RAINING ON THEIR PARADE: A light rain did not dampen the spirits of those at the Lakeview Cemetery for the Memorial Day ceremony. Umbrellas popped up and people huddled under trees during the 45-minute ceremony. The names of Independence Township veterans killed in the line of duty were read. They were honored with a 21-gun salute and the playing of taps.

Burger King restaurant tabled

By Marilyn Trumper

A parking question delayed Burger King Corp.'s site plan review scheduled for last week's planning commission meeting—and may have bought Hank Radcliff more time to relocate a 120-year-old home from the restaurant's proposed site.

The fast-food hamburger chain proposes a $600,000 restaurant on Dixie Highway, targeted for the 1-acre site where the cubed Italiane Ritter home sits next to the family market.

A spokesperson from Burger King's planning division could not be reached for comment on the delay, but Tom Ritter, who's been negotiating the sale says it's contingent upon township approval.

"There appears to be a problem with parking configurations and (Burger King has) revised the plan," Ritter said.

The land is zoned commercial.

Township Planner Richard Carlisle said proposed traffic circulation was considered hazardous, and had to be redrafted.

If site plan approval is given and the sale made, Ritter has 30 days from the sale's date to move the house. Hank Radcliff of Clarkston holds an option-to-buy the house contingent upon village approval to relocate it to a Main Street site, and is currently involved in amending the village's zoning ordinance to allow the move.

"We have two options," said Ritter of the old home's fate. "To find another parcel of land, and (my wife) Karen and I have exhausted all our options there. Or the second, which we don't like to talk about, which is demolition of the house."

"Our goal as I indicated is to move it."

Man hits deer in village limits

By Marilyn Trumper

The Village of Clarkston boasts Independence Township's most dense population—but it's still rural in the eyes of Bill Bildstein.

The 30-year-old Bildstein wheeled his Pontiac Ventura onto Waldon Road at 4:10 a.m. Friday morning, on his way to GM Truck and Bus where he's a fiberglass engineer.

But this morning was different.

He hit one of two full-grown deer near the high school football field.

"I saw the two deer by the side of the road and they ran out into the street. I hit one, and the other ran behind me," he said.

"I circled back through the Methodist Church lot and back through the junior high, and there they were, standing on some guy's lawn. Then they ran back behind the church and apartments behind there."

The deer and Bildstein's truck were OK.

"I was probably going 35 miles per hour," he said.

"In the 22 years I've lived in Clarkston I've never seen deer that close to town. And they were big deer too. I've hunted for 10 years and I know."

1st Lady visits Paula Blanchard parties in Clarkston for the arts

By Kathy Greenfield

Paula Blanchard, Michigan's First Lady, came home to Clarkston last week to praise a special arts project in the schools...and to remember.

She was guest of honor at a party to wrap up Project B.A.S.I.C. (Bringing Arts Studies into Classrooms) at the Clarence and Sharron Catallo residence on Buffalo Street.

"It was really wonderful because the Catallo home was the First Methodist Church and that was the church where my parents were married. That's where I attended church when I was young," Mrs. Blanchard said. "I even went to Girl Scout meetings there. The church was very much a part of my early life in Clarkston."

"It was very interesting to see how the Catallos had turned it into a magnificent home."

Attending the party were teachers she remembered from her years in Clarkston schools, from the second grade through graduation from Clarkston High School in 1962.

"It was really heartwarming to see them," Mrs. Blanchard said.

After the party, she drove through town, viewing her grandparents' former house, her former home at 74 Washington St. and the changes.

"I'll tell you, Clarkston has really gone through a renaissance," she said. "A lot of the older homes are really in excellent shape. I've seen a real rebirth of Clarkston and I was just thrilled with that."

Reactions to Mrs. Blanchard's visit were positive.

"She was very, very nice. An extremely bright and interesting woman," said Sharron Catallo. "The fact that she remembered so much about the town and the people who do live here, that was nice."

Mrs. Blanchard returned to Clarkston at the invitation of Dorothy Neff, who applied for the grants for Clarkston schools and oversaw the special art programs.

"I was really happy that she came," said Mrs. Neff. "As she said, her parents have moved to Gaylord so she has not reason to visit anymore. She did seem happy to be invited."

Also involved with greeting Mrs. Blanchard were the women who ran the B.A.S.I.C. program.

"She is charming," said Karen DiChiera, project director and director of education at the Michigan Opera Theatre. "And you know what she did? She remembered (Clarkston schools Superintendent) Milford Mason being her high school principal. I was impressed. Really she had a presence. It was terrific."

Louisa Ngote, co-director of the project is curator of slides for the art history department at Oakland University.

"You could see she just kind of relaxed and enjoyed herself. You could feel that warmth from her," she said.

Mrs. Blanchard included in her remarks praises for art studies, noting that the creative process is important for problem solving and for the future of Michigan.

The about 150 people who gathered at the party were there to offer similar support.

The special arts project, paid with $20,800 in grants, began in Clarkston schools in the fall.

There were three separate grants.

The first, for $800 from the Michigan Department of Education was designed to adopt an Urban Arts program. It paid for a full-day training workshop for two teachers from each school building.

The second grant, for $10,000, was also from the State Department of Education. It paid for artists to come into classrooms and share their talents.

The third grant, also for $10,000, came from the Michigan Council for the Arts. From that came Project B.A.S.I.C. and the involvement of the Michigan Opera Theatre.

It offered weekly sessions for 12 weeks to about 1,500 pupils whose teachers volunteered to participate.

Using a lecture/demonstration approach that tied history, politics, science and the arts together, the sessions exposed the pupils to opera, ballet, drama, comedy and folk arts.

"If there is one thing the (Michigan Opera Theatre) education department tries to do in a nutshell it's to create the future creators, performers, supporters and artists by doing lecture demonstrations, high level, sophisticated stuff with these kids," said Karen DiChiera.

"You can say the kids understand vocabulary and different periods of history. They say baroque and they say renaissance and know what they mean.

"These are things that can be tested. But perception is different. The only thing you can do about finding out about a perception change is you ask them before, 'Do you like opera?' and they say, 'No.' You ask them after, 'Do you like opera?' and they say, 'Yes.' There is a perception change."

Following the lecture/demonstrations, the children went back to their classrooms and tried related projects.

At one elementary school all the girls and boys learned the five basic steps of ballet. Two children

Mill Pond treatment

The Clarkston Mill Ponds are to be treated with herbicides Wednesday, June 4, weather permitting.

Following the treatment to inhibit plant growth will be a seven-day lowering of water level in the ponds, according to Hank Radcliff, spokesperson for the Mill Ponds Association.

"Notices will be posted around the perimeters of the upper and lower Mill Ponds concerning restrictions," he said.

In addition, individual notices are to be delivered to residents on the ponds.

wrote original music compositions. One child made a violin. Others put their feelings in drawings and paintings.

Then all the participating elementary school classes had arts festivals.

"When you see these kids light up or when we went to the classrooms to see their projects we'd tear ourselves away," said Louisa Ngote. "You want to talk about a high, that was it."

Candidates filing for '84 election

By Marilyn Trumper

As the June 5th filing deadline nears, Independence Township's 1984 election is shaping up to a heated race for every almost every office—with Fire Chief Frank Ronk running for supervisor and one trustee struggling with whether or not to seek a second term.

To date, two candidates are officially running for the four open trustee seats and all but one incumbent trustee, Larence Kozma, have pulled petitions for re-election.

Kozma, an attorney in the Oakland County Prosecutor's office, is circulating petitions to oppose three-term veteran of the 52nd District Court bench, Judge Gerald E. McNally.

And candidate hopeful Claudia Brazel is circulating both trustee and clerk petitions.

Ronk began circulating nominating petitions for supervisor last week.

"A lot of people and several groups came to me and asked me if I would," said Ronk. "Before I say anything for the record I want to establish my platform."

Ronk denied the rupture in communication between his department and the supervisor's office was solely responsible for his decision.

"There's more to it than that. That's not the only reason. There are other things I'm concerned with," he said, pointing to the township's failing police fund and the need still to widen M-15 south of Clarkston for safety reasons.

Kozma said he's circulating petitions to run for district court judge, but wouldn't comment until he's actually filed. That's expected to take place sometime in the next five days, he said.

