Township robberies on the rise

By Carolyn Walker

Robberies are plaguing northern Independence Township.

During the year, there have been 22 residential breaking and enterings in an area bordered by Holcomb, M-15, Oakhill and Ellis roads, according to Oakland County Sheriff's Det. Sgt. Douglas Hummel.

Cheryl Walter, a northern Independence Township resident, agrees angrily with that figure.

Walter was at home when thieves entered her house for the second time in one week Sept. 5.

"Clarkston is an easy hit," she says.

Recalling the incident, Walter says she felt intuitively that the men who drove a truck into her driveway that day were the same ones who had robbed her house of a microwave oven, jewelry and money earlier.

When she saw them driving back and forth in front of her home, she called the sheriff's department to report a suspicious vehicle.

Then the men pulled into her driveway.

"I kept quiet while they broke in," she says. "I had the police on the phone before the guy got out of his truck. I just knew. I said, 'I know they're the robbers.'"

Walter maintained contact with the police

Dena Kent, 55, a resident of Independence Township, is reported in stable condition at St. Vincent Charity Hospital and Health Center in Cleveland, Ohio, following a shooting Sunday at 3:40 p.m.

Kent was shot in the hand and thigh and grazed by a bullet to the head when a thief attempted to take her purse outside the Holiday Inn on 22nd Street and Euclid Street in Cleveland, according to Det. Ollie dispatcher from the bedroom phone, while the men rang her doorbell, entered, and ransacked her home, she says. When they kicked in the bedroom door and Walter screamed, they fled.

"I was thinking, 'Surely someone will get here before they get to my bedroom door.' The woman (dispatcher, who could hear the activity over the phone) said, 'Oh my God, they're at her door.'"

"When I screamed, they ran. I had so much confidence in the police. My life was in danger."

Walter expressed concern that police took too long to reach her residence and alarm that only two officers patrol all of Independence Township per shift.

"I didn't realize there were only two deputies for this area," she says. "How long does it take somebody (to respond)? There is apparently a serious problem."

It's more than scary.

"I was better than a burglar alarm," she says, adding she was able to give a description of the vehicle and a license plate number while the robbery was taking place. "I don't know what more you could want and still not be able to get them (the robbers). It's just very upsetting."

According to Hummel, the sheriff's department had Walter on the phone 26 minutes, during which time deputies responded from the corner of Main and Washington streets in the Village of Clarkston.

While en route to the Walter home, the deputies passed the suspects' vehicle and turned around to chase them, Hummel said. The deputies lost the suspects at the corner of Holcomb and Reese roads.

"The officers did the best job they could under the circumstances," Hummel says, adding they would have been there in four minutes had they not turned to chase the suspects. "They (dispatch) kept her on the phone until the officers arrived."

Though police have suspects in the case, no arrests have been made.

Hummel says Walter should have answered the door when the men rang the doorbell because they were probably checking to see if anyone was home.

Had she answered the door, "they would have been on their way," Hummel says.

"I feel the whole north end of the county is an easy hit," Hummel adds, attributing that fact to the relative seclusion of the homes and the "I don't want to get involved" attitude of many neighbors.

A lack of millage support for hiring officers for the township is also part of the problem, Hummel says.

"Every time a millage vote comes up, the people vote it down," he says. "We can only do so much with the manpower that is allotted."

Voters in Independence elected to pay 1 mill for police services in 1980 for a period of 10 years. Attempts to raise the millage have been defeated five times since 1976.

As for Walter, she says she is contemplating buying a gun in addition to installing an alarm system. "I'm going to protect myself," she says. "I just can't be left completely helpless."

Couple arraigned on charges

A Royal Oak man and woman have been arraigned on breaking and entering charges related to a Brandon Township robbery, according to Lt. Glenn Watson of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

Robert T. Maxwell and Laural Gudemoos, both 21, waived their rights to a preliminary examination Friday, and are scheduled to appear before Oakland County Circuit Court Judge Hilda Gage on Oct. 7.

Arraigned before 52nd District Court Judge

Gerald McNally on Sept. 11 and Sept. 12, the two are being investigated for as many as 30 robberies in the Independence-Brandon area, Watson said.

The two had been the subjects of surveillance for some time, when they broke into the Brandon residence, Watson added.

Gudemoos was released after posting a $20,000 bond, Watson said.

Maxwell is being held in the Oakland County Jail. His bond is set at $80,000.

Davis of the Cleveland 3d District Detective Bureau.

Kent, who had taken her husband, Robert, to the Cleveland Clinic and who was checking into the Holiday Inn at the time of the assault, was also pistol whipped about the head by her attacker, Davis said.

Timothy Stone, 22, a manager of the Holiday Inn was shot when he attempted to come to Kent's rescue. Stone is reported in critical condition at St. Vincent Charity Hospital and Health Center with a wound to the chest, said a hospital spokesperson.

According to Davis, police have a suspect in the assault, but have made no arrests. They anticipate making an arrest before the weekend, Davis said.

"I'm pretty confident that we will solve it," Davis added.

In addition, two women have been arrested in a related incident, he said. They were driving the getaway car when it was recovered following the robbery attempt, he said, adding that they were not involved in the actual assault.

Kent is an employee of Clarkston pediatricians James O'Neill, Irving Kernis and Charles Yee.

Nathan: 'He had a fight to live'

Editor's note: Nathan Scutt's story is the second in a three-part series by Clarkston News staff writer Carolyn Walker. A county-wide special education millage election is scheduled Oct. 7, and the series is designed to explore what special education encompasses and illustrate how it helps disabled and home-bound students.

By Carolyn Walker

"This," says Sandy Scutt, waving a wire and pink gizmo through the air, "is Ralph."

"Ralph lives in a waterbed."

Ralph is an appliance, which resembles a retainer used by dental patients who wear braces; and he has a tail. He is kept under a young boy's pillow for posterity.

Ralph is a remnant from times that were a little bit tough for Nathan, Sandy's son.

"They told me he wouldn't live 24 hours," she says of the newborn Nathan. "He had a fight to live."

Sandy's gaze goes off by itself into the past when she says those words. Back to the struggle she and Nathan, and Nathan's father Duane, won with the help of Dr. Y.C. Huang, a pediatric surgeon.

When Nathan was born in 1974, his esophagus was not connected to his stomach. It simply ended somewhere in his chest.

Nathan pulled through his first day of life, to the amazement of his doctors, Sandy says.

Then, at 3 pounds 8 ounces, he survived exploratory surgery and the implantation of a tube through his abdominal wall into his stomach.

The tube was used for feeding until Huang performed surgery to connect Nathan's esophagus to his stomach at 2 months of age, thus enabling Nathan to eat normally.

He was one of the youngest patients in the history of the operation to survive such surgery, which is typically postponed until the child is 7 years old, Sandy says. He continued to wear the tube until he was two-and-one-half years old as a precaution.

Nathan and the Scutt family weathered the crisis admirably.

A sense of humor being one of her strongest assets, Sandy can now laugh about some of their adventures—such as the time the tube came out when Sandy and Nathan were home alone.

With one finger in the hole in baby Nathan's side and another on the dial of the phone, Sandy made an emergency call to her neighbor, who arrived in hair rollers—and terrified the toddler.

Nathan bounds energetically through the kitchen while his mother recalls his start in life. He grabs a cola off the table and guzzles it down before going outside to play, evidence of the success of his operation.

He pauses for a moment to explain that at 11 years of age, he knows what he wants to do when he is grown. He wants to be like his dad, he says grinning, and work on cars.

When Nathan talks, he talks enthusiastically. But a speech impediment makes him a little difficult to understand sometimes.

Two years ago he couldn't talk at all.

Because he could not drink from a bottle normally during his first months, Nathan did not develop the necessary facial muscles to control talking, Sandy says.

In addition, at age 4, when Nathan was a student in Clarkston's SPICE program, Betty Anderson, a speech therapist with the schools, discovered Nathan did not have a properly developed soft palate, according to Sandy.

That was where Ralph came in.

Attaching Ralph to Nathan's teeth, Ralph's tail went down his throat, helping to create and control the necessary vibrations in the soft palate area to enable Nathan to acquire speech.

By 1980, when Nathan was 6, he still did not have enough speech to carry on a conversation, or even to say "mom" and "dad," Sandy says.

"What he sounded like, was a child with a cleft palate," she adds, her sense of humor returning. "If you plugged his nose, you could understand him."

Nathan progressed from SPICE to kindergarten and then to first grade at Sashabaw Elementary School.

By the end of first grade, Nathan could keep up intellectually with his peers, but did not have enough speech to communicate, Sandy says.

"His speech wasn't good enough for them to even test him," she says.

Nathan Scutt survived, to the gratitude of his parents and the surprise of his doctors. A speech problem only hints at the many obstacles Nathan and his family conquered.

It was then that Nathan was placed in an EMI (educably mentally impaired) program for handicapped children in the Clarkston school system, where he is now in the fifth grade.

At school he is given speech therapy twice each day.

He likes school fine, he says, especially science, his favorite subject. Once in a while he likes math "when it's easy," says Nathan, heading for the door and his puppy.

Easy.

It's a word that comes with a smile . . . and years of work.

Clarkston skies were dream come true (blue)

By Kathy Greenfield

Betty Duris' dream came true. The rain held off during the 11th annual Crafts & Cider Festival on Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Duris is president of the Clarkston Community Historical Society, the organization that sponsors the festival. She wrote a commentary that appeared in The Clarkston News expressing her concern over possible rain during the three-day weekend.

A few sprinkles on Saturday provided the only deviation from dry skies.

"I think we probably had the best year because of the weather," she said on Monday. "Everyone I talked to seemed to have a phenomenal weekend. We totally sold out of donuts and cider Sunday at 5 o'clock, almost on the button."

In donuts, the number totaled 5,100. In cider, the tally was 350 gallons.

"The weather has everything to do with it," said Duris. "There was a wonderful fall feeling in the air."

Although all the bills were not in Monday, finance chairperson Irene Russell estimated a net of a little over $7,000 for the society from Crafts & Cider '85. The figure compares to $5,234 from last year.

The society makes its money by charging craft participants $50 apiece and selling raffle tickets, notecards, posters and books, and cider and donuts.

Winners of the five main raffle items were: Carol Ladd of Independence Township, an overnight stay at the National House Inn in Marshall; Irene Russell of Clarkston, a gift certificate from the Clarkston Cafe; the Stewarts of Livonia, four brunch tickets from the Deer Lake Racquet Club; Peter Dobrzeniecki, an Independence Township employee, a plate by potter Chris Anthony; and Betty Hanson of Lathrup Village, a decorative duck decoy from Aura Fine Arts.

An ongoing goal of the society is to establish a local history room at the Independence Township Library.

"After this year, I think we're really ready for the drawing board," said Duris.

Parking spaces were at a premium last weekend as out-of-town travelers filled the streets of Clarkston for the 11th annual Society

Crafts & Cider Festival. Even a slight rainfall on Saturday afternoon didn't send the crowds away. (Photo by Dan Vandenhorn)

Mediplex continues trek through government

By Carolyn Walker

Hurdles and procedures challenging the developers of the proposed Deer Lake Village senior citizen complex are being steadily overcome.

During a general presentation on Sept. 17, representatives of Mediplex Group Inc. of Newton, Mass., described the proposed facility to the Independence Township Board.

Mediplex has received conceptual site plan approval for the facility in Independence Township and plans to seek final site plan approval soon, said John Truslow, Mediplex project manager.

