ON THE ROAD AGAIN: Herb Rose gets set for another trip with his 10-speed bicycle. A serious rider less than four years, last year

Rose logged over 4,000 miles. He recently participated in his second Tour of the Scioto River Valley in Ohio. The 210-mile, two-day event between Columbus and Portsmouth is in its second decade. Close to 4,000 riders take part in the tour each year.

Voters approve millage, gyms

By Kathy Greenfield

Voters said "yes" to the Clarkston school district Monday, passing the 4-mill renewal with 67 percent of the votes cast and the $1.75 million bond issue for five multipurpose rooms by 54 percent.

The mood was jubilant at the Clarkston board of education meeting where the precinct envelopes were opened, one-by-one, and the figures posted on a large chalkboard.

Following the announcement of the unofficial totals, the room filled with cheers and applause.

Administrative assistant in charge of elementary education William Neff gave a victory speech to the crowd of about 40 people made up of district employees and those who had worked on getting the ballot questions approved.

"I'm really thrilled over the millage being renewed. It's the lifeblood of the district," he said. "The multipurpose rooms—I'm ecstatic."

The operational millage renewal was approved for nine years in all 11 precincts and by absentee voters, 1,526 to 749.

The 4 mills (or $4 for each $1,000 of assessed property valuation) represent 9.6 percent, or $1.4 million, of the district's operating budget of about $15.1 million. The current operational levy is about 33 mills.

The majority of voters in eight of the precincts cast "yes" votes for the multipurpose rooms, with the final count 1,215 to 1,046.

Construction of the identical 54-by-74 foot additions to each of the district's five elementary school is expected to begin in 60 to 75 days after the bonds are sold and bids taken, according to Superintendent Milford Mason. The plan is to open the additions in September 1985.

"Multipurpose rooms have been on the burner in this district for at least 12 years," Mason said. "It's been a long-standing need in our school system and I'm pleased the voters are allowing us to go ahead with that project."

Voter turnout was up from last year's school election, with 19 percent of the about 12,300 registered voters in the district participating this year and 17 percent last year, according to Independence Township Clerk Richard Holman.

"We're on an upward trend, certainly, but obviously the percentages are pretty low," he said. "Unfortunately the school's elections never generate a large voter turnout."

Kithil, Bills elected to board

By Kathy Greenfield

The victors in Monday's election for Clarkston board of education seats were incumbent David Kithil and Thomas Bills. They were elected to four-year terms.

Kithil, 44, of 7973 Pine Ridge Dr., received 1,380 votes, or 39 percent of the votes cast for board candidates. He was elected in 1983 to serve the one year remaining in a four-year term vacated by a board member who moved to another state.

Newcomer Bills, 35, of 8300 Allen Rd., received 1,126 votes, or 32 percent.

Running a close third was Thomas Azoni, of 5730 Kingfisher, with 1,025 or 29 percent. Azoni also lost his bid for election in 1983 to Kithil following appointment by the board of education to serve four months of the unexpired term prior to the election. Write-in candidate Evelyn Miller of 5122 Iroquois received 22 votes.

Kithil and Bills paused to make statements between handshakes and congratulations Monday night after the election results were tallied and announced at the board of education meeting.

"I'm really looking forward to serving four years and I'd like to thank all the people that supported me in my effort to be re-elected," Kithil said. "I'm really excited that the community supported the multipurpose rooms and millage renewal."

"I feel the same way I did last year when Tom (Azoni) and Dave (Kithil) were running against each other," said Bills, "and that's that both of them could not be on the board."

McNally, Kozma square off for judge seat

By Marilyn Trumper

Incumbent Judge Gerald E. McNally of the 52nd District Court faces opposition on this year's ballot from Lawrence Kozma, a one-term trustee on the Independence Township Board and seven-year veteran of the Oakland County Prosecutor's Office.

Kozma officially filed to seek the 52nd District Court bench on the November ballot.

The 35-year-old Woodcreek Road resident will try to unseat the 16-year incumbent McNally, 51, of Oak Forest Road, Independence Township.

"As assistant prosecutor I've had the opportunity to see personally and hear about what goes on in the district court," Kozma said. "It's no secret among attorneys or law enforcement officers and area troublemakers the judge has for years been giving breaks to those accused and convicted of crimes."

"Even the lawyers handling criminal cases are often surprised to find just how lenient our local judge is."

"It is demoralizing for all members of the criminal justice system to know that their hard work will be, in the end, undone by a judge who can't or won't make tough decisions. My position is I will be a fair, but firm and strong judge."

"As our communities continue to grow, more people will mean more crime and more victims and unless we change now we'll have six more years of business as usual, which is not acceptable."

"It's time to change, and time to get tough," McNally says he's aware of his reputation as a lenient judge, but denies it.

"I think I'm one of the most conservative judges there is. I like to believe that every person has the solution to his problem inside himself and what we need is less government intervention," McNally said.

"Policies are prejudicial—a way not to think. It is stupid and a violation of his oath of office for a judge to commit himself to a position before he hears the case. Judges must be non-prejudicial," McNally said.

"Every case is different. It is the same crime to steal a candy bar or a set of skis. A judge must hear all the facts before he commits himself to a position. A judge who promises to get tough in all cases that come before him is a charade, a policeman disguised as a judge."

Larry Kozma (left) will try to unseat Judge Gerald E. McNally in the November election.

"If Kozma wants to talk about a particular case that is one thing, but to describe me as a lenient judge is just not true. I am a fair judge who has enormous respect for the American people. Kozma's statements are just politics," McNally said.

Board tables 50-acre mine

Issue set for public hearing June 19

By Marilyn Trumper

Without public input, the Independence Township Board isn't making a decision to license a proposed 50-acre sand mine at Sashabaw Road and I-75.

They've scheduled a public hearing on the issue Tuesday, June 19, at 7:30 p.m. in Independence Township Hall, 90 N. Main, Clarkston.

Charles Nunn and Southfield attorney Irving Keene resurrected a four-year-old plan to level the 50 acres and create an industrial park with a 2,200 foot cul-de-sac.

The planning commission recommended the board approve the plan, with the following contingencies:

- That the permit be for nine months, with an extension only after the applicant shows he's operated within the ordinance and that traffic, dust and noise have been adequately controlled.

- That the permit state specifically what machines are to be located on the site.

- That truck traffic be allowed only between 7 a.m. and 5 p.m., not including Sundays or legal holidays, and that trucks use the shortest means to I-75.

- That processing be prohibited on site.

- That there be no burning on site.
- That the excavating site be screened.
- That the township board receive performance guarantees.

The plan reviewed under the township's amended, more restrictive mining ordinance, outlines the nine-month extraction operation and removal of sand to level the land, making it buildable.

The developers estimate 100 trucks in and out of the site each day. The sand will be used to complete construction of I-696 west of I-75, they said.

PEN PAL PARTY: After swapping weekly letters for a month, the first- and second-graders of Pine Knob Elementary teacher Marilyn Bidinger and the second-graders of Andersonville Elementary teacher Pat Andrus met last week. The party at Pine Knob began with a play by the host group. Then it was picnic and game time on the school grounds. In the photo above, Rena Yanna (left) assumes the role of queen and Brian Stewart is king. At right, Kelly Wormnest (left) shares her desk with the pen pal she just met, Jackie Walker.

Local government will be ready should the Independence Township firefighting force be reduced from 10 to seven men ever again, and as long as eight men are on duty, one firefighter can take a vacation or leave day.

The decisions rose out of grievance talks which began last March when the township board, fearful the department would be shorthanded and have to pay overtime, denied two firefighters vacation days.

Union President Michael Fahrner and township Supervisor James B. Smith hammered out the a four-point list of priorities on procedure which were adopted by the board at its June 5 meeting.

The procedure is designed to keep all three stations open as long as possible when three of the department's 10 men are out with injuries or on leaves.

The official procedure follows:

•To maintain all stations on days they can be manned from the regular firefighters.

- To attempt to hire temporary replacements from trained personnel, whether on-call men or off-duty men from other departments.

- To maintain the station when absences indicate seven-firefighter availability will be limited to a specific period like two weeks or less.

- To close one station.

According to Fahrner, the only way to keep all three stations open with seven men is to ask the men to work double shifts.

"They can't be ordered to, but they can volunteer and that would probably be OK for five or six days, but not six weeks," he said.

Firefighters brought in from other townships would be familiar with Independence's equipment operation, but not procedure, according to Fahrner.

"And we've already established the on-call (township volunteers) won't come. I think it would be even more difficult to get someone from an outside department to come in on their day off, especially just to cut down on overtime."

But overall, Fahrner said he's pleased with the result.

"What it means is the board should have let the two guys go on vacation when they requested it. Instead, they were denied," he said.

Home appealed to high court

Intent on ousting a group home with six developmentally disabled people from their single-family subdivision, Lake Oakland Woods is appealing its case to the Michigan Supreme Court.