Below follows a list of candidates by office and their status.

SUPERVISOR

- Incumbent James B. Smith of Main Street, Clarkston, for a second four-year term. He's pulled petitions to run on the Republican ticket.

- Fire Chief Frank Ronk of Overlook Drive. He's pulled petitions to run on the Republican ticket.

- George Vitineros of Transparent Drive submitted his petitions in March to run on the Republican ticket.

CLERK

- Richard Holman, of Clinton Drive, appointed clerk last August, filed in mid-May for a four-year term on the Republican ticket.

- An unidentified man pulled petitions last week to run for clerk. It's not known what political party.

IT'S A REPUBLICAN PARADE

TREASURER

Incumbent Frederick Ritter of Amy Drive says he intends to seek a third term on the Democratic ticket, but has yet to submit petitions.

John Lutz of Lakeview Drive pulled petitions to run on the Republican ticket.

TRUSTEE

Incumbent Republicans Daniel Travis of Perry Lake Road, William Vandermark of Cherrylawn Drive, and Dale Stuart of Mustang Drive have pulled petitions, but Stuart says he's not decided if he'll submit them.

"I've not come to a decision on a number of things, the first to analyze the prospect of another four years," he said.

Mel Vaara of West Church Street and Larry Rosso of Delmonico Road, both Republicans, filed for office in mid-April.

Claudia Brazel of Thendara Blvd. pulled petitions for both clerk and trustee; Carol Balzarini pulled petitions in mid-March for candidacy on the Republican ticket; and Michael Clark of Pine Knob Road pulled petitions to run on the Republican ticket.

Appeals court rules group home can remain

By Marilyn Trumper

The Michigan Court of Appeals overturned a circuit court decision and ruled a group home does not violate single family deed restrictions in Independence Township's Lake Oakland Woods subdivision.

Homeowners who filed the suit three years ago determined to oust the home with six mentally retarded adults will decide by the week's end if they'll appeal to the Michigan Supreme Court, according to their attorney Donald Schuster.

The subdivision's deed restrictions specifically limit use of homes to those related by blood, marriage or legal adoption.

"It's a far more critical issue than the papers realize. The papers and the public have been lulled in to thinking there's nothing more here than one in a series, when in fact the courts have taken a very, very dangerous step," Schuster said.

"It's using unrelated cases to determine policy. The court was faced with an argument that said this deed restriction violated public policy. You don't overrule private contracts on a whim. They (the courts) had a single constitutional provision that programs for the mentally ill should be fostered, and an act that said for purposes of zoning these homes should be considered single family uses.

"But these deed restrictions defined a family."

Schuster points to what he calls the "bootstrapping policy."

"They pull themselves up by their own bootstraps. The courts say, 'Because we ruled in all other cases our decisions create public policy.' It avoids directly addressing the issue," he said.

"To say deed restrictions violate public policy is a mockery of the word," Schuster finished.

The Supreme Court must agree to hear the case, according to Schuster, or the appeals court decision stands.

In September of 1982, an Oakland County Circuit Court judge found the six-member group home in violation of the subdivision's single-family deed restrictions, saying it does not violate the United States Constitution as challenged by the defendants Kay Jan Inc., operators of the home on Timber Ridge Trail. The decision was made because the deed restrictions were so specific, the judge wrote.

Kay Jan's attorney appealed that decision.

Maybee path OK'd

Schools grant second easement

For the second time, the Clarkston board of education has agreed to grant easements on school property for township safety paths.

On May 21, the board unanimously agreed to allow path construction along the district's vacant 39.09 acres on Maybee Road, provided the township signs the same hold-harmless clause agreed on for the Clarkston Road property in front of the district's administration building.

The Clarkston Road safety path from Snowapple Drive to the library is presently under construction.

The clause states that the township, not the school district, is liable for any injuries that would occur on the path.

The proposed Maybee Road path begins east of the Chestnut Hills subdivision, on the property owned by the district.

It is to continue on the north side of Maybee to Williamson Road, where it will stop and continue on the south side of Maybee to Winell Road. Construction is to begin in four to six weeks.

All safety paths built this year are to be cement rather than asphalt, which was used to construct the first paths.

"The bid for cement came in less than asphalt last year. The contractor has guaranteed last year's prices, so for now it's concrete. Next year it could be asphalt. It's totally on price," said township Treasurer Frederick Ritter.

In addition to the Clarkston Road and Maybee Road paths, planned this year is a safety path on the south side of Waldon Road from Almond Lane to the existing sidewalk.

School bids $58,944 over expected costs

By Kathy Greenfield

Bids of $521,608 for general construction, $62,815 for temperature control and $44,900 for mechanical work were unanimously accepted by the Clarkston board of education at a special meeting last week.

The bids put the previously estimated $735,000 energy saving project for Clarkston's eight school buildings and learning center over the construction budget by $58,944.

"The economy is better than it was before. Contractors are busier than they were before. I think it's a combination of several things," said Al DeJonge, explaining the increase in expected expenses. DeJonge is an architect with Daverman Associates Inc. of Grand Rapids, the architectural and engineering firm overseeing the project.

The increased expense would be offset by interest presently being earned on the $735,000 borrowed for the project by the district and invested since March, according to financial director William Jackson.

"(Interest) rates are going up, which helps us too," he said.

On April 30, the board approved spending $37,763 on windows for the project.

At last week's meeting, the board OK'd the use of standard colors for wood and metal panels to cover windows at Clarkston High School, Clarkston Junior High and North Sashabaw Elementary, rather than choosing made-to-order colors. The decision made the general construction bid about $9,500 lower.

Windows are to be removed at Pine Knob, Andersonville, Bailey Lake and Clarkston elementaries, the Learning Center and the newer portion of CJHS. They will be replaced with Styrofoam, mesh, cement and panel and topped with a finish of any color selected.

The school board indicated it would probably approve colors recommended by Daverman architects.

Construction on the schools is expected to be underway in mid-June. The projected completion date is Aug. 25.

Superintendent Milford Mason said the work may not be totally finished when school resumes in the fall, but it will be far enough along so it will not interfere with classes.

All the bids approved last week were the low bids. Winning over two other bids for general construction was Reliance Construction of West Bloomfield.

Seven bids were submitted for temperature control, with the contract awarded to Bumler Heating & Conditioning of Mt. Clemens.

Ecker Mechanical of Flint was the low bidder of three mechanical contractors.

In addition to construction expenses, the energy saving project budget includes $21,200 for an energy survey, an estimated $47,875 for architectural and engineering fees, $18,296 for legal fees and a contingency fund of $37,763 to cover cost overruns.

Projections of energy savings with the changes were provided by Daverman Associates in the energy survey.

Using an expected energy cost increase of 13 percent annually, the study projected savings beyond the cost of the project of $335,289 over a 10-year period, and a $5.4 million savings over 20 years.

Summer school at NWOVEC

2 new computer classes added to list

Two special computer classes for high school students are included in the list of summer courses at the Northwest Oakland Vocational Education Center.

The regular session of Summer School '84 at NWOVEC runs from Wednesday, June 20, through Thursday, Aug. 2, from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. daily with food service courses from 8 a.m. to noon June 20-Aug. 3.

Classes offered for one unit of high school credit include Auto Body Repair, Dental Assisting, Commercial Art, Electronics/Robotics, Computer Accounting, Small Engine Mechanics, Food Service, Retailing and Marketing, Modern Printing, Metal Machine Trades and Total Office Procedure Systems.

Registration is taking place now at the center, 8211 Big Lake, Springfield Township.

High school students, adults without a diploma and post-graduates under age 20 as of Sept. 1 can enroll by paying a $20 non-refundable tuition fee.

High school graduates and those over 20 as of Sept. 1 will pay $150 tuition and will be admitted to those classes not filled by credit earning students.

Following the regular session, the computer courses are planned.

"High Technology" is an introduction for high school students to electronics, basic programming, micro-processing and robotics.

The class is to run from Aug. 6-23 from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. Tuition is $20. Students can earn one-half credit.

"Introduction to CNC Machining and Programming" is for experienced students who want to learn the functions of CNC and how to program for these functions using an Apple Computer.

A certificate will be issued to completers. The class is scheduled Aug. 7-16 from 8 a.m. to noon, Monday through Thursday. Tuition is $10.

