POH awaits 3rd review of satellite

By Marilyn Trumper

Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital officials are gearing up for a third, and final, review of their proposed $34 million, two-story satellite hospital in Independence Township, and remain optimistic they'll land the requested 100-bed transfer from their downtown Pontiac site.

"We still feel really positive," said Jack Cruikshank, director of development and public relations for POH, speaking about the upcoming review.

The first review by the sub-area committee last week gave the hospital approval in a 16-3 vote, according to Cruikshank.

The second review days later by Comprehensive

Health Planning Agency of Southeast Michigan, recommended denial in a 6-4 vote.

"All others were voted down 0 to 10. Ours was 6 against 4, and next to Crittendon, we're the closest to being approved," Cruikshank said.

The final review, scheduled next week, goes before the Executive Committee at the state level where the decision will be made.

POH is in competition with six other hospitals for beds.

According to Cruikshank, Crittendon wants 80 rehabilitation beds in its Rochester hospital.

"If I were Crittendon, I'd be screaming," he said. "We don't understand why all the hospitals were batched together for review. And Crittendon wants something totally different than what (all the others want)."

POH expects the final review to be in its favor, he said.

"We are still expecting some type of confirmation in August. That's the deadline we're shooting for," Cruikshank said.

In May, when five hospitals in addition to POH requested certificate of needs for beds, the state ordered a comparative review to determine which most qualified. The review was expected to take six months.

POH officials have long been on record saying their plan is a transfer of beds, not a request for additional beds, and are disenchanted with a comparative review.

Named North Oaks Community Hospital, the proposed township site at Dixie and White Lake roads is designed for inpatient and outpatient surgery, radiology, a laboratory, a pharmacy, physical medicine, rehabilitation, outpatient walk-in service, 24-hour emergency care and community health programs.

Other hospitals in competition include the following:

• William Beaumont Hospital since 1975 propos-

Election to decide supervisor

By Marilyn Trumper

Independence Township's 1984 primary will decide the supervisor's race in an office where three Republicans are running without Democratic opposition—and will determine what Republicans and Democrats face off for clerk, treasurer and trustee in the November election.

In addition, Independence Township voters decide the fate of an additional 1 mill, 15-year levy for police; and county voters a five-year .25-mill levy for Oakland County Parks and Recreation.

Incumbent Supervisor James B. Smith of Main Street, Clarkston, is opposed by 12-year Fire Chief Frank Ronk of Overlook Drive, and George Vitineros of Transparent Drive.

In the clerk's race, one Democrat and one Republican victor will emerge from the following: incumbent Clerk Richard Holman (R), of Clinton Drive, Independence Township; Claudia Brazel (R), Thendara Blvd, Independence Township; Brian L. Gerber (D), Maybee Road, Independence Township;

Floyd J. Tower (D), Main Street, Clarkston.

In the treasurer's race, two Republicans vie for the chance to go against incumbent Democrat Fred Ritter, E. Frank Richardson of Dixie Highway, Independence Township, and John Lutz of Lakeview Drive, Independence Township.

In the trustee race, seven candidates are running for four open slots. One Democrat runs unopposed in his party.

Of the six Republican trustee candidates, just four will win placement on the November ballot. The candidates are: Incumbent Dale Stuart of Mustang Drive, Independence Township; Incumbent Daniel F. Travis of Perry Lake Road, Independence Township; Incumbent William Vandermark of Cherrylawn Drive, Independence Township; Mel LeRoy Vaara of West Church, Independence Township; Lawrence Rosso of Delmonico, Independence Township; and Carol D. Balzarini of Reese Road, Independence Township.

Meet candidates in open forum

An open forum to question candidates running for local office is planned Aug. 2, hosted by United Neighbors of Independence Township (U.N.I.T.).

Fifteen of the 17 candidates for supervisor, clerk, treasurer and trustee are expected to attend the forum scheduled Thursday from 7:30 to 10 p.m. at Sashabaw Junior High School, 5565 Pine Knob, Independence Township.

Candidates are limited to five minutes to present their positions on key issues, and 10 minutes for an open question-and-answer session.

U.N.I.T. was established by a group of residents of the township's northeast quadrant who opposed a group home for their neighborhood and won.

Dozens of locals sign-up for Penthouse copies

By Marilyn Trumper

Dozens of bug-eyed locals are on waiting lists at Wonder Drug, Hallman's Apothecary and Creative Bookstore for a chance to buy $4 copies of September's Penthouse featuring nude photos of Vanessa Williams, who handed in her Miss America crown last week over the controversy.

In the black-and-white photographs, the 21-year-old Williams is seen totally nude in love scenes with another woman.

"I know exactly what page it's on," laughed Marilyn Craft, a clerk at Hallman's downtown Clarkston as she thumbed through the store's exclusive copy.

Each month Hallman's receives two copies of Penthouse for its shelves.

"We usually get two, and the two never sell," Marilyn laughed, adding this month, anticipating a larger circulation, they received four.

"We've sold the four, and we have 20 people on a waiting list. At least 50 people have stopped by asking, 'Is Penthouse here yet?'"

She snickers again.

"For a quarter, I'll give you a sneak preview."

Creative Bookstore in the Harvard Plaza sold its 60 copies hours after it hit the shelf July 26.

"People are driving me crazy," said clerk Janet Drake. "I almost didn't want to come in today. I knew it would be like this."

And they, too, have a waiting list.

According to Drake, Penthouse indicated it would make another press run, and more copies were expected on the store's shelves after the weekend.

At Wonder Drug the flurry is no different.

"We usually get 60 copies, and we have 60 names on a waiting list," said clerk Joan Caffery. "We're not allowed to sell them to anyone whose name is not on the list."

Just 45 minutes into her first hour on the job, Caffery had nine people request the magazine.

Vandals glue downtown locks

By Marilyn Trumper

Vandals glued the door locks on three downtown Clarkston businesses Thursday, July 26, and delayed their daily openings—for Rudy's Market, by two hours.

Management at Rudy's, the Clarkston Cafe and Aura Fine Arts were angry Thursday afternoon, after investing close to $65 each to have their locks removed, cleaned, and reinstalled.

"I'm not even sure at this point if it's going to work after it's been soaked," said Lee McNew, owner of the Clarkston Cafe. "We may have to replace the whole lock."

"They got just the front, so we were able to get in through the back door and unlock the front door from the inside."

"It makes me angry. These kinds of pranks I do not need," she said. "Business is difficult enough."

Doreen Schwarze, manager at Rudy's, said the prank couldn't have been on a worse day.

"This was our stock day when all the deliveries come in," she said. "We had to turn them away and ask them to come back later. They did."

Rudy's front and back doors were glued. Firefighter Steve Ronk climbed in an open back window and opened the store from the inside.

"He did a good job," Doreen said. "We were all real mad. We opened two hours late."

With their front door glued, employees at Aura Fine Arts entered through a side door, and opened 20 minutes past schedule, according to owner Karen Weaver.

"I was most angry," she said. "We worked here (the night before) until after 11 p.m., so it had to happen after that. It was obviously someone who was taking great care and knew what they were doing."

The merchants suspect it's the work of a young vandal or vandals.

State's pulling to save Ritter home

By Marilyn Trumper

A July 6 letter from the Michigan History Division (MHD) to village President Carol Eberhardt heralds moves to save the 120-year-old Ritter home and relocate it to the downtown historic district.

The president of the Clarkston Community Historical Society is upset copies of the letter weren't distributed to the council. Eberhardt says the council members were aware the letter existed but none requested copies.

The two-page letter from Kathryn B. Eckert, deputy state historic preservation officer, says she's certain the MHD's preservation philosophy parallels Clarkston's, and is designed to establish statewide standards for historic preservation; to identify and document significant historic resources, private preservation agencies, organizations and individuals; and to educate the general public concerning the value of historic preservation.

"We know that a good local preservation effort often takes some creative new thinking on the part of local leaders to meet these goals. A fresh look at building relocations and zoning practices is what is needed now in Clarkston," the letter reads.

A building that contributes to the National Register District, Eckert wrote, must be at least 50 years old, not have lost the architectural integrity of its exterior facade and must "...not be out of keeping with the district's character because of its size, design, materials, function or other factors.

"...The MHD does not feel that the building in question can be dismissed as a potentially contributing addition to Clarkston's district on any of these points," Eckert wrote.

"Is it sound legislation?"

The letter urges the zoning ordinance amendment to allow the Ritter home to move in the historic district, saying the MHD "...hopes the village will pursue it," and offers guidance in drafting the law.

The letter concluded, "...The entire staff of the Michigan History Division is aware of your considerations concerning the Ritter House and believes that a zoning amendment can be crafted to meet the needs of historic buildings while not inviting abuses by others. The decision is more a matter of whether the village wants to follow the tried-and-true course of its zoning regulations, or meet the challenge of some creative new thinking on behalf of historic preservation."

The MHD routinely writes this kind of letter, Eckert said, both when requested and on its own initiative.

"We are an advocate of historical preservation," Eckert said. "We routinely comment on matters or issues related to historical preservation."

Eberhardt said the council had discussed the MHD so many times, she didn't feel the letter could give members any more information.

"I guess the reason I didn't (distribute copies of the letter) was the council has nothing to say technically whether the house can be moved here or not. The zoning board of appeals decides that. We can only amend the law and I didn't see the point," Eberhardt said.

Village attorney John Steckling recommended the council remove the MHD from the proposed ordinance amendment as the body that decides which homes are historical, and give that power back to the council.

"And I agree," Eberhardt said. "I have a problem with any agency outside of (local) government having control. I think we have to assume control. But that's not to say we can't take (the MHD's) advice."

A public hearing scheduled Monday night may end the issue, she says.

"I think the reason this has been such a bugger to end is that everyone is discussing something different," she said. "There's a strong belief that if a structure is historically significant, it should be significant enough to waive the zoning restrictions."

"The issue for so many is simply to move the house, or not to move the house. It's not been a question of 'is it sound legislation?'"

Eberhardt contends it's not sound legislation and leaves the village open to problems.

"And I still believe that," she said. "I have a problem with it. I don't know that the (MHD) is an impartial agency. I have questions."

But after four months of discussion, she's tired of it.

"I'm to the point where if a majority of the people at that meeting say they want it to fly, it'll fly. But the whole town, even those who don't show up, have to be willing to pay the consequences," she said.

ABOVE THE CROWD: The main attraction in the Oakland County 4-H parade, as expected, was horses. Over 30 clubs participated in the parade July 28 in Springfield Township near the Marilyn Rosner, president of the Clarkston Community Historical Society, says it's important to know the MHD supports Clarkston and wanted the council members to receive copies of the letter.

"(The MHD is) full of experts on preservation and history and we have to listen. If we went so far as to be recognized on the National Register we should listen to them," Rosner said. "We have an obligation to do that or throw in the sponge and give back our historical designation."

On 19 acres off Clintonville

New nursing home proposed

By Marilyn Trumper

Francis Verlee, owner of Grovecrest Continuing Care in Pontiac and operator of a group home for six seniors on Chickadee Lane, proposes a 120-bed $3.2 million skilled nursing home on Clintonville Road—and has already landed her certificate of need from the state.

At its July 26 meeting, the Independence Township Planning Commission briefly reviewed the proposal for the 19-acre site which has the proper zoning, but requires a special use. A public hearing is scheduled on the use issue Aug. 9.

According to Verlee's architect Ron Shurman, of Smith and Shurman Associates, Bloomfield Hills, future development on the site includes a home for aged and a continuing care center.

Planning commission Chairman Neil Wallace said there was no thorough review of the plans at the July 26 meeting.

"We looked at the papers briefly before sending it on to the hearing," Wallace said. "But it looks like a fine addition to the community. She has her certificate of need, the blessings of the state, and from what we understand she has a very good record at the state."

Verlee's son and partner, Paul Verlee, says they are excited about the development, in the works long before Hugh Garner's proposed $33 million senior complex.

"We didn't know anything about his when we first started to plan," he said. "We selected Independence because for a long time we've been servicing a large percentage of its residents here at Grovecrest. It's been 10 years in the planning."

