Brrr! Winter sends us shivers

By Pamela Gruber Special to The Clarkston News

Baby, it's cold outside.

With temperatures plummeting below zero, area residents are grumbling about the cold and snow while merchants herald the end of a dry spell for selling snow-related goods.

According to the National Weather Service, Flint, Oakland County residents can expect 20-degree weather over the next few days. The forecast calls for one to two inches of snow Tuesday night with near steady temperatures in the teens, with additional snow predicted on Wednesday and highs in the low 20s. That almost sounds like a heat wave after the mercury set a new record of -8 degrees Monday, breaking the old record of -4 set in 1924. Despite the nasty weather, there was some good news from the Independence Township Fire Depart-

With only a handful of fire calls and none of those directly related to the weather. Fire Chief Frank Ronk was thankful.

That's one of the quietest Christmas weekends we've had in a long time," he said. "All I can say is we're damn lucky we didn't have to stretch any hoses or pump any water. There were no broken water mains or anything.

Business has been brisk for Dennis Dael of Country Value Hardware on M-15, where all the space heaters in stock have been sold, and more stock had to be ordered.

'With the cold weather, there is plenty of ice, so we're having a lot of people coming in for rock salt," he said.

Village Towing of Independence Township provides AAA towing service for the area, and it's been busy, says owner Donald Clinansmith.

'I gave the employes off here from Saturday at noon," he said. "I ended up calling two of them in."

Beginning Christmas Eve, the phones never stopped ringing. People were stuck with cars that wouldn't start in parking lots at churches, in driveways after visits and at their own homes as they tried to get where they wanted to be for the holiday. They answered 75 calls Monday.

While many of the problems were minor, there have been some major damages to vehicles caused by the cold—that will cost $700 to $1,500 to repair—and Clinansmith has some tips.

•Use a lower weight oil. When temperatures drop to zero each night and only reach the 20s during the day for long periods of time, motorists should switch to 10-weight oil rather than the normal 10W-30 or 10W-40, he said.

Don't take off fast. Be sure to let the motor run at a slow speed to warm it up before zooming to 55mph he said. If the wind chill factor is 40mph, it hits 50 to 60 in a speeding car, and that can freeze the radiator and split the seams, despite antifreeze.

•Check the air in tires. Fhe cold weather makes them contract and they can drop to 24 to 26 pounds of Property and says he's explored building pressure rather than the normal 32 pounds. That can cause control problems on wet or slippery pavement. he said.

Consumers Power Co. and Detroit Edison fared well during the record-breaking cold spell.

Edison reported only four minor power outages related to the weather, while Consumers Power reported no interruptions in service.

As we move toward 1984 and New Year's Day Sunday, the final word comes from the National .Weather Service which predicts bone-chilling temperatures for the weekend.

For ice fisherman Mike Cassone, catching a cold was the another possibility while the the thermometer dipped to sub-zero readings.

arkston Place ready to go

By Marilyn Trumper

Developer Hugh Garner and his new partner James O'Neill, M.D., plan to match a break in the weather with a ground breaking for Clarkston Place, the proposed $30 million senior citizen complex at I-75 and Dixie Highway on 30 acres in Independence and Springfield townships.

I've got the equipment here and as soon as the weather breaks, we're going to put in the roads for the models. (The roads are) staked and ready to go," said

Garner, owner of Deer Lake Realty. "I've told the township I'm going to apply for a building permit, and they're researching what I

O'Neill, a leading area pediatrician, is lining up project financing; and says he's explored building Clarkston Place under Independence Township's Economic Development Corporation.

The EDC was established four years ago to provide low-interest revenue bonds to developers. To date, the township's EDC has financed one project, orthodontist Charles Munk's professional plaza on M-15, south of Clarkston.

"The EDC is certainly one alternative," O'Neill said, adding the partnership with Garner was forged a month ago. "It's (Garner) and I now, although we're obviously talking to different hospitals and health care providers.

Two weeks ago Garner officially received his certificate of need from the state Department of Public Health allocating 120 beds for the proposed nursing [Continued on Page 2]

With the exception of an unexplained drop in reading scores for seventh-graders, results from the Michigan Educational Assessment Program (MEAP) are positive, says William Potvin, the elementary school principal in charge of the testing program for the Clarkston school district.

"Very pleased. Very pleased," Potvin said, summing up his reactions. "With these kinds of numbers, we'll maintain our same level of difference with the state average and we're always well above it."

