County eyes Knob purchase

By Marilyn Trumper

Oakland County's Department of Parks and Recreation can be listed among the possible buyers for the financially troubled Pine Knob Investment Co., according to county Executive Daniel Murphy.

Minimum price for the 12-year-old Independence Township landmark is $12 million, enough to cover the listed secured debts in bankruptcy court, Murphy said.

The property includes the golf course, music theater, ski lodge and two restaurants.

The county would not fund the sale with public funds, according to Murphy.

"We wouldn't use tax dollars. We would sell bonds," he said.

"We have looked at it from the standpoint of not letting (Pine Knob) die. We'd like to see Pine Knob kept in the county—but rather than have the county take it over, we'd prefer to see it kept in the private sector," Murphy said.

County officials are "sitting in the wings" closely following proposals from private businessmen interested in buying Pine Knob, he said.

"We're looking and waiting and not making any offers until we see what happens there," Murphy said. "If someone offers enough to take care of what's owed the secured creditors, then that sale will probably be made."

Murphy speculated the county would lease operation of The Hamburger Mansion and La Veranda, as it does at its other county park restaurants.

"We're not a food and beverage distributor," he said. "The liquor licenses at all our other parks are held jointly by the county and the operator. We do that to protect ourselves and keep the the operator from walking away with the license.

"We also like to keep the private sector involved in everything we do," he said.

Murphy laughed when asked if the county would make money with Pine Knob.

"Parking is the one place it can be made. Last year's receipts show a gross of $675,000 in parking," he said. "I don't know if we can make money; we shouldn't lose money."

Twice before Oakland County investigated the feasibility of buying Pine Knob: in 1979 and 1976.

"At that time, the owners were not realistic in what they were asking for," he said.

The court has no deadline for final offers, according to Murphy.

Walk-in clinic makes changes

Paramedics to extend coverage to 24 hours a day

By Marilyn Trumper

When the Clarkston Ambulatory Clinic opens Dec. 1, a physician will be on staff until 11, 11:30 or midnight and, after that, three advanced EMS people will evaluate patients and make contact with the doctor on call.

Physicians can respond to the clinic, located on M-15 south of the village, within three minutes, according to pediatrician James O'Neill, M.D.

O'Neill spearheaded the facility staffed with 22 local osteopaths and medical doctors.

"We have two (advanced EMS paramedics) there now (at the Riverside Ambulance station). They sleep there all night and are available to answer the phone. They'll contact the doctor on call, and we all live within three minutes of there," O'Neill said.

Clinic hours are 6 to midnight Monday through Friday when doctors' offices are traditionally closed.

Saturday hours are 1 to 10 p.m. and Sunday from noon to 8 p.m. Phone 625-CARE. The phone rings at the clinic, in the homes of 12 doctors and in O'Neill's office.

The clinic, housed in the offices of osteopaths Alfred Hamilton, Ronald LePere and Theodore Engelmann, will end the necessity of traveling to Waterford, Drayton Plains or Oxford ambulatory clinics for treatment during local physicians' off hours.

Patients are encouraged to see their family doctors during the day for treatment.

People with life-threatening illnesses should go directly to the hospital, and call the fire department's EMS for emergency first aid at 625-3311.

Kite stays aloft 3 whole days

By Marilyn Trumper

Brian Weil's kite-flying skills need honing.

Sunday afternoon the 5-year-old triplet got overzealous and unwound the fistful of white balled string to the end, releasing sister Jennifer's yellow bat-like plastic kite.

Caught by the wind, it flew high over the Weil home on Walters Road, through the deep back yard and into a thicket of pines at the rear of the property.

Caught in the boughs, the kite flew sentry for three days, a speck in the sky.

The string broke Wednesday afternoon. Mom Kerry tracked it down on the expressway and made a recovery.

It emerged from the adventure unscathed.

Then Brian promptly put a hole in it.

Gifts from their grandmother, Jennifer's kite was yellow, Brian's blue and Daniel, the third triplet's, was red.

Cable TV delayed six weeks

By Marilyn Trumper

It appears there'll be a six-week delay for subscribers to hook-up to the Independence Township $2.5 million cable system as Multi-Cablevision looks at a mid-January date, instead of the planned December.

A high water table discovered at Rademacher Chevy Inc., the headend site, has postponed construction by almost three weeks, which delays laying the rest of they system's cables, according to Manuel Copado, commercial marketing manager of the Tribune/United firm.

"But we do have a franchise commitment to complete construction by mid-April, and I think the first subscribers will be hooking up by mid-January," Copado said.

Water discovered 5 1/2 feet below the ground's surface doesn't present a "major problem," but requires the tower foundations be constructed before the building, according to a letter from the company's vice-president and general manager, Jim Anderson.

Construction of the headend site building is to begin Dec. 15.

Road woes: Thendara residents work on problem

By Marilyn Trumper

After 10 years struggling with washouts, rut-riddled private roads and dust, 100 property owners in 3.8 mile Thendara Park subdivision are petitioning the Independence Township Board for a special assessment to finance paving.

The tax is estimated at $300 to $400 a year for each parcel, for a total of approximately $750,000 for eight to 10 years, according to Tim Peterson, chairman of the road committee.

According to Peterson, 72 percent of the subdivision's landowners now pay $135 a year, in three $45 payments, for snow removal and road grading.

"And that doesn't include any permanent solutions. We spend an extra $3,000 to $4,000 a year on those," he said.

"We're going for a special assessment district and should have everything ready by December. The other option is to petition the county to take us over. But to do that we have to get these roads up to county standards," Peterson said.

"The problem is this area has become so dense with population it's tearing up the roads, and we can't keep up with it. It would need grading once a week.

"Traffic on Algonquin Drive has increased tremendously. The mail trucks come back in now and they never did before. There's too much erosion, the subdivision's grown. That's hard, even on a good gravel road."

The subdivision has an "active road committee" of 35 residents, he added.

Help for teens phone call away

Teen Help Cards are now available for Clarkston school district junior and senior high school students.

"Every student should have one. They're provided free," said Assistant Superintendent Mel Vaara who ordered them through Oakland Schools. "It looks like a card that might be helpful to each student some time down the road."

Each school will determine its own method of distribution, he said.

The wallet-size cards include telephone numbers in Oakland County for help with a variety of problems—alcohol and drug abuse; birth control, pregnancy and venereal disease information; child abuse and neglect counseling; legal help; poison control; runaway services; sexual assault, rape and family violence; suicide prevention; and crisis assistance.

Adults who would like a card may call the office at Clarkston High School, Clarkston Junior High School or Sashabaw Junior High School, Vaara said.

The cards were provided through the efforts of the Adolescent Health Project of United Community Services of Metropolitan Detroit.

Over one-quarter million Teen Help Cards are being distributed throughout the tri-county area, with different cards for each county.

County cracks down on drunks

Asks the sober to phone police when they see violators

By Marilyn Trumper

If you spot what looks like a drunk driver weaving down the road, the Oakland County Sheriff's Department wants a call.

As part of the new REDDI program sponsored by the Traffic Improvement Association (TIA) of Oakland County, deputies are dispatched to investigate the reports.

Should the deputy locate the car and see erratic behavior, the driver will be stopped, observed, tested and arrested if warranted.

To make a REDDI report, phone 1-800-MI-REDDI.

Snow mishaps mar Friday

By Marilyn Trumper

Friday's first snowfall of the year sent cars sliding off the road and into other cars and kept Independence and Springfield township Emergency Medical Service (EMS) squads busy the better part of the day.

Springfield's EMS responded to a head-on collision at Holly Road and Dixie Highway in the north end of the township Friday afternoon.

"It was icy, the wind was blowing and it was snowing. The driver of one car crossed the center line and hit another," said Springfield Fire Chief Marlan Hillman.

Independence Township's EMS crew was asked to assist when a second accident occurred at Farley and Andersonville roads in the south end of Springfield Township.

"There was a pretty bad head-on there at the curve, and a 6-year-old girl was injured," said Gar Wilson, Independence firefighter.

Other accidents were not as serious.

When southbound I-75 filled with traffic shortly after 5 p.m., a three-car pile-up near Clintonville Road held the attention of gawkers.

An hour earlier, a lone driver failed to negotiate the slick curve at Clarkston Road, near the senior citizen center, and ran off the road, injuring the driver, according to Wilson.

At half-past noon, a car rolled over on Sashabaw Road, he said.

There were no deaths in either township.

Police want to know the location and direction the car was traveling; the time; the type of car, its color and license plate number.

Callers remain anonymous.

Drunk drivers often fail to turn on or dim headlights for oncoming traffic, drive slowly and stare straight-ahead to overcome alcohol impairment.

They tend to stop short of an intersection or in the middle of it, have frequent or erratic braking action, weave from lane to lane or straddle the centerline, or drive with open windows in cold or wet weather.

Officials warn against attempting to stop the driver, exceeding the speed limit or disregarding traffic signals to follow the car, or assisting law enforcement officers who may stop the car.

The federally funded TIA program began in 1980. Since then, alcohol-related accidents in Oakland County are down 20 percent; which means 3,650 fewer drinking/driving accidents occurred than in similar periods in 1978 and 1979.

Deputy Robert Wark of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department likes TIA's proposal.

"I think it's a good idea. I think people probably figure, 'Why should I call. By the time I do the car will be long gone.'

"But this way," he said, "if they get a license plate and color, we can run a check, find out where they live and in what direction they're most likely headed.

"If they call and say, 'It's a blue car headed north on Dixie,' it's probably not going to help us much."

In Independence Township in 1981, there were 119 alcohol-related accidents. Of those, six deaths and 53 injuries were reported.

In 1982, Independence Township reported 116 alcohol-related accidents. Sixty-one injuries and three deaths were reported.

In Springfield Township in 1981, 37 alcohol-related accidents were reported involving 20 injuries and one death.

In 1982 there were 35 alcohol-related accidents involving 19 injuries and one death.

The top five accident intersections in Independence Township for 1981 were: Sashabaw at Maybee, 18; Dixie Highway at M-15, 14; Sashabaw at Waldon, 12; Dixie Highway at White Lake, 11; and Sashabaw at Clarkston and Dixie Highway at Mabyee Road, tied with 9.

