17 file for election; 3 Democrats

By Marilyn Trumper

Meeting the Tuesday deadline, four new candidates tossed their hats into the ring for Independence Township government—and three of the four are Democrats.

Floyd (Whitey) Tower of Main Street, Clarkston, former township supervisor who lost office in the 1980 Republican sweep, filed for the clerk's office on the Democratic ticket.

Bruce Gerber of Maybee Road filed for the clerk's office on the Democratic ticket.

E. Frank Richardson of Dixie Highway filed for the treasurer's office on the Republican ticket.

And Charles Smalley of Sashabaw Road, the Village of Clarkston's foot patrolman, filed for trustee on the Democratic ticket.

Below follows a list of candidates by office.

SUPERVISOR

•Republican incumbent James B. Smith of Main Street, Clarkston, is running for a second four-year term.

•Fire Chief Frank Ronk of Overlook Drive is a candidate on the Republican ticket.

•George Vitinoros of Transparent is running on the Republican ticket.

CLERK

•Republican incumbent Richard Holman of Clinton Drive is seeking election for a four-year term. Holman was appointed clerk in 1983.

•Claudia Brazel of Thendara Boulevard is running on the Republican ticket.

•Floyd (Whitey) Tower of Main Street, Clarkston, is running on the Democratic ticket.

•Bruce Gerber of Maybee Road is running on the Democratic ticket.

TREASURER

•Democratic incumbent Frederick Ritter of Amy Drive seeks a third term.

•John Lutz of Lakeview Drive is running on the Republican ticket.

•E. Frank Richardson of Dixie Highway is running on the Republican ticket.

TRUSTEES

(4 seats on the board)

•Republican incumbents Daniel Travis of Perry Lake Road, William Vandermark of Cherrylawn Drive and Dale Stuart of Mustang Drive seek re-election.

•Mel Vaara of West Church Street, Larry Rosso of Delmonico Road and Carol Balzarini of Reese Road are all running on the Republican ticket.

•Charles Smalley of Sashabaw Road is running on the Democratic ticket.

Party races go head-to-head in the August primary election.

Stolen mail worries resident

But she's accepted repeated mailbox vandalism

By Kathy Greenfield

She's given up worrying about mailbox destruction in the middle of the night after having it happen 15 times or so, calling it part of country life.

But after Barbara Burge's mail was stolen from her mailbox on Rattalee Lake Road, Independence Township, one afternoon last week she decided it was time to warn others.

"I thought, 'Gee, this is terrible. Doesn't anybody tell anybody not to put their mail out?'" she said. "They're going into the mailboxes and taking outgoing mail. There is nothing the police department can do and there's nothing the post office can do."

Burge lost about 12 checks May 30 between 11 a.m. and 3 p.m. She was alerted to the theft when a neighbor found one of the bills with a pile of castoffs by the side of the road.

"I was really upset," she said. "And then I thought they really can't cash them. They're looking for something they can cash. Now the burden falls on me."

She has to stop payment on all the checks that were in the mail, rewrite them and mail them again.

"In my case, I'll have over $100 just to stop checks," she said. "I'm going to spend a lot of money and time today on something that's not going to do anyone any good."

Clarkston Postmaster William O. Kinsley II said he's had several complaints about mail theft in the Gift shop theft shocks owner

By Marilyn Trumper

One month ago Shirley Marley opened her gift shop, Marley's, in the red gothic Sutherland building on Clarkston's Main Street.

Thursday night thieves broke in and stole $1,200 worth of designer T-shirts, Michael Jackson gloves, bandanas, hand-painted socks and candy suckers.

The shipment had arrived a week earlier.

"I'm just sick," Shirley said. "You drive in and look at this village with all the nice houses. It's beautiful. It's the reason I came here. You don't think something like this could happen here. I can't believe something like this would happen."

"Now I have to decide what I'm going to do. Whether I'm going to stay—or leave."

"The money, I feel bad about the money. But it's what I'm trying to do here—that they would come in and intrude," she said.

Jim Kaminski, the building owner, suspects it's junior high school-aged kids.

"And they'll probably peddle the stuff at the schools," he said. "Who else would steal stuff like that?"

"She (Shirley) normally doesn't cater to the kids, more the adults, but ordered that so the kids would have something. Normally she deals in soft sculptures, pictures, a nice assortment for the village."

Township police millage heads toward ballot

By Marilyn Trumper

Facing a June 15 deadline, the Independence Township Board is expected to draft and adopt wording for the proposed police millage increase, according to Clerk Richard Holman.

A millage increase for police protection has been defeated six times since 1976.

The current proposal would ask for up to a 1-mill increase for police protection for 15 years, through 1999. One mill would generate approximately $261,000 for the police fund this year.

The township's current 1 mill for police protection (or about $261,000) is supplemented by $13,000 from the village for police protection, $2,500 in interest from investments, $9,000 from liquor license fees and $24,000 from federal revenue sharing.

In order to meet the $356,000 bill which pays for six deputies' salaries, their cars and uniforms, supervisory and support systems, the remaining $46,500 comes from the existing fund, and drops the police fund surplus to $97,300.

The township's three full-time elected officials agree Independence needs more police, including the seventh deputy hired in March for road patrol/school liaison work.

"Desperately," said Treasurer Frederick Ritter. "If you look at the national standards, although I know they're subjective, we should have one police officer for every 1,000 people. By that we should have 22 and we have only seven."

Ritter was the single dissenter in hiring the seventh deputy, saying it would deplete an already failing police fund and be "fiscally irresponsible."

"And for that reason we need the millage," Ritter said.

Clerk Richard Holman agrees.

"We've been subsidizing our police fund with federal revenue sharing to a great degree the last couple of years and I'd like to use federal revenue sharing for what it was intended."

"We need more cops."

Supervisor James B. Smith pointed to crime prevention needs.

"We presently have a reactive police force (one that responds to crime and accident calls). Many people are concerned that there is no crime prevention," he said. "In putting a proactive group in we can provide better local coverage and crime prevention."

Smith offers this breakdown of the 3,930 police calls made last year by the Oakland County Sheriff's Department:

- Burglaries, 308.
- Assault and batteries, 147.
- Arson, 16.
- Auto break-ins and thefts, 1,036.
- Vandalism, 407.
- Thefts, 590.

Concrete bases aren't answer

past six months.

"We have isolated instances of it and what we do is report it to the inspection services and tell people to report it to the police," he said.

"Our hands are tied because it's a rural area and we can't patrol out there because we don't have the capability. All we can do is recommend the NDCBUs or post office boxes and advise people to pick their mail up as soon as possible after delivery."

"It's going to take a concerted effort between us and the people, but each situation may be very different. We'll do whatever we can."

NDCBUs are Neighborhood Delivery and Collection Unit Boxes, a nationwide program underway by the postal service that involves the installation of locked, vandal-proof mailboxes in clusters.

Because of the popularity of the program the boxes take six months to receive plus time for installation, Kinsley said.

He's also concerned about vandalism of mailboxes, but warns against the use of dangerous bases.

"The sad part there, is sometimes they'll put their boxes on a piece of angle iron and cement post and they really should be approved by the post office," he said. "And it's dangerous for the carriers."

He repeated a report of a traffic death where a young man veered into one of the solid posts and an instance where a child in Pontiac was hurt when she bumped into an angle iron base while riding her bicycle.

"It's a problem that may not have one solid solution but we can work with them and try to work it out any way we can," Kinsley said.

'This is larceny'

"And things have been going pretty smooth in the village except for the thefts at Tierra. But this is big time, this is larceny from a building. This is more serious."

Persons with information about the theft are asked to call the Oakland County Sheriff's Department at 858-4980.

School board election is Monday

By Kathy Greenfield

Clarkston school district voters face a 4-mill tax renewal, $1.75 million bond request for five elementary school multipurpose rooms and the selection of two board of education members on the ballot, Monday, June 11.

Also on the ballot will be five candidates for two six-year terms as Community College Trustees: Willard C. Kendall, 1816 Ansal Dr., Rochester; Deanna D. Klosinski, 90 Devon Rd., Bloomfield Hills; Sandra L. Ritter, 5563 Pointe Place, Waterford; Vern Tessier, 37 Nevada, Rochester; and Douglas Wakefield, 28530 Lahser, Southfield.

The polls are open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. In some cases, polling places are different than for township elections. Voters should check the back of their voter registration cards.

The Clarkston school board terms are four years. Candidates are Thomas Azoni, Thomas Bills and incumbent David Kithil. Write-in candidate Evelyn Miller joined the race last week.

The Clarkston News asked the Clarkston candidates the following four questions:

1. Do you support the $1.75 million bond proposal for construction of a multipurpose room on each of Clarkston's five elementary schools? Why or why not? (Multipurpose room support?)

2. Work is underway on future curriculum planning for the Clarkston school district. What changes would you make? (Future curriculum?)

3. Should schools continue to be funded by property taxes or do you support another method? (School funding.)

4. Why do you feel you should be elected? What experiences have you had that enhance your qualifications for a seat on the school board? (Reasons for candidacy.)

Their answers were limited to 100 words and were submitted in writing.

The candidates' biographies, their answers and a summary of the ballot proposals follow:

Thomas Azoni

Thomas Azoni, 31, resides at 5730 Kingfisher, Independence Township. An associate attorney with Kaufman, Payton and Kallas, Southfield, he has a bachelor's degree in economics from the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, and graduated cum laude from the Detroit College of Law.

Residents of the community five years, he and his wife, Elizabeth, have a 1½-year-old daughter, Lauren.

He was appointed to serve on the board of education four months in 1983 following the resignation of a board member.

MULTIPURPOSE ROOM SUPPORT?

I support the bond proposal for the multipurpose rooms because it will benefit the entire community. In fact, I am co-chairperson of PASS, organized to seek voter approval of the proposal.

First, the education of children in the elementary schools will be improved. The school system will have the necessary facilities to offer elementary school physical education and sports programs. Assemblies and concerts will enhance each child's development.

Second, the rooms will be available to non-school community groups at little or no cost.

Third, the improved quality of education will ensure interest in the Clarkston area by potential home buyers.

FUTURE CURRICULUM

I will support changes in all levels of education. Increased exposure to computers at the earliest age is mandatory if our children are to excel in tomorrow's economy.

However, while computers allow us to store and convey information quickly and logically, they do little to improve the depth of our thinking or the quality of our speech.

From the discipline gained through increased study of mathematics, sciences and foreign languages, our children will have the tools to prosper in an increasingly competitive world.

SCHOOL FUNDING

Schools should not be funded by property taxes. Such taxes are regressive and have little relation to a person's ability to pay.

In a system of public-supported education, the quality of the programs and services offered should be uniform throughout the state. Under the current system, they are not.

Instead, school districts should be funded from the state's general fund and distributed equitably to each district.

However, until this or some other fundamental change is made, we must not turn our backs on the legitimate needs of the children in the district.

