Fleet buys Riverside

By Marilyn Trumper

Paramed Inc., owners of Fleet and Suburban ambulance companies, bought Riverside Ambulance Friday afternoon for an undisclosed sum.

Riverside has serviced Independence and Springfield townships for at least nine years, and will continue to do so, keeping its base station in the basement of pediatrician James O'Neill's office on M-15, according to Floyd Miles Jr., an Independence Township resident and one of Paramed's three owners.

The sale makes Paramed the second largest ambulance company in the state rivaled only by Taylor Ambulance, and makes it the largest paramedic service in Michigan for Advanced Life Support, Miles said.

Before the sale Friday, Riverside fired its 40 employees and eliminated the payroll. After the sale Paramed rehired 12 paramedics, Miles said.

"We had 40 applications in here, and had an extensive screening process, our standards are pretty high, and we took the people most qualified for the job. We hired 12," he said, adding it was the amount needed to cost-effectively operate this quadrant of the county.

"This should fantastically increase the amount of service to people in the community, and lower the cost of running the system," Miles said. "Before this we had to move our cars all over to provide service at times when Riverside might not have been busy. Now we'll be covering everything."

Before the sale, Fleet covered the Rochester area westward, Suburban covered the southeast sector of the county and Riverside covered northwest, he said.

"Now we're all over the county, covering everything except for Holly and Rose townships, South Lyon and Addison," Miles said.

The nearest base station other than the one in Independence remains at Hatchery and Frembes roads, Waterford Township.

Miles' partners are John Eschbach of Royal Oak and Richard Rudlaff of Union Lake.

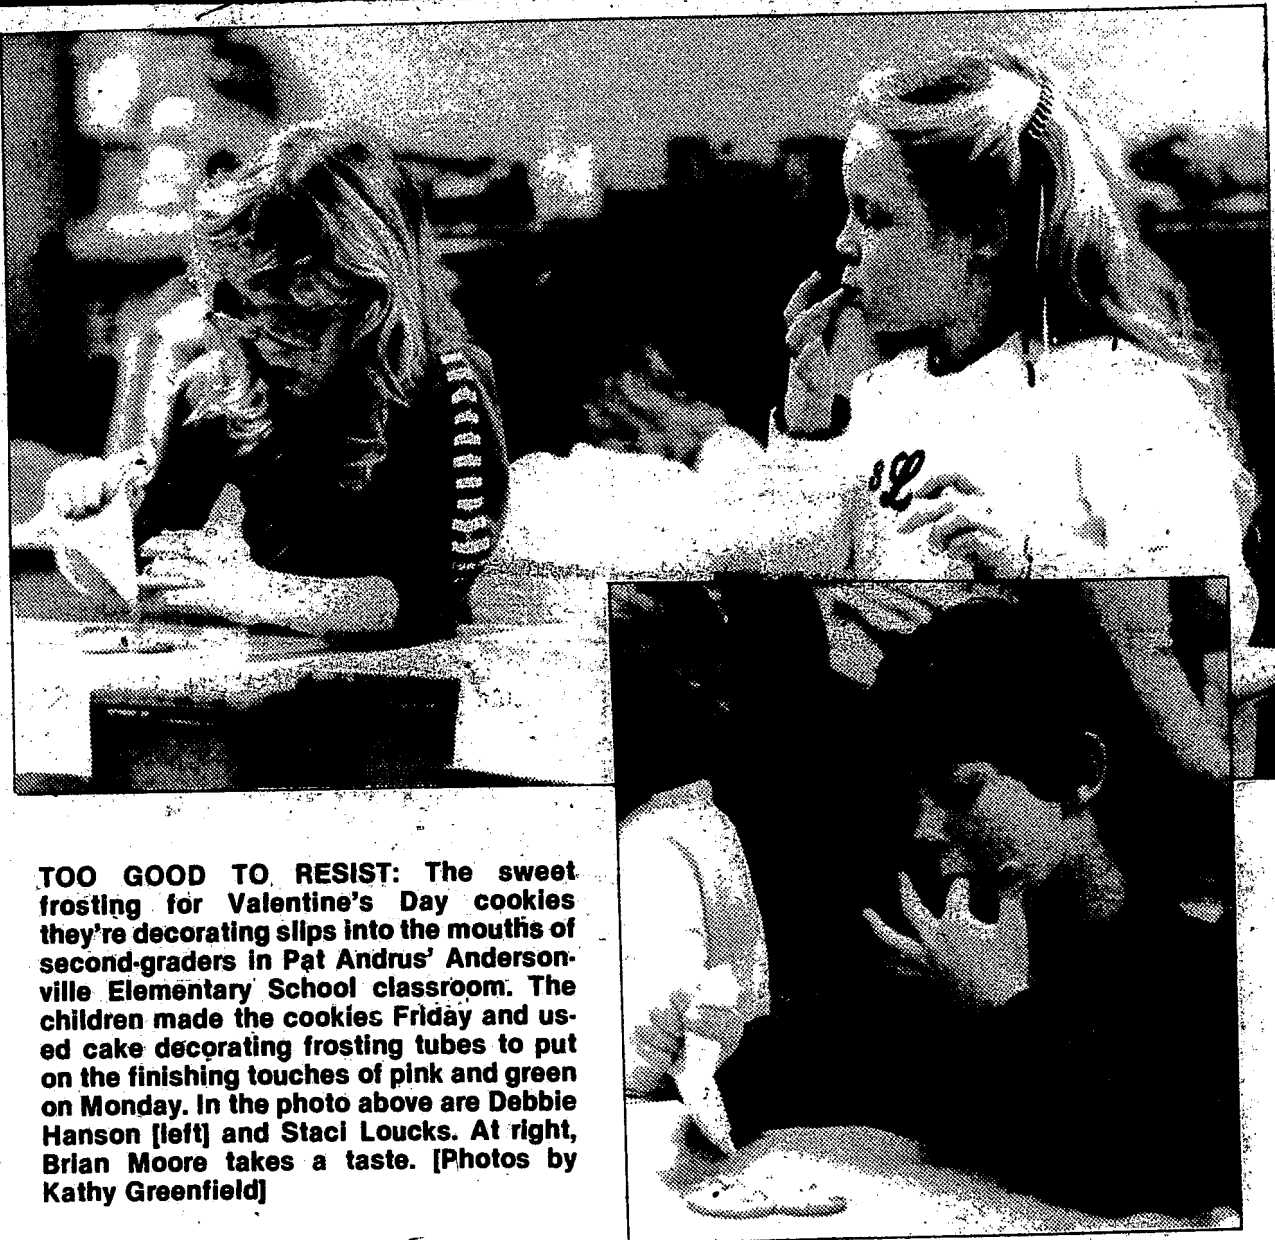

Ex-astronaut in town

Former astronaut and candidate for the United States Senate Jack Lousma is to be guest of honor and speaker at a luncheon hosted by State Rep. Mat Dunaskiss on Friday, March 2.

Residents may make reservations to attend by calling Carol Balzarini at 625-5948. The cost is $7 a person.

The buffet luncheon is planned in the library of the Northwest Oakland Vocational Education Center on Big Lake Road at 11:30 a.m.

A tour of the center will be available following the luncheon.

OCSD starts traffic crackdown

By Marilyn Trumper

The Oakland County Sheriff's Department is cracking down on speeders, stop sign and stop light runners and tailgaters in Independence and Springfield townships—and all of Oakland County.

According to Deputy Mark Gallo, those three violations caused 80 percent of Oakland County's 420 traffic accidents in January.

The pattern is repeated in all other months, he said.

Gallo proposes briefing the department's 416 deputies to watch for the violations and instruct them to begin issuing tickets.

"I'd like to see us make an effort to reduce the number of accidents by making the public aware of these things, that their driving is dangerous and how many accidents they cause," he said.

Gallo says he'll make a presentation to the sheriff this week, and expects the crackdown to begin thereafter.

Of the county's 420 accidents in January, 9.3 percent, or 39, were from speeding; 85, or 20.2 percent were from failure to yield; and 49 percent, or 206, were from following too closely.

The remainder were from violations like driving left of center, improper passing and turning without a signal, Gallo said.

Road face-lift set

Davisburg Road in Springfield Township is in store for an extensive face-lift this summer.

The one-mile gravel section between Dixie Highway and Bridge Lake Road is one of the most used portions of road in the township, said Supervisor Collin Walls.

"Over 1,500 cars go over that a day," Walls said. "It's a direct, or short route, between the two roads."

Payment for the grading, leveling and paving comes from $300,000 in federal funds and $100,000 from the township.

"Bids should go out sometime in March and the work should begin around June," Walls said.

Township OKs safety path's new Phase III

By Marilyn Trumper

More safety path construction will be underway come spring in Independence Township.

In a 6-1 vote Feb. 7, the township board concurred with the Safety Path Committee's last three recommendations to build connecting links and approved Phase III construction.

But there's only enough funding to finance the first recommendation: the south side of Maybee Road to Winell Street, crossing Maybee to the north side to Chestnut Hill Subdivision, at a projected cost of $75,000.

In addition, because there's not enough money to finance the full route, just 300 feet of the proposed Waldon Road to Almond Lane site will have a new safety path connecting to the existing sidewalks.

The subdivision developer is expected to continue the path in front of the new homes, according to Joseph Figa, committee chairman.

Because there's no funding, the third proposal, Sashabaw Road from Clarkston Road north to Independence Oaks County Park, has been put on the back burner.

The township has approximately $112,000 to finance Phase III, not including engineering costs, according to Figa.

Trustee Larence Kozma disliked safety path crossings mid-street and was the lone dissenter, arguing against it for safety reasons.

He reminded the board of McDonald's restaurant statistics two years ago that showed a high number of cars daily drive Sashabaw Road near Maybee.

"You're going to have crossings no matter where you build," Figa said. "There's no way to avoid them."

We put the paths where we have the least number of properties, where they'll serve the most people. Maybee will serve the most people."

Clerk Richard Holman and William Vandermark favored the Maybee Road path for the same reason.

"I'm in favor of it simply because it serves more people," Vandermark said.

After the meeting, Figa said he's pleased with progress.

"But we need more support, and the committee really needs more members," he said.

With a 16-vote margin in 1979 residents approved .3 mill to finance part of a proposed 50-mile safety path network. The millage is expected to total $1 million at the end of its 10-year collection.

-Corrections-

A story in last week's Clarkston News incorrectly named the chairman of Independence Township's board of appeals.

In fact, the chairman is John Dunlop.

A story in last week's Clarkston News incorrectly reported the status of developer Ronald Helin's proposed office/retail complex on M-15, Independence Township.

In fact, he's received all necessary zoning variances and goes next to the planning commission for site plan approval.

Information on the Camp Fire candy sale on last week's Millstream page was about the sale sponsored by the Detroit council.

Camp Fire members in the Clarkston area come under the auspices of the North Oakland County Camp Fire Council.

Their annual sale is planned March 23 through April 7, with candy bars selling for $1.

Teen faces 2 manslaughter charges

A 17-year-old Independence Township girl faces two counts of manslaughter for a January traffic accident that took the lives of two Waterford Kettering High School teens.

Shirley Jo Lund of Cramlane Road, a senior at Clarkston High, was arraigned Friday in 51st District Court before Magistrate John McGrath.

Lund stood mute to both charges and a plea of innocent was entered on her behalf. She's scheduled for a preliminary exam March 12 before Judge Kennth Hempstead.

Lund is free after posting a $10,000 personal bond, according to a court spokesperson.

According to Waterford Township Police, Lund allegedly failed to stop her pickup truck at a light on M-59 and Cass Lake roads in Waterford Township and hit a car driven by Jeffrey Craig Lamson, 17.

Lamson and his passenger, John W. Wilson, 15, died from injuries sustained in the accident.

According to police, Lund had been drinking.

Post office spends $7,000 to thwart vandals

By Kathy Greenfield

A 7-foot high metal fence—topped with an additional foot of barbed wire—now surrounds most of the Clarkston Post Office property.

The fence, that cost between $6,000 and $7,000, is an effort to thwart a severe vandalism problem, according to Postmaster William O. Kinsley.

"One of the things that led to the fence was the rural mail carriers who use their own cars have had their windshields smashed while working in the building," he said.

The windshields are just the beginning of the vandalism list in the 10 months Kinsley's been postmaster.

CB's and hubcaps have been stolen from employees' cars.

A fire was set in a 25-square-foot bed of wood chips behind the building.

Gasoline has been siphoned from mail jeeps.

Windows have been broken in the rear dock area.

A leather jacket and other items were taken when Kinsley's car was broken into.

One Monday last November postal employees arrived at work to find all the air let out of the tires of mail delivery vehicles.

While there are no suspects in the crimes, Kinsley has an idea who the vandals are.

"Kids out there with nothing better to do," he said. "We feel it's not just one person, it's a lot of people and mainly because of the lack of security that we had—the easy access from the back of the building."

Times for vandalism frequently coincide with the end of the day for high school and junior high students—between 2:30 and 3 p.m.

Mail deliverers have also had trouble with students pelting vehicles with rocks near the high school.

Kinsley said he requested assistance from the high school and the police before the decision was made to pay for the fence.

Bids were taken for the project and it was awarded to the lowest bidder, he said.

"Ultimately it does cost us a lot more in operating expenses for windshields that are smashed, batteries stolen and tires that are slashed," he said.

