Former clerk's coming home

Christopher Rose takes job of Orion Village manager

By Marilyn Trumper

Gone a little over a year and a half from the Independence Township post he resigned from in May 1983, former clerk Christopher Rose is returning to the old stomping grounds.

Rose recently resigned the job of town manager in Littleton, N.H., to take the $30,000-a-year manager's job for the Village of Lake Orion.

He begins Dec. 3, according to village Clerk Mary Simmons, who says the council voted unanimously to hire Rose Oct. 18 from a field of 53 candidates, seven of whom interviewed for the job.

"They were very much impressed with him," Simmons said of the council, adding that Rose's being a former area resident enhanced his chances to be hired over the rest.

"One of the council members described him as head and shoulders above the rest," Simmons said. "It was a benefit that they were able to contact his references who said he's really a wonderful person and will do a great job."

"He has quite a reputation," she added. Rose saw the job advertised in the City Manager's Association Newsletter and applied, but not because he was unhappy with his post.

Rose missed his family back home.

"The job (in Lake Orion) was available, and they don't come along every day," he said. "It was closer to home, family and friends. And there were things here that caused me to want to leave."

"I wasn't as productive as I might have been here. New Hampshire law is different than Michigan law where I had my training, and I found myself tripping over the laws all the time," he said.

"I'm looking forward to (moving home). It will be closer to family and friends. It will be different being so near to Independence Township, but not being a part of (the governmental process), something I was a part of for so long."

Rose indicated he and wife June and their two daughters will return to the area in a month.

Long lines expected at polls Tuesday

By Marilyn Trumper

Gauging by the number of absentee ballots pulled from his office, Independence Township Clerk Richard Holman expects a large voter turnout in the Nov. 6 general election.

"We're at the 1,000 mark now with a week to go until the election. We'll be over that then," Holman said.

He asks voters to study sample ballots posted in the library, post office, township hall and The Clarkston News office before entering the booths.

"We have a number of parties for the presidential candidates alone, as well as state offices, the three proposals, the judicial candidates and more. They're going to take up a lot of space," he said, warning of a lengthy and difficult ballot.

Holman anticipates matching 1980's turnout of 9,932 when some waited two hours for their turn to vote, and he predicts it will be a long night before ballots are tabulated.

There are over seven parties and three independent candidates to choose from for the office of President of the United States; eight candidates for U.S. Senate; nine candidates for the State Board of Regents of the University of Michigan; seven candidates for the Board of Trustees of Michigan State University; six candidates for the Board of Governors of Wayne State University; eight justice candidates for the Michigan Supreme Court; two justice candidates for the Second Appeals Court; and six for the Sixth Circuit Court.

Voters will cast ballots for county posts of executive, prosecuting attorney, sheriff, clerk/registrar of deeds; treasurer; drain commissioner, probate court judge and state representative and U.S. Congress.

And they'll vote for local offices of the clerk, treasurer and trustees.

The complete list is inside the Election Guide, section three of this week's Clarkston News.

In addition, they vote on the local proposal for .5 mill for police protection, and state Proposals A, B and C.

Polls in the township's 11 precincts open at 7 a.m. and close at 8 p.m.

"Everyone waiting in line at 8 p.m. will have the opportunity to vote," Holman said.

Council wants answer on Walker's condos

Unhappy with the village planning commission's review of his proposed $2.2 million condominiums, developer Frank Walker made a third appeal to the Clarkston Village Council Oct. 22.

"(The council) asked (the planning commission) to recommend whether the land should be rezoned, and they (the planning commission) voted not to make a recommendation," Walker said. "They don't want to until they've reviewed the master plan. That's not what they were supposed to do."

"Plus, I feel the decisions they made had been made prior to the meeting. They wouldn't even discuss the issue at the meeting. I know that's a pretty strong charge to make, but they never discussed (the attorney's) letter. They put the issue off to review the zoning ordinance."

After discussion, the council voted to have the planning commission review Walker's plan and specifically address condominiums in an R-2 district with a change in density.

Walker was pleased.

"That's what I wanted them to do. I would rather let it be at that," he said, refusing further comment.

Last spring, the planning commission first recommended rezoning of the land on Deer Lake, but the village council wanted control to ensure condominiums and not apartments would be built if the land were rezoned to multiple.

Walker proposed a Planned Unit Development (PUD), but instead of addressing that issue at its most recent meeting, the planning commission opted to do nothing.

It's expected to address Walker's latest request in November.

According to Village President Carol Eberhardt, the planning commission strictly interpreted the attorney's letter, and responded the way it felt best.

"I don't hold anything against them," she said. "They did what they thought they were supposed to do."

The first step involves removing tree stumps and leveling the new location of the Ritter house on Main Street in downtown Clarkston. Later, a basement is dug and cement poured. If it doesn't rain, the move is planned Thursday.

Nov. 1. "It should take between three and four hours," said Hank Radcliff, owner of the house and Clarkston site with his wife, Jennifer. "They don't go very fast."

Ritter house moves this week

Moving day is Thursday, Nov. 1, and site preparations are underway for the move of the historic Ritter house to its new location on Main Street in downtown Clarkston next to the village parking lot.

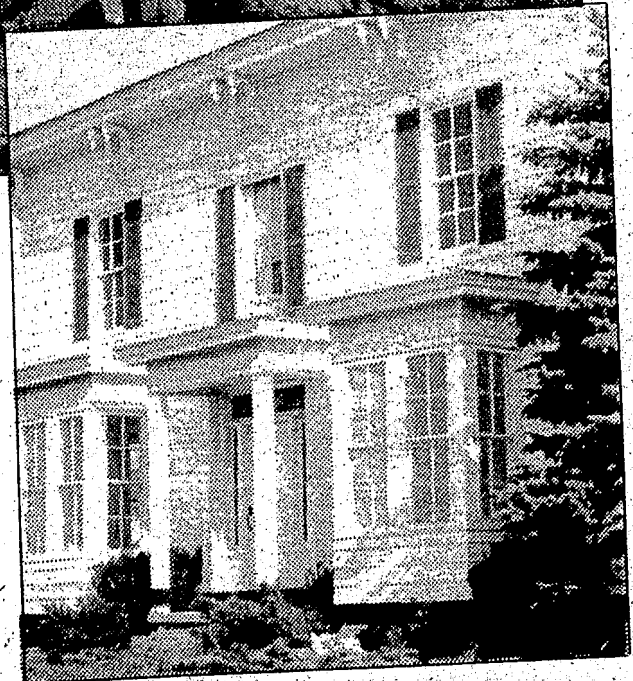

If it doesn't rain, the house moving will begin at about 9 a.m. and take between three and four hours, said Hank Radcliff, owner of the property and the house.

"This is the fun part," he said. "Going to the meetings and all that, I didn't enjoy it. I am excited. I'd be lying to you if I told you I wasn't."

The house will inch along its route down Dixie Highway to M-15 and into the village as crews from Michigan Bell, Detroit Edison, cable TV and the county road commission move wires to accommodate the two-story building.

Radcliff said he's heard of community members and teachers with classes who plan to line the streets to see rare sight of a house being moved. If it rains, the moving will be rescheduled to the next rainless day.

Up on blocks and ready to be moved is the Ritter house on Dixie Highway next to Ritter's Farm Market. The house is making way for a Burger King restaurant.

Township weighs new post

By Marilyn Trumper

Kenneth Delbridge, director of building and planning for Independence Township, wants the board to sanction creation of a new union position, apprentice inspector, to ultimately groom for takeover of his job.

Praising Delbridge for his foresight, the board agreed with the concept at its Oct. 16 meeting, but asked Delbridge to draft a job description, title and rate of pay, and get the union's approval.

"I don't anticipate any problem with the union," Delbridge told the board. "We're hard-pressed, we need the help and I've been doing a lot of thinking in this area."

Delbridge says he has 50 applicants from last spring when he first advertised an opening, some from engineers, architects, plumbers and carpenters.

"I'm in a position at this time to try and train a young individual for that position, an apprentice inspector," Delbridge said. "We can train him, send him to school, build him up to an inspector level rather than hire someone who is unemployed who will leave when the economy picks up. I'd like to post the position in the township and take it from there."

According to Delbridge, his department budgeted an $18,000 salary for the last inspector opening.

"I'm doing something that probably no other building department in Oakland County has done before," Delbridge said. "I believe in the apprentice program."

After discussion, the board directed Delbridge to negotiate the pay scale and increases, job description and classification and the union's sanction, and return to the board for authorization to post the job.

Break-in arrest

A 22-year-old Pontiac man faces up to 15 years in prison if convicted of breaking into an Independence Township home.

Alex Ramos was arraigned Oct. 23 before Oakland County District Court Judge Gerald E. McNally on the charge of breaking and entering with the intent to commit larceny.

McNally set a $12,000 cash or surety bond. Ramos remains in the Oakland County Jail.

According to Sgt. Gerard Carlin of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, Ramos allegedly broke into a house on Hubbard Circle Oct. 22.

Tracking dogs found Ramos in a wooded area south of the subdivision. He had a watch taken in the break-in.

Police continue to seek a second man involved in the break-in, believed to be in Kentucky. Warrants have been issued for his arrest.

Vote switch

Libertarian James Hurrell, a candidate on the Nov. 6 ballot for the 6th District United States House of Representatives seat, wants his votes to go to his Republican opponent.

"I am supporting Tom Ritter," Hurrell said. "I'm asking the 1,850 voters or so who supported me two years ago to vote for Tom Ritter."

Hurrell bows out.

as the Libertarian candidate for U.S. Congress.

He said he believes his 2,000 votes could swing the election to Ritter from incumbent Congressman Bob Carr, a Democrat.

The Libertarian party's platform is one of less government. Hurrell says he supports Ritter because of his business mind.

"I've known Tom Ritter for quite a few years. I know him as a principled person. I'm proud I'm from the same town that he's from," he said.

Hurrell defines principled as "one that will not sway to do what he thinks will get votes... He will stand by to do the best things, he thinks, for America."

An Independence Township resident, Hurrell is a veterinarian. He's the director of the veterinarian technician program at Macomb Community College.

His name has been on the ballot three times in the last six years, as a Libertarian candidate for Michigan State University trustee four years ago and in 1982 and this year

RAINY NIGHTS: The rain that fell on the Homecoming bonfire at Clarkston High School doesn't dampen the spirits of seniors Eileen Keller and Tracy Smallwood as they hide under an umbrella. A fairly large crowd turns out for the pep rally to urge the Wolves on to a football victory over Avondale. Homecoming week at CHS featured the naming of the Queen and King and their courts, a hot dog eating contest, tug-of-war, pop guzzling contest and three-legged race. It's a week many students won't forget. [Photo by Dan Vandenhemel]

Store neighbor seeks rezoning

By Marilyn Trumper
When Independence Township approved a delicatessen south of Merritt Butler's home, and a dirt hill that encroached on an easement shared with the store, 70-year-old Butler asked for the hill to be removed.

The township denied his request.

Now he wants to rezone his 2.61 acres on Sashabaw Road from single family residential to commercial "...to make himself conform to the property to the south and north," according to a spokesperson from the Independence Township Building Department.

The Clarkston (Mich.) News Wed., Oct. 31, 1984 5

Butler could not be reached for comment.

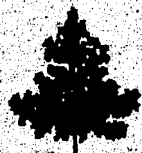

The deli on the south is commercial, and property to the north is a non-conforming abandoned gravel pit.

The site plan for Mario Rotundo's deli/real estate office called for a berm, a dirt hill, on the north lot line to shield Butler's home from the renovated Helvey Orchard apple stand.

The berm is on a recorded easement shared by Butler and Rotundo, and was included in the final site plan approval by the Independence Township Planning Commission.

Switcheroo

Kathy
Greenfield

Here it is, a true confession: I was a high school senior for a day.

It happened last week during the annual "Swap With a Parent Day" at good old Clarkston High School.

My daughter pulled all the punches with such zingers as: "You promised" and "This is the last chance you'll have to go to school for me."

I told her it was an incredibly busy week, I swapped with her brother last year so I knew all about CHS and that I wouldn't go near the place unless she could provide all the room numbers, her locker number and clear instructions on where her assigned seat was in every class.

She knew I had weakened beyond turning back when I agreed to accompany her the night before for a guided CHS tour to her locker and classrooms.

I set the alarm at 6 a.m. and managed to drink a cup of coffee before I started off the next morning before daylight. The last thing she said to me before I was off to school the next morning was: "You're going to be late."

Maybe she was more serious about this switching business than I thought.

The idea of Swap Day is to go to school and be a student. The students are told their parents are responsible for being prepared in class, for communicating what went on and for doing assignments.

Ever the realist, I knew that unless there was some miraculous blast of ESP between us, I wouldn't understand much beyond my working Spanish vocabulary, "si" and "no."

A similar thing happened in trigonometry. Mercifully, the physics teacher was absent and we watched a video from the Smithsonian. In English, they discussed a book I hadn't read. In government I was doing fine, until the teacher called on me.

"Aren't you glad you went?" my daughter asked when I returned.

The thing is, I really was. The time we spent swapping observations and information that night couldn't be replaced with anything better.

Letters to editor

God's people

On Monday evening I attended "Meet Your Candidates" at Clarkston High School. I came home feeling very saddened.

It seems the only issue of any real importance was how we are to keep Independence Township from becoming a haven for adult foster care facilities. Each candidate who was questioned about this was in agreement: We must not have more of these homes in our township than our fair share. We must set a limit.

It seems no thought was given to the fact that these are real people. God's very special people who need homes and some special love and care.

I fail to find anywhere in scripture where Jesus said we should limit our care of those in need to a certain quota. Does he just care and love the few of us who meet specific qualifications?

I really believe he loves us all, mentally fit or mentally ill, black or white, brown or red, male or female, Jew or gentile.

Granted all foster care homes are not run properly, but neither are all our homes run well. There are many undesirable things going on in most every neighborhood.

I'm grateful that at least one person in the audience, Pastor Bob Walters, raised a voice in defense of these special people.

It all made me wonder if we had better start looking for a good location for a gas chamber to get rid of these "undesirables" once we reach our quota.

We caught the Bill Cosby Show in Reno last month. He's a funny man. So cool, he just sets and chats with the audience, getting up once in a while to make a point or question a particular person near stage.

The routine was mostly off his records, but I love 'em anyway, just like the Bickerstaffs, Bob Newhart, and the old miners.

Men who thing they are bosses of the house are targets. Particularly he went after the men married less than a half-dozen years.

Cosby kept after the audience until he found a man who said he ran the house after four years of marriage.

"That right?" he asked. "My dad asked me if I was master of the house when I'd been married as long as you've been. I told him 'You bet I am. I run things.'"

"Dad said, 'If you really think so, go to the phone and order the drapes.'"

They tell me if you have a flat tire driving your Fiero you better not have company in the car, unless they like to hold tires in their lap. Trunk apparently isn't big enough to hold a conventional tire.

A spy also told me of another difficulty, but he wouldn't let me print his name. Something to do with wear after 6,000 miles. Maybe Pontiac Motors, excuse me, CPC, will catch it.

—O—

What makes a company that advertises names in place of phone numbers think people can remember that better?

Newspapers and radio stations will sometimes have people dial, 628-NEWS. There's a computer company that advertises, dial 1-800-digital.

I put letters in for numbers at The Oxford

Leader and got 628-I You Owe One (I-U-O-1). Maybe that "O" is Oh.

After a little bit of looking at the phone dial, locating letters, I find the effort isn't worth it, thus neither is the company.

Put in a wake up call for Nov. 7 for those who slept through the U.S. Senate race in Michigan.

—O—

Sure missed the fall colors in the UP this year. First time in many years and hope it's the last. However, the colors were outstanding in north Oakland county and its neighbors.

Trouble is, the color season only lasted about one week. Much too short.

—O—

Rejoice, Jottings readers. This last week before the election I only touched the subject slightly.

Township board endorsements

In Independence Township, voters have choices to make in the races for clerk, treasurer and trustee when they go to the polls Monday, Nov. 6.

The office of supervisor was decided in the primary election when Frank Ronk won the Republican Party's nomination from a field of three contenders. There are no Democrats running for the office.

In the clerk's race, we endorse Richard Holman, the Republican candidate. He was unanimously appointed by the township board to the clerk's position about one year following the resignation of the former clerk. During that year, we've been impressed with his performance. Holman's credentials are impeccable and his enthusiasm unequalled.

