$200,000 to be cut

By Kathy Greenfield

A $400,000 difference between the estimated $1.75 million cost and the bids for the Clarkston school district's five new multipurpose rooms has delayed building plans while ways to cut costs are studied.

Monday night, after several members of the board expressed dismay over the unexpected 23 percent increase, the board of education directed Superintendent Milford Mason to work with the architectural firm of Sherman Associates of Troy and make recommendations. The goal is to cut the overage to $200,000 and cover the added cost from the district's general fund.

In order to save money, the district previously decided not to hire a general contractor, but to receive bids for each portion of the project through Sherman Associates.

Architect Charl's Sherman told the board the bids amounted to $2.08 million. He suggested cutting costs by eliminating the earth berms around the buildings and moving the multipurpose rooms closer to the existing schools, lowering the ceilings to 16 feet and dropping some finishing touches like painting and tile floors in the storage and furnace rooms.

He also suggested changing to metal roofs, which would cost a bit more but would last longer. The increase would be offset by eliminating the need for some face brick.

Board member Thomas Bills was first to express dismay over the high bids.

"That seems like an enormous differential to me, so I wonder if the dollar figure for the bond issue was based on too loose a specification," he said.

Board member Mary Jane Chaustowich came to the defense of the architectural firm, noting past experiences with district projects. "I know, generally speaking, you're very conservative," she said.

"I think time has proven we were pretty optimistic this time around," Sherman said, "but a number of things have happened since March 12 when we first came before the board with plans. We've seen this state move out of a recession to a time and period when contractors are getting busy."

Board member David Kithil expressed concern over changing plans.

"I hate to see us compromise on the quality and size of the building at all," he said.

Superintendent Mason said a $400,000 deficit would be too high to be absorbed by the district. Board President Janet Thomas noted that the proposed changes would not affect the building interiors.

Board member Carolyn Place also expressed dismay over the bids.

"I'm having some real problems because I'm having some angry feelings," she said. "How could you be off that amount of money?"

"I can appreciate how you feel, because I feel the [Continued on Page 10]

Sashabaw Junior High School has a new assistant principal.

David Reschke, 37, was appointed to the position in a 6-0 vote of the Clarkston board of education Monday night.

"Thank you very much. I'm proud to be with you," Reschke said.

Superintendent Milford Mason recommended his appointment to the $36,000-a-year post. Nine candidates were interviewed by a committee of Mason, Assistant Superintendent Mel Vaara, Administrative Assistant Conrad Bruce and SJHS Principal Gus Birtsas.

After the meeting, Reschke said he'd wrap up work Tuesday for the Waterford school district where he served as a teacher trainer with the instructional skills program and as a teacher of the gifted and talented at Pierce Junior High School.

He plans to be on the job at SJHS Wednesday, Aug. 15.

"I'm meeting at 8 a.m. with Gus (Birtsas) and we'll be up and running, ready to go," he said. "I'm certainly looking forward to it very much."

Reschke and his wife, Roxanne, have been Independence Township residents since 1979. She teaches in the Waterford school district and is a consultant for Oakland Schools. Their daughter, Katie, is a pupil at Bailey Lake Elementary School.

Presently working on his doctorate degree at Michigan State University, East Lansing, Reschke received his master's degree from MSU in 1977. He was an employe of the Waterford school district 13 years. 2 Wed., Aug. 15, 1984 The Clarkston (Mich.) News

Parks millage passes, but local voters nix it

Countywide, voters approved a proposed .25 mill renewal for Oakland County Parks and Recreation, 37,165 to 33,255-but Independence Township voters gave it thumbs down.

It was defeated here, 1,113 to 780.

Ritter wins hometown vote

Republican Thomas Ritter's hometown Clarkston gave him 1,796 votes to soundly defeat opponent Douglas Callahan (R) of Fenton. Callahan garnered 394 votes.

Ritter, 41, owner of Ritter's Farm Market on Dixie Highway, faces incumbent Democrat Bob Carr of Lansing this November for the U.S. Congressional seat. Carr ran unopposed on the Democratic ticket.

'In Oakland County they were four to one," Ritter said, referring to votes cast in his favor against Callahan. "We were very pleased. We'd hoped to win Wint pointed out that Huron Clinton Metroparks operate with millage voted for perpetuity, but the Oakland County parks millage goes before the voters every five years for renewal.

"I think the fact that we come back to the people every five years gives the people a chance to say you're doing a good job or you're not doing a good job," he said. "The fact that it passes every time, even though it's rather close, is a vote of confidence."

The voters in two park locations did pass the millage, Waterford Township and Farmington Hills, but the most solid support came from those farthest from the parks-Southfield, Oak Park, Birmingham, Bloomfield, Huntington Woods, Novi and Royal Oak.

The turnout in Independence Township's primary was just under the expected norm, according to Clerk Richard Holman, who said 24 percent, or 3,077 of the 12,008 electorate cast ballots in the 11

"Compared to other communities like Spr-ingfield, Brandon and Orion, we're at the high end. They had 11, 12 and 13 percent," Holman said. "As far as traditionally, it's down very slightly from the 1980 primary by about 150 (ballots).

In a race right down to the wire, fire Chief Frank Ronk (R) was elected Independence Township supervisor by 78 votes over incumbent James B. Smith (R), unseated after one four year term. He lost to Ronk 1,101 to 1,179

The third Republican candiate vying for the supervisor's seat was George Vitenaros, who captured

76 votes. Smith will serve until his term ends in November. Ronk, unless defeated by a write in candidate in November will be sworn into office then. In the Republican party's clerk race, incumbent Holman, who was appointed to the office last year, won his party strace in the first election of his career, against Claudia Brazel. Holman captured 1,430 votes to Brazel's 761. Holman faces Democrat Floyd Tower, who received 224 votes and won his party's nomination over Brian Gerber, with 73 votes.

By Dan Vandenhemel

While other candidates are campaigning for political offices, the Springfield Township board members keep working.

Since the primary election in 1980, none of the five board members have faced any major opposition, nor needed to campaign.

Supervisor Collin Walls and Treasurer Patricia Kramer were the last to face a challenge at the polls-but both opponents withdrew from the race prior to the general election. Clerk Calvin Walters and trustees Glen Vermilye doesn't face any opposition but definitely feels it's not from lack of interest.

"I'd like to believe it's because we're doing a great job," he said. "But I refuse to believe it's because of apathy. There's concern out there: You can tell that with all the phone calls we get if we do something wrong.

"I'm not naive enough to think it's because of our great job. But part of it is that this is not what somebody would want to do. For some people it's a cut in pay and longer hours."

Walters has been clerk since 1972 and Kramer came to office in 1974, the same year Vermilye was appointed to the planning commission. Walls was appointed supervisor in 1976. Whitley was appointed to a trustee seat in 1979.

For Walls, campaigning is not his idea of good pastime. He lost the supervisor election in 1976 by six

Lousma wins in Independence, too

Independence Township, with a reputation as a Republican haven, made its primary senatorial race a close one.

Republican Jack Lousma captured 1,219 votes to his opponent Jim Dunn's 915, less than the 2 to 1 voting trend countywide that heralded Lousma's victory in the state.

Lousma battles it out with incumbent Democratic Sen. Carl Levin at the polls this November.

