Police decry citizen apathy

By Carolyn Walker

At least two recent residential robberies in the north end of Independence Township might have been averted had witnesses contacted the police, said Det. Sgt. Doug Hummel of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

Suspects in a breaking and entering on Reese Road Oct. 31 and a breaking and entering on Allen Road in late August, were seen by neighbors who failed to contact the police, Hummel said, adding that citizen apathy is an increasing problem.

The residential area bounded by Reese, Holcomb and Ortonville roads has been the site of several robberies this year.

In the Reese Road incident, a woman heard three loud bangs and saw two suspects standing by her neighbor's house, Hummel said. The suspects subsequently walked to a shed and returned to the house apparently wearing gloves, he added. The woman then lost sight of them.

She did not notify police but mentioned the information later when an officer questioned her while investigating the robbery, Hummel said.

"Here's a neighbor that sees stuff and doesn't bother to call in," he said. "What's it take to convince these people to call in?"

The Reese Road robbery netted $206 in cash for the robbers, who have not been apprehended, and other, unspecified items. There are currently no suspects, Hummel said.

A witness to the Allen Road robbery suspects, took a license plate number for the suspect's vehicle but failed to call in his suspicions until evening, according to Hummel.

"As it turns out, we have them (the suspects) in custody for other break-ins," Hummel said.

People witness crimes "more often than we know about," said Hummel, who estimates that such apathy is a relatively frequent occurrence.

Hummel encourages citizens to call the sheriff's department with any suspicions. If it turns out that there is no merit to a person's suspicions, then no harm has been done, he said.

But if the suspicions are well founded, it gives the police an advantage, he added.

Two men charged in robbery

By Carolyn Walker

Two teenage suspects have been arraigned in connection with the Oct. 23 robbery of two Food Town employees at the Pontiac State Bank on Sashabaw Road.

Brian Keith Williams, 18, and Craig Allen Pearce, a 17-year-old former Food Town employee, were arraigned before 52nd District Court Judge Gerald McNally Oct. 30 following their arrest by Oakland County Sheriff's officers Oct. 29.

The two have been charged with armed robbery and assault with intent to rob while armed, according to a court spokesperson. They are scheduled to appear before McNally on Nov. 7 for a preliminary examination.

A cash assurity bond was set for each suspect at $80,000 and both were remanded to the Oakland County jail, the spokesperson said.

The charges against the two stem from an incident in which Food Town employees Chester Jeffrey and Robert Saul were robbed while making an 8 p.m. deposit in the night deposit box at the bank.

According to Oakland County Sheriff's Det. Sgt. Doug Hummel, the two suspects are charged with stealing cash and checks after allegedly hitting Jeffrey

Accident takes life

A 16-year-old Brandon Township youth died following a 4:20 p.m. car accident Tuesday on Sashabaw Road in Independence Township.

Robert Kalinin was killed when the car he was driving rounded a curve near Pine Knob Road and hit a parked car, said Sgt. Charles Williams of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department traffic division.

After hitting the parked car, Kalinin's car rolled over.

Kalinin was alone in the car, and no other persons were involved in the accident, Williams said.

Following the accident, Kalinin was transported to Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital where he was pronounced dead on arrival.

Funeral arrangements are to be handled by the Sherman Wilk Funeral Home, Ortonville.

on the head with a tire iron and knocking Saul against a wall.

Jeffrey sustained a concussion in the incident, Hummel said.

The suspects, one of whom was preparing to leave the state, allegedly purchased two cars, tools, insurance for the cars, food and other items with the stolen money.

Checks believed to have been taken during the robbery were recovered in an Independence Township yard, where the suspects allegedly threw them after burning them in a field at the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club.

A club employee chased the suspects from the field, Hummel said.

Use caution when driving

Wildlife is out and about

An upsurge in early morning wildlife sightings has prompted a warning for drivers from Pat and Tom Motoux of Clarkston.

"I thought people should be aware so they don't hit them," says Pat. "We almost hit a couple of deer right on Clarkston Road in front of Clintonwood Park."

The Motouxes have also seen several foxes while delivering newspapers between 4:30 and 6 a.m.

Food Town fire

A police officer answered a burglar alarm and found a fire at the Food Town grocery store at Sashabaw and Maybee roads Oct. 30.

The blaze, which was confined to the compressor room, was discovered when an Oakland County Sheriff's Department deputy looked through an exhaust fan.

It is believed the fire triggered the burglar alarm when it burned through wires, said Gar Wilson, fire marshal for the Independence Township Fire Department.

The call to fire department was made at 11:07 p.m.

"It appears somebody had poured flammable liquid, possibly gasoline, through a screen in the window and then ignited it," said arson investigator James Lehtola of the sheriff's department.

Robert Roth of Food Town said he expects damage expenses to reach $5,000.

The fire burned refrigeration lines but there was no product or smoke damage within the store because the compressor room was separated from the remainder of the building by a fire wall.

Following emergency repairs, the store opened on schedule the next morning.

The fire is under investigation by the Arson Unit of the sheriff's department. There are no suspects, Lehtola said.

In the summertime, they would stop for a few moments to watch one fox near the condominiums inside the Pine Knob complex. Lately, they've spotted foxes on Snowapple Drive and in the Deer Hill subdivision "running down the street, running into people's yards," says Pat.

While foxes are not often seen, due to their normally wary nature, they do live in the area, says Kathleen Dougherty, a parks naturalist at Independence Oaks County Park.

"Clarkston has so many wild patches... a fox could stray in and out of residential areas and still have a den nearby," she says. "In an area like Clarkston where there are a lot of farm fields and corn falls on the ground, (foxes) are really good to keep the mouse population in control."

Dawn and dusk, the twilight times, are the most common for spotting the Red Foxes as they hunt for food. Females weigh 10-15 pounds at maturity and males can weigh more. They eat birds, small mammals and, in season, fruits and berries.

"I guess it's kind of neat for the readers to know: While you're sleeping in the night, who knows what's going on in your front yard?" Dougherty says.

'Play On'

A play within a play provides the plot for "Play On!" the performance starring members of the Clarkston High School faculty.

Show dates are Friday and Saturday, Nov. 8 and 9, at the CHS Little Theatre. Tickets, which will be sold in the box office before each show, are $2. Show time is 8 p.m.

"Play On!" is the story of a theater group trying desperately to perform despite the maddening interference of its haughty authoress.

Franchise agreement questioned

Council has 20 days to act on amendment

An amendment to the franchise agreement between Independence Township and Tribune United Cable Communications met with some displeasure, but no official action, at the Clarkston Village Council meeting Oct. 25.

According to village President Carol Eberhardt, township Supervisor Frank Ronk attended the meeting to explain an amendment approved by the township and Tribune United in October.

The amendment would allow the firm to give $12,000 in studio equipment to the township in lieu of a $26,000 fine for not completing the cable system on schedule.

All cable line has been installed in the village, but portions of the township's system were not completed by the December 1984 deadline, Eberhardt said.

The village is not being asked to sign the amendment because the township is the designated "cable authority," she added, but the village is entitled to input regarding the amendment.

If the council chooses to veto the amendment, it would make null and void the township's decision, Eberhardt said, adding the council will have 20 days to act once they have received written notification of the agreement. Such notification has not yet been sent.

To Eberhardt, the issue is a matter of principle. Explaining that there were many heated debates when Tribune United was selected as the firm to install the township system, Eberhardt said that she, along with several council members, were upset by the firm's inability to meet their commitments.

"Those of us who sat through the franchise agreement are very sensitive," she said. "The drop from $26,000 to $12,000 to us seemed an extreme.

"We can flatly hold them up," she said, referring to their option to veto the amendment.

At the time of the township's decision to approve the amendment, James Anderson, general manager of Tribune United, explained that the firm fell behind in its time schedule because of difficulty in obtaining easements, rocky soil, a Detroit Edison strike, and the non-completion of several township subdivisions.

Dropout rate under 5 percent for Clarkston school district

By Carolyn Walker

Less than 5 percent of the students in the Clarkston school district drop out of school before graduation, according to Mel Vaara, assistant superintendent of schools.

That figure falls well below the state-wide rate, tabulated annually.

According to Nancy Wing, research analyst for the Michigan Department of Education, 6 percent of the students in each grade (ninth through 12th), or a total of 24 percent of all high schoolers, drop out yearly in schools across the state.

The rate is slightly higher in large cities, Wing says.

Vaara attributes Clarkston's relatively low figure to several programs in the district which are designed to encourage graduation.

"I think we try to do a number of things," Vaara says.

The programs include a teen pregnancy program, alternative education program, and classes at the Northwest Oakland Vocational Education Center.

The district also tries to help students with counseling, Vaara says.

In addition, Clarkston educators believe the five developmental kindergartens in the district will contribute to a decrease in dropouts by addressing immaturity at an early age, Vaara says.

By spending two years in kindergarten, many students who might develop poor attitudes toward school, develop good skills, he adds.

Clarkston schools are servicing 70 students in these settings this year.

"I think we're going to reap the benefits of that in years to come," Vaara says. "I really do."

Order forms for The Hilltopper will also be available in the CHS office.

Refunds amount to $87,000

By Carolyn Walker

Nearly $87,000 in tax refunds are coming back to the Clarkston, Independence and Springfield communities.

The money is to be received after the first of the year by the governing bodies in each municipality, said Joseph Mullen, Oakland County legislative agent.

The rebate funds were saved in a tax reserve following a disagreement about residential state equalized valuation between the tax commission and the board of commissioners, Mullen said.

The rebate is expected to generate $63,567 for Independence Township; $20,561 for Springfield Township; and $2,931 for the Village of Clarkston, he said.

The decision to establish the reserve followed a lawsuit against the state tax commission in 1982.

According to Mullen, the lawsuit challenged the tax commission's decision to make the state equalized value (SEV) of residential properties 6 percent higher than that recommended by the county.

"We felt the state tax commission was wrong and filed a suit," said Mullen.

The $2.8 million in the fund was generated by residential taxes and does not include commercial property taxes, Mullen said. The figure represents a 6 percent difference in SEV figures between the county assessor and the tax commission, he added.

After receiving the refunds, each governmental body will be permitted to decide how the money should be spent after consulting with their respective county commissioner, Mullen said.

Man convicted for assault

By Carolyn Walker

A 20-year-old Independence Township man was convicted of assault with intent to murder and possession of a firearm in the commission of a felony in Oakland County Circuit Court Oct. 30.

Bradley McIntyre was found guilty of the charges, which stemmed from a June 1984 shooting incident, following a jury trial before Circuit Court Judge David Breck, said Oakland County Assistant Prosecutor Charles Spiekerman.

Sentencing for McIntyre is scheduled before Breck on Dec. 12.

Before the incident, McIntyre had belonged to a car-pool with fellow workers Gordon Wilson and Don Butler, said his attorney Thomas McGinnis.

According to McGinnis and Spiekerman, McIntyre had been the subject of teasing from Wilson.

"Bradley McIntyre was catching more than his share and he couldn't handle it," said Spiekerman, characterizing the men's behavior as "almost like school kids."

On June 24, 1984, McIntyre reportedly waited in a field near the Wilson home in Auburn Hills and used a 30.06 hunting rifle to fire at Wilson, who was accompanied by Butler. Neither man was hit, McGinnis said, adding that one shot hit a garage door and the second shot went into the dirt.

McGinnis said he entered an insanity plea on behalf of McIntyre, alleging that his client had suffered a major depressive episode.

CHS student surprised to win DAR Award

By Kathy Greenfield

Friday was a day to remember for Clarkston High School senior Patti Haddad.

The good news began flowing during second hour at CHS when Patti learned she had won the DAR Award, the first award for seniors announced each school year.

It continued after school when she applied for a part-time typing and filing job at the 52nd District Court—and got it.

Setting sights

Hunters can set their sights on the upcoming season at the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club.

The club on Waterford Road in Independence Township is offering its shooting range to hunters so the sights of their rifles can be adjusted.

The range will be open Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 9 and 10, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Range officers will be on hand to help with adjustments.

The cost is $1 a person.

For more information, call the sportsmen's club at 623-0444.

Concert of Hope

A Concert of Hope is scheduled for Brandon Township on Nov. 11.

The program, which will feature The Continental Singers, is planned in cooperation with Concert of Hope Tour, which is touring much of the United States to raise money for food and medical relief in Africa and South America.

The concert is to be held at the Brandon High School in Ortonville beginning at 7:30 p.m.

For further information, contact David VanDis 627-3125.

Wearing her varsity cheerleader uniform, Patti topped off her day by helping cheer the CHS football team to victory in its last game of the season.

"That was about as good as that day could have gotten, I think," she says.

