple days off work," Bailey said Monday.

"We don't really know what happened or how it started, and we'll be going back over there again today to find out," he added.

The barn was insured for $10,000 and had over $25,000 worth of machinery and tools inside, according to Bailey.

Ginny Farmer stands alongside the brand new sign outside the Clarkston Community Learning Center on Maybee Road. The awning over the door and painted window trim are more outward indications of changes inside the building that used to be South Sashabaw Elementary School. Members of the community are invited to see the differences for themselves during an open house Sunday, Nov. 13, from 1 to 4 p.m.

Ginny Farmer: Community school coordinator

By Kathy Greenfield

Ginny Farmer's intriqued with the psychology of environment.

The community school coordinator for the Clarkston school district Community Education Department hasn't studied the topic.

But she's seen the differences wrought by some interior decorating at the Clarkston Community Learning Center.

"Last year...(the students) didn't really care for the building because it was ugly—just not cared for and in bad repair," she said. "It was like a giant ashtray and people treated it as such."

It was the home of some fledgling programs offered through community education—the alternative high school, Job Club and some adult high school completion courses.

Due to the immediate success of the programs, there was enough money to give the building a facelift.

"This year the difference in how people treat the building is just great," she said. "They feel like it's mothers, the Funshine Child Care Center for their children, and a career center to assist people enrolled in the various community education programs who are looking for jobs.

Last year Farmer worked mainly with adults enrolled in high school completion classes and her office was in Clarkston High School.

This year her office is in the learning center and she offers academic counseling for all students enrolled in the variety of courses.

"I really enjoy being here full-time, because I've gotten to better manage the building and staff, and I've come more closely involved with the students," she said.

About a month ago a bill-board sign went up in front of the learning center.

"We worked, it seemed like hours, on a slogan," she said. "We finally came up with 'People Learning Together' and I think that's really what it is—we have different ages, different backgrounds and, most important, I hope it symbolizes a second chance for an education."

During last year's high school graduation of 10 adults she heard the testimonials: "I was afraid. Now I'm successful," and "Life isn't over for me; it's just beginning."

their building."

There's new lettering outside and an awning hangs over the front door. The outside trim on the windows has a fresh coat of paint.

Inside the front door an antique church pew is painted an unexpected shade, eggplant.

It matches the newly installed wraparound reception desk. Walls are painted tones of beige. Doors sport different plant colors—strawberry, pine, eggplant and blueberry.

Inside the newly painted classrooms, adult-size desks match the chairs with upholstered seats in all but one room where older students meet, and that one's also due for new furniture.

Formerly South Sashabaw Elementary School, the building was closed in June 1981 because of declining enrollment in the district.

The following September it was reopened as the earning center

Farmer previously worked for Grand Rapids Public Schools as the community schools coordinator and public relations coordinator for the education cable-TV channel.

A job transfer for her husband brought them to Independence Township, and she interviewed for a post with Clarkston's community education department.

"I was really scared," she said. "I hadn't interviewed in 13 years. I was fortunate enough to receive the position.

"I love it. I really enjoy working with people, not paper, and every once in a while when you feel you've had an impact on someone's life, there's no better reward."

And there have been rewards.

Adults enrolled in high school completion usually share a common characteristic.

"They're afraid to come back into a school building again because it brings back all the bad memorius," Rarmer said "It's great to hear a student. # Schools' Enrichment classes prove a success

By Marilyn Trumper

"Ou est le professeur?" asks French teacher Jeanette Sanders.

A class of over eight grade school students blinks expectantly.

At four in the afternoon, it's been a long day. The sun's shining.

It's an afternoon ripe for neighborhood football and lollygagging.

But they put themselves in this extra-curricular enrichment class.

And they're going to do it.

"Where is the teacher?" Sanders asks again in French.

"The teacher," the class responds, "is in front of the blackboard."

According to Jeanne Molzon, youth coordinator of the program, the first term of after-school enrichment classes offered by the Clarkston Community Education Department has been a success.

•178 grade school students attend the 14 classes at Bailey Lake Elementary School, offering elementary French, puppet making, computer club, drama class, science whiz, Olympics of the Mind, introduction to art, holiday crafts and Horse Sense, all about horses.

•91 junior high students from all over the district attend six enrichment classes. Typing is offered at the high school because that's where the typewriters are, and the other classes meet at Sashabaw Junior High—Learning to Use Your Abilities, color and makeup, two computer clubs and German.

Classes are open to all students in the district attending public, private and parochial schools.

Each class has a different fee, depending on teachers and materials, and its length, Molzon said.