Dunn, a one-term former congressman from the 6th District which includes Independence and Springfield Township and much of Oakland County, failed to win a single community in the county.

Trustee candidates on the Republican ticket who lost were Lawrence Rosso, 1,154; and Mel LeRoy votes, then was appointed to the post in December. "I hate it (campaigning)," he said. "I've got the longest running term of any loser. I've never won an election.

"Strangely enough, I'd want some opposition. Not that I want to lose, but it helps generate thought and it reflects the best possible opinion of the majority."

Earlier this year Walls entertained ideas of not running for re-election. But that quickly passed with the help of friends.

'My feeling is being elected to a political office should not be a career move," he said. "If you use it as a career, you don't represent the people very well. I'm almost positive the other four board members feel that way.

"I was afraid that was going to happen to me. I talked to a friend who reminded me of the constructive things and the good things that have happened. I'm lucky enough to have a friend that'll come by and kick me in fanny once in a while. I've never done anything I've enjoyed more than the time as supervisor.

EDDADO. Thanks for help

I would like to express my thanks to our township treasurer, Mr. Fred Ritter, for a favor he did for me recently My car had a slight altercation with a construction sign placed almost invisibly close to the edge of our driveway by the company that is laying the sidewalks in the township.

My efforts to obtain restitution were absolutely unsuccessful.

Inadvertantly Mr. Ritter heard of the situation and continued to press for my case. He carried more clout than I did and full restitution was made from the construction company.

Do you feel undertaxed?

Al Zawacky

A few years ago, somebody came up with the idea of "Tax Freedom Day." That's the day the average American worker has finally worked long enough to pay off all his federal, state and local taxes for the year. Beginning on Tax Freedom Day, he is finally working for himself.

I like the idea of setting aside a day to commemorate this event, because it highlights just how stifling the tax burden has become in this country. We should make Tax Freedom Day a national holiday. That makes a lot more sense to me than observing Christopher Columbus' birthday. (That nerd went back to Europe thinking he had landed in India, for gosh sakes).

TAX FREEDOM DAY usually falls somewhere around late April or early May. I usually celebrate the occasion modestly, because I frankly find little to celebrate in the fact that the non-productive public sector is allowed to confiscate so much of the productive private sector's wealth.

I suspect that even if Tax Freedom Day were rolled back several weeks, the national, state and local government could still accomplish all of its vital tasks. Certainly, the suggestion that even more money is needed to run the country is, considering how much time we spend working for the state now, a little obscene. Do you feel undertaxed, dear reader? I rather doubt it.

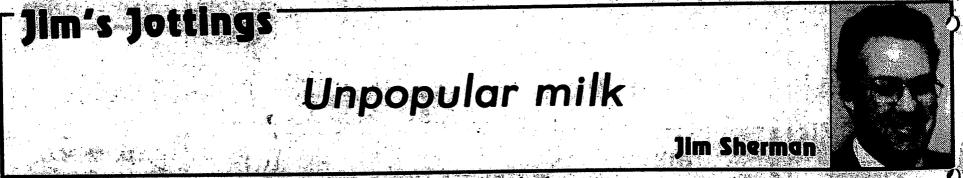

This brings me around to Walter Mondale and Ronald Reagan, who have spent a lot of time talking silly about post-election tax increases. Mr. Reagan has been coy on the subject-when he knows perfectly well that Congress will propose a tax increase in 1985 over his protests, and that he'll probably end up signing it.

Mr. Mondale has been more honest about his intentions to raise taxes, but in this case, candor is a cheap virtue: It's as though a burglar were claiming he should be congratulated for calling up his victims ahead ot time and telling them what he's going to do.

OFFICIAL WASHINGTON WON'T buy this, and neither will the proponents of cradle-to-grave socialism, but I stoutly maintain that the budget can be balanced without a tax increase. The problem is simple: Congress cannot distinguish between what is "necessary" and what is only "nice". There are entire departments (the new departments of Energy and Education, for example) that may be nice ideas, but are hardly necessary ones.

Calvin Coolidge didn't say much in his lifetime, but when he did speak, "Silent Cal" could be profound. Our 30th president once remarked: "To collect more taxes than are absolutely necessary is legalized robbery.

There is much in Washington and Lansing today that cannot, by any stretch of the imagination, be termed "absolutely necessary". Someone please pass the word to Messrs. Reagan and Mondale.

John Haire, publisher of the Cass City Chron icle, did a column recently on milk, of all things. His observations are interesting. Sti nie St

Do you know how many cartons of milk we sold at 10 cents? Just one.

Here's a healthful, wonderful tasting beverage being served ice cold on a warm day at a fifth of the cost of the competition and almost nobody wanted it. The soft drink industry has spent codles of money promoting the product and milk only recently has made feeble steps toward competing.

Look around the next time you're cating out and see how many drink pop, how many drink milk. It's going to take a lot of bucks to turn that around. Many more than the industry has been willing to cough up in the past.

But that better change. There aren't many left like me who would rather have a cold glass of milk than any other beverage that can be purchased...

Letters to editor Editorial was a disservice

During an election, voters in a small community must of necessity turn to their local newspaper for fair. and impartial information.

The newspaper has a responsibility to protect the readers' interests by presenting the facts as nearly as they can be determined, thus enabling the voters to arrive at an informed opinion.

Did The Clarkston News accept this responsibility in the current controversy over charges made by certain firefighters?

A problem arises when there is confusion over what are facts and what are opinions and when this information should be available to the readers We expect the editor to be qualified to know the difference between facts and opinions that mas-querade as facts. The editor might have used the opportunity to seek additional information.

In the recent confrontation over the terms of the contract between the township and the firefighters' union, voters were never given the whole story. It has always been my understanding that a contract is a carefully worded document that spells out the responsibilities in both sides of any agreement.

Did The Clarkston News, under the Freedom of Information Act, have the opportunity to review the contract in order to clarify the facts for the benefit of its readers? Perhaps this is privileged information, not available to taxpayers. (Editor's note: The contract is available for review.)

The Clarkston News did a disservice to its readers when letters were published purporting to show the facts on one side of the issue in such a manner as to deny the readers the opportunity to read the facts on the other side. Some voters like all the information they can get before they go to the polls;

The editor did The Clarkston News a further disservice, in her reply to criticism, when she dismissed the whole issue as nothing more than a difference of opinion.

She suggested that the remedy would be to turn to other area newspapers or to go out and ring doorbells.

It seems to this writer that this was an irresponsible reply to readers who were counting on The Clarkston News to provide them with impartial factual information.

It is not too late to review the contract. The taxpayers of Independence Township are interested in knowing who does what under the contract and why this conflict has gone on for so many years.

The "Right to Know" is an important part of the democratic process.

As parents of the cast of "Tumbleweeds," we are aware of the time and energy necessary for even the smallest of undertakings.

Sandy Sanford of the Clarkston Village Plavers goes beyond what is believable in a short time. She has taken 39 youngsters and turned them into 39 performers. the She has not only taught these children many theater arts skills, but has also brought out in each one an opportunity to share and enjoy each other's accomplishments. She has given each child a feeling of importance, no matter how large or small the part.

This lady has never lost her sense of humor, through the summer heat and even with last week's disappointment of not being allowed to present the play at Clarkston Junior High-she has just come through with more "gusto."

We'd like to thank Sandy Sanford for her time and dedication to our children.