"It also hurts people of the community because sometimes it results in late deliveries.

"It's my job as postmaster to secure the building, the equipment, the vehicles. The $6,000 is a relatively low price when we're talking about (the possibility of) the building being burned down, all the vehicles ruined so they have to be replaced, the employees' vehicles being ruined...

"Our only hesitation about installing the fence was we didn't want to create an unfriendly atmosphere," he added.

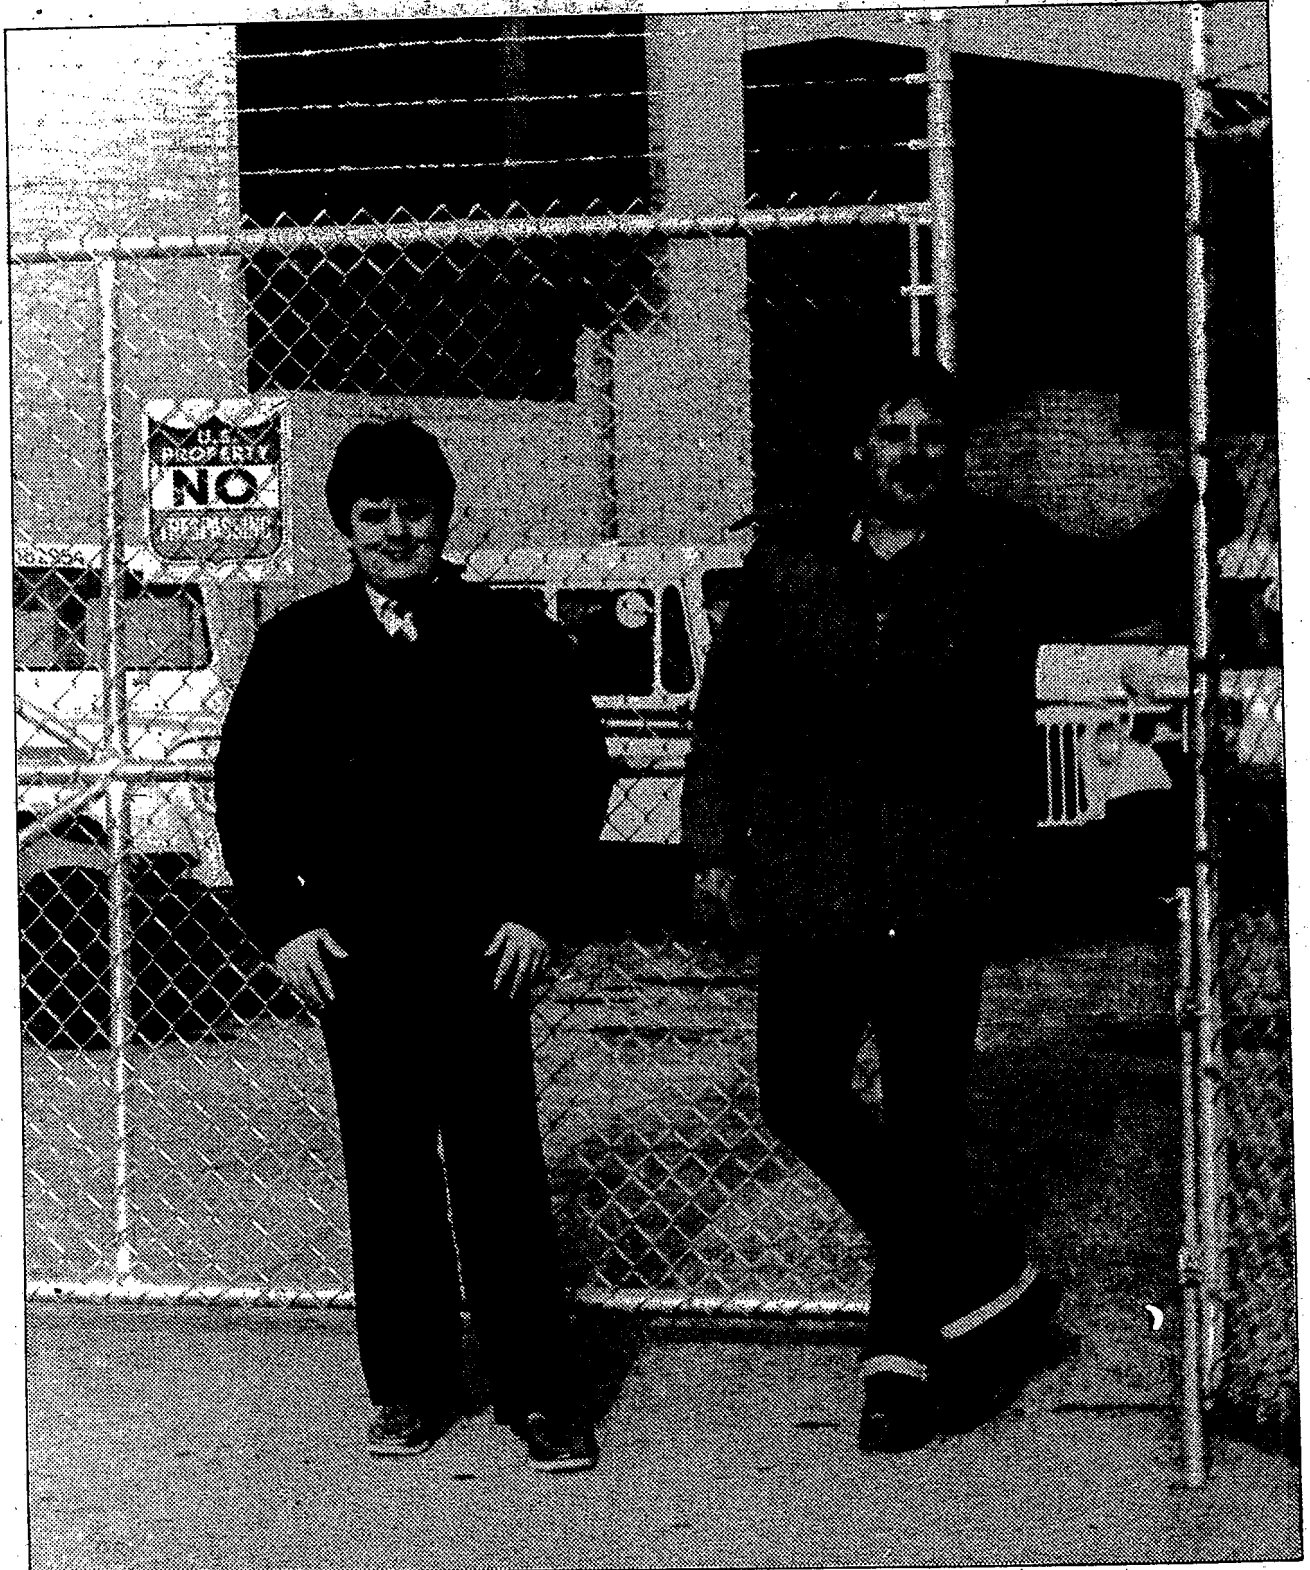

The fence installation was completed last Tuesday, and two days later about 20 people called to complain about the fence, Kinsley said.

He's requested permission from postal authorities for more parking spaces in the unfenced portion in front of the building and patrons may park inside the fence when the gate is open during business hours, he said.

The vandalism is not a new problem, according to Ken Shepard, who has worked four years in maintenance at the post office.

He adds to Kinsley's vandalism list dirt in gas tanks, stereos stolen from post office employees' cars, paint sprayed on the building, beer cans left in the three-sided vestibule and tire tracks from motorcycles and cars on the lawn.

"It's a good thing we do have the fence," he said.

Clarkston Postmaster William O. Kinsley II (left) and maintenance employee Ken Shepherd stand at the gate that locks the newly fenced portion of the Clarkston Post Office's about two-acre site on M-15 near Dixie Highway in Independence Township.

Shared deputy on back burner

By Marilyn Trumper

Both township supervisors agree that Independence and Springfield shared deputy will not begin working until the Oakland County Sheriff's Department's 1984-85 contract is hammered out.

"We've put that on the back burner," said Independence's Supervisor James B. Smith. "Why should we hire a deputy for crime prevention and road patrol and work in the schools if that's what we're going to be getting with the A-Team?"

"Remember our deputy is going to work from January to March, the rest of the fiscal year. We don't know what's going to happen, but if the A-Team is going to provide the same service we'd be paying for, it would be foolish to approve the expansion."

Springfield Supervisor Collin Walls said it appears the board of commissioners' proposed increase in the sheriff department's contract pay means a $60 increase to Springfield's bill.

Walls doesn't understand what all the controversy's about.

"What's $60? I don't see there's anything to talk about. In that case, their proposal is very reasonable and went easier than I might have expected," he said.

Currently Independence and Springfield townships pay $48,708 for each deputy. The proposal would increase the amount paid for each deputy to

"Why would we hire a deputy ... if that's what we're going to be getting with the A-Team?"—Supervisor Smith $48,768 in 1984 and $51,349 in 1985. The cost-per-deputy includes all expenses, including supervision and equipment.

"I thought it would be greater, and I thought it would be a one-year contract, not two. I'm happy with two. When the county board of commissioners proposed the increase, it was not done in an adversary relationship. There was no Republican versus Democrat or county executive versus the sheriff. There was real concern to the townships and their budgetary restraints," he said.

Currently Independence supplements its $292,248 police bill with $59,000 in federal revenue sharing.

Springfield's police bill is approximately $90,000, financed solely with their 1 mill.

Election deadline

Candidates for Independence Township's 1984 election can pick up petitions at Independence Township Hall, 90 N. Main, Clarkston, Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Deadline for petitions is June 5 at 4 p.m.

Republican candidates must have 28 signatures, and Democratic candidates must have 44.

The numbers are based on a percentage of votes cast in the last secretary of state's race, according to township Clerk Richard Holman.

Candidates can file for the full-time offices of supervisor, treasurer, clerk, or the part-time offices of the four trustee seats. All are four-year terms.

Dentist to build his own office

After seven years at the Pine Knob Plaza, Jack Shader, D.D.S., is building a new office in the Sashabaw corridor, just south of the Cowan Chiropractic Clinic.

On Feb. 9, the Independence Township Planning Commission tabled final site plan approval, wanting more information about parking lot lights, according to Joe Noll, owner of Stylemaster Builders.

"But I don't anticipate any problem," Noll said after the meeting. "We expect to break ground mid-March, and be finished by the first of July."

Shader proposes a two-story, 5,000-square-foot office building with four suites on 1.17 acres zoned office, Noll said.

The planning commission is expected to review the plan Feb. 23.

"We're pretty excited about this," Shader said when contacted after the meeting. "We offer comprehensive orthodontics and general dentistry, and ran out of space here. It's going to be a real contemporary building with California stone and cedar, with trees growing inside and and hopefully an aquarium with a large waiting room."

"My partner, Janet Thomas and Bob Wiar have an accounting business, and they'll be renting the top floor," he finished.

Jack Shader, D.D.S., plans to build this four-suite office in the Sashabaw Corridor, south of the Cowan Chiropractic Clinic. He goes before the planning commission Feb. 23 for site plan approval.

- Sheriff's log -

Wednesday, thieves broke into La Veranda Ristorante at the Pine Knob complex, 5580 Waldon, Independence Township, and stole cigarettes from the machine and an undetermined amount of wine. A full list of stolen items is not available.

Thursday, vandals glued a gate lock on a fence on property off Clintonville Road, Independence Township, then returned, put a padlock on the gate and filed off the serial numbers.

Sunday, thieves stole a tractor blade from a yard on Rattalee Lake Road, Springfield Township.

Sunday, vandals cut a chain link fence on Dixie Highway, Independence Township.

Sunday, thieves broke into a car and stole a $120 car stereo on Clinton Road, Independence Township.

This information came from reports at the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

Liberal rising

Al Zawacky

One thing about Ronald Reagan: He has the uncanny ability to raise the blood pressure of America's liberals. He did it again when he recently restructured the Civil Rights Commission to better reflect his conservative point of view.

The cry from the left was shrill, for Reagan was firing a broadside on that most sacred of liberal sacred cows, affirmative action and racial quotas. From the uproar, you'd think the President has repealed the Emancipation Proclamation, rather than taken steps to curb one of the most counter-productive and indefensible bits of public policy ever to appear on the landscape of American politics.

THE REAL IRONY is that Mr. Reagan's conservatism is more in harmony with the liberal viewpoint of 20 years ago, when Congress passed the Civil Rights Act. It is the liberals who are sounding dissonant chords.

The just rallying cry of civil rights proponents in those days was the creation of a "color blind" society; one in which a person's racial or ethnic background is a matter of no account. Amen.

That was the ideal. The reality is that we have gone on to create one of the most color-conscious—indeed, color obsessed—societies in history.

Public and private sector promotions and hirings have less and less to do with qualifications, and more and more to do with satisfying some specious formula for social justice. Government forms and college applications routinely require us to check off little boxes to indicate our racial background, for the purpose of...well, for the purpose of what?

What difference should it make to our government or a publicly-supported university, whether you're white, black, hispanic, oriental or native American? My temptation (successfully resisted to date), has always been to neatly print alongside racial queries: "None of your damn business."

IT IS THIS obsession with race that permits to pass without challenge or rebuke Jesse Jackson's recent vow that, if he is nominated, he will select a woman as his vice-presidential running mate.

