State OK's surgical center

By Carolyn Walker

A state-mandated certificate of need (CON) for the proposed $4.7 million Clarkston Surgical Center was signed in Lansing July 2.

The CON comes in the wake of months of plan revisions and meetings between Dr. James O'Neill, the Clarkston pediatrician who proposed the facility, and the Michigan Department of Public Health.

Certificates of need are required by the state for building any hospital-type facilities which accept third-party insurance.

Having obtained the CON, O'Neill plans to approach the Independence Township Planning Commission with building proposals within the next two months.

He says he hopes to break ground on the facility by October and possibly have it open by October 1986.

On April 3, O'Neill received word from the state that his original bid for a certificate of need had been denied. At that time, the state cited six reasons, including declining utilization of existing emergency rooms, for denying the center.

O'Neill subsequently set about obtaining the CON through an appeals process.

"We had to go back to the state and show them we were for real," says O'Neill, adding that he is excited about seeing his 20-year-old dream materialize. "I think it (the center) will be very busy."

Planned for approximately 6 acres behind O'Neill's pediatric office off M-15 in Independence Township, the proposed facility will consist of three floors, each 16,000 square feet in size.

The first floor is to house doctors' offices and the Clarkston Ambulatory Care Center, currently located next door to O'Neill's pediatric practice.

The second floor is to hold four outpatient surgical rooms and recovery rooms. And the third floor is to be used for outpatient mental health.

O'Neill also proposes relocating the Church Street Fire Station 1 to the facility.

The surgical center is to be staffed by physicians from St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital, Pontiac General Hospital and Crittenton Hospital of Rochester.

O'Neill says outpatient surgical procedures such as tonsillectomies, hernia repairs, cystoscopies, biop-

The beat goes on

It didn't rain on the July 4th parade, but rain canceled Clarkston's Concert in the Park the next day. The three remaining free Friday evening concerts this month, however, continue on schedule.

"It's the first time we've been rained out in six seasons," said Joan Kopietz, chairperson of the concerts sponsored by the Village Business Association.

In accordance with the musicians' union contract, Kopietz said the musicians will probably be paid anyway—and that she did not expect to extend the schedule beyond the concerts already scheduled.

Contributions by community members have been excellent, she said. Of the $1,200 cost, about $900 has been donated so far. "Band Aid" boxes for donations are located in village businesses.

"The money has been so generous this year, we're tickled," she said.

On Friday, July 12, the Jim Morris Concert Band's music includes marches, patriotic music and band concert music.

On Friday, July 19, the newly formed Clarkston Community Band performs under the direction of Clifford Chapman, the CHS band director.

On Friday, July 26, the Jim Morris Concert Band returns.

The concerts run from 7 to 9 p.m. in the Depot Road Park, adjacent to Village Hall, 375 Depot. Popcorn and soda pop are sold by the business association to help offset expenses.

H-flu vaccine for children is near perfect

By Carolyn Walker

A two-month-old vaccine is now on the market which can prevent illnesses caused by Haemophilus Influenza (H-flu) bacteria, according to Clarkston pediatrician Charles Yee, M.D.

The bacteria can cause sore throats and respiratory infections as well as meningitis, pneumonia, or a blood infection called sepsis.

In late June, an Independence toddler died of sepsis and early meningitis related to H-flu bacteria.

According to Yee, there is no danger of an epidemic, but he recommends that children between the ages of 2 and 6 years old receive the vaccine, which is given once in a lifetime.

His partner, James O'Neill, M.D., agrees, saying that most area pediatricians are recommending the vaccine to parents when they bring their children in for check-ups.

"We highly recommend it," he says.

Illness usually begins with sore throat, ear infections or respiratory infections, before leading to sepsis or meningitis, according to O'Neill.

The incubation period for the disease is approximately four days.

"It's an unfortunate thing that it's called what it is," O'Neill says, adding that the name alludes to influenza, which the disease is not.

The vaccine is 96-percent effective in children 2 to 6 years old, O'Neill says. Due to the nature of young toddlers' immature immune systems, the vaccine is not as effective in the pre-2-year-old age group and is, therefore, not usually recommended for them.

The vaccine may be given to older children, but they are usually able to fight the bacteria without it, O'Neill adds.

An estimated 25 percent of the population are carriers of the H-flu bacteria but may never become ill from it.

Of those who contract the bacteria, not all develop meningitis or sepsis, says Dr. Carol Bird, epidemiologist for the Oakland County Health Department.

The H-flu meningitis is a treatable disease, if caught early, according to Bird. Its symptoms include lethargy, high fever, headaches, vomiting, a stiff neck and sometimes coma.

Meningitis can also be contracted from other forms of bacteria and viruses.

When the disease is present, members of the family are sometimes put on preventive antibiotics, especially if there are other children in the family under age 4, Bird says.

In addition, playmates may be given antibiotics if they were with the infected child for several hours at the time of becoming ill.

When the Independence toddler contracted the secondary infections, his family members and immediate playmates received preventive antibiotics, according to Bird, who said the health department will often contact people close to the patient if the family doctor has not done so.

There have been no other cases of H-flu related meningitis or sepsis in recent weeks, Bird says.

Utility permit fees raised

By Carolyn Walker

An increase in plumbing and electrical permit fees is soon to be enacted in Independence Township.

The board approved the fee hike 6-0 July 2, at the request of building and planning department director Kenneth Delbridge.

Beginning within the next two months, all electrical and plumbing permit fees will be $65 each, an increase of approximately $50 over the current rates. The fee can include up to three inspections.

Delbridge said the $12-$15 fees presently collected had not been raised since 1977 and were not compatible with fees paid in neighboring townships.

He recommended adopting the same fee schedule used by Orion and Brandon townships.

Richard Scribner, the Independence Township heating and plumbing inspector, is also inspector for Orion Township.

Scribner is paid 75 percent of the fees in both locations. He does not receive any additional salary, which means his Independence income is considerably less than what he receives in Orion, according to Delbridge.

"To cover my expenses this is basically what I need," Delbridge said.

In addition to paying Scribner, permit fees are used to finance overhead, including paperwork and secretarial fees.

Those present voted unanimously to raise the rates. Trustee Dale Stuart was absent.

Thomas retains presidency

School board elects officers

By Kathy Greenfield

For the sixth consecutive year, Janet Thomas was elected president of the Clarkston Board of Education by her fellow board members Monday night.

"We don't usually have a battle over it, but I still was surprised because I thought they might consider a change at this point in time," said Thomas after the meeting.

