Story time

Master storyteller Sheila Dailey takes on characteristics of Rumpelstiltskin as she tells youngsters at Bailey Lake Elementary School the tale of the little man who spun straw into gold, then demanded the queen's first child unless she could guess his name. (She did.) The children watch with rapt attention as the story unfolds. Dailey, a Mt. Pleasant resident, was brought to the school by the PTA. She told the children stories Wednesday then spoke to their parents on "Storytelling in the Family" that evening at the PTA meeting.

YMCA begins work toward local branch

By Kathy Greenfield

Consider this: the Clarkston Area Branch of the YMCA.

That's what J.R. Woodrum, programs director for the YMCA of North Oakland County's Rochester Area Branch, asked 11 community leaders to do last week after inviting them to a dinner meeting at the Deer Lake Racquet Club.

"It was a bag of mixed reactions," he said after the meeting. "There was a wide range of comments—people were supportive and other people were saying, 'Well, we already have a recreation department in Independence Township. Why do we need the YMCA?'"

Although not everyone was positive, Woodrum's conclusion was, "We're going to try."

Within the next couple of weeks, he said, a newsletter will be mailed to let people know what the YMCA has to offer in the way of programs and future development in the Clarkston area.

The plan begins with program offerings designed to build community awareness, followed by a feasibility study and then, if the community would support a building, serious fund raising.

Woodrum compared the procedure with what has happened in Rochester since its YMCA program began three years ago.

In 1980 activities were first offered, with a $100,000 budget and 3,000 participants. In 1983 the budget had grown to $186,000 with 6,000 participants, and Rochester is ready to begin plans for a building to be completed in three to five years.

The YMCA of North Oakland County presently has two branches—Pontiac and Rochester. It's feasi-

Reabe scheduled

The Clarkston board of education is to decide if 24-year principal John Reabe will keep his job at a special meeting Thursday, April 26, at 7 p.m.

The date was set following a closed meeting from 7:30 to 11:45 p.m. Monday, which Reabe requested to discuss the notice he received in March that his administrative contract may not be renewed by the school district.

"In a public meeting, (the board of education will) make a decision," said Superintendent Milford Mason. "Their action is going to be in one of two directions—one is to issue the final notice of nonrenewal of administrative contract and the other option is to decide not to issue the final notice."

The action must be taken 60 days before the end of Reabe's administrative contract, Mason said.

Presently the principal of Pine Knob Elementary School, Reabe has worked for the district 28 years, the first four as a teacher.

"I really don't have any comment at this time. I'm not really sure where this is going to go," Reabe

Mall proposal is tabled again

By Marilyn Trumper

Wanting the landscape and parking plan updated before making its decision, the Independence Township Planning Commission tabled preliminary site plan approval for Ron Helin's proposed 50,000-square-foot retail/shopping mall on M-15, in the abandoned Texaco service station site.

Instead, the commission scheduled a special meeting on the issue, Thursday, April 19, at 7:30 p.m. in the Independence Township Hall Annex, 90 N. Main, Clarkston.

No one opposed the proposal, although village resident Virginia Schultz disliked the beige clay brick.

"They kept saying they wanted to comply with the aesthetics of the village and to present that—well I just didn't get the correlation," she said after the meeting.

Valerie Church of Northview Drive, the proposed mall's southern border, asked questions about dumpsters, screening walls and parking lot slopes but did not oppose the plan.

"I'm pleased you're putting in a greenbelt instead of a wall," she told architect Gale Forbes of G.H. Forbes Associate Architects, the mall's designer.

"Some people think I'm crazy for that, but I'd rather look at living green than a wall."

Northcreek Center's parking under review

Northcreek Center, the proposed $2.5 million two-story development on 4.16 acres, has been under township review six months.

Its second-story size increased by 5,000 square feet when portions of the land were discovered to be peat, and unbuildable, Forbes said.

"So we took the 5,000 feet and put it on top, and an additional 5,000 feet to make the elevations more feasible," he told the commission. "We've changed the roof-line to vertical from sloping."

Wife of the developer, Susan Helin, is a sculptor and, according to Forbes, plans a studio/workroom in the mall.

"The outside walls are going to be scattered with reliefs, blue herons I think, and the inside (open atrium) will have fountain with two blue herons too. They're being cast right not in Independence Township," he said.

Township planner Richard Carlisle estimated the development is 30 percent short of the required parking with its 326 spaces, but told the commission there really is no township formula to calculate parking for this kind of development.

"By other municipal ordinances I've checked, they should have 440 parking spaces spaces and frankly I have a hard time seeing the need for 440 spaces there," he said. "I think if we approve the 320, that will be adequate."

Carlisle expressed concern with parking spaces immediately to either side of the M-15 entrances and exits.

"I would just as soon see a parking space eliminated rather than have that kind of situation," he said, referring to the dangers of pulling in and out of the lot.

According to Forbes, Dimitri's restaurant of Southfield is eyeing the mall for its third restaurant and outside seasonal cafe; Eddie Bauer is expected to be Northcreek's anchor retail store; a women's dress shop with stores in Birmingham and Rochester is considering a third location in Clarkston; and the Merchant of Vino expressed interest.

Planning commission members wanted a third architect's rendering showing the new vertical roof-line and larger second-story, a signage drawing, a more detailed elevation drawing showing the outside light fixtures, and a new parking plan eliminating spaces at entrances and exits.

"I said I thought it best to have an opportunity to digest the three- three-and-a-half hours of presentation and discussion," Chairman Neil Wallace said after the meeting. "It needs more work by the planning commission to come to a consensus on what's going to happen."

YMCA ponders Clarkston location

ble there could be five branches, Woodrum said, for work is underway to establish programs in Orion-Oxford and Holly as well as Clarkston.

This summer, Woodrum expects the YMCA to offer a summer day camp program in the Clarkston area for 6- to 11-year-olds and the Tiny Tot day camp program for 3- to 5-year-olds.

He's not sure what else until he meets with officials from the Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department and from Clarkston Community Schools Community Education program.

"We aren't coming in to steal the leisure dollars from other agencies," he said. "We're trying to fulfill other needs."

Woodrum cited statistics gathered from the Oakland County Planning Department that show growth in Independence from a projected population of 20,988 in 1985 to 29,980 in 2000, or 32 percent more; and an increase in the number of dwellings from 6,496 in 1985 to 10,884 in 2000, or an increase of 69 percent.

"From these statistics, you can see there is a need," he said.

Those interested in receiving the YMCA newsletter or more information about programs in the Clarkston area may call Woodrum at 651-YMCA.

Borg condo residents keep watch on mine

By Marilyn Trumper

The multi-million dollar Borg Warner Equities—owners of Pine Knob Manor Homes, La Veranda, The Mansion, and 368 acres of undeveloped Pine Knob land—are keeping an eye on the proposed Nunn Mining operation at Sashabaw Road and I-75.

It appears other residents are too.

Borg attorney Dean Gould expressed concern over the proposed plan to mine sand from 50 acres, designed to level the land for an industrial park with a 2,000 foot cul-de-sac.

The plan, reviewed under the township's recently strengthened mining ordinance, outlines 18 months of extraction and sand removal with estimates of 100 trucks in and out of the site each day providing sand for the I-696 extension.

"I expressed the concerns of Borg Warner and the impact that would have on future developments of the property," Gould said after the April 12 Independence Township Planning Commission meeting where the proposal was tabled for lack of information. "We have no specific plans for the land now."

Co-legal counsel Joe Galvin added, "What we'd currently like to do is seem more material and have the opportunity to present to the township board our position."

Three years ago Borg proposed a 55-home subdivision on 45 acres with private roads. Traditionally roads are drawn first with home sites following the contours of the road. Their plan is designed to preserve as much of the natural landscape and trees as possible.

In addition, Roger Peck, president of the condominium association, was concerned about the plan at an earlier meeting, and later elaborated.

"We weren't there really as an adversary to them, rather to see if it would affect our condominiums," Peck said.

"We don't want to tell someone they can't develop their land. We just wanted to make sure the commission found out what they were going to do to preserve the pine trees and hill along I-75, and traffic along Sashabaw Road.

"To get from Waldon across Sashabaw to drive into Clarkston is sometimes a hazardous predicament, and they're talking about 100 trucks a day in and out of there."

"This place has been through hell the past couple of years," Peck said, "and we just want to protect our investment."

Connie Wilson, a Dvorak Road resident, also opposed the plan.

"I never knew there was a public hearing. If I had, I would have attended," she said.

The commission, expected to review the plan a third time at its April 12 meeting, tabled the issue because documents failed to arrive.

It's expected they'll place the item on the April 26 agenda. The meeting is to begin at 7:30 p.m. in the Independence Township Hall Annex, 90 N. Main, Clarkston.

Earlier the planning commission requested an environmental impact statement and a landscape plan from Southfield attorney Irving Keene and developer Charles Nunn. The pair resurrected a four-year-old plan to level the site.

First OK for condominiums on Deer Lake

By Marilyn Trumper

A rezoning from residential to multiple for Frank Walker's proposed Deer Lake condominium development was recommended for approval by Clarkston's planning commission, and is scheduled before Independence Township for review April 26.

Walker, owner of Frank J. Walker Developer Inc., proposes five units per acre on 7 acres shared by both municipalities. He plans units of 1,200 to 1,500 square feet costing between $120,000 and $150,000, and is catering to the empty-nest market.

The condominiums will have deed restrictions which prevent the owners from having lake rights, he said.

Walker holds an option-to-buy contingent on the rezoning.

Commission member Fontie ApMadoc said there's a need for condominiums in the area and, according to the minutes, favored the plan.

"We were excited by the commission's decision," Walker said after the April 2 meeting. "I think the concept was one they're looking for."

Residents in the Deer Lake Homeowners' Association are concerned, and some met with Walker the next day to explore the proposal.

"I was concerned he might put in a marina or something," said association President Ronald Wagner. "He says he won't. But deed restrictions are tough to enforce. You have to go after your neighbor and that's hard to do."

Wagner points to the house-to-acre densities used by the developer of Deer Lake Farms.

"Using that rationale, there should only be three (condominiums) there," he said.

Wagner indicated the association would attend the scheduled April 26 meeting and continue to monitor the proposed development.

Vandal to pay

A 22-year-old man is scheduled for sentencing June 13 for malicious destruction of property under $100, and was ordered April 5 by Oakland County District Court Judge Gerald E. McNally to show proof of restitution.

Clarence Sprague Jr. of Springfield Township was arrested by Michigan State Police for allegedly driving his four-wheel-drive over a sign and small trees at the Harbortowne Village subdivision on Springfield Township's Susin Lake.

Fence to surround 2 schools

Project completion expected before summer sports

By Kathy Greenfield

They're fencing in the property around Clarkston Elementary and Clarkston High School.

At a special meeting Monday night, the board of education voted 7-0 to approve a $10,300 bid from Hinman Home Improvement and Fence Co. of Oxford for the six-foot-high chain link fence.

The proposal was first discussed at the April 9 meeting, when the school board instructed Superintendent Milford Mason to proceed with the project in order to have the fences in place before summer baseball season begins.

The fence will have six three-foot openings, each centered with a post.

"Easy to walk through and fairly easy to get bicycles through but not motorbikes, motorcycles, snowmobiles, or vehicles of that sort," Mason said April 9. "We felt this should be discussed because it may end up with a little bit of a stockade look."

Athletic Director Paul Tungate discussed some of the problems with the present situation.

"I've been here 18 years and for 18 years we've been discussing fences," he said, and meanwhile the situation has worsened.

•In 1978 there was a serious accident when a car rolled down a hill during a summer baseball game and pinned a child to a fenced area.