It's Monday and Patti's still in awe over the DAR Award, sponsored by the Sashabaw Plains Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

She was selected the winner of the Good Citizens Contest by a 15-member committee made up of CHS administrators, department chairpersons and the senior class sponsors. Judging was based on leadership, dependability, service and patriotism.

DAR chapters sponsor the award in high schools throughout the nation. Individual high school winners are eligible to compete for state and national scholarships.

"I feel really honored. It still hasn't sunk in yet," Patti says. "It's probably the biggest honor I've ever received."

Patti is treasurer of the senior class at CHS and a member of student council. Her grade point average is 3.4. She is a member of St. Daniel Catholic Church. After high school, she would like to pursue pre-law studies at the University of Michigan or St. Mary's of Notre Dame.

In the midst of filling out college applications, Patti has been working closely with CHS guidance counselor Marilyn Hanson, for whom she includes words of praise.

"She's a great counselor," she says. "She really does a lot for the kids."

When the announcement came over the school's PA system that Patti had won the DAR Award, she was in her college writing class.

"It was really neat because all my friends were there," she says. "All my friends just jam-piled on top of me. I ran down (to the office) and called my mom."

Patti remembers how pleased her mother, Elizabeth, was and, later, how pleased her father, Edward, was when she told him in person that she won the DAR Award and got the job at the courthouse.

Patti Haddad learned she won the DAR Award during school on Friday. "I was really surprised," she says.

But her fondest memory involves her grandmother.

"What really made me feel good was seeing the look in my grandmother's eyes. It really made her happy," she says.

Voters spoke, got deposits

A review of Michigan's bottle bill is in order.

The review should not be to test its validity or need, but to check the wording. Did it just say there had to be a deposit on beer and soda pop bottles?

Why would the legislators not include all the liquid holders flung from car/truck windows as having deposit requirements?

We would even include containers of everything . . . Big Macs, Whoppers, Hefty bags, mattresses, etc. in a deposit required law.

That wouldn't even get to committee, let alone get out of committee, so let's stick to liquid containers.

November 19 at 10 a.m. the Michigan Liquor Control Commission is holding a public hearing to consider a proposed rule requiring a bottle deposit on all wine cooler containers.

The hearing, in the Law Building, 525 West Ottawa, Lansing, is the first step toward adoption of any administrative rule under Michigan law.

The bottle bill was approved by voters in 1976. It has served to reduce litter substantially along streets, highways, parks, and front lawns. Too, solid waste has been reduced considerably.

Apparently there is need for the Nov. 19 public hearing. However, that should be the last one on this or future similar matters pertaining to containers associated with littering.

The voters made the decision on bottle deposits. That's it. The voters had the last say. Must we have hearings and perhaps another state-wide vote on bottle bills each time a new drink is thought up?

Throw the bums, not bottles, out. JAS

Treat time

Kathy Greenfield

Everyone I know bought two batches of Halloween candy.

At our house, it took us about three days to enjoy all those little candy bars a week before Oct. 31.

We kept accusing each other of eating the most—but I know who the culprit was, and it wasn't me.

The second batch I bought, I hid in the cookbook cupboard, which no one uses but me. It's not that no one else cooks; they just improvise and I'm compelled to follow the rules.

I supplemented that batch with more candy just a few minutes before the trick-or-treaters arrived.

I'm not sure how many there were, but the number probably totaled between 60 and 80.

One little girl sang "Over the Rainbow" for me. I was spooked by several teen visitors wearing horrible masks. And I laughed out loud at a boy dressed as a nerd with his hair sprayed into a perfect point.

Several days later, someone asked if we had fewer trick-or-treaters than usual. She said she was taking an informal poll and that she had concluded people are afraid to send their children out door-to-door.

I was glad the number hadn't dwindled in Clarkston. I love Halloween. It was fun when I was a child and I thoroughly enjoy it as an adult.

Halley's, grandma and me

Carolyn Walker

My friend's grandmother was appropriately named some 92 years ago: Winnie Joy.

Her sense of humor is as refreshing as a cool spring rain when she greets me after an absence of several years. "I'm still here," she says, with a chuckle, rolling her eyes heavenward.

She looks just the way I remember her looking some 20 years ago—short and plump and full of life.

I wonder if she still entertains children by forming her lips into perfect points, but don't have the nerve to ask now that I'm a bonified adult.

I also wonder if she has her hearing aid volume turned on high, or low as she used to when our teenage noise got to be too much for her. No matter. I laugh to myself at the notion.

It's a hazy day. Halley's comet has brought us together. She saw it, and her memories will become mine.

"I was glad to see it," she says, thoughtfully. "And I'm happy I could live to know that the comet will come again while I'm alive."

As a 17-year-old in 1910, she walked a brief block from her home in Jacksonville, Ill., to a clearing where she viewed the comet on three consecutive, clear nights.

She waves her hand across an imaginary sky in the family room and her eyes follow it. "I do remember how clearly we could see the comet. I saw it southwest," she says. Her hand makes a steady pass. "It was early evening. We could see it for a while—I couldn't tell you how long. Then the darkness came on."

Her gaze and her waving hand pause. "The brightish light there." She stops and starts again. "The tail coming along, a small cluster of light. As I remember, it was a little bit curved."

She drops her eyes to meet mine. "It's so different from all the other stars, you know. It was a very wonderful thing to see."

Though the comet was, she says, pretty impressive, it was not nearly as spectacular as the achievements of men during her lifetime.

"I think the most exciting thing (chuckle)

Someone predicted, when I was about 12 years old, that the world would come to an end the next day. I was afraid to go to bed. I think there was more excitement over that." Hearty laugh.

That memory leads her to recall her earliest memory, when at age 4, she warned the family horse that he would get a belly-ache for eating too many apples off the tree. More chuckles.

"This has been a very interesting century," she says, pondering candlelight and solar heat, airplanes and space travel, ovens and utilities.

"Everything has developed so much. I don't see how another century can develop as much."

Then, she says almost as an afterthought, "I don't expect to live until the next century." Chuckles again. "Wouldn't that be terrible? Oh, goodness."

I wish she could live forever.

Jim's Jottings

Jim Sherman

Here's a casual observance from a once-a-year dress buyer. Every since the movie "10" with Bo Derek came out, size 10 for women has been enlarged to make larger-than-10 women fit size 10.

My wife is, or has been, a 10 petite forever. Now size 8 is often too large.

Making clothes sizes to make women and mothers feel good is not new for fabric formers. Baby clothes marked 6 months are too small for most babies to wear home from the hospital.

This permits a mother to boast, "My baby is already into a size meant for someone twice his age." Which doesn't impress all the other mothers who answer, "Mine, too!"

Did I ever tell you about playing football against the students in the School for the Blind in Lansing? There was an unwritten 'gentleman's' agreement that teams wouldn't use the pass play against them.

It's a good thing the rule wasn't written, because we, Morrice, never would have beaten them without the long pass. The only thing gentlemanly about it was we waited until late in the game to use it.

That was also the same time in the game when we were so beaten up we couldn't run any longer. That's what I remember most about playing the blind . . . they were strong and physical. They hurt us with their tackling and blocking. I can feel that one hit now, 41 years later.

A couple weeks ago Mazda, the Japanese auto company that's building a factory in Flatrock, took some downriver newspaper editors to Japan.

These editors, like Ernie Nagy of the Melis papers out of Lincoln Park, say it was all work. Naturally. It was also all on Mazda's VISA card, probably.

Frankly, we'd rather have a Volvo plant, but only if they take local editors to Sweden. Regardless of my jealousy, Nagy said that not only do the Japanese not import goods that are made there, they won't let workers into their country unless they have a skill not available by Japanese.

Stick that in your anti-isolationist pipe, Mr. Reagan.

Al Post, of Lake Orion, retired recently from his manufacturer's representative job. An engineer by training, he helped develop some of the parts he later sold in the marketplace.

He told me recently about the marvels of today's computer operated machines. Al's a cribbage player and wanted to make some pegs from a piece of metal one of his customers uses.

While telling the manufacturer his idea for making the pegs, the company owner asked some dimensions. He tapped the information into the computer in his office, then they both walked out into the shop and watched a machine spit out a couple dozen cribbage pegs, just like Al wanted.

Isn't progress wonderful?

Letter to editor

Pollution solution

Pigeons, pigeons.
Looking through the letters in the Oakland Press and Clarkston News makes one wonder what type of a generation we have among us.

Supposedly pigeons cause pollution.

At one time a few years back, they (the pollution experts) claimed you should not eat fish from the Detroit River. After an exhaustive research, they claimed you would have to eat a pound of fish a day to realize the pollution.

Now who the heck eats a pound of fish every day?

Years ago, my dad belonged to a pigeon club. Every second Sunday, he put me on the Baker streetcar in Detroit with a wire cage of 15 pigeons.

I would sit right next to them on the streetcar, and when we came to the Ford Rouge Plant, I would check my father's watch and release them. They were right at my side for the entire hour. That was 18 miles.

Now the pollution experts take some pigeons to Ortonville or thereabouts. Don't they realize these same pigeons are homers and smarter than some people? That's why they came back.

My father used to have a screened cage, and when he saw a strange pigeon, he would trap it. When he had eight pigeons, our family had a stuffed pigeon dinner. Stuffed pigeons are a real delicacy.

My father was closer to pigeons than anyone in Clarkston, and in over 40 years, he never contacted that pollution they are talking about.

And what type of mentality do we have in wonderful Clarkston?

One year we fete good ol' Rudy for being an outstanding citizen, the next we try to take away the one enjoyment he has in his old age of feeding the pigeons.

I don't think anyone can get within 10 feet of these pigeons.

The Indians never killed an animal or a bird unless they wanted it for food. If we are going to get rid of these birds, why not find a poor family with about five or six kids and trap enough for their Sunday dinner of stuffed pigeons?

This could be done twice a month and eventually they would all be gone.

For shame Clarkston, killing for no good reason.

'If it Fitz ...'

FoFOOO franchises

Jim Fitzgerald

I now own a kaffieh like the one Yasser Arafat wears. I will wear it to the first public execution of a Detroit school student for shooting a classmate.

The kaffieh, a hat that looks like a checkered scarf, is a gift from my one and only fan club. The club is located in Khamis Mushayt, Saudi Arabia, and uses the acronym "FoFOOO." It stands for "Fans of Fitz, the One, Original, Only." (They mean the club is unique, not me.)

FoFOOO was formed last spring in response to AT&T. I wrote a column complaining that, since the big stupid split from AT&T, it was more expensive for me to phone the town next door, but cheaper to phone Saudi Arabia. However, I didn't know anyone in Saudi Arabia.

There soon arrived a letter from Glenn E. Baker, who works for the U.S. government in Khamis Mushayt. He said that, because there really isn't much to do in Khamis Mushayt, he and eight co-workers had chartered FoFOOO, and I could phone them.

I haven't called yet because I haven't figured out the time difference between Detroit and Khamis Mushayt. I don't want to awaken Baker at 3 a.m. and make him angry enough to disband the only FoFOOO I ever had.

However, we've exchanged letters. Baker recently wrote: "Your autographed photo arrived and was soon framed. It is much appreciated by FoFOOO and some members even remarked on your rugged handsomeness."

Needless to say, when I die, I want to be buried in Khamis Mushayt.

The mailing from Khamis Mushayt included Yasser Arafat's hat and a clipping from the local English language newspaper that made me cringe.

"Three persons were beheaded today in three separate cases . . . while the right hands of two others were amputated from the wrist," the first paragraph said.

Baker explained: "Nearly every week at least one criminal meets his fate in the public square on Friday morning after the morning prayer. Persons caught imbibing alcohol are flogged, adulterers are stoned to death, thieves lose a hand, and murderers and rapists are beheaded . . . Those penalties are much the same as those that Europeans dealt out many years ago."

Yes. And those penalties are much the same as those that many Detroiters would like to dish out today to the armed punks terrorizing innocent people. I'm convinced that, if put to a vote in Michigan, capital punishment will win in a bloodslide.

Talk about cringing. If you're going to electrocute a criminal before a small private audience, why not behead him in the public square? If you're going to kill one crook, why not maim another? The idea has great appeal for many. The crime problem has us headed backward toward barbarism, where the lions are waiting to be fed the people.

Appealing to all the baser instincts, Oakland County Prosecutor L. Brooks Patterson is giving articulate leadership to the drive to kill the killers. But who in the metropolitan area is leading the fight to eliminate the single greatest cause of all the killing—the incredible, unholy presence of guns, guns, guns—everywhere, everywhere?

I say Coleman Young should demand that all Detroiters contribute to a mammoth pile of discarded handguns, a pile larger even than an enlarged Cobo Hall.