The public hearing is scheduled Aug. 9 at 7:30 p.m. in the Independence Township Hall Annex, 90 N. Main, Clarkston.

Parade sign-up

"We Love a Parade" is the theme of this year's Clarkston Labor Day Parade, sponsored by the Clarkston Rotary Club.

The Monday, Sept. 3, parade is to begin at 10 a.m. from Clarkston Junior High School at Waldon Road, head north down Main Street and finish at Miller Road. There will be local cable television coverage this year.

Area clubs and organizations interested in entering a float or marching unit should contact parade chairman Marvin Zmudcynski at 625-0020, or evenings at 623-2042. All participants must be registered.

There are a number of specialty groups looking for sponsors, Zmudcynski said.

Also planned is a "Kiddie Klown Kontest" for children up to age 10 with prizes for makeup and costumes. All contestants will be invited to march in the parade. Judging is to begin at 9 a.m. at CJHS.

7th Independence deputy's duties draw fire

The seventh deputy hired by Independence Township began crime prevention patrol July 25. He'll work the afternoon shift Monday through Friday in targeted areas, with scooter patrol volunteers, for a $30,757 fee until January.

In March, the township board voted 5-1 to hire the additional deputy. In subsequent discussion at the June 9 meeting, board members indicated they wanted the newest deputy to work on road patrol.

The job duties of the deputy were negotiated by Supervisor James B. Smith, and Trustee Dale Stuart is not pleased.

Stuart has long been on record for a deputy that responds to crime calls and patrols all of the township routinely.

"If we are paying the same amount for this officer and his equipment as we would be paying for a regular officer, then we're paying too much," Stuart said. "I voted anticipating a reactive patrol, reacting to crime calls, and that is exactly what I expected."

The seventh deputy will be establishing Neighborhood Watch programs in subdivisions which request it, a service now provided free by the OCSD.

"We shouldn't be spending our money on that," Stuart said. "If that's what he's doing, we're paying too darn much money for him."

Supervisor Smith defends the police officer's duties. "...It's all in your definition of road patrol," he said. "I outlined to the board what I was doing at the time we talked about it and, I think, in a memo."

Smith remembers great debate over whether the officer would do liaison work.

"I don't remember any problem with proactive versus reactive," he said. "The board agreed it would be in a crime prevention mode."

Stuart didn't know the seventh deputy had begun work, neither did Trustee Larence Kozma who's long supported more road patrol.

"I always felt the seventh deputy should be on the road, and if it's preventative patrol, then fine," Kozma said.

"I was just always concerned we'd be paying for a deputy who'd be out in the schools and giving lectures, and that's what I didn't want. I wanted them on the road."

Sgt. Robert Smith of the OCSD says the deputy "... won't solely be taking response calls. He's been assigned to CAP (Crime and Accident Prevention).

"We've targeted areas like Woodhull and one party store where we've had a lot of loitering complaints to try and cut down on the nuisance problems," he said.

The deputy will work with 30 reserves, two a day on the afternoon shift from 3 to 11 p.m., on scooters or in patrol cars.

In five days, the deputy and volunteers made three arrests, one for loitering and two for assault and battery, and issued numerous tickets.

The seventh deputy will not be on routine road patrol, but will respond to calls if needed in and outside the township, Sgt. Smith said.

Independence Township donated space in its DPW building on Flemings Lake Road to store the scooters, he said.

The seventh man, Deputy Lawrence Liggett, participated in setting up Avon Township's A-Team, and will return to that school district as a liaison officer when school's back in session.

It's not expected his Independence Township replacement will be a liaison officer in Clarkston schools, Sgt. Smith said.

Vandals destroy election signs

Thieves and vandals are after campaign signs in Independence Township, and they're costing the candidates money.

Clerk Richard Holman estimates he's lost 20 signs at $7 a pop—and that doesn't include the stick.

"That's just the cardboard," he says. "I'm not losing them in my neighborhood. It's in the other locations they're disappearing."

Larry Rosso, trustee candidate, says he's lost about 10 signs out of 60.

"But I'm writing" it off to my occupation," the Clarkston High School teacher said. "I'm sure they'll show up the first day of school, or are in some kid's room right now as a kind of trophy."

Fire Chief Frank Ronk, supervisor candidate, says he's lost about 10 but remains calm on the issue.

"They're gone. That just means they won't be out there giving me the visibility I need," he said.

Two hundred "Retain Better Government" signs have disappeared, said Trustee Daniel Travis who's running under the slogan with Holman, Supervisor

James B. Smith and Trustee William Vandermark.

"I don't have very many left," he said.

Smith says he's lost two 4-by-8 signs worth $100 each.

"It makes you wonder what kind of citizens we have in parts of our township," Smith said.

Fire engine sells

Independence Township is selling its 25-year-old fire truck for $8,000 to the upper peninsula township of Columbus.

The township board approved the sale July 17. The truck, according to Fire Chief Frank Ronk, has been stored unused since last fall when the township bought its new large-gallon tanker.

Seniors pleased

New septic

The Independence Township Senior Citizen Center is getting a new septic system at a cost of $14,500, including engineering, to be paid for from federal revenue sharing.

The board approved the new system July 17.

"It's been bad for a long time," said center Director Rina Chemin. "The busier we'd get, the worse it got."

The center, renovated from a home, has a residential system that couldn't handle the more intense use, Chemin said.

"And in the winter the lines would freeze. They used to go across the backyard, but we use the backyard now for a parking lot. The weight of the cars would push the frost down on the lines and freeze them. It got expensive calling a company to come out every other day and thaw them out."

Work is expected to begin immediately, according to Timothy Doyle, director of parks and recreation.

Fair warning

Al Zawacky

It's easy to tell when I'm very short of money. You can find me in my basement gathering up all my empty pop and beer bottles.

I try to be orderly when storing empties. But, somehow, there always seems to be at least one six-pack carton with only five bottles. Or an eight-pack with seven. A household search turns up nothing. What happens to these missing bottles is a mystery worthy of Hercule Poirot.

And, without fail, there are always a few bottles of obscure brand names or weird sizes, which no party store or supermarket will accept. Most party store owners will scornfully toss the offending bottle back into your crumpled grocery bag when you attempt to return something like "Wojtowiczlawaska Imported Polish Beer" bottles or "Acme Sparkling Cola." I currently have in my collection a can of soda of a brand name I've never heard of, which no merchant will accept. Where did it come from? Poirot is still working on it.

Coping with the hassle of returning cans and bottles is a chastening experience for a man like me who voted for the deposit law several years back, and who continues to righteously declare his unmoving support.

The bottle law is a good idea, you know—even if it is a pain in the neck sometimes. But, whenever I return bottles, I have the sneaking suspicion that the checkout clerk knows how I voted, and is resolved to treat me with the contempt he/she thinks I deserve.

I HAVE THIS theory about party store and grocery clerks. The uniformity of their response to people returning bottles prompts me to speculate that they all attend classes on how to look annoyed. Any one who has not mastered the proper sneer is denied some kind of certification. Even if your bottles and cans are clean, organized and sport such familiar logos as Coca-Cola and Stroh's, most party store and checkout clerks turn surly when they see someone approaching with arms full of clinking returnables.

On the positive side, deposit bottles do provide a source of emergency cash. But the comfort is illusory.

You haul to the corner store what seems like the 24-hour output of the American beverage industry—a cumbersome mass of clinking bottles and cans that require several trips from your car to the counter. The haul is counted; you rub your hands in anticipation, and the clerk announces the total: $5.10.

So much for your emergency cash fund. The impact of $5.10 on a $180 car payment is, of course, less than earth-shattering.

Realizing again the tiny financial reward of saving bottles and cans—and the hassle of hauling in some 50 at once—I usually leave the store resolved never again to buy any more pop or beer without simultaneously returning some empties. This would eliminate the massive accumulations in the basement and avoid further alienating party store clerks.

But, alas, it never seems to work out that way. A wise man once noted that history teaches that man learns nothing from history. Indeed, I continue to buy pop and beer without "getting around" to returning an equal amount of empties; the basement inventories seem to grow larger with each haul.

It could probably be demonstrated mathematically that if currently trends continue, someday I'll be able to make that car payment with bottles and cans. That would require a haul of 1,800 bottles, or 300 six-packs.

You party store clerks have been warned.

TWO WRONGS STILL DON'T MAKE A RIGHT

Memories

Kathy
Greenfield

When a large, magnificent, green grasshopper appeared on our living room curtains, my husband (he'll hate me for this) began a merry chase.

Shortly thereafter, I swooped in, scooped the creature up with my hand and released it to the great outdoors. He'd probably say the grasshopper was too tired to resist.

But I say this is the kind of skill you learn when raised in the country.

A couple of weeks ago I was discussing a something similar with my family. We were gathered together in my parents' raspberry patch, each assigned to a row. The two youngest participants in our ranks were rather reluctant to be out in the berry patch again.

"You'll have fond memories of this when you're older," I promised.

They laughed at my silliness.

But it's true: I know they'll change their minds because I did, and I grew up forever reluctant to weed and harvest the garden crops.

I now fondly remember picking cucumbers, tomatoes and beans. And the soft popping sound a jar makes when it seals will forever be a pleasant memory. How proud we all were when we could announce the quarts of successfully sealed produce.

I never weed anything without thinking about the garden, about the feeling of success when a long row no longer had to fight with weeds for water and nutrients.

And, there were everyday lessons in the importance of creatures who shared our environment, admonitions not to bother the spider in the bean row, pleasure over finding ladybugs in the garden.

When we were children, we took time to sit in the garden and observe magnificent green grasshoppers going about their business, occasionally catching one to observe it more closely, then letting it go.

That's even better than stopping to smell the flowers.

Jim's Jottings

My old man

Jim Sherman

My old man was a railroad man. I've written that in jest in the past, knowing he'd read it, though he'd always deny reading this column.

Of course, past columns said Dad "is a railroad man."

Dair McKinley Sherman died July 13 at age 92. I was never told where the given name 'Dair' came from, but the McKinley was his mother's maiden name. It was somewhere tied to President McKinley, of whom Dad's mother never spoke kindly, he said.

The Sherman came from England, and was mixed with various nationalities along the way. Statesman John Sherman and General Sherman are kin of some kind.

Tracing this kinship was not my bag, and Dad reminded me of this shortcoming in recent years. He thought I should visit cemeteries around Mt. Gilead, Ohio and check my roots.

I thought by calling Dad a railroad man I was setting an image Jottings readers could vision. He was over 6'2" and 220 pounds. His fingers were big like the giant size pieces of caulk he used to mark railroad box cars.

His hands were massive, his vocabulary colorful at times, and his temper strong. He violated the liquor laws during prohibition. He smoked Pall Malls, chewed Copenhagen, frequented saloons, and . . . probably I have the wrong image of a railroad man.

Anyway, Dad also gave up smoking, chewing and eventually, even drinking beer. The loss of my mother 20 years ago was a severe blow to him and us.

10 years ago an auto accident forced Dad from the road, than his innards acted up, and he had to give up living alone. But, he was the hit of the home. Perhaps it was the flirt in him, but nurses and aides loved Dad. They'd buy for him, sneak food for him, and laugh at his caustic humor. So did I.

Since his death I think of what Dad talked about most in life. I believe it was World War I. Since I was in WWII, he emphasized the 1914-18 war "The Big War."

I have Dad's two diaries from the War. A graduate of Parson's Business School in Chicago, his handwriting was beautiful, legible Spencerian script. He wrote something every day . . . sometimes of lice, sometimes of his future wife, often of mud, and sometimes the shooting.

More than his children, much more than his work, Dad talked of The War. His memory was vivid to the end, as was his mind. How fortunate for him and those around him.

One can hope his strength of life will be passed on.

Predictions for '84 primary election

The primary election Aug. 7 has become an election of primary importance for Independence Township voters.

The vast majority of candidates for township board positions are Republicans—and the Aug. 7 election will virtually decide the next township supervisor because there are no candidates on the Democratic ticket.

The election is also important for trustee positions. Four of the six Republican candidates will survive to appear on the November ballot, running against the lone Democrat on the primary ballot whose nomination is assured.

