More classes

By Kathy Greenfield

A commitment has been made by Clarkston schools to expand its curriculum with more foreign languages, physical education, fine arts, computer technology and thinking skills.

The plan was presented at Monday night's school board meeting by Curriculum Director Alberta Ellis, who was recently appointed to the newly created adminstrative position. The board agreed to work toward the goals in a 6-0 vote.

The five-year plan will eventually lead to an increase in graduation requirements, Ellis said.

For the 1985-86 school year, the changes include elementary school physical education, six weeks of a foreign language in fourth grade, French and Spanish at both junior highs, computer keyboarding skills in the third grade, computer technology in grades seven through nine, one semester of computer technology on the high school level, training in interdisciplinary skills (including communication and writing in all subjects), and the adoption of a thinking skills program on the secondary level.

Changes in the curriculum would occur over the five years leading to foreign language, fine arts and applied technology requirements in junior high school; an increase in the physical education-healthrequirement in junior high; and an increase of three semesters in the high school math requirement; a high school fine arts requirement; and an increase of three semesters in the high school science requirement.

Funding for the new programs has been touched upon in past discussions, but the school board has yet to address the cost factor.

WHAT'S GOING ON IN THE WORLD: Support for the winning Tigers is everywhere Friday at Pine Knob and Sashabaw elementary schools. And there's no doubt which team fifth-grade teacher Len Loyeless supports as he tends to teaching duties at Pine Knob. The Tigers came through for their fans with the American League Pennant Friday night.

Wrong man

By Marilyn Trumper

When Clarkston Schools Superintendent Milford Mason's name appeared as a presidential candidate on the November ballot under the Socialist Workers Party, he was more surprised than anyone.

"You want a campaign statement?" Mason asked. "I grew up believing every young person could be president of the United States and all of a sudden I got the opportunity and I couldn't pass it

"I don't have a platform, but I'll be happy to share it with you when I do. By the way, who's my running mate? Matilde Zimmerman? Oh, I remember her now. I met her..."

Then Mason laughs.

"Îf nominated, I will not run. If elected L will not serve. I don't know who said that, I just remember it from history."

And finally, "The worst part of this is, so-meone out there's going to believe it."

Mason says he's a true-blue American who happens to share the same name with a presidential hopeful. The other Mel Mason, by the way, tial hopeful. The outer May lives in Seaside, Calif.

Talk turns to closing school

In the last 13 years enrollment in Clarkston schools has declined by 1,573 pupils, according to Assistant Superintendent Mel Vaara, and the future of Clarkston Junior High School is up for discussion.

Vaara reported the official fourth Friday count and the loss of 154 K-12 pupils for the 1984-85 school year at Monday night's school board meeting. Enrollment this year is 5,740.

While the loss was offset by increases of 84 students in community education programs, the need for less classroom space in the future was brought up by Superintendent Milford Mason.

Mason noted, in particular, the total number of pupils presently enrolled in second through fourth grades. If the grades neither gained nor lost students, the total of 995 would make up the junior high school population in five years, he said:

There are presently 1,559 students enrolled in Clarkston's two junior highs.

Mason suggested that a study group be formed to discuss possibilities for the future, such as closing one junior high school or switching to the middle school concept with grades six through eight in middle school and grades nine through 12 in high school.

Because Clarkston Junior High School is the oldest building in the district, built in the late 1920s, its future was mentioned.

"By no means am I trying to push the panic button," said Mason. "I'm suggesting that since we know it's coming when we get there it won't be a surprise and the community can understand what we're trying

Richard Holman

Independence Township Clerk Richard Holman was appointed in August 1983 to fill the remaining year in the resigned clerk's four-year term.

Holman, 30, is running on the Republican ticket. "In general terms I believe one can derive a great deal of satisfaction from public service, although it can be trying at times and I don't want to minimize the problems.

"Working together with citizens to solve problems can be a great source of satisfaction.

Fingerprinting service now complete at 5 elementaries

By Kathy Greenfield

The children shrug their shoulders when asked what they think about being fingerprinted. "I've never done it before," says one, putting it into

After Wednesday, the experience was no longer unique for about 480 of the 582 pupils enrolled at Pine Knob Elementary.

The same held true across the Clarkston school district, for Pine Knob was the last of the five elementary schools to participate in the voluntary fingerprinting program offered through E.S.C.A.P.E., the acronym for the Enroll in the Sheriff's Crime and Accident Prevention Program.

Bob Misener, coordinator of the fingerprinting in the schools for E.S.C!A.P.E., figures between 12,000 and 13,000 children in Oakland County have been fingerprinted since March 1983. The cost is 14 cents a child, and some money is donated by PTAs, PTOs and private parties. "But mainly we sell milk shakes, french fries, chicken fingers, fish sandwiches and pop at the east gate of the Silverdome," said Misener. "We need approximately $30,000 a year and most of it is generated from the Silverdome."

Almost every week, he trains a group of women volunteers to take the prints and then oversees their work at a school.

When they take fingerprints, the highest percentage of children who participate are from preschools and parochial schools, he said, and the lowest from public schools.

Here we're running pretty well, probably about 75 percent of the entire school," he said. "Some people feel it's an invasion of privacy, but when we tell them we make no record of the prints, child's name or permission slips (they approve)."

At the end of the school day, the children's fingerprints are given to them to take home. It's up to their parents to keep the records.

After the printing is over, the children wash up before returning to class. At the cleaning station is Alan Ray Stutzman II.

Standards:set

Excessive concentration of group homes was officially defined by the Independence Township Board last week. The board plans to use three standards to weigh requests for new homes, or if it battles the issue

With little discussion, the board unanimously adopted the standards Oct. 2.

Requests for group homes will be denied if: The number of beds exceeds .4 percent of the population of the entire township or in any of the four census tracts used in the United States Census, (Currently there are 21,572 residents in the township, making the acceptable number of beds 86.3. There are 103 existing beds.) •If the number of beds in one quadrant of the township exceeds another by more than one bed. (The concentration in the northwest qaudrant is now considerably higher than the others.)

•If the number of group homes in the entire township or in each census tract exceeds .2 percent of the total homes. (Currently, there are 6,160 homes, making the acceptable number of group homes 12. There are 16 existing group homes.)

The standards were adopted after the Macomb Oakland Regional Center (MORC) sought approval to build a home for six mentally retarded adults at Oak Hill and Perry Lake roads in Bloch Equestrian

The township believes it's the target of excessive concentration, and is on record that it will sue if MORC pursues the house. MORC has indicated plans will continue.

According to MORC, the state defines excessive concentration as one group home located-within 1,500-feet of another. The proposed home in Equestrian Village does not meet that definition.

Lottery theft

The theft of $1,800 in Michigan Lottery money from Hallman's Apothecary left owner Bob Bennett holding the bag.

Bennett said he was alerted to the robbery the morning of Oct. 2 when police found broken glass on the alley doorway and called him.

"I'm so upset I don't want to talk about it," he said. "They got what they wanted, I guess."

Checks are being made, but Bennett said his insurance probably won't cover the theft. A malfunction in the alarm system kept the sirens from alerting police earlier. Nothing else was taken in the break-in.

The cash represented a week's worth of lottery sales at the Main Street, Clarkston, drug store.

You normally need money on hand to pay big winners," said Bennett, "but big winners are just going to have to wait."

The highest payoff, on a daily lottery ticket, at Hallman's was $333, he said.

From now on such payoffs will have to wait until a trip is made to the bank where the money will be deposited each night, he said.

Meet Carr, Ritter

A chance to meet the candidates for the 6th Congressional District, which includes Independence and Springfield townships, is offered by Citizens United to Restore Education (C.U.R.E.).

On Thursday, Oct. 11, at 8 p.m., United States Congressman Bob Carr (D-Okemos) and contender Thomas Ritter (R-Clarkston) are to deliver remarks at the Waterford school district administration building, 6020 Pontiac Lake Rd., Waterford Township.

Each candidate has been alloted 15 minutes to express his views, with a question-and-answer period

C.U.R.E. was formed in 1980 by a group of parents concerned about the inequities of the present state aid formula for education.

The organization is comprised of 11 school districts-Avondale, Brandon, Clarkston, Holly, Holten, Howell, Huron Valley, Lake Orion, Oxford, Pontiac and Waterford.

Tiger fever captures schools

A bunch of boys on the playground at Sashabaw Elementary gather at recess Friday for a little sandlotstyle baseball.