"I really am gratified to think at least my peers on the board respect me enough to retain me in that position," she added.

Thomas is beginning her 11th year on the board of education. She has also served three years as its treasurer and one year as vice president.

The board voted 5-0 to re-elect Thomas and its other officers during the annual organizational meeting held before the regular meeting.

David Kithil was re-elected vice president; Elaine Schultz, treasurer; and Mary Jane Chaustowich, secretary.

Voting to approve the re-election of the officers were Thomas, Chaustowich, Carolyn Place, Stephen Werner and Thomas Bills. David Kithil and Elaine Schultz were absent.

In other action during the organizational meeting, the board:

- Re-elected Thomas as the Oakland Schools designate.

- Appointed Barbara Cowen as assistant secretary.

- Re-elected Bills to the Oakland County School Boards Association Legislative Committee.

- Appointed William Jackson, district financial manager, as the school elections administrator and administered his oath of office.

- Approved a list of authorized bank accounts and authorized signatures for 1985-86.

- Approved the same school board salaries as last year—$30 a meeting for not more than 52 meetings a year. Normally, the board meets 24 times a year. Board members are also paid for preapproved committee assignments.

- Approved a $100,000 treasurer's bond for Schultz, as required by state law.

- Approved membership in the Metropolitan Detroit Bureau of School Studies. The annual membership fee, based on enrollment, is about $1,700. The organization provides information on employee contracts and bargaining, statistical data and monthly meetings. About 93 school districts in a six-county area are members. Clarkston has been a member about 15 years.

Principal and assistant are newly chosen

Clarkston High School has a new principal and assistant principal.

John Kirchgessner was appointed principal and Brent D. Cooley assistant principal at Monday night's board of education meeting. The board voted 5-0 in separate motions to approve the appointments.

"Obviously, I'm excited about it and looking forward to the challenge," Kirchgessner said after the meeting.

Kirchgessner, 38, has been an employee of the Clarkston school district 16 years, from 1969-72 as a science teacher at Sashabaw Junior High School, from 1972-75 as assistant principal at SJHS and from 1975 to the present as assistant principal at CHS.

Former CHS principal Dominic Mauti resigned from the post June 28. Kirchgessner has served as acting principal since July 1. For the 1985-86 school year, the position pays a salary of $50,299 plus benefits.

At the board meeting, Superintendent Milford Mason announced the recommendation of Kirchgessner for the job.

Mason said he screened the original 52 applications, narrowing the number to 29 for "technical reasons, lack of hours of credit or experience, or no administrative experience."

A committee of four reduced the number to 12, who were interviewed by an eight-member committee, Mason said.

"We went through a pretty exhaustive and thorough evaluation," he said.

Board President Janet Thomas said she was a member of the committee that recommended Kirchgessner for the job.

"He was in very good company and there were very good people for that position," she said.

Cooley, 34, was one of the applicants for the principal's post.

The former principal of a combined junior-senior high school in Kingsley, a town near Traverse City, he is to be on the job as a CJHS assistant principal July 10. His salary for the 1985-86 school year is $43,638.

"I think you people will be very pleased with Mr. Cooley," said Thomas.

Board approves raises for 30

Wage increases ranging from 5.4 to 6 percent were approved by the Clarkston Board of Education for the district's 30 administrative and supervisory personnel Monday night.

Following a brief discussion over whether the superintendent's salary should be considered separately, the board voted 5-0 to approve the salary hikes en masse.

The central office administrator's salaries increased by about 5.4 percent, with Superintendent Milford Mason's salary the highest at $60,112. Salaries for the six additional administrators range from $46,386 to $51,883.

The 15 building principal, assistant principal and department director salaries also increased about 5.4 percent. Their wages range from $37,470 to $51,387.

Salaries for the eight supervisor and coordinator positions increased about 6 percent, and range from $23,158 to $31,828.

In addition to the wages, the district employees are also covered by benefits including medical and co-pay prescriptions, dental, optical and term life insurance.

In comparison with the 28 public school districts in Oakland County, Clarkston's administrative and supervisory staff usually falls about 18th in salaries, said Mason.

"We're typically lower than the middle in every category," he said, but it is impossible to be more precise because districts are presently in the process of approving salaries.

This is the first year the Clarkston school district has used a wage and salary administration system, in which performance is taken into consideration when giving raises.

The procedure includes evaluation of employees by central administration staff members. Mason evaluates the central office administrators, and the school board determines the salary for Mason.

Fire Marshall cautions public on insulating

By Carolyn Walker

A recent house fire, caused by blown-in insulation laying over a light fixture, could be the first of many if proper action is not taken by the public, says Fire Marshall Gar Wilson.

Many people are increasing the amount of insulation in their attics, Wilson said, and could be victims of a similar fire if they cover their fixtures with insulation or allow it to touch the hot light surfaces.

The Perry Lake Road fire, which was called into the Independence Township Fire Department at 10:27 p.m. on July 1, began in the attic over a recessed bathroom fixture.

There were no injuries. But firefighters returned to the scene of the smoldering fire twice. They worked a total of eight hours extinguishing the flames.

There were two probable causes for the fire, Wilson said: the insulation which directly covered the hot fixture and a light bulb which did not follow manufacturer's recommendations.

The bulb was the proper wattage, but was not reflective, as recommended by the manufacturer of the fixture, Wilson said. Reflective lights can be identified by the R40 reading near the wattage numbers on the bulb.

The owner of the house had used a typical incandescent light bulb, which allows the heat to rise rather than being directed downward.

Wilson suggests that people who install additional insulation in their attics make sure all light fixtures (especially recessed lights, which have their boxes in the attic) be surrounded by a non-combustible material, such as wood or tin.

"You don't want to cover this fixture with a combustible material," he said, adding recessed lights must be able to breathe and allow the heat to escape.

Protection should be at least two to three inches away from the fixtures, so the combustible material doesn't lay against the fixture, he said.

Surgical center OK'd for Clarkston

sies and X-rays will be done at the center.

Patients will not stay overnight, and those requiring extensive surgery or treatment will be sent to area hospitals.

O'Neill also proposes converting his present office building to a physio-therapy facility; and the current ambulatory care center into a surgical supply/pharmacy center.

All types of medical insurance will be accepted at the center, O'Neill says.

The surgical center will most likely be owned by a group of physicians and medical employees and leased to the Clarkston Surgical Center, according to O'Neill. A citizen's advisory committee will oversee the facility.