REASONS FOR CANDIDACY

As a practicing attorney my daily working life centers on responding logically, aggressively and creatively to the business problems of my clients.

I will bring the same energy and training to help solve the financial problems of the district.

In addition, I was appointed briefly to the board last year to fill an unexpired term. This appointment came at a time of intense negotiation with the professional staff.

This "hands-on" experience gave me an invaluable perspective of the needs and problems facing the district.

Thomas C. Bills

Thomas C. Bills, 35, resides at 8300 Allen Rd., Independence Township. Product line marketing manager for Cadillac Products Inc., he has a bachelor's degree in economics from Michigan State University, East Lansing, and a master's degree from Central Michigan University, Mt. Pleasant.

He and his wife, Pam, have three children. Mike and Beth attend Bailey Lake Elementary and Katie is enrolled at the Clarkston Co-op Nursery for the fall of '84.

MULTIPURPOSE ROOM SUPPORT?

I strongly support the bond proposal for construction of multipurpose rooms. We have gotten along without multipurpose rooms for years but I believe we have paid a price for doing so.

Some of the primary benefits of multipurpose rooms are:

- a. a year around, all-weather location for physical education and fitness activities
- b. a place for assemblies, plays and large scale educational presentations
- c. a meeting room for parents and other civic groups

d. higher quality buildings which will enhance our community in the eyes of prospective real estate buyers

These benefits of the proposal strongly outweigh the modest increase in taxpayers' financial obligations.

FUTURE CURRICULUM

I believe the Preliminary Report presented by the Curriculum Committee is a very thorough, competent and professional report. It, combined with meeting some of the concerns expressed in response to the report, would serve as an excellent basis upon which to realign our curriculum.

From my personal perspective I would like to see greater emphasis on:

- a. reading—not only comprehensive but speed
- b. new technology—with emphasis on computers
- c. career planning—starting young with continuous attention
- d. continued growth in Gifted and Special Education programs
- e. establishing levels of competency for meeting graduation requirements

SCHOOL FUNDING

I believe school funding should see a shift away from our current property tax method. Features I do not like about the current system include:

a. funding inequities between property poor districts (such as Clarkston with its limited commercial and industrial base) versus property rich districts

b. fluctuations in the revenue picture resulting from shifts in head count along with the uncertainties of millage elections

c. the major responsibility of school support being on the property owner versus the total community

One concept which deserves further exploration is a locally operated fund-raising corporation whose profits are funneled directly into the school system.

REASONS FOR CANDIDACY

I possess qualities that earmark an effective board member: commitment, the ability to make decisions based on open-minded analysis of facts, communication skills and fiscal integrity.

My career experiences encompass a variety of responsibilities. I have been an officer in the military, a production supervisor for General Motors and am currently a marketing manager.

My community experience includes being president of Bailey Lake PTA the last two years. The PTA's accomplishments merit mention: playground equipment improvements totaling $10,000, $5,000 in field trip funds, computer equipment totaling $6,000, art and physical education programs and bringing quality speakers to the community.

David L. Kithil

Incumbent David L. Kithil, 44, resides at 7973 Pine Ridge Dr., Independence Township. The district manager for Eastman Kodak Co., Southfield, he has a bachelor's degree from the College of Emporia, Emporia, Kan.

He and his wife, Lorna, have lived in the area three-and-one-half years. Their three children attend Clarkston schools, Jenny and Susan at Clarkston High School and Steven at Clarkston Elementary.

Kithil was elected last year to serve the remaining one year of the four-year term of a board member who resigned.

MULTIPURPOSE ROOM SUPPORT?

I wholeheartedly support the construction of a multipurpose room on each of our five elementary schools. The lack of such a facility is the single most glaring deficiency in our school system.

Clarkston is the only school district in Oakland County to lack such facilities. Presently, students must eat lunch at their desks, sit on the floor in the hall to watch movies, and be deprived of physical education during inclement weather.

Furthermore, the addition of multipurpose rooms will provide our community with meeting places for many different community groups.

Finally, the extra cost to each of us taxpayers is minimal.

FUTURE CURRICULUM

The preliminary report of the future curriculum committee contained a very broad cross section of recommendations.

It will not be practical, from a financial standpoint, to implement all of these recommendations at the present time.

A final report is expected by the end of the summer. I am hopeful this report will estimate the cost of various changes to the curriculum and will recommend priorities for implementation.

Our curriculum should be under constant review and changes should occur on a regular basis. However, we must continue to keep our program within our budget.

SCHOOL FUNDING

The funding of our public schools is totally controlled by our legislators in Lansing.

During recent years several proposals have been considered by the legislature that would change the method of funding in our public school systems.

I think it is important that Lansing change the present method of funding so that both in-formula and out-of-formula school districts receive equal support on a per student basis.

REASONS FOR CANDIDACY

My 20 years of business experience has provided me with a strong background in budget management and personnel management. These are the two major areas that challenge the school board on a regular basis.

I am interested in helping upgrade the overall quality of our school program, including curriculum offerings as well as our physical plants.

I have had children in the elementary, junior high and senior high levels of the Clarkston school system. This has made me sensitive to the needs of students at all levels.

Finally, as a homeowner and taxpayer, I will continue to insist on responsible budget decisions for our school district.

Evelyn Miller

Write-in candidate Evelyn Miller, 40, resides at 5122 Iroquois, Independence Township. A housewife, she graduated from Pontiac Central High School.

She has lived in the community about three years. Her son, Andrew, attends Sashabaw Junior High School. Her daughter, Michelle, a 1982 Clarkston High School graduate, is stationed in Germany with the United States Air Force.

MULTIPURPOSE ROOM SUPPORT?

Basically I support the bond issue for multipurpose rooms because they are needed.

The children need a place for physical education, school programs and a decent place to eat their lunch instead of at their desks.

I'm glad that this issue is before the public for voting and I will be interested to see the mood of the community because of our economic times.

It's not a question of what we don't have in comparison to other districts. It's a matter of priorities that the people will decide.

FUTURE CURRICULUM

I would like to see a bigger selection of academic, up-to-date electives starting with junior high school.

Also, I think there should be more advanced courses for the high school, in the school, that the students could utilize without having to be a part of the specific program for gifted children.

We have a lot of very intelligent children that aren't part of the program and it is to everyone's benefit that we send these young people out into the world with the best education that we can give them. They are our future.

SCHOOL FUNDING

I'm not totally in favor of property taxes for school support, but until a fairer and more equitable solution is found and agreed upon, we're stuck with it.

Whatever the method, it is important that we utilize our school tax dollars as wisely as possible.

REASONS FOR CANDIDACY

I feel that I should be elected because I would genuinely like to help our school system excel.

A public official should reflect the mood of the community, research before voting and be accessible to constituents.

My qualifications are quite ordinary and practical.

My children have attended school in other districts, so I have a basis for comparison. I care about the education our children get. I've managed the books for my husband's company for 12 years and housewives are the budget balancers of the world.

Clarkston needs new multipurpose rooms

We've long noticed the unfortunate lack of multipurpose rooms on Clarkston's elementary schools.

As plans unfolded to put the question of a $1.75 million bond on the June 11 ballot for the additions to each of the district's elementary school buildings, we listened to educators in Clarkston sing the praises of multipurpose rooms.

Then came the doubting Thomas: "Maybe they aren't such a good thing. Maybe the schools would be better off without them," he said. "Why don't you check with principals in other school districts and see if their gyms are used? It seems to me they sit vacant most of the time."

The calls were made. It wasn't difficult, for all 28 school districts in Oakland County have such facilities on their elementary school buildings—all, that is, except Clarkston.

Here's what the principals had to say: James Diek, William Austin Burt Elementary, Waterford: "I don't know how we ever got along without it."

Thomas Keller, Carl Sandburg Elementary, Waterford: "I could go on and on with activities the gym has given us. The use the community gets out of it, it's just amazing. I don't know how we'd survive without it."

Robert Harvey, Howard T. Burt Elementary, Brandon: "If I were a voter (in Clarkston) from my experience in education and as a principal I would support it because it's been good for me. I'd be lost without it."

Dr. John Voorhies, Leonard Elementary, Oxford: "I've been in education 25 years and it's probably the most valuable room in the school in regard to its uses—cafeteria, gym, and after school recreation for both the students and parents, and at least every two to three weeks for assemblies. I'm a real supporter."

Harold Rescoe, Webber School, Lake Orion: "Put it this way, I'm behind the millage there 100 percent. I live in Clarkston, my kids have been through Clarkston schools...and through the years I have seen Orion get a lot more than Clarkston. I have always felt very, very strongly and upset we didn't have the same things in Clarkston. I'd find it hard to do without."

Enthusiasm, to put it mildly, was the reaction. They all mentioned extensive use by community groups during after-school hours.

It was Clarkston district Superintendent Milford Mason, however, who went beyond calling the lack of such facilities a shortcoming in Clarkston and looked at the financial picture.

When people consider moving to northern Oakland County, especially if they have children, they take a hard look at the school district.

"Time and time again the lack of these facilities on our buildings is a point people take into consideration. This is not a feeling, this is a reality," said Mason.

"If one believes this area is going to continue to develop, you can actually tie the worth of these additions favorably to the value of property in our school district, the ability to maintain (the value)."

There is another bonus.

"The cost will not raise the amount of tax they're paying for debt for 1984," he said.

Depending on the amount of development, the tax levy may never increase over its 15-year existence.

"We can't flat come out and say it won't cost you anything. We know it will not increase the levy for 1984," Mason said.

Summing up: The children would benefit. The community would benefit. The bonus is that taxes would not jump radically, and maybe not at all.

We, therefore, strongly recommend a "yes" vote on the multipurpose room question.

—KLG

Say 'yes' to school millage

There is no question that voters should approve the 4-mill renewal for Clarkston schools on the June 11 ballot.

The district has performed favorably in the poor economic climate the past three years.

While some programs were cutback, none were eliminated. School hours stayed the same. Compared to districts in similar circumstances, Clarkston shined for its money management.

As should be the case, now that things are looking better there is serious attention to renewed textbook purchases and movement toward improving the curriculum.

The district has, in our opinion, done a good job and the millage renewal is absolutely necessary to continue offering our children a decent education.

Clarkston school district voters have never defeated a school district millage renewal request.

They should follow the same course this time around.

—KLG

Elect Kithil, Azoni to board

The school board candidates on the June 11 ballot have impeccable credentials.

We believe Thomas Azoni, Thomas Bills and David Kithil would all do a fine job if elected, and write-in candidate Evelyn Miller would also become a caring, hard-working member of the Clarkston board of education.

But because there are only two seats up for election, voters can choose only two.

We endorse Thomas Azoni and incumbent David Kithil.

Kithil has done a good job over the past year on the board. His comments have been pertinent to the issues and he has appeared at board meetings prepared to discuss matters facing the district.