In 1982 it was Sashabaw at Maybee and Sashabaw at Waldon, tied with 19; Dixie Highway at Maybee, 13; Dixie Highway at M-15, 13; Dixie Highway at White Lake, 12; Dixie Highway at Waterford, 10; and Clarkston at Clintonville and Sashabaw at Clarkston, tied with 9.

In Springfield for 1981, the top five accident intersections were: Dixie Highway at Davisburg, 5; Dixie Highway at Rattalee Lake, 1; Dixie Highway at Bridge Lake, 1; and Dixie Highway at Holly, 1.

For 1982 it was Dixie Highway at Davisburg, 5; Dixie Highway at Rattalee Lake, 3; Dixie Highway at Bridge Lake, 3; and Dixie Highway at Holly, 1.

Odd fire burns Chief's gear

Nobody's really sure what happened

The Clarkston Chiefs ended their football season with a blaze of glory.

Four boxes of equipment enroute to Colombiere Center for winter storage burst into flames on the back of a flatbed truck Saturday afternoon, according to Margaret Davis, whose husband Jeffrey is vice president of the organized midget football team.

"We're still taking inventory and we're not sure how much and all of what was damaged," Margaret said. "There were shoulder pads inside, 17 helmets, cheerleader skirts and some other things.

"We don't know how the fire started—or what happened. Nobody's really sure."

According to Margaret, the fire was discovered when the drivers pulled into the Jesuit retreat center, 9075 Big Lake, Springfield Township.

"Some of the other members were following behind the truck, and when they backed into the garage and got out someone yelled, 'Fire!' They pulled the boxes out and threw them in the snow. Some of the men suffered superficial burns on the hands," she said.

Other boxes of equipment were saved.

The Clarkston Chiefs is comprised of 200 Clarkston-area youths between the ages of 8 and 13.

It's not known if insurance will cover the loss, according to Margaret.

New drug clinic

Holly location

Highland Waterford Center's transformed the old Holly Township Hawaiian Gardens into an addiction clinic servicing 500 people, according to Agnes E. Bangert, master social worker.

"There's been so much interest locally in the 'The Chemical People.' I thought people would like to know we're here," Bangert said. "We have 75 young people now for alcohol and drug addiction problems. They come from all over Oakland County. We have some from Independence Township and the Clarkston area."

Fees for the inpatient/outpatient clinic are based on ability to pay. It opened in June, and accomodates up to 50 adult residents at one time, she said, adding they've applied to the state to keep young people as residents but the application has not yet been processed.

"Now they're all treated on an outpatient basis," she said.

Holly Gardens offers detoxification for adults, and currently services 25 people in its residential program and 25 in the extended care facility, a home for people without a home.

"When we opened our doors in June they were waiting outside to get in," Bangert said. "There were a large number of people waiting to be admitted. We don't turn anyone away."

Bangert, herself a recovered alcoholic, says the key to a cure includes the family.

"People need to know they can't hide or cover up a family member's problems. They have to stop making excuses. When they do that, they make it easier to control their addiction," she said.

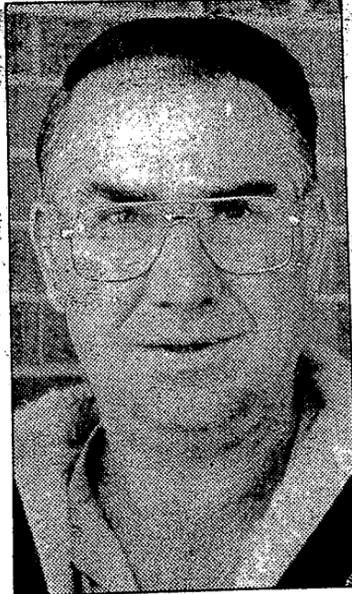

Holly Gardens is licensed by the Michigan Department of Public Health, and recognized by Blue Cross/Blue Shield of Michigan. It's accredited by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals.

Chiropractic Clinics

Did you know that many of our Olympic athletes are able to stay in competition because they use chiropractic care? In fact, quite a few insist on having their chiropractor on the field during the competitive event just in case injury should occur.

The name of the game

Picture yourself for a moment in the athlete's place. You have dedicated your whole life for the opportunity to perform. You are in an environment where performance is the name of the game. It is strictly measured by the thousandths of a second or the fraction of an inch. After all the time and effort, you have confidence in yourself that you can win. You do have one fear. The ever-present fear of injury.

It can be the difference between winning or losing, or having to sit on the sidelines. What you want and need is assurance that should you become injured there is someone or something to again enable you to perform to the maximum.

This is why many Olympic athletes turn to chiropractic care. It helps to keep them fit and to maximize their performance.

What Do You and Many Olympic Athletes Have in Common?

Much the same as an Olympic athlete, you too can benefit from chiropractic care. Even though your efforts are probably not measured by the thousandths of an inch, your performance, in the competitive world of today, has to be at its maximum.

Why not schedule a visit with us and put chiropractic on your team today?

Thoughts over Monday morning coffee and doughnuts...

I'm already looking forward to next January's varsity basketball game between Lake Orion and Clarkston. It's going to be another classic.

Rather ironic that after missing out on a white Christmas last year, we seem to have a shot at a white Thanksgiving in 1983.

I've got to start eating healthier breakfasts than a bunch of these stupid doughnuts. And I will. Starting tomorrow.

Or maybe the day after.

Some political commentators are timidly wondering whether the U.S. is "ready" for a female vice president. Let's see—two of England's greatest monarchs were women—Elizabeth I and Victoria; plus, we have such notable modern-day examples of female heads of state as Margaret Thatcher, Golda Meier and Indira Gandhi. Vice President? It's time voters woke up to the fact that women are, and always have been, ready for the White House.

The Lions make me sick.

Can you honestly believe that the Winter Olympics are only a few months away? Wasn't it just a few months ago that the U.S. hockey team lifted everybody's spirits during the drawn-out hostage crisis? Where did those four years go?

Why all the fuss on the political right about next Sunday's ABC movie, "The Day After"? The basic message of the film seems to be that nuclear war is awful, and that's something we can all agree on. It's on how best to prevent it that I part ways with the freeze advocates.

My latest whimsical decision to grow a beard lasted exactly two days, following some very unflattering comments. It's been my perception that beards seem to have only two possible effects: They either make you look intellectual, or they make you look like a bum. I did not look intellectual.

Remember the dire predictions about $2 a gallon gasoline heard when President Reagan lifted price controls in January 1981? You don't hear much about that nowadays, although I will be glad to donate my old 10th grade economics book to Tip O'Neill so that he can learn all about the relation of price to supply. He might be learning it 50 years after most high school sophomores do, but hey, better late than never.

J.F.K.: 20 years later; he's worth remembering

By Pat Pitcher

Our generation of Americans will not soon forget where they were Nov. 22, 1963 and how they first heard the news.

"In streets and offices and homes and stores, in lunch rooms, show rooms and school rooms and board rooms, on highways and prairies and beaches and mountain tops, in endless spaces crowded and sparse, near and far, white and black, Republican and Democrat, management and labor, the word went out and cut the heart of a nation," the Associated Press reported.

John Fitzgerald Kennedy was dead.

We remember his youth—for it made the death hardest of all.

While he was president, a young first lady set fashion trends and gave the White House the warmth of a true American home. Children romped in that house and a stalwart, hatless young man played touch football on the lawn.

With his youth and insatiable zest for life, Kennedy seemed to vivify America itself. It, too, became young, aggressive, determined, disciplined, wholly committed and very much alive.

We remember Kennedy's great moments: The bright snowy day in January that marked his inauguration and the ring of his "Ask not what your country can do for you; ask what you can do for your country."

We remember the European trip in the summer of '63, the impassioned "Ich bin ein Berliner," the spontaneous and overwhelming demonstration it prompted on the part of West Berliners.

We remember Kennedy in crisis: How he confronted the president of United States Steel in the price war controversy, how he assured the entrance of James Meredith into Ole Miss, how he met the rising of the wall in Berlin, how he challenged Nikita Krushchev to withdraw his missiles from Cuba.

We remember—and still benefit—from his contributions.

In the Peace Corps he left the world a lasting legacy. Thousands of young Americans, in countries scattered all over the globe, are imitators of his dedicated patriotism and living testimony to his foresight.

It was Kennedy who initiated and formulated the civil rights bill that Lyndon Johnson successfully steered through Congress after Kennedy's death.

As experts fear a mounting national numbness to the prick of human tragedy, incredibly the poignant memory of one man's death still crowds into hearts.

And the influence of John Fitzgerald Kennedy—somewhat Lincoln-like—lives on.

Jim's Jottings

Hold it!

Jim Sherman

Bob Parenti 'retired' much too early in life (under 58) to Stuart, Florida from Oxford, MI. I put retired in quotes because Bob had already opened a law office there before moving.

Recently he sent the front page of October 6 Stuart News and a note, which read: "Just thought you would be interested as to what happens during a typical day in 'retirement' village."

The daily paper had three front page stories. Two thirds of the page was devoted to "Lawmen seize record marijuana crop at elegant, isolated house" and a small story on a jury not agreeing in a drug case.

The other third of the page headlined: "Beach killing leads law to four suspects"

And, Bob is trying to talk his friends into coming down.

What happens when a caller is placed on hold?

•Most hang up after about 40 seconds if they paid for the call.

•Most will hold for three minutes if using an 800 number; some will hold for five minutes if someone checks with them occasionally.

•Most will hold longer if they know the name of the person they are waiting for.

•Irate callers will hold for exceptionally long times, getting angrier every minute.

After the United States invaded Grenada, men of military age were heard to remark, "If I got to go to war I'd rather go to the Caribbean."

Hope Brown must have had thoughts of her days on the Oxford School Board when she included "Be Direct" in her book of poems 'Reflections on Life, Faith, Love'. Here's how she put it

Have you ever heard some say

"Gee, I wonder what he meant?"

Then when things are all mixed up
The situation they resent.

Why don't people have the courage
When they don't understand to ask?

Clarifying what someone means,
Does not seem too great a task.

Why labor with false impressions.

Or ASSUME what someone else said?
Simply ask what they meant—point blank!

And clear the air instead.

It's hard to understand people,

They should ask or state what they mean,

Certainly it is much simpler

Than reading the lines inbetween.

To stop misinterpretation

They should learn to DIRECTLY state.

Clearly what they think or feel.

Then there'd be NO DEBATE.