•People drive vehicles to baseball diamonds rather than park them in lots—even driving through when games are in progress.

•Two-wheel vehicles and snowmobiles create ruts where children run during games.

•The township parks and recreation department refused to assist with field maintenance until something is done.

"To protect our athletes, I feel we have to do something to maintain these fields," Tungate said. "It's just a very serious problem. I think fencing will alleviate most of that."

"We're not trying to keep the kids out," he added. "We want as many in as possible, with their glove and bat but not with a car."

Cops idle; contract blamed

By Marilyn Trumper

Three weeks ago the Oakland County Sheriff's Department settled its union contract—freeing the 150-man reserve force for active duty.

The reserves have been idle for over a year because contract language prohibits them from working if deputies have been laid off. Twenty-seven deputies lost their jobs at the start of 1983.

In February, union President David Rhines indicated he would reissue the current contract with new reserve guidelines if Sheriff Johannes Spreen would collaborate.

The reserves are still idle.

Rhines says it's because Spreen refuses to sit down and establish the guidelines.

Spreen says the reserves are his.

To protest, the union filed a grievance last month for use of reserve foot-patrols in Clarkston and Davisburg.

"We're not against the foot-patrols. In fact, they're a good thing. It's that the language is being violated," Rhine said. "If we've still got five of the 27 laid off, they're still off. There's nothing in the current contract that allows the reserves to come back to work.

"We're still willing to talk. No, we're not going to get an injunction to stop the foot-patrols. What they do is not something a regular deputy would do—so they're not doing a deputy's job.

"But if they were to start driving around in the black and whites, doing what a deputy does, then that's a different matter."

Spreen remains angry.

"My position is we can never do a job in law enforcement without the assistance of the citizens, and I'm going to continue to use the reserves," he said.

"If the union wants to put a grievance in, they can go to blazes. They're not running this department. If they want to—let 'em run for sheriff."

In the meantime, the union contends reserve deputies will be kept from working Independence and Springfield township parades and crowd control, directing traffic at accident scenes, riding with full-fledged deputies and assisting in ground searches.

Wetlands law eases red tape

Thirty days after publication, Independence Township will have an amended wetlands ordinance that eliminates appearances before the planning commission and board.

The new law, designed to make application easier for homeowners, was adopted by the board April 2.

In addition, the 17-page law creates a wetlands board of one planning commission member, one board member and three members-at-large, where larger developers request permits in addition to those required by the DNR and Army Corps of Engineers.

The building director can administratively issue permits for single-family residential lots, or when the proposed wetlands site is five acres or less, according to township attorney Gerald Fisher.

Prior to the director's issuance, notice will be sent to all interested property owners and if one requests a hearing, the issue goes before the wetlands board to decide if there should be a full hearing, Fisher said.

Critics' choice

Kathy Greenfield

Several months ago I decided to stop reading movie reviews until after I had seen the movie. I was sick and tired of remembering bits of information that revealed what would happen next while the story was unfolding.

It's not that the reviewers blatantly give away the endings, it's just that they let you know things like the good guys win, the robber escapes, E.T. almost dies—but doesn't.

It would be far better, I decided, to react to what I saw on the big screen without outside influences picking away at my concentration.

That's how I happened to be sitting in a theater without Kleenex during "Terms of Endearment" back when it first came out.

From the movie ads I knew the acting had to be good. I had gathered the movie was funny. But nothing indicated it was sad.

For those of us who cry at movies like "Bambi," such information is imperative. I mean, what do you do when your nose starts running and all you have handy is an empty popcorn box?

OK, so it was back to reading reviews.

Last weekend, I went to see "Iceman," which I probably wouldn't have if it hadn't received good press. Such stories can be silly. This one wasn't.

But it really bothered me to know what was going to happen because I read two reviews. It's one thing to guess what could happen while sitting on the edge of your seat. It's another to know it's going to happen and to sit back and wait.

None of this applies to the kinds of movies made from classics, the ones where you've read the book and liked it so much you want to see the movie.

Then it's fun to think about choices the movie writers made and how the characters fit whatever mental image you had developed.

I think I'll go back to scanning the lists that rate movies and give brief descriptions of the story lines.

That, and start carrying Kleenex in my pockets.

Letter to editor

Quotes require clarification

In the issue of March 28, 1984, of The Clarkston News, Alberta Ellis, co-chair of the Clarkston K-12 Curriculum Committee, was quoted as saying, "Obviously they were concerned that they, as a union, were not in on it even though we had three teachers on the committee" and "The union is also very much opposed to changing the structure we now have for curriculum."

The Clarkston Education Association believes clarification is required.

Only one statement came from the Clarkston Education Association itself; the remainder of the comments came from teachers speaking as individuals with numerous years of experience in teaching the children of this community.

The statement of the association made reference to three items:

1. that teachers be free to express their concerns without reprisal;
2. that the sanctity of the Master Agreement between the Clarkston Education Association and board of education be maintained;
3. that implementation of the report be delayed until further investigation can be made of its content.

In short, nothing was said regarding the composition of the committee or objection to the content of the report.

Individual teachers (who happen to be members of the CEA) expressed a wide range of reactions as professional educators.

Some people expressed total support for the plan as presented. Most expressed concern about the possible impact of the report on their area(s) of expertise.

Educators of elementary children showed concern for precise time frames of instruction, which do not allow time for extra help, special projects of elementary education, needs of younger children, etc.

Secondary teachers expressed their concern about support for existing curriculum (funding, class size, staff allocation, etc.).

At no time did any teacher express opposition to the concept of curriculum change.

The final point to be made is that the Clarkston Education Association has always supported curriculum planning and has insisted that the existence of curriculum committee language be maintained in our contract.

The association totally supports curriculum improvement and will continue to make it a primary goal.

Al Bartlett, President
Clarkston Education Association

Jim's Jottings

All for a mirror

Jim Sherman

I'm not one to pioneer a product. I didn't buy a 1930 Model A Ford until 1962. By being a non-pioneer a person can avoid the Edels and Kaisers, sun lotions that don't work, and synthetic fibres that melt.

Yet I'm completely contradictory in buying typesetting equipment for our newspaper preparations. Since 1966 I've owned five, count 'em, five wholly new systems of putting words on paper.

In 1966 we were using the Linotype by Mergenthaler, a machine that was in general use in 1905. Then we went to a punched type machine, the Justewriter. Then strike-on with an IBM selectric composer-magnetic tape.

Both were relatively new when we got involved, as was the photo-typesetting system by Compugraphic.

Because the Compugraphic company misrepresented their product (not being able to produce classified ads in the proper order) I was never really happy with that system.

Then, in June 1983, a new shooter was announced for setting type. It's called the Linotron 101 and it's made by, guess who? Mergenthaler, the same guys who built the Linotype.

This is a really break-through machine. Mostly because it's relatively cheap at $19,950. It produces type via a laser beam, which has otherwise been available only on equipment that cost at least $150,000.

The promised 120-day delivery, June to October, stretched into December, before I got on the horn to Mergenthaler's president's secretary. That lady brought response, I got the machine March 26.

For the last couple week's some nine people in this organization have been getting instructions. We began loading want ad copy into this amazing laser on a Thursday. We started asking, then begging, our baby to produce our 600-plus classifieds on Monday.

It didn't produce.

Several calls later and a repairman, we learned a mirror had fallen out. It's about three-quarters of an inch square. The repairer said, "They forgot to rough up the back of the mirror in Germany so the glue didn't hold."

Shades of the Zilwaukee Bridge.

As of right now the repairman's glue is holding and a new part is on it's way.

What's going through my mind is... this is the fourth time I've fervently regretted not staying with the Linotype in 1966.

Real people pick it up

Ah spring! Time to watch for sprouting daffodils and tulips, green grass, budding trees... And time to see the trash.

Forrest White of Sashabaw Road called us last week to ask if we'd say a few words about people who travel merrily along our roads and highways casting garbage out their windows.

He lives just down the street from a grocery store, fast food restaurant and the Pine Knob Music Theatre.

And he said you wouldn't believe the number of hamburger wrappers, pop containers, potato chip bags and beer cans he picks up.

White is 74 years old.

Maybe those who think it's too hard to wait until they get home to throw out their junk should consider him.

We've often wondered what motivates people to jetison trash along roadways, for it's never a case of "when it's gone, it's gone" and we know their mothers don't walk along picking up after them.

Instead, real people like White do all the dirty work.

Abuse column 'misleading'

Dear Mr. Zawacky:

Your article on child abuse and the "Children's Trust Fund" is very misleading and indicates a cheap shot toward a group of people who have abused their children.

Who said the abusers are looking for excuses? Your article implies this.

Your paragraph that includes the sentence, "It is an insult to every decent husband and wife, who have endured crisis after crisis without abusing their families," seems to separate out abusers from this category.

Having worked as a social worker for many years in Clarkston, I can tell you many abusers are for the most part decent human beings.

There are many more out there than you would think, and many of these people abuse their children in more subtle ways than brutal force.

Your statement, that "line 33 isn't going to solve, fight or accomplish anything," is quite reactionary. I'm glad you look at things with an "open mind."

Personally, I'd rather spend my money to help human beings make significant changes for themselves, than to pay most of my taxes for less important reasons.

The Children's Trust Fund is dedicated to the prevention of child abuse, not for excusing it as a natural happening.

In Michigan abuse and neglect increased from 7,864 reports of suspected abuse in 1970 to over 36,000 in 1982, an increase of over 450 percent.

About 90 percent of abusive and neglectful parents were abused or neglected as children. At least 80 percent of prison inmates were severely abused or neglected during childhood.

I am a very strong advocate for accepting and promoting the idea of personal responsibility, but obviously we learn from those who we are exposed to. The earlier in our lives we are exposed to abuse and neglect, the more vulnerable we are to its impact on our lives.

The Children's Trust Fund is a very legitimate response to a significant crisis of parenting in our society.

Look at line 33b. I don't see any comment on your part of a donation to the Nongame Wildlife Fund.

Thanks for Junior Miss assistance

I would like to express my sincere appreciation to Dee's Boutique and the Essence for contributions to the traveling wardrobe of our Junior Miss Julie Beamer. It really means a lot.

As you all know, Julie is not only Clarkston's Junior Miss, but the Michigan Junior Miss as well.

Anyone who would like to help with her expenses for appearances throughout the state may drop off a check at the Pontiac State Bank's downtown Clarkston branch.

If It Fitz...

Taking notice

Jim Fitzgerald

At first I thought I was seeing things; perhaps some sort of a mirage. There couldn't really be an 8-by-10 photograph on the ceiling of the bathroom adjacent to my bedroom, could there? Yes.

It was over the bathtub. I didn't have my glasses on the morning I first noticed the photo, so I couldn't immediately make out what was pictured. It appeared to be a hairy person, in full color. But what was it doing taped to my bathroom ceiling?

And how long had it been there? It never occurred to me until then, but I didn't used to look at my bathroom ceiling very often. In fact, I couldn't remember the last time I'd looked at it. Maybe that was the first time I'd looked up in that bathroom in the seven years I'd been using it.

FOR THAT REASON, I hesitated to ask my wife about the photo. She accuses me of never noticing the changes she makes in our home. She often buys such large items as couches and tables without telling me, and then waits for me to comment on them, which I never do.

I never talk about furniture unless it collapses under me. But that doesn't make me a rotten person, does it? There are a lot of things I never talk about. I never talk about the Michigan Panthers or turnips, for instance. That doesn't mean I'm unaware of them.

It simply means they don't interest me, so why talk about them?