"We're the Tigers," says one, and his pride shows as he swings his bat with gusto at the pitch.

It's Tiger Day at the school and he's wearing a hat and T-shirt adorned with the big D.

Over at Pine Knob Elementary, the lunch menu is displayed prominently on a bulletin board.

Tiger stickers adorn the selections: Pennant Fever Fish with Bases Loaded Bread and Butter, or Grand Slam BBQ Sandwich; Fielder's Choice Corn; Batter Up Baked Beans; and, for dessert, Sparky's Fruit Cup.

They, too, are recognizing the Tigers with a day dedicated to them.

Inside the classrooms at both schools, it's business as usual—with some minor differences. Just today, the kids can wear Tiger caps while working at their desks. Teachers, too, wear stickers, pins, hats and Tiger T's.

The rallying slogan "Bless You Boys" is everywhere.

Cable TV system misses completion deadline

Tribune/United general manager lists reasons for construction snags

By Marilyn Trumper

Independence Township's cable TV system is past its targeted Sept. 17 date for completion, and finds operators Tribune/United asking for an extension as outlined in the franchise agreement.

If the township board fails to grant the extension, could mean a $2,000-a-week penalty for the Chicago-based firm if the board finds delays were intentional, and not caused by problems outside the firm's control.

On Oct. 3, township board unanimously agreed to refer the issue to the Cable Communications Board for review and recommendation. The cable board, which meets monthly, consists of two members from

Lot split change

A recent amendment to the ordinance allows Independence Township's zoning board of appeals to send nonconforming lot split requests to the lot split committee.

It's an amendment Trustee Larence Kozma doesn't agree with. "I think we may be creating a problem, a real problem," he told the board at the Oct. 2 meeting prior to its approval of the amendment.

'I understand what we want to do, that we want a mechanism in the law to allow that, but I think it's going to present a major problem giving a board of appointed citizens the power to split nonconforming lots into two nonconforming lots, or one conforming

McNally supporter shares reasons

I have had the pleasure and privilege of knowing Judge Gerald McNally and his wonderful family for nearly 20 years.

I believe a lot of people really are not aware of the wide variety and often very serious nature of the cases that are brought before Judge McNally.

They range from the most serious of criminal cases, i.e. murder and sexual misconduct cases for arraignment, to his often kind and compassionate counseling of an errant teen, and the teen's parents who feel they have no other place to go and find a friend or firm hand in the judiciary to rein their youngster in before a disaster occurs.

I believe some groups call for slogans and policies of "let's get tough," etc. These may sound and look good as campaign hype.

But I believe the constitution guarantees each and every one of us—however old, young, big or small—"our day in court," to be heard individually, fairly and, yes, compassionately with an appropriate punishment for our misdeeds or an acquittal if we are not guilty.

Somehow, there is a mood of let's get tough with criminals. I have never known Jerry McNally to do otherwise, but let's also be fair and not deprive people of their rights.

During the last 15 years, the Honorable Judge McNally has handled many cases that I have personally known most or all of the facts. They ranged from extremely serious and tragic to often minor and to some people, embarrassing.

Remember the thriller a few years back about killer bees that mobbed such things as school buses?

I'm glad I didn't see it last week—before the encounter.

It was a wonderful autumn day and I was out at Clintonwood Park taking photographs. When using a camera, it's best if you concentrate.

Sure, you scan the area and determine you're not going to crash into something or fall into a hole. Once you know the terrain, you forget about surroundings and go for the action.

That's what I did before trying to capture some of the good times kids and adults have playing on slides of all sizes.

I finished the roll of film, got the last child's name and turned to retrieve my camera case when I felt the sting.

I knew it was a bee, but I couldn't see it.

The problem was it had somehow flown up my pant leg between the cloth and my thigh. It wasn't stinging the cloth.

Imagine, if you will, someone trying to smash a bee discreetly while not knowing exactly where it is.

The stinging stopped. Then I felt more of the same around my knee. The batting began

I looked down and saw several yellow jackets on a piece of rotted apple on the ground. It didn't take long to look further and see all the bits of apple and all the bees I hadn't noticed before.

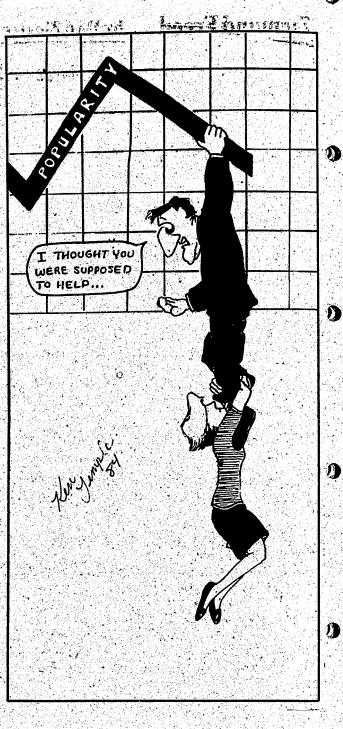

Then I knew what happened. While I was bending down under a platform leading to a slide, I must have been over a piece of apple loaded with the scavenger yellow jackets.

Luckily I'm not allergic to bees. But those stings hurt and I went home with about five of them on my leg. They were probably from one bee, for yellow jackets, unlike honey bees, can sting repeatedly.

People sometimes ask if there is any danger connected with the job of a journalist.

I'm certain most people would laugh if I: answered, "I always check the terrain for bees."

But from now on, I will.

Jim's Jottings

All bets are final

Oh, I gamble in business, taking a chance on being able to pay off a debt on equipment purchases, or property.

That's no different than anyone buying a house or car, except the dollars may be greater, or more often

The 'gambler', whom I'm not is one who bets on craps, Black Jack, golf, ponies, roulette, and the like.

I remember my early golf bets for a Coke, A lousy nickel Coke bet would make my knees tremble and putts go astray.

Nowadays, with inflation, it takes five bucks to do it. But do it I do.

Being just returned from a newspaper convention in Reno, NV, gambling will continue to be the subject of this column.

Included in the meeting schedule was a session on learning how to shoot craps. Dice have never been sweated on by my hands ... until Reno. Equipped with the new advise, I risked $20 on the $2 table.

"Play the 'pass line'," said the teacher. The advice helped make that $20 last about 45 minutes. So much for Thursday.

None of those $100 a day, or more, self-setlimits for me. Money comes too slow and goes too fast without dropping those big notes in the fast lane.

Gambling time is really quite limited if you want to share thoughts at a convention and see equipment, unless you can stay up to the wee hours.

So, Friday I tried $10 at roulette and $10 at Black Jack. Playing around number 26 at the routlette wheel I built up a big lead . . . $35. The card dealer was merciless, eliminating my funds, two bucks at a time, in five minutes.

I have imagined being a winner, feeling excitement at the possibilities. Never to the point of "breaking the bank", just half the bank.

I got some of that feeling one day, while waiting for a bus. I walked up to a vacant roulette table, put $2 on 26 and said to the operator, "Roll a 26 and I'll go catch my tour."

She did, and I had an instant $70.

That was a good win in two ways. First of all, I had $70. Second, it ended up curing me of any excitement about winning in Vegas, Reno or Atlantic City.

See, on the tour I convinced myself that $70 was mine. It wasn't. It was the Casino's.

All 'winnings' are the Casino's. I realized that when I suffered through the loss of MY $70.

I'll bet I never gamble again.

On my soapbox

Sock it to 'em Tigers

Marilyn Tramper

I was three months into my 11th year when the Detroit Tigers captured the '68 World Series.

That October I sat alphabetically in the back right-hand corner of Mr. Behnke's sixth-grade class at St. Thecla's Catholic School in Mt. Clemens.

Tiger fever was hot then too. Probably hotter in the eyes of a kid.

After morning mass Behnke bribed us to dig deep into our pockets and make that day's mission collection a good one. There were starving black children in Ethiopia. And if we met quota, he'd order a black-and-white television from audio visual so we could watch the Tigers' afternoon play-off game.

We all dug deep, forfeiting milk money and dimes for comic books and penny-candy keeping our fingers crossed Mark O'Brien would come through again. O'Brien's old man Roy owned the Ford dealership at 9 Mile and Mack with the advertising jingle, ...get on the right track, to 9 Mile and Mack. Rov O'Brien will get you flying or give your money back...