They seek to overturn a recent Court of Appeals decision that allows the group home, despite the subdivision's single-family deed restrictions that limit use of homes to those related by blood, marriage or legal adoption.

Attorney for the homeowners, Donald Schuster, filed the appeal last week, but indicated the court would make its decision to hear the case in seven to nine months.

"They decide whether or not they'll hear the case, and currently the Supreme Court is considering two cases involving foster care, although they involve other areas," Schuster said.

In September 1982 an Oakland County Circuit Court judge found the six-member group home in violation of the subdivision's single-family deed restrictions, saying it does not violate the United State Constitution as challenged by the defendants Kay Jan Inc., operators of the home on Timber Ridge Trail. The decision was made because the deed restrictions were so specific, the judge wrote.

Kay Jan's attorney appealed that decision.

The original suit was brought three years ago.

Residents organize to keep group home out

By Marilyn Trumper

Over 35 residents from the Hadley/Oak Hill road area oppose a proposed group home for six developmentally disabled people targeted for their neighborhood.

They asked the Independence Township Board to object, too, based on an "excessive concentration" of similar homes in the township.

Jim Clark, community liaison coordinator of the Macomb-Oakland Regional Center (MORC), denies there's an excessive concentration of group homes in Independence Township. He agreed to present the supervisor, clerk, township attorney and Sam Cataldo, leader of the neighbor's coalition with updated group home figures at an early Monday morning meeting scheduled June 11.

At the June 5 meeting of the Independence Township Board, Cataldo offered charts and graphs using 1980 Census numbers and state figures which showed the following:

- Independence Township is in the top 25 percent of all Oakland County townships for adult foster care facilities, as they compare to percentage of population.

- The township is first among comparably sized townships for adult foster care facilities with approximately 1.5 to 8 times the concentration of other communities.

- The Hadley/M-15 area (a one-mile radius from the intersection) represents approximately 8.3 percent of the land and 3.2 percent of the population in Independence Township, and has 28.6 percent of the adult foster care facilities. If approved, the new home would increase that to 33.3 percent.

- Within a two-mile radius of the intersection, a radius that crosses the township's line, nine facilities currently exist. If approved, the new home would bring the total to 10 such facilities in that area.

The Adult Foster Care Licensing Act of 1979 allows the state to not license a foster care home if "...the issuance of the license would substantially contribute to an excessive concentration of community residential facilities within a city, village or township..."

"The burden," Cataldo told the board, "is falling disproportionately on the smaller communities. It's your responsibility, your obligation, to deny the proposed home based on excessive concentration."

Clark disagreed with Cataldo's concentration figures.

Concentration in township?

An early morning June 11 meeting to discuss a proposed group home at Hadley and Fireside roads produced what Independence Township Supervisor James B. Smith called a "dutchman's stand-off."

Jim Clark, community liaison officer for the Macomb Oakland Regional Center, denied charges there's an excessive concentration of group homes in Independence Township.

He offered figures that "showed a substantial discrepancy" to figures used by Sam Cataldo, the leader of the neighborhood coalition to keep the proposed group home for six developmentally disabled people out of the neighborhood.

But Smith disputes Clark's figures.

"Mr. Cataldo's figures showed we're number one in terms of concentration," Smith said. "MORC's showed us 18th in relationship to the number of people versus population."

"MORC shows we're 15th in terms of licensed homes to total homes, and 29th in terms of licensed homes in terms of square miles. It's possible to obtain

"We're in the process of updating our data and figures right now, and I should have something for you by Monday," Clark said. "Our figures indicate, based a ratio of census population versus licensed beds, the township ranks 15 in Oakland County."

MORC proposes to build a house from the ground up on 3.37 acres with a 535-foot private road cul-de-sac fronting Hadley Road at Fireside Road. Construction is to begin June 20.

figures and arrive at different conclusions.

"It was a dutchman's stand-off," Smith said. "They don't really have the criteria to determine what's excessive concentration when we asked them to define it, so we'll be talking about it at the next board meeting to decide what might be the township's possible action."

Cataldo stresses he and neighbors don't oppose group homes, and elaborated after the meeting.

"We recognize the obligation and responsibility of having these homes, and will come forth and do our fair share when everyone else does too," he said.

"Right now, it's someone else's turn to come forward."

"Mr. Clark didn't dispute our numbers. You can go by township and get one set of figures, and go by city and get another. That's where the discrepancy lies."

The issue is scheduled for discussion June 19, 7:30 p.m., Independence Township Hall Annex, 90 N. Main, Clarkston.

Bicyclist pedals in river tour

Herbert Rose takes part in 215 mile trip on 10-speed

By Dan Vandenhemel

Two days and 215 miles riding atop a 10-speed bicycle and sleeping overnight on a hardwood floor. Sounds like a little work and hard-going most of the way doesn't it?

Not so, says Herbert Rose of Holcomb Street in Clarkston.

Rose participated in The Tour of the Scioto River Valley (TOSRV) in Ohio, May 12-13.

Starting in Columbus, 4,000 bicyclists began the 110 miles to Portsmouth for an overnight stay. The following morning, 105 miles later, they returned to Columbus.

"It wasn't that bad, really," the 56-year-old Rose said. "Riding 100 miles is no big deal."

That statement came from a man who began serious bicycling less than four years ago.

Rose saw a sign in the window of the former bicycle shop in Clarkston asking for riders.

"I decided to go," Rose said. "I did about five miles, and it was a shaky five miles at that. The next week I did 10 miles, then 15. Within 10 weeks I did my first century (100 miles). I really enjoy it."

The TOSRV started in 1962 by a father-and-son team. Since then, 4,000 riders annually make the trek that includes food and lodging.

"The food is very good, and you get the finest gym floor accommodations available," Rose said with a smile. "This year, as in the past, a donut shop in Portsmouth offered free donuts and coffee to bikers. He said he baked some 700 donuts this year."

As expected when all-day outdoor activities are involved, the weather comes into play.

Last year rain and 35 mph head winds forced over half the riders out of the tour. This year was much different.

"This was a piece of cake," Rose said. "The weather was beautiful. On Sunday there was an all-day tail wind. I finished about 1:30 (after starting around 6 a.m.) A friend had been waiting an hour and 15 minutes for me."

Rose does not keep track of the number of organized tours he takes a year, but last year he logged over 4,000 miles.

"I got into riding because I enjoy it," he said. "It helps keep me in shape, and I keep track of my times just to see if I do better each time out."

Left or right?

Kathy Greenfield

My husband says he has it all worked out. If he's ever in doubt about where he's driving, ask me which way to turn and do the opposite.

The absolutely horrible, rotten, no-good truth is that he's correct.

My children both have good senses of direction. I sometimes wonder if they developed the knack out of self-defense after realizing, at an early age, I really meant it when I asked, "Which way should I turn?" or "Do you remember how to get there?"

If they got the answer wrong or weren't emphatic enough they were in for a long, boring ride.

The problem goes beyond driving.

Last weekend we were inside a mall. We left one store to go to another. I led the way. All of a sudden I heard a familiar voice coming from behind. "Mom..."

"It's a good thing I'm with you." (Snickers, snickers.) "You're going the wrong way."

I have tried to develop a sense of direction. I know, for instance, that east is east, west is west, and so on, when inside my own home. The sun comes up in the east and sets in the west. Stand facing the east and north is left, south right.

But get me out on twisting roads on a cloudy day, at high noon or at night and I'm done for.

Maybe, just maybe, it all goes back to growing up in a small town.

I almost never knew the name of the road I was driving on. As soon as I learned how to get somewhere I remembered, instead, the house on the corner, the traffic light, swamp, barn.

It was a real challenge when someone asked for directions. Still is. I tend to say such things as, "Look for the grocery store and restaurant at the corner and flip on your left-turn signal when you see the red real estate sign."

In Independence Township I'm in pretty good shape, except for the Thendara Park subdivision with roads that go every which way but straight. I've been lost in there more times than I care to admit.

Looking on the bright side, so far I've always found my way out and it truly is a pleasant place for a drive.

Jim's Jottings

Tiger close-up

Jim Sherman

From where I was sitting at the Tiger vs Baltimore baseball game Sat., June 2 the crack of the bat was more like the thud of the bat.

We were so close to the players you could easily tell the players in need of a shave, like Kirk Gibson, or those not old enough to shave, like Storm Davis.

How close were we to the game? The referee had to look around us to make his calls.

I love baseball and the Tigers. In years when they were hopelessly out of it, I have them tuned in. Saturday they were hopelessly out of the Orioles game, but I hung on for that last-of-the-ninth rally.

Jim Fitzgerald, columnist for this paper and the Detroit Free Press, also loves baseball and the Tigers. With an invite from him to visit and the Tigers being in town, the opportunity arose to be able to enjoy at least a portion of the day. I was wrong about which portion I was to enjoy.