I am loathe to admit to my wife that I'm not interested in the furniture she buys. She claims a good husband is interested in everything in his home. Good husbands are something else I don't like to talk about.

But I'd rather admit I didn't mention the new drapes because I'm not interested in drapes than confess I didn't notice when she put them up five years earlier.

That is the worst sin — not noticing. When she asks how I like the new wallpaper and I absent-mindedly say I didn't notice it, I'm in deep waste. She wants to know what is the sense of her breaking her back to give me a nice home to live in if I don't even notice when she redecorates an entire room? The answer, of course, is it's a nice home for her to live in, too. But that's another thing I don't like to talk about because she always talks back and, as she's had much more experience, she is a far better talker than I am.

SO I DIDN'T WANT to be found guilty of not noticing a photograph that might have been on the ceiling for seven years. It wouldn't be enough to plead that I don't bathe; I shower, so I never have the opportunity to lie back in the tub and gaze pensively at the ceiling. The ceiling is plain white, with no pattern or other deviation to break the monotony, so a good husband interested in his home surely would have noticed a picture overhead before then. (I'm not sure why I finally looked up that morning, but I think it had something to do with talking to God about President Reagan's attitude toward prayer near plumbing.)

Also, there was the kink factor. I'd heard of kinky people with pictures on the ceiling over their beds. Was there some strange, Sistine reason my wife put a photo over the tub? Was it anything I wanted to talk about? I got my glasses.

IT WAS THE FACE of a dog in the photo on the ceiling. Probably a collie. My curiosity overcame my reluctance to once more be exposed as a husband with no interest in his home. I asked, and my wife explained why she'd put the photo up — just a few days earlier, fortunately for me.

It used to be when she washed the hair of our two-year-old granddaughter, Emily, in the tub, and said, "Put your head way back," so she could rinse away the shampoo without getting soap in Emily's precious little eyes. Emily didn't follow orders. So now my wife says, "Look at the pretty doggy." Emily does, and giggles, and never gets soap in her eyes.

Honest, I don't make this stuff up. Julie. I've named the doggy Michelangelo, of course, and every I look up at him every morning while asking God to please make me more aware of new drapes.

The Village of Clarkston as well as Independence Township has been fortunate in its diversity of architectural styles.

Our township has boasted beautiful examples of Greek Revival, Queen Anne and Italianate as well as the recent Bungalow style.

However, many of these structures have been sacrificed to fire, modernization or to the wrecking ball in the name of urban progress. Such was the case of the lovely Carran sisters home which stood on North Main Street until the 1950s.

This exact location is now being proposed as the new site for the historic farmhouse which sits alone on Dixie Highway choked by present day blight.

The beautiful Italianate structure which is presently owned by Tom Ritter was built by the Green family around 1865. It is one of the few examples left in Independence Township which stands virtually intact.

It also presents an ideal opportunity to move an endangered historic structure to a historic district.

The Clarkston Community Historical Society would like to cry its concern for this historic farmhouse and hopes to see it moved into the village's historic district.

The steps that led to the Carran sisters' millinery shop and home are still intact, but the home was destroyed to make way for village expansion in the 1950s.

The board feels it would help protect it for future generations to enjoy and appreciate.

All too many structures along Dixie Highway have been sacrificed for the sake of profit and replaced by the cloned structures of Taco Bell, McDonald's and the like.

The society encourages and applauds the efforts to move and preserve this Italianate structure. It offers a unique opportunity for the community to pull together to ensure its protection.

Aid applauded

During our last snowstorm on March 21, I had the misfortune to lose control of my car and slide into a tree on Holcomb Street in Clarkston.

My injuries were not extensive, but the quick response of our own Independence Township Fire Department's Emergency Medical Service unit was a revelation to me.

Never having had the need of any emergency service prior to this time, I was unaware that this group of kind, thoughtful, compassionate and truly professional individuals existed right here in our community.

My gratitude and appreciation to this fine group can never be adequately expressed.

We are truly blessed in our area to have Chief Frank Ronk and his ability to attract and maintain this dedicated group of wonderful young men.

Cable seeks partnership OK

Tribune/United wants to raise $23 million selling limited partnerships—but first needs the Independence Township Board's approval.

At a special meeting April 10 the board tabled the matter, opting to wait for more information.

According to Jim Anderson, vice president and general manager of the township's $2.5 million cable TV system, board approval is needed because of the franchise operating agreement signed two years ago.

"We want to sell 225 at $100,000 each for a total of $22.5 million," Anderson said. "And we have a bank letter-of-credit for $33 million, which means the bank has said, 'Yes we will loan this to you.'"

"It's a new form of financing for cable companies that in the past was restricted to oil and gas and real estate operations."

Over a year ago the tax laws were amended, making this form of financing desirable to cable companies, he said, adding it provides immediate collateral.

"The money will be used to help us build the Independence system, and the 11-community consortium in southern Oakland County," Anderson said.

In addition to allowing time for more information, the township board tabled the matter to "touch bases" with attorney Robert Hurlburt, chairman of the Cable TV Task Force, according to township Clerk Richard Holman.

"The board also wanted to see the financial statements of the public companies, and a letter from our attorney explaining exactly what was going on," Holman said.

Springfield adds 1 more deputy

Springfield Township will have more police protection in 1984.

As of April 1, the township will have three Oakland County Sheriff's Department deputies, up one from last year.

The township decided to increase the coverage based on a residents' committee report, said Supervisor Collin Walls after the April 11 board meeting.

The Police Service Committee report submitted to the township in January mentioned the additional deputy along with a possible citizens watch groups and crime prevention education for the residents.

"The contract is for two years but the third deputy has a 60-day notice of cancellation," said Walls. "The township has enough money for one year of the contract. The 60-day notice is if we run out of money for him. It's always been in the contract but it never mattered to us until now."

The contract calls for $50,574 per deputy the first year and $53,615 the second year. The cost covers all equipment and supervisory personnel.

Developmental kindergarten gains status

By Kathy Greenfield

Developmental kindergarten is here to stay. The extra year of kindergarten for "young fives" was adopted as part of the regular K-6 program in a 6-0 vote at last week's Clarkston board of education meeting.

Previously a pilot program, the plan for developmental kindergarten began during the 1980-81 school year when "kindergarten teachers interested in addressing the problems of young fives...introduced the idea of studying developmental kindergarten," said William Neff, director of elementary education.

First- and second-grade teachers supported the idea, he said, because they saw children who could have benefited from such a program: becoming nonachievers and developing school phobia and high absenteeism in the early grades.

Usually such children ended up being held back a year.

During 1980-81, Gesell training began so teachers could learn recognized methods of identifying children who would benefit from an extra year of kindergarten.

In 1981-82 some developmental kindergarten programs began and during the 1982-83 school year there were programs in each elementary school.

The developmental kindergarten classes retained their pilot status during this school year as methods were refined for teaching, improving screening to identify young fives and orientation of parents.

Other school districts have shown an interest, Neff said, and many have come to observe classes and developmental kindergarten teachers have conducted workshops for schools considering the program.

The practice of allowing parents the final decision on whether their children will be placed in a developmental kindergarten class will continue, Neff said.

The decision means the child will attend kindergarten two years. The first year allows time for the child to develop physically while strengthening social skills and easing into such tasks as sitting quietly, concentrating on written assignments and becoming more independent. The second year is a regular kindergarten class.

While the Clarkston developmental kindergarten program has not been in place long enough to collect long-term data, other districts with developmental kindergarten programs claim their dropout rates decline dramatically.

New stage lights to shine at CHS

A new $40,000 lighting system for the Clarkston High School Little Theatre should be in place by mid-September, ending what Superintendent Milford Mason calls "a dangerous situation."

"We have to replace the equipment. I do not question it at all," Mason said.

After references were made to a "smoldering fire" in the theater's 24-year-old system, the Clarkston board of education voted 6-0 last week to approve the purchase.

Two firms bid on the system which includes 70 individual dimmers, house light controls, a control panel and a control panel connection on stage and at the rear of the auditorium.

The highest bid of $32,874 plus freight charges from Strand Century of Rancho Dominguez, Calif., was approved following the recommendation of William Dennis, school district administrative assistant in charge of auxiliary services.

The other bid was $1,374 lower, but Dennis said he based his recommendation on discussions with three school districts and Central Michigan University.

Two firms also bid on installation and the low bid of $6,885 from Schultz Electric of Pontiac was accepted.

Elementaries to order music books

New music books, to the tune of $14,000, are on their way for Clarkston elementary school pupils.

The board of education approved the purchase of the Silver Burdett "Music: Centennial Edition" series in a 6-0 vote April 9.

The order includes 35 textbooks for grades two through six in each of the five elementary schools, records for grades one through six and one large book for each second-grade classroom.

Elementary education director William Neff recommended books and records for grades four through six be purchased for the 1984-85 school year and the remainder the following year.

The reason, he said, was other district textbook purchases planned include about $18,000 for health and $35,000 for mathematics, and he did not want to go over budget.

The board, however, approved the $14,000 expenditure and directed the superintendent to purchase the entire amount if funds are available in the general fund.

"I don't see the advantage in working over two years because the teachers would have to work with two series of books," said board member David Kithil.

The music books now used are 10 years old.

"They have really been pretty worn out," Neff said. "In some cases we...do not have enough books to go around a classroom."

"For me to take these books to a bindery in order to have them last for another year, I felt would be throwing good money after bad."

Fashion show

Tickets are now on sale for "Hats to Fashion," the annual Waterford-Clarkston Business Women's Club's annual Spring Fashion Show.

The dinner at the Deer Lake Racquet Club with fashions from The Clothes Tree modeled by club members is planned Tuesday evening, April 24.

All proceeds go toward the club's Scholarship Fund. At last year's fashion show, the club raised $500 for scholarships for two young women. Their names will be announced the evening of this year's show.

Tickets are $15 each. They may be obtained by calling 625-3776 or 625-5041.

All-county selections

After the Clarkston High School varsity volleyball team won the league and district titles this year, team members started collecting the awards.

Coach Nancy Foster was voted Oakland County coach of the year along with Nancy Lamphere of Avondale. This is Foster's first year as varsity coach and the team responded with a 26-5 record.

Coaches from other county teams vote on the coach of the year and on the players named to the Dream Team and the first, second and honorable mention teams.

The Wolves' Amy Stark, a senior, was one of 12 players selected for the Dream Team, the top players from all four classes.

That team played a match against the Macomb County Dream Team on March 30 and Oakland County emerged the victors.

"It was really fun playing on that team," Stark said. "All the passes and the sets were perfect. We had a good time."

Receiving selection to the All-County first team from the Clarkston Wolves were senior Kim Lorenz and junior Wendy Learmont.

Second team nominations went to juniors Roseann Hirneisen and Laura Hurren. Denise Giroux was named to the All-County Honorable Mention team.

"We did very, very well with the selections," Foster said. "I'm pleased with them. It's a nice feeling."

Soccer: Indoor-style

Clarkston players improve their skills during Winter

Soccer indoors can be a little more physical. When two teams from Clarkston got together for a game at Lakeland Arena, the players tried harder to beat their friends.

By Dan Vandenhemel

The cool air said you were in a hockey arena but the game in progress was notably different.

The thin layer of ice had been replaced with bright green artificial turf, and the players wore tennis shoes, not ice skates.

LakeLand Arena, in Waterford Township, had been transformed into an indoor soccer field for a group of area youths. Ten teams played in the league, two coming from Clarkston. On April 14 they played each other.

"Clarkston won 2-1," coach Hayden Cook said with a laugh.

Cook avoided the question of which of the two teams won by saying the contest stressed the skills of the players, not who won or lost.