The MEAP test was taken by all fourth-, seventhand tenth-graders in the district in October and

The 13 acres of the proposed development in Springfield Township are targeted for multiple housing. Garner says he'll seek final site plan approval from Springfield Township in 60 to 90 days.

Independence Township approved the plan last summer for its portion of the property which includes a 120-bed nursing home, 64 units of elderly housing, 64 cottages and 200 apartments.

In addition the complex plan has a single-story commons area for all residents with a health club, indoor swimming pool, library, meeting rooms, game area, lounge, restaurant, reading room, arts and crafts room, beauty and barber shop, laundry, clinic, party room, chapel and motel for guests.

When fully developed the complex is to house about 750 people.

results were received in December, when pupils were to take them home.

A test of minimal skills in math and reading, it's required of all public school pupils in those grades by the State Department of Education. Statewide results are expected in January.

The following tallies indicate the percentage of pupils who received scores of 75 to 100 percent on the •Fourth grade—math 84.7, reading 86.9. In 1982—math 85.6, reading 87.2.

The results from the 360 fourth-graders show a slight decline, but unless tallies drop by a couple of percentage points there is no concern, Potvin said.

Seventh grade—math 72.7, reading 88.8. In 1982—math 71.5, reading 93.

"The change in the seventh grade (reading) is unexplained right now," Potvin said. "We don't know what happened. Everything else we're doing is generally on an incline or at a plateau. Teachers are looking at it now. It's baffling."

•10th grade—math 74.9, reading 92.6. In 1982—math 71.3, reading 90.

Five years ago when the 10th-graders were added to test-takers, shock and dismay resulted when scores were in the mid-50s in reading and in math.

Some changes took place, mostly that teachers now tell 10th-graders the results reflect the school system, Potvin said, even though there is no great incentive to do well otherwise because results have no influence on grades or college admission.

The district made math a targef goal two years ago, stating concern about the relatively low math

"That seems to be paying off in that math is holding its own or continuing to rise." Potvin said. "The gradual inclines we've seen are very meaningful, getting the math in the mid-70s and reading in the 80s and mid-90s are very indicative of our kids.

100-bed transfer would be first

By Marilyn Trumper

Blazing new trails in Michigan medical history, Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital's applied to transfer 100 beds from its downtown Pontiac site to a proposed community hospital at Dixie Highway and White Lake Road in Independence Township.

3 stay on board

Acting on the supervisor's recommendation Dec. 20, the Independence Township Board reappointed three members of the planning commission to three-year terms effective Jan. 1.

The vote was 4-1 with Treasurer Frederick Ritter

"I don't agree with some of the appointments," he said after the meeting.

Trustee Daniel Travis and Supervisor James B. Smith were absent.

Commission reappointments are Chairman Neil Wallace of Clarkston Road, John Gray of Waterford Hill Terrace and Holly Stephens.

"I'm pleased I was reappointed," Wallace said.
"There were a number of issues in the community before I was on the planning commission and since, that are of importance to me, and this is one way I can participate in what happens."

Gray, a member since 1976, served as chairman two years and said of his reappointment, "I think it's great. Basically I feel it's my way of contributing to the community. I feel everbody should do something."

Stephens could not be reached for comment.

The same of the sa

The application, made Dec. 1, is expected to be under review three months, according to Pat Lamberti, executive assistant.

It will not compete with nursing homes beds or similar applications because the hospital's already been allocated the beds and only wants to transfer them, he said.

"It's the first time this has ever been tried here," Lamberti told the Independence Township Board at its Dec. 20 meeting. "We really don't have a feel for how the state will react to it, or what they'll decide."

According to Lamberti, administrators for the proposed North Oaks Community Hospital plan to have an advisory board of community members meet once a month and discuss what the public's looking for with inpatient care and preventive health, like CPR classes.

Hospital medical director Joseph Territo, D.O., denied North Oaks would compete with the new Clarkston Ambulatory Clinic staffed with 20 area medical doctors and osteopaths.

"We're here for acute care. We'll have an emergency room set up for multiple trauma. The clinic is for urgent care, not the classic emergency patient," Territo said. "They're not meant to compete, but complement one another."

Landlocked in downtown Pontiac with no room for growth, the proposed 100-bed transfer would allow POH to expand its facility. POH is the eight largest teaching hospital in the nation, Territo said.

