Teachers ratify 1-year pact

By Kathy Greenfield

Teachers in the Clarkston school district ratified their contract for 1985-86 on Friday, the day after ratification by the board of education.

The action follows a county-wide trend of early contract settlements. According to Allen Bartlett, president of the Clarkston Education Association (CEA), the teachers' union, about 17 of the 28 public school districts in Oakland County have comparable settlements.

Clarkston's contract highlights are a 6-percent raise in all 13 steps of the pay schedule, guidelines for the new curriculum committee, an alternative for medical insurance, and agreements to study a program aimed at cost containment for medical insurance and to review a teacher evaluation form.

The teachers voted in a ratio of 5-1 to approve the contract after an hour-long meeting at Clarkston High School, said Bartlett.

While teachers expressed concerns about retirement, pay for extracurricular programs and class size, which were not addressed in the contract, they were generally satisfied with the issues addressed, he said.

"The day that either side comes out of negotiations and says, 'We got everything,' ...I think that's naive. I don't think that will happen," said Bartlett Monday morning. "Some people are rejoicing and some are just accepting."

School board members voted 5-0 to approve the contract Thursday evening.

"I feel this is very good for the district," said Conrad Bruce, administrative assistant and chief negotiator for the school district. "Because of the new curriculum plan we're going to initiate, we can work on that and concentrate on that without getting involved in contract negotiations for two years."

The contract covers the 264 teachers in Clarkston schools and the 22 at the Northwest Oakland Vocational Education Center.

Bogus $20 bill

The Oakland County Sheriff's Department is warning merchants to beware of thieves passing $1 bills as twenties.

Two men attempted to pay for merchandise at Ashton's Orchard on Sashabaw Road in Independence Township last Thursday with a bogus bill.

According to owner Sharon Ashton, thieves cut the corners off four $20 bills and glue them onto the corners of a single dollar bill.

"I don't really know what happened, I wasn't there, but I do know they tried," Ashton said. "We phoned the police. I think people should know this is going on."

Record crowd at Renaissance

80,000 tickets sold in festival's 7-weekend run

By Marilyn Trumper

The final day of its seven-weekend run, the Michigan Renaissance Festival had 12,000 people pass through its gates, a record at the ticket booth according to general manager Mary Mann.

Deputies from the Oakland County Sheriff's Department say traffic was bumper-to-bumper on northbound I-75 from Sashabaw to the Dixie Highway exit Sunday, Sept. 30.

Cars crawled at a snail's pace into Springfield Township's Colombiere Center where more acreage than ever before had been mowed to accomodate free parking for those attending the recreated 16th Century harvest village.

By later afternoon the lots were full. Patrons parked in the voc-school lot and hiked a mile to the festival gates.

"We had more people than ever before because people have heard about it by word-of-mouth," Mann said. "I also think the daily papers are giving it more attention and advertising it more. The Clarkston News has always given us great coverage because it's a local event. But this year the Detroit News and Free Press had something in there almost every weekend, and that, I think, makes the difference. They cover a lot more territory."

In 1980, the festival's first year, 11,000 tickets were sold over the seven-week run. Once inside the gates, 14 artists had booths with their wares for sale.

This year, 80,000 people passed through their gates at $6.95 a pop to browse at the 100 booths and eat Scotch eggs, turkey legs and drink ale.

And there was enough food to go around.

"It's difficult to order for your last weekend, but we did very well," Mann said. "We were down to our last bag of onions."

The festival's popularity is proof of its management, according to Mann.

"The owners of the festival have learned that they have to put money back into the festival in order for it to grow, and they've done that. Every year it's bigger, there are more buildings, more parking, more booths. You can't expect it to grow without that."

The company's corporate offices are in Minneapolis. Other festivals are held annually there, in Kansas City, Mo.; St. Louis, Mo.; and Largo, Fla. Their local year-round office is in Birmingham.

Teachers OK 1-year contract

with bachelor's degrees $867 more, or $15,317 annually at the lowest step; and teachers with 20 years of continuous service and educational specialist degrees or master's degrees in social work $2,188 more, or $38,660 annually, at the highest step.

The majority of the teachers fall into two steps: 49 have bachelor's degrees and between 15 and 20 years of continuous service, and will receive $1,759 raises to $31,076 annually; 42 have master's degrees and between 15 and 20 years of continous service, and will receive $1,983 raises to $35,037.

The insurance options are designed to save the district money.

According to Bruce, the district now spends about $750,000 for insurance coverage for all its employes, and the cost increases at a rate of about 10 percent annually.

If half of the 50 teachers eligible take advantage of the option, the district would save about $60,000, he said.

Instead of Blue Cross or insurance programs offered through the Michigan Education Association, teachers may opt to receive higher visual care coverage than the regular contract offers (for example, up from $15 coverage for an eye examination to $35) and to receive $50 a month in an approved tax shelter annuity plan or in a cash payment ($600 a year paid annually).

At the board of education meeting, school board president Janet Thomas praised the change.

"I really feel positive about what we were able to accomplish in the insurance area," she said, "because I think it will get us on our goal of some cost containment."

Bad $20 bill

Lt. Henry Hansen of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department said merchants should not try to be heroes if they spot a phoney bill.

"Do what you would do as if they were pulling an armed robbery," Hansen said. "Don't jeopardize yourself. Try to get identification, their clothing, size, hair color, age, and car license number.

"If you can without jeopardizing yourself, call the police."

According to Hansen, Pontiac police have reported several attempts to pass the bills, but to date the trickery had not reached this far north of the city.

Festival record

Artists inside the festival keep all profits from their sales, none go to management which makes its profit from gate receipts and food sales, Mann said.

"We really try to keep it as local as possible, approving local artists and hiring local talent. Each festival has its own troupe of people; they don't travel from place to place," she said.

Register to vote

Independence Township residents who've attained the age of 18 have until Oct. 9 to register to vote in the 1984 general election.

Applications can be picked up at the clerk's office Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. at Independence Township Hall, 90 N. Main, Clarkston.

On Oct. 9 the clerk's office will be open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. to accept last-minute applications.

UNIT hosts candidate forum

United Neighbors of Independence Township is sponsoring a public forum for all candidates to speak on election issues.

Township, county and state representatives are expected to discuss revenue sharing, adult foster care homes and budgeting.

Judicial candidates are expected to discuss the sentencing of criminals and drunk drivers.

And all are expected to address their three priorities and define their primary responsibilities if elected.

The forum is scheduled Monday, Oct. 22, from 7 to 10 p.m. at Clarkston High School, 6595 Middle Lake, Independence Township.

The floor will be open for citizens' questions.

UNIT is a 35-member coalition that formed last summer to stop a home for the mentally retarded from being built in their neighborhood, arguing excessive concentration. The Macomb Oakland Regional Center, sponsors of the proposed home, withdrew their plans to build.

This will be the second public forum sponsored by UNIT, which also hosted one prior to the August primary election.

Correction

A story in last week's Clarkston News incorrectly reported the name of a proposed 38-home subdivision on 18 acres between Eastlawn and Cramlane roads in Independence Township.

It's called Waldon Woods.

Waldon Glenn is a proposed 14-home subdivision on 10 acres north of Waldon Road, planned by the same developer, Mike Hofer of Welcome Homes.

21 political offices, 4 proposals

Get ready for lengthy ballot in November

By Marilyn Trumper

Independence Township's '84 presidential election ballot is a lengthy one, and has Clerk Richard Holman working to educate voters so they won't spend too much time behind the curtain deciphering which lever to pull.

Holman anticipates matching 1981's turnout of 9,932 when some waited two hours for their turn vote and predicts it will be a long night before ballots are tabulated.

The ballot's four proposals and 21 political offices just meet the voting machines' capacity, according to Holman, who said townships like White Lake are using both machines and paper ballots to present their issue load to the voters.

"If we were to be voting on a library board or a township constable like some other municipalities we'd have to go to paper ballots. We couldn't handle them," Holman said.

To date, 370 voters requested absentee ballots, approved for printing Sept. 24 when the federal court lifted its injunction and authorized inclusion of the Socialist Workers Party.

There are over seven parties and three independent candidates to choose from for the office of President of the United States; eight candidates for U.S. Senate; nine candidates for the State Board of Education; six candidates for the Board of Regents of the University of Michigan; seven candidates for the Board of Trustees of Michigan State University; six candidates for the Board of Governors of Wayne State University; eight justice candidates for the Michigan Supreme Court; two justice candidates for the Second Appeals Court; and six for the Sixth Circuit Court.

Voters will also cast ballots for the county posts of executive, prosecuting attorney, sheriff, clerk/register of deeds, treasurer, drain commissioner and probate court judge.

And they'll vote for the local offices of clerk, treasurer and trustees.

In addition they'll respond to the local proposal of .5 mill for police protection; and state Proposals A, B and C.

"We're going to have a tremendous ballot," said Holman. "Tremendous because of its size and complexity.

"My concern is that we get the message out and make a good faith effort to educate the citizens so that every individual doesn't spend 10 minutes in the voting booth. It's not just the number of candidates for office, it's the number of offices."

Holman's hoping for a smooth election night, unlike the first he orchestrated as clerk: the August primary.

"We lost power at one of the precincts, Bailey Lake Elementary, and it looked like we'd have to vote by flashlight. The power came on about an hour later."

Meet the 5 candidates for township trustee

They're vying for four open seats on the Independence Board

Each week between now and the Nov. 6 election, The Clarkston News will feature candidates for the Independence Township Board, the district court judicial race and the explore the police millage issue. This week the five trustee candidates vying for four board seats are asked why they are running, and what they think the election issues are. The part-time trustee job pays $4,857 a year.

Carol Balzarini

By Marilyn S. Trumper

Carol Balzarini is running on the Republican ticket for Independence Township trustee.

The 46-year-old wants a seat on the board "...because there are a number of things I would like to see happen."

First, she says, is more cooperation between the township in regard to the village and school district.

"That kind of cooperation ultimately benefits all of us. I'd also like to see the morale of the fire department restored," she said. "I hope the study commission provides us with reasonable and workable recommendations to do that.

"I'd also like to see modernization at township hall with word processors and computers. And I want to see the board more accessible to citizens and citizens' groups. It's a feeling I have, for example, that the business community is not happy with the current board, and feels it's more interested in mines than them."

Finally, Balzarini says she'll make a good trustee.

"Because I'll be there to do the job. My planning commission experience has taught me a lot about township government," she said. "I have learned

Charles Smalley

By Marilyn Trumper

Charles Smalley is running alone on the Democratic ticket for Independence Township trustee.

The 60-year-old semi-retired Smalley says his employment status is one of the reasons he's running for office.

"I've got a lot of time to go out to mining pits and homes for the mentally impaired and see what they're all about. I'm not one of those with a 40-hour-a-week job that I have to be at.

"I'm a Democrat, and that's another reason too. I don't think any board should be all Democratic or Republican any more than it should be all teachers or lawyers or all of any one thing," he said, referring to the Republican-dominated township board.

"The fact that we're all different is what makes it unique. Win, lose or draw, it should be a board from all walks of life."

Smalley sees the issues as more a problem with the board itself than with the community.

"I think there's a communication problem among the board. I've seen it at the meetings. They select a committee to handle a project when I think

Dale Stuart

By Marilyn Trumper

Republican Dale Stuart won his trustee seat in 1980, and was in the first administration to serve a four-year term after the legislature changed the former two-year-term law.