Indoor soccer is much faster paced than the outdoor game. Only six players are on the smaller field as opposed to 11.

"With the use of the walls, it is faster," Cook said, his British accent fitting in with the sport. "The goals are smaller. The number of goals scored are higher and they come quicker. I believe it is a much more physical game too."

The play of the teams confirmed that when goalie Walt Svenkesen blocked a shot with his face that could have left VOIT stamped on his forehead.

"He was OK, just stunned a little," Cook said. "The lack of space and the walls have something to do with the aggressiveness."

"We only had one unfortunate injury early in the spring," he continued. "Ron Forbes broke his lower leg going after a loose ball. It was purely an accident. The other kid was in tears, he felt so bad."

Cook, Ron Forbes, Bob Simunovic and Pete Keelin want to get some interest among Clarkston High School students for the indoor league.

Last fall was the first season for soccer at the high school level. This coming fall, Clarkston will be in a league of other newcomers to the sport.

"We watched the high school play in its pilot season and we thought we'd like to get the kids together to improve their skills. That's the only reason for the indoor league," Cook said. "The indoor game can keep them playing during the winter."

"I can remember in the 50s in London, the soccer club kept its players skills up with it," he said. "I guess it started in London, but that was more ball skill. This is higher scoring."

Skier heads west for finals

By Dan Vandenhemel

Andy Balzarini received a mid-semester break from the rigors of classes at Michigan Technological University, Houghton, early in March.

The 18-year-old freshman was with his team during the National Collegiate Ski Association U.S. finals in Steamboat Springs, Colo., March 12-14.

The MTU team won the Midwest Regional meet at Pine Mountain in Iron Mountain, Feb. 25-26.

"It felt great out there," Balzarini said of the national finals. "I was only one of two freshmen on the team to start. I only competed in the slalom. We have a very, very good team with a lot of depth."

Balzarini said the team finished 14th out of 15 at the finals.

"We had three guys fall in the finals and that hurt," he said in a telephone interview. "I didn't do very well either."

"The conditions were not too great for racing, it was soft and difficult to turn in. The higher altitude made it hard, too. I almost fell over when I finished."

A 1983 Clarkston High School graduate, Balzarini led the Wolves to the state finals his senior year but is having a little difficulty adjusting to college competition.

"I thought it would be a lot easier," he said. "I was fifth in the state last year and thought I'd just walk on the team but it's a lot tougher. I was fourth on the team this year and we have the exact same team coming back next year. We should be tough again."

Racing on the national level is not completely new for Balzarini. He and his sister, Angela, finished fifth in the nation two years ago in the Equitable Family Ski Challenge.

Fun Run set to go

Limber up your legs, bring those jogging shoes out of the closet. The second annual SCAMP-NWOVEC Fun Run is ready to go May 5.

SCAMP, a summer camp program for children and youth with special needs, and the Northwest Oakland Vocational Education Center benefit from the race. Last year, $300 was split between them.

The event, sponsored by Bordines Better Blooms, is planned at Independence Oaks County Park on Sashabaw Road. The 1-mile fun run starts at 9:30 a.m. The 10-kilometer race begins at 9:45 a.m.

The cost is $6 before May 1 and $8 for late registration.

All participants receive T-shirts, with plaques and medals awarded to the top four finishers in the 10-kilometer race.

Wolves pound ball in 1st week

By Dan Vandenhemel

The first week of the softball season for Clarkston High School is proving one thing, the Wolves can get the bat on the ball.

Only in the most recent game against Waterford Mott, April 13, did the varsity Wolves hit the ball at someone. They lost that game 3-1 and collected only four hits, but struck out just three times.

Against Holly two days earlier, the Wolves collected 11 hits in a 7-5 victory. In the season opener, April 10 against Milford, Clarkston won in a laughter 20-0 and had double digit hits again.

"It's so early in the season to tell anything," coach Carla Teare said. "We are hitting better than I expected but I think we still have a long way to come yet. If I didn't think that, we'd never get any better."

It's not just a couple of players doing all the hitting. They are taking their turns.

Against Mott, second baseman Kelli Keating went 2-3 and DH Stephanie Wagner drove in the lone Clarkston run with a double.

The hitting heroes in the Holly game were catcher Roseann Hirneisen with two hits and two RBI's, and first baseman Sue Stefanski and shortstop Sheila Moore with two hits each.

In the opener against Milfor, center fielder Sue Castillo did the most damage with three hits and four RBI's. Julie Marshall pitched in with a homerun and Kim Stiff had two hits.

"We should be scoring more runs," Teare said after the Mott game. "We're making contact."

Besides stinging the ball, the Wolves are able to catch it too.

Castillo made a diving catch on a sure extra-base hit against Mott to keep the game close.

"Sue and Jill (Griffis) played great defense out there," Teare said. "So did Sheila (Moore) and Laura (third baseman Hurren). Everyone has been playing good defense. The last few years the defense has been getting better. Defensively we're as good as any team."

Third baseman Laura Hurren (No. 21) waits for the throw as a Waterford Mott player slides in safely. The Wolves lost their first game of the season, 3-1, to Mott.

Clarkston native Scott McKoin averaged four points a game for the Roadrunners of the University of Texas at San Antonio.

McKoin contributes

Scott McKoin, a Clarkston native, played critical role in helping the University of Texas at San Antonio basketball team to a 20-8 record, according to a university news release.

The 6-foot-5-inch McKoin averaged four points a game and three rebounds for the Roadrunners.

The release went on to say:

"McKoin's is one of only three players to earn three letters at UT San Antonio. He scored a career high of 13 points against North Texas State, Jan. 14, in San Antonio in a 94-57 victory by the Roadrunners.

"McKoin, a business administration major, was a key player for UTSA this season because of his experience and heads up defensive play.

"Head Coach Don Eddy says McKoin has improved greatly during his three years at UTSA. 'Scott has developed into a fine basketball player, and we have gotten a lot more out of him than we ever thought we would. Scott played every position on the floor for us this season, and he was one of the main reasons for our success.'"

Senior spikers net trophy

1st place in Northwest Parks and Recreation league

For six men at the Independence Township Senior Citizen Center, volleyball is more than just a game.

The team of John Thomas, Marion Miszczak, Dick Surre, Jim Bunton, Joe Terkowski and Sam Halsey took the first-place trophy in the Northwest Parks and Recreation volleyball league that ended March 15 in Sterling Heights.

"We won it last year too," Thomas said. "We played under Waterford then. The people at the Colombiere Center were nice enough to let us play there this year."

The 3-foot high trophy is a remembrance of the 14-week season.

"A lot of times we played one man short," Miszczak said. "We had to forfeit three games during the season and still ended with a 27-9 record. We held our own real well. We played well as a team."

Now that volleyball is over, they're looking forward to the softball season.

"We could still use some more players for softball," Thomas said. "Last year we finished in the middle of the pack. We don't like that too much."

Up My Alley

All in a name

By Dan Vandenhemel

When you move out of your parents' house for the first time, a large feeling of independence comes over you.

This is reinforced every time a piece of mail comes sliding through the slot. It was nice receiving mail while at home, but it is different when the letter marked "Occupant" is for you.

You have the distinct pleasure of throwing all the junk mail out yourself.

Another form of paper that is very important to the independent person is the telephone directory.

One flashback that can be associated with getting the phone book comes from the movie "The Jerk." The scene shows Steve Martin running around after looking in the directory for his name yelling, "I'm somebody. I'm somebody, a real person."

Well, obviously Martin's name was spelled right.

After receiving the phone book the other day, I immediately opened it up and looked under the V's. Scanning down the third column, looking for the name that looks familiar.

Oh, there it is, Vandenhemel, Dan.

Well it was close at least.

With a name like mine, you get used to having it spelled wrong. There have been many variations but this is the first time like that.

The most popular styles have been VanDenHemel, Van Den Hemel, Vanderhemel, Vandehamel and Vanderheml.

With the breakup of the Bell Company, slight problems can be expected. But since the phone company was messing around with my heritage, my ancestry, I decided to do something about it.

The problem with having something to complain about is trying to find out who to complain to.

The first phone call, I was met with a pleasant voice saying, "There are three calls ahead of you. Would you please like to hold?"

Before I could say anything, I was placed on limbo-hold. After a couple of long distance minutes, the same smooth voice came back saying, "It will be a couple minutes. Would you like to hold a little longer?"

This time I was able to say no and hold a small conversation with the voice. I found out that I had called the wrong number. Overjoyed with the long wait, I wrote the correct number.

That one got results.

Another smooth voice said, "What is the correct spelling, please?" After four tries and a little laughter, she was able to repeat V-A-N-D-E-N-H-E-M-E-L.

It's not a tough name to spell, so why does most everybody get it wrong?

Salem gravel cleans up its act

Manager Jim Scott keeps operations on right track

By Kathy Greenfield

All's quiet on the eastern front.

The Salem Plant, a 200-acre gravel mining operation on Oak Hill Road in the eastern portion of Independence Township, doesn't open for the season until mid-April.

But even when the mining begins and trucks start to roll filled with the top-quality stone, all still will be quiet on the eastern front, according to Independence Township Supervisor James B. Smith and Jim Scott, operations manager for the Michigan Aggregates Division of Blount Materials of Michigan.

"Mr. Smith decided he was not going to have this mess back here and took Blount to task. We sort of squared off... and decided to work together," is how Scott explains events over the past several years.

"We're here and we're doing everything right and, understand, everything they're asking is right. It's perfectly agreeable."

In 1982 township officials and representatives of Blount International of Alabama ended six days of negotiations with a closed session of the board that finally ended at 3:45 in the morning, Smith said.

The result was a consent judgment, a court-sanctioned agreement that called for a $650,000 bond to cover reclamation costs in case the mine was abandoned, on-site monitoring by engineers paid for by Salem, periodic aerial surveys, full grading, a four-foot fence surrounding the land, the chloriding of the Oak Hill Road to Sashabaw Road four times a year and a six-foot chain-link fence protecting the adjoining historic Case Cemetery.

"They've kept their word and it is so refreshing, because we haven't had that happen before," said Smith. "These people are using this (gravel mining operation) as a model."

It's clear Scott is proud of the progress at the Salem mine over the past year and one-half he's worked for Blount.

A 26-year employe of an Ann Arbor gravel company, he said the reason he changed employers was because Blount would let him work on rehabilitation of the land scarred from mining.

As he conducts a tour of the mine, he contrasts areas that have been rehabilitated with those that will be restored next.

He cares so much, Scott said, that last summer he and his wife and children walked the hills of the Salem mine, spreading grass seed.

The restoration, to date, has consumed "almost a ton of grass seed and probably 20 tons of fertilizer," he said.

In 1985, according to the consent judgment, the mining will have to cease, with two additional years to township Supervisor James B. Smith shows the before and after of rehabilitation.

remove gravel piles and equipment, and to complete restoration.

Scott doesn't want that to happen, and he plans to seek year-to-year extensions.

"It doesn't make sense to me to walk off and leave material like this when industry needs it," he said.

For while the Salem pit is small by gravel pit standards—"this one is peanuts," Scott said—it has hard blue stone, the best type of gravel to be found.

Last year 300,000 tons were removed from the mine, and with the improving economy it looks like more will be sold this year, Scott said.

But back to the rehabilitation. If the mining can continue there'll be "a nice lake instead of a bunch of dribbly ponds," he said.

He'd like to stock the 30- to 50-acre lake to be with fish. He wants to use the half-million tons of sand, a by-product of mining for the gravel, for making a beach.

"It's true, I'm trying to sell the fact I don't want to leave," he said.

