Appeals court next avenue

for Athena

Quest to keep tiger goes on

By Carolyn Walker

Athena the tiger has 85 days left as an Independence Township resident. And as the time ticks away, Frances Avadenka, the attorney for Athena's owners, is planning her next strategy.

On Aug. 27, she filed a claim of appeal with the Michigan Court of Appeals.

The effort appeals a decision made by Oakland County Circuit Court Judge Frederick Mester and asks that Douglas Murdoch, 24, be allowed to keep the 300-pound, 2-year-old tiger on his parents' Allen Road farm. An appeals date has not yet been set, according to Avadenka.

Mester's Aug. 7 decision followed a year of controversy and upheld a township zoning board of appeals (ZBA) ruling that Athena and a bobcat are not permitted under the Independence zoning ordinance.

After making his decision that the ZBA had acted within the law, Mester gave the Murdochs 120 days to remove Athena and Cassandra, the bobcat, from their 20-acre farm.

Although Athena is still legally residing at the Murdochs', the appeal does not constitute an automatic "stay" which would permit the tiger's presence during the appeals process, should it exceed the 120-day limit, Avadenka said.

"We do not have a stay of proceedings," she said, adding that she will most likely request one.

The presence of the two cats has been a source of contention between Independence Township officials, who say they are dangerous, and the Murdochs, who say the animals are domesticated.

Last January, during a court-sanctioned hearing, the Independence zoning board of appeals determined the animals were in violation of an ordinance governing livestock and refused to grant a variance permitting the animals in the township.

The ordinance in question outlines permitted livestock and includes "other animals in excess of 75 pounds."

During the circuit court proceedings in early August, Avadenka told Mester that Athena fell under the "other animals" category.

Township attorney Gerald Fisher, argued she did not.

"I think that Judge Mester made a correct decision," said Fisher in response to notice that the Murdochs would appeal the decision. "The Murdochs have every right under the law to appeal."

The Murdochs declined comment on the case.

Doctors support rally

By Carolyn Walker

Some Independence Township doctors, weary of the ever increasing number of malpractice lawsuits, plan to join a rally of physicians in Lansing next month.

The purpose of the rally is to call legislative attention to the malpractice problem, according to Dr. Frederick Minkow, M.D., president of the Oakland County Medical Society.

It is hoped, Minkow says, that the legislators will establish legal standards governing lawsuit awards.

Scheduled for Oct. 22, the rally is expected to draw between 3,000 and 6,000 doctors from across the state.

"It's going to be a massive rally, I hope," says Minkow, a hand surgeon who is a partner of Dr. Stephen Werner, an Independence Township resident and member of the Clarkston school board. The two practice hand surgery in Bloomfield Hills.

According to Minkow, speakers representing the state medical society and several task forces will ask for legislative relief.

"We've never had anything like this before," Minkow says. "We're doing this with a specific purpose in mind."

There are several potential solutions, Minkow says. They include establishing a legal limitation on awards for pain and suffering, a system of just compensation for injured patients (as opposed to overly large settlements, which are deemed unjust by the medical profession) and establishing a fund for damage awards.

While many doctors are expected to attend the rally, others will remain behind to cover area practices and hospitals, Minkow says.

"We're not going to leave our patients exposed," he says, adding that the rally is not intended as a

Test of time for new seatbelt law

By Carolyn Walker

Statistics on the efficiency of the Michigan seatbelt law are in their infancy.

It will be at least another month before traffic officials know whether or not the recently passed law is effectively saving lives, says Judy McNitt, department analyst for the traffic services division of the Michigan State Police.

"The bottom line is we believe that seatbelts do save lives," she says.

According to McNitt, deaths caused by auto accident injuries, which occur within 90 days of an accident, are figured into fatality statistics.

Because the seatbelt law was only recently implemented on July 1, and because officials wait the 90-day period, it will be at least October before they are able to calculate the deaths for that month, McNitt says.

Early records show there were 134 state-wide, automobile-related deaths last July versus 175 deaths for that same month in 1984.

Those statistics include deaths from accidents which included pedestrians, bicyclists, motorcycles and cars without seatbelts, in addition to automobiles with seatbelts, she adds.

"It's really too early to be answering questions," McNitt says quoting from a police speaker who says, "Seatbelts will not give us immortality."

The law, she says, is designed to increase an accident victim's chances of sustaining few, if any, injuries.

The law says:

•A child under one year of age must be in a car seat when in the front or back seats.

•A child from one to four years of age must be in a car seat when in a front seat, and in a car seat or a safety belt when in a back seat.

•A child from four to 16 years of age must be in a safety belt when in the front seat of a car. If a driver is stopped with such a passenger not in a safety belt, the driver may be cited. Passengers in this age bracket need not be restrained in the rear seat.

•Passengers over 16 years of age must be restrained when riding in a front seat. If a car is stopped and such passengers are not in a safety belt, each unrestrained passenger is subject to receiving a citation. Passengers in this age group need not be belted if riding in rear seats.

Surgery for Eberhardt

Carol Eberhardt, president of the Clarkston Village Council, is scheduled to enter the hospital next month for surgery.

Eberhardt plans to enter William Beaumont Hospital in Royal Oak on Sept. 17, she says.

Following her surgery, she will be absent from village government for approximately one month.

During her absence, people with questions regarding the village should contact James Schultz, who will be acting president.

Malpractice suits prompt action strike.

Dr. James O'Neill, M.D., area pediatrician and medical director for the Clarkston Ambulatory Care Center, concurs.

The center will continue to service patients as usual during the rally, he says, adding that if his schedule permits, he will attend the rally.

"We have to give a show of strength," he says. "It (the surge of malpractice suits) boggles your mind. It's a very bad situation."

According to O'Neill, many of the malpractice suits are instituted by patients who deliberately set out to find fault and file suit.

"There's an identifiable group of people out there . . . looking for somebody to dump on," he says. "They're real."

A number of area physicians have quit practicing medicine because of the malpractice threat and increased insurance rates, according to O'Neill. "We've lost a h--- of a lot of doctors in this area," he says.

Particularly hard hit has been the field of obstetrics, says O'Neill, who adds that many doctors have quit delivering babies, or will only take care of expectant mothers who have been with a them throughout their pregnancies.

Local internist Michael Baker, M.D., who says he plans to attend the rally, agrees with O'Neill.

"A lot of us younger physicians are frustrated," says Baker, who has been practicing medicine four years. "It affects your attitude."

"Part of why we got into this (medicine) was to help other people. You like to help people and do the best you can."

"It's a problem on a day-to-day basis. Nearly every decision is colored by concern about possible repercussions. Every decision on a day-to-day basis is affected."

The malpractice problem is reflected in patient costs, physicians' insurance rates and in excess tests, says Baker, adding that many physicians order extra lab work or X-rays for self-protection.

"I have a feeling it's (the rally) going to be a big thing," he says.

County preparing emergency phone number

By Carolyn Walker

An emergency phone service, number 911, is being considered for Oakland County and could include Independence Township and the Village of Clarkston.

Proposed as a county-wide service by Oakland County Executive Daniel Murphy, the emergency plan must be passed by the Oakland County Board of Commissioners on Sept. 12, before contracts for the service will be offered to area municipalities, according to Paul Phelps, division manager of EMS and disaster control for the county.

Installation is to be funded by the county at an estimated cost of $3.4 million, Phelps said. The lines are to be run through Michigan Bell wire centers strategically located throughout the county.

Recurring costs of some $580,000 for maintenance would be divided in half between the county and each one of 63 participating communities on a yearly basis, Phelps said.

The projected recurring cost to be paid by Independence Township is $3,419 and $600 for the Village of Clarkston per year.

"We think that the costs are reasonable," Phelps said.

The local community's costs are determined by the number of phone lines in a community, he added.

Once contracts have been offered, the decision to participate in the system must be made by the township board and the village council.

Under the proposed plan, a municipality such as Independence, could have all emergency medical service (EMS), fire and police calls dispatched from the county.

Fire and EMS calls would be re-routed by computer to the local fire station, according to Phelps.

An alternative would be to have all calls taken at the fire station, with police calls being re-routed to the county by computer.

Currently, Independence Township has its own fire dispatch and police services are contracted with the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

The Village of Clarkston contracts all of its services through the township.

The success of the program depends on the cooperation of bordering governmental bodies, according to Phelps, because in many instances phone exchanges and wire centers overlap legal boundary lines.

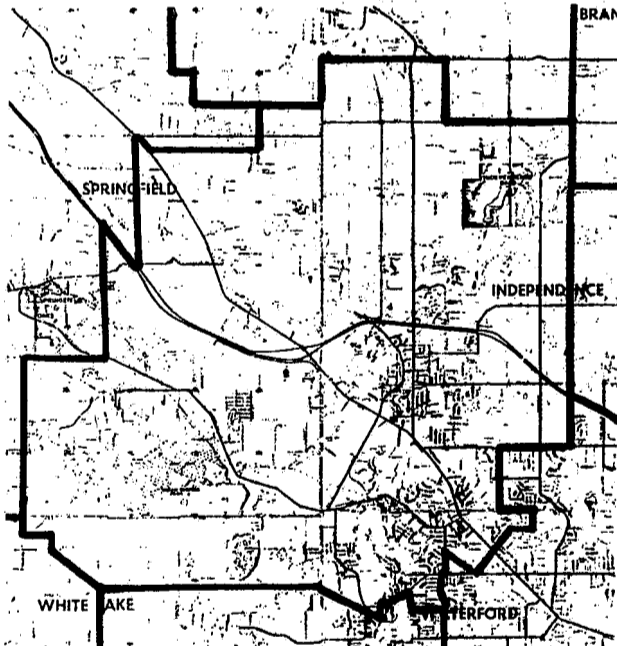

"This whole plan relies on the cooperation of your neighbors," Phelps told Independence Supervisor Frank Ronk and village President Carol Eberhardt at a meeting Aug. 30.

Phelps said he anticipates that most communities will want the service.

Once a community has signed a contract, it will take up to 18 months to implement the program, Phelps said.

Township and village costs would begin when the 911 number becomes operational, according to Phelps.

There are currently over 1,100 emergency 911 systems in America, Phelps said.

This map, presented by Paul Phelps to Supervisor Frank Ronk, shows the boundary lines for the proposed 911 emergency number to be offered to Independence Township. It includes a portion of Springfield Township.

Addition to double church size

By Kathy Greenfield

The proposed 6,000-square-foot addition to Calvary Lutheran Church will double its present size, says the Rev. Robert Walters.