Mind you, it doesn't matter if there are better qualified men available. Mr. Jackson is saying he has already made up his mind to select a woman, simply because she's a woman. I would call that a "judgement or opinion formed beforehand or without knowledge or examination of the facts...a preconceived preference or idea, bias."

That's my dictionary's definition of "prejudice."

The irony is that American liberals have become the chief practitioners of what they originally set out to destroy 20 years ago.

Editorial

Proposed sales tax law unfair

A year or so ago the "sales tax on the difference" law was passed giving a break to new car buyers. The state legislature finally realized, thanks to the depressed auto economy, that it was wrong to pay a tax on a car upon which you had already paid tax.

Before the law, if you paid $10,000 for a new car you were taxed $400.

With the law, if you paid $10,000 for a new car and were given $3,000 in trade, you paid the sales tax only on the difference, $280.

That's fine for new car dealers . . . and buyers of new cars, but now the wholesale buyers and used car dealers want the same break as their brethren. This, too, is right.

Out of committee and before the State

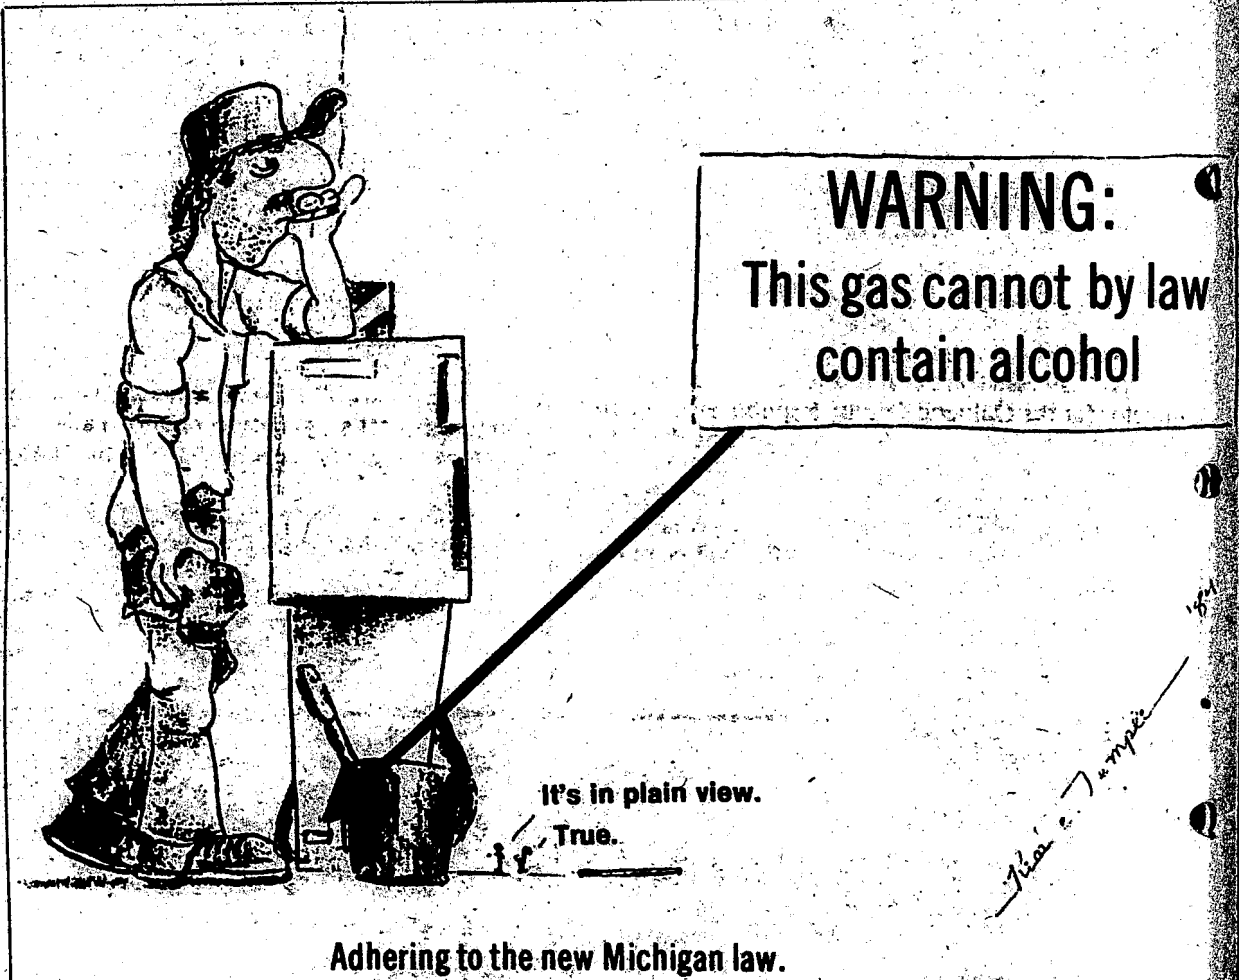

Senate is Bill 613, which would allow both types of dealers to tax the difference. However, it would also put a cap of $30 million on the amount taxpayers could save in buying cars.

Reports from Lansing are that the governor and treasurer would like to see this law fail, the first one repealed. They can see the loss of $87 million in the state budget if the "difference" law were to pass without a cap.

Since we paid sales tax on our original purchase, we should not have to forfeit that tax to the state when we trade in that car, whether it be for a new or used vehicle, and pay on the total price of another car.

Legislators should realize that's wrong. You see one of 'em, tell 'em, or write this week, you care.

—J.A.

Jim's Jottings

Eating my words

Jim Sherman

When it comes to eating one's own words or breaking promises (spoken or unspoken) to one's self I must be in the top five percent. I've been thinking of the things I've said I would never do, that I have now done, and products that would never sell (I said), that we now can't do without.

It's frightening to have been wrong so often, to have been talked into something with advertising, or to just not thought through whatever it was I was subjected to.

Take pumping my own gas. "I'll never pump my own gas!" That was when the difference per gallon was three cents. When it became 10 cents and over $2.00 a fill I pumped.

"It is sissy to wear a helmet while snowmobiling!" Then a broken end of a branch cut across my cold cheek.

I have also said, "I will never 'need' a vacation, never jog, exercise or diet, never use throw away razors, wear clothes with product names emblazoned thereon, or turn down pumpkin pie.

All these have come to pass. Age and medical advice has prompted some actions. Convenience has played a part. So has being practically unable to buy a golf sweater without a telling insignia.

I must have been in my second year in the Navy (during the Big WW Two) that I had my first cup of coffee, thus breaking that pledge.

I was never going to be so vain I'd put a stiffener on my hair, but I have. I don't like it, but the disheveled look doesn't say much for a person's character either.

Another promise to myself has been broken quite frequently in the last year. I've always felt boss should be at work as soon as his employees. Thus seldom in the past 28 years I've been on the job much after 8 a.m. If I're of them, I should likewise follow the rule.

Now I reason, I have the most seniority. I'm giving the 'late' privilege to all those who match my time.

I haven't listed all the promises I've broken but I would like you to know there are some. I've left in place. Like, I'll never buy a foreign car (the Opel 20 years ago was Hazel's). I'll never join a health club, never buy a video recorder and never use bath salts.

Of course, I'm not betting next week's salary on maintaining my opposition to any of the above over a day and a half.

Keep windows in our schools

Ruth Basinger's letter concerning the windows of our schools prompted me to write this letter.

In that letter, she expressed some of the thoughts I had after reading the school board proposal several weeks ago.

As a contract interior designer who has worked on many renovations as well as new buildings, I was appalled at the apparent lack of research done by our school board.

The proposed energy solution appears to be a very costly and permanent approach to this problem. In the last seven years many new and exciting window treatments have been developed for improving R-values.

Although they may not achieve maximum R-value, they come very close and are less costly. Many of these treatments are maintenance free and can be adjusted for the prevailing weather.

As an involved parent with students in the Clarkston schools, I'm aware of the many problems we have in keeping our schools comfortable for our children and teaching staff.

In the spring when the heat is still on, one side of the building can be roasting and the other side freezing.

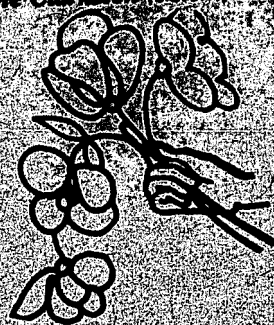

When children come in from recess into one of these hot rooms, the odor can be unbearable, especially in the upper elementary rooms where the youngsters' glands are undergoing changes.

This past Friday I met a teacher that one of my children had a couple of years ago, who has since retired.

She asked me what I thought about "boarding up" the windows. She couldn't believe they were doing it and said they if they did this she would never vote for another millage in this community again.

She has expressed my sentiments exactly.

High Jaycee praise

I would like to take an opportunity to publicly thank the Clarkston Area Jaycees for a recent donation to the Clarkston SCAMP program.

The Clarkston area Jaycees have been trying over the past years to reorganize and rejuvenate their organization.

Congratulations, Jaycees, you have succeeded! You have achieved a major goal of your organization—to assist local charities.

On behalf of the North Oakland SCAMP Funding Corp. and the over 200 students with special needs who participate in SCAMP, we congratulate and thank you.

Lew Wint, President
North Oakland SCAMP Funding Corp.

Wanted: Campaign workers

County and township Republicans are looking for a lot of good people who want to get involved in the 1984 election campaign.

Between now and Nov. 6, we need people who would like to be part of the political process whether by working for Republicans in general, or for particular candidates.

If you'd like to work in your own neighborhood, contact your precinct delegate: No. 1—Beverly Clemon, No. 2—Jim Maddox, No. 3—Rich Oppmann, No. 4—Tom Ritter, No. 5—Tamara Ellsworth, No. 6—Robert Anderson, No. 7—Carol Balzarini, No. 8—Rich Kuhn Jr., No. 9—Lillian Higgins, No. 10 (we need someone), No. 11—Bob Borror.

You can also contact Jon Gaskill who is township director for the Oakland County Republican Committee. Sometimes it's easier for you to find us than it is for us to find you.

Many candidates for major offices have formed campaign committees and are looking for volunteers.

This year nearly every public office will be on the ballot from the township level to the president of the United States.

You can get information about other campaigns by calling the Oakland County Republican Committee at 645-8414 in Birmingham.

If you're interested in a major campaign with a local candidate, contact Tom Ritter who is seeking the Republican nomination for the 6th Congressional District seat in the August primary.

If you want to be a candidate yourself, nominating petitions are now available in the elections divisions of the county clerk's office. Locally, Jon Gaskill will have precinct delegate petitions.

The number of signatures needed varies according to the office. Filing deadline for precinct delegates is May 29; for all others, June 5.

Every campaign needs help; no volunteer is ever turned away. Be forewarned, however, that the work is not very glamorous. It's making phone calls, stuffing envelopes, going door-to-door or addressing postcards.

Your only guaranteed reward is the knowledge that you have been a part of the political process and that your hard work has been appreciated.

Carol Balzarini
Northwest Regional Director
Oakland County Republican Committee

THE CLARKSTON NEWS LETTER POLICY

'If It Fitz...

A real elephant

Jim Fitzgerald

Instead of rehiring a laid-off police officer, Detroit taxpayers might spend $100,000 to promote a killing. I wouldn't put it that way, except I'm practicing to be a politician.

Mayor Young put something that way when many people, including no less an expert than Howard Cosell, criticized Detroit for spending $100,000 to promote the Thomas Hearn-Luigi Minchillo prize fight Saturday.

Citing a recent outbreak of schoolgirl rapes plus other crimes, the critics said the mayor should use the $100,000 to provide more police protection for beleaguered citizens, rather than to subsidize a professional fight. And Mayor Young, who laid off 224 cops in September, retorted that $100,000 was enough to pay even two officers when the cost of pensions and other fringe benefits were added to their annual salary.

That's what I call the gnat-elephant comparison technique, most often used by politicians and bureaucrats. The idea is that no matter how much public money is spent for specious reasons, it can be made to look like an insignificant sum—small as a gnat—simply by comparing it to an elephantine expenditure a million times bigger.

When a citizen complains about the Pentagon spending $20 million to restore a 1945 battleship, he is told that elimination of the battleship project would result in a savings too laughably tiny to see, because $20 million is less than two-fifths of one-half percent of the total defense budget for one day.

So the picayune taxpayer should quit bellyaching about a sum of money too trifling to make the slightest difference in the life of the average citizen who spends a larger percentage of his hourly income on beer than on restoring battleships and, in fact, probably drinks too much to realize how important it is that all admirals have enough boats to keep them amused in the bathtub.

It's only $20 million, compared to $200 trillion, for lord's sake. Why worry about getting bit by a gnat when you're being trampled by an elephant?

SHORTLY BEFORE going into the fight game, Mayor Young used the gnat-elephant comparison technique on food. When it was revealed that six tons of food intended for Detroit's needy were allowed to spoil in city-owned warehouses, Young said the waste wasn't so bad because six tons was "less than a tenth of a percent" of the goods handled by the Mayor's Emergency Relief Fund in the last year. Beautiful.

Similarly, the mayor implied it would cost several million dollars to rehire the 224 cops laid off last year, so it's silly to say the paltry $100,000 spent on promoting a fight would be better used to prevent rapes. And, according to the mayor and his supporters, a well-publicized prizefight will improve Detroit's national image as a place to go to have a good time.