"And, we're investigating the possibility of adding "Latchkey," a before- and after-school program for students with working parents," she said.

"This January high school students will be offered classes in guitar; Dungeons and Dragons, a fantasy thinking game; Spanish; and Chisenbop, Korean finger-math. We're open to any suggestions people may have on a class they'd like to take, and if anyone wants to teach we'd like to hear from them.

"You don't have to have a certificate, just have experience in that area," Molzon said.

For some cultural exposure, the program brings Tschaikovsky's "Nutcracker Suite" to Independence Township on Dec. 29 at the Clarkston High School Little Theater, performed by the Michigan Youth Ballet.

The $2 general admission tickets will be sold at the door.

In addition, a Study Skills Workshop is going to be offered Thursday, Dec. 1, at Sashabaw Junior High from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. for fifth- through ninthgraders.

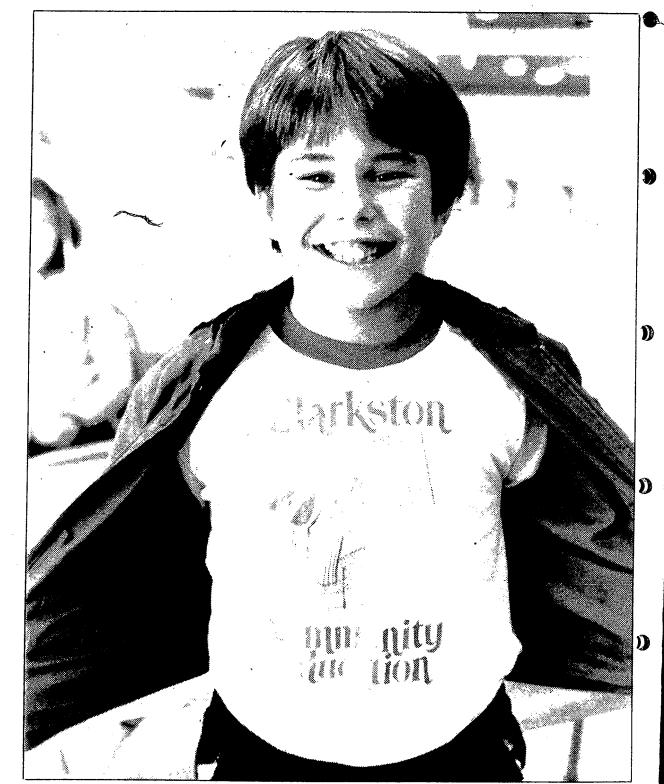

It's designed for students and parents to jointly attend and establish good study skills.

Topics to be explored include how to outline, take notes, and fight fear and panic on tests. There's a $5 fee for students; parents are free.

"One of the greatest things is to hear the teachers talk about the kids' enthusiasm. There's very little absenteeism in these classes and no discipline problems," Molzon said.

Back in French class the kids are singing.

"I wanted to take a class, and French sounded

"My mom wanted me learn French from me. She's going to take in it college," said David Elsy, 10. "It sounded fun," 10-year-old Heather Flor said.

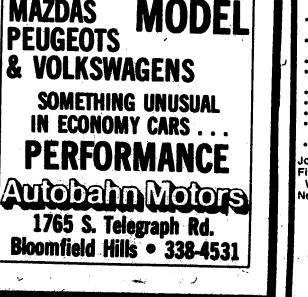

"No one in our family took it, and I read about it, and it had some pretty words," said Becky Kosek, 10.

Ten-year-old Colleen Cruz's reason for taking French was immediate.

"My sister takes it—and I wanted to learn," she said.

Aura Fine Art now in village

Aura Fine Art has moved south and owner Karen Weaver couldn't be more pleased with the Clarkston village location.

"I love it," she says. "I'm a people person and I think it's super to be part of Main Street."

The shop was formerly located on M-15 and Cranberry Lake Road. Now it's inside the Terrace Building at 20 S. Main.

Specialties are original, pre-20th century prints, and picture framing and matting.

Also available are camera reproductions of posters, notecards, ready-made frames and sculptures.

Weaver says her shop is designed to look like a home with upholstered antique chairs to sit in and antique end tables, a desk and a trunk used for display. The original prints range in price from $10 to $200 without frames.

"I really do not stress investment. I feel it's more 'take it home and love it,' " she says. "These are quite affordable for everyone and you can have something decorative for your home that's really nice and different."

The shop is open Monday through Thursday and Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Hours on Friday are 10 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Aure Fine Art owner Karen Weaver flips through a display case of camera reproductions of posters from the New York Graphic Society. On the walls are original prints.