For more information, call 625-5202.

Just what's going on here?

As I'm having my morning coffee and reading my Clarkston News, a thought comes to mind. "What are we as a community doing to the people who have served us so well?" I'm referring to the May 16 issue.

The first thing that hits home is the "township names fire committee." Fine—but what about notifying our fire chief? Why? Has he not served us well?

The next page is "Historic home's moved to Clarkston denied." Why? Didn't our historical society group work hard enough for us to receive this distinction? Would it not better our community? Is someone dragging their feet until it's too late? I wonder—

The next page headlines read "Lawsuit stems from changing district lines." Strange! Why? For whose benefit? I can understand the lawsuit but I can't understand changes like this taking place without a full awareness of the ramifications. Strange—very strange!

The next page is "Why was Reabe demoted?" I wondered that myself. Who has the answer? "Why" sure is a big word!

The next page is "Independence ponders township manager."

Well, let's see if I can figure this one out. Our supervisor wants a part-time job. So now we pay two people to do the job that one able person could do and has been doing! Strange—why part time, why two people? I'm confused!

Let's see, let me summarize.

The township board has a three-man committee to study the fire commission's responsibilities and to hire a consulting firm to tell the community what its needs are (of which Chief Ronk has been requesting all along), and for this we're going to pay dearly. Hum—why?

Let's proceed, the village zoning board of appeals decided that a 120-year-old home could be torn down because they're "afraid of jeopardizing the zoning ordinance." My, I wonder what the people of the community would say if it was put to a vote? Hmmm.

Now let's see, "Drafted into covering a new area when redrawn district lines became official April 1." If this is a game they're playing, I'd sure like to meet the coach!

And then there's John, 28 years of his life spent here. Has he not served us well?

What can I say? I've just finished the newspaper and my coffee is cold and I'm not so sure I feel as secure in this community as I did before I poured my coffee.

A resident of 27 years,
Jan Dean

A journalist's nightmare

Kathy Greenfield

In case anyone's wondering why The Clarkston News wasn't there when Michigan's First Lady and Clarkston native Paula Blanchard appeared in town last week, I have the answer.

But first, let me tell you about the nightmare someone shared while trying to calm me down.

This is the dream: She's agreed to speak before a college class. Somehow the morning of the lecture she finds tickets in her pocket that put her on an international airline flight.

She decides that takes precedence. She rushes to get ready to leave the country. Before takeoff, in the early afternoon, she phones her secretary to ask her to please apologize to the professor and tell him she won't be there.

The secretary tells her the lecture was in the morning. She could have made it...

"I never mind nightmares like that," I say. "I figure it's my way of coping with stress, going over in my mind things that could go wrong, but don't."

I always, at least as far as experience dictates, wake up from bad dreams and things are never as bad as my mind imagined.

When rotten things really happen like writing down Friday instead of Thursday on my calendar for the hometown visit of the governor's wife it's far worse.

The story I wrote about Mrs. Blanchard's visit relates her reactions and those of others to her visit. The photograph was provided by the kind people at the Michigan Opera Theatre.

I spent hours gathering the information from people I will forever be thankful to for their cooperation and understanding.

Unable to reach Mrs. Blanchard by telephone Friday, I gave up.

When she called Tuesday afternoon, she, too, was most understanding and cooperative.

It meant rewriting the story and this column Tuesday night. At least I had a story about an important event.

But...I would rather have dreamed the nightmare and been where I was supposed to be.

Jim's Jottings

Keep it in mind

Jim Sherman

Harry Whitely sold his newspaper, the Presque Isle County Advance in Rogers City, a few months ago. Bill Myers is the former publisher of the Lapeer County Press. A couple decades ago he sold to his brother and moved to Florida.

Myers is an investment consultant and financial columnist for the Boca Raton newspaper. Myers, a friend of Whitely's, gave him the following advice about retiring and moving to Florida:

First location: There's a reason property is cheaper north of Palm Beach. The weather is not so good. It's colder by five degrees in Stuart than the Palm Beach-Lauderdale area. Vero Beach, a lovely community, is 10 degrees colder.

Second: Don't be in a rush to buy a house or condo. The market is soft now, and is likely to be for some time. There'll be lots of bargains in the future.

Meanwhile, rent a place, furnished for a few months while you look around.

Personally, I like living on the water - but that means the Intracoastal and not the ocean. Along the ocean very few plants or bushes grow well, lawns are poor, and the windows get covered with salt constantly. At night it's a dismal view, because the coastline is so straight, and all you see is a big, black ocean.

The exposure of your house or apartment is very important in Florida. A south-facing one is warmer in winter and cooler in summer. A west-facing one gets a hot and glaring afternoon sun you won't like. The ideal: a southeast corner apartment.

Don't get a ground floor apartment. They're too easy to break into. You get ants, too. Don't get one too high, or you won't be able to enjoy the landscaping or the passing scene. Floors three, four, five, six or seven are fine.

The further away you get from the ocean, the hotter it will be in summer and the colder in winter. The ocean is a great equalizer. There are also a lot more bugs when the weather gets warm.

Houses, of course, have the same problems with break-ins as do first-floor apartments. Oh yes, and don't bring a dog to Florida. Nothing but problems, and most apartments don't allow pets.

If you are considering the west coast of Florida, let me point out the winters will be colder and the summers warmer. And if you get down around the Marco Island area near Naples, the bugs will eat you alive in the summer.

After a year down here, and you're settled in, sell your house in Rogers City. You'll do it sooner or later anyhow. Join the rest of us unemployed no-goods who are enjoying one the nicest parts of America and become a full-time resident.

P.S.: Taxes are less for full-timers, too.

I'LL BE HAPPY to give information on real estate selection from any of our friends who spend their winters in other climates, the first coming to mind Arizona. Please keep it short.

1984 election will take time

The primary election ballot Aug. 7 is going to take some time.

Might as well get started planning right now. There are lots of petitions to be filed before the June 5 deadline at 4 p.m.

All elected township officials are on the line this year.

That's right, all of them...supervisor, clerk, treasurer and four board members.

Add to that ballot the president, vice president, United States senator and congressman, sheriff, some judges and county commissioners.

In Independence Township, Claude Trim and any opponents will appear on the ballot twice—once for the special election to fill the state house of representatives seat in the newly formed 20th district and once as a candidate for the November election for the same seat. It's possible, albeit improbable, he could be voted in for one and not the other.

It's likely there will also be a millage question on police protection in Independence.

And it looks like those who want the most choices on the local level will have to cast their ballots for Republicans.

We might as well begin exercising our lever-pushing fingers now.

One, two, three, four...

Older Americans deserve federal support

Dear Mr. Zawaack:

I am writing in response to your article of May 9 concerning the National Council of Senior Citizens.

Unfortunately, I do agree with your views of the NCSC; however, I do not agree with your views on "Federal Freebies" regarding senior citizen lunches and transportation.

Many older Americans spent much of their time and sweat putting this "melting pot" together.

After many, many years of hard work and dedication, they are now finding out that their Social Security check and their pension check just aren't enough to make ends meet. In many instances, the families also fall short in their obligation to their elders.

You and I are fortunate to be living during a time when we may be able to invest our hard-earned dollars.

Please don't let this keep you from remembering that many seniors, today, would have had to build their savings accounts during the great depression, when all the banks fell and the dollar was diminished to barely nothing.

What would you do now if your bank account was suddenly reduced to nothing?

Fortunately, our federally subsidized lunch program ensures us that our seniors, rich or poor, are getting at least one nutritionally sound meal a day, along with friendship and socialization.

Have you tried cooking for just one? Would you enjoy eating your meals alone on a daily basis?

We do not discourage full payment of federally funded meals or transportation from anyone.

Total cost of a meal at our center is $2.50. A 61-cent donation is requested, by anyone age 60 and over, the balance of which is picked up by federal funds. However, if you can afford it, we would be glad to have you pay the entire $2.50.

It is unfortunate, but people do relate to federally funded "freebies" just as you did in your article.

You should not feel ashamed eating a federally funded lunch if you pay the price you feel you can afford.

Thankfully, the people of our area do come to our center, they do eat our lunches and they do pay what they can afford, be it $2.50 or 5 cents.