For treasurer, we recommend retaining Frederick Ritter. His 10 years on the township board make him the member with the most longevity. For the past four years, Ritter has been the only Democrat on the board. That's frequently been a tough position, and we admire his stamina and concern for the people he represents. Ritter has done a fine job. He deserves the support of the community.

In the trustee race, two candidates stand out—newcomer Carol Balzarini and incumbent Dale Stuart, both Republicans. During the four years Stuart has sat on the board he's been conscientious in studying the issues and in maintaining an excellent attendance record despite his busy schedule as an attorney. Balzarini's experience and performance as an appointed member of the planning commission indicate she'll give the same kind of positive attention to the elected position of township trustee.

Tom Ritter for Congress

We endorsed Tom Ritter for Congress last February, and nothing has happened to cause us to do otherwise this week of the election.

We've read the stories, we've talked to the candidate. We have followed his campaign very closely. We followed his business career just as closely.

Both have shown him to be of excellent character, hard working, thorough, and capable of attracting good people to help him.

Ritter took over a business, heavily in debt, and made it go . . . increasing sales, adding floor space and, in the end, meeting all this financial obligations that we are aware of.

Just his ability to survive in business during the recession years in this area, 1979-82, tells a great about Tom Ritter's makeup. His opponent, who was in politics at the time, can't imagine the struggle a businessman goes through in a depression.

It's a school of hard knocks, being in business any time, but particularly in the first couple years of this decade.

That's the kind of representation we want in Washington. And, when we can elect someone from our own community who is as good as Tom Ritter, we should do it.

Elect McNally to the bench

The most controversial race of all is that of 52nd District Court judge.

We've attended two public "Meet the Candidate" sessions, read the comments by both candidates in stories in The Clarkston News, and read the barrage of letters received by this newspaper.

After considering the stands of both candidates, we recommend retaining Gerald McNally for the nonpartisan office of 52nd District judge.

Perhaps the most interesting thing about McNally is his tendency to be a bit of a philosopher.

When the handling of drunk drivers is discussed, McNally talks about the the sentences and procedures mandated by law—and adds the need to educate the public and to stop advertisements that link the drinking with every success and failure, something he's worked to do.

We're impressed with McNally's law degree from the University of Michigan, the efforts he puts forth as a teacher of law-related subjects in colleges and adult education courses, and time he spends lecturing in high schools.

There has been a great deal of effort in this campaign to bring forth examples of unpopular decisions made by McNally, but we believe there is no judge in the land who has sat on a bench 16 years without some decisions some people may not like.

We believe he's a man who shows concern and intelligence in his decision-making. He's done a fine job as our judge, and he merits reelection.

'If it Fitz . . .'

No way out

Jim Fitzgerald

"Would you rather have fat or muscle?" Cher keeps asking me via TV and newspaper ads. I wish she'd shut up. It is because of shameless exhibitionists like Cher that my wife bought me an exercise bike.

In case you are one of those people who go to the symphony and watch public TV, I will tell you that Cher is a singer-actress so thin there isn't room for a last name on the name tags sewn to her clothes. If it weren't for the name tags, the wrong person might get Cher's overcoat back from the cleaners and wear it for a shoe lace.

Cher is so skinny she is even allowed to hang around Vic Tanny exercise salons. Exercise helps fat people lose weight, but really fat people aren't allowed to exercise at Vic Tanny's because they would damage Vic's sylphy image. Which certainly makes as much sense as a restaurant refusing to sell food to a really skinny person.

ANYWAY, I've always refused to get or otherwise leave my favorite chair in search of exercise because I have to say home and watch Vic Tanny commercials on TV. They are what keep my pulse pulsing. I often told my wife if there were some way I could exercise and watch Vic Tanny TV commercials at the same time, I'd do it.

So she bought an exercise bike through the mail.

Exercise bikes go nowhere. When I was young, I knew a boy who liked to put his two-wheel bike up on its parking standard so he could pump the pedals without going anywhere. He giggled a lot and said riding a bike that way made it easier for him to find his way back home. In those days, I called him a silly twit. Today, I would call him Richard Simmons.

"You can pump an exercise bike and replace your fat with muscle while watching TV," my wife said, and I had to admit it made more sense than jogging around the block 1,000 times every evening with a TV set tied to my nose.

The trouble with buying something through the mail is that, unless it is socks, it doesn't arrive fully assembled. So far, the only exercise dispensed by my new bike was emotional exercise, while it was being put together.

My wife helped me. She read the easy directions out loud while we sat on the floor on opposite sides of the bike parts. It was a touching scene of domestic togetherness that could have been painted by Norman Rockwell. Some of the easy directions, according to my wife, were: "(1) Remember that bike will be good for you once it is assembled. 2) Note that it is extremely dumb not to be able to tell a bike's pedal from its seat. 3) Don't forget that bike cost over $100 and it is extremely wasteful to throw it out of a 26th-floor window before it is fully assembled. 4) Quit griping and shut up."

MY EMOTIONS became more fully exercised while my wife was wielding her screwdriver in concert with my pliers. From one side of the bike, she screwed bolts into nuts that, on the other side, I held firm with my trusty pliers. At one point, she said the bolt was slipping because I wasn't holding firm enough. She said this several times. Although I strengthened my grip on the pliers until even my feet ached, she kept complaining that the bolt was still slipping.

Finally, I peeked over on her side of the bike and discovered she was screwing a bolt one hole away from the nut I was holding. I told her she was screwing the wrong bolt. "Don't be silly," she said, "You are holding the wrong nut."

One of the best features of my exercise bike is you can fold it up and put it in a closet. You can't do that with a wife.

Police protection in Independence Township has now reached a critical stage.

Seven deputy sheriffs can not provide adequate 24-hour-a-day, seven-day-a-week protection, prevent criminal activity and investigate the increasing number of complaints and crimes that occur in Independence Township.

Each shift has no more than two officers working at one time and often, because of vacations, court or sick time, only one officer is working. Frequently officers run from call to call with little time between to investigate the crime or prevent other criminal activity. They have become primarily report-takers because of the heavy workload.

Serious injury accidents have increased 80 percent. Fatal accidents are ahead of last year's pace and total accidents have increased by 73 percent over 1983. Because of the workload placed on the seven deputies by criminal complaints, selective traffic enforcement in high accident areas by the township patrol officers is almost non-existent.

Independence Township has a population of over 20,000 people and by 1990, just six years from now, it is projected to reach over 25,000 people.

The increase in population will only add to the growing traffic and crime problems in the community.

The Presidential Commission on Crime in 1968 recommended on police officer for every 1,000 citizens in order to provide the optimum protection. That's 20 officers to provide the proper level of protection for the citizens of Independence Township.

Independence Township needs at least 12 police officers to provide the bare minimum level of protection and service to the community.

The men and women of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department are an integral part of this community. Twenty-three members of the sheriff's department live in Independence Township. Our children go to school here and our families shop here. We are concerned about the future of the township and you, our fellow citizens.

Help us in our crime control efforts. Support the additional of 1/2 mill for increased police services. If this does not pass, then the township will be forced to layoff one deputy and further reduce its services to you and the minimal protection now afforded.

The economy and cost of living is a key concern for all of the township residents. The added cost of 1/2 mill for added police protection must be weighed by each individual family against the desire for increased safety in the community.

A home assessed at $40,000, or half the market value, would pay $20 for the additional 1/2 mill.

Independence Township needs more police officers to provide the proper level of professional service to its citizens, to fully investigate all crimes, prevent criminal activity, control traffic problems and to work with the young people of the community.

Help us make Independence Township a better place in which to live.

Support the additional 1/2-mill tax levy.

Retain McNally for fair judge

As an observer of the recent community political forum held Monday night at the high school, the following seemed apparent and is worth taking into consideration before casting our vote on Nov. 6.

In the contest for the 52nd District Court judge, the challenger made an effort to imply certain things about the court as it has been run under Judge McNally.

This is unfortunate, since the equitable basis of our law is to know the extenuating circumstances before offering conclusions and/or opinions. I doubt if the challenger, if he was a judge, would allow that same tactic during court proceedings.

It was also interesting to note that an Oakland County association endorsement for Judge McNally was made to appear somewhat tainted, yet upon fur-

Facts behind haunted house

Let us set the record straight regarding your front page story on the Jaycees' lack of a Haunted House in the Oct. 24 edition of The Clarkston News.

The session (governing board) of Sashabaw Presbyterian Church received no official request for use of the building by Jaycees to which we could decide whether or not to make the building available to them.

We've had no unofficial discussions in which we, as a church, indicated that the building would be unavailable.

Last year, we did indicate to the Jaycees that we would appreciate hearing from them sooner than early October or late September in case, for some reason, the building might not be available in a given year. We did not want them to be caught short because other plans or the building's condition made the old church unavailable.

Every year, there have been those in the church and in the community alike who have questioned the appropriateness of a Haunted House in a church building.

Yet each year the decision of the session has been to allow the use of the building by the Jaycees, as one way to cooperate with and aid people in the community we serve as a church. Indeed, many board members were puzzled that by our October meeting we had not had a request from the Jaycees.

We agree with the reported words of the current Jaycees' president that the group has been responsible and taken care of the building in the past.

We regret the misunderstanding of our position went unchecked by the Jaycees because of the loss to the community and went unchecked by the reporter because of the public misrepresentation of the church.

As a church we remain willing, and eager, to pursue ways to cooperate with others for the benefit of the community in which we live.

While the two of us cannot now predict the session's decision on any particular request because of prior church plans or commitments, we would like the requests to come that we might make use of the resources of our buildings.

Personally, we found some ironical amusement in the fact that the same issue which had a story with unchecked reports of our decisions also contained a large story and a reporter's column on the results of a story not checked in depth.

Precisely because unintentional misunderstandings can happen, we appreciate the willingness The Clarkston News has shown to print letters such as this which provide additional information and perspectives for the paper's readers.

Proposal C: Devastating to us

What have the Michigan Council of Churches, General Motors, Michigan Education Association, Chrysler Corp., Michigan League of Savings Institutions, and the Michigan Catholic got in common?

All oppose Proposal C. Indeed, all believe that C would place this state right back where it was three (3) years ago (or even worse).

If passed, the results would be devastating to the citizens of Michigan. The immediate loss of revenue for 1985 would total $669 million. In addition, the loss would mean an additional $1,036 million on an annual basis.

In terms of education, a loss in revenue would mean the elimination of 8,500 teaching positions (not to mention countless other people whose jobs would be threatened in both the public and private sector of the economy.) Furthermore, the ability of the state to borrow money would again be jeopardized.

In other words, the economy of Michigan would come to a screeching halt.

To borrow a famous line from a very well-known politician: "Are you better off today than you were four years ago?"

In Michigan, if a person is back to work; if his/her buying power has increased; if he/she has received a salary increase, the answer may very well be "yes."

On our own, without any help from Washington, even when we desperately needed it, we citizens of Michigan have "turned it around."

It is time to send a message to Mr. Richard Headlee and Mr. L. Brooks Patterson (and other supporters of C) that we do not share their wealth, we need our jobs, and we support the efforts made to bring our state back from the depths of recession.

We know that if C passes, it really means M—as in misery for the people of Michigan.

Al Bartlett

Yes on "C" for tax break

I am a resident taxpayer in Michigan. I also have a home in California upon which I pay real estate taxes.

My 1979 Michigan property tax on my residence was $1,104; California tax was $899. My 1983 Michigan tax was $1,569, an increase of 50 percent; California was $1,014, an increase of 12 percent, including a $6,000 improvement.

I was in California during 1978 before the voters passed Proposition 13. The "Gloom and Doom" boys in Sacramento cried loud and long. They predicted when their billion dollar surplus was exhausted, the state would be bankrupt.

The special interest groups, like in Michigan, made the same dire predictions that we are now hearing from the townships to Lansing, from the trade unions to the public employment unions, and from all the multitude feeding at the trough of our taxpayers' money.

Needless to say, it is working in California. It can work here!

We cannot allow the continued absorption of our personal incomes by public servants who will not listen to our protests.

If Proposition C is not adopted, we will be telling our public servants, "Go ahead, boys, tax and tax and spend and spend!"

Let us stop listening to these political hacks and the parasites living off our tax dollars. Don't be conned by their protestations! Try it; we'll like it!

Let the voters, who pay the money, decide on its disbursements.

Vote for Lutz

After living in our community for approximately 10 years, I feel we have stagnated in our direction.

The current board and administration is nothing more than a negative group against anything and everything that is presented to our community for improvement and advancement.

I feel it is time for new leadership with some new ideas and new directions and it is for that reason I am supporting John Lutz for the position of treasurer in Independence Township.

Kozma for judge

President Reagan and Walter Mondale will bring more voters to the polls next week than perhaps ever before. Yet, many of our state and local issues are as, or more, important to us than who occupies the White House.

In this area, we have had for many years a local judge who has avoided many tough decisions and earned a widespread reputation for being too lenient. Never before has anyone stood up to this problem and called for the necessary change.

At the urging of citizens from all over our community, I decided to take on this challenge. With the support of concerned people and community leaders, our campaign has been effective. I believe we will be successful.

"Kozma for District Judge...cares enough to be tough" means having a judge who will make tough decisions. It means a judge concerned about victims, too. And, it means a firm, but fair judge.

It is important that each of us helps assure our victory. A victory of courage over complacency; a victory to restore balance to our local court; and a victory for justice for all of us.

Vote Kozma for Judge.

Alcohol fine history

My opponent has implied in his campaign ads and speeches that this Court imposes something other than our minimum fine of $350 for first offenders of our drinking and driving laws.

We have a minimum fine and costs of $350, and the defendant must follow the recommendations of the screening and assessing agency or serve thirty (30) days in jail.

I believe I have done more than any judge in this county to de-emphasize the use of beverage alcohol.

This year's candidates are as qualified and capable as any we've had in a long time, and because I've known most of them for many years, selecting one

Weighing 3 proposals

Proposal A would appear to be one that fits the saying, "If you don't know, vote no."

It's either a case of the legislature wanting to look at all executive rulings, or sticking their nose in where it doesn't belong.

It was put on the ballot by the legislature and should be rejected by the people.

Proposal B is, like the others, with good and bad points. We believe a fund should be established, as the Kammer law did, to purchase land for public use. It's OK with us if the money comes from revenues from natural resources.

What we wouldn't like to see is an over-purchasing of land, just because the money is available, and removing it from the tax roll. That only puts more burden on we property owners to pay for government, etc.

We do think reasoning will prevail, and therefore support Proposal B.

We have probably read more about Proposition C than any other proposal to come before the voters.

It has become the accepted thing, even the American way, for opposing factions to deliberately mislead. Arguments for and against Prop C have been presented in such a way.

The question isn't that tough. If you think you are paying too many taxes, then you should vote yes on C. If you receive benefit from tax dollars it still might be best for you to vote yes, but you likely have been convinced otherwise by now.

If passed Proposal C would require voter approval for: 1982-83 tax increases; for all new taxes; for all tax increases; for all tax shifts. It would limit non-resident income tax to half a percent, and it would require four-fifths legislative majority to increase fees.

What's wrong with that? Can't the citizenry be trusted?

I have long believed that if something is right, it will pass. Prove to the voters a road is needed, schools have to be built, water system necessary, and police, fire, and parks are important and the majority will approve it.

Two tax supported, governmental bodies opposing Prop C that really bother me are school boards and road commission.

First the schools. We've been through a lot of school millage and bond elections. Always a school administrator or board member will remark, "We're the only tax increase people get to vote no on".

Passage of Proposal C would make competition for that vote... and likely schools would win a lot more often. This idea of sending local taxes to Lansing to have them laundered and shrunk has never appealed to us.

Perhaps the local school people have forgotten how unkind the state has been, cutting back severely and often, in years past.

Second the road commission. Without question the Oakland County Road Commission has sent more propaganda to our office opposing Prop C than any other outfit. They'd have you believe all streets and roads in Michigan would immediately crumble, bridges would collapse November 7, and there would hardly be enough money to engineer another turn on Baldwin road.

The Commissioners obviously don't believe the people will approve taxes for projects they feel necessary. We repeat, if it's right, approval will come.

The outpouring of opposition from Michigan Education Association, General Motors, AFL-CIO, Ford, state, county and local governments, and some (not all) politicians leads one to think the sky is going to fall and schools close.

When Proposition C was first announced for the ballot we opposed the idea, thinking that's what we send people to Lansing for. Then we thought of the 38 percent income tax hike that has built a huge surplus of money, of Kawkawlin bridge, of the highest paid legislature in the country, and of the state-created business atmosphere in Michigan.