Last year there were only two complaints by neighboring residents—a small number for a gravel mining operation, Scott said, and he worked to solve the problems. He wants residents to meet with him, and he wants to take them on tours of the mine.

Later, Smith said he did not expect Scott to talk about wanting to extend mining in the Salem Plant.

But, he said, that might not be a bad idea, for if the township has one gravel mine it may be able to keep others out.

And if that one mine is the Salem plant, he expects all to stay quiet on the eastern front.

Battle of Books

Pine Knob Elementary School pupils [in photo above] came out the winners of the third annual Battle of the Books. All five Clarkston elementary schools participated in the event April 11 at the school administration office. The panel-like contest consisted of 45 questions covering 15 books. On the winning team were Renny Abraham, Erica Gooding, Melissa Fletcher, Karl Erickson, Shannon Creed and Darren Oriara. Bailey Lake Elementary School [left] was a close second to Pine Knob. The school won the event last year. The first winner of the contest was North Sashabaw Elementary.

- Sheriff's log -

Friday, thieves stole tires worth $200 off a car on M-15, Independence Township.

Friday, thieves broke into a garage on Independence Drive, Independence Township, and stole a $350 toolbox.

Saturday, vandals wielding a BB-gun caused an unknown amount of damage when they shot out the window of a car on Dubuque Road, Independence Township.

This information came from reports at the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

Clarkston turns thumbs down on rezoning

Following the planning commission's recommendation, the Clarkston Village Council in a 6-1 vote denied a request to rezone the Hawke property at 42 W. Washington from residential to office. Attorney for the Hawke property made the request at the council's Monday night meeting. "It's bounded on two sides by commercial," he said. "It's on a busy street. It makes sense for a buffer to be there between the commercial and residential. The house has poured concrete floors and an elevator and was used at one time as an industrial office-home. We suggest office would be a logical use."

Art Pappas who lives across the street argued against the rezoning, calling for residential to abut residential.

William Basinger agreed.

"There are other areas of the village where residential meets commercial. There doesn't seem to be a buffer needed there," he said.

The council agreed.

"I think it's a good place to stop the businesses," said Trustee Ethel Sinclair.

"I'd like to keep the integrity of the village and don't see any need to expand businesses," said Trustee David Raup.

"I don't feel it's a white elephant," said Trustee James Schultz, referring to the Hawke attorney's comment the home was on the market four months and did not sell.

Trustee Sharon Catallo was absent. Trustee Jon Gaskell abstained.

2 teachers receive pink slips

Two higher seniority teachers are returning from leaves of absence, so two Clarkston school district teachers are receiving layoff notices at the end of this school year.

The board of education voted 6-0 last week to approve the layoffs of Cynthia Dodgers and Bonnie Valuet.

Valuet presently teaches kindergarten at Pine Knob Elementary School. She has been employed by the school district since 1977.

"I believe she told me today this is the fourth time (she's received a layoff notice)," said Conrad Bruce, administrative assistant.

After the meeting, Bruce said it's possible another teacher will retire and Valuet will be recalled. Cynthia Dodgers teaches special education.

"The teachers that are leaving us are not in that area, so her recall depends on what our needs are in the learning disabled area next year," Bruce said.

2 teachers retire

Two Clarkston school district teachers have taken advantage of the $5,000 early retirement incentive.

Meeting the April 16 deadline to inform the district in writing that they would retire were Jane Griffiths and Leach Shelton.

Griffiths presently teaches fourth grade at Clarkston Elementary School. Because she made her announcement early enough, the layoff list was reduced in time so another elementary education teacher was not laid off.

Leach is a mathematics teacher at Sashabaw Junior High School.

"We do not have any teachers on our layoff list certified in that area, so it looks like to me to replace him we'll have to hire a new staff member," said Conrad Bruce, administrative assistant.

"We did expect more (retirements) than this," he added. "If they go now it will be late summer because they missed the $5,000. We always get some changes before school starts, it seems like."

Felony charges for 3

Three men accused of robbing the Clark Service Station on Sashabaw Road, Independence Township, waived preliminary exam before 52nd District Court Judge Gerald E. McNally April 6 and were bound over to circuit court.

The trio face arraignment April 24 before Oakland County Circuit Court Judge Richard Kuhn on charges of armed robbery.

McNally continued the $10,000 bond on each of the three men, William Stanley Jolesiewski, 20, of Detroit and Hamtramck residents Robert James Hutchinson, 28, and Eugene Hall, 18.

Conviction of the felony could carry a life prison sentence.

Job in jeopardy

said. "I'll be at that meeting (April 26) to hear what they say."

When board took the initial action March 26 to inform Reabe his job was in jeopardy, Mason gave the following reasons: "The nonrenewal is in the best interests of the overall educational process of the district. That educational process has been adversely affected by the strained relationship between Mr. Reabe and the professional staff."

According to Mason, if the board opts not to renew Reabe's contract as an administrator he has the right to remain in the district as a teacher.

The meeting is to be held at the administration office, 6389 Clarkston Rd., Independence Township.

Hobby is eggs-actly right for Easter

By Marilyn Trumper

Surrounded by her eclectic antiques above the Clarkston Main Street shop is silver-haired Daisy Dowling.

This Easter she's sharing her egg collection.

The 76-year-old Main Street dowager's spent 40 years collecting eggs of all sizes, in many mediums.

Hand-painted wooden eggs from Mexico painted in bold oranges and reds with flowers and butterflies. Also from Mexico, shocking pink and yellow striped woven eggs.

There are hand-painted tin eggs, wooden eggs that unscrew to reveal a thimble and thread, a crystal egg, blown glass eggs, a precious stone egg, marble eggs, spun sugar eggs with a panorama view inside and one very special mother-of-pearl egg.

"I really feel there's something about eggs, I don't know what it is about them," Daisy said. "They're such a perfect thing. There's something about holding an egg that appeals to me."

This year for the first time she assembled much of her collection on a table centered in the room.

"I've never done that before. This one, bought by my daughter and son-in-law is especially dear," she said, holding a egg-shaped glass dome on a gold-like stand, with an egg inside topped by a basket of flowers.

"It reminds me of the Faberge collection. They were made for the Russian czars and given at Easter time. I'll never own one. They cost a thousand dollars."

According to Daisy, one of the first Easter gifts was "something" in an egg.

She's most proud of blue blown-glass eggs made by the father of two West Virginia brothers. The brothers, who died at the ages of 85 and 87, learned the art from their father.

Unable to keep an apprentice the eight years it takes to teach the craft, the secret died with them, Daisy said.

"In 1908 when the depression hit, their father experimented with blown-glass blue eggs. White blown-glass eggs were placed in chicken, pigeon and goose nests to fool hens into laying more eggs. But he was experimenting with the blue.

"He buried them in the backyard, afraid that when they lost everything someone would try and take the eggs.

"Years later his sons were digging sand in the backyard, sand they used for making the glass, and they found the eggs and some beautiful vases he'd made. No one else has ever made blue ones," Daisy said.

Members of the family made blue egg Christmas gifts to Daisy two years in a row.

"I'm the only one outside the family to have one—and I'll keep them," she said. "They'll go to my daughter and granddaughter one day."

In the 1920s the hand-blown white eggs cost 10 cents each. They now sell for $15 and $20 at antique shows, she said.

Daisy Dowling holds a light blue blown-glass egg, while a European egg-holder rests on the table behind her, filled with similar white and blue eggs. The egg art died with its two perfectors, but Daisy, an antique collector, shares their story and others in her egg collection.

This is one of Daisy's special eggs: Mother-of-pearl with brass frame and chain, designed like a tiny purse. Inside is a thimble for emergency sewing repairs.

For the first time this Easter season, Daisy displayed most of her egg collection on top of a table.

Residents honor volunteer youth

CAYA recognizes kids at special banquet

Residents of Clarkston got together to honor the youth of the area for their volunteer work.

An awards banquet by the Clarkston Area Youth Assistance Committee, April 12, saluted 27 youths for work ranging from helping with SCAMP to saving a man's life.

Two of the honorees, Freda Mae Franklin and Scott Davis received a special recognition.

Freda, a 15-year-old sophomore at Clarkston High School, put in 223 hours of volunteer work at Pontiac General Hospital as a candy striper.

"She did a lot of work there," said CAYAC staff secretary Jackie Fromm. "She assisted the nurses, ran errands, anything to help the patients feel more comfortable."

Scott, a 14-year-old ninth-grader at Clarkston Junior High, saved a man's life in early March on Susin Lake. The man was walking toward his home on the island when he fell through the thin ice. Scott took a board and helped the man out after falling through himself.

All the youths honored at the banquet were nominated by people they work with or know of their work. They had to live in the Clarkston school district.

Others to receive recognition were: Tracy Bender, Matthew Call, Asher Cornelius, Angela DeLaRosa, Amy Eiden, Charles Glowzinski, Michelle Green, Della Gretz, Brad Hasselbalch, Leigh-Ann Hathcock, Mike Heil, Jill Johnson, Marilyn McEachern, Tereasa Medaris, Julie Meredith, Beth Moshier, Tracie Mudge, Kathy Mullen, Amy Newmarch, Lynn Pettinaro, Ben Polidan, Andrea Sutton, Kari Swift, Vicki Wilson and Wendy Wurm.

Freda Mae Franklin listens as her name is announced as one of two CAYAC special award winners.

Scott Davis and his mother applaud other CAYAC award winners. Later in the evening, he received a special award for saving a man's life.

Millstream

Gospel music

Independence Township resident Joel Burnell and his band "The Believers" perform their own brand of gospel music Friday, April 20, at 7:30 p.m. at the Meadowbrook Village Mall.

The mall is located at 82 N. Adams in Rochester, at the corner of Adams Road and Walton Boulevard.

Byford-Pfister

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Byford of Union Lake announce the engagement of their daughter, Barbara Ann, to Charles D. Pfister, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pfister of Pine Knob Road, Independence Township. The bride-to-be is to graduate this summer from Oakland Community College. She is employed as a pharmacy technician at Pontiac General Hospital. Her fiancé, a graduate of Clarkston High School and OCC, is employed by Troy Design Services as a draftsman. They plan to be married in May.

Whitehead-Channell

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Whitehead of Winfield, Ala., and formerly of Clarkston, announce the engagement of their daughter, Lanette Sue, to Frankle Lenn Channell, the son of Leonard Channell and Fayrean Channell, both of Guin, Ala. The bride-to-be is a 1982 graduate of Clarkston High School. She is attending Brewer State Junior College in Fayette, Ala. Her fiancé is employed by the Winfield City Police Department. An August wedding is planned.

Clarkston honors own Junior Miss

A reception for Julie Beamer, Clarkston's and Michigan's Junior Miss, is planned Sunday, May 5, at the Calvary Lutheran Church from 2 to 4 p.m.

Open to the public, the reception is in honor of business people who supported the Clarkston Junior Miss program.

Refreshments will be served.

Community members who would like to contribute toward wardrobe expenses for Julie's many appearances scheduled throughout Michigan may drop off checks at the downtown Clarkston branch of the Pontiac State Bank.

At college

Clarkston High School graduate Annette Ulasich, was a member of the women's 1983-84 basketball team at Grand Valley State College, Allendale.

A freshman at the college, Ulasich played in 14 of the Lakers' 27 contests. Under Coach Pat Baker, the team posted a 12-15 record for the season.

In service

Army Spec. 4 Richard Jameyfield has arrived for duty at Fort Huachuca, Ariz.

Jameyfield, a 1976 Clarkston High School graduate, is the son of Elisibeth Donahue of Waterford.

A microwave systems repairer with the United States Army Electronic Proving Ground, he was previously assigned in Neu Ulm, West Germany.