By their support, it allows the underprivileged senior to take part in a meal he or she really needs, but is too proud to ask for. No one need be ashamed of taking part in a program they have the option of paying for.

Unfortunately, your understanding of the lunch and transportation programs existing today is something that is sadly shared by millions of Americans.

I only hope that this feeling will change and people will take advantage of these programs. They provide the friendship and social contact that is desperately needed by many.

'If It Fitz...'

Going public for Melissa

Jim Fitzgerald

Please don't tell the Romance Writers of America what I did in Frankenmuth the other day. I made a "public appearance." I couldn't help it.

It all began quite innocently two months ago when fifth-graders at the Frankenmuth Middle School were studying newspapers. One assignment required them to riffle through several copies of the Detroit Free Press, prompting a student named Melissa to casually remark that the old guy in the tiny picture on the back page was her grandpa.

Her classmates didn't believe her. Melissa couldn't imagine why anyone would think she'd lie about such a thing. Her grandpa's face and articles have been appearing in newspapers and on the front of the family refrigerator ever since she can remember. No big deal. No different than having a truck driver for a grandfather, except a truck driver would never be stupid enough to write something bad about Michael Jackson.

BUT SOME PEOPLE think otherwise. They think newspaper writers—especially those allowed to express their opinions in big-city publications—are automatically some sort of celebrity, simply by virtue of their public exposure and regardless of the fact they've never accomplished anything worth celebrating.

Also, there is a widespread opinion that anyone who writes for publication must enjoy taking bows at public functions. This is true of many writers, of course, and God bless them. Never knock another man's ego until you've tried walking in his baubled boots. I've tried, and I've emerged from the experience with great envy of those media-created "celebrities" who can handle the spotlight smoothly, without stammering or apologizing for their questionable qualifications to be sitting on the dais. I can never shake the fervent desire to be sitting in the back of the room, behind a post.

That's why I couldn't help laughing when a public relations person representing the Romance Writers of America suggested I would enjoy doing her a favor at the group's convention in Detroit next month. I really didn't mean to appear rude. But her proposition was so preposterous—for me—that a you've-got-to-be-kidding horse laugh was an automatic response.

At one of the convention functions, several of the romance writers will model clothing. They are all women, and someone's cute idea is that they should be escorted onto and off of the style-show stage by men who write for local publications. Wouldn't that be fun?

OH MY. It isn't only that I have an aversion to appearing on stage. I also have an aversion to romance novels. What should a man wear for escorting a romance writer? Tight trousers and a shirt open to the navel, surely, plus a rakish smile and smoldering eyes.

When I stopped laughing, I told the PR woman I never make public appearances. She wouldn't believe it. So I said if I stayed awake 200 straight nights trying to think of what I would least enjoy doing, appearing in a fashion show beside a romance writer would be it. When she continued to coax, I added that the last time I smoldered at my wife, she stuck a thermometer in my mouth. The PR woman was finally convinced that I am no fun at all.

But my shyness isn't completely impregnable. When Melissa's teacher suggested she could prove her grandpa was a Free Press columnist by inviting him to speak to the entire class, I was a goner. One thing I can't do even more than I can't make speeches is say no to my grandchildren.

It turned out fine. I quickly proved I was a genuine celebrity by telling the kids my home is within walking distance of Tiger Stadium and I once shook hands with Alan Trammell. Taking my cue from Sparky Anderson, I gave all the credit to the players and modestly denied that the Tigers are doing so well because this year, for the first time in history, I covered them in spring training.

Later, Melissa said she was proud of me. Ah, I'd never hear that from a romance writer of America, no matter how deep my décolletage.

Carr to run

By Marilyn Trumper

After four months of speculation, incumbent United States Congressman Bob Carr announced last week he'll seek the Democratic nomination to run for a second term.

Carr was elected in 1982 to represent the 6th District which includes areas around Ingham County from Lansing east, parts of north and northwest Oakland County, parts of Pontiac, all of Livingston County, townships in Genesee and Jackson counties and a small part of Shiawassee County.

"I'm going to continue to do a good job and listen to the people as I have," Carr said. "And continue to try and perfect the quality of leadership."

Carr's targeted Dixie Highway which runs through a corner of Independence Township, for a center lane, and in March hosted a public hearing on the issue. He's since applied for $3.5 million to finance the first half of the $8 million project.

Carr's competition on the Republican ticket is Tom Ritter, an Independence Township resident and owner of Ritter's Farm Market.

Incumbent 6th District U.S. Congressman Bob Carr, a Democrat, announced last week he'll seek re-election in '84.

Battle likely for judge seat

By Marilyn Trumper

It appears Oakland County District Court Judge Gerald E. McNally will have opposition on the November ballot.

Larence Kozma, a one-term trustee on the Independence Township Board and attorney with the Oakland County Prosecutor's Office, is circulating petitions to run for the non-partisan office.

When contacted, Kozma said he did not want to comment until he's actually filed.

"But it's no secret that the petitions are going around," he said.

McNally, an Independence Township resident, has sat on the bench 16 years, since 1968.

In each election, 1968, 1972 and again in 1978, McNally's won by a landslide of 60 percent of the vote. In 1972 the office was changed to a six-year term.

Asked if he's concerned about a race this election, the 51-year-old McNally said, "Of course, you're always concerned."

Artistic finale

The North Sashabaw Glee Club and mimes from Clarkston High School ended Clarkston school's community relations for the year by performing at the Clarkston Mills Mall. The shows were part of an $8,000 grant from the State Department of Education to foster better community relations with the schools and bring local artists to the students, according to Dorothy Neff, special projects coordinator. Shoppers paused from viewing high school art works on display and applauded loudly as the kids performed last Thursday.

ZBA to weigh mall parking

Meeting scheduled June 6

By Marilyn Trumper
Ron Helin's taking the parking issue for his proposed 50,000 square foot office/retail mall before the zoning board of appeals June 6.

Helin, owner of W.H. Investments Inc., proposes a two-story mall on 4.6 acres at the abandoned Texaco Service Station site on M-15, north of Clarkston village.

"When it does finally occur I'll have something to say," Helin said. "I've made a substantial investment, as you know. I've bought the property to develop, and I closed because I wanted to build, not because I had to close. If anyone has other ideas they're incorrect."

If all township hurdles were made today, Helin says he doesn't know when the mall would be finished.

"I've no idea. They've (the township's) held off long enough now that interest rates are beginning to rise. Every day they rise, it makes the project that much more precarious," he said.

The Independence Township Planning Commission wants the parking question settled before granting site plan approval.

According to its chairman, Neil Wallace, the ordinance doesn't specifically address parking for a development like Helin's, but the closest calculation calls for over 400 spaces, and Helin's plan shows 326.

The ZBA's also expected to address parking space size and lot safety, Wallace said.

The meeting is scheduled June 6 at 7:30 p.m. in the Independence Township Hall Annex, 90 N. Main, Clarkston.

Joining a soccer league maybe the next step for some of these future superstars. There will be plenty of opportunity for that once school lets out and summer officially begins.

Starting early with soccer

Orange, yellow and even traditional white soccer balls litter the fields at Bailey Lake Elementary School. Close to 70 children, 5 to 10 years old, are attending a soccer clinic organized by the Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department. Basic skills such as ball handling and foot coordination help train the future league players. The $45 entry fee for five-week clinic includes a soccer ball and a T-shirt for each child.

—Dan Vandenhemel

Passing and being able to handle the ball are just a couple of the fundamentals stressed in the Independence Parks and Recreation Department's soccer clinic.

Wolves breeze to district play

Clarkston mercies Grand Blanc, 10-0

By Dan Vandenhemel

The game was almost over before it began for the Clarkston Wolves.

The varsity softball team mercied Grand Blanc in a pre-district game at Clintonwood Park, 10-0, in five innings.

The Wolves were relaxed, laughing and joking before the game with Grand Blanc, which finished its season with a 3-20 mark. Clarkston is now 20-7 overall.

An inside pitch moves Laura Hurren back of the plate during the Wolves' 10-0 mercy rule victory over Grand Blanc in the pre-district tournament at Clintonwood Park.

"We had never seen Grand Blanc before today," said Wolves' coach Carla Teare. "I don't really know why we were more relaxed. I think overall it's confidence."

The confidence paved the way for victory, as did some timely walks given up by Grand Blanc pitchers.