However, it wasn't the fault of the seats. Jim Campbell, president of the Tiger organization, lives in Jim's high rise building on Lafayette, and gave Fitz a ride to work one day. Fitz hit him for seats and Campbell responded generously.

Our seats, which Fitz paid for (Campbell isn't that generous with Tiger money), were row 1, seats 1, 2, 3 and 4.

If we could spit like the ball players and coaches we could easily have hit the Tiger batter's warm up circle.

One gets a different view and sound at that level. It's a feeling of being lower than the field. With no echo of the bat hitting the ball (what few times that happened for the Tigers - 3 hits) sounds like a club hitting a well-used softball.

At that level you have no interruptions from venders, people going past for beer, etc., no posts, and no banners spread for tv recognition blocking your view.

Fitz accused me of putting a hex on the Tigers since they won 14-2 Friday night and couldn't score at all Saturday. Then the Tigers lost again Sunday. If Fitz knew my daughter was at that game he'd blame the family strain. Especially after the Tigers won Monday without a Sherman connection.

Fitz has an answer for everything, including a great little place to eat while hearing some fine music. The trio, piano-bass-vocal, at Peg Legs on Winder at the Eastern Market was great. Peg Legs is especially busy during the day for Eastern Market crowds, but at night the 85-seat club offers a relaxing evening of goodness.

The fishing story promised last week is in this week's paper. Sorry.

Letters to editor

Library safety path is great

The new bike path from Clarkston Road/Snowapple to the library is great! We love to ride our bikes and jog on it.

Our family includes two children who can ride independently and two babes in bike seats. What a pleasure it is to ride not worrying about traffic.

Our question is—Why does the path stop at the library? Downtown appears to be a prime destination for people wanting to put some purpose into their exercise.

The curves around Parke Lake are much too dangerous for a family to venture out into the road.

It is my understanding there isn't going to be any further construction to extend the path, but the reason why is unknown.

We would like to know why not!

'No' on mine

Last week the planning commission approved and sent to the township board a detailed report on a proposed 50-acre mining project.

I would like to point out, however, that the vote on that report was not unanimous. I oppose mining in Independence Township and I did not support this project.

Many people, particularly those who live near other mining activities, know that our township has had a number of unfortunate experiences in the past with these operations in terms of dust, noise, traffic, encroachment and failure to live up to the terms of our ordinance.

Logically, I know that we cannot plan where sand and gravel will occur, but I am not willing to subject any more of our residents to that sort of aggravation.

Booster thanks

We would like to thank the Independence Township Fire Department, "Gentle Touch," Oakclowns and the Clarkston High School Jazz Band for lending their time at our Steak-Barbecue/Fun Day.

Their talents really helped make our day very enjoyable.

I really enjoy your paper. It's always been helpful and informative.

Support here for Carr, Dixie

I served as Waterford Township Clerk 1947-50, State Representative 1954-58, Pontiac Mayor Pro Tem 1960-64.

The blight of Dixie Highway from Telegraph to M-15 has changed little over the past 35 years. The increase in traffic and traffic fatalities continues at a rapid rate. Improvements have been minimal.

The Michigan Department of Transportation has scheduled for construction in 1985 the widening of Dixie Highway to five lanes from Telegraph Road west beyond Silver Lake Road.

When I read the article in last week's Clarkston News, I was amazed that anyone would be opposed to an appropriation of $3.5 million which would extend the already planned 1985 improvements of Dixie Highway.

How could anyone criticize any progress which would improve the existing traffic problem on Dixie Highway?

Congressman Bob Carr should be congratulated, not criticized for his successful effort in getting this $3.5 million appropriation reported out of committee.

This is not a political issue in any way, as the statements in the article imply; the issue is to improve traffic flow, safety and beautification of Dixie Highway.

I am a developer with plans for the 29 acres at the intersection of Telegraph and Dixie into a commercial plaza. Plans are complete for 66 units of condominiums on Loon Lake at Dixie and Watkins Lake Road.

I have worked very closely with the Waterford Township Board, State Rep. Charles Harrison, Sen. Rudy Nichols and Congressman Bob Carr as to my projects and received nothing but full cooperation relative to required Dixie Highway improvements.

Our elected officials, Democrats or Republicans all, are to be complimented and not criticized for their efforts to improve Dixie Highway.

'If It Fitz...

Not enough dazzle

Jim Fitzgerald

Patients pronounced cured and released from an insane asylum have documented proof of their sanity. Similarly, I have documented proof that I am a dazzling dresser and not a dull fellow.

What I have is a formal invitation to "the electrifying grand opening" of Menage, "Michigan's only complete dance club." It's in downtown Pontiac, in a remodeled theater, and not just anyone is allowed inside. Their attire must be "dazzling."

"We're not into plain Janes," co-owner Richard Rollins told a reporter. "If anybody's too plain, I'll just say, 'Sorry, you're not dressed appropriately.' This is not the Silverdome, where anybody who buys a ticket can get in.

OF COURSE, there is a stigma attached to being a graduate of an insane asylum, just as there is a stigma attached to being welcome inside Menage. It's nice to have the discharge papers proving you're not crazy, but it's embarrassing to admit you used to be. And it's nice to have written proof that you're not a plain Jane, but it's embarrassing to admit you've been approved by Richard Rollins.

At least, it's embarrassing for me: I live in downtown Detroit. "Detroit is s---," Rollins said, according to my favorite newspaper, always careful not to offend readers. He also said: "No one wants to go to downtown Detroit."

Rollins was comparing Menage with Cheeks, a Detroit disco he also co-owns. "I see Cheeks as being in the City of Detroit and for Detroit residents," he said. "Menage is in northern Oakland County and is for people who live in the area where the money is."

One of my sisters lives in northern Oakland County. She occasionally invites me to her home, but never once has she suggested I join her in glitzy downtown Pontiac. She is probably afraid I couldn't stand the excitement. The last time I was in downtown Pontiac, I was hit in the face with blowing sagebrush.

ANYWAY, the electrifying opening of Menage was last Thursday, and I didn't attend. I was afraid I might fall down and get money stains on my best Sears pants. But I saved the invitation to show my wife, who has never recognized that I am a Menage type of fellow.

Saturday night was a good example. My friend Sherman came calling from northern Oakland County and was overdressed in a black, three-piece, silk suit. I took him to Peg Leg's in the Eastern Market, and the jazz band applauded his suit. Honest. My wife said she was embarrassed by me in the drip-dry seersucker I bought when I thought I might be invited to Eisenhower's inauguration, which I wasn't, even though I continued to wear his jacket long after World War II ended.

But what does my wife know? She has always been critical of men who wear white socks when they're not playing tennis, especially if their trousers are a trifle short. But the Fashion Foundation of America just named Michael Jackson one of the nation's best-dressed men. Michael's jackets may make him look like the doorman at a sleazy hotel, but his trousers are always short, and his socks are always white.

WHEN I SHOWED my Menage invitation to my wife, I stressed that Richard Rollins knew what he was doing when he sent it to me. He once braved the "s---" to visit me in my downtown Detroit office, so he has seen me dressed dazzlingly and knows I'm no Silverdome slob.

She wasn't convinced. "You were invited because you're a columnist, not because you're dazzling," she said. "Rollins just wants publicity."

Could it be that Richard Rollins likes publicity so much that he doesn't care if people read what a s--- he is, just as long as they're stupid enough to try to pass the Menage entrance examination?

("snob" is the four-letter word mostly deleted from the above sentence. Through the creative use of the Gleep, I wanted to give you a chance to use your imagination.)

Residents oppose rezoning

Fifteen residents oppose a proposed 10-acre rezoning to commercial at Clarkston and Eston roads, targeted for a shopping strip.

The Independence Township Planning Commission is scheduled to review the plan a second time June 14 at 7:30 p.m. in the Independence Township Hall Annex, 90 N. Main, Clarkston.

At its May 16 review, the commission made no decision on the request, opting to have the planner investigate all alternatives and possible reconstruction of the road curves, according to Chairman Neil Wallace.

"No one was any more verbal than any other at that meeting," Wallace said. "A number of the people didn't want any more commercial out there. It's not outlined for commercial in our master plan and they didn't want more."

Barcel and Helen Zeunen want to rezone 78 acres from R-1R, requiring 3-acre minimum lots, to R-1B and R-1C, allowing 1.5-acre and 1-acre lots in addition to the 10 acres of commercial.

The property is across the street from the Richardson's Farm Dairy shopping strip.

The planning commission makes a recommendation to the township board, which makes the final decision.

Board extends subdivision

By Marilyn Trumper

Saving the Oakridge Meadows developers $8,000 by not sending them back to square one, the Independence Township Board reversed its earlier decision and gave the 23-acre subdivision a six-month plat extension.

Their representative, Del Lohff of Kieft Engineering, was pleased with the board's decision and after the meeting elaborated.