Stuart, 42, is partner in the Waterford Township law firm of Murphy, Kimmel and Stuart, and says his experience is one hallmark of his political career.

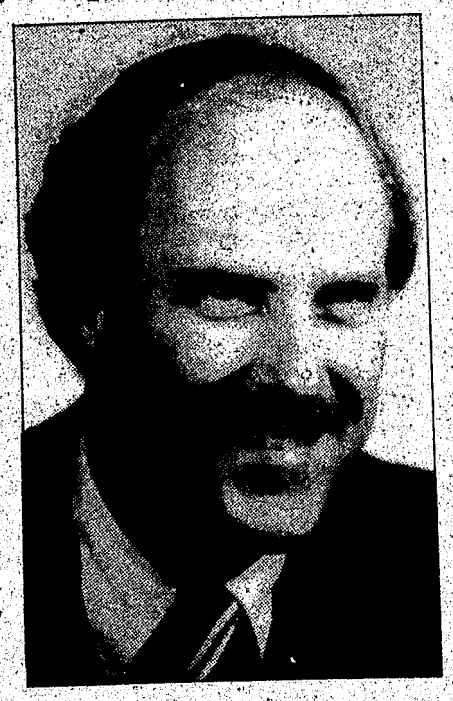

"I think with the experience I've had on the board the past four years I've learned a number of things about the township's operations and what it costs to operate, and I think that experience plus my educational expertise will provide a service to the people," he said.

"I want to help them gain as much service for their tax dollars as it's possible for them to do."

Stuart says his often-maverick philosophy has contributed to the board instead of diminished it.

"I feel like I have made a worthwhile contribution to the board by seeing that tax rates don't get out of hand, and especially are kept under control," he said. "That's not to say other members of the board haven't done the same thing, but it's easier to go with the popular flow.

Daniel Travis

By Kathy Greenfield

Republican Daniel F. Travis is seeking his second four-year term as a trustee on the Independence Township Board.

The 43-year-old has lived in Independence Township 19 years, and he said that's a factor in his decision to run for re-election, for while change is inevitable he'd like to play a role in the decision-making process.

Over the past four years, he's seen some positive things happen, he said, "and I think there's more to do. I think I'm well-qualified and capable of performing the duties to the community of trustee.

"I'm very optimistic about the next four years in this community. We suffered through the extremely deep depression—unemployment in Independence Township was above the national average by 2 or 3 percent. We survived that period. I guess that's where my sense of optimism comes in.

"It isn't the same community I moved to 19 years ago. It's a lot more uptown, as they say, than it used to be," he said. "It's a town that's shining with a nice patina. I like the town and I like its reputation."

Travis compares the issues to a "bookmark in time" that can change considerably from meeting to meeting and from year to year.

"The current hot topics before the board are the receipt and understanding of the fire study," he said. "It's digestion, I guess, and certainly its implementation if possible with the board's concerted action in that direction. We have to hire a fire chief. We have to negotiate a fire contract."

William Vandermark

By Marilyn Trumper

William Vandermark is seeking his third trustee term on the Independence Township Board.

The 44-year-old is an engineer with Borg and Beck.

"I'm running, because I think I can be a good representative of the citizens of the community and properly and fairly represent their wishes and desires," said Vandermark.

He sees four critical issues facing the new administration.

"The biggest is what to do with police services, especially when our fund budget is in the red. We're faced with the choice of increasing funds or decreasing services, one or the other, and we'll have to make a choice," he said.

Secondly, Vandermark points to the growing issue of adult foster care homes.

"As far as placement of those homes, that's an issue," he said. "Many citizens in the community have expressed concern over the large number of homes, The citizens simply don't want them."

Planning and development are also key issues, says Vandermark.

"I think, of course, in the long run we're going to be faced with growth, and the pressures that come with it," he said. "Good planning and long-term planning in zoning are a must. It's absolutely essential to preserve the character of the community."

Finally, Vandermark points to M-15's traffic congestion.

"That's a problem we're going to have to face. What to do to eliminate the problem without destroying the village," he said.

No campaign ads on cable

Local channel not yet open

By Marilyn Trumper

Independence Township's "local origination" cable TV channel will start operating in three to four weeks, too late for politicians to produce and air campaign spots for the '84 election.

It will be that long before trained crews are available to do the work, according to Jim Vonderhaar, access director for Tribune/United Cable Communications, operators of the township's $2.5 million system.

Unlike the system's 11 public access channels that are prevented by the Federal Communications Commission from selling air time, the local origination channel does.

"The public access channels will have programs produced by the community at-large, and we're prevented by the FCC to sell advertising for them," Vonderhaar said. "The local origination channel will have programs produced by us, and it's expected to produce money."

According to Vonderhaar, the township's cable programing is developing into a "premiere" system.

"We're attempting to build a premiere system and now it's unlike any built in the state before," he said. "We have top-notch people (who will be) producing top-notch programs."

The local origination channel, part of the southwest Oakland County 11-community consortium, is expected to produce and air Clarkston football games, although Vanderhaar says the company's experienced some opposition from parents and school officials in other communities who want the games filmed by students and aired on the local access channels.

In addition, they're producing "Oakland County News," a weekly question and answer show featuring journalists in the print and electronic media; a film series with a Sir Graves-type host; and "Ask the Manager," a feature on the cable system itself.

The station's advertising rates are $30-per-minute on the local origination channel.

Production costs vary, according to Vonderhaar, who said the cost to film a remote shot, filmed away from the station, is $100-an-hour for a minimum of two hours.

More on colds

Kathy Greenfield

My cold is gone. Everyone in my family is better. Other people, however, are still blaming me for the colds they're in the midst of.

It's not my fault, at least not because I breathed on them. I have proof.

After I wrote a column on everyone's tendancy to blame somebody else for the cold they caught, Onalee Stonerock dropped by a clipping from the December 1983 issue of Ladies' Home Journal.

It said that most colds are spread in ways I, at least, never thought about.

The viruses that bring us runny noses and make us miserable can live up to three days on such things as doorknobs, faucets and telephones. We transfer them to our hands and from there the entrance to our bodies is provided through our eyes or noses. At least that's what the article said.

The cold you blamed on your friend could have come from just about anyone. Have you opened a door, talked on a public phone, used a drinking fountain?

There was some advice: Wash your hands frequently, keep your hands away from your eyes and nose, and keep those phones and doorknobs germ-free with a disinfectant.

There is at least one person I see every day at work who did not get the cold. Everyone laughed when she sprayed my telephone with a disinfectant before using it.

As it turns out, we should have admired her wisdom. It was nothing to sneeze at. (I couldn't resist.)

Vandals threaten campaign rights

The people of our community will go to the polls Nov. 6 to choose its president and other political leaders. In the 52-2 Judicial District, we will also decide who will sit on the bench for the next six years.

This electoral process is guaranteed by law just as the right to campaign for these offices is also protected by law.

There are, however, those who dispute these guarantees. They are the characters who deface, knock down, steal and, incredibly, throw campaign signs off freeway overpasses.

A large campaign sign represents a substantial investment in both time and money.

Although the damage has been almost exclusively to Kozma for Judge signs, we are asking you, regardless of your political preference to help us in promoting a clean, ethical and responsible campaign based on the credentials and integrity of the candidates involved.

If you see anything suspicious in the area of our Kozma for Judge campaign signs please call the local police department. Not only is this an unethical campaign practice but it is breaking the law.

Jim's Jottings

Kick a foreign car tire?

Jim Sherman

I've done little more than just look at foreign cars. I've never visited a showroom featuring autos from the east, be it Germany or farther.

I can only recall getting into two foreign cars, a Volkswagen and a Toyota. My brother Don, who's 50 pounds heavier than I, had the VW.

Together we are high and low in the 200 pound range, and we were wrapped in cold weather, deer hunting gear. After getting into the front seat of the VW, we couldn't close the doors.

As we slammed them, they popped back open.

The Toyota is owned by Bill Matus, who has since vacated the area, choosing instead to live among the swells at Mullet Lake. I got in the back seat of Bill's car to listen and learn from him.

My steady reading of Judd Arnett in the Detroit Free Press brought me the knowledge that he, too, has never owned a foreign car.

Now he's going to take a look, and he may have convinced me to do the same.

He said, "If General Motors, Ford, and Chrysler can deal with them, there is no reason why a citizen should not have the same privilege."

Expecting an outcry from those who almost demand we Americans buy American, Judd said, "The Big Three and the United Automobile Workers have long since demonstrated that they have no compassion for anyone except their own stockholders and their own workers, so let's have no more doleful chin music" saying it's un-American to buy otherwise.

More of the columnist's reasoning . . . "The movers and shakers in the board rooms of Detroit and Dearborn have turned you loose to find your own way in the marketplace, and the UAW has joined in this liberation, if that's what it is, by at least tacit consent."

Hear! Hear! Various American carmakers are vying for position in Japan, Korea, and Mexico to get cars made cheaper, yet the prices in this courtry still rise faster than the imports.

These same carmakers are doing their best to convince American buyers their car doors slam as quietly and solidly as the foreign built, that the finish is as resiliant, and that the overall solid look is there, along with performance.

Sales of foreign cars would tend to make one think the advertising and public relations efforts are failing. The demand grows for imports.

Maybe this fall I'll kick a few foreign car tires, just to see if I have any guilt feeling.

Police protection: A critical need

Thank you for your coverage of the need to provide adequate police protection for the residents of Independence Township.

As you know, I have not been an advocate of unneeded spending or taxation in this township, but the issue of police protection for the township is a critical one.

There is currently a substantial deficit in the police fund. In addition, the cost of police protection from the county will continue to increase.

This will force a bigger deficit or substantial cuts in police protection. It could mean considerable periods of time when there is no police patrol.

In addition to response to emergencies, physical police presence tends to discourage crime before it takes place. For this reason, adequate police response to emergencies and police presence in the neighborhoods is a must.

Every available option that maintains police presence at the current level costs more than is available from the present police millage.

The proposed millage is a necessity if present levels are to be maintained. I intend to do all that I can as a board member to provide needed police protection at the lowest possible cost.

I appreciate the fact that The Clarkston News also sees this need and that they endorsed the recent police millage request.

You appear to be hurt that I commented about the publicity available to the public regarding this serious problem. I did not mean to offend you. If I did, I apologize.

My comments were made out of concern for the security of our township and a desire to bring attention to the issue.

The editorial you published Sept. 19 is the best coverage you have ever given the issue. I thank you. It was much needed.