After Clarkston's Julie Marshall quickly disposed of the Grand Blanc hitters in the opening inning, the Wolves came right out and scored three times.

Kelli Keating led off the game for the Wolves with a walk and came all the way around to score on Laura Hurren's long fly ball that landed on the left-field foul line for a triple.

After Sue Castillo walked and stole second, Hurren crossed the plate on a wild pitch. Castillo did the same three pitches later.

Marshall did all she could to keep Grand Blanc off the scoreboard.

The right-hander struck out seven and allowed just two hits, an infield single second baseman Keating dove to stop but couldn't right herself in time to throw for the out, and a grounder up the middle in the fifth.

The senior pitcher ran into a little trouble in the third and fifth innings. She walked the batter with the bases loaded in the third, and a single and two walks loaded them again in the fifth. Grand Blanc failed to hit and push a run across the plate both times.

With the win, the Wolves move on to defend their district tournament title at Holly High School, June 2.

Earlier in the week, the Wolves split a double-header with Lapeer West, winning the first game, 13-2, then losing, 18-9.

"We played bad in the second game," Teare said. "We had 10 errors. The kids realize now that we can't play that bad and still win the game. If we play like we can, we are going to be tough to beat."

Tiger homer helps win car

By Dan Vandenhemel

All the winning the Detroit Tigers have done the first two months of the baseball season isn't limited to the players alone.

Occasionally their fans, such as Rex Egres, get into the act.

Egres entered the Detroit Tigers WJR-Chevrolet grand slam inning contest and won a new Chevette thanks to Alan Trammell.

The way the contest works, entries must be made out at participating Chevrolet dealers. The entrants pick what inning the Tigers might hit a grand slam home run. Radio station WJR, which broadcasts all Tiger games, selects one entry per game.

Egres' name was chosen for the May 8 game at Kansas City. Trammell delivered the winning homer in the seventh inning, against reliever Dan Quisenberry.

"The odds of winning are astronomical," said Egres, a Meyer Road, Independence Township, resident. "I know that I'm the first winner they have ever had in the two years of the contest."

The entry was made at Kozak Chevrolet in Hamtramck.

"I was there to see a friend of mine," Egres said. "While we were talking, he had to leave for minute and we were standing right next to the deal so I filled one out."

"I try to live a religious life so I first thought of the number 12 for the Apostles but not many games go into 12 innings so I decided on the seventh for the seven days of creation."

"The odds of winning are astronomical."

—Rex Egres

When Trammell hit the home run, Egres was sound asleep.

"We usually go to bed about 10 o'clock," Egres said. "A couple of buddies called and told me I had won a car. I didn't know what they were talking about."

"I finally called the radio station about 1:30 the next day and they confirmed it. I was a little joyous when I found out."

The red, two-door Chevette has been on order and should arrive in four weeks.

"I've always wanted a Chevette, but I could have applied it toward another car if I wanted to. It's going to be my wife's (Cheryl) car. All I had to pay was the sales tax and license plates. It's a heck of a gift."

Rain halts league track meet

By Dan Vandenhemel

With the coming of spring also come the rains. And when there are adverse weather conditions, one can expect the cancelation of sporting events. But rarely does the weather halt high school track meets.

Baseball, softball, tennis, golf, all get washed out while the sprinters and shot putters keep on working. But the heavy rain storm that blew through the area May 22 brought a stop to the Greater Oakland Activities League (GOAL) track meet at Waterford Mott High School.

"It started to rain and then came the lightning," said Clarkston track coach Walt Winiemko. "A lot of the kids had metal spikes on and we were sitting on aluminum seats. The lightning was the element that concerned many of us."

The meet was postponed to May 29 at Mott. Winiemko said over half the events were finished.

In unofficial results, Clarkston High School was placing athletes high in the standings.

When the rains came in the field events Steve Morris was third in the shot put, Chad Snover fourth in the discus, Shawn MacCartey second in the long jump and John Luvera fourth in the pole vault.

In the running contests Jeff Davis was fourth in the 100-yard dash; Joe Poe sixth in the 110-yard high hurdles; the 2-mile relay team of Mark Foyteck, Jeff Ferguson, Dave Baran and Eric Thomas were third; and the 880-yard relay team of Morris, MacCartey, Craig Kulaszewski and Davis were fourth.

"We were doing fairly well," Winiemko said. "We set out hoping to get our performances better and better. Track is like anything else, you always try to do better."

The Wolves finished the regular season in third place in the GOAL with a 2-2 league record and 2-5 overall.

Up My Alley

Winners

By Dan Vandenhemel

By now everyone this side of Mars has heard of the Detroit Tigers and what they are doing.

The what is, they are a major league baseball team playing against little leaguers. It's no contest when they take the field. How else can you explain their unbelievable start?

Sure they have guys like Alan Trammell, Lou Whitaker, Lance Parrish, Kirk Gibson. What else can they do with a lineup like that? The list could go on for all 25 players on the roster, too.

Perfect double-play grounders, singles through the middle, baffling forkballs, runs in bunches crossing the plate, are all associated with winning and the Tigers.

They play their games of youth at the corner of Michigan and Trumbull in downtown Detroit.

For those fans of ball games who do not like the 50-mile drive to Tiger Stadium, there are two ball fields in Clarkston producing a few winning numbers of their own.

First, the softball fields at Clintonwood Park. The Clarkston High School varsity and junior varsity teams play their home games there.

Last season the varsity squad finished in the top four teams in Class A in the state with a 26-7 record. The junior varsity finished strong with a 21-3 slate.

This year the winning continues as the varsity team fights for first place in the league, so far winning two-thirds of its games. The junior varsity is keeping in stride.

The second field is at the high school where the varsity and junior varsity baseball teams perform. The varsity Wolves ended with 15-9 record and were eliminated by West Bloomfield in the district finals. The JV team set a school record with a 16-2 mark.

Again both teams are rolling right along with high winning percentages. The varsity squad stands one game away from the Greater Oakland Activities League title.

Why wait to see the Tigers reach the playoffs in October? We all know they are going to be there in the end.

Everybody is jumping on the Detroit Tiger bandwagon.

With district playoff games ahead for the softball and baseball teams, let us not forget about the local bandwagons.

Springfield youths to work toward activities

Planning party this week at township hall

By Dan Vandenberg

Springfield Township is on the edge of two school districts, Clarkston and Holly. The quiet community is also a good distance between each.

That leaves a void for the teens in the area, said Laurel Larson.

Larson is trying to organize a project to provide local activities for the youngsters. A meeting is planned Thursday, May 31, at the Springfield Township Hall at 7 p.m. It is open to junior high and high school students.

"It got started when some students went to the Rotary Club and asked the club for activities for the kids in the area," Larson said. "There's really a need for it. Basically all we have are the elementary schools, Little League and gymnastics."

"Once in junior high they are bused to Holly and Clarkston. If they are in any after-school activities, they need a car or their parents to come pick them up. What is happening, the kids are very busy in the elementary schools to almost nothing in the junior highs."

Ideas for the possible activities will come from the youths in attendance at the meeting, Larson said.

"We're going to use them as the decision-makers," she said. "Also the kids are going to be responsible for getting the projects off the ground, to start working toward those needs. The parents are going to be for support and guidance rather than running the project."

The Springfield Mill Pond Park is one of the major resources, for it tends to be the center of summer activities.

Funds from the National Park Service mean tennis courts, picnic areas, and more playground equipment are coming to the Mill Pond Park.

"We'll be able to handle a large group or the smaller groups," Larson said. "If enough kids want to learn some electronics or work on their stereos, we'll get someone in to hold a class for them.

"What I see is that there are a lot of resources that can be used in the area and a lot of needs. What they need is to be hooked up."

"We need the kids at the meeting to get this going."

And to encourage attendance, pizza and pop will be supplied by the parks and recreation commission.

Laurel Larson stands in front of the Mill Pond Park in Springfield Township which will play a major part in the youth activities project for the community.

An architectural rendering by Charles W. Sherman Associates of Troy shows a line drawing of the proposed multipurpose rooms. If the $1.75 million bond for construction is approved June 11 by Clarkston school district voters, identical additions would be made on each of the five elementary schools. The 74-by-74-foot multipurpose rooms would include a 500-square-foot stage, playing area, individual toilet rooms, small kitchenette, coat area, furniture storage area and heating equipment.

