Triple crash results in minor injuries

A three-vehicle accident Saturday resulted in minor injuries to the four people involved. The accident occurred on Dixie Highway, north of M-15 at the entrance of the A&P shopping center at 12:40 p.m. A stalled car on Dixie Highway caused Allison McRae, 17, of Union

Lake to swerve into the car driven by Elmo Dugger, 74, of Detroit, according to police. Dugger's car was then struck by Chris Kramer's motorcycle. Kramer, 23, of Springfield Township along with Dugger and his wife Beatrice were transported to St. Joseph Mercy

Hospital, Pontiac. The Duggers were treated and released while Kramer received treatment upon arrival. McRae complained of soreness but did not seek medical attention, police said. No tickets were issued. [Photo by Dan Vandenhemel]

Condo project moves to planner

By Carolyn Walker

The need for condominiums in the Village of Clarkston was hotly debated before approximately 20 residents at a May 13 public hearing.

Village council members unanimously recommended a proposed planned unit development (PUD) ordinance and a separate condominium ordinance be reviewed before the June 10 meeting by the village planner.

"A PUD ordinance would allow the council to work with developers and throw out existing rules to create a suitable project," said village attorney John Steckling.

The condominium ordinance would permit condominiums in any district the council chose, he added.

Council members said the condominium issue stems from developer Frank Walker's desire to build 27 units on Deer Lake beach, but added that his proposal is not the only reason for their interest.

Planning commission member Charles Galbraith expressed his opposition to the proposals.

"Who are we making it for? The developer or the people who live here?" he asked. "Couldn't we theoretically make some of the houses on Main Street into duplexes?"

"Anybody could use it," replied Steckling, adding two safeguards were built in to the PUD ordinance: Public hearings are required, and all projects must be reviewed by the planning commission and council.

"I didn't think it was in disagreement with any of our village planning," he said. "We are constantly bending the rules to allow a person to develop their land."

"This is an optimal kind of clause. We're not taking away any of the other rights. We're creating an additional tool."

Galbraith described the PUD ordinance as a "can of worms."

"We like it (the current zoning ordinances) the way it is and didn't want it changed," he said.

Steckling disagreed. "I feel it (PUD) can be beneficial and I'm not really sure it can hurt us. It's supposed to take all things into consideration. It's a trade off."

Waldon Woods subdivision on hold

Hike fails to still commissioners' concerns

By Carolyn Walker

Members of the Independence Township Planning Commission put on their hiking shoes May 9.

But their walking tour of the proposed Waldon Woods Subdivision didn't solve all their concerns about the land's standing water, potential traffic problems and trees.

After touring the 18-acre, 38-lot site off Waldon Road, the commission voted to table any action, pending further discussion with its developers.

The commission must either recommend denial or approval of the tentative preliminary plat to the township board.

Members of the commission and the development's representatives have been meeting throughout the week in an effort to resolve their differences, according to a spokesperson for the building department.

The issue will continue to be on planning commission agendas until a decision is reached, she said. A special meeting scheduled for May 16 to resolve the issue was canceled.

Developer Mike Hofer has been attempting to obtain tentative preliminary plat approval since September.

Members of the commission and the surrounding neighborhood have previously expressed concerns about drainage, tree destruction and traffic hazards.

Hofer told the commission April 25 that traffic must be routed along stubb-roads of Cramlane, Eastlawn and Snowapple because of potential visibility problems from Waldon Road.

As a result, the commissioners agreed to view the project on foot before making a plat recommendation to the township board.

Following the on-site walk, Wallace told Hofer and his representative Ray McCoy that he still had concerns.

"It can and should be developed," Wallace said, adding he questioned whether or not the proposed subdivision was appropriate for the location.

"The property is not only a problem, but it is unique," he said. "My concern is not to stop its development. It's a beautiful piece of property."

McCoy and Hofer requested a recommendation to the township board soon so work on the project could begin.

Hofer said the property was being developed at an appropriate market value in comparison to surrounding homes.

Grant offers help for homeowners

Need some financial assistance to pay for special assessment taxes or minor home repairs?

If you meet the federal government's qualifications of low to moderate income, are handicapped or a senior citizen, Independence Township may have some funding for you.

Applications for Community Development Block Grant funds will be accepted at township hall June 1 through Sept. 1, according to Linda Richardson, secretary to Treasurer John Lutz.

The funding was approved by the Community Development Block Grant Department at Oakland County May 13.

Four categories have been established for applications by the township board. They are:

- Sewer and road special assessment funds—$20,850 was allocated to this category to will help pay for special assessments on residents' properties.

- Minor home repair—$17,375 has been allotted to help people with caulking, weather stripping, minor plumbing and electrical work and gutters, for example.

- Barrier-free improvements—$13,900 was appropriated for this category. The money was already used to install barrier-free restrooms at the Independence Township Library.

- Fifteen percent of the total funds have been earmarked for public service—$10,425 will be divided between the Consortium for Human Development, Chore and Meals on Wheels. The two latter categories are sponsored by Oakland-Livingston Human Services Agency.

For further information about the available funding, call Linda Richardson at township hall at 625-5111.

Parents bring class-size concerns to board

By Kathy Greenfield

Concerns about class sizes and split classes at Clarkston Elementary School prompted a survey of parents, and a report to the board of education last week.

Eric Haven of Clarkston presented the letter sent to parents of next year's third- and fourth-graders and the survey results.

He called it a "situation approaching alarming levels," with four classes of 30 to 32 pupils and a 17 member second-third grade split.

Of the 147 letters sent, there were 101 responses, he said. The responses to five questions included two "no concerns" and 80 willing to "support any petition to eliminate 'split classes' and to decrease class size."

Haven recommended hiring an additional teacher, which he said would make the class sizes range between 23 and 27, and urged the board to do so before school starts in September.

While the board took no formal action, President Janet Thomas reacted to the parents' concerns.

"You have not made any comment that the board is not concerned with," she said. "We understand the frustration of split classes. We also have further frustrations."

Enrollment has declined by a total of 1,200 pupils, and 53 fewer pupils are expected in the elementary school level next year, she said.

"If we had available to us unlimited financial resources, we wouldn't have any problem," she said.

There are "bulges" that occur at different grade levels in each building, she said, and that makes some classes larger and creates the need for splits.

"Each building has problems," she said. "They're all important, and we share the same concerns you do. How much of that we can correct in the fall, we don't know. We are concerned about your children, as you are."

Haven reacted by saying, "When you get beyond a certain point, you lose it. I'm concerned about my children."

Class sizes are about 10 pupils less than a decade ago, Thomas said, and the average elementary class is 26.5 pupils.

Thomas thanked the parents for their work.

"We'd like to come back to your meetings during the summer and discuss it with you," Haven said.

"Fine, please do," said Thomas.

4 honored for extraordinary efforts

Contributions beyond normal job expectations won Employee Recognition Awards for four members of the Clarkston school district staff last week.

Each received a certificate, Cross pen and a round of applause from school board members and those in the audience at the May 13 meeting.

Deborah Shottwell, a teacher at Sashabaw Junior High School, was nominated by Mary Tippen.

She was praised for extra hours spent working with students competing in the Science Olympiad; and for serving as the cheerleading, student government and ski club adviser; helping with the SCAMP Walkathon; and working on the district curriculum committee.

Kevin Bickerstaff, head mechanic in the district's bus garage, was nominated by William Dennis, the administrative assistant in charge of transportation.

Bickerstaff's reactions to an especially hard winter and the illness of his supervisor were cited by Dennis in the nomination form.

"Kevin accepted these adverse conditions and the very long days with no additional compensation," he wrote. "He presented himself as a well-organized, conscientious, hard working person who is willing and able to rise to adverse situations."

Jackie Pascoe, a Pine Knob Elementary School teacher, was nominated "for unselfish dedication to her colleagues, students and friends" by the school's principal, three teachers and a classroom aide.

The nomination form included this tribute: "...there is no one more flexible or easy to work with than Jackie. She always has a helpful suggestion or an alternate way to work with a child."

Neal Sage, the placement coordinator at the Northwest Oakland Vocational Education Center, was nominated by Barbara Banker of the community education department.

Sage won praise for his contributions toward setting up job placement service for community education.

"Neal's willingness to share and go 'above and beyond the call of duty' extends to the community as well as his coworkers," Banker wrote in the nomination form.

$84,429 in books

By Kathy Greenfield

Stop pondering the hike in paperback book prices and consider this: Textbook expenditures totaling $84,429 were approved by the Clarkston board of education last week.

New mathematics books are coming next year for all pupils from kindergarten through grade eight.

The $69,500 pricetag for the 1985 Riverside series includes about 3,730 books plus teachers' texts and teaching materials.

William Neff, director of elementary education, presented the proposal. Funds were budgeted for the purchase in the 1984-85 year, he said.

The Spanish textbooks are for second and third year courses. The $4,143 expense includes 225 books from McGraw-Hill.

Assistant Superintendent Mel Vaara presented the proposals for the Spanish and English books.

Seventh- and eighth-graders will use the new 925 new English texts. Published by Prentice Hall, the "Grammar and Composition" books cost $10,786.

The school board approved the purchases separately in 6-0 votes. Board member Carolyn Place was absent.

Schools buy 2 buses

Two new buses have been ordered for the Clarkston school district.

The board of education approved the $64,098 expenditure last week in a 6-0 vote.

The 22-passenger diesel buses will replace the two oldest buses in the seven-vehicle special education fleet.

Ordered from C&S Motors of Flint, they are expected to be delivered in November or December.

Jazz concert in village park

The trickling stream; the whispering leaves; the mellow sounds of jazz.

That musical combination awaits Friday, May 31, when the Clarkston High School Jazz Ensemble presents an informal "Evening of Jazz" in the Clarkston Village Park, adjacent to Village Hall, 375 Depot.

The free concert begins at 6:30 p.m. and features a variety of contemporary and traditional jazz music.

The repertoire includes the music of Count Basie, Maynard Ferguson, Duke Ellington and Spyro Gyra—and more.

The CHS Jazz Ensemble has enjoyed a consistent record of musical success, says band director Clifford Chapman.

Their musical performances include the annual Central Michigan University Jazz Weekend, the Montreux-Detroit Jazz Festival, Eastern Michigan University and the State Regional Jazz Festivals sponsored by the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association.