Most people say I'm wasting my breath, not to mention talking through my kaffieh. They foresee absolutely no demand for FoFOOO franchises.
Curses.

Public hearing set

Two public hearings regarding soon-to-be-available funds are scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Nov. 19 by the Independence Township Board.

The board will be taking suggestions for the use of $69,500 in 1986 Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) funds and $58,900 in Federal Revenue Sharing (FRS) funds.

CDBG funds are regulated by strict rules which delegate the money for use in low to moderate income areas, slum or blight areas and for handicapped or senior citizens.

This year's CDBG funds were used for a barrier-free bathroom at the township hall annex and for providing minor home repairs to needy citizens, among other things, Treasurer John Lutz said.

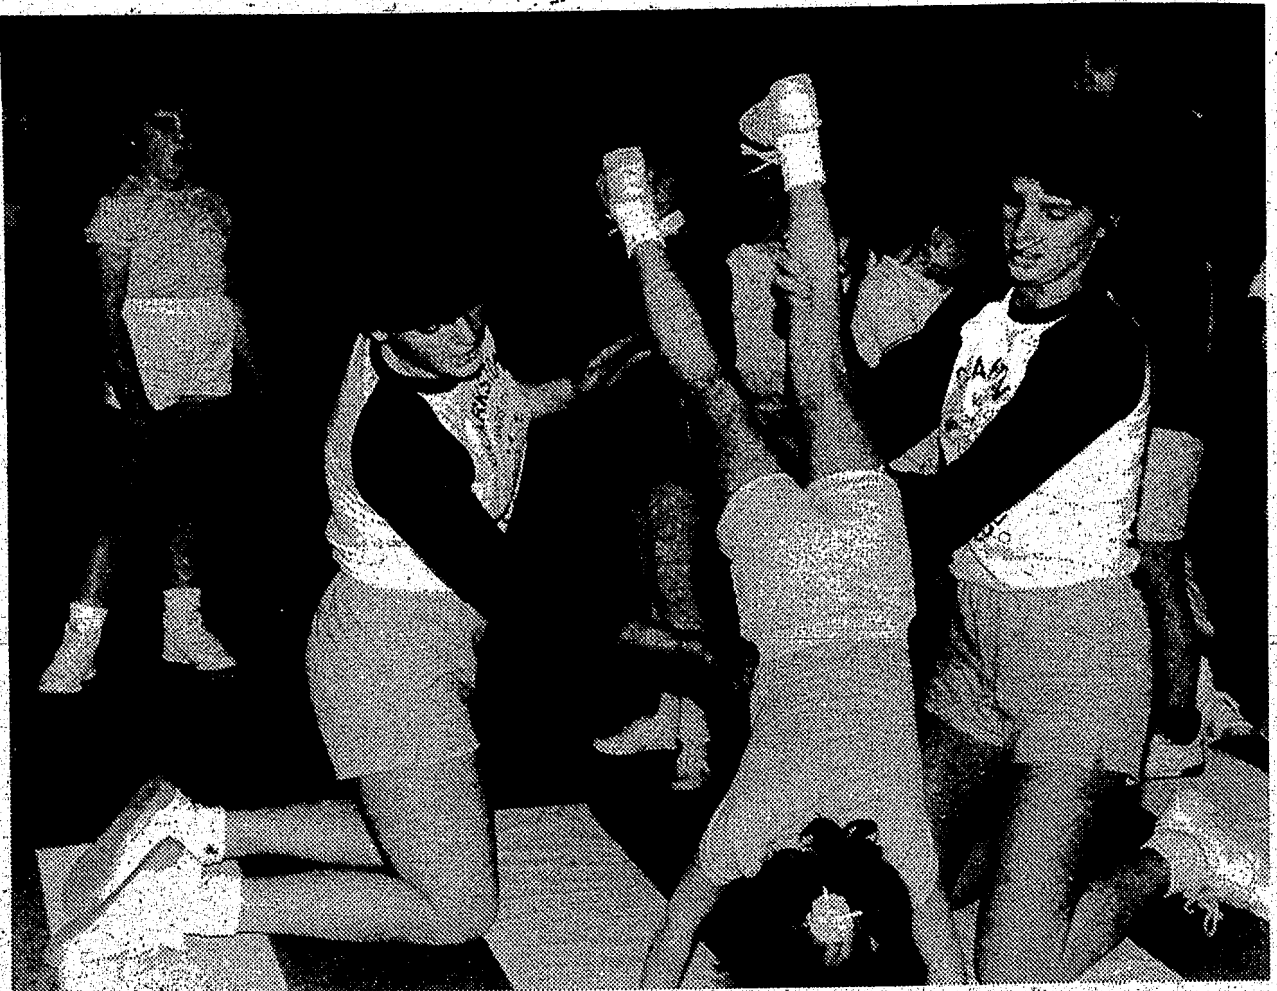

The FRS funds have been used for dust control and tri-party road improvements in the past, said Clerk Richard Holman, who says he will propose using the money for improvements on M-15.

Labor lawyers hired

The Detroit law firm of Riley and Roumell has been unanimously appointed to serve as labor attorneys for Independence Township.

The firm is to counsel the township on the Fair Labor Standards Act and other labor-related issues during coming labor negotiations, according to Clerk Richard Holman.

The current contract for many township AFSCME union employees expires April 1, 1986.

Clarkston High School varsity
Wolves 68, Waterford Mott 35

Oct. 31—A new defense by the Wolves gives the team a big jump in the early part of the game. In the first quarter against Mott, the Wolves lead 32-4, and they jump to 42-10 at half time. Michelle Taulbee has a good all around game with 16 points, 10 rebounds, eight assists and seven steals. Missy O'Dell comes through with 12 points and 13 rebounds and Sue Lovelady hits for 10 points. The Wolves' record moves to 10-5 overall and 4-1 in the Greater Oakland Activities League.

Wolves 78, Pontiac Northern 40

Oct. 29—Again, the Wolves jump out to a big 26-6 lead at the end of the first quarter. They post a 42-16 advantage after two quarters. Taulbee pumps in 22 points, 14 coming in the opening quarter. She also has 10 rebounds. O'Dell helps out with 17 points and 12 rebounds. Michele Wyniemo tallies 13 points and 14 rebounds.

THIS WEEK: Clarkston at Waterford Kettering, Nov. 7, 8 p.m. NEXT WEEK: Lake Orion at Clarkston, Nov. 12, 8 p.m.

Clarkston High School junior varsity
Wolves 49, Waterford Mott 26

Oct. 31—Jane Selent scores 10 points and hauls in nine rebounds to lead the Wolves to victory over Mott. Gina Houck and Ali Fedio each score seven points and Houck adds 11 rebounds. The Wolves' record is 11-4.

Wolves 54, Pontiac Northern 35

Oct. 29—Another easy win for the Wolves with Houck and Selent each tallying 12 points. Selent has 10 rebounds while Houck adds nine. Fedio and Jackie Patrick each toss in eight points.

THIS WEEK: Clarkston at Waterford Kettering, Nov. 7, 6 p.m. NEXT WEEK: Lake Orion at Clarkston, Nov. 12, 6 p.m.

Clarkston Junior High Wolverines
Wolverines 42, Milford 27

Oct. 31—The Wolverines avenge an earlier loss to Milford. Jenny Grohs scores 28 points with 14 coming in the first quarter. Deanna Green contributes eight points in the victory. The Wolverines' record goes to 6-8.

Mason 51, Wolverines 39

Oct. 29—The 12-point loss is an improvement by the Wolverines against a good Mason team. The Wolverines lost by 35 in the first meeting between the teams. Grohs is the leading scorer for the Wolverines with 15 points. Following her are Evonne Atkins with nine points and Green with seven.

Wolverines 47, Lakeland 40

Oct. 24—The score is close the entire game. Grohs scores the most points with 17. Kari Abbott tosses in 10 points while Green hits for nine and Atkins scores seven.

Football

Clarkston High School varsity
Wolves 21, West Bloomfield 7

Nov. 1—The Wolves finish the season on an up note by handling the Lakers in West Bloomfield. The Wolves score on the last play of the first half to tie the game at 7-7. Bob LaPorte throws a 14-yard pass to Dan Jokisch for the score. Jeff Davis adds the second touchdown for the Wolves on a 30-yard run and LaPorte finishes the scoring with a 10-yard run in the fourth quarter. The Wolves end the season with a 6-3 record.

Clarkston High School junior varsity
Wolves 21, West Bloomfield 0

Oct. 31—The shutout winds up the Wolves' season with a 7-2 record. They won their last six games. Mike Gilbert leads the charge in the final game with touchdown runs of 1 yard and 5 yards. Jeff Buckman runs over from the 1-yard line for the other score. Josh Newblatt records all the extra points with a kick and a pass from Vince Vacanti. The defense is led by Mike Wells with eight-and-one-half tackles and Eric Hutchins and Keenan Powell with two interceptions each.

Clarkston Junior High Wolverines
Wolverines 25, Sashabaw 8

Oct. 30—The Wolverines win both games against the Cougars this season. In this game, Alex Menzies scores the first touchdown on a 30-yard pass from Scott Oppman. The next touchdown comes when Clarkston's Rob Brown fumbles on the 1-yard line and teammate Rob Hamburg recovers in the end zone for the touchdown. After a 26-yard field goal by Tim Banfield, Neville LaMotte runs 30 yards for the final touchdown. The Wolverines finish their season with a 7-2 record.

TEACHING THE TROOPS: The Clarkston High School pom pon squad is the middle of its first clinic and 19 future squad hopefuls go through four hours of routines. Last Saturday and this Saturday from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m., the upstairs gym at Sashabaw Junior High is filled with music and dancing. Members of the 1985 pom pon squad are: Teresa Loehne, Mary Ellen

CHS runners place high in finals

By Dan Vandenhemel

One Clarkston cross country runner easily made the All-State squad while a second just missed.

Kathleen McInnis finished seventh in the state finals in Flint, Nov. 2, to be placed on the elite team of the top 25 finishers. Jeff Toretta was a few steps behind the mark as he placed 31st.

Both the girls' and boys' race had 90 runners. This is the second straight year McInnis has made the

All-State team. She placed fifth as a sophomore last season. This was Toretta's first trip to the finals.

"Making the finals was my main season goal," the senior runner said. "It took me three years to get here. I was just glad to go to the finals."

Toretta's time of 16:52 for the 5-kilometer course falls within an average of his best times of the year. McInnis' 19:32 is a little slower than what she has done during the year.

"It wasn't my best time," she said. "My leg was sore the previous week and I didn't have as much training time as I would have liked. My leg didn't bother me at all during the race. There was a lot of competition."

Clarkston cross country coach Mike Kaul said he and co-coach Mike Taylor were far from upset with the runners' performances.

"Kathleen finished fifth last year and only seventh this year," Kaul said. "She may be a little disappointed, but it's hard to see any kind of failure when you're seventh in the state."

"We kind of expected her to equal what she did last year, but anywhere from second to 10th, everyone's pretty much equal," Kaul said.

One aspect Kaul said might have hurt McInnis is her slow start.

"She usually doesn't go out with blazing speed but she can maintain a pace and just pick people off," he said. "She's always been like that. She was only a couple of steps from sixth place."

Toretta told his coaches before the starting gun he wanted to run his own race and not be pulled into a faster pace than he was used to.

"He had to compromise a little," Kaul said. "He didn't want to be last after the first mile, so he picked it up some. We expected him to be in the top third runners in the state and that's where he finished."

The Clarkston Wolverines were able to run the ball against the Sashabaw Cougars' defense in the two games between the junior high schools this season.

CJH wins, 25-8

Wolverines win season series from Cougars

By Dan Vandenhemel

Close rivalries almost always result in close ball games, and the Clarkston-Sashabaw junior high football game is a case in point.

The Wolverines ended up on top, 25-8, in the Oct. 30 contest. The game was much closer than the final score indicated. Going into the fourth quarter, the score was tied at 8-8.

Sashabaw's Tom Benedict scored the lone touchdown for the Cougars early in the game.

The Wolverines got on the board on a 30-yard pass from Scott Oppman to Alex Menzies. Rob Himburg caught the two-point conversion pass from Brad Erickson to knot the score at 8-8.

A big break helped with the second touchdown by the Wolverines. As they were driving for the end zone, Rob Brown fumbled on the 1-yard line and teammate Himburg recovered in the end zone for the score. Tim Banfield kicked the extra point for a 15-8 lead.

That touchdown shifted the momentum and enabled the Wolverines to add a 26-yard field goal by Banfield and a 30-yard touchdown run by Neville LaMotte before the game ended.

"I think we just wore them down," Wolverine coach Dave Smith said of the Cougar defense. "Sashabaw played a really disciplined game. Sashabaw's hard work equaled out our talent."