Board members seemed receptive to the project but some expressed concerns about how the age limit of residents would be enforced. They also questioned who would maintain ownership of the completed facility.

Following the presentation, the board, Mediplex representatives, audience members, Springfield Township Supervisor Collin Walls and Independence Township Planning Commission Chairman Neil Wallace discussed modifying a consent judgment governing the site.

Under consideration are adding the Springfield Township portion of the project to the consent judgment and changing the wording to assure the housing is for senior citizens only. No official action was taken.

The senior citizen complex is to be built on 26 acres off Dixie Highway that straddle the boundary line of Independence and Springfield townships.

Because it includes property in both townships, the facility must be approved by both township governments.

Members of the Springfield Township Zoning Board of Appeals tabled action on a density and parking issue Sept. 19, according to Walls.

In addition, Mediplex must still have a technical review by Springfield Township engineers before seeking site plan approval by the planning commission, Walls said.

A total of three hundred units are planned for Springfield Township with a remaining 100 units geared for Independence, said Richard Lake, project architect with the Klett Organization, Jenkintown, Pa.

According to Lake, the center is to offer three levels of care to residents over age 50. Those levels include apartments, a 120-bed convalescent home and a 60-bed home for the aged.

The average age of the residents is expected to be 80 years old, with the average entry age predicted to be 70.

Lake said the buildings have been designed with Clarkston architecture in mind. The apartments are to offer kitchens, dining, housekeeping, sheltered corridors and a commons building, Lake said.

Designed to complement and incorporate the hilly terrain, the facility will offer some underground parking, Lake said, with driveway entry to the complex from Deerhill Drive.

It is anticipated there will be an average of one car for every two units, Truslow said.

A total of 305 parking spaces are planned.

Charles Clippert, attorney for Mediplex, suggested that the age restriction be addressed when amending the consent judgment.

Truslow responded to questions about the ownership of the facility by saying the real estate would most likely be sold to a real estate investment trust, but Mediplex would maintain an active involvement in procedure.

District authorizes funds for 7 school aides

By Kathy Greenfield

Up to seven aides have been approved to work in split-grade elementary school classes in the Clarkston district.

Authorization to spend up to $44,500 for aides was confirmed Sept. 16 at a special meeting of the board of education attended by principals of the five elementary school buildings.

The aides will be hired at the request of the individual teachers, said Superintendent Milford Mason.

The meeting was called following some confusion over whether or not aides would be hired for splits. The board had discussed the possibility at a special meeting in July.

"There appeared to have been a difference of opinion on the part of some of the board members and some of the administration," said school board President Janet Thomas.

While the board had given approval of use of aides in split classes as an option to be determined after school began, before school started some elementary school principals told parents the aides would be hired, she said.

"Because everything has been set into motion this year, indeed there will be aides available for any of the classes that are split," Thomas said. "We're not setting policy for this. It will not necessarily occur every year, but it will this year."

Thomas added that she hoped the split class numbers would be reduced in the future. Enrollment is expected to increase, or at least level off, she said, and "hopefully this will rectify itself."

She also noted that split class numbers are higher than normal this year. One factor, she said, is the district's goal of keeping class sizes at 24-26 pupils in the lower elementary grades.

Eight to 10 years ago, class sizes up to the mid-30s were common, she said.

"Nobody wants to go back to that. Times change and expectations change," Thomas said. "Hopefully we can get into the situation where the number of class splits can go down to two or three."

Courthouse project endorsed

Two appointed to EDC board

By Carolyn Walker

With plans for the new 52nd District Courthouse proceeding, members of the Independence Township board have voted to sign an Economic Development Corp. (EDC) resolution for the project.

The Sept. 17 signing of the resolution is a "formality" and an endorsement of the project, according to Supervisor Frank Ronk.

The board also approved the appointment of two new members to the EDC Board of Directors for the duration of the courthouse construction.

The three goals of the EDC are to increase the tax base by encouraging the building of taxable projects, to put people to work and to bring services to the community (such as a nursing home or courthouse).

The EDC also serves to help existing and future businesses get lower interest rates via tax-free bonds.

In August, the Rademacher Group proposed building a new 13,500-square-foot, two-story courthouse off M-15.

Footings for the project were poured Sept. 16, according to Rudy Lozano, a member of the Rademacher Group.

"We will be bringing employment to the area," Lozano told the board, adding that financing for the project and a commitment for the bonds has been received.

At Ronk's suggestion, township residents John Priebe and Joseph Rahfus were unanimously appointed to the EDC board of directors for the courthouse project.

Priebe is owner of Oakland Machine Co. and a resident of Paramus Drive. Rahfus, also a township resident, is an employee of John Bowman Chevrolet, according to Ronk, who said both men live and work near the proposed courthouse site.

$1,000 bonus

The Clarkston Area Youth Assistance Committee (CAYAC) is $1,000 richer following a second donation by the Independence Township board.

On Sept. 17, members of the board voted 6-1 to grant the expenditure from the general fund, following a request by new CAYAC Chairperson Betty Kozma.

Voting no was Clerk Richard Holman, who suggested to the board that a $1,000 interest-free loan be made in lieu of a gift.

In making his suggestion, Holman cited a "shortfall" of funds coming from the Federal Revenue Sharing (FRS) program, from which the CAYAC donation is usually allotted.

Because most of the FRS funds have been committed to a forthcoming M-15 improvement project, the board was able to give only $3,600 to CAYAC last March, Holman said.

Likewise, they made smaller than usual donations to SCAMP and Latchkey, according to Holman. "The rationale for the cuts is still there," Holman said.

Trustee Dale Stuart disagreed with Holman. "As far as I'm concerned, if they need the $1,000 we ought to give it to them," he said.

Voting to make the donation, in addition to Stuart, were Supervisor Frank Ronk, Treasurer John Lutz and trustees Carol Balzarini and Daniel Travis.

Why?

Carolyn Walker

I had planned to tell you this week of a very special treasure hunt. One that went down in family history as the house-cleaning-job-that-was.

But I find myself having difficulty concentrating.

Instead, my mind wanders to the improbable . . . the unreasonable . . . the senseless. To the shooting of a friend, Dena Kent.

Dena lies recovering from bullet wounds in one Cleveland hospital while her husband lies ill in another.

Dena had taken Bob to the Cleveland Clinic because it represented hope for him. She and I talked about his condition briefly last week when we met, mentioning life's uncertainties.

Now I hear questions being silently repeated over and over in my mind: What has this world come to when one caring human being cannot safely take another human being to a hospital without fearing for her life? What kind of person would pull a gun on another?

What could Dena have had in her purse that was worth killing, or dying, for? What is the price of a human life?

Not only was Dena seriously injured in the robbery attempt during which she was shot three times, but a 22-year-old man who went to her aid was critically wounded.

That, of course, raises more questions: What is there in the human-kind that enables some to reach out to others . . . to strangers, unselfishly? To make a difference? To try?

Dena, an employee of pediatricians James O'Neill, Charles Yee and Irving Kernis reached out to me once when I thought my heart would surely break.

She was there listening patiently when I grieved over painful medical news regarding a family member.

I can't remember her exact words, but they were comforting and I know that she talked of the healing power of prayer and God and friendship.

I don't recall precisely the feel of her hand as it touched mine, but I remember her presence.

I remember her being there and caring when I needed someone to care. I recall the strength she shared simply because she paused for a moment in her lifetime to be a part of mine.

Now the opportunity has come for me, for all of us, to reach out in friendship to Dena and Timothy Stone, the man who risked his life for hers. To find words of comfort, of strength and caring. To say the right things, words which will make a difference in their lives.

Let us pray. God will listen.

Jim's Jottings

Jim Sherman

Recently a state legislator from Detroit complained because he was hearing so much more criticism of the cost overrun of the People Mover than the cost overrun of the Zilwaukee bridge.

It got me to thinking about how both could have been avoided, the cost overruns, if the engineers had shared some of their knowledge.

The bridge contractor was able to come in with a low, affordable bid because he found a source for glue that bonded concrete.

The only reason a section of the bridge tipped is because the glue tube squeezer didn't have a chance to do his thing, though I was told the guy who performed the same job on the second shift squeezed the tube in the middle instead of on the end.

I know how that is. I've had kids do that with our toothpaste.

Regardless, if the bridge engineer had given the People Mover maker some of his super glue, the spans would likely not have cracked, and the cost overruns not occurred.

I really believe the bridge glue, if it's so great, should be required in all concrete. And, blacktop. Certainly the glue should be in specifications for pothole mix.

Show me a fixed pot hole and I'll show you a pothole about to happen again. Not so if some glue were poured around the edges or mixed directly.

My idea is there for the taking, engineers. My only reward would be gluing the pothole in my parking lot.

Before you go to bed tonight, think of this: If a vampire bat attacks, you might not even notice. These bats sneak up on a sleeping "victim" and lap, not suck, the blood from a wound. And, the bats usually only swallow about one teaspoon each meal.

Great information like that is available from National Wildlife Federation.

Believe this if you want to. Two hot dogs can supply a third of a child's and a fourth of an adult's daily requirements of protein. Surely, the National Hot Dog & Sausage Council wouldn't lie.

However, neither would they tell you hot dogs rank right up there with bacon as one of the five least healthy meats to eat.

And, I love them so. I eat many more than my share of the 50 million hot dogs eaten each day. (That amounts to approximately 80 franks per person per year.)

---0---

About 2 million anglers a year go ice fishing. At least they got something to look for after Labor Day.

Lottery response

In perusing some newspaper clippings recently, I came upon a column by Jim Sherman in which he said that retired editor-investor Bill Myers put into perspective the Michigan Lottery's installment prize payments.

I would like to point out that Myers' analysis contained many inaccuracies, and explain how this system really works.

The use of the installment method for payment of major prizes is one of the most misunderstood aspects of lotteries both here in Michigan as well as in other states.

It is assumed by many that the lottery takes a $1 million prize, invests the entire $1 million, pays the winner over a period of years from the interest earned and retains the original $1 million invested. This is not true.

Spreading major prizes over a 20-year period is designed to benefit all players by increasing the amounts that are awarded in lower prize categories.

The Jackpot for the Lotto games offers an excellent example of how installment prizes work to benefit players. State law directs that winners receive as nearly as possible 45 percent of gross revenues as prizes.

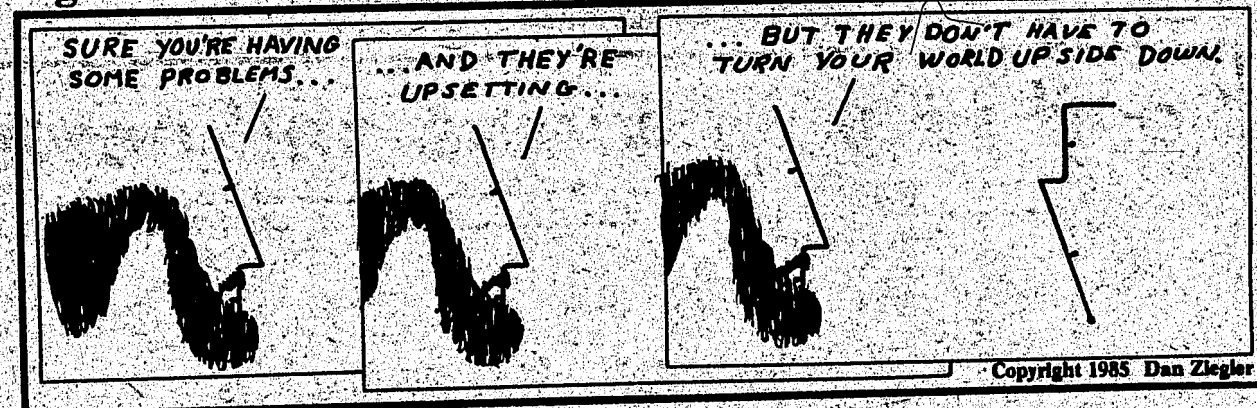

In the case of Lotto, this divides into 25 percent for the Jackpot, 9 percent for the Second Prize pool and 11 percent for the Third Prize pool.