"This is a new kid on the block," he says of the proposal, which he sees as different from conventional corporate medicine. "Something that will change the face of medicine forever."

The creation of a community-oriented surgical/ambulatory care center is a natural step in the evolution of local medicine, O'Neill says.

Facilities such as these were available in O'Neill's home town of Williston, N.D., when he was a pre-medical student and were very successful, he says.

The 50-year-old O'Neill has harbored a dream of bringing such services to Clarkston since he opened his practice in 1961.

This map, drawn by Dr. James O'Neill, shows the relationship of the proposed Clarkston Surgical Center and the other medical buildings. It is planned for 5.6 acres off Dixie Highway behind O'Neill's current pediatric building.

Assessor search

A three-member subcommittee of the Independence Township board has been created to find a new township assessor.

Twelve-year-veteran assessor Dave Sherrill resigned the post in June.

Assistant assessor Marge Malett was appointed by the board July 2 to fill the position until a new assessor is hired.

Having published the position in three assessing trade-magazines, the subcommittee will review applications and recommend the top three applicants to the board in August.

They anticipate having a new employee in the position by September.

The subcommittee includes Terry Haran, a Madison Heights assessor who resides in Independence, Treasurer John Lutz and Clerk Richard Holman.

Property won't sell; resident seeks rezoning

By Carolyn Walker

Next to the refrigerator, on Merritt Butler's kitchen wall, a delicately painted sign reads: "God grant me the serenity to accept the things I cannot change, courage to change the things I can and wisdom to know the difference."

The sign oversees Butler as he sits at his kitchen table, describing his frustration with Independence Township. It seems ironic.

Butler is caught in the middle of a Catch-22 zoning problem and looking for answers.

His Sashabaw Road house has been for sale over 10 years. Butler wants his property rezoned from single family residential to commercial to facilitate its sale, he says, adding that no one is interested in purchasing it as a home.

Likewise, business owners are not interested in the property, because they do not want to take on the task of having the property rezoned, he says.

On March 19, township board members voted 4-3 to deny commercial and recommend office zoning. Board members cited the desire to use the property as a buffer between the commercial district to Butler's right, and neighboring residences, offices and a gravel pit.

The property is adjacent to Mario's Deli and across the street from Dr. Jack Shader's office building.

Butler, 71, built his house on two acres in 1968. He estimates it is now worth $70,000.

As an alternative to having the entire property zoned commercial, he has offered to keep the house himself and sell only the front acreage as commercial, he says. But township officials were not receptive.

"We've offered them about every kind of a deal a human being could offer them," he says.

Supervisor Frank Ronk, says the township is sympathetic.

"No one's going to buy his property the way it is (residential) and we understand that," he says. "The overall Sashabaw study calls for office."

Butler says he has been provided with an attorney through the United Auto Workers Union and General Motors.

And a trip to court will be his next step, if the issue isn't resolved administratively, he says.

"If I don't get what I want, I sure am (going to court)," he says.

I'm beginning to understand my aversion to wrist watches.

This flash of knowledge began during a party when several of the guests began talking about a clock on the wall that didn't keep time.

I began thinking about my own environment.

In my house, I'm virtually surrounded by just-a-pretty-face clocks. At last count, there were three in our living room, one in the dining room and one in the kitchen.

Don't get me wrong, we have plenty of clocks that do keep time—seven to be exact. Of the seven working clocks, four are digital and three have dials.

We have lots of timely conversations.

"Which clock is correct?"

"I think it's the one in the kitchen."

"Are you sure?"

"No."

"Who knows the phone number of time service?"

Things really get hopping when the electricity goes out.

All the digitals flash. One older clock stops, but the motor keeps humming. In order to reset that one, you have to take it off the wall and twist a button counter-clockwise. If you twist the button the wrong way, the clock runs backwards. I always start out with the mistake.

For us, the song lyric, "Does anybody really know what time it is?" has more significance in the literal sense than the figurative.

To make matters even more complex, five of our clocks have alarms. The three digital alarms are all different—with a capital "D." One chirps like a bird, one sounds like the beeper on those little service carts in airports and the other blasts a red-alert beep similar to the ones on computers.

Two clocks are attached to radios. On one of them if you flip the switch up to turn it off instead of down, the radio comes on in the middle of the night.

In addition to the house clocks, there's a car clock. At work, there's the office clock.

Because of this easy access to time, I almost never wear a watch. The last time was when my car clock went kaput.

I found myself studying those wee numbers on my wrist constantly. That's just fine if you're alone, but the practice flops in social settings.

"Do you have someplace else you have to go?"

"No, I was just checking the time. What does your watch say? I set mine by the dining room clock, and I'm really not sure . . ."

There was a time, after my handicapped daughter was born, that I thought laughter would come only with great effort.

At times, the weight of the responsibility of caring for her many needs seemed almost overwhelming.

It was another small child who showed me that humor is like a saving grace, present in every situation.

At the time, my daughter was about 5 years old and we were making one of many trips to the doctor's.

My daughter sat busily engrossed building a house with the doctor's blocks.

Another little girl, who appeared to be about 4, cautiously approached her, slipped a hip onto the chair next to her and struck up an amiable conversation.

My daughter, who has a severe speech problem, seized the opportunity to make a new friend and began talking.

The other little girl listened, absolutely enthralled. She would nod occasionally in agreement, but it was obvious she couldn't understand a word my daughter was saying.

At long last, she got up and walked over to her father.

I sensed that the all-to-common questions "What's wrong with her?" and "Why does she talk so funny?" were soon to be asked about my daughter.

I braced myself.

But this little girl was different. The questions never came. She looked past my daughter's handicaps to the individual she perceived as very special.

"Daddy," she said in wide-eyed wonderment, "THAT little girl speaks Spanish!"

Here's some things you might find as interesting as I did.

We had a visit with Jean and Gene Sura when they returned recently from a 5-week trip to Egypt and Europe. It's Gene's opinion that "Nobody over there likes us".

However, the Suras also tell about talking to a junior high school class in Austria. Seems a brother of a friend is principal of the school. And, since both Suras taught at one time or another and Gene is a retired school administrator, they accepted the invite to speak.

What was the first question asked of these Americans? Have you ever had a McDonald's hamburger?

Other questions were typical. Have you been to Hollywood, do you watch Dallas and Dynasty on television, and do you go roller skating and skateboarding?