The first half of the game was controlled by the defense. Smith said he thinks the score would have been higher if his team played better.

"We hurt ourselves early," he said. "We dropped some passes. We really didn't start moving the ball until we scored that first touchdown."

The Wolverines easily won the first game between the two schools, 49-14. The Wolverines finish the season with a 7-2 record, while Sashabaw holds a 3-6 mark.

Golfers far from repeating

By Dan Vandenhemel

The Clarkston High School golf team fell far short of matching the success the Wolves had last year.

The Wolves finished this season with a 8-6 overall record and 4-4 in the league. They placed fourth in the five-team Greater Oakland Activities League and 31st out of 40 teams in the Oakland County Meet.

"I'm a little disappointed. I felt we could have been 6-2 in the league," said coach Jim Chamberlain.

Tournaments were the biggest letdown for Chamberlain. He said the team played well during the season, but when the time came to compete in a tournament, the players didn't hit their average scores.

"Through the season, we played to our capabilities," he said. "I thought we were better than average but not par shooters."

Gunnar Karlstrom held the best average for the Wolves with a 39.5 mark for nine holes. But for tournaments, his average pushed over 80 for 18 holes.

"To be a good high school golfer, you have to break 40 or 80 consistently," Chamberlain said. "I think the players just have to work on their games more. I think Gunnar is a little disappointed in himself about how he played in the tournaments. He puts the practice time in."

"The repetition of swinging from a practice tee helps your game," the coach continued. "The ideal thing to do is hit the club the same way every time. All kids can go out and walk 18 holes and hit shot after shot, but there is a mental aspect of the game they have to think about, too."

Last year, the team made its first appearance in the state finals. They were 12-1 overall and 8-0 in the league. The Wolves also placed fourth in the regional meet to qualify for the finals and they were eighth in the county meet.

Grid players wrap up season with victory

By Dan Vandenhemel

The final game of the season against West Bloomfield was not as easy as expected for the Clarkston varsity football team.

The Wolves won the game, 21-8, on Nov. 1 in West Bloomfield, but it took longer than most people expected for the Wolves to secure the win.

Clarkston came into the game with a 5-3 record while West Bloomfield held a lowly 1-7 mark.

From the opening kickoff, West Bloomfield controlled the game. The Lakers scored the first time they touched the ball and held an 7-0 lead with seconds left in the half.

A 14-yard pass from Bob LaPorte to Dan Jokisch put the Wolves on the scoreboard with one second left in the half. Chris Poulos, who is suffering from strained leg muscles, limped on the field and kicked the extra point that sent the teams into the lockerrooms with a 7-7 tie.

It took awhile for the Wolves to get started, both offensively and defensively. Coach Walt Wyniemko let the alarm clock ring loud and long during half time in an effort to wake his team up.

"It takes a little while for us to get uncranked," Wyniemko said. "West Bloomfield came out to play. We didn't do as good as I thought we would and they (West Bloomfield) were hungry."

The second half of the game went uncontested as the Wolves moved the ball up and down the field but were able to score only twice. LaPorte ran in a touchdown from 10 yards out and Jeff Davis sprinted for a 30-yard touchdown run. Poulos was able to kick all the extra points.

Statistically, the Wolves should have blown the Lakers out. The Wolves had 349 yards in total offense and the Lakers had only 109.

Davis had 133 rushing yards giving the senior his second 100-yard rushing performance of the year.

Dan Jokisch also had a big night catching the ball. The junior wide receiver caught six passes for 106 yards.

To finish with a winning record, Wyniemko said the second and third string players held up the rest of the team.

"Anytime a team goes 6-3 you have to be proud," Wyniemko said. "A lot of teams in the state wished they could have a 6-3 record. I think the unsung players of the team played the biggest role in winning. The stronger they are the better the team is."

Up My Alley

Clumsy keys

Dan Vandenhemel

Adventures on a rainy Saturday afternoon:
Did you ever notice when you misplace your car keys, the weather is most often bad?

Take last Saturday, for example.

Not once, not twice, but three times my keys were not where they were supposed to be.

The first time they were stuck in the ignition while the locked door swept close. The idiot buzzer was screaming of the impending doom, but did I pay attention to it? NOOOO.

Could it be because the rain was falling and splattering my glasses that I still don't like wearing? Or maybe my thoughts were drifting toward more pleasant events than working on a Saturday.

Without another thought of the trapped keys, I headed to the interview. You see, I've had this problem in the past and always carry a spare set in my wallet.

I thought I was completely cured of this torment, but the Keys of Halloweens Past keep returning to haunt me.

The interview was smooth and fairly quick. As I readied to go, I reached for my wallet and guess what?

No, my wallet was there, but the door key was not in its secure hiding place. The ignition key was poking its nose out into the open, while the door key was in the depths of the wallet.

Once getting my fingers on the key, I promptly dropped it, once in the dining room of the house and once on the front porch. Good thing there weren't any open manhole covers around.

As I trudged to my car in the still drizzling rain, I wondered how the rest of my three-year anniversary with The Clarkston News was going to go.

By this time, I was getting hungry. Once back to the office, I decided to get a bottle of pop from Rudy's Market next door. This is where the third episode of missing keys began.

Since I'm the only one who comes into the office regularly on Saturday, I lock the doors when I leave. While I reached for a pop, my keys were resting comfortably on my desk.

A quick call to Kathy Greenfield rescued me from the still drizzling weather.

What a fun way to spend a Saturday.

Another in a series of informational messages concerning your phone service.

We're trying to make things simple
for you again.
Starting with your new phone bill.

When all those changes happened in the telephone business a while back, some things got more complicated. Including your phone bill. Ever since, we've been looking for ways to simplify it, so it's easier to read and understand. And after a lot of research and listening hard to customers like you, we think we've done it.

For starters, we've cut out some duplication, so the new bill you'll be getting could have as few as three or four pages.

From now on, you'll just mail in the Payment Page with your payment. The Payment Page is the top page of your bill. We've done away with the computer card you used to have to send in. (If you pay in person, you should bring the whole bill with you.) The Total Amount Due will be easy to find because it's shaded in a box on the Payment Page.

You'll find the new appearance and wording of the bill help make it a whole lot easier to understand.

We think you'll agree that a confusing phone bill is just one more little problem none of us wants to muddle through. That's why we hope our new shorter version will be easier for you.

Handiwork

Arts, crafts show at church

Thirty-five artisans are expected Friday and Saturday at the "His Handiwork" Arts & Crafts Show at the Church of the Resurrection.

Among items expected for the sale are wreaths, baskets, needlecrafts, toys, stained glass, dolls, wooden items and pen and ink watercolors.

The women of the church have baked breads, pies and cookies and made candies, jellies and chocolate sauce for the popular "Bakery/Deli," a 16-foot table filled with edibles.

Also featured are a weaving demonstration and a magic bow sale by members of the Clarkston Band Boosters.

Admission is free. Hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. both dates. The church is located at 6490 Clarkston Rd., Independence Township.

Rotary car party

The Clarkston Rotary Club is holding its fourth annual car drawing on Saturday, Nov. 30.

The event will be held at the Deer Lake Racquet Club, 6167 White Lake Rd., starting at 6 p.m.

First prize is a 1986 Chevrolet Celebrity plus $1,100 in cash prizes. There are many additional prizes to be given.

Tickets are $100 a couple and 250 tickets are being sold. They provide eligibility for a prize and include a sit-down dinner for two plus entertainment.

Chairperson is Don Ernst and master of ceremonies is Lew Wint.

Tickets can be obtained from ticket chairperson Ron Davis at 674-2268.

Parenting clinic

Have a gifted child?

Learn how to improve your parenting skills and better relate to your child at a meeting to be sponsored by the Parents of Academically Talented Students.

The meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, Nov. 14, at Sashabaw Junior High School, and will feature guest speaker Rose Silver, a gifted education consultant and former director of Roeper Lower School.

Also on the program is Wendell Jennings, a social worker for the Clarkston school district, who will discuss services available to parents and children.

Registration will be taken at this meeting for a series of four additional sessions to be scheduled in January.

At these sessions, parents will meet with Silver in small groups to discuss specifics aspects of giftedness and personal problems related to parenting gifted children.

Dana Hocking, a Clarkston High School senior, is the new Clarkston Junior Miss. She was selected over 20 other contestants during the competition at the high school's Little Theatre

Nov. 1 and 2. Dana also received scholastic and preliminary physical fitness awards. She will soon represent Clarkston in the competition for the Michigan Junior Miss.

21 teens compete

Dana Hocking's Junior Miss

Dana Hocking reigns as the 1985-86 Clarkston Junior Miss.

She was chosen over 20 other contestants to assume the title from retiring Junior Miss Inger Nelson during ceremonies at the high school on Saturday night.

Dana, a Clarkston High School senior, also won a preliminary physical fitness award and a scholastic award.

Her first runner-up is high school senior Carrie Roselli, who also won preliminary and final physical fitness awards.

According to Barbara Hamaker, Junior Miss chairperson, $4,050 in scholarships were awarded at the event.

Other winners include: Second Runner-up Andrea Zanotti, who also won a preliminary award for poise and appearance and a preliminary award for creative arts; third runner-up Leslie Parrish, who won the final award for creative arts; fourth runner-up Julie Monroe; Ruth Acton, who won the Judges' Award for best interview; Laurie Francisco, who won preliminary and overall awards for poise and appearance; and Grayce Abdoo, who won the Spirit of Junior Miss award and the Chairman's Award.

Dana is to represent Clarkston in the Michigan Junior Miss competition held annually in Marshall.

"It's Magic" is the theme for the Junior Miss program and these three contestants prepare to do a magic trick during the opening number.

Rebecca Olney does a mime routine during the Clarkston Junior Miss contest.

Doing the groundwork

A crew from the Northwest Oakland Vocational Education Center is preparing flower beds in Clarkston's Main Street parking lot for a burst of springtime blooms. Last week, the greenhouse and landscaping students put topsoil and woodchips in place and they will be adding 1,000 tulip bulbs. Richard Charles, a Clarkston High School student, digs into a pile of topsoil and loads it into a waiting wheelbarrow.

Mike Hall and Mike Jasso, CHS students, man the rakes. The students' work was overseen by Dorothy Mechiglan, paraprofessional aide for the greenhouse and landscaping class.

In service

Navy Seaman Recruit James Durham has completed eight weeks of recruit training at Recruit Training Command, San Diego, Calif.

A 1985 graduate of Clarkston High School, he is the son of Frances and James Durham II of Peach Drive, Independence Township.

Spec. 5 Richard Jameyfield has been named outstanding noncommissioned officer of the quarter for the Army Electronic Proving Ground, Fort Huachuca, Ariz.

He was chosen for the honor from a select group of peers who were judged on military bearing and knowledge, professional skill and exemplary behavior.

Jameyfield, a microwave systems repairer, is a 1976 graduate of Clarkston High School. He is the son of Elizabeth Donahue of Waterford.

His wife, Dea, is the daughter of Donald and Joyce Alumbaugh of Fawn Valley, Independence Township.

Air Force Airman James Lendrum has arrived for duty with the 609th Tactical Control Squadron, West Germany.

A radio communications specialist, he was previously assigned at Keesler Air Force Base, Miss.

Lendrum is the son of Bonnie and Robert Lendrum of Westview, Independence Township. He graduated from Clarkston High School in 1984.

Debra A. Miller, daughter of Michael and Elizabeth Miller of Independence Township, has been promoted in the United States Air Force to the rank of senior airman.

Miller is an aircrew life support specialist at Patrick Air Force Base, Florida, with the 549th Tactical Air Support Training Squadron.

She is a 1979 graduate of Clarkston High School.

Weighty winners pick pumpkins

The winners of the annual "Guess the Weight of the Pumpkin Contest" at Pine Knob Elementary School were lucky—twice.

Because there were 11 correct guesses of 90 pounds, the names were divided between upper and lower grades for a drawing.

Fifth-grader Phillip Burman and first-grader Kim Dengate emerged the winners of a decorated pumpkin each.

Their guess techniques varied in approach.

"I lifted it up and I can lift about 90 pounds," said Phillip.

"I just thought . . . and then I put 90 pounds," said Kim.

The school's 603 pupils entered the contest that became a tradition under former school secretary Phyllis Karpovic. This year's pumpkins were decorated by Mrs. Karpovic, her daughter Cindi Sans and current secretary Joyce Mammen.

The giant 90-pound pumpkin was loaned to the school by the Munday family. The Munday and Ashton Orchards each donated a prize pumpkin.