In November POH unveiled plans for the contemporary $34 million, two-story satellite hospital on 29 of 50 acres at Dixie Highway and White Lake Road. It's expected to take two-and-a-half years to build, Territo said.

North Oaks Community Hospital is designed for inpatient and outpatient surgical services, radiology, laboratory, pharmacy, physical medicine rehabilitation, outpatient walk-in service, 24-hour emergency care and community health programs.

It's expected to employ 300 people.

From ice cream shop to eatery

If they can garner all necessary variances from local and state authorities, Dick and Sue Linenger plan to change Clarkston's popular ice cream shop, Sweet Sue's, into the Village Grill featuring a lunch and breakfast menu.

"We've got too many fine restaurants in town to compete for dinner," said Dick. "I'm changing it because I'd like to have a year-round business."

Sweet Sue's has closed each winter since opening in June 1981, he said.

On Dec. 29, the Linengers are scheduled before the village zoning board of appeals for a variance on parking, which member Edward Thomson, describes as a "formality."

"I don't think that will be a big problem. Their big problem will be in Lansing when they try to get an exemption from the barrier-free," he said.

Linenger says he wants an exclusion from the law that mandates barrier-free restrooms in restaurants.

Condemnation scrutinized by board

Putting procedure into law, the Independence Township Board is looking at an ordinance regulating condemnation of structures, a move praised by Kenneth Delbridge, director of building and planning.

"There are some serious problems in the township I've been holding off on, waiting for this," Delbridge told the board at its Dec. 20 meeting. "I think it's about time we have one.'

The seven-page proposed law outlines condemnation procedure.

'It's different than what we have now because instead of a hearing officer listening to the appeal and making a report to the township, the township board will hear the appeal and make the decision and direct the attorney to proceed to the courts where the judge will make the final decision." Delbridge said.

'I feel there's more protection with this one."

The board unanimously directed the attorney to complete the ordinance.

After the meeting, Delbridge said there are five houses in the township he's been waiting to condemn, but added it's been at least two years since the township's taken such steps.

"Most of them are vacant, not boarded up, and present a hazard with neighborhood kids running in and out," he said.

Cable lease under review by schools

As Multi-Cablevision prepared to lay TV cable on schedule last week for Independence Township's $2.5 million system, the Clarkston school district was negotiating a lease-agreement for the studio site with officials of Tribune/United.

The schools proposed a $4.25-a-square-foot fee, frozen for the first five years, according to Superintendent Milford Mason.

In addition, the studio site, a former maintenance building on Waldon Road next to Clarkston Junior High, has its water source from the school.

"They want to make sure that if in 10 years or 15 years, if the junior high isn't there, that they'll still have water." Mason said. "We gave (cable officials) the proposal, but haven't heard from them yet."

James Anderson, vice president and general manager of the Chicago-based firm, said the proposed contract's not been reviewed yet.

Le Com Corp. of Orion Township is building the system, with construction beginning first near the Predictions for 1984, or how to go out on a

The Lions will not win the Super Bowl.

The Tigers will not win the American League

The Red Wings will not win, period.

Ninety percent of the New Year's resolutions made Saturday will be broken by midnight, Jan. 2.

Ted Kennedy will finish his sixth steak dinner of the week, belch, waddle out to his chauffeur-driven limousine and be whisked away to make a speech on hunger in America.

The Democrats will nominate Walter Mondale as the party's standard-bearer. He will not ask Jimmy Carter to campaign for him.

An hour and a half or so of four-letter words, skin and blood will be hailed as one of the year's best movies

Yuri Andropov, the Kremlin's head hoodlum, will appear in public and prove to be alive and well. Unfortunately.

Jerry Falwell will say something that makes a lot of people embarrassed to say they're cons

Jane Fonda will say something that makes a lot of people embarrassed to say they're liberals.

Coleman Young will blame the exceptionally cold winter on racism.

Ronald Reagan will be re-elected.

It will rain on the Fourth of July. Don't ask me why-I've just got a feeling.

The Marines will come home from Lebanon-prior to the presidential election. A lucky coincidence for the Administration, no doubt.

Inflation will average 5 percent for the year, slightly up; unemployment will average 7.6 percent. slightly down. Just like the professional economists, I arrived at these numbers by tossing darts.

A single flake of snow will drift down over the tricounty area on Feb. 25 at 6:47 p.m. The weather bureau will immediately post a winter storm warning.