TO ANSWER the mayor's argument effectively, I'm using a version of his gnat-elephant technique. It's not enough to say a poverty-racked city shouldn't be in the sports-promotion business. Baseball is a sport, and it's OK with me that Detroit owns Tiger Stadium. But a 24-year-old boxer named Isidro (Gino) Perez died last fall after suffering a head injury during a lightweight fight in Madison Square Garden.

During the last 38 years, well over 300 fighters died from injuries suffered in the ring. In 1981, Perez himself knocked out Fred Bowman in the sixth round at Atlantic City, and Bowman slipped into a coma and died a year later. Boxing is the only "sport" in which the goal is to pound the opponent into insensibility.

So I'm not saying it's wrong to force taxpayers to subsidize an athletic event. That's a gnat. I'm saying Thomas Hearn, sometimes called the Motor City Hit Man, is generally favored to "murder" Luigi Minchillo in Joe Louis Arena Saturday night.

I hope it doesn't happen, of course, but Detroit taxpayers could end up paying to promote a killing. That's an elephant.

Ritter solo on Republican bill

By Kathy Greenfield

It appears Tom Ritter no longer has competition within the Republican Party for nomination as a candidate for United States Congress.

Dr. Clare Johnson of Waterford Township has withdrawn from the 6th Congressional District race.

That leaves Ritter, an Independence Township resident, without a Republican opponent, unless another member of the party decides to seek nomination.

It also eliminates the office from the August primary election ballot, Ritter said, allowing him to concentrate on the November election.

"We're very happy," he said. "We still have a lot of work to do, but it's going to make it easier not to have to face a primary."

"It now gives us the opportunity to concentrate on Mr. Carr (incumbent Congressman Bob Carr, a Democrat) and his record as a congressman, and it gives us an opportunity to change some of our organization."

A minimum of 1,200 verified signatures of registered voters are required for a Republican nominee to appear on the ballot, and Ritter said he has not heard of any other Republican at work gathering signatures, due in June.

Johnson's decision to withdraw from the race was "a unifying thing on his part, and he deserves all the recognition in the world," Ritter said.

"At this point in time we're moving forward and are very happy to have (Johnson) as part of our team and gratified that we can count on him as one of our supporters."

The 6th Congressional District stretches from Pontiac to Lansing and includes Waterford and Independence townships.

Clemo named to convention

By Marilyn Trumper

A precinct delegate from Independence Township the past four years, Republican Beverly Clemo is one of three alternate state delegates from the 6th District going to the national convention this year.

Because there is no presidential primary election in Michigan in 1984, the state delegates at the National Convention in Dallas in July will have more power than usual.

"It's a privilege," Clemo said. "Even though I'm an alternate, it's an important event to be a part of. I'm representing thousands of people and expressing their opinion of who we want as a candidate."

No official list of the three delegates or three alternates has yet been made available, according to Robert Anderson, executive director of the Oakland County Republican Committee.

After strong Democratic opposition, the state legislature did not approve the necessary funds for a presidential primary this year in Michigan. The state's switched to the party caucus system which does the same thing, without spending money on a primary, Anderson said.

"Precinct delegates participate, and select delegates to the state where they elect people in caucus to go to the national convention and select the final candidates for the presidency," Anderson said.

"It now makes precinct delegates stronger. They go in representing the community."

Clemo lives on Church Street in Independence Township.

More letters

For the record

I look forward to reading The Clarkston News each week and feel a paper such as yours provides a worthwhile service in our community.

After your Feb. 1 publication I find it necessary to comment on the article "Parents call late bus runs unfair."

I was quoted as saying that "I wish they didn't get home so late..." which I did say.

However, what did not get printed and was the main point of our conversation was that while I may not like a 4:30 arrival home, I am fully in support of the way school transportation is handled in Clarkston.

In light of recent events involving Detroit school children I feel very fortunate that I am able to see my children safely get on and off the bus each day.

More history

I read with interest Louise Gulick McClintock's information about the Clarkston General Store.

Let's go back a little further in time and ownership.

I have records telling me that my grandfather, John Knox, owned the store and sold it to Esidore Jossman in 1861 before enlisting in the Fifth Infantry and entering the Civil War where he fought industriously and patriotically during the four-year campaign, becoming, through the ranks, captain to major.

Firefighters plan three-ring circus for fund raiser

By Marilyn Trumper

For a new fund raiser this year, the Independence Township Firefighters Association envisions a three-ring circus complete with a high trapeze.

In conjunction with the Clarkston Lions Club and E.F. Hutton & Co., the 46-member firefighters' association says it expects to raise $90,000 at the proposed Fourth of July event, with money the split between North Oakland SCAMP, Leader Dogs for the Blind and the Ann Arbor Burn Center.

On Feb. 7, the Independence Township Board unanimously gave conceptual site plan approval for M&M Productions to set up tents on the former Waterford Hill Golf Course off Dixie Highway, behind the House of Maple & Pine.

According to Gary Tressel, volunteer firefighter, they plan eight shows between July 5, 6, 7 and 8, each seating 3,500 people. The site plan shows a beer tent, ethnic food concession stands and an overflow parking area.

Firefighters are negotiating with the Oakland County Sheriff's Department for security and with Anheuser Busch for its popular team of Clydesdale horses and hot air balloon, he said.

"We've been working on this the past 16 months," Tressel said. "It really takes a lot to get it going. There seems to be a lull here in town after the parade. People come to the parade, and go home. We wanted to do something to create more community involvement."

According to Tressel the Macomb County Sheriff's Department hosts the same circus each year, taking a percentage of gate receipts.

"It sounds like a great idea," said Trustee Larence Kozma, "but there are requirements that you follow procedure. We have an outdoor gathering ordinance that requires you to get things like sanitation facilities, water, utilities and fire protection. It should be done by the book."

After discussion the board approved the conceptual plan, contingent upon meeting all requirements of the ordinance.

In the past, the firefighters' biggest annual fund raiser has been the pancake breakfast preceding the Labor Day parade.

Fervor over new complex surprises developer

By Marilyn Trumper

Developer Ron Helin says he's surprised over the fervor created by his proposed office-retail complex.

Targeted for the abandoned Texaco Service Station site on M-15, north of Clarkston, the owner of W.H. Investments plans a 48,000-square-foot open atrium complex, with an anchor store.

In addition, Helin says he's courting Eddie Bauer sporting goods and a wine shop like the Merchant of Vino.

"That's the closest thing to a party store I'll have," Helin said, dismissing rumors. "All I've done is improve the property. I'm not going to do anything to hurt it."

Approximately 20 residents from the adjacent subdivision on Northview Drive attended the first meeting in late November, and Clarkston village business owners Carol Eberhardt and Joan Kopietz attended the December meeting.

While none attended other meetings on the proposal, they remain concerned.

"I'm upset about it," said Jerry Harrison of Northview Drive. "I don't think we need a store there and that's all there is to it. Our street is out of the way and we don't need people knowing we're here and ripping us off."

"It's going to increase the traffic on our street—and then what are they going to do? Put another stoplight at M-15?"

"I work afternoons, so I can't go to all the meetings, but if I didn't, I would," he said.

Eberhardt said she thought the planning commission should have notified village business owners of the proposal.

"I don't think they even took us into consideration," she said. "I know we can't stop them from going in, this is the free-enterprise system. It could be a boon to the business district, and then it could mean the demise. Who's to say?"

"I have a problem with the haste this seems to have gone through on. Why has there been so little hassle?"

Helin contends it's because his plan is a good one.

"It's a good idea and the township knows it," he said. "I've encountered very little opposition there."

Helin, an Independence Township resident, says he'll go before the planning commission for site plan approval this month.

Vaara to seek township seat

When the Independence Township Board failed to reappoint him to the planning commission and zoning board of appeals last year, Mel Vaara says he decided then he'd run for trustee on the Republican ticket.

"I decided to get into politics in a political office and seek a trustee level position with the township," he said.

"I think my experience on the planning commission and the board of appeals, plus the fact I've lived in this township 29 years, qualifies me."

Vaara sat 12 years on the planning commission with eight years as chairman, and 10 years on the board of appeals with eight years as chairman.

"I've lived here four different decades, and think I would be a valuable person on the board to see we get continued proper growth, and proper zoning," he said.

Vaara, 50, is assistant superintendent of Clarkston Schools. He lives on West Church Street.

2nd half does trick

By Dan Vandenhemel

The Clarkston Wolves pulled off their own brand of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde basketball against Waterford Kettering Friday.

After a horrible first half, the Wolves turned the game around and edged the Captains, 63-57.

The triumph pushed the Wolves into first place in the Greater Oakland Activities League (GOAL), one-half game in front of Pontiac Northern and a game ahead of Lake Orion.

"This was a big win for us, a pivotal win," coach Dan Fife said after the game. "In the second half they really hustled. I'm proud of them."

The major factor that enabled the victory came in the opening minutes of the second half.

The Wolves came out of the lockerroom and gained control of the game's tempo, scoring the first nine points after trailing, 42-31.

Instead of trailing by 10 points as they did in the first half, the margin was two to four points until Dave Jokisch made a free throw with 2:44 left in the game to give Clarkston its first lead, 56-55.

What put the game away for the Wolves were Steve Luchenback's only two points.

With Clarkston leading, 58-57, in the last minute of play and Doug Colling at the charity strip, Colling made the first but the second was off the mark. Luchenback reached over an opponent and tipped the ball in for a 61-57 lead.

Sophomore transfer Ed Whitaker came through with his second big game in a row. Whitaker transferred to CHS in January from Waterford Mott.

Earlier in the week, he tossed in 19 points during the Wolves' loss to Lapeer East.

Against Kettering he hit for 16 points to lead Clarkston. Jokisch added 14 points and 19 rebounds while Erik Kline connected for 12 and Colling for nine.

The Wolves' record is now 12-4 overall and 5-1 in the league. The Captains are 6-9, and 3-3 in the GOAL.

Second-half defense is a major reason for the Wolves' comeback victory Friday. Ed Whitaker [left] and David Ladd contain a Kettering player late in the third quarter.

Spikers host tournament

Long day ends in defeat

By Dan Vandenhemel

Long days sometimes end in disappointments, just ask the Clarkston High School junior varsity volleyball team.

The Wolves hosted an invitational tournament Feb. 11 starting at 9 a.m. and the winner wasn't decided until after 8 p.m.

Ten teams participated in the tournament, and Clarkston lost in the semifinal round to Lansing Waverly.

"I think the tournament went well," said Wolves' coach Gordy Richardson. "The officials did a great job, especially since it was such a long day. Maybe that was the problem with the team."

In the semifinals against Waverly, the Wolves lost 15-8 and 15-13. Waverly went on to the finals and lost to Warren Woods-Tower in three games.

"No one person played badly—we all took turns."

—Gordy Richardson

"I think we came out flat against Waverly," Richardson said. "Waverly played very well. We knew what to expect."

Waverly controlled the first game but in the second, Clarkston jumped out to a 4-0 lead.

"Waverly came back to tie it 4-4 then it was seesaw back and forth," Richardson said. "We had a number of chances to win the second game but just didn't."

The tournament structure splits the 10 teams into two pools. Each team plays two games against the rest of the pool with the top two teams advancing to the semifinals.

Clarkston came through the pool play with a 6-2 record, good for first place.

"We played well in the pool," the coach said. "It was trouble to maintain any intensity or enthusiasm because of the wait between matches. We fought hard the whole tournament. We didn't give up at all."

Richardson thought the pressure of hosting a tournament might have had an effect on the play of his team.

"It could have been that," he said. "Plus, it's tough to play well when you haven't played anybody tough since Brighton (Jan. 30). No one person played badly—we all took turns."

This shot is a winner for Jill DeShetler of the junior varsity volleyball team. The Wolves are the best team in their pool with a 6-2 record, but lose in the semifinals.

Unruly rules

By Dan Vandenhornel

How many out there have tried to talk their way out of a speeding ticket or a parking ticket?

Or keep coming into work late until the boss mentions it to you?

Or when you were in school, you gave different excuses for not turning in an assignment late?

People have a knack of trying to get away with as much as they can.

That is, without getting caught.

Some rules and regulations can bend, stretch and are able to be gotten around. But with those kinds of rules, they don't carry much weight.

Once a person knows they can get away with something, they'll push and push until they get caught.

Then there are those who break a rule by making a slight, innocent mistake.

Take a problem that happened to me during a recent bowling tournament, for instance. After bowling well enough to place in the match play round, which also qualifies me for prize money, I was disqualified for not witnessing my score card.

In this tournament there are a number of rules; some good, some not so good.

Signing of the score card that already has your name and address, a witness's signature that the scores are correct and yet another witness's signature that the bowling balls listed on the sheet are the ones I used, may be overdoing it a little.

Having as many as five different names on the score sheet is just protection for the rest of the bowlers.

Many of the rules do that, protect others. It's the meaningless rules that get people in trouble.

No, I'm not bitter that a little rule disqualified my scores from the tournament.

I'm more upset with myself for not signing, for not taking to 10 seconds to sign my name.

But the bottom line is still this: A rule is a rule.

In the Feb. 1 edition of the Clarkston News, I wrote a story about a pair of 11-year-old Clarkston hockey players.