Emily is only two, and I was worried how she would react to the sight of youngsters with obvious physical disabilities. She might say or do something embarrassing, and I wanted Ferd and Michele to help me cope. Even the most loving grandfather can be a big jerk.

The handicapped kids, many of them in wheelchairs or on crutches, were accompanied by their parents and siblings. In all, more than 500 people were treated to hot dogs and ice cream. Several clowing gave the kids balloons and giggles, mounted Detroit policement gave them horseback rides, and there was joyful splashing in the huge swimming pool. 10 Wed., Aug. 15, 1984. The Clarkston (Mich.) News

In miniature, this is the cover of the ninth annual Clarkston school district calendar.

Coming soon

Parents of children enrolled in Clarkston schools can look for their new school calendars in the mail shortly after Aug. 17.

Other residents of the community can also have a free copy. They will be available at any school building in the district and at The Clarkston News office, 5 S. Main, Clarkston.

This is the ninth year for district calendars, and Assistant Superintendent Mel Vaara has designed them all.

This year's calendar has a half-dozen more pages, larger photographs and "a lot of school news. It's just good information," he said. "This is probably the best I've done."

The calendars include photographs of pupils taken over the previous year by The Clarkston News staff.

'I ordered extra because I ran out of them last year," Vaara said. "I get nothing but raving, community.'

Schools expect $160,000 bonus

The Clarkston school district plans to take advantage of a $28-per-pupil incentive offered by the state

Depending on the enrollment, it could add (to the district's income) in the vicinity of $160,000, said

Superintendent Milford Mason. The school board voted 6-0 Monday night to make a formal request for the additional money through a resolution to the Michigan Department of Education.

The $28-per-pupil funding was established as an incentive for districts that cutback hours of instruction and class offerings when Michigan's economy faltered, but the Clarkston school district had maintained the full day and all curriculum offerings required for the money.

I guess it's now paying off for us," said Mason after the meeting."It paid off then in terms of education for youngsters, but that's being recognized now." The $28 per pupil would be in addition to the basic State Aid Formula that provides $300 a student plus $64 a student per mill (the operational tax levy is presently 33:33 mills or $33.33 for each $1,000 of assessed property valuation).

Board ponders sale of 39.09 acres

The possible sale of some Clarkston school district property and guidelines for contract negotiations with school administrators were discussed by the school board in a closed session Monday night.

The district has received an offer from Clarkston Place developers for 39,09 acres Maybee Road west of the Spring Lake Country Club, according to Superintendent Milford Mason.

Clarkston Place is a proposed senior citizen village that would include housing ranging from single-family accomodations to nursing home care. If both parties agree on a price, the property purchase will be discussed at an open meeting, Mason . منابعة المن التي عالي . said.

The contract for district administrators will also be discussed at a future open meeting.

Under the Michigan Open Meetings act, property purchases and employe negotiations can be handled in closed meetings.

same," Sherman responded, noting that his firm has a track record of stable estimates. "What we have here is, a building was designed and the drawings prepared in a very unstable market... I understand how you feel, and I share your frustrations."

Sherman said his firm would prepare revisions of the drawings and offer all bidders the opportunity to revise their quotations, then return to the board with possible changes and how much less they would cost. In June, 54 percent of the voters approved the $1.75 bond issue for a multipurpose room for each of the district's five elementary schools.

Construction was expected to begin shortly, with a completion date in the fall of 1986. The present delay is not expected to significantly change the completion projection, Mason said.

The only real surprise in the primary election in Springfield Township was the voter turnout.

Few cast votes in Springfield

Just 538 (11 percent) of the 4,874 registered voters in the township went to the polls last week. The big reason for the low turnout was the lack of local issues on the ballot, Supervisor Collin Walls said

"Any way you cut it, it was a bad turnout," he said. "There was no local opposition. It was a very quiet primary.'

None of the five board members faced any opposition in their own parties and they face none for the general election in November.

On the Republican ticket, Walls received 293 votes, Clerk Calvin Walters 291, Treasurer Patricia Kramer 286 and trustee William Whitley 260.

The lone Democratic candidate for the board, Trustee Glen Vermilye, captured 73 votes.

A 1-mill renewal and a 1-mill increase for police protection received the most attention on the ballot. The increase won by a narrow 221-213 margin while the renewal passed easily, 339-113.

The township currently contracts for three Oakland County sheriff's deputies. The additional funding will allow the third deputy, who has been patrolling the township since April, to continue, Walters said.

On the county level, voters turned out to determine some close races. On the Republican ticket, the vote totals were higher than on the Democratic ballot. Walls said the township is not as heavily Republican as it may seem.

"I'm a firm believer that the party doesn't make that much difference," he said. "The voters will use their votes on the races that will make a difference.' On the Republican ballot in Springfield Township, Jack Lousma edged Jim Dunn for the U.S.

Senate 195-165. Democrat Carl Levin received 107 votes

The race for the Republican nomination for the 6th District U.S. Congress seat was one-sided. Tom Ritter was the overwhelming winner with 246 votes to Douglas Callahan's 97. Incumbent Bob Carr ran unopposed for the Democrats and got 103 votes.

For the state legislature, Republican Mat Dunaskiss got 266 votes and Democrat Betty McDowell received 79.

Republican Oakland County Executive Daniel Murphy got 264 votes from Springfield Township. while Democrat Johannes Spreen captured 72.

Prosecuting Attorney L. Brooks Patterson received the most votes by a candidate with 319 for the Republicans while 77 went to Democrat Robert Gagniuk.

The sheriff's race had the most candidates with three on each ticket. John Nichols won the Springfield fight with 189 for the Republicans, with James Stewart receiving 111 and Bill Ortman 24. Henry Hanson received the support of the township Democrats with 42 votes over Niles Olsen's 24 and James Coutu's 20.

For the county clerk-register of deeds, Lynn Allen had 266 votes for the Republicans and Linda Lash had 79 for the Democrats.

Republican Hugh Dohany received 252 votes for county treasurer and Louis Miller Jr. got 69 on the Democratic side.

George W. Kuhn edged Frank Ballard, 148-107 for the drain commissioner post for the Republicans while Darlene Berent received 73 votes for the Democrats.

For county commissioner, Republican Richard D. Kuhn Jr. got 234 votes from Springfield Township. and Betty Collier received 79 votes for the Democrats.

Tennis doubles bound for New York finals

Father-daughter duo advance from Chicago tounament

By Dan Vandenhemel

For a tennis doubles team that rarely practices, going to New York for the finals of a tournament is a nice surprise Roger and Kelly Craig advanced to the finals of the Equitable Family Challenge tennis tournament in the father-daughter division in Flushing Meadows, the site of the U.S. Open Tennis Tournament, Sept. 5-9. "We hardly play doubles together." said Kelly, 17. "He plays a lot of doubles and I play mostly singles in my tournaments. It's hard to say why we're winning."

winning. The Equitable Family Challenge has been pairing family members together in competition for 10 years. This is the first year for the Craigs.

The Scenic Ridge, Independence Township, residents won the sectional event in Chicago, Aug. 6-7, to advance to the finals.

"We'll be playing at the same time the U.S. Open is going on," said Kelly, a senior at Clarkston High School. "We'll be using the same locker room as the players."

The all-expense paid trip for five days in New York including tickets to the U.S. Open for the doubles team will also serve as a vacation.