Azoni sat on the board four months in 1983, following appointment by the board when a member resigned to take a job in another state.

During that time, he urged the board to settle the lengthy teachers' contract dispute and brought a perspective to issues that was frequently refreshing.

He was defeated by Kithil in the 1983 election for the remaining year in the term he was appointed to fill, but continued to stay active by volunteering to work on committees and attending board of education meetings.

We were impressed by his attitude and continue to be impressed by his competence.

Running the gamut

Collecting some thoughts. I've heard two theories about GM putting on a second shift at the Orion Assembly plant, plus what GM said. They say demand for new cars prompted the recall of 2300 workers.

One theory has it that GM wants 2300 more workers to just get used to large paychecks when the union contract expires, thus persuading them to vote against a strike.

Theory 2 has GM stockpiling 1984's so dealers can continue to sell should a strike be called.

Prediction: There will be no strike. With another economic setback predicted for early 1985, who needs picket line duty?

—O—

In 1952-54 I was selling advertising for the Clinton County Republican News (they have since dropped the political reference) in St. Johns, calling on Jack Rhynard, the local Firestone dealer.

The week prior to the Indy 500 Jack would give me the Firestone adv for the week following the race. Everything was in the adv except the name of the winner. It would read something like "This year's winning driver at the Indy 500, (blank), was riding on Firestone tires."

I wondered at this to Jack, who told me Firestone had a deal at the track. Every driver had to use Firestones.

Times change, but the ideas hasn't. Every driver rode on Goodyear this year.

—O—

One other note on the Indy 500: The usual cost of putting a car in the race is $600,000. The winner this year got about $400,000. Why race?

Last year Sea Ray Boats had one of those high powered racers. This year they didn't. Their car was entered in 28 races in 1983 and finished just four.

—O—

Our recent fishing trip to Bull Shoals Lake on the Arkansas-Missouri border took us through the southeast corner of the Show-Me state. Going south from Lebanon, which is west of St. Louis, we road through very pleasant rolling countryside.

Housing is sparse and farming nil, but the scenery is delightful. The roads were smooth and well tended. It was a nice drive, as was the experiences at Bull Shoals. That story is elsewhere in this issue.

Take pride in local kids

We recently had about 150 Clarkston and Sashabaw Junior High School students come to Alexander's Restaurant for dinner after their annual dance.

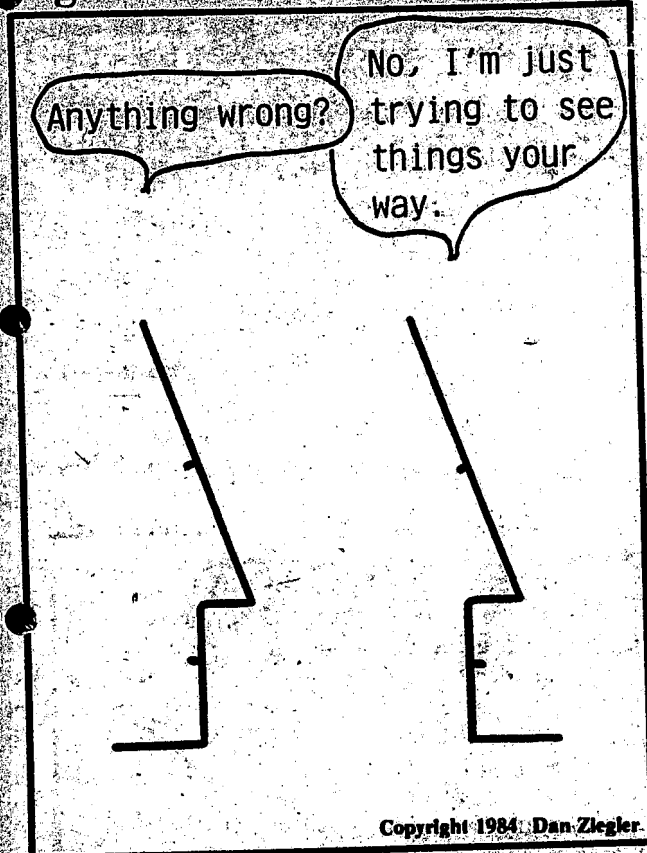

I have never seen a more attractive group of young people in both their manner and dress. They were pleasant, courteous and conducted themselves well throughout the evening.

The waitresses, bus people and management enjoyed serving them.

Clarkston should be proud of their young people—we certainly were.

Getting to know cable

Kathy Greenfield

The long-awaited event came to fruition Friday. We were hooked, probably in more ways than one, to the Independence cable-TV network.

Crowds gathered in front of the television. We turned it on, poked buttons and discovered that we were missing all the movie channels and practically everything else we were looking forward to trying out.

It was a thrill to read the calendar for Clarkston schools, but the fun lasted about five minutes.

The phone rang. We learned ours wasn't the only non-functioning computer box. Everyone else hooked up to cable was going through the same thing.

The word was it would be repaired, any time. That meant frequent checking, and more phone calls to see if ours was like the others. It was.

Finally, three days later, everything was in working order.

When I came home from work everyone in the family, including the dog, was parked around the tube. It was great, they said. They were watching a live play, and it was a good one. The dog didn't even greet me with his customary barks and wags.

By the way, they said, can we eat dinner in here? Usually my husband wages a constant battle to keep food out of the room. Usually we eat dinner at the table.

So I laughed at the lapse in house rules and they ate and watched the play.

Later that night a movie was on. It was so bad we turned it off.

There's hope.

Losing a pimp vote

Jim Fitzgerald

In a recent letter to the editor of the Detroit News, state Sen. Basil Brown, D-Highland Park, suggested that I am a pimp. Maybe I should sue him. After I reacted to a letter he wrote to the editor of the Free Press, in 1981, he threatened to sue me.

For many years, Sen. Brown has been my favorite legislator. Ironically, the main reason I admire him is a constitutional amendment he proposed that, if approved, would make it impossible for him to continue being a legislator for many more years.

Brown suggested the state Constitution be amended to prohibit elected officials from running for re-election. That was three years ago. He said barring officials from succeeding themselves would improve the quality of public service.

"The one common attribute all politicians share is their overwhelming desire to get re-elected and their willingness to devote all their energy and talents towards that end," he said. "I think one reason we don't solve problems is because we spend much, if not all, of our time posturing (in) gamesmanship, looking good in order to be re-elected."

AMEN, AND NOWHERE is that re-election game played more consistently than in our state legislature. Some of those winners wouldn't support legislation to outlaw cancer for fear of losing the mortician vote.

Of course, considering that Brown has been running for re-election every four years since 1956, he may have been kidding. Maybe he doesn't really want to destroy the booze and hors d'oeuvre business in Lansing by eliminating the need for campaign money that forces many honorable legislators to invite lobbyists to fundraising parties just to prove their votes aren't for sale—only their party tickets, $100 each.

It's hard to tell with Sen. Brown. I thought he was kidding in his 1981 letter to the Free Press praising the Detroit City Council for banning fishing in the Hart Plaza fountain where there are no fish.

"As a member of the state Senate for 25 years, I have been constantly perplexed in my attempts to conceive laws that are likely to be obeyed," he wrote. "I believe the Council has found the Holy Grail of legislation."

That sounded facetious to me, so I kidded Brown right back. Noting that the Holy Grail is associated with Christian faith, I wrote about people who often fish where there are no fish because they have faith. So it is possible that the council's law could be disobeyed by a fisherman who has faith that a trout may someday attend an ethnic festival in Hart Plaza.

Also, continuing in a jocular manner, I cited a non-fishing example of faith—that shown by the cops who charged Brown with drunken driving in 1979. The charge was dismissed because when Brown was arrested, he wasn't driving, he was parked. The cops had faith that the alleged booze in Brown's car, and his alleged condition, indicated he was a drunken driver. They were wrong, according to the state Court of Appeals, apparently guilty of having too much faith.

BROWN APPARENTLY didn't think I was kidding. He sent me a letter demanding a retraction prior to instituting an action for libel or slander. No retraction was published, and no lawsuit was filed. Maybe Brown was kidding.

Anyway, in his latest letter to the editor, Brown suggested the "Detroit police department, judicial system, prosecuting attorney, and perhaps even the citizens" (that would include me) are "pimps and panders" because we all violate a statute by knowingly accepting "the earnings of any woman engaged in prostitution."

It's true that women found guilty of prostitution here are usually fined $100 and thus are a source of public income. Does that make me a pimp—a lawbreaker—or was the lawmaker kidding? I don't know whether to sue or give myself up.

Either way, I admire Sen. Brown for speaking out despite the risk of losing the big pimp vote.

Letters to editor

Concerned citizens speak out on election

I would like to encourage the voters of the Clarkston school district to vote yes on the millage renewal and multipurpose room proposals on the June 11 ballot.

The multipurpose rooms would help expand the curriculums of the elementary schools by providing space for physical education and performing art programs.

I would like to see today's elementary students have the opportunity to participate in important programs.

Cathy Phillips

We are in support of borrowing money to build multipurpose rooms.

Tom and Pam Bills

As a parent and educator in the Clarkston community, I highly endorse the candidacy of Thomas Bills for our local board of education.

Himself the father of three young children, Tom and his wife, Pam, share with us the concerns we have as parents for the future of our local schools.

In a leadership capacity, Tom served the last two years as president of the Parent-Teacher Association at Bailey Lake Elementary School, making a personal investment of his time in the interest of Clarkston's children.

In previous years, he donated hours of extra service (building and repairing equipment) at Clarkston Nursery Inc., a parent cooperative school of which I was a part.

In short, those of us who have worked with Tom Bills know him to be well-informed on current issues in education and most generous with his time and talents on our children's behalf.

Our community could not elect a finer candidate.

Pat Pitcher

As an active parent in the Clarkston school system I am well aware of our schools' needs. I urge all of you concerned parents and citizens to get out and vote Monday, June 11, and show your support for our children and our schools.

Tom Bills, former president of the Bailey Lake PTA, will be on the ballot as a school board candidate. I have worked with Tom and strongly feel that he is the kind of representative we parents need on the school board.

Tom has involved himself extensively at Bailey Lake and has been instrumental in bringing many fine programs and activities into the school.

We need people like Tom, aware, informed, concerned and dedicated on our board.

I encourage you to vote for Tom Bills for school board member.

Sally Whittaker

A vote for the renewal and for the bond issue for Clarkston Community Schools is most importantly a vote for the young people and all the citizens of Independence and Springfield townships.

Pastor Robert D. Walters

My children have passed the elementary school age. In fact, in three more years they will be out of the Clarkston schools. But, that fact does not keep us from voting YES for the school millage renewal and bonding proposal.

Community systems are the backbone of our education and governmental systems. Our future achievements begin in our local schools.

I strongly feel that continued support of public education is the most basic obligation of every citizen.