Billy Sims will wind up playing in the USFL. In December 1984, I will disavow any knowledge of these predictions.

Expect 'good' 1984

By Jim Sherman

As a general view of 1984 I'd say what you have seen in the last quarter of 1983 will be continued in

The stock market will climb, probably to 1300 in the averages; new car sales will continue to top 1983 sales figures; more savings and loans will convert to banks; unemployment will decline; inflation will remain at the 3-4 percent level.

In the coming year housing starts is an unknown, 1984 being a political year makes it a partial unknown, deregulation of various industries makes for hesitancy, and I wonder if apathy won't return to those who reversed the trend by getting a little excited in the recall movement this fall.

There are, of course, some real 'knowns' for the year ahead. Postage will go up on everything except 'junk" mail. The federal government will put an increased amount into national defense. President Reagan will seek a second term. Increases in school millage requests will fail 9 of 10 times. And, the Tigers, Lions, Pistons and Red Wings will not win

So, overall 1984 will be a good year, but not a great year economically speaking, except for GM. Chrysler, AT&T, IBM, high tech'ers, fast food outlets (watch Bob Evans), Kelloggs of Battle Creek, Gannett newspapers, and Eastman Kodak.

I think 1984 will be a good year for road builders. Michigan's gasoline tax increase and the federal nickel-a-gallon will bring lots of resurfacing.

It'll be a good year to own property in West Bloomfield Township, an area that is destined to be THE growth area for Oakland county in the next 8-10

1984 will be a good year, too, for the tourist industry of Michigan. I think the Department of Commerce with their "Say Yes to Michigan" campaign has done a great job in bringing an increase in tourism in our state while neighbors have declined. The momentum is in Michigan's favor, and the taxes will greatly benefit Mich.

Speaking of taxes, both the Michigan and Federal income taxes will go down next week Michigan's rate drops to 6.1 percent and Uncle Sam's goes down five percent.

For the individual the amounts are small, but the accumulated totals make great reading and do aid economy. Little of this money goes in the sock. Most of us spend all we make.

Making too many headlines in 1984 will be goings on in politics. I mentioned President Reagan's running for the GOP nomination as being a certainty. It is my belief he is certain to be re-elected. And, if Fritz Mondale is put up by the Dems, Reagan will win overwhelmingly, especially if the Marines are brought home from Lebanon in the next 6 months.

Locally, Republican Rudy Nichols will slide into the recalled seat of Phil Mastin. But Nichols be Dr not become overconfident and lessen his campaigning. The Eighth is still a Dem district. For now, however, it appears the party has conceded it for this one term.

The big political activity in these parts will be for Congress as GOP'ers try to unseat Bob Carr who was sent to Washington 2 years ago as representative of a very gerrymandered district. The name to look for on the Republican slate is expected to be Clarkston's Tom Ritter.

Enough politics for now. Let us still savor the decreases in gasoline prices, the increases in buying power as wages go ahead of inflation, and the solvency of county government.

Savor all you can because property owners will likely see assessors increase property values, thus taxes, in 1984. It's hard to break a habit, even though home owners can prove their places will not bring more money than last year.

Taken in total 1984 should be a year to savor. Many economists are predicting that along toward she, end of the year and on into 1985 there will be another slowing of the economy, or even a down turn.

But if we do things right perhaps the economy will continue upward. -J.A.S.

Biggest crime of all

The letter was written Oct. 30 in Bethesda, Md. "Today, this lovely sunny day, David would have been 27," it said.

David Berkley was Jessica's Daddy. Remember?
When he was stabbed to death, the knife slashed through the words' "Jessica's Daddy" lettered on his T-shirt.

Jessica was nine months old. She was also stabbored to death. So was her mother, Aline, 25. David and nv Aline were graduate students of great promise. He was studying physical anthropology at Wayne State 26.7 University, and she was studying law at the University mot of Detroit. The Berkley family was living in an apartment near Wayne State, in a supposedly safe neighborhood, just a few steps from campus and city Colice stations, when horror struck.

David's body was found in a nearby alley. The killer(s) used David's keys and identification to invade the Berkley home. The bodies of Aline and Jessica were found in a bed. The motive was robbery, and it can be speculated that David and Aline were murdered by multiple knife slashes so that they never could identify their attacker. But why was a nine-month-old murdered?

gni "WHOEVER DID IT likes to kill people," a homicide Inspector Gilbert Hill said at the time.