And, is America the land of opportunity they say it is? To the latter the Suras assured them though America's streets are not paved with gold, and children have to mind their parents and teachers, and workers have to stick to rules, Americans are free to do just about as they wish and there are many opportunities.

What did the Suras like most on their trip? King Tut's tomb. Would they go back? Never. What was worst? Driving 1,500 miles in England and Scotland on the wrong side of the road.

Every time I see an American Express travelers' check commercial on the tube I think of Andy Rooney. One night in his segment at the end of 60-minutes he said he would never buy travelers' checks . . . they're always getting lost.

If you're looking for a restaurant to just plain gorge yourself on good food at low prices, try Gracies in New Lothrop and up M-13 just south of Saginaw.

The salad bar is unending, including chicken gizzards, and the servings are gluttonous. Six of us adults ate there for $48.71 including some drinks and tip.

Here's some news the anti-hunters won't remember or repeat. Michigan hunters last year suffered the fewest hunting accidents in 46 years. That statistic comes at a time when the hunter population has grown much larger. Only 88 accidents were reported, 12 of them fatal. That's 11 less fatalities than 1983.

From now on when someone refers to one of our newspapers as a 'little' paper I'm going to quote Arthur Hays Sulzberger, who said, "The vital measure of a newspaper is not its size but its spirit". Someone please call and tell me who Arthur Hays Sulzberger is.

Here's a finishing fact I didn't want to know: In Tom Parker's book, In One Day, he said 8,000 Americans become pregnant by mistake. They also listen to 1,600 commercial messages.

Case of a looney lawsuit

Jim Fitzgerald

In view of recent hijack headlines, you're not going to believe this one. An area man, charging his privacy was invaded, is suing a huge airline and two airport employees for $1 million.

During the so-called invasion of privacy, a loaded gun was found in luggage the man was attempting to carry aboard an airliner.

I heard about it from Detroit lawyer Barry Wetherington, who represents the airline. I'm not mentioning any other names because the case is still pending and, in the interest of unbiased justice for all, I don't want to influence the outcome by identifying the lawsuit as one of the more outrageous examples of a society gone loony tunes under the auspices of the American Bar Association.

It all began a few years ago when airport security officers decided the man in question fit the hijacker profile. Of course, the particulars of this profile must remain confidential; otherwise, potential hijackers would know enough to stop shifting their eyes and chewing their briefcases.

Suffice it to say the security people did an excellent job. The loaded gun was found and its owner was subsequently found guilty and fined $1,000. Also, it was discovered that when arrested this time, he was already on parole for previous violations of gun laws.

It certainly appeared that society had won a justified victory and the gun-toter had received a deserved penalty. But that was according to criminal law. Civil law is a whole other ballgame where practically everybody is welcome to play, no matter how tattered their credentials.

The gun-toter actually found a lawyer willing to represent him in a $1 million lawsuit charging it was an invasion of his privacy to prevent him from taking a loaded gun aboard an airliner.

It is impossible to believe the outcome of this lawsuit will be anything other than a court order that the gun-toter and his lawyer be carried away by men in white suits. Otherwise, there would be precedent for believing airports and airlines have no right to protect passengers by searching luggage, and security personnel should be penalized for being good at their job.

Frivolous lawsuits are common in this litigious society, of course. There are few bigger growth industries than the one comprised of contingency fees and out-of-court settlements to cut legal expenses. But c'mon. There has to be a point beyond which no member of the bar association will step to make a buck. There has to be a time when even the most open-minded judge will close his court to greedy fools.

That point and time certainly should be provided by a lawsuit seeking $1 million in damages for a man who claims his privacy was invaded by airline and airport employees who found a loaded gun in his hand luggage.

Lawyers tell me one of the great things about this country is that anyone can sue anyone. Sure. And one of the great things about England is that plaintiffs who lose lawsuits must pay the legal expenses incurred by defendants.

Think about that. If an airline stopped you from flying with a loaded gun in your handbag, how eager would you be to sue for $1 million for invasion of privacy if you knew you might have to pay the airline lawyers for proving you were a greedy fool?

Finally, it should be noted that this is not an indictment of the entire legal profession. There are plenty of lawyers who won't take any case attached to a fee. After all, it was a lawyer who told me this million-dollar story you can't believe.

Rezoning allows parts store

By Carolyn Walker

Ground breaking for an auto parts store on Maybee Road east of Sashabaw is planned this summer.

Providing they receive final plat approval in July or August as projected, developers Rudy Mazza and Thomas Toteff plan ground breaking for the parts facility in August.

Mazza received rezoning of .6 acre for the auto parts building at the July 2 meeting of the Independence Township Board of Trustees.

The board voted 6-0 to approve rezoning the property from C2 (planned shopping center) to C1 (local business district). Trustee Dale Stuart was absent.

Their decision followed the recommendation of township planner Richard Carlisle. In a letter to board members, he described C1 as a "less intensive commercial district than C2."

Mazza and Toteff, who co-own an additional nine acres, had originally asked that 2.71 acres be rezoned, but that request was denied upon the recommendation of the planning commission.

The planning commission recommended denial because of the potential for dividing the property, which abuts Pine Knob Party Store, into small parcels.

"It's been a nine-month battle," Mazza said, after the meeting as he expressed his satisfaction with the decision.

According to Mazza, he and Toteff must still obtain permission to build on the lot line from the zoning board of appeals and must receive final plat approval from the planning commission.

The proposed building will be approximately 5,000 square feet, Mazza said. It will be used for the sale of imported and American auto parts and not for auto service.

Before construction begins, Mazza plans to remove an old house which stands on the .6 acre next to the party store.

The remaining nine acres, currently zoned C2, may be used for a shopping center in the future, Mazza said.

Mazza, a White Lake Township resident, is the owner of Mazza Auto Parts on Highland Road, Waterford Township. Toteff is the owner of the Pontiac-based Tom's Hardware chain.

Preserving mills

If enough people are interested, plans are to establish a Michigan chapter of the Society for Preservation of Old Mills.

A meeting is scheduled Saturday, July 13, at 2 p.m. at the Ortonville Village Offices. It is hoped the president of the society will attend.

Following the meeting, the group is to spend the balance of the afternoon at the Ortonville Old Mill, the home of the Ortonville Historical Society and Museum.

The society has over 1,400 members worldwide and Michigan has nearly 70 members.

Township staff calls for new phone system

By Carolyn Walker

Frustrated township employees, dissatisfied with their current telephone system, have spurred the Independence Township board into action.