O'Brien always had money.

And he always came through.

A Tiger ball game beat Behnke's geography class hands down

And besides, we already knew where Ethiopia was.

After school, I'd run the mile home dragging a heavy leather bookbag filled with texts; and once there peel off the hot, wool, burgundy and gray school uniform and trade it in for jeans, a T-shirt and ball glove:

The books were forgotten.

il'd meet Chuck Polzen, his kid brother Rich, Mike Drennan, Mike Eberts and my brother Toby.

We'd link up with others and play in Polzon's back yard until dark, or our until mothers called for dinner, whichever came first. Knowing we'd be kept in if we returned home for a jacket, the team stiffed out the damp fall night with dew-laden grass.

We could hardly see the baseball in the twilight. Cold and wet, it was wonderful.

My childhood girlfriend Denise Conlon was lassoed more than once into marching in a Tiger parade each time they won.

We'd tie together three wagons, paint SOCK IT TO 'EM TIGERS on poster board and gave a stuffed tiger the seat of honor. Denise wore a blue silk threelayered cancan slip, and I, a scarlet one with white polka dots.

We're immortalized in the Trumper film library for posterity, or blackmail.

We marched up and down Jordan Drive chanting and singing "Sock it to 'em Tigers, show 'em how to play. Sock it to 'em Tigers, we're with you all the way..." until we were hoarse, secure in the knowledge the Tigers won solely because of our parades.

The day they clinched the pennant I was sentenced to a piano lesson at Cynthia Stover's.

It was for me a half-hour of pure misery. Even worse than Behnke's geography class.

And this day, of all days, when my ball-playing buddies were locked in front of their TV sets watching the Tigers, I was locked in front of a Baldwin with a metronome that loudly ticked away every minute I was missing from the game.

I knew they were winning.

Cynthia's brother Jim yelled and screamed from the den in the next room.

I struggled with Beethoven's "For Eloise" and yelled between bars, "Jim, what's the score?"

The final blow came when Jim screamed and bounded down the hall yelling they'd won. Red feathers symbolizing the Cardinals littered the field.

It was anticlimactic.

Even today a ball glove fits better on the ends of my fingers than a diminished seventh chord.

The day after the Tigers clinched the Eastern Division, childhood friend Denise called from Hawaii where she's stationed in the U.S. Navy.

"Trump, has all hell broke loose in Detroit?" "I'll send you clippings from the News. It's wild. It's wonderful. Stroh's Signature never tasted so

"Trump, I just called to tell you to get out the wagons. We're going to do it again."

Thanks Tigers.

with the plight of a nouveau billionaire forced to give a benefit ball for the victims of lower back pain. It is tempting to suggest that the moneybags who give and attend expensive benefit parties should stay home, quit preening for publicity and instead simply mail fat checks

But we shouldn't forget how good it makes us poor people feel to express public $000-per-sob sympathy to the victims of life's minor afflictions. What if not en; ough people stubbed a bare big toe or suffered from hay fever? If there were a shortage of mundane irritations, you and I might feel as deprived as Cornelia Guest: We would have no way to pat ourselves on the back for being generous enough to salve the guilt we feel for being so damn glad it was someone else's toe, not ours.

I wonder if Cornelia ever considered giving an Acne Ball? You won't believe it, but this is a selfish suggestion. Despite my old age, a dermatologist recently said I have acne like a teenager. He said I should take pills I can't spell and quit eating sweets. Any day now I expect my voice to change back.

COMA COMBRE AND TERMS OF THE SECOND OF

AT FIRST, I thought the toughest part of following doctor's orders would be giving up Snickers bars. However, it turns out that the pills are the biggest problem. According to the label on the bottle, I'm supposed to take "three a day, not at mealtime." I can't seem to do that.

The only time I remember the pills is at mealtime, when I can't take them. That's because the only thing people usually do three times a day is eat a meal. It is easy to remember to take pills at mealtime because the food reminds you. But the food reminds me not to take a pill. Nothing reminds me to take three pills not at mealtime. Nothing.

This is a major health problem. The world must be full of people with unsightly blemishes who are reminded by every meal that they should take a pill, but not now! Someone should call these people up between meals and tell them now!.

Pimple-pill phone calls will cost a lot of money. Cornelia Guest could raise it at her Annual Acne Ball and thereby gain the position in society that she deserves. And she should hurry. I want my skin cleared up in time for the it before, it's the best job I've ever had. I love the diversity. You have to be a generalist to be in this office in this job. You have to understand a wide range of areas including planning, budgeting, financing,

The issues, says Holman, are varied and many. "In general terms our township is locked in the fingers of an urbanized metropolitan area. Over the next decade you will see a tremendous push for development. Over half our land is agricultural or vacant and we'll have to handle pressures to retain the quality and characterisitics of our community.

"For example, M-15 is a product of the pressures to develop for commercial growth."

And services are an issue too, according to Holman.

"There's always the residents' call to increase services with the need to minimize tax bills for residents and businesses," Holman said. "It has been and will continue to be a problem to try and balance those."

Specifically, Holman offers several issues. I think enlarging M-15 and the development of the Sashabaw Corridor will be major issues. I think certain decisions will have to be made in the next four years regarding public safety and the need to expand the police force. And to find the money to do that.

While I'm in favor of continuing contracting with the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, I cannot close my eyes to the pressure to terminate them. We have to be prepared to deal with that. We are at a crossroads.

"Finally," said Holman, "we face a number of issues such as the revision of the command structure, hiring additional employes and the effect that will have on our township. The board must establish programs then move prudently, but expeditiously.

Tower says the board's most pressing issue is adult foster care homes.

Especially since it's at the court stage. When I was in office I think we had five or six applications. We'd go out, see the home, and be satisfied.

Today it's all more organized. Naturally it's a bigger problem. I remember our representative telling us it was the state's way of 'harmonizing' the homes into the community.

"It's created more of a problem. People don't want those homes in their areas."

Secondly, Tower points to police protection.

"I still think we can get a deputy for less than they're charging us," Tower said. "I'm opposed to the sheriff's department literally putting us out of the police business and I miss our local department at games and directing traffic at Pine knob. And I think they can give us more for what we're paying for ser-

"But then we're back to deciding between us and the county how much we're willing to pay. It used to be 50-50. Then it was 80-20. Now those funds have dried up. For years I've supported a road fund and believe we have to go after a millage.

"Basically, I think the issues are the same as they always have been. They don't change so much. They don't go away.'

Most important

Perhaps the most important announcement in your paper last week was the news that UNIT is holding a local candidate forum at Clarkston High School on Oct. 22, 1984, at 7 p.m. .

Although television provides us with information about candidates for national offices, the opportunity to see and hear our local candidates is rare, but more important. More important, because it is the local offices that have a more profound effect on our lives.

Everyone who can possibly be there should attend. It is an important way to participate in our government and to fulfill our obligations as citizens.

Springfield sets millage rate

Just as Springfield Township Supervisor Collin Walls expected, the township board had little trouble finalizing the millage increases.

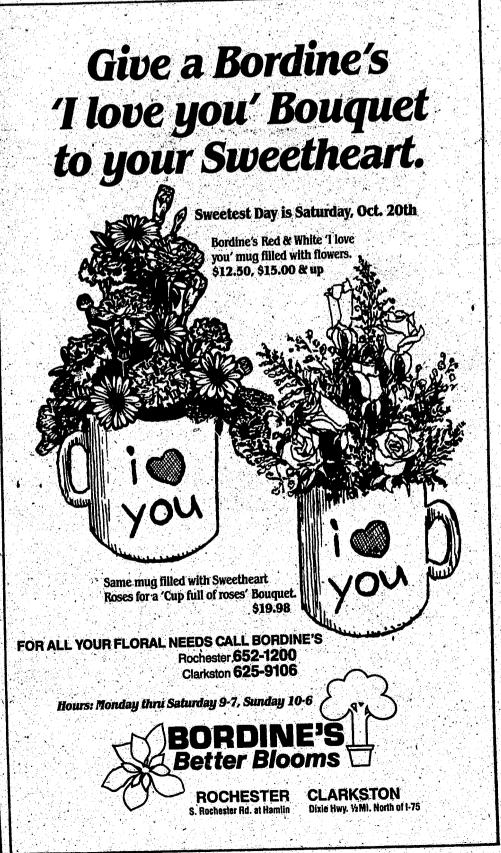

Voters approved a maximum increase of 4.41 mills in the August primary election. On Sept. 26 a public hearing was held and on Oct. 3 the township board decided how the increase should be divided.