Schools' multipurpose rooms on June ballot

By Kathy Greenfield

The telephone survey results are in and the majority of prospective voters for the Clarkston school district's June 11 election are undecided on the 4-mill renewal and multipurpose room $1.75 million bond proposal.

But those overseeing the survey remain optimistic.

The calls were made by volunteers working for the PASS (People Actively Supporting Schools) committee.

The goal of PASS is to see that the ballot questions are approved.

Behind the PASS team participants, which number about 500, are cochairpersons Thomas Azoni and Kay Chenoweth.

Their reason for working to see the 4-mill renewal pass is they want education to continue as it has in the district.

But on the proposal that would put multipurpose rooms on all five of Clarkston's elementary schools, their reasons differ to a degree.

Neither has children in Clarkston elementary schools. Chenoweth's are too old; Azoni's too young.

Azoni, 31, and his wife have a 1½-year-old daughter and are expecting their second child. He's an associate attorney with Kaufman, Payton and Kaylis of Southfield.

"We're the only school district in Oakland County that doesn't have multipurpose rooms. The only one. That doesn't make sense," he said.

"We're not talking about something here that's a luxury item. We're talking about something you should expect in any basic educational program, like physical education, like assemblies."

Azoni is one of three candidates for two school board seats up for election June 11, a situation that has caused him some discomfort.

"That bothers me a bit that people think I'm doing this PASS thing to be elected, but I was involved in PASS first and that kind of rekindled my interest in being a member of the board," he said.

Chenoweth, 40, and her husband have three children, a Michigan State University student, high school senior and ninth-grader. She is director of the religious education program at St. Joseph Catholic Church, Lake Orion.

✓ On the ballot

"I've always been a school supporter. I feel very positively not only about Clarkston, but the public school system in general. I think it's important that we really back them and support them," she said.

"The multipurpose rooms are something so long overdue. We live in a very nice community and it just seems like the schools should mirror the esteem and the feeling we have in our community."

Election deadline

Candidates have until June 5 to file for Independence Township offices for the full-time four-year terms of supervisor, treasurer and clerk, and four part-time trustee seats.

Petitions can be picked up at Independence Township Hall, 90 N. Main, Clarkston.

To be on the August primary ballot Republican candidates must gather 29 signatures, and Democrats, 44.

Survey returns

Part of the purpose of the telephone survey was to identify voters in favor of the proposals in order to call them back and make sure they go to the polls.

Services like transportation and baby-sitting will be offered.

But while the fate of the multipurpose room question lies with the undecided voters, the PASS leaders are confident.

"The feeling in general is it's going to pass and I don't think we're deluding ourselves, either," Azoni said.

Said Chenoweth: "It looks positive, but the survey did a lot for us in many ways. It's a good way for us to reach the community, to listen to their concerns and to answer their questions."

SEEING IS BELIEVING: The wrecked car next to Kristin Schultz and Beth Springer serves as a warning to Clarkston High School students of what can happen when drinking and driving mix. Schultz is president and Springer vice president of Students Against Drunk Driving (SADD) at CHS. The car was donated by Village Towing and placed in front of the school in time for the senior prom held May 18. "We're not telling students they can't drink; that's their choice. But we don't want them to drink AND drive," said Springer.

Cindy Carroll takes a picturesque pose in preparation for the Clarkston High School 1984 Talent Show held May 8. The show had 11 acts vying for the $100 first prize. Wendy Ripley came away with top honors with her rifle twirling act. Second place and $50 went to Dean Vanderkolk and Shawn Smith for their performance of an Abbott and Costello skit, "Who's on First." The third prize of $25 went to Chris Wollerman, Bill Mosher, Brad Banker, Jay Wilson and Blair Whittenton, members of the rock band Stormer.

Jay Wilson (foreground) and Brad Banker set the pace for the rock band Stormer. The band came away with $25 for third prize in the Clarkston High School Talent Show.

Members of Gentle Touch reorganized and volunteered their talents to the Clarkston Band Boosters' fund raiser June 2. You can hear the band on the tennis court after 3 p.m. They're a mom and dad, their eighth-grade son on drums and a woman guitar player named Robbie.

'Gentle Touch' donates music

By Marilyn Trumper

When Jack Sampson's asked how long he and the band Gentle Touch have played together, he laughs and says, "...More than once."

In the past two weeks their new guitar player Robbie Robinson learned 42 new songs, although five years ago she performed with Jack, his keyboard-playing wife, Yvonne, and their drum-playing son, Jon.

They've recently reorganized, have gigs from now through August, and volunteered their talents to the Clarkston Band Booster's fund raiser, Steak Barbecue-Fun Day.

Gentle Touch will perform on the tennis courts at Clarkston High School on Saturday, June 2, at 3 p.m.

Jack remembers one past performance before a junior high audience that requested "Pretty Woman," a popular oldie-but-goodie that topped the charts years ago.

Junior high students familiar with that song? "Van Halen brought it back," beams Jon, sitting behind a solid wall of transparent orange drums and referring to a current rock star.

Jon is an eighth-grader at Clarkston Junior High, and a percussionist in the band.

"We listen to the country music, and he keeps us up on the popular rock and roll," laughs Yvonne.

The group plays country, rock, top 40, and is working on Michael Jackson's "Beat It" for the June 2 fund raiser.

Man traces family history through Civil War

Clarkston great-great-grandfather immortalized in book

By Kathy Greenfield

Seven years passed as James Genco compiled historical facts with letters written by his great-great-grandfather Harold Bartlett of Clarkston to his wife, Rose, while serving in the Civil War.

The resulting book, "To the Sound of Musketry and Tap of the Drum," offers an intimate look at the realities of the Civil War and the struggles of the young Clarkston family while Bartlett served as a harness maker in Battery D of the 1st Michigan Light Artillery from 1861 to 1864.

It all began when Genco's mother gave him six of his great-great-grandfather's letters.

"I decided it would be interesting to find out more about what he'd done," said Genco, an Ann Arbor resident. "I went to the state archives and found that records from the battery had been lost, the first 18 months were gone."

The suggestion was made that Genco use the letters to piece together the lost history, and the search was on.

The letters had been divided between family members and passed on through generations.

"I compiled them from about seven or eight different descendants of his from several different holdings which was quite a feat. I only thought about a dozen existed and I found over 95 of them after searching and searching and searching," he said.

"In almost every letter he will tell his wife, Rose, about different members of the battery who are from Clarkston."

The book includes biographical sketches of those referred to in the letters, providing glimpses into the lives of members of the Clark, Yager, Brown, Anderson, Owens, Tupper and Vliet families, and more.

Genco also became familiar with a town he had known nothing about.

"I didn't even know where Clarkston was," he said. "I'd heard of it but didn't know where it was located."

In the process of writing the book, he visited Clarkston three or four times.