The other children who submitted correct guesses were kindergartners Justin Prystash, Shawna Rigsby and John Villella; first-grader Holly Hearn; second-graders Sheila Spencer and Candi Williams; third-grader Mike Marshall; fifth-grader Angela Rawa; and sixth-grader Josh Yates.

Singer in chorale

Richard Dale's voice will be among the 24-member Oakland Chorale at Oakland University, Rochester, during a concert at 3 p.m. Nov. 24 at Varner Hall.

Dale, of Main Street, Clarkston, is a music major at the university. His parents are Karl and Rosalynd Dale.

The concert features music for unaccompanied choir with Elizabethan madrigals, motets and spirituals.

Tickets are $3 general admission and $2 for students and senior citizens. For details, call the Center for the Arts box office at 370-3013.

Art show planned

An arts and crafts sale including Clarkston area crafters. Cathy Rayner and Barbara Nevendorff is planned Nov. 9 at West Bloomfield High School.

The show, featuring the holiday arts and crafts of more than 90 crafters, is sponsored by the West Bloomfield Education Department. Hours are 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The high school is located at 4925 Orchard Lake Rd. Admission is free. For more information, call Sharon Powers at 626-8375.

At school

Lisa Young has been elected as an alternate representative from Deans Hall to the Adrian College Student Government.

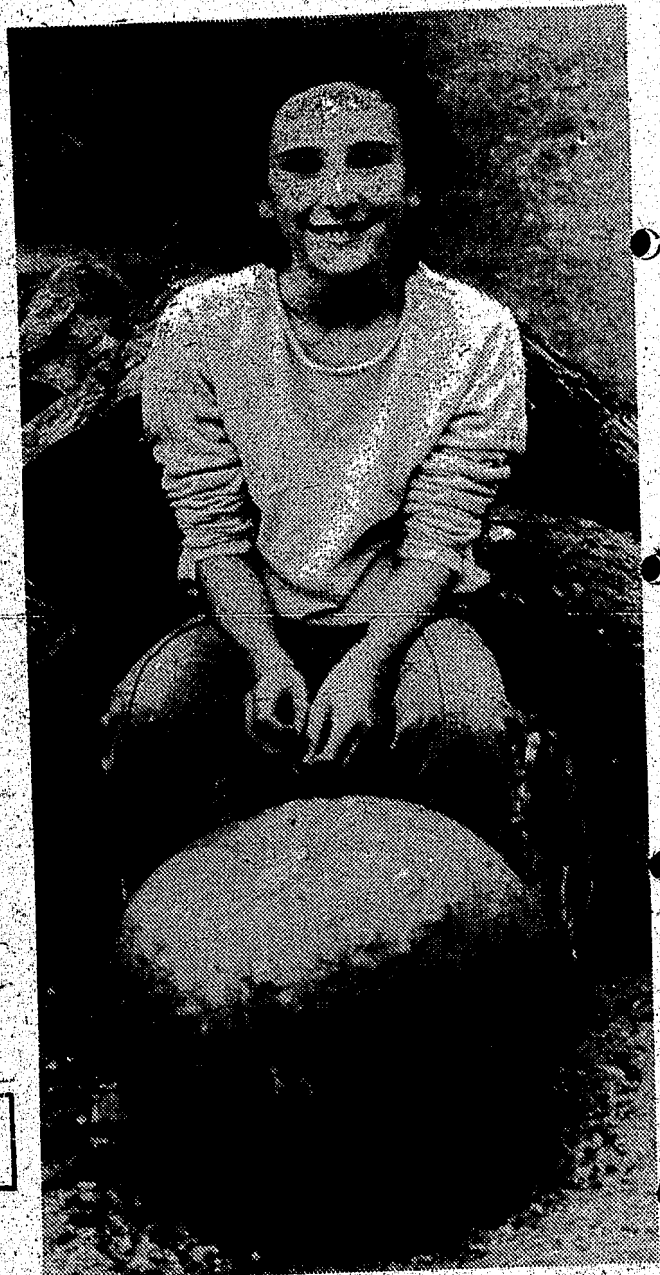

A sophomore majoring in fashion merchandising and French, Young is a 1984 graduate of Clarkston High School. She is the daughter of James and Carolyn Young.

Grad

Lynn A. Siddall, a resident of Independence Township, was among the graduates of the Legal Assistant Diploma Program conducted by the Division of Continuing Education at Oakland University.

Her internship was sponsored by Ronald Deneweth of Schier, Deneweth and Parfitt of Birmingham.

Graduates of the course are qualified to function between the level of an attorney and a legal secretary.

Lucky little lady

Tonya Graybill, a 12-year-old Clarkston Junior High School student, poses with the pumpkin she won after guessing the number of seeds in the Independence Township Library's glass pumpkin before Halloween. Tonya won over 1,000 other entrants, after guessing the pumpkin contained 2,063 seeds. She was the closest to the actual number of 2,066 seeds. Of her lucky guess, Tonya says she "just wrote it down and ran out the door" without using any system for coming up with a figure. Tonya has previously won a Cabbage Patch Doll and a puppet in contests. Says her mother, Barbara, "I'm going to have to have her start picking my lottery numbers." [Photo by Carolyn Walker]

Phillip Burman, a fifth-grader, and Kim Dengate, a first-grader, stand in front of the decorated pumpkins they won in the annual contest at Pine Knob Elementary School.

Bat stories based on fact, myth or legend

English, science combine in writing of Bailey Lake 6th-grade pupils of Butch Alterman

Dream On

By Jess Killian

It was a cold, dark night in Godhavn, Greenland, when Jerry Rickter and I were walking along the old, swaying bridge.

Each step we took felt like the bridge was going to collapse and leave us lying on the rocky ledge below.

When lightning flashed, we saw it—the fruit bat we'd been looking for. It had a red ring around its neck and a 5-foot wingspan. It swooped down as fast as we could blink and then was gone.

"Hurray," we said in unison. "We finally saw it."

"It's amazing," Jerry said softly. "We have been looking for it for 12 years and we finally have found it." He paused, and then said solemnly, "But who's gonna believe us?"

"Oh . . . I didn't think of that. You're right. I guess we'll have to try here tomorrow night."

So Jerry and I went back to the cabin in the woods. The fire was just a dim glow now, so it was hard to find the cabin. It was late at night and dark.

We opened the door casually and then heard a faint flutter of wings against the wall. We silently walked in and were startled by what we saw.

It was the rare hognose bat, the smallest kind of bat with a wingspan of only 160mm. Its whole body is only 23 to 33mm tall.

We stoked up the fire so the bat could not see as well and then spent 15 minutes trying to catch it.

Finally, we caught him and felt lucky because bats are uncommon in Greenland and the hognose bat is quite rare indeed.

We sat down and put the butterfly net face down so he wouldn't get away. Then, as we were talking, we realized the fire was dying down. The bat was perking up, and we were falling asleep in our chairs.

I looked at my watch. "Wow, Jerry, it's quarter to two. We ought to be going to bed."

"Yeah. Indeed we ought to," said Jerry with a yawn. So we slipped into our night clothes and hopped into our cots.

I just couldn't stop thinking about that bat and how small it was and also about how the fruit bat just disappeared. I tried to fall asleep, but it was difficult in the cold cabin and on the uncomfortable cot.

I finally dozed off, but I slept fitfully. It was early in the morning before I got comfortable and slept well.

Bats everywhere and I was one of them. We swooped and screeched. We feasted on the bugs that were all around.

We played tag and tried to see how close we could come to each other without hitting.

Then, out of nowhere it seemed, a big, black net caught me and another bat friend. We were carried some distance, then laid gently on a table. My friend and I tried to get out, but there was no escaping the net.

A hand covered with a black rubber glove reached into the net and grabbed the other bat. I was terrified at what they would do to him, knowing I would be next.

I watched as he was pinned to a table and his wings extended. He emitted a high, piercing squeal, and I knew my friend was in pain as he was being studied.

Then the most gruesome thing of all happened. The scientist began the process of dissection.

Then I awoke, startled and fearful and very sad that our hognose bat would never be free again. Is science worth the price paid by nature, I wondered.

Without delay to think about what I was doing, I ran to the butterfly net, scooped it up so the bat couldn't escape and headed toward the door.

I opened it and stood there for a minute and thought. I looked at Jerry and realized I'd have much explaining to do. Then I remembered my dream and let the bat go free.

"Go live a wonderful life," I whispered and then climbed back into my cot.

Sam

By Jody Randall

I am always hearing that witches eat bats. Now, that makes me sick! Be truthful, would you eat bats? Boil, boil, toil and trouble, that stuff's weird. Now-a-days, the average witch has an average computer to do the job.

Witches, like myself, have "powers" to help them with the world and most are good at them.

Anyways, this is not about me, it's about the interesting things I have seen and done (which are quite a few, but I wouldn't tell you all of them).

I might as well tell you about my bats. Here it goes!

I met one as I was walking home from picking flowers. It was twilight and an excellent time to meet the famous nocturnal bats.

This bat I called Sam. Sam is a blossom bat, and he just loved the flowers I had. Delighted to have Sam with me, I went slowly back to the meadow where I had picked some wild buttercups a few minutes before.

Sam was just like a happy puppy, I thought, as he trailed behind me. As I turned around, I giggled seeing Sam looking hopefully at me with some blossoms still hanging from his small mouth.

"Come on," I laughed to Sam. "What a character," I thought.

We had a great time, Sam and I. Sam looked as if he was in heaven. (Bat heaven that is.) I think he was drunk on nectar, I really do. Swaying back and forth, he went from flower to flower, and I think I could have split my sides from laughing.

My long black dress was so tangled that I had to get up to get it untangled. Even though most people who are witches don't wear long dresses, I like to, especially when most people aren't out so they don't tease me. Usually it is mostly at twilight when I have my walks.

"Cut it out, Sam," I cried! He sort of looked at me with a dazed expression, so I said it again. "COME ON!" I yelled. "GET OUT OF THOSE FLOWERS!" (Sigh.) "Sorry, Sam, didn't mean it. I've got the meanest temper."

Then something dawned on me. Why, oh why was I talking to a bat? Was I slipping or something like that? Oh dear!

I took a sly glance at Sam. He was cocking his head and looking straight at me. As suddenly as I had felt suspicion, I felt guilt.

"Sorry, Sam," I said softly, so softly that I thought he wouldn't hear, but I think he did.

"Come on," (I said it nicer now.) "Let's go, Sam."

I picked a handful of the sweetest smelling flowers I could find at the moment. I think they were sweet smelling clover. Thank goodness the bees were sleeping or I would have got a hand full of them.

Sam and I went down the path, with me in the lead and Sam trailing behind eating the blossoms that I held in the air. If the moon saw us, he would sure chuckle.

Just outside of the village, I stopped. "You must go now," I whispered to Sam. He flew and was on his way when he turned back and dropped a wildflower at my feet.

"Thanks," I whispered. "Thanks, Sam," I said, as he flew off.

The Rarest Bat on Earth

By Shane Kelly

I hope you have heard of the Leaf Nose Bat. Well, this is a story of the rarest bat on earth—the Thief Nose Bat.

Thief Nose Bats are a very rare breed. Most people have never heard of them. All bats have radar, and so do the Thief Nose Bats.

What makes these bats different is that their radar detects anything with sugar, corn syrup, artificial flavors, artificial colors or any candy, gum or junk food.

This is the favorite time of the year for these bats, all because of the great holiday Halloween. Most bats eat icky insects like spiders, moths and mosquitoes. But not the Thief Nose Bat.

They only like sweet things high in sugar content. They only hunt once a year at Halloween. The rest of the year is spent in their caves eating their stolen Halloween candy.

How they get these goodies is no longer a mystery. Scientists have been able to prove that they have a very unusual hunting technique.

The Thief Nose Bats have been spotted on dark, dreary Halloween nights.

Their technique is swooping down on little children and scaring them. If the bat is successful at this technique, the children will drop their bags of candy and run home screaming and yelling. This is much to the bats' delight.

These bats have strong wings and can carry up to 50 pounds of candy at one time. Some of these bats spend the whole night storing their stolen Halloween candy.

These bats have a special system in their digestive system which allows them to eat moldy food.

Scientists have been unable to detect just where these unusual bats will strike next. They are impossible to follow and track.

So my advice to you and your friends is to BEWARE!!! They may be in your neighborhood this Halloween.

And if you like Halloween candy, you'd better keep a strong grip on your bag.

Past and present Detroit Edison electric service customers: You may qualify for a refund!

If you were a Detroit Edison customer at any time in November or December of 1976, you may be eligible for a refund as a result of a Michigan Public Service Commission order.

If you are an eligible customer, you may already have received your refund, including interest and taxes, in one of two ways—in the form of a refund check or as a credit on your October 1985 electric bill.