"My wife, (Joyce) entered us in the tournament back in May because I think she wanted to go to the U.S. Open," Roger, 42, said. "We've wanted to go watch it before but always put it off until it was too late to get tickets. Equitable is going to supply Joyce with tickets, which is nice. We have to pick up the cost of the traveling."

In winning the regionals in Flint and the sectionals in Chicago, the Craigs ran into little opposition during the matches. Of the eight matches, only one was close. In the second round at Chicago they won 6-4, 7-5.

"That match could have gone into a third game and who knew what would happen," said Roger, an insurance agent in Clarkston. "I expect to do well in New York but making the finals is already making us winners. We're just going out there to have a good time, play some tennis and watch some."

Their tennis skills paved the way for Kelly and Roger Craig make the trip to New York to watch the U.S. Open Tennis tournament. The fatherdaughter doubles team won a berth in the finals of the Equitable Family Challenge tennis tournament

Hoopster hopefuls get jump on season

By Dan Vandenhemel Competition and practice, those two elements were the main objectives of the basketball camp at Michigan State University.

Eight girls from Clarkston High School went to the week-long camp with girls' varsity basketball coach Dave McDonald.

Over 200 players from around the state were there, gaining experience and playing time for the up coming high school basketball season. "There were about 20 teams and they featured some of the best teams in the state." McDonald said.

"We tried to place a low profile on winning or losing. It's the play and the players learning that's important."

A CARLES AND A REAL PROPERTY AND A P

Up to three games a day kept the group of Clarkston girls busy. The games were 10-minute running quarters in the morning, afternoon and evenings. "The evening games were optional, but the girls wanted to play," McDonald said. "They may have been tired, but they paid $155 and wanted to play as much as possible."

By going to the camp. McDonald gets a good idea how the players react to game situations. But none of the eight players are guaranteed a spot on the varsity roster, he said:

"What a camp like this does is give the veterans a jump on the season," he said. "During the tryouts. I know pretty much what they can do so I can watch the ones that didn't go more."

AN IS SAME ANT MARKET AS

All Clarkston seniors interested in playing, basketball are asked if they want to go to the camp. With vacations and jobs, not all can attend.

The players that went are seniors. Kim Ottman, Laura Hurren, Wendy Learmont and Bridget Kilcline; juniors, Sue Lovelady, Michelle Taulbee and Melanie Upcott; and sophomore, Missy O'Dell.

McDonald said he didn't do much coaching at the camp, but he was working on a different offensive attack. "We started out slow, but got better the more we were on the court," he said. "This new offense looks pretty good. A couple of coaches told me they were impressed with it."

Free referee clinic offered

Anyone interested in learning the rules of soccer can attend a free referee clinic organized by the Independence Township Parks and Recreation Depart-

Old age is setting in early. First it was a few gray hairs popping up. At the ripe old age of 20, 1 need, (gasp) glasses. Pop bottle bottoms and the call of "Hey foureyes" running through my mind didn't help matters when I found out I needed glasses. This doesn't come as a complete shock. My entire family already wear them. I'm the last to join the group.4

That doesn't make me feel any better. The whole family smokes. But that doesn't mean I have to too. Some subtle hints had been cropping up the past several weeks that my eyesight was going.

Occasionally there were mild headaches that were blamed on anything but fuzzy eyesight. Scores of out-of-focus pictures were blamed on the camera.

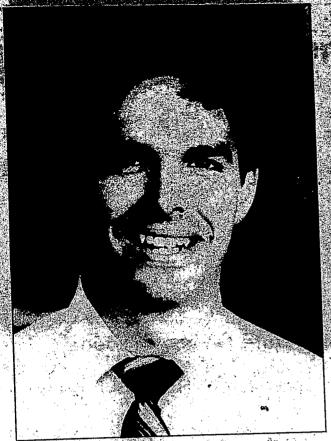

A suggestion to have my eyes checked made sense, so I popped into the doctor my last day off and Andersonville Community Church is the first senior pastorate for the Rev. Brad Powell.

New pastor at Andersonville

By Dan Vandenhemel

Andersonville Community Church is welcoming a new pastor at a special Sunday service Aug. 19.

The Rev. Brad Powell officially became the senior pastorate Aug. 5. This Sunday, the Baptist church population will be able to meet Powell. The response to me has been very, very warm," said the 26-year-old minister. "It seems like the older people are coming back to the church."

Powell is taking the place of the Rev. Wallace Duncan who moved to another church earlier this year.

"A church to be without a pastor for four to five months, it seems to die down," Powell said. "It's picking up now. It might help that I'm young, enthusiastic and extroverted. They seem to rally behind me."

Powell grew up in Union Lake and graduated from Walled Lake Central High School in 1976. He attended Tennessee Temple University in Chattanooga, Tenn., and Grace Theological Seminary in Winona Lake, Ind.

With his wife, Roxann, and children Karissa, 2, and Blake, 7 months, Powell liked the idea of coming back to Michigan.

"L was gone almost eight years from the area," Powell said. "Some things are the same but mostly it's completely different. It's really nice to be back.

The events welcoming Powell will begin at Sunday school at 10 a.m. then at morning service at 11 am Dinner and fellowship on the grounds follow. Andersonville Community Church is located at 10350

Storm results in blackouts

By Kathy Greenfield

A tornado-spewing thunderstorm passed over the Springfield-Independence area Aug. 8 and brought some power blackouts. But while tornado clouds were spotted, they apparently held off touching down until reaching the Flint area In Independence, the tornado alert sirens came alive at 6:18 p.m. Radio reports said a tornado was spotted by Oakland County Sheriff's Department deputies at Dixie Highway and 1-75 near Davisburg. Police officers checked there and at the location of a second sighting, the 1-75 southbound rest stop, said Deputy Edward Stout. 'They found no evidence of it touching down anywhere," he said.

In Springfield the major problem was loss of electricity, with brownouts and blackouts occurring in about two-thirds of the western half of the township, said Fire Chief Marian Hillman.

Members of the volunteer firefighting crew stoodby at the downtown fire station, but even as the report came in of a tornado sighting the weather was not threatening, he said.

"We didn't have what you'd call a real violent thunderstorm," he said.

Power in most areas returned by 9:30 or 10 p.m., but there were some Springfield homes without electricity Thursday morning.

The Clarkson (Mich.) News, Wed. Aug. 15, 1984

In Independence, the fire department made eight storm-related runs including wires down in two locations, a transformer fire, and an electrical and a drier fire caused by power surges. Perhaps taking it the most calmly were members of the Davisburg Rotary Club, who gave up their usual dinner meeting spot in the basement of Springfield Township Hall when the power went out.

They picked up the tables—and dined outside in the town hall parking lot.

People driving by must have thought we were completely nuts," said township Supervisor Collin Walls, a Rotary member.

Commission delays Burger King approval

By Kathy Greenfield

Engineers for the Burger King restaurant proposed on Dixie Highway next to Ritter's Farm Market left the Aug. 9 planning commission meeting without final site plan approval and with admonitions.

"I'm disappointed we have to see this again. I was hoping we'd come in tonight and give final site plan approval, " said commission member John Gray, "I hope you have all the answers the next time you come back."

Because the revised plans were made available to planning commission members a short time before the meeting, planning commission chairman Neil Wallace suggested they be made available well before the next meeting.