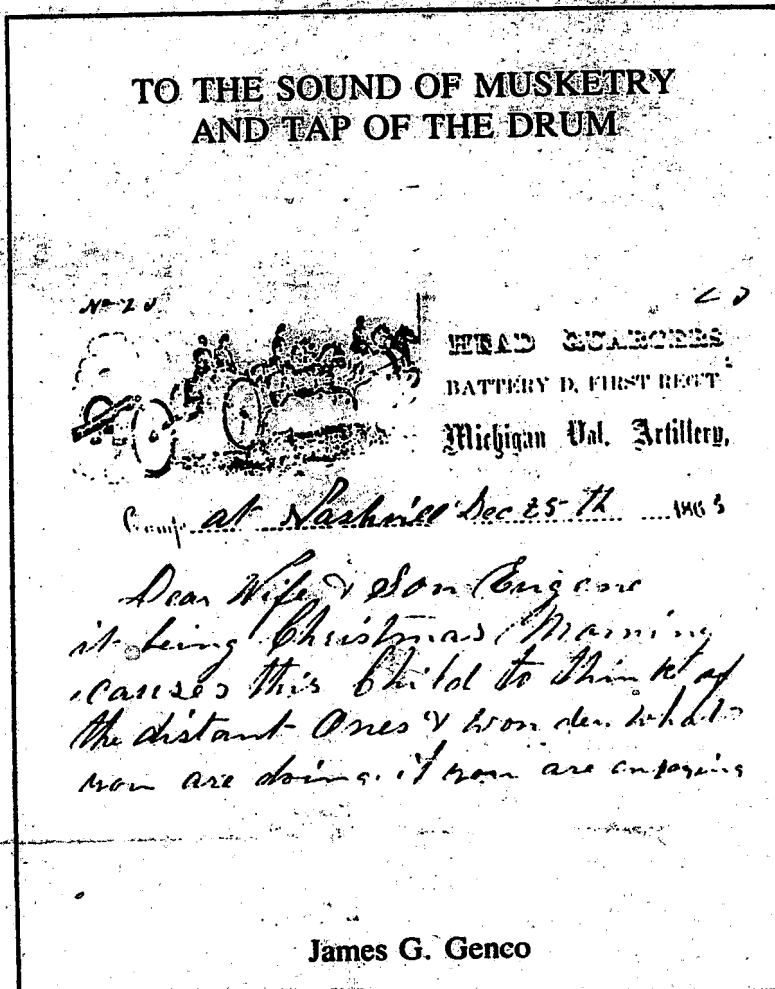

While unable to locate the precise home where the Harry Bartlett family lived or any relatives left in Clarkston (the closest was in Auburn Heights), he made discoveries that pleased him; the Mill Pond referred to in letters and the Yager blacksmith building, now the location of Main Street Antiques.

"I found it a very exciting town. It was really quite thrilling because I felt like I became so intimately involved with Bartlett and the family in Clarkston and to actually see where they lived was a thrill," Genco said.

In Lakeview Cemetery, he found the graves of Bartlett's parents, James and Elizabeth, first generation Americans who came over from England.

"The thing that was exciting to me was to think when they moved here the state was about five years old," Genco said. "They really were one of the pioneer families of Clarkston and they were one of the first inhabitants."

Also in his search, he found some of the tools of Harry Bartlett.

"A third cousin who lives in the Detroit area had a box of tools he used as a harness maker. He had about 60 tools he used in the Civil War," Genco said.

There were also old photographs, some of which are reprinted in the book.

An attorney, Genco has no regrets about the time it took to research and gather the artifacts.

"It was really a labor of love. It was just tremendously rewarding," he said.

When Harry Bartlett returned from his enlistment he was about 30 years old. He and his wife and children moved to Pontiac, then to Memphis, Mich., where he established his own harness shop and died at 48 from a war-related illness.

The letters, though never bitter, related his bouts with diseases.

The only changes Genco made in the letters involved punctuation and some spelling. Nothing was deleted.

Copies of the book, in its first printing of a limited edition, are for sale at the Village Bookstore, 26 S. Main, Clarkston.

WW II camps stir Jews' memories

By Dan Vandenhemel

The mention of World War II brings back a flood of memories, good and bad for many people who lived through it.

The good includes the invasion by the American forces at Normandy that eventually led to victory for the Allied Forces in Europe. And V-J Day when Japan surrendered to the United States.

The bad: Japan's attack of Pearl Harbor, Hitler's push through Europe, and Hitler's persecution of Jewish people.

Those not around in the 1940s to witness the war must rely on history books—and those who were there.

Clarkston Junior High students have been learning of the war in school and the eighth-graders also listened to survivors of the Holocaust, those who suffered in German concentration camps.

The three people who came to the school May 25 told similar stories of growing up in war-torn Poland.

Ruth Kent, Leon Salomon and George Vine, all survived to tell people about the horror.

Kent and Vine were sent to concentration camps while Salomon was with the underground army, trying to free his fellow Jews.

"I'm going to warn you," Kent told the students. "This is difficult to talk about without getting emotional."

"The Germans forced us to move out of our home into a very old part of the city and called it a ghetto. They put all the Jews there. They took away our teachers, our schools. If you got sick you just died. There were no doctors or hospitals. You would come home and see dead people all over the streets."

Kent went on to say when it was time for the "Selection," when Jews were taken to the camps, she was about 9 years old.

"I believe I was youngest to survive," she said. "Not many below the age of 14 survived the gas chambers. I was in the camp for six years. I was not able to talk about it for many years. Now I can, so people will know what happened."

During the selections, Jewish people were packed into railroad cattle cars and transported to concentration camps.

"We were packed inside those cars like sardines," Vine said. "A normal three-hour train ride took three or four days. They trapped us in there, with no sanitary conditions or food. People were getting sick and dying."

Chilean student explores U.S. life

By Dan Vandenhemel

One of the largest stepping stones for an exchange student to overcome in America is the language.

Mauricio Paschold is comfortable in the home of his host family, the Salters. He's participating in the exchange student program sponsored by Youth for Understanding.

Not so for Mauricio Paschold of San Antonio, Chile. The language of Chile is Spanish but Mauricio had three years of English before coming to Clarkston.

"I think for foreign exchange students it is big problem," he said, with a Spanish accent. "I've had help from my family, too, on some words I don't know. My 'brother' Steve has had three years of Spanish so when I came up we talked in Spanish for three weeks."

Mauricio is staying with Ed and Jan Salter and their son, Steve, on Hillsborough Road, Springfield Township.

The sophomore at Clarkston High School also had to get used to Michigan weather when he arrived Jan. 19 in the middle of a cold streak with temperatures below zero.

"My plane first went to New York," Mauricio said. "It is summertime in Chile and all I had on was a shirt. It was cold. I never lived in snow before—it is beautiful."

San Antonio is in central Chile near the capital of Santiago and a two-hour drive to the nearest mountains.

"It rains a lot in our winters," said the blond-haired, blue-eyed, 15-year-old. "The snow on the trees, in the cities, looks good."

Food and television in America are not a big change.

"The food is not too different, just little things," Mauricio said. "The popcorn, you salt, we put sugar. And tacos, I like. We don't get tacos in Chile."

"The TV shows are the same but in Spanish. The commercials are different but the shows the same."

The Salters sent letters to Mauricio before his arrival, telling him about the weather, the schools, what people do here. Once in Clarkston, a neighbor of the Salters, George Switzer, helped cure any homesickness.

Switzer owns a ham radio and allows Mauricio to call home about once a week to talk to his family. He will continue the practice when 16-year-old Steve goes back to Chile with Mauricio July 9.

A number of things will make the trek south: a United States flag, new clothes, a Detroit Tiger year-book and peanut butter.

Another object going is a third-place medal Mauricio won for shooting at the Waterford Hills Sportsmen's Club.

"Every Monday we shoot, and I won the medal. I don't hunt in Chile but I got a bunny when we were up north, poor bunny," he said.

"What I will miss from America?" Mauricio repeats the question to gather his thoughts.

"My family, friends, school, the cities and the snow."

Citizens hailed for crime drop

In the first quarter of 1984 in the 13 municipalities patrolled by the Oakland County Sheriff's Department which include Independence and Springfield townships, crime decreased by 12.5 percent, according to Sheriff Johannes Spreen.

"I've been saying it for years," said Spreen. "The only way you cut down on crime is with citizens' participation. That's what does it."

"It takes a team, you and your police. I've never deviated from that position."

In the rest of Oakland County crimes increased by 1.5 percent, according to Spreen.

The crimes included murder, criminal sexual conduct, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, larceny, car theft and arson.

Prisoners of war recall WW II camp

"When they finally let us out, it was night and we were blinded by a flood of lights and pushed out the door. I was struck on the head and fell. When I got up, my entire family was on the other side of a gap. As it turned out, everybody on that side was to die and the side I was on survived."

Salomon answered a question from a student on why he joined the army after he had seen what destruction they could do.

"We had heard of stories of people being burned alive," he said. "At the time I was 16 or 17. A lot of people were getting killed and not many people helped us. Only the Danish people helped; over 90 percent of the Jewish population was saved in their country. Elsewhere, the locals were pointing out the Jews to the Germans. Sometimes you have to fight for your liberty. If we had not, Germany could have taken over the world."

Vine added that because of the almost total destruction of the Jews, trying to forget the past or pretend it never happened was the wrong thing to do.

"You can't forget about the past so you can wake up with a better tomorrow," Vine said. "I once read that a college professor said the Holocaust never happened. He couldn't believe something that horrible could happen. Well, it did happen and we were lucky enough to survive."

Newlyweds: Shelley Rae Linde and Ray Lee Belbeck.