Ground breaking at the Bluegrass Drive, Independence Township, site is planned Sept. 22 and work is expected to be completed in the spring of 1986, Walters said.

The $460,000 addition will provide a fellowship hall with table seating for about 250 people, offices and a lounge, and enlarge the church vestibule. The worship area will remain the same, Walters said.

Remodeling of the present classrooms will increase the number to 20.

Walters said there is an immediate need for more classrooms and that the church does not plan to expand with an elementary or secondary school.

The church currently has about 250 families on the membership roster.

Final site plan approval for the addition was granted in a 5-0 vote Aug. 22 by the Independence Township Planning Commission.

Before the vote was taken, commission Chairman Neil Wallace questioned an earlier decision by the commission to call a free-standing sculpture of three crosses a landscape feature rather than a sign.

"My concern is . . . it could fairly easily have been interpreted as a sign, and also this is in a residential neighborhood," Wallace said. "My feeling is this has always blended in well with the residential district."

Commission member Carol Balzarini called the sculpture an asset.

"My feeling is a cross would be comparable to the mounted flag pole with a flag on it," she said. "It would be a symbol, not a sign."

After the meeting, Walters said the free-standing structure of the three crosses of Calvary will face M-15 and include a working bell that will ring one note.

It will "announce services, peal for weddings, toll for funerals and maybe announce some of the hours," Walters said.

Register to vote

The last day to register for the coming school election is Monday, Sept. 9.

Voters not previously registered to vote in the community where they reside should fill out the necessary form at their township clerk's office.

The special school election, set for Oct. 7, has one question on the ballot: "Shall the one mill limitation on the annual property tax previously approved by the electors of the Oakland Schools Intermediate School District, State of Michigan, for the education of handicapped persons be increased by three-quarters mill?"

If approved, the tax paid for special education by Oakland County property owners would increase from 1 mill to 1.75 mills. (One mill is $1 for each $1,000 of assessed property valuation.)

Mediplex plan pushes forward

Highlights presented to planning commission

By Kathy Greenfield

Over 500 senior citizens will call Deer Lake Village home if all goes as planned.

The 26-acre retirement community proposed by the Mediplex Group Inc. of Newton, Mass., is to include a 120-bed convalescent center, a 60-bed home for the aged and 240 apartments.

The site borders Dixie Highway, Deerhill Drive, I-75 and vacant property. Because the acreage straddles Springfield (14.7 acres) and Independence (11.3 acres) townships, the plans must be approved by governing bodies in each community.

The planning commission in Independence and the zoning board of appeals in Springfield have taken preliminary action on the Mediplex plans, and several more meetings have been scheduled: Sept. 17, a presentation before the Independence Township Board; Sept. 19, a request for zoning variances before the Springfield Zoning Board of Appeals; and a meeting with the Springfield Planning Commission near the end of September.

Before construction can begin, final site plan approval must be granted by both planning commissions.

Highlights of the proposed senior citizen retirement village were presented Aug. 22 before the Independence Planning Commission by Jonathan Truslow, project manager for Mediplex, and architect Richard Lake of the Klett Organization, Jenkintown, Pa.

Underground parking for the residents was proposed, and the men stressed the non-institutional design with dormers and natural light.

The convalescent center with 120 beds would offer the most intensive care. Each room would have two beds, a private lavatory and sink and closets.

The 60-bed home for the aged would include two beds in each room, described as comparable to a college dormitory.

The apartments would include 114 one-bedroom and 106 two-bedroom units.

According to Springfield Township Supervisor Collin Walls, Mediplex developers have indicated the apartments will rent for "probably more than $1,000 a month but less than $2,000 a month."

Walls also offers an indication of the size of the project.

All buildings, the two-story convalescent center, one-story home for the aged and two-story apartments, are to be linked to a 70,000-square-foot commons area by covered walkways on the second story and open walkways at ground level.

The commons area is to be "the administrative, social and recreational center of the whole complex," Walls said.

The square footage roughly equates to the size of two Clarkston Mills malls.

"When you look at the plans, (the commons area) just kind of blends in," said Walls. "That just gives you an idea of the scale of the project."

Hats for Germans

Hats that read "Clarkston" were the delight of several Germans, who recently visited Clarkston as guests of the Rev. Robert Walters and Calvary Lutheran Church.

Nineteen hats and visors were purchased by the Clarkston Village Council from Coach's Corners and given to the visitors, said President Carol Eberhardt. The hats cost approximately $50.

According to Eberhardt, the Germans were "tickled to death. They thought the hats were an American thing . . . so American."

1985 Christmas may be dark in Clarkston

Christmas lights most likely won't shine throughout downtown Clarkston this year. And area officials are expressing disappointment over the situation.

Frazzled fixtures and difficulty in running extension cords have contributed to a Clarkston Rotary Club decision to cancel Christmas lights in the business district this coming holiday season.

"It makes me sick to see it stopping," says village council President Carol Eberhardt. "It's (running the lights) a difficult process to do."

"This year we decided we just couldn't take anymore," said Rotary President Tom Murphy.

For at least 30 years, the Rotary club has hung decorations along Main Street, connecting them to the outdoor plugs of local merchants, Murphy said. Previously, the rotary has asked Detroit Edison to install outdoor plugs on utility poles but their efforts have failed, he added.

According to Murphy, the Rotary club intends to light the tree at Washington and Main streets in lieu of decorating the business district.

"We've done everything this year we can," Murphy said. "I'm really disappointed that we can't do it. Our equipment is really getting frazzled. It looks rag-tag. It doesn't give the image."

"Unfortunately I'm the 'Grinch'," said Murphy, who is serving his first presidential term with Rotary. "I hate that."

Tax talk planned

By Dan Vandenberg

Residents of Springfield Township will have the opportunity to tell the township board what they think about an increase in taxes.

The public hearing is set for Sept. 11 at 8 p.m. at the Springfield Township Hall on Davisburg Road.

If approved, the millage rate for 1985 would be 4.41 mills, up from 3.1 for 1984.

One mill equals $1 for every $1,000 of assessed property valuation.

The 4.41 mills would be divided into the fire department, 1 mill; the police protection, 2 mills; and general fund, 1.41 mills.

Police protection with the Oakland County Sheriff's Department would increase .4 mill to continue the services of the fourth deputy, giving the township coverage in 20 of the 21 work shifts. The cost of four deputies is roughly $220,000, which includes equipment and supervision.

The township general fund would receive the remainder of the tax increase to help with road repairs, said Clerk J. Calvin Walters.

"We have to have a public hearing any time there is a tax increase," he said. "We had to do it now to get it on the assessment roll for the December tax bills."

The public hearing will precede the monthly Springfield Township Board meeting.

Truth

Kathy
Greenfield

The wonderful, wonderful wedding of Madonna to Sean Penn created fascinating reading.

What made it most interesting, however, were the stories in People and Time.

A couple of weeks earlier, my son pointed out that he found some major differences in the two magazines' reports about the capsizing of the sailboat of Duran Duran's Simon Le Bon.

When I found the two Madonna-Penn wedding stories, I decided to read them very carefully. What I found took me by surprise.

The magazine pieces agreed the wedding took place in a $65 million Malibu mansion that belongs to a man with the last name of Unger. His first name and occupation could be Dan, a real-estate developer, or Kurt, a producer and friend of Penn's parents.

The reproduced wedding invitation in People stated a wedding time of 6 p.m. People said Madonna and Penn appeared shortly before 6:30. Time said the wedding was at "the appointed hour, 7 p.m."

Guests numbered 200 or "about 220." They dined on Madonna's favorites of pizza and curried oysters, according to Time. People's feast list included lobster ravioli, rack of lamb, swordfish and baked potatoes stuffed with sour cream and caviar.

During the party, guests danced to the music of a disc jockey. According to Time, Madonna didn't want her own music played, but the deejay sneaked in "Lucky Star." According to People, among the songs spun for their dancing pleasure was Madonna's "Into the Groove."

Because I'm a newspaper editor, I've thought a lot about the meaning of the word "truth." It's what you always strive for in reporting an event, but it's also best defined as "truth from the perspective of those who participated."

Truth. It's a quest worthy of a writer's best efforts and one filled with pitfalls.

Reporters ask people questions. People who experience the same event always have different memories.

If you don't think that's true, get a few of your most trusted friends to repeat an event they've witnessed together. The differences will amaze you.

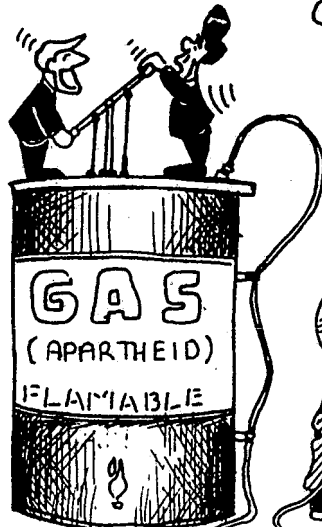

A friend who does some writing for People has talked about the magazine's conscientious research department which checks and double-checks factual information. I'm certain the same is true for Time.

With so many fact-checkers, from the writers to the editors to the researchers, it seems like they should end up with identical details.

That they don't at times should never surprise me—or you.

Jim's Jottings

Jim Sherman

Tell me . . . do you lie to yourself before you step on your bathroom scales? When you get on public scales do you always ask loudly, "Wonder when the last time was they had these scales checked?"

I do.

My pajamas weigh seven pounds. Wet hair is four pounds. Long, dirty fingernails are 2 pounds.

Not only that, but the higher the scales read, the heavier the accessories become. I never get on the scales naked. Not enough room for error.

Also, I always weigh myself in the morning, while brushing my teeth. A toothbrush weighs three pounds. Add a half pound for stiff bristle.

Also, I try to remember to weigh myself the day after the bathroom has been cleaned. It's amazing to me how far scales can get out of adjustment with a simple dusting.

Now this isn't just me. The locker I have at Indianwood Golf Course is very close to their fancy, doctor-office-type scales.

Let me tell you I have never overheard an honest man step off those scales. Towels weigh between six and eighteen pounds. Those little paper footies men put on after showering weigh a pound and a half.

Some members, dissatisfied with the readout, adjust the arm to measure their height, then exclaim, "This thing can't even get that right."

Even though there's a sign on the scales that says "no spikes, please", it's ignored. Good reason, too. Spikes can weigh as much as nine pounds.

These scales abut a row of lockers. When a man stands on them, it's rather easy to nonchalantly rest his hand on the top of a locker. It is also easy to have that man release some of his weight from the scales. Those are the men who smile as they step off the weighing machine.