Several people have asked us to make election predictions.

'Yes' on police

Voters in Independence Township face two ballot questions on the Aug. 7 primary ballot, one local and one countywide.

The local question asks for 1 mill more in taxes for police protection. (One mill is $1 for each $1,000 of assessed property valuation.)

Voters have repeatedly rejected paying more taxes than the existing 1 mill for police, but we believe it is time to double our money.

Lo, crime in Independence Township has not disappeared despite our rural atmosphere and our general belief that this place is too nice to have bad guys around. It's time we faced the reality and paid to give our community more protection.

When we asked township candidates to comment on police protection in their statements in the election section, many volunteered support for the millage question, and we're following suit.

Vote "yes" for 1 additional mill for police protection.

The countywide millage renewal is for one-quarter mill (25 cents for each $1,000 of assessed property valuation) for county parks. Our community has two—Independence Oaks and Springfield Oaks. We should support the renewal.

Vote "yes" to renew one county parks millage.

—KLG

The supervisor's race is difficult to guess, although we believe candidate George Vitineros will receive fewest votes.

Incumbent James B. Smith successfully rallied forces in 1980 to overcome then Supervisor Floyd Tower. There's no doubt he's working to do precisely the same thing to win over his Republican opponent Frank G. Ronk.

Ronk, however, has the township fire department behind him—and there is no peer in the township for election organization skills. Firefighters have been successful in rallying for community support for fire millages on a regular basis. Through his 12 years as fire chief and 28 years on the fire department, Ronk has met practically everyone in the township—and he's well liked. Therefore, we predict Ronk will win—but it will be close.

In the clerk's race, we believe Floyd Tower will easily win the November ballot spot over Brian Gerber on the Democratic ticket. Tower's opponent has not campaigned.

On the Republican side, however, vigorous campaigns are underway between incumbent Clerk Richard Holman and candidate Claudia Brazel. We believe Holman will win his party's nomination because he has the reputation of doing a good job in the post he was appointed to by the township board in August 1983, but it could be close.

In the treasurer's race, we believe John Lutz will win the Republican nomination. He has campaigned vigorously and his opponent, E. Frank Richardson, has not. Democratic candidate Frederick P. Ritter has no opponent in his party.

The trustee race is the most difficult to predict. There are three incumbent trustees running for re-election—Dale Stuart, Daniel Travis and William Vandermark. They face worthy opponents on their Republican ticket—Carol Balzarini, Lawrence Rosso and Mel LeRoy Vaara.

Usually incumbents are more active in governmental affairs than their opponents, but this is not the case this time around. As you read over the Republican candidates' biographies in our election section, you'll notice they all have impressive credentials.

Indeed, this group of six candidates is so qualified we believe the voters cannot go wrong.

But based on campaigns, we predict Balzarini, who has run for office before, has a chance this time around. And the others likely to win their party's nomination are Travis, Rosso and Vandermark.

Their lone Democratic opponent, Charles Smalley, is assured a place on the November ballot.

As you read through the line-up of predictions, you may have noticed campaign skills were mentioned frequently.

That's the significant factor, especially in a primary election. Voters who appear at the polls are usually there to vote for a specific candidate, unlike the November election when the opportunity to vote for president is one many Americans don't pass up.

If you have any preferences at all on the local candidates, your vote in the primary could make a difference.

'If It Fitz . . .'

No VCR itch here

Jim Fitzgerald

The pressure is building. I feel it more and more as each day passes. Maybe someday I will cave in. But I plan to continue resisting as long as I have the support of the woman I love.

To give you an idea of the intense pressure: Just during the last 10 days, in three separate incidents, an entertainer, a film producer and a TV newsman turned the screws. They made me feel like a covered wagon on an eight-lane freeway.

The entertainer wanted me to see his new act, so he handed me a videocassette to take home. The producer asked me to review his latest film, and offered to mail me a videocassette. And the TV newsman said if I missed one of his shows live on Channel 4, he'd give me a videocassette of it so I could watch it anytime at home.

BUT THERE is no way for me to play videocassettes in my home. I don't own a video cassette recorder. I don't want to own one. I don't want to watch movies at home anymore than I want to read books in a theater. VCRs are the most insidious invention since soft couches and take-out-in-a-pail beer.

People keep telling me the big attraction of the VCR is not that you can watch rented, purchased or borrowed movies on it in your very own living room. The really marvelous thing, they say, is that the VCR allows you to never miss a TV program you really want to see. You can tape a TV show while you're asleep, or at work, or even while you're watching another TV show, and then watch the tape later, at your leisure, over and over and over again.

My problem is I can't think of a TV program I would mind missing. Not one. The TV set is often on in my home, and I regularly look up from my newspaper to watch a Vic Tanny commercial or the replay of a base hit. But there is nothing on television that, once gone from my view, I would pay one cent to bring back.

I don't mean to be critical of anyone who is disappointed to miss an episode of "The A-Team" or "The Dukes of Hazzard." To each his own. It only proves that some people are capable of feeling disappointment when their dentist can't find a reason to drill.

A few years ago, I felt deprived whenever I couldn't watch CBS-TV at 7 p.m. Sunday. But now even "60 Minutes" has become so predictable I can't tell the fresh segments from reruns of segments I've seen before. Most of today's TV programming is more irritating than entertaining. Using a VCR to capture it for later viewing is similar to taping an itch for later scratching.

AS FOR movies made for theaters, it isn't just that I want to see them on the big screen. I realize home TV screens are getting bigger just as fast as the multiple screens in shopping mall theaters are getting smaller. But I want to take my date out to a movie and then to dinner and a piano bar. I want to get out of the house and see real live people.

So, when people offer me videocassettes to watch at home, I must admit I don't own a VCR. It's embarrassing. They look at me as if I'd admitted there is no refrigerator in my home, and to keep food cold my underprivileged neglected wife must store it outside on the window sill.

But I don't care. I enjoy my stuffed leather chair, but I also enjoy taking my favorite date out for a good time. She likes it, too. I hope I don't own a VCR until she decides she'd rather stay home and watch tapes of Vic Tanny commercials.

Letters to editor

Firefighters defend their grievance procedure

This is in response to the firefighter contract article that appeared in the July 25th Clarkston News.

The supervisor says that the firefighters have filed a number of grievances, most of which were turned down by the supervisor, and none of which were settled by the chief. This is not quite correct.

No grievance has ever been just turned down, as is stated. And the reason the chief never settled any is because he does not have the authority to do so.

Three of the grievances concerned leave time (vacation days, personal days, etc.). After the fire chief had scheduled days off for his personnel, the supervisor canceled the days, saying we don't allow days off to be scheduled the way they were.

So all at once we have a new policy on vacation leaves, without any change at all in the contract. In fact, it's the same wording that was there when the current supervisor took office.

As for the level III section of the grievance procedure, the reason that was scheduled to go to arbitration is because the township did not follow what the contract said.

The step was put in to save both sides money, and possibly with outside people coming in, to settle the grievance. Unfortunately our people were never talked to, and the answer that was to come from the four-person panel was written by the township attorney, at a cost of about $100, typed by the supervisor's secretary, and then signed by only the township's side of the panel.

So it didn't save money or solve the problem. In fact, the entire grievance cost the people of Independence Township about $12,000 to decide when vacations could be taken.

The members of the firefighters' union believed then, as now, that when people can go on vacation should be up to the department head, not the supervisor.

As for the statement that management rights and department operations are the biggest issue, he is correct.

We believe that there are management rights, but does management have the right to change a contracted policy without renegotiating the wording of the signed contract? This has happened quite regularly over the past few years.

We also believe that when days off are taken the department must be able to continue to operate as normal. But is it the department head who should decide this, or the supervisor, with the township labor attorney?

In closing, I would like to respond to Supervisor Smith's question on labor attorney costs.

Ours are paid by the full-time firefighters, and to us they are a lot. But in comparison to the township bills, they are almost nothing.

Since 1981 we have spent around $3,000 in attorney costs, as compared to the township's cost of about $25,000.

Of course this is because we do not use our attorney as often as the township. And also because our costs are nowhere near $125 per hour, as are the township's.

Michael Fahrner, president
Local 2629 ITPFFA

'Supervisor's rhetoric wrong'

The township supervisor in his political rhetoric has listed 10 specific goals he established in 1980. Most of these goals were well established and in the works before he took office, others stemmed from problems and circumstances unknown in 1980.

The people of our community along with various agencies involved stopped Levy and funded purchase of the 80 acres, not the township board.

The fire department deficit was eliminated by taxpayer support, not the township board.

The senior citizen center and parks and recreation facilities in our community are due to active senior citizen involvement and the positive planning and initiative of our parks and recreation department which began long before 1980.

Goals are established and achieved by community support, all the board did was ride the same bus.

What I feel was established during the last four years is an autocratic system with so-called independent voters. The township supervisor provides the board with information he feels will determine the issue and they vote on it.

If unsatisfactory, the issue gets muddled and clouded, batted around by task forces, consulting firms, etc., or put in legal terms by an attorney so it can be interpreted the way he likes.

Talk to neighbors or friends who have been involved with board action over the last four years. I believe you will find many more negative than positive things.

In last week's issue of The Clarkston News, an article discussed firefighters' contract talks and grievances. The grievances referred to actually cover policies negotiated in 1978 that remained unchanged in the negotiations under this administration.

Tired of the razzle-dazzle???
Then vote for Claudia Brazel!!!

Cathy Rinehart

As our primary election approaches Aug. 7, the residents of Independence Township have the opportunity to vote for a voice that will be for the people.

We the people of Independence Township must vote for better government and elect Claudia Brazel for our township clerk.

Susan L. Lester

I am voting on Aug. 7 to retain Richard A. Holman as Independence Township clerk. Since his unanimous appointment as clerk last August, Rick has performed the duties of township clerk well.

Rick is educated. He has a master's degree in public administration.

Rick is experienced. He has over six years of local government management experience with three local units of government.

Rick is well respected among clerks and other elected officials throughout the state of Michigan. He has received national recognition for this budgeting and accounting procedures.

I ask my friends to join me in keeping Rick Holman as township clerk.

Janet Rose

Citizens of Independence Township can take a giant step in the right direction by voting for Claudia Brazel for township clerk.

Claudia has worked endlessly for local concerns since moving to Independence Township and Thendara Park subdivision.

Claudia has always listened to the problems that citizens are faced with in this community, and more importantly, Claudia has done her very best to make life less complicated for all of us.

Claudia's keen interest and persistence in local matters of grave concern make her the ideal choice for township clerk.

Claudia's leadership will give us all a "voice" in government and a dedicated advocate for our concerns.

Claudia Brazel deserves our vote for Independence Township clerk.

Greg Clevenger

The voters of Independence Township have the opportunity on Aug. 7 to nominate four Republican candidates for trustees on our township board out of six Republican candidates running.

I feel this unique rural community needs closer cooperation between the Independence Township Board and the Clarkston School Board for the best use of taxpayer money. Working together these two groups can offer this community many benefits which neither group can afford by themselves.

I endorse Carol Balzarini for trustee, as she is politically very knowledgeable, is extremely supportive of our schools and has experience on the planning commission.

My four votes are for Carol Balzarini, Larry Rosso, Dan Travis and Mel Vaara.

Don't forget to exercise your right to vote on August 7th.

D' Elegance

The engine on this '77 Corvette is cleaner than the polished exterior of his own car, says Jim Butler of Drayton Road, Independence Township. Owner of the car is Dave Corbin, co-chairperson of the North Oaks Corvette Concours D' Elegance with Joe Tolbert, both of Waterford. "Every year it seems like the quality of the cars (competing for trophies) is just a little better," says Dave. He also reveals the method of keeping his engine spotless. "You drive it. You go back home. You don't go into the house," he says. "You open (the hood) and wipe it down."

Candidates for township supervisor

Frank G. Ronk

Frank G. "Tink" Ronk, 55, of 6056 Overlook, Clarkston, has served as Independence Township Fire Department chief since 1972 and as a volunteer 28 years.