This obligation (this privilege) goes beyond the time of our own children's school days. I will support the best in education for my neighbors, as others did for my children.

Our community schools are efficient and economically sound. Our community has had the foresight to recognize the benefit of supporting and guiding our school board and school administration to be sound and economical planners.

A yes vote for millage renewal will keep our schools strong and economically sound.

A yes vote for the bonding for multipurpose rooms will give our schools the long overdue space for activities, sports, general assemblies, plays, meetings, fairs, music events, community meetings, evening family sports, evening dance and recreation, club meetings, etc., etc. Our whole community will make good use of these rooms.

The cost to each taxpayer is very little, to provide important and long overdue facilities. After using the tax table provided for us, we found our cost to be much less than imagined for well-built, cost-efficient buildings and programming.

I urge each voter to check out your tax cost from an accurate source. The cost will probably be less than you think.

It is estimated the average homeowner, with a $70,000 home having a SEV (State Equalized Valuation) of $35,000 would pay about $18.25 a year more for a period of time.

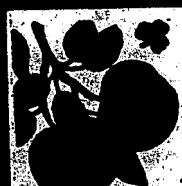

The amount would decrease over a 15-year period as older bonds mature and are retired.

That will be $1.52 a month spent for the good health and welfare of our community!

Vote yes—yes!

Election thoughts

As a concerned parent of children in the Clarkston schools I'm hoping for the millage to be passed.

The children deeply need the benefits this would provide our schools.

Mainly the multipurpose rooms. These could be used in so many ways that every child would benefit, plus the community.

How many times as parents do we spend money foolishly on our children?

Now we can spend it very wisely.

Our children mean more than words can say and we want them to have the best education possible. Clarkston can do this for all our children.

We feel Clarkston schools are the best, but even the best can be improved on. Please vote yes on this very important issue, it's the future of our lives, our children.

Mrs. William Patterson.

Next June 11, election day, is a very important day for our children and our future, in education and jobs. Please go out and vote for better education and for two school board members.

I believe we are very fortunate in having three excellent people running for the school board, and it will be hard to choose.

However, I would like to express my wholehearted support for Dave Kithil and Thomas Azoni.

Last, but not least, let us all vote a resounding "YES" on our 4-mill renewal and the bond issue for our five multipurpose rooms.

James A. O'Neill, M.D.

WESSON WRESTLING: A little oil poured on a piece of plastic, a couple of energetic students, and laughter rolls through the crowd. That is what happened at the Something for Almost Nothing Bash put on by the student government at Clarkston High School, June 1. Along with the oil wrestling, the music from three rock bands filled the air, as did assorted Frisbees and footballs. Organizer David Newblatt said the party was to have the students feel they got something out of their student government.

License denial recommended

By Marilyn Trumper

Richardson's Farm Dairy at Clarkston and Eston roads wants to sell packaged liquor in addition to beer and wine, but the Independence Township Board is recommending the state deny them.

At its May 15 meeting the board voted unanimously to recommend denial, saying the party store is already plagued with gangs of loitering kids.

"They've already done such a bad job of keeping the peace there," said Treasurer Frederick Ritter. "I wouldn't do anything to compound the problem. In my view, they're the problem there (on that corner) and the other tenants are suffering because of it."

After the meeting Charles Adrosky said he has no first-hand knowledge of any problem at that store. Adrosky is vice president of Farrview Ltd., owners of the Richardson's.

"I'm not aware of any problems and have never been notified by the LCC or the city of any," he said. "And I still have heard nothing from the LCC regarding the license, so I don't want to comment until I do."

Package liquor, of SDD licenses, are allocated on a one per 3,000 population basis, according to Jerry Norris, administrative deputy for the director of enforcement at the Liquor Control Commission.

Such licenses can also be denied if they're within two miles of another store selling liquor.

Townships can waive the requirements, Norris said, adding the state makes the final decision whether the license will be granted.

Sale delayed

By Marilyn Trumper

The sale of Ritter's Farm Market is expected in two to four weeks.

"The problem is not with me, it's with the purchaser," said Tom Ritter, who's been in negotiations to sell the family 55-year-old Dixie Highway market since late March.

"He and the person he's subleasing it to are hammering out the lease agreement. It's not unusual for a sale to take 90 to 120 days to complete."

Ritter said the lengthy sales negotiation is not hampering his congressional campaign.

"Not at all. I have the same managerial staff I've had for the past eight years, and they do a tremendous job."

After the sale, Ritter says he'll remain as a management consultant.

Lifeguard course

The American Red Cross has created a new course which will eventually replace Advanced Lifesaving and Water Safety Instructor as the certificate needed to be a lifeguard.

The new class, Lifeguard Training, is much more physically demanding and will be mandatory in the future for all lifeguards, according to John Schultz, assistant aquatics director for Independence Township's Department of Recreation.

"We are one of the few in Oakland County with someone certified to teach the course," Schultz said.

The 30-hour class begins June 18, on Tuesday and Thursday from 6 to 8 p.m., and costs $32.

Ballot questions explained

What it says:

MULTIPURPOSE ROOMS BOND ISSUE

"Shall Clarkston Community Schools, Oakland County, borrow the sum of not to exceed One Million Seven Hundred Fifty Thousand Dollars ($1,750,000) and issue its general obligation unlimited tax bonds therefor, for the purpose of erecting, furnishing and equipping an addition to each of the existing elementary schools and developing and improving sites?"

What it means:

The money would provide five multipurpose rooms, one for each of the district's elementary schools.

Each of the identical buildings would measure 54-by-74 feet and include a 500-square-foot stage, vinyl floor, playing area, toilet rooms, small kitchenette, coat area, furniture storage area and heating equipment.

The expense of the additions would be met by the sale of $1.75 million in bonds, with a payback period of 15 years. Construction would be expected to be completed by September 1985.

The funding would not include public address systems, drapes, physical education equipment, tables, chairs or teachers' salaries. Parent-teacher groups would probably help with those expenses. Staff salaries would come out of the general school district operational budget.

In addition to use by school children, the rooms would be available for community use for free or a small fee, depending on the day and time.

What it says:

MILLAGE RENEWAL PROPOSAL

"Shall the limitation on the amount of taxes which may be assessed against all property in Clarkston Community Schools, Oakland County, Michigan, be increased by 4 mills ($4.00 on each $1,000) on state equalized valuation for a period of nine years, 1984 to 1992, inclusive, for the purpose of providing additional funds for operating purposes, (This being a renewal of 4 mills for operating purposes which expired with the 1983 levy)?"

What it means:

The legal wording is somewhat misleading, because the request is for a 4-mill renewal, a word that doesn't appear until the last sentence.

The renewal would be for nine years. It is expected to raise $1,445,937 this year, or 9.6 percent of the total school operating budget of $15.1 million. If approved by voters, the current levy of 33 mills would stay the same.

One mill is $1 for each $1,000 of assessed valuation, so the 4 mills would cost a property owner with an assessed valuation of $35,000 (or one-half market value of $70,000) $140.

Operational millage is used for staff salaries, textbooks, student programs, supplies, building maintenance, transportation and utilities.

Candidates draw support from community

One of the primary reasons for the success of Bailey Lake PTA over the past two years was the extraordinary leadership of Tom Bills.

His ability to solicit ideas from all interested volunteers and willingness to follow through on projects led to a real spirit of accomplishments for parents, teachers and the school administration.

New computer hardware and software, extensive playground improvements, field trips for each classroom, art enrichment programs, parent educational opportunities and safety programs for students, are a few examples of the PTA involvement under Tom's direction.

Therefore, we as officers and chairpersons of the PTA over the past two years give our complete endorsement to Tom Bills for the Clarkston school board.

As members of the community, we would like to encourage voters in the Clarkston school district to vote positively on the two school-related issues that will be on the ballot on June 11: millage renewal and the funding for five multipurpose rooms in the elementary schools.

Clarkston is a well-respected community and one contributing factor to this is a strong school system. Millage renewal is necessary to keep the schools operating at their present level.

And in light of the national acceptance of physical fitness for children, Clarkston residents should consider the additions of the multipurpose rooms as essential.

They will allow our children, for the first time, to receive physical education during the first seven years of their education.

The rooms will offer children and adults other benefits—for use by citizen groups, adult athletics, scouts, etc. But most importantly, area children will be given physical training before the junior high level.

Our school administration has given us a respectable school system without overspending. The cost of the multipurpose rooms has been kept low and the cost to the taxpayers is conservative.

Please vote "yes" on both of these issues.

Richard and Elizabeth Meyer

A year ago we actively supported Dave Kithil in his bid to become a member of the Clarkston School Board.

Dave's campaign was successful, and his presence on the board during the past year has more than justified our faith in him.

He has contributed many new ideas, and his interest in the quality of education in the community is evident to all who know him.

Dave is hard-working, honest and productive member of the board, whose election to a four-year term on Monday, June 11, would greatly benefit our community.

We strongly urge you to vote for David Kithil for one of the two available seats on the Clarkston School Board. For the other available seat we support Tom Bills, and hope that you will give him every consideration on Monday also.

Doug and Lin Carlson

Multipurpose rooms added to each elementary school in Clarkston will enhance our kids' education and our community. These rooms will provide space for a more balanced education.

By allowing for activities in physical education and the performing arts, the rooms will give students experiences that are "normal" in almost all schools in Oakland County.

This same space will also provide a place for members of the entire community to gather for a variety of reasons.

The multipurpose rooms will be enjoyed by all members of the Clarkston Community for a very small fee.

David Reschke

We the undersigned are not only residents of Clarkston but have also had the privilege of dealing with Tom Bills in our business life.

Tom is known for his thoroughness, dedication and honesty. Through his consistent day-to-day performance he has demonstrated the leadership, managerial and personal characteristics which mark him as a valuable asset for the school board.

Therefore, we urge you to vote for Tom on June 11, 1984.

As concerned parents of children in Clarkston elementary schools, we support the bond issue for the much needed multipurpose rooms.

We have been actively involved in Clarkston schools for the past six years and have found the facilities for physical education, special programs and parent meetings to be very inadequate.

All children in our elementary schools will be enriched by the addition of these rooms.

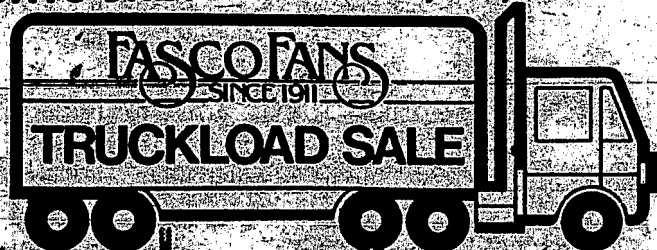

We encourage all concerned citizens to support the bond issue and millage renewal on June 11.

'Get out and be heard' on highway issue

Another proposal!
Another promise!
Another meeting!
The topic: Dixie Highway and its hazardous condition with speaker, U.S. Congressman Bob Carr, (D) for the 6th District (including Independence and Springfield townships).