Letter to editor

News is bad for blood pressure

After a hard day at work I was still in a good mood, even after fighting an hour of traffic full of drivers who forget everything they ever knew about driving when there is a slight drizzle.

All was going well until I picked up The Clarkston News. Ten minutes of reading and my blood pressure was up and my pulse was racing.

In a year when my property assessment was raised 23 percent and my state taxes increased 38 percent I was looking for reasons.

A quick scanning of your paper provided many. Something called "Tri-Party Road Projects" is going to spend $14,000 to clear obstructions from a corner I have traveled past for 37 years without ever seeing an accident.

The same group is going to spend $12,000 to gravel the corner of Rattalee Lake Road and Allen Road. Now, I travel that intersection twice a day and I wonder how I am going to get past all that gravel.

They should be able to bury that corner to a depth of about 100 feet with $12,000 worth of gravel. Unless it is priced at $2 a stone.

On another page, I find that our Oakland County Parks Empire is going to spend $400,000 to bring nature inside a building so all the Wayne and Macomb county residents, that use the park, don't have to get their shoes wet to see a frog. (There will be slides of them in the audio-visual room.)

May I suggest that your Christmas giving (see Shopping Mania, Page 7) include the tree ornaments the Parent Teacher Organization is coercing my daughter to sell to unsuspecting family, friends and neighbors?

They say the profits, no matter how minimal, will go to buy playground equipment. Amazingly, all these years I thought school districts outfitted playgrounds.

In the future, my reading will be confined to Jim Fitzgerald. He speaks my language.

And perhaps, occasionally, I will read Al Zawacky. He frequently shows a clearness of thought uncommon in this community.

I would go up North to calm down, but driving by the new Zilwaukee Bridge is more than I can stand.

Last chance

Kathy Greenfield

November thoughts:
The first marking period is over at Clarkston schools, with last Friday the final day.

The students over at Sashabaw Junior High School used humor to handle the ever-present worries.

They called their dance Friday night the "Last Chance Dance."

For some of them it may be their last chance to go to a dance for a while—the next one will be after report cards are home.

For the first time in a couple of years I put on the brakes in my car Friday and kept going. It had everything to do with the long patch of ice over the road.

Luckily my slide was straight and I headed for another turning point where the road wasn't so bad.

While all of us Michiganders have had lots of experience dealing with slippery pavement, for most of us it's not a good feeling.

But there are always exceptions. While waiting to turn out of another road I saw a car under full acceleration fishtail wildly up a slight hill.

Inside was a bunch of smiling idiots.

On Saturday everywhere was busy. All the Friday night shoppers had postponed trips until Saturday when the roads cleared.

The village sidewalks were a solid slick of ice wherever there weren't storefronts.

As I performed my own personal version of babysteps a la "Mother My I," I hoped the town would get it together with a plan for dropping salt or whatever where needed.

To top it all off, our first-year driver wanted the car.

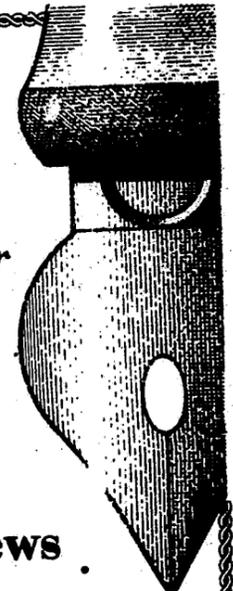

After checking with a person she was picking up, she assured us the back roads were clear, too.

I have a question: Do parents ever stop breathing a sigh of relief when their children pull into the driveway after an evening out?

'If it Fitz...'

Weird juxtaposition

Jim Fitzgerald

Recently I've been thinking about the innocence of little children and the office of the head of the Detroit water and sewerage system.

Sure, that's an unlikely juxtaposition, but don't look at me funny. I'm often not responsible for ideas that pair up inside my mind. Sometimes my wife is responsible.

She subscribed to Sesame Street magazine so our grandchildren will have something to read when they visit. It arrives monthly, addressed to Jim Fitzgerald, and I wonder what our mailman thinks. He knows I'm Jim Fitzgerald, and no one except my wife lives with me, and we're both a trifle old to be Sesame Street fans.

I especially wonder what the mailman thinks when the Sesame Street people use their mailing list to advertise merchandise that might appeal to the little kids who read the magazine. In these cases, the mail is addressed to "The Parents of Jim Fitzgerald."

I laugh out loud whenever I see that unlikely designation on a Sesame Street envelope. It's been quite a while since my parents died, and much longer since they were hustled to buy something for their little boy. The idea of anyone addressing mail to the mummy and daddy of an old poop like me is obviously laughable.

BUT THAT'S NOT the only reason I laugh.

Another reason is that it feels good to be reminded that once I was an innocent child who confidently depended upon his parents for everything, including mail. The only off-key note is that the Sesame Street people don't use the diminutive form. I'm seriously thinking of telling them to call me Jimmy, like my parents did, or I'll quit taking their magazine.

For the purposes of today's weird juxtaposition, the operative word in the previous paragraph is "innocent." When I was little Jimmy, I was the typical innocent child, and thought everybody else was equally innocent, even if they were old enough to be parents. It never occurred to me to distrust anyone. I might bawl otherwise, but in my innocent mind I knew the only reason I couldn't have something I wanted was because it wouldn't be good for me, and everybody in my world wanted me to have only what was good for me, because they loved and trusted me.

And then I grew up and moved into the real world, part of which is called Detroit. Charles Beckham used to be head of Detroit's Water and Sewerage Department. Perhaps he was called Chucky when he was diminutive. But today he is Charles in the local newspapers and on radio and TV, day after day.

Beckham is currently on trial for allegedly accepting a bribe for swinging a city contract in the right direction. The FBI electronically eavesdropped on many of Beckham's conversations, and the tapes are being played in court. Ironically, in one phone conversation bugged on the other end, Beckham insisted there was no bug in his office.

"I run a sweep here every two weeks . . . a full sweep . . . so it ain't here," he said to a friend.

WHY WOULD the head of the city Water and Sewerage Department have his office swept for electronic bugs every two weeks? Did he expect to be bugged? Or are such sweeps standard procedure for all department heads. Beckham is now an aid to Mayor Coleman Young. Is his new office swept regularly?

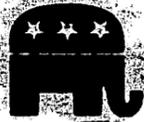

In my mind I have a picture of a sweeping lady visiting executive suites every few days to search for bugs that aren't insects. In my pocket I have a pain that suggests the sweeping lady is paid by taxpayers.

Has it come to that? Is no city official presumed innocent until after the FBI tapes are played? Does every city official presume he or she might well be bugged, so which day does the sweeping lady come?

Everyone must outgrow the age of innocence, of course. But must they grow into an age where it is smart to trust no one, and to expect no one to trust you? I guess so.

It's enough to make a man yearn to live on Sesame Street where it's safe to talk on the sweeping lady's day off. Call her Jimmy.

She attended Michigan State University, Oakland County Community College's Highland Campus and is a graduate of Mercy School of Nursing, Detroit. She currently attends the University of Michigan, Flint. Susan is a 1978 graduate of Clarkston High School. She is the daughter of Pete and Pat Novosel of Simler Drive, Independence Township.

Edward Kitchen has been accepted as a designate member of the American Association of Certified Appraisers Inc.

A residential specialist/appraiser for Kitchen & Kitchen Real Estate, he first entered the real estate business in 1969 and has been a member of the Million Dollar Club nearly every year.

He opened Kitchen & Kitchen Real Estate in 1980. His office is located on West Walton Boulevard, Pontiac.

The Republican Party in Independence Township boasts an active following.

Ask Jon Gaskell, president of the Independence Township Republican Club with paid membership numbering several dozen.

"Our first function is organizational. We get the precinct delegates elected for the state and county convention to get out the Republican vote. We're the level closest to the voters.

"We're also supposed to interface with the county organizations—and we raise money."

The club recently hosted a roast that cleared approximately $1,000.

"We'll use that to finance campaigns at the local level, the township board and county commissioners," Gaskell said. "We recognize that in election years when people like congressmen are running volunteers gravitate toward the bigger campaigns. It's proper at that time for us to focus on the races and help the local candidates."

County Republicans

Independence Township resident Robert Anderson is executive director of the Republican Committee of Oakland County with membership over 500.

"We're the official Republican organization for the county that takes care of party matters and organizes precinct delegates. We're the eyes and ears of the county. We organize conventions, line up speakers, and go further than that trying to aid and help new clubs throughout the county," Anderson said.

Oakland County is one of the top 10 Republican strongholds across America, according to Anderson.

"It's regarded as one of the most influential because of its swing vote," he said. "More Republicans cast votes in Wayne County, but percentage-wise, Oakland is a very good Republican county."

For information phone 646-8414.

The local organized Democratic club's fizzled, according to Kay Penner, executive director of the Oakland County Democratic Party.

"There's a northwest Oakland County club that some Independence people belong to, and one in Orion, but that's it. Usually what happens is a club is active for a couple of years and the organizers go on to do something else," she said.

"The club disappears until someone new comes along and starts it up again."

The county club remains active, and must by law, she said.

"We are charged with all Democratic policy functions in Oakland County. Among other things, the reapportionment of the county commissioners following the census," Penner said.

"We have a quarterly newsletter, monthly meeting, and act as consulting service to Democratic candidates. We offer workshops and seminars in fund raising."

State to open women's prison

A second state prison camp will begin housing women felons early next year as part of an effort by the State Department of Corrections to eliminate the use of temporary housing at the Huron Valley Women's Facility near Ypsilanti.

Six miles east of Clarkston on White Lake Road in White Lake Township, Camp Pontiac will house 71 women prisoners needing minimum-security supervision, according to Corrections Director Perry Johnson.

Currently the camp, built in 1949 for men, houses about 80 minimum-security males waiting for parole or transfer to community residential programs, he said.

Another camp, across the road, houses minimum-security women. Called Camp Gilman, it was constructed in 1981 for 80 women. It is currently at capacity.

About 130 women are housed in minimum-security units inside the fence at the women's prison near Ypsilanti.

These units, added to the main prison to increase capacity when it was constructed in 1977, are to be phased out as soon as possible, Johnson said.

State law prohibits the state from counting these beds as part of its capacity beginning Jan. 1, 1984.