"Now the question is if they'll be able to do it in six months. The economy's taken another downturn, but they've told me they're going to go ahead.

"It's hard to say. We've talked it over and we'll do our best but their (the developers) timing is off. Heather Lake and Clarkston Ranch Estates will be on the market at the same time. It might be a time before they're moving.

"If we can get the groundwork in and start construction (the board) will probably give us another extension," he said.

The plat of Southfield developers, The Clark Sun Group, was first approved in 1981 for two years, and again in 1983 for a year, but because the economy faltered it never got underway.

The site is south of Whipple Lake Road, east of Eston in the township's northeast quadrant.

Police millage on the ballot

With brief discussion June 5, the Independence Township Board adopted ballot wording for the police millage.

The proposal asks for up to 1-mill for police protection for 15 years through 1999, which generates $261,000 annually.

Currently the township supplements its $356,000 police bill with $24,000 in federal revenue sharing, $9,000 from liquor license fees, $2,500 from interest investments and $46,500 from the existing police fund.

After paying this year's bill, the police fund's level is reduced to $97,300.

The bill buys six deputies' salaries, their cars, uniforms, supervisory and support services.

A millage increase for police protection has been defeated six times since 1976.

Cityhood hearing

A switch to cityhood is under exploration by the Clarkston Village Council, which scheduled a public hearing on the issue Thursday, June 21.

"It's a very difficult idea to put across to the public and we're not sure ourselves of all the pros and cons," said council President Carol Eberhardt. "We decided to pursue it and get citizen input, but first we have to understand the concept."

Following are some pros and cons of cityhood listed by the Michigan Municipal League which is expected to have a representative at that meeting.

•As potential advantages, it would prevent annexation by Independence Township, lower village taxes because township taxes would no longer be paid and make the village eligible for additional federal funding.

•As potential disadvantages, the village would have its own police and fire department, but Eberhardt anticipates it would continue to operate as is; the village would have its own assessing department; and hold its own school, national and state elections.

The meeting is scheduled Thursday, June 21, at 7:30 p.m. in Clarkston Village Hall, 375 Depot, Clarkston.

More park play

Clarkston's Depot Road Park's getting new playground equipment in time for summer.

On May 14, the council unanimously approved spending $2,000 from community development funds to buy four new swing sets, two adult-size and two for children, and a combination slide, monkey bar and tire swing.

"We've had a lot of requests for new equipment from people using the playground," said President Carol Eberhardt after the meeting.

"And there's a movement outside the council to get some of those culvert tunnels in the park. We'll be pleased to accept anything like that."

Videotaping of township meetings OK'd

By Marilyn Trumper

Independence Township residents can officially videotape board, planning commission and board of appeals meetings, but Treasurer Frederick Ritter doubts there'll be a stampede of cameras at the door.

"I don't know that we need to reinvent the wheel," Ritter said at the June 5 board meeting. "But maybe we should sell subscriptions as the perfect cure for insomnia."

After brief discussion, acting on the township attorney's recommendation, the board unanimously established a six-point taping policy effective immediately:

•All cameras must be silent.

•Artificial light is prohibited unless approved by the board being taped.

•Cameras must be in inconspicuous corners of the room or behind the last row of seats, unless other sites are approved in advance by the board being taped.

•All equipment must be set up before the meeting.

•Taping of closed meetings is prohibited. All equipment must be removed from the room where the closed meeting is held.

•Persons failing to comply will be excluded from the meeting.

"I have no problem with the meetings being taped, as long as it's not disruptive," said Trustee William Vandermark. "It's part of the democratic process and should be open to the public."

The new policy, which can be amended at any time, was drafted after township resident Michael Clark was ordered May 17 to take his equipment out of a joint meeting of the Independence Township Planning Commission and Clarkston Village Council.

Clark, seated to the side of the room, continued filming and left only when two uniformed deputies from the Oakland County Sheriff's Department motioned him to do so and threatened arrest for trespassing if he returned.

At the time he ordered Clark from the room, planning commission Chairman Neil Wallace said he didn't want more than one official record of what was expected to be a controversial meeting, and one that would ultimately be litigated.

Now, with official permission to film the meetings, Clark wants to know what it cost the township to get the attorney's opinion.

"I knew all along it was OK. Now I've had to pay to have them tell me that?" he said after receiving permission last week.

According to Independence Township Clerk Richard Holman, the attorney's fee to research whether Clark could tape the meetings was one of 18 items listed under an $863 bill for miscellaneous work.

Clark indicated he'll film township board, planning commission and board of appeals meetings in the near future.

Rose returns for election

By Marilyn Trumper

Former Independence Township clerk, Christopher Rose, is back in town to "help the new kid" with school board elections.

Band teacher elected

Clifford Chapman, band director at Clarkston High School, has been elected vice president for jazz band activities by the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association (MSBOA).

The election of officers took place at the annual spring weekend meeting on the campus of Michigan State University, East Lansing.

Chapman succeeds Andy McFarland of Ionia High School.

Each year more than 100,000 students from 1,200 public and private schools participate in MSBOA festivals, either as soloists or as members of bands, orchestras or other ensembles.

"I used to hire the most qualified person to to set up the voting machines, and this year they've hired me," Rose laughed on a visit to downtown Clarkston.

How much is he being paid?

"Under $1,000," he laughed again.

Rose resigned his township post last June to take the job of town manager in Littleton, N.H.

In August, current Clerk Richard Holman was appointed by the board after weeks of interviews from over a dozen candidates.

"I've hired the same person at the same rate as Chris Rose did—which is himself," Holman said. "He's cheaper than his competition and I get a lot of insight in the process. I'm happy he's here."

Rose receives $600 for operating the voting booths, and saves the township $120, according to Holman.

"If we had hired Doubleday (an elections supply company) it would have cost us $35 a machine, that's $10 more per machine," Holman said.

Mall tabled for parking solutions

By Marilyn Trumper
It's left to Independence Township's planner to decide the parking question for Ron Helin's 50,000 square foot retail/office mall on M-15, north of Clarkston.

After lengthy discussion at the June 6 meeting, the zoning board of appeals agreed unanimously to have planner Richard Carlisle factor the number of spaces. The ordinance doesn't specifically address parking for a development like Helin's but the closest calculation calls for over 400 spaces, and the plan currently shows 326.

"We didn't know what we were supposed to do and, frankly, I don't know why the planning commission sent it back to us," said appeals board Chairman John Dunlop.

The proposed development has been before the township since last November, and was heralded as the first complex to be built under a yet-to-be adopted Planned Unit Development ordinance. A PUD includes several zoning uses on one parcel of land and gives the township greater regulation power.

"I don't know why it's taken so long," said Gail Forbes, of G.H. Forbes Associates, Birmingham, project architect.

"I was encouraged by what the ZBA had to say and their degree of support for the project. If there was any message it was let's get on with it."

Helin, owner of W.H. Investments Inc., proposes the $2.5 million, two-story Northcreek Center on 4.6 acres at the abandoned Texaco Service Station site on M-15.

Helin could not be reached for comment on the delay.

Shutout ends season

By Dan Vandenhemel

The score does not tell the whole story of the regional opening game for the Clarkston Wolves softball team.

The varsity Wolves lost to Bay City Central, 9-0, June 9. The score indicates the game was dominated by Bay City, but the Wolves played well in all but two innings.

Bay City broke open a scoreless game in the fourth inning with five runs. They added four more in the sixth on three errors.

"It's hard to come back against a good team especially if you're three or four runs down, let alone nine," said coach Carla Teare.

The game began with the two teams trading good defensive plays in the first three innings. Two of the biggest plays for Bay City came in the third with the bases loaded with Wolves and one out.

Bay City pulled their infield in, hoping to gun down the lead runner at the plate on a ground ball. Ellen Fleming's shot, straight at the second-baseman, forced Julie Marshall home for the second out.

The Wolves still had the bases loaded with one of their leading hitters coming up, Laura Hurren. She sent a line drive up the gap in left-center field that would have scored all three runs, but it was snagged by the center fielder on a good running catch.

"If we had scored in the third, the game would have been different," Teare said. "You can't do a whole lot when you're losing. I could have done things a little differently. If we had scored one or two runs, I would have felt bad about losing. You need to score one run to win. It doesn't matter if it was 9-0 or 1-0."

Clarkston managed only four hits, two by Sue Castillo and one each by Sheila Moore and Julie Marshall.

Marshall was the losing pitcher with relief help from Jody Law in the sixth inning. Marshall allowed seven hits and only one walk.

"Julie pitched a good game," Teare said. "At times she wasn't throwing as hard as she could but that was good because in those situations you need to throw strikes."

Of the seven hits, only three were line shots to the outfield. The other four were grounders that found their way through the infield.

"You need some luck at this point in the season," Teare said. "You have to play errorless ball, you have to hit and you have to have a little luck. After each step the competition gets tougher."