In April, three members of the ensemble were awarded honorable mention as Michigan Jazz All-Stars in the State Regional Jazz Festival at Novi High School: Ron Hammond, senior-tenor sax; Jeff Toretta, junior-trombone; and Scott Orth, sophomore-guitar.

'Super dude pickup' joins fleet

A new pickup truck has been purchased for the Clarkston school district grounds maintenance crew.

The board of education accepted a $14,062 bid from Bowman Chevrolet of Independence Township at last week's meeting.

The three-quarter ton pickup includes a V-8 engine, automatic transmission, power brakes and steering and heavy duty front suspension, shocks and rear suspension. A box liner and snow plow assembly were included in the purchase price.

William Dennis, administrator in charge of transportation, said the new truck will replace one of the two four-wheel-drive pickups, 1966 and 1967 models.

"These have given excellent service, but have become like all things as they get old—unreliable," Dennis said.

"That's one super dude pickup truck there," said board member Mary Jane Chaustowich before the board voted 6-0 to approve the purchase.

Teen dies from injuries in crash

Mike Meyers, who would have been 17 on May 26, died from injuries he received in a May 10 auto accident on Oak Hill Road, which borders Independence and Brandon townships.

Meyers was hospitalized at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital following the May 10 accident. He died May 18.

The Brandon High School student is survived by his mother and step-father Barbara and William Mason; step-brother, Jimmy; and step-sister Jamie, all of Brandon Township. He is also survived by his father, Mike Meyers Sr. of Houghton Lake.

The funeral service is to be held Wednesday, May 22, at St. Trinity Lutheran Church, Independence Township, with the Rev. Michael Klafehn officiating. Burial is to follow Ottawa Park Cemetery.

Funeral arrangements were handled through Coats Funeral Home.

Condo proposals create hot debate

pressed displeasure with the PUD ordinance.

"If this is adopted, I would be giving what protection I have away to the board," he said.

Village resident Edward Thomson, also a member of the planning commission, concurred.

"I just think that you want to give a lot of consideration to what you're doing. You've (already) got a system that works," he said. "It bends the rules, that's what I don't like about it."

Condominiums, if approved, should be limited to residential districts, Thomson added.

President Carol Eberhardt disagreed, saying condominiums should be allowed in the business district.

Currently, many business buildings have unused second-floor rooms, which could be converted to condominiums, she said.

Steckling emphasized that the proposed PUD ordinance is identical to Independence Township's.

Both ordinances will be reviewed by the planner on such issues as density before the council reconsiders them, said Eberhardt after the meeting.

Notions

Random thoughts over morning coffee with cream; hold the donut.

I like cotton. I like the way it looks unless I've been sitting on it all day. I like its comfort. I don't like ironing it.

Besides, after a seige of heavy duty, our almost-new iron leaped (I swear) on the floor and cracked off its handy-dandy plastic resting piece. That means it tips over.

Whoever is responsible for making cotton all the rage should be forced to press clothes with an iron that tips over.

It would be just punishment.

Our friendly Irish setter ran into a skunk last week. After many baths with many items, he only smells now when he's wet.

Of course, he loves the water.

That flaming red water hound leaps into every pond, swamp, lake or puddle he gets close to. The end result is he's wet numerous times a day.

We've been told vinegar works, catsup works and milk works to remove the incredible skunk odor permanently.

The best advice probably, though, is that the only thing that will get rid of the smell is something you can purchase from the veterinarian.

Isn't there some kind of medical insurance for dogs? In our case, I think the premiums would be worth it.

Spring seems to be booming by. Don't you miss the tulips in Clarkston?

And the lilacs didn't last nearly long enough to suit my tastes.

If this keeps up, there should be plenty of early vegetables from gardeners gutsy enough to take a chance on the lack of a late May frost.

This is the time of year when my tastebuds yearn for fresh cucumbers (without a wax coating), radishes that don't bite and tomatoes plucked from the vine.

Condo motivation questioned

I cannot understand why the promoters of condominiums or apartments on Deer Lake are so persistent in destroying a beautiful lake area, including the neighborhood, with cluttered apartment housing.

I believe the sponsors of the zoning change from single family to multiple units are using condo planning only as a front, but are really planning apartment rental units. The only reason for this deduction is that condo investment has reached a saturation point, with little or no demand, with valuation depreciation as much as 25 percent.

The change of a zoning law from single family to multiple housing in a developed area is a serious matter and demands the majority approval of all the taxpayers financially undermined by the very radical zoning change.

The Clarkston Village Council and all of the Clarkston village government have a definite responsibility to adjacent taxpayers, before lending an ear to a real estate opportunist.

I have been a land developer and building contractor for the past 32 years and I can honestly say I have always been interested in the improvement of any area, not destroying it.

I strongly feel any multiple housing in the proposed Deer Lake area would unquestionably be disastrous to the Clarkston area and all concerned.

Jim's Jottings

Jim Sherman

Elsewhere in this issue I wrote about playing golf at Pebble Beach, California. While that deals only with golf, there are some other notes I made during the trip I think are interesting, maybe even informative.

A person shouldn't miss Carmel, Cannery Row, and the Fisherman's wharf when in that part of Calif. I frankly don't know why Carmel got to be such a haven for the San Francisco rich.

With temperatures staying between 55 and 65 year around in Carmel, they aren't enough different from Frisco to be attractive. I would think the rich would go for sun or mountains, not more of the same... wind, fog and cool.

But, there it is, very exclusive Carmel, where it's easy to find $400 sweaters, $800 sport coats and $4,000 dresses. The shopping area IS beautiful... brick sidewalks, trees, flowers, well done store fronts. However, residential streets have no curb and gutter, just blacktop worn off on the edges. The houses are tight together, with few looking like 'home'.

A recommended restaurant, Bully III, wasn't exclusive, though. Two prime rib dinners and wine were $31.

On Fisherman's wharf (a short street lined with gift shops and restaurants), Hazel and I were attracted to a man serving clam chowder outside Sabu Shake's Fisherman's Grotto. It was good, but when Hazel ordered Grouper and got squid the atmosphere changed.

The Whaling Station Inn was nice. That's on Cannery Row, which really is, or was, a row of canneries. They canned sardines. Of course, everyone knows that's where Ernest Hemingway wrote his famous novel by the same name.

That Inn is the only restaurant I was ever in that served artichoke as an unordered hors d'oeuvre. It's boiled and served with a dip, some say is mayonnaise. It wasn't finished.

California generally, and the Monterey Peninsula in particular feature foreign cars. The 1985 Jaguar 4-door seems to be IN. However, Mercedes are numerous in all models, and there are Maseratis and Rolls in abundance.

Their owners are the ones who can pay $1.82 a gallon at Exxon, which we saw.

This is our second California trip and the second time we've traveled "Scenic Highway 1" as the brochure says. More than scenic, much of it is breathtaking. Hairpin curves exposing expanses of ocean waves pounding white beaches.

We also ate at Vantana at Big Sur for the second time and found it's view just as spectacular and hospitality just as warm as 1978. It's 1600 feet elevation. Lunch for 2, plus some wine was $50. You pay for the view.

Lastly, while we were in California, the San Francisco earthquake of 1906 had a birthday. On that day there were two small earthquakes in California.

And, people are still moving into that state in mind-boggling numbers. Well, it is a diversified and fascinating state.

Kids to flip pancakes for good cause

By Carolyn Walker

Tomorrow's leaders are taking action today.

They've sized up a problem and created a solution to benefit one of society's serious problems: muscular dystrophy.

Forty-one members of the Clarkston High School Student Council are preparing for a Memorial Day pancake breakfast. The proceeds will go to the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

Their efforts are led by CHS junior Amy Eiden and senior Marcy Frantz under the guidance of teacher Betty Duris.

According to Amy, the school and subsequently the student council, was asked to sponsor an MD fund raiser this year. The students were receptive, but project ideas didn't come easily.

"After wracking our brains with different projects, we came up with a pancake breakfast," Amy says.

The idea stems from the success of the fire department Labor Day pancake breakfasts, says Marcy, who has worked for three summers at Clarkston SCAMP.

This is the eighth consecutive year Amy has raised money for MD. When she was nine, she and her sister, Lisa, sponsored the first of their six neighborhood MD charity carnivals. Last year, Amy led an MD bike-a-thon.

"It makes you feel good," she says, adding that children afflicted with the disease "don't have a lot of happiness because they're in pain every day."

A crippling disease, MD frequently affects children, cutting short their life expectancy.

The 41 teens will cook and serve the pancakes at St. Daniel's Church Hall, 7010 Valley Park, Independence Township, immediately following the 10 a.m. May 27 Memorial Day Parade, from about 10:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

Tickets are $2.50 for adults and $1.50 for children and will be sold at the door.

The money they plan to contribute to MDA will help with research and the purchase of wheelchairs, medication and treatment, says Amy.

If the event goes well, the students plan to sponsor annual fund raisers.

"We hope it'll go over big," Amy says.

cake breakfast, sponsored by the Clarkston High School Student Council.

'If it Fitz . . .'

Stoolies would testify

Jim Fitzgerald

On Mother's Day weekend, I went where my mother used to go for a good time — the St. Clair Inn on the St. Clair River in St. Clair City in St. Clair County. Seated at the piano bar was a male customer - not St. Clair — drinking beer and doing needlepoint.

If there is a congressional committee studying piano bars, I should be called to testify before it. That's what I decided last week when three Hollywood actresses were called to testify before a House committee on agriculture because they starred in three movies about farms.

These actresses each devoted perhaps 10 months of their lives to earning millions of dollars for pretending to be farm wives so poor they couldn't afford a $1 movie ticket. This made the actresses agricultural experts with opinions sought and valued by Congress members smart enough to realize that riding the coattails of Jane Fonda's leotard gets them into People Magazine quicker than asking a Georgia sharecropper why his kids don't have shoes.

So far, I've devoted 40 years to sitting at piano bars, and I still don't want to go home. Obviously, I know more about piano bars than Jane Fonda knows about growing wheat. So if Congress wants to know how much embroid-ering is accompanying the drinking at piano bars, I'm the guy to ask, especially since Ray Milland lost his hair.

My exceedingly informed opinion is that the needlepointer at the St. Clair Inn was an all-time first. I've seen piano bar customers talk to their hands, stand on their heads and carve their initials into each other. But until last Friday night, I never saw one — male or female — doing needlepoint.