Being close to the scales, like I said, puts me in position to tell these weighers the scales are off, that they are set too close to the magnetic center of Orion Township, and the dampn (newly coined word) from the closeness to the shower affects their accuracy.

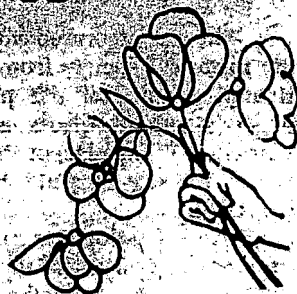

You know what? That locker room is the only place I can go and have people continually agree with me.

My antique collecting spouse has a set of farm scales in our printing plant. I don't know why any farmer would have kept those things around so long. I could get a closer guess to my weight from my grandson and he can't talk yet.

And, you can count on one more thing. When he learns to talk and read scales he will be banned from my bathroom . . . at least until he can understand what dampn can do to scales.

People appreciated

This past summer, Springfield Township Parks and Recreation offered its first Jr. Golf Program.

I would like to express my appreciation to the following people without whom this program could not have been possible.

Tom Sheldon, PGA Golf Pro from Heather Highlands who taught the golf lessons and helped with the program.

Larry Wharton, Holly High School's varsity golf coach who came every week to run the program and act as league director.

Steve Vaneffen, Holly High School's junior varsity golf coach, who assisted as league director.

Gary Bershbach, manager of Springfield Oaks Golf Course, who cooperated in scheduling the course and made four weeks of league play possible.

Ann Hayes, a parent who volunteered to help get the program started and contributed to the planning.

Brad Baker of Springfield Oaks Youth Activities Center, who made arrangements for the Jr. Golf Awards Program.

Several parents volunteered to act as supervisors for the league play at Springfield Oaks: Ann Hayes, Barb Byne, Joyce Cummings, Connie Davis, Dottie LaLone, Connie Mansfield, Ron Palmgren, Nancy Porter, Jim Mansfield, Ken Hayes and Ray Cummings.

We have had several compliments on our program this year, and I would like to congratulate all of the people named above for a job well done.

Next year we are setting our sites on an even bigger and better golf program. Hope to see you all next year. Thanks again!

On meeting King Arthur in the alleys of Detroit

Carolyn Walker

Have you ever considered what you would do or say if you met your favorite human being in person?

I think we all fantasize about such an occurrence at some point in our lives.

Perhaps you see yourself discussing the merits of prose and poetry with William Shakespeare, stealing a kiss from Racquel Welch or comparing flying notes with Lindbergh.

At any rate, I believe we picture ourselves looking and behaving our best in such situations. Being appropriately witty. Making only the most intelligent of statements. Hoping that we don't turn an ankle, pop a bra strap, or spill our drink.

I, who had been fortunate enough to meet the likes of Ricky Nelson over dinner, Hubert Humphrey at a band concert, Richard Nixon at a presidential rally, Hayes Jones at church and Stephen King over a pregnant stomach, should have known better.

It seems the best of intentions sometimes go astray.

I read this week in a magazine that there are certain rules to follow when meeting a celebrity.

The guidelines include not touching the person or calling him/her by their first name. And heaven forbid you should say something stupid.

The reading of that article, coupled with the atmosphere of Renaissance Festival time, takes me back to a day last year when I encountered King Arthur, a.k.a. actor Richard Harris, in an alley in Detroit.

For reasons which I have not fully figured out myself, Harris has taken on the status of MY FAVORITE ACTOR.

He has held that position now for several years, surpassing old-time favorites Anthony Zerbe, Harry Morgan, Ben Gazzara and David Jannsen.

When I read that he was appearing in "Camelot" at the Masonic Temple in Detroit, I reduced myself to begging my husband to take me to the show.

I made elaborate statements like, "Suppose I go alone and get lost and mugged in Detroit?" and "I'll never ask you to do anything again."

When my husband consented, I passed on the urge to buy a new outfit, but did indulge myself in a haircut which I have yet to live down.

After purchasing the tickets, I safely stored them in a fire-proof box (in case the house should burn down around them).

The day of the play finally arrived and I began to plot my strategy for meeting Harris.

Upon arriving at the theater, I introduced myself to the ushers and bodyguards and stretched the meaning of "I am a writer" to give myself credibility.

My ploy worked, as the head usher told me I could meet Harris following his performance if I stood by his limo in the alley.

I returned to my seat in anticipation. The play was excellent, the music stirring. Harris looked wonderful in his tights.

When the magic moment came, I found myself next to Harris, pinned between a limo and a door, surrounded by a bevy of frantic, middle-aged females who were an embarrassment to my gender.

As a chorus of "Can I have your autograph?" went up from the crowd, I realized with a start something that I had always known subconsciously: Harris was just a man.

Yes, he had those great blue eyes and that interesting English accent.

He also had what appeared to be a severe case of the egos.

It struck me as strange that one human being should stand in line to meet another.

I learned that day that there is truth to the old notion that idols have feet of clay.

It was nice to meet him and to add his autograph to my collection. I enjoyed the encounter and would do it again if given the chance.

One thing would change, however. I would try to gain some control over that infernal tongue of mine. It seems I have feet of clay also.

What did I say when I met my favorite human?

I'll never tell . . . and he's probably forgotten.

'If it Fitz . . .'

A corny dream

Jim Fitzgerald

I have a dream. It begins dismayingly when my wife and I get lost on the way home from a movie. It ends happily when I save her from starving to death and she is forced to apologize for calling me a big slob.

The part about getting lost is, I must admit, slightly surreal. It isn't likely that we'd be marooned on the freeway, cut off from all civilization, without a fast-food restaurant within reasonable walking distance. But that's what dreams are for - to give slob husbands a supreme satisfaction unavailable in real life.

In real life, my wife says she can't believe the way I eat popcorn at the movies. She says I shouldn't do it in front of the grandchildren. She says all polite people eat popcorn the way she does: one kernel at a time, held between the thumb and one finger and so deftly inserted into her mouth that people watching don't even know she's eating; they think she's scratching her nose.

The subject came up again last week when we took our 11-year-old grandson John to see "Fright Night." Usually, John's visits to the big city are arranged around baseball games, but somehow that didn't seem important this summer, and John didn't mind that the Tigers were losing in Cleveland while he was watching movies in Detroit.

Incidentally, earlier in the summer, Hazel Park Raceway frequently ran newspaper ads showing a baseball player, with the headline: "Watch the Tigers Tonight." The idea was that no one would come out to watch the horses run if they couldn't watch the Tigers play at the same time, on "300 TVs throughout" the raceway.

In September, Tiger Stadium probably will advertise horse racing during every game, with patrons allowed to bet on which horse is fast enough to run from second to third on a ground ball to shortstop without being lassoed by Sparky Anderson.

But back to popcorn. I eat it by taking the largest handful possible and cramming it into my mouth. Naturally, a few kernels fall by the wayside. For me, this is an acceptable hazard, much like risking buttered-earlobe disease when eating corn on the cob. For my wife, it is unacceptable sloppiness and grounds for shame.

"Fright Night" is a hoot of a movie, but plenty scary, especially for grandchildren. At one point, John went to the john (neither likes to be called Jack) and didn't come back. My wife dispatched me to go give John courage enough to watch a vampire suck on Roddy

McDowell, which I did. But when I stood up, misbegotten popcorn cascaded off my lap and onto the floor like a rockslide, and the people sitting in front of us hunched their shoulders.

"You big slob, that is really embarrassing," my wife hissed. I didn't say a word, but I dreamed my dream.

We have been marooned on the freeway for several days, and my wife says she will die if she doesn't get something to eat. I don't say the same thing because I may be a slob, but I hate cliches. However, I remember something crucial that I've often noticed while undressing. All the popcorn that misses my mouth doesn't fall in my lap.

It falls in my shirt pocket. So I ask my starving wife if she wants some popcorn; she protests that we don't have any, and I smile worldly, reach casually into my pocket and save her life.

The pocket popcorn keeps her alive until the U.S. Cavalry comes over the freeway to put up a "Land Closed" sign. We live happily ever after, and every day I lovingly remind my wife: "You'd be dead if you hadn't married a slob."

First lady reacts to area visit

A little girl waves her hellos from the North Oaks Corvette Club float.

A pair of letters from Michigan's first lady Paula Blanchard are keepsakes worth sharing, says Betty Duris, president of the Clarkston Community Historical Society.

The letters were presented at the society's last board meeting.

Mrs. Blanchard, who grew up in Clarkston and graduated from Clarkston High School, was the society's honored guest at a luncheon in June at the Clarkston Cafe.

She was presented with a poster commissioned by the historical society from Clarkston resident James Russell. Copies of the poster will be sold at the society's annual Crafts and Cider Festival in the Clarkston Village Depot Park on Sept. 20, 21 and 22, and is for sale at Aura Fine Arts on Main Street, Clarkston.

"An invitation was extended to Mrs. Blanchard from past president (of the historical society) Marilyn Rosner and we were delighted with both her visit and her response," Duris said.

Portions of both letters reflect what the society stands for, Duris said.

"We look forward to further visits from Mrs. Blanchard to her home town," she added.

Dear Society Members:

I was delighted and honored to receive the beautiful depiction of Clarkston in the work of art by James Russell commissioned by the Clarkston Historical Society and presented to me at the May 22 luncheon.

The combination of photographs and art work makes an especially attractive and unusual design. I have a special fondness for the familiar details of the poster; you've captured the best of my home town!

I have found the perfect spot for it in my office. Thank you again for a beautiful work which so many people will enjoy and which I will display proudly.

Sincerely,
Paula Blanchard

Dear Ms. Rosner:

I was delighted to attend the May 22 luncheon with the Clarkston Historical Society, and to receive your gift of the beautiful poster. You made my hometown visit especially enjoyable.