Mike Prucher and Jason Simpson of the Birmingham Flames helped their team to an 11-0 victory over Livonia and claimed the district championship. The team advances to the state finals in March.

That's the good news.

Skiers control hills; take championship

By Dan Vandenhemel

It was a clean sweep for the Clarkston High School Ski teams.

Both the girls' and the boys' squads dominated the league meet at Pine Knob Ski Resort Feb. 9.

Lisa Burkemo had an excellent day by winning the slalom and the giant slalom events. Craig McLeod also turned in a good performance by placing first in the giant slalom and second in the slalom.

"They (Burkemo and McLeod) were not a real surprise," said coach Don Balzarini. "I kind of expected them to be right up there; they have been all year. But I thought the meets were going to be a little closer."

The girls outdistanced second-place Lake Orion by 23 points, 52-75. For the boys, second-place

"... I thought the meets were going to be a little closer." —Don Balzarini

Bloomfield Hills Lahser was a long 39 points behind Clarkston, 58-97.

"In the boys' race there are some really good teams," Balzarini said. "When we had a couple of skiers fall I thought we would be in trouble, but some other skiers fell too. You hate to see your number two and three skiers fall."

The skiers crashed on the slalom course, but teammates Steve Zoss, Mark Southby and Jim McElmeel picked up the slack. McElmeel was the last Clarkston racer to come down the hill and he placed 11th overall.

"He really picked us up," Balzarini said. "All three of them did."

In the girls' races, the only threat to overtake Burkemo in the slalom came from teammate Stephanie Brown, who finished second. Brown was fourth in the giant slalom to give the Wolves consistency at the top.

"With Lisa and Stephanie, it makes it easy to win," their coach said. "Jennifer Farough was our last racer and she did very well (12th overall). She really helped us out."

With the divisional win, the Wolves advance to the Southeastern Championship at Mt. Holly Feb. 22.

In the meantime, Clarkston is scheduled to race in the regional competition at Pine Knob Feb. 16. The state finals are set for Feb. 27.

Just another "day at the office" for Steve Zoss of the Clarkston ski team. He helps the Wolves capture the divisional championship at Pine Knob.

Still no arrest for village law office break-in

By Marilyn Trumper

Ann Hunt-Meloche still waits for the Oakland County Prosecutor's Office to issue warrants for two men suspected of the September break-in of her downtown Clarkston law office.

The issue stems from the break-in of three downtown business, with Michigan State Trooper Allen Siterlet investigating the first two.

A deputy from the Oakland County Sheriff's Department investigated the third, with Det./Sgt. Roger Allen conducting the follow-up.

Three weeks ago Chief Assistant Prosecutor Richard Thompson said Allen should have requested whatever information he needed from the state police, a confession and evidence, to seek an arrest warrant for the third B&E.

It was not, he said, the state police's responsibility.

And, Thompson said, he would recommend both men meet to decide who'll be responsible for the warrant, although it's his opinion the OCSD should.

As of Feb. 13, three weeks later, no warrant had been issued.

Thompson would not return Clarkston News phone calls to respond to the delay.

"I am enraged," Meloche said. "My premises are not safe. As a lawyer I am appalled at the professional incompetency.

"They've made a mockery out of the system," she said.

New liquor law

Without a liquor control ordinance, Springfield Township could face problems with the legalities surrounding the changing over of a liquor license.

The Springfield Township Board moved to construct an ordinance at its meeting Feb. 8.

"We're just trying to get (an ordinance) to give us some standard policy or procedure on how to handle the switching of a license," Supervisor Collin Walls said after the meeting.

Action on the ordinance follows the proposed purchase of the Holly Greens golf course liquor license by new owners.

"Holly Greens has brought the problem up front," Walls said. "We've discussed having one in the past. We thought it was something all municipalities should have."

Board tables attorney request

By Marilyn Trumper

After 14 years as Independence Township's attorney, Richard Campbell discovered what it's like to have a proposal on the other side of the board table.

On Feb. 7, the Independence Township Board tabled M.R. Stitt's rezoning request for just under an acre on Sashabaw Road, west of Bow Pointe Drive.

Campbell holds a purchase agreement to buy the land contingent upon the rezoning.

Larry Russel, who spoke for Campbell, said Campbell eventually plans to put his law office there.

Supervisor James B. Smith argued against the proposal.

"If we want to control development there, it should be rezoned office," Smith said. "Mr. Campbell, with all due respect, could change his mind and put up commercial. That's the next Main Street of the township."

"One of the basic tenets of this planning commission has been to create buffer zoning between residential and commercial. We have the opportunity to do that now. I think we need to look at the master plan and see what it calls for."

Treasurer Frederick Ritter and Trustee Larence Kozma disagreed, arguing the planner and planning commission unanimously recommended approval.

"I think it's an unreasonable delay," Ritter said. "Your own planning commission chairman made the motion to rezone, that should answer your question."

Russel argued for approval that night.

"To ensure there would be no conflict of interest I'm representing Mr. Campbell tonight," he said. "Perhaps in my effort to ensure no partiality, I've swung the pendulum too far. Dick Campbell is not the petitioner here—the owners are."

Contacted after the meeting, Campbell said a two-week delay wouldn't hamper the purchase.

The board is expected to review the rezoning at its Feb. 21 meeting, after discussion with the planning commission.

Michigan National compounds interest monthly to pay you more money for your money

Higher stated interest rates on Individual Retirement Accounts (IRA) may sound good initially. But, if you're interested in earning more money for your money, consider the effects of Michigan National's monthly compounding of interest versus other banks' simple interest method of payment.

Earn interest on your interest

A minimum deposit of only $50 at Michigan National earns interest each month. So, month by month, year after year you continually earn interest on your interest.

Most other banks, however, pay interest on a simple basis.

No compounding.

No payment of interest on your interest.

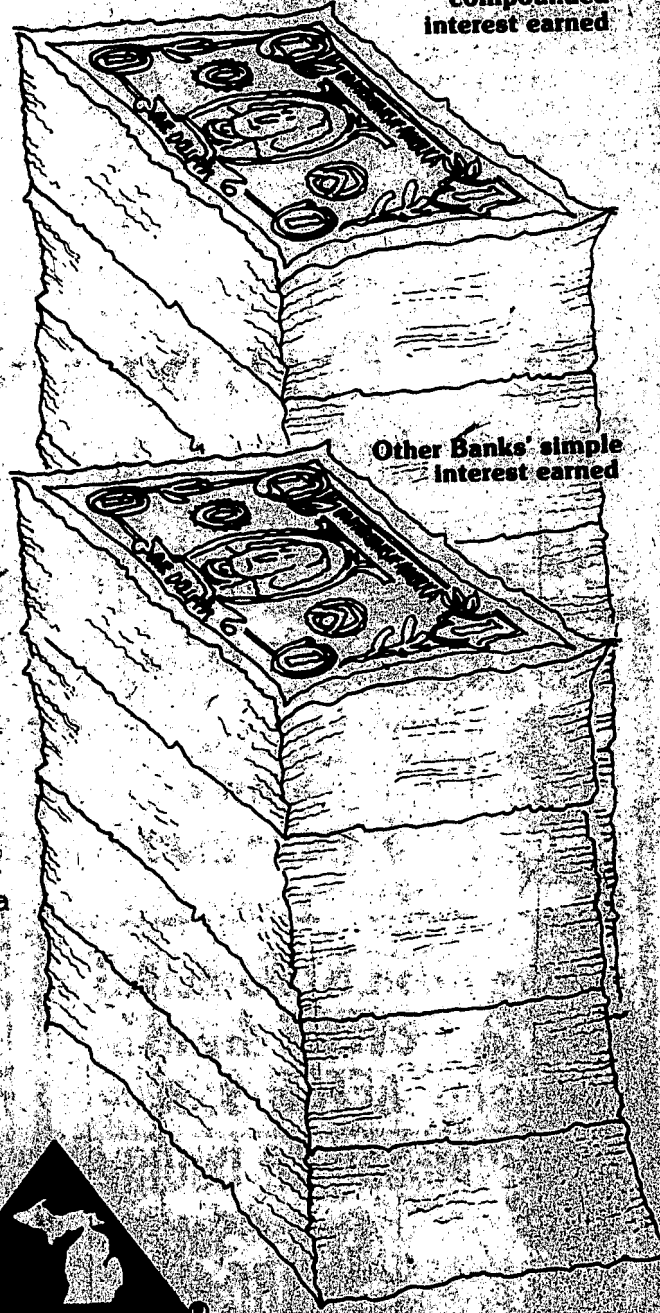

That's why other banks can quote a higher rate, and yet, pay less interest over the lifetime of your investment.

Don't be fooled by high interest IRA claims.

Invest your retirement savings with Michigan National where your IRA will earn more money for your money with monthly compounding.

Townships given extra cops

Spreen institutes northeast quadrant A-Team

By Marilyn Trumper

Responding to the townships' cries for more police, the Oakland County Sheriff's Department has assigned a sergeant and three deputies to extra duty in Independence and Springfield.

The move is independent of the shared deputy both townships agreed to hire in December.

Sheriff Johannes Spreen said he wants similar teams in the county's four quadrants, but until they're established the pilot Independence/Springfield team will work anywhere it's needed in the county.

Similar to their A-Team counterpart in Avon Township, the four-man team expects to zero in on crime prevention in the schools, talk to neighborhood watch programs and "proactively" patrol, according to its supervisor Sgt. Robert Smith.

Although Smith said the program is "...here to stay," Springfield Township Supervisor Collin Walls warns against getting comfortable with it.

"It's not my understanding this is permanent. After all, one of those deputies is in the marine division. He'll be back out doing marine work when the weather breaks, like normal," Walls said.

Independence Township Supervisor James B. Smith likes the plan.

"I think it's a fine idea and hope it can be effective," he said. "But more directly we've had no official communication from the sheriff and Sgt. Smith, so it's hard to react to it as something we recognize is in place."

Defining proactive patrol, Sgt. Smith anticipates feeding department computers with the number of breaking and enterings in the townships, at what times and where. Finding patterns, they plan to saturate the area with cars to discourage would-be thieves.

"That's proactive as opposed to reactive. Doing something to prevent the crime," he said. "People hear the words 'crime prevention' and get the old-fashioned picture of a guy talking to a group of people about locks."

"That's part of it, but certainly not all of it. That's just scratching the surface."

"It's better to prevent an arrest than to make one. Don't let the crime happen in the first place," he said.

A liaison officer in the schools could have prevented a much-publicized donnybrook last month between rival high schools at a fast-food restaurant in Troy, he said.

"I'm not faulting the Troy police, but if an officer had been in the schools he would have picked up that that was happening. They could have put five or six cars in the area, made them real visible, and the whole thing never would have happened," Smith said. "That's proactive."

Smith cited the teen-ager repeatedly drag racing on a residential street.

"A neighbor calls, but by the time we get out there the kid's gone. With this team we'll have someone who will have the time to maybe sit parked on that street and wait for him," he said. "And we'll have input into residential neighborhoods about what their problems are."

The team is composed of non-contract deputies who work throughout Oakland County, in townships that do and don't specifically pay for police services, which gives Spreen the flexibility to assign them throughout the county, he said.

Springfield's Supervisor Walls said the answer to the township's crime problem doesn't lie with the police.

"The answer to crime prevention lies with the people of this community," Walls said. "You could put a deputy in front of every home in this township, which is ridiculous, and still not tackle crime prevention. Nothing will happen with that until the people of the community decide to do something."

Board authorizes $15,000 for sewer study

The Independence Township Board has agreed to pay up to $15,000 for a sewer and water rate study by Bendzinski & Co. of Detroit.

The study will be the second one the firm has done for the township in less than a decade.

Trustee Larence Kozma wanted the work publicly bid and cast the lone "no" vote at the Feb. 7 meeting.

"I think it's bad procedure for us to take the recommendation of one person that they're the best. I'm sure there are other firms in the area that do the same thing—and letting bids would eliminate that," Kozma said. "Maybe they'll be the ones that we'll hire after all that, but I think it should be done."

Clerk Richard Holman recommended the Detroit firm be hired to provide a formula for how much sewer millage needs to be levied in what years to meet the bond debt, and to develop a capital needs program.

In 1976 Bendzinski conducted a similar study, projecting the amount of tax to be levied based on earned interest from investments and the number of people projected to hook-up to the system. Growth wasn't as rapid as anticipated and interest rates ceilinged at 20 percent, spurring the new study, according to Treasurer Frederick Ritter.

The study has been projected for 230 man hours at $65 an hour.

"I've called around and talked with different communities and, frankly, I want them," Holman said. "They're considered the best in the field in what they do."

George Anderson, director of the department of public works, agreed. After the meeting he elaborated.

"Of the 15 to 20 communities I talked to, they say (Bendzinski's) outstanding."

Anderson said he needs the formula.

"It would finally take all the politics out of setting the rates. We've been setting the rates by the ad valorem tax to meet the deficit, with a tax some years, and not others," he said. "Now we'd know exactly what we need."

Sewer and water rates are expected to increase in April, Anderson said.

A May deadline is set for the study's completion.

The City of Detroit controls sewer rates, now $35 a quarter. Water rates are $4.50 per 7,500 gallons, about $23 for the average homeowner per quarter.