Last week, a year after the murders, Hill said the case is "still open." And he added that it was one "I will never forget."

"The murderers have not been found. They walk the streets, probably committing more murders, saddening other family members," the letter from Maryland said. It was written by David's mother, Carol Berkley.

"Perhaps, on Dec. 18, you might want to remember David, Aline and Jessica. It's almost a year now, and we miss them very much," Mrs. Berkley wrote.

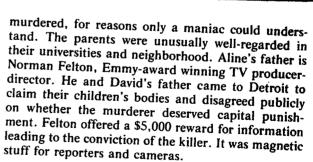

Like Inspector Hill, I need no reminder. I'll never forget David, Aline and, especially, Jessica. I wrote a column about her, a few days after the murders, and it was eventually read as part of a memorial service held for the slain family in the Washington Cathedral. I was grateful when I learned I'd contributed something to the ceremony. Also, let's face it, my ego was stroked.

Is that why I wrote about Jessica—to take a bow for being such a thoughtful, compassionate fellow? Questions like that keep me awake too late at night.

THE BERKLEY CASE received a lot of publicity. It wasn't just three more of the infamous "drug-related" murders that occur almost daily in Detroit, receiving a few newspaper lines on an inside page one day, forgotten the next. An innocent child was

As a 32-year newspaper hack, I can easily understand why the Berkley murders received so much ink. But, still...

I recall several instances when kids were killed during drug-related crimes. They were no less innocent than Jessica, and they became no less dead. I never wrote about them. Also, who am I to decide which adults, because of their behavior, deserve to be murdered with little publicity, and which don't?

I'll never forget Jessica, Aline and Jessica's Daddy because their murders were extraordinary. The tragedy is that we live in a so-called civilization where so many murders are ordinary. It takes a "massive overkill" to hold our attention.

Jessica was only nine months old, or maybe I wouldn't remember her. That's the biggest crime of all.

We'll pay more for motor fuel

A two-cent-a-gallon increase in Michigan's motor fuel tax Jan. 1 will enable the state to continue making headway on long-deferred road, street and highway improvements, according to State Transportation Director James P. Pitz.

A "transportation survival package" enacted last year provided for the increase and earmarked all the revenue for transportation. Thirty-five percent goes for work on state highways and the rest for county roads, municipal streets and bus and rail systems throughout the state.

A typical motorist driving 10,000 miles a year will. be paying about $5 more in gas taxes in 1984 than in 1979 when autos were less fuel efficient.

Without additional funds, Pitz said, the state's transportation network "would fall back into the same trend of decay and deterioration that existed prior to 1983.

"We did a lot of work this year, resurfacing and reconstructing 737 miles of state highways, compared to 144 miles in 1982," he said. "For the first time in at least 10 years we began to catch up on a long and growing backlog of needs, improving more miles of highways than deteriorated into poor condition."

The state transportation package enacted in December 1982 was keyed to a two-cent-a-gallon increase in the 11-cent tax on gasoline and diesel fuel. It also allowed for an additional two-cent increase, using a formula based on the increase in the cost of highway maintenance and the continuing decline in the consumption of gasoline as automobiles become more fuel efficient. The law caps the tax rate at 15 cents.

Gas consumption in Michigan fell by more than 1.1 billion gallons from 1978 to 1983, declining from 4.6 billion gallons to 3.44 billion.

The two-cent increase is expected to raise about $65 million, or $32.5 million per penny. In 1978, each penny of gas tax raised $46 million.

Pitz noted that the nation's auto fleet now is 30 percent more fuel efficient than at the start of the 1973 Arab oil embargo, which started gas prices on an upward spiral.

The average motorist driving 10,000 miles a year in a car getting 14 miles per gallon in 1979 paid $78.50 in state gas taxes at the 11-cent rate then in effect. In 1984, the motorist driving the same distance in a car getting 18 miles a gallon and paying a tax of 15 cents a gallon will be charged $83.40, an increase of $4.90.

Pitz said the added revenue from the 1982 transportation package enabled Michigan to match all federal aid available for highways, roads and streets. The state's share of federal aid rose from $194 million in fiscal year 1982 to $356 million this year.

In calendar year 1983, the Michigan Department costing $382.5 million, more than two and a half times the total of $146 million in low bids last year.