His wife, Dea, is the daughter of Donald and Joice Alumbaugh of Fawn Valley Drive, Independence Township.

Pfc. John Tisch has completed a combat engineer course at the United States Army Training Center at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.

A 1980 Clarkston High School graduate, he is the son of John and Nancy Tisch of Cherrylawn Road, Independence Township.

Pfc. Douglas Noonan has completed a motor transport operator course at the United States Army Training Center, Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.

A 1980 Clarkston High School graduate, he is the son of Peter and Mary Noonan of Bridge Lake Road, Springfield Township.

Honors

CALIFORNIA CUTIE: Brian Coursen, who has Clarkston connections, was named "Tiny Mister" 1983 of California, after winning the title of "Cradle Prince" in a local contest and

"Most Photogenic" in another state contest. Born June 24, 1982, the toddler is the son of Jack and Vicki Coursen of LaMesa, Calif. His mother graduated from Clarkston High School in 1969. His grandparents are Micki and Jack Coursen of LaMesa and Eloise Beach, formerly of Clarkston, now residing in Delray Beach, Fla. His great-grandmother, the late Louise Carvey, was a Clarkston resident.

William Wint is on the dean's list at the University of Minnesota, Minneapolis.

During his recently completed first two terms of mortuary science studies, Wint maintained a 3.6 grade point average out of a possible 4.0.

A 1979 Clarkston High School graduate, he was graduated from Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo, in 1983 with a bachelor's degree in science.

After graduation from WMU, he completed a mortuary science apprenticeship with his father at the Lewis E. Wint Funeral Home in Independence Township.

New arrival

Richard and Patricia Coburn of Stephens Road, Independence Township, are parents for the third time.

Stacy Elizabeth was born April 2 at 2:45 p.m. at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital. She weighed 5 pounds, 12 ounces and measured 18 inches long.

Elizabeth was greeted at home by brother Richie, 6, and sister Michelle, 8.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Coburn of Springfield Township and the late Bill and Betty Miller.

Great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Zumbunnen of Rose Township and Mrs. Causy Miller of Brandon Township.

Upon graduation in June from the University of Minnesota, he plans to stay until September to serve his practical, then return to join his father at the funeral home.

William's parents, Lew and Diane, reside on Overlook Drive, Clarkston.

Douglas Brian Downey, a junior at Anderson College, Anderson, Ind., is on the dean's list for the fall semester.

He resides on Snowapple Drive, Independence Township.

Golden celebrants

Clyde and Lella Wheatley celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Saturday, April 7, with a surprise reception planned by their children and grandchildren. Married in the First Baptist Church, Detroit, in 1924, the Wheatleys have lived on Big Lake Road, Springfield Township, over 35 years. They have four children, Maxine, Lyle, Kenneth and Cheri; nine grandchildren; and two great-grandchildren.

Take historic tour of village homes

Step inside six of Clarkston's homes remarkable for their architecture, renovations or decor during the Clarkston Home Tour II.

Sponsored by the North Oakland SCAMP Funding Corp., the tour is planned Sunday, May 20, from 1 to 4 p.m.

Tickets are $15, and the price includes a complimentary reception at the Clarkston Cafe on Main Street.

A premier candlelight showing is offered at 7 p.m. on Saturday, May 19, for patrons of SCAMP. The $50 price includes a private champagne reception at the distinguished home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Catalo.

All proceeds from the event benefit Clarkston SCAMP, a summer day camp for children and young adults with handicaps or special needs.

Tickets are available at the Pontiac State Bank downtown Clarkston branch or by calling 625-3370.

TOPS teacher

An Apple for the Teacher

Paul Witek teaches Total Office Procedure System (TOPS) program at the vocational center.

Paul has enjoyed his seven years at the center and looks forward with interest to the changes taking place in his occupational area, the equipment in use and job responsibilities.

"Word processing is already outdated as we are now moving toward what might be called electronic work stations where many tasks will be completed such as the data processing, bookkeeping, communications and records," he said. "Word processing will be a part of the total picture."

Paul was born in Hamtramck and raised in Detroit. He spent four years in the United States Air Force as an interpreter.

Following his service experience, Paul enrolled at Wayne State University where he received his bachelor's degree in business education.

He continued his education by earning his master's in occupational education through the University of Michigan. He is now attending classes full time in educational leadership at Eastern Michigan University, leading to a specialist degree.

Paul is a member of the American Vocational Association (AVA).

His wife, Sandra, is a business education teacher in the Brandon school district.

In his spare time, he enjoys jogging and almost any outdoor activity.

Paul gets real pleasure in teaching at the vocational center.

"I feel we're having a real impact on our students' future."

—Paul Witek

"I feel we're having a real impact on our students' future, both in the jobs they will have and in their personal development," he said.

An Apple for the Teacher is provided through the efforts of a Clarkston Education Association committee. Its purpose: "to acquaint or reacquaint the community with members of the Clarkston school district's teaching staff who represent a highly trained and diversely talented resource in which we can all take pride." This week's column was written by John Tucker, an admission's counselor at the Northwest Oakland Vocational Education Center.

Learning to make 'flower leaf eggs'

Chris Finley holds up his favorite of the three Easter eggs he colored using onion skin dye. "Good," he says about the classroom project. "I liked it because it came out a color that I liked."

The maroon eggs with flower and leaf prints look like works of art nestled in their tissue and construction paper baskets.

The classroom project of Sharon Wenger's third-graders was so successful she wanted to share the results—and the technique—with readers of The Clarkston News.

"They're out of the ordinary," she said. Parent volunteer Jane Werner made a special visit to the classroom and worked all day with about seven other parents to carry out the project.

When the children were finished, they wrote thank you notes to Mrs. Werner.

One child said it was the "most funnest" project ever; another gave it top compliments in third-grade lingo: "I thought it was neat"; and another said thanks this way: "My mom loved those eggs and so did I."

LEAF EGGS

2 ounces yellow onion skins
(or carrot tops from 36 carrots)
(or 20 ounces fresh parsley)

Vinegar
Small flat leaves or flowers
Clean nylon stockings
1 to 2 dozen eggs
Cooking oil

Combine onion skins, carrot tops or parsley with 2 quarts water in saucepan. Boil gently, covered, 20 minutes for onion skins or 40 minutes for carrot tops or parsley.

Strain, pressing skins or leaves to extract dye; discard skins or leaves. Add 1 tablespoon vinegar to dye solution.

Cut a 4-inch square of nylon stocking for each egg. Center one leaf or flower on the nylon. Place one egg over it.

Gently but firmly wrap and stretch nylon around egg, making sure leaf stays flat. Tie tightly with string or twist tie.

Gently lower eggs, one at a time, in desired dye. Simmer gently, uncovered, 20 minutes.

For onion-dyed eggs: Lift them out with a slotted spoon. Cover with cool water; let stand until cool. Remove nylon and leaf. Let eggs dry. Rub with a soft cloth dipped in oil.

For carrot- or parsley-dyed eggs: Lift eggs out with a slotted spoon. Let eggs stand in cold water until cool. Reserve dye solution. Return wrapped eggs to dye solution. Return wrapped eggs to dye solution; refrigerate at least four hours. Unwrap, dry and oil as above.

WETLANDS AND WATER COURSES

Article I. IN GENERAL

Secs. 21-1—21-15. Reserved.

ARTICLE II. WETLANDS AND WATER COURSE PROTECTION

Secs. 21-16. Definitions.

1. The following words and phrases, when used in this Article, shall have the meanings respectively ascribed to them:

Aquatic vegetation shall mean plants and plant life forms which naturally occur in, at, near or predominantly near water.

Board shall mean the Wetlands Review Board created under this Article.

Bottom land shall mean the land area of a lake, stream or water course which lies below the ordinary high water mark and which may or may not be covered by water.

Channel shall mean the geographical area within the natural or artificial banks of a water course required to convey continuously or intermittently flowing water under normal or average flow conditions.

Deposit shall mean to fill, place or dump.

Director shall mean the Director of Building and Planning, for the Township of Independence, or the Director's designate.

DNR shall mean the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

Material shall mean soil, sand, gravel, clay, peat, debris and refuse, or any other substance, organic or inorganic.

Official Maps shall mean the official water course and/or wetlands map of the Township, as amended, or updated from time to time, which maps shall be on file in the offices of the Director.

Operation shall mean the making of additions or deposits, performing any construction or excavation activity, removing, improving and/or developing land in any manner, or any combination thereof.

Ordinary high water mark shall mean the line between up land and bottom land which persists through successive changes in water levels, below which the presence and action of the water is so common or recurrent that the character of the land is markedly distinct from the up land and is apparent in the soil itself, the configuration of the surface of the soil and the vegetation. On an inland lake which has a level established by law, it means the high established level. Where water returns to its natural level as a result of the permanent removal or abandonment of a dam, it means the natural ordinary high-water mark.

Owner shall mean any person who had dominion over, control of, title to and/or any other proprietary interest in designated wetland and/or any other proprietary interest in designated wetland and/or water course areas, or title to an obstruction, natural or otherwise, to wetland and water course properties.

Remove shall include to dig, dredge, suck, pump, bulldoze, dragline or blast.

Run-off shall mean the surface discharge of precipitation to a water course or low area. Delayed run-off can occur from sudden warming after winter precipitation accumulated as snow and/or ice.

Seasonal shall mean any intermittent or temporary operation which occurs annually and is subject to interruption from changes in weather, water level, or time of year, and may involve annual removal and replacement of an operation, obstruction or structure.

Soils: (1) Poorly drained soils are those soils from which water is removed so slowly that the soil remains wet for a large part of the time. The water table is commonly at or near the surface during a considerable part of the year. Poorly drained conditions are due to a high water table, to a slower permeable layer within the soil profile, to seepage, or to some combination of these conditions.

(2) Very poorly drained soils are those soils from which water is removed from the soil so slowly that the water table remains at or on the surface a greater part of the time. Soils of this drainage class usually occupy larger or depressed sites and are frequently ponded.

Structure shall mean any assembly of materials above or below the surface of the land or water, including, but not limited to, houses, buildings, plants, bulkheads, piers, docks, rafts, landings, dams, sheds or waterway obstructions.

Temporary shall mean a time period as specified in the use permit, or if unspecified, shall mean an uninterrupted time period less than one year in duration.

Up land shall mean the land area adjoining a lake, stream or water course above the ordinary highwater mark, uses for which are essentially nonaquatic.

Water course shall mean any waterway or other body of water having well defined banks, including rivers, streams, creeks, and brooks, whether continually or intermittently flowing, and lakes and ponds, or as otherwise shown on an official water course and/or wetland map.

Wetlands shall mean poorly drained and very poorly drained soils (as defined in this Article) of two or more contiguous acres, including those which are either covered with water or on which the water table is at or near the surface for a considerable part of the year and which, by nature of their surface or subsurface soil characteristics, either contribute to the replenishment of subsurface water supply or are self-contained water resources, and shall also mean land characterized by the presence of water at a frequency and duration sufficient to support, and that under normal circumstances does support, wetland vegetation or aquatic life; wetlands are commonly referred to as bogs, swamps, marshes, lakes, rivers, streams or ponds. Wetlands shall also mean those areas designated as wetlands on the official wetlands map of the Township.