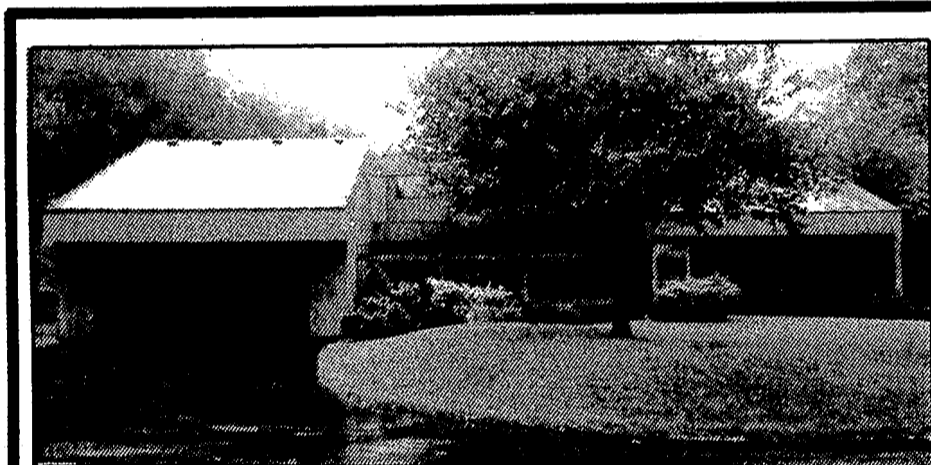

Your efforts toward the preservation and appreciation of Clarkston's historic architectural treasures are important to all of us in Clarkston and in Michigan. As I said at the luncheon, these historic buildings are a visual symbol of our pride in our heritage; they serve as a reminder of our place in the continuum of history. Through the work of dedicated people like you, we can hold on to this heritage. Working together, we can bring the best of our past into an exciting new future.

Again, thank you for your kind invitation, and thank you for the beautiful gift.

Sincerely,

Paula Blanchard

Village vetoes building extension

Draining and grading cited as reasons

A decision to extend the deadline for completion of the Ritter house reconstruction to Sept. 31 has been denied.

On Aug. 26, the Clarkston Village Council voted 6-0 to deny the extension as requested by the house's owner, Harry Radcliff. Trustee Sharron Catalo was absent.

In addition, the council voted to have attorney John Steckling contact the bonding company about pending problems and to place a performance review on the next council agenda, Sept. 9.

The denial should not affect the eventual completion of the project, according to council President Carol Eberhardt.

The decision to deny the request was based on grading and water retention problems, said Eberhardt, who added the situation has since been addressed by putting straw bales in place to curb mud run-off.

Last July, a $25,000 surety bond, which included the grading and guaranteed the renovation of the house, was extended by the council to Aug. 31.

According to Eberhardt, water has been seeping from the construction site onto the property of Clarkston Main Street Antiques, owned by Daisy Dowling.

"She should not have to wade through water to get to her shop," Eberhardt said. "That's not fair to her. The grade was a very large issue when the project was approved."

"I think it's been resolved," she said, adding that the council understands the problems and intends to cooperate with the owners.

In addition to the water problems, Radcliff failed to offer a reason for his request to extend the deadline, Eberhardt said.

"With no reason, we have no idea . . . when he would get that done," she said, adding that some of the work, such as painting and the completing of steps, could not be finished until after asphalt has been laid.

The laying of asphalt and the construction of a fence between the house and the village parking lot have yet to be done.

The two were excluded from the restrictions of the bond posted by Radcliff, according to Eberhardt.

"We're certainly willing to work around it," Eberhardt said. "It's not the end of the world kind of situation."

The Ritter house, a historic home, was moved from Dixie Highway to Main Street last October.

Its owners, Harry and his wife Jennifer, plan to use the building for offices and apartments.

The Radcliffs could not be reached for comment.

Grovecrest nursing facility ground breaking delayed

The development of Grovecrest of Clarkston is continuing at a somewhat slowed pace, according to Paul Verlee, an administrator with the facility.

Ground breaking for the 120-bed nursing facility, which had been anticipated for August, has now been delayed to late November or early December, he says.

The obtaining of permits and extensive paperwork are at the heart of the delay, according to Verlee, who says the developers have not encountered any unusual problems.

"It's a real slow process," Verlee says. "We haven't hit any roadblocks. It's gone real smoothly. We're moving right along."

Verlee and his mother Frances Verlee, co-owners of the Grovecrest Convalescent Center of Pontiac, have proposed building the 120-bed nursing home off Clintonville Road in Independence Township.

The Verlees obtained final site plan approval from township officials for the $3.5 million, 43,000-square-foot building on April 2.

They were issued a state-mandated certificate of need for the facility in August 1984.

The spoke-shaped center will provide skilled nursing care for its patients and feature a library, nature paths, dining areas, a chapel and outdoor courts, according to Verlee.

Patients are expected to come from the northern Oakland County area.

Depot Park use OK'd

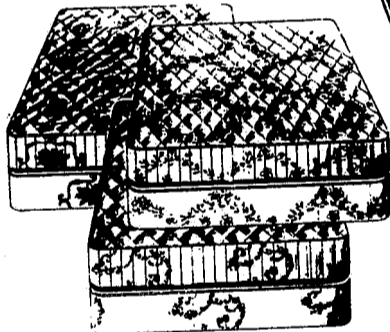

Permission to use Depot Park for the Oct. 20 Walk for SCAMP was granted by the Clarkston Village Council Aug. 26.

The walk, scheduled from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m., is a major fund raiser for the summer camp, which provides summer fun and learning to handicapped youngsters from northern Oakland County.

Concerns over sports facilities

An estimated $922,000 needed in repairs

By Dan Vandenhemel

Clarkston High School athletic director Paul Tungate is concerned about the condition of the sports facilities at the high school and the district's two junior highs, Sashabaw and Clarkston.

"We're a Class A school and I think we should have a Class A facility," he said.

When Clarkston High School was built in 1960, construction included the football field and track, tennis courts and baseball field. Those were the only outdoor sports at the school, and there were few girls' sports teams until the 1970s.

"Just from over the years, things have started to fall apart," Tungate said. "We're at a point where we can't patch things anymore."

In 1979 Anderson-Lesniak and Associates Inc. of Royal Oak developed a master plan for the sports facilities. Earlier this summer, Tungate, assistant school superintendent Mel Vaara, administrative assistant Conrad Bruce and architect Jack Anderson met to come up with speculated costs for each phase of the project. The costs follow:

- $55,000 to grade, add top soil, irrigate and seed or sod the football field.

- $162,000 to fix and improve the running track; work includes widening to eight lanes, new surface and moving fencing.

- $236,000 to level the soccer practice field, add two softball diamonds and one baseball field.

- $31,000 to grade and irrigate the varsity baseball field.

- $77,000 to relocate the tennis courts adjacent to the varsity baseball field and another $19,000 to resurface Clarkston Junior High's tennis courts.

- $45,000 to move the football practice field to the junior parking lot next to the football field.

- $14,000 to demolish existing tennis courts for a future parking lot.

"We're a Class A school and I think we should have a Class A facility."

—Paul Tungate

The Clarkston High School track is one of many athletic facilities in need of repair in the school district, says athletic director Paul Tungate.

- $45,000 to grade and add top soil to the soccer practice field near the bus garage.

The cost of the high school portion is $665,000. With an estimated $238,000 needed for similar work at Sashabaw Junior High and $19,000 for the tennis courts at Clarkston Junior High, the total expense is $922,000.

Vaara said the school board will decide how to pay for the work.

"So many things are involved in the funding of a project like this," Vaara said. "Which phase will go first?"

He said a committee will probably be established and by June 1986 be able to provide some direction for the board to consider.

"I don't think the money will come from the operating budget," Vaara said. "I think the extra money is going to have to come from the public, in maybe a bond issue."

Voters turned down bond issues twice in the 1960 that would have funded a swimming pool at the high school.

Besides the needed outside improvements, Tungate also mentioned two priorities inside the high school, the girls' lockerroom and a wrestling room.

Wolves try harder to move out of second

By Dan Vandenhemel

Hundreds of green tennis balls line up along the backstop fence at Clintonwood Park. The familiar sound of players swatting tennis balls back and forth rings out as the coach looks over his team.

Dick Swartout has the Clarkston High School girls' tennis team working toward improvement over last year. For the second straight year, the Wolves finished second in the league to Lake Orion with a 6-6 record.

Being honest and optimistic, Swartout thinks they'll be good this year, but better in the future.

Of the 14 players on the team, half are sophomores.

"This year depends on how quickly the sophomores gain confidence," Swartout said. "We're going to be counting on the sophomores."

The coach wants to see a turn around of one of the major reasons for the Wolves' second-best finishes, losing matches 4-3.

Two years ago, Clarkston had strong single players. Last season, the doubles teams held the Wolves above water.

"We'd need more depth and experienced players," the coach said about being a better team.

Swartout said some of the experienced players aren't on the team for one reason or another. Being in ninth grade is one of them.

"Having the freshmen in junior high hurts," he said. "Because we have two junior highs, the ninth-graders can't play varsity sports. Not many other schools have that problem."

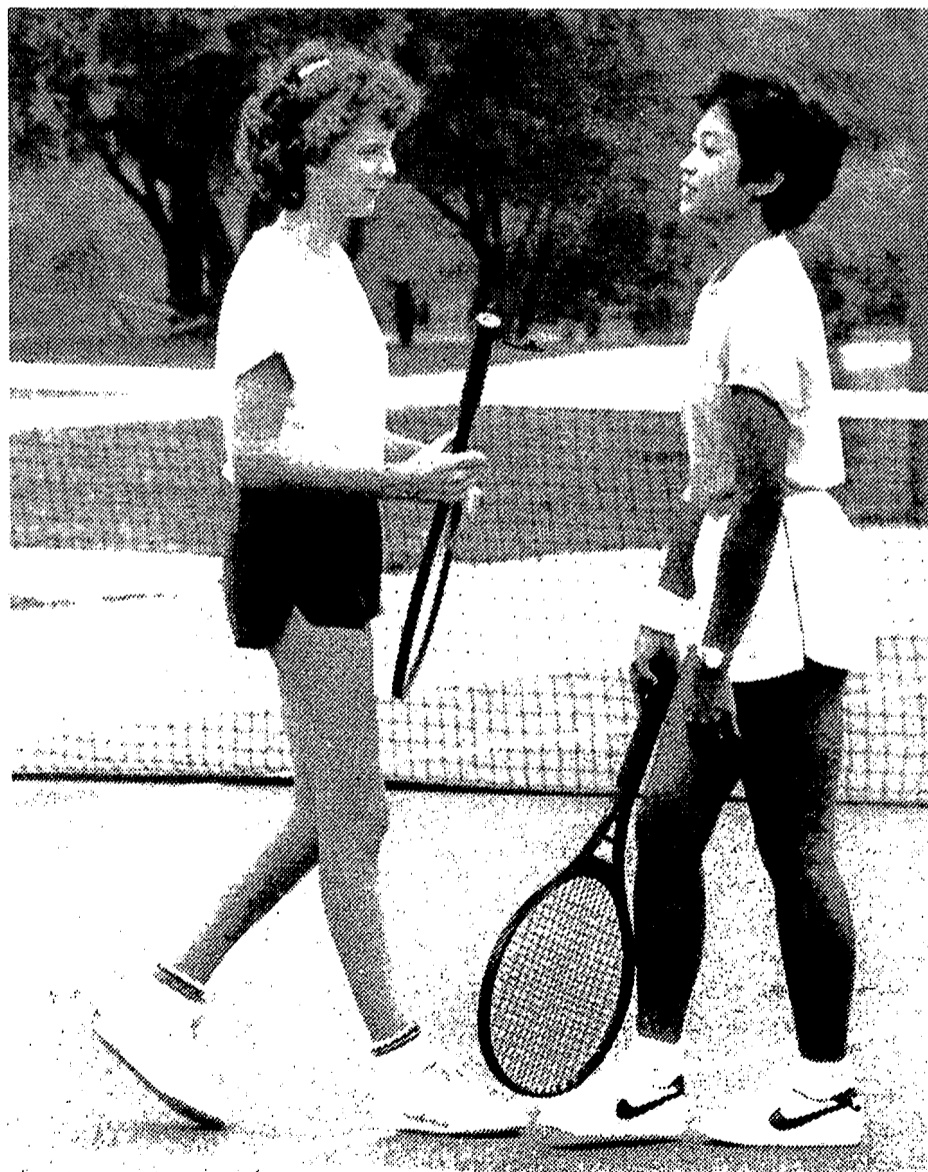

What Swartout does have is a solid nucleus of returning players and some strong newcomers.