Over 20 years ago, Tim Vance sat in the second, third and fourth grades at Pine Knob Elementary School on Sashabaw Road.

On Dec. 4, he's offering his church's first service at that Independence Township school.

A graduate of Bob Jones University, South Carolina, with a degree in Bible, Vance has three years of graduate work under his belt.

At age 29, he's founding The Fellowship Bible Church and reaching a life's dream.

"I was called to preach when I was 15 through a series of events. I believe God has shaped me and prepared me to start this church, and I'm very excited about it," he said.

Vance lives on Independence Drive with his wife, Janet, and their four children, Tim, 6, Chad, 4, Joy, 2, and Bethanie, 7 months.

"We wanted to start the church here, but it will take six months to a year to get a congregation to support the church and possibly three years to get a building," he said.

"We spent three years in New Jersey and contemplated doing what we're doing now, but the Lord never opened the door and gave us peace about doing it."

Vance said he now has the peace.

"I told him he wouldn't be happy until he did it," said his wife, Janet.

The Fellowship Bible Church is an independent fundamentalist church, Vance said.

"It's a Protestant church, not quite as sectarian as the Lutheran, Baptist or Methodist, and it's nondenominational," he said.

The Dec. 4 service is scheduled at 11 a.m.

"On the one hand I feel natural about it and know it's God's will, and I'm not worried about failure," Vance said.

The Tim Vance family poses for a portrait. From left are Chad, Janet, Bethanie, Tim, Joy and Tim. Tim's returned to his hometown and is

It's time for scout calendar sales

The girls in green and brown will be selling Girl Scout calendars Nov. 5-30.

The price is $1 for pocket or wall-size calendars. Northern Oakland Girl Scouts are represented this year in a photo taken at the Mini-Olympics at Madison Junior High School in the Pontiac school district. It was one of over 300,000 slides sent to Girls Scouts of the USA from Councils around the country.

Troops use profits from calendar sales for field trips, special girl-centered interest programs, camping trips and community service projects.

Many women attend Career Day; learn jobs

In one room women attended the class with the catchy title, Don't Let the Gotcha's Get You, but the serious purpose-how to deal with on-the-job stress.

Meanwhile other women explored job possibilites including stockbroker, financial planner, sales representative, police officer, social worker, hotel and restaurant manager, and attorney; and attended other sessions geared toward self-improvement.

Career Day, on Saturday, was sponsored by the Waterford-Clarkston Business and Professional Women's Association.

"I'm pleased with the enthusiasm shown," said association President Martha Wheeler. "The idea that learning never stops regardless of your own career-you can learn something about your own as well as others and become stronger for it.

mine the colors of makeup and clothing best suited for them.

"There is power with women, but it has to be backed up with knowledge.'

Sixty women signed up for Career Day held at Sashabaw Junior High School.

Next year, Wheeler said, there will be some changes so more women can take advantage of the experience.

Babysitting will be offered and members of the club will invite as guests college or high school students. Contact will be made with Clarkston and Waterford schools and efforts will be coordinated with career counseling services.

Career Day also served to give the business women's association some exposure, Wheeler said, and she's proud membership has jumped from 40 to 63 since last year with a wide range of careers represented.

Wheeler is Clarkston branch manager and vice president of Pontiac State Bank.

Women interested in more information about the association may call her at 625-5041 during business hours.

The "Don't Let the Gotcha's Get You" class begins with instructor Anne Spencer listening to situations that cause on-the-job stress.

'Union' after 42 years

Woman sees brother she never knew existed

-By Dan Vandenhemel

Tears, hugs, singing and lots of relatives accompanied theo"Union" of Frances Rash and her halfbrother, James Dalton.

Rash and her five brothers and sisters had never met their half-brother from Monona, Wisc.

Dalton was one of two sons of from Harry Dalton's first marriage that ended in divorce.

Harry Dalton remarried and had six children.

"Our father died when I was around 5 years old," said Frances, 42. "None of us kids thought he had an earlier family. Back then divorce was a real serious thing-it still is-but people just didn't talk about it too much."

Rash's younger sister, Betty Cockoum, discovered their half-brothers after looking for information on their family tree.

"We really didn't know what to think when we found out," Rash said in the kitchen of her Reese Road, Independence Township, home. "She had called him at Easter this year. Betty said he could hardly talk because he was crying so much."

During the phone call, she learned their other half-brother, Harry, died in 1977.

A family reunion was set for Oct. 8-9 for Dalton and the siblings of Rash.