If you have not received a refund but were a Detroit Edison customer in November or December of 1976, it will be necessary for you to fill out and mail the application below. This applies to customers now living inside or outside the Detroit Edison service area.

If you know someone who may have been a Detroit Edison customer

Heart recipient dies at home

By Carolyn Walker

Roland Robert (Rob) Wiechert, who underwent a heart transplant Oct. 3, has lost his bid for life.

The 38-year-old Springfield Township man died at home Oct. 31 following his discharge from the University of Michigan Medical Center one week earlier.

During a six-hour operation at the center, Wiechert received the heart of a 38-year-old, unidentified Detroit man, according to Wiechert's wife Linda.

Wiechert's problems began several years ago when a bronchitis infection invaded his heart, causing myocarditis.

That illness eventually led to cardiomyopathy, a degenerative condition in the heart accompanied by congestive heart failure, which necessitated the transplant.

Wiechert faced the surgery with courage, knowing that it offered him hope for a normal life, Linda said. "He knew that that was what he had to do."

Wiechert was retired from Pontiac Motor Division and was a Springfield Township firefighter. He was also a veteran of the Vietnam war.

Following his death, Linda expressed gratitude to the many individuals and groups who helped the family during and following the surgery.

"There's so many people that helped out," she said.

In addition to his wife, Wiechert is survived by two daughters, Jennifer and Robin; his parents, Lyel and Mary Wiechert of Davisburg; a sister, Deborah and brother-in-law John Long, of Lake Orion; a brother, Michael and sister-in-law Shelly Wiechert of Northville; grandmother, Jenny Wiechert of Clarkston; and many aunts and uncles.

Funeral arrangements were handled by the Dryers Funeral Home of Holly, with burial Sunday at the Goodrich Cemetery, Goodrich.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Rob Wiechert Memorial Fund, 11905 Andersonville Rd., Davisburg, MI.

Program to look at nuclear war risk

On Nov. 13, a week before the Geneva Summit, Tribune United Cable Communications will present a two-hour video conference entitled "From Trinity to Star Wars."

The program, to air at 8:35 p.m. on Independence Township cable-TV Channel 11, will provide viewers with an opportunity to gain understanding into the relationship between the United States and Russia, the risk of nuclear war, and topics which will be under discussion in Geneva.

The conference is to be moderated by Hodding Carter, anchorman for the Public Broadcasting Service series Capitol Journal.

It will feature panelists addressing technological trends which undermine or enhance stability between the superpowers and measures that could be taken to reduce nuclear risk.

An interview on the two superpowers with Robert McNamara, former secretary of defense, is also scheduled during the broadcast.

Community cable guide

Programs on public access cable-TV Channel 11 are broadcast from the Clarkston studio of Tribune/United Cable Communications.

Wednesday through Friday
Nov. 6-8

7pm—"Jimmy," this week's episode in the "This is the Life" series sponsored by St. Trinity Lutheran Church of Independence Township. It's the story of a boy's well-meaning attempt at matchmaking that helps his mother get over her grief.

7:30pm—"Oakland Parks Foundation," a production of the Oakland County Parks and Recreation Department.

8pm—"Amazing Grace," a Bible story presented by the Rev. Clarence Bell of the First Baptist Church of Clarkston.

8:30pm—"Independence Update," an Independence Township news program produced and anchored by Clarkston High School Media II students.

9pm—"Shirley's World," with Hostess Shirley Lynch, a Clarkston area psychic. She interviews psychic artist Elaine Ulrich.

Programs on cable Channel 11 begin at 7 p.m. weekdays only. Other times, the station features a billboard with community service announcements and the schedule of the evening's programs, updated daily at 3 p.m.

Think orange

Betty Wagner

Pumpkin time is here again. For some reason, pumpkin pie tastes more delicious when the nights are frosty and cool than during warm and hot months.

In fact, I don't even think of cooking with pumpkin during the summer and spring. But there is nothing quite like the creamy texture of warm pumpkin pie for conjuring up memories of family gatherings and holiday celebrations.

Pumpkin, packed in a can, is so convenient that most of us don't bother to cook a fresh pumpkin for pies or breads.

The microwave oven offers us a quick and very easy way to cook fresh pumpkin—and the bonus is that we then have seeds to roast.

FRESH PUMPKIN

- 1 pie pumpkin, about 2 1/4 pounds
- Pumpkin pie spices
- 1 juice glass full of water
- Brown sugar and butter

Wash pumpkin and pierce deeply in at least four places with a long-tined fork. Place juice glass in rear of oven. Place pumpkin in center of oven. Microwave at high power for 7 minutes.

Remove pumpkin and juice glass. Cut pumpkin in half horizontally. Remove seeds and stringy fibers. Cut top and bottom halves of pumpkin in half again, making four pieces.

Place cut side up in a Pyrex plate or quiche dish with the thickest portions to the outside. Cover with plastic wrap and microwave at high power for 7 more minutes or until pumpkin is done.

Remove pulp from shell, mash or put through a food mill. Serve as a vegetable with butter, spices and brown sugar or use for pumpkin bread or pumpkin pie.

PUMPKIN BREAD

- 2 eggs, beaten
- 1/2 cup vegetable oil
- 3/4 cup granulated sugar
- 1 cup mashed pumpkin*
- 1 1/2 cups flour
- 1/2 teaspoon baking soda
- 1/8 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
- 1/4 teaspoon each ginger and cloves
- 1/2 cup chopped nuts

Combine beaten eggs, oil and sugar. Beat well. Add pumpkin and beat. Measure dry ingredients in a separate bowl. Blend well. Gradually stir in pumpkin mixture. Stir in nuts.

Pour into a 6 cup microsafe bundt dish that has been greased. Elevate on a microsafe rack and microwave at 50 percent or medium power for 9 minutes, turning after every 3 minutes.

Microwave at high power for an additional 4 minutes, or until toothpick inserted half way between center and edge of dish comes out clean. Let stand on a heat-proof surface for 10 minutes before turning out.

*Batter made with fresh pumpkin will be thinner than batter made with canned solid pack pumpkin. Fresh pumpkin batter should be microwaved at 50 percent power for 10 minutes and finished at high power for 3 to 4 minutes.

Quick breads dry out rapidly. They are best when eaten fresh from the oven. Wrap in plastic or foil and store in refrigerator to maintain freshness for several days.

PUMPKIN BREAD

Pumpkin is on the preferred grocery list compiled by the American Institute for Cancer Research. The following recipe, which I have adapted for microwave baking, appears on the organization's "Menus and Recipes to Lower Cancer Risk," Page 24. I added 1/4 cup walnuts, which are high in fat, but the fat is polyunsaturated.

- 3/4 cup brown sugar
- 1/4 cup corn oil margarine
- 2 eggs
- 1 cup solid pack pumpkin
- 1/4 cup skim milk
- 2 cups whole wheat flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 3/4 teaspoon ginger
- 1/4 teaspoon baking soda
- 1/4 teaspoon cloves
- 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/2 cup chopped nuts (optional)

Cream together sugar and margarine. Add eggs, pumpkin and milk. Beat. Combine dry ingredients in a separate bowl. Gradually mix into pumpkin mixture. Stir in chopped nuts.

Pour into greased, 6-cup bundt dish. Elevate on a microsafe rack. Microwave at 50 percent power for 9 minutes. Turn after every 3 minutes. Finish at high power for 4 minutes. Let stand on a heat-proof surface for 10 minutes before removing from dish.

PUMPKIN SEEDS

- 1 tablespoon butter
- 1/2 to 3/4 cup pumpkin seeds
- Salt or seasoning salt

Melt butter in a Pyrex pie plate for 45 seconds. Add seeds that have been washed and dried on a dish towel. Toss seeds to coat with butter. Microwave at high power for 6-7 minutes, stirring every 2 minutes. Sprinkle with salt or seasoning salt to taste.

LIBBY'S FAMOUS PUMPKIN PIE RECIPE (Adapted for the Microwave Oven)

- 2 eggs, slightly beaten
- 1 16-ounce can Libby's Solid Pack Pumpkin or 2 cups fresh-cooked pumpkin*
- 3/4 cup sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon flour or cornstarch
- 2 teaspoons pumpkin pie spice
- 1 13-ounce can evaporated milk
- 1 9-inch pie crust

Prebake well-pricked pie crust in microwave oven at high power for 6 minutes. Mix filling ingredients together in a 2-quart Pyrex measure or bowl. Microwave at high power for 9 minutes, stirring every 2 minutes.

Pour into prebaked pie crust. Microwave at 50 percent power for 12 minutes, turning every 3-4 minutes. Allow to stand to set center of pie.

*Fresh cooked pumpkin is less dense and more watery than canned pumpkin; however, 1 cup of each weighs 8 ounces. When using fresh pumpkin, cook at high power for 10-12 minutes and at 50 percent power for 13-15 minutes. The finished baked product will be lighter in color.

Home economist Betty Wagner, an Independence Township resident, is a graduate of West Virginia University. She teaches microwave cooking classes at Sears at the Oakland Mall and through the Clarkston Community Education Department.

Does caffeine affect you?

Dear Cat Paw:

Can the use of marijuana cause permanent damage or effects if used infrequently (one or two times a week)?

Smoker

Dear Smoker:

Unless you're smoking less than one marijuana cigarette every six or seven weeks, the THC is accumulating in your brain and other parts of your body.

If you're smoking pot one or two times a week, you are never free of the drug. You'd better believe it can cause permanent damage. Hospitals are full of people who are victims.

If you're smoking one joint a week, you are a heavy drug user and are getting yourself into deep trouble. Why not educate yourself and find out what marijuana really is before you continue to smoke it?

Dear Cat Paw:

Will pot greatly cut your wind?

Puffing

Dear Puffing:

Yes! Smoking one joint is equivalent to smoking one carton of cigarettes in tar content alone.

Dear Cat Paw:

How does caffeine affect the body?

Am I Safe

Dear Am I:

Caffeine stimulates the central nervous system, resulting in increased activity, wakefulness, alertness, talkativeness, restlessness, reduced appetite and a general feeling of elation. Larger doses may produce irritability and paranoid fears.

Stimulants also dilate the pupils, increase sweating, quicken breathing, raise blood pressure and produce tremors of the hands.

These drugs have high potential for psychological dependence and increased tolerance as they are used. There are also withdrawal effects, usually a pronounced depression, after extremely high doses or sudden abstinence following regular use.

Dear Cat Paw:

Does alcohol really kill brain cells? If alcohol does kill brain cells, are there some drinks that kill more cells and others that kill fewer? If so, what kinds?

Wants to Know

Dear Wants to Know:

Yes, alcohol does kill brain cells. The main common ingredient in all drinks is ethyl alcohol and it is ethyl alcohol that does all the damage. So, it doesn't matter if you drink whiskey, beer or wine. Ethyl alcohol will get you.

Dear Cat Paw:

Is smoking cigarettes addictive?