Without an extended payment plan, we thus would require $4 million in sales for each game to cover the guaranteed minimum Jackpot of $1 million.

With an installment prize, the lottery can guarantee a $1 million Jackpot with only $2.2 million

Recalling auto troubles

Jim Fitzgerald

"At least you can write a funny column about it," my wife said after I slammed down the phone and threw myself on the couch, weeping and cursing the day my Oldsmobile was recalled.

She didn't fully understand the situation. She knew an auto dealership had again turned her normally docile husband into a snarling animal.

But she didn't know that, just a few hours earlier, I had dumped the latest accumulation of letters received from enraged readers beseeching me to write terrible insults about various car dealers and especially their service departments.

Any columnist who deals with frustration in the marketplace will say 90 percent of reader response concerns rotten service from car dealerships and other levels of the auto industry. Copier machines contribute greatly to the physical bulk of these complaints.

They include copies of repair orders, warranties, and several months' worth of increasingly irate correspondence with bump-shop supervisors, Midwest zone managers, and corporation vice-presidents.

My procedure is to pile car complaints on my desk while promising myself to someday write an 85-part series on suicide in the service department. But it never gets done, because of the time factor.

It wouldn't be fair to describe the agony of the owner of a car with a chronic carburetor crisis unless I also asked the service manager involved for his side of the story.

But I've never seen a dealership service manager who could stop servicing long enough to say more than, "It's not ready yet." And I don't have time to wait for a service manager to break a leg or retire after 30 faithful years of avoiding eye contact with bewildered customers looking for help.

So most of the car complaints I receive are never published. Eventually they are dumped into the trash to make room on my desk for two arms with my head in them. That's what happened earlier on the day I responded—with agonizing results—to the recall of my 1984 Oldsmobile.

My anguish was multiplied by the realization that I'd just thrown away damning evidence I could have used in a vicious, unprincipled attempt to finally get even with the auto industry. Contrary to my wife's suggestion, it was nothing to write a funny column about.

The recall letter from Oldsmobile said I needed a new fuel feed pipe—because of their mistake—or there could be a leak and my car might burn up with me in it. "Contact us immediately for an appointment," it said, adding: "The labor time necessary is approximately 20 minutes. Please ask your dealer how much additional time will be needed to process your vehicle."

I phoned for an appointment. And phoned and phoned. It took 65 minutes before a line was open to the service department. I wonder how many warranties run out while that phone is busy.

Finally a voice said no appointment. "First come, first served," a woman said. She wouldn't estimate how long the job might take, and refused to take my name. She didn't care what my letter from Oldsmobile said.

I'm not naming the dealer because I'd probably get the same treatment at most dealerships and it's unfair to single him out just because he was unfortunate enough to sell a car to a stupid columnist.

But I'm certainly looking forward to his smooth explanation of why Oldsmobile instructed me to make an appointment that can't be made, and why Oldsmobile's mistake (that could incinerate me) should be fixed at Oldsmobile's convenience, not mine.

Pasta time

Kathy Greenfield

In autumn, thoughts turn to spaghetti.

I have proof. On one of the first autumn's-in-the-air days, I visited the market and found a flurry of activity around the spaghetti sauce and noodle shelves.

When I reached the checkout line, virtually every basket held spaghetti noodles.

That's when I began to wonder what it all means.

Do we want to eat spaghetti or macaroni and cheese or lasagna because of some instinctive need to carbohydrate load and prepare for running head on into winter? Or did we learn all these eating habits from our mothers?

I know, from all the years I've worked next door to a grocery store, that whenever there's a blizzard the bread and milk shelves empty rapidly.

I know that hot summer days mean a run on hot dogs, hamburger and bacon for BLTs.

Personally, I have a yen for asparagus in early spring, cucumbers in early summer, apples in the fall and oranges as winter approaches.

Last week, my tastebuds were frustrated.

It all started with the apple crisp. I had the apples. I had the recipe. I had every ingredient—except the essential brown sugar.

All the cars were gone, driven by other family members, and the grocery store within walking distance was closed.

After a search through many cookbooks, I found a recipe for apple cobbler that didn't call for brown sugar. It was good, but...

Then there was the lasagna. I bought all the ingredients for lasagna when it was chilly. I made the sauce and a day later cooked the noodles and stacked it all together.

Unfortunately, lasagna night turned out to be like summer and nobody was thrilled with a cold-weather dinner.

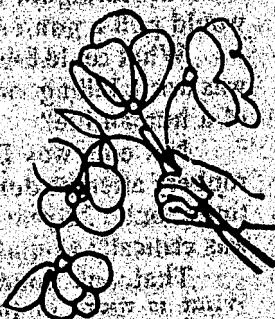

When my sister called to ask what she could bring for a family gathering last weekend, I was ready.

"Why don't we have a farewell-to-summer picnic?" I said. "We'll grill hamburgers and hot dogs."

I didn't have to go into a long explanation of my menu frustrations. Sisters understand! She brought the potato salad.

Coverage thanks

Thank you for your coverage of the Clarkston High School golf team.

When fall arrives, we all naturally think of football. But, according to Paul Tugate, CHS athletic director and math teacher, there are as many as nine athletic events per day in the Clarkston school system.

We appreciate your interest and support of all Clarkston sports.

Board plans letter of protest over stop signs

The Independence Township Board plans to present a written protest to the Oakland County Road Commission for its decision not to place stop signs at Deer Lake and Sagamore Roads.

On Sept. 17, board members voted 6-1 to send a letter of protest to the commission.

In June, the township had asked that stop signs be placed at the intersection in conjunction with the widening of Dixie Highway and improvements to Deer Lake Road.

The June board decision followed a public hearing at which residents of Deer Lake Road asked that their street be closed to public traffic.

Over the objections of the residents, the board voted to keep Deer Lake Road open with the recommendation that a stop sign be installed to control traffic.

Since then, road commission officials have told board members the roads do not meet county standards for stop signs, in part because of a low population density.

State law prohibits the placing of signs on a private road such as Sagamore, according to Dennis Pajot, public information officer at the road commission, who adds that by law, traffic moving from a private road (Sagamore) to a public road (Deer Lake) must stop automatically without a sign.

Vehicles moving from Deer Lake Road to Sagamore do not have to stop, Pajot added.

"You don't want to overuse stop signs," Pajot said.

In response to that information, members of the board voted to send a letter of protest to the commission.

Voting against the motion, without comment, was Trustee Daniel Travis.

The board also agreed to pursue the installation of signs, short of impeding the actual improvements on Deer Lake Road.

-Letters to editor- An explanation of the lottery in sales. Without the plan, that sales level could only provide a Jackpot of $550,000.

Through an investment, similar to the purchase of an annuity, the lottery uses $550,000 of prize money to establish a fund in which the principal plus interest earned provides for $50,000 annual payments totaling $1 million over 20 years.

At the end of 20 years all the money in the fund (principal and interest) has been paid out to the winner. The lottery retains none of the principal or interest.

If the lottery paid the $1 million in a lump sum, other prizes would have to be eliminated.

Rather than being required to fund a $1 million top prize, the $450,000 of prize money is used to increase the amount awarded in smaller prizes and creates a greater number of winners. This same principal applies to instant games as well.

Another player benefit from spreading major prize amounts over a number of years is the reduced taxes paid by the winner.

Although lottery prizes are exempt from state and local taxes, the federal income tax does apply. If the Jackpot was paid as a lump sum, a prize winner would net about $500,000 after taxes.

Spread over 20 years, the tax rate drops sharply and the winner nets about $800,000, depending on other income. The $300,000 difference is like an added $15,000 a year for 20 years.

As Sherman pointed out, "Myers lives in Florida and can talk a lot." I regret that Myers did not contact my office before speculating on how the Lottery pays its big winners.

Bureau of State Lottery

Tennis court bids

The tennis and basketball courts of Clintonwood Park are expected to have new looks before winter.

The Independence Township Board voted unanimously Sept. 17 to send the resurfacing and relining project to bids.

According to Timothy Doyle, director of the Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department, the expense of resurfacing is expected to be approximately $10,000 to $12,000.

A bid must be approved by the board before work can begin.

Praise for articles

Attention Jim Sherman:

Several of your articles I have sent to Perry-Morrice and relatives in that area.

At our family reunion in St. Johns, one older lady told me she knew all the places and things you were talking about.

We used to have tables of people from Clarkston who came to our Harvest Festival to eat and see old friends.

Keep up the good work.

Interim-chief to be paid $500 for extra effort

By Carolyn Walker

Assistant Fire Chief Gar Wilson is to be compensated for his work efforts during Chief Dale Bailey's illness.

Voting 5-2, the Independence Township board decided Sept. 17 to make a pay adjustment of approximately $500 for work Wilson did from July through September.

Wilson had been assistant fire chief one month when Bailey underwent surgery to remove a kidney in July. As assistant, Wilson ran the department until Bailey returned to work Sept. 16.

During Bailey's absence, Wilson supervised testing and interviews for three shift captain positions and the hiring of three new firefighters along with his regular duties.

"It seemed it would be fair (to) compensate his extra load due to the illness of the fire chief," said Supervisor Frank Ronk, who made the suggestion. "I felt the load was over and beyond the running of just the status quo."

Trustee Dale Stuart disagreed with Ronk saying Wilson had only done what was expected of him.

"It's his job to step in when the chief isn't there," he said, adding that he believed it was a bad precedent to set.

Stuart said he had no problem with paying Wilson for any overtime.

Also voting against the compensation was Treasurer John Lutz, who cast his vote without comment.

Voting for the adjustment were Ronk, Clerk Richard Holman and trustees Daniel Travis, Carol Balzarini and William Vandermark.

Mail and milk at Food Town

Clarkston post office box patrons will soon be able to pick up their mail and a loaf of bread at the same location.

Fifty new rental boxes and a stamp machine are expected to be in place at the Food Town grocery store at Sashabaw and Maybee roads Sept. 28, said Clarkston Post Master William Kinsley.

The idea for the expanded post office service came from the owners of Food Town, he said. It will be similar to the outpost in the Clarkston Mills Mall in downtown Clarkston.

"We have a bad problem in the wintertime, where in many cases we can't make deliveries because of the snow," said Kinsley. "Many times we have to hold the mail until the road clears. Also, we have a vandalism problem."

The post office boxes, which rent for $11 for six months, will be an alternative for postal patrons, he said.

Renters will be able to pick up mail and packages when the grocery store is open. Rental of the boxes must be made at the Clarkston Post Office on M-15.

5 more years of mining ahead

By Carolyn Walker

Mining is to continue approximately five more years at the Salem gravel pit on Oakhill Road.

On Sept. 17, the Independence Township Board voted 6-1 to amend a consent judgment between Blount Materials of Michigan, former owners of the mine, and the township.

The amendment extends mining for five more years and provides for reclamation of the pit in proportion to the mining done.

Annual mining and reclamation plans for the site are to be reviewed by the board at the beginning of each year under the amendment. And the mining of the site is to be based on the demand for gravel.