The board split the levy between three departments: a full 1 mill for the fire department, 1.6 of the 2 mills for police and .5 of the 1.41 for the general

"The fire and general funds were unanimous," Walls said. "But Cal (Clerk Calvin Walters) thought not levying for police was a mistake. He felt the township should take the full 2 mills because if a request for more coverage comes in, we wouldn't have

The majority of the board chose to levy what they needed to continue to contract for three deputies from the Oakland County Sheriff's Department at a cost of $56,000 each.

Huskies easy target for Wo

By Dan Vandenhemel

The Wolves are finding league opponents easy prey early in the basketball season.

The Clarkston High School girls' basketball team has encountered little trouble in its first two leaguegames, with Lake Orion and most recently Pontiac

The Wolves trounced the Northern Huskies, 58-45, Oct. 4 to go 2-0 in the Greater Oakland Activities League and 5-4 overall.

"They (Northern) were 4-2 going into the game. I expected a tough game," said Wolves' coach Dave McDonald.

Those were almost McDonald's exact words following the Lake Orion game last week when the Wolves humiliated Lake Orion, the defending GOAL champs, 60-24.

Kim Ottman led the scoring attack against Northern with 17 points. Michelle Taulbee was next with 16 points and 10 rebounds, and Laura Hurren added

This could have been Ottman's last game of the season. She is scheduled to be examined for possible surgery on her shoulder.

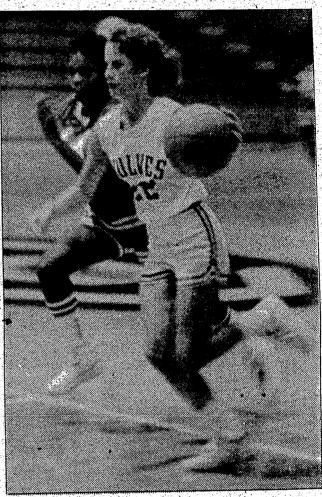

"I'm not going to kid about it. We'll miss her if she gets the surgery," McDonald said.

McDonald will have to go to the bench looking for a replacement. Against Northern, Kecia Powell played a solid game when she stepped in for Bridget Kilcline who was out with the flu.

"Kecia played really well," the coach said. "She filled in that role with Bird (Kilcline) sick and did a good job.'

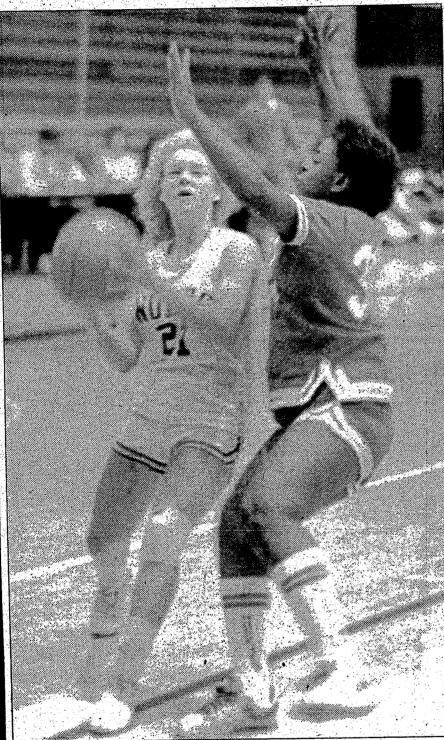

Getting used to a new face in the lineup might have been the reason the Wolves got off to a slow start against Northern. Midway through the opening quarter Clarkston trailed, 8-4. Then showing no mercy on the slower Huskies, the Wolves outscored them. 29-4, to take a 35-12 lead into halftime.

We played pretty good ball," McDonald said. "We rely a lot on those two guards (Ottman and Hurren). They started running and suddenly it clicked. We can score in flurries."

Kim Ottman is making a habit of leading the Wolves in scoring as she did against Pontiac Northern with 17 points.

Laura Hurren pushes towards ' the basket for two of her 12 points in another surpisingly easy victory for the Wolves as they run past Pontiac Northern,

Clarkston crushes Corsairs

CHS is one game from GOAL title

By Dan Vandenhemel

The Clarkston Wolves weren't very good guests at Waterford Mott. The Wolves spoiled the Corsairs homecoming festivities with a 47-7 drubbing.

The Oct. 5 contest proved to be no contest as the Clarkston varsity football team raised its record to 4-1 overall and 3-0 in the Greater Oakland Activities

League. Only undefeated Lake Orion stands in the way of a league title for the Wolves. Last year, the Dragons downed Clarkston to knock out any hope of the championship. The Wolves are hoping to repay the loss on Oct. 19. Against Mott, the Wolves took advantage of six turnovers and a strong ground game of 191 yards to hand the Corsairs their fourth loss in five games.

"We were fortunate to capitalize on their mistakes," Wolves' coach Walt Wyniemko said.

· diameter of

"This was definitely a team victory. The turnovers

Clarkston scored on a everything from a 1-yard run to a fumble return to a blocked field goal.

Quarterback Mike Galley scored three times, twice on 1-yard runs and once on the blocked field goal he picked up and carried 20 yards.

"Coach Richardson (Kurt) has been working on that play," Wyniemko joked. "He spent a lot of time on it this week and it worked."

Also getting in on the scoring parade were Rob Newblatt on a 12-yard carry, Jim Ruelle on a 31-yard run, Sonny McCain on a 32-yard run and defensive end Shawn MacCarty after he recovered a fumble and raced 23 yards.

Wyniemko said he isn't looking toward Lake Orion and the GOAL title game yet. First they have to play a tough Dearborn team in Dearborn.

Seer here. I'm two for two in Clarkston, just another perfect performance by the almighty Seer. I knew the Clarkston-Waterford Mott game would be a breeze, that's why I-only predicted a 14-point victory. I didn't want you hose heads to get cocky.

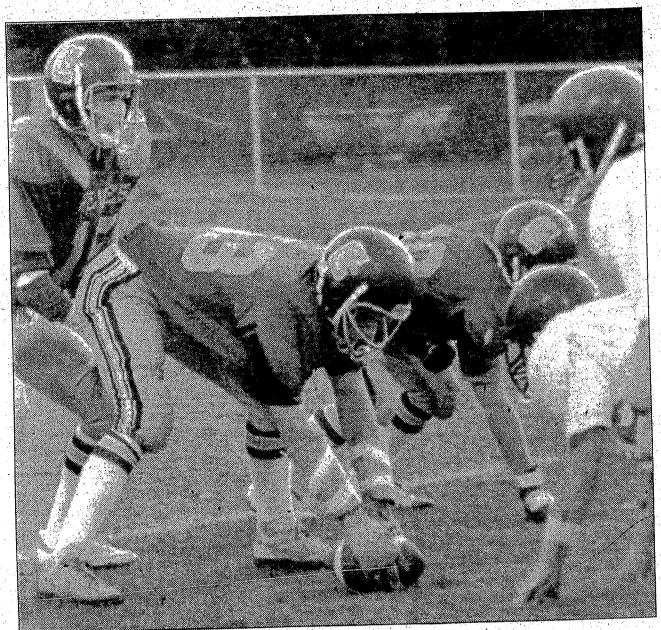

If I thought last week was a cakewalk, this one will be even easier. Of course I'll stay perfect. But for the hosers on the Wolves' football team, it's going to be a humiliating weekend. Read on for details. .

Clarkston at Dearborn (Oct. 13): Dearborn always comes up with a classy football program and this year is no different. The Wolves are riding high after trouncing Waterford Mott and moving within one victory of the league title.

The Wolves are playing the best they can—but they'll have to do better in this non-league contest. And they'd better not be looking toward the big match-up with Lake Orion the following week because they need some help escaping Dearborn

Their defense will help keep the score relatively close but the Wolves don't have a prayer. Dearborn by 12.

First-half surge carries Jvs over Mott

The Waterford Mott defense proved to be no problem for Clarkston Junior Varsity quarterback Keith Mercier. The Wolves jumped out to a 34-7 lead at halftime and held on to win 34-24.

By Dan Vandenhemel

The Wolves are on a winning streak.