For the past two years the township hasn't levied its ad valorem tax, using some of its $1.2 million in excess sewer construction funds at the county to meet the sewer debt.

• Singer makes her TV debut

Watch for Gina Roselli this Feb. 15, Channel 7 at 4 p.m.

By Kathy Greenfield

Her professional singing career barely a year old, Gina Roselli makes her television debut Feb. 15.

She's to be featured in the young talent segment of "Good Afternoon, Detroit," the Channel 7 program hosted by John Kelly and Marilyn Turner.

Last week Gina talked about the taping experience that took place almost a month ago, on Jan. 19 following a successful audition at the TV station in November.

"It was an interesting experience. Before I went there I was really crabby—I was nervous," she said. "I said, 'What did I go to the audition for?'"

"Actually I was more nervous about the interview than the singing, but it was OK. It was like being in the movies, especially in the dressing room. The close-up was unique. They were right there," she said, putting her palm a few inches from her face.

"They were so funny and comical and so happy with what they were doing that they made me feel good about it," she added.

The production crew worked at Mykonos Supper Club in Detroit's Greektown where Gina appears on stage Tuesdays through Saturdays from 9:15 to 11:30 p.m.

They were there from 5 p.m. to midnight filming for the about 3½-minute "Good Afternoon, Detroit" segment.

Gina was filmed putting on makeup, singing "The Rose" and "Hard for the Money," and being interviewed by producer Debbie Avery—Gina did not meet Jack Kelly or Marilyn Turner, who could do the voice overs that will tie the presentation together.

"It's going to be, I think, on the order of videos," Gina said. "It's quite a lot of taping and set up that they do, but then they edit it."

Gina, 22, graduated from Clarkston High School in 1979. Before she began working at Mykonos in December 1982, she was a receptionist at a Waterford Township hair salon.

She's had moments when her life-style, as an entertainer has been less than glamorous.

"There was a point there I didn't like it. It's a different life to lead because you're out at night and you sleep a lot during the day," she said. "You miss a lot. That becomes your life—the place you sing."

But the television experience has left her with a sense of rejuvenation.

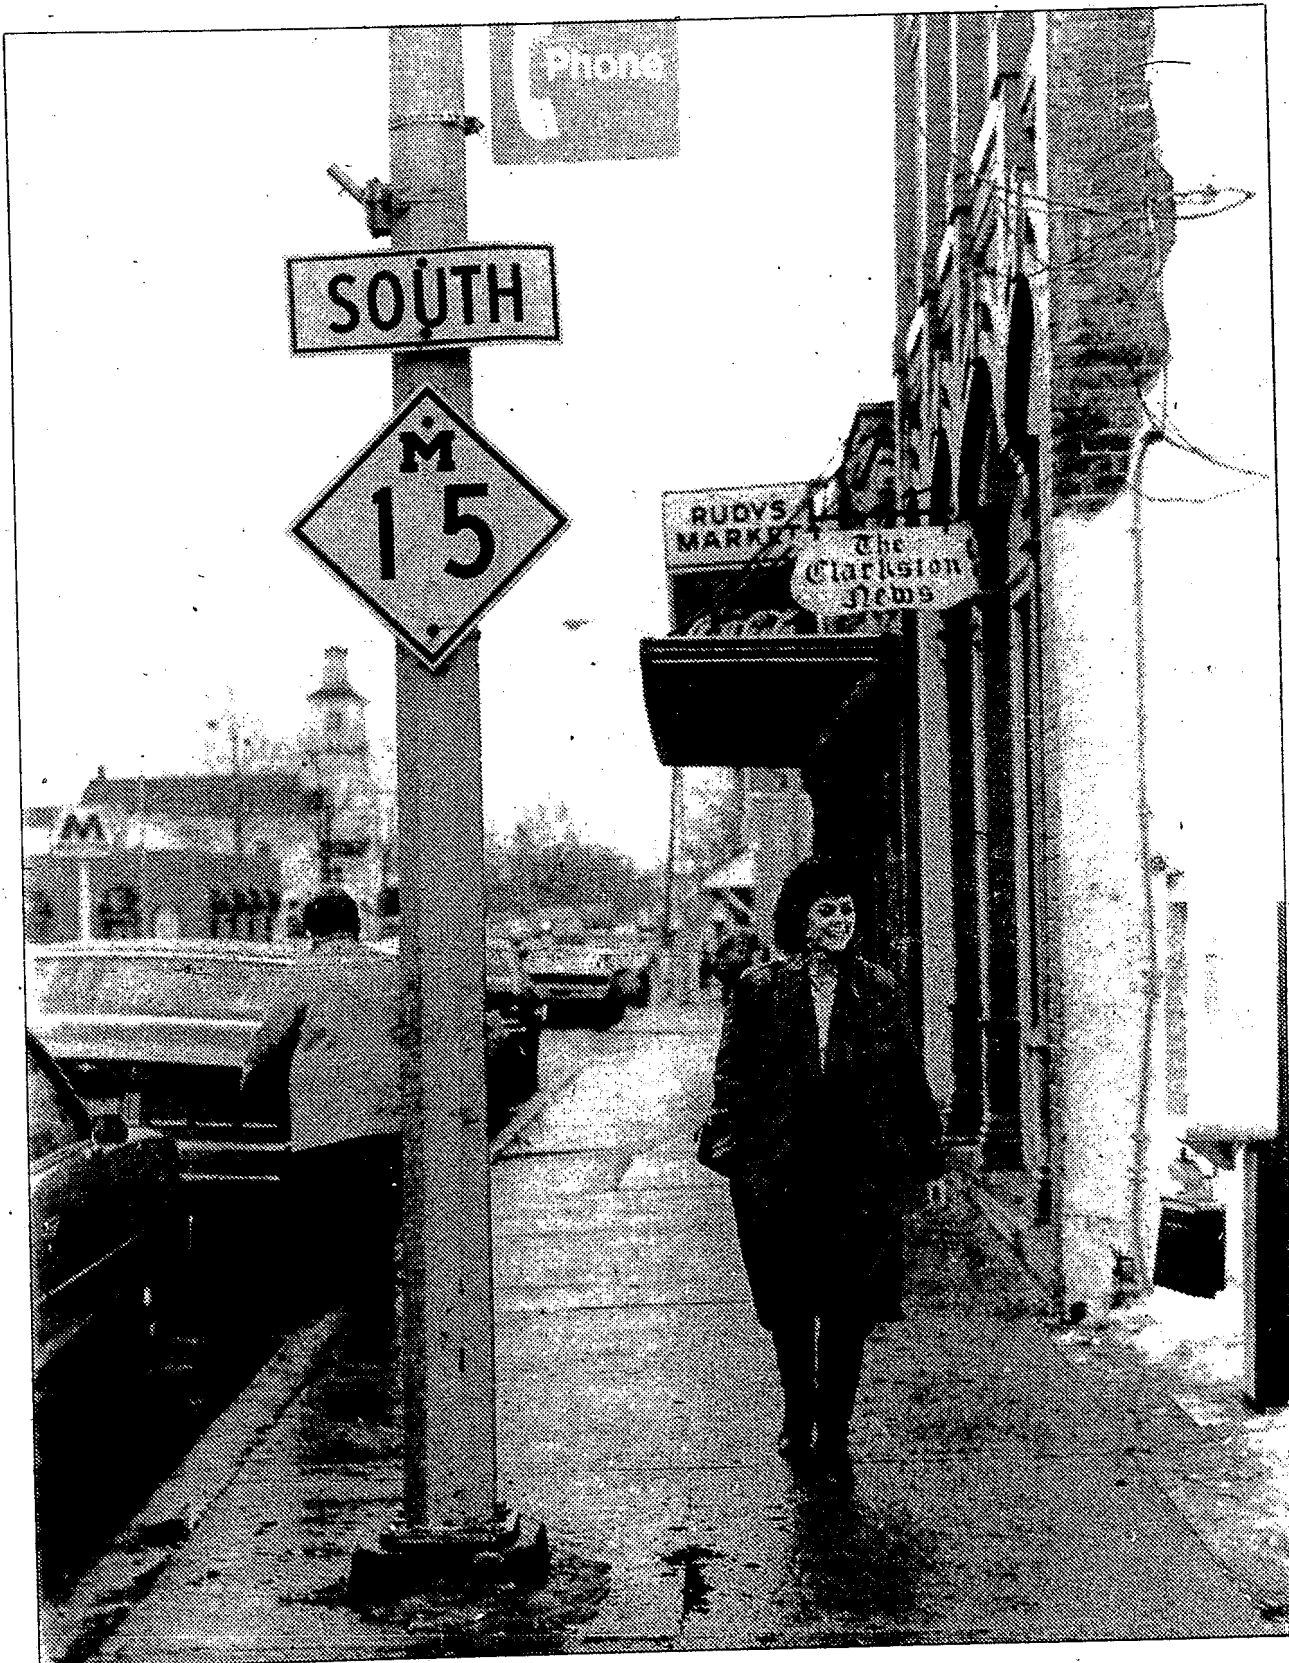

"I feel another burst of energy as far as my career," she said. "I'm planning on putting a portfolio together and maybe seeking out an agency to work through. I'd like to maybe cut a record eventually—it takes a lot of backing to do that."

For now, though, the spotlight falls on her TV experience.

On Wednesday at 4 p.m., Gina's mother, Lila, her brother, Greg, 19, and sister, Carrie, 15, will gather round the TV set in the family room of their Almond Lane, Independence Township, home.

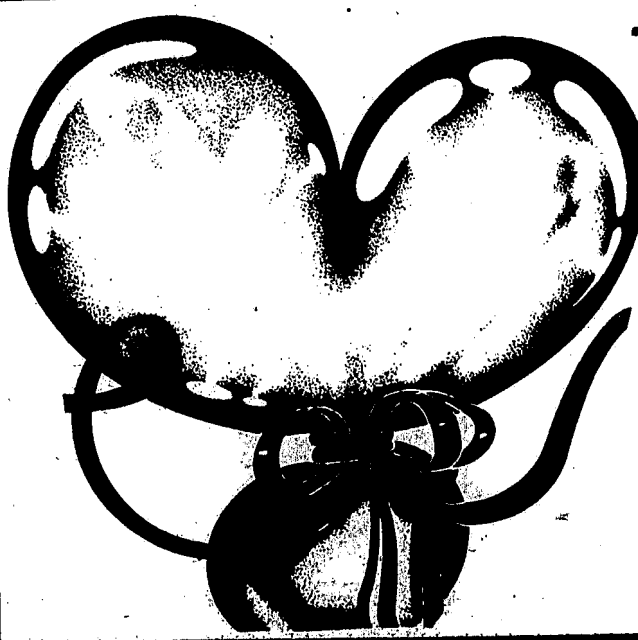

Gina's father, Frank, will be at work at Fisher Body in Grand Blanc, but he'll be watching on a portable TV.

"I'm more nervous about being on TV that I was when they taped it," Gina said. "When I sing, I walk out on stage and if I don't want to know what people thought about it, I don't ask."

While strolling down her hometown's main street, Gina Roselli is stopped by a woman who wants to know when she'll be on TV, "Wednesday at 4," Gina says, smiling all the while.

Tying the knot

By Marilyn Trumper

This Valentine's Day, six couples filed through Judge Gerald E. McNally's chambers in 52nd District Court to exchange wedding vows.

"The most I can remember since I've been here," said Carol Furman, spokesperson for the civil division.

According to the first three digits of their phone numbers, the romantic couples came from all over Oakland County, including Independence and Orion townships, and were wed between 9:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

"We tell them to come with $10, two witnesses and the license," Carol said.

That's all it takes.

C'est amour.

Disabled kids benefit from Marjorie

by Dorothy Leaming

An Apple
for the Teacher

Let me introduce Marjorie Sullivan, for 11 years a teacher of learning disabled students in Clarkston Elementary School.

Marge graduated with a bachelor's degree from Wayne State University, Detroit, where she also earned her master's degree in education. At the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, she earned her Ed.S. degree in special education.

She is certified in the areas of educationally mentally impaired, trainable mentally impaired and orthopedically impaired, as well as the learning disabled.

Marge was born and raised in Detroit where she earned her elementary and secondary education at a Catholic parochial school.

Marge's students have ranged from first-graders through adults. The latter were night school students in Detroit where she taught tailoring and dressmaking.

She also taught home economics for three years in a Farmington junior high school.

Her experience as a teacher of the learning disabled has included four years in the Walled Lake school district.

It is of note that she has created many of her own teaching materials designed to sharpen auditory perceptual skills.

Marge believes there must be high expectations for her students based on their abilities and potential. She believes in patience and hard work.

Marge loves reading and usually has a couple of books going—one for upstairs, the other, down.

She belongs to three book discussion clubs, plays bridge, gardens and is involved with her church guild. Another of Marge's loves is travel and she and Sully have been to Ireland, her mother's homeland.

The Sullivans are planning a trip to the Oberammergau Passion play this summer.

Marge spent a recent summer studying drama in Oxford, England. She has also been to Majaro, in the Marshall Islands, a trip to celebrate the birth of her first grandchild.

Marge has raised five children.

There is Tom, a lawyer on the west coast. Sharon is an administrator of two medical laboratories at the Hospital for Special Surgery, New York.

Dennis, a doctor, teaches gerontology at the University of Virginia Hospital. Katie, a social worker, lives in Ann Arbor.