Where: Our Lady of the Lakes, 5481 Dixie Highway, Waterford Township.

When: Monday, June 11, at 7 p.m.

Who: All people concerned about the conditions that exist on Dixie Highway. Please come.

Congressman Bob Carr has called this meeting to hear you and your ideas!

We've gotten all kinds of petitions signed—wrote all kinds of letters and made numerous phone calls and yet four months have passed and no one has answered our pleas. (And then they say the American people are apathetic.)

We've become apathetic because our questions are never answered. We are given token reliefs and a lot of lip!

Governor Blanchard passed the Dixie Highway situation to the Michigan Department of Transportation and to Mr. James Pitz, director, who hasn't even given me the time of day by either answering my letters or speaking to me on the phone.

I ask him now to please come to the June 11 meeting and give us some answers!

Our township officials tell us they've tried but can't get any help either from the Michigan Department of Transportation.

Bob Carr has introduced a bill to give $3 million to the Dixie project but that must be passed through two houses and a president!

But $3 million is being spent on Woodward Avenue near Big Beaver and the south edge of Pontiac.

Also the Michigan Department of Transportation is spending $116,000 to plant trees along M-59 from Bogie Lake Road to the Oakland County line. People who lose their lives on Dixie Highway because of the hazardous conditions should be more important!

In 1981 federal monies to the state of Michigan were $243 million, according to a Wayne State tabulation study.

What's the problem?

Who and why is Dixie Highway being held up? What political game is this area involved in—15 years is a long time to wait for action.

Why? Could it be because of the Bloomfield Hills area?

So come on people—get out and be heard! Come

June 11 at 7 p.m. at Our Lady of the Lakes.
Let get some answers and much needed help for this highway. We need you all—pro and con.

The Clarkston Village Council should be commended for their overwhelming defeat of the spot zoning request for property located on White Lake Road.

Township approves 50-acre mining project

By Marilyn Trumper

In a lengthy motion with a page and a half of contingencies, the Independence Township Planning Commission recommended the board give Charles Nunn permission to mine 50 acres at Sashabaw Road and I-75.

The township board makes the final decision. Nunn and Southfield attorney Irving Keene resurrected a four-year-old plan to level the 50 acres and create an industrial park with a 2,200 foot cul-de-sac.

"We're very pleased with the results," Keene said after the meeting. "I believe all the (contingencies) were necessary for the protection of the township and its residents."

The plan, reviewed under the township's amended, more restrictive mining ordinance, outlines the nine-month extraction operation and the removal of sand and gravel to level the land, making it buildable. The men estimate 100 trucks in and out of the site each day.

A list of the contingencies follows:

•That the permit be for nine months, with an extension only after the applicant shows he's operated within the ordinance and that traffic, dust and noise have been adequately controlled.

•That the permit state specifically what machines are to be located on the site.

•That truck traffic be allowed only between 7 a.m. and 5 p.m., not including Sundays or legal holidays, and that trucks use the shortest means to I-75.

•That processing be prohibited on site.

•There be no burning on site.

•That the excavating site be screened.

•That the township board receive performance guarantees.

Wolves capture district title

With the District title in their hands, the Clarkston Wolves varsity softball team has something to cheer about. The Wolves downed Lakeland, 5-4 in nine innings to take the championship for the second straight year. The next test for the team is the regional contest at Davison High School, June 9, against Bay City Central.

By Dan Vandenhemel

A bright sunny day at Holly High School produced more than sunburns for the crowd gathered to watch the softball district tournament.

For the Clarkston Wolves, it brought the district title for the second straight year as they beat Lakeland, 5-4, in nine innings June 2. The Wolves beat Holly, 12-6, earlier in the day to advance to the finals.

The championship came to the Wolves with the aid of a gutsy call by coach Carla Teare.

With Sue Stefanski standing on first base by way of an error, Teare called for batter Jill Griffis to show all intentions of bunting then swing away, hoping to get the ball past the drawn-in infield.

Griffis stroked the first pitch through the middle and Stefanski moved to third and then home on an overthrow, for the game winner in the top of the ninth.

The Wolves trailed, 4-1, going into the sixth inning but rallied for three to knot the game.

"That's when I started to get nervous," Teare said. "I'm not really nervous unless we are close."

The victory sends the Wolves to the regional tournament, June 9, at Davison High School to play Bay City Central at 12:30 p.m. If they win, the Wolves could meet Waterford Mott in the finals at 2:30. Mott plays at 10:30 against Flint Powers.

In the district title game, Stephanie Wagner punched three hits and Sheila Moore contributed a double. Meanwhile, Griffis held Lakeland off the board with sparkling defense in left field. She made two fine catches in the eighth inning with runners on base.

"She had five putouts and one assist," Teare said of the junior outfielder. "If either of those line drives fell in (in the eighth) the game was over."

The news coming from the district game was not all good. Catcher Roseann Hirneisen suffered a broken finger on a foul tip.

"The doctors said it was broken in a good spot which means it will heal quickly," Teare said the following day. "She probably will be gone for a while, definitely for the regionals. Kelli Keating is also out with mono. Anytime you get two starters out of the lineup, you're hurting."

In the opening game against Holly, the Wolves blew open a 5-5 game in the fifth with three runs in the sixth and four more in the seventh to breeze to victory.

Dawnaree DeBoer picked out the win in both games while splitting pitching chores with Julie Marshall.

The Wolves raise their season record to 22-7 with the pair of victories.

Late comeback falls short for Clarkston

By Dan Vandenhemel

What was expected to be a low-scoring pitchers' duel turned into an explosive battle for the District baseball championship between Clarkston and West Bloomfield.

Despite a seven-run comeback by the Wolves in the seventh inning, the Lakers held on to win the game, 12-10, and beat the Wolves for the second straight year in the district finals.

The Wolves advanced to the finals by beating Lake Orion, 12-1, earlier that day as the Lakers downed Holly, 13-0.

West Bloomfield jumped out to an early lead against the Wolves and led the entire game. The Wolves trailed, 12-3, when their offense came around.

A string of base hits in the final inning for Clarkston kept the bases clogged with runners as they slowly pecked away at the lead. But a great effort by second baseman John Kiriako ended the game.

With runners on second and third for the Wolves and only one out, pinch hitter Mike Galley sent a line drive over the head of Kiriako. He leaped up, tipped the ball and caught in on the way down. He turned and doubled off Dean O'Neil before he could return to second.

"That would have been some Cinderella story if we came back," Wolves coach Roy Warner said. "We would have beaten West Bloomfield and the umpire too."

Warner said the home plate umpire was moving the strike zone around for his pitcher Mike Harbaugh.

"I waited for one pitch where Morty (catcher Rob Mortimore) did not move the mitt at all. When he called it a ball I went out to talk to him."

A low-scoring game was expected because of Harbaugh, entering the game with an 8-0 record, and the Lakers' Todd Krumm with 8-2.

The Wolves crunched 15 hits while the Lakers had only seven. Leading the Wolves were Harbaugh and Kurt Bottorff with four hits each, Robert Newblatt with three and Rob Mortimore with two.

"We scored in the seventh with only one walk. All the rest were hits," Warner said. "They were probably swinging at anything close so they would be called out. We had to get the ball into play."

"Harbaugh pitched a heck of a game, but it's hard to tell," Warner said. "He had a 0.84 earned run average going into the game. He struck out only three but he had 70 strikeouts in 60 innings before that. It's a tough way to end the season."

The opener against Lake Orion contained little suspense as the Wolves scored six times in the first inning. O'Neil connected for his first homerun leading off the third and Greg Molzon added a three-run shot later that inning.

Sophomore Mike Walters was the winning pitcher. He gave up only two hits and struck out five, posting his third straight victory since being called up from the junior varsity team.

Wolverines outdistance Cougars, 17-14

By Dan Vandenhemel

It was not a classic softball game between Sashabaw and Clarkston junior high schools, but one that featured some strange statistics.

The Clarkston Wolverines won the game 17-14 in six innings but collected only five hits.

The Sashabaw Cougars slammed 10 hits but had pitching difficulties.

Each team scored early and often, with Sashabaw posting 12 runs by the third inning. Clarkston took the lead for good in the fifth with six tallies.

"We were scoring on an even pace in the beginning of the game," Wolverine coach Holly Rupprecht said. "My girls never lost sight of the game and after scoring six runs in the fifth I knew we were going to win."

Shelly Heyman collected two hits including a double for the Wolverines and Lorette Ulasich had the other three, all singles.

For the Cougars, Jessica Shoup led the attack with three hits and Paula Gulian added two.

"I used five different pitchers out there," Cougar coach Nancy Foster said. "We gave up a lot of walks. It's hard to overcome that many free passes."

Team defense rated praise from both coaches.

"At the beginning of the year, we were making a lot of errors," Foster said. "Now it's coming around. Maggie Gdula is my most valuable on defense and Kolleen Kline is coming along at catcher. When we get the pitching we're right in there."

Rupprecht had little doubt who the winners would be.

"I expected my girls to win," she said. "I didn't know what the margin would be but I thought we would some way, any way, win."

The victory pushes the Wolverine record to 2-8, while the Cougars fall to 2-8 for the season.

A possible bunt by Sashabaw's Maggie Gdula against Clarkston doesn't help in this game.

Clarkston outscores Sashabaw, 17-14, in their last meeting this year.

SJH takes pair from CJH

By Dan Vandenhemel

When the dust cleared from the baseball field at Clarkston High School, May 31, the Sashabaw Cougars won two games from the Clarkston Wolverines, 4-2 and 7-6.

"Most of the credit has to go to the pitchers," losing coach Dave McDonald said. "There was good pitching on both sides."

Jeff Billig and Scott Harvey picked up the wins for the Sashabaw Junior High team while Clarkston Junior High players Rob Ronk and Gary Ritch turned in strong performances.

The hitters made little noise during the double-header, but a stiff wind blowing in from center field held up many would-be hits during the games.

Dave Larkin and John Miller each collected two hits in the opener for the Cougars and Joe Hamelin provide the offense in the nightcap with a bases-loaded double in the sixth to drive in three runs.

For the Wolverines, Craig Chamberlain continued to make things happen with two hits and three stolen bases. Bob Harrison had three hits and Ronk collected a pair of hits.

"They were good games," McDonald said. "They were close. There were some good plays and there were some typical freshman mistakes too."

With the pair of victories, Sashabaw raises its record to 10-1, including the last eight straight. Clarkston falls to 6-7 for the season.

"We had a week's layoff," Cougar coach Jim Koslosky said. "I think that hurt a little in that the games were a little sloppy. We weren't hitting well but plucked away at them for wins."

Sashabaw shortstop Keith Mercier goes up for the ball and Clarkston's Mike Norman slides into second. The Cougars handled the Wolverines, 4-2 and 7-6, in a double-header.