He was born in Clarkston, and began his fire department career during high school as a volunteer when many local men were in service during World War II.

After high school, Ronk worked at Morgan's Service Station and then graduated from the Flint Institute of Barbering.

Shortly after graduation, he was called to serve in the armed forces during the Korean War. Upon his return he opened a barbershop in Clarkston, which he operated 20 years.

He and his wife, Mary, who is employed at the Pontiac State Bank, have three children.

His statement:

Independence Township is a diversified community. Our government must be responsible to all residents regardless of length of residence, income or age. All boards, commissions and task forces should reflect this diversity.

One of our great strengths is our school system. Our township administration must develop a close working relationship with their leadership for the betterment of all.

Police, fire and emergency medical services should also be a community strength. Residents have shown their support for quality education and should be given the same opportunity to decide the level of other necessary services if additional funds are needed and justified.

James B. Smith

James B. Smith, 68, of 58 N. Main, Clarkston, is the incumbent township supervisor, an office he has held since 1980.

Independence Township residents 15 years, he and his wife, Betty, have four children and 11 grandchildren.

Smith majored in business administration at Wayne State University, Detroit. He co-founded an educational and training equipment firm in 1948; and in 1980 he relinquished the presidency of his firm to become township supervisor.

He is chairman of the six-community Greater Pontiac Area Consortium, formed under the Job Partnership Training Act to provide training and retraining for the unemployed; president of the Oakland County Association of Township Supervisors and its Police Services Study Committee; East Central Region Vice President of the Boy Scouts of America and a Silver Beaver awardee; past Rotary Club president and now a member and a Paul Harris Fellow; member of SEMCOG's Council on Regional Development committee; past Episcopal Church Senior Warden and present member of the Church of the Resurrection.

His statement:

Independence Township officials and other township-paid workers.

•A volunteer program to reduce current paid man hours needed to maintain services.

In general, I will introduce ways to reduce property taxes, maintain services and maintain a deficit-free budget.

Major issues facing the township include: resolution of the costly county plan for new taxes on local municipalities to finance an expansive solid waste plan; provision of adequate, cost-effective management, personnel and equipment fire policies based on forthcoming consultant study; increased crime-prevention personnel with more citizen participation; completion of M-15/Dixie and several subdivision road improvements, and senior citizen housing/health care projects; continued strong zoning and Master Plan observance to preserve quality and nature of residential and commercial development; attraction of clean research-type facilities and top quality commercial firms to enhance local tax and employment base; new community center.

George Vitinaros

George Vitinaros of 6731 Transparent, Independence Township, has resided in the area 10 years.

He is a graduate of Clarkston High School.

His statement:

If I am elected Independence Township Supervisor, I plan to take the platform of efficiency in all township operations.

In brief:

•Negotiation of cuts in pay with other In-

*****

Claudia S. Brazel

Claudia Brazel of 8895 Thendara, Independence Township, formerly covered government news in Independence and Waterford townships for a weekly paper.

She and her husband, David, have lived in Independence five years. She has lived in Oakland County 33 years.

Brazel attended Oakland University as a physics major and followed a course of general studies at Oakland Community College.

She is a member of the Clarkston Community Education Advisory Board and a member of the Republican Party. She was a 6th District alternate delegate for the 1984 State Republican Convention.

Her statement:

The very nature of the world we live in requires an attitude of preparation and planning. We must anticipate changes that will occur in population, growth and economics and provide a clear sense of direction for our community that preserves its unique identity, expands the use of its natural resources, and protects the rights and chosen life-styles of its citizens.

We can no longer afford to simply react to the future. We must adopt a leadership position regarding the future and consider our community an example to others of how to plan and provide for a secure and affordable tomorrow.

*****

Brian Gerber

Brian Gerber of 5915 Maybee Road, Independence Township, did not respond to our letter requesting biographical information and a statement.

He is a Republican candidate.

*****

Richard A. Holman

Richard Holman, 30, of 4645 Clinton, Independence Township, has served on the township board since appointed to the position by the township board in August 1983.

Holman graduated in 1982 with a master's degree in public administration from Wayne State University, Detroit, and in 1976 with a bachelor's degree in economics from Kalamazoo College.

His work experience includes over six years of local government management experience, including city treasurer and finance director for the City of Wixom for three-and-one-half years.

Holman is currently secretary of the Oakland County Chapter of the Michigan Townships Association. He is a member of the International Institute of Municipal Clerks, the Municipal Finance Officers Association and the Clinton River Watershed Council.

He and his wife, Becky, are the parents of two, Erica, 4, and Jessica, 20 months.

His statement:

Independence Township, like all developing townships, faces a rising crime rate. We must realize we do not have adequate police protection. National standards call for one officer per 1,000 population. Our police staff currently stands at seven per 22,000. For these reasons, I support the upcoming police fund millage request.

I am committed to a planned, prioritized capital improvement program for our fire department. I believe, over the next four years, we can renovate and/or replace two fire stations, as well as provide timely replacement of our capital equipment. We can accomplish this with good fiscal management.

*****

Floyd J. Tower

Floyd J. Tower of 177 N. Main, Clarkston, is the electrical inspector for the City of Novi. He served as Independence Township supervisor from 1976 to 1980.

An area resident 42 years, he and his wife, Dawn, have six children.

Tower has been in the electrical construction field 18 years and is the holder of a State Masters license. He served in the United States Marines two years. Prior to employment by Novi, he worked two years as project coordinator for all building inspections for the Orion Township G.M.A.D. plant.

He graduated from Clarkston High School and Detroit Trade School. He completed education service seminar courses for local government budgeting, labor negotiations and personnel administration.

Tower served five years on the township planning commission, two years as a Clarkston Village Council member, and five years as a part-time electrical inspector and secretary for the electrical board.

He is past commander, adjutant and treasurer of the American Legion Post No. 63; past chairman and secretary of the Masonic Temple Board, Cedar Lodge No. 60; past chairman of the Clarkston United Methodist Church Board of Trustees; and past department of Michigan, American Legion Executive Board, Americanism chairman and Veterans Poppy chairman.

His statement:

The continued rising police contract costs and increased local needs without supported millage is a big concern. We should repeat political negotiations for reductions in the county contract.

The residents approve millage for fire services, the township board approves a yearly budget and any department director is expected to operate within their budget. Rather than hire a special attorney, the law provides for a board member to be appointed fire commissioner and act as a liaison between the township board and the fire department. Let's get on with it.

Township question:

Tax increase for police protection

What it says—

Shall the limitation on ad valorem taxes imposed on real and tangible personal property within the unincorporated portions of Independence Township, Oakland County, Michigan, be increased for a period of 15 years from 1985 to 1999, inclusive, by an amount of up to one (1) mill ($1 per $1,000 assessed valuation) for the purpose of police protection for the police fund with all or a portion of such one "1" mill to be levied as determined in the discretion of the township board, such levy is in excess of the constitutional limitations as set forth in Article 9, Sec. 6 and Sec. 25 through 34.

What it means—

If Independence Township voters approve a proposed additional 1 mill ($1 for each $1,000 of assessed property valuation) for police protection, they'll generate approximately $265,000 annually to the police fund.

Approval would mean an additional $40 to the tax bills of property owners with homes assessed at $40,000, or half the market value, collected for the next 15 years through 1999.

Village of Clarkston residents do not vote on this issue. They pay a pro-rated portion of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department contract fee through general fund taxes paid to the village.

John Lutz

John Lutz, 34, of 8639 Lakeview, Independence Township, is an independent businessman with his own interior decoration firm—Suburban Design Wallprinting.

A township resident eight years, he and his wife, Kathy, have two sons. Raised in Berkley, Lutz is a lifelong resident of Oakland County.

He attended Oakland Community College and has completed course work in construction estimation and solar energy at the Michigan Builder's Exchange. His work experience includes restaurant management, crew foreman in construction and assistant superintendent managing major projects.

Lutz has served as president of the Sunny Beach Property Owners Association, as a member of the National Ski Patrol at Pine Knob, and as a member of the Knights of Columbus Council 5436 and St. Daniel's Church.

His statement:
Public safety is on everyone's mind. With a growing community such as ours, I'm pleased to see an independent consulting firm retained to evaluate our fire department. We will be able to channel our efforts into different areas that they see we need in improving our present fire department.

Concerning our police service, there is a proposed millage that would increase the number of officers who cover our township. We need to implement a crime prevention program in our community to deter crime before it happens. It would also make available more federal revenue sharing money that could be used in other areas, such as road improvements.

*****

E. Frank Richardson

E. Frank Richardson, 57, of 5901 Dixie Highway, Independence Township, sells and leases Buicks at Fischer Buick-Subaru, Troy.

He has lived in the township a total of about 15 years. He and his wife, Juanita, have two children.

A 1949 graduate of Cleary College, he has an associate's degree in business administration.

Richardson served as an Oakland County Commissioner from 1968-74 and was on the Oakland County Parks and Recreation Commission nine years. He was a Waterford Township Board trustee four years, a member of the Waterford planning commission two years, president of the Waterford Jaycees and on the board of directors of the Waterford CAI Building.

A businessman 30 years, Richardson has also worked as an insurance agent and real estate agent. In 1973 he owned the DAC Lounge.

His statement:
As a former Waterford Township trustee with six years on the county board of commissioners, I have had firsthand experience in local government.

Among the primary problems at present are:

1. The need for permanent county police protection or an inter-community agreement with other townships for a regional police unit.

2. The need to look at fire protection on a regional basis in order to provide good service and to eliminate duplication of effort and equipment.

3. The need for good planning and zoning to control outside speculations and to make for good future development.

*****

Frederick P. Ritter

Frederick P. Ritter, 35, of 6593 Amy Dr., Independence Township, is the incumbent Independence Township Treasurer, a post he's held since 1978.

A township resident 18 years, he and his wife, Sheila, have two children, Sonja, 17, and Matt, 14. Ritter has been a member of the township board

10 years, the first four as a trustee. Prior to becoming treasurer, he worked 12 years in the retail business field.

Included in his government experience are township board appointment to the Independence Township Economic Development Corp. (EDC) from 1980-84; chairman of the EDC from 1980-84; administrator of Community Development Block Grant Funds from 1979-84; and township board representative on the Independence Township Cable-casting Board in 1984.

His statement:
Our level of police service is inadequate. Additional funding is essential to increase the number of contracted deputies. I wholeheartedly support the police millage request on the ballot in order to maintain and increase our contractual relationship with the Oakland County Sheriff Department.

The existing fire millage level is sufficient to hire two additional firefighters; replace Station No. 1; upgrade or replace Station No. 2, all of which, in my view, are necessary for better fire protection. The results of an independent consultant's recommendations are forthcoming and will hopefully separate the personalities and politics from these decisions.

YES NO

County question: Tax renewal for county parks

What it says—

Shall the constitutional tax limitation on the total amount of general ad valorem taxes which may be imposed each year for all purposes upon real and tangible personal property in Oakland County, Michigan, be increased as provided in Section 6, Article IX of the Constitution of Michigan for a period of five (5) years from 1987 to 1991, both inclusive, by one-quarter (1/4) mill, twenty-five cents per one thousand (1,000) dollars of the assessed valuation as finally equalized for the purpose of acquiring, developing, operating and maintaining parks and recreation areas in Oakland County, Michigan (such increases being a renewal of the one-quarter (1/4) mill increase which expires in 1986)?

What it means—

If Oakland County voters approve .25 mill for improving or constructing parks and recreation facilities, the existing tax would be renewed.

It would be collected for the next five years, through 1991. (One-quarter mill is 25 cents for each $1,000 of assessed property valuation.)

Both village and township residents vote on this issue.

It means $10 each year to a taxpayer with property assessed at $40,000, or half the market value.

Carol D. Balzarini

Carol D. Balzarini, 46, is a technical writer and administrative assistant at General Motors Truck & Bus.

She and her husband, Don, have two children, Angela and Andy, both college students. They have lived in the township 13 years.

Balzarini graduated in 1962 with a bachelor's degree in communications and theatrical design from Michigan State University, East Lansing. She received her elementary teaching certificate with an English major from MSU in 1970.