He was good at it. He didn't offer his name, but he said his embroideries are sold in area shops, and he teaches needlepoint to several professional men in Birmingham. And why not do something productive at a piano bar instead of simply drum his fingers like a stupid columnist? My wife asked that question.

It was a good night for nostalgia. When I was a boy growing up in Port Huron, the fanciest parties were always held at the St. Clair Inn, and I have rich memories of my parents getting all dressed up to go there. Terrible Jean, my much older sister, knew they'd be out real late, so she'd invite half the world in for a party. The house would be a mess the next morning, and Terrible Jean always blamed it on her little sisters and brother. We never told Mother and Dad the truth because they weren't as big and fierce as Terrible Jean.

THE ST. CLAIR INN has been remodeled and expanded several times since I went to my first party there — it was a wedding reception and I pulled a chair up to the buffet table. But one thing remains the same — it's a marvelous place to eat and watch the lake freighters glide by.

And on this evening there was a bonus at the piano bar, which regularly features the fine playing and sing-along leading of Kerri Brisbois. I don't mean the needlepointer. I mean members of the St. Clair Theatre Guild, who dropped in after a nearby rehearsal of "Annie Get Your Gun" and kept right on singing, with grand voices. If you're in the neighborhood, the show looks like a good bet — at 8 p.m. May 16-18 at St. Clair Junior High Auditorium.

I hope to see it if my sense of public duty doesn't compel me to fly to Washington to testify before the House Committee on Needlepointing at Piano Bars.

Just remember: It's not easy finding coattails on Jane Fonda's leotard, especially if you're old enough to remember when Ray Milland had hair and was losing weekends.

Memorial Day message, services

In preparation for the Memorial Day Parade on Monday, May 27, at 10 a.m. and the memorial service at Lakeview Cemetery, Campbell Richmond Post 63 of the American Legion offers the following thoughts:

"Let no ravages of time testify to coming generations that we have forgotten as a people the cost of a free and undivided Republic."

This order in 1868 started the present custom of decorating the graves of soldiers with flowers and flags and now extends to the graves of families and friends.

Let Memorial Day convey this message, "A million American citizens have died and millions more have suffered from service in the Wars of Republic in order to establish the greatest fraternity on Earth—the brotherhood of free men."

The Campbell Richmond Post invites all residents to join in the duty of honoring those veterans who gave their lives and those who gave service to their country.

The post members will place flags on veterans' graves in Lakeview Cemetery Sunday morning, May 26.

The annual Memorial Day Parade will start from the corner of Church and Buffalo streets, to Main, north to Washington, west to Holcomb, then to Lakeview Cemetery. A memorial service will be held.

Senior Vice Commander Leon Johnston requests that no horses, autos, bikes, pets or floats enter the parade because of its solemn purpose.

Call the post at 625-9912 or George Anderson at 625-1395 for more information.

Gas-convenience center unresolved issue

By Carolyn Walker

The combination gas station-convenience store, Dandy Oil at Maybee and Sashabaw roads, continues to be a source of frustration for Independence Township board members.

But they have not yet determined whether or not they will take legal action against the store's owners.

Instead, they voted unanimously May 7 to authorize attorney Gerald Fisher to continue investigating the township's options for resolving the issue.

Fisher has corresponded with Dandy's attorney David Miller for approximately one month, seeking information about the quantity of liquor sales at the site.

In a letter to Fisher dated April 17, Miller said liquor sales accounted for 1.4 percent of the location's gross sales.

After receiving the letter, Fisher invited Dandy's representatives and legal council to attend the township board meeting for the purpose of sharing information.

At the meeting, the board alleged, as they have in the past, that Dandy Oil owners are selling packaged liquor after misrepresenting their intentions to the planning commission.

Board member Daniel Travis, who formerly served on the planning commission, said he voted for Dandy's special land use permit last year because owner Dan Huffman said he would not sell packaged liquor and wine at the site.

Michael Kenny, Miller's associate, and Dandy Oil architect David Donnellon, who were at the meeting, denied these allegations.

The former Union 76 gas station has been the site of gasoline and packaged beer and wine sales since January, when its owner was issued a SDM license by the state.

Huffman leases the convenience store section of the property to his daughter A. L. Wilson, thus making the sales of gasoline and liquor legal.

State law dictates that businesses such as those at Dandy maintain separate records.

In the past, board members have discussed revoking Dandy's special land use permit, which authorizes the convenience store, but no action has been taken.

After the meeting, Supervisor Frank Ronk said it is not yet known if the township has any legal recourse to stop the liquor sales.

When contacted by phone, Miller said, "At this point in time, it seems the legal remedy is not going to be there."

Trustees extend plat for office subdivision

By Carolyn Walker

A new office subdivision is in the works for Independence Township.

Located off M-15 behind the True Value Hardware, the Clarkston Office plat was extended by the Independence Township board May 7.

The two-year extension came after the developers and building department realized the plat, which was supposed to be extended annually, had expired in February 1983.

Springfield sponsors condo talks

The fate of 54 unbuilt condominiums in the Blue Water Bavarian Village is the topic of a special Springfield Township electors' meeting May 23.

The township board seeks approval to turn the property over to the condominium owners' association.

"The board received permission at the annual meeting in March to acquire the 54 units from the state," Walls said. "We were going to purchase it for a dollar but didn't have permission to dispose of the property that we have yet to acquire. We were going to acquire it only if we could transfer it to the owners' association."

The electors' meeting came about after Walls received a petition with 16 registered voters' signatures.

There is no opposition to having the property turned over to the association, said George Johnson, who presented the petition.

If approved by the citizens in attendance at the electors' meeting, the board intends to sell the land to the condominium association for $1 plus about $530 in processing fees, Walls said.

The board will make a decision immediately following 7:30 p.m. electors' meeting in a special township board meeting at the township hall.

Since the many permits required for such items as sewers and grading had been approved, the board agreed to extend the plat, said Clerk Richard Holman.

The extension was approved because of extenuating circumstances, he said, adding, "We are not setting a precedent."

The action is subject to review by the township planners and engineers to ensure compatibility with zoning ordinance changes since 1981, Holman added.

The development received final preliminary plat approval in 1981.

The 14-lot development is owned by Thomas Rademacher and Richard Ayers, said Del Lohff, developer for the project.

Once the plat is graded and developed, the lots will be sold to individuals who will construct and occupy the offices, he said.

Grading on the project began in early May.

Problem or no?

Computer software donation

By Carolyn Walker

A recent donation of computer software from the City of Cadillac saved the township approximately $25,000, according to Clerk Richard Holman.

"We were d--- lucky," he said.

Trustee Dale Stuart did not agree. When the matter came before the township board May 7, Stuart said estimates for modifying the equipment were not available and that could pose a problem.

The board voted 6-1, with Stuart dissenting, to waive the bidding process and allow the full-time officials to work with Interlochen Software Systems of Traverse City to develop the software.

The motion authorizes the officials to decide on modifications to the software so it will work efficiently with the township's new $92,594 IBM 36 computer.

Traditionally, bids are solicited from several companies for expenses exceeding $1,000 before the board approves purchases, Holman said.

"In my view it would hurt us to go out for bids," he said, indicating that the bidding process might be an unneeded expense.

There is more involved than just a material purchase, Holman added. "We're talking about professional services," he said.

"We have made an extensive search of all software firms that specialize in government accounting. We feel extremely confident that the people we are dealing with have the most experience.

"We're not developing anything from scratch."

Stuart disagreed.

"What I'm concerned with is the method in which we are acquiring the software," he said. "I think we're just not going about it in an organized fashion. I don't see how we can make a decision on it when we don't have all the data in front of us."

Modifying the software could cost more than buying new, Stuart added.

Included in the free software from Cadillac were: payroll, general ledger, cash register, budget, cash receipts, utility billing, voters' registration and fixed asset packages.

The software was developed by Paul Busch of Grand Traverse County several years ago.

Busch gave the software to several municipalities before forming his company, Interlochen Software Systems of Traverse City, according to Peter Dobzeniecki, township financial director.

Since then, the software has become "public domain," he added.

Interlochen employees will help set up and modify the Cadillac software in Independence.

The computer will be used for billing and payroll.

Retiree dinner

Members of the community may attend the retirement dinner for Clarkston school district staff members planned Wednesday, May 29, at the Deer Lake Racquet Club.

The dinner costs $12.50 a person and tickets are available in the offices of each school building in the district.

A social hour is to begin at 6 p.m. with a buffet dinner served at 7 p.m. Reservations must be made by May 24.

ON-THE-JOB TRAINING: Farley Stoyek, 31, is a political science intern assigned to work with Independence Township Clerk Richard Holman. Earning his way to a bachelor of arts degree from Oakland University, the Clarkston resident expects to attend law school following his graduation. He will be working at township hall until mid-August.

Wolves waltz to regional title

By Dan Vandenhemel

Clarkston girls' track coach Gordy Richardson stated simply, "It was a good day's work."

Very good if you're a follower of the running Wolves. They won the State Regional Meet at West Bloomfield last Saturday in convincing fashion. With 121 points, they ran away from second-place Milford's 74 points. Pontiac Northern was third with 46.

"They were ready for it," Richardson said. "They're very competitive. They just ran well and our depth carried us."

That depth turned out to help the Wolves score in 15 of the 16 events.

Qualifying for the state finals at Flint Northwestern on June 1 are only the top three finishers in each event. The Wolves are sending people in 14 events.

The Wolves had seven first-place finishes. Jennifer Farough and Bridget Kilcline captured two each, plus they were part of the 1,600-meter relay team with Wendy Cohoon and Kim Ottman. Shivonne DeBoer outdistanced the field in the discus, and Kathleen McNinnis was busy winning the 2-mile run.

Second places went to Lisa Ladd in the 100-yard dash, Ottman in the 200-yard dash, McNinnis in the mile run, Cohoon in the 880-yard dash and the 440-relay team of Farough, Kecia Powell, Ladd and Ottman.

Lisa Ladd placed third in the long jump for the final event to make the state finals.

Also getting points at the regionals was the 880-yard relay team of Ladd, Cohoon, Kilcline and Ottman. They finished sixth.

The other point getter for the Wolves was DeBoer in the shot put. She placed fourth, just one-half inch from third.

"The same thing happened last year to her, but this time she threw 2½ inches farther," her coach said.

The Wolves won the regional title two years ago in Romeo, but last year was the first time they even earned a point at the state finals. Farough finished eighth in the 100-yard intermediate hurdles.