The 1960 consent judgment, a legally binding agreement between two or more parties, originally permitted mining of the 200-acre site until 1986.

Blount recently sold all its stock, including that for Salem gravel, to the Edward C. Levy Mining Co. of Detroit, according to James Scott, operations manager of the pit.

Though Levy is considered the new owner of the mine, the Blount name will be maintained, Scott added.

Plans for reclaiming the mine currently include the construction of a 1,300 foot wide, 30 foot deep pond at the site, said Scott.

Tom Biehl, a representative of township engineering firm Hubble, Roth and Clark advocated signing the amendment.

"They've done exactly what they proposed to do for 1985," Biehl said.

After the meeting, Trustee Dale Stuart said he voted against the amendment because the board had incomplete information about the purchase of the mine by Levy.

Stuart said he had concerns about whether or not Scott, who has been overseeing the reclamation, would be kept on as Salem's manager once the Levy purchase has been completed.

Following the meeting, Scott said he would be staying with the Levy organization.

Resident accused of disobeying Deer Lake rules

An unidentified Independence Township resident has been accused of disobeying rules on Deer Lake by fellow residents, according to Parks and Recreation Director Timothy Doyle.

In an effort to correct the problem, township officials plan a public hearing in October.

The individual reportedly has been pulling skiers before and after skiing hours, and doing so without benefit of an observer, Doyle said.

The person has been ticketed once by the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, he added.

At the planned hearing, the individual, public and township officials will discuss measures for correcting the situation.

Those measures could include not issuing a pass permit to the alleged offender next year or restricting his lake usage, Doyle said.

Clerk Richard Holman and Doyle refused to reveal the individual's name.

Extra point kick lifts Wolves

By Dan Vandenhemel

The Clarkston Wolves are three-for three when it comes to playing Pontiac Northern in football. For the third straight year, the Wolves came from behind to beat the Huskies by one point. This time, in

Sports

"Chris (Poulos) is a soccer-style kicker and we thought he'd have a better shot."

—Walt Wyniemko

Pontiac's Wisner Stadium, the Wolves won 7-6. In 1984, the Wolves won, 21-20, and the year before the score was 15-14.

The deciding points came on a 20-yard touchdown pass from Bob Laporte to Dan Jokisch with just over three minutes left in the game. Chris Poulos kicked the extra point for the win.

"We just felt Chris was a little healthier to kick the extra point," Wolves' coach Walt Wyniemko said. Jokisch is the regular kicker. "Chris is a soccer-style kicker and we thought he'd have a better shot."

Northern scored its only touchdown in the second quarter on a 33-yard pass to Reggie Wynns from Chris Hall.

After missing a two-point conversion try, Northern and Clarkston settled in for a tough game of defense.

Clarkston tallied only 159 yards on offense while Northern garnered 199 yards, with 143 of those coming in the air.

The game was pretty much penalty free with each team having six flags thrown. The Wolves were set back 35 yards and the Huskies were penalized for 55 yards.

"The defense always carries the team early in the season," Wyniemko said. "It takes awhile for the offense to get started."

"We weren't moving the ball and that hurt us until we came up with the big play. They (Northern) played a great game. My men thought it was very important to win this game. They were really excited."

Event starts birthday celebration

Running shoes are going to be standard clothing as Springfield Township begins celebrating its sesquicentennial.

Scheduled for Sept. 28 is a 5 kilometer walk-run starting at 10 a.m. at Indian Springs Metropark on White Lake Road. The park is located in White Lake and Springfield townships, with the majority in Springfield.

Proceeds from the event go to Leader Dogs for the Blind in Rochester and Neighbor for Neighbor in Springfield Township.

The cost to participate is $7 in advance or $8 the day of the race. Entrants can run or walk the course. Trophies will be awarded to the top two finishers in 14 categories.

Those who pre-register receive a free T-shirt provided by Bordine's Better Blooms of Clarkston.

Sponsor sheets are available and participants collecting over $50 have a choice of tickets to Four Bears Water Park in Utica or Cedar Point, or dinner at an area restaurant.

For more information, call Helen Vergin 625-4802 or 634-9410.

Cagers haul in rebounds, victories

By Dan Vandenhemel

The game plan for the Clarkston Wolves junior varsity basketball team is a simple one—get the ball inside.

And the theory's working, says Coach Larry Sherrill. Since dropping the season's first game, the Wolves have won four straight.

The height of the front-line players is a contributing factor. Ali Fedio, Stacey Shurtz, Wendy Scroby and Gina Houck average 5-foot-9.

"Fedio is 5-11. She doesn't like to say she's 6-foot, but I think she is," Sherrill said. "That's a big front line for a JV team. We're pretty physical, too. We knock some people around."

"We're pretty physical, too. We knock some people around."

—Larry Sherrill

With all the bumping going on, Sherrill isn't worried about foul trouble. Fedio has fouled out twice, but the bench depth is carrying the slack.

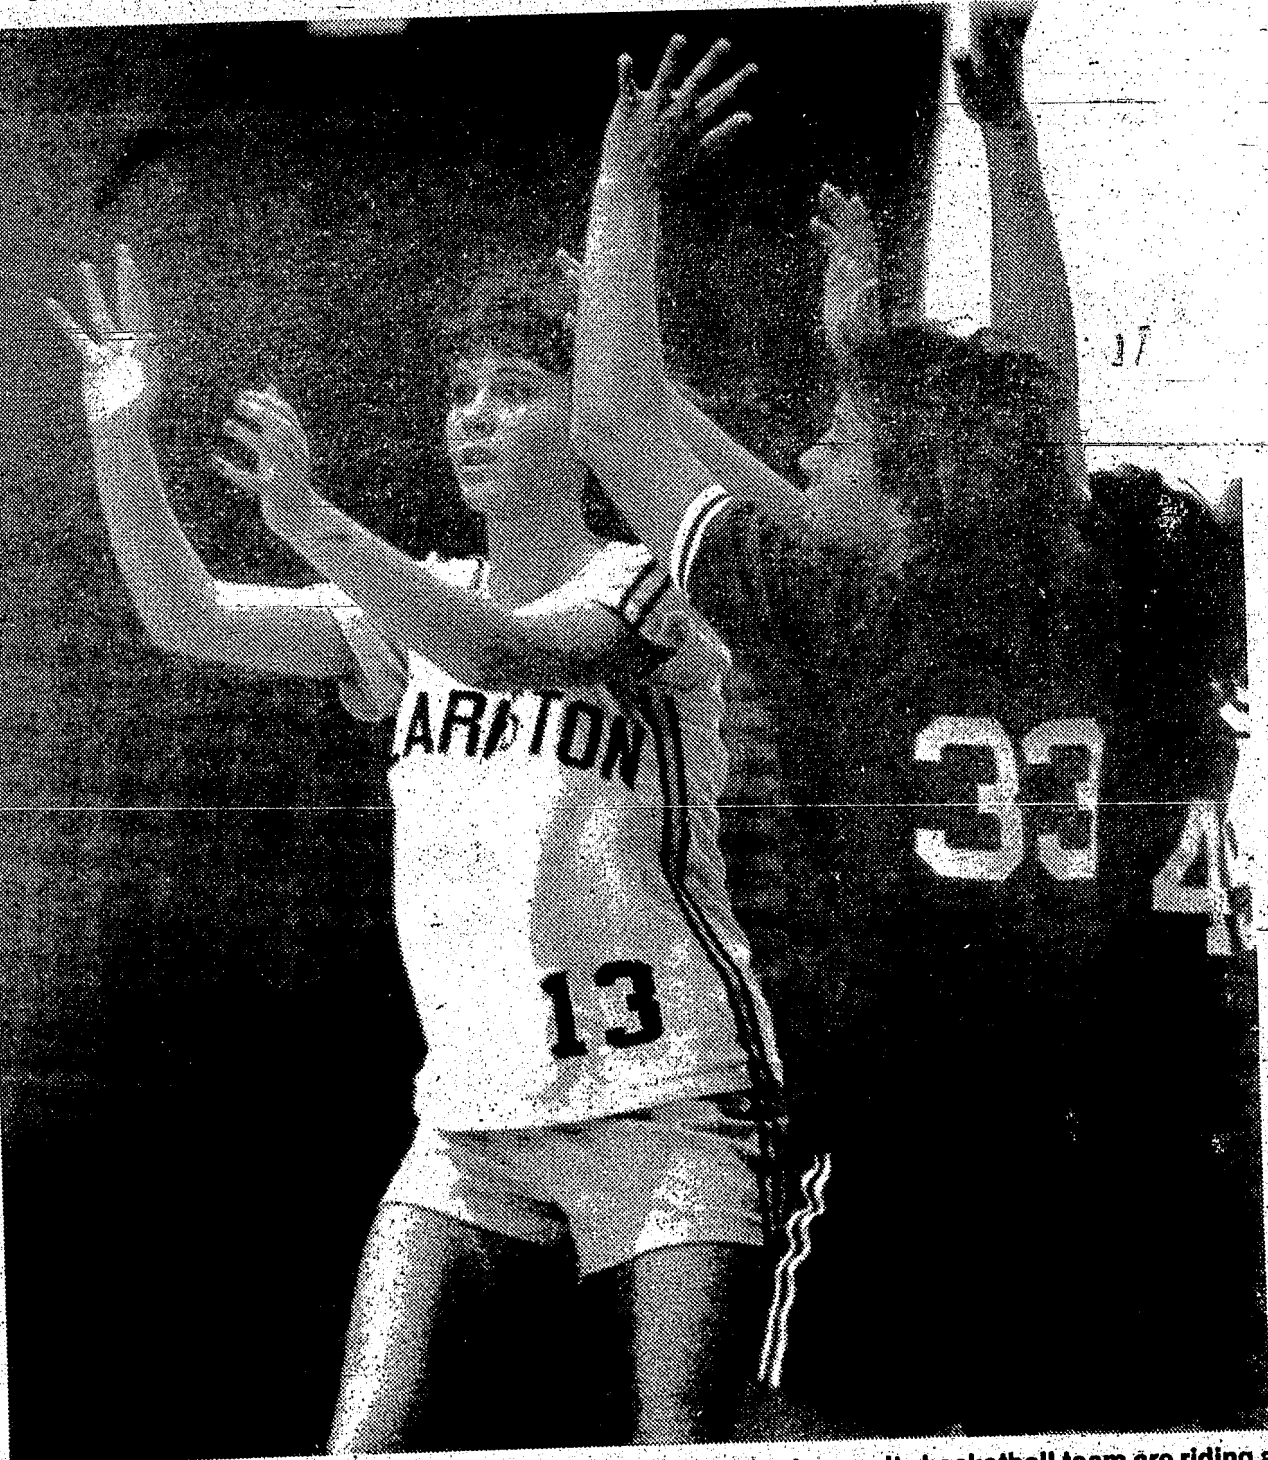

The inside game is supported by scores of rebounds. In the 37-35 victory over Romeo, Sept. 19, Fedio, Houck and Shannon Kilcline each pulled in 10 rebounds. Fedio had 10 points in that game, while Houck and Kilcline had six each.

The guards who keep moving the ball into the basket are Kris Castillo and Jackie Patrick. They are averaging almost five assists a game and Patrick is the team's third leading rebounder.

Last season, the Wolves finished 11-9. This time around, Sherrill is optimistic.

"Last year, looking at the junior high teams, we were very excited," Sherrill said. "When you put those two teams together, you don't know what will happen."

"We knew we'd be getting some good players because Sashabaw won eight ball games and Clarkston won four or five game. We had a lot of confidence looking at those players."