Then we thought about the voters of Michigan. We concluded they CAN be trusted. J.A.S.

over another is going to be extremely difficult.

One of the candidates I strongly support is John Lutz, who is running for treasurer.

I believe John's business experience, together with his desire to make Independence Township a better place in which to live, would make him a valuable asset to the township, not only as treasurer, but as a member of the township board.

I hope my fellow residents agree come Nov. 6.

One for McNally

Judge Gerald E. McNally has served this community with integrity for the past 16 years.

In the current election campaign this is being not only overlooked but called into question.

Is it really possible for a man's career to be summed up in a few letters to the editor?

Perhaps we should take the time to evaluate the dynamics of what is happening. Is Gerald McNally really the weak judge various critics would have us believe, or is he the object of a well-orchestrated political campaign?

Let us evaluate McNally on his merits and his record and not on what his opponent would have us believe. Remember both the Oakland County Bar Association and the Oakland Citizens' League named him as the better of the two candidates.

John H. Needham

Lutz is endorsed

As a concerned taxpayer in Independence Township and worried about the future of our tax and monetary structure as it now stands, I feel that we are due for a change in the office of treasurer.

Therefore, I am supporting Mr. John Lutz for this office. I am sure that the people voting at the next election want the best that their tax dollars can provide.

John Lutz has been a good neighbor for a number of years and has taken an active part in community affairs.

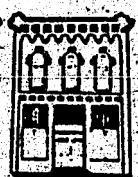

As president of the Sunnybeach Property Owners Association, he has done a tremendous job.

As a family man and an Oakland County businessman, he rates very highly and deserves the support of all voters in this crucial time to help put our township in a strong financial position.

Vote for change

This letter is written in regards to the candidacy of John Lutz, who is the Republican contender for Independence Township treasurer.

Having known John Lutz for over 10 years, I can honestly say he is by and far the best candidate for treasurer.

Let me cite a few examples:

A man who started his own business with very little investments, John has made a success that would be hard to compare other small businesses to. He is one who understands the ins and outs of accounting and record keeping, and is very concerned where and how money is spent.

John also has a good head for being involved in his community. By being concerned about the state of his lake, he became president of his beach community and, through his work, renewed a neighborhood park and made it a place where families could gather and picnic.

As a family man, John spends time on the home front and within his community of Independence Township. He is active as a ski patrol instructor at nearby Pine Knob, and is seriously interested in attracting new "light industry" businesses to Independence Township.

In conclusion, let me just state that Independence Township really needs someone who will be concerned for the taxpayers in our township.

John Lutz, I feel, is the right choice. Dedicated, hard-working and interested would be the words to describe John Lutz.

This year, taxpayers, don't just vote Republican or Democrat, vote for a positive change—vote for John Lutz for Independence Township treasurer.

Ronald DelBello

Pro foster care

It was deeply disturbing to attend candidates' night and find the issue taking center stage was limiting foster care homes beyond present guidelines.

How sad when nearly all the candidates caved in to this kind of special interest pressure.

I respect (Trustee) Daniel Travis for at least saying it should not be the first priority item for Independence Township.

The first priority is not the number of such homes but their quality.

Foster care homes aren't perfect, but the impaired of our community deserve good care. They are citizens as well as supporters of UNIT (are). I hope those elected to the township board will represent them, too.

Clarkston Junior High Wolverines Milford 36, Wolverines 24

Oct. 25—The Wolverines stay close the entire game but can't overtake Milford. Michelle Baker leads the scoring with six points as Ali Fedio, Shannon Kilcline, Kristy King and Jane Selent each put in four points in the loss. The Wolverines drop their season record to 3-8.

Pierce 51, Wolverines 25

Oct. 23—Again the Wolverines are close most of the game but are blown out in the final quarter by a good Milford team. Baker and Kilcline lead the Wolverines with six points each.

NEXT WEEK: Mason at Clarkston, Oct. 30, 7 p.m.; Clarkston against Sashabaw, at Clarkston High School, Nov. 1, 7 p.m.

Football

Clarkston High School Varsity Avondale 12, Wolves 10

Oct. 26—A late comeback by the Wolves falls short as they score all 10 points in the last three minutes of the game. A safety by Shawn MacCartey, a 2-yard run by Jim Ruelle and the 2-point conversion pass play from Erik Kline to Dan Jokisch is all the scoring the Wolves can ring up. The loss leaves the Wolves at 4-4 for the season.

NEXT WEEK: West Bloomfield at Clarkston, Nov. 2, 7:30 p.m.

Clarkston High School Junior Varsity Wolves 8, Avondale 8

Oct. 25—A second quarter touchdown run of 4 yards by Joe Hamelin and the 2-point conversion by Keith Mercier knot the score. Clarkston totals 260 on offense and allows only 85 yards by Avondale—but manages only a tie. Their record stands at 2-5-1.

NEXT WEEK: Clarkston at West Bloomfield, Nov. 1, 6:30 p.m.

Sashabaw Junior High Cougars Cougars 26, Mason 0

Oct. 24: The Cougars beat a good Mason team that was 5-1-1 before the contest. The only scoring in the opening half is a 60-yard pass from Mark Galan to Brian Garwood in the second quarter. In the second half, Jeff Buchman scores on a 4-yard run and adds the 2-point conversion, Keenan Powell chalks up a run of 28 yards for a touchdown and Galan adds a 3-yard run on the last play of the game for the final tally. The Cougars' record rises to 3-4-1.

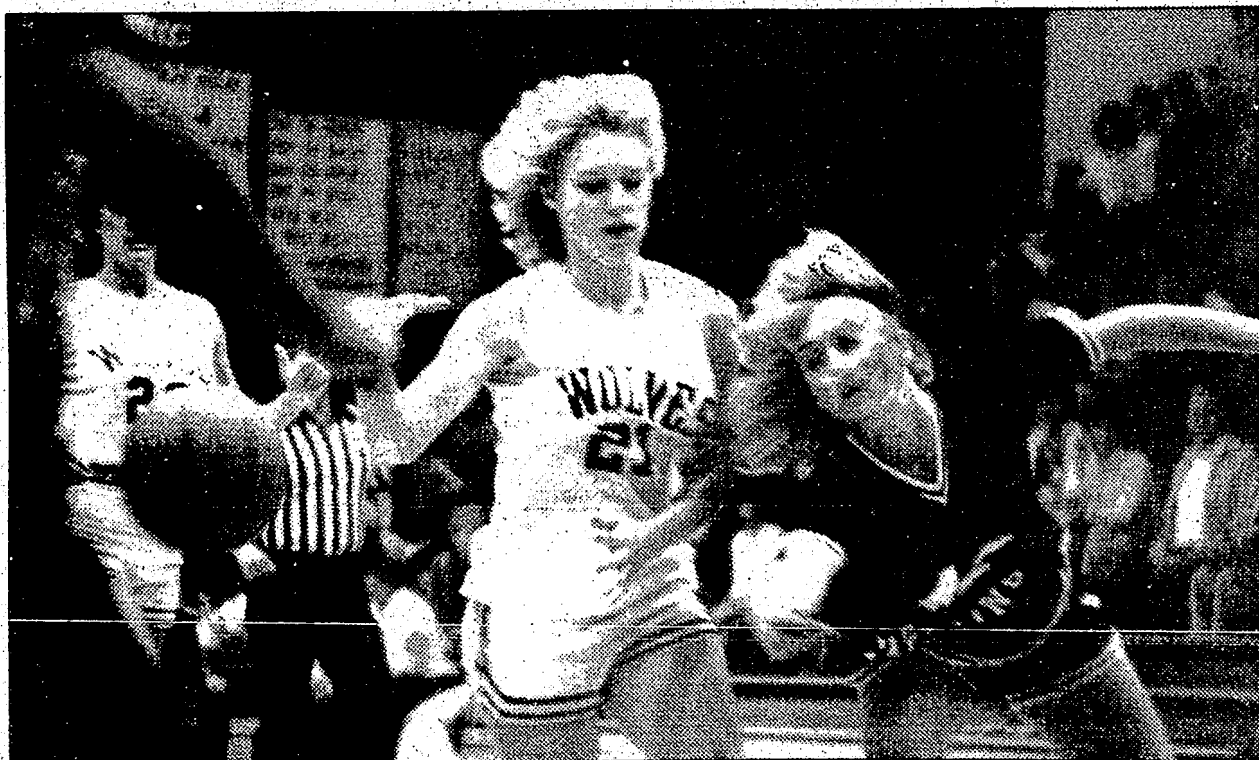

NEXT WEEK: Sashabaw against Clarkston, at Clarkston High School, Oct. 31, 7:15 p.m.

Clarkston Junior High Wolverines Wolverines 8, Cray 0

Oct. 24—The Wolverines beat the previously undefeated Cray and lift their record to 6-2. Jeff Tungate scores on a quarterback sneak and Stacey Turner adds the 2-point conversion. The defense is the difference in the game, with mainstays Mike Wells, Mark Oswald, John Mahler and Eric Hutchins.

NEXT WEEK: Sashabaw against Clarkston, at Clarkston High School, Oct. 31, 7:15 p.m.

At times the Clarkston-Waterford Kettering basketball game resembled a football contest, as Laura Hurren finds out while trying to bring the ball up-court against the Captains. [See story on Page 15.]

Found in the Clarkston News mailbox Monday morning.

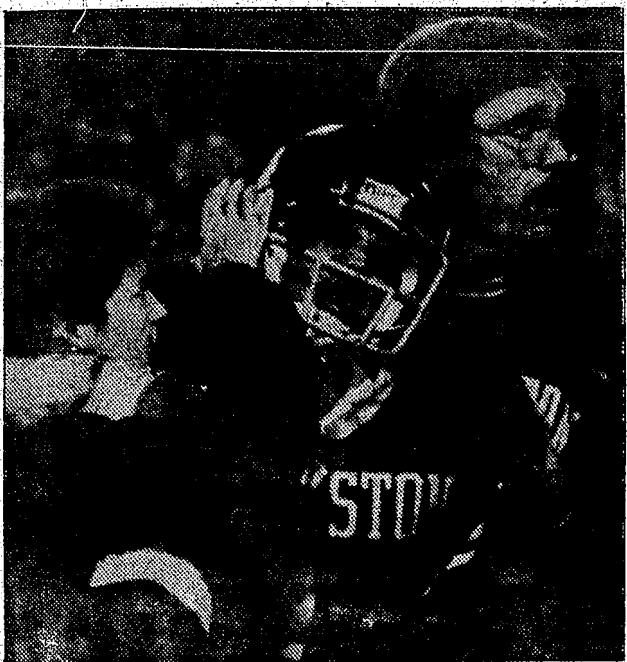

Seer here. I thought I was in trouble with the game against Avondale, but of course I remained perfect. Not only did I predict the winner (as usual), but by the exact score.

There's one game left in the season and it's with mediocre West Bloomfield squad, which has a very mundane 2-6 record. You hose heads have played good at times, and not so good at others, but it shouldn't matter against the Lakers. Read on for details.

West Bloomfield at Clarkston (Nov. 2): The Lakers are muddling through the season without much promise. The Wolves have lost their last three games after starting out 4-1.

Senior pride and determination are the overriding factors in this one. No one likes to go out a loser—and the Wolves won't.

They'll play one of their best games of the year in this one. Clarkston by 10.

Trainer Maureen Brandow and coach John Getzen help the Wolves' Chuck Stein off the field during the 12-10 loss to Avondale. Stein is hit in the back, but is not seriously hurt.

Time runs out on Wolves

By Dan Vandenhemel

Just a few more ticks on the clock, a few more yards, and the Clarkston Wolves would have won their Homecoming football game against Avondale.

The late fourth quarter comeback fell short for the Wolves and they lost, 12-10, in the varsity contest against the Yellow Jackets, Oct. 26.

"We just ran out of time," Wolves' coach Walt Wyniemo said. "Just another couple of minutes..."

The Yellow Jackets made their two touchdowns in the first half, the second coming on a 20-yard pass with 14 seconds before the end of the half. Midway through the fourth quarter, the Wolves mounted a rally behind Erik Kline, the third quarterback on the team.

Kline, normally a receiver, was forced into the quarterback slot and switched off with No. 2 Bob LaPorte when starter Brian Galley was hurt and had to leave the game.

The Wolves' scoring began when the Yellow Jackets surrendered a two-point safety with 3:01 left in the game. Avondale was on its own 5-yard line with a fourth-and-seven play when quarterback Mark Fisher retreated to his own end zone and was downed by Shawn MacCartey.

Following the ensuing kickoff, Jim Ruelle plunged in from the 1-yard line for a touchdown with 1:17 remaining and Kline tossed the two-point conversion to Dan Jokisch.

The play brought the Wolves within a field goal of winning the game, but the onside kickoff by Jokisch was smothered by an Avondale player and the Wolves ran out of time.

"It really hurts coming from behind," Wyniemo said. "You just can't spot a team that many points and come back. We controlled the ball; we did what we wanted to do. We just couldn't get the ball to the goal posts. Close, but no cigar."

He said he didn't think the team was suffering from a letdown following the loss the previous week to Lake Orion that cost them the Greater Oakland Activities League title.

"I don't think they were," he said. "You can't dwell on the past. These kids have worked hard. They've never won before. I don't think they had a winning season since their freshman year. I think they are doing their best. We'll come out all right."

Finals ahead for harrier

By Dan Vandenhemel

The state finals in high school sports will be getting another view of a Clarkston High School performer.

Earlier in October it was the boys' golf team qualifying for the first time in 10 years. Now sophomore Kathleen McInnis is headed to the finals in cross country.

This is the fourth straight year the Wolves have been represented at the finals. McInnis qualified with a second place in the state regionals on Saturday. The finals are set for Nov. 3 in Howell at 12:30 p.m.

"Kathleen is a state caliber runner," said coach Mike Kaul. "She has a shot at finishing in the top 10 of the state."

About 80 girls from around the state will be competing for top individual honors.

Kaul said opposing coaches whose teams faced the Wolves this year were very impressed by McInnis.

"She could do very well at the finals," Kaul said. "What I'm worried about is how she'll take the pressure. She hasn't had any trouble all year, so she should do all right."

Up My Alley

Ho ho ho

By Dan Vandenhemel

A few weeks ago the leaves began turning the vivid colors of fall. Bright oranges, radiant reds, and crisp yellows lined I-75.

Now the colorful foliage is surrounding the trees on the ground; the branches are bare.

Cool breezes tell it's fall, football season, time for ghosts and goblins to come knocking on the door asking for tricks or treats.

All this sets a nice picture of what the fall season is all about. But could someone tell me why Santa Claus is moving into the picture two months early?

Children haven't even gotten the candy that will make dentists jump over that new couch they've been thinking about buying, and Christmas ads are coming out.

Television commercials for Christmas records and toys are sprinkled in with the normal flood of advertisements.

The commercialization of the Christmas season is getting out of hand. It's so bad that for Halloween I'm dressing as that jolly old elf who comes around late in December.

The key word there is December.

When the 12th month finally rolls around, as do the snow and the plunging thermometer, that is when visions of sugar plums and decorated halls should enter the head.

Stores and businesses have programed not just me, but people in general to begin looking toward the coming of Saint Nick.

I know some people who've finished their Christmas shopping already. I just recently came up with my costume for Halloween, let alone a gift list for Christmas.

And forgive me for asking, but doesn't Thanksgiving come next month or do we jump straight from Halloween to Christmas?

It seems the only reason we celebrate Thanksgiving is for an excuse to give a parade for Santa Claus.

I don't know about the rest of the population, but I think Christmas should be celebrated in December, not October.

This is all very confusing. I think I'll drown myself in a bowl of eggnog.

Battle for league lead

Captains attack Wolves

By Dan Vandenhemel

The Wolves were simply outnumbered by Waterford Kettering.

The Captains used a variety of players to down Clarkston, 59-42, in girls' basketball Oct. 25. The Wolves had to play most of the second half without their leading scorer, Kim Ottman.

The senior guard, who is averaging close to 14 points a game, went out midway through the third quarter with a shoulder injury that has bothered her the entire season.

Coach Dave McDonald doesn't know how long Ottman will be out of action. Her absence from the game against Kettering turned a close game into a rout.

"Kettering is just a better team," he said. "When Kim was hurt, it hurt us. They just outplayed us."