Transfer of male prisoners to Camp Pontiac has already been stopped. It is expected that the population currently housed there can be absorbed in 10 other camps for men located throughout the state.

Camp Pontiac employs 15 persons; the supervisor is Gerald Brown of White Lake.

Blues bilker found guilty, gets 3 years

A 51-year-old Clarkston woman was sentenced to three years in prison for attempting to bilk Blue Cross/Blue Shield of almost $600,000.

Grace Vaughan of 79 N. Holcomb was sentenced Nov. 10 by U.S. District Court Judge James Churchill on charges of mail fraud, according to Ross Parker, chief of the court's Criminal Division.

Vaughn was found guilty of billing Blue Cross/Blue Shield for three years worth of 24-hour nursing care for herself and her mother, totaling almost $600,000.

The service was never provided, Parker said, although Blue Cross paid her $327,000.

-Sheriff's log-

Saturday, thieves stole a $50 mailbox from Northbay Drive, Springfield Township.

Saturday, thieves broke into a garage on Chanto Road, Independence Township, and stole $100 worth of snow tires and a $300 snowblower.

Task force meeting Dec. 1

Community turns out to tackle drug abuse

By Kathy Greenfield

Educators, doctors, students and parents—137 people in all—attended the first town meeting Nov. 9 to view "The Chemical People."

The second meeting with an identical format is planned Wednesday, Nov. 16, at 7:30 p.m. at St. Daniel's Church, 7071 Valley Park at Holcomb Road, Independence Township.

"I was very pleased with the turnout, especially in light of other community events," said Cecelia Wiar, one of three community coordinators.

Judging from conversations, she said indications are there will be at least as many people for the second town meeting.

"The Chemical People' program has impacted on a lot of people," she said. "Many of them felt the task force was needed and many of them volunteered to be on the task force."

Community coordinator Fred Baumann made introductory remarks as the crowd settled in to watch the TV program on the PBS station, Channel 56.

"The Chemical People" began in 1982 in Pittsburgh, Pa., through the efforts of people frustrated about drug and alcohol abuse by the youth in their community.

They contacted the local public broadcasting TV station and a program was developed. From there 120 task forces were formed in and around Pittsburgh and they are all still working on prevention.

Because the effort had some influence in reducing chemical abuse, it became a national project headed by First Lady Nancy Reagan.

Baumann cited some national statistics: 50 percent of high school seniors said they were drunk the previous week, 50 percent had used marijuana, 20 percent had used cocaine.

"That doesn't imply that all young people use drugs," he said. "It does imply there is drug abuse in our community."

Half of all traffic accidents involve drivers under the influence of alcohol; 19 percent involve marijuana or other drugs, he said.

Crime and juvenile delinquency involve a high degree of drug involvement; and the cost of alcoholism in industry was estimated at $50 billion last year, Baumann said.

"We as a society are tending to turn to a quick fix, a relief, an escape from pain by the use of drugs," he said.

Wiar summarized the purpose of the town meeting: "For all of us to get together and say, 'What is our situation in Clarkston? What is our problem? What can we do to take care of the students we care about so much?'"

Following the hour-long TV program that discussed reasons for community involvement and outlined how a task force could work, a panel discussed the Clarkston situation.

"I don't think we should just look at the children as chemical people. We should also look at the parents."

—Dr. James O'Neill

THE CHEMICAL PEOPLE

Garry Pullins, the third community coordinator, is a social worker for the Clarkston Area Youth Assistance Committee. He's worked with 13- to 17-year-olds in Clarkston for eight years.

"In many instances I see that the substance abuse is a symptom of a deeper problem—usually a family related problem," Pullins said. "I see it as a very significant problem here...it is much more prevalent that people want to admit."

Two weeks ago it was discovered two siblings were manufacturing pills in their basement, he said, and selling them. The junior high school student and high school student are now in treatment.

The problem of what to look for and where to go for help was cited by Jessie Hirr, volunteer coordinator for Clarkston Junior High School.

Hirr also said she's sure of one thing: the drug problem, but she's sure of one thing:

"I know that if a child wants it they don't have to look far...just a couple of questions can get them what they want," she said. "That's very frightening to me."

Dr. James O'Neill, a pediatrician, expanded the problem.

"I don't think we should just look at the children as chemical people," he said. "We should also look at the parents."

Students who don't rely on drugs or alcohol should be told they don't have to defend their position, O'Neill said, and while they may be chided for their stand "they also get respect; they get admired."

Oakland County Sheriff's Department Deputy James Snover has worked in Independence Township eight years.

"Our involvement with drugs is usually too late,"

he said. "And treatment is really needed."

The chemical problem surfaces with increased break-ins, deviant behavior and violence, he said.

Snover's biggest worry is people driving under the influence of alcohol and drugs.

"Alcohol is the major problem, as far as I'm concerned, from age 12 on up," he said.

Clarkston High School teacher Gordy Richardson teaches health education, a class that includes discussions on drug and alcohol abuse.

But by the time he sees them, the students are 15 or 16 and they may already be involved with chemical abuse, he said.

Peer pressure is a reality the students face and earlier education is needed to help them deal with it, according to Richardson.

"It's up to them to say, 'I don't like this and I don't want to be a part of it and I would prefer you not be a part of it,'" he said.

As far as the problem itself, Richardson said it's there.

"You name the drug and our children use it," he said. "Athletic events, proms, parties, dances, in the parking lot at lunch, behind the building before and after school. It's there. It's real."

The Rev. Charles Cushing of St. Daniel's Catholic Church talked about self-confidence and the need for spiritual growth.

"The most important element is the ability to make yourself happy," he said. "There is a quiet sense of peace that comes in recognizing one's own worth."

Members of the audience were asked to sign up for a community task force if they felt community involvement could make a difference.

All interested residents may attend the task force meeting planned Thursday, Dec. 1, at 7:30 p.m. in the Independence Township Hall, 90 N. Main, Clarkston.

Persons with questions can call Fred Baumann at 625-9600, Garry Pullins at 625-9007 or Cecelia Wiar at 625-5361.

Springfield to look at police coverage for '84

By Dan Vandenhemel

Police service in Springfield Township will be the topic of a special public meeting by the Springfield Township Board on Wednesday, Nov. 30, at 8 p.m.

Supervisor Collin Walls said the meeting was prompted by the April 1, 1984 expiration of the contract with the Oakland County Sheriff's Department (OCSD).

"We'd like to see what the township wants in terms of the police protection," Walls said.

"There are about four options. Either we could continue the same as in the past, hire one or two more deputies, drop the sheriff's contract and just go with the state police or start some citizen watch groups," he said.

The current contract calls for two full-time deputies to patrol the township at a cost of $96,000. The price includes salaries, cars and equipment, and supervision expenses.

During the summer, a problem came up between township residents and the sheriff's department.

Residents had called the OCSD and were told to call the state police instead of having a sheriff's patrol car come to the incident. Walls said it was a communication problem that was quickly cleared up.

"The meeting wasn't prompted by the problem," Walls said. "The contract is up in April. That's not really that far away."

"The sheriff's department requested that we look into a citizen group of neighborhood watch program," he said. "It would increase the prevention aspect of the area. I think we should seriously consider that."

The adjacent townships of Holly, Rose and Groveland only have state police protection.

"It seems to work for those townships," Walls said. "But I don't feel that meets with what most of the people here want."

Road fund boost

The Village of Clarkston is scheduled to receive $1,046 more in gas and weight tax this year than it did last year. And for DPW Director Gar Wilson that's good news.

Last year's figure: $18,421.

This year's figure: $19,467.

"It's going to make things a little bit easier," Wilson said. "It brings us up from the money we've lost through the past few years."

James P. Pitz, state transportation director, explains the increase.

"Revenue from higher state and federal fuel taxes, coupled with Gov. Blanchard's $135 million transportation bond program is helping the state, the counties and the cities to make some long-needed improvements," said Pitz. "Without the new income, the condition of our highways, roads and streets would have continued to get worse every year."

McCormick comes home

By Dan Vandenhemel

A crowd of over 1,500 came to the Clarkston High School gym to see Tim McCormick and his University of Michigan basketball teammates put on a show Nov. 9.

They weren't disappointed.

McCormick, a 1980 CHS graduate, returned to thunderous cheers as he was introduced to the crowd at the start of the game.

Since leading the Clarkston Wolves to the state semifinals in 1980, this was McCormick's first trip back to Clarkston to play on his hometown court.

The game did more than ready Michigan for its season, it brought the memories flooding back for McCormick.

"While standing in the tunnel just before the game, I thought my teammates from my senior year were with me," the 6-11 center said after the game. "It was a great thrill.

"A lot of the big games were coming back to me. Plus I wanted to see a lot of my friends," he said.

Playing before his hometown crowd may have distracted McCormick during the intersquad game, but it didn't show. He scored 20 points while playing most of the game.

He is in his senior year at Michigan, but he has two years left of athletic eligibility. Knee surgery two years ago forced him to sit out an entire season.

Michigan coach Bill Frieder said McCormick was healthy and that he expected him to bounce back and have a great year.

"He and Eric (Turner) are the only two starters for sure right now," he said. "Tim has come around a lot and we should have a great season. I'll be disappointed if we don't make the NCAA tournament."

If the game was any indication, the Wolverines should be better than their 15-13 record last year.

Michigan displayed what Big Ten basketball is all about—fast paced action.