"This year we're capable of scoring some points," Richardson said.

Bridget Kilcline easily clears the high jump bar at 5 feet 4 inches to win the event at the State Regional Track Meet at West Bloomfield. She helps the Wolves win the meet by a whopping 121-74 score over Milford. Kilcline also wins the 440-yard dash while teammate Jennifer Farough wins the 100-yard and 300-yard low hurdle events. The Wolves win seven events.

Boys' performance down

By Dan Vandenhemel

The performance at the track regional by the Clarkston boys' team doesn't take away from the kind of season they've had, says their coach.

Walt Wyniemko said overall, with a 6-1 record, it's been a good season. But maybe the regional at West Bloomfield on May 18 brought the team back to earth.

The Wolves finished 10th out of 17 teams. They had nine points compared to first-place Lakeland's 112. Pontiac Northern finished a close second with 108 points.

The only points the Wolves earned came in the 440-yard relay, high jump and discus. The relay team of Brian Pankey, Gunnar Karlstrom, Shawn MacCartey and Jeff Davis finished fourth, as did Chris Poulas in the high jump. Chad Snover placed sixth in the discus.

"Maybe they were a little excited about the meet," the coach said. "The pressure might have got to them. You know something like, 'This is do or die.' In just a meet if you have a bad day, you can come back in the next one. It was just one of those days."

"Usually our field events are our strength," he added. "But this isn't a reflection of what we've done. Sometimes you have to go backwards to before you can go forwards."

Jeff Davis gets out of the starting blocks in the 220-yard dash but fails to make the finals in the event. He anchors the fourth-place finish for the Wolves' 440-yard relay team which includes Brian Pankey, Gunnar Karlstrom and Shawn MacCartey.

Sports

Record, championship, highlight season

By Dan Vandenhemel

The Wolves' tennis team capped a big turnaround season with a fifth-place finish in the state regional competition.

Clarkston was never in the running for the regional title. Bloomfield Hills Lahser, Andover and West Bloomfield ran away from the other 14 schools at the May 17 event.

Lahser held out to win with 22 points, Andover took second with 21 and West Bloomfield was next with 19. Fourth place was Holly with 7 points. Clarkston tied Lakeland for fifth with 6.

"We got one more point than I thought we would," said Wolves' coach Dick Swartout. "That meant moving up one place.

"Those three (Lahser, Andover and West Bloomfield) have turned this into a tri-meet. They take turns winning the regionals. The top two teams go to state. It seems like one year Lahser doesn't go then Andover the next and then West Bloomfield."

Missing fourth place by one point doesn't mean much to Swartout because of the 12-point margin between second and third.

The farthest to advance in match play was the No. 2 doubles team of Dan Travis and Matt Hargett. They won twice before losing to West Bloomfield in the semi-finals.

Others winning first-round matches were No. 2 singles John Reading, No. 3 singles Grant Reading, No. 4 singles Ron Hammond, and No. 1 doubles Dan Martin and Steve Weideman.

For the season, the Wolves took the Greater Oakland Activities League title at the league meet after finishing the regular season tied with Lake Orion at 7-1. Clarkston posted a 9-4 overall record.

It was quite a turn around from the 1984 version the Wolves put on the board. Last year they finished a 2-9 record and were fourth in the five-team league.

"We had kids come back for the second year and they had more experience. Plus we had more depth in our doubles. I'm happy, though. We did as well as we could," Swartout said.

Champions kick, punch, swing, to titles

By Dan Vandenhemel

Precision moves, strong physical ability and mental readiness paid off for Reggie Alexander and J. Lee Mason.

The two Koei-Kan Karate-Do instructors won championships in their divisions at the International tournament in New Jersey, May 5.

Alexander, 29, took first in the light contact class for 2nd degree black belts.

Mason, also 29, was first in the 2nd degree black belt weapons class with tonfa.

"Tonfa is an ancient weapon that used to be a

handle for mill wheels," explained Mason, a Waterford resident.

This was the first time in the annual tournament for Alexander, the second for Mason.

"I got into karate because of peer pressure," said Alexander, a 1973 graduate of Clarkston High School. "My friends were doing it. I was always into physical training. I takes a lot of work. Some days you don't feel like it but you do it anyway."

Alexander operates a Koei-Kan Karate-Do school in Burton and Mason is co-owner in one in Waterford.

"Karate becomes a way of life," said Alexander, a Springfield Township resident. "The program takes four or five days a week for the first couple of years."

Mason got interested in karate after graduating from Lake Orion in 1973.

"I wrestled in high school and at Wayne State University. But after I finished, there was no real professional wrestling so I got into this," he said. "Inasio Anzures was our teacher; he taught us everything. Karate is an art, a way of life. No matter what you want from karate, you'll feel better about yourself."

At the tournament, Mason's school sent 22 competitors and came home with 17 trophies. From Alexander's school, the 12 competitors won five trophies.

Dan Vandenhemel

About 12:45 Saturday morning, driving home on I-94, Ernie Harwell's voice told of a familiar name.

Harwell is the radio broadcaster for the Detroit Tigers. The Tigers were busy beating up on the Oakland A's in Oakland. With the score 10-1 at the start of the eighth inning, Harwell began talking about the new pitcher on the mound for Oakland.

Harwell said, "The A's have a new pitcher, he's Tim Lincecum, B-I-R-T-S-A-S, a Pontiac native."

The residence was quickly corrected to say Clarkston as Harwell talked throughout the inning, giving more information about Birtsas.

Quickly a pad of paper and pencil came out of a folder. I wanted to jot down what Birtsas did against the Tigers.

The 24-year-old Birtsas started out the inning by getting Alan Trammell on a tap to shortstop. Alex

Sanchez then hit a deep fly ball to center field that was caught for the second out. Harwell then broke in with little tidbits like Birtsas is a Clarkston High School graduate and spent four years at Michigan State.

The next batter was Lance Parrish and he popped a single to left. Darrell Evans ended the inning with a pop fly to second base.

The ninth inning was a little shaky for Birtsas.

Larry Herndon led off with an infield single in front of the plate. Barbaro Garbey then struck out. Jim Weaver was next and drilled a shot to right that outfielder Mike Heath made a diving catch on.

The next batter, Tom Brookens, was credited with a hit when his ground ball bounced up and hit umpire Terry Cooney and landed in his jacket pocket. Chris Pittaro made the last out with a tap back to the mound.

This was only the third appearance for Birtsas at the major league level. He was called up from the minor leagues about two weeks ago. After each game, he's made a habit of calling his parents in Clarkston.

His father, Gus Birtsas, the principal at Sashabaw Junior High, said his son woke him up at 3 a.m.

"He didn't talk about the Tigers, just how he did," the senior Birtsas. "He's doing pretty good. He hasn't been scored on in six innings yet."

I grew up listening to the Harwell and the Tigers. Through their championship of 1968 to last year's amazing season, I listened. It was hard to root for the Tigers with a certain rookie pitcher throwing against them.

Wolves repeat as champions

By Dan Vandenhemel

With part of the league title in hand, the Clarkston Wolves' baseball team is drawing a bead on the district tournament.

They swept a double-header sweep over Pontiac Northern, May 18, and pulled into a tie with Waterford Kettering for the top spot in the Greater Oakland Activities League.

Both schools sport a 6-2 record. Clarkston is the defending champion. The Wolves finished a game ahead of Kettering last year with a 10-2 record.

The Wolves open the statewide playoffs Friday against the winner of the Waterford Mott-Rochester pre-district game Wednesday.

Against Northern, a barrage of base hits and a strong performance by the pitchers enabled the Wolves to share the title.

With scores of 10-4 and 5-1 and 27 hits in the two games, the Wolves had little trouble with the Huskies.

There wasn't a power shortage as the Wolves banged out four home runs, one each by Scott Carter, Scott Giroux, Jim Ruelle and Randy Kosek. Ruelle and Giroux led the team with three round trippers apiece.

Scoring runs hasn't been a problem for the Wolves at all. They've pushed across 140 runs in 20 games while their opponents have managed only 87.

"Our hitting has been fairly consistent all year," said coach Roy Warner. "Now our pitching is starting to come around. We're not walking as many; letting them hit the ball so our defense can handle it."

The leading hitters for the Wolves are Giroux at .475, Dean O'Neil at .370, Randy Bailey at .366, and Jim and Tom Ruelle at .333.

Pitchers Todd Olsen, Ed Adkins and Steve Atkinson with help from Mike Tews have pushed the Wolves' record to 15-5.

Dean O'Neil helps the Wolves' cause as they hold on to beat Waterford Mott, 9-8, in Clarkston. The Wolves are now 13-5 overall and 4-2 in the league.

Some ancient people believed that their spirits would be reborn as flowers.

Golfing 'awesome' Pebble Beach

You know you're going to skull a shot into the ocean.

By Jim Sherman, publisher
When I tell people I paid $100 to play Pebble Beach Golf Links they respond, "Is it worth it?"

It certainly is. If you're a golfer and you're near the Monterey peninsula, go for it.

Pebble Beach is a public course. Dial 1-805-624-6611 for a starting time. We called a month or more ahead and were given a 6:42 a.m. start.

That sounds terrible, but it is probably the best time of day to play that course, especially if the day is clear.

You see, eight of the 18 holes are oceanside, and in late morning the wind starts coming in off the Pacific. It builds until, by late afternoon, golfers find funny things happening to high shots. They may also be blown off the tee in their backswing.

In our foursome was Bucky Brower, former Oxford businessman who is now a big Boyne Country backer, Oxford barber/golfer Jack Magee, and lumber dealer Jerry Olrich.

All three have those single digit handicaps, which means I get strokes . . . never enough, but all I can get.

This was our second experience at Pebble Beach. And, while the outward spectacle is unchanged since 1978, the physical course has improved considerably. Before, the fairways looked overused. Between being worn down by constant play and salt water spray, there was a lot of brown grass.

Now carts (everyone must have a cart or caddy) must stay on paved paths. It makes for too much walking, but the course is super green and lush.

And, when you blend that green grass, bright sun, white beaches, craggy rocks, and constantly moving white crested, ocean waves, your golf score soars.

Then when you spot the sea otter playing in the surf and the seals sunning themselves off No. 7 tee and green, your concentration is shot for the day. The course is an absolutely beautiful layout. The views, the sounds, the magnificence of it all makes a person glad they stopped to smell the roses along the way.