Ottman led the Wolves in scoring with 11, and Missy O'Dell and Michelle Taulbee each contributed seven points. Wendy Learmont pulled in 15 rebounds to go with her five points.

"I thought Wendy played a good game. She really helped with the rebounds," McDonald said. "Laura (Hurren) played well, too. She was all over the court."

The contest didn't begin with the Captains in control. The Wolves dominated the early going and tallied eight points before Waterford could get on the board.

But the 11-7 first-quarter lead for Clarkston quickly disappeared with a rally by Kettering to knot

"...We're a good team, but they're a very good team."

—Dave McDonald

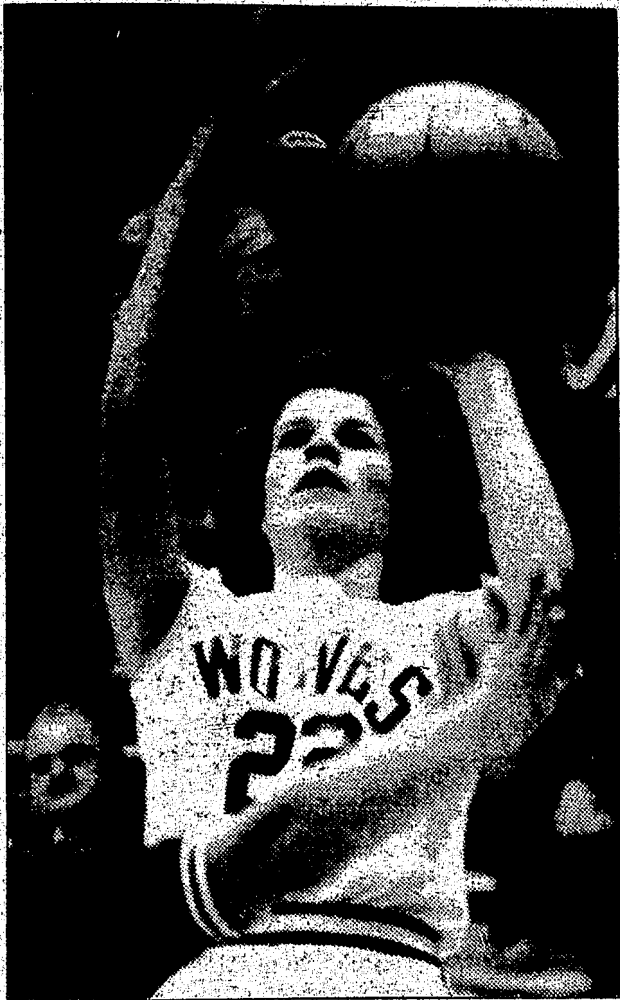

the game at halftime, 19-19.

The second half belonged to Kettering as they rode to a 39-29 lead at the end of three quarters and all but put the game away.

"Those last four minutes (of the first half) when we let them come back hurt," McDonald said. "We had a flurry of turnovers in the third quarter and they went up by eight. It's tough to come back against a team like this. It took the air out of our girls. We're a good team, but they're a very good team."

This clash all but decided the championship in the Greater Oakland Activities League. Clarkston is 7-5 overall and 3-1 in the GOAL, while Kettering is 13-0 overall and 4-0 in the league.

"We can still finish tied for first, but we're going to have to beat Kettering away and that won't be easy," the coach said.

When Kim Ottman draws a bead on the basket, it's not often she misses the mark. The senior guard leads the Wolves in scoring.

Re-elect Ritter

I was at the public hearings in 1976 when the Independence Township Board decided they had to charge an ad valorem tax to pay the sewer bonds.

Even though I know the township is responsible for its debts, I gritted my teeth every time I paid my taxes because I was paying for a sewer that would never service my house.

Well, I won't be paying that sewer tax again and there is only one reason why. Fred Ritter.

He's made investments of the township's sewer tax money that will pay the future sewer bond payments until they expire in 2001. While I resent having paid that tax for the past eight years, I appreciate Fred Ritter's efforts in relieving me of it for the next 17 years.

There is only one way to pat Fred Ritter on the back and let him know I appreciate his good work.

I'm going to vote for him for Independence Township treasurer on Nov. 6 and I hope you will too.

McNally: Fair

I believe district Judge Gerald McNally is a hard-working and fair judge, balancing the rights of those wronged with those of the accused.

That is always a fine line.

To lean to either extreme is either toward anarchy or the tyranny of a police state and neither of these fits our democratic society.

Since drunk driving is a serious threat to innocent life, I urge the following alternatives be available to judges when sentencing persons found guilty: Placing them in a minimum security facility for a period of time and taking away their freedom during Alcoholics Anonymous type treatment, but allowing them to go to work or school. That way the serious nature of the offense is clear, but they can still support themselves and their families.

Regular jail can destroy them totally, rendering them and their dependents wards of the state.

Robert Walters

Praise for golfers

Congratulations to the CHS boys' golf team for being among the top golfers in the state! In fact, they are the 21st best team in the state.

Whether a team (or an individual) finishes first or last in state competition, they must be among the best to be there in the first place.

Several years ago, the CHS girls' ski team qualified for the state meet after being one of the best in the area. They finished ninth out of 10 teams. But they were actually the ninth best team in the State of Michigan.

When things are put in the proper perspective, the results are much more positive.

Carol Balzarini

Kozma for judge

This is the time to express your feelings that many of us have had because of vandalism which has destroyed our mail boxes, torn up our lawn and smashed windows.

This is the time to express your feelings about the danger of drunk drivers who kill and injure.

This is the time to express your feelings about the burglary, theft and violent crimes.

This is the time to express your feelings about the lax and lenient handling of these cases by the present district judge.

Just like our local physician, I think the judge is a nice guy, but we need a good judge, not a social worker.

I have met Larence Kozma, the candidate for district judge. Larry Kozma will protect everybody's rights; the victim's, not just the criminal's. Larry Kozma will be fair but firm and his decisions will reflect the common sense needed from our district judge.

We have been victimized long enough. It's time for a change. Join with me Nov. 6 and make it Larence Kozma District Judge.

Leo Armstrong

Lutz for treasurer

I highly recommend John Lutz for township treasurer. His integrity, honesty and positive outlook are the necessary ingredients for a man in this position.

In defense of First Amendment

Marilyn Trumper

Too often, newspapers and reporters forget how they impact people's lives.

I'd like to believe we handle all stories with the same degree of professionalism, from the baby announcement that's clipped for posterity by a beaming mother, to the father accused of stabbing his ailing son to death by inflicting 37 knife wounds.

We ask the whos, the whats, the whens, the whys and hows, objectively glean the facts and write an accurate story.

We print their names.

We write the headlines.

The story appears in thousands of copies mailed to thousands of homes and displayed on dozens of newsstands.

The beaming mother is thrilled and buys copies to send family members across the U.S.

The accused murderer is unhappy his name appeared in the local paper and his family threatens the reporter's safety.

In Western Michigan one man is fighting back.

His pending $1.2 million libel lawsuit before the Michigan Supreme Court may change how newspapers decide what stories are printed and why. Decisions might be made exclusively on how publicity will ultimately affect the subject of a story.

The Calhoun County man is suing the Battle Creek Enquirer, charging he was libeled when the paper reported his arrest on criminal sexual conduct charges, an arrest that did not result in a warrant. That means he was never officially charged.

The newspaper printed his name.

He was released.

Another man was subsequently arrested for that crime.

In laws regulating the press and its First Amendment rights, the plaintiff, because the courts ruled he is a private figure, must prove harm done and negligence on the part of the paper.

His argument, according to the attorney representing the Enquirer, is that the reporter took a police officer's word that a warrant had been issued, and printed the story, a five-paragraph story that went into detail how the accused rapist used scissors to cut the clothes from his victim.

At the time the reporter and editor made the decision to print the man's name, standard practice at most newspapers when its believed a warrant's been issued, and police believed him responsible for the crime.

The public's safety could well depend on its ability to recognize a suspected felon.

A newspaper is one avenue of disseminating that information.

A Calhoun County Circuit Court judge dismissed the lawsuit in June of 1982, ruling the newspaper was entitled to report an arrest of general public interest and the person charged failed to prove the newspaper showed actual malice.

An appeals court reversed that decision, which places newspapers at libel risk if their reported details of an alleged crime are based on an arrest that doesn't result in a warrant.

If the supreme court upholds the appeals court decision, newspapers will shy away from printing stories like those headlined last summer when Dalton Coleman, a suspected murderer on the run from Chicago, held a killing spree that spanned several states including Michigan.

Authorities held a multiple-state dragnet in hopes of apprehending him, and did when a witness recognized Coleman from pictures seen in newspapers and on television.

During the manhunt, Coleman had not been charged for the murders.

He was a suspect.

But the media's reporting aided in his apprehension.

Certainly the Dalton Coleman example is graphic. Is it comparable to someone suspected of rape or armed robbery.

Where do we draw the line?

Who decides if a suspected murderer's name and description will be published, and an armed robber's ignored?

Who determines if the severity of the crime warrants a story with a name, or just a description?

I say it is comparable when the public's health, safety and welfare is at stake. They have a right to know who trained authorities suspect of a crime, and why.

Give the public the information.

Issue the warning.

Let people decide for themselves.

If police publicly point the finger of blame at a man, hold him, then release him without charges, newspapers have a responsibility to clear his name and in as prominent a position as when he was first named publicly.

The Battle Creek Enquirer did not do this, even Ronald Lane, D.D.S., a recent graduate of the University of Detroit Dental School, was born and raised in the Flushing area. He graduated from Flushing High School in 1976, and then obtained his bachelor's degree from the University of Michigan - Flint before going to dental school.

Dr. Lane had hoped to be able to practice dentistry in a small town community where he could get to know the people. So when Dr. George Jaruga offered him a position in Ortonville, Dr. Lane jumped at the opportunity. Having spent some time in Ortonville when he was younger, Dr. Lane was familiar with the area and knew it was the type of position he was looking for.

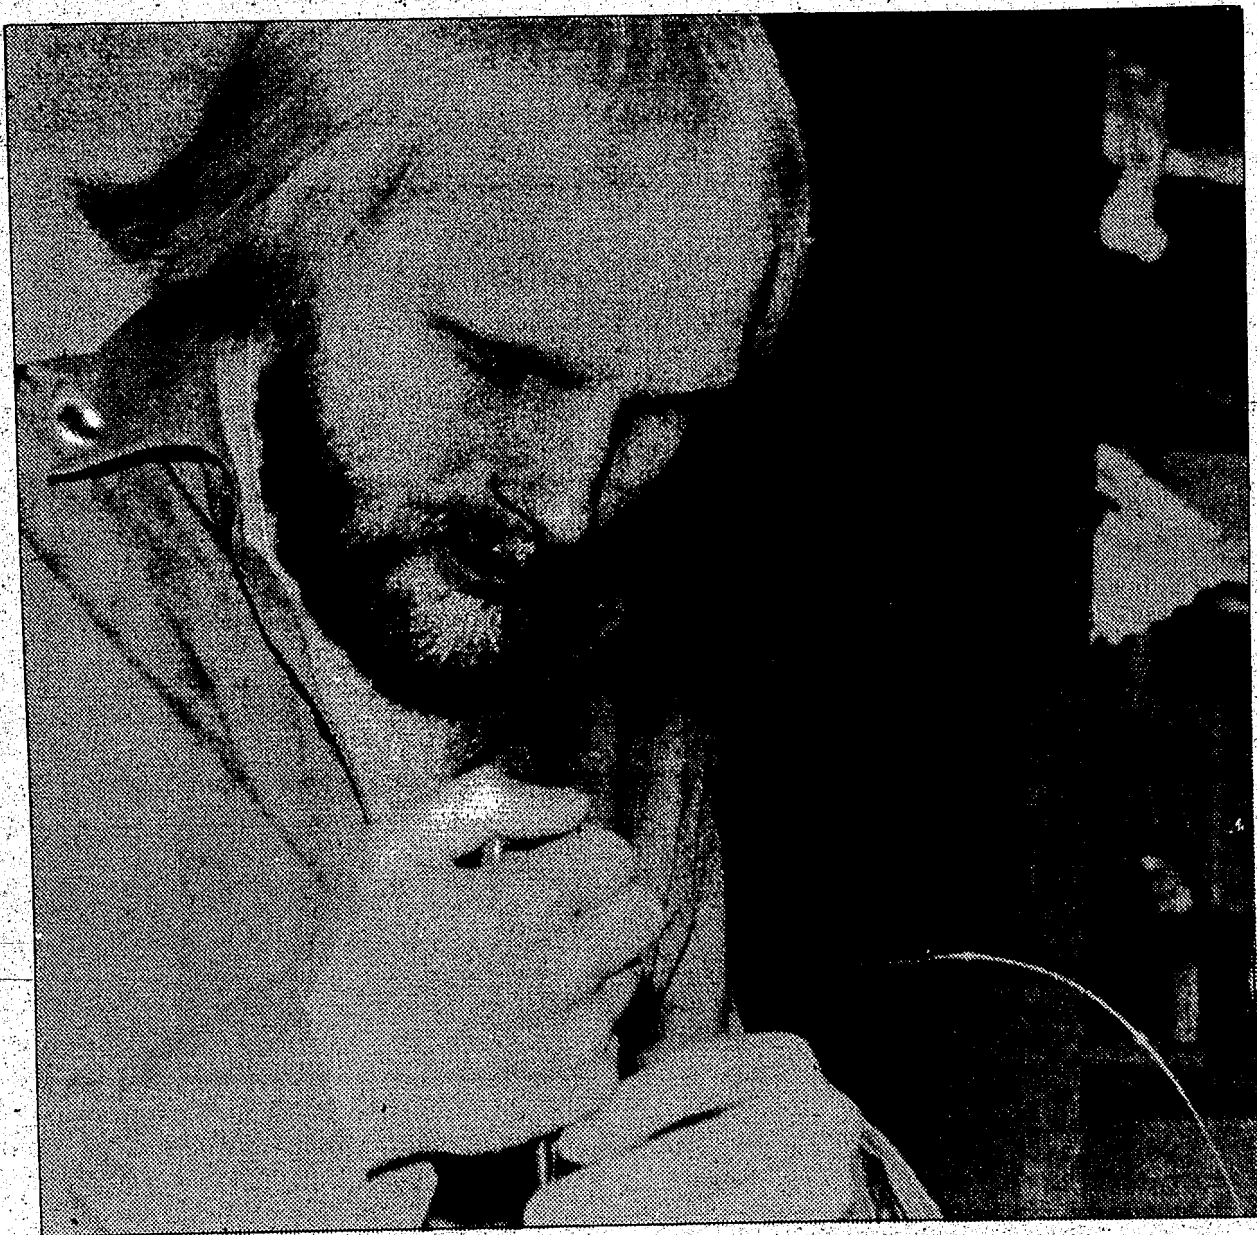

Dr. Lane decided to become a dentist because he had good experiences with his own dentist when he was younger. Realizing that many people, especially children, have a fear of dentists because of bad experiences, he tries to build a positive relationship with his patients. He likes to spend some extra time with his patients explaining all the procedures which helps reduce people's anxieties and increases their dental awareness.

Jeweler brings out the best in a name

tag necklaces

By Dan Vandenhemel

Margaret, Sharon, Samantha, Cindy and Pat are more than just names to Craig Brown.

They're works of art for the 24-year-old jeweler. With a twist of his wrist, he forms a piece of 14 karat gold-filled wire into the names for necklaces. But this is still a relatively new venture for Brown.

The wrist action needed to make the jewelry is what caused him to begin the craft. In April 1983, Brown was riding a 6-foot unicycle backwards when he discovered some scattered juggling pins the hard way.

"I was on a friend's unicycle and when I hit the pins I reached out with my wrist to break my fall, but I broke my wrist," said Brown. "I sprained my other wrist, too. While I was in the cast I had to do something for money so I got started in this."

At the time of the accident, Brown was attending the Rochester Institute of Technology in Rochester, N.Y. It was his first year at the trade school after graduation in 1982 from the National Technological Institute for the Deaf, also in Rochester. Born with ear damage, Brown hears about 95 percent of the sounds around him with the use of a hearing aid.

It takes Craig Brown about an hour to complete one of his 14 karat gold filled wire name tags for a necklace. He got started making the jewelry after he broke a wrist a year ago.

Julie Darling puts the finishing stitches on a bib she'll put up for sale at Santa's Workshop at Clarkston High School on Saturday. The annual show features many kinds of crafts and good things to eat, all especially suited for holiday gift-giving.