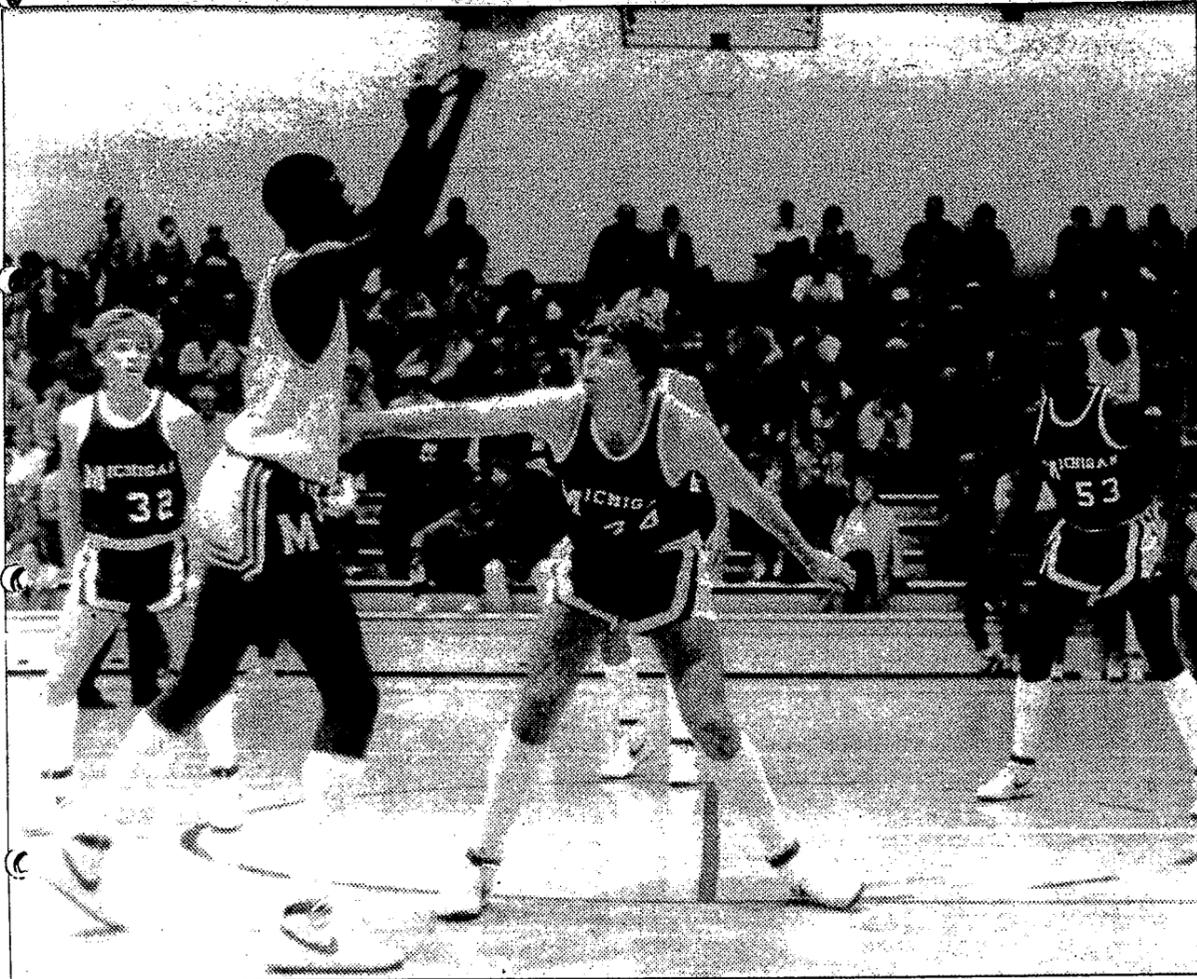

Between alley-oop dunk shots, lightning quick steals and blind passes to open teammates, the crowd did its share of cheering.

Another hometown U-M player, Paul Jokisch, was unable to play because of an injured finger.

Jokisch graduated from Brother Rice shortly before his family moved to Clarkston in 1982. He was looking forward to playing in Clarkston.

"It was tough sitting on the bench during the game," he said. "A lot of people know my family and it would have been nice to play."

But the people came to see McCormick play basketball like he did in 1980. He came through.

Tim McCormick tries to stop a teammate from scoring in the U-M basketball game at Clarkston High School. The Wolverine team split in two and played each other in the game.

Wolves hold on for victory

By Dan Vandenhemel

The season ended on the upswing for the Clarkston High School junior varsity basketball team.

The Wolves held on to beat Pontiac Northern, 30-26, Nov. 10. They finished the year with three straight wins.

It was the longest winning streak of the season for Coach Larry Sherrill's team. Earlier in the year they had lost six in a row.

"These girls could have quit after the six in a row," Sherrill said. "A lot of other teams might have, but they kept working."

Against Northern, the Wolves held off a late charge by Pontiac to raise their record to 8-12.

The game started very slowly with both teams managing only four points in the opening quarter.

Clarkston grabbed control of the game in the second quarter with a 14-7 scoring advantage and led, 3-11, at halftime.

The two teams traded baskets throughout the third quarter and most of the final quarter. But in the last two minutes, Northern was able to cut the lead from nine to four points by taking advantage of the Wolves' turnovers.

Sue Lovelady led the Wolves with 11 points and six steals. Terry Sherman was next with six points.

Earlier that week against Waterford Mott, Trisha Butler sank a easy layup with 30 seconds left in the game to give the Wolves a 41-40 win.

She had 16 points and six steals to lead Clarkston. Lovelady added 10 and Shivonne DeBoer had seven to help in the victory.

"I'm really pleased in the way the season ended for us," Sherrill said. "We brought Trisha down from varsity about five games ago. She had a lot to do with the way we ended."

Sherrill said Butler's presence had a calming effect on the other players and her experience helped stabilize their game.

"We counted on Michelle Taulbee a lot for her scoring and rebounding," Sherrill said.

"Lovelady did most of the ball handling for us and did a good job," the coach said. "Shivonne was our most consistent rebounder and Kecia Powell was good with the rebounds also."

All eyes point skyward as (from left) Kecia Powell, Michelle Taulbee and Trisha Butler wait for a rebound during the Clarkston-Pontiac Northern junior varsity game.

Wolves win in closing seconds

By Dan Vandenhemel

Exciting, thrilling, breathtaking.

Any one of a number of words can describe the final game of the season for the Clarkston Wolves girls' basketball team.

With five seconds left on the clock, Wendy Learmont hit the second of two free throws to give the Wolves a 64-63 victory at Pontiac Northern Nov. 10.

The entire Clarkston bench and the spectators rooting for the Wolves came off their feet when Learmont's shot went through.

"Wasn't that an exciting game?" an elated coach Dave McDonald said. "Wendy had a lot of pressure out there. After she missed the first one, I didn't know what was going to happen. She really came through."

Clarkston was fortunate to be in a position to win the game. They staged a big comeback after trailing 34-21 at halftime.

Northern scored the first four points in the third quarter and held a 17-point lead. The comeback started with one of the 10 steals by guard Kim Ottman. She scored 15 of her 21 points in the second half.

Bridget Kilcline played a big part in the comeback as did Sue Kervirtis and Learmont.

Kilcline came off the bench in the fourth quarter and scored 10 points, and Kervirtis hit for 12 points and six steals during the game.

Learmont scored only four points but three were in the final 30 seconds. She hauled in 11 rebounds, all in the second half.

Janet Herron hit a 15-foot jumper with 23 seconds left to tie the game at 63-63. Then a pressing defense caused Northern to turn the ball.

Clarkston took two shots and missed before Learmont was fouled with five seconds left.

"Wendy and Bridget were the key to the game," McDonald said. "Wendy only scored four points but they were probably in the final minute. Sue (Kervirtis) also played a great game."

"We just didn't play well the first half," McDonald said. "We weren't very inspired but we came back with probably our best half of the season. We needed it, too."

Clarkston finishes the regular season with a 15-5 record, its best in the last 10 years.

The Wolves begin the district playoffs Nov. 21 at Waterford Mott against the winner of the Waterford Kettering-Mott game.

Lin Klingler [center] provides a screen for Kim Ottman as she scores two of her 21 points against Pontiac Northern. The Wolves win the game on a last-second free throw.

Victory closes soccer season

By Dan Vandenhemel

For coach Lynn Mead, the soccer program at Clarkston High School is on the rise.

In the first year at the varsity and junior varsity level, Mead's junior varsity team ran up a 3-10 record.

Two of the victories came from Flint Powers. The other was an exciting overtime win against Lake Orion.

"The defense is what kept us in the games," Mead said. "And most of them said they will come back next year. I love it."

The main ingredients to the defense were goalie Tom Purves, and backs Jeff Biggs, Todd George and Tim Wilson.

"When we got beat it was mostly by low scores," Mead said. "They played their hearts out. They can do nothing but improve for next year, especially Purves. He stopped 40 shots one night and we lost, 2-0."

Other good players for the Wolves were Miles Radcliff, Terry Rudd, Tim Mahler and leading scorer Dan Lederman.

"Miles stepped in when Jim Bohl was injured and was the most improved on the team," Mead said. "Rudd was incredible—he never quit out there, not once. Mahler was very consistent all year."

The coach called Lederman "all business on the field" and praised his control.

Mead named the three wins as the standouts for this opening season, but the big setback was Bohl's injury.

Bohl collided with a Brother Rice team member Sept. 22 and emergency surgery was required to remove a blood clot on his brain.

"That really took the stuffing out of the program," he said.

Mead summed up Clarkston High School's first soccer season as a learning experience for all.

"(Varsity coach Neil Granlund) and I are new at this, too," Mead said. "Paul Tungate and the booster club really did a great job for us. They bent over backwards to get the program on its feet. We went into the season with our eyes open. Next year we'll teach more of the technical skills."

Emotions in motion

Dan Vandenhemel

What makes a sporting event so interesting—the athletic abilities or the players' emotions?

Both.

Give a slight edge to the emotions, but both make a game very exciting.

The pressure to compete goes beyond sporting events, work and school. But emotions rarely bubble over as much as they do on the basketball court, or football or baseball fields.

The thrill of victory is so true, especially when the game comes down to the final minute or play. Whatever sport you follow, there is one moment that can be remembered for its emotions:

•The 1978 American League Baseball Playoffs with Freddie Patek of the Kansas City Royals almost crying in the dugout after he made the final out of the game with the tying run on base. His team lost to the New York Yankees.

•Antoine Joubert consoling a crying teammate after their Detroit Southwestern basketball team lost in the state championship game last year.

•The hugging, hollering and jumping of the Clarkston Wolves girls' basketball team as they beat Pontiac Northern Nov. 10 on Wendy Learmont's free throw with five seconds left.

Be it by television or sitting in the stands, the spectators are drawn into the enthusiasm of close games.

I observed the action in the Wolves vs. Northern game from behind the Wolves' bench.

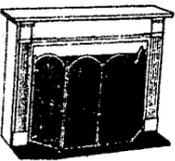

The entire team couldn't take their eyes off Learmont as she readied herself at the free throw line. When her first shot hit the front of the rim and bounced off, quite a few of the players started to cheer her on.