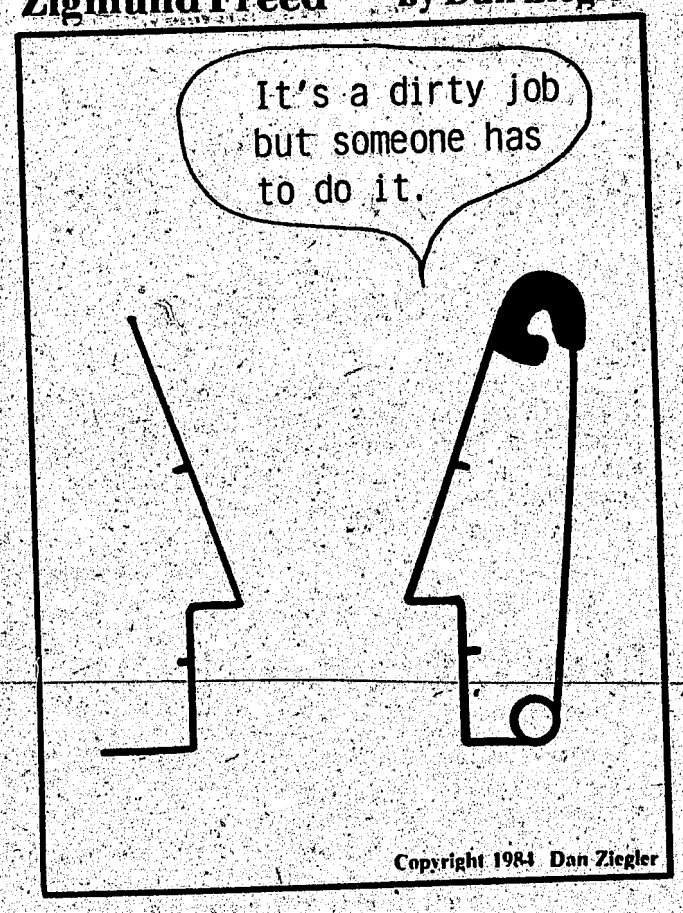

This letter should also contribute to the awareness of this problem. It should also inform the public what one board member thinks regarding this difficult and unpopular issue.

I would appreciate any solutions or ideas that anyone has regarding the shortage of funds for police services be shared with the township board.

Again, thank you for the editorial discussion and the opportunity to speak.

Clarkston beautification credit goes to many

I feel that I have been given too much credit for the beautification of our village. This could not have been done without the help of many people.

First, the Clarkston Farm and Garden Club started many, many years ago. Without their help and hard work, our township library would look very barren, and the same for the plantings around the Township Hall grounds.

There are many other farm and garden club projects of which our citizens are not aware. If it were not for very generous donations to our street tree program, the village's $1,000 fund would not go very far.

I am extremely disappointed in how few of our residents take care of the trees in front of their homes. Last year and this we have lost more than 25 percent of the young trees because of lack of care. It really doesn't take long to put on a little fertilizer and place a sprinkler or hose on the trees for two hours, every other week.

The park—90 percent of the credit goes to Trustee Dave Raup. He is the one who has turned our park into a family park with the gazebo, the playground and the beds along Depot Road.

Now we are going to get the sprinkling system we need so much. This will allow me to continue with my tree planting on the hill and plants in the beds.

Two people who deserve so much thanks are Rick Carpenter and John Ruelle of our DPW. They are the ones who always keep our park looking so neat and trim, as well as keeping up the rest of the village.

The barrels, yes, they are my idea, but the shop owners pay for them—and a few keep them up very well. But there are some who don't and, again, I cannot understand this.

It just takes a few minutes to put in a bucket of water—every other day in hot weather—and just a minute or two to pick off dead flowers.

I want to thank Ivan for his T.L.C. of the barrels up to Church Street and thanks to Joan and Buck of Tierra Arts for all of their beautiful flowers.

I don't believe I have to mention Dr. Gary Symons' building, but I will. Emily, Denise's mother, loves to take care of their flowers. Have you walked between the two buildings on the brick walk with lovely plantings and looked at the back?

Really, there are so many things that some people do that I cannot mention them all, but I know we all want to thank them—and I hope the spirit of flowers, planting and cleanliness will spread throughout the village.

A very big thank you from all of us goes to Donna McCall and her horticulture class. They are the ones who planted the beds in the park—hundreds of daffodils—and they plant the barrels every year.

This year they will be planting 10,000 bulbs at the vocational school, village parking lot and Clarkston sign beds, and what is left will go to the park. How many of you know they have a scholarship fund?

Now to Bordine's, who have helped us so much with our tree program and plantings.

This year, as you may have read, they are honoring International Bulb Day and want to help make our village a spring showcase. They are designing the beds and giving us a bulb for every one we bought. The farm and garden club, private donations and the village made this possible. The horticulture students will be planting.

Once more I will go back to "my" hill in the park. Tree donations have been very slow and any donation of $5 up would be greatly appreciated to continue the program.

One last thing, the farm and garden club has

'If it Fitz . . .' NOW and then

Jim Fitzgerald

It happened in a RenCen shoe store. While my wife and daughter watched in unbelieving awe, I bought three pairs of shoes in five minutes.

Besides awe, my wife also watched in anger. She insists that I do quickly what she does slowly just to show her up. Normally, it would take her three years to buy three pairs of shoes.

Phone calls are another good example. My phone calls never take more than 30 seconds; her phone calls never take less than 30 minutes. When she is talking to either of her daughters, it often takes an hour or two. The only reason they ever hang up is because they are late for an appointment to see each other.

IT IS MY CONTENTION that two of the inborn differences between men and women are that women talk longer on the phone, and take longer to buy shoes and anything else wearable or eatable. My wife says my contention is chauvinistic, anti-feminist nonsense.

She says her shoes fit better than mine do but that I'm too stubborn to limp in her presence, no matter how much my feet hurt. She says I always hang up the phone when she enters the room, even if I'm in the middle of a conversation. She says I do these sneaky things simply so I can act superior and imply that all women are dumb clucks with nothing better to do than gab on the phone and try on shoes.

I remind her that the local chapter of the National Organization for Women (NOW) awarded me a plaque for writing pro-feminist columns. It isn't chauvinistic to acknowledge a basic, biological fact of nature. And it isn't my fault that it is undeniably dumb to try on shoes incessantly, or to talk on the phone all morning to someone you are going to have lunch with that noon.

Good golly, I am the first to admit that men are also born to do dumb things. For instance, it was a man who recently tried to rob a Kalamazoo bank without getting out of his car. He sent a holdup note into the bank via the traveling container provided for drive-in customers and then waited patiently for an answer, until the cops arrived. A woman would never do anything that dumb. She would put a gun in the container along with a note instructing the teller: "Point this gun at your head."

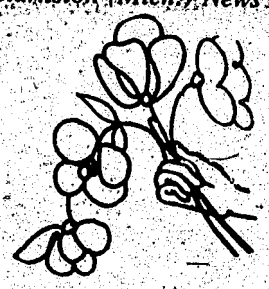

ANYWAY, I needed new brown shoes because of the 40th reunion of my high school class in Port Huron. After the party, I spent the night in a local motel and left my best shoes under the bed. In several subsequent phone calls (10 seconds each), motel representatives assured me that my shoes had been located and mailed to my home right after I checked out. But one month later, they still haven't arrived.

So, on the way to a movie in the Ren Cen, I asked my companions to wait a minute while I bought a pair of shoes. And, seeing I was there, I decided to buy three pairs. The show didn't start for 15 minutes, and I thought we'd make it easily. And we would have, except that after I spent five minutes making my choices, the clerk spent 20 minutes totaling up the sale and talking on the phone with my credit-card company. Naturally, I couldn't help asking my wife if she'd noticed that the clerk was a woman.

Our mailman brought the missing shoes the next week. They orginally had been mailed to the wrong address, which I'd written on the motel registration form. My wife said only a man could't attend a class reunion without forgetting his own address, for God's sake.

I could hit her on the head with my NOW plaque.

Praise for Good Samaritans

Crafts & Cider thanks

Please accept the thanks of the Clarkston Community Historical Society for your terrific coverage of our Crafts & Cider Festival.

The publicity and interview of Jim Russell and the poster as well as the craftspeople and the picture of our merchandise helped the entire community share in the event.

We would also like to publicly thank the entire community and especially Michigan Bell Telephone, Smith Disposal and the Masonic Lodge who donated their services to help us.

A special thanks to the village council who allowed us the use of the park, and to Bud Parker of the Independence Township cemetery and Ottawa Park Cemetery for their use of the tents for the weekend.

It makes me realize again the wonderful community spirit we have in this village when we see how many people contribute to this event.

Our thanks to our entire membership and the

My swan song

Al Zawacky

This is my last column.

Some people will be glad to hear that. Others will feel a sense of regret; still others won't care either way.

That's the nature of this business.

Looking back, I guess you could say I've had a colorful and interesting five years, first with The Clarkston News and later with The Lake Orion Review and The Oxford Leader.

In that time, I've made some people glad and some people mad—but never intentionally. I never wrote anything because it was fashionable or unusual, popular or unpopular. I just wrote what I believed. And unlike the anonymous letter writer or phone caller, I signed my name to my opinions for everyone to see. The reader was free to agree or disagree. It's the American way.

Dick Krause, one of my predecessors at the Review, summed it up this way in his final column: "In the past, I have made friends and enemies on this job, and I'm proud of who my friends are, and I'm proud of who my enemies are!"

Amen. For my principles, I feel no regrets and offer no apologies.

THERE ARE CERTAINLY a lot of things I'm going to miss about my job here. The following list is by no means all-inclusive.

I'm going to miss, without exception, everyone I've worked with these past few years.

I'm going to miss my office. I really liked the way I had it decorated, even if nobody else did.

I'm going to miss covering high school football in the fall and basketball in the winter. (Good luck, Doug. Good luck, Chuck.)

I'm going to miss "letters to the editor." Even the nasty ones.

I'm going to miss writing these columns.

I'm going to miss my first cup of coffee at my desk in the morning, and I'm going to miss the ladies at McDonald's.

I'm going to miss the LOHS students who helped me out so many times with their photography and writing. Mike, Stephanie, Joe, Tony and Brian . . . thanks.

I'm going to miss relaxing in my office Wednesday afternoon with our new edition, reading through it for the "first" time.

I'm going to miss "The Seer."

I'm going to miss our combination staff meeting/business lunch every Thursday.

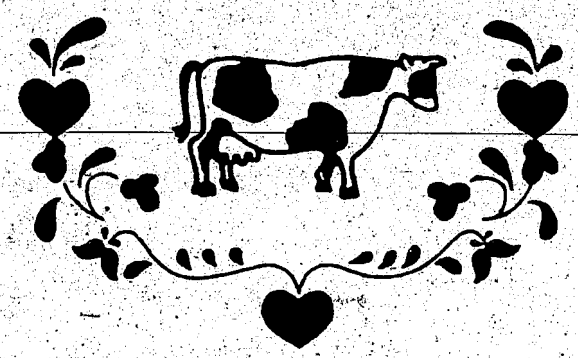

And finally, I'm going to miss that mass of humanity who I knew, but never knew—who I met, but never met. That's you, the reader—the people who make this newspaper possible and made my tenure here a successful one.

Take care, and God bless you all.

Al Zawacky, editor of the Lake Orion Review and Oxford Leader, ends his Viewpoint column this week. He's taken a publications position for a firm in Southfield.

Is respect gone?

On Sunday, Sept. 30, at approximately 1 a.m. a car drove up our front lawn and rammed a beautiful Crimson King Maple until it cracked in half.

A neighbor witnessed this deed and called the sheriff's department.

After reading about problems earlier this year with vandals and shoplifters in downtown Clarkston and hearing by word of mouth of other people experiencing break-ins and property destruction; we ask: Where has the respect for personal property and the law gone in this community?

Dangers lurk in moral skid

Mr. Zawacky,

Just a ntoe in response to your recent viewpoint article, in the Sept. 19 edition of The Clarkston News, entitled "Changing times."

I was shocked, as you were, to read the results of a recent survey which showed that the number two answer to the question of "What grade level should birth control be taught in school?" was sixth grade.

To think that some parents consider it normal for their children to be needing birth control at 11 and 12 years of age is absurd!

I am concerned, as you are, about the possible link between these modern attitudes toward childhood sexuality and increases in child sexual abuse.