Hobby keeps student busy

She's sewing doll clothes for Jaycee Christmas sale

By Kathy Greenfield

Julie Darling's sewing machine has a place of prominence on her kitchen table. Nearby sit cardboard boxes filled with the neatly folded end-products of her work—clothes for preemies through 1-year-olds.

She's getting ready for the Santa's Workshop, sponsored by the Clarkston Area Jaycees, on Saturday, Nov. 3, at Clarkston High School from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

There's only a week to go before the show and her free time, what there is of it, has been totally consumed.

A nursing student at Oakland Community College, she's an on-call firefighter for the Independence Township Fire Department and a part-time employee at a fabric shop.

Julie, 22, is single, but when friends started having babies, her interest in creating baby clothes began.

She sums up the rewards like this: "The joy it brings people, just to see the looks on people's faces, that's so neat. I really enjoy it."

Julie's been sewing most of her life.

"My grandmother started me, probably when I was 10 or 11 years old," she says. Later, classes in school enhanced her skills.

She makes many of her own clothes and has an line-up of hand-stitched gifts in store for family members and close friends for Christmas.

"Unfortunately, I must have a pile of five or six items for myself that have just been sitting there," she says. "School's my number one priority. I want to become a nurse, whereas sewing baby clothes is not (my career goal), so I set aside my sewing and do my homework."

Julie's won ribbons in the Ingham County Fair for her baby clothes, and each award-winner has been carefully saved for her children-to-be.

She has about 30 items completed for the sale on Saturday, plus bibs, pillows and mobiles.

She smiles as she pulls the pieces of clothing out of a box and unfolds a tiny dress trimmed in lace, a three-piece ensemble and sets of matching shirts and pants.

"I enjoy it," she says. "It's relaxing. It's fun to look at these things."

Police don't want to jeopardize a case that will bring a criminal to justice.

They don't carelessly release information to the press unless they feel sure of it.

When they're guessing, they typically say so.

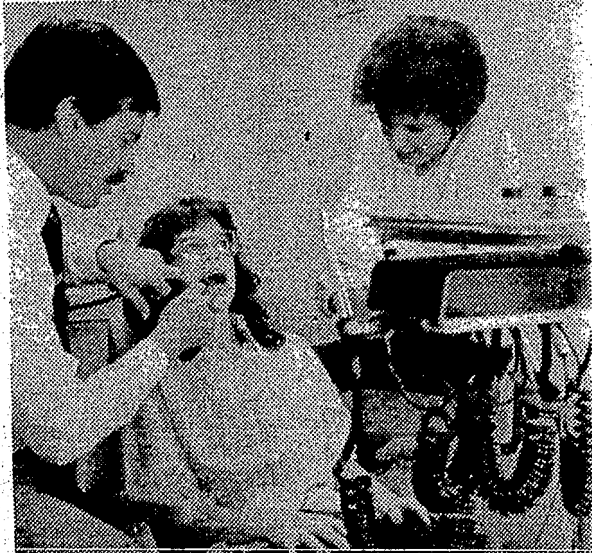

And typically, reporters print that.

Reporters and editors will weigh what they print with a different scale than ever before in the history of this county's free press if the Michigan Supreme Court finds in the Calhoun County man was libeled when the Battle Creek Enquirer printed he was suspected of sexual assault without being formally charged.

Work overload hits village commission

By Marilyn Trumper

The Village of Clarkston's Planning Commission feels overwhelmed by its growing workload and wants direction on the order of review.

And with Chairman James McArthur ill on and off since last summer, the eight-member commission is lacking leadership, according to village council President Carol Eberhardt.

"They've been asked to look at a good share of things and they're not used to such a workload, and things have been quiet for a long time," Eberhardt told the village council at its Oct. 22 meeting. "They want us to give them a priority list of what we want reviewed."

Currently the commission's reviewing Frank Walker's proposed $2.2 million condominiums, the concept of adopting a Planned Unit Development (PUD) ordinance, and a revamping of the village's master plan.

After discussion, the council made the following decisions pending commission approval:

- The planning commission will begin meeting twice monthly, the first and third week, to give them more working time.

- They'll be directed to break into two-person subcommittees to address new review projects.

"We're just recommending this," said village President Carol Eberhardt. "Of course it's up to the planning commission to decide if they want to do it."

In addition, the village council voted to have the commission first review the zoning ordinance and a PUD ordinance together, and secondly, the master plan review.

Name tags keep jeweler busy

The schools in Rochester gave Brown the training he needed in keylining and graphic design. He's a freelance keyliner, setting up artwork for printers.

"I could have gotten my (bachelor's degree) from R.I.T., but after the broken wrist I decided not to go back," he said. "It's scary. Some people with the degree can't find a job. I figured I could find out more through experience."

That experience is slow in coming, but the jewelry is helping. Brown's workshop is the upper floor of his mother and step-father's, Jim and Pat Griffiths, on Pine Knob Road, Independence Township.

Besides the name necklaces, the 1979 graduate of Clarkston High School makes hand-painted copper and enamel angels. The names take an average of one hour to complete, while 11 hours are needed to produce four angels.

"It takes so much time for those," he said. "I've got to cut out the figures, then put on the enamel and bake them, then do the painting. That's why they cost so much ($22). The name tags are only $10."

Craft shows are Brown's only outlet for his work besides his aunt Shirley Hewitt's gift store in Houston, Texas. His first showing was at the Crafts and Cider Festival in Clarkston in late September. Two more shows are coming up, the Joys and Toys of Christmas at Ferndale High School, Nov. 3; and His Handiwork, a craft show at the Episcopal Church of the Resurrection, 6490 Clarkston Rd., Independence Township, on Nov. 9 and 10—9 a.m. to 5 p.m. both dates.

"I'm going around to stores and see if they are interested in putting these things on display," Brown said. "I don't want to wait too long because Christmas is coming up soon. The name tags are really popular. I can do orders, have people pick them up or I'll mail them out, just call 391-2840. I'll take care of them."

Brown is putting the finishing touches on a name tag.

New pastor at Good Shepherd

The Rev. James Finn is the new pastor of the Good Shepherd Assembly of God.

Finn, 29, took over the post, vacant for almost a year, last month. A graduate of the North Central Bible College, Minneapolis, Minn., he previously worked with his wife, Nancy, in youth and children ministries in Detroit's inner city at Gospel Lighthouse Assembly of God and in Kenosha, Wisc., at Lakeshore Tabernacle.

He's spent the first few weeks of his first senior pastorate visiting the present 20 members and the past members of the church located at 6051 Sashabaw Rd., Independence Township.

"I'm really excited about the potential and I really like the community of Clarkston," he said.

The Rev. James Finn

"I'm looking forward to developing the youth ministry and all the facets of the church ministry."

"We're small, but the attitude of the people is positive. I would have thought they'd really be low-key because they were without a pastor for so long, but they're excited and believing God for the great things in the future for Good Shepherd."

A music night at the church featuring members' talents is planned Sunday, Nov. 18, during the evening service.

Finn works part-time as pastor and part-time at a golf course in Rochester. He presently commutes from Southfield, where he and his wife plan to live until the school year is over for their oldest child, 7-year-old Benjamin. They have two other children, Julie, 4, and Patrick, 2.

Sunday services at the church include 10 a.m. Sunday school, 11 a.m. worship, and 7 p.m. worship. (625-1344)

Drinkless day

A day without drinking alcoholic beverages in the Clarkston community is their goal.

Members of The Chemical People of Clarkston are planning the Drink-Out from 8 a.m. Friday, Nov. 30, to 8 a.m. Saturday, Dec. 1.

They want residents to voluntarily refrain from drinking alcohol or taking other chemicals and to make people aware of potential alcohol abuse problems.

"The whole purpose of our group is to raise an awareness level, to help in preventive areas and to be of support to anyone who wants to contact us," said Judy LaBash. "We're hoping with 24 hours, anyone who has some problems or whose life is geared to alcohol more than they thought will have a chance to identify these problems."

As the date for the Drink-Out approaches, there'll be more details in The Clarkston News. For information on The Chemical People of Clarkston, call 625-9600 and ask for co-chairperson Fred Baumann.

Junior Matt Scharl shows good pop guzzling abilities during the Homecoming pep assembly at Clarkston High School. The juniors won the contest when the seniors were disqualified for wearing the pop and not drinking it. Looks like the judges weren't looking at the juniors too closely.

Don't ask senior Jack Hines [left] how he did in the hot dog eating contest, he might not feel well. Junior Bob Haran, [center] outlasted sophomore Matt Beamer to win. Haran downed 21 dogs in 15 minutes.

Do you believe in ghosts?

"Sort of. I think I've seen one of them twice. I was so frightened I think I scared it away."

The OAKLAND COUNTY SHERIFF'S DEPARTMENT

urges you to support the Police Millage Proposal
1/2-mill Tax Levy

Police Protection in Independence Township has now reached a critical stage.

Seven Deputy Sheriffs can not provide adequate 24-hour a day, seven-day a week protection, prevent criminal activity and investigate the increasing number of complaints and crimes that are occurring in Independence Township.

Each shift has no more than two officers working at one time and often, because of vacations, court or sick time, only one officer is working. Frequently the officers are running from call to call with little time in between to investigate the crime or prevent other criminal activity. They have become primarily report takers because of the heavy work load.

Serious Injury accidents have increased 80%, fatal accidents are ahead of last years pace and total accidents have increased by 73% over 1983. Because of the work load placed on the seven deputies by criminal complaints, selective traffic enforcement in high accident areas by the township patrol officers is almost non-existent.

The Presidential Commission on Crime in 1968 recommended one police officer for every thousand citizens in order to provide the optimum protection. That's 20 officers to provide the proper level of protection for the citizens of Independence Township.

Independence Township needs at least 12 police officers to provide the bare minimum level of protection and service to the community.

Help us in our crime control efforts. Support the addition of a 1/2-mill for increased police services. If this does not pass, then the township will be forced to layoff one (1) Deputy and further reduce its services to you and the minimal protection now afforded.

Independence Township needs more police officers to provide the proper level of Professional service to its citizens, to fully investigate all crimes, prevent criminal activity, control traffic problems and to work with the young people of the community.

Help make Independence Township a better place in which to live. Support the additional 1/2-mill tax levy.

Dear Cat Paw:
Does doing drugs affect your memory of remembering things?

Mindless

Dear Mindless:
Although I have answered this question before, it's worth repeating.

Yes! Memory is affected. Users will often forget something that happened minutes earlier. The ability to concentrate, learn and react is slowed down. 🐾

Dear Cat Paw:
If you only get drunk about twice a month, what harm can it do if you don't drive?

Wasted

Dear Wasted:
The fact that you get drunk every time you drink indicates a problem. It's not how much or how often you drink, it's what happens to you when you do drink that's important.

Although I am glad you're not driving, I would do some soul searching to discover why you need to get drunk about twice a month. 🐾

Dear Cat Paw:
What kind of harmful substances are in Mescaline, and what do they do to your body? Also, if taken only every once in a while can it be very damaging?

A Confused Friend

Dear Confused Friend:

Mescaline is a hallucinogen made up of the psychoactive ingredients of the peyote cactus. Many of the drugs sold as mescaline are LSD or another substitute.

Any way you look at it, hallucinogens are bad news. They have a bad reputation even among drug users. They can produce unpleasant hallucinations (bad trips), panic reactions, psychoses and flashbacks.

The effects are unpredictable, except that many of them are bad. Many users often injure themselves because they are literally "feeling no pain."

The drug can also lead to violent psychosis and severe psychological depression as well as a number of medical problems that are potentially fatal. 🐾

Dear Cat Paw:

I know a person who drinks all the time. Where can this person go to get help?

Confused

Dear Confused:

It sounds like this person wants help. Direct him or her to AA. The phone book will give you a number. AA is the most successful alcohol program in America. (AA stands for Alcoholics Anonymous.) Good luck. 🐾

Dear Cat Paw:

I have this friend who just started smoking. I keep telling my friend that smoking is bad for her, but she says that smoking one or two a day isn't bad. Who's right?

Low Rider

Dear Low Rider:

The days everyone thought smoking was just a harmless habit are gone forever. Smoking hurts at all ages. Smoking is the chief cause of chronic bronchitis, lung cancer and emphysema.

The facts are grim. The risk of premature death from all causes is greater among cigarette smokers than among non-smokers. Even one non-smoking day is a break for your heart and lungs.

Most smokers today know the dangers involved, yet are addicted and unable to stop smoking.

Many kids start to smoke because they think it is grown up or "cool" and then find themselves addicted and unable to stop. Their smoke is also damaging to you as you inhale it.

You are so right. Keep spreading the word. 🐾

Fudge news

By Members of the Clarkston Junior High Journalism Class

Student Council adviser Dave Smith reported record profits from this fall's sale of fudge and taffy. Profits in the neighborhood of $10,000 were earned from the candy sale. This compares with $4,000 in profits from last year's sale of Christmas ornaments.

The fudge results are in!

The person who sold the most fudge in the seventh grade is Bill Barry with 119 items. Top seller in the eighth grade is Annette Charles, who sold 115 items. Last, but not least, the ninth-grade winner is Becky Chew with a sale of 50 items.

Each winner will receive $50 for his or her efforts.

Bill Barry will receive $100, for not only being the top seller in the seventh grade, but also in the school.

Ninth-grade camp is Nov. 12 through 16. It costs $75. The camp is Camp Tamerack, just outside Ortonville.

The ninth-graders leave at noon Monday morning and return at noon Friday afternoon.

About 60 percent of the ninth-graders are going. The people who don't go, stay and go to their math, science, social studies and English classes. For their elective classes, they see movies and do other activities.

Only high school students and parents can be counselors.

This week's contributors were Melissa Fugitt, Katie Laursen, Mindy Shady and Ronda Couch.

Memories of 'Melodies' show

By Geri Speace
Clarkston News Special Writer

The Clarkston High School auditorium resounded with "Melodies of Memories" Tuesday night, Oct. 23.

All five CHS choirs presented their talents at the fall concert, directed by Grayce Warren. The concert was the first event at Clarkston in which the brand new lighting system was operated, providing dramatic effect to the performers.

The Mixed Chorus (men's and women's voices in soprano, alto and bass) took the stage first, with a collaboration of popular tunes, such as "Bridge Over Troubled Water" and "Those Were the Days."

The Choralaires, an all-women ensemble that performed mainly religious songs, were on next. Their last number, "Alto's Lament," provided a humorous twist to their melody and harmony. It described the boredom that women having lower voices experience, since they usually sing the "oohs" and other mundane harmony parts.

The Madrigal Singers are a select group of 16 vocalists that comprise a soprano, alto, tenor and bass chorus.

Their beginning number was the "Alphabet Song," which in six-part harmony is more difficult than it sounds. In closing, "I Got Rhythm" summed up what they seemed to have an abundance of.

The all-men's chorus, Fortissimo's, showed that they had at least as much rhythm as the previous choir—or more—by practically stealing the show with their vibrant tunes.

Their amusing choreography and infallible enthusiasm won over everyone's attention during "The Sow Took the Measles," a catchy country song, and also the big finish of "Happy Trails."

Varsity Chorus, a vast assemblage of men and women, didn't miss a beat when they strolled down the aisles onto the stage singing "Hello, Dolly," part of a Broadway spectacular medley.

The spotlight was on two cute, costumed tap-dancers during "Put on a Happy Face." The white, tuxedo-like outfits with gold-trimmed lapels added a pleasant highlight to the act. The number was a whimsical change from the religious style of much that Varsity usually performs.

Audience attention did not dwindle when the spiritual vocal sounds reverberated throughout the auditorium, though. Each number was an attention-getter as well as an illustration of talent.

The concert was free, but donations were accepted at the doors afterward, as always. An estimated $145 was made from donations.

The date of the concert coincided with the date that the cheese and sausage the choirs had sold arrived. It was a hectic night, although the observers enjoying the concert (and the snacks and refreshments afterward) were not aware of it.

All in all, the concert was very successful and each chorus class is now preparing for their next performance, the Christmas concert. See you there!

Geri Speace, a senior at Clarkston High School, is a member of the Madrigal Singers.

Creaking decor

When teacher Anne Moller walked into Room 12 at Pine Knob Elementary School last week she was greeted by floor-to-ceiling spider webbing, a comment on her creaking 48-year-old birthday.

"But I could still crawl through it on my hands and knees, so I guess I'm not all that old," she laughed.