Returning are seniors Daisy Red, Jenni Johns, and Sue Brock, and juniors Corinne Hummel and Cindy Hewitt. The sophomores being counted on are Ashley Adams, Rhonda Bowes and Shelly Rood.

One of the reasons for the lack of depth is the lack of playing time in the off-season. Many of the tennis players also participate in other sports.

"They're all pretty good athletes. I like that," Swartout said. "Besides that, they're all pretty good students. They're pretty well rounded. Ashley (Adams) is the only one that plays tennis year-round."

The Wolves' top two singles players, Ashley Adams and Daisy Red take time out to discuss strategy in a practice doubles match.

Finals feature township teams

By Dan Vandenberg
Independence Township was well represented at the state softball tournament.

In the Class D finals in Canton Township, two teams from the township Women's Beta National league placed second and third.

Leslie Electric and Beardslee Sand and Gravel came home with large trophies from the rain delayed tournament.

The games started Aug. 16 but were cut short because of bad weather. They finished up Aug. 23-25.

The high finishes were special because the tournament is a first for the two teams.

"I never expected this," Beardslee's coach Diana Matteson said. "I thought we'd go one or two games. I never thought that we'd go this far."

"We played some women that had mustaches and tatoos," she added. "We had one player that was worried about her fresh permanent."

Beardslee's final game of the tournament was against Leslie Electric, with the 3-2 victory going to Leslie's.

"We were the only team that beat Leslie during the regular season," Matteson said.

For Leslie's, the second-place state trophy was their third of the season, one for first place in the Independence league and one for finishing second in the league playoffs. They had a 19-1 regular season record, while Beardslee was second with a 16-4 mark.

"We're pretty excited about it," said Leslie's coach Dave Carlson. "We had eight players back from last year and the new ones seemed to give us the added extra punch we needed. This was our first tournament; it looks like we'll be playing in more."

Needed repairs

The wrestling team now practices in the cafeteria.

"The lockerroom is about one-third the size it should be," Tungate said. "Some schools have a varsity lockerroom, not here."

Tungate maintains that he is not upset over the problems but very concerned.

"I think we're at the time where we have to start now. Every winter that goes by, the more difficult it will be to fix things," he said.

Tungate said complaints about the facilities have come from little league coaches and high school coaches from Clarkston and visiting schools.

"Visiting coaches have told me they've heard we have a good athletic program and good athletes, and they are shocked to find the fields the way they are," he said.

Up My Alley

Paranoia

Dan Vandenhemel

Time to get paranoid.
Time to overreact.
Everything is boiling down to three and half months.

No more double shifts (hopefully) of working and going to school.

By Dec. 14, I'll be a former college student. Six years of part-time higher education all hinges on three last classes at Oakland University.

I was a basket case toward the end of the summer session. Exams in economics and public administration kept me on my toes and off the wall. Those were the two hardest classes I've ever had. What made them worse was they were crammed into an eight-week mini-session.

The good news is that I passed both. I'll plead the Fifth on the grades, but I passed.

What I'm going to be like at the first of December could be scary.

Now with courses in business writing, journalism ethics and something called applied language studies, my final college semester is before me.

Hopefully.

Hopefully by the time this is published, I will have spent a good part of the morning in class.

The contract for faculty at OU expired Aug. 15. If the faculty and administration haven't come to terms by Sept. 3, my final semester could be put on hold.

I seriously doubt if there is a strike that classes would be canceled. I don't know enough about the issues to make any judgment. I just want to go to school.

That must be the first time since high school that I've said that.

The faculty probably has legitimate complaints. The administration does too. In the meantime, students have a tortured wait, like having a telephone call put on limbo hold without listening to music.

This isn't just for Oakland University, it's for all school districts. In any major bargaining, a strike is the trump card, the ace in the hole.

Strikes always hurt someone. In school districts, it's the students. High school teacher strikes just push the completion of the school year farther into June. I'm not sure what would happen at the university level.

The final exam week is set for Dec. 9-14. No one knows if that will be affected.

While the administration and the faculty get what they want, why do the students have to suffer?

Springfield awards golfers

Trophies and certificates marked the end of the summer golf program in Springfield Township.

The six-week program sponsored by the Springfield Township Park and Recreation Commission featured lessons and competition.

Winners of trophies in the girls' 8-10-year-old division are Dawn Cummings, first, and Robin Wiechert, second.

The girls' 12-14-year-old winners are Jennifer Wiechert, first, and Kim Eaton, second.

Winners in the boys' 9-10-year-old class are Matt LaLone, first, and Nick Mansfield, second.

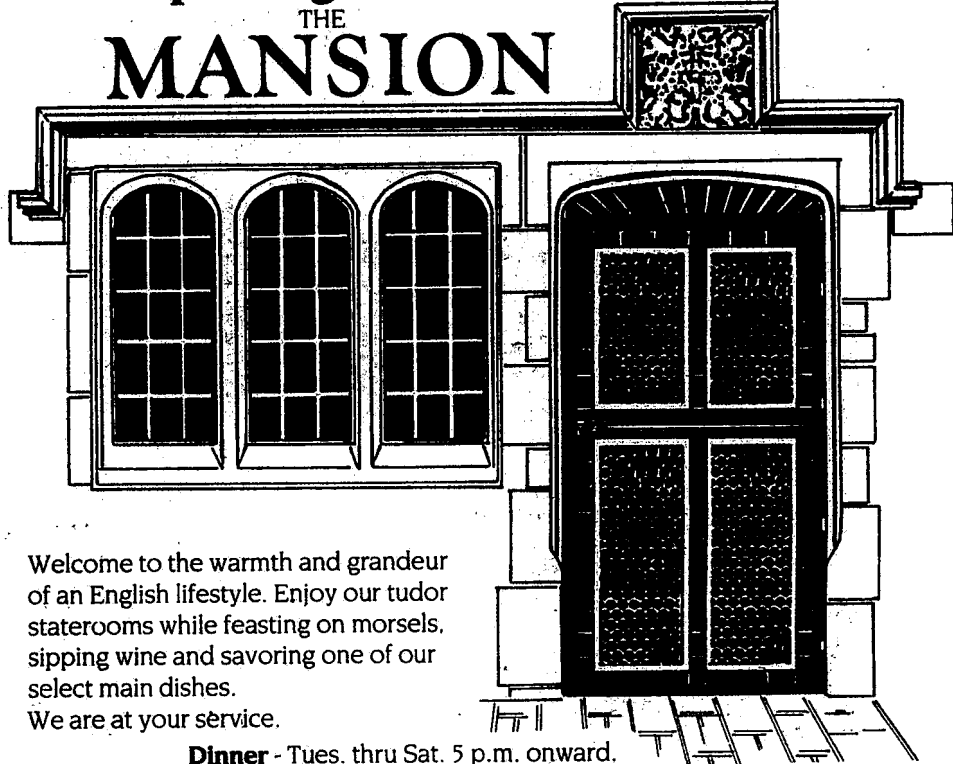

For the 13-14-year-old boys, the winners are Adam Byrne, first, and John Harding, second.

In the boys' 15-16-year-old division, Brian Aderholdt is first and Brad Hayes is second.

The first two weeks of the program were lessons at Heather Highlands Golf Course. The middle two weeks were practice rounds and the final two weeks involved competition.

Board changes buildings-per-lot

By Carolyn Walker

In certain circumstances, more than one building will now be allowed on a single lot in Independence Township.

New regulations governing the one building-one lot zoning ordinance were approved in a unanimous vote of the Independence Township Board on Aug. 20.

The new guidelines will go into effect Sept. 28, according to Clerk Richard Holman.

The restrictions, as proposed by the Independence Township Planning Commission, state that in districts zoned for multiple family dwellings, more than one principal building may be permitted.

In all other districts, except those zoned for single family residences, petitioners may put more than one building on a single lot after obtaining a special land use permit from the planning commission.