On July 2, in response to a request from Clerk Richard Holman, the board authorized taking bids for a new phone system.

The township currently has 28 phones, with a total of 16 lines. Twelve of the lines are in use at township hall and four at the building and planning department.

A survey conducted at township hall several months ago indicated four major problems with the current phone system, Holman said.

Difficulties cited by employees included equipment problems, such as buttons that don't light; difficulty in obtaining replacement parts; no intercom between offices; and an inability to transfer calls.

Holman said a new township-wide system would be cost-prohibitive and suggested taking bids for a system which would include township hall and the building department annex building.

The bids will also include new phones for the fire department, which would be paid for from the fire fund.

An estimated cost for the township hall phone system will not be available until bids have come in, said Treasurer John Lutz. If purchased, expenses will be paid from the general fund.

During the meeting, a discussion arose on the age of the current system. Township officials said they were unsure how old the system is, but concluded the phones had been installed "sometime since Alexander Graham Bell."

After the meeting, Lutz estimated the current system was purchased in the 1950s or 60s.

Accident injures trustee's son

A July 4 auto accident on Clarkston Road near Sashabaw Road in Independence Township sent Andrew Balzarini, son of township board Trustee Carol Balzarini, to Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital with serious injuries.

Balzarini, 19, sustained a broken right arm, right leg, collarbone and concussion in the accident, said his father, Donald, adding he has also experienced intermittent loss of consciousness.

Balzarini's passenger, John Robenault, 19, of Independence Township sustained minor injuries in the accident and was treated and released from Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital.

Balzarini was injured at 8:33 p.m. when his 1982 Chevette was struck by a 1975 Plymouth, driven by a 26-year-old Keego Harbor man, according to a report at the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

Police would not release the name of the Keego Harbor man, who was uninjured, pending a warrant for his arrest in the incident.

According to Oakland County Traffic Officer Mark Gallo, alcohol was a factor in the accident and there will be prosecution. An investigation into the incident is continuing.

Safety path pondered

At the urging of concerned parents, the Independence Township board is investigating the cost of constructing 1,350 feet of safety path along Pine Knob Road.

Citing the hazards of having their children walk along the road to school, the parents have requested that the paths be constructed from the entrance of Pine Knob Subdivision 2 on Clarkston Road, along Pine Knob Road to Bailey Lake School.

The construction could cost as much as $35,000, according to a study by township engineers Hubble, Roth and Clark.

On July 2, the board shared concerns about the pupils' safety and voted 6-0 to investigate installing the paths in segments to cut costs. The first segment would be between the subdivision and the school, at a cost of approximately $10,000.

The board also agreed to investigate the purchase of easements along Pine Knob Road for extended construction.

A lack of money in the safety path fund has stalled action from the board pending the collection of taxes in December, according to Clerk Richard Holman, who says the township expects to receive $114,000 for safety paths.

In the interim, township officials are also considering whether or not to borrow money from the general fund to meet the residents' requests and repay it from the safety path fund when taxes are collected.

In 1980, township voters approved one-half mill for 10 years for the construction of safety paths. One-half mill is 50 cents for each $1,000 of assessed property valuation.

No construction is currently planned for 1985, said Holman. The last safety paths were built in the spring of 1984.

Portable noise monitor sought

A portable noise monitoring device, which records volume decibels on paper, may be purchased by Independence Township.

Building and planning department director Kenneth Delbridge requested permission to investigate such a purchase at the June 2 meeting of the township board.

The machine could cost approximately $4,000, Delbridge said, adding it would be used to monitor noise levels at Pine Knob Music Theatre and Waterford Hill Road Racing Track.

Both areas have been the sites of neighbor complaints about noise.

Delbridge said the device, which would be mounted near the race track, could be used to confirm or negate citizen complaints about noise volume. It could be carried to Pine Knob when needed, he added.

Delbridge noted the machine's ability to give a printed read-out of noise levels, which can be used as visible proof of volume.

Currently, the township has to have an employee on site at the two facilities to monitor the noise by hand.

Delbridge said he wants a machine which can be left on site and does not need constant attention by township employees.

"Basically, (we'd) spend $4,000 to $5,000 to prove a point," Delbridge said. "All you'll be doing with that device is satisfying the curiosity of the people."

Giving the triathlons a try

With one behind him, McCarrick goes for No. 2

By Dan Vandenhemel

Jogging was boring, so Dean McCarrick wanted to do something different.

He had already run a full marathon and played professional racquetball. He wanted something more challenging.

The 25-year-old participated in his first triathlon in Traverse City, June 22.

This wasn't the event of huge proportions held in Hawaii each year. That one, the Iron Man Triathlon with 2.4 miles of ocean swimming, 112 mile bike race and 26.2 miles of running, is an ultimate goal for McCarrick.

The Traverse City Triathlon was ONLY .6 miles of swimming, 30 miles on a bike and 6.2 miles of running.

"It's just something different to do," McCarrick said. "I've been doing each one. Now I just swim, bike and run in one day. It's a nice variety."

"I was sore the next day. It's not a lot of fun while you're doing it."

The weather conditions for his first physical torture weren't the best. The water temperature was 62 and the 25-30 mph winds didn't help on the hilly course.

"My hands got numb after the swim," he said. "I had to wait to get some blood back before I started on the bike. It was so windy, I saw a couple of bikes just get blown over."

McCarrick, a intern consultant for the Waterford Placement Center, didn't embarrass himself in the competition. There was about 450 contestants and he estimates he finished about 230th. His personal goal of breaking the four-hour mark was met easily. McCarrick finished in three hours and 19 minutes.

"I came out of the water 23rd but the biking let me down. I only passed four riders, three had broken down: I made up for it, though, in the running," he said.

Triathlons are becoming so popular, McCarrick says they're the sport of the 80s. In the Michigan-Ohio-Indiana region, it's not hard to find at least one event each weekend. The United States Triathlon Federation, regulates all the events around the country.

The main question put to triathletes is, "Why?" "I just wanted to see if I could do it. I can't think of any other reason for doing it," he said. "It's like a hobby. That's all it is."

But while training for his hobby, McCarrick says he's firmed his 5-foot-7, 165 pound frame. Before the Traverse City Triathlon, it wasn't uncommon for McCarrick to work at two of the three events each day. He averaged anywhere from 43 miles to 95 miles of training a week.

"I was sore the next day," McCarrick said of the triathlon. "It's not a whole lot of fun while you're doing it."