Friends from North Sashabaw Elementary covered the room from floor to ceiling with string in a web design as a payback for her joke on one of them last summer.

"I decorated a home," Moller said, not commenting further.

Meet 3 new Eagle Scouts

Troop 189's numbers grow

By Dan Vandenhemel
Turning out Eagle Awards is becoming a habit for Clarkston Boy Scout Troop 189.

Three more members are receiving the highest award a scout can achieve before his 18th birthday. That brings the total 19 in its 20-year history—but the last six of those awards came in the past 12 months.

"Lots of hard work," Matthew Weil said, explaining what goes into achieving the award.

A total of 21 merit badges and a community service project must be completed for the Eagle Award.

Craig Frasa, 15, David Lock, 14, and Matthew Weil, 14, are all set to have the medal pinned to their uniforms Oct. 30 at the Springfield Oaks Activities Center.

Frasa, a sophomore at Clarkston High School, completed the required community service project by cleaning a pond at the Michigan Humane Society in Auburn Heights. The pond is to be used as a release point for injured waterfowl. He lives on Warbler Lane, Independence Township.

Lock, a Holly resident, built benches and planted trees at Camp Has-O-Rec, a school camp in the Holly district.

Weil, also of Holly, refurbished a rescue boat for the Holly Fire Department. He said it's the only rescue boat in Holly's 20 miles.

Craig Frasa, David Lock and Matt Weil show off the string of merit badges that earned them the Eagle award, the highest award a scout can receive before the age of 18.

PUBLIC NOTICE TOWNSHIP OF INDEPENDENCE COUNTY OF OAKLAND STATE OF MICHIGAN

ADOPTED: October 2, 1984
EFFECTIVE: November 30, 1984

TITLE: AN AMENDMENT TO THE INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP ZONING ORDINANCE NO. 83.

THE BOARD OF INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP, COUNTY OF OAKLAND, OF THE STATE OF MICHIGAN, ORDAINS:

That the Zoning Ordinance No. 83 of Independence Township is hereby amended as follows:

TO WIT:

TOWNSHIP OF INDEPENDENCE PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO CHAPTER 18, ARTICLE III, SPLIT OF ACREAGE PARCELS

Chapter 18, Article III of the Independence Township Code of Ordinances, entitled, Split of Acreage Parcels, is hereby ordained and adopted under and pursuant to Act 184 of the Public Acts of 1943, as amended, with the following amendments, such provisions to be and remain Article III of Chapter 18 of the Code of Ordinances, Sections 18-31 through 18-42, inclusive:

Section 18-31. Definitions.

The following definition shall be added in alphabetical order:

ZBA shall mean the Independence Township Zoning Board of Appeals.

Section 18-34. Standards.

Paragraph (a) shall be amended to read as follows, and paragraph (d) shall be deleted, with the provisions of former paragraph (e) becoming the new paragraph (d).

(a) Except as provided in article II of this chapter governing land divisions, and subject to section 18-36, below, no acreage parcel split shall be finally granted, if, prior to the split, the parcel which is to be split equals or exceeds the minimum acreage or parcel size established in the Township Zoning Ordinance, as amended, and, if following the split, any of the resultant parcels will be less than the minimum acreage parcel size requirements unless the resultant parcels are to be joined with adjoining parcels, with the result that all parcels created by the joinder will equal or exceed the minimum parcel size requirements of the Zoning Ordinance.

Section 18-36. ZBA Approval.

(a) In cases where the owner has made application for a split which would create one or more parcels not in conformity with the minimum requirements of the Township Zoning Ordinance, as amended, the Parcel Split Committee may, upon request of the applicant, and provided the resultant parcels would not be clearly incompatible and/or inharmonious with, and/or result in material diminution in value to, surrounding property, and would not create an unreasonable burden upon the capacity for public services and/or facilities, and assuming all other requirements of applicable ordinances and law are met, conditionally approve the split, subject to the following:

(1) The applicant shall have thirty (30) days following the date of conditional approval by the Parcel Split Committee to make application to the ZBA for all variances necessary to render the conditionally split resultant parcels in conformity with the Zoning Ordinance. If the applicant fails to make application with the ZBA within such thirty (30) day period, the lot split shall be deemed denied.

(2) If the ZBA grants the application for all necessary variances to render the resultant parcels conforming under the Zoning Ordinance, the conditional approval shall thereupon ripen into and become a finally approved split.

(3) Included in the powers of the Zoning Board of Appeals acting under this section is the authority to waive the requirement of minimum frontage on a public road as otherwise required under the Zoning Ordinance as to proposed resultant parcels, provided, that all resultant parcels shall have minimum required frontage on a private road in existence on Township records, or proposed and approved as part of the application, or, if a resultant parcel shall be irrevocably deed restricted for natural preservation and perpetually prohibited from development, such parcel may be split if it has frontage on an easement for purposes of gaining vehicular access to the parcel for maintenance and emergency ingress and egress. If the frontage requirement is authorized by the ZBA to be met by an existing or newly proposed private road:

i. The road shall meet the minimum construction requirements of the Oakland County Road Commission for rural paved roads, the provisions of which are hereby incorporated by reference, provided, the ZBA shall, upon request of the applicant, waive the requirement that the surface of the road be paved if all of the following conditions are met:

A. The private road does not, and, upon completion, will not adjoin a public and/or private road having a paved surface; and

B. All resultant parcels shall be no less than 100,000 square feet in area, and shall be irrevocably deed restricted from further division.

ii. The area of such roadway shall not be included in the computation of parcel size.

iii. As part of the approval of such private road, conditions as to location, length, surface, ongoing maintenance, or other relevant details, may be imposed by the ZBA, following recommendation from the Township Engineer, Township Planner and/or Township Attorney, the costs and expenses for which shall be escrowed by the applicant in advance.

iv. Approval with respect to such private road construction and/or usage shall be conditioned upon the establishment of a further escrow by applicant with the Township to cover all costs and expenses for inspection of road improvement work.

v. Approval of a split on an existing or new private road shall not be construed as a representation by the Township that any and all persons having private rights and interests in the matter approve the split and/or the road, and/or usage of the road.

vi. The road, and all specifications required in this Ordinance, shall be completed as a condition to the issuance of building permits.

(4) If the ZBA denies the approval for any one or more variances necessary to render the resultant parcels conforming under the Zoning Ordinance, the conditional approval of the split shall thereupon be voided, and the lot split application deemed denied.

Section 18-40. Appeal.

In the event an interested person is aggrieved by the decision made based upon the review conducted pursuant to Section 18-33, an appeal may be filed with the ZBA. In such instance, the rules and fees applicable to appeals of administrative decisions to the ZBA shall apply.

Section 18-41. Fees.

Each application under this Article shall be accompanied by a fee in the amount of Twenty-five ($25) Dollars if the application seeks two resultant parcels, and an additional Ten ($10) Dollars per each resultant parcel in excess of two. This fee schedule shall not include any fees required for hearings before the ZBA.

This change is not reflected with the map circulated with the ordinance copy.

Passed this 2nd day of October, 1984, by the Independence Township Board.

Ayes: Holman, Ritter, Smith, Stuart, Travis.

Nay: Kozma, Vandermark.

Absent: None.

Student corner Clarkston High School

Student Government bio

Wendy Learmont

Student Government originated at Clarkston High School as a means for the student body to voice its opinion, whether positive or negative, to the faculty, administration, or of the community.

Student Government listens to these opinions, and either acts upon them in a class session, or refers the problem to the administration.

There are some recent examples of Student Government acting as a vehicle for student concerns.

Two years ago, Student Government was notified about the problems a handicapped student was having maneuvering through the school. To attend some classes, she had to go outside, even in winter.

The problem was presented to the administrators, and a meeting with Superintendent Milford Mason was called. The necessity for facilities for the handicapped was presented.

Plans for ramps at the stairways in the school had been drawn up, but never used. This year facilities for the handicapped were installed in both a restroom and on a stairway, making most classes accessible to those confined to wheelchairs.

Also, we were recently made aware, through a student petition, of a problem with restroom availability during lunch hours.

The consensus in Student Government was that a problem did exist and that the complaint was valid. The administration is now moving on that request and additional facilities will be made available.

When students present members with a problem, it will be introduced to the class for evaluation and resolution.

Unfortunately, Student Government has been criticized lately for not always being sympathetic to student needs. If the students would inform a member of their valid concerns, they would be represented.

In the meantime, Student Government is striving to achieve school pride, spirit and unity.

To improve school pride, blood drives are organized to benefit those in need. Members visit nursing homes during the Christmas season.

Student government cleans up the school grounds and landscapes the school with trees and flowers, in order to give Clarkston High School an affirmative community image.

This year a Pep Club, a first at CHS, was organized to encourage school spirit. Members will learn cheers to support our athletes.

Assemblies are also organized to honor those involved in extracurricular activities. A mascot costume was purchased this year with donations from the Athletic Boosters, the senior class and Student Government.

Probably most important, Student Government organizes enjoyable activities for all students to attend. Homecoming festivities, after-game dances and talent shows all add up to memorable high school experiences.

Student Government works for the students. It represents them, by reflecting the student voice and improving the quality of student life at CHS.

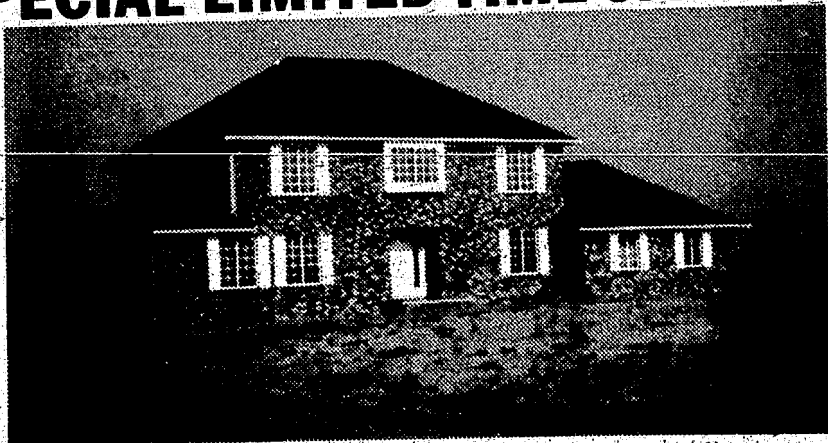

Student Government encourages all students to become involved during their years at high school.

Wendy Learmont, a Clarkston High School senior, is president of the National Honor Society, on the basketball, volleyball and track teams, and is a member of Student Government.

Lisa Hofer coaches her Bailey Lake Elementary class in the fine art of dance. The Clarkston High School student agreed to teach dance this half of the year, and is offering break-dancing as part of the curriculum. At the end of the class, the kids perform for their folks.

Teens teach kids after school

By Marilyn Trumper

"Lisa," says a 9-year-old girl dressed in burgundy leotards, "can we do the Snake faster now?"

Seventeen-year-old Lisa Hofer stands back to watch her pupils practice a break-dancing maneuver in the kindergarten room at Bailey Lake Elementary School.

Ten boys and girls are in this afternoon's Afterschool Enrichment Program. For fun and education, the eight-week classes offered by the Clarkston school district's Community Education Department cover a wide variety of subjects from computers, to French, aerobics, Dungeons and Dragons, to dance.

Billed as "Boogie to the Beat," Hofer offers her class once weekly at Bailey Lake and Clarkston elementary schools.

She recruited two more 17-year-olds from Clarkston High School, Tony Raguso and Chad Portugal to teach the break-dancing portion of the class, while she concentrates on the more traditional forms of dance, many she learned at a workshop offered by conductor Fred Waring shortly before he died earlier this year.

"I love it," says Lisa. "Last year I taught pom pon at Clarkston Junior High and I volunteered to help with the choreography at Sashabaw Junior High. I love the kids. They learn so well, and so fast."

"The major thing to teach them is not to be afraid to try. That no one's going to laugh at them." Tony and Chad, who've been break-dancing for a year, agree with Lisa.

"These kids learn really fast, and they'll do what you ask them to," says Tony. "We've only been to three or four classes since this started, but I like it. I think a lot of them have potential."

In its second year, the enrichment program's enrollment number of 491 has almost doubled over last year's 250. And this year classes are offered at all five elementary schools with the exception of North Sashabaw. But students there are eligible to participate in nearby Pine Knob Elementary's program, according to coordinator Jeanne Molzon.

Several students from the high school are teaching some of this year's classes.

For information, phone 673-7756.

Architecture Archives

Baltimore or bust

by Susan Basinger

What would your reaction be if someone suggested Baltimore, Md., for your next vacation—amazement or excitement?

Perhaps the renaissance and urban revitalization which that great port city is enjoying is news to you.

Preservationists from around the country gathered Oct. 23 in the "city of domes and spires" for the 38th National Preservation Conference.

During the following five days, conferees attended sessions covering a wide range of topics while seeing first-hand what preservation can mean to a city which, like many in the United States, has suffered deterioration and polarization.

They had an opportunity to tour Baltimore's historic areas as well as its redeveloped areas, harbors, gardens, parks, oldest neighborhoods and indoor public markets.

The tours featured historic buildings preserved through adoptive use, and those still used for the purposes for which they were built.

Preservationists come together once a year at the national conference and at several regional sessions held all over the country at various times in the year to discuss important issues and learn about the latest materials available and developments in the field.

This year architects, students, interior designers, realtors, archeologists, and professional and volunteer preservationists found the following among the items on the agenda: Small Town Historic Districts; Opportunities and Problems; Archeology and Preservation; Planting Historic Landscapes; Maritime Preservation Standards; Preservation and Architectural Design; How to Recognize Preservation Potential in Neighborhoods; How to Rehabilitate Your Historic House in Accordance with Widely Accepted Standards; Tax Incentives: A Legislative Update; and It's the Law: an Explanation of Existing Preservation Laws at the Federal, State and Local Levels.

An architect I know who is employed by a firm which deals with preservation projects in the East attended this year's conference and I hope to be able to report his impressions of Baltimore and the sessions he attended in a later article.

If you are interested in attending future regional or national conferences, write: The National Trust for Historic Preservation, 1785 Massachusetts Ave., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036.

Susan Basinger is a resident of the Village of Clarkston and the former president of the Clarkston Community Historical Society. Architecture is her hobby.

Supplement to The Clarkston News/Penny Stretcher

October 31, 1984

Voters across Michigan face three proposals

What it says:

PROPOSAL A

A proposal to allow the legislature to approve or disapprove administrative rules.

The proposed amendment would:

Provide for the legislature or a joint committee of the legislature to approve or disapprove administrative rules written by state agencies to implement state law before the rules may be formally adopted by the agency as law, in a manner now or at a later date provided by law.

What it means:

The passage of Proposal A would give constitutional protection to a procedure that presently exists. Those who support the change in the state constitution say it would ensure that elected legislators, rather than non-elected officials, would have the final say on how laws are implemented. Those who oppose it say it would give too much power to a small group of legislators, and give them constitutional status.

What it says:

PROPOSAL B

A proposal to establish a natural resources trust fund and a board to administer it, to provide revenues for it from natural resource leases, and existing funds and to specify and limit the expenditures therefrom.

The proposed amendment would:

1. Establish a Michigan Natural Resources Trust Fund to be funded by certain royalties, bonuses and rentals collected by the state from the drilling of oil and gas or mining of minerals on state-owned land.

2. Require that earnings from the Trust Fund be used only for purchasing land or rights in land for public recreation, of environmental importance or of particular scenic beauty; developing public recreation facilities or administering the Natural Resources Trust Fund.

•Require creation of a Natural Resources Trust Fund Board to recommend projects to be approved by the legislature.

What it means:

If adopted, Proposal B would amend the state constitution to prevent the Legislature from diverting money from the Kammier Recreational Land Trust Fund established in 1976. The newly formed Michigan Recreational Land Trust Fund would, like the Kammier fund, receive its revenue from fees for the removal of oil, gas and other non-renewable resources from state property. The money could only be used to purchase new public recreation lands, areas of scenic beauty or lands of environmental importance.

What it says:

PROPOSAL C

A proposal to amend Article 9, Sections 1 and 2 of the Constitution relating to taxes, other revenues and voter or legislative approval of same.

The proposed amendment would:

1. Prohibit changes in the base or rate of any state or local tax which would increase its revenue yield, or adoption of new taxes, unless approved by voters.

2. Make void 90 days after the adoption of the amendment: new or increased rate or base of state or local taxes since 12/31/1981 unless/until approved by voters; new or increased license, user or permit fees since 12/31/81 unless/until approved by voters or 4/5 vote of the legislative body adopting same.