When her second shot went through the net, the team, coach, managers, crowd, all jumped up and nearly collapsed the bleachers.

After the game, Learmont and her teammates were all hugging and laughing.

That doesn't happen in the pros as often as it does in high school or college.

And that's what makes the games so exciting.

Window clues

by Susan Basinger

The Clarkston News building's second-story Italianate windows retain their original features. Typical of the style, the tall slender 4-over-4s have round hood moldings which repeat the window's arch.

William Shakespeare wrote that eyes are the windows to a man's soul in the play "King Richard III."

The same analogy can be drawn about the windows of a structure, for they provide valuable clues to its soul—its history and evolution.

Original windows are rare since, like many other architectural elements, single panes or entire sashes were often replaced to reflect changing fashion or technology.

A window may often be dated by the size and appearance of the pane and the size and shape of the mounting. The arrangement of the original windows in a facade may also give clues to the date and style of a structure.

Glass in colonial America was expensive but plentiful.

Produced using traditional European methods, it was thick and heavy and easily shipped.

Glass was blown and spun into 4- to 5-foot discs. The edges of these "roundels" were reasonably regular and transparent, and were cut into diamond-shaped panes.

Several were held together with lead strips to the casement windows used in Colonial architecture.

In the 1800s as part of the Gothic Revival style and again in the 20th century for Tudor Revival architecture, these casements were again used, recalling romantic illusions of medieval England.

Nothing was wasted in colonial times, for the bull's-eye portion was used to provide light but no view.

Over a century later, Victorian designers used bull's-eye glass in a variety of colors for decorative effects.

The end of the 18th century saw the development of a new manufacturing technique allowing the production of larger, thinner panes.

Glass was blown into an elongated bubble. The ends were cut off and the resulting tube was slit down one side.

When the tube was reheated it flattened into a rectangular sheet.

The resulting thinner, more regular panes were usually 6 inches wide by 8 inches high, and they could be held in place by wooden strips or mullions.

Early windows formed with these panes, usually eight, 12 or 16 in each sash, were used in Federal and Georgian architecture.

By 1850 larger panes were available and 6-over-6 lights became the typical window arrangement.

Most Greek Revival style structures in our area originally had such windows.

The Gothic Revival style called for tall, slender forms, and the window pane and the sash followed suit with 4-over-4 lights typical.

Picturesque effects were also important. Diamond-paned casement windows were used, and in Gothic cottages pointed-arch windows with matching hood molding echoed the line of the steep-pitched roofs.

The elongated 4-over-4 arrangement was also common in the Italian Revival style, but the accompanying hood molding was either flat or had a round arch.

The Industrial Revolution and late Victorian design added a number of elaborate elements to the window's repertoire—etched, bevelled and figured glass among them.

Larger, less expensive panes became possible with the development of plate glass which enjoyed extensive commercial use by the early 1900s.

Single pane sashes for residential use followed, previews of today's picture window and sliding glass door wall.

Original windows, the size and shape of the pane and the frame, and their placement in the facade are elements important to the integrity of a historic house, but with deterioration of sill and sash, and damage to panes replacement was common.

Many single pane sashes now exist where once stood 6-over-6s or 4-over-4s.

Unlike restoration of doors, the restoration of windows using old stock is difficult. However, it is possible to have new wooden double hung sashes made to fit an existing original frame with pane shape and size appropriate to the architectural style of the structure.

The replacement window may then be installed simply with new plastic channels which allow each sash to slide up and down easily.

When wooden window trim is added, the channels are not visible.

If you are fortunate enough to have old glass with its bubbles, waves and iridescence you may have had trouble cleaning it.

This tip appeared in the Old House Journal: First, clean the glass with 000 steel wool and ammonia. Then rinse, first with water and then a strong ammonia/water solution. Use old newspapers to dry and polish.

If you are uncertain about how to identify the style of original windows in a structure, see the following or check the card catalog under a particular architectural style: "Identifying American Architecture" by John J.G. Blumenson; "American Shelter" by Lester Walker.

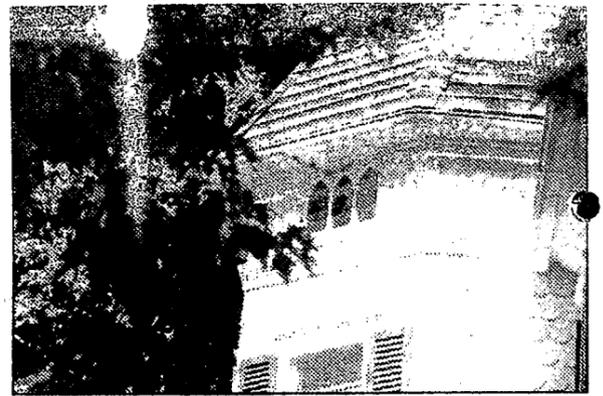

One of the many nearby millworks able to manufacture windows in custom sizes: Oxbow Window, 10330 Glynn, Milford, MI; 698-9400.

Window channels are available at most local lumber yards.

Sash lifts and fasteners are available from: The Renovators Supply, Millers Fall, Mass. 01349; catalog $2.

In the Independence Township Library, history and sources for original and reproduction glass can be found in the following issues of The Old House Journal—Oct. 1977, "Etched and Cut Glass"; April 1978, "Window Glass"; July 1978, "Etched and Brilliant Cut Glass."

See Old House Journal indexes for listings on window restorations and repair.

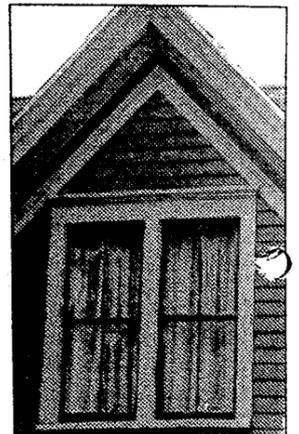

These lancelot windows appear in the tower of a lovely Queen Anne "cottage" on North Main Street. Such picturesque details were an important part of the late 19th century style.

The availability of larger panes of glass in the 20th century made a variety of window pane arrangements possible, as seen on the porch of this North Holcomb Street structure.

In contrast to the Greek Revival window proportion, Gothic Revival windows seen here were more tall and slender—2-over-2 and 4-over-4 lights were common.

Yellow and black signs are up

Icy bridges prompt warning

There is an unexpected danger on the roads on crisp fall mornings—ice on bridges.

The Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) cautions that a thin coating of ice often develops on unprotected bridge decks and on roads which pass beneath bridges.

The condition is most common on fall mornings. "The most dangerous aspect of this condition is that it's unexpected," said MDOT's chief of traffic and safety, Maurice Witteveen.

"The roads don't feel slippery, but cold air underneath bridge surfaces can lead to ice formation," he said. "A driver may be completely unaware that a bridge is slippery until he or she begins skidding."

MDOT studies show that most accidents on icy bridges occur in late November and early December on bridges in the Lower Peninsula, and much earlier in the Upper Peninsula.

But the condition can occur as early as October all over the state.

"Drivers should be anticipating this any day now," Witteveen said.

MDOT's night-patrol maintenance crews and many county road commissions who work on a contract basis with the department make regular checks on bridges early in the morning, usually beginning in November.

The department has also posted yellow and black warning signs on the 9,500-mile state highway system which read, "Watch for Ice on Bridge."

Rob Ronk follows through with a shot to help raise money during the Shoot-A-Thon sponsored by the Clarkston Athletic Booster Club Nov. 12 at Clarkston High School. Twenty-two people took their places at the free-throw line with pledges for each basket made. This year $812.90 was pledged. Dave Smith, a teacher at Clarkston Junior High, won the trophy for the most baskets made and the most money pledged. He hit 84 out of 100 for $130. CHS students Erik Kline and Dave Jokisch were next with $110 and $94 each. The money goes to the booster club to help buy athletic equipment for the school.

Road name change

From Shindler to Woodland

By Kathy Greenfield

Shindler Road, the name exists on maps and in people's minds; but it no longer adorns the road in southwestern Springfield Township made famous when a toxic waste site was discovered and subsequently cleaned up by the state.

For a time an empty signpost stood sentry.

Two weeks ago the new name was there in green and white, Woodland Trail.

When Joe and Laurel Gorka learned the change was official they grabbed a camera to record the moment for posterity.

They and their neighbors in 11 other homes had petitioned for the change, working together as they had learned to do throughout the toxic waste ordeal.

"It's really to say, 'OK, we have some reason to generate a sense of pride. It's a beautiful neighborhood. But let us tell you our eyes are open. We intend to watch for anything that might threaten our neighborhood,'" Gorka said.

Woodland Trail, the name invites an image of peace. It fits the road itself as it winds and curves through property filled with magnificent trees.

Turmoil there began six years ago when the toxic dump was found, in 1977.

"Somebody was out for a walk. It was discovered by accident. The landowner who accepted the drums didn't know what was in them. He agreed to store them for a period of time," he said. "But even back then that whole process was a result of ignorance."

The drums had been dumped in the late '60s and early '70s, according to Gorka, and they contained solvents from industrial locations.

The state Department of Natural Resources was called; nothing happened.

So, the neighborhood's next step was to generate widespread publicity.

"We came out of the situation on Shindler Road with friends in the newspapers," Gorka said.

Lawsuits were filed—the residents sued, among others, the Oakland County Health Department, the state, the state Department of Natural Resources and the state Department of Health.

The message, he said, was: "We're not a bunch of dummies. We want this area cleaned."

It happened, but not overnight. In August 1979 a series of tests began on well water, traces of chemical contamination were found, and that fall the cleanup began.

The equivalent of 2,000 80-gallon drums were removed from the one-acre dump site. It cost the state about $900,000, according to Gorka.

The residents dropped the lawsuit when they got what they asked for—a certifiable method of testing, funding, a good clean-up job and knowledge of what was happening.

The saga did not make Gorka bitter.

Instead, he praises the state and all the agencies involved.

"We were fortunate because we were the first (toxic dump) in the state to be identified, so they spent the money," he said.

"I believe the way it was handled on Shindler Road was a model for way the rest of these are being cleaned up.

"It was a first-class project done to see if you could clean up a contaminated area. So what they learned was response to this situation was a very costly and time-consuming project."

Tests show no more well water contamination, and the tests are ongoing.