"We don't want to deal with this over and over again," he said, "and I'm sure you don't either."

When the review began, Burger King site engineer Frank Migliore said he was was new on the job because the former site engineer was no longer with the firm:

Then William Roskelly, president of Basney and Smith Inc. of Redford, presented the plans, and commission members immediately criticized the illustrated traffic directional signs.

In Independence, they said, any sign with a logo is considered a ground sign and the township ordinance allows only one ground sign.

The Burger King representatives said they would eliminate the logo from directional signs. Commission members pointed out previous discussion on the matter

"What matters is not what we talk about, but what ends up on the plans," said Wallace.

Two other signage questions-if the logo would be allowed on the menu sign and how large the roof sign could be-would have to be addressed by the township zoning board of appeals, Wallace said.

Other concerns expressed by commission members included the shrubbery height, adding a door for emergency exits and providing a documented plan to change the exit-alley if future development occurs on the Ritter's Farm Market property, which is presently in the process of being sold. I want to know now what we're going to do ter," said Wallace. "I know it's on the if-come, but I really believe (further development) is going to happen."

Commission member Holly Stephens noted that the future addition of a safety path along the front of the property was not noted.

"What I'd like to know is does anybody bother to read over our township ordinances before they do these drawings?" she asked.

The commission voted to table the final site plan review until the next meeting, Aug. 23.

POH officials still optimistic

Another denial, but final state review is soon

By Marilyn Trumper

Despite the latest 6-5 vote denying its proposed 100-bed $34 million satellite hospital in Independence Township, officials at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital remain confident they'll land state approval in the final, and fourth review.

The state has a Sept. 7 deadline to give its answer, according to Jack Cruikshank, 'director of development and public relations.

"If you were looking at a horse race, were at the three-quarter pole—and we're leading," Cruikshank said. "Every other hospital was voted down 0 to 12. Ours was 6 to 5. All the other hospitals must have been blown away."

The proposed two-story satellite hospital, on 50 acres at White Lake and Dixie Highway, landed a 16-3 recommendation for approval in its first committee review; the second brought a denial, 6-4; and the third, held Aug. 8 by the Executive Committee, a denial of 6-5.

The state makes the final decision.

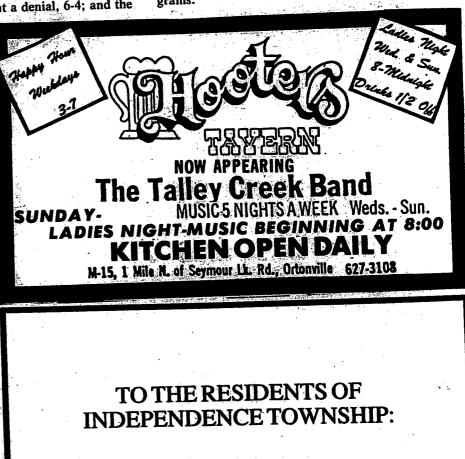

In May, when five hospitals in addition to POH requested a certificate of need for beds, the state \mathcal{V} ordered a comparative review to determine which most qualified." The review was expected to take six months.

POH officials have long been on record saying their plan is a transfer of beds, not a request for an addition of beds, and they are disenchanted with the comparative review.

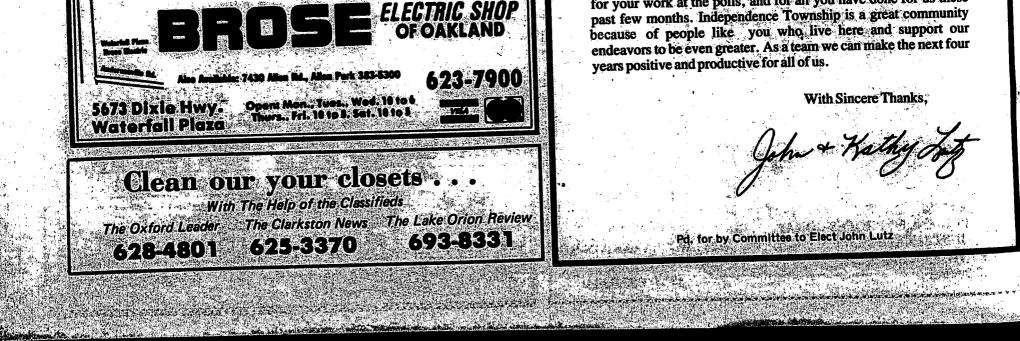

Named North Oaks Community Hospital, it's proposed for inpatient and outpatient surgery, radiology, a laboratory, a pharmacy, physical medicine, rehabilitation, outpatient walk-in service, M 24-hour emergency care and community health programs.

120-bed nursing home proposal nets 1st OK

By Kathy Creenfield

Plans are progressing smoothly for the Grovecrest Nursing Home, a proposed 120-bed skilled nursing facility on 19 acres between Clintonville and Maybee roads.

In 8-0 votes Aug. 9, the Independence Township Planning Commission approved the special use and the conceptual site plan for the development. Construction of the $3:2-$3.5 million nursing home is planned to begin the spring of 1985 and be completed by January 1986, said Paul Ver Lee, owner of the project with his mother, Frances,

"It's kind of like a realization of a dream-that we're able to expand and provide different levels of service," he said.

The Ver Lees also own Grovecrest Convalescent Center, a 57-bed facility in Pontiac, and two sixresident adult foster care homes for the elderly, on Chickadee Lane in Independence Township and on Clarkston Road in Clarkston.

A spoke design is proposed for the new 43,000-square-foot nursing home with four patient wings, one office wing and a service wing with a large dining area and recreation dayroom.

"It is a long-term care facility in deference to a hospital being short term," said Ver Lee.

He projected a resident population of about 30 percent active, about 50 percent requiring use of a wheelchair or walker, about 20 percent needing assistance getting in and out of bed, and about 3 percent bedridden.

About 110 full- and part-time employes are projected, including registered nurses, social workers, occupational therapists, speech therapists and recreational therapists.

"It is an environment that's created for rehabilitation, not just for the elderly-let's say someone involved in an accident who needs some time to gain strength," Ver Lee said.

He expects the nursing home to participate with a residency program at Pontiac General Hospital, "It's going to be a welcome addition to the community" -John Gray presently underway in the Grovecrest facility in Pontiac, where doctors in training for family practices would spend some time in the Clarkston facility.

The planning commission began its meeting last week with a special use public hearing, required by the ordinance when a proposal is listed under the zoning as a possible use. The 19-acre parcel is zoned multiple, with nursing home listed as a use.

During the public hearing, two property owners commented on the plans for the driveway. They were told that the final site plan would show a different location

"I think it would be a very fine use for the property and would probably kick off further development in the area, including my property," said Jerry Odom. who later said he was planning a residential development. Immediately following the hearing, the planning commission approved the special use and began conceptual site plan review. They spoke of concerns about parking, outdoor recreational areas, adding trees on the north side of the property and adding a left-hand turn lane on Clintonville Road onville Road. Architect Ron Schurman of Smith and Schurman Associates of Bloomfield Hills said all matters discussed would be addressed on final site plans.

"It's going to be a welcome addition to the community," said planning commission member John Gray, and his fellow commissioners agreed unanimously with their 8-0 vote to approve the conceptual site plan.