After losing the first three games of the season, the Clarkston High School junior varsity football team has won its last two contests. The latest, Oct. 3, was a 34-24 triumph over Waterford Mott.

Though the Wolves won, coach Gordy Richardson wasn't pleased with the team's overall performance.

They bolted out to a 34-8 lead at halftime and couldn't move the ball in the second half.

"We lacked any intensity in the second half," Richardson said. "And they (Mott) came out and ") played hard. They almost got us."

Before the offense went into hiding, the Wolves scored every time they touched the ball. They received the opening kickoff and moved the ball 60 yards before quarterback Keith Mercier plunged in from three yards out.

The next possession, Jeff Billig finished the scoring drive with a three-yard touchdown run.

On the following kickoff, Mott ran the ball back 88 yards for a score with the aid of a referee. The last Clarkston player with a chance for the tackle ran into the official as he tried to get out of the way.

The Wolves then marched for another score with Mercier scoring again from the one, making the score 21-8. The defense got into the act as Hank Zilke made a one-handed interception and raced 35 yards for the Mercier closed out the points for the Wolves with a 25-yard pass to Steve Secatch before time ran out in the half.

"I felt we moved the ball well, darn well in the first half," Richardson said. "We're starting to ("), become a pretty good football team but we did some things wrong fundamentally, like tackling. They (Mott) had three excellent running backs that gave us fits all game."

The Davison family's up against hard times

By Marilyn Trumper

Jo Anne Davison wants everyone to know her story

Last week, Detroit Edison cut the lights in her oand her husband Raymond's house on Maybee Road in Independence Township. Five weeks ago, Consumers Power turned off the heat. The Davisons were six months behind in their bills.

The power's since been restored.

But not before three of their six children were suffering from bronchitis and two more exhibited symptoms. They range in age from 6 to 26.

Mattresses from the three-bedroom home were pulled into the family room before an open fireplace that served as both heat and stove. Someone stayed awake all night long to feed the fire kindling and keep the house warm.

By light of oil lamps, Jo Anne learned to cook hamburgers, goulash and spaghetti in pots, over open flames. Without power for the well pump, there was no water-and no toilet. Jo Anne filled water jugs at the neighbors', or walked a mile to the cemetery.

They're existing on her husband's $739-a-month retirement pension and $150 a month in food stamps to feed eight people. Raymond, 60, has cancer and a bad heart, and hasn't worked in five years.

Jo Anne, 45, has been home on disablilty from her security guard job at the Pontiac Silverdome for a year and four months after hurting her back.

Raymond's $739 makes the house payment, house insurance payment and what's left over buys

From her home in Illinois, Jo Anne's mother sent $100 worth of meat which thawed and spoiled when the power was cut and the freezer contents thawed.

Stumbling around in the dark last week, Jo Anne fell down a flight of steps and hurt her leg.

The Department of Social Services says it needs $745 from us before it will restore heat and gas," says Jo Anne. "Different churches in the area have given us $311 to help us, and I can take $100 of the $739 we get each month. My mother's wired us $300. I don't know what we're going to do except try to get them restored.

'We've been trying to get by without welfare help. I just want everyone to know what I've been going through," she said, before power was restored.

Susan Bottorff, assistant payment supervisor for the state Department of Social Services, is familiar with the Davisons' case, and says the DSS has already paid once to have the family's heat and power restored.

Consumers Power and Detroit Edison cut utilities when the family failed to pay its bill for six months. Power was restored last week.

DSS first checks to see if it's a repeated request for power restoration, and if it is, determines how much the client has paid on each bill. They then look at the amounts budgeted for families to pay their bills, based on the person responsible for paying the bill. their spouse, and all children under the age of 18.

They also evaluate outside incomes from rentals, social security, etc. We have (the Davisons') pending application and it's being taken care of," Bottorff said. "We are working with the client to try and get what can be [Continued on Page 16]

Representatives from Consumers Power and Detroit Edison say it's rare when circumstances like Jo Anne Davison's reach the extreme they did and power and heat is cut.

Consumers Power's Ron Lockhart and Detroit Edison's Lori Kessler say their companies need to know a customer's in distress before they can offer alternative payment plans, and offer these sugges-

"In most instances this kind of thing can be avoided if people would just let us know what's going on," Lockhart said.

done, done.' Asked in the interim how the Davisons were expected to keep warm in below-freezing temperatures which the area's had, Bottorff said, "... We don't have a provision for that. We reconnected them the first Jime gratis. On repeat requests they have to meet their obligations before we take care of their problem.

We're required to address the problems equitably for everyone. We don't discriminate. We treat them all according to the law."

Their house payment is $349 a month, and their home insurance, $237 a year.

"If there's anything left over we buy food for the children," Jo Anne said. "The power and heat is supposed to be turned back on today, but I'm still disgusted. All my food has spoiled, and I've lost everything. I could use some food for the children.

Land tribute

A tribute from other places came to the Independence Land Conservancy last month and residents of the community have an opportunity to learn more about it.

The organization's annual meeting is planned Thursday, Oct. 11, at 8 p.m. at Independence Township Hall, 90 N. Main, Clarkston.

Included in the program is a slide presentation and discussion by member Robert Pilarcik on the role of local land trusts in natural areas and the use of conservation easements.

Pilarcik was joined by a member of the Little Traverse Conservancy in a similar presentation the weekend of Sept. 14 at the Natural Areas Workshop at the University of Michigan Biological Station near "The Conservancy was invited to make a presentation at the Natural Areas Workshop, attended by people all over the country involved in various conservancies, because they the the Independence Land Conservancy has done a tremendous job," said Lucy Kasl, president of the local organization.

Formed in 1972, the Conservancy's purpose is to preserve open areas, specifically those that are ecologically fragile. About 100 acres, all part of subdivisions scattered throughout the township, have been donated to the Conservancy. The land will never be developed but left in its natural state.

HALLOWEEN FINERY: A pumpkin tree all bright with miniature lights brings the Halloween spirit to Clarkston thanks to the creativity of Shirley Marley, owner of Marley's on Main Street. The large tree isn't all. Festooned shrubs, grapevines wrapped around windows and doors, candlelit pumpkins leading to the rear entrance of McGillacutty's restaurant—all bring the theme to life. Marley designed the decorations with the help of Rip Parker. "I like Halloween and just think it's a lot of fun to decorate for it," she says. She plans to keep the miniature lights twinkling and change the theme for Thanksgiving, then Christmas.

Barrier-free quest -Sheriff's log

If all its buildings are not barrier-free by 1988, Independence Township could be in jeopardy of losing the current federal revenue sharing allocation of $102,000 a year, according to Clerk Richard Holman:

In addition, all township programs eligible for revenue sharing must be accessible to the handicapped by Oct. 17..

"Which we won't be able to do, but we'll at least make a good-faith effort," Holman said.

The ramifications of the changes are farreaching, according to Holman, who speculates even the township's soccer league would have to accomodate a blind child who wanted to play if revenue sharing is used to groom the fields.

We're really not sure what it all means now," Holman said, requesting the board give him power to organize a committee to review the criteria and make. recommendations.

At its Oct. 2 meeting, without further discussion, the board approved his request.

According to Holman, the cost of making township hall barrier-free is estimated at $50,000, the price of a three-story elevator.

"We'll really have to think hard to see if the annual allocation is worthwhile with these kinds of capital investments," Holman said. "We may decide

10 couples share theirs

Honeymoon memories

By Marilyn Trumper

We thought it'd be fun to find out where 10 area couples spent their honeymoons, from month-old newlyweds to those married 51 years.

We got 10 different answers from the school superintendent, a coach, restaurateur, school board member, pastors, a township supervisor, retiree, newlywed and two merchants.

All agreed their time together was memorable.

"I worked," said Rudy Schwarze, owner of Rudy's Market & Sons downtown Clarkston. He married Elsa 51 years ago. "I took off half a day and went to work."

But two years later, they vacationed in Europe, he said.

Milford Mason, superintendent of Clarkston Schools, says he and JoAnne honeymooned in Michigan's Upper Peninsula for a week 34 years ago.

"That was the place to go," Mason said. "It seemed everyone at the time went there. Both of us enjoyed camping with our families as kids, so we liked the wilderness. Although, we didn't camp on our honeymoon."

The Revs. Bill and Jenny Schram, co-pastors of Sashabaw United Presybterian Church in Independence Township, honeymooned in Traverse City five years ago.