Her work experience includes the position of staff editor and administrative assistant for a monthly publication of the Oakland County Bar Association from 1981 to 1983. She was a reporter and government editor for a weekly paper, covering Independence and Springfield townships, from 1977 to 1980.

She has been a member of the Independence Township Planning Commission since 1983; served on the township cable TV task force in 1982; and has served as regional director of the Oakland County Republican Party political executive committee since 1983.

Her statement:

It's unfortunate that the relationship between the township board and the fire department has been allowed to deteriorate to the point where a costly study by an outside party is necessary. If the township is to run efficiently, elected officials must rely on their department heads. This study appears to be a vote of "no confidence" in the fire chief.

The present 1 mill doesn't cover ever-increasing costs of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department contract. We need to explore all options and choose the most cost-effective. The additional mill would, at least, maintain our present level of protection.

Lawrence Rosso

Lawrence Rosso, 49, of 6698 Delmonico, Independence Township, is a Clarkston High School social studies teacher, a position he has held 17 years. He and his wife are expecting their first child in January.

Rosso graduated from Eastern Michigan University, Ypsilanti, in 1967 with a bachelor's degree in political science. He received his master's degree in social science from Eastern in 1972.

He has been active in the Republican Party 20 years, serving as an elected delegate to state Republican conventions from 1974-80 and as director of program distribution at the 1980 Republican convention. He is a member of the Clarkston and National Education Associations, serving as president of the CEA from 1973-76. A member of the Clarkston Area Jaycees from 1973-80, he was the Clarkston Jaycee Outstanding Educator Award recipient in 1978.

His statement:

Prevent the establishment of any waste disposal landfills or incineration sites anywhere in Independence.

No tax increases for anything unless authorized by a referendum or by self-assessment.

Those areas currently zoned "multiple" should include 100 percent privately financed condominium housing of middle income range ($50,000 and up).

A fire protection program that includes a new station and modern equipment within budget of the authorized fire millage.

The speedy completion of M-15 widening and improvements. This project is long overdue.

Support the police millage for needed crime protection and prevention programs.

He has been a resident of the township for 32 years.

Smalley completed his schooling in Ohio. After moving to Michigan in 1945, he furthered his education by taking labor management courses.

He was a trustee on the Clarkston School Board from 1972 to 1976. He is a member of the Disabled American Veterans, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Cedar Lodge No. 60 F&AM, Royal Arch Masons and Highland Park Commandery.

tees" and paid "survey teams!"

There should be a reduction in our legal fees. Since we have enough parks in our area, they should have playground equipment for "family" recreation instead of all ball diamonds and etc.

Police and fire protection should be at the top of the list of priorities, also improving our roads and maintaining them. All subdivisions should have blacktopped roads with posted speed limit signs.

Another top priority is to help the "Senior Citizens" live and stay in their homes and not have to sell them because of high taxes.

Dale A. Stuart

Dale A. Stuart, 41, of 7336 Mustang, Independence Township, is a practicing attorney at law with Murphy, Kimmel and Stuart of Pontiac. An incumbent, he has served as a trustee on the township board since 1980.

He and his wife, Deborah, have lived in the area nine years. They have four children, Dawn, Deanna, Doreen and Danette.

Stuart graduated with a juris doctorate degree, cum laude, in 1977 from the Detroit College of Law. In 1973 he received a bachelor's degree in industrial management, with honors, from the Lawrence Institute of Technology, Southfield.

He is chairman of the 6th Congressional District Republican Committee, member of the finance committee of the State Republican Committee, member of the Drayton Heights Free Methodist Church, a former Wayne County Public Administrator and a member of the State Bar of Michigan.

His statement:

Our township is faced with many issues concerning solid waste disposal, real estate development, roads, senior citizens housing, police and fire protection, placement of handicap housing and more.

The basic issue is how much should government get involved in people's lives. My answer is as little as possible.

My position on:

Police is: a) Contracting with Oakland County makes sense. b) Deputies should be for road patrol.

Fire is: a) Procrastination on purchases must stop. b) Proper service must be maintained.

Roads is: a) Our township must help fund improvements. b) Citizens should be encouraged in self-help.

Development is: a) Our community must be preserved. b) Unnecessary obstacles must be removed.

Daniel F. Travis

Daniel F. Travis, 43, of 7973 Perry Lake Rd., Independence Township, is regional manager of sales and marketing for Asfor Steel Corp. An incumbent, he has been a trustee on the township board since 1980.

He and his wife, Betsy, have lived in the area 16 years. They have two children, Dan, 16, and Amy, 15. All have been active in the Clarkston Band Boosters, land conservancy, historical society and Christ Church, Cranbrook.

Travis has been active for 20 years in the specialty steel industry.

He is a member of the township planning commission and a trustee of the Oakland Parks Foundation; a life member of the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club and a certified Hunter Safety Instructor; and a member of the Engineering Society of Detroit and S.A.E. Associate.

His statement:

With major accomplishments in environmental protection, pollution control and stronger zoning in the past four years, we continue to need a reasonable, businesslike approach.

A properly equipped, trained and well-managed firefighting force is essential. Our services must operate within budget. Soon, we will be analyzing the results of an outside consultant-prepared in-depth study of our fire services. We have established a fire committee to aid department administration—a promising concept.

Our police services, now supplied by the Oakland County Sheriff's Department on contract, are uncertain for the future. We must review viable alternatives. I would prefer continuing the contract with OCSD deputies.

Mel LeRoy Vaara

Mel LeRoy Vaara of 6932 Church St., Independence Township, is assistant superintendent of Clarkston Community Schools.

He has lived in the township 29 years. He and his wife, Jo, have four daughters.

Vaara has a master's degree from Michigan State University, East Lansing.

He has served as a member of the Independence Township Planning Commission 12 years, including 10 as its chairman; and a member of the township zoning board of appeals 10 years, including eight as its chairman.

A member of many educational organizations, he has served as chairman or president of several. He is a member of Calvary Lutheran Church and has served on the church council, been a member of the choir, taught Sunday school and served on many committees.

His statement:

While serving on the planning commission and board of appeals I believe that I represented the people well, with fairness and integrity, with no conflict of interest. I will use the same approach if elected trustee.

With the years of experience I have had in a public office, I have developed standards that would be a definite asset to Independence Township.

It is imperative that we offer the citizens of our township excellent police and fire protection for the health, safety and welfare of us all!

William Vandermark

William D. Vandermark, 43, of 6594 Cherylawn, Independence Township, is senior manufacturing engineer with the Borg-Warner Corp. An incumbent, he has been a township board trustee since 1978.

He and his wife, Jeannette, have two children. They have lived in the area 13 years.

Vandermark is a member of the Society of Manufacturing Engineers and Robotics International; has served as a delegate to the Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments; is ex-president of the Thendara Park Homeowners Association; and is a member of the Calvary Lutheran Church and a former church council member.

His statement:

I have six years' experience as a board member and maintain good communication with the citizens.

I opposed the 500-acre gravel pit.

I will preserve the character of our community through good zoning and planning and by protecting the environment.

I am a financial conservative who will oppose unneeded expansion of departments and budgets.

I will work for improvement of our roads when needed and money is available.

Our fire department is adequately funded and does a fine job.

Our police services are underfunded and need to be expanded.

The present administration has done a good job.

I support their goals.

Driver races back to the top

After 5-year layoff, Bennett climbs behind wheel again

By Dan Vandenhemel

Race car driver Buddy Bennett laughed when asked if he preferred Bud or Buddy.

"You know, it's funny the names you associate with racing," Bennett said at his Thendara Court, Independence Township, home. "Anyone who knows me from racing calls me Buddy. Anyone else, it's Bud. You don't call Richard Petty, Dick or Bobby Allison, Bob. It's just how you become known."

Bennett is working his way toward some recognition in southeastern Michigan. After returning to the track after a five-year layoff, the 39-year-old is back in top form.

So far this season, Bennett is leading in points at the Flat Rock Speedway, is in the top four drivers at the Toledo Speedway and is among the leaders at the Mt. Clemens Race Track.

His interest in racing started about 15 years ago, and he's driven everything from go-carts to snowmobiles to cars.

"With me, racing is almost an obsession, the driving, the design," he said. "I get a tremendous enjoyment out of it. I got back into it because I wanted to."

Bennett left the short oval racing tracks in 1978 after he was the track champion at Flat Rock and Toledo and was second at Mt. Clemens. He wanted to spend more time with his family.

"I got out of it when my sons were playing ball in school and I got involved with that," Bennett said. "I quit when I was on top. But if people realize, there is a thing called race car burnout. You just get tired of driving."

The success the commercial carpenter contractor is having after the absence from the track is explained rather easily.

"The older you get, the better you get," he said. "Racing is more mental than physical. Anyone can drive a race car but not everyone can race one."

"You have to know where most mistakes are made on the track and who is likely to make the mistakes and when to take advantage of them."

"This year I've been real lucky by staying out of crashes."

Being able to afford the high cost of racing competitively is a major obstacle for any driver.

Bennett's orange late model, or super stock, car is worth an estimated $40,000. That doesn't include the extra parts and the backup engine. Sponsor D & H Cartage of Allen Park picks up the tab.

"You can go as fast as you can afford," Bennett said. "When I wanted to come back it was like spending $40,000 for a toy. I wasn't going to do it."

"Tires, for example, last maybe two nights and $400 for a set of tires adds up. Last year the tire bill was $12,000."

Bennett and his two sons, Craig and Kirt, along with the racing crew maintain the car.

"You can put as much time in the car as you can money," Bennett said. "Racing two, maybe three, nights a week and changing the setup for each track can add up to almost 60 hours a week."

"My wife Diana has never been around racing," he said. "She kind of lets me do what I want, and I let her do what she wants."

The thought of turning professional has crossed the mind of Bennett now that he is back racing again.

"I never wanted to race professionally before I left," he said. "Now I'm thinking about the Grand Nationals. If you get a good sponsor and do well in the races, you can make a decent living at it."

"With me, racing is almost an obsession. . . I get a tremendous enjoyment out of it."

No. 129 and Buddy Bennett have been making their marks on tracks in Michigan and Toledo this year after a 5-year layoff for the 39-year-old Independence Township resident.

Sports

Party time at sportmen's club

There's going to be a party Sunday, Aug. 5, at the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club on Waterford Road in Independence Township.

The club's annual Picnic and Open House is planned from noon to 10 p.m. Admission is free.

Hot air balloon rides, hay rides, dunk tank, fur trappers tent, sports car track ride, an evening dance, strolling musicians, smash-a-car and a special appearance by Chuck E. Cheese from 2 to 5 p.m. highlight the festivities.

Also planned are children's games. Food, from ribs and chicken to Polish sausage and hot dogs, may be purchased from a variety of refreshment stands.

For more information call the club at 623-0444 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday.

Soccer sessions

Get ready to follow the bouncing soccer ball with the Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department.

Two clinics are scheduled for August. The first for women over the age of 20 interested in learning and playing on a fall soccer league.

It is scheduled for Aug. 8 at 7 p.m. in the Township Hall.

The second is a five-week clinic for children, ages 6 through 10.

It starts Aug. 25 and is held on Saturdays at Bailey Lake Elementary School from 10 a.m. to noon.

For more information, call the parks and recreation department at 625-8223.

Scrambles set for golfers

Golfers will be scrambling around Oakland County golf courses in August.

Springfield Oaks Golf Course is the site of a three-man scramble tournament on Aug. 11. The 18-hole event costs $75 a team with pre-registration required by Aug. 8.

White Lake Oaks Golf Course will hold a three-woman scramble on Aug. 18. The cost is $60 for 18 holes and pre-registration is necessary by Aug. 15.

Both tournaments begin with a shotgun start at 8 a.m.

Springfield Oaks is located on Andersonville Road near Hall Road in Springfield Township and White Lake Oaks is on South Williams Road at M-59.

For more information call Jim Mansfield at 625-2540 or 698-2700.

Tennis meeting

The fall sports seasons at Clarkston High School are beginning to show signs of life.

The girls' tennis team is holding an organizational meeting Aug. 6 at 10 a.m. at Clintonwood Park.