In all, 39 people from Wisconsin, Arizona, Missouri, Tennessee, Pennsylvania and Michigan gathered for the "Union."

"James called it a union because he had never met any of us before so it couldn't be a reunion," Rash said. "I hadn't seen some of my brothers and sisters for over 12 years, either.

"I didn't know what to expect when James came in," she continued. "But he fit right in with everybody. When he came in, we asked him if he wanted anything to drink and he said, 'I think that Bud has my name on it.' That broke the ice and

Board of Education Clarkston Community Schools 0.

We have examined the combined financial statements of Clarkston Community Schools as of and for the year ended June 30, 1983, as listed in the table of contepts. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and, accordingly, included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances. 1533-14 circumstances.

The financial statements do not include a statement of general fixed assets which, under generally accepted accounting principles for school district accounting, should be presented for a complete presentation of the financial activities of the School District.

In our opinion, except that the omission of the financial statement described in the preceding paragraph results in an incomplete presentation, the combined financial statements referred to above present fairly the financial position of Clarkston Community Schools at June 30, 1983 and the results of its operations for the year then ended, in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

Our examination was made for the purpose of forming an opinion on the combined financial statements taken as a whole. The addi-tional information listed in the table of contents is presented for purposes of additional analysis and is not a required part and for the company of the state

制作自己的复数

NOTE 1 - SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Con't from page 32

The accounting policies of Clarkston Community Schools conform to generally accepted accounting principles as applicable to school districts. The following is a summary of the significant accounting policies:

FUND ACCOUNTING - The accounts of the District are organized on the basis of funds and account groups, each of which is considered a separate accounting entity. The operations of each fund are accounted for with a separate set of self-balancing accounts that comprise its assets, liabilities, fund balance, revenues and expenditures or expenses, as appropriate. Government resources are allo-cated to and accounted for in individual funds based upon the purposes for which they are to be spent and the means by which spending activities are controlled. The various funds are grouped, in the financial statements in this report; into generic fund types in two broad fund categories as follows:

GOVERNMENTAL FUNDS - Governmental funds are those funds through which most school district functions typically are financed. The acquisition, use, and balances of the School District's expendable finan-cial resources and the related current liabilities are accounted for through governmental funds.

General Fund - The General Fund is used to record the general operations of the School District pertaining to education and those operations not provided for in other funds. Included are all transactions related to the approved current operating budget.

Special Revenue Funds - Special Revenue Funds are used to account for the proceeds of specific revenue sources that are restricted to expenditure for specified purposes.

Northwest Oakland County Vocational Center Fund - The Northwest Oakland County Vocational Center Fund is administered by the Clarkston Community Schools under an agreement with the Oakland County Intermediate School District and is used to record all transactions of the Center for vocational education purposes.

School Service Funds - The School Service Funds are used to segregate, for admini-strative purposes, the transactions of a particular activity from regular revenue and expenditure accounts. The School District maintains full control of these Funds. The School Service Funds maintained by the School District are the Food Services and the Athletic Funds.

Debt Retirement Funds - The Debt Retirement Funds are used to record tax and interest revenue and the payment of interest, principal, and other expenses on long-term debt.

Capital Projects Funds - Capital Projects Funds are used to record bond proceeds or other revenue and the disbursement of monies specifically designated for acquiring new school sites, buildings, equipment and for major remodeling and repairs. The Funds are kept open until the purpose for which the Fund was created has been accomplished. The District maintains a Capital Projects Fund to account for amounts set aside from the General Fund to be used for substantial improvements of School District property.

FIDUCIARY FUNDS - Fiduciary funds are used to account for assets held by the School District in a trustee capacity or as an agent. Agency Funds are custodial in nature (assets equal liabilities) and do not involve measurement of results of operations.

Activities (Agency) Fund - The School District presently maintains an Activities Fund to record the transactions of student groups for school and school-related purposes. The funds are segre-gated and held in trust for the students.

The Clarkston (Mich.) News Wed. Nov. 2. 1983 13

are subsequently returned or paid to third parties and, accordingly, are limited to cash transactions.

CASH EQUIVALENT INVESTMENTS - Cash equivalent investments are stated at cost and are comprised of certificates of deposit, commercial paper and savings accounts.

INVENTORIES - Inventory in the General Fund consisting of gasoline is stated at cost. The School Services Fund inventory consists of food and supplies and is stated at cost. Disbursements for other inventory-type items are recorded as expenditures at the time of purchase.

GENERAL FIXED ASSETS - General fixed assets (including busses which costs are partially reimbursed through State aid payments) are recorded as expenditures in the General or Capital Projects Funds in the year payment is made.