Couple wed

Shelley Rae Linde and Ray Lee Belbeck were married in Pasadena, Calif., in the Horseshoe Garden of the Huntington-Sheraton Hotel.

The bride's parents are Don and Sande Clinansmith of Clarkston. The bridegroom's parents are Jim and Carmella Belbeck of Los Angeles, Calif.

Serving as maid of honor for the Feb. 11 wedding was Chris Landis of San Diego.

Flower girl was Alexis Clinansmith.

Best man was Don Campbell of Los Angeles.

The couple are residing in San Diego, Calif. Both are employed at the Ginger Jar restaurant in San Diego where Shelley is a waitress and Ray is a chef.

Den Beston-Frick

Tammi Den Beston of Jenison and Edward Andrew Frick plan to be married in August. Parents of the bride-to-be are Calvin and Ardith Den Beston, also of Jenison. Her fiancé's parents are Allan and Donna Frick of Reese Road, Independence Township. She graduated from Unity Christian High School and Calvin College, he from Clarkston High School and Michigan Technological University. Both are graduates of Blodgett Memorial Medical Center School of Medical Technology.

She earns award for antibody test

Robin Carey won a first-place award for her entry into the Michigan Society of Medical Technology Annual Award Competition.

An Oakland University, Rochester, medical technology student, Robin resides on Waldon Road, Independence Township.

She is receiving her clinical training at William Beaumont Hospital.

Her entry was in the Scientific/Technical Research category. She evaluated a test which detects the presence of antibodies for Cyto Megalvirus (CMV) in patient serum.

CMV is a member of the herpes family and can produce mono-like symptoms. The infection doesn't affect normal, healthy individuals, but it can pose a serious problem to kidney transplant patients and newborns.

The goal of Robin's project was to see if Beaumont could conduct the tests in its laboratory rather than send them to the Michigan Department of Public Health, reducing the waiting time for results from two weeks to two days.

She discovered the test could be performed at Beaumont; however, it would not be cost-effective because of the small number of tests required each month.

Girl, 11, makes Metro finals

Suzanne Marie Underwood, 11, has been selected as a finalist in the 1984 Miss Metro Detroit National Pre-Teen Pageant at the Book Cadillac Hotel, July 6 and 7. Contestants will compete for cash awards, savings bonds, tiara, banner and trophy along with sponsorship to the Miss Michigan National Pre-Teen Pageant in Grand Rapids. Suzanne is the daughter of Roberta Underwood of Drayton Plains and Glenn Underwood of Clarkston. She is being sponsored by Glenwood Real Estate of Dixie Highway, Springfield Township.

Honors

Clarkston area resident Kevin Stuart Dennis is one of 12 students recently inducted into the Ferris State College, Big Rapids, Circle of Omicron Delta Kappa, a national leadership honor society.

Jane Acton, a 1981 graduate of Clarkston High School, has been named to the dean's list at Alma College.

A junior during the recently completed winter term, she is majoring in international business at Alma.

Her parents are John and Paula Acton of Sashabaw Road.

Sheryl McLeod, a senior at Northern Michigan University, Marquette, has been elected vice president of the Student Nurses Association for the 1984-85 school year.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McLeod of Deerhill Drive, Independence Township.

Grads

Erik Ohrnberger graduated from Hope College, Holland, with a bachelor's degree in computer science.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Ohrnberger of Caberfae Trail, Independence Township.

John J. Higgins has been accepted at the Pepperdine University School of Law, Malibu, Calif.

Since graduating in 1983 from Michigan State University, East Lansing, with a bachelor's degree in criminal justice, he's been living at home and working at Pontiac Glass Co.

His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Otis Higgins of Bluegrass Drive, Independence Township.

John plans to begin his studies at Pepperdine University in the fall.

Four Clarkston area residents graduated recently from Michigan Technological University, Houghton.

James Affholter Jr. received a bachelor's degree in mechanical engineering.

Thomas Antram received a bachelor's degree in electrical engineering.

Michael Lovell received a bachelor's degree in mechanical engineering.

Renee Tezak received an associate's degree in electrical engineering technology.

Jeffrey Lee Haase graduated from the University of Kentucky, Lexington with a bachelor's degree in architecture.

Stephen Lloyd Sanders received a bachelor's degree in management from the school of business administration at Bob Jones University, Greenville, S.C.

He was a member of the Chi Alpha Pi Society.

His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Sanders of Fairfield Circle, Springfield Township.

Nancy Jennings Parsons graduated with the highest distinction from Ferris State College, Big Rapids, with a bachelor's degree in business and accounting. She and her husband, Bob, and their children, John and Julie, reside in Big Rapids. She is the daughter of Bessie Jennings of Waldon Road, Independence Township, and the late Cecil Jennings.

New arrivals

James and Sheila McKenzie of Minot, N.D., are celebrating the birth of their first child, Stephan James.

Born May 19, he weighed 9 pounds and measured 21 inches long.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. James Atkinson of Clarkston and Mr. and Mrs. Roland McKenzie of Orion Township.

Great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Knickerbocker of Clarkston, Doris Atkinson of Orion Township, Lorraine Bliss of Union Lake, and Mr. and Mrs. James Armstrong of Salinas, Calif.

Great-grandmother is Fern Miller of Ferndale.

Tom and Sally Bullen of Kingfisher Lane, Independence Township, are grandparents for the first time.

Thomas Grant Downs was born May 24 in Dallas, Texas, at 8:25 p.m. He weighed 8 pounds, 9 ounces and measured 22 inches long.

Band Boosters to host fund raiser

A Steak Barbecue-Fun Day is in the works for Saturday, June 2, with activities designed to please all ages.

Sponsored by the Clarkston High School Band Boosters, it's to begin at 1 p.m. in the CHS football field on Waldon Road.

The steak dinner is from 4 to 6 p.m. Tickets are $3.50 for adults and $2.75 for children 12 and under. High school and junior high principals will man the grills. Tickets may be purchased there or in advance at Hallman's Apothecary on Main Street in downtown Clarkston, from the band directors or by calling 625-5745.

Among activities planned are an obstacle course, relay races, a dunk tank featuring teachers and band directors in the wet seat, and dancing in the tennis courts to the music of "The Gentle Touch."

For entertainment, there'll be a water fight by the Independence Township Fire Department, the Oakclowns and music by the CHS Jazz Band.

CHS throws party just for fun of it

They're calling it "The Something for Almost Nothing Bash."

In other words, the student government at Clarkston High School is throwing a party—and admission is $1.

For CHS students only, the bash is planned from

Prowl for pools

The YMCA received several responses from those willing to share their backyard pools for swimming lessons, but they'd like more volunteers.

The homeowner's family will receive lessons from the certified "Y" instructors free of charge.

To offer a backyard pool for summer classes, call the YMCA at 335-6116.

4 to 7 p.m., Friday, June 1, on the CHS football field. They promise a pie in the face of Principal Dom Mauti. ("He said as long as it wasn't frozen it would be OK.")

There'll be live music, mud wrestling ("hopefully"), and hot dogs and chips for sale.

"We wanted to give the student body a good feeling to go into summer, some fun, something for them. We figure they deserve it," said CHS senior David Newblatt, member of the student government and organizer of the event.

125- CARD OF THANKS

WITH DEEPEST Gratitude I extend this word of thanks for all the many kind acts of sympathy expressed by thoughtful friends. Special thanks to Tom Griffin and all at Sparks-Griffin. Fur-neral Home, to all at Jacobsen's Flowers for all the assistance that was given.
Reverend Peacock from the Methodist Church for his touching sermon and speech, those at Vannelli who made our lunch so enjoyable and his class of '31 for their living memorial.
Gale would have been pleased to have gone home to be with his parents and loved ones on such a beautiful day. Frances Pat

With the flags flying, the American Legion Color Guard rounds the corner of Church and Main streets to signal the start of another Memorial Day Parade in Clarkston honoring war veterans.

The streets are lined with parade watchers who try to duck the light rain.

The Clarkston High School Band helps provided the music during the parade and at Lakeview

Cemetery where the crowd gathered for a brief ceremony at the end of the parade.

The Clarkston Junior High School Band pictured here as well as the Sashabaw Junior High School band add marching music along the parade route down Main Street.