'Friends let us stay in their condo for a week," said Jenny. "It was fall, and all the leaves were turning. It was beautiful.'

Lee McNew, owner of the Clarkston Cafe, married Patrick 17 years ago.

'We went to New York City for a week," Lee said. "We both like big cities and whenever we travel

In their 33 years of marriage, Donna and Harry Farhner have traveled across the United States, far into Canada, and enjoyed a seven-day cruise in the Caribbean. But the Fahrners of Robertson Court in Clarkston will always remember their $95 honeymoon, and have the records to prove it.

High school sweethearts Donna and Harry Fahrner were married 33 years ago, and spent their 1951 honeymoon night in Detroit at the Book-Cadillac Hotel. Driving the Buick, their six-day trip took them to Chicago where they visited an elderly aunt and uncle who couldn't make the wedding. They had dinner in the Windy City, stayed one night, and went on to Alma in northern Michigan where an army pai of Harry's had been married the week before. They returned home, and Harry returned to the army. He was stationed in Wisconsin.

we try to go to big cities.

"I can't remember if we took in any shows. It seems to me we walked a lot, and ate out all the time. Even then we were interested in restaurants."

September Racine married Douglas the first of September. They honeymooned in the Pocono Mountains in Pennsylvania and in Niagara Falls, on the Canadian side. Formerly of Clarkston, she now lives in Orion Township.

We decided (on the locale) after looking through bride magazines, and thought it would be the best way to drive out and come home," September said. "We spent two nights and three days in the Poconos and a week in Niagara Falls. It was great, I'd love to go again both places."

For Richard and Marilyn Weiss of Main Street, Clarkston, the honeymoon was simple.

"We didn't go," said Marilyn. "We went back to our apartment and had a little get-together and that

That, she said, was 43 years ago.

Ed Adler, vice-president of Food Town, remembers his honeymoon on Mackinac Island 21 years ago with Gretchen.

"I only had enough money to stay three days," he said, "and it was $100 a day then. It's still $100 a day, but they've eliminated service. We had fresh flowers in the room each day and white-glove service. It's not like that anymore.

"Then we went to my dad's home in the Upper Peninsula at Grand Marias, on the north shore, and stayed four or five days."

Paul Tungate, athletic director for the Clarkston Schools, married Anne 17 years ago.

They honeymooned in Gettysburg and Charlottesville, W.V., Paul's stomping grounds from college baseball days when he was catcher for Michigan State University.

"I played ball out there and wanted to see it again," he said. "I really enjoyed the east. We spent our time looking at the fields where I played ball."

James B. Smith, Independence Township supervisor, was wed 46 years ago to Mary and he bills his honeymoon as "quite a trip."

With $106 and a brand new car they traveled two and a half weeks through Boston, New England, Quebec, Montreal and back to Detroit via Toronto:

"When we got back, we had $6 left," Smith laughed, "It was beautiful."

Clarkston School Board secretary Mary Jane Chaustowich remembers her honeymoon with husband Frank, 22 years ago, to a remote fishing village in the Canadian wilderness, 300 miles above the Canadian Sault Ste. Marie.

"It was in Pine Portage, an 18-mile boat trip got us there. It was Frank, me and the Indian guide. There were single beds in the cabin and a potbellied stove in the middle of the room."

And the kicker: Mary Jane caught more fish then her husband.

Two years later the Smiths went to New York City on business, and took part of an afternoon to picnic in a park. "He was there on business," laughs Betty. "I just went along for the ride."

Consider the honeymoon cruise

If you are considering an ocean cruise and feel overwhelmed by the variety, locations, prices and other details, do not feel badly. There are many cruises and choices to make, reports the Automobile Club of Michigan.

But careful planning can remove confusion for the cruise traveler, according to Charles Lentz, Auto Club Travel Sales and Promotions manager. "If you carefully decide what you want and what you are willing to pay, the details will take care of themselves, especially if you work with a knowledgeable travel agency," stated Lentz.

"Cruising has become increasingly popular," he added. "The prices, great variety of trips and a wealth of activities as well as the many cruise companies which include free air in the cost of the trip have helped us to a 25 percent increase in cruise bookings this year over last."

The first step may be obvious—choosing a destination and cruise line—but it is also the most important

Lentz suggested you first determine why you want a cruise. If warm weather is your motivation, a Caribbean, Mexican or Hawaiian cruise may be the answer. If you want spectacular scenery, an Alaskan voyage fits the bill. History buffs will enjoy an old fashioned ride aboard the Delta Queen steamboat down the Mississippi and Ohio rivers:

"Cruising has become increasingly popular..."

If you have a special interest, you can take advantage of the growing number of cruises which cater to groups, such as health enthusiasts, bridge players; moviegoers and big band buffs.

Cost is an important factor and Lentz emphasized there are ways to get more value for every dollar. "Costs vary greatly, from under $1,000 per person to several thousand," he said. "Knowing where the discounts are can mean substantial savings."

The peak cruise season runs from January through Easter. Travelers who can select a cruise during a less busy season should be able to find bargain rates.

You also can save by choosing a smaller, inside cabin without a window. Lentz noted that lower priced cabins often go first, so reservations should be made early.

One of the best things about a cruise is that the price includes meals, accommodations, travel, onboard entertainment and other incidentals.

The big exception is tipping. The standard rate is about $2 per day per person for both cabin steward and dining room waiter. Hairdressers, bartenders and those who provide more personal service get about 15 percent, paid on the spot.

Besides tips, money is needed for drinks, shopping and shore sightseeing trips.

Once you've decided on a cruise and how much money to take, the big question is clothing. Lentz said the trend in cruise fashions is toward informal tourist attire—shorts, sport shirts, comfortable shoes, swimsuits and cover-ups.

"But the casual look only goes so far," he pointed out. "Shorts are usually frowned on in the dining room. Swimsuits are not worn in any public rooms.

"Remember to pack light, as your luggage will be limited. Whenever possible, include mix-and-match outfits to increase the flexibility of your wardrobe."

Besides clothing, you should pack cameras, film, toiletries, reading material and other items you don't plan to buy on board or on shore.

"Planning may not sound like much fun," Lentz said. "But it can mean the difference between a good cruise and a great one. When you work out the details in advance, your chances of enjoying your stay are much better."

Among the dozens of cruises offered this season by the Auto Club are seven-night riverboat cruises aboard the Missispipi Queen and the Delta Queen, beginning Nov. 16. The steamships sail down the Mississippi and Ohio rivers, with prices starting at $825 for members and $868 for non-members. Special holiday bonus trips, which include a $100 certificate good for a 1985 cruise, also are available.

The Auto Club is Michigan's largest travel agency, with more than 225 travel counselors at branch offices throughout the state.

Suggestions ease challenge of choosing gift

What do today's brides and grooms want as wedding gifts? It used to be that every couple needed a toaster, or a salad bowl.

But now, with so many young people living on their own or living together before they marry, and with so many marriages re-marriages, this isn't necesarrily so. To pick a perfect gift these days, a guest needs the power of ESP combined with an active imagination—or some help.

According to Bride's Magazine, this is exactly what wedding gift registries are for. Registries work by providing a clearinghouse where couples can record the items they'd like and guests can look over the list and choose the gift that suits their taste and budget. Over 65 percent of today's brides and grooms register for gifts.

What's new about wedding gift registries is where they're turning up. They started in the 1930's in jewelry and department stores, but now they've expanded to furniture stores, gourmet food shops, liquor stores, luggage shops and bookstores. You'll even find them in museums—the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York City opened one a year

What if a guest can't or doesn't want to use a wedding gift registry? "It's still possible to sort through the options and find a present that will please," says Alecia Beldegreen, Gifts, Editor of Bride's.

First, it's a safe bet that anyone can use extra blankets, towels, linens or breakable items like wine glasses. Second, there's a whole category of out-of-the-ordinary gifts that aren't likely to be duplicated,

1. A gift certificate to a class that the couple can take together—anything from cooking or exercise to photography or ballroom dancing. Busy newlyweds often don't schedule enough time together and such a present can provide an incentive.

2. The foundations of a home library. An encyclopedia, for example, is something people often don't get around to buying for awhile. Depending on the couple's interests, a beautiful art book or a lavish cookbook also makes special gifts.

3. A Telephone Company gift certificate. More and more couples are buying their own phones and this present lets them choose the one that matches their taste.