1st team honors

Mary Smith, a member of the 1984 Eastern Michigan University, Ypsilanti, women's tennis team, was selected 1st-team All-Mid-American Conference in a vote by league coaches.

A freshman, the Clarkston High School graduate has EMU's best overall record with a 28-5 mark and a MAC dual meet record of 8-0. She was the MAC champion at number three singles, defeating players from Ohio State, Miami and Western Michigan universities. For number one doubles, Smith teamed with Kathy Horton, a senior and the only other EMU tennis player named to the AMAC 1st team. Together they compiled an overall record of 16-5 and 5-3 against MAC opponents.

Runners show off speed at state finals

By Dan Vandenhemel

Jackson High School was the center stage for the high school track careers of over 1,000 athletes.

The State Finals were held there June 2 for boys and girls' teams. Clarkston High School was represented by four girls, Jennifer Farough, Ronnie Barnard, Dina Gwisdalla and Kim Ottman.

As their coach Gordy Richardson put it, "they did an excellent job."

Competing against 510 other girls, the foursome ran some of their best times ever in their events.

They ran the 800-meter relay and set a new Clarkston High School record of 1:46.1 while finishing in the top 16 teams. They did the same in the 1-mile relay, bettering the school mark by more than two seconds.

Farough also qualified for the 100-meter and 300-meter low hurdles. She placed eighth in the 100-meter and in the top 16 in the 300-meter.

To qualify for the finals, a team or an individual must place in the top three of the regional meet, held May 19.

"We got one point at the finals (on Farough's 8th-place finish), but I believe that is the only point Clarkston has ever earned at the state finals," Richardson said.

"I told them Thursday that if they go out and run they can set two school records and they did it. After they finished the mile relay, one of them started yelling, 'Look and the clock! Look at the clock!' They were thrilled," the coach said.

The Wolves had a good overall season with a 6-1 dual meet record; a sixth-place at the West Bloomfield Invitational; a fifth-place at the regional meet; second in the league meet; and fifth in the county meet.

Season highlights include Kris Baert winning the 2-mile run and finishing second in the 1-mile run, and Farough winning both hurdle events at the league meet.

"Sandy Craig also did a good job in the high jump all year and Bridgett (Kilcline) was doing an excellent job before she got hurt," Richardson said.

This year the Wolves set eight school records. Farough, in the 110-yard high hurdles and the 330-yard low hurdles; the 440-yard relay, 880-yard relay and the mile relay by Barnard, Farough, Gwisdalla and Ottman; the sprint medley relay by Bridgett Kilcline, Barnard, Ottman and Shivonne DeBoer; the shot-put by DeBoer; and the 220-yard dash by Ottman and Barnard.

Up My Alley

The match

By Dan Vandenhemel

It was billed as the match of the century. Better than Ali-Fraser, Foreman-Fraser, Leonard-Hearns. All the pre-game hype, all the bragging just added to the suspense of the upcoming racquetball match.

The meeting had been in the planning stages for almost six months. The time had to be perfect for both participants.

The confrontation pitted two would-be champions. The challenger, strong, lots of stamina, doesn't get winded easily, brought up the idea of the match. The opponent, quick, agile, good reflexes, willingly accepted the challenge.

"Say your prayers Vandenhemel," was the battle cry of the challenger.

"Be prepared to grovel," was the reply.

Finally the court was reserved in the mid-afternoon. The time was drawing near, the suspense increased and so did the psychodynamics.

"How good are you?" the challenger asked.

"I've only played racquetball, maybe, six times," I said hesitantly. "I just play to get some exercise."

"Well, I've got a pretty mean serve. You'd better watch out," the challenger boasted.

"If the challenger is that good, I'll probably embarrass myself," I thought. "No matter, I'll go out and give it as much as I can before collapsing."

Arriving at the court early, I began to prepare myself mentally for the trouncing I half-expected.

I was first on the court. The challenger was late, undoubtedly a stall tactic to make the opponent sweat.

To pass the time, warm-up shots against the front wall brought the feel of the game back—and occupied my mind rather than getting nervous.

Once the challenger arrived, about five minutes late, a quick apology came out.

"Sorry I'm late, but I had to run home to get a pair of shorts. I grabbed two shirts by mistake," the challenger said with a smile.

Not knowing whether the excuse was a lie or the truth, I shrugged it off to a tricky ploy to shake me.

The match began. That is when I realized all the hype, all the bragging by both sides was useless because the score didn't matter.

But for the record, the challenger couldn't handle the serves of the opponent, who is now the CHAMPION.

Worth jumps by $5 million

By Marilyn Trumper

Independence Township's worth in real and personal property taxes, its State Equalized Value, is $280 million, including the overlapping Clarkston, Waterford and Lake Orion school districts.

That from Assessor David Sherrill who says its increased by 2 percent, or $5 million from last year because of new construction and spot assessment increases in residential and commercial zonings.

Spot increases occurred in the Village of Clarkston's business district where many commercial properties sold last year at far above assessed valuations, and with Deer Lake frontage property, according to Sherrill.

The increase would mean $11,800 more in tax revenue if last year's millage rate were used to calculate the levy, Sherrill said.

Township, village and school district officials have yet to set this year's rate.

"And because the township's SEV increased, doesn't mean everybody's tax bill will go up," he warned. "We're talking the township's total SEV, not individual SEVs. With those, some went up, some went down and many stayed the same."

Cycle kills deer

A motorcyclist and his wife traveling north on I-75 struck and killed a deer near the Holcomb Road overpass Saturday, about 5 p.m.

"They cut (the deer) right in half," said Independence Township firefighter Steve Ronk.

Raymond and Bonnie Keiser of Mary Sue, Independence Township, were transported to Pontiac General Hospital and treated for minor lacerations, he said.

The motorcycle was badly damaged, according to Ronk.

Pre-concert crackdown on underage drinking

By Marilyn Trumper

Despite rain the first four days of its '84 season, the Pine Knob Music Theatre is enjoying near-sell-out crowds with no significant complaints from neighboring residents.

But officials are cracking down on pre-concert underage drinking.

According to Lt. Gerald Reeves of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, two deputies have been pulled from theater and traffic patrols to aid a 20-man Pine Knob security staff looking for underage drinkers in the parking lot.

"But there were not a large amount of fights over Memorial weekend," Reeves said, disputing a daily paper's story. "In fact, compared to those over the years, there were less assaults."

Deputies are confiscating quarter- and half-barrels of beer from inside vans and trucks where minors are drinking, he said.

And over 100 pieces of false and altered identification were confiscated by Ogden Food Concessions which sells beer and wine, he said.

"These kids have to know it's against the law for them to be in possession, and they're wrong if they think they'll chug-a-lug in the parking lot before they go in because they can't drink inside."

"If they're drunk, they won't be admitted."

Anne Vaara, theater manager, could not be reached for comment.

Outside the theater George White, community relations director, has things under control.

"I think traffic is going to be my biggest problem," he said.

"I've had no sound complaints, nothing. The dark spot is that it rained four of our first five days. The bright spot is that things have been going very well."

Over 100 of the 200 neighboring residents invited to see the renovated music theater took a cook's tour with White May 23, 10 days before the Beach Boys' concert opened the season.

"Over 100 showed up and 200 invitations were sent," White said following the meeting. "It's the biggest turnout I've ever had. I guess they wanted to come in and see the changes made to the theater."

It's estimated the new owners, Nederlander Corp., invested over $2 million in more men and women's lavatories, larger sewage and drainage systems, and filling in the famous "signature walk" to create more hill space. The new hill is also designed to deaden noise traveling from the bands on stage into residential areas.

Before new construction, Pine Knob could seat 13,000 fans, but newspaper reports put the new count at 15,000.

According to White, Sashabaw Road residents were concerned about traffic and U-turns, especially parents parked near the marquee dropping off and picking up their children.

"With the new ownership we're hoping to have a closer working relationship with the Oakland County Sheriff's Department," White said. "It's the first time it's been in the hands of Nederlander. It's true, it does put a strain on the highway system an hour before and an hour after the show."

This is Pine Knob's 13th season.

White reminds all Pine Knob neighbors the complaint hotline is 625-1290.

WHERE'S THE BEEF?

Where's the beef?

That's what Will Watkins wondered as he wandered around the intersection of Shindler and Ormond roads looking for his lost red and white guernsey cow.

In Springfield Township last week, the Flint man was loading her into a truck when the daring cow made her escape.

Soon after, Watkins heard two gunshots.

Two hours later, police say an unidentified caller phoned a local processing house and asked about beef processing costs.

The beef, police think, is in a freezer.

Village denies Deer Lake condos

By Marilyn Trumper

Ending two months of debate, the Village of Clarkston denied Frank Walker's condominiums on Deer Lake, a proposed development on property in Independence Township and the village.

The village council buffered its decision by saying if Clarkston's planning commission recommends condominium housing in its current revamping of the master plan, it appears Walker may get approval for the village portion of his development.

The vote, May 28, was 5-2 before a standing-room-only crowd of over 30 people.

After the meeting, Walker refused to comment on the council's decision.

He proposed building 27 condominiums that would cost between $150,000 and $200,000.

A week earlier the planning commission recommended the township board deny condos on its 1.67 acres. The board has yet to make its final decision.

Approximately 3.81 acres of the proposed development is in the village. The village planning commission had recommended approval for the project.

Trustee Ethel Sinclair wanted to wait for the

"I like the village the way it is"

—Conrad Loock

planning commission's amended master plan.

Trustee Fontie ApMadoc favored the plan and asked to be on record saying, "I believe there's a need for this kind of housing."

President Carol Eberhardt recognized only village residents at the meeting attended by township residents too.

"I question the hardship," said Gary Symons of Main Street. "What's the rationale behind doing this? What's the hardship for rezoning from (single family residential to multiple)? I have a vacant lot next to my house that I could make a lot of bucks on. Should I turn it into multiple?"

Bill Basinger of Washington Street questioned Walker on the need for multiple housing.

"You say there's a need?" he asked. "And you know because you've talked to people. So should we say there's a need for low-income or cooperatives because someone said so?"

Conrad Loock of Church Street agreed.

"I see no reason for changing from single to multiple. I moved here because I like the area. I like the village the way it is," he said.

If the land is rezoned Walker could build apartments instead of condominiums.

"But I won't, I'll build condominiums," Walker told the council. "That's what I know I have a market for, and it's what I know I can make a profit on. I'm putting $3.5 million into this and, let's face it, I'm not ashamed to say I want to make a profit."

Trustee David Raup said it was spot zoning.

"And I'd have to be against it," he said. "I don't think it should be approved before the master plan is brought up to date. I don't think a need's been demonstrated here. It's just people talking to people."

"And I'm concerned about the density. We're putting too many people on an already busy road. I also don't think a majority of people are for it."