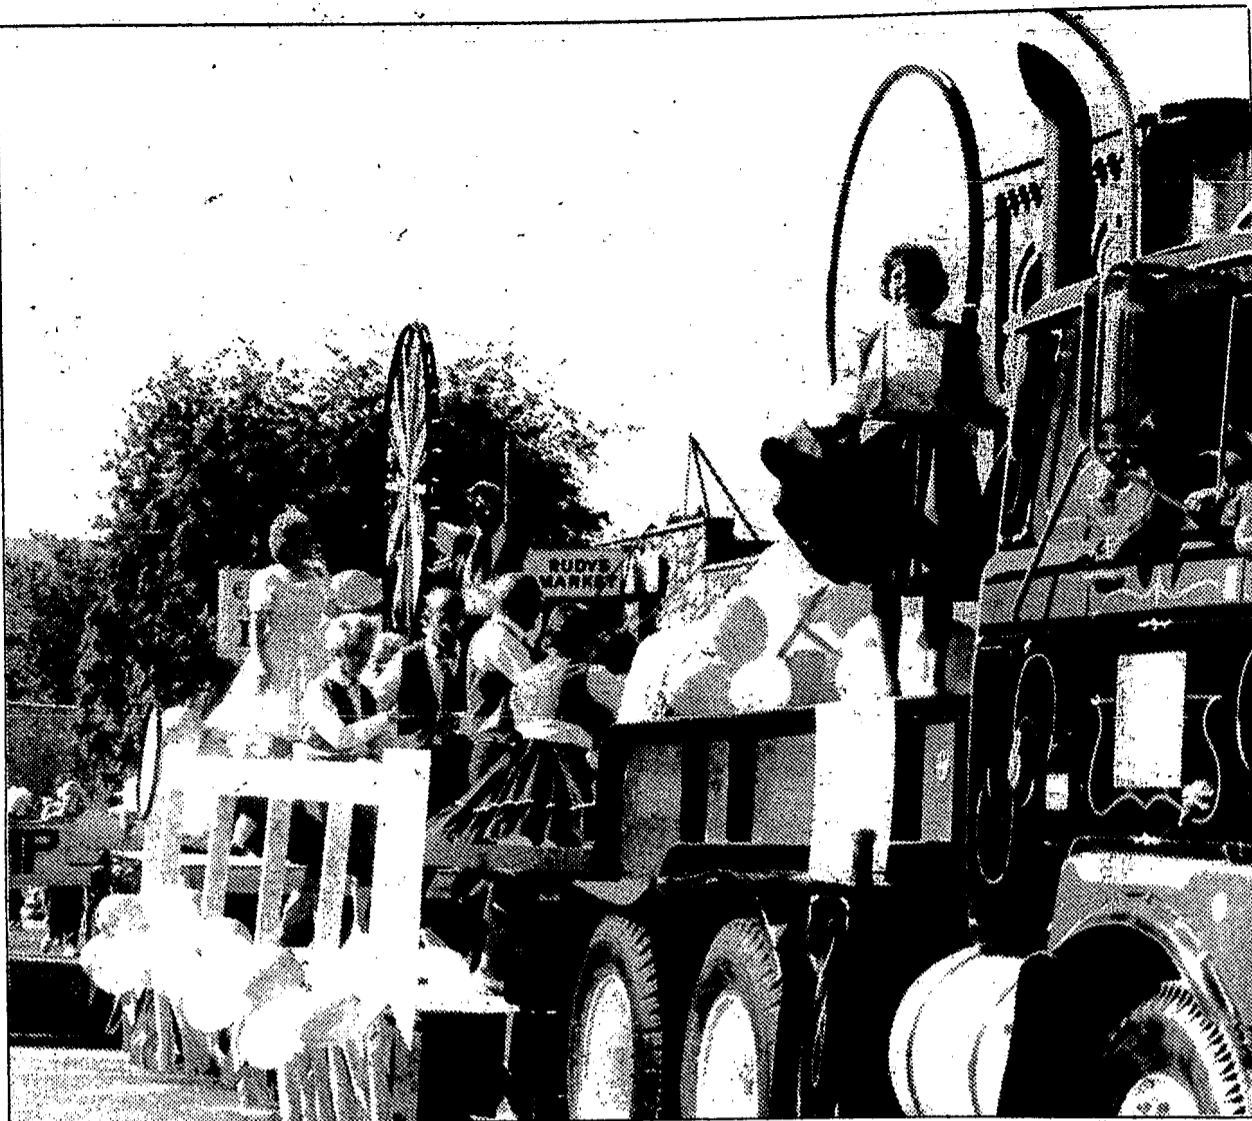

Areas zoned for single family dwellings will be permitted only one building per single lot as in the past, according to a spokesperson for the building department.

Prior to the adoption of the amendment, more than one building on a single lot was prohibited throughout the township.

Previously, petitioners wanting to construct more than one building had to appear before the Independence Township Zoning Board of Appeals for a variance or for special land usage.

The amendment eliminates that step, requiring instead, a special land use permit from the commission, according to the spokesperson.

The amendment to the zoning ordinance was approved by the township board following very little discussion.

Larry Liford dips just husked ears of sweet corn into boiling water as members of the Campbell

Richmond Post 63 of the American Legion prepare for their annual Labor Day Corn Roast.

The feast has been a harvest season tradition for nearly 25 years.

Photos by Kathy Greenfield

Ear to ear feast

Pat Nicholson digs into an ear of fresh sweet corn. She and husband John, Independence Township residents, attended the corn roast with guests from California.

Vernon A. Ridgeway oversees the cooking of the corn. A member of the American Legion since 1921, he is the commander of Veterans of World War I, Barracks 2803, Davisburg.

A smiling pirate helps promote the Independence Township Library's summer reading club, Buccaneers and Books, during Clarkston's Labor Day Parade on Monday morning.

Riding in the back of a pickup truck, Sashabaw Junior High School cheerleaders shout out their message.

The Clarkston High School Marching Band brings live music to the parade.

Inger Nelson, Clarkston's Jr. Miss, waves her greetings to the parade-watchers.

The sun occasionally peeks through the trees as Christine Corazza and Randie Wilson exchange wedding vows in Clarkston's Depot Park Aug. 25. Tiny flower girl Angela Diccico has a knee-high view of the goings on.

Two wed in park

The serenity of Clarkston's Depot Park set the scene for a marriage between Christine Corazza and Randie Wilson Aug. 25.

Christine, daughter of Henry Corazza of Independence Township and Beverley Kerkes of Fern-dale, wore a gown designed by friend Mary Mastratonio.

Randie, son of Richard Wilson of Algonac and Donna Weaver of Seattle, Wash., wore a tuxedo also created by Mastrotonio.

Christine and Randie, who currently reside in San Diego, California, were attended by best man Chet Williams, maid of honor Ronda Hill, bridesmaid Jenny Diccico and usher Mike Hill.

Angela Diccico served as flower girl.

The service was performed by the Rev. Todd Vanaman of Dixie Baptist Church.

A reception followed at the American Legion Hall with music provided by This Country Band and as well as the bride and bridegroom's band Back Beat.

PTO announces officers and events

Clarkston Elementary School's PTO has new officers for the 1985-86 school year.

President is Carole Webster, father vice president Mike Burklow, mother vice president Cricket Bishop, secretary Nancy Bildstein and treasurer Beth Ford.

The first PTO meeting is planned Monday, Sept. 16, at 7 p.m. in the multipurpose room. Everyone is welcome.

Other important dates include Oct. 3—Open House, Oct. 8—School Picture Day and Oct. 12—School Fair.

Cameron, Muscat wed in Saginaw

Carole Cameron and Dan Muscat were married Aug. 23 at St. Thomas Aquinas Church, Saginaw. The Rev. James Cronk performed the 5:30 p.m. ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cameron of Saginaw Township.

The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Muscat of Robertson Court, Clarkston.

For her wedding, the bride wore a white gown with an off-the-shoulder bodice and Sabrina neckline. The bodice and short, puff sleeves were enhanced with silk Venice lace.

Her fingertip veil was trimmed in Venice applique lace and secured by a flower wreath. She carried a cascade bouquet of stephanotis, white miniature carnations, Japette orchids and Springri ferns.

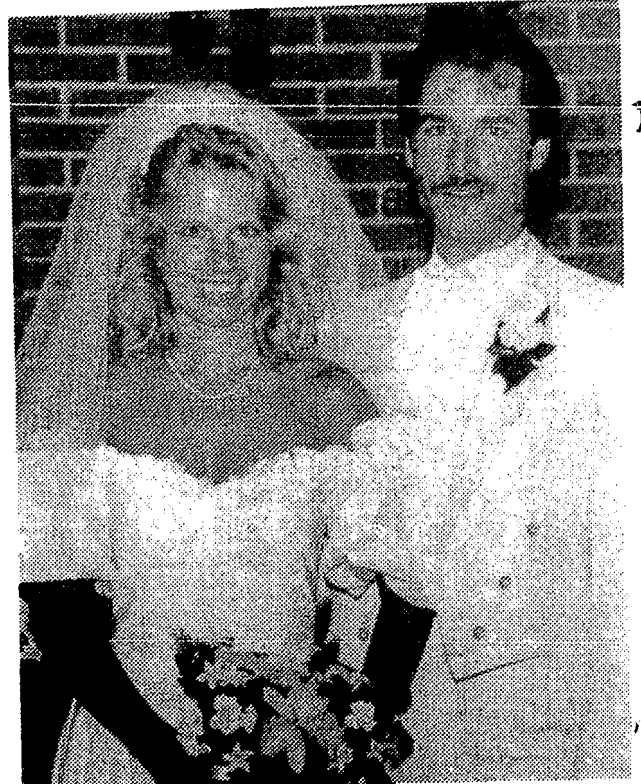

Maid of honor was Teri Muscat, the bridegroom's sister, of Clarkston. Bridesmaids were Linda Wendling; Kathy Muscat, the bridegroom's sister, of Clarkston; and Laura Cameron, the bride's sister-in-law, of Ravenna.

They wore floor-length, bright blue silk taffeta gowns styled with Sabrina necklines, short puff sleeves and crossover sashes. They carried bouquets of Japette orchids.

Best man was Craig Cameron, the bride's brother, of Ravenna. Groomsmen were Jim Muscat, the bridegroom's brother, of Montana; Rob Cameron, the bride's brother, of Troy; and Jon Muscat, the bridegroom's brother.

David Hinkin served as soloist, and hostess was Beth Durov.

The wedding reception was held at the Candlelight Inn.

Newlyweds: Carole and Dan Muscat

The couple honeymooned with a cruise to Vancouver, Canada, and Alaska.

They will make their new home in Anaheim, Calif.

VISITORS FROM AFAR: Nineteen residents of Biberach, West Germany, spent eight days in the Clarkston area, from Aug. 26 through Sept. 3. They stayed with the families of members of the Calvary Lutheran Church of Independence Township. The Rev. Eberhard Gohner, one of the trip organizers, met Calvary's pastor, the Rev. Robert Walters, about 25 years ago when Walters was a student at a seminary in Chicago. "Last year, Bev (Mrs. Walters) and I visited their home for just two days and that's when the idea came that they might visit here," Walters said. Gohner is the pastor of the Peace Church in Biberach, a city located about 15 miles north of Switzerland in southern Germany. The Biberach residents also visited the Washington, D.C., area and West Virginia. Clarkston was their last stop before returning home.

Singers sought

The Jackson Chorale has several members from the Clarkston area, and more are wanted.

Auditions for new members are scheduled Saturday, Sept. 7, at 11 a.m. at the First Congregational Church in Pontiac, 65 E. Huron, across from the Federal Building.

The Chorale, directed by Dr. Gilbert O. Jackson, celebrates its 20th season this year.