Bay City went on to beat Waterford Mott in the regional finals 1-0 to raise their record to 37-2. Clarkston finished their season with a 22-8 mark.

"It's hard to be disappointed when the team has performed as well as we have," Teare said. "I would have liked a few more victories, but now that I look back, I'm please with the season."

Sue Stefanski goes high in the air to spear a line drive during the Wolves' loss.

JV Wolves move on up

By Dan Vandenhemel

While winning is important to the players and parents, the coach of a junior varsity level sport is also concerned with developing the players for the following years on the varsity team.

Don Peters, coach of the JV softball team at Clarkston High School, compiled a 14-9 record with this year's squad.

Most coaches would be happy being five games over a .500 winning percentage, but Peters was a little disappointed. He also said the season was successful.

"I think the girls would have liked to win a few more games," he said. "They are a competitive bunch. They were happy but not happy, which is good, because they are competitive."

The strong point for the Wolves was the pitching, with Terry Sherman and Chris Jarrett.

Peters said the pitching was the reason for the success as well as the losses.

"The pitching was not consistent enough; we walked a lot of people," the coach said. "Sherman was 7-6 and Jarrett was 7-3. I think they both will be good varsity players next year."

Developing players for varsity is a priority for Peters. He said they could have won more games by putting in players who could lob the ball over the plate but that wouldn't help them for next year.

The pitchers started working for the season back in January, meeting at the high school at 6:45 a.m.

"The work has seemed to payoff," Peters said. "Carla (varsity coach Carla Teare) is going to need a flame thrower next year. That's why we went with the hard-throwers, trying to develop them for next year."

Besides the pitching duties, Sherman and Jarrett held their own on the offense. Sherman hit over .500 and scored 34 runs. Jarrett hit .466 and scored 32 times.

"The thing about Sherman is she never struckout in 96 at bats and Jarrett only three times," said Peters. "But we weren't just a two-player team, everybody hit. Everybody."

Some of the lofty averages belonged to Kelli Cruz, .510; Sue Lovelady, .518; Melanie Upcott, .471; Michelle Sprung, .409; and juniors Karen Rose, .378; Marie Susalla, .457; and Joni Leitcham, .500.

"The juniors played a big part of the team success," Peters said. "Joni was the captain but had a badly sprained ankle early in the season and didn't play much. They needed just a little more playing time, so they'll help the varsity too."

Junior varsity coach Don Peters (left) and varsity coach Carla Teare do not like what they see on the ball field as the Clarkston Wolves lose in the regionals to Bay City Central.

Outstanding pitching helps Wolves win

By Dan Vandenhemel

If a baseball team has solid pitching, the team is going to win its share of ball games.

The Clarkston High School junior varsity baseball did have the pitching and did post a strong winning record of 15-5 to take the unofficial Greater Oakland Activities League title.

Behind pitchers Mike Walters, Steve Atkinson and Ed Adkin, the Wolves came within one victory of the school record set last year.

"Pitching was our strength," coach Kurt Richardson said. "Walters was our best pitcher before being called up to the varsity."

Walters was 2-0 with an earned run average of 0.77. He went up to the varsity team and won three games without giving up an earned run. Atkinson posted a 5-1 record with a 0.97 ERA. He was also called up near the end of the season but did not pitch. Adkins was 5-0 with a 2.25 ERA.

"Our goal at the beginning of the season was to break the school record for wins," said the coach. "We had three games canceled out that we could have won."

On the offense for the Wolves, Scott Giroux supplied the power with .435 average and four home runs. Jim Ruelle led the team in hitting with a .442 mark.

It's a good thing the team could hit and pitch, Richardson said, because the fielding was not the best.

"Defense was not our strong point," he said. "We didn't have a lot of foot speed either. We had to go with base hits. We've got a lot of double hitters on the team.

"One thing about these kids and the class above is that they will fit together real well. These kids will fill in spots on the varsity squad nicely. All the kids, at one time or another, contributed in some way and with 15 on the team, that helps."

Track clinic to hone skills

A summer track clinic is to be held at the Clarkston High School track this July.

On Mondays, Tuesdays and Thursdays from July 2-26, the free clinic is for 5- to 12-year-olds.

Hours are 10 a.m. to noon. The purpose is to help improve already developed skills or to give those interested their first taste of participating in track.

Registration sheets are to be available in all schools in the Clarkston district. Interested athletes should show up at the first session with the sheets filled out.

Clarkston High School track coach Gordy Richardson and Sashabaw Junior High track coach Chris Krueger are running the clinic.

For more information call the high school at 625-0900.

Low turnout, but high praise

By Dan Vandenhemel

When the track season opened at Clarkston Junior High School for coach Mike Taylor, he knew it was going to be a long season.

The Wolverines fielded a girls' team of only six athletes and a boys' team of 20. Both squads finished with 0-4 records.

"This has been my worst record, but by far not my worst team," Taylor said. "I had a handful of hard-working kids. Most of them had to run two or three events at each meet."

One of the season highlights for the Wolverines was sending six athletes to the Oakland County Track meet on May 26.

They were led by Kathleen McInnis, who won the 2-mile run. She set a school record in the victory with a time of 12:17. McInnis also set the school record in the 1-mile run earlier in the season in a time of 6:01.

Others at the county meet were Mark Racosky who placed eighth in the shot put; Matt Scharl was fifth in the pole vault; Alex Yarber followed Scharl with a sixth place in the pole vault; Lowell Jenks was eighth in the 100-yard dash; and Sue Learmont was ninth in the 440-yard run.

Taylor mentioned other team members who had productive track seasons, although not qualifying for the county meet.

MD tournament

Softball players are gathering to help raise money for muscular dystrophy.

The June 24 contest will be held at the Oxford Township Park on Seymour Lake Road.

The single-elimination tournament is open to men, women and co-ed teams for a cost of $50 a team. Trophies will be awarded to the first- and second-place teams.

All proceeds go to muscular dystrophy.

To register, call Claude Lafnear at 628-3944.

They were Rod Swanson in the 120- and 330-yard hurdles, Dennis Abdo and Darryl Wendt in the sprint and relay events, Brian Pendley in the middle distances, Brian Baert in the 880-yard run and the high jump, Matt Nelson in the 2-mile run, and Sherri Morgan in the 110- and 330-yard hurdles.

"I couldn't complain about these kids and they weren't complaining either," Taylor said. "They knew it would be tough, but they kept working and improved throughout the season."

Improve game

Basketball skills are the target of clinics to be held at Clarkston High School.

Scheduled June 18-22, there are two sessions. Fifth- and sixth-graders are to meet from 8 to 11 a.m. and seventh-, eighth- and ninth-graders from noon to 3 p.m.

The cost is $35 a person, with the second family member for $25.

For more information call camp directors Dan Fife at 625-9548 or Tim Kaul at 623-0722.

Soccer lessons

The second annual Clyde Watson Soccer Camp kicks off June 25.

Organized by the Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department, it meets at Clarkston Junior High School.

Watson, a former Detroit Express soccer player, will be giving instructions at the camp.

The camp is planned June 25-29 from 12:30 to 3:30 p.m.

It is open to anyone, ages 6 through 18. Entry fee is $45 and that includes a soccer ball and T-shirt.

Cougars run well at meet

Girls place 6th; boys 8th

By Dan Vandenhemel

The track season is over at Sashabaw Junior High and the boys' and girls' teams fared well at the Oakland County track meet, May 26.

The girls finished sixth and the boys placed eighth out of 24 teams.

Leading the girls' team was Lisa Ladd. She won the 100-yard dash and long jump and finished sixth in the 220-yard dash. Wendy Cohoon was fourth in the 880-yard dash, good for a school record of 2:36.3.

The girls' mile-relay team of Ladd, Karen Garwood, Heidi Locher, and Cohoon ran to a fifth-place finish.

For the boys, Mike Grable captured the pole vault title with a height of 11 feet, 6 inches. In the 440-yard dash, Jim Hall placed second with a school record of 54.3 seconds. Matt Beamer also set a school record with his fourth-place finish in the 2-mile run in 10:39.6.

The relay teams for the boys also ran well. In the 2-mile, Gunnar Karlstrom, Jeff McLeod, Matt Beamer and Kevin North were sixth, for another school record of 9:17.6. The 880-yard team of Karlstrom, Grable, Mike Noel and Jim Hall were tied.

For the season, the boys' team had a split record at 2-2. The girls were 1-3.

"Normally we have 10 meets but we had some rained out this year," said boys' coach Kelly Burnette. "The two losses we had were close. They came down to the mile relay."

"We had some good individuals on the team and when you have that you're going to place high in the county."

The girls' team was hurt by injuries throughout the season and that was partially the reason for the 1-3 record.

"It always seemed that we were missing a key person at each meet," coach Chris Krueger said. "We had sprained ankles, strep throat, sickness."