President Carol Eberhardt, and trustees Jon Gaskell, James Schultz, Sharron Catallo and David Raup voted to deny the building request. Trustees Ethel Sinclair and Fontie ApMadoc dissented.

New feel to village council

By Marilyn Trumper

A two-year Clarkston resident with 12 years in the township, Carol Eberhardt wasn't sure of public reaction to her running unopposed and winning the village council president's seat in March.

"I was the new kid, a newcomer, and was very aware of that," said Eberhardt, 37. "I didn't want anyone to think I was coming in and taking over."

With two months of the two-year term under her belt and changed procedure at village hall, Eberhardt says she finally feels comfortable in the office although she was elected to the council one year previously to fill the final year of a resigning trustee's term.

"I feel the council has confidence in my ability," Eberhardt said. "They really don't know me that well and I'm sure they'll be more confident as we go along."

At a recent controversial joint meeting the village council and Independence Township Planning Commission on Frank Walker's proposed condominiums, a man spoke publicly of what he termed "the council's unprofessional approach" to the review.

"I don't think that's true," Eberhardt said. "I think that's cheap. I can handle myself in any situation and that's what the village needs. I'm not afraid to act."

"I depend on a lot of people in village government for information. Art (Pappas, village treasurer) and I work very well together and he's helped me a lot. I also use the attorney quite a bit and will call Jackson (Byers, former council president) for background."

When elected, Eberhardt read 10-years worth of council minutes to educate herself on what's happened, and why.

"I was talking with Lillian (Bauer, village secretary) the other day and told her I finally feel I have everything under control. She knows what to expect from me, how I want things done, and I feel less harried as far as getting things organized."

Among changes in procedure:

- The council no longer spends an hour on committee reports, and will instead place their report on the agenda as a specific item if it's important.

- Instead of reviewing and signing each bill, the council is presented with a total figure.

- She's reorganized the seating arrangement, with herself centered for better control over the meeting, instead of the end of the table, where her side would be to the public.

- Management reports are being used to inform the council of general information like correspondence, inquiries to the attorney, upcoming events, etc., which don't require discussion at the meeting, but have taken up an hour or more in the past.

- The council receives advance agendas to prepare for the meeting. In the past, council members knew what was on the agenda when they arrived for the meeting.

- The village secretary is working three days a week, Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m., instead of one day week. Chances are better the village hall phone will be answered when someone calls, according to Eberhardt.

- For the first time planning commission, and board of appeals members are receiving personal correspondence from the president on a periodic basis. "They are a part of the administration of the village and need to feel they are," Eberhardt said.

- The village's filing system has been revamped instead of having all correspondence placed into one drawer.

- And Eberhardt's working to promote the village. "I'm trying to make an appearance at as many community events as I can to be a visible part of the community. The village should be," she said. "I attended a historical society meeting last night, and today I have a lunch. The village is a viable part of the community, and I don't think it's been represented as much as it should have been."

Village President Carol Eberhardt

Finally, better relations with Independence Township has become a priority.

"I think in the past that relations there haven't been as good as they should have been. Quite often the village takes a backseat and the township doesn't keep in as close contact as it should."

"I'm going to get used to working with those officials on a regular basis. Except for (Fred Ritter, treasurer) those people don't really know me—and I'm going to change that hopefully."

Teacher opens 1st-grade time capsule

11 years later Clarkston High School's Class of 1984 experiences deja vu

By Kathy Greenfield

In the tradition of time capsules, the contents were sealed in envelopes by the teacher. Eleven years passed. The envelopes yellowed slightly.

The first-graders became part of the Clarkston High School Class of 1984.

"It's really funny because I don't even know what's in them," said Anne Moller. "I sealed them that day and I've moved three times and I've carried them with me."

That night she went home and opened the envelopes and the memories came flooding back.

In their best printing, the children had copied statements they helped compose. They had illustrated the paper with a picture of where they'd live or what they'd look like.

They had talked about the significance of the year they'd graduate, 1984, because of George Orwell's novel. The push to clean up the Great Lakes had been in the news.

"It was the last day of school and I can remember other teachers' students were out playing," Anne said. "I was stressing the printing and those kinds of things. I promised them when they graduated they would have something from first grade."

This is what the pupils wrote: "I will graduate in 1984. It will be fun to graduate. In 1973 our lakes were polluted. On June 11, 1973, it was 90 degrees."

Among their illustrations were houses in trees, elementary school playgrounds, graduates shaking hands and families all in a row.

Of her 28 first-graders at South Sashabaw Elementary, eight no longer attend Clarkston schools. Of the remaining 20, only one dropped out of school.

In the fresh, white envelopes with each of the graduate's names and addresses on front and the first-grade project inside, Anne included a personal note.

"It certainly brought back a lot of memories," she said, "I feel most teachers continue to have these feelings toward their children. If they've been in your classrooms, they're yours. That never changes. You remember little things about each one of them and as I opened my envelopes something came back about each one."

She decided, too, to have a party, a first-grade class reunion May 31 at Pine Knob Elementary where she now teaches.

Her third-graders served refreshments—and looked toward the future.

Back in 1973, Anne Moller's first-grade class at South Sashabaw Elementary penned a paper for the future—1984, the year they would graduate from high school.

Firework rides $2

Using its municipal tax credit from SEMTA, Independence Township is chartering 11, 45-passenger buses to the July Fourth fireworks in downtown Detroit, to be held July 2.

Mail a check or money order to the Supervisor's Office, Independence Township Hall, 90 N. Main, Clarkston, MI 48016.

Dixie Highway plans bring diverse reactions

By Marilyn Trumper

Despite U.S. Congressman Bob Carr's (D-6th District) request for $3.5 million to widen Dixie Highway with a center lane, Independence Township resident Sheila Denne is not happy.

Since February, she's worked for state or federal funding to improve traffic conditions on the four-lane highway, infamous for its fatal accidents.

"It's all part of the political game to go into the different areas around election time," Denne said of Carr's hearing hosted by Carr to listen to residents' problems. "I'm sure we were being used."

"Even though he's applied I'm still going ahead with my work. I've got a petition with hundreds of names that I'll copy and get to him asking that something be done."

Calling from Washington, Carr denied the Dixie Highway project is political grandstanding.

"It's taken the toll of years of frustration," he said, referring to Denne's position. "The problems with Dixie Highway go back 10, 20 years and the people are tired, skeptical and angry.

"I've moved faster on this in the past 18 months than my predecessor did in 20 years. But things don't happen overnight and even if we were to get funding today, it would take two-and-a-half years to complete the project."

According to Denne, the state allocated $116,000 for tree plantings on M-59 and $3 million for repairs to Woodward Avenue.

"I'm tired of being told we don't have the money for Dixie Highway. How long do we have to wait before more people are killed?" she said.

According to Carr, proposed modifications to Dixie Highway include a median strip, widening and resurfacing.

"The $3.5 million means that the work can start toward the end of this year, but I'll have to go back to my transportation subcommittee next year to get the funds to finish the job," Carr said in a press release, referring to an additional $4.5 million needed to complete the job.

He must still receive funding through the full appropriations committee, what he calls a formality. From there the request goes to the full House of Representatives and the Senate.

"We've still got some major hurdles to get over," Carr said, "but we've made a good start."

2nd Dixie meeting

Got a gripe about Dixie Highway?

Have ideas on what you'd like to see changed?

Plan to attend Congressman Bob Carr's (D-6th District) second community hearing on the issue.

It's scheduled Monday, June 11, at 7 p.m. at Our Lady of the Lakes, 5481 Dixie Highway, Waterford Township.

- Sheriff's log -

Sunday, vandals wielding an unknown firearm caused $500 worth of damage when they shot out the windshield of a car on Reese Road, Independence Township.

Wednesday, thieves broke into a car at the Pine Knob Music Theatre, 5580 Waldon, Independence Township, and stole a purse.

Saturday, vandals caused an unknown amount of damage when they broke birch tree branches on Jerome Street, Independence Township.

This information came from reports at the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

Bailey Camp Fire group takes first

Pam Schmaltz's seven sixth-grade girls from Bailey Lake Elementary took a first in Camp Fire's North Oakland Council National Arts Competition.

"It's a beautiful way to end a fine experience," said group leader Schmaltz, referring to their end of four years working together.

Their sculpture granny people made from carved dried apples go on to the national exhibit and competition.

"We have one more meeting and then our canoe trip, and then we'll say goodbye to each other," Schmaltz said. "It's been a real good experience for us all."

The project took 69 hours—"I knew everyone would ask me how long, so I started calculating," she says. Ann's selling the framed flag for $60. She started the project with the intention of selling it, so it's not so hard to part with after all the hours of work. Ann lives on Poplar Court in the Clarkston Lakes Mobile Home Park. After 31 years as postman, Howard Bliss retires

By Marilyn Trumper

At the age of 52, after 31 years in the Clarkston Post Office, Howard Bliss retired.

"I was the first foot carrier they ever had in the Village of Clarkston," Bliss said, leaning forward against his kitchen table at home on Cecelia Ann in Independence Township. "That was in 1956 and everyone had post office box numbers. You either knew the home, or you didn't know where the mail went."

"We'd get letters addressed to '...third house on Washington Street' or 'the white house on the corner'."

"And those were the days of carrying the big Life magazines, the Saturday Evening Post and Collier's Magazine. At that time I had a four-wheel cart with double handles on each side we took to each house. We didn't have relay boxes."

Bliss says he walked 10 or 11 miles on the route each day.

"We used to call Northview 'Little Siberia,'" he laughs. "There were no sidewalks, so we had to go to each house. And it was hot in the summer and cold in the winter."

Bliss knew each customer on a first-name basis.

"And you knew where the older people lived too. They'd wait for that check the third of the month, and I'd always rattle the box so they knew I was out there."

Twice in 31 years he was bitten by dogs, but not seriously.

"I had one dog follow me around and he wouldn't let any of the other dogs come near me. At the end of my route I'd say, 'Go on home,' and he would," Bliss laughs. "Little kids would follow me too. And it's funny today to see they've grown up, live

"I'd always rattle the box so they knew I was out there" on the same route, and have their own kids.

"I used to call the little boys girls, and the little girls boys. It was always Susie and George. They used to look forward to being picked on," he laughs again.

The best boss he's ever had was retired postmistress Elizabeth Ronk.

"She was the first woman I ever worked for, and she was the best boss I ever had in my life," Bliss says emphatically.

Weather was the biggest problem.

"One year we devised a pair of skis to put on the car and pull it through the snow. Another time I had to wear ice cleats on my boots to keep from slipping."

A volunteer firefighter, Bliss would lock the mail up in the truck and respond to fires.

"You couldn't do that today," he says.

Retired officially March 21, Bliss says he's unsure what retirement brings.

"I don't really have any hobbies. We have some property up near Standish on the Rifle River. We try to get up there every weekend."

"I baby-sit my grandkids, and do a little housework."