As you stated, "if we have come around to thinking that sex between two 11-year-olds is natural and inevitable, does it not follow that we have created a climate in which sex between an 11-year-old and an adult is more likely to occur?"

I pray that we will soon "wake up" and see the dangers of our present moral skid. Thanks for the urgent, thought-provoking article.

Symphony opens its 30th year

The Pontiac-Oakland Symphony celebrates its 30th birthday this year, opening its 1984-85 season Sunday, Oct. 7, with guest artist Frederic DeHaven, organist, performing Haydn's Concerto in C Major at 3 p.m., Varner Hall, Oakland University. Adeline Hirschfeld-Medalia will narrate Stanley Hollingsworth's "Three Ladies by the Sea."

Joint birthdays with Bach and Handel (300) and Oakland University (25) provide incentive for musical celebration under the direction of David Daniels, head of Oakland University's music department.

A birthday party is planned following the second season concert Nov. 16 at Pontiac Central High School. Guest artist for that performance will be Percussionist Robert Pangborn, with a program that includes music by Black composer Still, Mexican composer Chavez and Beethoven.

For the orchestra's second year of performing in various communities throughout Oakland County, Lake Orion's Woman's Club and Oxford Junior Women's Club will sponsor POS Travelin' Music at Oxford High School Saturday, March 30, 1985 at 8 p.m.

Season subscriptions are available at the Pontiac-Oakland Symphony office, 35 E. Huron St., Pontiac 48058, phone 334-6024: full four- concert season is $20, seniors over 64 and students $10.

Season subscriptions and general admission tickets will be available at the door of the Oct. 7 Varner Hall concert.

First Town Hall lecture scheduled

On Wednesday, Oct. 10, Pontiac-Oakland Town Hall presents television consumer investigator John Stossel as the first speaker in the 1984-85 lecture series at Roma Hall.

Stossel's lecture topic is "Shopping Smart," from his book, a consumer's guide to wise buying published by Berkley Books in May 1982.

He has regularly appeared on the ABC radio network, 20/20 and Good Morning America.

The series' lectures are held at 10:30 a.m. Wednesdays at Roma's of Bloomfield, 2102 S. Telegraph, Bloomfield Township.

Series tickets may be obtained by sending a check for $30 and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Pontiac-Oakland Town Hall, P.O. Box 1889, Pontiac, MI 48056.

Celebrity luncheons ($6.50 each) follow the lectures at Roma's, with reservations limited to series ticket-holders. For more information call Mrs. Furlong at 673-0306.

Think snow

It may be too early to wax those skis but not early enough to start thinking about it. Soap, water, dirty cars and a lot of enthusiastic people helped the Clarkston High School Ski Team raise $300 at their car wash, Sept. 29. Plenty of smiles and laughs went with being drenched on a cold September afternoon but all the work went to a good cause, their own. The ski team doesn't have a budget through the high school and must raise any money they need by themselves. The Athletic Booster Club helps them on their trips to the state finals, for which they have qualified the past five years. Last year was the first time the teams have had uniforms and each year more people join. A number of fellow students drove cars and trucks to Regal Motors on Dixie Highway to donate their dirt—and cash.

Neighbors rally against plan

By Marilyn Trumper

One hundred residents have rallied to oppose a proposed 38-home subdivision on 18 acres, between Eastlawn and Cramlane roads in Independence Township, one that's getting a fine-tooth review from the planning commission.

Developer Mark Hofer, owner of Welcome Homes, hit a snag at the planning commission last week which ordered revisions and a second tentative preliminary plat review Oct. 11 for his Waldon Woods Subdivision.

Concerns are drainage, road grades and the size and feasibility of a retention pond, according to township engineer Tom Biehl of Hubbell Roth & Clark.

Residents agree.

"I live on Eastlawn, and I'm concerned about the traffic," said Tom Goldner. "They're going to bring the cul-de-sac right down through the middle with access on (the corner of Eastlawn and Middle Lake roads) which is a dead-end. A lot of kids walk up and down there, it's very heavy with kids at the end of the day, and (the proposed subdivision) is just going to add to the traffic."

Hofer's cul-ce-sacs do meet the township's minimum length requirement of 600 feet, according to a building department spokesperson.

According to engineer Biehl, the roads are shown to be at a steep 10-percent grade when county specifications ask for an 8-percent grade.

Biehl also cited problems with drainage, and indicated under the current proposal a subdivision located east would suffer with heavy runoff from Waldon Wood's lots 21 through 33.

In addition, the proposed retention pond located on top of the hill would flood a house below if its walls were to break, Biehl said, and he isn't sure the lots are big enough to hold the retention pond if it's determined a bigger pond is needed.

Title change weighed

Independence Township Assessor David Sherrill wants his assistant named deputy assessor; but the township board has other ideas.

At its Sept. 18 meeting, the board agreed to wait before making a decision when Supervisor James B. Smith indicated that he, head of the assesssing department, had not been consulted.

The non-union job would mean a $388-a-year raise for the Level III certified position.

Wanted: used books

It's time to clear out bookshelves and bedside stands and recycle old paperbacks to benefit the Independence Township Library.

The annual Used Paperback Book Sale is planned Oct. 29, 30 and 31 at the library at 6495 Clarkston Rd., Independence Township.

Donations of the books are being accepted at the library any time it's open. For more information call 625-2212.

Jeff Davis is keeping his eye on a would-be tackler from Waterford Kettering as the junior turns the corner for another big gain for the Wolves. Clarkston held on to win the big league game 24-21, Sept. 28. Davis scored one of the three touchdowns for the Wolves.

Sports

The scoreboard in the background shows the Wolves in the lead over the Captains. Clarkston moved the ball well the entire game with help of this catch by Dan Jokisch near the goal line.

Wolves keep rolling along

By Dan Vandenhemel

The Wolves moved a step closer to the Greater Oakland Activities League football title with a victory over Waterford Kettering, but not without a fight.

The 24-21 triumph is not a good indicator of the contest, neither is the fight that broke out with just over three minutes left.

The Wolves were leading, 24-7, when Kettering marched to a touchdown with the help of three major penalties against Clarkston. With 3:34 remaining, the gap closed to 24-13.

On the following onside kickoff by the Captains, words, pushes and punches were exchanged between the fierce grid rivals as both benches emptied.

Order was quickly restored by coaches and officials but the tempo had changed. Kettering was now in control.

They intercepted quarterback Mike Galley's first pass after the melee and a minute later, scored again to pull within three points, 24-21.

"It was ugly, but when you put two emotional football teams on the field; things are going to happen," said Wolves' coach Walt Wyniemko. "Kettering is so close, you have friends playing against each other out there."

Up to that point the Wolves controlled the scoreboard, with the exception of the first few minutes of the game.

On the opening kickoff, they failed to gain control and the Captains jumped on it and scored, leaving the Wolfpack behind, 7-0.

The game turned around to the Wolves with Galley's 30-yard field goal that put Clarkston on the board with 27 seconds left in the quarter.

Then sophomore Craig Chamberlain took over, as did the Wolves' defense.

The defense came up with the big plays to stop the Captains and force five punts. On the first punt, Chamberlain raced 45 yards for a touchdown to give the Wolves the lead they never lost. The next punt, he rambled another 30 yards.

Fumbles hurt the Wolves' scoring chances the rest of the half and they stalled two more in the third quarter. But the defense picked off three passes, two by Doug Colling, to keep Kettering from scoring.

"You just can't make those mistakes (fumbles) and beat a good football team," Wyniemko said. "Our defense did a good job but you can't forget about those 24 points. That's pretty good in high school."

The victory moved the Wolves into first place in the GOAL with a 2-0 record. They are 3-1 overall. Kettering fell to 1-1 in the league and 1-3 overall. Lake Orion is undefeated so far this year and stands in second place in the GOAL with a 1-0 mark.

The Seer

Found in the Clarkston News mailslot Monday morning. . .

Seer here. And off to a brilliant start in Clarkston, as the all-seeing, all-knowing Seer called last week's Wolves-Captains clash within three points. It's no big deal—I was merely my usual scintillating self.

This week is going to seem like a vacation, with a mismatch like Waterford Mott-Clarkston to pick. It's going to be a prosperous week for the hose heads on the Clarkston High School football team—read on for the details. . .

Clarkston at Waterford Mott (Oct. 5): The Corsairs managed to stave off the possibility of a winless season by dumping Avondale last week. But that rare triumph won't have any effect on this week's contest—the Wolves are simply a better ball club.

Clarkston will probably have some trouble motivating itself for this one, and that's going to make the score closer than it should be. But not that much closer. Put the Seer down for Clarkston by 14.

CHS wins GOAL opener

Wolves quench Dragons' fire, 60-24

By Dan Vandenhemel

Dave McDonald wonders what happened with the Lake Orion girls' varsity basketball team.

The Clarkston Wolves coached by McDonald crushed the defending Greater Oakland Activities League champions, 60-24, at home Sept. 27.

"I went into the game expecting a tough one—I go into all of them that way," he said. "I knew they graduated some key players but. . ."

McDonald's voice trailed off as he watched the Wolves in practice the following day. He didn't know if the Dragons had a off-night but he did say his team made few mistakes.

"They had a little trouble with our press and turned the ball over," he said. "It was a good game for us, not a sloppy one."

"I went into the game expecting a tough one. . ."

Everyone on the Wolves' bench got into the fun and 10 players scored in Clarkston's highest point total of the year.