"Two of the teams we lost to were undefeated," he said. "We really worked hard for the success we did get."

Reclamation to start at mine

Reclamation work's beginning on Stickney Gravel Pit.

The Stolaruk Corp., owner of the abandoned 23-acre pit on Stickney Road, failed to meet a reclamation timetable established in 1982 and forfeited a $20,000 performance bond to Independence Township.

Del Lohff, co-owner of Kieft Engineering, is the named bond receiver. He bid the reclamation work that was scheduled to begin last week.

According to Lohff, "... the $20,000 isn't going to go far."

It covers 6 acres of reseeding, $5,800 worth of fencing, regrading the retention pond and draining water elsewhere on the site.

In 1982 the township adopted an amended consent judgment, a court-sanctioned agreement that outlined bonding, a reclamation timetable and Lohff's appointment.

Stolaruk keeps the land, the township just ensures its reclamation.

Stolaruk ceased mining and walked away from the pit in 1981.

Track to apply for '84 permit

Waterford Hills Race Track is free to apply for '84 licensing.

On June 5, the Independence Township Board gave the clerk the go-ahead to administratively issue the license after securing the proper bonding.

The move came three months after drivers officially began racing, operating under last year's court order which allowed it.

Trustee Larence Kozma was the lone dissenter.

"They still have the lawsuit against them and they've been operating without a license all of last year, and we're still involved in that lawsuit," Kozma said. "Under the circumstance, I don't think the license should be issued."

Trustee Daniel Travis, a life-member of the Oakland County Sportsman's Club where the track is located, abstained.

The track is operating under the township's new racing ordinance, which established a sound-reading noise limit and allowed only one holiday weekday race a year.

For two years adjoining homeowners sought to tighten restrictions at the track.

42 students take part in career day

Forty-two junior high school-aged kids from Sashabaw and Clarkston took part in Clarkston Area Youth Assistance's Career Exploration Day.

Selected by their counselors, the kids visited Children's Hospital in Detroit and learned about careers in the fields of medicine and health, then went to Wayne State University for a talk on communications and to Southfield's radio station WRIF for a tour.

"The kids really liked that," said Garry Pullins, social worker for CAYA. "In fact, on the rating sheet it was their favorite part."

The outing took place three weeks ago. It was paid for in part by CAYA, an organization geared to preventing juvenile delinquency.

Philosopher's advice

Al Zawacky

A message to the Class of 1984, from Clarkston's self-appointed philosopher...

Well, the party's over. The few remaining graduation open houses will probably be wrapped up this weekend; reality returns and life settles down to the routine. It's been 10 years since I went through high school graduation. At the age of 27, I don't exactly fit the role of the wizened old philosopher, but there are a few things I'd like to pass along, for what they're worth.

First, put what you know and what you've learned in perspective. It's a common hallucination among young people to believe that they know all there is to know, and that they're as wise as they're ever going to be. I know. At the age of 18, I was convinced that the nation's and the world's problems would dissolve overnight if everyone would only listen to me. Frankly, I still fall into the trap of believing that from time to time—but as I grow older, I find myself more likely to respect differing opinions and doubt my own infallibility. That's a hopeful sign, I think.

Along those lines, if your parents have something to say, listen. Incredibly, I've found my parents were right about 99 percent of the time, even when I thought they were being ridiculous and unreasonable. No kidding.

Set your goals in life as high as you can, and then pursue them relentlessly, doggedly, unyieldingly, right to the end. Life is not a half-hour TV sitcom, where problems arise and are solved in 30 minutes flat. It's a 15-round struggle, and only a privileged few win on a KO in the first round. Curse and shake your fists when confronted with a setback, if that makes you feel better. But never, NEVER give up your dreams. Press on. Persevere. Defy bad luck. There is no one so base as a quitter.

Try and avoid our generation's passion for self pity. Oh, God, we tell ourselves, it's tough to be young nowadays. The economy's bad, the cloud of nuclear war hangs over our future, peer pressure and the need to feel accepted gnaws away at us—BUNK! How conveniently we forget what our parents and grandparents had to endure in the way of two bloody world wars and an economic calamity that pales what we've had to go through. Look further back before the advent of modern medicine and agriculture; consider what people had to cope with then. Death was a constant companion, but people endured and carried on. Any situation, if met with despair, becomes overwhelming. Eschew despair. Dare to hope.

Don't think just of yourself, but think also of the nation, the community, family and friends. No man is an island. Our actions have consequences on those around us, and in setting personal goals and pursuing personal pleasures, remember the welfare of others. But don't be afraid of standing alone; don't seek conformity for its own sake. If fashion is an ass, say so. Remember, there are audiences that can shame you by their applause. On question of right and wrong, don't be afraid to be unpopular.

Do your best to rise above the moral relativism and wishy-washiness so prevalent today, among teens and adults alike. There are some things that are just plain wrong and merit punishment, not alibis. We pay no greater tribute to the dignity and worth of a human being than to hold each man and woman responsible for his or her own actions. Don't blame your parents, peers or your stars for your shortcomings. They're YOUR shortcomings, not somebody else's. Resolve to do something about them.

Finally, if you fall short of any of your ideas, resolve only to do better next time. Don't trash the ideal as unattainable or unworthy. Lake Orion's resident philosopher here himself wishes he could be truer to the principles he's stated here. In that spirit, I'll continue to try.

SERVING MICHIGAN SINCE 1965

Pianist's talents take him abroad

By Dan Vandenhemel

With a simple stretch of his fingers, Stephan Murphy displayed the talent that earned him a trip to Europe.

The 17-year-old junior at Clarkston High School sat down behind the piano in his home and effortlessly filled the room with music.

Through the Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp International Exchange Program, Stephan will be the accompanist for the International Choir, one of four groups traveling to Europe.

Blue Lake is a music camp near Grand Rapids on the shore of Lake Michigan. While there last fall, Stephan filled out a card asking if he would be interested in going to Europe.

"I didn't think anything would happen with the card," he said. "Then they sent a letter asking if I would be interested in auditioning for the trip."

The audition lasted 30 minutes and covered everything from classical works and church songs to doing the scales.

Murphy leaves June 18 for the four-country, 28-day trip. The International Choir begins in Austria, then on to France, Belgium, and the final and longest stay in Germany.

The musicians live with host families while in Europe.

"It's going to be expensive, about $2,000," said Stephan's mother, Karen. "But it is going to be a tremendous learning experience, learning the other countries' customs and food."

Stephan has played the piano 10 years and he practices up to three hours a day.

"I love it, it's my life," he said. "The biggest thing about the piano is that it is the only thing you can do the way you want to and no one can copy it."

Majoring in music at a college is possibly in his future.

"It's too early to tell what college I'll go to," he said. "I'd like to make a living off of it, to play professionally."

Playing the piano helped Stephan Murphy earn a trip to Europe with the Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp International Choir. He's played the piano 10 years.

Board OK's $3,000 for safety path upkeep

By Marilyn Trumper

For the first time since voter approval in 1979, it appears the Independence safety path millage will pay for maintenance like cleaning and grass cutting in addition to construction.

Joe Figa, chairman of the safety path committee, targeted the following four areas of concern for board review.

- Grass mowing along paths.
- Retarding weed growth along the paths.
- Sweeping the paths.
- Keeping motor vehicles like bikes, cars and All Terrain Cycles off the paths with signage.

After discussion at its June 5 meeting, the board approved $3,000 for bi-annual grass mowings and weed retardant along portions of the township's 4.5 miles of completed paths.

"For the first time we have more paths and it seems to make sense," Figa said before the meeting. "And with the completion of this year's paths, we'll have even more."

"Really, cutting the grass along the paths isn't a problem where they're located in front of homes. It's more the rural areas where there are no homes.

"It seems to make sense"—Figa

"And this time of year weeds are not a problem. It's later in the year when they grow tall and fall over onto the paths where it's a problem. We want to plan now to do something about it then."

Figa also said non-motorized vehicles on the paths can be ticketed.

The Safety Path Committee asked the Clarkston Village Council to lease its sidewalk cleaner to keep dirt off the paths, but the council denied their request fearful intensive use to their old machine would wear it out.

"I'm certainly disappointed about the decision, but certainly they make a good point," Figa said.

With a 16-vote margin in 1979 residents approved .3 mill to finance safety path construction and maintenance for part of a proposed 50-mile safety path network. The millage is expected to total $1 million at the end of the 10-year collection period.

To date the township's completed 4.5 miles of paths. Phase III is scheduled for construction this summer along parts of Maybee, Sashabaw and Waldon roads.

Realism in nature: 2 viewpoints

Pam Kessler's watercolors, Sharon Sommers' bronzes can be seen

By Kathy Greenfield

From Independence Township gardens to the wilds of Africa, Pam Kessler and Sharon Sommers search for subjects for their works of art.