The meeting is to establish practice times for interested players in grades nine through 12.

Coach Dick Swartout said those unable to attend the meeting should contact him at 625-1567.

Near miss upsetting, but runner rebounds

By Dan Vandenhemel

The Olympics. Just the sound of the event brings visions of exhausted smiles on athletes who have bettered fellow participants and of those who compete only to compete.

Past Olympians have said it is a thrill of a lifetime to be a part of the international happening.

But making the Olympic team in the United States is half the battle.

In the track and field events, trials are held to determine who makes the team. In this one-time elimination, bad luck or an off day could keep a premier athlete off the team.

Former Clarkston resident Sue Addison missed her chance to compete in the Olympic 1,500 meter run by a half a second.

While participating in the trials in late June, Addison was accidentally bumped from behind, 300 meters from the finish line, lost momentum and finished fifth. The top three in the final heat make the Olympic team.

"I knew going into the race, Mary (Decker, who won the race) would not race the 1,500 in the games," Addison said. "So I knew fourth place would be good enough. I guess it wasn't meant to be."

"You can't sit around and be bitter. I can't say I was tripped. Of course I was disappointed, I cried for days after missing out."

"Of course I'm disappointed. I cried for days after missing out."

—Sue Addison

Addison, formerly Sue Latter of Almond Lane, Independence Township, was visiting her sister and brother-in-law, Cindy and Rick Lyyski in Waterford. Her parents, Fred and Katie Latter, still live on Almond Lane.

Addison also ran the 800 meter race. She missed making the final heat by one-hundredth of a second. Her husband of three years, Ron, attempted to make the team in the steeplechase but failed due to injuries.

"People don't realize there is more pressure at the trials than at the games," Addison said. "Once you make the team everything else is extra."

Ron Addison, 30, has since retired from competitive running and will concentrate on his job as track and field promoter for the Nike Shoe Co. Sue Addison, 27, is going to keep at it at least one more year.

"I thought if I didn't make the team I'd retire and go back to coaching, but then at the trials I improved in all my races and I still enjoy it," she said. "Nike said I'm second in running behind Mary (Decker). Track and field has done a lot for me, and I'd like to return something to it."

Addison graduated from Clarkston High School in 1974 after winning the state title in the 800 and 400 meter races in 1973. She then went on to Michigan State University to obtain her master's degree in athletic administration. She won the 1,500 meter national title in 1977.

Training for the trials and running with Athletes West, a club in Eugene, Ore., where they live, helped keep her in shape.

"I never ran more than 70 miles a week and that was in the fall and winter," she said. "In the spring, I work more on speed and cut down to about 50 miles a week. The base work from the year before will hold over."

The next Olympics in four years are too far in the future for Addison to think about competing.

"I'll just take it year to year," she said. "If I do well next year, maybe I'll keep going."

CHS soccer enters 2nd year

Clarkston High School is about to enter its second season with an established soccer program.

Last year, the varsity and junior varsity teams played as independents. This year, the Wolves are among five schools in the newly formed North Oakland Soccer Association (NOSA).

"This small league will help. I think the students are more familiar with the towns and the schools," varsity coach Neil Granlund said. "More and more schools are adding the sport."

The CHS soccer teams are scheduling a tryout and practice Aug. 13 at 8 a.m. in the health room at Clarkston High School. The team will practice daily from 8 a.m. to noon.

A medical physical is needed before a person can tryout. Exam forms, available in the high school office, are to good for the entire school sports schedule.

The interest shown to the program in its second year is encouraging to Granlund.

"There are 47 signed up now," he said. "How many of them stay with the team, I don't know. Last year we had about 36 sign up. We'll carry 32 players for the two teams."

No politics

By Dan Vandenhornel

Finally, the 1984 Summer Olympics in Los Angeles are underway.

Among all the hype leading up to the Games, the latest was who would be the final carrier of the symbolic flame.

In the months preceding the XXIIIrd Olympics, the big hoopla in the United States was mainly the trials to see who made the team.

As the opening date drew nearer, rumors were flying around the country about the final torch bearer.

The granddaughter of Jesse Owens, Gina Hemphill, brought the flame into the Olympic Stadium and Rafer Johnson, the 1960 decathlon champion, carried it up the steps.

Until Hemphill came in sight and made the hand-off to Johnson, the most intriguing rumor surrounded Nadia Comaneci.

The star of the 1976 Olympics in Montreal and in Moscow in 1980 recently retired, and she accompanied her fellow Romanian teammates to Los Angeles.

Romania is the only Eastern bloc country to attend the Games. To have the ex-gymnast carry the torch would have been a slap in the face of the Soviet boycott.

Usually I don't pay much attention to rumors but this is a touchy subject. I'm a firm believer in the Olympics as a game, a competition between athletes, not a battlefield for politics.

Former President Jimmy Carter stopped the U.S. team from going to Moscow in 1980 because of the Soviet involvement in Afghanistan.

The Soviets decided not to attend this year's event, taking with them most other Eastern bloc country. They claimed the United States could not ensure the safety of their athletes.

I'm sure in the minds of those that made the decision on the final torch carriers, the thought of an international incident was a large one.

They made the correct choice.

The games should be given back to the participants, to the spectators, the workers and volunteers.

After watching the Games last Sunday, I don't think the Chinese gymnasts were thinking about the Soviets not being there. The smiles, they produced when they turned out one perfect score after another just proved they were happy to compete and do their best.

What about the tears American gymnast Mitch Gaylord shed when he made a big mistake on the high bar? He wasn't upset about the boycott, just his own miscue.

The emotions the athletes show are just as important to the Games as the events themselves.

I wonder what's on the faces of the Soviet athletes as they sit out the competition some people have waited for all their lives.

Rocky leaves

Rocky Raccoon flew the coop at Independence Township Hall.

Just days after taking up residency in the lobby's heating ducts, "...he's just disappeared," said Clerk Richard Holman who gave the animal its nickname.

The raccoon's departure saves Oakland County Animal Control from setting a live trap to remove the masked mammal without harm.

$10,000 bond for assault

Terry Garten of Ennismore Road, Independence Township, was arraigned July 18 before Oakland County District Court Judge Gerald E. McNally on felonious assault charges.

Bond for the four-year felony was set at $10,000 cash or surety.

He's scheduled for preliminary exam July 25, according to a court spokesperson.

- Sheriff's log -

Wednesday, vandals caused $250 in damages when they broke out the windows of a truck at American Stone Products, 6335 Sashabaw, Independence Township.

Sunday, vandals caused an unknown amount of damage when they spray-painted expletives on a car on Pinedale Road, Independence Township.

This information came from reports at the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

Teacher takes hiatus to Mexico

By Kathy Greenfield

Sherill Bailey's house is rented, she's leased her horse and bid a reluctant farewell to her 10-year-old cat.

For the first time in 14 years, she won't be teaching at the Clarkston school district's Andersonville Elementary. Instead, she's heading to Mexico for a year to teach sixth-graders English at the Instituto Laurens in Monterrey, Mexico.

She's going from a public school to a private one, and facing the teaching, cultural and language differences with enthusiasm.

"It's an experience I don't think I can pass up," she said.

Bailey, 36, discovered the school during a month-long stay in Mexico last November to paint a church with Volunteers in Mission, a Methodist church group. The visit to the Methodist-run school was one of several sidetrips to view church-related activities in the area.

Marianne Hutchinson has coordinated the bilingual program at Instituto Laurens for 13 years. Her husband, Bill, a Methodist missionary in Monterrey,

"If I fall in love with Mexico...then I will be willing to stay"

—Sherill Bailey

coordinated the Volunteers in Mission work.

"I had talked with Marianne about possibly coming back someday to teach," said Bailey. "I didn't think someday would come so soon."

"The reason I was interested is for 11 years I worked with migrant children in the grand Traverse area in a bilingual program, so I'm aware of the difficulties Spanish children have learning English as a second language."

A Traverse City native, Bailey began working with Michigan Migrant Projects shortly after it began, and continued working summers there for 11 years. She started as a teacher's aide the year she graduated from high school, began teaching after three years of college, was a resource consultant and, finally, director of the program four years.

She has a bachelor's degree from Central Michigan University in elementary education with minors in Spanish, English and mathematics.

Her experience with the Spanish language began with high school courses.

While not of Mexican descent, "I've felt a real kinship with the Mexican people," Bailey said. "Mexican people are basically very friendly, very warm."

Much to her delight, Bailey was treated to many welcoming gestures when she returned to Monterrey for two weeks in June to make housing arrangements, including a surprise party by 10 families from the church she helped paint last year.

While she's aware there are some anti-American feelings in Mexico, Bailey's experience has been that people there are judged as individuals.

As the only non-Mexican teacher at the school, her job includes teaching Mexican teachers of English how to improve their teaching skills.

In turn, she's looking forward to learning from them.

When in Mexico last year, she observed children at a government school who could do complex mathematics problems in their heads. She's also noticed more respect for teachers.

In just a few days, Sherill Bailey will leave her Waterford Township home and move to Mexico for a year to teach school. It will be the first time in 14 years she hasn't taught pupils in the Clarkston school district's Andersonville Elementary School.

"Something's being done right there," she said. "I want to see if there's anything there that might be of benefit brought back here to help our system be better."

One thing Bailey isn't going to Mexico for is more money. Her pay amounts to an equivalent of $500 a month. She'll use about 60 percent for housing and meals, leaving about $100 a month for gasoline for the car she's taking along and other expenses.

Bailey said she's looking forward to giving up some of the luxuries and trying out a different lifestyle.

The excitement of experiencing a new way of life doesn't mean the decision to leave her job of 14 years with the Clarkston school district was easy.

During the last school year at Andersonville Elementary, her sixth-graders included pupils she taught in kindergarten and fourth grade, which made it even more special. The class gave her a going away party—and gifts, a briefcase, stationery and a nameplate for her new desk.

"I don't usually cry at the end of school," she said, "but it was very hard to say goodbye knowing I may not be back there."

Teachers in the Clarkston school district can take a one-year leave of absence and return to work the following year, seniority intact. But when they return they can be assigned to any school in the district, so she may not return to Andersonville—if she comes back.

"I have no idea if this will develop into something, if I'll want to stay down there or if this will be a one-year shot," she said. "If I fall in love with Mexico, if I feel good about staying there, if I can be of use there..., then I will be willing to stay. If not, I'll be back to the Clarkston school system."

Clerk's intern wraps up her summer job

She's been a regular at township hall the past 12 weeks

By Marilyn Trumper

With a confident voice and two shaking knees hidden behind a narrow podium, Teri Arbenowske addressed 80 members of the Michigan Township Association last week at Pine Knob's Mansion.

The topic: Her partially paid public affairs internship with Independence Township—and why other townships should promote interns too.

The 12-week internship is a graduation requirement of Oakland University for public administration majors.

Clerk Richard Holman thought a speech before public officials would be a good part of the learning process.

"My knees were shaking, but I calmed down after the first few minutes," she laughed. "It's a good Competing against five hopefuls, Teri was determined not to land an internship where she was nothing more than a glorified gofer, and says she's learned not only public administration, but her strengths and weaknesses.

"(Professors) want to make sure we do real work and not just work the Xerox machine all day. The time I've spent here's been very intense. It's a semester's work in just weeks. I've learned a lot. And Rick has been just marvelous. I've had an opportunity to see the day-to-day work a clerk does, and it's important, exciting work," she said.

"Rick sits down to a pile of mail, opens letter after letter, hands them to me and says, '...here, read the file.' I've done a lot of reading and research."

Teri had a big hand in cataloging petition signatures to pave Thendara Park Subdivision, ensuring 51 percent of the property owners had signed.

"I spent a lot of time talking with the Oakland County Road Commission to find out the process. It was an extensive process. It's very lengthy, about 25 steps that will take two to five years.

"I've enjoyed it. It's been a good experience."

Teri learned her strengths are enthusiasm and that she's a hard worker.

"I've also found I'm a good researcher and a good writer and that I get along well with people.