Groundwater plan nets award

Joe and Laurel Gorka joined the 30-member West Oakland Groundwater Leadership Project in 1982.

The efforts of the group, organized by the East Michigan Environmental Action Council, were recognized this year as one of two award-winning projects by the Michigan Society of Planning Officials.

The annual honor awards recognize special achievements among planning projects in Michigan.

They are almost always given to professional planners rather than community action groups.

"We knew the approach to solving the groundwater problem was with a community," said Lillian Dean, project director.

In September 1982 the project received a grant from the Joyce Foundation. The funds were used to produce a groundwater calendar that listed ways residents could help keep water clean.

Members of the team worked to distribute the calendars through community and civic group meetings.

"It's really our feeling that west Oakland is a wonderful place," Dean said. "We love the area so,

FIVE POINTS COMMUNITY CHURCH

3411 E. Walton Blvd.
Pontiac, Mich.

NOVEMBER 20, 11:00 a.m. & 7:00 p.m.

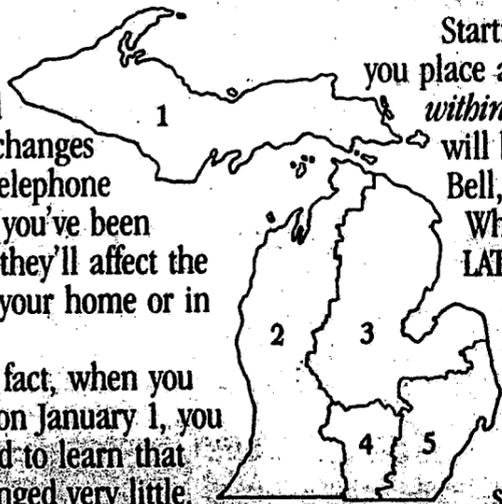

Come January 1, you'll still get through to Edna in Engadine or your mom next door... as quickly and efficiently as ever.

You've probably heard about the sweeping changes taking place in the telephone industry, and maybe you've been wondering just how they'll affect the telephone service in your home or in your business.

As a matter of fact, when you pick up your phone on January 1, you may be very surprised to learn that your service has changed very little. For one thing, you will be able to dial your local and long distance calls exactly as you did before. About the only immediate change will be how your calls are billed. That's where LATAs come in.

LATA is a new word to all of us. It stands for "Local Access Transport Area." In Michigan there will be five LATAs (which happen to closely approximate our Area Codes — see map). For now, the important thing about LATAs is this:

- 1. Upper Peninsula LATA
- 2. Grand Rapids LATA
- 3. Saginaw LATA
- 4. Lansing LATA
- 5. Detroit LATA

Starting January 1, 1984, whenever you place a local or long distance call within the LATA in which you live, you will be billed for that call by Michigan Bell, if Michigan Bell is your carrier. When you place a call from your LATA to another LATA in Michigan or elsewhere, you will be billed by another long distance carrier. Some carriers may elect to have Michigan Bell include their charges in the bill Michigan Bell sends you. Others may not, and will bill you directly. We'll be telling you more about LATAs and other calling information as the details unfold.

So, as the expression goes — "not to worry." You'll still have your phone service — as good as ever — because we're working to make the changes in your phone company better changes for you. After all,

IT'S AT&T WE'RE SEPARATING FROM... NOT YOU.

Facts down the line.

Because your telephone business office is busily engaged in normal, day-to-day telephone service matters, we are providing this toll-free number as a source for answers to the questions you may have about your changing telephone company. We also suggest that you watch for our informational messages in your newspapers and in your monthly telephone bills. 1 800 555-5000

Borrow a camera

Cameras are now available for checking out at Independence Township Library.

A gift of two Sun Cameras by the Polaroid company made the service possible.

Patrons may check out the cameras for one week. There is no charge, but a small deposit is required.

Those using the cameras must provide their own film.

The library is located at 6495 Clarkston, Independence Township. For more information call 625-2212.

Honors

The 1984 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges" will include Susan Tezak.

A resident of the Clarkston area, Tezak attends Virginia Intermont College.

She is a member of the Bristol Ballet and for two years has performed in or assisted with all performances and activities of the Cardinal Key.

Last year she was hall fire marshal. This year she is hall president for second Main.

She participated in the "Acting II Student Workshop Showcase," performing in several scenes and monologues.

Tezak works 10 hours a week in the library and tutors in freshman English composition two hours a week.

She demonstrates ballet in Marion, Va., for the "Seek Ballet" program one day a week and teaches ballet in Rogersville, Va., one day a week.

She is a member of the International Thespian Society.

Recipe file

Good with ice cream

By Lorna Bickerstaff

This week's recipe for Funnel Cake was served at the Old Fashion Christmas Church Bazaar Nov. 12 at the Sashabaw United Presbyterian Church.

The cakes were prepared by the men while the women ran the bazaar.

FUNNEL CAKE

- 2 c milk
- 2 beaten eggs
- 2 c flour
- 1 t baking powder
- 1/2 t salt

Mix milk and eggs together. Sift flour, baking powder and salt. Mix together.

Pour mixture through funnel to see if it flows through easily. If it's too thick, add milk until the consistency is right. If it's too thin, add flour.

Heat deep fat (Crisco) in a heavy iron skillet or pan. Pour batter through funnel into deep fat.

Spiral and other shaped cakes can be made by manipulation of funnel and controlling the flow with your finger.

After frying until golden brown, drain funnel cakes on paper toweling.

Sprinkle with powdered sugar while still hot. Serve hot. Good with ice cream.

Red Cross honors 4 area residents

Four Clarkston area residents were among 1,200 special blood donors recently honored by the Southeastern Michigan Red Cross Blood Services.

James Blicher, David Galley, Sallie Garcia and Lelane McCarty were thanked at the seventh annual Pheresis Recognition Reception Oct. 23.

"Pheresis means life itself to the critically ill in our community who receive the blood products obtained through this unique and very special type of blood donation," said blood services director A. William Shafer, M.D.

During the pheresis procedure, blood is drawn from a donor and circulated through a machine to remove a certain component, either plasma, platelets or white cells.

The remaining components are then returned to the donor's blood stream. The procedure takes between 90 minutes and two and one-half hours.

Those who benefit include patients with leukemia, those undergoing chemotherapy for cancer, patients whose bodies aren't producing enough white cells to fight bacteria infections, and shock and burn victims who need plasma for its clotting and infection fighting factors.

Because the components come from a single donor, the possibility of reaction or hepatitis transmission are greatly reduced, Shafer said.

For information on becoming a pheresis donor, call the Red Cross Pheresis Recruitment office at 494-2787.

Members of the Rosary Guild work on projects for the St. Daniel's Holiday Bazaar planned

Nov. 18. From left are Rose Jacks, Alexandria Driscoll and Mary Kusion.

St. Daniels invites all to bazaar

Dorothy Warren's proud of the fine reputation of the St. Daniel Holiday Bazaar, a tradition for at least 15 years.

As co-chairperson with Jerry Hunter for the event planned Friday, Nov. 18, Warren said she's looking forward to the day.

"We do it with a nice class and people are very responsive," she said. "People who are working will come for lunch. It's kind of a fun day."

"We have built the reputation of trying to entertain them for the day—good lunch, chatter and hospitality," she added.

Hours of the bazaar, sponsored by the church's Rosary Guild, are 10 a.m. to 6:30 p.m.

Luncheon is served from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m., and the $3.50 donation includes a complete meal.

Five areas in the church hall are to feature different themes: Santa's Workshop with Christmas items and a Victorian Christmas theme; Creative Crafts with wooden items; The Sweet Shop with homemade candies including fudge and hard candy; the Bake Shop with homemade fruit cakes steeped in brandy, rum or wine; and Grandma's Attic with rummage items.

A raffle features a homemade quilt from Germantown, Ill., a handcrafted porcelain baby doll and an afghan.

The church is located at 7010 Valley Park at Holcomb Road, Independence Township.

17 to compete in Jr. Miss show

Seventeen seniors at Clarkston High School will compete in the Clarkston Junior Miss Program Saturday, Nov. 19, in the CHS Little Theatre.

The girls will be judged on physical fitness, talent, poise and appearance, a personal interview with the judges and their scholastic standings.

Participating are: Sue Kevirtis, Patti Dufrin, Wendy Ripley, Paula Zoilkowski, Amy Stark, Dyanne Mandilk, Miranda Morales, Kristin Baert, Gayanne Gerber, Sheila Adkins, Julie Beamer, Joy Schmidgall, Kristie Swanson, Wendy Hunt, Cory Goodrich, Jill Needham and Karen Simunovic.

Last year the Clarkston program gave over $1,900 in scholarships, the most given in the state. Local businesses donate the money for the scholarships.

Winner of this year's Junior Miss competition will receive a $1,000 scholarship.

Tickets are $5 at the door for the 7 p.m. show.

$1,000 school aid

Two $1,000 scholarships to Eastern Michigan University, Ypsilanti, are available to Clarkston High School graduates for the 1983-84 school year through the Grant E.T. Beardslee Scholarship Fund.

One scholarship will be awarded to a resident of the Sashabaw Plains area and one to another resident of Independence Township.

A scholarship review committee will select the recipients, with the awards made in June 1984.

The Grant E.T. Beardslee Scholarship Fund was established at EMU in October 1981 by Anson Raymond and Marion Beardslee Raymond of Dunedin, Fla., in honor of Mrs. Raymond's father, a lifetime resident of Independence Township.

Scholarship applications are available in the principal's office at Clarkston High School.

For more information call the counselors' office at CHS at 625-0904, or Dan Milliman, director of development at EMU, at 313-487-0252.

U of D presents:

'Paul Robeson' at Colombiere

Drama comes to University of Detroit's Colombiere campus beginning this weekend when the university's Theatre Company presents "Paul Robeson."

The one-man play features Earl D.A. Smith. A professor on the faculty at U of D, Smith's last professional performance was in the movie "Freedom Road" with Muhammad Ali.

Based on a true story, "Paul Robeson" is about the life of one of the first black students at Rutgers University who was an All-American football player, became an attorney and a famous singer and actor.

"He was America's Renaissance man and America rejected him," said Mary Bremer, office coordinator for the U of D Theatre Company. "It's a story anyone can relate to."

The play was on Broadway several months, was performed in London and toured the United States, she said.