It's hard to imagine this golf course being laid out any other way. It's as if the designer in 1919 knew this golf course might become the most famous in the world, and players would be awestruck on the first tee.

The first five holes are away from the ocean and trouble. And, that's about how many holes it takes to warm the chills experienced on the first tee.

Walking off Number 5 green, Brower said, "Now the golf course begins." Indeed. Ahead of you lies the 587 yard sixth, with the fairway sloping toward the sea on the first shot, and you're hitting up and over a 80-ft cliff on the second.

You know you're going to skull or sky your approach shot into the ocean beyond the green on No. 6, and that feeling doesn't leave as you hit to No. 7 green.

Number eight proves the designers, Jack Neville and H. Chandler Egan, hated golfers. Hopefully, you hit a long tee shot (not too long) up a hill, and hopefully your second shot carries 200 yards over a chasm that could hold all the junk cars in California.

Number 9 doesn't look frightening. Then you hit the ball and watch it roll quickly off the fairway and down 50 feet to the rocks below. When you finish 9 you are about as far away from the club house as possible, thus you might as well continue playing.

At 10 you are still along the ocean, but it's a relatively easy bogey hole. Beyond the first five holes there are no "relatively easy" pars, that's why I wrote easy bogey.

Having made the turn, you have six high holes to fight the wind, trees, and traps before heading into 175 yard number 17 that plays like 205. A 4 iron to the trap in front seemed safe until I yipped a sand shot to the seals.

Onto awesome number 18. The beautiful, excruciating number 18. It isn't enough to have trees, sand, and wind, but you also have a cement sea wall, an ocean, coral rock and you just know everyone in The Lodge is looking.

When you slink off the course, you hope you broke 100 while absorbing all the beauty.

Pebble Beach, is, as you know, famous as the site of the annual Bing Crosby National Pro-Am Golf Tournament. It was also the site of the 1972 and 1982 US Open and the 1977 PGA championship.

It's in the Del Monte Forest adjacent to Carmel and Monterey. 5,800 people live in the Forest, all rich. One home on number 15 fairway has a $2.8 million price tag. Some are higher.

There's a "17-Mile Drive" around the area and it costs $4 a car to get on the drive. If you play or stay you get a refund.

At the beginning of this article I said I paid $100 for a

Teeing off on 18 shouldn't be that difficult. There's lots of landing area. It's just that that chasm gives you the yips, causing hooks and other bad things. The wind doesn't help either.

'Awesome' Pebble Beach

round of golf. That's the posted price, and it includes a cart.

I, however, did not have to pay $100. I only paid $75. To get all the atmosphere the area can give, we stayed at The Lodge at Pebble Beach. Started in 1908 as Del Monte Lodge, it now has 161 rooms and 13 buildings. We stayed in a building with an outstanding view of number 18 fairway and green.

The Lodge and adjacent buildings for stores, pro shop, and restaurant, and exclusive. You can drive through, but if you stop, expect a blue blazer-grey panted man to ask if you are staying at the Lodge.

How exclusive is it? Our room was $175 a night, plus $17.50 tax plus $13 service charge (tip). What's that, $205.50 a night? But remember, you get your golf for $75.

We also played golf at the semi-private Spyglass Hill. We saved $10 by being Lodge guests there, only $40, plus $10 for half a cart.

Spyglass, too, is an awesome course. The ocean, though very visible for five holes, doesn't come into play. The ice plant does. All I can tell you is, don't get in it. Your golf ball may set up on it, but the plant devours clubs and makes golfers cry.

My advice still is, if you're there, play 'em.

Jack Magee putts out on No. 17, 175 Yd. par 3. It's really a 3 iron. I hit a 4 iron short into the trap and skulled the sand shot to the sea otter. Left to right are Jerry Olrich, the caddy, the putter, Marsha Olrich observing, and Bucky Brower.

Oxygen Delivery & Vitamin C

By Tanya Luchkovitz-Weeder

Dr. Don Mannerberg writes that, "Oxygen is the one important element for survival of the human body from minute to minute. Oxygen delivery is a survival process that cannot be interrupted without cell death, tissue damage and finally death."

"Vitamin C, Ascorbic acid, has the most general effect on oxygen delivery. It improves the release of oxygen from red cells," according to Dr. Mannerberg.

Aerobics is a system that measures maximum levels of physical endurance and capacity for performing physical work." Dr. Mannerberg goes on to say, "Exercise improves the oxygen delivery system by increasing maximum living capacity, enlarging major blood vessels, strengthening the heart and thus the oxygen is delivered to cells in the muscle group being used."

Plus you increase the ability to deliver nutrients through the body via the same circulatory system.

The body depends on vitamins and minerals for continued normal functions. Therefore, it is necessary to have adequate amounts of all vitamins and minerals to function properly.

Microwave-plus

Slim line microwave cuisine

Betty Wagner

Many of us are attempting to shed a few pounds of fat that crept on during the long, cold winter and were camouflaged under heavy, loose-fitting clothes.

As anyone who has embarked on a weight-loss program can attest, planning to lose weight is easier than actually losing it.

The ideal weight-loss prescription, according to some nutritionists and dieticians, is to exercise regularly and to eat a balanced diet of the four food groups: milk, meat, fruits-vegetables and grains.

They recommend about 60 percent of the calories from complex carbohydrates (whole grains, fruits, vegetables and legumes); about 10 to 15 percent from proteins; and 25 to 30 percent from fats.

It is advisable to use sparingly caloric sweeteners or simple sugars such as honey, molasses, white and brown sugars, maple syrup, sorghum, and raw and turbinado sugars. They provide little, if any, nutritional value to the diet.

The microwave oven truly becomes an asset for the dieter, because fat is not required to prevent foods from sticking. Food flavors are intensified with microwave cooking, so fat is not needed to maximize taste.

And portion control is easily accomplished with quickly cooked single servings. There need not be an abundance of leftovers to tempt the nervous eater.

If there are leftovers, make your own calorie-wise frozen dinners by using plastic TV dinner plates or the new heat-resistant paper cookware found at some grocery stores.

Recently I invited two friends for lunch. One was reluctant to eat. She was on a diet to lose weight before summer.

The very filling and satisfying lunch that I served contained only 259 calories—about the same as an 8-ounce container of lowfat yogurt with fruit.

Our luncheon menu consisted of recipes from "Microwaving on a Diet," from the Microwave Cooking Library Series, Pages 27, 106 and 146. They are reprinted with the permission of Cy DeCosse Inc., publisher.

By Lorna Bickerstaff

1 cup cornflake crumbs
1/2 cup dried parsley flakes
2 eggs
2 tablespoons soy sauce
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 teaspoon garlic powder

2 tablespoons instant minced onions

SAUCE

1 12-ounce bottle chili sauce
1 16-ounce can jellied cranberry sauce
2 tablespoons brown sugar, firmly packed
1 tablespoon lemon juice

In a large bowl, combine all ingredients for meatballs. Blend well. Form mixture into small meatballs about the size of a walnut. Arrange into a 15 1/2-by-10 1/2-inch baking pan.

In a saucepan, combine cranberry sauce, chili sauce, brown sugar and lemon juice. Cook over medium heat, stirring occasionally until mixture is smooth and cranberry sauce is melted. Pour over meatballs. Bake uncovered 30 to 40 minutes in a 350 degree oven. Serve in a chafing dish with toothpicks.

Tickets on sale for SCAMP tour

The Home Tour III to benefit Clarkston SCAMP features six distinguished homes ranging from the historic 1857 John Green Italianate home to the newest of contemporary styles.

Tickets for the Sunday, June 2, tour are $15 a person. Hours are 1 to 4 p.m., and the tax-deductible ticket donation includes a complimentary reception at the historic Clarkston Cafe on Main Street. They may be ordered by calling 625-3330.

This year's homes are new to the tour.

For the first time, two contemporary styles are included: the Rydson and Becker homes, both on Scenic Ridge Drive. The historic John Green home was moved last year by the Radcliffs from Dixie Highway to Main Street and is under restoration. Also featured are the Cooper home on West Church Street, the Bisha home on Holcomb Street and the Mahler home on Main Street.

SCAMP is a five-week summer camp program for handicapped children and youth from northern Oakland County.

ON STAGE: King Rob Wilson and queen Beth Fletcher delight the audience in the play "The King and Queen Who Wouldn't Talk" performed last week by the first-grade pupils of Ruth Powers at Pine Knob Elementary School. (Photo by Carolyn Walker)

OFFICIAL NOTICE

PUBLIC NOTICE NOTICE OF RIGHT TO REFERENDUM ON BECOMING A CHARTER TOWNSHIP

Official information has been received from the Secretary of State of the State of Michigan, indicating that the Township of Independence has attained a population of 5,000 or more. This being the case, the Township Board has the right to exercise one of three options concerning township status as a charter township under the provisions of Act 90 of 1976.

(1) Adopt, by majority vote, a resolution opposed to incorporation.

(2) Adopt, by majority vote, a resolution of intent to approve incorporation.

(3) Adopt, by majority vote, a resolution to place before electorate the question of incorporation at the next regular or special township election.

In the event option (2) is adopted by the Township Board, the citizens of the township have the option to file a "Right to Referendum Petition". This petition must be filed within the 60 days which must lapse between the passage of the resolution to incorporate as a charter township.

The petition will follow, in general form, the nominating petition form as prescribed in the Michigan Election Law, Section 168.544 (c), and in the heading will indicate "disagreement of intent to incorporate as a charter township". The petition must be signed by not less than 10% of the registered voters of the township based on the vote cast for all candidates for supervisor at the last election at which a supervisor was elected.

If the petition is successful, the question of incorporation will be placed on the ballot at the next general township or special township election.