Despite that, the triathlete is scheduled to try it again at the Bud Light U.S. Triathlon Series at Pontiac Lake, Waterford Township. The bike route portion of the July 21 race travels through Springfield and Independence townships.

Bicycling is just one-third of a triathlon. Dean McCarrick puts in a lot of miles biking—as well as swimming and running—to get in shape and train for the next event.

Dugout is home for coach

Ex-player has been in charge for 29-years

By Dan Vandenhemel

When Glenn Funck ended his baseball playing career in 1968, he followed the natural transition: He became a coach.

The 53-year-old Funck is the manager in the Class A league in Pontiac, the league he was a catcher in until he was 38 years old.

In his 29 years of coaching, the last eight have been in the very competitive Class A league. Funck estimates his team, Coach's Corner, has won more games than they've lost.

"Overall, I'd say we've had a winning record, but we've never won the league. There's always good competition," the die maker at Pontiac Motors said.

The talent in the league comes from a number of former professional baseball players. There's no age limit for the teams and many of the players are current college players along with the likes of Larry Pashnick. Pashnick is a former pitcher for the Detroit Tigers.

With all the talent running around the bases, Funck has to keep the egos in check while trying to field a team that can win ball games.

"I've always been able to get along with my players," Funck said. "I'm not bragging. Truthfully, I've never had any bad players. I'm pretty easy going."

Dressed in his blue uniform, Funck talked about how much time and work goes into coaching this team. The season runs from the middle of May to the first of August. With practice a few weeks prior to the first game and recruiting players for the team, it's almost a year-round proposition for the Independence Township resident.

Funck gets help from his wife Gwen with making phone calls and score keeping. "She's my right hand on this team," Funck said.

Between the two, they've coached their son Darrel and daughter Sonya.

There's no telling how much longer the coaching spirit will stay with Funck. If the recent retirement of Gene Cox, a coach Funck had in the late 1950s and early 1960s, is any indication, Funck will be around awhile.

"I really enjoy it," Funck said. "I'm just going to keep on coaching until it's not fun anymore."

Glenn Funck looks right at home in a baseball uniform. He's in his eighth year as manager of the Coach's Corner team in the Class A league in Pontiac.

Not again

Dan Vandenhemel

A vacation just can't go by without one incident. One year it rained all the time, another year the car broke down.

This time, in the quiet town of Grayling, there must have been a full moon. This is a some kind of story.

While I was souvenir hunting in a local department store, I noticed an elderly women following me. I first spotted her in the record department and then in sporting goods.

I really didn't think much of it until I started thumbing through the men's dress shirts and there on the other side of the rack, she was staring at me.

Again dismissing it, I went on to the camera department, picked out a roll of film and turned around in time to see the women peeking around the corner.

I started to play a quiet game of hide-and-seek with the unsuspecting seeker. She caught up with me near the candy counter.

She worked up enough nerve to say that I looked just like her son. She said it in a depressing kind of way that made me feel sorry for her.

I thought maybe she never sees him anymore, so I didn't say much other than "gosh."

She then proceeded to tell me her life story and the scary thing about it, it sounded a little familiar.

Then she dropped her bomb. She wanted me to say goodbye to her as she left.

Thinking I'd never see her again, I thought why not.

She went in front of me at the checkout line and then said something to the cashier and turned to go.

I could tell this was my cue: "Bye, Ma." After handing the roll of film to the cashier, she told me the bill was $58. I fell apart.

"Your mother said you'd take care of her bill," said the astonished cashier.

I sprinted after the swindling woman and got to her just before she closed her car door.

I yelled at her to get out and she refused. So I started pulling on her arm and she slipped loose. She started to scramble for the other side of the car.

I pulled on her leg, just like I'm pulling yours. Yuk, yuk.

All-league

The near-championship season for the Clarkston High School varsity softball team hasn't gone unrewarded.

Seven members have been selected to the Greater Oakland Activities League All-League team. Third baseman-short stop Laura Hurren led the list of All-Leaguers. She also is on the All-County, All-Region and 2nd team All-State.

All-team selections are made by the coaches in the particular area.

Center fielder Jill Griffis is the other player to make 1st team in the GOAL.

Second-team players are Terri Sherman, Sue Stefanski, Roseann Hirneisen and Ellen Fleming.

Honorable mention went to Jody Law.

Hurren and Stefanski are not pictured.

Cheerleaders earn trip to finals

A trip to Disney World is set for the varsity cheerleaders at Clarkston High School.

The squad won the Award of Excellence at cheerleading camp at Oakland University, June 21-24, and the trip to the National Cheerleading Association competition on Dec. 28 in Orlando, Fla.

The varsity won four blue ribbons for being rated the top squad of each day of the competition. They were up against 30 other squads for the honor of going to the finals in Florida.

The junior varsity squad also won four top-rated blue ribbons. They were in the running for a place in the finals but were not chosen. Only 200 squads from around the country make the national finals.

Varsity members are Alysa Gettig, Patti Haddad, Kristen Wagner, Marnie Meehan, Heather Srock, Angie Barker, Audrey Peterson and Lisa Dixon. Their coach is Sue Jorgenson.

Junior varsity members are Tasha Vaara, Kara Kurz, Marni Banker, Tammy Spaven, Kim Webb, Chandra Manuel, Kelly Dupree, Jenny Dupree, Sheryl Molzon and Kyle Powell. Jan Fife is their coach.

Persons wishing to donate money for the varsity cheerleading squad's trip to the national finals should contact Jan Fife at 623-9548.

THE FACT THAT MIDAS STOCKS 1025 DIFFERENT GOLD MUFFLERS IS SOMETHING THE COMPETITION WOULD LIKE TO KEEP QUIET.

Midas manufactures and stocks more different mufflers than any other muffler chain.

And when you have that many mufflers, it's no wonder our competitors would rather we keep quiet.

Because unlike Midas, they can't assure you they'll have the muffler that's made to the exact specifications of your car.

Nor can any other muffler chain back its mufflers with a guarantee that's good in as many locations as Midas.

If anything should ever go wrong with your Gold Muffler, Midas will replace it free for as long as you own your car.

At over 1400 locations. In all 50 states.

So if you want the right muffler for your car, come to Midas.

With 1025 different mufflers in stock, we should have no problem keeping your car quiet. Which is something our competition would rather not hear.

Bikeathon to help raise funds for SCAMP

Three girls created a way for themselves and others to help Clarkston SCAMP and have something fun to do this summer.