Besides rebounding, Gina Houck can dish off a pass or two for the Wolves. Houck and the rest of the junior varsity basketball team are riding a four-game winning streak.

Lunch nightmares

Dan Vandenhemel

There is a gentle man who tries as hard as he can
To have a simple lunch request done correctly like the rest.
Or how about
A plain burger was his plea, he'd even pay an additional fee.
But what he did receive left him anything but relieved.

For what seems like months, Stu McTeer, advertising manager for The Clarkston News, has been trying to eat a lunch that he has ordered.

Most of the time it's a simple plain hamburger and french fries that he wants. Usually it comes back minus the fries and plus extra cheese.

He's getting close to giving up and going home for lunch. But if he does that, then he'll miss all the fun and excitement of opening that plastic foam container.

It's a good thing this is my last semester of college.

My official Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic Conference folder is falling apart at the seams.

During my first year at Oakland University in the fall 1982, I got the folder. I'm not one of the backpacking students that carry all their books and a change of clothes on their back.

In these three years, that poor old folder of mine has seen many things, not all of them good.

For instance, it was jammed between binding of crutches, stepped on, forgotten, dropped and kicked. On the other hand, it's also seen some thrilling soccer and basketball games at OU.

Come December, I'll be able to retire my faithful college companion, along with the other accessories.

Gee, this is only September and I've already written twice about graduating from college. By my estimation, there should be about five or six more college columns in print by December.

Maxidopholis

Maxidopholis is a good bacteria like acidopholis only much more potent.

Maxidopholis is guaranteed 2.5 billion organisms (good bacteria) per gram. It is good for a variety of problems such as infections, diarrhea, digestive disorders, heartburn, gas, constipation, cancer, well being, etc. Maxidopholis actually replaces good bacteria in your body that has been destroyed when taking antibiotics. The antibiotics kill the good & bad bacteria so it is good to replace the good bacteria to help your body fight the infection.

What maxidopholis does is replaces the proper bacteria to your digestive tract that the antibiotics & hormones kill that is found in meat products, eggs, milk, cheeses. These antibiotics & hormones cause an imbalance to your intestinal flora causing candida albicans, which is a yeast (like a fungus) that messes up your digestive process. Also reduces your ability to break down protein, calcium, and your ability to produce enzymes, it also impairs B Vitamin absorption.

Candida albicans feed on high carbohydrate foods so eating a lot of high carbed foods would make this yeast worse.

Maxidopholis comes in a powder form - suggested usage 1/4 teaspoon daily on an empty stomach.

JV grid team fails to stop winning streak

By Dan Vandenhemel

Pontiac Northern's junior varsity football winning streak grew to 37 straight games Sept. 19. Number 37 was a 20-6 triumph courtesy of the Clarkston High School Wolves.

"They haven't lost in four years," Clarkston junior varsity coach John Craven said. "I'm disappointed with the loss, not the kids' efforts. We controlled the whole game."

The Wolves trailed, 8-6, going into the fourth quarter. All the Huskie points resulted miscues by the Wolves' offense.

The lone TD for Clarkston came midway through the third quarter on a 35-yard pass from Mark Galan to Joe Herron.

Craven believes without the mistakes, the Wolves would have snapped the winning streak.

"They (Northern) scored on a 40-yard interception and got great field positions on a bad snap," Craven said. "They never had a sustained drive. We played a good defensive ball game."

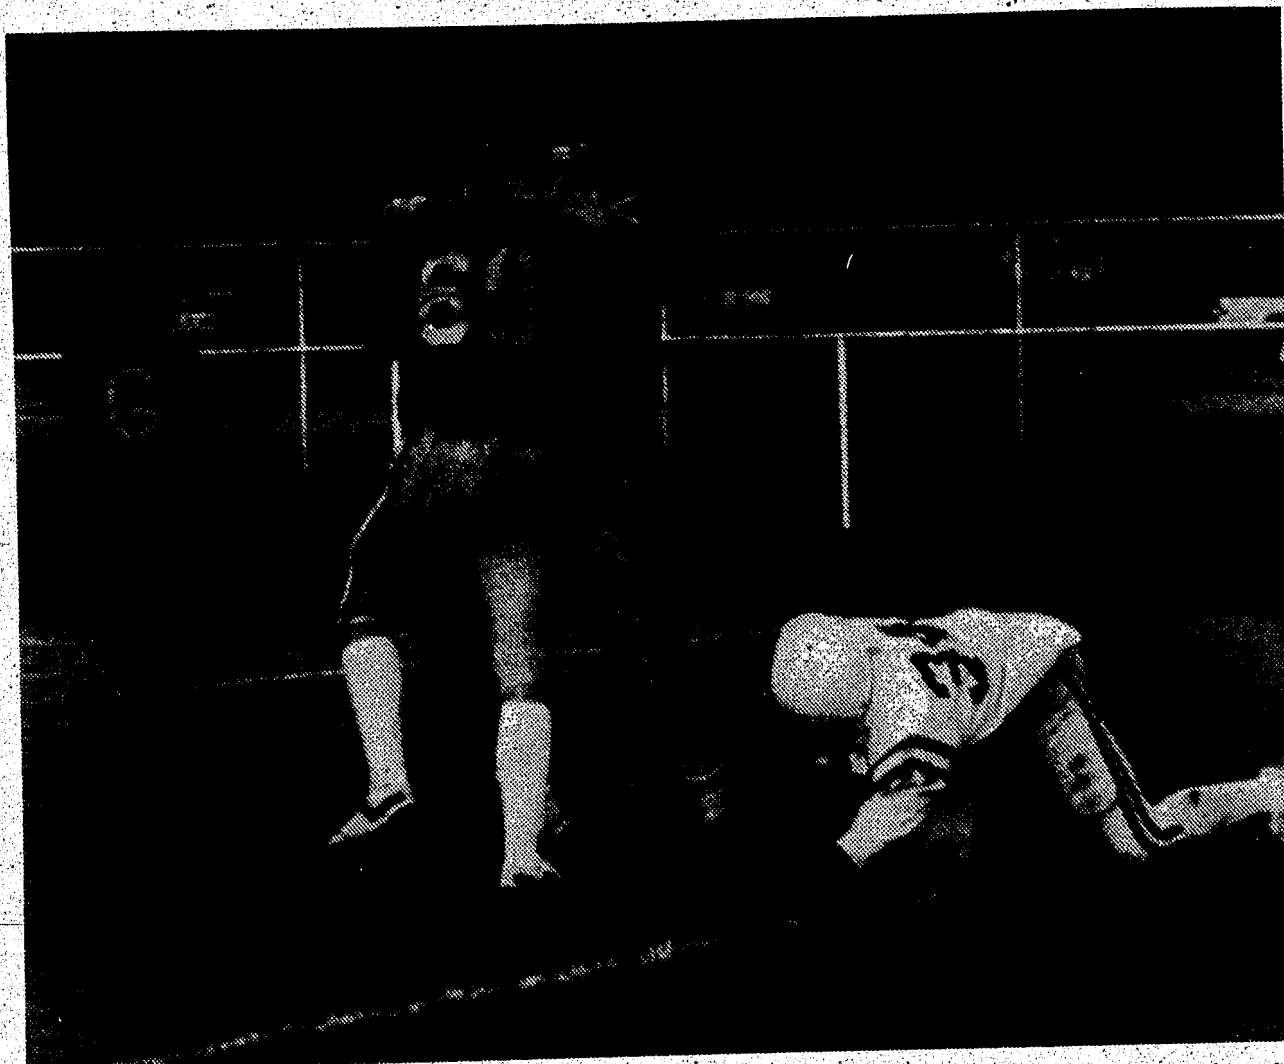

The pre-game emotions for the Wolves were different than Craven had seen in the past. The players were nervous but very excited.

"I've never seen the kids that excited before," he said. "They really wanted this game. They wanted to stop the streak."

Besides losing the game and dropping their record to 1-2, the Wolves lost some players because of injuries.

Matt DeBoer, Chris Locker, Keenan Powell and Mike Gilbert were hurt but are expected to play against Waterford Kettering, Sept. 26.

"We got beat up pretty bad," Craven said. "We've got three or four players in soft casts. We do hit on defense, that's our strong point."

Mark Oswald is congratulated by a junior varsity teammate after a sack of the Pontiac Northern quarterback. The Wolves' defense played a strong game in the 20-6 loss to the Huskies.

Two recall teaching as homecoming nears

Editor's note: This is the second in a series of four articles on Clarkston High School's 25th anniversary Homecoming on Oct. 18 prepared by members of the CHS student council. Next week: a 25-year history of the high school and of homecoming.

By Marnie Banker and Kara Kurz
Special to The Clarkston News

1985-86 marks the 25th anniversary of the present Clarkston High School building. Two staff members have survived 25 long years of working with the students at CHS.

Recently, we interviewed these two lucky people. Mrs. Marilyn Hanson and Mr. Gene McCurdy had a lot to talk about.

This is Mrs. Hanson's 32nd year as an educator. She taught world history, Michigan history and science, and now she is a counselor.

Her favorite classes were the classes of '60 and '85. "He was the sponsor of both of these classes."

Mr. McCurdy has been teaching 34 years. He has taught business law, accounting, advanced accounting, typing, consumers math and shorthand.

His favorite class was '77, not only because he was the sponsor of it, but also because this class won the powderpuff football games as juniors and seniors.

During the interview, they explained how the clothes have changed through the years. The skirt styles ranged from very, very short to ankle-length.

Even though the styles and times have changed, the kids haven't, according to Mrs. Hanson and Mr. McCurdy.

They make a point of noting how the spirit is alive in the students just as much as it was 25 years ago. This is especially true when homecoming comes around.

Homecoming '85—"Back in Time"—will be special because we will be celebrating the 25th anniversary of Clarkston High School.

We ended the interview talking about the most memorable things Mr. McCurdy and Mrs. Hanson have experienced throughout their years at CHS.

They agreed the student-teacher relationship is the most valuable memory they will always cherish.

Gene McCurdy and Marilyn Hanson pose in the hallway at Clarkston High School. They've worked as educators in the building all 25 years of its existence.

Call for old queens

The whereabouts of nine former homecoming queens are unknown, so the call is out for help from readers of The Clarkston News.

Clarkston High School student government wants to extend special invitations to the last 24 homecoming queens for the Oct. 18 football game.

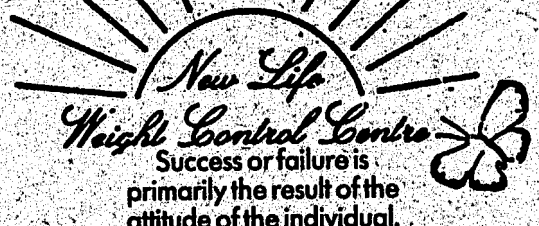

The list of missing queens includes: Barbara Bullard-1961, Cindy Mosier-1965, Karrie Garlak-1969, Linda Slade-1970, Mickey Regineck-1973, Martha Williams-1976, Jenny Williams-1978, Amber Van Houten-1979 and Nancy Dennis-1980.

Anyone with information on the whereabouts of the women is asked to call Cheryl Andryco at 625-1286 after 1:30 p.m.

Trio of taste-tempters for pear fans

Peaches and pears! As nature has planned it, first come peaches followed by pears.

Michigan Bartlett pear season began Labor Day weekend this year and will last until the end of September. So, hurry to your favorite produce stand for a delicious treat.

Pears are picked before they are completely ripe. They ripen from the inside out and are ready to eat when soft around the stem.