PRACTICAL PURPOSE: Get ready to help put the finishing touches and flushes into the newly remodeled, but unfinished, addition to the Clarkston Village Players' Depot Theatre. The players' perfectly painless, laugh-out-loud solution to raising funds for toilets and more is the melodrama "Klondike Kalamity." Benefit performances are scheduled at 8 p.m. May 31 and June 1, 7 and 8 at the theater on White Lake Road. At 7 p.m. before each performance, complimentary hors d'oeuvres will be served in the lobby. Tickets are $10 (or more if you wish) and they may be purchased at Tierra Arts & Design, 64 S. Main, Clarkston or by calling Marlene Sewick at 363-0188. In this scene, crusty-but-honest freelance lumberjack Warren Oudt (played by John Steutzer) and fair-and-lovely Maiden Nell (Sandy Sanford) worry over the collapsed body of stalwart-and-heroic Roger B. Upright (Hugh Rose). Additional characters include villain Fangduster T. Barrelbottom VIII (Mike Kaul), Indian Chief Wapahonetta (Al Bartlett), flapjack filching Bruno (Denny Colwell), befuddled lass Farley Goodbody (Marlene Sewick), itinerant judge Justice Dunn (Dave Mills), face-from-the-past Gwendolyn Oudt (Melissa Mills) and Prince K'nook (Charlie Haskins). The play is directed by Marlene Sewick and produced by Denny Colwell, with music accompaniment by Cindy Gibbs.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON INCREASING PROPERTY TAXES

PLEASE TAKE NOTE that on May 28, 1985 at 7:30 p.m. at 6389 Clarkston Road the Board of Education of the Clarkston Community Schools will hold a public hearing on the levying in 1985 of an additional proposed millage rate of .1883 mills for operating purposes pursuant to Act 5, Public Acts of Michigan, 1982.

The Board of Education has the complete authority to establish that 33.3300 mills be levied in 1984 for operating purposes.

The maximum additional proposed millage rate would increase revenues for operating purposes from ad valorem property tax levies in 1985, otherwise permitted by Act 5, Public Acts of Michigan, 1982 by 1.74 percent.

The figure for increase in revenue for operating purposes is based on the latest estimate of state equalized valuation of property located within the school district. State equalized valuation will not be finalized until after the fourth Monday in May. In the event that state equalized valuation as finalized is for any reason higher than the estimate used for this hearing, the Board of Education must hold another public hearing before levying millage on any higher valuation.

The purpose of the hearing is to receive testimony and discuss the levy of an additional millage rate for operating purposes. Not less than seven (7) days following the public hearing, the Board of Education may approve all or any portion of the proposed additional millage rate.

The Board of Education has proposed this millage for operating purposes in recognition of the responsibility to maintain and sustain an effective educational program for the community.

This notice is given by order of the Board of Education.

Sing a rainbow

Sololist Jeff Galley reaches his arms up to suggest a mountain

Melissa Ruth waves the flag in time to the music as the students of Clarkston Elementary practice for their spring concert under the direction of music teacher Janis Madden. Colors make up the concert theme, and there are soloists and dancing aplenty.

Emily the cat dashes through the living room as Jan Rydzon takes a seat. The spacious room has a high ceiling which enhances its open feeling. Walls and carpeting are neutral, with shades of pink dominating the furnishings and accent pieces.

Sneak preview:

Rydzon home 1 of 6 on SCAMP tour

The modern design of the Rydzons' house is softened with curves inside—and out.

The curious pull into the driveway and even get out of their cars to get a closer look at the Rydzons' new home.

That took her by surprise, says Jan.

Nonetheless, she and her husband, Tom, are gracious enough to invite people inside during the SCAMP Home Tour on Sunday, June 2.

Their Independence Township home, located on Scenic Ridge Drive just east of the Village of Clarkston, is one of six on this year's home tour to raise money for the summer camp program for handicapped children.

The Rydzons agreed to be included on the tour because the cause is a good one—and because it was an honor to be invited to participate.

They began planning their home about four years ago. Armed with "a million pictures from magazines," says Jan, they took their ideas to architect Mark Postal, a Clarkston area resident.

"Over three years, I can't tell you how many plans he drew up," says Jan.

The final outcome, which pleased them all, is a style she's seen some magazines call "post modern."

"It's soft," she says. "The windows aren't really contemporary, almost every room has curves in it. We wanted to soften the real harsh lines of contemporary."

There are curves on walls, windows and kitchen cabinets and counters.

Their living room features a long, curving couch. Its pink is repeated in print chairs in front of the fireplace, in pillows and in the pink flowers of blooming plants.

As with the home's design, the furnishings break from a totally contemporary look with accents of art deco mirrors, lamps and artwork. In the entry hallway, leaded glass doors made for the home are found alongside an antique pair which lead to the library.

Other accent pieces include an antique clock, souvenirs from their travels and a ceramic plant holder made by a friend in the carriage house-style of their previous home in Metamora.

Jan and Tom grew up in Detroit. In their quest to get away from the city atmosphere, they purchased a home in Metamora "way out in the country."

"We got too far away," says Jan. "So this is a compromise, I guess."

They have closeby neighbors, but trees all but eliminate the other houses from view.

Tom is a dentist. His practice is in Davison. Jan is a student at Oakland University, where she's taking courses in computer information science.

They moved into their new home in December. It was everything they envisioned, says Jan.

See Page 30 for details about the Home Tour III benefit for SCAMP.

A ceramic planter created in the style of their previous home illustrates the dramatic change offered by the Rydzons' new home.

A soft sculpture clown adorns the stairs leading to the sunken living room. "I had my eye on him for several years and when we moved in here, I decided to buy him as a housewarming gift for myself," says Jan.

TRAIN SMART FOR JOGGING:

THE HEALTHFUL
WAY TO GET
AND STAY IN SHAPE

The cover of the booklet published by Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Michigan features a graphic design of runners.

Free booklet provides tips for joggers

Now that spring is here, many people find this 'tis the season to be jogging.

To help runners get in shape the right way, Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Michigan has published a free booklet called "Train Smart for Jogging."

The 16-page brochure gives tips on how to warm up, the proper diet, equipment, avoiding injuries and other information useful to those who jog to feel better and those who'd like to compete in short-distance races.

The booklet uses a question-and-answer format.

Authors are Larry Sell, M.D., vice president of the medical affairs group and medical director of Blue Cross and Blue Shield; and Alfred Stransky, Ph.D., director of the exercise physiology laboratory at Oakland University, Rochester.

Sell and Stransky point out that jogging improves the cardiovascular system, helps control weight and reduces anxiety.

"Train Smart for Jogging" is free and can be obtained by writing "Train Smart," Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Michigan, 600 Lafayette East, No. 1908, Detroit, MI 48226.

Study links dizziness to aerobic fitness

Most people have probably experienced lightheadedness when moving from a sitting to a standing position. Researchers at Penn State University believe people who are physically fit may be more apt to experience this problem.

Experiments the two researchers conducted on a group of students before and after a series of aerobic exercise classes indicate that when they improved their cardiovascular fitness, the students were more prone to dizziness and lightheadedness.

Heart rate and blood pressure remain at a steady rate when a person is lying down, the researchers report, and when the human body is moved to an upright position heart rate climbs and blood pressure may fall transiently.

The students in the seven-week aerobic conditioning class — consisting of jogging, swimming and aerobic dancing — improved their cardiovascular fitness on average about 10 percent.

The result of the exercise program was a lowering of resting heart rate and blood pressure; yet when they were again moved into an upright position using a "tilt table," the rates increased to the pre-conditioning level for the upright position.

After the fitness course the blood pressure margin — between rest and active, or supine and standing periods — subsequently increased significantly.

The researchers are investigating the effects of exercise on the veins — in which most of the body's blood is stored — and on the sensitivity of the body's blood pressure control systems, known as baroreflexes.

Changes in these two components result in the wider change in blood pressure which seems to be responsible for the dizziness, the Penn State researchers believe.

To the rescue: 2 new medical emergency trucks join department

By Carolyn Walker

If there is any comfort to be had during a fire, accident, or illness, it is the emerging sound of a siren: The knowledge that help is on the way.

This month, the Independence Township Fire Department became the proud owner of two new medical-rescue vehicles.

Joining the ranks of one existing rescue vehicle, one tanker and three pumper-trucks, the new vehicles will increase the department's ability to respond to medical emergencies.

They were purchased from Horton Ambulance Co., Columbus, Ohio, at a cost of approximately $47,000 each, according to Fire Chief Dale Bailey.

The fire department budgeted for the new vehicles approximately two years ago when it was determined medical calls were increasing.

Bailey estimates that over 50 percent of the department's calls are medical in nature.

"That's the reason we're gearing more for it," he said.

Each of the three fire stations, located on Church Street, Maybee-Pine Knob roads, and Sashabaw-Clarkston roads, will house one of the rescue units.

They will be fully equipped with oxygen, splints, backboards, obstetrics kits (for delivering babies) and burn packs, among other equipment.

When the trucks are equipped to meet state specifications, Bailey anticipates they will be licensed to transport patients.

Currently, the fire department cannot transport patients and rely on Fleet Ambulance paramedics, who provide a backup system.

Firefighters, who are Basic Emergency Medical Technicians or who are trained in advanced first aid, are not licensed to administer medications.

They typically stabilize patients and monitor their vital signs in preparation for transportation to a hospital by paramedics.

Bailey emphasized that when the trucks are licensed for transport, they will only be used in that capacity during disasters or extreme emergencies.

Normally, patients will be transported by ambulances because paramedics are licensed to give medications and because they have radio contact with emergency rooms, Bailey said.

Firefighters Gordon Mason (left) and Steve Ronk busily equip a new medical rescue truck. Prior to the arrival of two new rescue trucks this month, the Independence Township Fire Department had only one rescue vehicle, purchased in 1973.

Tips for preventing poisonings

The Consumer Product Safety Commission is urging older persons to use childproof containers for medication.

Since 1970 the Federal Poison Prevention Act has required that pharmacists dispense prescription drugs in child-resistant bottle-top containers, unless specifically requested otherwise. According to the Michigan Department of Public Health, the measure has saved the lives of several children over the past 15 years.

However, a recent study of the SPSC indicates that 36 percent of all prescription drugs swallowed by children involve the medications of grandparents.

The reason is apparent. Older people often have a difficult time opening childproof containers. As a result, they ask that their medications not be put in such bottles.

This is understandable, the health department said, especially since there are no small children living in the home. But, grandchildren do come for visits, and when they do, especially those under the age of 5, they can get into their grandparents' medications.

Sometimes the results tragic, and those tragedies point to the need for safety caps regardless of whether children reside in the home.

In addition, the health department offers ten rules for preventing accidental poisonings.

- *1. Keep household chemicals and medicines out of reach of children and locked up when not in use.
- *2. When you use household chemicals or medicines, never let them out of your sight, even when you answer the telephone or the doorbell.
- *3. Store all medicines separately from household chemicals.
- *4. Keep items in their original containers.
- *5. Leave original labels on all products, and read the label before using.
- *6. Always leave the light on when giving or taking medicines.
- *7. Avoid taking medicines in front of children since they tend to imitate grown-ups.
- *8. Refer to medicine as "medicine" — not "candy".
- *9. Throw away the medicine when the illness for which it was prescribed is over.
- *10. Use safety packaging properly — by closing containers securely after use.