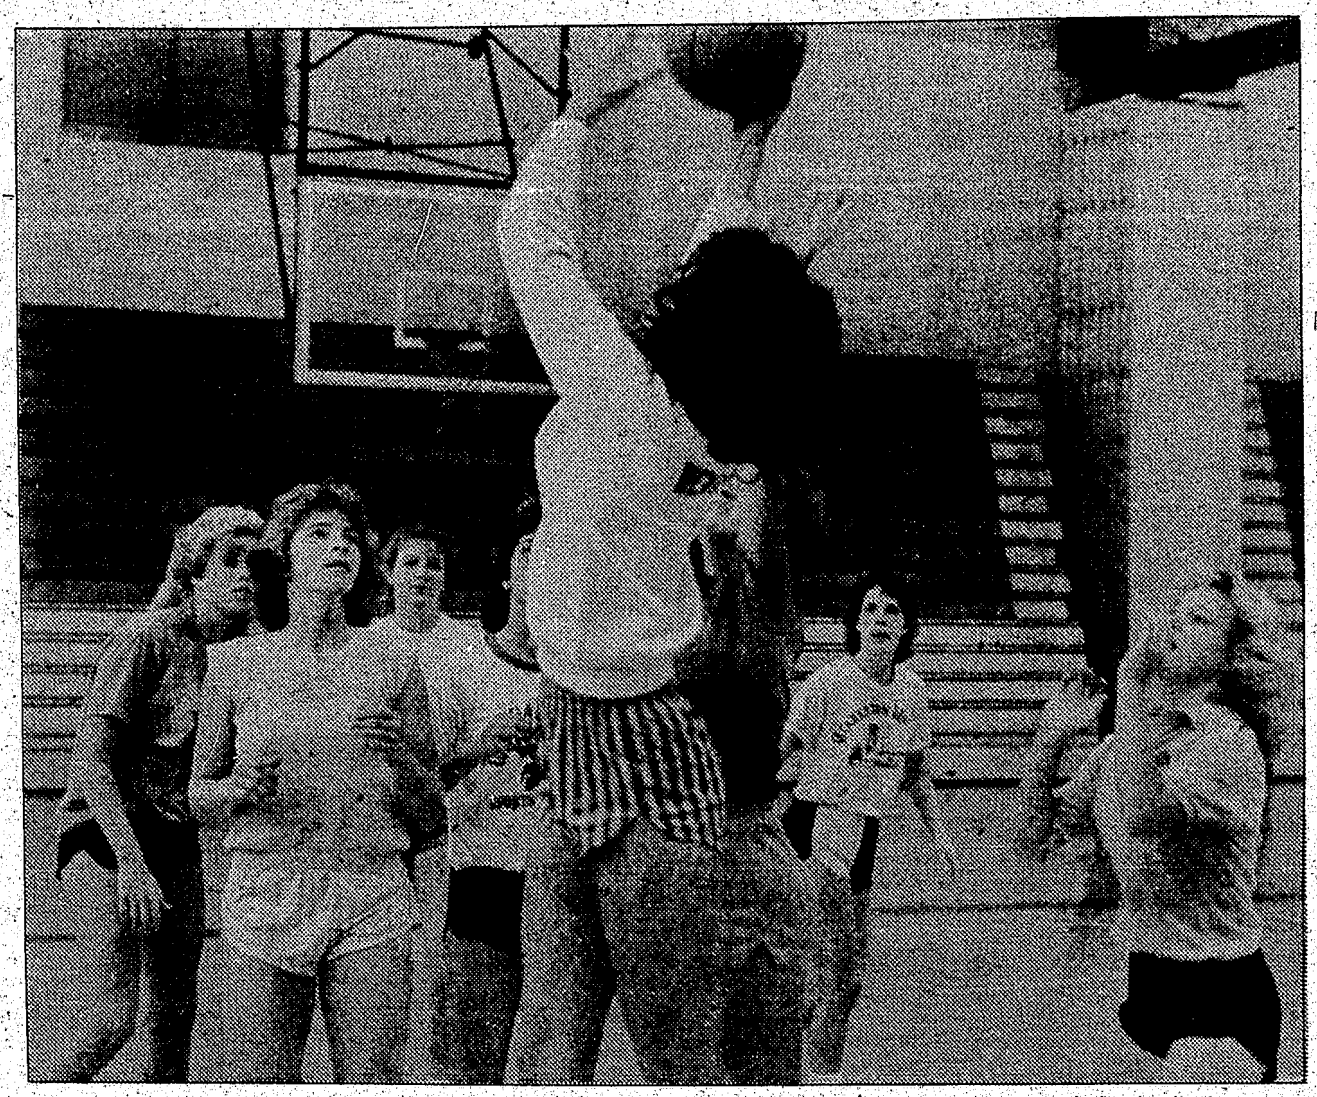

Kim Ottman again led the team with 14 points and she added seven steals. Fellow guard Laura Hurren pitched in the nine points and Michelle Taulbee pulled in 10 rebounds.

The home court advantage is working at full power early in the season for the Wolves. They have a 3-4 record with all three victories coming in the Clarkston High School gym.

The 3-4 record is not where McDonald thought the team would be at this point.

"I thought maybe 5-2, 4-3," he said. "We've lost a couple of close ball games but we won a couple too.

"Our effort has been good all year, just the technique is not there all the time. They're working very, very hard on it. When we out-and-out hustle, we're one of the better teams in the county."

The Wolves practice was light-hearted after their easy victory against Lake Orion the night before, but they still worked hard on their shooting as Wendy Learmont demonstrates.

Golfers reach goals in county tournament

By Dan Vandenhemel

The Clarkston Wolves boys' golf team did everything they wanted to in the Oakland County meet.

They even came within one stroke of their coach's prediction at the Oct. 1 meet at the Pontiac Country Club.

The Wolves carded a score of 336 and finished in a tie for eighth with Troy and Pontiac Catholic.

"I thought they would shoot 335," coach Jim Chamberlain said after the 18-hole event. "We met our objectives, we were in the top 10."

But asked if the team of Steve Willis (81), Gunnar Karlstrom (82), Rich Lay (84) and Chris Hunter (89) were happy with their totals, Chamberlain said they weren't the happiest.

"Coming back to the van after the meet, I asked them how many shots they could throw away, how many stupid shots they could take off their scores. The first three back said they could drop 16 shots alone and a few more from the fourth player," he said.

Brother Rice and Walled Lake Central finished in a tie for first at 321 with Rice winning the playoff hole for the championship.

Rice's win didn't surprise Chamberlain but the scores did.

"All the scores seemed high," he said. "Our guys are capable of shooting four shots better but when you put the flag up everyone reacts differently. But I feel good about our scores.

"They (the team) thought they could challenge for the top spot but I thought that was a little unrealistic. We don't have the capabilities of a West Bloomfield (4th place, 325 total)."

Many of the teams finishing ahead of the Wolves are also in the state regional tournament Oct. 12-13. The county meet gave Clarkston an opportunity to see the competition.

"I think it should give the kids what they need to do, to do well at the regionals," Chamberlain said. "They have to think more, not think birdie all the time but just a good shot each time."

Up My Alley

Call of the season

By Dan Vandenhemel

How's that old saying go, one step forward 20 backwards?

Something to that effect happened this past week to me and I owe it all to a cold.

When a person is sick, the world doesn't stop so they can get better, if anything it speeds up.

Last week as I was curled up with tissues in one hand and a thermometer in the other for two days (including my day off), the work started to build up at work.

Could I hope for a normal 44-page edition of the Clarkston News, but of course not. It's a nice, healthy 52 pages. There's nothing wrong with the size, that is on a full work week.

Suddenly five days turned into four and a half.

Still, I'm not complaining about the hours too much. When I decided to go into journalism, I knew it wouldn't be a 9-5 job.

Sniffling around the office took my mind off of it because after one of the many sneezes came a call of the season.

"Bless you boys."

Ah yes, the Detroit Tigers are in the playoffs against the Kansas City Royals and soon (maybe) the hometown champs will be in the World Series.

With the success the Tigers have had this season, some of the fans don't hope they will be world champions, they expect it.

That's too bad. Expecting too much of something takes away from the moment.

No matter what the Tigers do against the Royals or what they do in the series, it can't take away from this 162-game season.

It started out with a no-hitter and a 35-5 start and ended with a new team record for wins with 104.

Throughout the season, one that didn't see the Tigers lose more than four games in a row, everybody contributed to the winning attitude.

Willie Hernandez and Kirk Gibson to Rusty Kuntz and Marty Castillo all chipped in.

As far as I'm concerned, if the Tigers should lose (perish the thought) they still have brightened the summer.

Voters face lengthy ballot in '84

And at one of the high school's two precincts, a man jammed a machine then left disgruntled, after finding he couldn't split his ticket.

"Well you can split your ticket in the presidential election, which makes it easier for the voters, but more difficult for us," Holman said. "It's more involved to set up the machines, and that means more things can go wrong and break down.

"But I've got an excellent staff. I have election workers who've been with us many years and know what they're doing.

"Basically all I have to do is sit back and wait for something to go wrong."

According to Holman, copies of the ballot will be posted at all election precincts for voters to study. In addition, The Clarkston News will print a copy of the ballot in its election issue.

Proposed police millage asks for .5 mill

Independence Township voters face one local proposal and three state proposals on the November ballot.

The local issue asks voter approval of .5 mill for police. If approved, for collection over the next 15 years, the .5 mill will generate an additional $130,000 a year. Currently the township levies 1 mill which generates $261,000 to pay its $350,000 bill to the Oakland County Sheriff's department. That buys seven deputies, the seventh working only four of the 12 months, their cars, uniforms and equipment, and pays their salaries.

The $131,000 difference is made up from the Village of Clarkston's police contracting fee, $24,000 in federal revenue sharing and earned interest on investments.

One-half mill equals 50 cents for each $1,000 of assessed property valuation. A home assessed at $40,000, or half the market value, would be pay approximately $20 more a year for police if the millage is approved.

Proposal A

If approved, Proposal A would allow the legislature or a joint committee to approve or disapprove administrative rules. A recent example is the joint committee's recommendation to eliminate two-for-one happy hour drinking as proposed by the Liquor Control Commission. The joint committee's recommendation has the effect of law. The proposal would extend that force to the committees of the Department of Natural Resources and the state's Department of Public Health, according to Mat Dunaskiss (R), state representative for the 61st District.

Proposal B

If approved, the state's Proposal B would establish a Natural Resource Board and trust fund that would provide revenue from natural resources like oil, gas and mineral leases on state owned land.

The board would specify and limit spending, and orchestrate purchase land or land rights for public recreation, environmental importance or scenic beauty.

In addition, the board would recommend projects for approval to the legislature.

Proposal C

If approved, the state's Proposal C would amend Article 9, sections 1 and 2, of the constitution relating to taxes, other revenues and voter or legislative approval.

It would prohibit raises in any state or local tax unless approved by voters, and make void 90 days after its adoption any new or increased rates implemented since December 31, 1981.

In addition, it would void increased license or user permit fees implemented since Dec. 31, 1981 unless approved by voters or six of Independence Township's seven-member board or the 4/5 of the legislature on state issues.

In addition, it would limit a nonresident local political subdivision income tax to .5 of 1 percent, as collected by the City of Detroit. If implemented the proposed law would mean a $40 million loss to Detroit. In addition, it requires tax proposals to state their purposes, anticipated revenues and expiration dates.

Weighing millage allocations

By Dan Vandenhemel

A special public hearing concerning millage rates in Springfield Township had little turnout by area residents.

Only 15 people were at the Sept. 26 meeting in the Springfield Township Hall that gave the township board an idea of where to divide the increase in millage.

In the August primary election, voters approved a maximum increase of 4.41 mills. One mill is $1 for every $1,000 of assessed property valuation.

Supervisor Collin Walls said the board doesn't plan to use all of the 4.41 mills. The increase is split into three areas, the fire department, police protection and the general fund.

The board is planning to use the full 1 mill for the fire department, 1.6 of the 2 mills for police and .5 of the 1.41 for the general fund.

"There was little discussion for the fire fund," Walls said. "The general fund also had very little discussion. The major part of the levy was the police millage, that held most of the discussion."

The increase of 1.6 mills allows the township to continue to contract three deputies from the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

"Rather than the 2 mills (for police) we just went with 1.6 because that's all we need to cover the cost of three deputies at the 85-86 rate," Walls said. "It's just under $56,000 for each."

The police millage of last year in Springfield Township was .8127, almost half of the current rate. The current 3.1 total in taxes is a jump from 2.26 of the previous year, or an increase of 84 cents per $1,000 of assessed property valuation.

The public hearing was manditory by law and the board must wait seven days before making its final decision.

The special Springfield Township meeting is planned Oct. 3 at 4:15 p.m. in the township hall.

township government as a result of being a reporter and, third, I have the time."

Of the issues, Balzarini cites three.

"Of course the first is the police millage. I think it's apparent we need to pass the millage to be able to maintain the current level of services without dipping into the general fund.

"We need to investigate all the other alternatives and prove that what we're doing is the right thing, by proving the alternatives are not."

She's against the state's Proposal C, designed to rollback taxes to 1981 levels, and prevent an increase without voter approval, or six of the seven-member board agreeing.

"We're not sure how badly that would damage the township, but we do know we can't afford it, and the schools certainly can't afford it," Balzarini said.

"I can't support Proposal C. I don't think that it's as good as its supporters claim, and it's not as bad as its opponents claim either. But I don't favor anything that would affect our budget that drastically.