The next step is final site plan review by the planning commission, expected to take place this winter. according to Schurman.

Surplus food distribution next week

Cheese and honey are being distributed at sites throughout Oakland County the week of Aug. 20 to persons with low incomes, the elderly and the handicapped.

The program is conducted by the Oakland Livingston Human Service Agency.

To receive surplus commodity food supplied by the federal government individuals or families must declare that their income is equal to or below poverty levels.

For a family of one, income must be $6,474 a year or $540 a month or less; for a family of two $8,736 a year or $728 a month or less; for a family of three $10,998 a year or $917 a month or less; for a family of four $13,260 a year or $1,105 or less. Add $2,262 a year or $189 a month for each addition family member.

New clients must complete a surplus food registration form and must show a driver's license or personal identification and proof of income (pay stub, unemployment card, food stamp card). Income is verified every six months for persons who were previously registered.

Homebound or handicapped persons who are eligible but cannot go to a distribution site must make prior arrangements by calling 858-5180.

Due to limited quantities of surplus food, the distribution is on a first-come, first-served basis.

For more information, call 858-5180 or 338-9267.

Family fun awaits during

Rotary party

No alcoholic beverages sold

this year at Davisburg Daze

Fun for the whole family is the promise of the Davisburg Rotary Club as it presents its annual Davisburg Daze, Saturday, Aug. 18.

As before, the day at the Davisburg Mill Pond Park on Davisburg Road in Springfield Township is bulging with activities, but one major change is the decision not to sell alcoholic beverages.

"It's strictly a fun day. There'll be no alcohol—no beer tent," said Rotary member Pat Tinson. "There's a real hassle with alcohol. Nothing happened last year but maybe the knowledge there could. It's more emphasis on family."

Admission is free, and most games have no entry fee. Those that do are nominal, Tinson said, stressing that the 25-member Rotary Club is not out to make a lot of money.

"It's more of a neighborhood thing," he said. "Hopefully there will be a little profit, but it won't be anything we'll finance the urbanization of Davisburg with."

There'll be free parking at the park, in downtown Davisburg and at the Methodist and Baptist Churches with a free shuttle service all day.

A schedule of events follows:

8 a.m. pancake breakfast prepared by the Boy Scouts. They'll serve until 11.

9 a.m. until noon-fishing tournament at the Mill Pond.

10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.—antique sale.

10:30 a.m. to 2 p.m.-preliminaries for horseshoe, shuffleboard and ping pong tournaments. Noon to 4 p.m.-hot dogs and other snacks for sale. Noon to 2 p.m.—a variety of family and children's games.

Noon to 3 p.m.—tube, bathtub and floatable boatables races on the Mill Pond.

Noon to 4 p.m. - dunk tank, pony rides and town

2 to 3 p.m. - gymnastics demonstration.

3 to 4 p.m.—double decathlon; more family and children's games; and the horseshoe, shuffleboard and ping pong finals:

4:30 to 6:30 p.m. dinner of ground round and sweet corn for sale. 5:30 p.m. awards ceremony. 6:30 p.m. to midnight—music and dancing. On Sunday, Aug. 19, an outdoor church service at the Mill Pond park is planned at 11 a.m., by the Davisburg Methodist Church and the Davisburg Bap: tist Church.

Everyone's smiling about the surprise as Hazel Miller pauses to greet some of her friends. A life-long resident of independence Township, she's moving to Colorado this week.

Friends bid her adieu

By Kathy Greenfield

Friends of Hazel Miller jammed the Village Bakeshop last week to bid her a fond farewell.

The life-long Clarkston area resident is moving to Grand Junction, Colo. The party at the bakeshop was unexpected.

"It's the greatest surprise I ever saw. I just can't believe it," said Mrs. Miller. "I thought I was going to break down and ball, but I made it."

Mrs. Miller was born in Independence Township. She's moving from the Miller farm on Holcomb Road, property her late husband's family owned since 1833.

"I'm a pioneer of Independence," she said. "My husband died a year ago and I just had to sell and go where my only remaining daughter lives."

She summed up her feelings about leaving her home in a word: "Terrible."

But Mrs. Miller said she's looking forward to being with her daughter, and living in a new town that's bigger than Birmingham, Mich —and nice.

The farewell cake included a frosting sketch of a woman chopping wood. Outlines of the mitten of Michigan and the rectangular shaped Colorado were joined with an arrow. The writing said this, "Leaving wood-burning stove going; she said, explaining her friends' joke.

Jim Bickford of Main Street, Clarkston, presented the cake.

"This cake depicts the fact that this life-long resident is moving from Michigan to Colorado," he said. "She's going to give up wood chopping for the easy life."

The standing-room-only crowd at the bakery filled the air with smiles, well-wishes and cheers for a woman who will be missed.

for the easy life." Chopping wood was an activity she and her hus band participated in for exercise and to keep their.

Well-wishers are standing everywhere but they save a seal for the quest of honor. Carda, cake and more fond farewells follow.

Insight alumni picnic draws 900

Over 900 people contributed to the success of the sixth annual Alumni Picnic held by Insight at Colom-biere Aug. One highlight of the party was the dedication of a 16-station, half-mile fitness trail paid for mostly with money from raffles and fund raisers at past alumni picnics.

It was planned-and built-by recreational therapists Sharon Morse and Carol Steck, and volunteer lesse Quigley, a Clarkston area resident. The trail has a name: "Right Track."

"That kind of symbolizes what we are trying to do, to get our clients back on the right track," said Morse.

Since the residential subtance abuse facility opened its doors in August 1978, 3,100 clients have been served, she said.

The annual picnics offer the past clients, the staff of 75 and all their families an opportunity for some old-fashioned fun-and more.

"Once the sky cleared, that was my biggest worry, it was really an enjoyable day," said Morse, who planned the picnic with Steck. "I really think everyone had a nice time. It really provided our alumni and staff the opportunity to do some sharing. That's what it's all about."

Among the activities were water balloon competitions held with the assistance of the Independence fire department, contests for young and old (including bubble gum blowing and cherry spitting), a baking contest, parachute games and a dunk tank with staff members on the wet seat.

Several musical groups donated their talents for all-day-long entertainment.

'A lot of the success for the picnic has to go to the Clarkston community because they were the backbone of support," said Morse. "A lot of the prizes were donated, all the prizes for the children's activities were donated, and also a lot of our volunteers are from in or around the Clarkston area."

Insight is located at the Colombiere Center on Big Lake Road in Springfield Township.

Bazaar sign-up

Charity Bazaar booths are still available for the 1984 Summit Place Bazaar sponsored annually by Clarkston SCAMP.

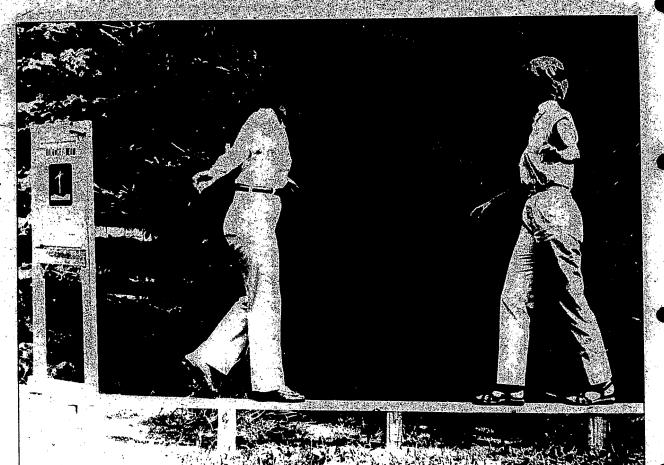

The bazaar is planned Oct. 1-6 at the Summit Place mall at Elizabeth Lake and Telegraph roads in Waterford Township. Non-profit organizations, civic groups and church auxiliaries may participate.