Puffer

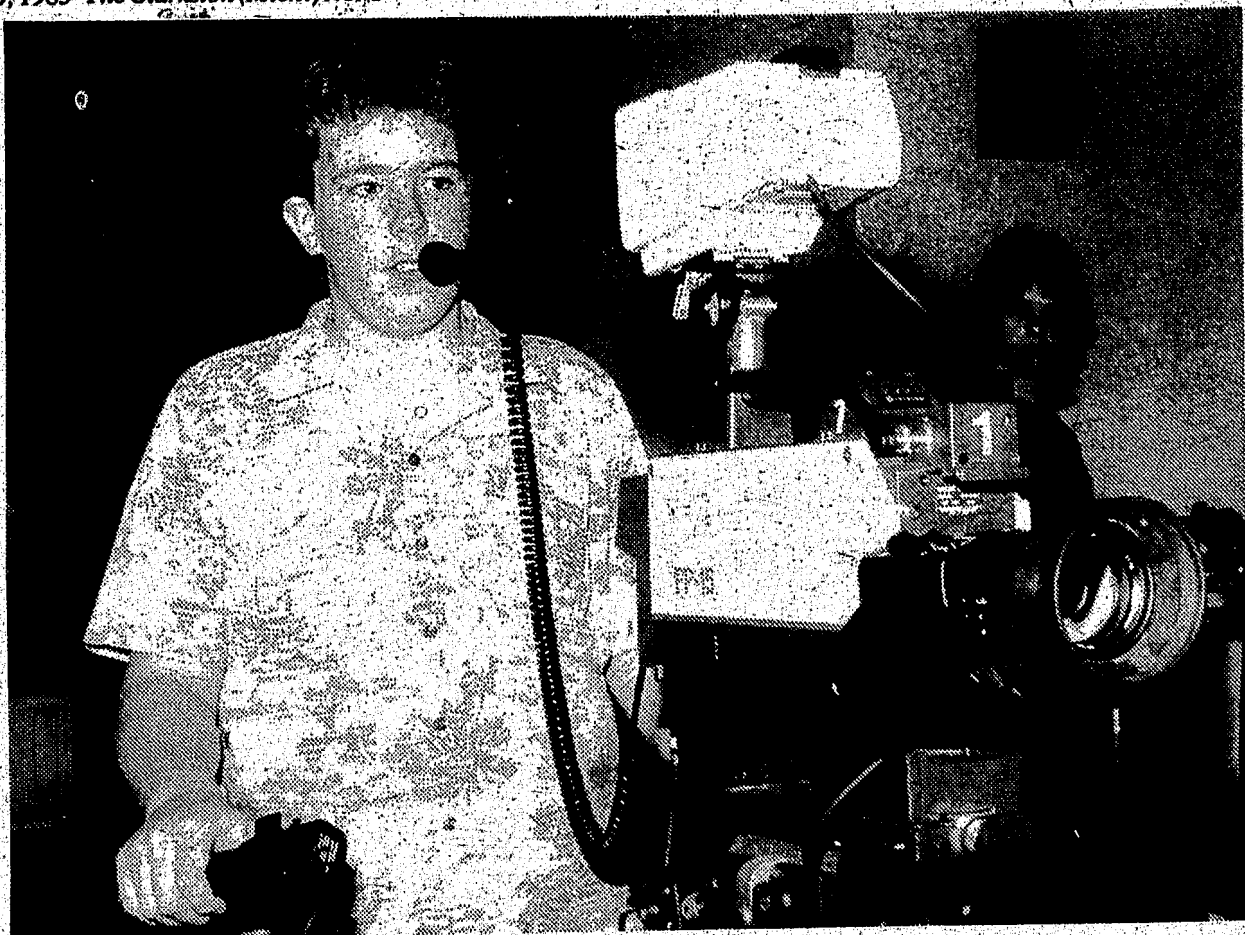

Dear Puffer:

Of course!

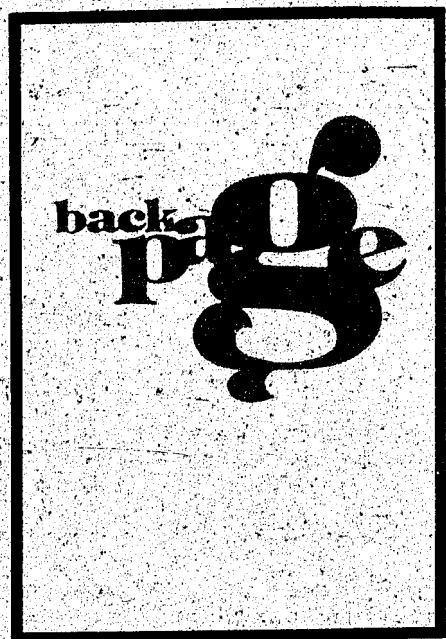

Letters to Cat Paw, which need not be signed, should be sent to The Clarkston News, 5 S. Main, Clarkston, MI 48016.

Cat Paw author Jeanette Sanders, a Springfield Township resident, is a member of the Clarkston Area Chemical People, an organization devoted to the prevention of substance abuse among the community's young people.

That's a wrap!

News show airs weekly on cable-TV

By Kathy Greenfield

Arriving by school bus, the Clarkston High School Media II news team rushes into the Tribune/United Cable Communications studio.

With less than 45 minutes to put the finishing touches on "Independence Update," their weekly news show, the 16 students hustle.

Headsets and microphones are put in place, cameras are positioned and focused, and voices overlap as students practice the pieces to be taped for the following week's show.

The countdown begins. The floor director holds her hand in the air—and when she brings it down, all is silent except for the voice of a newscaster.

During their morning class session at the studio across Waldon Road from the high school, the students will tape introductions to on-the-scene interviews completed earlier and do one-shot takes of a commentary and a movie review.

During the half-hour program on the air this week, there'll be an update on the CHS gymnasium's warped floor, an interview with a foreign-exchange student, a movie review of "Commando," a business story on Hilde Taxidermy and pet tips with Dr. Bruce Harlton.

The show is the eighth taped by media students since the program began during the previous school year and the fourth this year. The format is under transition, says CHS media teacher William Genshaw.

"We'll probably be working toward something like a news magazine where there will be more features within the township," he says.

It's possible, too, that it will become an every-other-week show, he says.

Many of the Media II students have other interests pulling at their time, he says, and putting on a news show is a time-consuming project.

"People are working hard and putting in a lot of hours in to come in with something that's pretty decent," he says.

He encourages members of the community to view the show and share their reactions.

"I wish I had the feeling that more people were watching, but you have to compete with 50 other stations," he says.

"Independence Update" airs Monday through Friday at 8:30 p.m. on Independence Township's public access cable-TV Channel 11.

"I think people can get some idea of what's going on in the school as well as the community," Genshaw says. "The kids have done a really good job. I'm really proud of them."

Director Jeff Huber works behind the closed door of the control room.

Collector recalls days of yore

By Carolyn Walker

Ford had a better idea. Henry Ford that is, when he began preserving medical history in the 1920s.

And a teenage Tom Boufford, recognizing the insight of the antique-collecting automotive giant, acted upon a similar notion during his years as a medical supply salesman.

The 15-year-old Boufford had worked his way up from $12-a-week bottle washer to clerk at the J.F. Hartz Surgical Supply Co. in Detroit when he met Ford, who came to the company seeking old medical items for Greenfield Village.

Remembering the encounter when he graduated to the position of salesman about 1930, Boufford took advantage of his many dealings with aging Michigan doctors to enlarge upon Ford's idea.

He began his own collection.

It's been over 60 years now and Boufford has turned the once-borrowed idea into a private collection of medical artifacts that would be the envy of any museum.

Over the years, as he pounded a beat from Detroit up through the thumb and much of the northeastern part of the state, he obtained approximately 2,000 antique medical books, surgical equipment and medical paraphernalia.

At 76, he now houses the treasury in a private museum at his son's Valley Surgical Supply warehouse in Saginaw—a step up from the times when he stacked the items in his garage.

"I used to call on men that are legendary now," he says of the old physicians, 200 of whom are estimated to have contributed to his collection.

One of his most prized possessions is a 150-year-old pair of obstetric forceps made out of wagon springs.

They were found in the rafters of the estate of Dr. George Raynole who died some time ago at the age of 80. They had belonged to his grandfather who was also a physician.

Among Boufford's other cherished items are a physician's satchel from the Ozarks with hand-blown medicine bottles, a scarificator set (blades and cups used for bleeding patients) and old day-books, which detail doctors' schedules, including the delivery of babies at $5 each and tooth extractions at 25-cents per tooth.

As he sits in the living room of his Springfield Township home, Boufford reflects on his many experiences with old physicians and bemoans the fact that he didn't keep a diary. The doctors were as fascinating as their extinct instruments, he says.

"I called on a lot of the old country doctors up in the thumb," he says, adding that most small towns in the state had between one and four doctors each. "I suppose I started to collect shortly after Henry Ford showed an interest."

Recalling the difficulty he had in obtaining some promised items after the physicians had died, he says, "It's like extracting teeth sometimes."

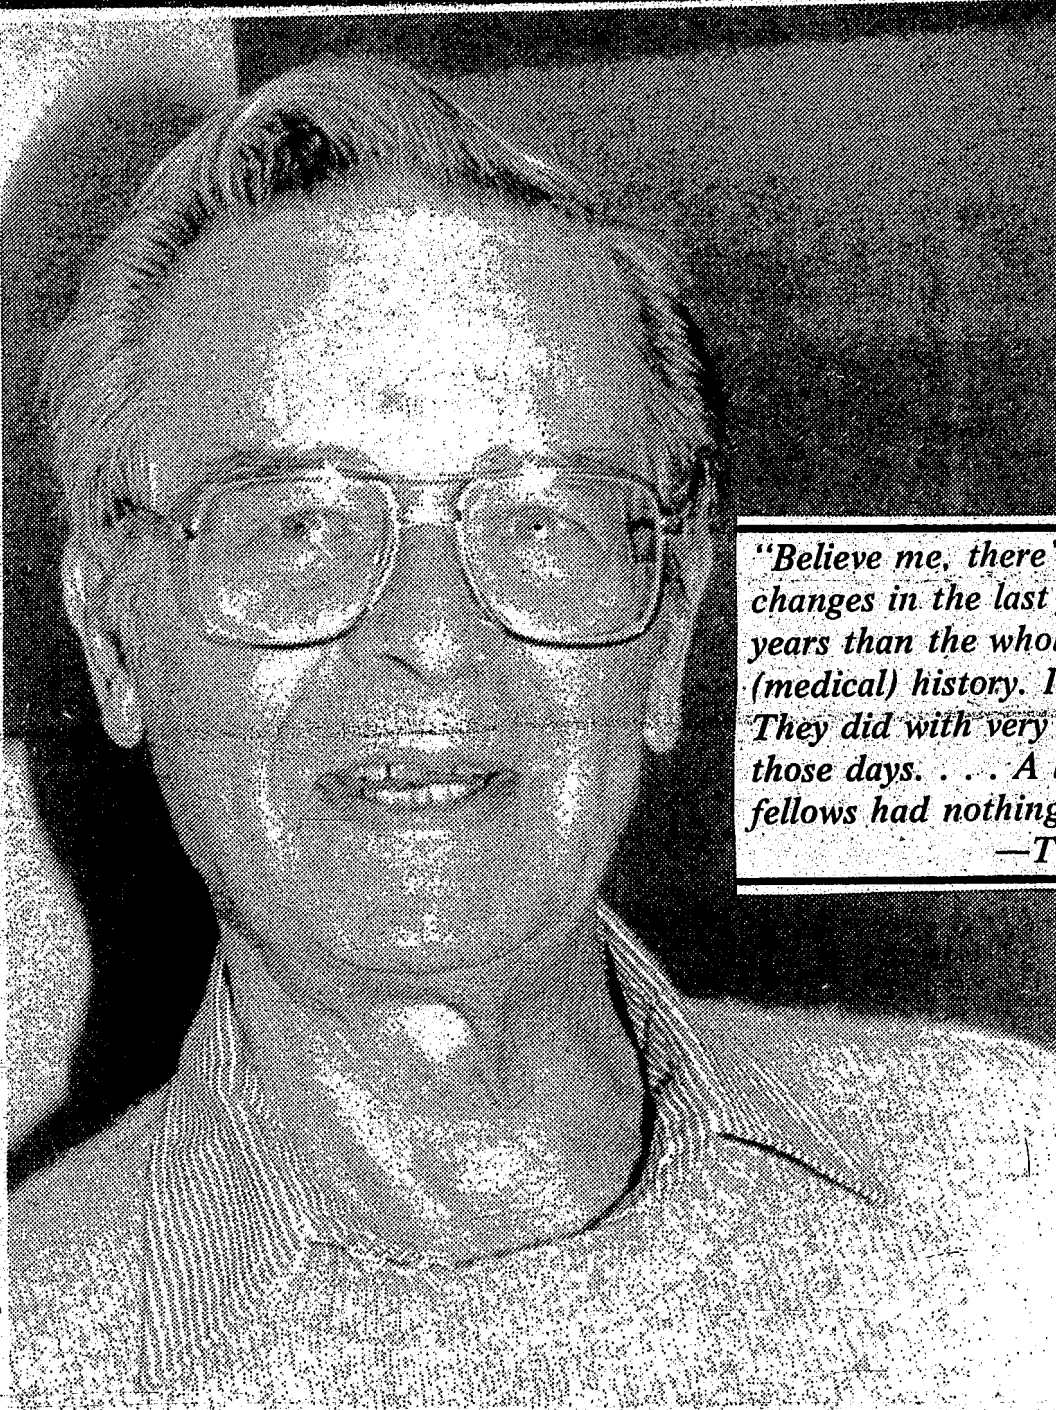

Boufford traversed the state in a used 1927 Chevrolet, which doubled as a bed on summer nights.

"I always planned on getting stuck at least once per trip," he says, laughing about his tribulations with the car.

Oftentimes, when he called on a country doctor, he would be asked to pour ether for a baby's delivery because of his familiarity with the equipment.

"It was better than having the fathers do it," he says. "They were a pretty nervous bunch of farmers up there. I poured with discretion."

"I have a lot of good memories. I was one of the family, like. Many times they'd insist I stay over. It was so different. They looked forward to my being there."

He recalls with affection a Dr. Cochran of Peck, who died at 75 still driving a horse and buggy to make house calls; and a Dr. Gilbert of Unionville, who devised a portable, folding, metal bed to ease the delivery of babies who were typically born on soft, saggy mattresses.