4. An evening out to a gourmet res-

The groom's responsibilities

The Groom Should:

• Buy engagement ring.

 Draw up wedding guest list and have your family make out theirs. Indicate who should be seated in reserved pews.

• Invite friends to be best man and ushers in the wedding.

 Visit the formal wear specialist with our bride and select outfits for you and the men.

 Choose gifts for the best man and ushers, to be given at the bachelor dinner or wedding rehearsal.

 Choose bride's wedding present. Something personal, such as a watch or other piece of fine jewelry, is traditional.

· Select the wedding ring. This is chosen with the bride and should be engraved on the inside "C.W.R. to A.N.C." - with the groom's initials first and the date.

 Plan the honeymoon. This should be done with the bride, in time to assure getting reservations.

· The bride's bouquet: traditionally, the groom pays for the bride's bouquet, going away corsage, corsages for both mothers and other close women relatives on either side, plus boutonnieres for himself and the men.

• Get the marriage license. Check state rules about the time required. It should be obtained several weeks before the wedding, and given to the best man the day of the wedding.

 Check to be certain you and the bride have all the necessary papers, blood tests, birth certificates, baptismal certificats, etc.

 Make insurance provisions for your new status. This should include life, personal property, household, and fire insurance for you and your bride.

 Give bachelor dinner several days before the wedding. Often the best man and ushers prefer to give this for the groom.

 Notify your attendants of the hour and place for the wedding rehearsal and take part in it.

· Provide the clergyman's fee which is given to the best man the day of the wedding either in the form of crisp bills or a check in a white envelope. The fee is generally $10 to $50 or more, depending on custom, size of wedding, and groom's circumstances.

 Be sure you and your bride sign the wedding certificate and see that it is safely put away before leaving on your honeymoon.

· Send a thank-you telegram to your. bride's parents the next day saying how lovely the wedding and reception were.

Wedding Q&A on etiquette

Q. Who gives the clergyman his fee? _

A. The groom pays, but the best man hands it over in plain white envelope before or after the ceremony.

Q. May a house wedding be just as formal as a church wedding?

A. Yes, although there are never as many attendants.

Q. How can wedding gifts be displayed if a home reception isn't being held?

A. Close friends may be invited to a tea or cocktail party several days before the wed-

Q. Are checks displayed with wedding presents?

A. No, but they may be noted on a card.

Q. Is it correct to use "and family" on invitation envelopes?

A. No. Send separate invitations to adult sons and daughters. For small children address the outside envelope to their parents, write their first names on the inner envelope under their parents' names

Q. How should invitation be inserted in an outside and put in the inner envelope (which has no gum on flap) with the folded edge down. The inner envelope is then placed in the outer one facing the flap.

Q. Are reception cards enclosed with in-

A. Yes, and so are reply cards and reply envelopes. The home address would be printed on reply envelopes.

Q. Are identifying cards put with the presents on display?

A. Not these days.

Q. Are gifts ever brought to the reception?

Q. Do ushers and best man stand in receiving line?

Q. May guests be invited to a reception and not the wedding itself?

A. Yes, when the ceremony is attended only by relatives and close friends.

Q. Must invitations be engraved?

A. They can be. However, simulated engraving is less expensive and just as satisfactory.

Mental health agency targets senior citizens

By Kathy Greenfield

Meeting the needs of senior citizens is the goal of a new program added to counseling services offered by the Consortium for Human Development Inc.

The non-profit mental health treatment agency has offices in Clarkston and Troy and is presently expanding to Novi and Rochester.

On Thursday, Oct. 18, as part of the outreach program, Independence Township resident Carolyn Bielak will present a free program on "Using Your Medicines Wisely" at the Independence Township Senior Citizen Center on Clarkston Road at noon.

Bielak is coordinator of educational preventive programs for the Consortium's Project for Fulfillment in Maturity:

"I have always been interested in seniors and their need for the quality of life," she said. "So often in our contemporary society we're so youth oriented we tend to disregard the elderly as opposed to the European society or Eastern societies that hold their elderly with such a great deal of respect.

"Personally, I wanted to be a part of the movement to reach out and help these people."

Founded in 1973 by James Evans of Independence Township, the Consortium opened its Troy office in 1977 and expanded to Clarkston in 1979.

Before adding the program specifically geared to senior citizens, counseling on an outpatient basis was offered to adolescents; families, married couples and adults.

Director of the program is Hugh Whitmer, a West Bloomfield resident and teacher in his 29th year at Thurston High School in Redford. In the midst of a career change, he plans to retire and become a therapist with the Consortium.

Janine Bemis of Rochester will serve as a counselor. Presently with the Troy office, she wants to specialize in counseling older adults.

Perry Williams, a Pontiac area resident, rounds out the staff. A student at Oakland University, he is a "Stress in the Later Years, How to Handle It" covers ways to improve the quality of life, physically, emotionally and spiritually.

"Understanding the Use and Abuse of Alcohol" is geared for families and friends of those who may have drinking problems.

"The objective is to present preventive educational skills and create an awareness of problems and to let this specific age group know we care about them and we are here to be of service to them if they need additional counseling," said Bielak.

"I'm really excited about reaching out and helping this group help themselves."

The Consortium bases its services on the ability to pay, and no one is turned away because of lack of funds. For more information on the programs for older adults, call Carolyn Bielak at 625-9600.

Talent will shine at Clarkston Junior High on Wednesday, Oct. 17. The annual school Variety Show will be held in the school gym at 7:30 p.m.

Fifty students will be performing acts such as skits, commercials, break dances, and there's even a barber shop quartet. There are 18 acts, including Clarkston Junior High's top choral ensemble, the Ovations.

The announcers will be Ann McClellan and Allan Watson.

It's time for the Walk for SCAMP on Sunday, Oct. 14. Clarkston students were given pledge sheets at school and would appreciate your support with pledges.

The Clarkston Junior High football team has a record of four wins, one loss. Their only loss was to Lake Orion.

Mr. Craven, the coach to the offense, said,

The Clarkston (Mich.) News Wed., Oct. 10, 1984 27 "There-are many outstanding players on the team, but I don't want to single anybody out." He also said that he hopes the team will do better as the season continues, but he didn't want to make any predictions about the season record.

Kara Kurz, Steve Harken, Marni Banker, Sue Haran and Lisa Irwin all have one thing in common. They are officers on the CJHS Student Council.

Elections were held during class for both officers and representatives.

Already this fall the student council has conducted a fund raiser to earn money for school in provements and educational equipment. Their goal for the drive is $7,000.

The student council also hopes to provide reasonable leadership for the school and to communicate with all the students through representatives in each social studies class.

The council sponsors the hall monitor system. The hall monitors are at various places in the building to keep students from skipping classes.

Other council projects include organizing and sponsoring school dances. The group is currently helping promote the SCAMP Walk-a-thon.

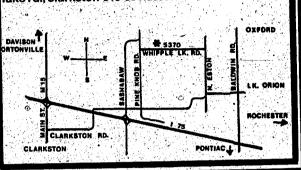

This week's contributors were Dana Robinson. David Saffron, Kris Scislowicz, Chris Watson, Christin Serb and Ann McClellan.

Laurene Sue Marks and Daniel Craig Blower were united in marriage Sept. 8,

Beneath a floral-covered trellis on the lawn of Springfield Oaks County Park, Davisburg, the couple exchanged yows in a ceremony officiated by the Rev. John Coopperrider of the Lutheran Church of the

The bride wore chiffon and lace over ivory nylon. A floral headpiece of tweedia, baby's breath and a string of pearls adorned her hair. On the fan she carried, arranged with roses, double baby's breath and gypsophilia was a rose gold brooch originally belonging to her great-grandmother.

Serving as matron of honor was Sandra LaFond, sister of the bride. Duties of best man were performed by Donald Blower, brother of the bridegroom.

Other bride's attendants were Denise Bristow, Cyndie Blower, Donna Blower and Pamela Blower. Serving as groomsmen were Steven Marks, Steven Pearson, Terry Gougeon and Timothy Doherty.

Sarah Marks was her mother's ring bearess, with Kevin Blower serving as his father's ring bearer. Jennifer and Sharon Blower, daughters of the bridegroom, were flower girls.

Special music was provided by soloists JoAnn Eichman singing "The Wedding Song" and Nancy Hussey singing "Set Me Like a Seal."

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Marks of Waterford Township.

Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs.

David Blower of Clarkston.