Its performance at U of D's Detroit and Clarkston campuses is a Michigan premiere. During showings the first two weeks in Detroit, the play was sold out.

"This is such a hot one, and the audiences are just begging to see it," Bremer said.

Colombiere play dates are Fridays and Saturdays, Nov. 18, 19, 25 and 26. Showtime is 8 p.m.

Tickets are $6 and $4. For reservations call 927-1130. For more information call Colombiere at 625-0270.

Colombiere is located at 9075 Big Lake Rd., Springfield Township.

Name change changes life

"We're pretty much contented with where he live," he said. "There's no mass exodus. We're not running from it."

"Why should I move anywhere else, where they might have groundwater problems?" he added. "I know what I've got. I've got probably the best-tested well water in the state."

As the years went by, Gorka's activism went beyond efforts to solve the Shindler Road toxic landfill problem.

"It changed the course of my life, or I've changed the course of my life, because of it," he said.

He was appointed to the Springfield Township Planning Commission which is now working on a new zoning ordinance.

"Citizens are starting to get involved in brainstorming—how can we protect our groundwater and how can we write it into our ordinance? We don't know if it is possible, but we know groundwater protection is a must," he said.

He's a member of the subcommittee on government communications founded by the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments where work is underway on recommendations for a DNR communications model local governments can use when dealing with contamination problems and sites.

Joe and Laurel Gorka are members of the West Oakland Groundwater Leadership Team, an organization devoted to encourage responsible citizen action for groundwater protection and education.

"I'm paying a debt that we owe," he said. "The state made a commitment when they passed that bill to fund the cleanup."

and the resources are so beautiful and rich we want to keep it that way."

Team members provide a network of interested citizens who believe prevention is the cure for groundwater protection.

"We have...well drillers, scientists, attorneys, business people, planning commissioners, housewives, all ages, men, women, different professions, different backgrounds," Dean said. "The one requirement we have for the group is people have a sincere interest in teaching and communication skills."

This year the team's efforts continue with an oil recycling contest, expansion of the 1984 calendar to cover east Livingston County as well as west Oakland and an education program for school pupils.

"This is an attempt to make a far-reaching project for the future. They're really thinking 10, 20, 30, 50 years from now," Joe Gorka said. "Where are we going to be if we keep polluting at the same rate?"

Laurel Gorka, a teacher on leave from the Clarkston school district, has put her efforts into working on a committee developing an educational program for upper elementary and junior high school pupils.

The science and social studies lessons are to be made available through Oakland Schools, the intermediate school district that provides services and information for all the districts in Oakland County.

"Education is the thing I've been involved with," she said. "So I decided my input would be most valuable in that area."

Pleased that their road's name change is in place, Joe and Laurel Gorka pose for a picture. Woodland Trail is located in the southwestern portion of the township.

The cover of the 1983 calendar produced by the West Oakland Groundwater Leadership team features a photograph taken at the Drayton Plains Nature Center.

33 acres in Independence donated to OU

By Marilyn Trumper

Like clockwork, the swallows come back to Capistrano each spring.

It's believed Monarch butterflies come back from Central America to the milkweeds growing on 33 acres off Maybee Road in Independence Township in a similar migration.

The land was just donated to Oakland University for science and environmental education by former township resident Glenn Rogers.

"My students have already noted that's one of the things they'll have to document in the spring," said professor David Housel, science, outdoor and aerospace educator for the Rochester university.

"Monarchs feed on milkweed and, because of development, the milkweed in this country is disappearing," he said. "The monarchs know it's there and will probably return on their migration. That's one reason it needs to be preserved."

The property, which includes wetlands, is valued at $66,000, according to township assessor David Sherrill.

There are no stipulations on how the university can use the land, according to attorney Carl Karlstrom, representing Rogers who now lives in Stuart, Fla.

The land can be sold or developed, Karlstrom said.

But that is not the university's intention.

"I was asked if we were given the land use, could we use it for environmental study. I immediately said 'yes,'" Housel said.

He's been on site with students, and says an old farm there will be used for an archaeological dig where students will learn to explore and map the site with minimal impact.

"They've been out there doing population density counts to find out what kind of animals live there, and how many. There are small rodents, rabbits, muskrats, gophers, and there's been evidence of deer. There are also quite a number of birds," Housel said.

Oakland University Professor David Housel takes students through 33 acres, the gift of a former Independence Township resident to the Rochester university.

"There are oaks, maples, cherry and apple trees planted by farmers, there's red cedar, and a swampy area that was part of Gullick Lake that's been almost totally reclaimed.

"People use the land now to bike, ski and hike, so it's been impacted by locals. But as long as it gets no worse it won't be too bad," Housel said. "We have places like this at the university that have been heavily impacted, so much so there are paths through it. That's why this land is so nice."

Trespassers on the 33 acres could be a problem. "We may have to fence it," Housel said. "It was very discouraging to see people dumping out there the last time I was out. There's glass, mattresses... It's too bad."

Students are expected to use the land once a month, he added.

PRAYER TO ST. JOSEPH: Oh, St. Joseph whose protection is so great, so strong, so prompt before the throne of God, I place in you all my interest and desires. O, St. Joseph, do assist me by your powerful intercession, and obtain for me from your divine son all spiritual blessings, thru Jesus Christ, Our Lord. So that, having engaged here below your heavenly power, I may offer my thanksgiving & homage to the most loving of fathers. O, St. Joseph, I never weary contemplating you, and Jesus asleep in your arm; I dare not approach while He reposes near your heart. Press Him in my name & kiss His fine head for me and ask Him to return the kiss when I draw my dying breath. St. Joseph, patron of departing souls, pray for me. This prayer was found in the 50th year of Our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. In 1505 it was sent from the Pope to Emperor Charles when he was going into battle. Whoever shall read this prayer or hear it or keep it about himself, shall never die a sudden death, or be drowned, nor shall poison take effect on them; neither shall they fall into the hand of the enemy, or shall be burned in any fire or shall be overpowered in battle. Say for nine mornings for anything you may desire. It has never been known to fail, so be sure you really want what you ask. Ask with confidence!!!LX-45-2

Ann's ark

Help find a home for this cat

by Ann Glenn

The delightful new restaurant in Clarkston has a mascot; a handsome, spotted cat who has delighted or disgusted outdoor patrons of the restaurant with his antics of jumping on a table, rubbing against a friendly leg, or looking up with faraway eyes and issuing a plaintive meow.

The cat just happened there one day—thin, pathetic, lonely. Tenderhearted waitresses tossed the cat a few scraps, and he gradually acquired a gloss to his coat and flesh rounded off his bones.

McGillacutty's cat became handsome, desirable, and in need of a permanent residence.

McGillacutty's cat had gone through and survived what many cats—in fact thousands—go through every year.

His owners had loved him, fed him, taught him to depend on humans. Then they sold their home and moved on.

They left McGillacutty's cat behind to fend for himself. He became thin, wan, desperate. He searched; he did not understand.

The kindness of the women at the restaurant reversed his plight.

But he still needs a permanent home. Can you take in a handsome, debonair cat? If so, call McGillacutty's at 625-1213 or call me at 625-2775.

You know, it is a cruel world for cats that are born in barns and are uncared for; or cats that are given free to people who take them on a whim.

Then they leave them at the Humane Society where 90 percent of the cats are exterminated, or drop them off on a country road where they try to survive. Often they become the victims of traps, dogs or gun-toting children, or they suffer pangs of hunger or anguish of disease.

Sometimes, as in the case with McGillacutty's cat, people simply move on, leaving the cat sitting trustingly in the driveway, believing the car with the family will return.

Man in his domestication of animals has added a strange twist to things: He forgets the feelings, trust, love the beast has for him as well as the beast's ability to feel pain, hunger and distress.

Man treats his animal friends as disposable diapers—use and discard.

A cat is a responsibility and commitment for the life of the animal.

Give your cat a thought right now—this is high time to have him altered and to have her spayed so unwanted kittens will not come in the spring.

We must all bear responsibility and limit animal overpopulation.

And if you have it in your heart, give McGillacutty's cat a home.

If it's a major fire or a minor oddity, we want a call at The Clarkston News 625-3370

Hacky Sack is basically juggling with the feet, says Rick Emerson. The game's popularity has spread from the West Coast to the rest of the country in the past couple years.

Goodbye Frisbee, hello Hacky Sack

By Dan Vandenhemel

Hacky Sack, a game with a little leather bag full of plastic beads that weighs less and 2 ounces, is taking over the popularity of Frisbees.

The "new" game started in China 1,600 years ago and is now being distributed out of Oregon, and it may take awhile to push the flying plastic disc into extinction.

"It's really big on college campuses, Michigan State for one," said Mark Platt.

"It's fun to get a group together and hit it back and forth," said Rick Emerson.

The two began playing the game about a year ago. A friend brought one back from California and got them hooked on it.

"At first it was just something to do, something different," said Platt of Paramus Drive, Independence Township. "It's hard to do, so maybe that's why we kept it up."

Earlier in the summer the pair went down to Hart Plaza and started to kick the sack around.

"A big crowd started to gather around us and you could hear people saying, 'What the hell is that?' After we stopped a lot of people came up to us and asked we were doing," Emerson said.

Hacky Sack is basically juggling with the feet. You try to keep the bag airborne by using only your feet and legs. It is not an easy game to conquer.

"We can keep it going only about 50 times," said Emerson of Plum Drive, Independence Township. "The world record is around 1,200. After that many times your legs would be gone."

Many athletic teams are starting to use Hacky Sack as a form of conditioning, Platt said.

"It gets your legs in shape," he said. "I know some karate classes that use it. I don't think many soccer teams use it because you really don't use your feet the same way."

"At first we couldn't find any spot in the area that sells them," Emerson said. "I was down in Tennessee and saw it. The schools down there were using it in gym class. Up here we've found it at Coach's Corner, Running Gear and some book stores."

"They're kind of expensive (around $7.50)," Platt said. "You go through them, too. They really don't wear out, but you lose them pretty often. We have it with us every day."

Besides just kicking it back and forth, there are activities with rules: Footbag net game, Footbag golf or Footbag free-style to music.

This is not just a silly game to those who play. With the purchase comes an application to join the National Hacky Sack football players association.

Keep on kicking.

Mark Platt gives a demonstration of a back kick. He and Emerson have been playing Hacky Sack for about one year.