3. Limit nonresident local political subdivision income tax to 1/2 of 1 percent.

4. Require tax proposals to state purpose, total anticipated amount and expiration date.

What it means:

If approved, Proposal C would, after 90 days, rollback tax rates and user fees to Dec. 31, 1981 levels unless a majority of voters or four-fifths of legislative bodies approved the higher fees or rates. New taxes or changes in tax rates on the state or local level could then not be made without voter approval. The nonresidential taxes paid by people who work in communities where they do not live would be limited to one-half of 1 percent. All tax proposals would be required to state purpose, amount to be collected and expiration date. Those who oppose the proposal say it would devastate schools and government services. Those who support the proposal say it would reduce taxes and force cuts.

Independence Voters' Guide

Frank G. Ronk, Republican

Unopposed candidate for supervisor

There have been no announced challengers to the office of Independence Township Supervisor following Frank Ronk's defeat of his Republican opponents in the primary election.

The salary for the township supervisor is $36,590. The term of office is four years.

Because Ronk has no opponents, we did not seek a statement from him. His biography follows.

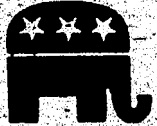

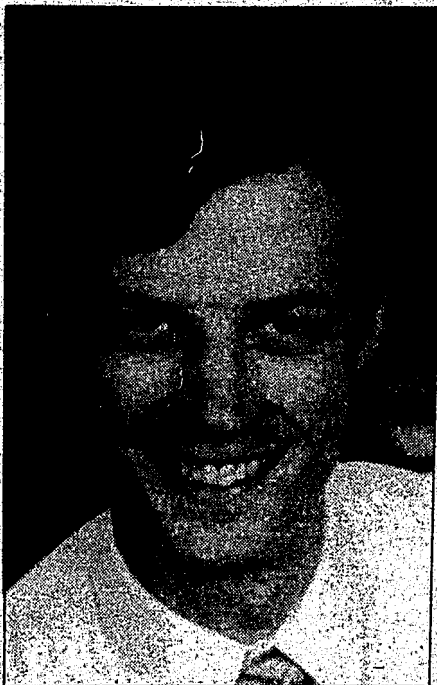

Frank G. Ronk, 55, of 6056 Overlook, Clarkston, has served as Independence Township Fire Department chief since 1972 and as a volunteer 28 years.

He was born in Clarkston, and began his fire department career during high school as a volunteer when many men were in service in World War II.

After high school, Ronk worked at Morgan's Service Station and then graduated from the Flint Institute of Barbering.

He served in the armed forces during the Korean War and returned to Clarkston to open a barbershop, which he operated 20 years.

Richard Holman

Republican candidate for clerk

We asked the candidates for Independence Township clerk three questions; each to be answered in writing in 100 words or less.

The township clerk is currently paid $33,542 a year. The term of office is four years.

Richard A. Holman, 30, of 4645 Clinton has served as township clerk since his unanimous appointment by the board in August 1983.

He graduated in 1982 from Wayne State University, Detroit, with a master's degree in public administration. His bachelor's degree, in economics, was received from Kalamazoo College in 1976.

Holman was assistant to the city manager in Huntington Woods for about two years, and worked as city treasurer and finance director for Wixom for three and one-half years, receiving national recognition for his budgeting and accounting procedures.

He is a member of the International Institute of Municipal Clerks, the Municipal Finance Officers Association and the Clinton River Watershed Council. He is the secretary of the Oakland County Chapter of the Michigan Townships Association.

Holman and his wife, Becky, are the parents of two daughters.

What's your solution for improving police protection?

Independence Township currently contracts with the Oakland County Sheriff's Department. While this service is cost-effective, we need to do more.

We need to increase the number of reactive patrolling deputies to respond to crimes and provide greater visibility and to provide a pro-active approach, such as the use of a crime-prevention officer, which has been utilized successfully in Avon Township.

Because the demands on our Federal Revenue Sharing are so great, these additional personnel and programs can only be financed through additional voted millage.

I support the upcoming ballot proposal which calls for one-half mill for additional police protection.

Should the township continue fighting foster care homes in court?

The township is not fighting the concept of foster care homes. The concept of placing handicapped individuals outside institutions is widely acknowledged as humane.

However, residents are concerned about the value of their property and the safety of their children. Therefore, the issue is one of assuring there is not an excessive concentration of such homes within a neighborhood or community.

It is simply not fair that Independence Township have 17 such facilities, while communities of comparable size have significantly fewer.

I support the township's efforts to stop the placement of additional foster care homes within our community.

What should be done to improve the township's tax base?

Independence Township has an excellent property tax base. Our state equalized value currently stands at $280 million.

This will continue to grow because two of the components of our tax base, commercial and residential property, will be subject to intense development over the next decade.

The reason is simple. The amenities available to township residents, such as good schools, varied opportunities for recreation and unique character of the Village of Clarkston, will make this community a desirable place to live and work.

I foresee only limited industrial development within the township primarily because there is little vacant industrial land available.

Floyd J. Tower

Democratic candidate for clerk

Floyd J. Tower, 53, of 177 N. Main, Clarkston, is the electrical inspector for the City of Novi. He served as Independence Township supervisor from 1976 to 1980.

Tower has been in electrical construction 18 years and is the holder of a state master's license. He worked two years as project coordinator for all building inspections for the Orion Township G.M.A.D. plant.

A resident of Clarkston 42 years, he is a graduate of Clarkston High School and the Detroit Trade School. He has taken seminar courses in local government budgeting and accounting, employee relations, planning, fire inspections, labor negotiations and personnel administration.

Tower is a past commander, adjutant and treasurer of American Legion Post No. 63; past chairman and secretary of Masonic Temple Board, Cedar Lodge No. 60; and past board of trustees chairman of the Clarkston United Methodist Church.

He and his wife, Dawn, have six children and four grandchildren.

What's your solution for improving police protection?

The Oakland County Commissioners determine the police contract, costs and patrol level service to our township.

We have to directly communicate and negotiate with them for an actual operations cost, extra circle car coverage and our community concerns. We pay county taxes also.

We need to provide a direct liaison for complaints, response time, time spent outside the community, emergencies and citizen participation.

We must continually monitor the rising costs and the alternatives to provide the best product at a fairer cost. The board subsidizes other programs, so without public support millage it could continue.

Should the township continue fighting foster care homes in court?

The state legislature passed HB 4893 with the intent to provide better housing for mentally and physically handicapped, foster children, and the elderly, however, with a guarantee that townships could not use local zoning to preclude them from residential areas.

The State Enabling Act as it applies to zoning cases cites reasonableness as the key to validity.

I think it's reasonable and common sense to defend against the excessive concentration as referred to in Section 16 (1) of Licensing Act of 1979, but not the the extent of denying any of their rights to have a place for proper care.

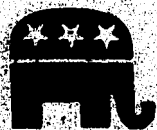

What should be done to improve the township's tax base?

Property tax reform is still one of the biggest concerns of our citizens. I feel that a legislative change rather than a constitutional amendment would be beneficial in maintaining our local services.

We need a balance in our tax base structure to allow young people to purchase new houses and enable the senior citizens to afford maintaining their existing ones.

The state legislature mandates tax rules for assessing, formulas, exemptions, interest rates, credits, and SEV percentages. Fifty House and Senate bills were proposed in 1980 alone.

Let's personally and politically push them for taxpayer relief suitable to our local problems.

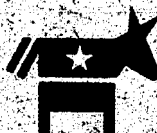

John Lutz

Republican treasurer candidate

We asked the candidates for Independence Township treasurer to respond to three questions in writing. We limited their responses to 100 words.

Currently, the treasurer's salary is $33,542 a year. The term of office is four years.

Frederick Ritter

Democratic treasurer candidate

Frederick P. Ritter, 35, resides at 6593 Amy Dr. He has been a township board member 10 years. From 1974-78 he served as a part-time trustee and since 1978 he's held the full-time position of treasurer.

Prior to becoming treasurer, Ritter had 12 years of retail business experience.

As a representative of the township board, he served on the planning commission and zoning board of appeals. He has also served as the board's representative on the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments and the Clinton River Watershed Council.

Ritter is presently the chairman of the township's Economic Development Corp., administrator of Community Development Block Grant Funds and a member of the township cable-casting board.

He and his wife, Sheila, have lived in Independence Township 18 years. They have two children.

What's your solution for improving police protection?

The contract with the Oakland County Sheriff's

John Lutz, 34, of 8639 Lakeview is an independent businessman with an interior decorating firm.

He graduated from Berkley High School and attended Oakland Community College. He has taken courses in construction estimating and solar energy at the Michigan Builders Exchange. His work experience includes restaurant manager, crew foreman in construction and assistant superintendent managing major projects.

Lutz is president of the Sunny Beach Property Owners Association and a member of the National Ski Patrol at Pine Knob, Knights of Columbus Council 5436 and St. Daniel Catholic Church.

He and his wife, Kathy, have lived in Clarkston eight years. They have two sons.

What's your solution for improving police protection?

Contracting with the Oakland County Sheriff's Department right now is the best way for a community like ours to handle police services.

We have back-up enforcement, crime lab—every service that they provide when we need it. But what concerns me is the 60-day cancellation clause in our present contract. So, we'd better be prepared in case they cancel the contract.

The solution to that seems to be a regional police force, one that would cover no more than the northeast quadrant of Oakland County.

We will have to work closely with the other communities because many are in the same situation.

Should the township continue fighting foster care homes in court?

We have gone to court four or five times over the question, what constitutes a family? The courts have ruled in favor of the state Department of Social Services in every case across Michigan.

U.N.I.T. has brought up an interesting question: When does a community have its fair share of adult foster care facilities?

I believe that U.N.I.T. has opened the eyes of the D.S.S. so they can see what is happening, not only in our community but others as well.

I believe we should stand behind the resolution that the township board has adopted.

What should be done to improve the township's tax base?

One way to improve the tax base is to encourage businesses to locate in Independence Township. We can do that through the Economic Development Corp.

Our community should attract new "high tech" industries, school oriented research and development, and corporate headquarters. They are clean, growth oriented and environmentally logical.

We have some unique qualities in our township and I believe all construction should complement the natural beauty that exists in Independence.

But what worries me is annexation. The township cannot afford to lose any businesses. We need to protect what we have.

"Vote Lutz for Fiscal Responsibility, a full-time administration and tight fisted board participation."
Tuesday, November 6, 1984

★★★ John Lutz — Republican for Treasurer of Independence Township ★★★

Paid for by the committee to elect John Lutz.

Five trustee candidates are vying for four Independence Township Board seats.

We asked them to write responses, in 100 words or less, to three questions.

The part-time position pays $4,857 a year. The term of office is four years.

Carol Balzarini

Republican trustee candidate

Carol D. Balzarini, 46, resides at 10270 Reese Rd. She is a technical writer and administrative assistant at General Motors Truck & Bus, Pontiac.

She has a bachelor's degree from Michigan State University.

Balzarini is a member of the Independence Township Planning Commission and the township cable television task force. She was a founding member of C.U.R.E. (Citizens United to Restore Education), representing Clarkston schools lobbying for fair distribution of tax dollars; an originator of the annual Community Awards and named Outstanding Volunteer in 1982; a member of the Clarkston schools' Citizens Advisory Committee on facilities, finance and enrollment; and has been active in the Friends of the Library, Athletic Boosters, Garden Club, Village Players, Bailey Lake Elementary, Clarkston High School and the Independence Township Republican Club.

She and her husband, Don, have lived in Independence Township 13 years. They have two children.

What's your solution for improving police protection?

At present, the most cost-effective option is the Oakland County Sheriff's Department. If another option offered better police protection in the future, it would be considered.

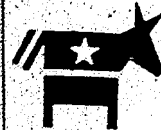

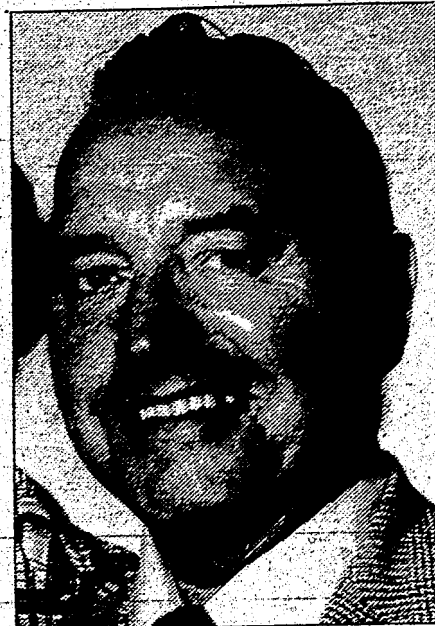

Should the township continue fighting foster care homes in court?

We are not "fighting" foster care homes; we are seeking definitive guidelines. It is a matter of local government being forced to finish a job the state legislature started.

What should be done to improve the township's tax base?

People move here because of what the community is, not what it could or should be. If it is feasible to locate here, business will.

As a member of the planning commission, I have worked for mutually satisfactory, planned development in character with our community.

Charles J. Smalley

Democratic trustee candidate

Charles J. Smalley, 60, resides at 5247 Sashabaw Rd. Retired after 30 years with the federal government, he is presently employed as a marshal for the Village of Clarkston.

He has had labor-management schooling and served as a union president for 10 years.

He was elected in 1972 to serve four years on the Clarkston school board. He also served on the Bicentennial Commission in 1976 for the village and township.

and Veterans of Foreign Wars, he is a 32nd degree Mason and a life member of Metropolitan Club No. 6.

What's your solution for improving police protection?

The township board has three alternatives: Continue contracting with the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, help organize a regional police department with nearby townships, or re-establish a township department of their own.

In any event, of the three studies made by the board, the residents could be advised of their findings.

If, and when, a new millage is needed, have a detailed report so the public will have the knowledge who will police the township.

Priority items are police and fire protection and they are never a luxury!

Should the township continue fighting foster care homes in court?

The township must continue their fight in court to prevent overcrowding of foster homes in our area.

There are 83 counties and 1,242 townships in our state.

What guidelines and restrictions do the state and county follow to set up these homes? Do the owners of foster homes live in the area of these homes, or is this a business being operated in a residential area? What type of taxes are being paid on foster homes?

The township is willing to accept a percentage of foster homes according to the population of the township. What could be fairer?

What should be done to improve the township's tax base?

Consider small businesses for our area, and set up guidelines. Taxes and wages continue to grow. Plan for the future, not in the past.

We have enough ball diamonds and parks (which are tax-exempt). Our students of today will be our leaders of tomorrow, let's not leave them with our deficits. Keep in mind our senior citizens, for tomorrow you will be one.

Future growth and development must be planned in advance. We must get our tax dollars other than from residential property.

Good money management from our leaders will allow us to "progress" into the future.

He and his wife, Deborah, have lived in Independence Township nine years. They have four children.

What's your solution for improving township police protection?

We now have Oakland County Sheriff's patrol of our township on a seven-day, 24-hour basis.

The coverage is inadequate by national standards as to the number of deputies employed. However, given our current level of permitted millage we are providing all of the coverage we can afford.

I believe we should continue to examine our options for police coverage such as our own department or a regional department.

Whatever program provides the best coverage for the least tax dollar should be employed.

Should the township continue fighting foster care homes in court?

Taking any issue to court should be our last recourse. We should not pursue legal action unless we have a reasonable certainty of success.

The issue of foster care homes is difficult and emotional. The problem with which we are confronted has been dropped on us by our state legislature who in their wisdom decided to override local zoning ordinances.

I support a program that would first attempt to obtain co-operation from the state agencies. However, it is not fair that this township should contain more such facilities than other municipalities just because we have such an attractive environment.

What should be done to improve the township's tax base?

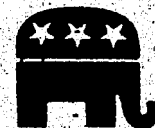

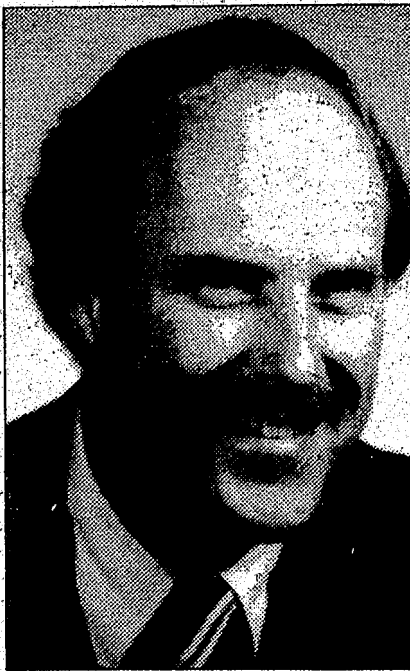

Our township has chosen to maintain a semi-rural, residential character in keeping with our historical roots.