"This has been a good opportunity for me to evaluate myself. I've learned my weakness is in accounting and the economics end. So far in school I've spent a lot of time in theory-oriented classes. I'm a senior, so it's not too late. This year I'll take more of the accounting," she smiled.

Teri plans for a career in public administration, but hasn't decided if it'll be an elected or appointed position.

"Maybe in Clawson," she said, and smiled again.

Teri Arbenowske, 33, is a senior at Oakland University majoring in public administration. From five candidates Clerk Richard Holman hired Teri for a 12-week partially paid internship in his office at township hall. Teri calls the experience "intense" and says Holman packed into 12-weeks what it would take a semester to learn. It was, she said, an excellent experience.

"The time I've spent here's been very intense"

—Teri Arbenowske

thing my voice didn't shake."

Teri's enjoyed the internship so much, she's staying on an extra week working for Holman until after the primary election.

"I have to see how it turns out," she said, caught up in the excitement of knowing the candidates personally, restricted to rooting for favorites from the sidelines.

A Clawson resident, she can't vote here.

"I have the ability, interest, knowledge, and time to be your voice in township government."

At work, play on projects at summer camp

Chatting while working on friendship logs seems appropriate, and doing just that are In-

Ryan Congleton of Springfield Township removes the bark from his friendship log-under-construction. Once the bark is off and the wood cut to the desired size, the surface is sanded to a smooth finish. Then fellow campers sign it as a memento. The 8- to 12-year-olds at the camp also cooked a lunch of "Mystery Stew" over the camp fire and finished all projects as the first of two sessions of summer enrichment camp ended July 20. The two-week day camp sessions mark the beginning of Cedar Crest Academy, a new school on Dixie Highway in Springfield Township which opens this fall to serve grades K-8.

Brian Byers demonstrates how he carefully placed his handmade basket out in the sun to dry. The day camp session stressed the environment and working with nature.

16-year-old's sax talent takes him to Europe

His alto saxophone helped Dave Johnston earn a trip to Europe for a month.

By Dan Vandenhemel

For Dave Johnston, his month-long vacation in Europe was a special one.

The 16-year-old junior at Clarkston High School was one of 97 performers in the Blue Lake International Band to make the trip.

The Snowapple Drive, Independence Township, resident auditioned with his alto saxophone for the part late last year at the band camp in Twin Lake.

After receiving the seat in the band, rehearsals once a month for seven hours a day prepared Dave for

One of the tours was a quick four-hour ride from Holland to Paris.

"I didn't like Paris," Dave said. "It was dirty, gross. The fashion part of the city was nice though."

The food was not exactly what Dave was used to here in Michigan, either.

"Most of the food was good, but they eat a lot of raw food, hamburger, bacon. They eat a lot of pork, too," he said. "You have no choice but to eat it. You don't want to be rude to them."

The trip cost about $2,500.

"It was worth it," Dave said. "I want to go back."

"I didn't like Paris"

—Dave Johnston

the trip that started June 18 and ended July 16.

Belgium, Holland, Luxembourg and West Germany were the scheduled stops for the group. They stayed with host families in each town.

"The people there are really nice," he said. "The language wasn't a big problem, but you smiled and nodded a lot. It's only the older adults that don't know English."

Cheryl Johnston added that the host families treated her son to tours of the county and a lot of food.

Lucas-Thatcher

Joseph and Elizabeth Lucas of Pheasant Run Road, Independence Township, announce the engagement of their daughter, Donna Marie, to Steven C. Thatcher, son of Ralph and Frances Thatcher of Troy. The bride-to-be graduated from Clarkston High School in 1981. An employee of Community National Bank, she is attending Oakland Community College. Her fiancé is employed at General Motors. A November wedding is planned.

St. Charles-Hogarth

Michael and Nancy St. Charles of Whipple Shores Drive, Independence Township, announce the engagement of their daughter, Michelle, to David J. Hogarth, son of Jim and Barbara Hogarth of Drayton Plains. The bride-to-be is a 1984 graduate of Oakland Community College with an associate's degree in nursing and a 1981 graduate of Clarkston High School. Her fiancé graduated from Michigan State University in 1983 with a bachelor's degree in material science. He is employed by National Steel as a technical development engineer at the Product Application Center in Livonia. A September wedding is planned.

Camp Fire has fun for whole family

Summer adventures suited for families and open to all members of the community are offered by North Oakland Camp Fire.

Called "Summer Extravaganza," the activities include:

Aug. 9—Family picnic at Camp Oweki in Independence Township.

Aug. 16—An outing to the Huckleberry Railroad in Flint.

Aug. 21—Sports and Fun Day at Camp Oweki.

Aug. 24—An outing to the Detroit Zoo.

Those who participate who are not members of Camp Fire pay a $2.50 summer membership fee which entitles them to participate in any Camp Fire activity through Oct. 31. There are also fees for each outing. Children must be accompanied by an adult.

"We're gearing up for the fall membership drive, and we'd like to invite non-members to take part in some of the summer activities," said Margie Williams, director of public relations for North Oakland Camp Fire.

For more details and to receive registration forms, call the Camp Fire office at 338-4036.

At college

Julie Affholter is among 45 academically gifted high school students accepted into the Honors College of Oakland University, Rochester, for the fall of 1984.

A Clarkston area resident, Julie is a graduate of Woodhaven High School. She was awarded a $500 Honors College scholarship.

At camp

Dawnaree DeBoer, a Clarkston High School senior, attended a cheerleading workshop at Albion College from July 5-8.

She was among 270 cheerleaders at the session that emphasized basic stretching skills, new cheers for the fall football season and coordination between cheerleaders.

Dawnaree is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene DeBoer of Deerwood Road, Independence Township.

Victoria Geyer was featured June 30 in a recital presented as part of the University of Michigan All-State Program at Interlochen.

A ninth-grade student at Sashabaw Junior High School and a private violin student of Robert Murphy, Troy, Victoria played the Concerto in A Major by J.S. Bach with staff accompanist Melanne Mueller.

Victoria is attending All-State as a member of the Intermediate Orchestra.

In service

Frederick Beckman has been promoted in the United States Army to the rank of specialist four.

Beckman is an infantryman at Fort Bragg, N.C., with the 82nd Airborne Division.

He is the son of Frederick and Linda Beckman of Frankwill Road, Independence Township.

His wife, Michele, is the daughter of Inga Holan of North Carolina.

William Avery, a senior at Clarkston High School, enlisted in the army's delayed entry program.

Avery, who is to graduate from CHS in January, picked motor transportation operator as his job choice and was guaranteed Hawaii as his job location under the army's station of choice option.

He enlisted through the Clarkston recruiting station and is scheduled to depart for basic training in February 1985.

Wendy Forsyth, a 1984 Clarkston High School graduate, enlisted in the United States Army.

She chose the army's two-year enlistment option, with communications as her skill training. Her station of choice is Europe, and because she scored over 50 on the Armed Forces Test, she will start off with a promotion to pay grade E2.

Forsyth is to depart for basic training Oct. 25.

Thomas Bennett enlisted in the army's delayed entry program. He is guaranteed training in helicopter repair, and is to repair and maintain army helicopters for three years.

A Clarkston High School senior, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bennett.

He is to depart for training July 25, following graduation from CHS.

Airman Carl Cichocki graduated from the United States Air Force inventory management course at Lowry Air Force Base, Colo.

He is the son of Joan Kelch of Dixie Highway, Springfield Township, and Carl Cichocki of Country Club Hills, Ill.

His wife, Lori, is the daughter of John and Mary Driver of Fort Wayne, Ind.

Airman Scott Davis graduated from the United States Air Force inventory management course at Lowry Air Force Base, Colo.

He is the son of Margaret Short of Pontiac and Roger Davis of Middle Lake Road, Clarkston.

His wife, Barbara, is the daughter of John and Barbara McCoskey of Drayton Plains.

Pvt. Eric Beamer completed the OH-58 helicopter repair course at the United States Army Aviation School, Fort Rucker, Ala.

He is the son of Larry and Margaret Beamer of Boyne Highland Trail, Independence Township.

Marine Pfc. Richard Cole reported for duty with the 3d Marine Aircraft Wing Marine Corps Air Station, El Toro, Calif.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Cole of Transparent Road, Independence Township.

New arrivals

David and Mary Whitehead of Independence Township are parents for the second time.

Lindsay Marie was born at 2 p.m. July 24 at Pontiac General Hospital.

She weighed 7 pounds, 6 ounces and measured 19 inches long.

Lindsay was greeted at the Whitehead home on Sashabaw Road by her brother, Timothy David, 1.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Leon Whitehead of Alabama and Mr. and Mrs. Al Zielisch of Houghton Lake.

Great-grandmothers are Helen Sheppard of Fremont and Celsa Soldan of Kalkaska.

Becky and Dan Tatu of Rattalee Lake Road, Springfield Township, welcomed the arrival of their second child July 16.

Carly Luana was born at Pontiac General Hospital and weighed 7 pounds, 4 ounces.

Waiting at home to greet her new sister was Melissa, 6.

Grandparents are Forrest and Luana Hunt of Clarkston, and Ronald and Thelma Tatu of Clarkston.

Churches join forces for fellowship

Sashabaw United Presbyterian of Independence Township has joined with three Waterford churches to offer an opportunity for fellowship and accomplishment to members and non-members alike.

Calling themselves the "C.L.A.S. of 84," the churches also include Community, Lakeland and Atonement.

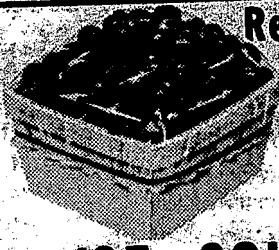

An "Old Fashion Hymn Sing and Ice Cream Social" is scheduled Sunday, Aug. 29, from 5 to 7 p.m. at Atonement Presbyterian Church on Clintonville Road in Waterford Township.

Other plans include a tour of area historical churches, trip to Crossroads Village for the youngsters, four-church softball tournament, campout at Groveland Oaks and a family potluck with the Rev. William Schram, co-pastor of Sashabaw United Presbyterian Church, speaking about his recent trip to Russia.

The group also asks for help for its "Produce Market" scheduled Aug. 18 and Sept. 8 at the Waterford Community Center, formerly the Waterford Township High School, located on Crescent Lake Road and M-59.

People are encouraged to donate their surplus garden items and to shop at the market. The proceeds will go to the area Fish program to benefit the hungry.

Information on any of the events can be obtained from program director Alice Sias at 673-7805.

1st contest, she makes magazine

When 10-year-old Jessica Miller receives her August copy of Cricket magazine, the first thing she's going to do is look for her name.

"I'll be excited to see it," she said.

She won honorable mention in an international story competition sponsored by the children's magazine.

It was the first contest Jessica's ever entered.

"I like writing," she said. "I just decided to try and write for it because it sounded interesting to do."

A fifth-grader at Clarkston Elementary School, her parents are Larry and Abby Miller of Englewood Road.

In the first contest Jessica Miller ever entered, she was excited to learn she won honorable mention.

Council weighs new salt shed

The Village of Clarkston believes it can save money by building its own salt shed and storing the salt, rather than buying it each year from the county and storing it in the back of its dump truck.

But Trustee David Raup isn't sure how much the village will save.

"That's part of the whole thing," Raup said. "But we believe we'll recoup our costs in three years. We haven't got the figures yet. It's very preliminary."

The village, which has its own Department of Public Works, has salt crews and snow removal crews clean and salt the streets in winter.

At its July 25 meeting the council agreed to have engineers draw up a plan for salt storage. No site has been selected yet.

Copies to cost

To end the practice of setting arbitrary prices, the Clarkston Village Council set a standard price for photostats and copies of its ordinances.

Effective immediately, photostats are 25 cents each and ordinance copies are $2 each.

The council made its decision at the July 23 meeting.

Two DPW employees land raises

With little discussion at its July 17 meeting the Independence Township Board approved raises for two of the Department of Public Works personnel and held off a decision on a third, according to George Anderson, director.

One employee received a new union classification from Maintenance I to II, with a salary raise from $8.50 to $8.80 per hour, or $600 per year.