Sec. 21-17. Findings

It is recognized by the Township Board that wetland conservation is a matter of Township concern inasmuch as a loss of a wetland, and, particularly, in cumulation with other losses of wetlands, will deprive the people of the Township, or others, of flood and/or storm control, wildlife habitat, protection of subsurface water resources and provision of valuable watersheds and recharging ground water supplies, pollution treatment, erosion control and sources of nutrients, and is further recognized by the Township Board that rapid growth, the spread of development, and increasing demands upon natural resources, have resulted in the shrinkage of the critically necessary domain of nature, wetlands and water courses, and have had the effect of encroaching on, despoiling and polluting or eliminating many water courses and wetlands, and other natural resources, and the public trust therein, and that preservation of the remaining wetlands and water courses in an undisturbed and natural condition shall be and is necessary to maintain important physical, aesthetic, recreational and economic assets for existing and future residents of the Township and of this State.

Sec. 21-18. Intent and Purpose.

It is the purpose and intent of this Article, in view of the findings specified in Sec. 21-17, above, to promote and maintain a harmonious and compatible land use balance within the Township and to obviate the nuisance condition which would arise with the indiscriminate development of existing wetlands and water course areas; to provide for the protection, preservation, proper maintenance and use of Township wetlands and water courses in order to minimize disturbance of and to them; to prevent damage caused by erosion, scarification, sedimentation, turbidity and/or siltation; to provide for the protection of soils capable of providing necessary filtration for the maintenance of aquifer stability; to protect against loss of wildlife, fish or other beneficial aquatic organisms, or vegetation, and also against the destruction of the natural habitat thereof; to minimize the phenomenon of environmental deterioration; to secure safety from the dangers of flood and pollution, to prevent loss of life, property damage and other losses and risks associated with flood conditions; to protect individual and community riparian rights; to preserve the location, character and extent of natural drainage courses; and, to provide for the enforcement of this Article and coordination of the enforcement of appropriate local, county and state ordinances or statutes and corresponding agencies.

Sec. 21-19. Validity and Necessity.

The Township Board declares that this Article is essential to the health, safety, economic and general welfare of the people of the Township, and to the furtherance of the policy set forth in Article 4, Sec. 52 of the Constitution of the State of Michigan.

Sec. 21-20. Construction and Application.

1. The following rules of construction apply in the interpretation and application of this Article:

a. In the case of a difference of meaning or implication between the text of this Article and any caption or illustration, the text shall control.

b. Particulars provided by way of illustration or enumeration shall not control general language.

c. Ambiguities, if any, shall be construed liberally in favor of the protection and preservation of natural resources.

2. It is the intent of this Article to promote flood protection, however, this Article cannot be relied upon for determining where floods may occur.

Sec. 21-21. Creation of Board.

1. A Wetlands Review Board is hereby established, consisting of five (5) members selected by the Township Board, one member to be selected from the Township Board, one member to be selected from the Planning Commission, and three members to be selected from the electors of the Township. The term of the members from the Township Board and Planning Commission shall coincide with the terms of office of the respective individuals selected, and the terms of the three other members shall be three years, except that of the members initially appointed, one shall serve for one year, one shall serve for two years, and one shall serve for three years. All vacancies for unexpired terms shall be filled for the remainder of such terms. Members may be compensated for their services on the Board as provided by Township Board resolution.

2. The Review Board shall establish its own rules of procedure, and shall, with the Director, administer this Article. Three members of the Board shall constitute a quorum.

3. The Review Board shall conduct at least four meetings each year, and such other meetings as shall be necessary or expedient in the administration of this Article.

Sec. 21-22. Prohibitions.

It shall be unlawful for any person to do or assist in any of the following unless and until a written permit is obtained from the Township pursuant to this Article:

1. Deposit or permit to be deposited any material, including, without limitation, structures, into, within or upon any wetland or water course area, or within 25 feet of the edge of any wetland or water course designated on the official maps of the Township.

2. Remove or permit to be removed any material from any wetland or water course area, or from any area within 25 feet of any wetland or water course designated on the official maps of the Township.

3. Dredge, fill or land, balance bottom lands or wetlands.

4. Enlarge, diminish or alter a lake, stream, or any other naturally or artificially occurring waterway.

5. Create, enlarge or diminish any natural or artificial constructed canal, channel, ditch, lagoon, pond, lake or other waterway for navigation or any other purpose, whether or not connected to an existing lake, stream or water course.

6. Erect, enlarge or operate a private or public marina.

7. Construct, place, enlarge, extend or remove a temporary, seasonal or permanent operation or structure upon bottom lands or wetlands.

8. Construct, extend, enlarge or connect any conduit, pipe, culvert, or open or closed drainage facility erected for the purpose of carrying storm water run-off from any residential site of two or more single family residences or from any residential site of two or more single family residences or from a multiple residence, commercial site, parking area, paved or unpaved private or public road, or any other land use permitting discharge of silt, sediment, organic or inorganic materials, chemicals, fertilizers, flammable liquids or any substance producing turbidity, except through an interceptor, retention or settling basin, filter or treatment facility designed to control and eliminate the pollutant before discharged to any lake, pond, stream or water course, provided the design of such facility must first be approved by the Township or the DNR.

9. Construct, enlarge, extend or connect any private or public sewage or waste treatment plant discharge to any lake, pond, stream, water or drainage course, or wetland except in accordance with the latest requirements of and permit by the County of Oakland, State of Michigan and/or the United States, to the extent that such entities have jurisdiction.

10. Pump surface waters for irrigation or sprinkling of private or public uses other than for individually owned single family residences from lakes, ponds, rivers, streams or waterways except when the waterway is wholly contained within the user's property.

11. Drain, or cause to be drained, any water from a wetland.

Sec. 21-23. Activities Not Requiring a Permit.

A permit under this Article shall not be required to do or assist in any of the following, subject to compliance with all other applicable laws, ordinances, rules and regulations:

1. Fishing, trapping or hunting.
2. Swimming or boating.
3. Hiking
4. Grazing and/or watering of animals.
5. Noncommercial gardening and nursery practices.
6. Installing for noncommercial use seasonal docks, rafts, diving platforms and other water recreational devices customarily utilized for single-family purposes.

Sec. 21-24. Application for Permit.

Permits required under this Article shall be issued only following the submission of an application to the Township Building Department containing at least the following information, accompanied by the required fee established by ordinance of the Township:

1. The name, address and telephone number of the applicant and of the applicant's agent.

2. The name, address and telephone number of the owner of the property, and if different than the applicant, a letter from the owner authorizing the activity proposed in the application.

3. Specify the project location, including, as applicable, the street, road or highway, section number of the Township, name of subdivision, and name of any body of water which will or may be impacted.

4. Description of proposed activity.

5. Five copies of drawings of the proposed activity, including at least the following:

a. Title block, including the applicant's name, name of body of water, section of Township, description of activity, scale of drawing, and date drawing was prepared.

b. Location map stating source of the map, nearest main road, cross road, and route to project site.

c. Existing and proposed structures clearly identified, the dimensions of each showing existing shore features and manmade structures and the length of shore frontage, water depths and bottom configuration around project. If existing structures were previously authorized by township, state or federal permit, show corresponding permit number.

d. Typical cross sections of existing and proposed shore line, water line, structures, dredge cuts and fills, including dimensions and elevations, location of wetlands.

e. A description of construction materials such as: thickness, slope, type (stone, concrete, etc.) and size or weight of riprap material when placing a protective facing on earth retention structure. Include the total amount (volume) cubic yards of all fill or dredge material.

f. Existing water depth and ground surface elevations referenced to (low water datum on International Great Lakes) U.S.G.S. Quad sheets and areas flooded by water part of the year, existing shore lines and high water marks, flow and circulation patterns, if any.

g. Names and addresses of the owners of adjoining property on both sides, and if on a stream, address of opposite riparian, and the relative locations of any structures which may exist along shore line of adjacent properties. If there are no adjacent structures, show existing shore lines. Size relationship between proposed project and total area, e.g., one acre fill in fifteen acre wetland.

h. If proposed activity involves bulkhead construction, show the distance along both property lines from the face of the bulkhead to the centerline of a street or other definable reference point, e.g., northeast corner of concrete patio, 12-inch maple on west property line.

i. If activity involved dredging, furnish the following:
 (1) If the dredging material is to be placed on-site, outline the disposal areas on the drawing. If the dredge material is to be hauled away, provide a vicinity map showing the disposal area. If more than fifty cubic yards of fill are required, indicate the location or source of fill.

(2) Show method of method of containing dredge material to prevent re-entry into any waterway or wetland. Describe all procedures by which applicant proposed to minimize adverse effects of construction.

j. If activity involves flood plain alterations, proposed and existing contours must be shown on a site development plan.

k. If activity involves a bridge or culvert crossing, furnish the following:

(1) Typical stream-valley cross-section representative of the channel and flood plain area downstream of the proposal.

(2) Plan view of the proposal.

(3) Cross sectional view of the proposed structure superimposed on the existing structure (if applicable). This view should include the existing and proposed road centerline profile for the width of the stream valley or a minimum of 300 feet either side of the structure.

(4) Photographs of the structure channel and flood plain areas.

(5) A profile view of the proposed structure showing the proposed end treatment and bank stabilization.

1. If the project activity involves dam construction, provide a sketch showing the head and approximate flooded area.

6. State whether project involves dredging, filling, draining or construction work in inland lakes or streams, or wetland areas; work in riverine flood plain; new or replacement bridge or culvert; or dam construction or reconstruction. In the event work is proposed in a floodway area, a hydraulic engineering report prepared by a registered professional engineer showing the impact of the proposal on flood stage or discharge characteristics may be required by the Wetlands Review Board.

7. State whether the proposed use will be public, private, commercial, or other (specify), and state whether the proposed use will be served by a new on-site sewage disposal (septic tank) system.

8. Specify the location of source of fill, if more than fifty cubic yards are required (for other than commercial source), specifying the county, township, section and quarter section, and include a vicinity map.

9. State the location where any dredge soils will be disposed, including the county, township, section and quarter section, and include a vicinity map.

10. Describe any project alternatives considered.

11. State whether the project is water dependent.

12. State the date upon which the activity is proposed to commence, if a permit is issued.

13. State the estimated time for the work or activity, and state a completion date.

14. Is any portion of the proposed project now complete, and, if so, identify the completed portion on the drawing submitted, providing the dates on which any and all work was done.

15. State why the project will not cause pollution, impair or destroy the water or any natural resource.

16. List all federal, state or other local governmental agency permits or certificates required for the proposed project, and specify permit approvals or denials already received. In the event of denials, explain the reasons for denials.

17. State whether there is any present litigation involving the property on which the project is to be situated, and/or with respect to the project itself, and, if so, describe such litigation.

18. State the name, address and telephone number of neighboring waterfront property owners.

19. Zoning classification of project land and adjoining property under and pursuant to the Independence Township Zoning Ordinance, as amended.

20. A written statement in the following form: "The applicant acknowledges that the application for and receipt of a permit from the Township of Independence does not relieve the applicant from applying for and obtaining all other necessary permits from Oakland County, the DNR, the State Health Department, and/or the United States Army Corps of Engineers prior to the commencement of work. Applicant further acknowledges that he has conferred, or will confer, with all of these entities for the purpose of insuring that applicant has obtained all required permits prior to commencing work."

21. Signature of applicant.

Sec. 21-25. Application Review.