Kessler captures, in watercolors, botanical items; Sommers creates animal sculptures to cast in bronze.

While their mediums are different, they fit together. Both are creations of women who admire natural beauty.

On Saturday and Sunday, June 16 and 17, they're bringing their talents together for the first time with "Realism in Nature: 2 Points of View," an exhibition of their recent works in the upper level of the McGillacutty's building, 59 S. Main, Clarkston, from noon to 6 p.m. each day. Guitarist Craig Chabala, a teacher at the Clarkston Conservatory Music, will provide the music.

In pursuit of their arts, Kessler and Sommers spend time outdoors.

For Kessler, an Independence Township resident, the hunt always takes place nearby.

"In the summertime I go to the county market or the Eastern Market an awful lot, and people are really generous," she said.

She paints iris in the late spring—the call came in last week from a woman on Rattalee Lake Road who shares her flowers—and vegetables at harvest time.

She sometimes goes to the farmers' markets twice a week.

"I get there early in the morning," she said. "They all know me, that strange lady who's looking for imperfections in vegetables. I don't like a perfect specimen of things."

During colder months she has florist friends who call when the flowers arrive.

Her favorite subjects are iris and onions.

"What I like about the onion is the layers of skin and the root system they have. It's just a lot more complex than the first impression you get of them," she said.

She likes iris because of "the delicacy of the flower itself."

Sommers, of Waterford Township, takes her search for animals to zoos—and to Africa, where she's gone on guided safaris five times.

"Seeing them wild, of course, is different," she said. "The way they move is different than seeing them confined."

"One of my favorites is a rhinoceros. They're getting scarce. One of the reasons I go back to Africa as much as I do is because the animals are diminishing number-wise. I want to see them while I can."

When doing sculptures, Sommers uses her huge library for reference as well as her sketches and photographs.

Some would be considered beautiful by anyone, she said, but others concentrate on necessary details—the front foot, an ear, the rear view.

Once the sculpture is ready for bronzing, Sommers decides how many castings she wants and the mold is destroyed when they are completed. The process that leads up to the final step is time-consuming.

The original sculpture is clay, destroyed in the process of making a wax mold.

"I spend many, many, many hours on each wax to get it back the way I want it," she said.

Then another mold is made, which destroys the wax model. The castings are made from that mold.

The mold and castings work is done by the Fine Arts Sculpture Center in Independence Township.

The steps leading to Kessler's artworks begin with a still-life arrangement of the vegetables or flowers in her studio.

She completes a pencil drawing before they start to botanical topics, with iris and onion as favorites.

to deteriorate and adds the frequently vibrant colors later.

The women credit college courses with leading them to their eventual specialties.

Kessler, who has a bachelor's degree in interior architecture from Wayne State University, ended up blending training from etching and watercolor classes into a style all her own.

Sommers, who has a master's degree in education with a concentration in art from Central Michigan University, never sculptured before her college class.

"It was a whole new world," she said. "I often wonder if I'd ever have gotten there without the class."

Kessler sells her paintings at shows and exhibits and out of her home; Sommers' work is for sale at the Nordlund Gallery, Birmingham.

Both have had items in juried shows. The highlight for Sommers was the National Sculpture Society show in New York City. Kessler's paintings have been in the Michigan Watercolor Show, and she has works hanging in the Butler Institute of American Art in Ohio, the McLaren General Hospital in Flint and the Kemper Life Insurance Building.

All of Sharon Sommers' bronze sculptures are of animals. Her favorite subject is the rhinoceros, but her work ranges from bunnies to lions—and giraffes. "I was always fascinated with animals, as far back as I can remember," she says.

The Clarkston Village Park proved to be a perfect setting for the June 2 wedding of Kim Ward and Chuck Josar. Those participating in the ceremony were (from left) Kendra Balhorn, maid of honor Dawn Balhorn, flower girl Hannah Ward, the bride, the Rev. Chuck Hinson, the bridegroom, best man Brian Koessel and Kevin Hall.

Couple's June wedding first for village park

When Kim Ward and Chuck Josar decided they wanted to be married in the Clarkston Village Park, they made a phone call to the village office.

They were told theirs would be the first wedding in the park and, much to their delight, the request was granted. Village workers even painted the gazebo before the June 2 wedding, Kim said.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Chuck Hinson of the Word of Faith Church, Waterford.

The gazebo was decorated with flowers and plants by Country Greens of Clarkston. The bride and bridegroom arrived at their wedding in a limousine, compliments of Pam Tweed and Kim Balhorn.

An Independence Township resident, the bride wore an ivory lace, cocktail-length dress and carried ivory lilies.

Maid of honor was Dawn Balhorn of Davisburg. Bridesmaid was Kendra Balhorn of Wixom. They wore ivory gauze gowns.

Flower girl was Hannah Ward, the bride's daughter. She wore an ivory lace dress.

Serving as best man was Brian Koessel. Groomsman was Kevin Hall.

The bride's parents, Harold and E.J. Goodwin, flew in from Fountain Hills, Ariz., for the festivities. The bridegroom's parents, Donald and Donna Josar, motored in from St. Louis, Mo.

The reception was held at the Balhorn Estate in Davisburg. In keeping with the village theme, the food was catered by Rudy's Market of Clarkston.

The bride is a graduate of Oakland Community College. Her husband is employed by Precision Pipe & Supply.

The couple honeymooned in northern Michigan. They are residing in Ortonville.

Adult swimming is held from 11 a.m. to noon Tuesday and Thursday, and 7 to 8 p.m. Monday and Wednesday. Cost is $1 per half-hour.

Also offered are basic water safety, advanced lifesaving and lifeguarding, taught by certified Red Cross instructors.

Basic water safety is $20 for the first child, $12

Advanced lifesaving and lifeguarding are offered from 6 to 8 p.m. at Deer Lake Beach on Tuesday and Thursday. Cost is $32 for 30 hours of instruction.

Class of '79 reunion

Clarkston High School's class of 1979 is having its five-year reunion.

The party is planned July 28 at Roma's of Bloomfield. Tickets are $17.50 a person.

For reservations or more information phone Jill Thompson at 625-4174.

Local producer

"The Silent Cry," produced by Independence Township resident Joel Burnell, comes to TV-Channel 62, Thursday, June 14, at 8 p.m.

The topic is abortion, and it's a pro-life production.

But, according to Burnell, the show takes a documentary approach by interviewing a doctor, Right-to-Life advocate and a woman who had an abortion. Also included is a videotape of entertainer Pat Boone.

Calling it an "in-depth look into the controversy," Burnell adds, "It's just kind of exposing the issue so they can make up their own minds."

A 1978 Clarkston High School graduate, Burnell works in TV production at Television Communications Inc. of Bloomfield Hills, but the firm he works for is not involved in "The Silent Cry."

Burnell has appeared on Channel 56 in the past in two 15-minute musical productions.

The Day The Power Arrived

Paul Anibal

Paul Anibal was 14 when the power line finally reached his Genesee County farmhouse. He watched as the power company workmen with curious long-handled shovels dug a deep hole, then winched the pole into place, tamping down the dirt around it.

A lineman climbed the pole to the cross-arm to string the wires, pulling them tight on the insulators. Wires were then taken from the cross-arm to the farmhouse. The Anibal farm—two adults, six kids, a couple of dozen head of cattle and 130 acres—was all hooked up to receive electricity.

"From that moment, our lives began to change," recalls Paul, now 59 and helping one of his own sons manage a 1,000-acre farm at Durand, near Flint.

At first it was little things. Like the joy of being able to read at night by electric light. Or being able to go to the barn to milk the cows without a lighted lantern—and the all-too-real risk of burning the barn down.

"Before electricity, we waited for the wind to blow so the windmill could pump water, or we pumped it by hand," says Paul.

"We carried water in a pail to the house for drinking and to wash our clothes, which all had to be done on a scrub board in the house. Many times I helped my mother hang clothes to dry on an outside line while I nearly froze my fingers.

"In the summer, there were no fans to circulate the air in the house when the temperature climbed to the 90s. There was no refrigerator to go to for a cool drink or an ice cream. My mother stored butter on the cellar floor where it was a little cooler. Food had to be canned, meat salted down.

"In the winter, there were no forced air furnaces, only stoves to stand by while you warmed one side at a time."

Electricity also changed the face of farm work. Milking machines replaced laborious hand-milking. Electric welding equipment meant the farm could repair its own machinery instead of sending it to town. Electric motors powered augers to move corn to storage and turned fans to cool and aerate it when it arrived there.

Paul Anibal is aware that electricity didn't suddenly arrive out of the clear blue sky.

"It wasn't the state or federal government that provided me with electricity. It was all those people over the years who showed faith in Michigan and invested in the power company. And I'm not forgetting the dedicated team of power company employees who have kept electricity flowing in this state through good times and bad."