Use caution when fighting pests

Pesticides can be very useful in killing those creeping, crawling and flying critters that invade your home during warm months. But they can be dangerous if used improperly.

The following advice is offered by the Cooperative Extension Service of Michigan State University.

Before using any pesticide or other household chemical, read the label and make sure you understand the directions, any possible hazards and the first aid instructions. Then follow them.

Here are a few safety tips:

- Do not measure pesticides with utensils used to prepare food. Use a special set of measuring utensils and store them with your pesticides to avoid mix-ups.

- Wear rubber gloves when using pesticides.
- Don't mix one chemical with another unless the label says to do so.
- Store pesticides in a locked place, out of the reach of children.

Don't breathe the pesticide mist. If you get pesticide on your skin, rinse it off. And if you spill it on your clothes, change them.

It's just as important that you discard pesticides safely. If special disposal is required, it will be described on the label.

WHAT'S YOUR HEART WORTH?

Years back, if you added up the total value of the chemicals in your body, it was estimated at about 98 cents. Later, it increased to around $1.62. Today, you're worth over $200,000, according to a reputable medical journal.

Regardless of the current price of your body's minerals, your body is your most valuable possession and really can't be measured in terms of money alone. Because your body is your "home," you need to protect it against abuse and try to stay in the best possible health.

The heart is one of your body's most essential organs, yet heart disease is the leading cause of death in America today. The most common form of heart disease is called angina pectoris. Angina is actually a chest pain which occurs when the blood flow to your heart is being reduced by thickening of the arteries, or a spasm, or a combination of both. If the blood flow through the coronary arteries is completely cut off, you will suffer a heart attack, which might be fatal.

What you know about angina may save your life," says Dr. John E. Jefferis, medical director of the Pfizer Pharmaceuticals Healthcare Education Program. "If you are diagnosed early enough as having an-gina, before too much damage is done, you may need only some oral medication and changes in lifestyle to keep the disease from becoming life-threatening."

The early warning signs of angina are subtle and may include a sense of fullness or a feeling of "indigestion," a pain in your shoulder or neck, or a tightness or heaviness in your chest. If you experience such symptoms, or have a chest pain that lasts longer than two minutes, your body is sending you a signal and you should immediately check with your doctor to see what is wrong.

Not only will you protect your heart by heeding the early warning signals your body sends you, but you'll discover that it's far less costly to deal with a disease in its early stages than to wait until it becomes more serious.

Even so, you can never really put a price tag on your heart. Keeping your body healthy, and knowing its warning signals, is the best insurance with which you can protect this priceless property.

Some people have believed that eating daisies would cure toothache.

Test your knowledge of arthritis facts, myths

5. Do only the elderly get arthritis?
6. Why seek medical treatment for arthritis when there is no cure?
7. Does rheumatoid arthritis affect only the joints?
8. Can diet lessen or prevent arthritis?
9. Can rheumatoid arthritis go away by itself?
10. Is medication the only important factor in a treatment program?
11. Will a warm, dry climate help arthritis?
12. If aspirin relieves arthritis pain, is medical treatment necessary?

1. No. The term arthritis refers to approximately 100 different conditions that involve pain in joints and connective tissues.
2. The five main types are rheumatoid arthritis, which can cripple; osteoarthritis, which is usually mild and is most common in older people; ankylosing spondylitis, which affects the spine; systemic lupus erythematosus, which damages organs throughout the body and primarily affects young woman; and gout, which is usually inherited, occurs mostly in men and is especially likely to involve joints of the foot, ankle or knee.

3. Chief symptoms include morning stiffness and recurrent or persistent joint pain.
4. Yes. Different forms of arthritis require different treatments, and treatment is most effective when started early.
5. No. Many athletes get osteoarthritis in injured joints, and rheumatoid arthritis can strike children and young adults.
6. The major forms are chronic, lifelong diseases, but continuing treatment is essential to minimize pain and potentially crippling joint damage.
7. No. Connective tissues throughout the body can be involved as well.
8. Good nutrition is important, but there is no evidence that particular elements in the diet have any effect on the major forms of arthritis except for gout. Obesity, however, puts undue strain on weight-bearing joints and should be avoided.
9. This usually happens on a temporary basis only and is called remission. Juvenile arthritis often goes away permanently, but rheumatoid arthritis in adults generally returns.
10. No. Medication, rest exercise, heat, surgery, splints, walking aids and rehabilitation are all useful in arthritis treatment.

11. There is no evidence that climate affects the course of the disease.
12. Yes. The dose of aspirin sufficient to relieve pain may not be adequate to prevent joint damage. Regular doses of any medication, including aspirin, should not be taken without a doctor's supervision.

Pregnant? Don't drink alcohol

Use of alcohol during pregnancy may result in an irreversible birth defect called Fetal Alcohol Syndrome.

Alcohol is toxic to the growing tissues of the developing fetus and may cause mental retardation, facial abnormalities, stunted growth or learning disabilities.

FAS children do not outgrow these defects.

Ranking only behind Down's Syndrome and spina bifida, FAS is a common cause of birth defects with associated mental retardation in newborn babies.

A conservative estimate indicates that FAS occurs in one of every 750 births.

Doctors and scientists have been unable to determine a "safe" amount of alcohol during pregnancy. Yet, FAS is totally preventable by abstaining from alcohol while pregnant.

For more information about FAS, call the Oakland County Health Division, Health Education and Nutrition services, 858-1107.

High blood pressure doesn't need to be a killer

By Dr. James Harrison, Chief Executive

It is well known that heart disease and stroke are the most common cause of death in this country. What is not so well known is that high blood

Life extenders

We can start today to savor life, be more productive, and possibly have longer to live. The changes required are simple, common-sense modifications, but they can be profoundly effective.

1. Decide to Relax - The typical crisis-oriented life is not a necessity. Great success is possible without killing ourselves.
2. Have a Thorough Physical Exam - The physician can be our best ally when it comes to a long and productive life.
3. Control Diet and Weight - A nutritious, balanced diet high in protein and fiber makes us feel better physically and psychologically. Check with your physician before you begin a diet, but know that most diets mean reducing the amounts of calories, fats, and alcohol we consume.
4. Start an Exercise Program - Exercise is good not only for burning calories and toning muscles (particularly heart and lungs), but it is an aid to sleeping soundly and generally feeling great.
5. Learn Efficiency - Most workaholics can accomplish more work that they are now doing through changes in the way they work; starting the day early rather than frittering away the first, most precious hour; planning for five minutes to save 20 minutes of doing; and delegating.
6. Time Management - Most pressure in life can be traced to time. Why? Because time is unique. It can't be controlled by the traditional means we use to successfully control other resources.

—Dr. Ivan W. Fitzwater

pressure is the number one predictor of death from stroke and heart disease, as well as kidney disease.

This is extremely unfortunate because high blood pressure is, almost always, controllable by medical treatment.

One of the major problems is that high blood pressure has no symptoms. The other problem is that, even when it is diagnosed, many people don't continue their treatment because they don't feel sick.

In Michigan, it is estimated that about 1.7 million adults have high blood pressure, about one-third of whom don't know it. Of those who do know they have high blood pressure, only about 40 percent are under continuing treatment.

Statewide of the 1.7 million with high blood pressure, only about 870,000 of them are under treatment at any one time.

What is blood pressure and what is high blood pressure?

Blood pressure is measured in two ways: the force of the blood as it leaves the heart and strikes the walls of the aorta; and the resistance that the blood must overcome to pass through the smaller blood vessels.

The first is called systolic pressure, the second diastolic pressure. So blood pressure is always given as two numbers.

In general, for an adult, the systolic pressure should be under 140 and the diastolic pressure under 90, or a reading of 140 over 90. Anything over this is considered high blood pressure.

If you don't know what your blood pressure is, make it a point to find out.

This is especially true if you're over 55. The prevalence of high blood pressure among adults over Castor oil is used as a lubricant in jet planes.

55 is three to four times higher than in adults 20 to 55.

So, first of all, find out what your blood pressure is. If it's high, it can readily be controlled by medications. But you'll probably need to stay on these medications for the rest of your life. Don't stop taking them just because you feel good.

High blood pressure can kill. But it doesn't need to—it can be controlled. You're the only one who can control it—by sticking with your treatment as prescribed by your doctor.

Second opinions, post surgery treatment, heart cancer

QUESTION: My husband's mother has cancer and is being treated by her family doctor. We have been reading in the paper about new kinds of treatments and new drugs.

We aren't doctors, so we don't know if she's getting the most up-to-date treatment. How do you go about getting a "second opinion"?

Will our family doctor get angry if we see another doctor? Also, if we see another doctor, will she have to go through all those tests over again?

ANSWER: A patient with cancer is usually best looked after by his or her own family doctor.

However, a family physician cannot possibly know everything about all the different fields of medicine, so it should not upset your doctor if you ask for a second opinion.

In fact, he is your best source for finding the most knowledgeable specialist for your mother's kind of cancer. He can arrange to have the necessary test results and biopsy specimens sent to the specialist before she is even seen.

Some of the tests may have to be repeated, but generally the most uncomfortable tests and procedures do not have to be done again.

Cancer specialists include radiation therapists, surgeons, gynecologists and oncologists. The latter are specialists in internal medicine or pediatrics who devote most of their practice to treating cancer patients with chemicals (called "chemotherapy").

Your family physician will undoubtedly welcome the opinion of one of these specialists and will probably continue caring for your mother-in-law once everyone is reassured that everything possible is being done for her.

QUESTION: My mother has cancer and her doctor said the surgeon got it all out. But her doctor is also trying to persuade her to take some chemicals in order to prevent it from returning. Why is this necessary if it was all removed at the time of the operation?

ANSWER: Your mother's doctor meant that the surgeon completely removed all visible tumors and that X-rays of the rest of the body showed no evidence of cancer.

Unfortunately, within a few months or years of a "successful" cancer operation, the original cancer too often shows signs of having spread to another part of the body, such as the lung or bone.

These "new" cancers were probably present at the time of the first operation, but were too small to be detected by any of our tests.