All proceeds from booth rentals benefit the SCAMP day-camp program for handicapped persons in northern Oakland County.

John Matheus has taught for 12 years in the Clarkston school system. He has taught both fifth and sixth grades and is currently teaching sixth grade at Pine Knob school.

John is a highly creative teacher and his students benefit greatly. All of his students are encouraged to participate in many types of learning in his classroom.

This year John served as chairman of the Science and Art Fair. His students produced many excellent exhibits. This love of science is also evident on a daily basis in his classroom. There the students learn to care for an aquarium or to operate a computer.

He also challenges the talented students with "Olympics of the Mind." John's students proved they could really excel in academics when they were motivated by this enthusiastic teacher.

John's classes learn to play chess and sometimes even learn to speak Spanish.

He tries to let every student recite, read or answer questions each day. He feels this allows the students to express themselves and gain confidence in speaking.

John earned his bachelor's degree from Central Michigan University and a master's degree from Oakland University.

While attending CMU he met his wife, Molly; they have a 4-year-old daughter, Kristin. The Matheus are residents of Independence Township and belong to Trinity Methodist Church where John serves as chairman of the Council on Ministries.

John believes that Clarkston schools are among the finest in the country.

John Matheus' classes learn to play chess and sometimes even learn to speak Spanish

"I have watched schools evolve over the years and I am proud of what we have accomplished," he said.

He attributes much of this success to the PTO. "Parents really do support our schools," he said. John is one of the reasons the Clarkston community can feel good about their schools.

Editor's note: An Apple for the Teacher is provided through the efforts of a Clarkston Education Association committee. Its purpose: "To acquaint or reacquaint the community with members of the school district's teaching staff who represent a highly trained and diversely talented resource in whom we can all take pride." This week's column was written by Rosemary Krause, a fourth-grade teacher at Pine Knob School.

Reunion

Kathy Watson took a camera along to the Clarkston High School Class of 1974 reunion to snap some photos for The Clarkston News.

'I've got pictures from class reunions and lots of things. I've always been a camera bug," she said. "People were really willing to pose."

This is the second time the class has met to party, and it was fun both times, said Kathy. This year, however, she noticed some differences.

"Everyone looked good-better than before," she said. "And everyone seemed pretty happy, happy with their lives and what they were doing.

Back in 1979 those who had just graduated from college were facing a tough job market. The majority weren't married. Their lives had yet to take a firm direction.

This time most were satisfied with the jobs they'd found. Most were married. Many had begun families.

"Most of them feel like they're just beginning to settle down," Kathy said.

About 150 members of the class of 400 attended the reunion at Roma's of Bloomfield on July 7.

A number of the celebrants came from out of town-Virginia, Texas, Lousiana, Washington and Colorado-and, like reunions everywhere, the topics were old times and what they were doing now. Many, said Kathy, brought along yearbooks and old photographs.

The next time they meet, they'll have her collection from this reunion to help remember the way they were...

Swapping memories are Paula Speace [left] and Cindy Smalley Smith, who grew up in the same neighborhood. Paula was on the girls' varsity basketball team while at Clarkston High School. Cindy, who still lives in the Clarkston area, is a real estate agent.

"Best friends, still are," says photographer Kathy Watson about Karen Neff Postal [left] nd Connie Ford Humphreys.

Varsity basketball players Gary Mason [left] and Louie Pope meet again. Gary teaches school in Troy and lives in the Clarkston area. Louie now resides in Texas.

Relaxing after working hard on plans for the Class of '74 reunion are Deb Green Curry [center] and Gale Jorgenson, and Deb's husband, Ed. The Currys were both '74 CHS graduates. Pam Hool Wilson, who is not pictured, helped plan the party.

Exhibit features work of Independence man

By Kathy Greenfield

Sailing ships, the woods and natural things catch he eye of Vince Luzi, and the lens of his camera. Between 60 and 70 photographs taken by the Independence Township resident are on exhibit this month at the County Galleria.

"I don't have a big, long philosophy on photography," said Euzi. "I take a camera with me most places I go and if I see something I like, I take a picture. Every once in a while a character pops up in my lens and I takes a portrait, but natural subjects are a major interest.

Included in the show are some photographs taken in Independence Township-shots in the woods, of fall color and "flowers I've happenedupon, "he said-and others are from places far from home.

He and his wife, Marie, have lived on Deer Lake 22 years, They have two sons, Chris, 14, and Scott, 15, and both share their father's interest in photography, snapping pictures for their school yearbooks and winning awards in competitions.

Luzi, a former member of the Clarkston Board of Education, is employed in the Oakland County personnel department. He's a graduate of Western Michigan University: Kalamazoo.

About three years ago, he decided to learn more about his hobby and took courses through the New York Institute of Photography, of which he is also a graduate.

The photographic exhibit features the work of another, county personnel department employe as well, David Van de Grift.

This is Luzi's first exhibit. Most of his prints are in color, and he did his own developing, printing, matting and framing.

I'm a little numb at the moment;" he said shortly before the show opened at the beginning of August. "I didn't realize how much work there was to getting an exhibit together.

Open Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., the County Galleria is located inside the Oakland County Executive Building, 1200 N. Telegraph, Pontiac.

interative in the case of

The children's theater production of "Tumbleweeds" scheduled Aug. 16, 17 and 18 for the Clarkston Junior High School gymnasium has moved to the Depot Theatre.

Notified last week that work to refinish the junior high gym floor pre-empted the play, director Sandy Sanford had to do some quick rescheduling.

"I'm upset and a lot of the parents are upset," she said But the play must go on.