"It was a pretty messy operation," Boufford says of the saggy-mattress setup, adding that he has a model of the portable bed in his collection.

"There's been more changes in medical treatment . . . in 60 years than in probably 260 years prior to that."

"Believe me, there's been more changes in the last five to 10 years than the whole of history. It's fantastic. They did with very little in those days. . . . A lot of those fellows had nothing."

Citing an example of how things have changed since those times, he mentions Dr. J.C. Webster of Mariette, who carried a portable surgery table and performed operations in patients' kitchens. "Tonsils were pulled out wholesale," he says.

Over the years, Boufford made his own contributions to the medical field.

He improved upon the old form of levine tube (a tube run from the nose into the stomach) by attaching a condom to the insertable end. The condom was then inflated to immobilize the levine tube in the stomach, a concept which led to today's balloon-ended tubes.

He also designed a physician's satchel in 1931, which was widely used by doctors, he says, and marketed under the name "Pandora's Bag."

During his many years as a salesman, Boufford sold all kinds of medical equipment including hospital beds, oxygen equipment, diagnostic equipment, surgical equipment and other necessities for hospitals.

Occasionally, as he pursues his interest as a salesman for his son's firm, a modern-day doctor will offer him an item for his private museum. Because most of his collection dates to the mid-1800s or before, he sometimes turns them down.

"What's offered to me, I say, 'Well, that's not so old' . . . because I sold it."

How does a cancer cell differ from a normal cell?

Questions may be directed to The Cancer Information Service, The Cleveland Clinic Foundation, 9500 Euclid Ave., Cleveland, OH 44106. All questions will be answered by mail.

Q. My husband has been urinating more and more frequently lately, and even has to get up several times during the night. He says this is just part of old age, but I sometimes think it might be cancer.

A. Although more than half the men over age 40 suffer from some enlargement of the prostate gland, the enlargement is due to cancer in only a few.

Whenever the prostate gland increases in size, it narrows the urinary tract, causing urinary symptoms.

Of the initial symptoms of cancer of the prostate, increased frequency of urination is the most common, followed by difficulty in starting the urinary stream, painful urination, and pain in the pelvis, lower back and upper thighs.

Even if your husband has only one of these symptoms, he should be checked by his doctor. If he does have cancer, it might be in an early curable stage.

Q. How does a cancer cell differ from a normal cell?

A. The body is made up of tissues, such as muscle, bone and brain, which in turn are composed of countless microscopic cells.

In normal tissues, these cells are lined up in an orderly way and those which make up a particular tissue can be identified with a microscope. (Cells from the thyroid gland look different than cells from the heart.)

Normal tissues are in a constant state of growth, with older cells dying and being replaced by newer cells.

A cancer develops in a tissue when one of the cells becomes disorganized. It no longer seems to receive the body's natural signals to stop growing, and it continues to divide producing more cancer cells until a tumor results.

Such malignant cells can be identified with a microscope because visible changes mark them as abnormal.

Once these cells begin reproducing uncontrollably, the only ways to stop them are by removing them surgically or killing them with anti-cancer drugs or radiation therapy.

Q. I have just had an operation to remove a cancer from my lower lip. My friends have told me that it came from many years of pipe smoking. Could this be true?

A. Cancer of the lower lip accounts for about 1 percent of cancers in men, and very rarely occurs in women.

It was widely assumed that this cancer was caused by heat from the pipestem being applied to the same side of the lower lip over a period of years. It has even been referred to as "the cancer of pipe smokers."

Its cause is probably not heat from a pipe, however, since the cancer rarely occurs on the upper lip, which is equally affected by heat from the pipestem.

Also, it infrequently occurs at the sides of the mouth where the pipe is usually held, and most men with it are not pipe smokers anyway.

Chronic exposure to sunshine, as experienced by men who work outdoors, is a far more likely cause.

Q. Can changing my family's diet prevent them from getting cancer?

A. It is believed that some modest changes in the typical American diet would lower the frequency of cancer in this country.

High-fat diets have been associated with cancer of the large bowel and breast, so many authorities believe we should lower the fat content of our diet from the present 40 percent of the average number of calories consumed daily to about 30 percent.

There is evidence that increasing our dietary fiber by eating more whole-grain bread, cereals, fruits and vegetables will reduce the incidence of cancer of the colon.

No more than two alcoholic drinks a day should be taken, they advise, as heavy drinking is also associated with cancer of the mouth, throat, larynx, esophagus and liver.

Women in particular should avoid obesity, as it is associated with an increased risk of cancer of the breast and uterus.

The above guidelines are not particularly demanding, except for the one to lose weight; so following this advice should not be too difficult for most people.

Dietary guidelines linked to cancer prevention

Although cancer is a major health problem universally, studies show that individuals can take precautionary measures in an effort to combat the disease.

Scientific evidence gathered from studies in the United States and other countries indicates that dietary habits may contribute to the development of a significant, though undetermined, proportion of the cancers whose origins are still not clearly understood.

Observing the nutritional guidelines issued by the American Cancer Society may help to reduce one's chances of developing cancer.

The Society cautions that, "no concrete dietary advice can be given that will guarantee prevention of any specific cancer," and adds that its suggestions will change as new information is obtained from research.

The Society recommends taking the following seven steps:

1. Avoid obesity. The suggestion that weight reduction may help to lower cancer risk is based in part on findings of the Society's own 12-year study (1960-72) of nearly one million Americans, which uncovered higher cancer risks among men and women who were overweight, particularly those who were 40 percent or more overweight.

2. Cut down on total fat intake. Moderation in the use of fatty foods, says the Society, not only reduces chances of getting cancers of the breast, colon or prostate but is an effective way to reduce daily calorie consumption.

3. Eat more high fiber foods, such as fruits, vegetables and whole grain cereals. Pointing out that scientists are not fully in agreement about the possible advantages of fiber in the diet, the Society suggests that, "even if fiber itself may not prove to have a protective effect against cancer, high fiber-containing fruits, vegetables and cereals can be recommended as a wholesome substitute for fatty foods."

4. Include foods rich in Vitamins A and C in the daily diet. The Society recommends obtaining vitamins from fruits and vegetables, warning that excessive supplementary use of Vitamin A in capsule or tablet form can be toxic.

5. Include cruciferous vegetables such as cabbage, broccoli, Brussels sprouts, kohlrabi and cauliflower in the diet. Some epidemiologic research has suggested that vegetables such as those named above (members of the mustard family) may help to reduce the risk of cancers of the gastro-intestinal and respiratory tracts. Tests in laboratory animals have shown that these vegetables may be highly effective in the prevention of chemically-induced cancer.

6. Be moderate in consumption of alcoholic beverages. Heavy drinkers of alcohol, especially those who are also cigarette smokers, are at unusually high risk for cancers of the oral cavity, larynx and esophagus. Alcohol abuse can result in cirrhosis, which sometimes leads to liver cancer.

7. Be moderate in consumption of salt-cured, smoked and nitrite-cured foods. The U.S. Department of Agriculture and the American meat industry have substantially decreased the amount of nitrites in prepared meats. However, ham, fish and some varieties of sausage which are smoked by traditional methods absorb cancer-causing tars similar to those contained in tobacco smoke. There also is limited inferential evidence from various parts of the world linking salt-cured or pickled foods to an increased risk of cancers of the stomach and the esophagus.

Right now, approximately 450,000

Americans die of cancer each year. The fight to lower these statistics is an ongoing one. As scientific research advances, the resulting breakthroughs will provide the foundation for a brighter, healthier future.

In one day the average person inhales 15,000 quarts of air.

Airtight houses can hold air pollution inside

An airtight house is great for keeping fuel costs down. But, the American Lung Association of Southeastern Michigan is concerned that people may be getting sick because keeping out the cold retains pollutants.

According to the Lung Association, researchers have found that air pollution can be greater inside the house than outside.

Regardless of the type of dwelling, indoor air pollution can be caused by toxins emitted from such sources as microwave ovens, charcoal stoves, gas ranges, insulating material and aerosol cans.

However, according to Kathleen Robinson, C.R.T.T., Program Coordinator at the Lung Association, there are solutions.

Gas ranges can be fitted with hood fans that vent pollutants outside. If installing a vent is not feasible, keep a window open and use an exhaust fan while cooking.

Gas ovens should never be used to heat a home, owners should keep a careful eye on the color of the range's burner flame. An adjustment is necessary if the flame is yellow or orange instead of blue.

Furnaces, gas water heaters and gas clothes dryers should be checked frequently. If possible, convert gas appliances from pilot light to spark ignition.

Stoves and heaters should be vented to the outside.

Low-sulphur fuel should be used in kerosene heaters. The heaters should be filled outside.

Kerosene heaters should not be used overnight or where there are people with breathing difficulties. Rooms where they are used should be well ventilated.

Microwave ovens should not be used if the door does not close tightly.

Charcoal should never be used inside the home, Robinson says.

Before lighting a fire in the fireplace, the damper should be opened, and it should remain open until ashes have cooled.

Air conditioners, air ducts, humidifiers, dehumidifiers, heat exchangers and microwave ovens should be cleaned regularly.

Products containing asbestos or formaldehyde should be covered and sealed. If asbestos is flaking, a professional should be called to solve the problem. Appropriate air cleaners or heat exchangers can increase ventilation and reduce formaldehyde content.

Robinson warns that cars and lawn mower engines should not be left operating in an attached garage or shed.

In addition, she says, kicking the cigarette habit would be a great help in maintaining a pollution-free house.

QUICK QUIZ

The surprising answers in this quiz about sleep are not likely to bring on many yawns.

1. In a night, the average sleeper changes his or her body (a) 80 times (b) 10 times (c) 0 times?

2. During an eight hour interval of sleep, the total dream time lasts (a) 5 minutes (b) 50 minutes (c) 100 minutes?

3. A average four-year-old will average eight to nine hours of sleep a day (a) True (b) False?

4. If you stayed awake all night, your least efficient time would be (a) 9 p.m. (b) 12 midnight (c) 4 a.m.?

ANSWERS: 1. (a) If you're like most people, you change the position of your body 80 times during an eight hour interval of sleep. 2. (c) 100 minutes, usually during three to five intervals of dreaming. 3. (b) False. Four year olds average from 10 to 14 hours of sleep a day. 4. (c)

... from smoking. Join the Great American Smokeout on Thursday, November 21. Millions of Americans across the country will make a fresh start and try not to smoke for 24 hours. How about you? Or, if you don't smoke, adopt a smoker for the day and promise to help that friend get through the 24 hours without a cigarette!

A few "QUIT TIPS"

- Hide all ashtrays, matches, etc.
- Lay in a supply of sugarless gum, carrot sticks, etc.
- Drink lots of liquids, but pass up coffee and alcohol.
- Tell everyone you're quitting for the day.
- When the urge to smoke hits, take a deep breath, hold it for 10 seconds, & release it slowly.
- Exercise to relieve the tension.
- Try the "buddy system", and ask a friend to quit too.

The PROGRAM includes the following:

- Chest X-Ray
- Breathing Test
- Speakers
- Film
- Handouts
- Adoption Papers
- Demonstrations

thrower users receive hospital emergency room treatment each year for injuries suffered while removing snow.

Most are hand and finger cuts with amputations occurring when consumers try to clear snow from the discharge chute of the machine or debris from the auger/collectors.

CPSC offers the following hints for snow thrower users:

- Keep hands and feet away from all rotating and moving parts.
- Stop the engine (remove the key, spark plug wire or power cord) whenever you leave the operator position to make repairs, adjustments or inspections.
- Never put your hand in the discharge chute or near the auger/collector to remove snow, sticks or other debris. Blocked auger/collectors can spring back when cleared and may cause personal injury, even with the engine stopped. Always use an object such as a trowel or long stick to clear blockages.
- Never leave a running snow thrower unattended; shut down the motor if you must leave the machine for any time.
- Keep the area of operation clear of pets and other people. Do not aim the discharge at people, pets, automobiles, windows, etc.
- Fill the fuel tank of gasoline-powered machines with extreme care. Never fill the fuel tank indoors or add fuel to a running or hot engine.
- Be aware of the power cord on electrically powered snow throwers at all times.
- Check the machine often if you are using the equipment sporadically over the winter season. Inspect for loose or missing safety guards... watch for loose nuts, bolts or fasteners.

Most snow thrower injuries occur when consumers try to clear snow from the discharge chute or debris from the auger/collectors. Keep hands and feet away from all rotating and moving parts.

• Refer to the owner's manual for specific instructions on the operation, care and maintenance of the snow thrower.

To report a potential hazard with a snow thrower, call the CPSC Hotline at 800-638-CPSC.