Auditions are open to men and women past high school age who are interested in studying and performing choral music.

Rehearsals are held Saturdays from 9-11 a.m. For more information, call 651-3085 after 5 p.m.

THE CLARKSTON NEWS
5 S. Main St.

There's something you can always count on from Michigan Bell:

Good service from good people.

If working for Michigan Bell for 33 years has taught me anything, it's that customer service comes first. And lately, since so much has changed in the telephone industry, Michigan Bell is naturally concerned that you are given every opportunity to learn about what's going on. That's where I come in. I'm Vince Fordell, and part of my job as a Michigan Bell Corporate Affairs Manager involves making sure Michigan Bell customers know how and where to get answers to phone service questions.

One good place to call is the Let's Talk Center. It's staffed by Michigan Bell people specially trained to answer almost any general question about phone service. The toll-free number for the Center is 1 800 555-5000.

And for specific problems, there are Michigan Bell people to call. For example, if you have a repair problem with your residence phone service, you should call 221-2121; if the problem is with business phone service, the number is 221-3131; if the problem is with a public telephone, call 221-5151.

Another convenient source of information that shouldn't be overlooked is the Customer Guide section in the front of your Michigan Bell White Pages telephone directory. It's full of phone numbers and helpful information on who to call for what. One of the numbers you'll find there is also on your monthly phone bill. It's the number of your Michigan Bell business office. That's where you get in touch with a service representative who can help you with specific questions about your phone service, or your bill.

I hope you'll find these suggestions helpful in knowing how and where to get answers. Even though I can't answer your questions on an individual basis, if you belong to a community or service group in the area and would like me to come out and address your group, please let me know. The number to call to schedule a talk is (313) 523-7760.

After all, helping people learn about their phone service is what I, and a lot of other Michigan Bell people, do every day.

NOTICE TO TAXPAYERS

Beginning October 1, 1985, an additional penalty of $10.00 will be added to each 1983 and prior years delinquent tax that appears unpaid on the records of the county treasurer. This amount is added according to the provisions of Section 211.59 and 211.60 compiled laws of Michigan to cover the expense of sale at the May tax sale.

Immediate payment will save you this additional penalty and keep your property from appearing in the public list of lands to be offered at tax sale.

It's our 79th birthday, the party's at our house, and the gifts are on us.

We also have for you a FREE handsome door knocker with your name engraved on it.

We want you to come and help us celebrate our 79 successful years of helping people like you buy and sell homes. We're giving away party favors, our new "Guide to Buying a Home" and "Guide to Selling a Home" brochures. Both were written to answer the many questions consumers have before buying or selling, and they're yours when you stop by our residential offices during the month of September.

Come in and let us show you our new, different and better ways of buying and selling your home. With Coldwell Banker, it's a piece of cake.

Scottish bagpipers add their sound to the Labor Day Parade. They're members of the 74th Argyles of Royal Oak.

A parade without clowns simply wouldn't be a parade. Members of the Oaklowns added their vital touch, and they won a second-place award in the costume category.

Dressed to illustrate the "We Are the World" theme of the parade, this little Indian maiden reacts to the crowd of thousands out for some Labor Day entertainment.

What is the effect if you smoke and use heroin?

Dear Cat Paw:
Does drinking have an effect on you both mentally and physically?

Just Curious

Dear Just Curious:
Yes! One of the main dangers of alcohol is the irreversible damage to body tissue such as brain, liver, pancreas and kidneys. Alcohol also causes faulty judgment and lack of coordination, emotional instability and increased aggressiveness.

Dear Cat Paw:
What is the effect if you smoke pot and use heroin?

Just Wondering

Dear Just:
Persons influenced by marijuana usually exhibit bloodshot eyes, a dryness of the throat and mouth and a slightly lowered body temperature. Blood pressure and pulse rates are typically elevated.

Outbursts of laughter are common, as is an increase in appetite. Excited behavior, euphoria, hallucinations, anxiety and panic sometimes occur, depending on the individual and the amount consumed.

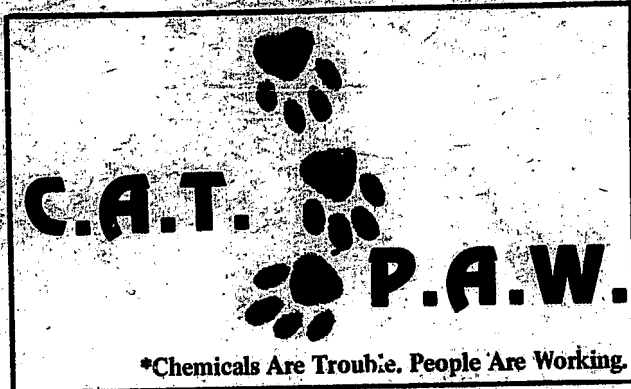

Heroin is psychologically and physically addictive. A user will often have runny eyes and nose, and inflamed nostrils. This may be accompanied by nervous tics that come and go between fixes.

Immediately after taking the drug, users' pupils constrict tightly, and they appear to be on the nod, exhibiting sleepy, drunken behavior. An unusual craving for sweets is common, as is constipation caused by the opiate.

Dear Cat Paw:
Can alcohol cause someone to be impotent?

Questioning

Dear Questioning:
Alcoholics may experience impotency, sometimes reversible with the return to sobriety. For the nonalcoholics, Shakespeare once said: "Drink provokes the desire, but it takes away the performance."

Copyright 1985 Jeanette Sanders

Dear Cat Paw:
I think I might be pregnant. I've been straight since Toma. Could the alcohol and drugs still affect the baby after almost two months?

Worried

Dear Worried:
Go to your doctor and get a check-up, and tell him what you told me. If you are pregnant, you will need to see a doctor anyway. If you aren't, you will be able to relax and stop worrying.

I'm really glad you are now straight and hope you stay that way.

Dear Cat Paw:
Does drinking affect your eyesight?

Curious

Dear Curious:
A narrowing of the vision field occurs, which may be particularly dangerous in driving because peripheral objects are not seen.

Low doses of alcohol reduce resistance to glare, so the eye requires longer to readjust after exposure to bright lights, producing a period of relative blindness that can be hazardous for driving.

The ability to discriminate between lights of different intensities is impaired, as is the sensitivity to certain colors, especially red.

Letters to Cat Paw should be mailed to The Clarkston News, 5 S. Main, Clarkston, MI 48016. They need not be signed.

Cat Paw author Jeanette Sanders, a Springfield Township resident, is a member of the Clarkston Area Chemical People, an organization devoted to the prevention of substance abuse among the community's young people.

Teen returns from Japan full of memories

By Carolyn Walker

The splendor of Japan held Jennifer Schneider captive for five weeks this summer.

On Aug. 23, the 14-year-old Independence Township resident returned from a visit to Japan as a representative of the 4-H program. She has nothing but good things to say about her stay in that country.

A house guest of 13-year-old Mako Fujiwara and her family, Jennifer says, "We did a lot of things. The Japanese really like Americans a lot."

Among the many activities Jennifer participated in with her host family were visits to Japanese temples, a four-day, Japanese-style vacation on Hokkaido island, and a stint at a Japanese Labo camp.

Labo, according to Jennifer, is the Japanese equivalent of 4-H. Labo students concentrate on learning the English language and American culture, rather than raising animals.

It was through a co-operative effort between Labo and 4-H that the Japanese tour for 222 American students was arranged.

Twenty-seven students and four chaperones represented Michigan. There were students from 18 states involved with the program.

A ninth-grade student at Marian High School, Jennifer was selected as the youngest 4-H representative to go to Japan through acquaintances of her father, Tom, and mother Brenda. Tom is an Oakland County 4-H agent.

The Japanese place a high regard on the homemade gifts of visitors, Jennifer says. Her gifts to the Fujiwaras were homemade candlewick pillows. Jennifer taught herself the skill of making candlewick pillows from a kit she purchased.

Made in various colors, the pillows had lace-type borders and were warmly received by her hosts, she says, adding with enthusiasm, "They loved them."

Jennifer says she was struck by the friendliness of the Japanese and the cleanliness of their country.

Japanese people she had never met before would ask permission to take her picture, she says, attributing it to the fact that she is a young blonde. Most Americans in Japan are adults, she says.

"I stood out in a crowd," says Jennifer.

She was also amazed at the number of people who live in Japan, which she says is approximately the size of California.

There are "lots and lots of people," she says, adding that the Japanese population is double that of America's.

Jennifer Schneider looks over one of two scrapbooks presented by her Japanese host family before she returned to America after a five-week visit this summer.

19 win Rotary parade plaques

Nineteen entries in Clarkston's Labor Day Parade took home plaques presented by the Clarkston Rotary Club.

Parade Marshall Fontie Apmadoc received a plaque engraved with her name. Presently a member of the Clarkston Village Council, she formerly served as village president.

The club's President's Award was won by the Clarkston Chiefs for their float of an Indian Chief riding a horse fashioned from paper flowers.

The Theme Award was won by the Springfield Christian Academy junior high school cheerleaders. This year's theme was "We Are the World."

Winners in the float category were: first, the Springfield Sesquicentennial Committee; second, the Springfield Christian Academy JV cheerleaders; and third, Mr. G's.

Costume category plaques were awarded to: first, Independence Township Library; second, Oaklowns; and third, bagpipers of the 74th Argyles of Royal Oak.

Honorable mention plaques went to: Sweet Adelines, Sea Ray Boats, Clarkston Rotary Club.

Waterford-Clarkston Business and Professional Women, Independence Squares, Glen Sommers, Renaissance Festival, Sashabaw Junior High School Cheerleaders and the Clarkston High School band and cheerleaders.

Carol M. Thompson

Carol M. Thompson, 96, of Bloomfield Township and formerly of Clarkston died Aug. 30.

Mrs. Thompson was a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution 50 years and was a charter member of the Bloomfield Hills Country Club.

Surviving are her step-daughter, Jane French of Birmingham; and grandchildren, Molly Martin of Mexico City and William Martin of Clarkston. She was preceded in death by her daughter, Loraine Martin.

A graveside service at Lakeview Cemetery, Independence Township, is scheduled Wednesday, Sept. 4, at 11 a.m. with the Rev. Alexander Stewart officiating.

Arrangements were made by the Lewis E. Wint & Son Funeral Home, Independence Township.

Mina F. Thomas

Mina F. Thomas, 81, of Independence Township died Aug. 30.

Surviving are her son, Kenneth of Clarkston; four grandchildren; three great-grandchildren; and siblings, Henry Ford of Madisonville, Ky., and Vergie Lane of Fort Wayne, Ind.