The second employee's union classification went from utility laborer at $7.25 per hour to Maintenance Man I, at $8.50 per hour, a $2,000-a-year increase.

The board held its decision to raise a Secretary I at $8 an hour to Secretary II at $8.20 an hour to ensure the employee meets all the union's qualifications, Anderson said.

The increase would mean a $200-a-year raise.

Videos are in the possible future for the band Whirlwind. Steve Fletcher's car serves as a seat

'Whirlwind' offers soft metal

By Dan Vandenhemel

They describe their music as "soft metal" but the band Whirlwind plays a variety of sounds.

"We've been told we sound like Kiss, like Billy Idol," said lead guitarist and vocalist, Gary Fletcher, who goes by the stage name Gizz-Lee. "We're not rock and roll; we're not heavy metal. Different people say different things."

The three-man band currently out of Waterford Township all grew up in the area. Gizz-Lee, 27, and his brothers, drummer Steve Fletcher, 23, and soundman Jack, 25, all went to Waterford Kettering High School. Base guitarist Greg Learst, 22, went to Ortonville-Brandon High School when he lived on Oak Hill Road in Brandon Township.

Learst joined the Fletchers in the early part of this year. After hours of studio time and many recorded songs, the band is looking into videos.

"In maybe two months we might have a video done," Gizz-Lee said. "We're looking into it right now."

"It's much easier to get a video on TV than it is to get a song on the radio," Steve added.

The band members point to their success in clubs to one thing—the work of Jack on the sound board.

"We've got it easy. He's (Jack) the one that works the hardest," Greg said.

"We can't do a thing if Jack isn't there," said Steve. "Some bands can set their board and leave it there for the whole gig. With Jack, it sounds like we have keyboards, and about 10 back-up singers."

An estimate of $125,000 worth of equipment also has something to do with the sound quality Whirlwind puts out.

"It's taken a long time to gather up all the equipment. We've got a lot of everything," Steve said.

"We've got enough stuff to play Cobo or Joe Louis," Greg said. "There are only three premier centers in the lower half of Michigan for us to play in. That's why we'd like to get more out of state."

Village resigned to Census count

It appears the Village of Clarkston won't be fighting the federal government's 1980 Census count, despite Trustee David Raup's belief their figures are incorrect.

Raup maintains the government's count is too low, and after the July 23 meeting said the village would save $750 if it fought the count and won. But to fight the count would cost more than the village would save, he said.

Raup figures there are 17 more than 951 people shown in the '80 count.

Federal and state shared revenue are determined through census figures.

Developing a love of learning

by Linda Palace

Marilyn Kettler is a math teacher at Clarkston Junior High School. She lives in Rochester with her husband, Jay, and their two children, Jessica and Todd.

Jay is a computer operator at R.G.I.S. Inventory Specialists in Rochester. Jessica is 12 and enjoys horses and rock music, while Todd, who is 9, prefers gymnastics and karate.

The family attends the First Congregational Church in Rochester where Marilyn and her husband have run the Christian Education Program for the past two years.

Marilyn received her bachelor's degree after attending Oliver College, the University of Heidelberg and Wayne State University.

While studying in Germany, she made many friends with whom she still corresponds, and she hopes to take her family there for a visit within the next few years.

She is presently working on a master's degree in gifted education at Michigan State University and expects to have it completed sometime this summer.

When she isn't doing church or school work, Marilyn is a dancer. She met her husband years ago at Cranbrook Theater School, and since then has enjoyed teaching dancing to others.

She has done choreography with the chorus classes in the junior high and drama classes at the high school, and taught dancing at a junior high enrichment class.

Marilyn takes her teaching seriously and gives much of her own time to education. She spent many hours this year working with Mathcounts and Future Problem Solving.

She tries to use humor in the classroom to make learning more fun and uses examples that relate to problems to real-life experiences. She stresses computer use, especially programming, and has her parent volunteers enrich rather than tutor.

She strives for high standards for herself so students will witness and imitate proper behavior.

Marilyn's philosophy is: "To motivate students so they develop a caring attitude about themselves and others and to develop in them a love of learning that will continue throughout their lives."

Editor's note: An Apple for the Teacher is provided through the efforts of a Clarkston Education Association committee. Its purpose: "To acquaint or reacquaint the community with members of the Clarkston school district's teaching staff who represent a highly trained and diversely talented resource in whom we can all take pride." This week's column was written by Linda Palace, the English department chairperson at Clarkston Junior High School.

Obituaries

Kenneth L. Johnson

Kenneth L. Johnson Sr. of St. Johns and formerly of Clarkston died July 25 at the age of 78. He was retired from the Independence Township treasurer's office and was previously employed by Fisher Body, Pontiac.

He was a member of the First Congregational Church, the Blue Lodge No. 105 F&AM, Royal Arch Masons No. 45, Commandry No. 24 Knights Templar of St. Johns, and an honorary member and past master of Cedar Lodge No. 60 F&AM of Clarkston.

Surviving are his wife, Eliza; daughter and son-in-law, Susan and Robert Tressel of St. Johns; daughter-in-law Rae Johnson of St. Johns; 11 grandchildren; 15 great-grandchildren; two great-great-grandchildren; sisters, Ruth Bozied, Gertrude Tennant and Margery Alway; and brothers, Gordon, Ray, Robert, Rex and Richard. He was preceded in death by his son, Kenneth; brother, William; and sister, Eleanor.

The funeral service was held July 28 at the Osgood Funeral Home, St. Johns, with the Rev. David Lord officiating. Burial followed in West Burlington Cemetery, Silverwood.

Memorial contributions may be made to Clinton Memorial Hospital or the Clarkston United Methodist Church.

Bernice P. Miller

Bernice P. Miller, 74, died July 28. A farm housewife, she was a member of the Clarkston United Methodist Church. She was also secretary of the Clarkston Farm Bureau and a member of the Davisburg Historical Society and the Pontiac Christian Women's Club.

She is survived by her children, Samuel R. and Margaret Miller of Clarkston, Sharlene Miller of Clarkston, and Raymond and Carol Sievers of Prescott; grandchildren, William, Samuel C. and Sarah Miller, Margaret Lisa Wagner, David Sievers Jr. and Chris Trout; brother, J. Lee Evans of Tawas; and brother- and sister-in-law, William and Hazel Miller of Pontiac.

The funeral service was held Aug. 1 at the Clarkston United Methodist Church with the Rev. James Balfour officiating. Burial followed in Lakeview Cemetery, Independence Township. Arrangements were made by the Goyette Funeral Home, Clarkston.

The family suggests memorial tributes to the Clarkston United Methodist Church.

Enrichment teacher tackles advice column; authors C.A.T. P.A.W. for substance abuse

Weekly answers to questions about drugs

By Kathy Greenfield

This week marks the debut of C.A.T. P.A.W., a new weekly Clarkston News column that answers questions about drugs.

In keeping with the recent selection of the "Chemicals Are Trouble; People Are Watching" logo by the Chemical People of Clarkston, the research and advice column is designed to be a community service.

C.A.T. P.A.W. author Jeanette Sanders explains: "This will create more of an awareness—it's really happening out there and it's happening to good people, not just people in the gutter. The percentage (of drug abuse among high school and junior high school students) is the same as nationally. I don't think we're involved with the heavy drugs as much. It's 93 percent nationally—93 percent have tried or are using drugs, that includes alcohol because alcohol is a drug."

Letters to C.A.T. P.A.W. need not be signed. They should be sent to The Clarkston News, 5 S. Main, Clarkston, MI 48016.

In order to begin the column, Sanders will write the questions as well as the answers, drawing on her experiences as a high school teacher and as a citizen working to prevent drug abuse among young people.

In answering letters from column readers, she'll do everything possible to provide accurate answers.

"There is no way I am going to undertake this all by myself," she said. "If I can't look up the answer, I will contact a professional in the area, a counselor, a doctor, a lawyer."

Also assisting with the column will be Sue Ludwig, a member of the Chemical People and a part-time counselor at Insight at Colombiere, a non-profit residential facility in Springfield Township for treating alcoholism and drug addiction.

Active in the Chemical People of Clarkston since its inception in the fall of 1983, Sanders serves as its education chairperson and public relations liaison. The Chemical People is a national organization founded by First Lady Nancy Reagan.

Sanders and her husband, Joseph, and daughter, Stephanie, now 6, moved to Springfield Township about three years ago from Ohio.

Before Stephanie was born, Sanders taught German, Spanish, social studies and psychology full-time for 15 years. Due to the lack of teaching jobs she hasn't taught full-time since moving to the Clarkston area, but she hasn't given up her career altogether.

She's taught Spanish in the youth enrichment program for Clarkston Community Education and plans to teach a drug course for adults this fall, to be offered mornings and evenings.

Sanders said her involvement in drug prevention has something to do with being a parent.

But there are other reasons as well.

"Everywhere I turned I was running into people whose lives were affected by the abuse of drugs," she said. "I just thought maybe I could do something to help."

"It isn't just alcohol—it starts that way, then it goes to something else and something else, and the whole family is running amuck. It isn't just an individual problem. It affects so many others."

She also had some contributing experiences when teaching in Ohio.

"I actually had a raid where several policemen came in and searched about seven of my students. They did find several drugs and one of them even had a hypodermic. That was in the late '60s," she said.

"In my teaching years, we've had students come in drunk. We had one principal hit over the head with a chair, and it was a nice community like Clarkston. It happens here, too."

Sanders cites two recent incidences near her rural home that happened in a week's time. In one case, a drunk teen was tearing up lawns with a car; and in another a teen high on drugs couldn't get a car started. In both cases, adults intervened by following the driver home and talking to parents, and by calling police.

She sums up the reasons for the column: "There's got to be somebody out there confused about something. I've gotten anonymous calls. We thought it would be definitely worthwhile."

Relaxing on the couch of their Springfield Township home are C.A.T. P.A.W. author Jeanette Sanders and her 6-year-old daughter, Stephanie. Jeanette says she's raising her daughter to be self-confident—and willing to stand up for what she believes in.

Dear Cat Paw,

Does it help to drink milk to coat your stomach before drinking?

Curious

Dear Curious,

No. There is no "coating" that will keep alcohol from your bloodstream. If you drink too much alcohol, you will get drunk.

Dear Cat Paw,

My boyfriend thinks it's cool to get drunk. Why?

Watching

Dear Watching,

Many boys and young men think there is something "macho" or grown up about drinking, especially to the point of being drunk.

Your boyfriend probably doesn't think it's cool to be uncoordinated, clumsy, slow-witted, unable to speak or think coherently. Yet, that is how people behave when they are drunk.

Many young men go through a period of insecurity and may drink, even to excess, until they feel secure about their manhood. Unfortunately, drinking becomes such a habit they have trouble controlling it.

Editor's note: "C.A.T. P.A.W." author Jeanette Sanders is education chairman of The Chemical People of Clarkston, a group dedicated to the prevention of drug and alcohol abuse among youth in the community. Send letters, which need not be signed, to The Clarkston News, 5 S. Main, Clarkston, MI 48016.

Paul Strong (left) and Matt Marsden forfeit a dance with the girls and opt for each other.

Forget about partners when you can dance in threes. That appears to be the philosophy for this trio. From left, Kelly Sadler, Jennifer Sawdon and Brad Sadler

Kid-style prom

There are no crepe paper streamers at this prom. No cardboard signs announcing a summer dance theme.

Instead of tuxes, the boys wear their dads' oversized ties and coats, and the girls parade in their mothers' gowns.

And they dance in an open pavillion at Independence Oaks County Park.

It's one day in Independence Township Parks and Recreation's two-week Summer Camp. Today's the prom, and the kids are having a ball dancing to music from a portable cassette player in dress-up clothes.

Boys dance with boys.

They dance in groups of three.

They dance alone.

Or with counselors.

Other days they fish, swim, take field trips, go on an overnight campout and have theme days where they all dress punk or in Halloween costumes.

The department offers three, two-week sessions of the camp for $36, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. three or five days a week.

Diane Dobson dances with Anthony Thompson. His black velvet coat, hat and wild tie were pinned from a box the family fills with clothes they no longer wear.