"And I see our jobs becoming one big campaign after another instead of allowing us to do our jobs."

Finally, Balzarini says the appointing of a new fire chief could manifest as a board issue.

"I'm not real certain about that, I've never really been involved in the appointing of a department head," she said, "but I do think there are potential problems with that."

Travis also lists commercial growth along the Sashabaw corridor as an area that is coming up for study, and the need to work on the heavy traffic problems on M-15 between Dixie Highway and Paramus Road.

In addition, he's concerned about the dangerously high levels of traffic on Dixie Highway just over the Independence border in Waterford Township.

"It's really becoming too much to handle," he said. "I know adults who cringe when they go down there. We've got to do something in our power, which is certainly limited, but we could press buttons."

Rural unpaved roads are another problem, and Travis said he would like to see more improvements.

He also cites police protection as a current issue and recommends that voters approve the .5 mill increase on the November ballot.

"I would like to see an additional deputy hired full time rather than the six-month deputy we have now. I'd like to pay our way rather than paying by ways that are not guaranteed," he said, listing federal and state revenue sharing that are affected by economic conditions.

Finally, Travis talks about the need to be responsible about spending.

"The economy is on the upswing, but there are no guarantees," he said. "Independence Township still suffers from a fair amount of unemployment. We have a fairly high cost of living here. Tax dollars need to be spent wisely, that's why fiscal responsibility is so important."

the board should investigate the issue and handle it," he said. "The board has to make the final decision. They are the ones elected by the people. I feel they should put themselves into the project.

"And they should stop tearing apart little issues and set priorities at the beginning of the year when they're adopting a budget. They should decide what they want to do first, draw up a plan and then stick with instead of jumping around."

Smalley says he sees poor communication between the state and county and township, and cites the adult foster care issue as an example.

"Communication's deteriorated there. I don't think the township's tried very hard to work at this at the state level. They've gotten lax on procedure. I do think their percentage approach is a good one though," he said, referring to the board's recently adopted standards to determine excessive concentration of those homes.

Smalley says the board needs to open itself more to public input.

"I don't think they get out into the public sector enough and find out what the people want, what the people are thinking," he said. "That's the way to get ideas.

"And they need to make relations better with the schools and work together more closely with anyone connected with anything pertaining to the township.

"We could resolve a lot or problems before they create a problem."

Smalley says "...I will spend taxpayers' money like I spend my own money, the way I run my house. I know what I need, and what's a luxury, and I don't mix up the two."

Dale Stuart

"It's much harder to expose all sides of the issue and try to have a full discussion of what's before the board. I've saved money and expenses for this township by doing that."

Naming key issues the new administration will have to deal with, Stuart cites five, but stresses they're always changing.

"Right now one is adult foster care homes," he said, referring to the state's carte blanche authority to build group homes for the mentally retarded anywhere in the community, without giving local governments veto power.

"It's an issue now and it's going to continue to be an issue as to the placement of homes. We have to determine what to do to balance the need to provide for the care of people involved in those homes, with the rights of the rest of the citizens. It's a tough issue, and emotional on both sides."

Secondly, Stuart says roads are an issue and will continue to be an issue in a rural township.

"But I'm a believer in what's evolved recently as the self-help method. People petition to have roads paved and ask the township for help. I think we should help. All of the township should have use of those funds instead of putting it all into one section," he said, referring to funneling community development funds into the township's low-to-moderate income areas designated in the 1980 Census.

"It's not the kind of thing I think we should shove down people's throats. But I'd like the help to be there if they want it. If they don't want it, they don't have to use it."

Third, Stuart says land use is a key issue.

"Especially while we're still developing and so much of the township is in a raw state. It will continue to a be a problem. We have to balance the needs of property owners with the rights of the entire township to see that quality developments go in as a plus for the whole township.

"We have to be fair, yet keep the quality of the community alive," he said.

Fourth, Stuart cites police services and its financing.

"We've got to come to some conclusion about how much is enough, and whether it will be in-house, regional or the sheriff's. It's something we have to be looking at all the time to decide which is the most cost-effective," he said.

"And then we need an idea of whether we're going to go into crime prevention or crime reaction and if we can afford to do both, or one."

Finally, Stuart says the new administration will have to review its general services and decide what it can and cannot afford.

"Are we going to provide more, or less? How are we going to tax? To the maximum, and build reserves? Or to the level needed to provide services?

"I firmly believe we should tax to the level needed to provide services and leave the rest of the money in the people's pockets," Stuart said.

An experiment in controlling speed in school areas on major thoroughfares has been initiated on Maybee Road in front of the Sashabaw schools.

Advisory signs noting "Pedestrian crossing next ½ mile—please reduce speed when children are present" were installed last week.

The 45 mph speed limit remains in effect, however.

The Methodist crusade starts Sunday when nearly 200 men of the First Methodist Church, Clarkston, will call on homes in the Clarkston community in an effort to raise $100,000 toward the building of the new church in April.

Chairmen of the Crusade are Philip Smith and Jack Frost.

Under the chairmanship of Mrs. Tom Boyns, Mrs. Sam Miller and Mrs. Earl Terry, dinner will be served to the Crusade callers at 12:29 p.m. following which there will be a short instruction period.

An achievement service is planned at 9:35 p.m. when the Crusade closes. Officiating are the Rev. William Richards, pastor of the church, and the Rev. Glen Trembath, one of the directors of the department of finance and field service of the Board of National Missions of the Methodist Church, Philadelphia.

Kitty Parks weaves and paints her baskets in her country kitchen. A former art teacher, she graduated from the University of Michigan with a bachelor's degree in painting and education. While her children are young, she's chosen to put her skills to work at home.

Artist puts skills to work at home

Baskets are 'Handmade by Kitty Parks, Clarkston, MI'

By Kathy Greenfield

A former art teacher who would rather stay home with her two young children, Kitty Parks has found ways to use her talents and energy.

In the five years since she quit teaching, she's developed an in-home art school for 7- to 15-year-olds, and she's become a regular at arts and crafts shows with her baskets and rack jacks. She also does free-lance artwork for brochures.

"Here I quit work so I'd have more time," she said, laughing. "I'm a night owl. I have to be. I'm probably up until 2 every night. I feel like I'm old friends with David Letterman."

The last several weeks have been particularly busy because at her last show, Kitty sold all her baskets but one.

"Then I knew I had this show (Country Folk Art Show, Oct. 5-7, at Springfield Oaks) coming up in four weeks, so you know what I've been doing night and day," she said.

"I like it. I guess I must—it's almost an obsession."

Kitty, her husband Rich, and their daughters, Christy, 9, and Katie, 3, live in a spacious farmhouse on Ellis Road in Groveland Township.

It's a Clarkston mailing address and tags on her works say "Handmade by Kitty Parks, Clarkston, Michigan." Attached to each of the more expensive baskets is a tiny bouquet of colorful dried flowers that Kitty grows, dries and arranges.

Working in her country kitchen, she weaves the baskets and paints on complementing strips of color or miniatures of strawberries, blueberries, hearts or ducks. They go out to the barn for staining.

The barn is also where she works to cut out her rack jacks. She first saw them in a gourmet shop but they were plain wood, and she's never seen ones like hers at craft shows. Kitty has created 50 original designs for her jacks, which are used to pull hot oven racks out of the oven and push them back.

Before she began working at home, Kitty taught art eight years at the Academy of the Sacred Heart in Bloomfield Hills.

"I just decided it was too much," she said. "I'm kind of a perfectionist and it was too hard for me to divide my time."

In 1980 she began offering art classes in her home.

"At first I thought of private lessons, but then I decided I missed the kind of mingling that goes on when you get a group of children together," she said.

The result has been a success in more ways than one. After the first year, the demand for Children's Art Workshop outweighed the two classes on Saturday she offers in twice yearly sessions. There is now a waiting list of 12.

The oven jacks also came into being in 1980.

"That's when I got into painting things around the house, doing little things I could take to the arts and crafts shows," she said. "I just wanted to get out and mingle with some other artists."

The basket making began a short time later, after she took a class.

Where to buy them

There she'll be among over 85 American folk artists from 15 states.

The second show is the Marian Mothers' Club Annual Calico Country Store and Luncheon on Friday and Saturday, Oct. 12 and 13.

Hours are 9 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. Friday, and 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Saturday at Marian High School, 7225 Lahser Rd., Birmingham.

SCAMP names new development coordinator

By Dan Vandenhemel

October is going to be a busy month for Betty Haran.

Haran is the new coordinator of development for SCAMP, the specialized five-week day camp for handicapped young people, and October is the group's main month to raise money.

"If I can get through this month, I can get through anything," she said. "We've got the Walk for SCAMP, the charity bazaar at the Pontiac mall and the Arts at the Oaks program at Springfield Oaks all this month. This is supposed to be a part-time job but it's full-time hours."

Haran took the position in August when Margaret Olesnavage moved to Rose City, Mich., with her family.

"I applied for the job because, frankly, I was looking for something to do," said the Allen Road, Independence Township, resident. "I've been involved in a lot of community projects. I like working with the volunteers and the professionals here."

The main goal of Haran's job is to raise money, $70,000 to be exact. The summer camp alone costs close to $50,000 each year.

"What I want to do is to raise enough money to set up trust funds to build interest so the camp can continue. It's so the handicapped kids can go to camp and not worry," she said. "This community is very supportive of SCAMP."

Figures Haran produced backed that idea. Of the 156 campers this past summer, 30 percent were from Independence Township but 90 percent of the funding came from the Clarkston area.

"One of the big things I'm pushing for is to get the other communities in northern Oakland County involved," she said.

"People feel this is Clarkston SCAMP, funded by the school district—they just let us use the property. We want other communities to help us help them."

Haran is aware how much her job is needed. She has to organize most of the fund raisers for SCAMP.

"This is such an important position," she said. "I have to be very, very careful about how to spend the money. Most of the money goes to the camp but it takes money to make money."

Walking for SCAMP is a major fundraiser for the organization and new coordinator of development, Betty Haran gathers the arrows for the event on Oct. 14.

*Chemicals Are Trouble. People Are Working.

Dear Cat Paw:
I know a friend of mine has been using some drug. His nose is always running and he seems real anxious and irritable. Do you know what he could be using?
Wondering

Dear Wondering:
The clues of symptoms you describe are clues that would signal to me your friend very possibly is using cocaine.

Dear Cat Paw:
I hear kids at school talking about taking barbs . . . what are they?
Questioning

Dear Questioning:
Barbs is a street name for barbiturates, among them Tuinal, Nembutal and Amytal.

Dear Cat Paw:
My mom is asleep on the couch when I get home from school. I know she's been drinking. What can I do?
Needing Help

Dear Needing Help:
Right now, you need help. Call 332-3521 to find out when and where there is an ALATEEN meeting near you. GO TO IT.

Dear Cat Paw:
What is this substitute heroine I hear people talking about?
Mystified

Dear Mystified:
You probably are referring to "T's and Blues," which is a combination of Talwin, a pain killer, and pyribezamine, a common cold tablet.

Dear Cat Paw:
What is alcohol?
Stumped

Dear Stumped:
Alcohol is a drug which is a sedative. If a person drinks too much, such as during a "chug-a-lug" contest, the alcohol can put his entire brain to sleep. He will forget to breath and can die.