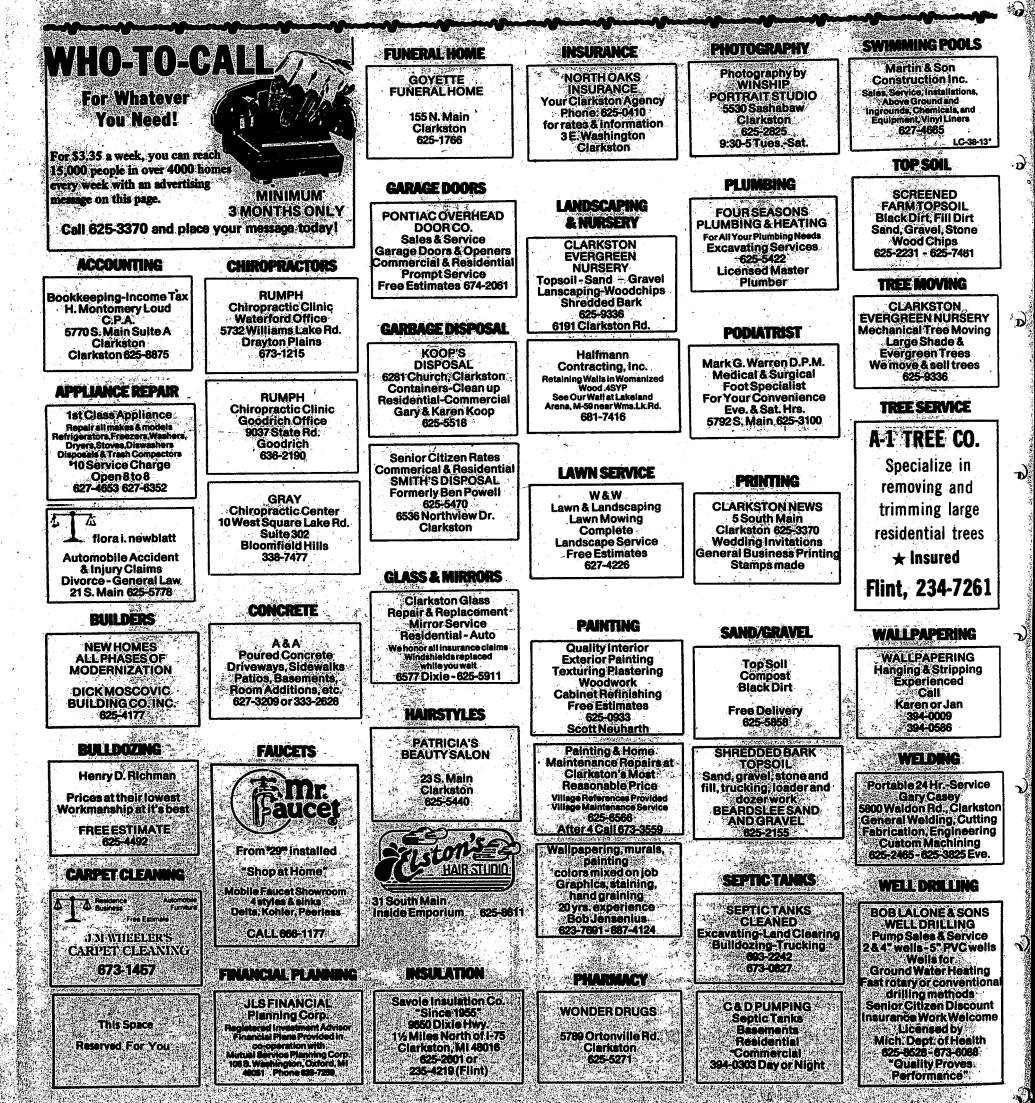

Sanford added a Saturday matinee at 1 p.m. to expand tickets available for the Depot Theatre, which has 90 seats. Showtime is also 7 p.m. Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The play, with a cast of 39 children and teenagers, is a takeoff on the comic strip. Sponsors are the Clarkston Village Players, the adult community theater group.

Tickets will be sold in advance by cast members and at the door before performances. They cost $2.50 for adults and $1.50 for children under 12. Profits will be used to boost the scholarship fund for a 1985 Clarkston High School graduate:

Those who wish to attend may call the Depot Theatre beginning an hour before each production to see if scats are available. (625-1826)

By Jim Sherman, publisher It's easy to appreciate and enjoy the golfing facilities at Gull Lake View Golf Club near Richland, Michigan.

The courses are well kept and challenging, the housing fresh and not expensive, and the workers friendly and accomodating.

But, when you learn that a man and his family built the two 18-hold courses from wilderness, and they are the friendly, accomodating workers, the appreciation increases.

Gull Lake View has become a very popular golf package for groups in Michigan, Indiana, Ohio and Illinois. Currently, there are no openings for weekend outings until mid-October.

There are some weekday (starting Sundays) package openings.

This was our second year at Gull Lake View in a group with 19 other couples. Arrangements are made a year in advance. When you arrive (a $50 deposit is sent a couple months ahead) rooms are ready and course times hit the ball straight off the tee and accurate to the smaller greens if you want a low score.

Gull Lake View Golf Club is the life and work of Darl and Letha Scott and their sons, Charles, Floyd and James.

The senior Scott started caring for lawns after graduating from Plainwell high school in 1936. Four years later he took a job with Gull Lake Country Club on the greenskeeping staff. After the war and a stint in the Army, Scott went on to head the greenskeeping crew.

In the early 1960s he bought 280 acres on M-89 just south of Gull Lake, a popular resort area in the northeast corner of Kalamazoo county. The un-farmed acreage was rolling and barren, erosion scarred and woodlands, swampland and overgrowth.

"The location was right and the price was right," Scott said, "so I bought it."

Charles was the prime designer of the east course, having studied at both U of Massachusetts and Michigan State. He and his dad think alike on design and efforts of the two show in both courses. The layout assures golfers they can use all the clubs in their bag. Now, Darl is in the background, while Letha is much in evidence in the pro shop. Charles is course superintendent, Jim is the pro, and Floyd, with a master's degree in finance from Arizona State, is manager. Jim was in intercollegiate golfer in Western Michigan.

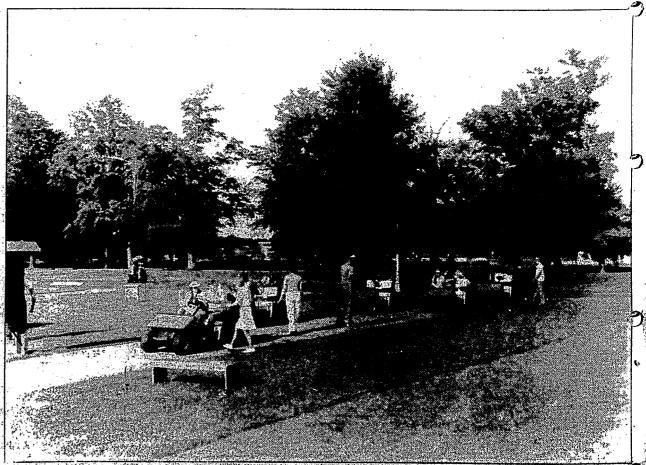

Gull Lake View has fairway villas and lodges for guests, with more being added right now. They also have banquet facilities. The villas are designed for two couples, however, single and double occupancy are available.

For our four nights (starting on a Sunday) and three days of golf (which is part of the lodging rate) we paid $331.96 including tax, for two.

The weekend rate for three nights and four days of 9 golf is $133.50 per person.

Electric carts are $15 for 18, however a person can carry their clubs or use a pull cart. Open golf is $11 weekdays for 18 holes and $13 weekends.

It's about a three hour drive to Gull Lake to some fine golf accomodations provided by some pleasant people. If you want to contact them, try Gull Lake View Golf Club, North 38th St. Augusta, Michigan 49012 or call 616-731-4148.

assigned, provided your group has a good leader.

The course management blocks out tee times on request. And, because the courses are busy both with on-site guests and play from the neighboring resort and permanent residents, tee times must be kept or missed.

However, golfers are not hurried or harrassed ... just reminded. And, golfers, being the people of etiquette that they are, heed the reminders... generally. Management alternates play for guests. In our three Management alternates play for guests. In our three days we played both 18-hole courses an equal number of times. There's a night-and-day difference in the east and west courses:

The west course was the first one built by the Darl Scott family Nine holes was opened in 1963 and another nine in 1965. Going out, the nine is open, with no water, but several trees.

Coming back, there's water on six of the nine holes.