I oppose any development that does not enhance the quality of life we have fought to maintain.

We can and should encourage placement of high-tech or office facilities such as corporate headquarters or data processing centers. Any clean and aesthetically pleasing commercial or industrial development would improve our tax base without destroying our community.

I believe our economic development corporation should be directed to encourage and seek such development.

Dale Stuart

Dale Stuart, 42, resides at 7336 Mustang Dr. He is an attorney with Murphy, Kimmel and Stuart of Pontiac. He has served on the township board as a trustee since 1980.

He graduated cum laude from the Detroit College of Law in 1977 and graduated with honors from the Lawrence Institute of Technology in 1973 with a bachelor's degree in industrial management.

Stuart has served as the township board representative on the zoning board of appeals. He is chairman the 6th Congressional District Republican Committee, a member of the Oakland County Republican Committee and a member of the Republican State Committee. He is a member of Drayton Heights Free Methodist Church.

As seniors at Clarkston High School we recently had the opportunity to hear both FRED RITTER and his opponent speak at our Government class.

As the next generation of taxpayers we are concerned about who is going to do the best job to protect the financial future of Independence Township.

FRED RITTER has been Treasurer since 1978 and based on his past experience we know that he's the best person for the job.

Although most of us are ineligible to vote we are urging our parents, friends and neighbors to vote for FRED RITTER for Independence Township Treasurer on November 6th.

As prospective taxpayers we think our future depends on it.

for operations and marketing for Asfor Steel Corp.

He is a graduate of Westminster College. He has served as the board representative on the township planning commission four years and on the labor appeals board four years.

Travis is a trustee on the Oakland Parks Foundation, a life member of the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club and a member of the Society of Manufacturing Engineers. He is also a member of the Clarkston Band Boosters, the Clarkston Community Historical Society, the Independence Land Conservancy and Christ Church Cranbrook.

He and his wife, Betsy, have lived in Independence Township 16 years. They have two children.

What's your solution for improving police protection?

Improved police protection may come from a number of potential sources. The major assumes continuation of OCSD deputies under contract or a similar force operating in Independence.

Approval of the additional millage on Nov. 6 will provide funding for more basic services and hopefully allow more schedule time for deputies to expand from primary response or crime investigation "after the fact" to crime prevention.

By expanding neighborhood surveillance and training of neighborhood watch committees, youth counseling and community awareness programs our residents will be instrumental in effecting an improved police protection by approving the proposed millage.

Should the township continue fighting foster care homes in court?

We should fight new or additional foster care homes whenever and wherever their construction or establishment will exceed the township's recently adopted criteria for excessive concentration.

The motion I placed before the board, and which I believe was unanimously approved, established criteria for determining a new licensee's potential for exceeding or adhering to excessive concentration guidelines.

It also "grandfathered" (allowed to continue) existing homes now operating within the township. These existing homes may not be expanded or altered in licensure, location or residential parameters as presently constituted under this clause.

Defense of our ordinance is mandatory, and vigorous pursuit of compliance is the township's duty.

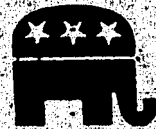

What should be done to improve the township's tax base?

We have an EDC (Economic Development Corp.) whose skills and bonding ability are used sparingly.

An EDC should be judiciously encouraged to examine development potentials which are in character with the current and planned land use and needs of our community.

A number of changes are in discussion and hard planning stages here. As these plans are brought to reality, we will see an improved tax base.

Certainly a large retirement community, new shopping center and various office and office-research facilities spell healthy growth. Expansion and profitable pay-as-you-go development at Pine Knob will aid the local tax base.

Republican
trustee
candidate

William Vandermark

William D. Vandermark, 44, resides at 6594 Cherrylawn. A senior manufacturing engineer with Borg Warner Corp., Sterling Heights, he has served on the township board as a trustee six years.

Vandermark is a member of the Society of Manufacturing Engineers and the township delegate to the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments.

He and his wife, Jeanette, have lived in Independence Township 13 years. They have two children.

What's your solution for improving police protection?

Police protection is barely adequate in Independence Township.

We are able to respond to citizen requests and emergencies with the present level of protection. There is little, if any, time for crime prevention.

To improve protection we need to provide some level of crime prevention. This can be done by neighborhood patrols combined with surveillance of our business districts.

Crime and drug prevention programs in the schools are a plus. Police visibility discourages crime in all areas.

Support the police millage on Nov. 6. It will allow us to maintain the present level of protection.

Should the township continue fighting foster care homes in court?

The township should continue to fight the unplanned and uncontrolled placement of foster care homes in Independence Township in court, in the state legislature and anywhere else it will do any good.

Most of these homes are a profitable business owned by people who live nowhere near them.

The state law says they can go anywhere they want regardless of local zoning, local planning or density of existing homes.

These homes affect neighborhoods and property values. Local communities should have some control over density, location and the quality of these homes.

What should be done to improve the township's tax base?

The best way to improve the township tax base is to encourage quality, low-density development.

We should continue to maintain the character and quality of the community through good zoning and planning.

Some high quality research-office zoning is appropriate in the right locations. Some clean light industry would fit in some areas. High rise, high density would not be suitable.

"Quality" is the key to good tax base.

52nd District Court judge candidates

The nonpartisan candidates for 52nd District Court, 2nd Division were asked for a brief biographical sketch and a 100-word-or-less statement on their views on how cases should be handled that come before the district court

The court covers the townships of Independence, Springfield, Brandon, Holly and Groveland. The judge's salary is $60,000 a year. The term of office is six years.

Larence Kozma

Larence Kozma, 35, resides on Woodcreek Trail in Independence Township with his wife, Betty, and two children, Bradley and Kelley.

He is presently a senior trial attorney with the Oakland County Prosecutor's Office, and a member of the Independence Township Board and Zoning Board of Appeals.

Previously, Kozma has been a law clerk for two district judges, a police officer and a teacher.

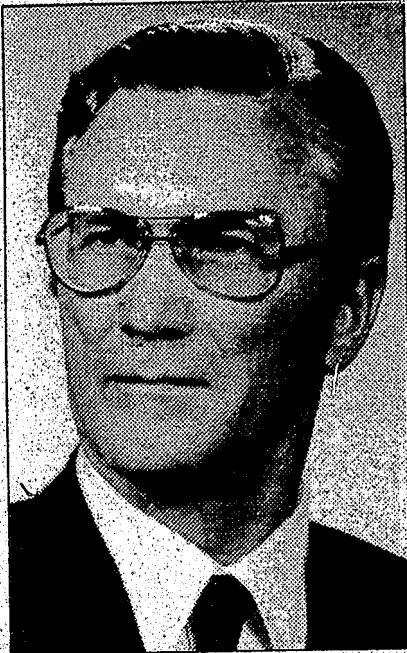

His statement:

Every person is entitled to, and will receive a fair and impartial hearing. When applying judicially recognized factors of sentencing (rehabilitation, deterrence, retribution and isolation) each case must be examined independently.

Rather than simply telling the first-offender not to do it again, the sentence should emphasize rehabilitation and deterrence of the person from continuing in his criminal conduct.

A useful tool is community service in which the first-offender contributes back to society while understanding he is held accountable for his conduct.

When sentencing the repeat-offender, the emphasis shifts to a sentence which will protect our community depending on the crime's severity.

Gerald E. McNally

The Hon. Gerald E. McNally, 52, resides on Oak Forest in Independence Township. He is now serving his 16th year as district judge.

A graduate of the University of Michigan Law School, he previously served as attorney for the City of Dearborn and as Assistant Oakland County Prosecutor, and had a private practice of law.

His statement:

All cases that come before the district court must be handled within a reasonable time. The judge must not take a position before he hears both sides of the case.

If he takes a position before he hears the entire case, he has forfeited his required neutrality and credibility.

I have handled civil and criminal cases in the last 16 years in such a way that I have earned the Oakland County Citizens League highest rating, and the Oakland County Bar prefers me more than four to one.

I shall continue to handle cases in such a manner.

Police millage in Independence

What it says:

POLICE FUND PROPOSITION

Shall the limitation on ad valorem taxes imposed on real and tangible personal property within the unincorporated portions of Independence Township, Oakland County, Michigan, be increased for a period of 15 years from 1985 through 1999, inclusive by an amount of up to one-half (1/2) mill ($.50 per $1,000 assessed valuation) for the purpose of police protection for the police fund, with all or a portion of such one-half (1/2) mill to be levied as determined in the discretion of the Township Board; such levy is in excess of the constitutional limitations as set forth in Article 9, Sec. 6 and Sec's. 25 through 34?

What it means:

The Independence Township ballot question asks voter approval of one-half mill for police for collection over the next 15 years.

If approved, the one-half mill will generate an additional $130,000 a year at the present state equalized value of all property in the township.

Currently the township levies 1 mill which generates $261,000 to pay its $350,000 bill to the Oakland County Sheriff's Department. That buys seven deputies, the seventh working only four of the seven months, their cars, uniforms and equipment, and pays their salaries.

The $131,000 difference is made up from the Village of Clarkston's police contracting fee, $24,000 in federal revenue sharing and interest earned on investments.

One-half mill equals 50 cents for each $1,000 of assessed property valuation. A home worth $80,000 and assessed at $40,000, or half its market value, would pay approximately $20 more a year for police if the millage passes.

District 3 county commission race

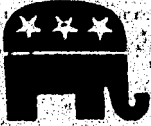

The candidates for 3rd District Oakland County Commission seat were asked for a biographical sketch and a statement of 100 words or less on issues facing northern Oakland County.
The third district covers Independence and Springfield townships and a portion of Waterford Township.

Oakland County commissioners are presently paid $14,881 annually for the part-time position. The term of office is two years.

Richard D. Kuhn

Republican

Richard D. Kuhn, 24, resides at 6741 Wellesley Terrace, Independence Township. He is seeking reelection to the Oakland County Commission.

A life-long Oakland County resident, he graduated with honors from Waterford Kettering High School in 1978 and Oakland University in 1982, with a bachelor's degree in political science.

Richard D. Kuhn Jr.

His statement:

One of the most pressing issues facing county government is the continued overcrowding at the County Jail.

Although two expansion projects I initiated have eased the problem to some extent (trustee camp and work release expansion), I firmly believe that additional jail space is needed.

Dangerous people who belong in jail should not walk the streets because there is no space.

I also believe that Oakland County through its sheriff's department must provide cost-effective police services to contracting townships, such as Independence and Springfield.

Although the sheriff's department has done a very creditable job, there's room for improvement and innovation.

Betty Collier

Democrat

Betty Collier, 47, resides at 3656 Dill Dr., Drayton Plains.

Her statement:

I have worked in politics for 16 years, worked for George Wallace in '68 and '72, was national delegate to the Democratic Convention in '72, have served on the Democratic Executive Committee for Oakland County and state level, worked for various candidates, was a candidate for U.S. House of Representatives for the 19th District in '78. I won the primary, lost the general election. I do volunteer work for my school district, work with the cub scouts and girl scouts.

Betty Collier

I feel that government on any level should be responsive to the people of that district, for you are a representative for them, not just your own interest.

To the citizens of Independence Township:

Front: Sheila & Fred Ritter
Back: Sonja 17, and Matt 15

I have served on the Township Board since 1974 - the last six years as Treasurer. Besides the responsibility of our local taxes, part of my job is to invest your money wisely. But, I have a personal investment in our community. Sheila and I have made our home in Independence Township for the past 18 years. Our children were born here and have attended Clarkston Schools since kindergarten. We are committed to this community and I want to continue to serve you as your Treasurer. I need your vote on Tuesday, November 6th, so I can go on doing a good job for you on the Independence Township Board as Treasurer.

United States House of Representatives, 6th District

We asked the Democratic and Republican candidates for the 6th District seat in the United States House of Representatives for a brief biography and a 100 word or less statement on issues facing Michigan. The sixth district covers 1,517 square miles, running from Pontiac to East Lansing, and includes Independence and Springfield townships. The annual salary is currently $72,600. The term is two years.

Bob Carr Democrat

Incumbent Congressman Bob Carr, 41, resides in East Lansing. An attorney, he graduated from the University of Wisconsin Law School in 1968.

Carr was administrative assistant to the Michigan Attorney General from 1969-70 and Assistant State Attorney General from 1970-72.

He was elected to the U.S. House in 1974 and re-elected in 1976 and 1978. In 1980, he was unsuccessful in his bid for re-election, but came back in 1982 to win the 6th District seat race and return to Congress.

He married the former Susan Baffa in 1980.

His statement:

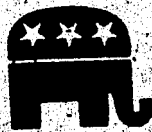

The people of the district I serve require a tough and independent-minded voice in Washington. We need an experienced representative who makes our advantage the top priority. The issue in this race is who best can do that job.

Here are some examples that demonstrate what I've done for the district:

- Won $12 million for this district to make much needed safety repairs on Dixie Highway, after 2,000 local citizens petitioned me for help. This was the only highway in the country to receive any federal money this year.

- Voted with the people and against every proposal to raise federal taxes.

Tom Ritter Republican

Republican Tom Ritter, 41, resides in Independence Township. A life-long resident of Oakland County, he has successfully operated a 54-year-old family market in the township.

He was president of the Michigan Jaycees and served as treasurer and vice president of governmental affairs on the Oakland County Chamber of Commerce.

Ritter was also president of the Business Association of Oakland County and a member of the Oakland County Economic Development Council. He served on the board of directors for the National Foundation on Aging.

The father of four, he is married to Karen.

His statement:

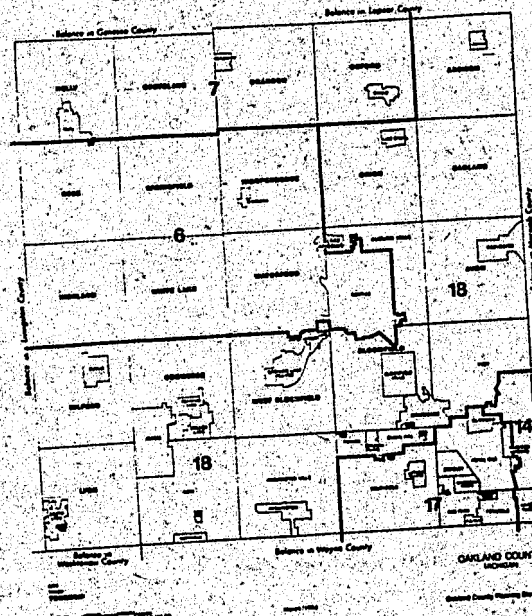

I believe that the citizens of the 6th District deserve a congressman who will pursue their interests instead of his own.

They want a balanced budget, revitalization of depressed urban areas, and a strong, consistent, effective voice in Congress.

I favor the Balanced Budget Amendment. By working to balance the budget, reform taxes, reduce the deficit and ease the upward pressure on interest rates, we can restore incentive and expand economic opportunity without sacrificing essential government services.

I am in touch with the values and concerns of the people.

Department is the most cost-effective and offers the highest level of professionalism for police services. I support its continuation.

I wholeheartedly support the one-half mill being requested on the ballot because additional funding is necessary to increase the level of police services, which are inadequate.

I believe that after the election, a new sheriff and some new faces on the Oakland County Board of Commissioners will enhance our bargaining position to make downward adjustments in the contract fees with the county.

Should the township continue fighting foster care homes in court?

My objection to foster care homes is that the State of Michigan has effectively denied us, as a local municipality, our right of self-determination.

I agree with the need for foster care homes but they should be located equitably throughout the state.

Independence Township has more than its share of foster care facilities. Until other communities in Michigan share the load, the township should continue to fight the issue with the state in any arena including the courts.

What should be done to improve the township's tax base?

Our local Economic Development Corp. (EDC) can cooperate with Oakland County EDC and other agencies like the Michigan Technology Council, which works with both local governments and EDCs.

I reject the concept of heavy industrial growth in Independence Township but I endorse encouraging development such as medical, office/research and retail service centers. This will deliver services to local residents, generate new taxes, and relieve the homeowners' tax burden but not burden the schools.

Any development that occurs must correspond to our existing master plan and zoning ordinance.