Some of the same treats that are made with peaches can easily be made with pears. Peach Pecan Bread becomes Pear Walnut Bread with the addition of cinnamon and the substitution of pears and walnuts for peaches and pecans.

Pears are a firmer fruit than peaches, so they can be poached for an elegant-but-easy dessert.

PEAR WALNUT BREAD

Grease the bottom of a 6-cup microsafe bundt dish. Sprinkle with a mixture of 2 tablespoons finely chopped walnuts, 1 tablespoon sugar and 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon.

2 eggs, beaten

1/4 cup sugar

1 1/4 cups pureed pears or 1 1/4 cups Gerber Junior

Pears when fresh pears are not in season

1/4 cup vegetable oil

1/2 teaspoon vanilla

1 1/2 cups all-purpose flour

1/4 teaspoon cinnamon

1/8 teaspoon baking powder

1/2 teaspoon salt

1/2 teaspoon baking soda

1/2 cup finely chopped nuts

Beat together the eggs, oil, sugar and vanilla. Mix in the pears. In a separate bowl, mix together flour, cinnamon, baking powder, salt and soda. Gradually add to the pear mixture. Stir in the walnuts.

Pour into the prepared bundt dish. Elevate on a microsafe rack. Microwave at 50 percent power 5 to 7 minutes. Allow to stand 10 minutes before turning out of dish. The cinnamon, sugar and walnuts will form an attractive crown around the top of the bread.

OAT-PEAR MUFFINS

1 1/2 cups oat flour—buy as such or make by processing uncooked rolled oats in a food processor or blender

1/4 cup firmly packed brown sugar

1 teaspoon baking powder

1/2 teaspoon salt

1/2 teaspoon cinnamon

1/4 cup pureed pears

1 egg, slightly beaten

1 1/4 cups milk

3 tablespoons vegetable oil

1/2 teaspoon lemon juice

Cinnamon, sugar, chopped walnuts

Mix together flour, sugar, baking powder, salt and cinnamon in a medium bowl. Mix together the egg, milk, oil and lemon juice. Add to flour and stir to blend. Stir in pears.

Place muffin liners in microwave muffin cups or small custard cups. Sprinkle with cinnamon, sugar and finely chopped walnuts. Place in circle in microwave oven.

Bake at high power for 30 to 40 minutes for one muffin, 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 minutes for four muffins, 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 minutes for six muffins. Rotate half way through cooking time.

Muffins may rise more evenly if baked on a microwave turntable. This depends on your microwave oven's cooking pattern.

These muffins will be softer than muffins made with wheat flour because of the gluten content found in wheat flour that adds structure to baked products.

POACHED PEARS

WITH CHOCOLATE-YOGURT SAUCE

Wash and core pears. Peel away 1/4 to 1/2 inch of skin at top of pear. Place in microsafe serving dishes. Add 1 tablespoon water to each pear and cover with plastic wrap. Microwave at high power—one pear, 1 1/2 to 2 minutes; two pears, 2 to 4 minutes; four pears, 6 to 8 minutes. The pears should be soft, not mushy.

CHOCOLATE-YOGURT SAUCE

FOR FOUR PEARS

1/4 cup milk chocolate chips

3 to 4 tablespoons vanilla yogurt

Melt chocolate chips at 50 percent power for 2 to 3 minutes. The chips will hold their shape even after they have melted, so stir half way through and watch carefully to avoid scorching. Stir in the yogurt.

Pour over hot pears, garnish with mint leaves and serve immediately. This recipe can easily be divided or doubled, but stir often and watch carefully.

For the next Microwave-plus column, I am gathering questions from readers. If you have questions about any of the recipes that have appeared in these articles, general microwave cooking questions or a favorite recipe you would like adapted for the microwave oven, address your queries to Microwave-plus, The Clarkston News, 5 S. Main, Clarkston, MI 48016.

Home economist Betty Wagner, an Independence Township resident, is a graduate of West Virginia University. She teaches microwave cooking classes at Sears in the Oakland Mall and through the Clarkston Community Education Department.

CHS seniors Beth Greiger and Bob Haran will each receive a Letter of Commendation for outstanding performance on the PSAT/NMSQT test they took in October 1984.

Two awarded in merit program

Clarkston High School seniors Beth Greiger and Robert Haran have been designated Commended Students in the National Merit Scholarship Corp. 1986 Merit Program.

Each will receive a Letter of Commendation in honor of outstanding academic promise, demonstrated by placing in the top 5 percent of over 1 million participants in the 31st annual National Merit Scholarship Program, said CHS Principal John Kirchgessner.

The students agreed the difficulty level of the test.

"It wasn't that hard," said Greiger. "I like taking these standardized tests."

"I didn't think it was hard," said Haran. "I knew I did well—I didn't expect to do that well."

Greiger and Haran said they would like to attend Michigan State University.

Greiger's career goal is medicine: "a pediatrician, hopefully, or maybe in research."

Haran plans to major in arts and sciences or business management. Beyond a career, his goal is "just to get rich."

They entered the Merit Program by taking the PSAT/NMSQT in October 1984.

Although their qualifying test scores were very high, the 35,000 Commended Students nationwide scored slightly below the Semifinalist standing. Only the 15,000 Semifinalists will continue in competition for some 5,800 Merit Scholarships to be awarded in 1986.

Honors

Beth Bonnell, a senior at Trinity College, Deerfield, Ill., has won an Alumni Senior Scholarship.

The scholarship is granted each year to a senior at the college, based on scholastic achievement and overall contribution to the school.

An elementary education major, Bonnell is a graduate of Waterford Kettering High School.

Her parents are Bill and Doris Bonnell of Waterford Township. He is a counselor at Clarkston High School and she teaches fifth grade at North Sashabaw Elementary School.

Labor of love

By Kathy Greenfield

A dress in a children's shop in Harbor Springs rapidly led to a hobby, membership in the Smocking Guild of America, a part-time business and teaching for Anne Eldridge.

Anne didn't buy the pink dress with a farm scene and dainty white lambs smocked along the top for her daughter Jillian last year, but she almost did.

Before the sale was consummated, she took another look at the price tag and realized that instead of a bargain at $12, it was $112.

"I thought for that much money, I can do it myself," she said.

So she did.

First she took a smocking class in Birmingham, then she began teaching friends her new-found skill.

The teaching evolved into a business that includes a pleating service, supplies, and consignment and custom work.

A duplicate of the dress in the Harbor Springs children's shop is now part of 2-year-old Jillian's wardrobe. Anne displays it with pride and says she now understands why it was priced at $112.

Smocking takes time, she says, but it's something she thoroughly enjoys.

The dress is one of many made and smocked by Anne in Jillian's wardrobe and even the child's nightgowns have a touch of smocking.

Anne recently attended a regional smocking convention and took workshops to learn smocking with ribbons and oriental smocking using Brazilian embroidery techniques. On display was work done by other smocking enthusiasts that included lavishly smocked wedding and christening gowns.

"I fell in love with it all over again," Anne said. "I came home and didn't stop smocking for two weeks. I had all these ideas clicking in my brain that I wanted to do."

It's a love she wants to share.

Anne is teaching a two-session English smocking workshop for beginners on Oct. 2 and 9 for two hours each evening through Clarkston Community Education.

She's also looking for beginning to advanced smockers who would like to join the newly formed Gather Together chapter of the Smocking Arts Guild of America. The chapter meets the fourth Tuesday of each month at the Troy Public Library at Big Beaver Road off I-75, "so it's easy access for Clarkston people," she said.

Anne's mother, Marianne Gaulin, is an owner of the Flower Adventure in downtown Clarkston and one of the dresses she smocked is on display there "for people to see and decide if they'd like to take this up," she said.

For more information on the club, call Anne at 666-4212.

Anne Eldridge's daughter, Jillian, serves as inspiration for her smocking hobby and part-time business. "When I had a little girl and saw the beautiful things you could do, I was hooked," says Anne, a Waterford Township resident. Jillian wears a bubble suit with smocking around the yolk, waistline and sleeves—the smocking took eight to 10 hours.

Community plans new teen club

You can go on activities like canoeing, trips to Cedar Point, white water rafting and concerts—but only if you're a teenager.

The Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department is organizing a teen club.

The first meeting of the club is Oct. 1 at 7 p.m. in Independence Township Hall. A registration fee of $5 will pay for the cost of the pizza at the first meeting, a monthly newsletter, Explorer membership and a chance to participate in the activities listed above along with others.

Already scheduled are a trip to watch a hockey game between the Detroit Red Wings and the Chicago Black Hawks, a trip to watch Michigan State University and Northwestern University play football and a weekend ski trip to Crystal Mountain.

For more information on activities or joining the teen club, call the Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department at 625-8223.

Improve skills

Several new classes are on the Clarkston Community Education list.

Dog obedience begins Oct. 3 at Clarkston Elementary School. Registrations will be taken the first night of class. Participants should leave their dogs at home the first night. Call 674-0994 for more information.

Starting Oct. 1 is a rapid reading program for those with seventh grade or above reading ability. The course is designed to double reading rates and improve comprehension and study skills.

There are openings in many more classes. A complete schedule is available at the Clarkston Learning Center, 527 Maybee, Independence Township, or call 674-0993.

Her classroom's a 'fun' place

by Rosemary Krause

An Apple for the Teacher

Sandy Schuman is a third-grade teacher at Pine Knob Elementary School. She has taught in Clarkston since 1971.

Sandy is from a large family. She has four brothers and three sisters. She was born in Munising but moved to Detroit at an early age. She graduated from Cooley High School in Detroit.

Sandy says she has always loved school and learning. She and her family lived in Warren, and when her son was 2 years old, she decided to go back to school.

She began at Macomb Community College, went to Wayne State University, Detroit, and obtained her degree in education from Oakland University, Rochester. Later, she went back to Oakland University for a master's degree.

Sandy and her husband, Dick, have two children, Steven, 23, and Kristen, 20. Steven works at a nursing home and is working toward an R.N. degree. Kristen is a junior at Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo.

The Schuman family enjoys camping and has camped all over the United States. On their camping trips, they have met many interesting people and developed some great friendships.

The family also likes hiking and cross country skiing. (Sandy confesses that her husband prefers downhill skiing but she finds it too daring.)

Sandy likes walking and often walks on lunch hours with some of the other Pine Knob teachers.

She also enjoys tennis and considers herself a "non-competitive, non-threatening player." She says that when she is in northern Michigan, she and a friend often meet for tennis at 7:30 a.m.

After 15 years in the classroom, Sandy Schuman says she still loves teaching and finds it exciting.

Even now, after teaching a number of years, Sandy says she loves teaching and finds it very exciting.

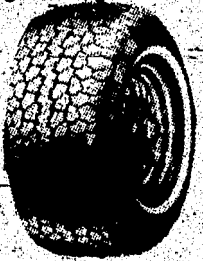

Sandy's wonderful sense of humor and terrific wit are big assets in teaching and make her classroom a "fun" place for her students.

Her fellow teachers enjoy her sense of humor, too, and are very glad she works at Pine Knob Elementary School.

Editor's note: An Apple for the Teacher is provided through a committee of the Clarkston Education Association. This week's author is Rosemary Krause, a fifth-grade teacher at Pine Knob Elementary School.

College freshman's nightmares

As I walked up to the door, I was nervously thinking about the placement tests I had to take that morning. I was hoping I would do well.

But wait a minute, the door was locked! "OK," I thought, "Who's the smart one who didn't unlock the door?"

I then noticed two other girls who were about to walk up the pathway. I called to them, "door's locked," as I walked down to meet them.