The department takes bids both for work on the 9,470-mile state highway system and on county roads and municipal streets eligible for federal aid.

Pitz said he expects work to be placed under contract in 1984 will again approach $400 million.

What Christmas means

Editor's note: Before 1983 and the holiday season comes to a close you may find it interesting, as we did, to ponder what some of the Balley Lake Elementary fifth-graders of Duane Proctor wrote when faced with the assignment: "What Christmas Means to Me."

Christmas means.....forgiving, eating and getting presents. But most of all celebrating Christ's birthday. And my Grama, too. Having snowball fights, going sledding and Christmas vacation.

-Crissy

Christmas is fun for everyone. Christmas is neat neat neat. Christmas is good just like grub. Christmas is good good good.

I like Christmas; it's fun fun fun. I like Christmas; it's neat to eat. I like Christmas; it's great great great. I do not hate it.

Christmas is sledding and snowmen. Christmas is cookies and lemon bars. Christmas is roast duck. Christmas is a snowball fight.

–Tom

What Christmas means to me. To open presents. And to eat pumpkin pie and coffee. Time to share. And time to laugh out loud. And not go to school. -Roger Cohoon

Meeting adjourned 10:10 p.m.

Christmas is a time of year when your family gets together and you exchange gifts like clothes, or a house, toys, or boys, and that's the kind of stuff!

When you think of Christmas You think of sharing and caring Sledding and skating, tree decorating, snow fights, snowmen Build them if you can

When you think of caroling You think of door-to-door happiness Singing nice songs Go home in the deep, deep snow, making tracks as

When you think of back to school You think of of stupid work Language, social studies. Blah! Then you can't wait to go home and yell, "Rah!" -Matt Meehan

Christmas means to myself No School!! And seeing my grandma and grandpa. And cookies and toys and opening presents. Having my dad home, too!

Christmas should come more often I think Days without presents really stink Toys or games, a sweater in pink But please, this year make it not shrink

If I didn't have sisters I could get more It's my sisters that make my parents poor You should see us all fight, it's like a war Counting our packages to even the score

Of course I'm really sweeter than this I honestly do love both of my sis And what a fun day, they wouldn't miss It's the only day I give them a kiss

And you, Mr. Proctor, I wish good cheer A happy holiday, good food and cold beer Now don't you worry and don't you fear Cause I'm awfully glad I won't be here

Cross-country skier strides for competition

By Dan Vandenhemel

Just a pair of thin knickers, long socks, a sweater, hat and gloves are not the usual amount of clothes worn outside in freezing temperatures...unless you're a cross-country skier.

Cross-country or Nordic skiing varies considerably from downhill skiing.

There is no waiting in line for a lift. Instead, a person is in constant motion, pumping his or her arms, gliding along on 3-inch-wide skis.

For racers, it's even more work.

"Oh you work up quite a sweat," said Dave Fritzinger. "Sometimes the sweat freezes and icicles form on your ears-and mustache.'

For the past two years, Fritzinger, of Robertson Court, Clarkston, has been a cross-country skier. After starting as a casual skier, the 45-year-old roofing contractor has turned to racing.

From the first weekend in January until the snow melts in March, a race can be found almost every weekend throughout the state.

"I just got back from a race in Mancelona (near Traverse City)," Fritzinger said. "It was the first one of the year-I don't think I did very well. I love to compete. I'm a very competitive person."

The races vary in length, anywhere from 10 kilometers to the 60 kilometer Berkiebeiner Race in Hayward, Wisc.

"I went to that one last year," Fritzinger said. "I finished in 4 hours and 50 minutes; not a great time, but a good one for me. The winner finished around two-and-one-half hours. That's the most popular race. Close to 10,000 skiers participate in it each

Besides being fun, cross-country skiing is one of the best forms of exercise, Fritzinger said.

Every part of your body gets into the act," he said. "Your arms, legs, lungs. I've heard it's better that swimming. It's a good wintertime sport.'

For the serious skier, snow and cold temperatures are not musts to have a good workout. A person can ski anytime of the year-all he or sho needs is a set of roller skis.

Roller skis are about 3-feet long and most have . single wheel in front and two in back. With a set o graphite poles, any road or sidewalk is a Nordic trail

'They look like long roller skates," Fritzinge said. "I usually take them out once a week during th year. It duplicates your skiing motion.'