Dear Cat Paw:
Can you get hurt if you "shoot up" tablets?
Scared

Dear Scared:
If you are "shooting up" tablets, you have every right to be scared.
Only 10 percent of any tablet is a drug. The other 90 percent is made up of materials such as talc crystals, dyes, etc., and this 90 percent can cause serious problems because it can clog blood vessels causing permanent damage to lungs, liver, eyes, brain and the central nervous system.

Editor's note: To ask questions about drugs, write to C.A.T. P.A.W., in care of The Clarkston News, 5 S. Main, Clarkston, MI 48016. Letters need not be signed.

The authors of C.A.T. P.A.W. are Jeanette Sanders and Sue Ludwig. Sanders is education chairperson of The Chemical People of Clarkston, a group dedicated to the prevention of alcohol and drug abuse among youth in the community. Ludwig is a counselor at Insight at Colombiere, a residential drug rehabilitation center in Springfield Township.

The next meeting of The Chemical People of Clarkston is scheduled Tuesday, Oct. 23, at 7:30 p.m. at the Clarkston school district administration office, 6389 Clarkston Rd., Independence Township. For more information call chairperson Fred Baumann at 625-9600.

Booster drive on

The Clarkston Athletic Booster Club is hoping to expand its membership. The club is made up of parents, educators, coaches and concerned citizens with the primary goal of raising money for the athletic programs in the Clarkston Community School District.

Members operate the concession stands at home football and basketball games, which provides a direct service to fans as well as a primary source of income.

The club has donated money for purchase of items for the wrestling team, a port-a-pit for track and an ice making machine for the high school training room to be used for first aid for sports injuries.

The group meets the fourth Monday of each month at the Clarkston High School library at 7:30 p.m. For more information call the CHS office at 625-0900.

Tiger drawing

Clarkston SCAMP is going to send two people to the World Series opening game in Detroit.

SCAMP, a specialized 5-week day camp for handicapped young people, is having a raffle for a pair of tickets to the ball game if the Tigers win the playoffs with Kansas City. If the game doesn't materialize, the winner will receive $100.

Tickets are $5 and are on sale this week. All proceeds go to SCAMP and are tax deductible. They will be available at the SCAMP offices at 6590 Middle Lake Road, next to the Clarkston High School or at Pontiac State Bank in Clarkston.

The date of the game is still unsettled. If the Chicago Cubs earn a trip to the World Series, the Detroit opener will be Oct. 9. If the Cubs don't make it, the date will be Oct. 12.

The raffle tickets will be on sale until two days prior to the game. For more information contact the SCAMP offices at 625-3330.

Basket-making is her bag

"I guess people in art tend to go toward these things," she said. "I loved baskets and I thought, 'Wouldn't it be neat to make my own?' "

She took a couple to the craft shows where she was selling rack jacks, people bought them and they became regulars.

Almost all the baskets she makes include space for her miniatures, something that "brings my painting into play and makes them more special," she said.

At the most recent Junior League of Detroit Designer Show House in Grosse Pointe, some of Kitty's baskets were used by a designer who saw them at a crafts show and asked if she could use some in decorating the potting room.

Subsequently, House Beautiful magazine took photographs of the room, and Kitty's looking forward to seeing photographs with her baskets in a spring issue.

"It's a nice feeling to become proficient at something, to keep at something long enough to see yourself develop as an artist," she said.

While she's enjoyed success as a mother who works at home, Kitty's thinking about her future.

She considered taking a teaching job this fall, but decided she wanted to stay home while her youngest is a preschooler. But teaching is something her future is likely to hold.

"I guess that would be my favorite thing," she said. "There's something about children's art that's so exciting. I come up with ideas and it's amazing to see what they come up with.

"Their parents are pleased and the kids are so proud. It's nice to see them feel good about what they've done."

Pine Knob readies for snow

In preparation for its '84 ski season, the Nederlander Corp.'s hired a new managment team for the Pine Knob ski lodge, made new purchases and already has season tickets on sale.

They've bought a dozen new snow guns and 500 pairs of rental skis to add to the existing 800, according to Elizabeth Roach, promotions director.

Roy Schaefer is the new general manager with 18 years of ski managment experience operating here, in the Midwest and Massachusetts. He's teamed with Jim Brown, operations manager, mountain manager Tom Zipp, Ron Brown's ski school and his assistant Rosie Murray.

Former season pass holders have until Oct. 15 to buy an '84 pass for $129, which can be used anytime during the season.

WE'D LIKE TO PUT A LOCK ON THESE CELLS.

Wouldn't it be nice to take a cancer cell like this one, lock it up, and throw away the key, so that it never intrudes on another unsuspecting life again.

Today, that day is even closer. You see, the cancer cell you're looking at is not an ordinary cancer cell. It's a human breast cancer cell that was actually grown in the laboratory of the Michigan Cancer Foundation. The discovery of these cells has permitted many new studies on breast cancer cause and treatment and has helped physicians determine how best to treat their patients' cancer. But it couldn't have been done without your United Way contribution.

When you give to the United Way of Pontiac-North Oakland, part of your gift goes to the Michigan Cancer Foundation, an agency that researches cancer, provides tools to help battle cancer, and helps cancer-stricken patients deal with the disease. And there are 59 other worthwhile community agencies which benefit from your gift.

So give as much as you care to the United Way this year, and help rid society of one of its most dangerous enemies.

GIVE AS MUCH AS YOU CARE.

New disabled support group

The Waterford/Clarkston support group of parents of learning disabled children officially becomes the North Oakland Chapter of the Michigan Association of Children with Learning Disabilities on Wednesday, Oct. 10.

The organization's goals are to achieve parent understanding and responsibility for educating their children; to promote community awareness and acceptance of the unique problems of the learning disabled and their families; to improve regular and special education at all levels; and to provide parent advocacy programs, according to chapter president Gail Dickerson.

Dinghy Sharp, a learning disabled consultant with Farmington Public Schools, is scheduled to speak from 7:30 to 9 p.m. at Sashabaw United Presbyterian Church, 5300 Maybee, Independence Township, on "Understanding Learning Disabilities; It Takes One to Know One."

She was born with a severe learning problem called dyslexia, a disturbance in the ability to read.

The meeting is free.

Clarkston Community Schools

We have examined the combined financial statements of Clarkston Community Schools as of and for the year ended June 30, 1984, as listed in the table of contents. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and, accordingly, included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

The combined financial statements do not include a statement of general fixed assets which, under generally accepted accounting principles for school district accounting, should be presented for a complete presentation of the financial activities of the School District.

In our opinion, except that the omission of the financial statement described in the preceding paragraph results in an incomplete presentation, the combined financial statements referred to above present fairly the financial position of Clarkston Community Schools at June 30, 1984 and the results of its operations for the year then ended, in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year, after giving retroactive effect to the change, with which we concur, in the method of accounting for certain liabilities as described in Notes 5 and 8 to the combined financial statements.

Our examination was made for the purpose of forming an opinion on the combined financial statements taken as a whole. The additional information listed in the table of contents is presented for purposes of additional analysis and is not a required part of the combined financial statements of Clarkston Community Schools. This information has been subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the examination of the combined financial statements and, in our opinion, is fairly stated in all material respects in relation to the combined financial statements taken as a whole.

NOTES TO COMBINED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
JUNE 30, 1984

NOTE 1 - SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The accompanying combined financial statements have been prepared in accordance with criteria established by the National Council on Governmental Accounting Statement 3 for determining the various governmental organizations to be included in the reporting entity. These criteria include oversight responsibility, scope of public service and special financing relationships.

The accounting policies of Clarkston Community Schools conform to generally accepted accounting principles as applicable to school districts. The following is a summary of the significant accounting policies:

FUND ACCOUNTING - The accounts of the District are organized on the basis of funds and account groups, each of which is considered a separate accounting entity. The operations of each fund are accounted for with a separate set of self-balancing accounts that comprise its assets, liabilities, fund balance, revenues and expenditures or expenses, as appropriate. Government resources are allocated to and accounted for in individual funds based upon the purposes for which they are to be spent and the means by which spending activities are controlled. The various funds are grouped, in the financial statements in this report, into generic fund types in two broad fund categories as follows:

GOVERNMENTAL FUNDS - Governmental funds are those funds through which most school district functions typically are financed. The acquisition, use, and balances of the School District's expendable financial resources and the related current liabilities are accounted for through governmental funds.

General Fund - The General Fund is used to record the general operations of the School District pertaining to education and those operations not provided for in other funds. Included are all transactions related to the approved current operating budget.

Special Revenue Funds - Special Revenue Funds are used to account for the proceeds of specific revenue sources that are restricted to expenditure for specified purposes. Included in the District's Special Revenue Funds are the following:

Northwest Oakland County Vocational Center Fund - The Northwest Oakland County Vocational Center Fund is administered by the Clarkston Community Schools under an agreement with the Oakland County Intermediate School District and is used to record all transactions of the Center for vocational education purposes.

School Service Funds - The School Service Funds are used to segregate, for administrative purposes, the transactions of a particular activity from regular revenue and expenditure accounts. The School District maintains full control of these Funds. The School Service Funds maintained by the School District are the Food Services and the Athletic Funds.

Maintenance, Equipment and Repair Fund - (See Note 9.) The Maintenance, Equipment and Repair Fund is used to segregate, for administrative purposes, expenditures related to major repairs and improvements to existing buildings. No expenditures related to new construction are made from this Fund.

Debt Retirement Funds - The Debt Retirement Funds are used to record tax and interest revenue and the payment of interest, principal, and other expenses on long-term debt.

Building and Site Funds - Building and Site Funds are used to record bond proceeds or other revenue and the disbursement of monies specifically designated for acquiring new school sites, buildings, equipment and for major remodeling and repairs. The Funds are kept open until the purpose for which the Fund was created has been accomplished.

FIDUCIARY FUNDS - Fiduciary funds are used to account for assets held by the School District in a trustee capacity or as an agent. Agency Funds are custodial in nature (assets equal liabilities) and do not involve measurement of results of operations.

Activities (Agency) Fund - The School District presently maintains an Activities Fund to record the transactions of student groups for school and school-related purposes. The funds are segregated and held in trust for the students.

ACCOUNT GROUPS - Account groups are not funds - they do not reflect available financial resources and related liabilities or the measurement of results of operations - but are the District's accounting records of the general long-term debt. The General Long-term Debt Account Group is used to record the School District's outstanding bonded debt and long-term notes payable.

BASIS OF ACCOUNTING - Governmental funds utilize the modified accrual basis of accounting. Property taxes and other revenue that are both measurable and available to finance operations are recorded as revenue when earned. Properties are assessed as of December 31 and the related property taxes are levied and become a lien on July 1 and December 1. These taxes are due September 15 and February 14 with the final collection date of February 28 before they are added to county tax rolls. Other revenue is recorded when received.

Expenditures are recorded in the accounting period in which the fund liability is incurred, if measurable, except for unmatured principal and interest on general long-term debt, which is recorded when due. The non-current portion of vested sick and accumulated sick days and self-insured workers' compensation liabilities are reflected in the General Long-term Debt Account Group.

The financial activity of the Agency Fund is limited to collection of amounts which are subsequently returned or paid to third parties and, accordingly, are limited to cash transactions.

CASH EQUIVALENT INVESTMENTS - Cash equivalent investments are stated at cost and are comprised of certificates of deposit and savings accounts.

INVENTORIES - Inventory in the General Fund consisting of gasoline is stated at cost. The School Service Funds' inventory consists of food and supplies and is stated at cost. Disbursements for other inventory-type items are recorded as expenditures at the time of purchase.