Kenny has an orthopedic problem and lives in New York City. Marge's experience raising Kenny generated her interest in teaching handicapped students.

Needless to say, her travels also include many scattered spots in these United States.

Professional, dedicated, creative, experienced, hard-working are just a few adjectives descriptive of Marge.

She is a Clarkston schools' staff member in whom we can all take pride.

An Apple for the Teacher is provided through the efforts of a Clarkston Education Association committee. Its purpose: "to acquaint or reacquaint the community with members of the Clarkston school district's teaching staff who represent a highly trained and diversely talented resource in which we can all take pride." This week's column was written by Dorothy Leaming, school social worker.

Marjorie Sullivan:
"She believes in patience and hard work."

Heritage tracing made easier

Thanks, in part, to a $1,000 donation from the Clarkston Community Women's Club, there'll be fewer long drives to the Detroit Public Library for Betty Mielke.

The money was used to help purchase the brand new microform reader/printer in the Independence Township Library, the equipment Mielke uses when she searches for her family's roots on United States Census records from 1790 through 1910.

"This is great. This is really nice," she said as she paused while scanning names and addresses of Detroit residents, their jobs, birthdates and where their parents were born. "1900 was a very good year."

The census records from anywhere in the U.S., loaned by request through the American Genealogical Lending Library, are just a portion of research materials available on microfilm and microfiche, according to librarian James Hibler.

He's ordered the last 10 years of Time and Newsweek magazines and the last five years of Consumer Reports and Consumer Research.

In the library now is 1984 material from the Michigan Occupational Information System, generally used by high school students for career exploration.

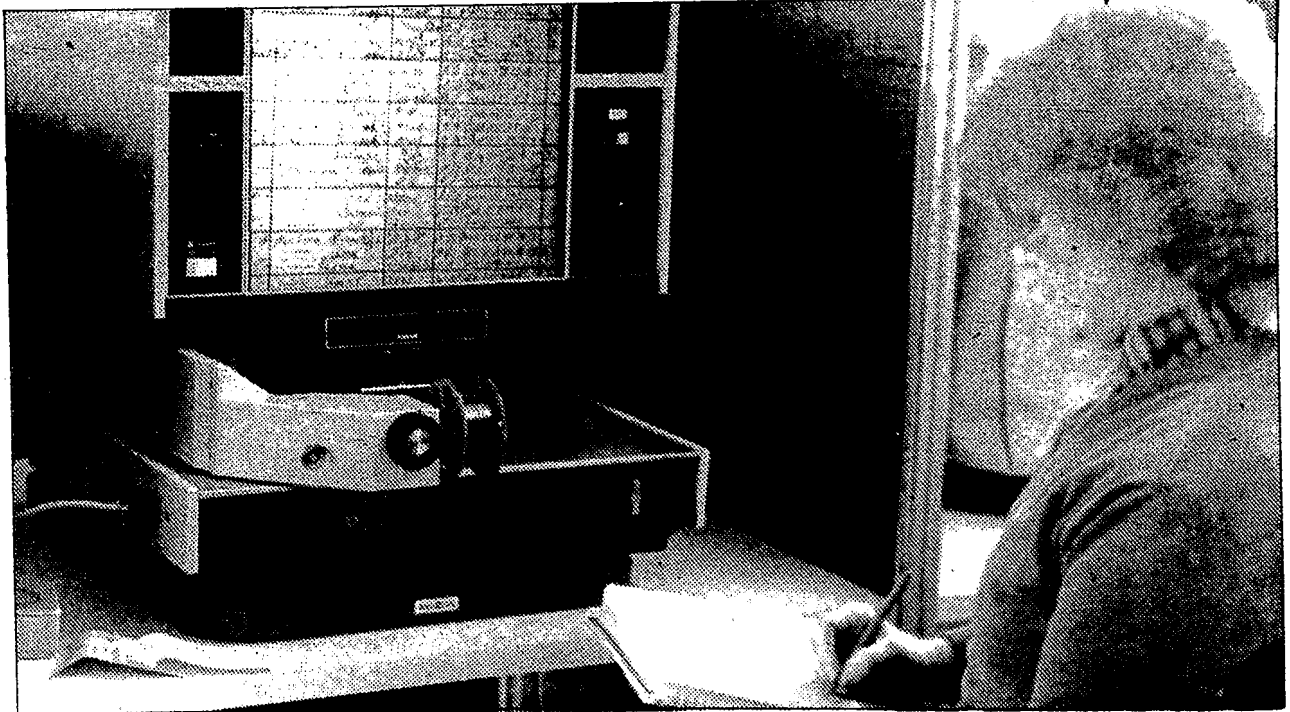

And Hibler said he hopes to have township records on hand.

The new piece of equipment aids in information searches and, with a push of a button, makes copies for 15 cents.

The women's club donation made the new service possible, Hibler said.

"They were actually the ones who enabled us to buy this," he said. "The library had saved some money for this, but that put us over the top. It enabled us to buy this, this year."

Money for the remainder of the $4,500 reader/printer, $500 stand and $1,500 in magazine subscriptions came from federal revenue sharing and donations made to the library's memorial fund, Hibler said.

Betty Mielke of Springfield Township puts the Independence Township Library's newest piece of equipment to use reading 1900 Census records.

Buckmaster-Muller

Gerald and Roberta Buckmaster of Maybee Road, Independence Township, announce the engagement of their daughter, Catherine A., to Steven A. Muller, son of William Muller of Pontiac and Lee Muller of Pontiac.

The bride-elect graduated from Clarkston High School in 1977. She is employed by Uniform Outlet, Pontiac.

Her fiancé graduated from Michigan State University, East Lansing, in 1976. He is employed by Cranbrook Educational Community.

A June wedding is planned.

Moore-Clinton

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Moore of Independence Township announce the engagement of their daughter, Joan Ellen, to Edward J. Clinton Jr., son of Edward J. Clinton of Collegeville, Pa. A 1978 Clarkston High School graduate, the bride-to-be received her bachelor's degree in music in 1982 from Saint Mary's College of Notre Dame, Ind. She attended Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill., for postgraduate study in music. She is employed in management by Lord and Taylor at Lakeside Mall. Her fiancé is a 1981 graduate of the University of Notre Dame with a bachelor's degree in government. He currently attends Detroit College of Law and is to receive a Juris Doctor degree in June 1984. An October wedding is planned.

Grad

Jerry Rowland has completed requirements for a bachelor's degree with a biology major from Albion College.

A Clarkston High School graduate, his parents are Mr. and Mrs. James Rowland.

Sign-up for fun comedy adventure

An outing to the Comedy Castle in Royal Oak is planned for couples by the Waterford-Clarkston Welcome Club.

The cover charge is $7, and the couples will also meet for dinner at 6 p.m. preceeding the Saturday, Feb. 25, outing at John Laffrey's on Woodward Avenue between 13 and 14 Mile roads.

New residents in the Clarkston, Independence Township, Union Lake and Waterford Township areas may join the club.

To make reservations phone 625-9034.

Concert to benefit area's consortium

Andy Williams and the Lettermen star in a $125-a-seat benefit performance for the Consortium for Human Development on Friday, March 2, at the Royal Oak Music Theater.

Established in 1976, the Consortium opened its first office in Troy. In 1979 the non-profit organization expanded to Independence Township, and an office in Rochester is expected to open this spring.

Executive director of the Consortium is Jim Evans, an Independence Township resident.

"Some of this money will be used in Clarkston for prevention as well as in treatment, and some of the money will be used in Rochester," he said.

Last year, the Consortium's benefit concert starred Bob Hope.

"We wanted to get into prevention and we never really had any funding. We went to the automotive people and they joined our board, and we got into these kinds of fund raisers," Evans said.

Included in the $125 tax-deductible donation for the March 2 benefit are valet parking, complementary cocktails at intermission and an afterglow reception. For ticket information, call 546-6410.

OFFICIAL NOTICE

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP Public Notice of Budget Hearing for Federal Revenue Sharing

Independence Township will hold a Public Hearing at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, February 21, 1984, at the Independence Township Annex, 90 N. Main Street for purposes of hearing written and oral comments from the public concerning the proposed Annual Federal Revenue Sharing Budget for fiscal year 1984/85, and the use of Federal Revenue Sharing funds as contained in that budget.

General Revenue Sharing is a program of general fiscal support from the Federal Government to State and local governments with only limited federal requirements on how the money should be spent. Decisions on the use of these funds are made at the local level by the Township Board and persons closest to local problems. Revenue Sharing regulations require a hearing on the proposed use of these funds in relation to the annual budget before its adoption.

All interested citizens, groups, senior citizens and organizations are encouraged to attend and submit comments.

ANALYSIS OF FEDERAL REVENUE SHARING FUND FY 84/85

Beginning Fund Balance	157,874
Add: FRS Entitlement	109,452
Interest Earnings	10,000
Subtract Proposed Expenditures	175,200
Ending Fund Balance	162,126

The primary uses of Federal Revenue Sharing Funds have included the following: police protection, dust control, spring cleanup, park improvements, road improvements, community promotion.

A copy of this information is available at Independence Township Clerk's Office, 90 N. Main Street, from 9:00 a.m. - 5:00 p.m., Monday through Friday.

OFFICIAL NOTICE

TOWNSHIP OF INDEPENDENCE STATE OF MICHIGAN COUNTY OF OAKLAND ORDINANCE NO. 110

COMPLAINT AND HEARING PROCEDURE FOR THE ABATEMENT OF VIOLATIONS IN THE CONSTRUCTION, MAINTENANCE AND USE OF HOMES, BUILDINGS AND STRUCTURES

DIVISION 1. GENERALLY

Sec. 7-201 Short Title

This Article shall be known and may be cited as the Independence Township Ordinance to Provide a Complaint and Hearing Procedure for the Abatement of Violations in the Construction, Maintenance and Use of Homes, Buildings and Structures and shall hereinafter be referred to as "this Article".

Sec. 7-202 Intent and Purpose

It is recognized that there are houses, buildings and other structures in the Township which, due to lack of care in construction, maintenance and/or use, or due to other causes, amount to hazards to the health, safety and welfare of the Township and its citizens. The Township Board deems it appropriate to provide a procedure under and pursuant to which reports of such houses, buildings and structures may be received and acted upon by the Township. It is the intent and purpose of this Article to establish and provide for the receipt of such reports by the Independence Township Building Department, for the investigation of such reports by that Department, and, where appropriate, for the referral of such reports to the Township Board, or other appropriate persons or agencies, and for further consideration and action by the Township Board.

Sec. 7-203 Codification

The provisions of this Article shall be incorporated into the Independence Township Code of Ordinances.

Sec. 7-210 Expressly Defined Terms

For purposes of this Article, terms defined below shall have the following meanings:

Building Department shall mean the Independence Township Building Department.

Clerk shall mean the Independence Township Clerk.

Director shall mean the Director of the Independence Township Building Department, and the designates of such Director.

Owner shall mean owner, occupant and/or person in apparent control or possession of property.

Violation shall mean a condition of a house, building or structure which does or is likely to endanger the public health, safety and/or welfare for any one or more of the reasons set forth in paragraphs a through h of Section 7-215.1.

Sec. 7-211 Terms Not Expressly Defined

Terms not expressly defined, above, shall have the meanings customarily assigned to them.

DIVISION 3. REPORTS, COMPLAINTS, SHOW CAUSE

Sec. 7-215 Reports and Records

1. The Building Department shall receive the report of any person, including the report of the Director, alleging that any house, building or structure is in a condition which does or is likely to endanger the public health, safety and/or welfare for any one or more of the following reasons:

a. Structural damage, deterioration and/or other weakness.

b. Unsanitary conditions.

c. Inadequate or improper light, air, heating, electrical and/or plumbing facilities.

d. Inadequate egress for cases of emergency.

e. Abandonment and/or attractive nuisance.

f. Fire hazard.

g. Incomplete structure.

h. Other specific danger, or safety or health hazard, existing on the property.

2. The Director shall keep a record and file of such reports, and include with the file of each report the use-type of building or structure, e.g. residential, and the nature and extent of violation.

Sec. 7-216 Investigation and Notice

1. The Director shall investigate each report. The extent of investigation shall be determined in the discretion of the Director. In appropriate cases, reports shall be referred to the Oakland County Health Department, State Health Department, Township Fire Department, and/or other Township, County and State agencies for further investigation and action, or for further cooperative investigation and action.

2. If, after initial investigation, the Director determines that a violation exists, the Director shall notify the owner of the property, by regular mail, based upon the address available on Township records. Such notice shall advise the owner or occupant of the existence of the report, and of the findings of the Director upon initial investigation, and shall further apprise the owner that a complaint shall be sent to the Township Board for further proceedings unless appropriate corrective action is commenced to remove or obviate the violation within a fixed, reasonable period of time as determined by the Director, taking into consideration the circumstances involved, with such period of time being specified in the notice.

Sec. 7-220 Referral to Board; Complaint; Board Action

1. If the appropriate corrective action has not been commenced within the period fixed in the notice given under Sec. 7-216.2, above, and/or if the corrective action is not continuously and diligently pursued and/or completed within a reasonable time, the Director shall prepare a complaint detailing the violation, the needed corrective action, and the response of the owner to the notice given under

Sec. 7-216.2, including whether, and the extent to which, corrective action was commenced.