Sarah Schultz, Catherine Prucher and Lizzie Brown's Bikeathon for SCAMP is planned Saturday, July 20.

Participants are asked to gather pledges for the five-week summer camp program for handicapped children, then bike from Clarkston's Depot Road Park to Bailey Lake Elementary School and back, for a total of about eight miles.

SCAMP Bikeathon organizers Sarah and Catherine live in Clarkston. Rounding out the trio is Lizzie of Waterford who frequently stays at her grandmother's Clarkston home.

Last week, Sarah visited Betty Haran, coordinator of fund raising for the North Oakland SCAMP Funding Corp.

After working together "all morning," said Sarah, they combined the girls' pledge sheet plan with a map, instructions and permission slip.

Open to adults and children, the bikeathon includes check-in points en route, refreshments at Bailey Lake Elementary and a prize for the top money raiser. It is to begin at 9:30 a.m. in Depot Road Park and end there by noon.

Sponsor sheets are available at the following locations in downtown Clarkston: Main Street Country Store and Antiques, Tierra Arts & Design, Coach's Corner and The Clarkston News.

People of all ages are wanted to join the Bikeathon for SCAMP organized by [from left]

Sarah Schultz, Lizzie Brown and Catherine Prucher. The benefit is planned July 20.

Trucks and floats head down Main Street as the July 4th parade gets under way. Clowns share jokes with bystanders and balloons and flags are distributed to the young at heart. The parade features 30 entries which thrill some 5,000 spectators for an hour.

Floating through Clarkston

No parade is complete without a friendly clown to woo the young at heart.

The Cook's Dairy Farm float entry thrills spectators with its larger-than-life cow. The float was one of 30 parade entries seen by thousands.

Dear Cat Paw:

I love your column. How long have you been writing Cat Paw? Do you make as much as Dear Abby?

Out for the Buck

Dear Out for the Buck:

Thank you. I needed that pat on the back! Cat Paw was first printed on Aug. 1, 1984. Since I am a volunteer member of the Chemical People, I am not and never have been paid for writing Cat Paw. The column is strictly a community service. It is our hope to enlighten the community on drug abuse. I hope you continue to enjoy and learn from this column.

Dear Cat Paw:

If you have cancer and you smoke marijuana given by the hospital, could you get the same side effects as smoking pot from the street?

Jane Doe

Dear Jane:

Marijuana is given to cancer patients to counteract the nausea created by chemotherapy treatments. Patients do not smoke marijuana to get high.

It is also important that the marijuana is regulated and inspected—therefore, it is not dipped or mixed with other chemicals as street drugs often are.

Dear Cat Paw:

I have a lot of paraphernalia at home that I use quite often. My mom and dad want me to get rid of it, but I don't want to because I use it a lot.

I don't really want to quit doing drugs because I grew up around drugs and I don't want to quit. What should I do?

No Name

Dear No Name:

You need professional help! Drugs have clouded your thinking and you probably don't even know what is real anymore. You are presently on a self-destructive course.

You could have done a great deal of irreversible damage to your body and/or mind. You need to become drug free under professional supervision.

It sounds like your parents have no control over you or are not ready to deal with a drug problem within their own family. If they will not take you for treatment, then please go by yourself.

Start with your family doctor. Take one step at a time—you are worth the effort. Write back and let me know how you're doing. I really care

Dear Cat Paw:

A couple of my friends have smoked pot a couple of times and some of the time still do. They usually drink at the same time and then still drive.

What should I do with my friends when they tell me that they are all right to drive and I know they're not? What should I tell them when they start smoking?

NUB

Dear Nub:

You and I both know it's not safe to drink, do drugs and drive. You could speak to them while they are sober and try to make them understand.

People are dying on our highways every 21 minutes in an alcohol related accident. Your friends are working at becoming one of the statistics. It's up to you to decide if you want to be part of that scene.

Join a group of people working against drinking and driving, such as SADD, and become educated. Personally I would be a leader instead of a follower, set a good straight example and get new friends.

I hope to see you at some of our meetings soon.

Aaron Moehlig got in a quick lick before dropping his red, white and blue frozen ice treat at the parade.

Michelle Dawn and David L. Webster

Collins, Webster wed in Arizona

Michelle Dawn Collins and David L. Webster exchanged wedding vows in Apache Junction, Ariz., in an afternoon ceremony performed by the Rev. John Atwell.

The bride wore a floor-length gown adorned with a train, and carried the silk flower bouquet she made for her wedding.

Maid of honor was the bride's cousin, Debbie McPeters of Tempe, Ariz.

She was given in marriage by her brother, United States Marine Cpl. Todd Collins.

Frank Bell served as best man.

The bride's parents are Al and Joan Collins of Independence Township. A 1978 Clarkston High School graduate, she is employed in the emergency room admitting department of Mesa Lutheran Hospital.

The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Webster of Gilbert, Ariz. A 1975 graduate of Gilbert High School, he is employed as an X-ray technician at Mesa Lutheran Hospital.

Wedding receptions were held following the wedding ceremony at the home of the bridegroom's parents and on June 9 at the home of the bride's parents.

The couple honeymooned at Christopher Creek. They are residing in Mesa, Ariz.

Junior Miss says hello

Clarkston's Junior Miss, Inger Nelson, waves to the spectators as she sits atop a convertible cruising down Main Street during Clarkston's July 4th parade.

Eyes on sky

A mother and her two children look skyward as they hear the roar of the United States Air Force C-5 airplane as it flies over downtown Clarkston before the July 4th parade. The 250-foot wingspan of the air force's largest airplane cast a giant shadow over Main Street. The plane flew in from Dover Air Force Base in Delaware. It passed over the parade route at a height of about 1,500 feet and speed of about 130 mph.

Jubilee planned

The Lake Orion Lions Club will conduct its annual Jubilee in conjunction with the Orion Township Sesqui-centennial July 12-14.

The Jubilee, as well as the Hanneford Circus will be on the grounds of Keatington Village on Joslyn Court.

A carnival and large midway will be provided by the Pugh Pugh Ride Company. In addition, a beer tent, food and dancing to the music of the Zak Lee Band will be available.

The Lions Club's festivities will begin daily at noon. Three Hanneford Circus shows will be featured Sunday at 1, 3 and 7 p.m.

Circus acts will include Katinka and her poodles, elephants, horses and Sabu the leopard. There will also be trapeze acts and clowns.

Tickets for the circus are $4 for adults and $3 for children under 12.