But fixing dinner for his wife, assistant postmaster Kay Bliss, is not part of the itinerary.

"We eat out a lot," he smiles. "We can do that more economically than cooking at home."

Howard Bliss retired in March from the post office where he worked 31 years. He was the Clarkston's first foot-carrier, and for 17 years after that drove a rural route in Springfield Township, delivering chickens, bees, tractor parts and traditional mail.

Road revenue up

The Village of Clarkston's receiving $1,292 more this year in gas and weight tax revenue from the state after a four-year drought, and the village's DPW department won't have trouble spending it, according to its director Gar Wilson.

It's the village's first increase in more than four and a half years, reflected by the increase in gasoline sales.

"That helps the budget out as far as maintaining the roads," Wilson said. "It ($1,300) doesn't go very far, but it'll help."

Courses fend off summer boredom

Are you a elementary or junior high-aged kid who finds too much free summer time on your hands?

Fill it with Clarkston's Summer Enrichment Classes.

Elementary kids can learn Spanish, sewing, computers, typing and keyboarding, and take environmental and summer Olympiad Science Camps.

Junior high students can take sewing, Spanish, typing, and keyboarding and several computer classes.

As year-end wrapup on studies of other countries, the Clarkston Elementary sixth-graders of Barbara Glover had a feast, the eighth "International Dinner." Each pupil brought a dish from the country he or she studied—and they ate lunch smorgasbord style. Feasting above are [from left] Celeste Steinhelper, Julie Irish and Nancy Needham. Said Brain Polley, "Mrs. Glover does a lot of special things and this is one of the best." [Photos by Kathy Greenfield]

Survey questions

Editor's note: On Monday, June 11, Clarkston school district voters face two local questions: the renewal of a 4-mill property tax for operations (4 mills are $4 for each $1,000 of assessed property valuation) and a request to borrow $1.75 million in bonds to build a multipurpose room on each of the district's five elementary schools.

William Neff, administrative assistant in charge of elementary education, compiled the following list of questions and answers.

P.A.S.S. (People Actively Supporting Schools) recently completed a telephone survey to determine what information voters are seeking.

The questions answered here are those that were most frequently asked.

Q. Why not build one multipurpose room every year or so, as operating funds are available?

A. It would probably take 10 years to have the five rooms completed. This would mean another 10 years where thousands of Clarkston students would not have the use of these facilities and the programs that go with them. It is cheaper to construct five rooms at one time from the standpoint of architect and construction costs. The cost of construction increases each year making the final room to be built considerably more expensive than the first. Parents would rightfully be upset over "school A" having facilities and programs from their tax dollars if it is unavailable to students in other schools. The operating funds of the district could not bear the cost of constructing a multipurpose room.

Q. Who are these people who are so interested in having multipurpose rooms constructed?

A. Parents whose children are no longer in elementary school but recognize the need for these programs and facilities. Citizens whose children are about to enter school for the first time. Area doctors, artists, musicians and educators who have long cited the need for this facility and the programs that will accompany it. The students themselves.

Q. Will we ever get everything paid off? If so, what happens to previous temporary millage increases?

A. Clarkston has the lowest debt levy of most Oakland County schools. As payments reduce the principal and interest owed, the amount levied against taxpayers decreases annually. Construction of multipurpose rooms will increase the debt, with the amount levied decreasing throughout the 15 years of the issue until completed in 1990. Millage issues are usually authorized for a 10-year period. When that 10 years expires, there must be an election to vote on a millage renewal or a millage increase. These millage issues are generally for the operation of the schools (books, paper, utilities, salaries, furniture, etc.).

Q. Why will there not be improvements on the junior and senior high schools?

A. The bond issue is for the purpose of addressing elementary school facility needs that should have been resolved 10 or 15 years ago. At this time the elementary school needs are of prime importance.

Q. Don't each of the schools have multipurpose rooms now?

A. No. When the schools were built, several large classrooms had folding walls that could be opened making a large area for meetings. Some of these rooms were converted to libraries in 1976. The remainder became kindergarten rooms. None of these rooms has a stage, nor are the ceilings high enough to permit physical education. A large room was constructed when North Sashabaw Elementary School was built but has no stage and cannot be used for physical education. It is used for music, band and other activities.

Q. Why construct multipurpose rooms on schools

Village hearing on fund shift plan

Wanting to establish funds for roads, the Clarkston Village Council's set June 11 for a public hearing on a proposed tax shift of 3 mills from the sewer fund to the general fund.

The shift would not mean an increase in taxes, but would put $42,000 more into the general fund.

Sewer debt funds can only be used to build sewers, and the levy is designed and invested to have a zero balance in the year 2000, according to President Carol Eberhardt.

With a $250,000 surplus in its sewer construction debt fund and a general fund tax that hasn't been raised in 10 years, the council's proposing a shift that would mean a 77-percent increase to the general fund when there is a danger of closing schools?

A. There are no plans to close any of the existing elementary schools due to declining enrollment or for other reasons.

Q. What facilities are in the multipurpose rooms?

A. A 72-by-50-foot playing area with vinyl tile floor, a raised stage, a furniture storage area, a physical education equipment storage area, lavatory facilities, small kitchenette.

Q. What are school finances used for?

A. General operating funds pay for all personnel, teaching supplies, books, utilities, buses, student programs, etc. Debt funds pay for principal and interest on past construction.

Q. Will school activities be eliminated if the 4-mill millage renewal remains the same?

A. No. Activities would remain as in the 1983-84 school year.

and would allow them to budget for road repair and construction, Eberhardt said.

Trustee David Raup argued against specifically creating a road fund.

"I think it should just be part of the general fund so that if anything else comes up we can use it for that," he said. "We don't have to budget the same amount every year. We'll be flexible."

Trustee Jon Gaskell was the lone dissenter.

"I had something less in mind," Gaskell said after the meeting, referring to the general fund shift.

The hearing is set for Monday, June 11, at 7:30 p.m. in Clarkston Village Hall, 375 Depot, Clarkston.

An Apple
for the Teacher

I'd like you to meet Jim Sanford, for 16 years a teacher in the Clarkston schools.

Jim has taught in the upper elementary grades at Bailey Lake and Andersonville schools.

Now a sixth-grade teacher at Andersonville, he is a building representative for the Marketing Committee and serves on the Math Curriculum Committee.

Though Jim was born in Detroit, he attended high school in Menominee and went on to graduate from Northern Michigan University, Marquette, with a bachelor's degree in elementary education.

He has done graduate work at Oakland, Central Michigan and Eastern Michigan universities.

Jim's special enthusiasm is amateur radio and he has had his license since 1962. Of special note is the fact that he has an Extra Class license, the highest amateur license given by the FCC.

Jim is vice president of the Oakland County Amateur Radio Society. He has instructed classes for the American Radio Relay League (a national organization of amateur radio operators) and has taught night school classes in Clarkston.

He specializes in chasing DX (foreign stations) and has talked to thousands of "Hams" in 290 countries and/or territories. This is fairly impressive, given that there are 315 countries/territories, 20 of which are uninhabited or where radio is illegal.

Jim is married to Sandra, a former Clarkston teacher. Residents of Independence Township, the Sanfords have four children: 9-year-old Trevor, twins Scott and Joel, age 6, and a daughter, Cassandra, age 4.

Jim is involved with scouting (Den 3, Pack 126) and the Sanfords are active in the Clarkston Village Players.

An expert carpenter, Jim uses his skill to his advantage by doing building, remodeling and repair work as an aside.

As can be deduced, Jim has an affinity for science.

He is relaxed, unflappable, humorous and has a positive attitude toward students and staff alike which brings out the best in people.

Lucky the student in his classroom!

district's teaching staff who represent a highly trained and diverse talented resource in which we can all take pride." This week's column was written by Dorothy Leaming, school social worker.

Parks trustees

Clarkston-area residents Donna Bullard and Daniel Travis are among the four new trustees on the Oakland Parks Foundation.

The non-profit organization was created in 1983 by citizens who have an interest in preserving and developing parks and recreation in Oakland County. It accepts tax-deductible gifts and donations in the form of grants, cash, trusts, land and other bequests.

Clarkston resident Lewis Wint is also on the 21-member foundation.

The new trustees were installed at the organization's second annual dinner meeting May 2 at the Addison Oaks Conference Center near Oxford.

Ted Gray of Clarkston was among trustees whose terms expired.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON INCREASING PROPERTY TAXES

June 11, 1984
Village Hall
375 Depot Road
Clarkston, Michigan 48016
7:30 p.m.

Due to decreased State Revenue Funds and rising inflation, the Village Council has determined it necessary to raise the 1984 General Fund Millage rate from 4.4 mills to 7.4 mills. This is an increase of 76 per cent in revenue for the General Fund in the amount of $43,803.18.

At the same time, the Village Council has found it possible to reduce the millage rate on the debt retirement fund for sewer construction from 5 mills to 2 mills, thus eliminating an overall millage increase. The total millage rate for 1984 Village taxes will remain at 9.4 mills, the same rate as last year.

The Village Council is authorized a maximum millage rate of 12.5 mills for General Fund purposes.

Shoplifting declines in Village of Clarkston

By Marilyn Trumper

After The Clarkston News reported gangs of teens were stealing village merchants blind the thefts stopped, according to Carol Eberhardt, village president and owner of One More Time, a resale clothing store on Main Street.

"There's been a big difference almost immediately," said Eberhardt, of the story that broke in late April. "I have not seen the huge gangs of kids I saw before. It made an immediate difference."

"I remember the story came out just before Easter and I was dreading the week when the kids were off school. But it didn't happen," she said.

"... big difference"

"It was the parents. They came up to me all over town and said they didn't know I was having the problem, or that it was so big."

"They told me they'd talked with their kids and made them read the article," she said, explaining the drop in peer-pressure thefts where kids were reported ly stealing to see not what, but how much they could take.

Clarkston Junior High reportedly hung the story up on the library wall, and teachers, according to Eberhardt, discussed it with their classes.

Joan Kopietz, owner of Tierra Arts & Design, saw the same decrease.

"Now the kids come into my shop, look at what they want to buy, buy it and leave," she said.

In addition, members of the Village Business Association hung signs in their shops which read: "Shoplifting Is Not a Game—It's a Crime."

Biking rodeo

After doing his best to stop as close to the mark as possible, Brian Martin waits for the results. John Remzek holds the bike wheel in place while his mother, Marlene, makes the measurement. Watching the action from atop his bike [at right] is Brian Davis.

Billy Dunk concentrates on getting the turns just right during the maneuvering test.

Jason Whittaker can't help but smile while taking off at top speed so he'll coast as far as possible. After the Bike Rodeo for members of Bailey Lake Elementary School Cub Scout Pack 341, the boys and their families celebrated the end of the season with an awards ceremony and picnic at Clintonwood Park. About 20 scouts participated in the event Saturday.