The funeral service was to be held Sept. 4 at the Townsend-Jones Funeral Home, Providence, Ky., with burial in the White Oak Cemetery, Providence.

Local arrangements were made by the Lewis E. Wint Funeral Home, Independence Township.

William J. Allen

William J. Allen, 61, of Clarkston died Sept. 1. He was retired from Plant Security at Pontiac Motor Division and had served as an Independence Township firefighter 26 years.

Mr. Allen was a member of Cedar Lodge No. 60, F&AM, Clarkston.

Surviving are his wife, Reberta; children, Rod of Clarkston and Mrs. James (Jodi) Norton of Davisburg; grandchildren, Todd, David and Lesley; and sister, Helen Snover of Waterford.

The funeral service is scheduled Wednesday, Sept. 4, at 1 p.m. at Drayton Heights Free Methodist Church, Independence Township, with the Rev. Clancy Thompson officiating. Burial is to follow in Lakeview Cemetery, Independence Township.

Memorial contributions may be made to Supportive Care Services at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac.

Arrangements were made by the Lewis E. Wint & Son Funeral Home, Independence Township.

Marshall H. Ballow

Marshall H. Ballow, 74, of Springfield Township died Aug. 31. An auctioneer, he was a member of the Michigan Auctioneers Association, the Michigan Farm Bureau and the Davisburg Rotary Club.

Mr. Ballow was a member of the Mt. Bethel United Methodist Church.

Surviving are his wife, Ramona; children, Paul of California and Mrs. Charles (Nancy) Porter of Clarkston; five grandchildren; two grandchildren; and sister, Corena Johnson of Florida.

The funeral service was held Sept. 3 at the Lewis E. Wint & Son Funeral Home, Independence Township, with the Rev. David Davenport officiating. Burial followed in White Chapel Cemetery, Troy.

Donald Lee

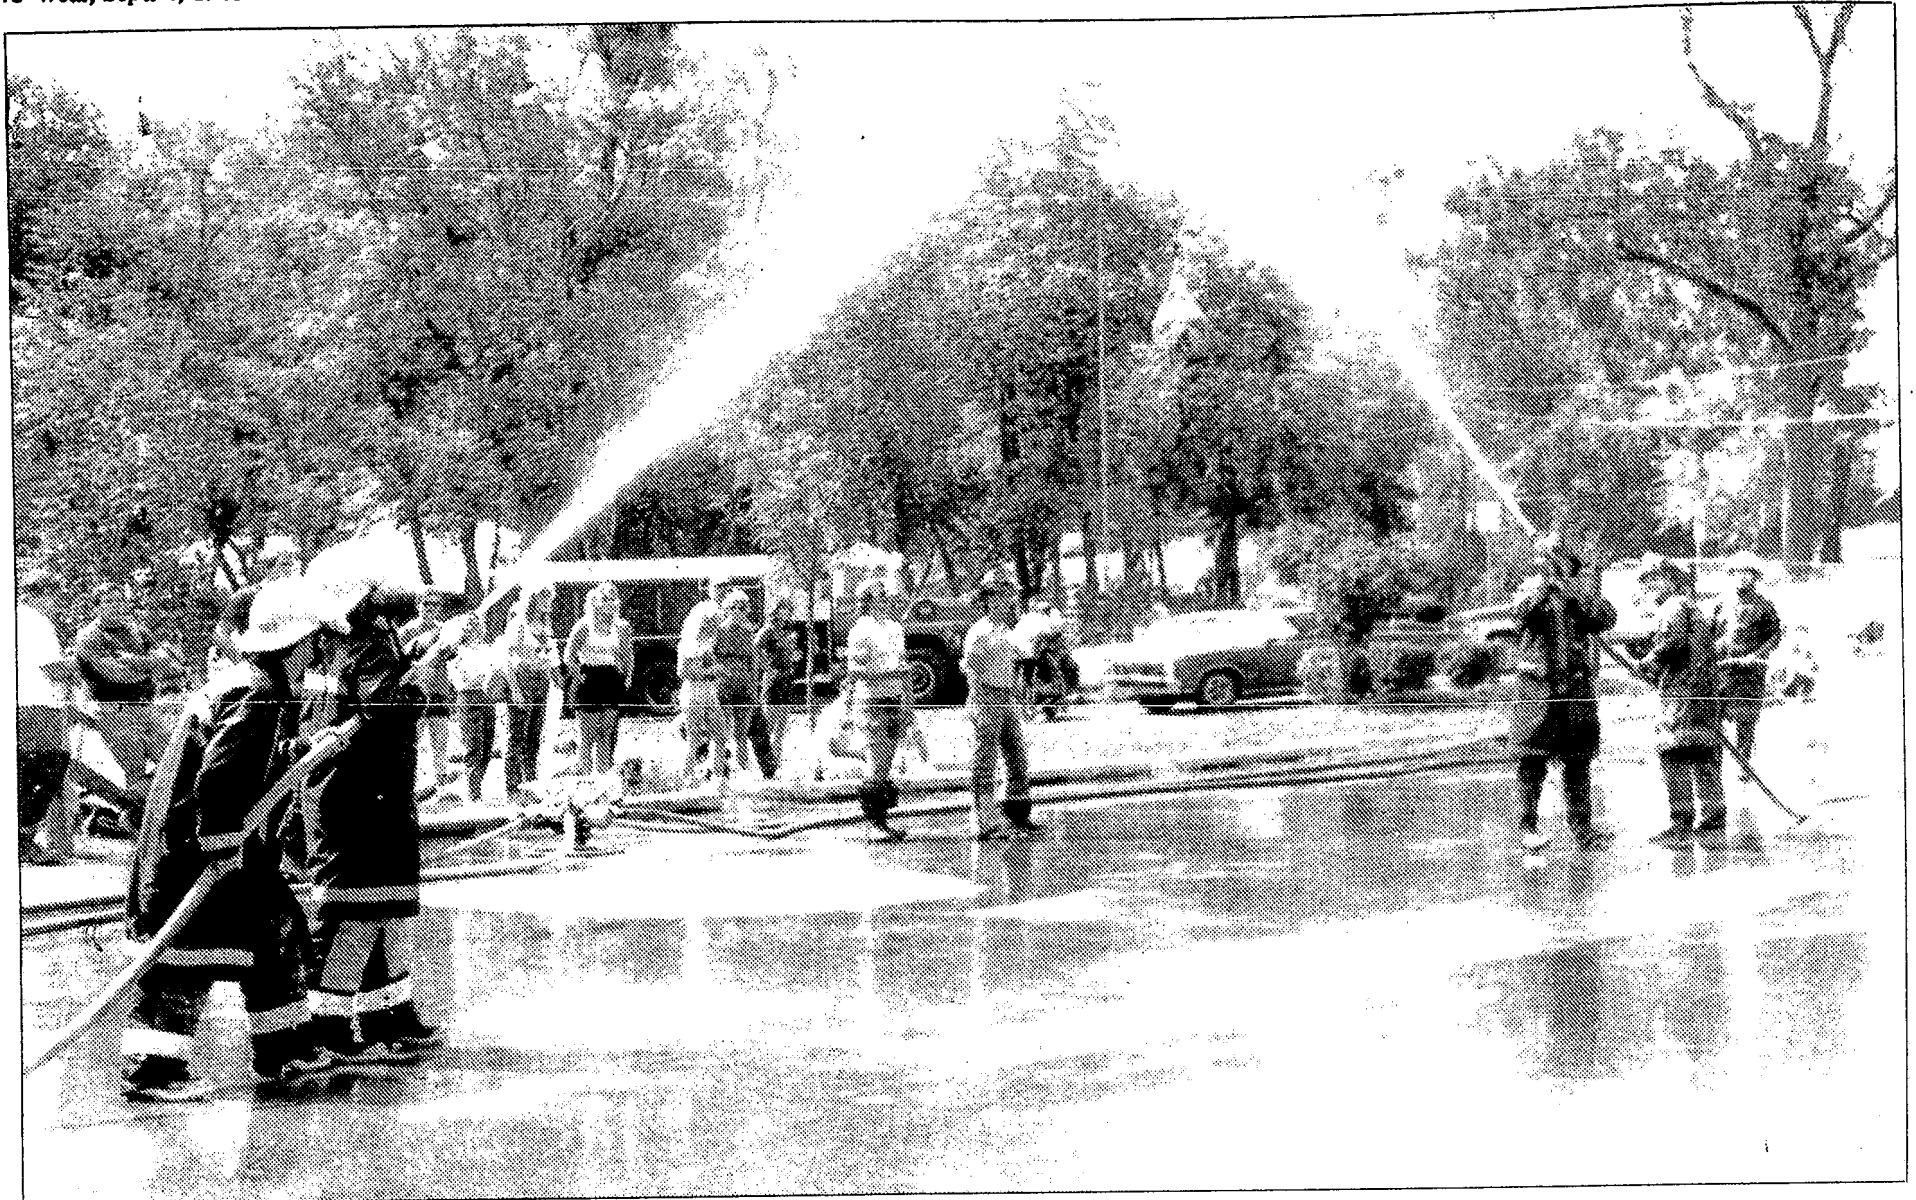

Donald Lee, 31, of Independence Township died Aug. 26. A member of the Pontiac Missionary Baptist Church, Mr. Lee was a waiter.

Surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Grover Lee of Independence Township; brother and sister-in-law, Keith and Joan; and uncle, Brian.

The funeral service was held Aug. 30 at the Pontiac Missionary Baptist Church with the Rev. Jay Money and the Rev. Grant Lee officiating. Burial followed in Ottawa Park Cemetery, Independence Township.

Arrangements were made by the Lewis E. Wint & Son Funeral Home, Independence Township.

Memorial contributions may be made to Mr. Lee's church.

Soaking themselves and sending a fine mist of spray on the watching crowd, firefighters from Auburn Hills and Rochester battle it out during the annual Labor Day waterball competition

Sunday afternoon at Depot Park in Clarkston. In the men's division, a team from Rochester takes the first-place trophy, Independence Township takes second and Auburn Hills takes third. Eight teams participated in the event sponsored by the Independence Township Firefighters Association.

Firefighter follies

The women's team from Lake Orion emerges victorious during the annual waterball competition held Sunday in Clarkston. Manning the fire hose are Mary Harkins and Tammy Boice [left].

Joy Leonard and Debbie Dzieszinski [left] take the front line during the women's waterball competition. Four women's teams participated in the firefighters' event, with Lake Orion taking first place, Independence second and Waterford third.