For further information regarding the Lions activities, call 693-6000 or contact any member.

Saturday at dusk, Jubilee participants will watch the fireworks from the Orion Township Civic Center Park on Joslyn Road, across the street from the Keatington grounds.

Sunday, an Old Fashioned Community Day will be presented at the Civic Center Park.

Throughout the day, acts such as the Reel Happy String Band, Jim the Juggler, the Magic of Don Jones and Co. and the Dick Waskin Puppets will provide entertainment.

In addition, contests, skydivers, an ice cream social and softball will be provided.

Local craftspersons will display their wares in booths and the Lake Orion/Oxford Senior Citizens Cookbook will be sold.

VILLAGE OF CLARKSTON COUNTY OF OAKLAND

THE VILLAGE OF CLARKSTON ORDAINS:

SECTION 1 - Permission is hereby granted to THE DETROIT EDISON COMPANY, a Michigan corporation, its successors and assigns, to construct, maintain and operate in the public streets, highways, alleys and other public places in the Village of Clarkston, Oakland County, Michigan, all needful and proper poles, towers, wires, pipes, mains, conduits and all such lines and other apparatus requisite for the transmission, transforming and distribution of electricity for public and private use, and to transact a local electric business within said Village, subject, however, to all conditions and restrictions hereinafter contained.

SECTION 2 - The conditions of the foregoing grant are as follows:

A. The grantee shall do no injury to any street, highway, alley or other public place, or to any shade trees, or in any manner disturb or interfere with any water or gas pipes, or with any public or private sewer, now or hereafter laid or constructed by any authorized person or corporation.

B. The trimming of trees when necessary to make the lines safe and accessible, shall be done in compliance with all existing governmental laws, ordinances, rules and regulations.

C. The construction of the said lines shall be in accordance with the rules and regulations of the Michigan Public Service Commission or its successor.

D. The said grantee, before entering upon any street, highway, alley or other public place for the purpose of erecting and constructing any poles, wires, pipes, mains, conduits, or other apparatus, shall notify the Village or its representatives of the proposed construction, and shall, if the Village so requires, file with them a sufficient plan and specification, showing the nature and extent of the proposed erection and construction.

E. No street, highway, alley or public place shall be allowed to remain open or encumbered by the construction work of the said grantee for a longer period than shall be necessary to execute the said work, and the grantee shall at all times conform to all ordinances of the Village, now or hereafter in force, relative to the fencing and lighting of obstructions and excavations.

F. The grantee shall save the Village harmless from any judgment that may be recovered against the Village by reason of the wrongdoing or negligence of the said grantee in the erection and maintenance of said poles, mains, wires and other apparatus or construction.

G. Said grantee shall make due provisions upon five (5) days notice in writing by raising its wires or otherwise, for the passage of any barn, building or other structure on or over any street, highway, or public places occupied by the poles, mains, wires, and other apparatus of said grantee.

SECTION 3 - In consideration of the granting of this franchise, grantee agrees that its rates and charges for electric service in the Village of Clarkston shall not exceed its rates and charges for like service elsewhere in its service area, as evidenced by its uniform rate schedules at the time on file with and approved by the Michigan Public Service Commission. It is understood that the grantee is subject to regulation by the Michigan Public Service Commission and that any order, rule, or regulation by that Commission, or its successor, will prevail over any regulation herein contained or provided for in case of conflict.

SECTION 4 - This grant shall take effect if said grantee shall, within fifteen (15) days from the date of the passage of this Ordinance, file with the Village Clerk, its written acceptance of the terms of the same, and upon the confirmation of this grant, by the affirmative vote of a three-fifths majority of the electors of said Village, voting on the franchise at a special election to be held on Tuesday the 27th day of August, 1985, as provided for by the Statutes and the State Constitution.

If not confirmed by the electors voting on the franchise at said election, this Ordinance shall be null and void.

SECTION 5 - This Franchise and Ordinance shall be and remain in force for thirty (30) years from and after the date of its confirmation by the electors of the Village of Clarkston, Oakland County, Michigan.

SECTION 6 - Nothing in this grant shall be construed to alienate the title of the public in and to any street, highway, alley or public place or any portion thereof, neither shall anything herein be construed in any manner as a surrender by the Village of Clarkston of its legislative power with respect to the subject matter hereof, or with respect to any other matter whatsoever; nor as in any manner limiting the right of the said Village of Clarkston to lawfully regulate the use of any street, avenue, highway or public place within its jurisdiction, as to all other matters.

Dated this 8th day of July, 1985.

Community cable guide

Five programs make up this week's schedule on cable-TV Channel 11. The shows are broadcast from the Clarkston studio of Tribune/United Cable Communications.

Wednesday through Friday
July 10-12

7pm—"Class Reunion" is this week's episode in the "This is the Life" series sponsored by St. Trinity Lutheran Church of Independence Township. The boy everyone ignored in high school has a chance to receive the applause of his friends through a case of mistaken identity.

Includes an introduction and conclusion by the Rev. Michael Klafehn, pastor of St. Trinity.
7:30pm—"The Waterford Oaks Court Games Complex," a presentation by the Oakland County Parks and Recreation Department.
8pm—"Microwave in Micro-minutes." Independence Township resident Betty Wagner demonstrates how to make coffee cake.
8:30pm—"Amazing Grace," Bible study with the Rev. Clarence Bell of the First Baptist Church of Clarkston.
8:45pm—"Face to Face," an evening of music and entertainment with Ron Moore of Flint.

Next Week

Monday through Friday

7pm—"The Champion" continues the "This is the Life" series. Driven by his desire to win, a track coach falsifies grades for his star runner.

Programs on cable Channel 11 begin at 7 p.m. weekdays only. Other times, the station features a billboard with community service announcements and the schedule of the evening's programs, updated daily at 2 p.m.

Charity Vance is all eyes as she watches the floats and band pass by.

Balloon for a day

With flag and balloon in hand, James Preseau is all ready to attend the July 4th festivities.

This group of Cabbage Patch Kids has front row seats.

David Nagel's all eyes as the parade passes by.

Faces in the crowd

Photos by Carolyn Walker

Ryan Victory snuggles a balloon and watches for the colorful 4th of July floats.

After the parade, father and son milled around town to talk with friends.

Duke the Wonder Dog is all dressed up for the Clarkston July 4th parade.

A smile comes easily for Rebecca Erickson as she anxiously awaits the parade. With a flag ready to wave for encouragement, her spot on the curb is perfect.