We talked for a while about the upcoming tests until I noticed someone at the door.

"There's Bruce," I said in relief. "He'll let us in."

"Who is Bruce?" one of the girls asked.

"Bruce Brorby, the director out here," I responded.

The setting for this story was the annual freshman college orientation. This scene could be replayed at any college campus across the country.

But this scene happened to take place at the Clarkston campus of the University of Detroit.

The campus is unusual in that instead of having

On campus with . . .

orientation a couple of times during the summer and having hundreds of freshmen flock to it, it has one orientation and 25 students.

After I finished the placement tests, I thought, "College isn't going to be so hard after all."

Kay Ellis is a freshman attending the Clarkston Campus of the University of Detroit. She resides in Lake Orion.

IN LOVING MEMORY of Ada Blattenberger: A Special "Thank You" to all my neighbors, friends and the Happy Hour Senior Citizen's Club for the kindnesses shown to me in my time of sorrow. All the donations of food and flowers were greatly appreciated! Gary Blattenberger. ILLX38-1*

THE FAMILY of Dorothy Jean Willobee wish to thank all those who were so kind and helping in our time of need: Reverend Dwight Murphy, Bossard Funeral Home, Oxford Methodist Church, and the friends and neighbors for their welcome gifts of food and sympathy. ILLX38-1*

130-IN MEMORIAM

IN MEMORY of Arnold Leach, who left us two years ago, September 28th, 1983. "God knows how much we miss him, never shall his memory fade. Having thoughts shall ever wander to the place where he is laid." Sadly missed by his Wife, Children, Grandchildren and Great Grandchildren. ILLX38-1*

Dear Cat Paw:

I have a friend who is heavy into drugs and alcohol. He quit taking narcotics after Toma came to our school but he's still drinking. He goes to some counseling and N.A. and Al-Anon meetings. What can I try to do to have him quit?

Concerned

Dear Concerned:

You can best help your friend by allowing him to stand on his own feet where he belongs, letting him accept responsibility for his actions and helping him to keep his self-respect instead of helping to destroy it.

Understand that recovery does not begin until the alcoholic is able to break away completely from the bottle and practice continued abstinence. No one can do for the alcoholic what must be done by the alcoholic.

I suggest you try Al-Anon. They will teach you to let go of your friend's behavior and begin to lead a happier life.

You must learn how to detach yourself from your friend's behavior in order to lead a more manageable life. Give it a try.

Dear Cat Paw:

I have this problem with alcohol. Every weekend I get drunk with my friends. Am I considered an alcoholic?

B.

Dear B.:

Only you can decide. Answer the following 12 questions. One "yes" answer indicates some problem with alcohol; four or more "yes" answers point to a serious alcohol problem.

1. Have you ever decided to stop drinking for a week or so, but only lasted for a couple of days? YES NO

2. Do you wish people would mind their own business about your drinking and stop telling you what to do? YES NO

3. Have you ever switched from one kind of drink to another in the hope that this would keep you from getting drunk? YES NO

4. Have you had to have an eye-opener upon awakening during the past year? YES NO

5. Do you envy people who can drink without getting into trouble? YES NO

6. Have you had problems connected with drinking during the past year? YES NO

7. Has your drinking caused trouble at home? YES NO

8. Do you ever try to get "extra" drinks at a party because you do not get enough? YES NO

9. Do you tell yourself you can stop drinking any time you want to, even though you keep getting drunk when you don't mean to? YES NO

10. Have you missed days of work or school because of drinking? YES NO

11. Do you have "blackouts"? YES NO

12. Have you ever felt that your life would be better if you did not drink? YES NO

(These questions are adapted from the pamphlet "Is AA for You?"; 1983 Alcoholics Anonymous World Services Inc., New York, N.Y.)

Dear Cat Paw:

How many people have gone to drug centers since Toma has been here?

Wants to Know

Dear Wants:

Because of the laws of anonymity, it is impossible for anyone to know. I personally know of four and I am sure there are more.

Send letters to Cat Paw in care of The Clarkston News, 5 S. Main, Clarkston, MI 48016. They need not be signed.

WANT ADS WORK!

Building a church on fellowship

Karel Howse feels at home working on the rafters of the Church of the Resurrection.

Everyone pitches in to help including (from left) Bill More, Lois Breidenbaugh, Bill Faff and Milton Green. About 70 parishoners are helping on the project.

Members of the Church of the Resurrection are pulling together to save money. Almost 70 of the parishoners are helping enlarge the building to save labor costs. Church member John Baker, a builder, is in charge of the project.

He estimates the church is saving between $30,000 and $40,000 in labor costs.

"I'm here at 8 a.m. every morning, and lately even Sunday," he said. "We've got kids and retirees working here. A lot of people are coming out after they get off work, too."

Baker said this is big undertaking for many of the volunteers.

"A lot of them have never seen cement poured before. These are basically inexperienced people working together," he said. "We overcome our lack of experience with numbers of people."

The building project started June 16 and Baker said he hopes the exterior is finished by winter. Work on the interior will follow.

—Dan Vandenhemel

Resurrection on Clarkston Road. Crews of volunteers are working toward completion of the outside of the church addition before winter weather hits.

Real estate's booming in Clarkston

By Carolyn Walker

Realtors and builders agree. There is a housing market boom in Independence and Springfield townships.

At the heart of the burgeoning sales is an improved economic climate, say many area realtors and building business owners.

Mac Trabue, owner of Schweitzer Real Estate Better Homes and Gardens on M-15, calls the current trend "fa-a-n-tastic."

Sales are "almost double what we anticipated for the year," he says. "There was a great, pent-up demand for homes."

Kenneth Delbridge, director of the Independence Township Building and Planning Department, agrees.

"Right now, (it's) kind of a buyer's market on homes. My valuation is way up," he says of the estimated dollar value for new home construction he makes each year.

The estimated valuation of new homes (based on square feet) in 1984, Delbridge says, was $240,000. His estimate for 1985 is $2.4 million.

Delbridge attributes the increase to people being back to work following the recent recession.

Lower, flexible interest rates are also a factor, he says.

Interest rates have come down from a high of 15 percent to under 12 percent, according to Trabue.

Real estate owner Irene McCabe, of McCabe Realty, concurs.

"It's been wonderful," she says, adding that her business has doubled since last winter. "The buying public began to feel comfortable (with the economy)," she says. "I feel very good about it lasting."

A furniture truck backed up to a new home is becoming a familiar sight in Independence and Springfield townships. This house on Old Cove Road is ready for its new owners.

"As long as we're in a good economy, we're going to see a housing demand. It's been a good, healthy atmosphere."

Wanda Lohmeier, a realtor with Durbin Realty, agrees and offers some reasons why the greater Clarkston area appeals to people.

Independence is a community that "cares about yesterday, today and ... tomorrow," she says, adding that the Independence tax rate is somewhat lower than surrounding communities.

There have been more people looking to buy in Independence than there have been homes for sale, she says.

Reduced interest rates have contributed to the demand. "(It's a) big activity for everyone," Lohmeier

Cook puts down new roots with plant business

By Carolyn Walker

Joseph Cook pulled up roots, so to speak, and made a mid-life career change in 1973.

He left his work in the data processing field to pursue the simple pleasures of plants.

When others are braving the cold of winter, Cook stands amid the two-thousand-and-some tropical plants he nurtures at his Independence Township greenhouse and enjoys a little bit of spring.

He is the founder and owner of Joseph Cook and Associates of Dixie Highway, a business that specializes in bringing tropical plants to residences, malls and businesses.

For those seeking the greenery of nature, Cook supplies advice about purchasing large and small tropical plants, as well as installation, lighting recommendations and maintenance, which includes pruning and fertilization.

All of his plants are shipped from Florida to his greenhouse, where they are cared for before being sold. Customers who buy plants may then contract with Cook on a yearly basis for maintenance.

Of his services Cook says, "The basic way to sum it up is that the client doesn't touch the plant. He just enjoys it."

"It's one of those peripheral businesses," he adds. "You're not cognizant of how it happens. You're aware of the pleasantness of the surroundings. But you don't stop and think 'How'd that happen?'"

"We really, literally offer a design service." Educated in business administration at the University of Michigan and with previous working experience in data processing, Cook says he got into the tropical plant line by accident.

"I wanted to try something else," he says, calling Joseph Cook and Associates the crossroads of his career. "There was a need for some kind of diversification."

During the early '70s, when tropical plants were becoming popular, people needed to know where to get them, Cook says. It was then that the notion struck to sell such items, along with the planters.

"I didn't need a building to fall on me," he says. "I thought, 'That's a good idea.'"

Cook began the business in Birmingham in 1973, and following the recession two years ago, brought his work to Independence Township—an area he considers to be "outlying."

"After all, we're really farmers," he says of himself and wife, Miff, his vice president, and their move to the country. "We're in an agriculturally oriented business."

Cook's first "good size" project was the Pontiac Mall (now known as the Summit Place) in 1974.

His jobs range from installing just a few plants in a house to equipping atriums. Some large projects take as many as two to three weeks to set up, he says. Prices begin at $45 a month.

The cost of purchasing and plant maintenance is based on the amount of work required by the 43-year-old Cook or one of his 30 employees.

His customers have included, in addition to Summit Place, AT&T, Trapper's Alley and the AAA corporate offices.

Joseph Cook believes natural plants soften the sometimes formal look of modern buildings.

Advice on wills for those who won't

These are actual cases about people and wills—or lack of—and joint property. The names used are not their own.

Case Number 1: Dr. Jim, who is worth about a million, and doesn't even have a will.

"Why should I," he asked. "The house is joint with Katie. My stocks and bank accounts will be split up between our two daughters and Katie."

"But Katie will get only 30 percent of the estate (besides the jointly owned house)," I argued. "Your daughters are getting along all right. Suppose Katie needs more money than her 30 percent will earn. She must be 65, isn't she?"

"Why, our daughters would always look after their mother if she needed more money," he answered.

Sure they would, Jim, sure they would, I thought. You haven't been around as many estates as I have and seen the personality changes after the funeral.

Case Number 2: Frank and Mabel have most of their savings in CDs. Frank is about 84; Mabel is 78. Chances are Mabel will become a widow. They have two daughters.

The CDs are joint with Mabel and the two daughters.

Suppose Mabel has a lot of medical expenses. She's not too robust right now. So she wants to cash in a CD. Suppose the daughters don't feel like splitting the proceeds with Mother.

There could be pressure from their spouses for a new boat or a new car. Mother might find family affection has its limits.

How much simpler to simply leave everything to the wife. She will be the one to need it most, probably. What's left when she dies can then go to the children.

Case Number 3: George and Minnie have saved a fair amount of money, and it has all been in a bank account. They are about 50 years old and in good enough health.

They have two children who are self-supporting and a daughter not presently working, nor is she married. They'd like to provide for her more liberally than the two boys.

In opening an account and buying some bonds for better income, they wanted to make the account joint with themselves and the daughter. I suggested they confine the account to just themselves.

"She's going to own a third of whatever is in that account," I pointed out. "Maybe you'll need it worse than she does some time. You're going to have to get her permission, also, if you want to sell those bonds."

"So today you're a loving family. Families don't always stay that way. Your daughter gets married, her husband could talk her into getting her third of that money. You're laying the groundwork for a hassle in the future."

This is another family that doesn't believe in wills. I haven't been able to persuade them to get one. While their assets are joint now, and so provide for the spouse to get everything, if they both die, the children will get equal shares of the estate.

That's not what they want, because their daughter is more in need and closer to them than the boys.