1. General Review Procedure.

a. For all proposed projects and/or activities not reviewed pursuant to paragraph 2, below, and in cases where a hearing has been requested pursuant to the provisions of paragraph 2, below, the following review process shall apply.

b. Upon receipt of an application, or upon request for a hearing, as the case may be, the Director of the Planning Department shall forward the application to the Wetlands Review Board after verifying that all required supporting material is available.

c. The Wetlands Review Board shall set a date for hearing on the application, and shall send notice of the time, date and place of the hearing to the owners of property, based upon Township records, within 600 feet of the property on which the proposed project or activity is to take place. Such notice shall also be sent to all Township Board members, and to all persons, subdivision associations and lake associations registered with the Township which are contiguous to the property and/or wetland affected. The notice shall include a summary of the proposed project or activity, or a copy of the permit application. The Wetlands Review Board may further direct that notice of the hearing be published.

d. At the scheduled hearing the Wetlands Review Board shall consider the application, provide an opportunity for the applicant to address the Wetlands Review Board, and provide an opportunity for interested persons to address the matter. The hearing may be adjourned from time to time, as deemed necessary by the Wetlands Review Board, and if it appears that impairment, pollution and/or destruction of a wetland or other natural resource may result, and that technical expertise is required, the Wetlands Review Board may require an environmental statement, environmental assessment, or environmental impact study to be provided by the applicant, or may submit the application to the Township engineer for examination and investigation upon payment by the applicant of the monies projected by such Engineer to be reasonably necessary to make an examination and investigation of the application and provide a report thereon.

e. Within a reasonable time following the completion of its consideration, the Wetlands Review Board shall make a written determination to issue the permit, issue the permit with specific conditions, or to deny issuance of the permit.

f. If the permit is issued, conditions imposed shall be for the purpose of insuring that the project or activity complies with this Article and/or results in minimum impact upon natural resources. The permit shall also specify a time period for commencement and completion of all activities. Additionally, the permit may require the posting of a cash bond or irrevocable letter of credit in a reasonable amount to insure compliance with the permit.

g. Effectiveness of a permit shall be conditioned upon a signature of or on behalf of the applicant attesting to the following: "All operations permitted or approved by this permit shall be conducted in such a manner as will cause the least possible impairment, pollution and/or destruction to natural resources."

2. Special Review Procedure for Certain Projects and/or Activities

a. If the project and/or activity meets either of the following criteria, review shall be conducted pursuant to this paragraph:

(1) The entire project and/or activity is situated on one single family residential lot or parcel, and the wetland being impacted is not, and will not as a result of the project and/or activity become, a permanent or seasonal part of a wetland which is not located on the same single family residential lot or parcel.

(2) The wetland to be impacted is less than five acres in area, and such wetland is not, and will not as a result of the project and/or activity become, a permanent or seasonal part of other wetlands.

b. Projects and/or activities which meet the criteria set forth in either subsection of paragraph 2.a., above, shall be reviewed by the Director in light of the standards and criteria set forth in paragraph 3 of this section.

c. If the proposed project or activity is found to conform with the standards and criteria of paragraph 3 of this section, and with all of the requirements of this Article, a notice of intent to issue a permit shall be sent by first-class mail to the owners of property within 600 feet of the property on which the proposed project or activity is to take place, based upon the records on file at the Township. Such notice shall also be sent to all members of the Township Board and the Wetlands Review Board and to all persons, subdivision associations and lake associations registered with the Township which are contiguous to the property and/or wetland affected. The notice shall include either a copy of the permit application or a summary of the proposed activity or project, and a specification that it is the intent of the Township to issue a permit unless a written request for an appeal is received within 30 days from the date of mailing. The Planning Director may also publish a summary of the proposed activity and intent to issue a permit in a newspaper of local circulation, specifying the required date within which a hearing must be requested, which date shall correspond to the end of the 30-day period from the date on which the aforementioned notices were mailed. Any person interested in the activity and/or project may request that the application be reviewed pursuant to paragraph 1 of this section. Such request shall be forwarded to the Wetlands Review Board, and the Wetlands Review Board shall either proceed with the application under paragraph 1 of this section, or return the application for administrative review under paragraph 2 of this section.

3. Review Standards and Criteria

In arriving at a determination with respect to the issuance of a permit under this Article, the Director of Planning and/or the Wetlands Review Board shall take into consideration at least the following standards and criteria:

a. A permit shall be issued only if the proposed project or activity is clearly in the public interest, and is otherwise lawful in all respects.

b. In determining whether the activity is in the public interest, the benefit which would reasonably be expected to accrue from the proposal shall be balanced against the reasonably foreseeable detriments of the activity, taking into consideration the local, state and national concern for the protection and preservation of natural resources from pollution, impairment and/or destruction. If, as a result of such a balancing, there remains a debatable question whether the proposed project and/or activity is clearly in the public interest, a permit shall not be issued. The following general criteria shall be applied in undertaking this balancing test:

(1) The relative extent of the public and private need for the proposed activity.

(2) The availability of feasible and prudent alternative locations and methods to accomplish the expected benefits from the activity.

(3) The extent and permanence of the beneficial or detrimental effects which the proposed activity may have on the public and private use to which the area is suited, including the benefits the wetland provides.

(4) The probable impact of the proposal in relation to the cumulative effect created by other existing and anticipated activities in the watershed.

(5) The probable impact on recognized historic, cultural, scenic, ecological, or recreational values and on the public health or fish or wildlife.

(6) The size and quality of the wetland being considered.

(7) The amount and quality of remaining wetland in the area.

(8) Proximity to any waterway.

(9) Economic value, both public and private, of the proposed land change to the general area.

(10) The necessity for the proposed project.

c. A permit shall not be issued unless it is shown that:

(1) An unreasonable disruption will not result to aquatic resources; and

(2) The proposed activity is primarily dependent upon being located in the wetland; and

(3) A feasible and prudent alternative does not exist.

d. The manner in which the activity is proposed to be undertaken will result in the minimum negative impact upon the wetland and attendant natural resources under all of the circumstances.

Sec. 21-26. Effectiveness of Permit and Appeal.

1. A permit issued by the Board after hearing shall not be effective until ten days following the date of issuance.

2. An interested person who is aggrieved by the determination of the Board may request an appeal of the Board's decision to the Township Board.

3. A request for appeal must be filed within ten days following the Board's decision. If an appeal is requested during such ten day period, the effectiveness of the permit shall be suspended pending the outcome of the appeal.

4. The Township Board shall determine whether to consider the appeal based upon the minutes of the Wetlands Review Board, or based upon an entirely new hearing. If a new hearing shall be conducted, notice of the time, date and place of the hearing shall be mailed to the owners of property, based upon Township records, within 600 feet of the property, and also mailed to all persons, subdivision associations and lake associations registered with the Township to receive such notices.

5. The procedure for the hearing shall be the same as set forth in paragraph 1, above, governing the procedure before the Wetlands Review Board.

6. If the Township Board determines to consider the appeal based upon the minutes of the Wetlands Review Board, the applicant, and other interested parties as allowed by the Township Board, shall be entitled to be heard by way of argument and citation of authorities prior to the Board's determination.

7. The Township Board, based upon its appellate review, may reverse, affirm or modify the determination and/or permit issued by the Board.

Sec. 21-27. Permit Contents.

The permit issued under this Article shall contain at least the following:

1. The name and address of the person to whom the permit has been issued.

2. The name and address of the owner of the property on which the activity or operation shall occur.

3. A statement of all conditions imposed in connection with the issuance of the permit.

4. The date by which any construction, removal, deposit or operation must be completed, i.e., the expiration date of the permit.

5. The amount of any cash bond or irrevocable letter of credit and the institution issuing such irrevocable letter of credit as determined necessary by the Wetlands Review Board, or Planning Director, as the case may be, to insure compliance with the permit as issued.

6. A statement, countersigned by the permit holder, substantially conforming to the following: "All operations permitted or approved by this permit shall be conducted in such a manner as will cause the least possible damage and encroachment or interference with natural resources and natural processes within wetlands."

7. The legal description of the parcel to which the permit pertains.

Sec. 21-28. Posting of Permit.

Upon issuance of a permit, and prior to the undertaking of any on-site work, the person to whom the permit has been issued shall post a copy of the permit on the property in a conspicuous place which is accessible for inspection and reading by the public.

Sec. 21-29. Fees.

A fee shall be payable to the Township upon submission of the application, and as otherwise required in this Article. The amount of the fee shall be established by separate ordinance, and shall be calculated to defray all costs and expenses of administration including, without limitation, notice and hearing expenses and the reasonable fees of Township consultants.

Secs. 21-30 - 21-45. Reserved.

Youngsters give their egg-coloring recipes

As Easter approaches, children begin to think about dying eggs for the holiday.

And that's how this collection of methods for preparing the holiday treats—through the eyes of preschoolers—came about.

Clarkston Preschool teachers Nancy Planck and Jill Stringer asked their pupils how to cook eggs, and the conversation turned to directions for Easter eggs.

Some of their answers made them laugh, and they wrote them down to share with readers of The Clarkston News.

1. Cook it with the shell on or fry it.
2. Hey! My mom never cooks that stuff!

Jay Richardson, age 5

1. Boil it!
2. Color it!
3. Take out of cup!
4. Hide it!

Lindsay Walker, age 4

Only my dad eats eggs, but...

1. Boil it
2. Hot and cold water
3. Take it out
4. Eat the yellow—I like to dip toast in it.
5. Eat the white—but I only like that part a little bit!

Becky Hurrell, age 4

1. Put it in a pan.
2. Decorate it any color you want or anything you want.
3. Hide it in a place you want.
4. Leave one on the table for the Easter Bunny.
5. I've been doing this for a long time!

Heidi Brown, age 4

1. Put in oven
2. Color it
3. Put it in water
4. Put it out

5. Put it in the hot water
6. Get up on Easter morning
7. Go downstairs and find Easter stuff!

Elissa Shires, age 4

Christopher Robeson, age 5

Miming practice

Everyday experiences often make good mime themes. Danielle White smiles as she pushes her way into a crowded elevator.

Applying make-up isn't as easy as it looks. Just ask Kristin Alkire of the Sashabaw Junior High Mime Troupe. The group of ninth-graders from the Drama II class are available to put on shows for the public. Teacher Jan Malane says: "They just need a place to perform."

In one of the mime sketches, the troupe becomes working parts of a machine, here Sarah Williams and Karl Schaffer do their part.

NOTICES

SAINT JUDE. O HOLY St. Jude Apostle and martyr, great in virtue and rich in miracles, near Kinsman of Jesus Christ, faithful intercessor of all who invoke your special patronage in time of need. To you I have recourse from the depth of my heart, and humbly beg to whom God has given such great power to come to my assistance. Help me in my present urgent petition. In return I promise to make your name known and cause you to be invoked. Say 3 Our Fathers, 3 Hail Mary's and Glorias. Publication must be promised. Saint Jude pray for us and all who invoke your aid. This novena has never been known to fail. This novena must be said for 9 consecutive days. Prayer answered G & G. IIIIX-15-1

Look-alikes

First-grade teacher Rosemary Lewis kneels among the desks full of mannequins created by her Clarkston Elementary pupils. The children were serious about making their creations lifelike, she said. One little girl trimmed the dark brown yarn hair of her likeness after she had her own hair cut and another pondered leaving her only pair of eyeglasses. The heads are papier-mache; the bodies filled with newspapers.

Attention to detail is found everywhere on the first-graders' creations, down to the way they arranged the feet under the desks in the Clarkston Elementary classroom.

There are no wiggles, no whispers, no springtime coughs—just silence. But the 22 seats are filled in the first-grade classroom of Rosemary Lewis at Clarkston Elementary School. Before parent-teacher conference time and the Art and Science fair, the children worked with parent volunteer Connie Howard and completed life-size mannequins of themselves. They painted the faces, brought clothes from home and adorned them with caps, ribbons and sunglasses. Some wrote notes to their parents, some left books in their hands and some put the shoes on the wrong feet. Said their teacher: "If you know the children and you look at the faces you can see their personalities. The funniest thing, I think, was watching people go by and come back and do a double take."