A reception followed the ceremony at the Springfield Oaks Activities Center.

Newlyweds: Laurene and Daniel Blower

New arrivals

Judd and Judy Dotson of Troy are parents for the first time.

Their "gorgeous" boy, Zachary David, was born Oct. 6, weighing 8 pounds, 7 ounces and measuring 19 inches long.

Zachary's grandmother Dawn Tower says a birth announcement of her newest grandson would be incomplete without the word gorgeous, because "that was the first thing they told us when they called."

Grandparents are Floyd and Dawn Tower of Clarkston, Ann Dotson of Clawson and Stanley Dotson of Pontiac.

Great-grandmother is Dellah Johnson of Clarkston.

It's a boy for Connie and Steven Hoopingarner. Jeffrey Robert was born Sept. 29. He weighed in at 7 pounds, 9 ounces and measured 19 inches long.

Jeffrey is the first child of the Hoopingarners who live in Spokane, Wash., where Steve is stationed at Fairchild Air Force Base.

Grandparents are Lois Hoopingarner of Clarkston and Robert and Patricia Carey of

Jeffrey is the Careys' first grandchild, and also the first great-grandchild of Svea Rose of Drayton Plains and Edward and Vernice Carey of Drayton

Herbert and Lori Vickery of Pontiac welcomed their first child into the world Sept. 7.

Chase Jordan weighed in at 8 pounds, 6 ounces and measured 21½ inches long.

He has one aunt, LeAnn Duncan of Ortonville; and he's the first great-grandchild of Tince Fine of Cedar Creek, Mo.

MODEL T PICNIC: From left, Daisy Dowling, Virginia Walter and Fontie ApMadoc pose next to Les Haight's 1916 Model T Ford. The three Clarkston women purchased a "Model T Picnic" at a Clarkston United Methodist Church auction in February. The picnic consisted of being picked up in a chauffer-driven Model T, a rather chilly ride to the Holly Recreation Area, and a picnic of fried chicken, cole slaw, potatoes and dessert provided by Rhoda Haight and daughters Allison and Roxanne. After the picnic, the ride home included many scenic back roads and the beginning of fall color.

Lisa Hofer wins Class of 1985 DAR Award

By Kathy Greenfield

At about 8:15 Thursday morning, Clarkston High School Principal Dom Mauti's voice came over the P.A. system announcing the D.A.R. Award for a member of the Class of 1985.

Lisa Hofer, the winner, sat in Spanish III. Classmates offered applause and congratulations. And Lisa?

"I cried, kind of," she said. "I was kind of embarrassed, too, because I wasn't expecting it.

"I didn't even figure I'd be considered. I thought it was a lot higher on grade point and a lot of my friends have higher grade points.

"I think it's a privilege, an honor," she added, "I'm excited, but nervous, I have to take a government and history test, and write essays for the state finals."

With the school honor comes a pin from the General Richardson Chapter of the D.A.R., local sponsors of the contest. Winners of the state and national competitions vie for bonds and scholarships.

Leadership, dependability, service and patriotism are the selection criteria used by a 15-member committee made up of CHS department chairpersons or representatives, administrators, senior class sponsors and the student government sponsor.

Lisa, who has an A-minus grade point average, is a member of the select CHS Madrigal Singers, the drama club and the National Honor Society, in addition to her student government activities.

As a volunteer, she does all the choreography for the vocal music concerts and for the Encores at Sashabaw Junior High School, which she's done since she was an eighth-grader there.

She's paid for the dance classes she teaches at Clarkston and Bailey Lake elementaries through the community education department's enrichment program. And she works about 20 hours a week as a waitress at Friar Tuck's restaurant in Waterford

'I make sure I have Friday nights off so I can attend all the games," Lisa said, adding that she's a basketball and football fan.

Last summer she attended the Fred Waring Music Workshop at Pennsylvania State University on a two-week scholarship.

Class of 1985 sponsor and CHS counselor Margo Lay remembers well Lisa's reign as class president.

Each year the junior class plans the junior-senior prom. More than 500 students-more than ever before—attended the dance at Roma's of Bloomfield.

Lisa's family moved to the Clarkston area when she was in kindergarten. Her parents are Mike and Charlotte Hofer. She has one brother, Eric, 16. They live on Boyne Highland Trail.

Lisa plans to major in international business administration at college.

"Government, student government and Spanish are my favorite classes," she said. "I enjoy what I do in government class and Spanish comes pretty easy to me, so I can combine them."

Nine of Clarkston High School's 31 eligible voting seniors stand with patriotic hands on their hearts. Two show their voter registration

Voting seniors up on the issues

Most say they're voting for Reagan; agree policies are on target

By Marilyn Trumper

Nine of Clarkston High School's 31 seniors eligible to vote in this presidential election say they depend on radio and government class to give them the news. And as if afraid of a quiz, they shrug when asked if they're up on the issues.

But they are.

The new voters have been paying attention. Five of the nine have after-school jobs.

Taxes are taken from their paychecks.

One boy's father's business was in jeopardy during the recession. He credits President Reagan with saving the family from bankruptcy.

These teens are eligible to serve in this country's military and would give their lives to preserve freedom. Two are in the delayed entry program and scheduled to join the U.S. Army after graduation.

All have strong political philosophies with a good handle on current issues like the Reagan Administration's anti-abortion stance, the nuclear arms race and Soviet relations.

Seven of the nine are pro-Reagan, and say they'll vote the Republican ticket.

Two, both girls, are pro Walter Mondale, but not because he chose Geraldine Ferraro as his running mate, the first woman to be nominated for the vice-presidency.

Cindi Lally's been registered to vote since her 18th birthday Sept. 10.

"I feel like I have more of an input now," Cindi said. "I'm voting for Mondale for a change, and there are a few other reasons.

"Reagan brought us out of a depression, that's true, but he cut back on benefits for welfare and senior citizens. As far as the nuclear issue, he scares me in a way.

"He wants to have more weapons and he has that more brave attitude."

She defends Ferraro's abortion position, and says that because the New York congresswoman isn't personally in support of abortion, she doesn't deny people the choice.

Kayla Locklar registered three days after her 18th birthday Sept. 27.

"I'm voting for Mondale, but I have my own personal reasons. My dad's on a disability and because of that, I receive $327 a month until I graduate from high school. I would have received that while I was in college but Reagan cut that out."

"I think he's going to do more."

—Doug Clark

Kayla says she hopes Mondale will reinstitute the old plan.

Doug Clark's 18 and says he'll register to vote today, and when he votes, it will be for Reagan. "Because I like him better than Mondale. I think

"Because I like him better than Mondale. I think he's going to do more."

Kelly Jones, 18, says she'll register today. She's a Reagan supporter.

"Because I think he's done more for us. He's kept us out of war. And I think abortion is definitely wrong."

Mike Bender turns 18 next week, and says he'll register immediately after that.

"Reagan's not scared (about the Soviet threat).

Mondale just turns away."

Ron Barden registered to vote on his 18th birth-day last March and is in the U.S. Army's delayed entry program.

On both hands he wears leather gloves with silver studs and the left side of his jacket is covered with rock and roll pins.

Not conservative Republican garb.

"No, but I'm for Reagan," Ron laughs. "I think he's got guts. He's not scared, like with Grenada, and he does what he believes in. He holds back, but he's ready to kick butt if he has to."

Bill Evans, 18, registered to vote the day after his Aug. 5 birthday.

"I like Reagan. I think he's honest."

Gary Cordell turned 18 on Jan. 26, and says he's registering to vote today.

"I'm for Reagan. He cut taxes. Mondale's thing is to raise taxes. And with the nuclear arms race we have two super powers that by no way see eye-to-eye. Reagan won't say 'OK, we'll lay 'em down.' He knows they won't. I'm going for defenses," Gary said.

"Sure Reagan cut some welfare, but a lot of people are on welfare who haven't worked a day in their life. The only way to get them off is to take it away. Give them jobs. They're out there.

"I know Reagan's tax issues helped my dad's company survive, it would have gone under."

But Gary warns that Reagan's policies are just starting to pay off after his first four-year term.

"It will take eight years, or more for him to pull it all together," he said.

Bill Avery turns 18 next week and says he'll register to vote then. He's also a member of the U.S. Army's delayed entry program.

"Regan's starting to make his promises work now, the ones he made four years ago," he said. "It's starting to work for us."