As member of the Ullr ski club, Fritzinger an the 25 other members have practice sessions once week to stay in shape. Most of the club members liv in Oakland County.

Ullr, a Nordic god, is described in "Larousse World Mythology" as a hunter who traveled about the woods on snowshoes, the forerunners of skis, and who liked running across vast expanses of ice and shooting game with his arrows.

Dashing through the snow on his cross-country skies is Dave Fritzinger. Racing and casual skiing are good exercise because the skier use

Volves pull out victory in final minute

By Dan Vandenhemel

Dan Fife received an early Christmas gift from the Clarkston Wolves as they defeated West Bloomfield, 44-41. Varsity coach Fife admitted to not having a very good coaching game. But the varsity Wolves came through and won the game in the final minute of play. Craig Kulaszewski made a pair of free throws with 19 seconds left to clinch their third victory in four "That put us up by three," Fife said, "He came through well. The Lakers fell to 1-4 and were led by Todd Krumm, West Bloomfield's all-everything with 21 points.

A slow-down offense kept the scoring lower and kept the Lakers in the game.

They worked the ball around the whole game," Fife said: "They would make six, eight, 10 passes before taking a shot.

"That's where I made the coaching mistakes," he said: "I should have tried to pick up the tempo of the game. The kids played good but we played their.

The Wolves led the entire game until the final minutes. During the last 60 seconds. Clarkston scored six points; Erik Kline hit:two of his 13 points to retake the lead. Dave Jokisch and Chris Bruce followed with 11 and nine points.

"When Erik came back in, we were able to p up the tempo!" Fife said. "The defense was setti back and letting them pass the ball around

"We had scouted them earlier and knew what expect: But since then they we changed a lot around.

The Wolves have trouble playing on the road by managed wins at Davison and West Bloomfield. A home, they have played well twice but lost to Detro Catholic, Central and beat Waterford Mott Eife does not see this as a pattern developing

The first road game against Davison we migh have been a little nervous he said: "Agains West Bloomfield, it was my fault. I m just glad we won

The angel's not quite straight on the top of the family room Christmas tree, so Michael works to correct the problem.

Decoration tradition

anta slips into the Independence Township home of Ron and Judy Galley on Dec. 6. He leaves a small gift, a Christmus decoration of some sort, for 9 year-old Jeff. What it means, says Judy, is it's time to begin decorating for the holiday.

"I think everywhere you look in the house should have a little bit of (Christmas)," she says, "Even everyone's bedroom should have something."

Each of their three children used to have a small Christmas tree of their own in their rooms, but Michael, 16, and Brian, 14, have opted this year for strings of Christmas lights.

Jeff is the one who keeps the tradition alive. He has his own box of ornaments including construction paper chains he made last year, and this year's Dec. 6 gift from Santa—an ornament sporting Carfield, the popular cartoon cat.

Highlights in the rest of the Galleys' home on Valley Park Drive include a collection of toys in the foyer, a huge Christmas tree in the living room, a smaller one in the family room surrounded by a ceramic village and nine centerpieces and arrangements made of pine boughs and accountrements.

Judy and her partner, Marianne Gowlin, own Clarkston's Flower Adventure, a florist and gift shop, so it's no surprise she has the talent.

The question is, however, how she finds the time. Judy says it's a matter of priorities.

"People ask us all the time if we decorate our houses or if we have our shopping done, but I decorate at night or early in the morning," she says. "Yesterday I spent all evening making centerpieces instead of baking cookies or going grocery shopping or doing the laundry. I try to get the others to do those things."

Ron and the boys decorate the outside of their home—the garlands around the fence, wreath on the garage door and the placing of their 25-year-old Santa figure.

Traditions. They're what Christmas is all about.

- Kathy Greenfield

Judy Galley's dining room has that holiday look. The wrapped chandelier, centerplece and arrangement atop the china cabinet leave no doubt it's Christmas.

lmmunization clinic closes

There will no longer be a free immunization clinic conducted by the Oakland County Health Division in Independence Township.

The last of the monthly clinics at the Knights of Columbus Hall on Maybee Road was held Dec. 1.

"There was no longer a need to have a children's immunization clinic there," said Julie Sochalski, supervisor of the general clinic.

The clinic was one of several established across the county to help bring up the immunizations for children.

But the number of clients decreased, and township residents live only about seven miles I the county clinic in Pontiac, she said.