2. The complaint, together with a copy of the initial report received under Sec. 7-215.1, and a copy of the notice sent under Sec. 7-216.2, shall be transmitted to the Township Board, through the Clerk for consideration at regular or special Township Board meeting.

3. After due deliberation, the Township Board shall determine whether to:

a. Return the matter to the Director for further pursuit through the Director's office, with or without a fixed date and/or directive for return to the Township Board for reconsideration.

b. Issuance of a show cause resolution, providing the owner with an opportunity to appear before the Township Board and show cause why further action should not be taken as directed by the Township Board, including, without limitation, institution of a circuit court action to abate the violation.

c. Make any other disposition, including, without limitation, a decision to take no further action.

Sec. 7-221 Show Cause Proceedings

1. Should the Township Board decide to proceed by way of a show cause resolution, the form of the resolution shall include the following:

a. The date, time and place scheduled for the owner to appear at a hearing before the Township Board.

b. A statement describing the alleged violation.

c. The requirement upon such appearance by the owner to demonstrate at the hearing that a violation does not exist, or, if the existence of a violation is admitted by the owner, what justification exists which would establish a reasonable basis for the Township Board to defer in, through circuit court proceedings or other lawful means.

2. The show cause resolution shall be delivered to the owner by regular mail, or other method reasonably calculated to provide notice to the owner, as determined by the Township Board, and may, in addition, be delivered to any other person who either requests notice of further proceedings in the matter, or, as determined in the discretion of the Director, has an interest in or can contribute relevant information for the Township Board deliberations.

3. The show cause hearing before the Township Board, which shall be at a regular or special meeting of the Board, and which may be adjourned from time to time, shall include the opportunity of the owner or his representative to be heard relative to the allegation of violation.

4. The show cause hearing may further include, as determined by the Township Board, the opportunity of other interested persons, or other persons having relevant information, to be heard, and a presentation by the Director.

5. At the conclusion of the hearing, the Township Board shall make a disposition, which may include the following:

a. A determination that no violation exists, and that proceedings should be terminated.

b. A determination that one or more violations exist, and to do one or a combination of the following:

(1) Provide the owner with a specified period of time within which to take corrective action, to be monitored by the Director.

(2) Resolve that court or other lawful action shall be taken seeking abatement of the violation forthwith.

(3) Take other lawful action found to be appropriate under the circumstances.

c. As a part of any determination which involves further administration or monitoring by the Director, the Township Board may impose a reasonable administration fee payable by the owner, in an amount determined to be required to reimburse the Township for its reasonable expenses in connection with the show cause proceeding and/or monitoring.

Sec. 7-222 Alternative Proceedings for Compliance

1. The Township may attempt to gain compliance by any lawful means. If the Director, Township Supervisor or Township Board determine that no public interest shall be served and/or that proceedings under all or a portion of this Ordinance would not be likely to bring about abatement of an alleged violation, compliance with the procedures set forth in this Article shall not be required.

2. In such event, the Township Board may proceed immediately to conduct the show cause hearing, or the Township may immediately seek abatement of the violation by court action or other lawful means.

Sec. 7-223 Permit Requirement

Any notice or order to an owner by the Director or Township Board requiring corrective action shall not constitute a waiver of any permit otherwise required to be obtained as a condition to performing the corrective work.

DIVISION 4. NONEXCLUSIVITY AND ADOPTION

Sec. 7-230 Nonexclusivity

It is not the intent of this Article to repeal and/or preempt any other ordinance, regulation or law, and enforcement of this Article shall not prohibit the separate or concurrent pursuit of relief under any other ordinance, regulation, law or code provision, nor shall this Article prohibit the Township from seeking relief in any court, either at law or equity.

Sec. 7-231 Adoption

This Article is hereby declared to have been adopted by the Township Board of the Township of Independence, County of Oakland, State of Michigan, at a meeting of said Board duly called and held on the 17th day of January, 1984, and shall be effective thirty (30) days following the date of publication.

Chemical task force works with $4,000 grant

"The Chemical People" task force formed in December is working on ways to reduce drug and alcohol abuse by Clarkston area youth, according to Fred Baumann, co-chairperson with Cecelia Wiar.

The task force began meetings following two PBS-TV Channel 56 special programs in November. The national effort is a project of First Lady Nancy Reagan.

Boosted by a $4,000 one-time donation from the Clarkston United Methodist Church's Clark Foundation, the local task force has split into four sub-committees.

"This is not a group that's going to step off the edge in three months," Baumann said. "They are definitely going to impact the community in a positive way."

He summarized sub-committee goals:

- Education—working through the schools.
- Training—parent training for ways to help parents whose children who may be involved with drugs.
- Community center—the project has been discussed for years but has not been accomplished, so the task force is looking at ways to provide a leadership position.
- Political action—methods to reach those who can help, like juvenile court judges and party store owners, and organizing through established groups like Students Against Drunk Driving (SADD) and Mothers Against Drunk Driving (MADD).

There are about 25 task force members, and others are welcome to join, Baumann said.

The next meeting is Monday, March 19, at 7:30 p.m. in the Clarkston school district administration building, 6389 Clarkston Rd., Independence Township.

For more information, call Fred Baumann at 625-9600.

Handicap talk

Family members who have handicapped children or adults in their home will have an opportunity to discuss their needs and ideas at a meeting Thursday, Feb. 23, sponsored by the Clarkston Ambulatory Care Center.

"At this point it's an exploratory meeting," said Beverly Walters, R.N., director of nursing for the center. "It could go a number of different ways, and at this point we're having a meeting to see what the needs and desires of the community are."

Possibilities include classes like dance, art and music for handicapped youngsters to supplement the school program; a scouting program; addressing the needs of siblings of handicapped children; establishing an emergency baby sitting service; offering programs on available financial options; and establishing a sharing, support group for parents.

The meeting is to begin at 7:30 p.m. in Dr. James O'Neill's office, 5885 M-15, Independence Township.

Advance registration is preferred. Call Beverly Walters at 625-CARE or 625-2621.

PUBLIC NOTICE

TOWNSHIP OF INDEPENDENCE
COUNTY OF OAKLAND, STATE OF MICHIGAN
REVISION NO. 48

ADOPTED: January 17, 1984

EFFECTIVE: March 23, 1984

TITLE: AN AMENDMENT TO THE INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP ZONING ORDINANCE NO. 83
THE BOARD OF INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP, COUNTY OF OAKLAND, OF THE STATE OF MICHIGAN, ORDAINS:

That the Zoning Ordinance No. 83 of Independence Township is hereby amended as follows:
TO: WIT SINGLE-FAMILY DWELLING REGULATIONS (including Mobile Homes Outside of Mobile Home Parks)

ARTICLE III: DEFINITIONAL CHANGES

Dwelling Unit. All or a portion of a house or building designed or redesigned and intended for occupancy as the home or residence of one family, either permanently or transiently. A motorized home, travel trailer, automobile chassis, tent or the like shall not be considered to be a dwelling unit.

Dwelling, Multiple or Multiple-Family. All or a portion of a building designed or redesigned and intended for use as a residence for three or more families living independently of each other.

Dwelling, Row, Terrace or Townhouse. A row of three or more attached one-family dwelling units erected side by side as a single building and having separate ingress and egress for each, and no side yards excepting end units, each of which have one side yard.

Dwelling, Single-Family. A detached, free standing building, containing one dwelling unit.

Dwelling, Two-Family. A detached free standing building, designed or redesigned and intended for occupancy by two families, independence of each other, such as a duplex.

Mobile Home. A movable or portable structure constructed to be towed in one or more sections on its own chassis and designed and pre-improved for permanent year-round living as a dwelling. The term "mobile home" shall not include motor homes, campers, recreational vehicles (whether licensed or not as motor vehicles) or other transportable structures designed for temporary use and which are not designed primarily for permanent residence.

ARTICLE V: GENERAL PROVISIONS

Section 5.21: Single-Family Dwelling Regulations.

A single-family dwelling, other than homes situated in a mobile home park within the jurisdiction of the Michigan Mobile Home Commission, which is constructed, erected, structurally altered, repaired, and/or moved in whole or in part from or to a site in the Township shall conform to the following regulations, in addition to all other applicable state and/or federal standards and/or regulations:

1. It shall comply with all applicable building, construction and fire codes.

2. It shall comply with a minimum floor area, lot size, yard setback, and the like, requirements of this Ordinance for the zone in which it is situated.

3. It shall have a minimum width of 20 feet on the front, rear and all side elevations.

4. It shall be firmly attached to a permanent foundation with a minimum 42" footing, constructed of materials required for single family dwellings pursuant to the township building code.

5. It shall have no exposed wheels, towing mechanism, undercarriage or chassis.

6. All means of access fixed to the foundation of the dwelling, such as porches, ramps, and the like, shall be permanent in nature, with footings below the frost line.

7. It shall be connected to a public sewer and water supply, or to such private facilities approved by the Oakland County Health Department.

8. It shall contain inside storage capability equal to 10% of the square footage of the building, or 100 square feet, whichever is less; such storage capability to be in a basement beneath the dwelling, an attic area, one or more closet areas, or an attached or detached structure with construction standards and materials of equal or greater quality and durability than the principal structure, including foundation.

9. It shall have no less than two exterior doors situated on different elevations of the dwelling, e.g., front and side.

10. In terms of construction standards, character, materials, design, appearance, aesthetics and quality, it shall be compatible, i.e., it shall meet equal or greater standards, as compared with existing dwellings in the area. The Building Director, or his designate, shall make the determination of compatibility in the first instance, based upon the plans, specifications and elevations which shall be presented upon application for a building permit. Such determination shall be made in view of the following:

a. Area of consideration: If the dwelling is to be located in a platted subdivision, it shall be compatible with the houses in the plat; and, if not in a platted subdivision, it shall be compatible with the houses within 2,000 feet which might be considered as being an area which relates to the property in question.

b. Square footage of floor space.

c. Length, width and height of structure.

d. Architectural type and design, including, without limitation, exterior materials, custom nature of design, roof bear upon property values.

e. The attachment of garages.

These regulations shall not be construed to prohibit innovative design concepts involving such matters as energy conscious devices, including solar energy, view, unique land contour, and/or custom qualities.

The determination of the Building Director, or his designate, shall be subject to appeal to the Zoning Board of Appeals, provided, a written application to appeal must be filed within 15 days after notice of the decision in the first instance.

Passed this 17th day of January, 1984, by the Independence Township Board.

Bailey Lake tackles fear of missing children

Missing children is the topic of a three-month prevention program that begins Tuesday, Feb. 21, at Bailey Lake Elementary School.

Sponsored by the school's PTA, the goal is to prevent such a tragedy from occurring in this area, say the organizers.

The Feb. 21 PTA meeting is open to the public.

It is to begin at 7:30 p.m. at the school, located at 8051 Pine Knob, Independence Township.

The presentation is to include a videotape entitled "Missing Children." Narrated by Sara Purcell, the 40-minute film was produced by NBC-TV's "Real People," George Schlatter Productions.

It looks at the problems created by the 100,000 to 150,000 children reported missing each year. Parents will also receive information on the fingerprinting program planned in April.

The second stage of the prevention program involves classroom programs by police officers regarding safety and strangers.

The third portion involves fingerprinting of Bailey Lake Elementary School pupils and their siblings.

This program, as well as others planned for 1984, was made possible by the success of the school's Christmas ornament sale conducted in December.

NWOVEC hosts tasty spring buffet

Tired of winter weather?

The Northwest Oakland Vocational Education Center's food service program offers a respite with a February Buffet in the cheerful, sun-drenched Northwest Inn staffed by food service students.

Escape in the aromas of prime rib, succulent whole roasted pig, baked fish with maitre de butter, potatoes O'Brien and a vegetable medley with cheese sauce.

Top off the meal with delicious tartlets and cheese cakes.

The cost is $5.50 a person, including tax.

The buffet is planned Friday, Feb. 24. The doors open at 11:15 a.m.

Due to the popularity of past buffets, a reservation system has been established. Tickets may be purchased in advance at the school or reservations may be made by calling 625-5202.

Because payment will be required at the door, no money will be accepted in advance.

Those without tickets will be seated at 12:30 p.m. or as space becomes available. The serving line closes at 1:15 p.m.

The Northwest Inn is located inside the vocational school at 8211 Big Lake, Springfield Township.

you want it...
you've got it... (IN THE CLASSIFIED)

The kids begin by cutting out one large circle and 12 small ones in various colors of construction paper. At work here are Nikki Maynard and Ralph Daniel Weil.

Art from a pro

Jon Ormiston begins the second step for the paper sculpture by cutting a slit in the center of each small circle.

Alan Cohoon watches very carefully as artist Phil Dimmer of Waterford explains how to put the three-dimensional sculpture together. Dim-mer, a full-time professional artist, also teaches at the Pontiac Art Center. The kindergartners made soft clay sculptures, too.

Putting each small circle around the large one is the final step, and Alan Cohoon is concentrating. The kindergartners are in Lynda Allen's class at Pine Knob Elementary.

Her three-dimensional paper sculpture completed, Kim Guibord settles back for a rest. Artist Phil Dimmer has been in Clarkston elementary schools since Jan. 2, conducting two art sessions daily. He'll continue through Feb. 24. The project is part of Art to the Schools, funded with a $10,000 grant to the Clarkston school district from the State Department of Education.