GENERAL FIXED ASSETS - General fixed assets (including busses which costs are partially reimbursed through state aid payments) are recorded as expenditures in the General, Special Revenue or Building and Site Funds in the year payment is made or expenditure accrued.

LONG-TERM LIABILITIES - Long-term liabilities expected to be financed from governmental funds are accounted for in the General Long-term Debt Account Group, not in the governmental funds.

ELIMINATIONS - The total data presented in the combined financial statements is the aggregate of the data for all the fund types and account group shown on each of the respective statements. There have been no interfund or similar eliminations made in these columns.

Other accounting policies are disclosed on the face of the combined financial statements or in the other notes to combined financial statements.

NOTE 2 - TAX CLAIM

The State Tax Commission increased the December 31, 1981 assessed values of residential property in Oakland County, as equalized by the County Board of Commissioners. The county appealed the state equalization and the Court of Appeals issued an opinion ordering the State Tax Commission to devise a method that weights sales data closer in time to the tax day and that accounts for creative financing. The ultimate resolution of any retroactive application of the revised method should not have a material effect on the District as a decrease in tax revenue would be offset by an increase in state aid.

NOTE 3 - BUDGETS

The School District formally adopted General, Maintenance, Equipment and Repair, Food Services, Athletic, Debt Retirement, and Northwest Oakland County Vocational Center Funds' budgets by function for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1983. The budget information presented on the combined statement of revenues, expenditures and changes in fund balances - budget and actual is the actual budget adopted. The General Fund budget was amended once during the year resulting in an increase in budgeted revenues of approximately $426,000 and an increase in budgeted expenditures of approximately $548,000.

The Maintenance, Equipment and Repair Fund and the Northwest Oakland County Vocational Center Fund were also amended once during the year. These amendments resulted in an increase in both budgeted revenues and expenditures in the Maintenance, Equipment and Repair Fund of approximately $25,000 and an increase in both budgeted revenues and expenditures in the Northwest Oakland County Vocational Center Fund of approximately $1,000.

NOTE 4 - RETIREMENT PLAN

Substantially all school district employees are covered by the Michigan Public School Employees' Retirement System. The District is required to contribute a fixed percentage, as determined for all districts by the State of Michigan, of gross wages of the participants to the Retirement Fund. The District's contribution to the plan for the year was approximately $571,000. Information as to the actuarially computed value of vested benefits as compared to plan assets is not determined on a district basis by the Retirement System. The State of Michigan is responsible for the adequacy of funded contributions and payment of benefits.

These notes are due in annual installments ranging from $40,000 to $115,000 through April 1, 1993 plus interest at rates of 8.4 percent to 11.25 percent. These notes will be paid by the General Fund.

The Debt Retirement Funds have $159,600 available to service the general obligation bonds.

The District has a special sewer assessment payable in annual installments of approximately $16,000, including interest at a rate of approximately 6 percent, through 1989. The assessment is included in General Fund expenditures at the time of payment.

The other obligations in the General Long-term Debt Account Group are as follows:

Accrued sick pay	$611,000
Accrued vacation pay	91,900
Self-insured workers' compensation claims	18,300
	$721,200

NOTE 6 - LAND CONTRACT RECEIVABLE

The land contract receivable arises from the sale of a house built by the vocational education department. It is being repaid over five years in monthly installments of $600 including interest at a rate of 11 percent. The balance of the contract will be due in November of 1986. The District has also recorded deferred revenue equal to the land contract receivable and recognizes revenue on the sale at the time the payments are received.

NOTE 7 - WORKERS' COMPENSATION CLAIMS

The School District is partially self-insured for workers' compensation claims. Under the self-insurance plan, the School District's maximum loss is limited to an amount equal to a percentage of the normal workers' compensation premiums. Losses in excess of this limitation are insured up to an aggregate limit of $1,000,000. The maximum liability of the District in any one case is $100,000. The cumulative contingent liability for claims to be filed in the future for injuries incurred during the period from July 1, 1979 to June 30, 1984 is approximately $550,000.

NOTE 8 - ACCOUNTING CHANGES - COMPENSATED ABSENCES, SELF-INSURED LIABILITIES AND DEFERRED REVENUE ON LAND CONTRACTS

During the current year, Clarkston Community Schools changed its method of accounting for liabilities for compensated absences and self-insured workers' compensation in order to conform to National Council on Governmental Accounting Statement 4, which is effective for years ended December 31, 1983 and later. As a result of this change, the current portions of these liabilities (those payable within 60 days) are recorded as liabilities in the General Fund at year-end, and the long-term portions are recorded in the General Long-term Debt Account Group.

The School District also changed its method of accounting for revenue related to land contracts in order to conform to National Council on Governmental Accounting Statement 5, which is effective for years ended December 31, 1983 and later. As a result of this change, only current year payments received on a land contract are recorded as revenue. In connection with these changes, General Fund fund balance has been restated as follows:

Fund balance - June 30, 1983 - As previously reported	$1,313,271
Increase - Self-insured workers' compensation payable	62,836
Decrease - Deferred revenue on land contract sale	(62,535)
Fund balance - June 30, 1983 - As restated	$1,313,572

See Note 5 for restatement of the General Long-term Debt Account Group.

NOTE 9 - CHANGE IN FUND CLASSIFICATION

During the year, the District reclassified the fund previously accounted for as a Capital Projects Fund to a Special Revenue Fund and renamed the fund the Maintenance, Equipment and Repair Fund. In connection with this change, the Special Revenue Funds fund balance has been restated as follows:

Fund balance - Special Revenue Funds - June 30, 1983 - As previously reported	$119,154
Increase - Amounts previously reported as fund balance of the Capital Projects Fund - June 30, 1983	253,332
Fund balance - Special Revenue Funds - June 30, 1983 - As restated	$372,486

NOTE 10 - SUBSEQUENT EVENT

In July 1984, the District sold $1,750,000 of bonds to finance the cost of constructing multipurpose rooms onto the elementary schools. The bonds mature from 1985 through 1998 and bear an interest rate of 9.973 percent.

Marilyn Allyn's making paths in education

She's supervisor for Outreach, Clarkston's adult program

By Kathy Greenfield

One recent Tuesday, Marilyn Allyn put 32 miles on her car driving between programs she oversees in the Clarkston area.

As the supervisor of Adult Outreach for the Clarkston school district's Community Education Department, she's in charge of the new Adult Performance Level (APL) high school degree program, the adult basic education program and English as a second language classes.

Her staff of 10 teaches at the vocational school, at Clarkston High School, St. Daniel's Catholic Church Hall, in a private home and at two adult foster care homes.

"It's neat to see all these things happening," said Allyn, who formerly served five years as coordinator, then supervisor of adult education for Brandon schools. She began her Clarkston job in August.

"The reason I like it the most is you're working with people a lot of times who come in doubting themselves. They get into the classes, the confidence starts to build. A year later you see them graduate... You feel like you're doing something for people."

Allyn doesn't hesitate to praise her staff. She credits them for pulling her through a hectic time as new classes are established, specialized materials ordered and classrooms set up.

"They're very, very dedicated, and without them I'd be down the tubes," she said.

"They've been very supportive. It's a really good staff. They're experts, most of them have degrees in reading or special education."

Allyn's bachelor's degree from Eastern Michigan University is in physical education and business, and her master's degree in adminstration with a community education concentration is from Michigan State University.

Five-year residents of Independence Township, she and her husband, Dave, have a daughter and son; 6-year-old Brynn, a Pine Knob Elementary School pupil, and 4-year-old Robbie, who attends Clarkston Preschool.

Because her job with community education is part time (30 hours a week), she's able to work around the school schedules of her children.

She also has a part-time job with Oakland Schools, the intermediate school district that aids the 28 public districts in Oakland County with testing services and support programs. She's scheduled to work 106 hours between August and December monitoring test scores and placement of people enrolled in adult education programs.

Each of the programs she oversees in Clarkston has different goals.

The Adult Performance Level (APL) program offers a competency-based alternative to those seeking high school degrees.

The need for highly individualized instruction for students enrolled in Adult Outreach programs has kept new supervisor Marilyn Allyn busy, but the rewards keep her smiling.

"If you dropped out of high school in the ninth grade, you haven't worked and you have no credits at all, it's a little discouraging to find you need 14 credits, or you're going to have to take 28 classes to graduate," she said.

"That same person, just going through their life, raising a family, probably has a lot of knowledge that can be used with APL, so instead of taking four years in the traditional program, it might just take one or two years."

The APL program in Clarkston is expected to begin in January, but Allyn has had experience with APL in Brandon. A federal program, it has a standardized curriculum used all over the United States, and students enrolled in the course can move if they must and continue in another geographical area.

Adults who wish to return to school to finish their degrees must first talk with a community education counselor. If they are deemed highly motivated and appear to be candidates for APL, the first step is a reading test, which must show the ability to read at a seventh-grade level or higher.

Then there's a 100-item assessment test that checks knowledge in five main categories: consumer economics, occupational knowledge, community resources, health, and government and law.

If more study is needed in any category, work in workbooks begins and the student must later pass an area measurement test.

Each graduate is also required to complete 45 life skills—written assignments that must show good writing and math skills; and there is an American history requirement.

In addition, the students must show competence in a vocational skill with a letter from an employer, for example, or the successful completion of a vocational education class. If the student wants to go to college, the ACT test must be passed.

In the English as a second language classes, about 15 adults are enrolled. They're from Korea, China, Japan, Mexico and the Middle East.

The Adult Basic Education (ABE) courses serve adults in two foster care homes in Independence Township.

There are also reading classes offered at Clarkston High School and the vocational school.

A new ABE class this year serves the trainable mentally impaired over age 26.

School districts are required by law to serve such students until they reach age 26, and this program is designed to bridge the gap between public school programs and facilities like sheltered workshops.

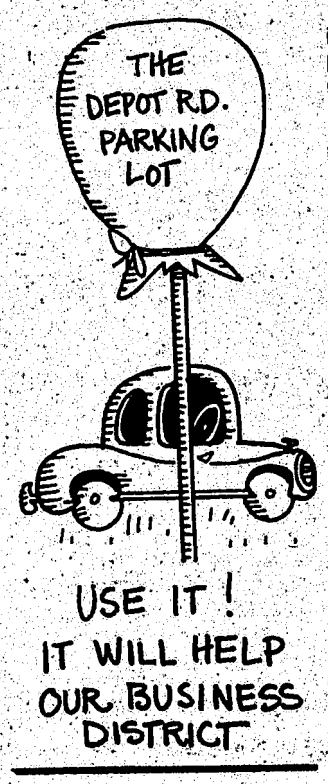

Nineteen students from Clarkston, Holly and Waterford are enrolled. They meet at St. Daniel's Church Hall. Their parents provide transportation.

There are three areas of instruction: functional academics, including making change, reading stoplights and word skills; life skills, including cooking and cleaning; and movement, including weight control and exercise.

Fun in the autumn sun

Autumn days are supposed to be like this—sun shining but not too hot, perfect for some vigorous fun on the playground equipment at Independence Township's Clintonwood Park off Clarkston Road. Here, Laura Mansfield flies down the slide into the waiting arms of Sue Jorgensen. Laura lives on Holcomb Street in Clarkston, Sue on Bluegrass Drive in Independence Township.

The tower above the giant spiral slide serves as a lookout point for several kids at play.

The smiles on their faces show it's an all-in-fun effort by Kris Diehl to keep his friend Joe Mansfield [left] from climbing up one of the slides at the park.