Wills don't cost much. It's the loss-leader of lawyers, who look forward to future business that estates generate. In most cases, for a simple will, the fee is $50 to $100.

Red Flannel Town, USA

Paula Blanchard

Red Flannel has got you covered! Main Street is festooned with plywood cutouts of red flannel longjohns flapping from lampposts.

Look, there's the Red Flannel Insurance Center. Up the street is the Red Flannel Cafe. And there, across the street from City Hall, is the engine for all this red flannel mania—the Red Flannel Factory, Mike Huckleberry, general manager.

Welcome to Cedar Springs, Mich., a small town (population 3,500) just north of Grand Rapids which proudly bills itself "Red Flannel Town USA."

"Red flannels are hot," says Huckleberry. Yes, that is his real name. "We sold nearly 15,000 pairs of red flannel longjohns last year and, with a little bit of luck, we'll be well over $1 million in gross sales for the second year in a row."

And, as the folks of Cedar Springs are fond of saying in support of their Main Street industry, "We're out to warm you over."

If you don't think so, then visit the town during the first part of October for the annual Red Flannel Festival—a salute to the crimson underwear that is to the lumberjack what the gray flannel suit is to a Madison Avenue advertising executive.

Red flannel longjohns, in case you haven't noticed, have become chic.

Besides the celebrated scarlet skivvies—some call them the underwear that won the West—the factory produces "granny" gowns, robes, night shirts, night caps, foot warmers called "Footsies," garters, Christmas stockings for hanging over the mantle, and even a nifty little jacket for the family dog.

Needless to say, you can get any color you want...as long as it's red.

The classic longjohns, for men, women and children, are made of itchless cotton and ployester, and feature a button-down (or is that up?) dropseat.

How did Cedar Springs get to be, as Mike puts it, "the red flannel capital of the free world?"

According to local legend, a New York Times feature writer complained of a national dearth of warm, red flannel longjohns during the big-chill winter of 1936. Cedar Springs said phooey to that.

"We've got red flannels," the local paper boasted in an editorial that was picked up by the Associated Press and flashed across the shivering nation.

Sure enough, Cedar Springs' general store was flooded with orders—which were filled with longjohns supplied by East Coast manufacturers.

The Red Flannel Factory, initially in a barn, was founded in 1952 by an enterprising housewife, Sally Wall, who had bought the business from another enterprising housewife, Mae Oppeneer, who had made the town's first longjohns in her home.

As a result, Mae is now remembered as the Betsy Ross of Cedar Springs' now-famous red flannels.

How to shop for an office calculator

By Dave Bulkema

With National Bookkeeper's Week (Oct. 6-12) attracting increased attention, now is the time to consider upgrading needed office tools, especially a bookkeeper's best friend—the office calculator.

In today's price-conscious business environment, cost usually plays the dominant role in the purchasing decision. But this should not always be the case, especially when shopping for an office calculator. Before an actual purchase is made, a group of specific questions should be addressed.

Who will be using the calculator?

Office calculators are manufactured for different application levels, with unit prices increasing in accordance with the durability level. A machine designed for an accountant who works on the calculator six to eight hours a day, for example, will cost considerably more than a salesman's unit that is utilized once a week to secure an expense report receipt.

How often will the calculator be used?

Printing and print/display models today account for most office calculator sales, meaning the printer has become the most important component of the unit. The less expensive the machine, the shorter the printer life. The customer should research the calculator's intended daily use, and gauge printer life accordingly.

Finishing a close second to the printer in importance is the calculator's keyboard. Keys that are not designed for constant use will wear out with excessive pounding. Keyboard durability and printer life, therefore, should always be considered essential determining purchasing factors.

What will the calculator's daily consumption be?

Most calculator manufacturers offer different models specifically tailored to various application levels. Low-end machines, for example, print at an average of 2.8 lines per second and range in price from $70-$130. These particular calculators generally feature a slower printer and are designed for a maximum daily consumption of half an hour.

With printing speeds of 3.6 lines per second, intermediate level office calculators are generally priced between $120-$190 and are designed for a daily usage of up to three hours. Machines geared toward professional applications begin within this price range.

Carrying a price tag of $150-$370, top-of-the-line office models are designed for an eight-hour-a-day application. These calculators, which print at 4.6 lines per second, are heavy duty units that offer a longer printing life and stronger keypad than the lower-priced models.

What are some special functions a calculator can offer?

Some heavy duty office calculators also feature hard-wire computerized functions to afford the operator ease of use. Examples of these applications include a balance mode for checkbook use and cross footing for automatic row and cross totals of multicolumn reports.

For a controller or accountant, the cross footing mode saves valuable time by eliminating the tedious task of numerous column addition and cross verification.

Are all components of a calculator standard?

A customer in the market for an office calculator should make sure all machine parts are standard and do not require special ordering at repair time. If a printing calculator uses an odd-sized roll of paper, for example, it may be difficult to order the replacement rolls.

The bottom line for purchasing an office calculator should be based on what the unit's specific day-to-day role will be. An inexpensive model may be appealing, but purchasing the wrong unit because of an attractive price tag usually does not pay off.

Playing the numbers game to save money is not the recommended move. In the end, the cost differential will quickly add up in the form of equipment repairs or replacement machines.

Dave Bulkema is general manager, Commercial Calculator Division, Sharp Electronics Corp., Paramus, N.J.

Award-winning entries were selected from those submitted by nursery advertisers across the county. Bordine's received its certificate during the association's national convention in Orlando, Fla.

Bordine's Better Blooms was founded in Rochester in 1939. The Clarkston store is located on Dixie Highway in Springfield Township. The firm specializes in garden center retailing and landscaping, offering a nursery, greenhouse, garden store, landscaping department and florist shop at each location.

Exercise science: topic of master's program

By Dan Vandenhemel

With today's health-conscious society, the emphasis on exercise is becoming more sophisticated.

A master's degree program at Oakland University in Rochester is the first in the state to require a year of non-paid, supervised clinical work.

Assistant professor John Stevenson, an Independence Township resident, is the director of the Exercise Science Program offered through the health sciences department.

Professor John Stevenson (left) shows Oakland University men's swim coach Pete Hovland the aspects of the health maintenance exercise program at the university.

"We're trying to learn and teach about human performance," the 32-year-old Stevenson said. "We're concentrating on the effect exercise has on our health and performance."

Part of the teaching technique is a video tape of Stevenson walking on a treadmill to show the various muscles used in walking.

"I was sort of a guinea pig for that," he said. "We changed speeds and the degree of the treadmill to study the changes that take place."

Stevenson's work in the field of exercise science is a natural progression.

He has been interested in sports all his life, and in 1978 through 1980, he helped the United States Summer Olympic team prepare for the 1980 games in Russia.

"I was invited to the Elite Athletes Program," he said. "Unfortunately that was the year we didn't go to the games. I was working with the track and field events."

During that time, Stevenson worked with the horizontal jumps—the long jump and triple jump—showing the athletes what their bodies do during the event.

Since then he has helped organized the master's degree program at Oakland University.

"This is the first semester for the program and we have about 15 or 20 people enrolled," he said. "It's taken almost three years to develop. Other schools have a similar program, but the hook here is the supervised clinical internship."

Demand for homes exceeds supply

says.

According to Valerie Phaup, of Max Brook Realty, there have been so many buyers looking for homes in the Independence area, that there have not been enough houses to meet the demand.

"I think one of the biggest (reasons for the boom) is the growth of commercial property on Dixie," she says. "It's beginning to meet the needs."

During August 1984, Max Brook sold $2.3 million worth of real estate, Phaup says. In August 1985, the volume jumped to $3.9 million.

Consumer confidence is high," says Phaup. Toni Moscovic, who co-owns Dick Moscovic Building Co. with her husband, says business has been good for builders, too.

Moscovic, who did not build a single house for three years during the recession, is currently building two new homes in addition to doing several remodeling jobs, Toni says. "I am so busy."

"We saw this increase coming in late fall of last year. But it really took off the first quarter of this year," says Joe Noll, owner of Stylemaster Builders of Independence Township.

"It stands to reason," he adds, attributing the increase to lower interest rates, the return of laid-off employees to work and increase sales in the automotive industry.

A good indicator for the housing market is found in the final quarter of any year, he says.

During what he calls "the good years of 1977 and 1978," Noll says he sold five and six houses respectively in those years' last quarters.

In 1979 he sold one during the last quarter.

He has sold six this quarter, he says adding, "I wish I had a crystal ball. If I knew (the future), I could really plan ahead."

Beverly Short's hobby of working with silk and dry flowers turned into a business. She owns Beverly's of Clarkston on Dixie Highway in Independence Township.

Hobby becomes her business

A hobby has turned in to a business for Beverly Short.

She's the owner of Beverly's of Clarkston, a new silk and dry flower arrangement shop in Independence Township.

"It started out as a hobby," Short said. "I took some classes in Florida and decorated our house down there. I couldn't find anyone to help so I had to do it myself."

Mixing and matching colors are her strong points, Short says. "I've always had a knack of being able to put colors together."

The shop on Dixie Highway is located next to her husband Don's business, Clarkston Glass. Upon entering the building, the customer is surrounded by flowers, sewn ducks and dolls, and basket arrangements.

The small floor space doesn't leave much room for Short to work, so much of the actual arranging is done at home.

"Our home looks like a warehouse," she said. "We've got silk and dry flowers all over the house. Don even helps me with wrapping the grapevines into wreaths."

Beverly's of Clarkston opened on Mother's Day this year. Eventually, the Shorts plan to expand both businesses located at 6577 Dixie Highway.

Working toward November opening

"Coming right along" is how Randy Hosler describes work on the new Hosler Pontiac building under construction on Dixie Highway.

Hosler says he hopes the 27,000-square-foot building will be open for the sale of new and used cars in late November.

Plans are to double the size of Calvary Lutheran Church with a 6,000-square-foot addition.

The $460,000 addition will provide a fellowship hall with table seating for 250, offices, a lounge and enlarged church vestibule. The number of classrooms will be increased to 20.

Work is expected to be completed in the spring of 1986. The church is on Bluegrass Drive, Independence Township.

Ground breaking has been delayed for the 120-bed Grovercrest of Clarkston nursing facility.

The delay, from August to late November or early December, is due to the extensive paperwork and permit requirements, says Paul Verlee, an administrator with the facility.

The $3.5 million, 43,000-square-foot building received final site plan approval in April. It is to be built off Clintonville Road in Independence Township.

Work on the Clarkston Surgical Center was stopped by order of Ingham County Circuit Court Judge Thomas L. Brown.

Brown issued the temporary restraining order Sept. 13 in conjunction with a lawsuit filed by Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital (POH) against the center and Gloria Smith, director of the Michigan Department of Public Health.

The lawsuit asks that the state-mandated certificate of need (CON) for the center be revoked. A CON is required for construction of any hospital-type facility.

In the lawsuit, POH contends the center should have been part of a comparative review with seven other hospitals including an annex proposed for Independence Township by POH.

The comparative review in question resulted in denial of POH's request for a CON.

The Clarkston Surgical Center is proposed by Dr. James O'Neill for 6 acres behind his M-15 pediatrics office.

No court date has been set.

An auto parts store is planned for a half-acre site on Maybee Road east of Sashabaw Road.

Final site plan approval was granted to owners Rudy Mazza of White Lake Township and Thomas Toteff, owner of Pontiac-based Tom's Hardware, by the Independence Township Planning Commission Sept. 12.

The 5,000-square-foot building is expected to be completed this year.