LONG-TERM LIABILITIES - Long-term liabilities expected to be financed from governmental funds are accounted for in the General Long-term Debt Account Group, not in the governmental funds.

ELIMINATIONS - The total data presented in the combined financial statements is the aggregate of the data for all the fund types and account group shown on each of the respective statements. There have been no interfund or similar eliminations made in these columns.

Other accounting policies are disclosed on the face of the financial statements or in the other notes to combined financial statements.

NOTE 2 - TAX CLAIM

The State Tax Commission increased the December 31, 1981 assessed values of residential property in Oakland County, as equalized by the County Board of Commissioners. The County appealed the State equalization and the Court of Appeals appealed the state equalization and the court of appeals issued an opinion ordering the State Tax Commission to devise a method that weights sales data closer in time to the tax day and that accounts for creative financing. The ultimate resolution of any retroactive application of the revised method should not have a material effect on the District as a decrease in tax revenue would be offset by an increase in State aid.

NOTE 3 - BUDGETS

The School District formally adopted General, Food Services, Athletic, Debt Retirement, and Northwest Oakland County Vocational Center Funds' budgets by function for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1983. The budget information presented on the combined statement of revenues, expenditures and changes in fund balances - budget and actual is the actual budget adopted. The General Fund budget was amended once during the year resulting in a decrease in budgeted revenues of approximately $415,000 and a decrease in budgeted expen-ditures of approximately $95,000.

The Food Services Fund and the Northwest Oakland County Vocational Center Fund were also amended once during the year. These amendments resulted in an increase in both budgeted revenues and expenditures in the Food Services Fund of approximately $415,000 and a decrease in both budgeted revenues and expenditures in the Northwest Oakland County Vocational Center Fund of approximately $115,000.

NOTE 4 - RETIREMENT PLAN

Substantially all school district employees are covered by the Michigan Public School Employees' Retirement System. The District is required to contribute a fixed percentage, as determined for all districts by the State of Michigan, of gross wages of the participants to the Retirement Fund. The District's contribution to the plan for the year was approxi-mately $520,000. Information as to the actuarially computed value of vested benefits as compared to plan assets is not determined on a district basis by the Retirement System. The State of Michigan is responsible for the adequacy of funded contributions and payment of benefits.

ACCOUNT GROUPS - Account groups are not funds - they do not reflect available financial resources and related liabilities or the measurement of results of operations - but are the District's accounting records of the general long-term debt. The General Long-term Debt Account Group is used to record the School District's outstanding bonded debt and longterm notes payable.

BASIS OF ACCOUNTING - Governmental funds utilize the modified accrual basis of accounting. Property taxes and modified accrual basis of accounting. Property taxes and other revenue that are both measurable and available to finance operations are recorded as revenue when earned. Other revenue is recorded when received. Expenditures are recorded in the accounting period in which the fund liability is incurred, if measurable, except for un-matured principal and/interest on general long-term debt, which is recorded when due. The financial activity of the Agency Fund is limited to collection of amounts which

12.

الم الم من ال

1.1.4

The District has a special sever assessment payable over the next seven years in annual installments of approximately $16,000 including interest at a rate of approximately 6 percent. The assessment is included in General Fund expenditure at the time of payment.

4. 49.2

The School District is partially self-insured for workers' compensation claims. Under the self-insurance plan, the School District's maximum loss is limited to an amount equal to a percentage of the normal workers' compensation premiums. Losses in excess of this limitation are insured up to an aggregate limit of $1,000,000. The maximum liability of the District in any one case is $100,000. The cumulative contingent liability for claims to be filed in the future for injuries incurred prior to June 30, 1983 is approximately $425,000.

NOTE 10 - VACATION AND SICK PAY

Under contracts negotiated with employee groups, certain employees have a vested right to receive payments for unused vacation and sick leave. The terms and conditions of each are specified in the employee contracts. The dollar amount of these vested rights, which are not recorded in the financial statements, amounted to approximately $675,000 at June 30, 1983. The District has designated $660,000 of its fund equity at June 30, 1983 for this liability.

Holloween hayride

Hall Winnerson Links

The best seats are taken early for a Halloween hayride at the Church of God on Clarkston Road. The Oct. 28 party was sponsored by the Sunbeam Elementary School; the PTA and the youth group of the church. Games, costume contests, pumpkin painting and food sales helped raise money for a computer for the kindergarten through second grade school. This year, an addition was built to house the second-grade class. Denise Symons of the PTA said plans are to add one new class each year to the elementary school.