RIDING IN THE STORM: "A little rain never hurt anyone," says O.J. Livermore, the man behind the reins. And off he goes May 25 with a carriage full of preschoolers from the Village Day School. Livermore, who lives on Big Lake Road in Springfield Township, is grandfather to Becky DeLong, a pupil at the school that meets in the Calvary Lutheran Church building. Back in the classroom, pulling a bright orange comb through her wet blond hair, young Roxanne Haight rates the ride an enthusiastic "Good!" She has another word for the rain: "Yucky!"

Canning hints

There's a place to call with questions about canning, preserving, freezing and food safety.

From 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. weekdays, a full-time staff member of the Oakland County Cooperative Extension Service is on hand to answer the Food Preservation/Food Safety Hotline.

The number is 858-0904.

Subjects covered include how to avoid food poisoning, how to freeze or dry food and helpful hints on the art of canning.

Money for music

Donations are wanted for the fifth annual "Concerts in the Park" series which begins July 6.

Sponsored by the Village Business Association in cooperation with the Pontiac Federation of Musicians, the free concerts are planned at 7 p.m. each Friday in July at Depot Park in Clarkston.

Changes this year include extending the concert lengths from one to two hours and featuring three different bands—Emil Sutt, whose band performed last year, for two concerts; Hall James with swing era music; and Jim Joseph and his Tail Gate Ramblers with the Dixieland sound.

Supporters can drop contributions in the boxes decorated with bandannas located in village businesses. They carry this message: "For the Band—Anna (and a) Lot of Fun for the Whole Family. Concerts in the Park. July 6-13-20-27."

Individuals or groups can also support the concerts by purchasing a full sponsorship for $350, co-sponsorship for $100, patron for $50 or Band-Aid Box for $20. Their names will appear in a concert program flyer.

For more information on making donations call Joan Kopietz at 625-2511.

BALLOON BATTLE: Natalie Burge of Clarkston and Tara Sievers of Rochester wage a battle to see who can inflate a balloon the fastest at the recent Camp Oweki Camp Fire Olympics. And the winner is... a draw. Ten events made up the competition but none were judged on ability. Ribbons were given to those participating in the most contests.

Winter craft fest booths available

A few booth spaces are still available for the fourth annual Davisburg Christmas Craft Festival planned Dec. 1 and 2.

To reserve space, call 634-4918 or 625-5369.

The festival will again be held in the Springfield Oaks Activities Center on Andersonville Road in Springfield Township.

This year, however, sponsorship has been relinquished by the Davisburg Scotties Extension Club in favor of a supervisory board chaired by Joyce Hovis of Clark Road. The Scotties used the profits to assist with Neighbor for Neighbor, a food distribution program for the needy.

People attending the festival can expect to find many of their favorite booths, including Ye Old Pot People, The Gift Box, and Togs and Toys for Tots.

Among working exhibitors planning to participate are The Wood Carver, Apple Craft, The Hair Depot, The Tole Booth and Santa's Workshop.

Renaissance Festival's auditioning

Put your talents to work this summer at the Michigan Renaissance Festival.

Festival organizers are looking for mime, music, juggling or magic acts and for those who can assume the roles of unusual 16th century street characters.

Talent auditions are scheduled Sundays, June 17 and 24, from 1 to 4 p.m. at the festival site at the Colombiere Center, 9075 Big Lake Rd., Springfield Township; and Tuesday, June 19, at the Fourth Street Playhouse, Royal Oak, from 6:30 to 10 p.m.

Applicants should bring a resume and wear or bring a detailed sketch of their intended Renaissance costumes. They should be prepared to give a short example of their acts and/or participate in improvisations.

The festival dates are Aug. 18-19, 25-26, Sept. 1-3, 8-9, 15-16, 22-23 and 29-30.

For more information call Maggie Patton or Dana Gamarra at the festival office, 645-9640, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. weekdays.

When summer temperatures soar, a perennial pest moves into your home for the season. Hot summer air.

Fortunately, there's the heat pump—the air conditioning system that gets rid of hot summer air and helps you save money.

Because the heat pump is a dual-purpose system, it's better than central air conditioning. The heat pump moves heat out of your house in summer, so you stay cool, and into your house during cold weather, so you save on fuel.

And you'll save on energy costs the year 'round.

Call Detroit Edison for a list of qualified heat pump dealers. It's a smart way to take the heat off your home—and your budget.

Fishing in Arkansas

Many memorable moments, few repeatable remarks

BY JAMES A. SHERMAN

It isn't true that planning a trip is more fun than the trip itself. At least this was the case in our recent bass fishing adventure to Bull Shoals Lake, Arkansas.

Planning, while having some excitement, also takes time, money, and patience. It takes several hours of watching tv shows featuring bass master competitions. It takes hours of shopping for particular 'killer' lures. It takes hours at bass fishing shows, learning new techniques, bait and equipment.

When the seven of us finally started down the highway at 6:30 a.m., on a Saturday each of us was prepared for catching every size and specie fish in the Great Lakes, Nova Scotia, Gulf of Mexico and the Nile.

Bass masters had told us to use 15 and 20 pound test line so when the lunkers took the bait to the weeds in the bottom of the lake we could haul them out.

Magazine articles told us to fish with Shagnasty lures, red, white, black or green plastic worms, Number 4 Uncle Josh frogs in black or green, and buzzer surface lures.

At Bull Shoals, our guide replaced the line on all our reels with 4 or 6 pound test, added No. 4 hooks, sold us minnows for bass and night crawlers for trout, and told us how the fish were biting last week.

One learns of great fishing sites by word-of-mouth, often while in a sitting position on a high or low stool. There is more belief to tales told under these circumstances.

That's how we heard of Bull Shoals Lake, some 880 miles from Oakland County. It was easy to sell the trip, once they knew the source of our information. Actually, it was Pansy Baldwin, my golf partner, who heard it first. He in turn inspired others to join us.

Pete Kalohn, Roadhaus restaurant owner-cook, volunteered himself and his son, Hans. My son, Jim, gave Hans company for many hours in the boat. And, Red Rewold and Wayne Mickelson of Rochester committed themselves.

We arrived at Bull Shoals Lake Boat Dock a day ahead of schedule. The owners, the Eastwold family, were most gracious. Our 40-ft. houseboat, that was to be our home for five days, was waiting at the dock.

The village of Bull Shoals seems new and is clean. Pete, who cooks for a living and on vacations, filled a shopping cart at the local grocery. Then we were off for instructions in running a floating, motorized house.

The houseboat is a base camp. We towed three rowboats with 7½ hp Chrysler motors. The 'camp' is 40-feet long and sleeps 10, provided eight are elves. When you take away 13 feet for deck fore and aft, it doesn't sleep seven men. The sons slept on deck, and only two of the three men in bunks could turn over.

Interesting thing about seven sleeping men . . . each one professes to never get to sleep because the others 'snored all night'.

The Monday through Friday houseboat rental is $575. A boat and motor rent for $13 a day. A guide is $100 a day, plus whatever you want to buy from his suggestion list. Our various supplies, not all recommended by the guide, added another $64.60. We used $40.25 in gas in the boats. A 14-day fishing license is $10.50 and trout license $3.

The balance of the costs are in the hands of the fisherman. The 880 mile trip prompts one night on the road and gas stops to satisfy your vehicle. As for fishing, well, having been skunked for a week in Canada, I could call the Arkansas experience outstanding. However, fair is more like it. We caught bass, not large or often. Son, Jim, had it figured at one bass every 5½ hours, and he and Hans were on the water a long time.

Practically all bass were taken on lures, of no particular description. I had hits on Pingatees, jointed Rebels, and plastic worms. Others had hits on jigs, pork rind and spinners.

The trout fishing was different. The guide took us to an area with a high rocky shore. We anchored about 50 feet out in 25 feet of water about 5:30 to save a spot for night fishing. By dark there were 15 boats within a short cast, lined up like a train.

The lure was a half a night crawler with two (not 3) kernels of corn on the hook. We fished in 12 to 15 feet of water and the guide insisted we use no bobber. I still don't know why not. That's the kind of fishing it was.

At dark a sealbeam light, attached to a battery, is laid on the water. The seven of us caught about a dozen trout and didn't go back for a second try.

By the way, the trout do not reproduce in Bull Shoals Lake. They are planted. All we caught were 12 inches long.

In the end, fishing in Arkansas is like fishing with a bunch of guys anywhere . . . the fellowship is more resting, more fun, and more important than the fishing.

Fellowship like trying to wash dishes after Pete has deliberately burned a half inch of scrambled eggs in the two frying pans while dirtying every other dish and utensil in the place.

Red put one pan away three times, thinking it was clean, until the light hit it.

Fellowship like always having someone's gear in your way, like getting everyone up at 5 a.m. to get on the water at 7:30, like short sheeting Wayne's bed, and like listening to Wayne expound little usable material from his vast source of knowledge.