Sometimes these tiny cancers are very susceptible to the chemicals in anti-cancer drugs, more so than large tumors, and certain patients are now being treated with chemotherapy for a year or so after an apparently successful cancer operation.

Among these patients, the number who develop recurrences of the cancer within the next few years has diminished.

This is an important advance in cancer treatment and is called "adjuvant chemotherapy." Unfortunately, only some forms of cancer can be successfully treated in this combined way.

QUESTION: Is there such a thing as cancer of the heart?

ANSWER: Primary tumors of the heart are exceedingly rare, and usually occur in young people. The most frequent tumor is known as myxoma and is benign.

Malignant tumors rarely originate in the heart, but tumors arising elsewhere can spread to the heart. The most common tumors that do this are melanomas and lung cancer.

QUESTION: What are the first signs of a child having leukemia?

Although leukemia can occur at any age, in childhood it usually strikes the pre-schooler.

The child becomes increasingly pale because of anemia, and easy bruising or repeated bloody noses can lead one to suspect that all is not well.

The child's physician usually finds enlargement of the lymph glands, liver and spleen on physical examination.

A simple blood test will tell whether or not the child has a serious blood disease. A bone marrow examination would then be required to confirm this diagnosis.

Questions about cancer may be directed The Cancer Information Service: The Cleveland Clinic Foundation, 9500 Euclid Ave., Cleveland, OH 44106. All questions will be answered by mail.

One estimate is that it takes you thirty minutes to reach a level of deep sleep.

The heart pumps blood through the labyrinth of 70,000 miles of blood vessels once every minute.

Back problems can be prevented

The United States leads the world in the number of people suffering from low back problems. The current estimate is that eight out of ten people in this country will seek medical treatment for low back pain at least once in their lives. Some of them will have only slight muscle spasms; many others, however, will have serious, potentially disabling problems.

The good news is that the problems, both large and small, can often be avoided. But it does require a bit of commitment and some good common sense. The Institute for Low Back Care in Minneapolis offers some suggestions that can keep you from ending up in the doctor's office . . . or on the operating table.

1. Excess Weight and a sedentary lifestyle compose a perfect prescription for a low back problem. Get rid of the weight and get some physical exercise.

2. Some recommended forms of exercise are: walking, swimming, hiking, bicycling and cross-country skiing. Risky activities include: jogging, horseback riding, snowmobiling, rigorous calisthenics, golf and tennis.

3. It is far better to engage in physical activity in shorter sessions on a regular basis than to overdue it on a sporadic basis. Even a healthy back can experience severe muscle trauma when overworked.

4. Avoid long periods of sitting. Getting up and walking for a minute every half hour or so can make a big difference. Sit up straight, but not rigid.

5. Avoid high-heel shoes. Shoes with heels higher than one inch increase the curve of the low back, thereby straining the spine.

6. Long-distance driving should include frequent stops for stretching and walking. A pillow placed under the thighs relieves the pressure on the lower back.

7. Choose a firm, but not rigid, mattress. Also, avoid sleeping on your stomach. The preferred position is on the side, with the knees slightly flexed toward the chest.

8. Improper lifting can be disastrous. First, don't lift anything that requires a great effort. Any lifting should be done with a slight flexing of the hips, knees and low back. The legs, arms and abdomen—not the low back—should provide the power.

9. If you are experiencing low back pain, don't try to "work it out" by exercise. Aspirin, heat and bed rest are recommended as first-line treatments, followed by a visit to your doctor if there's no relief after a few days.

10. Those with severe, ongoing low back problems need not necessarily undergo surgery. Various conservative means of treatment can often bring relief to many sufferers.

Pain-killers differ in dosages

Recently, the new medications Advil® and Nuprin® have been advertised on television. What is the difference between these two medications? Are they the same as Motrin®?

Advil® and Nuprin® are nonprescription medications, both of which contain 200mg of ibuprofen. Motrin®, a prescription medication, also contains ibuprofen but in higher strengths of 300mg, 400mg or 600mg per tablet.

Ibuprofen (the generic name for Advil®, Nuprin® and Motrin®) is one of several prescription medications that the FDA has allowed to become available without a prescription. It is effective in decreasing pain and swelling.

The nonprescription products are beneficial for mild arthritic pain, muscle aches and pains, and menstrual cramps.

Ibuprofen and aspirin are similar in their ability to relieve pain and swelling. Both are more effective in decreasing swelling than acetaminophen (Tylenol®, Datril®, Panadol®).

Ibuprofen should be taken as directed on the package label and only when needed for mild pain relief. If you find you need to take this medication every day or if you do not get relief from the maximum dose, inform your physician or pharmacist.

When should one purchase ibuprofen instead of aspirin or acetaminophen?

Since the cost of ibuprofen is higher and the medications are equally effective in relieving pain, aspirin and acetaminophen should be tried first. If the pain is not relieved by these medications, then ibuprofen may be tried.

If prescription arthritis or pain medications have been tried and were not beneficial, it is not likely that ibuprofen 200mg will give more relief.

Ibuprofen should not be taken together with prescription arthritis or pain medications, aspirin or acetaminophen without your physician's advice.

Does ibuprofen have side effects?

Even the lower, nonprescription dose of ibuprofen may cause some side effects.

The medication should be taken with food to avoid an upset stomach. Dizziness, headaches, fluid retention and rashes may also occur.

People who get short of breath or asthma attacks from taking aspirin may have the same effect from taking ibuprofen. Pregnant women should consult with their physician before taking this medication.

Ibuprofen is a new nonprescription medication that is effective and safe when taken wisely. Wise medication means being informed about medications you take.

Ask your family pharmacist's advice before taking ibuprofen or any nonprescription medication.

OU professor pens booklet about well water

By Dan Vandenhemel

Floating around in well water can be an assortment of materials, both natural and man-made.

The amount of the elements determine if the water is bad for your health.

A booklet written by Oakland University professor Paul Tomboulia and published by the East Michigan Environmental Action Council gives tips on what a well owner can do if he suspects the well is contaminated.

Tomboulia, director of the chemistry department at O.U. and an instructor there for 25 years, said there's no routine testing for public or private wells in Michigan.

"If you can't convince the health department to check your water, they won't," Tomboulia said. "If you come in worried about the safety of your water, they can't deal with it."

The booklet titled "The Well Water Testing Guide: Information for Well Owners" explains the quality of the water, the flow of groundwater and testing procedures.

Materials in the water can be divided into contaminants (iron, sodium, calcium, sulfate, chloride) and pollutants (gasoline products and organic solvents), Tomboulia said.

"Sometimes the water can look bad but's very healthy," he said. "Older wells should be checked regularly for faults where some of these contaminants or pollutants can seep in."

Of the estimated two million wells in the state, Tomboulia says less than 1 percent are contaminated.

"The booklet was not written so much for the contaminates but for the synthetic solvents," he said. "It provides information to the well owner on what options they (have) if they think the water is contaminated."

The booklet was developed through a grant from the C.S. Mott Foundation and is available for $2.50 through the East Michigan Environmental Action Council, 21220 West 14 Mile Road, Birmingham, MI 48010. The council's phone number is 258-5188.

Professor Paul Tomboulia checks samples of well water suspected of being contaminated.

Tomboulia has studied well water for 10 years and has written a booklet about it.

Nurse specializes in care of elderly

By Carolyn Walker

They are the fastest growing segment of our population. They may also be the most lonely, the most forgotten.

They are the elderly.

Julie Johnson feels a tug on her heartstrings when she thinks of them.

Not satisfied with just thinking, she went into action.

A certified nurse practitioner, she joined the staff of the new Harper-Grace Senior Health Care Center last year.

There, in her capacity as a practitioner, she closely follows the medical problems of senior citizens. She is responsible for patient primary care, evaluations and followup.

Nurse practitioners have been licensed in Michigan for approximately 10 years, Johnson says, adding they have taken on the duties which were traditionally the doctor's domain.

Working closely with physician advisers, nurse practitioners do physicals and monitor patients, re-order their medications and educate them about their bodies.

"(Patients) are reacting quite well to it," she says. "Nurses (practitioners) with master's degrees can very effectively teach them how to stay healthier."

Johnson, 52, worked as a pediatric nurse for Dr. James O'Neill, M.D., from 1961 to 1970, and received her master's degree from Wayne State University in 1984.

She felt the pull toward gerontology when her father became a cancer victim and her father-in-law developed Alzheimer's disease.

"Working with older adults got to be an interest of mine," she says. "I wanted to follow people. People are living a lot longer."

In addition to her work with Harper Hospital, the Independence Township resident is a volunteer speaker with the Cancer Society and the Alzheimer's and Related Disorders Association, where she is co-ordinator of 14 Alzheimer's family support chapters.

Support groups definitely help, she says. "That's where people learn about it (Alzheimer's)."

According to Johnson, many elderly citizens are the victims of abuse, confusion, undiagnosed illness and loneliness.

Some display Alzheimer's-like traits, such as forgetfulness associated with depression or uncontrolled diabetes, but are not its victims, she says.

Five to 6 percent of the elderly population have a problem, she says, and they are often dependent on the compassion of their fellow man.

She admonishes anyone who knows of a senior citizen with health or other problems to become involved by contacting physicians or Adult Protective Services.

"Anyone can make that phone call," she says.

Julie Johnson finds working with elderly patients rewarding. Cancer patients, especially, appreciate the efforts of those who help, she says.

A person breathes seven quarts of air every minute.

NEWS OF SAFETY

Encouraging Americans to wear safety belts more often can save more lives.

Facts from the US Department of Transportation, National Highway Traffic Safety Administration

It's a national tragedy: about 30,000 deaths each year are a result of automobile accidents. For the severely injured, the pain lingers on—auto accidents cost taxpayers almost $2 billion a year. Fortunately, there is a way to protect yourself from adding to these statistics—wear safety belts.

Safety belts cut your odds of serious injuries by 60-70 percent. They cut your odds of suffering a fatality by 50 percent. Using a safety belt makes your chances of survival three to four times better than they are if you drive beltless.

Safety belts help occupants in five ways: There is the "ride down" benefit, in which the belt begins to stop the wearer as the car is stopping. The belt keeps the head and face from striking objects like the steering wheel, dashboard, or windshield. The belt spreads the stopping force widely across the strong parts of the body. Belts prevent vehicle occupants from colliding with each other. Belts help the driver to maintain vehicle control, thus decreasing the possibility of an additional collision.

It's a good program. Use it if you need it.