Hours at the Pontiac walk-in clinic at 120 Telegraph are Mondays from noon to 4:30 p.m. 5:30 to 8 p.m., and Tuesdays through Fridays 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. and 1 to 4:30 p.m.

Immunizations are available in measles. man measles, DPT and polio. TB skin testing pavailable. Children under 18 must be accompani a parent or guardian and shot records are reque

For more information call 858-1301.

Conference cares for childre

The Child Health Conference is a service for needy children from birth to age 5 provided by the Oakland County Health Division.

"(It's) basically for well children, an ongoing preventive service for families who cannot provide this kind of care," said Ellen Lagerquist, Child Health Care Conference coordinator.

"We have served many families in the Clarkston area," she added.

Clients are scheduled by appointment for sessions held twice monthly at the Church of the Resurrection on Clarkston Road, Independence Township, one of 14 sites throughout the county.

The tax-supported program provides physical aminations, immunizations, and counseling public health nurse on nutrition, growth and devel ment and other questions that may arise.

In order to participate, needs families in register a child by his or her second birthday.

Residents whose children may be eligible can call 858-1311 for more information.

They will be contacted by a public health muse prior to enrollment in the Child Health Conference.

- More supervision for DPW

By Marilyn Trumper

Independence Township's department of public works will soon have a general foreman.

On Dec. 20, in a 5-1 vote, the board approved the position and its $22,000 salary.

"Now we can get on with posting and filling the job. The union's already approved it," said DPW Director George Anderson said, indicating the leading candidate comes from the DPW's rank and file with an $18,000-a-year salary.

"I needed another line beneath me for management purposes, between me and the bargaining unit," Anderson said. "Someone to organize the work schedule."

The foreman is to be responsible for all work scheduling in the water, sewer and cemetery departments and, in the absence of the full-time plumbing inspector, to perform plumbing, heating and sewer tap inspections.

Trustee Larence Kozma was the lone dissenter, and after the meeting he explained his vote.

"I don't believe it's necessary," Kozma said. "We're paying him $4,000 a year more for doing essentially the same job. If he's going to be management, he shouldn't remain in the union. We're making him a foreman, a mangement position. To keep him in the union is ludicrous."

-1983 in review

Hugh Garner receives the state's certificate of need for his proposed senior citizen complex, Clarkston Place.

State Rep. Mat Dunaskiss (R-61st District) fails to capture his party's nomination for the senate race and will complete his term.

Pediatrician James O'Neill, M.D., explores the pregnancy phenomenon among local teens. "It's a rare day someone doesn't come in worried about being pregnant," he says.

In Clarkston Ambulatory Clinic's first night of operation, O'Neill sees two patients, one for the flu, the second for an injured foot.

DEC. 14, 1983

The Independence Township Board hires a school liaison/crime prevention deputy over objections from leading personnel at the Oakland County Sheriff's Department. Capt. James Curtis and Detective Sgt. Roger Allen want more road patrol.

The Clarkston school district's board of education ratifies the 1984-85 teacher's contract which includes a 6 percent salary increase.

The assistant principal at Clarkston Junior High resigns, effective Jan. 22, for a job in the private sector. Cecelia Wiar will be the new vice president in charge of operations for DeAngelis & Co., Troy.

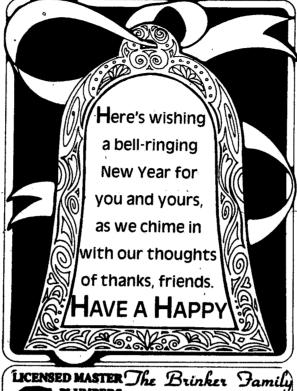

DEC. 21, 1983

Independence Township firefighters oppose a proposed schedule the board says will eliminate $19,000 in overtime. Firefighters say only $4,000 was paid in overtime last year, and that the contract doesn't address the addition of a shift-man position.

Builders, realtors and developers no longer give gifts to employes at Independence Township Hall. Not one box of candy crosses a counter this holiday

The Clarkston Village Council adopts a park ordinance so police have laws to enforce rather than rules. On a humorous note, one portion of the ordinance says all deadly snakes in Depot Road Park must be immediately reported to the village president. Following a public hearing to explore police protection priorities, the Springfield Township board hires a third deputy to patrol the rural township. There's no race for Clarkston Village Council's March election. All candidates run unopposed for the two-year terms, and there is one less trustee candidate than there are openings.
